and that it means something. This lesson, we believe, has now been impressed on the students. This being the case, the authorities have showed their want of malice against Mr. Tucker by withdrawing the order suspending him.

It is said the new President of the Grand Trunk Railway, when he was here in Toronto, seriously considered the proposal to convert the belt line into an electric road. It is further said he was favorably impressed with the idea, and it is not at all improbable that the conversion will be made in the near future. This would be a great benefit to the city, as it would save a large amount of money which would come into town by farmers' wagons. Very few rails have to be laid in order to give the Grand Trunk belt line direct connection with the suburban railways running into Toronto. The employment of electric railways for conveying farm produce to the market has been demonstrated as a profitable business in many cities. No company that we know of could make a better success of it than the Grand Trunk. If it made an effort in that direction, it is not only to the benefit of the St. Lawrence Market, and if necessary another site along the Esplanade could be acquired and converted into a wholesale market for orchard, garden and dairy produce. If the Grand Trunk belt line were converted into an electric line, it would not be long before the Metropolitan line up Yonge-street would be extended to the city. In that event there is no reason why the whole produce that now comes down this highway should not be conveyed by the Metropolitan line up Yonge-street to the city. This would be a great benefit to the city, as it would save a large amount of money which would come into town by farmers' wagons. THE TICKET CASE. The Editor of Saturday Night expresses surprise that The World, a paper that is usually frank in its attitude towards the university faculty as against that of Mr. Tucker and the students. The World's attitude on the recent university troubles is quite consistent with its well-known policy in regard to liberty generally and the liberty of the individual in particular. The World merely should expose the cause of liberty a license to disregard and defy the laws of the land. We believe it is a violation of the principle of liberty that one man who does not go to church at all should be compelled to help to pay the taxes on the church that his neighbor attends. And yet, as long as there is a law in the states exempting churches from taxation, we do not preach the doctrine that the people, either individually or collectively, are justified in refusing to pay these taxes. There is a distinction between liberty on the one hand and law and recognized authority on the other hand. The World believes that one-half the residents of Toronto are suffering in the absence of a Sunday street car service, ten times more physical inconvenience and mental distress than the students ever suffered from the wronged day. The World is laboring under. Furthermore, it is generally recognized throughout the civilized world that the use of mechanical devices for getting about, on every day of the week in an unalienable right of the individual. Yet the residents of Toronto have the good sense to respect the law, such as it is, in preference to the doctrine of personal rights. When we cease to obey, when we defy the laws of the state we become barbarians and anarchists. Civilization is based on the rule of law. If the laws of the state are disregarded by the people, the individual finds himself deprived of his personal freedom. The greatest safety of persons and property is in the law. Therefore should the law be revered above everything else.

When the students mutinied against the university authorities, The World thought that no consideration should be shown them until they raised their boycott and submitted respectfully to the discipline of the college. As long as any dispute was in the college no settlement of any dispute was possible. It was pointed out to the students that any grievances they might have should be ventilated through proper channels, and if they desired it an investigation should be instituted. Because Mr. Tucker refused to submit to the discipline of the college, The World upheld the university authorities, as against Mr. Tucker. The university is a state institution and its discipline must be respected by its students just as the laws of the land must be obeyed by the people. We do not, at the same time, think the students should be held as much responsible for the trouble as the college. The World's professional agitators that took up their cause and incited the young men to mutiny. The ranting of these irresponsible papers led to the strike. They were incited to employ the methods of strikers to settle their trouble with the faculty. The first mistake the students made was in not appealing to the proper authorities. The second mistake they made was in specifying complaints, none of which were able to prove. As a result, the students have established no serious grievances against the authorities. Their mutiny was quite unfeared.

These two desirable qualifications, pleasant to the taste and at the same time respectful to the students, that there is such a thing as college discipline.

CANADIAN COPYRIGHT.

The Sage of the Grange Gives the Other Side of the Case, Namely, That of the American Publishers. Goldwin Smith in The Canadian Monthly.

It is time that Canadian writers should attend to their own interests to the Canadian Copyright bill. Hitherto the matter has been in the hands of the publishers or printers, while the writers, who were equally concerned, were not being consulted and appear hardly to have known what was going on till the controversy about the ratification of the bill by the Imperial Government arose. The Minister of Justice, speaking at Toronto against impeding interference with Canadian authors, coupled the proposed interests of the two classes to be identical, and alike opposed to those of their British rivals. This proves that the minister is himself informed as to the effects of the bill. It might have been thought that the interest of the native producer of literary wares could not, any more than that of the importer of the same wares, be paid for in the United States. American authors suffered as much from the pirating of their works by the American publisher, of course, found in the British market, as the English authors that pay his hire. The progress of American literature was retarded by the pirating of their works by the American publisher, of course, found in the British market, as the English authors that pay his hire. Protection Against American Interlopers. It seems to be taken for granted in the discussion that we will have to do with the Canadian publishers only. But what is to protect us against American interlopers? Would it be possible under this Act to prevent Canada from becoming the resort of literary plagiarists? It is not unlikely that in course of time the American publishers will be able to get their hands on the Canadian market. TO PRISON FOR 15 YEARS.

ALTHOUGH HIS AFFIANCED BRIDE EXPECTED HIS RELEASE.

He Paid the Whole Expenses of His Defence and Intended to Marry Her if He Was Acquitted—Judge Sentences Foster on Prison for 15 Years.

Those who have been convicted of various crimes at the recent York General Sessions came up for sentence before Judge McDougall Saturday. The most unfortunate one on the list was William Foster, a Central Prison convict, who had been found guilty of a crime for which the maximum penalty is life imprisonment.

Foster had been engaged to a young school teacher of this county, and his marriage was to have taken place in a few months. When the charges upon which he was convicted were brought against him his affianced bride, who expected to see him in the morning, was so shocked by the news that she fled to her parents' home.

Another Heavy Sentence. James Willard, convicted of burglaries at Stewart and Meadowdale, thought the sentence might as well have been for life on a convict farm in Kingston. His companion in crime, George Kidd, had a better record and a family dependent upon him, and escaped with a two-years' sentence.

High-Handed Action of a Spanish Gun Boat. Sydney J. Clarke was given five years in Kingston for setting fire to his store in Gerrard-street east. James Kemp, on three convictions of bicycle stealing, was sent to Kingston for four years.

Proceedings Against the Hamilton Street Railway Co.—An Injunction Sought. Mr. A. E. O'Meara, acting on behalf of Hamilton, Ontario, applied to the Ontario Court for an injunction to restrain the Hamilton Street Railway Company from operating cars on Sunday.

Editor World: Every one who is interested in the welfare of this city will read with pleasure and profit the very able letter of Prof. Goldwin Smith in to-day's issue of the World which strikes at the root of many of the evils we have been suffering from for the last twenty years.

At 1 o'clock Saturday morning the work of cleaning out the sand from the lake was completed. The connection was made with the main pipe which had been broken by the water from the lake.

They Never Fall.—Mr. S. M. Boughner, a writer in the Toronto Globe, writes: "I have used Dr. Thomas' Peppermint Cure for a number of years, and I can safely say that it cannot be beat for the cure of colds, coughs, croup, and all the ailments of the throat and lungs."

Protestion for German in China. London, Sept. 28.—A Berlin dispatch to the St. James Gazette says that a squad of German war vessels have been ordered to Swatow and that the Catholic Missions in the District of Swatow have been placed under German protection.

Very much off in price, but in that point only is our made-to-order Black Worsted Coat and Vest at $12.50. It looks as well as the kind that's sold for more money and will give great wear. We usually make this line up with stitched edges, but, if you would rather, we bind them. The former is the preferable way—but then you're the doctor. Have it the way you want it. If you're not pleased with anything you get from us we refund the money. HOBBERLIN BROS. & CO., 569 QUEEN-STREET WEST, 350 QUEEN-STREET EAST.

BOOM BRINGS DISASTERS. Busy Times on the Lakes Put Collin Ships in Commission. Chicago, Sept. 28.—Vessels arriving here report a sea on Lake Michigan yesterday and the day before such as many old mariners had never met with before.

WRINKLES IN THE BACK of the coat, a shortness or longness of the sleeves, a tendency of the collar to climb up the neck, a bad fit around the arm-pits—these are some of the results when a man picks out the wrong clothier.

THE ARMY DECEIMATED BY DISEASE. One Section of the French Force in Madagascar Has Only 200 Men. London, Sept. 28.—The Pall Mall Gazette publishes a special despatch from Tananarive, Madagascar, which says that a serious character has been assumed in regard to the position of the French in Madagascar.

Send it Back. Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back.

SMALL FIELDS FACE THE STARTER AT WOODBINE.

Players of Form in Fine Fettle the Closing Day of the Hunt Club Races.

It was a cold, raw day for the wind-up of the Hunt Club races, but between fifteen hundred and two thousand people braved the weather and saw five events decided at Woodbine Park Saturday afternoon.

The first race, a mile, was won by Mr. Forester's Dodo, and although only a two-horse race, was practically the most popular victory of the day.

The second race was delayed a long time at the post owing to Bonnie's disposition to run away in all directions.

The third race was a lengthening race, finishing a good second. Aids de Camp ran very well, but Stratholm came up at the betting ring.

The fourth race was a long time at the post owing to Bonnie's disposition to run away in all directions.

The fifth race was a lengthening race, finishing a good second. Aids de Camp ran very well, but Stratholm came up at the betting ring.

The sixth race was a long time at the post owing to Bonnie's disposition to run away in all directions.

The seventh race was a lengthening race, finishing a good second. Aids de Camp ran very well, but Stratholm came up at the betting ring.

The eighth race was a long time at the post owing to Bonnie's disposition to run away in all directions.

The ninth race was a lengthening race, finishing a good second. Aids de Camp ran very well, but Stratholm came up at the betting ring.

The tenth race was a long time at the post owing to Bonnie's disposition to run away in all directions.

The eleventh race was a lengthening race, finishing a good second. Aids de Camp ran very well, but Stratholm came up at the betting ring.
