Continued From Page 1. here, because it is necessary for me to show a very public and flagrant difference with my oldest and closest friends in politics—those now in power and in the confidence of the state, those whom I would soonest see in power and in the confidence of the state, but from whom I am compelled to differ on a matter vital to their policy. I hope, therefore, that there is no distinction in any rate, and will be practised, at which what I say to-day will not be quoted in any way against the Liberal party. I have long ceased to be in union with the Liberal party; I have long since been an independent politician, and it is not fair for any one, to whatever section he may belong, to throw up my opinions as something that compromised the Liberal party.

The Wealthy and Taxation. It is my duty to-day to show why I believe it not to be in the best interests of the nation that this financial measure should become law. I know it will be said that it is merely a question of right to speak such a question, and that it is merely the cry of a wounded taxpayer that you will hear. Well, if you carry that proposition to its logical conclusion, and if you had the budget only discussed by those who had nothing, it would be a somewhat one-sided discussion. But I would like to point out that there is no conceivable system of taxation by which a man who is opulent will not be severely taxed if a large sum of money is to be raised, and, therefore, when a person of opulence speaks on a question like this he is only, after all, making a choice of evils as regards himself. That is obvious enough.

Clearing Away Preliminary Rubbish. The other ridiculous allegation, of which I think we have heard less than we did here, is that those who cried out for Dreadnoughts are the first to cry out against paying for them. Well, that, again, needs very slight examination. The taxes which have been under discussion are the land taxes, which, according to the statement of the government, would not produce a fraction of a Dreadnought, and what is more is that none, I believe, of the additional taxation proposed in this year's budget is to go to our naval construction at all. So now we have cleared away that rubbish—that preliminary rubbish—of which I see so much, I might say, too much.

Budget of Improbable War. Having this cleared the way, we come at once to the budget that is before the country. It is for a peace budget the most remarkable that, I venture to say, was as I have said already in a published letter, a revolution. Beneficial or not, whether it be beneficial or not, it is a revolution, it is handed to the land taxpayer. The tax, the small, is like a dum-dum bullet; it enters the body and makes a small hole, but when it gets into the body it expands and kills the victim. Suspectious Source of the Proposal. I say that the source is suspicious because I believe that the source in the main is from our Glasgow friends of the Land Nationalization League. I cannot forget that Mr. Lloyd George himself, the chancellor of the exchequer, speaking in October 1906, when he was already highly placed minister, said: "Nationalization of land must come, but it must come by easy stages. This is the first easy stage. The other day the Land Nationalization League held a meeting in which they were extremely jubilant over the budget. Some of the speakers were members of parliament that were reported—some said that the private ownership of land was criminal, and so forth, and Mr. Keir Hardie—and he is a man whose words are valuable in these days—wrote simply, but pregnantly rather, "These are encouraging times for land nationalization. And when I see the lines of the budget as they are required by the government to fill up their deficit—I take their own figures; I pass no opinion upon them—and that only a very insignificant sum is to be raised by these taxes, part of which is to go to the localities, I cannot help smiling at a man who objects to taxation by an inadequate tax collector."

Land Taxes Criticized. Well, the most suspicious part of the budget is that relating to land. I do not want to say too much about that, because, as a rule, Glasgow men are so much interested in land, and because it is the part which has been most discussed in the house of commons. But you are interested indirectly in land, as I will proceed to show. At the moment the most suspicious part of the budget is the land; first, because of the sources from which those provisions proceed; second, because of the enormous sum laid out by the government to obtain what appears to be an infinitesimal return; and, third, because of the principle and the arguments on which that part of the budget is founded.

Capable of Infinite Expansion. There are six new taxes placed upon land alone, four taxes on land alone, and two others which are taxes already created—I mean the Income tax and the death duties. I am sorry to tell you that the word "expansion" plays a very considerable part in the budget. The prime minister says that, after all, you need not grumble because two of these taxes are only expansions of taxes that already exist. Yes, but an income tax of 20 shillings in the pound would only be an expansion of a tax which already existed. Then the blessed word "expansion" is used in the land taxes. "Oh! they are small at present," say both the prime minister and the chancellor of the exchequer, "they are capable of infinite expansion." That is the comfort that is handed to the land taxpayer. The tax, the small, is like a dum-dum bullet; it enters the body and makes a small hole, but when it gets into the body it expands and kills the victim. Suspectious Source of the Proposal. I say that the source is suspicious because I believe that the source in the main is from our Glasgow friends of the Land Nationalization League. budget is such that every one will seek to evade it. Land, again, must be honest, so it must bear the full weight of the government tax. I say nothing with regard to the insinuation with regard to the commercial community that it will try to wriggle out of the tax, as much as it can, every means in its power; but the fact remains that the government have selected land for their special object of taxation on the ground—which I recognize as a landmark as high and honorable to mention that I cannot evade that taxation!—recommending to a budget in a free nation like this!

I want to call your attention to the other reasons which Mr. Ure urges for giving exceptional treatment to land, and I want these to sink as deep as any words I myself say to-day into the heart and the intellect of everybody present. Which are these? They are the qualities of land? Its existence, first, is not due to the owner; secondly, it is limited in quantity; thirdly, it cannot be reproduced; and, fourthly, it is absolutely necessary for existence and production. Now, of these reasons, only No. 4 is not applicable to every other form of realized property. No. 4 is not applicable to every other form of realized property. No. 4 is not applicable to every other form of realized property. No. 4 is not applicable to every other form of realized property.

He regards it of the highest importance to the camp, and of great value to its owners. He said that the Merger people had sunk two shafts about 40 feet and got indications of silver. Then they discontinued work. Under the direction of the Geological Survey was started on the wide expanse of land that was one of the promising features of the property. The shaft was put down 125 feet, the calcite vein shows showing strong and wide, and it was found to be a vein, always showing small and some silver. At the 125-foot level drifting was begun both east and west. All this work was in the conglomerate formation. At 250 feet from the shaft, native silver was suddenly encountered with the calcite and the small veins brought up were remarkably rich in native silver. It was also shown in the silver in the wall rock. The mine is now being cleared out and further shafts will be put in next week, but Mr. Fisher, a most careful man, has no doubt of the value of the ore, and he is likely to run to great body. The ore is like Timiskaming. Mr. Fisher went on to say that this find was in the conglomerate formation, until recently more or less ostracized, every day of the week. The ore is in this formation; so is the Kendall vein of the Nipissing. You go over a bit further to the east and you encounter another band of conglomerate full of rich mines, about Kerr Lake, making the development of the Cobalt the most promising part of the camp.

other words the southern bound of the silver-producing camp, taking Red Jacket and Ophir (the sensation of six weeks ago) as the two extremes of the strike, a proportion covering that boundary nearly five miles across. The north and south line of silver production is a good deal over three miles, so that roughly speaking cobalt's silver producing area is the day of the Red Jacket mine, and at least 12 square miles; and new finds and rich finds are constantly being made in this area. But not only that, silver is being found in the Red Jacket mine, and the diabase conglomerate and the Keewatin. Red Jacket is in conglomerate. And there is still another thing: While this new find is just one of the many finds that are being made, the Gillies' limits just across the track and south of Red Jacket, and as usual the man who appears to have bought the adjoining property in the Gillies' limits the other day—almost every day of the week—has been the ever-fortunate M. J. O'Brien. The Ontario Government has thus had two cases of bad luck; a week or ten days after they parted with what is known as the Waidman Mine, which was found on land on the adjoining claim of O'Brien and Young, and now this week they've only sold to Mr. O'Brien another piece, when Red Jacket alongside makes a marvelous find that must extend into the new Kerr Lake, making the development of the Cobalt the most promising part of the camp.

Now for the story of the Red Jacket mine: It is organized as the Red Jacket Silver Mines (Ltd.), with a capital of $1,250,000, and is owned by five men, B. E. Cartwright (president), George C. Pratt, Buffalo (vice-president), J. W. Ford (treasurer), F. M. Ely of Ridgeway, Ontario, and the late Mr. Morrison of Pennsylvania. The chief engineer is Alex. Fasken of Toronto. None of the stock has ever been put on the market. The mine was sold by Major Morrison about three years ago in the height of the boom for $350,000 to the Cobalt Merger, who paid $75,000 down in cash. Later on they were unable to complete their payments and the property went back to the Morrison syndicate. The Cobalt Merger then started to develop the property as long as their money lasted, but with no great encouragement. Last November Mr. Cartwright and his present associates bought the property and started development work in February of this year. They put in new machinery, a six-drum compressor plant, a big shaft of men, and began at once sinking a new shaft up over the ridge. They have steadily pursued this policy for eight months, success coming a few days ago. The shaft was down 125 feet, and the cross cuts from it are in a total of nearly 500 feet. The vein that was uncovered in the blast work, but it is calcite and cobalt, 24 inches wide and carrying native silver of a surprising richness more or less across this whole width.

The work on the Silver Jacket has been under the immediate charge of Mr. N. R. Fisher, general manager and engineer of the Timiskaming, one of the most successful mine superintendents of the camp. On Saturday afternoon The World representative sought out Mr. Fisher and got him to describe the new find.

pered, under very bad government, but the quality of consols, the stability of consols, depend entirely on the excellence of the government. If the government is bad consols go down without any exertion or expenditure on the part of the owner, as if the government is good—I am bound to say in passing that I believe consols were never so much as good they will go up, and the owner will reap a profit without any exertion on his part, and without this being due to anything that he had done or expended. I ask you, then, to remember this—that the arguments on which this special taxation is applied to land apply logically to consols, and if to consols, therefore, obviously to all other forms of realized property which depend on the stability of our government.

I take one other form of property, and only one other form of property. More than any other form of property, more than land itself, do they depend on the action of the government. You know, the shareholder has nothing to do with that. The existence of a railway is not due to the owner of the shares, but to the government in quantity, and they owe none of their value to anything the owner of the shares does or spends, but they are absolutely necessary for the existence of the community. It is the community which is well off and travels, the shares go up, and if the community is poor and does not travel, the shares go down. If you have a chance, the community should take to another form of conveyance and go thru the air, why not? I venture to say that the property in railway stocks is far more liable to taxation under the principles which the government is now applying to land, and therefore, I think these principles interest you in Glasgow very considerably.

I advise the owners of railway property, however small or however large their holdings may be, to scrutinize carefully the contagious nature of the principles this budget has raised. These principles are eminently contagious. I have many members of parliament—a considerable number, at any rate, sitting behind the treasury bench—who honestly wish those principles to be contagious. They are hostile to every form of property, and I confess that I cannot, with all my respect for his ability and high purpose, trust the chancellor of the exchequer to stand like Aaron between the living and the dead, between the taxpayer who has just died under his taxation, and the living object to whom he proposes to apply them.

THE PLenary COUNCIL

Two Notable Sermons Preached in Quebec Yesterday.

QUEBEC, Que., Sept. 19.—(Special.)—The event of to-day in the Ancient Capitol was the two sermons preached in the Basilique, Archbishop Gauthier in English and Monsignor Bruchet in French, both of which were in the same language, the object of the plenary council, which will begin its labors to-morrow morning. His grace of Montreal said that although the bishops were not gathered there to discuss political questions, or commerce, or art, yet they were all interested in everything that affects the progress and prosperity of their common country. At noon the members of the council only.

PERHAPS FATALLY HURT BY CONSTRUCTION CAR

William Pratt Crushed by Wheels While Attempting to Aboard.

While attempting to get out of a Toronto Railway construction car, a man was crushed by the wheels. The man was William Pratt, 46, of 344 Wilton-avenue, foreman of the construction gang, fell under the wheels and was probably fatally injured. His left side was crushed in and it is thought all the ribs on that side are broken. He received a gash on his head, but no skull wound, and a number of bruises.

CANADA'S PREFERENCE VIEWS

Purely Commercial, Say Australian Editors in Making Comparisons.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(C.A.P.)—According to The Chronicle's Sydney dispatch, the majority of the Sydney dailies adopt a high tone and argue that the question of preference in an imperial spirit and not merely from a selfish view of local interests. They point out that the Canadian delegates to the chambers of commerce congress adopted a purely commercial tone, while the Australian, who did not initiate the debate, adopted an imperial basis and discussed the British and political aspects of the question.

continues its smoky agitation until stilled by the hopeless frost of early night. At this time, the field work was painful, the need of our vehicles increased us to persistent action in the chase of walrus, seal, narwhal and white whale. We harvested food and fuel.

GAME PLENTIFUL FOR FOOD SUPPLY.

Before winter was spread over the hunting grounds, the Eskimos were sought to supply the table during the long night with delicacies, while bear and fox pleased the palate of the Eskimos, and their secure food, which seldom was lacking. Many long journeys were made to secure an important supply of grass to pad boots and mittens, and also to secure moss, which serves as a wick for the Eskimo lamps.

THE APPROACH OF AN ARCTIC WINTER.

In early September at Annotok, the sun dips considerably under the northern horizon. There is no night, but the bursts of color which are the glory of the twilight, and the electric afterglow is generally in the day, and the storm clouds are the storm of the setting sun. The gloom of the coming winter now thickens. The splendor of the summer season begins to fade, and a night of six months is often ascribed to the polar regions as a whole, but this is only true of a very small area about the pole, where the sun slips under the horizon for an ever increasing part of each 24 hours. Preceding and following the night are days of day and night, which lengthen with the descent of latitude.

To retain the names of the usual seasons—summer for the double days, fall for the period of the setting sun, winter for the long night, and spring for the period of the rising sun, a period corresponding to the autumn days of the setting sun. At Annotok the midnight sun is first seen over the sea horizon on April 1. It dips in the evening, and it thus encircles the horizon, giving summer and continuous day for 118 days. It sets at midday on Oct. 24, and is absent a period of prolonged night corresponding to the day and rises on Feb. 20. Then follow the eye-opening days of spring.

In the fall, when the harmonizing influence of the sun is withdrawn, there begins a battle of the elements which ever presented to any parliament; and yet I believe I will not call it a peace budget, because our own chancellor of the exchequer says that it is a war budget—a budget of implacable war against poverty, war against unemployment, and by the great depletion of capital from which wages alone are striking. The new budget feature is this—the want of preparation in all the taxes of the budget, the violent onslaught on land which is, according to the speaker, the promoters of being little or nothing, and the general, and I may say the universal, insecurity which is produced by this provision.

Remember this, gentlemen, these taxes are not to provide for national defence or any of the primary necessities of government; they are to hand over to the central government vast sums to be used at the will or whim of the central government, without as much parliamentary control as we have been accustomed to have. I wish I could say that this very important budget—by far the most important that has come in my time—showed any signs of adequate preparation, but it is quite clear from the vicissitudes which it has undergone in its course through parliament that there has been no adequate preparation, but it is made up of their mind, whether they wished to tax development, whether they wished to tax undeveloped minerals. They had not made up their mind on the economic side, whether they wished to tax undeveloped minerals. They had not made up their mind on the economic side, whether they wished to tax undeveloped minerals.

N. T. PEOPLE DISCUSS ACTION OF COUNCIL

Pass Vote of Censure on Some of Them—Mayor May Not Re-submit Bylaw.

NORTH TORONTO, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—Whereas at a properly constituted election in the town on July 1st last on a bylaw submitted to the people the vote of the bylaw was carried by a substantial majority.

And whereas at a later date certain members of the town council refused to carry out the wishes of the majority of the municipal voters as indicated by the vote.

And whereas the wish of the people is now recognized as the supreme authority.

We, a regular and open meeting of the town ratepayers, condemn the action of those members of our council who refused to carry out the indisputable will of the people.

We further believe that in the interests of constituted authority an appeal should be made to the provincial board for redress and that a committee be appointed to present the case to that body for their consideration.

This was the motion submitted to the ratepayers of North Toronto, and carried by a substantial majority at a meeting held under the auspices of the Ratepayers' Association in the town hall on Saturday night.

Called primarily by President Ellis to discuss the sewerage question in all its bearings, past and present, from start to finish, the meeting was full of vigor and many a long day has elapsed since the historic town hall held a livelier crowd.

Each and every member of the town council had received a special invitation from the association and each and all except Councillor Parks responded.

Ex-Mayor in the Chair. Ex-Mayor John Fisher was in the chair and that the meeting retained even a semblance of order was largely owing to the venerable ex-mayor's firm yet courteous handling of the case.

Only even handed justice was dealt out. Interruptions were the order of the day, but they were for the most part of a friendly nature.

Probably 150 citizens were present at the outset, but the fact that the meeting was prolonged to near the witching hour of midnight may be attributed to the small vote recorded. That an earlier vote would have augmented this is probable.

The chairman first called upon President Ellis, but the latter in turn suggested Mayor Brown at the outset, and the chief magistrate accordingly took the stand.

Says Did Not Know. "I have been charged with not being sincere in recording my vote in favor of the bylaw, and with being aware of the contemplated action of councillors on the night when the quorum was broken, both of which I positively deny," said Mayor Brown. "I knew nothing of the course proposed."

In regard to the deputation which called upon me at the store to call a special meeting, I claim that it was not a proper course to pursue. The deputation was too short to call a meeting, and I was acting within my rights."

The mayor then launched into a lengthy dissertation as to the merits of respective sewer systems, and incidentally charged that the bylaw was pushed thru with undue haste, objected to the general tax except in the case of trunk sewers, and avowed his desire to still insist on sewer matters, and was taken to task by Councillor Grice.

"This meeting was called to discuss sewerage matters," said Mayor Brown. "Not at all," said Mr. Banton, "we are here to discuss your action in the matter." The interruption provoked a stormy period of short duration.

Mr. Ellis, in a speech of some length, disapproved the charge made by Mayor Brown that the matter was rushed thru with undue haste, and reviewed in detail the many meetings leading up to the vote on July 1st.

"It was not the people who defeated the bylaw," said Councillor Irwin, "but members of the council. I take it as an insult for one member to say that this matter should be re-submitted," said he. The Town of North Toronto has no right to accept dictation from any one man, he declared, and the crowd sustained the chairman of fire and lights in his contention.

Matter Was Settled. "We have absolutely nothing to do with the question of the re-submission of the sewerage bylaw," said T. W. Banton, in the outset of a rattling good speech, "that has been settled by the ratepayers of the town. We have to do with the actions of the two council members. I protest against one or two members constituting themselves a house of lords," said he.

D. D. Reid spoke at some length. Whenever you want a whisky that satisfies, you should order "Private Stock" Robertson's Scotch. The Whisky that isn't raw.

JOHN ROBERTSON & SON, LIMITED 610 HURON ST. W. MONTREAL

Councillor Grice earlier in the meeting had avowed his continued opposition to the plan, and stated that he had been heartily endorsed by the citizens, a statement which was corroborated later by Councillor Murphy.

In the outset Councillor Murphy charged that the criticism of The World was unduly severe, and later trained his guns on Councillor Parks, who, he stated, had called at the meetings to discuss the sewerage bylaw on Saturday nights, when he could not attend.

"Had Councillor Howe or Councillor Parks been present it would have relieved me of the necessity of breaking the quorum," he said.

"Not so," said Councillor Howe, "if you had remained in your seat the mayor, according to his own statement, would have supported the bylaw."

Councillor R. W. E. Burnaby warmly defended the action of council through the amount of about $2000. The bylaw in council, and charged as absurd the statement of Councillor Murphy that the cost would have been anything like as stated by the latter.

Citizen Cording was especially demonstrative at this point and was suppressed with difficulty. Councillors Murphy and Grice is subversive of responsible government," said H. H. Ball, "and steps will be taken by the legislature to see that a parallel case does not occur in Ontario again. We have lost our manhood if we allow this thing to occur without a protest," said he. With the passage of the resolution the gathering dispersed.

Briar Fire in Local Dairy. Fire in the hygienic dairy at Eglinton on Saturday afternoon caused damage to the amount of about $2000. The fire started about 2:30 o'clock in the bottle washing room caused presumably from the engine, spreading to the milk room both of which were gutted. Thru the good work of a volunteer fire brigade, the big barn was saved. The loss on the building which was owned by Alex. Bryce is fully covered by insurance.

WEST TORONTO. WEST TORONTO, Sept. 19.—Alfred Singles of Edmund-street and his 3-year-old son had a narrow escape this afternoon. While driving under the subway in one of James Greig's rigs, the horse frightened at a passing train and bolted.

Reaching Dundas-street the animal took to the sidewalk, and between the postoffice and Betts' news stand, and by the collision of the wheels with the curb Singles was thrown out, receiving severe cuts about the face and some body bruises.

The horse, freeing itself from the rig, dashed along Keele-street, but it was caught opposite the firehall by Fireman Burt Spicer. The little boy was picked up from the floor of the rig, unhurt. Billy Duncan, who happened to be driving past took Singles to his home.

There are 108 cars of stock in the Union Stock Yards for to-morrow's market, containing 210 cattle, 41 calves and 642 sheep.

Mrs. Wyatt, 1486 Dundas-street, is suffering from appendicitis. She was taken this afternoon to the Western Hospital in Campbell & Edington's private ambulance.

EAST TORONTO. EAST TORONTO, Sept. 19.—Little York again showed their class in football team by defeating Scarborough by the score of 3 goals to 0. The game was very close and Little York were never sure of the game till the last goal was scored.

The game was free from roughness, and the boys were complimented on their clear style of play.

Cecil J. Bell left yesterday on an extended trip thru the States, and will call at Saratoga and Springfield, Mass., before he returns to work, as secretary of the railroad branch of the East Toronto Y.M.C.A.

A meeting was held this afternoon in Shell's Hall, on the subject of the Y.M.C.A. by the G. T. R. brakemen, where they discussed the recent change made by the G. T. R. in the making up of their trains, and the efforts that have been made to keep the shops at York. Also there was quite a discussion by the men, nothing definite decided.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Warwick returned to-day from their summer vacation, which they spent at their cottage, at Windemere, Muskoka.

ONE DROWNED AND OTHERS BURNED IN YACHT FIRE. MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Sept. 19.—Theodore Englander, Jr., 18, son of the pastor of the local German Lutheran Church, was drowned last night, Ray de Kay and Ray Groesbeck were badly burned about the hands and 22 rays of the Mount Clemens High School, many of them girls, had a narrow escape from death when the 44-foot gasoline launch Saratoga, on which the party was returning from a picnic at Tashmos Park, burst to the water's edge in the mouth of the Clinton River.

Gov. Johnson Sends Greeting to Taft. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 19.—President Taft came to the Twin Cities of Minnesota Saturday, and with the shadow of death hanging over the governor of the state, received a cordial but not a demonstrative welcome.

The critical illness of Gov. Johnson, probably the most popular executive Minnesota has ever known, entered deeply into the spirit of the day. President Taft was deeply affected. Soon after his arrival he received a message of personal greeting from Gov. Johnson. Coming by dictation from the lips of a man who was reported at the time as having but the faint chance of life, it called out an immediate sympathetic response from Mr. Taft.

Corn Roast at Short Branch. Saturday evening was enjoyably spent at "Camp Cookery," Short Branch (a suburb of Long Branch), by a number of friends of Pearce Bros. & Burt. Supper was followed by a round of tag, which was given up to a "Welterwurst" followed by a corn-roast. The party then broke up with three loud hurrahs for the hosts.

Clubb to Open Branch. A. Clubb & Sons, wholesale and retail tobacconists, 5 West King-street, occupied the premises at 445 Yonge-street, occupied by Mrs. Ford, florist, and will open a branch there next January. The lease covers a period of 10 years. This is another evidence that the trend of trade is northward.

By Rex Beach

DASHING with breathless interest to an unexpected and triumphant climax, this new Rex Beach novel—from the first page to the last—has all the sheer power of The Spoilers and all the quick humor and human sympathy of The Barrier. The background, superb in its robust romance, is Alaska, not the Alaska of the mines, but another phase altogether—the Alaska where red blood runs in the veins of men.

The Silver Horde

—yes, and of women. The hero is a young civil-engineer, in love with the daughter of a financier. In search of a fortune, he has faced all forms of hardship in Alaska. When he has almost given up hope, he meets Cherry Malotte—the Cherry of The Spoilers—all fire and grit and tenderness, and the two join forces. Their battle with fate is a page from life itself—intense, powerful, passionately true.

NEW ST. AIDAN'S CHURCH DEDICATED BY BISHOP

Clergymen of Several Denominations Present at Ceremony—Edifice Will Seat 1100.

The corner-stone of the new St. Aidan's church, at the corner of East Queen-street and Birch-avenue, was laid by Bishop Eby, at Zion Church on College-street, corner Elizabeth-street, Rev. Dr. Eby, who has lately taken charge of the church, outlined the plan of work at the service yesterday morning.

"Instead of the address intended for this morning, I will give you," said Dr. Eby, "an outline of the plan of our work in the People's Institute in order to prevent possible misunderstanding."

"In the first place Zion Church as such remains its distinct autonomy and remains a unit in Congregationalism as before. It is in the very fact of its being Congregational that it is classic enough to do unusual things."

Combination of Associations. "In the second place, the congregation of Zion having for the most part moved away to the new surroundings, an ordinary family church is impossible. But the management has consented to an arrangement whereby a combination of autonomous associations will utilize this splendid location for work that is age and the conditions in this city call for. The associations now within the institute are the church, the Bible Study Association, and the People's Forum; such a separate entity, but co-operating under one superintendency."

"In the third place, we have several associations as guests, which make the premises their home. The Canadian Peace and Arbitration Society, the Toronto Suffrage Association, The Friends' Central Meeting and Friends' Association, with co-operation in furthering in different ways a common ideal."

"As to the teaching and point of view, we simply reset the old gospel to present conditions. The intellectual new world of to-day demands a restatement of the whole world of thought, including theology. The Bible, rightly understood, retains its supremacy in the spiritual realm open to man. Its study is fundamental for all moral and social advance."

The Bible Study Association, with the help of the best scholarship and devout insight, will face present day questions with present-day answers, will study the Bible for what it is, not for what some people may have thought it to be.

"The religious point of view is that of spirit and life, not of external authority. We seek not novelties, but we do seek truth. We seek to translate truth into practical results. We seek not merely that which will draw a crowd, but that which shall benefit the people. We seek the dominion of God among men, and confidently expect the fulfillment of the promise: 'All these things shall be added unto you.'"

At the People's Forum in the afternoon, Inspector Hughes gave a fine address on "The Case for Adult Suffrage." A large gathering took part in a lively discussion which followed. Prof. Farmer of McMaster University preached at the evening service.

Hallam to Have Ottawa Branch. OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—John Hallam, Toronto, importer and exporter of domestic and foreign raw and dressed furs, has written the city clerk asking for a copy of the city building by-laws. He states he intends shortly to erect a warehouse in Ottawa.

Inland Revenue Decreases. OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—(Special.)—During Aug. 1st the revenue of the inland revenue department was $1,235,860, a decrease of $3,027, as compared with August, 1905.

History of St. Aidan's. St. Aidan's was established eight years ago as a mission under the jurisdiction of St. John's, Norway, with Rev. Canon Dixon as rector, and Rev. Mr. McIntyre curate-in-charge. Services were held in a tent. Last year St. Aidan's became an independent parish, and Rev. Mr. McIntyre, who is a graduate of Wycliffe, was appointed rector.
