Cold Currents Drive French Sardines Far Out To Sea; Fine Lobsters Found Off Erin

BOULOGNE, France, Sept. 30.—The French marine research vessel La Tanche has just found out why sardines leave home. The problem had been bothering French fishermen and sardine packers for several years. The cause has been traced to cold currents which drive the sardines far out to sea. The research workers found that cold currents have come into the area since the strike, and have driven the sardines out to sea. The French fishing fleet, at greater risk, is now hunting them in by net boats. The government vessel also started sardine fishing grounds in the North Sea and off the Irish coast, once considered barren and dangerous because covered with coral but now known to be the breeding ground of the choicest lobsters.

First U. S. Court On Canadian Soil Sits

EDMUNDSTON, Sept. 29.—The first American court to sit on Canadian soil held its sittings in the court house here today in the case of Cyr against Barry. The case notified a certain bond given by John T. Cyr guaranteeing that Barry, the defendant, would appear in a certain action in Canada within a month from the giving of the bond following a car collision in Maine. The defendant failed to appear, Cyr paid on the bond and sued Barry on the American side.

FACILITIES LACKING

There were no facilities for fighting the fire and efforts were chiefly concentrated on getting all the occupants out of the burning building as well as rescuing some of the rare pieces of furniture. The fire at its height made a configuration that was seen for miles around. A curious freak of the flames was witnessed in the burning of an old woodwork piano which had been brought from the United States at the time of the fire. The piano seemed to offer a greater resistance to the fire and while the shell of the building had been demolished, the piano could be discerned slowly burning, standing erect on its slender legs.

LAST OBJECT DISCOVERABLE

It was the last single object discernible in the blazing ruins and it finally suddenly collapsed. The old homestead had been dismantled and every adornment that refinement and taste of the period dictated, and it had always been a place of lavish hospitality from the early days up to the present time.

Never Look 40 that's a needless folly

By NORMA TALMADGE

This simple rule in skin care has largely made the "middle-aged woman" a tragedy of the past—try it, for one week.

KEEPING youth is something more than merely the fantasy wish of every woman. It is a duty that she owes herself and others. Look everywhere today. Note how women are retaining youthful charm through the thirties, into and well beyond the forties.

THE RULE IN SKIN CARE URGED BY EXPERTS Wash your face gently with soothing Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly first with warm water, then with cold. Your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream. Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

FIRE WEEK.

Because statistics show that the average annual fire loss of insurable property in Canada exceeds $45,000,000 and that more than 850 persons lose their lives every year as a result of fire because the life and property are absolutely and irreversibly lost because at least eighty per cent. of the fires are attributed directly or indirectly to inexcusable ignorance and neglect of the Governor-General of Canada has issued a proclamation appointing next week as "Fire Prevention Week."

During next week, the following seven points are recommended to our attention:

- 1. All dwellings and their surroundings be carefully inspected by their occupants and all conditions likely to cause or promote the spread of fires removed.
2. All public buildings, stores, warehouses and factories be inspected and cleaned of rubbish in order to reduce fire hazards and maintain health and safety.
3. All hotels, theatres, asylums, hospitals and other institutional buildings be inspected and provision made for all changes necessary to protect the occupants from danger in the event of fire.
4. Fire drills be held for the children in all schools, for the inmates of all institutions and for the employes in all large stores and factories in order that a greater degree of safety may be effected by acquainting the occupants with the best and most expeditious mode of exit in time of danger.
5. Special instruction on the subject of fire prevention be given by the teacher and by municipal officials in the schools and that such appropriate literature as may be made available be distributed to the pupils.
6. Boy scout leaders give instructions to the troops under their control as to the best means of co-operating with municipal fire departments in the prevention and extinguishing of fires and especially as to the desirability of qualifying for the fireman's badge.
7. All legislation and regulations enacted or issued by Dominion, provincial or municipal authorities dealing with fire prevention be given publicity by the municipal officials and that by public meetings or otherwise as may to them seem most fit, they endeavor to impress upon the citizens the national importance of safe-guarding life and property from loss by fire.

Since the importance of educating the young on the subject of fire prevention is recognized as of paramount importance particular attention is directed to the schools. A special communication is addressed by the Dominion Fire Commissioner to all school principals and teachers and includes a suggested programme as well as suggestions for remarks by the teacher. In addition to these, certain safety rules are promulgated under the following heads: Safety rules for matches, for lights, for stoves and furnaces, for open fires, for cooking and cleaning, for rubbish, for coal oil, for electricity, for gasoline, for gas, for holidays, and in smoking. Additional rules are set forth for fighting fires and for fire drills in schools.

Along with this communication goes a questionnaire which, it is suggested, teachers should instruct their pupils to copy and take home to answer with the assistance of their parents. Presumably the idea is not only to educate the child but, when necessary, the parent also and at the same time, to remind the latter to pay attention to the small precautions too often disregarded.

The importance of fire protection and fire education cannot be over-stressed. A special week has been set aside by the authorities to bring the matter home with particular force. There can be none who disagree with the principles of the protection. Only laziness and apathy prevent all coming out as strong workers to fight the fire demon. Next week we are invited to give the matter our attention and it is earnestly to be hoped that every man, woman and child in Canada from Atlantic to Pacific will join in the crusade to prevent fire which exacts annually such terrific tolls of property and life.

IMMIGRATION.

The Vancouver Province says that no party in Canada has a considered and practical immigration policy, although the great need at the moment is more people to fill the vacant spaces. As a result of this condition, the Province further says, "It has come about that the discussion of immigration—our most vital problem—has been left largely, during recent months, to visitors from the Old Land." The Bishop of London, Lord Clarendon, Sir James Craig and others have spoken, and all of them have pleaded that good British stock especially be secured to aid in the development of the magnificent resources of the Dominion. Lord Clarendon declares the Empire Land Settlement Scheme has proved a success as far as it has progressed. He is especially interested in the Maritime Provinces as a field for immigrants. There will be general agreement with the following remarks by the Vancouver Province: "The problem to be solved is a great one, the greatest with which the new government of the Dominion will be confronted. We need people; we should prefer people of British stock, and there are plenty of them to be had if we can persuade them to come and can take care of them after they arrive. There is even money available to help them coming. The British Government has had £3,000,000 voted for immigration purposes, and has only been able to use £200,000 of it. Organization is required at both ends. There must be organization overseas to awaken the interest of possible immigrants, to select those that are of the proper type and get them started on their way. There must be organization on this side to receive them, give them training and advice and assistance, protect them from exploitation and help them get on their feet in the new and strange land. We can no longer depend on the old system of luring the immigrant to our shores and then allowing him to sink or swim. The immigrant who sinks is the worst kind of an advertisement."

The Maritimes need an effective organization of their own, to work in co-operation with the Imperial and Dominion Governments, and they should be represented in the Old Country as well as on this side. Lord Clarendon is convinced upon personal enquiry and observation that new settlers of the right kind, who are well received in communities where they locate, can succeed here. He will say to Great Britain, let us not lose the benefit of this most practical kind of advertising of our resources and the opportunities available for the intelligent settler.

THE AMERICAN TARIFF.

The New York Times indulges in mild satire in some observations regarding the Republicans and the tariff. The Fordney-McCumber tariff is four years old. The American Protective Tariff League is quoted as asserting that this tariff more than anything else is due "the prosperity now enjoyed by all classes of the American people," but over against that The Times presents this evidence from Massachusetts: "Average wages in our cotton mills are less than $18 a week. Even for men—heads of families—the average wage in the cotton mills is only $20 a week. Yet you are a great cotton manufacturer, one of the largest in the State. How would you like to bring up your family on $20 a week? Average wages in Massachusetts were less this year than in 1925. And in 1925 Massachusetts wages averaged 10 per cent. less than in 1924."

If he would therefore appear, The Times thinks, that the tariff as a vital issue is somewhat lacking in vitality, and that "tariff-born prosperity has its drawbacks in some states that have permitted themselves to become not entirely prosperous in spite of the inflexible tariff."

The view has been expressed in Democratic quarters in the United States that the result of the Canadian elections will benefit the cause of a reduced tariff over the border. At all events, the Democrats will make another fight on that issue.

DINNER STORIES

THE doctor called on a man who was ill and told the wife she must put him into a recumbent position. "A recumbent position," said the doctor. As soon as he had gone she went to a neighbor and said: "Mrs. Brown, could you lend me a recumbent position?"

But Mrs. Brown was determined not to show her ignorance and answered: "I'm very sorry, my dear, but I've lent mine to Mrs. Smith."

IT WAS in a small town, but two fashionable weddings were going to take place there. One of the brides went into the postoffice with a feeling that the postal clerks would be thrilled at her order—they could fill it.

"I'd like 1,000 stamps," she said, "if you have them." "Sure," said the postal clerk. "I can give you more if you want them. The other bride was in yesterday and she took 2,000."

WHO'S WHO

J. V. STALIN BEHIND the kaleidoscope of Soviet politics, which recently has sent some well-known figures tumbling, stands a new power in the person of Stalin, the name he took when he became the "Man of Steel."

He is the Russian counterpart of the commissariat of trade, the head of the machine, the power behind the principal actors of the Soviet drama. He sent Zinoviev down from power and was behind the dismissal of Kamenev from his place as chief of the commissariat of trade. His name is Josef Djugashvili.

He is a big man and dour. He is a blustering, rough and impetuous leader, who wins through discipline or cajolery. Lenin was his first idol and still is his example. But Stalin is a practical man of politics, who does not let his theories stand in his way.

In his hands Soviet Russia probably is on the edge of many changes which will make it fit more smoothly into the society of other nations, for Stalin is neither a bigot nor a fanatic. He has made himself deliberately a man of greatest mystery. For years he boasted that he had never given out an interview.

He has been a revolutionist since 1905, when he took active part in the Caucasus, for which he was arrested by the czar's police and exiled to Siberia. But he came back and worked several years, quietly and smoothly with Lenin.

It was his task, when the Soviet union was formed, to placate the so-called "outer nationalities," the states surrounding the fringes of Central Russia which were declared free and independent by the Soviets, but which had, above all else, to be kept within the Soviet circle.

Then Stalin was promoted to become secretary of the Communist party, which controls the Soviet government, and there again his diplomacy, judgment and political sense won for him a conspicuous success.

He is gathering the fruits of it now, for the secretaryship gave him control of the Soviet political machine, the "steam roller," which he now steers over the earlier officers.

It is no use having a thermometer under the radiator, and that is the trouble with all these political and industrial thermometers in London—David Lloyd George. Siegfried Sassoon Tolstaid in gopholes, digging for worms—Ronald Firbank, in a posthumous anecdote. Race-consciousness is rather a silly thing. Queer Quirks of Nature

HANDSOME IN YOUTH, THEN LOSES BEAUTY

BY AUSTIN H. CLARK HANDSOME children are not always handsome as grown-ups. It is the same way with caterpillars. The caterpillar shows above, which is very common, often, indeed, altogether too common, is an unusually pretty type. It is white banded with black and adorned with black-tipped tufts and bundles of hairs. The head is bright red.

The moth into which it turns is a curious creature. The male (upper right) is brown with very large wings, and is very active. He does not live very long as he cannot eat, not having the usual long tube through which moths and butterflies suck up their nourishment.

The female (lower right) is very much larger than the male, and is distinctly of the home-loving type, whether she wants to or not makes no difference. She has no wings and so has to be.

Her life is singularly prosaic. She crawls out of the cocoon, lays her eggs, usually on the cocoon itself and dies.

Still, life for her has its compensations. As a caterpillar she was twice as large as her active mate and correspondingly more beautiful.

A serious revolt in the Dutch army because the beer ration of special troops was not increased after a particularly arduous day's manoeuvres. If army manoeuvres and beer are inseparable, maybe that accounts for Uncle Sam's small standing army.

THE KEYS TO THE CITY CICERO, Ill.—It has been learned that the car which headed a cavalcade of eight cars in the recent underworld shooting-match here, was a police car, with the usual bell and everything. So, at least, say witnesses. It is nothing new to suspect the police of being "hand-in-glove" with the Clemons, but hitherto they have maintained a sort of mild restraint. It is coincidentally expected, by some critics, that Chicago's court houses will be made gangster headquarters. It would simplify things, at that.

NO BEER, NO WAR AMSTERDAM—Army life isn't what it used to be. (Chorus: "It never was.") Anyway, there has been

It was a fairly easy and profitable occupation, what with the multiplicity of petticoats and, er, what-not. But now women's clothes are so few, so scant that there simply aren't any rags—not to speak of, anyway, And men's shirts! Once they afforded a plentiful supply for the rag man. But now an old shirt is simply something to use in polishing up the car. And the rag man wanders about, aimlessly, dreaming of the good old, dear old, happy old days when shirts were shirts and petticoats were not imaginary.

It was his task, when the Soviet union was formed, to placate the so-called "outer nationalities," the states surrounding the fringes of Central Russia which were declared free and independent by the Soviets, but which had, above all else, to be kept within the Soviet circle.

Then Stalin was promoted to become secretary of the Communist party, which controls the Soviet government, and there again his diplomacy, judgment and political sense won for him a conspicuous success.

POEMS I LOVE

"A Ballad of Trees and the Master," by Sidney Lanier.

LANIER was a Southern poet of much distinction. In some of his long, swinging, Spenserian measures he is amazingly effective; yet I think I like him even better in the simple, yet profound mood of a short poem like this.

Into the woods my Master went, Clean forsopt, clean forsopt. Into the woods my Master came, Forspent with love and shame. But the olives they were not blind to Him; The thorn-tree had a mind to Him When into the woods He came.

Out of the woods my Master went, And He was well content. But the woods my Master came, Content with death and shame. When Death and Shame would woo Him last From under the trees they drew Him last

"Twas on a tree they drew Him—last, When out of the woods He came." (Copyright, 1926.)

Timely Views on World Topics

PROHIBITION HAS REDUCED DRINKING NINETY PER CENT

By IRVING FISHER, Professor of Economics at Yale University in his new book, "Prohibition at Its Best."

EMORY R. BUCKNER, United States District Attorney in New York, presented estimates at the sub-committee hearings in Washington, purporting to show that the diversion of industrial alcohol probably reached 60,000,000 gallons a year.

This was unexpected, and, of course, was good "news" for the press.

Dr. J. M. Doran, Chief Chemist of the Bureau of Internal Revenue and in charge of the department dealing with this phase of the situation, presented a Prof. Fisher's excellent and elaborate analysis of Buckner's erroneous reasoning, and also a study showing the diversion of industrial alcohol for beverage purposes to be between 10,000,000 and 15,000,000 gallons a year, and probably between 13,000,000 and 14,000,000, or only 8 to 9 per cent of the pre-war consumption of beverage alcohol.

It must also be remembered that not all of the alcohol diverted is consumed. Between 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 gallons have been re-captured and confiscated. Leakage, breakage and evaporation will account for almost as much more. The result is that probably illegal consumption of alcohol from diverted industrial alcohol is less than 5 per cent of pre-prohibition legal consumption, and, therefore, still less than 8 per cent of the total pre-prohibition consumption, legal and illegal.

To this must, of course, be added the alcohol smuggled into the country and distilled or brewed absolutely, but all experts agree that all put together, they constitute a minor part of illegal liquor far less than that from diversion of industrial alcohol—that is, far less than 8 per cent of pre-prohibition consumption.

After an examination of all the data, I have estimated that the flow of alcohol down human throats in the United States is at present certainly less than 18 per cent, probably less than 10 per cent and possibly less than 5 per cent of pre-prohibition consumption.

An entirely independent estimate has been made by Robert A. Corradini, statistician of the world League Against Alcoholism. This is based on the assumption that the samples seized by the Treasury Department represents a true cross-section of the liquor on the market, or which the leg portion is known. This calculation has not yet been published, but

Choose Your "B" Batteries Correctly

The life of your "B" batteries depends on their size in relation to your set and on how long you listen in each day. Here are the simple rules which tell the right size "B" battery to use.

On 1 to 3 tubes—Use Eveready No. 772. On 4 or more tubes—Use the Heavy Duty "B" battery No. 770. On all but single tube sets—Use a "C" battery.

When these rules are followed, the No. 772 will last for almost a year, and the No. 770 for about eight months, when listening at the year round average of two hours a day.

NOTE: An Eveready "C" Battery not only increases the life of the "B" batteries, but adds a quality of reproduction unobtainable without it.

Why the Too-Decorative Business Woman Does Not Succeed—The Problem of the Old-Maid Sister Who is an Unpaid Servant to Her Married Brothers—Can the Widower Revive His Old Sweetheart's Love?—The Bossy Mother-in-Law.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a stenographer for an unusually successful business man. Recently I unconsciously began calling him by his Christian name. He called me down for this, saying that it did not add to the dignity of his office for me to treat him with such familiarity. Was he justified in reprimanding me for this?

DOROTHY DIX

I have a friend in a neighboring office whose chief occupation is looking pretty and entertaining her employer, who is usually found at her desk jolting and talking. She insists that I had better leave my present place and find one where I can have a better time. I have to work for a living. What do you think? PUZZLED.

ANSWERS: Your friend's advice is very bad. Don't take it. Stay where you are, because you want a permanent job in a good business, where you have a chance of future advancement.

No employer who spends his time hanging over a pretty stenographer's desk laughing and talking to her is going to have any business very long. He is slated for bankruptcy, and before you know it your friend will be out looking for another job herself.

And anyway, you are not in business to have a good time. You are there to work. A business office is no place for phlegm and entertaining, and amusing your employer is no part of your duty. Get that out of your head and you will save yourself a lot of trouble and add enormously to your chances of working up to be a highly paid private secretary.

As for your employer reproving you for addressing him by his Christian name, he was entirely right. Any such familiarity lowers the tone of the office. In most business houses, even when members of the family are employed, they address the head of the business as "Mister" in the office, no matter if he is "Dad" or "Uncle" outside of it.

Big business men do not like to have in their offices girls who are pert and flip and who dress inappropriately. They want girls who are quiet and dignified and who look like competent business women, not flappers out for a lark.

Not very long ago I asked a man why he had dismissed a very competent secretary that he had.

"Because she was always so overdressed," he replied. "She is a good girl so far as I know, but she didn't add any prestige to my office for every man who came in to say, 'Who is the little queen out there?' and dig me in the ribs and call me a lucky dog."

"I wish I had had the courage to tell her that she was ruining her reputation and killing her chance in business by the way she dolled herself up, but I didn't have the nerve to do it, so I just let her go."

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a woman 30 years old. For thirty-five years I have worked at home and done the housework and cared for an invalid mother. My brothers are all married and my mother is now dead, and I am alone. I also have three married sisters. Each one of them wants me to come and live with them, but if I do I will be nothing but an unpaid servant, a cook and a nurse.

A man whom I have known a long time and who is well off wants me to go to him, but my family object and say that I am selfish and that they need me. What do you think? WORRIED X. X.

ANSWER: I advise you by all means to marry the man. You will have every chance of happiness with him. You will be independent and you will have your own home, and your family will respect you and treat you a thousand times better than they will if you continue to sacrifice yourself for them.

There is no position in the world more pitiful than that of the woman who goes to live with her married brothers and sisters and who is supposed to earn her board and keep by doing the work of about three servants. In anybody's else house she would have her food and lodging and big wages besides, but because she is Sister Sally or Aunt Sue or mother-in-law she gets nothing.

And in addition to getting no salary, she is expected to be grateful for their kindness in taking her in, and they pay themselves on the back and talk about how good and generous they are and what a sacrifice it is for them to have to take care of a dependent female relative.

I know dozens of such women who are perfect slaves in their kindred's houses, and I always marvel that they haven't the spunk to get up and leave and go and work in somebody's else nursery or kitchen and get the appreciation and money to which they are entitled.

Don't let yourself in for this kind of an old age. If you don't marry your suitor, get a job with somebody else. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a widower past middle age. I have renewed my suit with a sweetheart of my youth, but since doing that I have fallen desperately in love with another lady whom I have just met? Shall I marry the sweetheart of long ago or will this new love be more satisfactory? G. H. W.

ANSWER: I do not think that you can revive the old love. You have probably been dreaming about this sweetheart of long ago—the has been sort of the ideal woman to you—all through your marriage, and now you turn to her and think to awaken in your heart once more the feelings of your boyhood.

You can't do it, my friend. You could just as easily, now in your stout middle-age, put on again the garments that you went securing in at sweet and 20 as you can make your mind and heart slip back into the skin of the boy you were then.

You have changed. The woman has changed, and you can't go back. I think that you will have a far better chance of happiness with the new love who represents your taste of today instead of that of yesterday. DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young man, have been married four years and have one child. I provide a fine living for my family and would get along beautifully with my wife if it wasn't for my mother-in-law interfering between us.

We are now separated, my mother-in-law having come and taken my wife home with her. Why do mothers-in-law interfere with their daughters and break up their homes, especially when there are children? D. K.

ANSWER: The devil only knows, D. K. Sometimes it is because the mother is jealous and cannot bear her daughter to love anybody better than she does. Sometimes it is because she is selfish and is determined to live with her daughter no matter how unwelcome she is to the son-in-law and how much friction she makes between the husband and wife. Generally it is because she is just bossy and is determined to rule or ruin her daughter's home.

It is a great pity, but nobody seems to know how to abate the mother-in-law peril, and, according to divorce statistics, mother-in-law wrecks more homes than all other causes combined. DOROTHY DIX.

Latest Creations From Paris Are Rich and Colorful

By W.M.E. LIBBETH

RICH and colorful are the fabrics utilized by Paris' leading couturiers in fashioning evening gowns and wraps. Lines that suggest the ancient Greek and Egyptian, those that are borrowed from a modern history as the Civil War period, and still more recent ideas are combined and used to develop these creations.

Among the three of the latest models from leading houses. On the left, a sea green wrap with gold embroidery bordering the upper sleeves and bottom of the wrap. The lower sleeves are shirred and caught into a puff, forming a border which matches the full puff collar. The lining is of spray pink satin, the model being an Agnes creation.

A navy gown of rose Lyons velvet (center) is dotted with brilliants. It features a deep V-neck bodice and a front drape—suggestive of the classic Egyptian—is topped by a star of brilliants.

At the right is a modelled frock from the other house. Sequin bands of gold and silver wrap the top, middle and bottom of the bodice at a slight slant. At the left side from there is a drape of deep plum colored velvet lined with the lighter shade.

You will notice that all three gowns are cut longer in the skirt than has been the case heretofore, a fashion that is coming more and more to be accepted for formal attire.

Elaboration of style and a decided penchant for striking fabric combinations were noted in the "Fashion Show Extrordinary" held in Chicago recently by the Fashion Art League of America, which held its semi-annual convention showing that the American houses follow the lead of the French couturiers.

Many of the evening dresses are exceedingly dignified, but in several instances, because of the ruffled skirts and bolero bodices, are very youthful and combine a touch of black velvet with a satin and lace edged skirt over which jet fringes are posed. The deep V cut in front is filled in with a male badge. Coat effects in black crepe posed over least touch of stream embroidery and a very modified blouse line at back.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michells

SOME pictures hang upon the walls to grace the shadowed room, their mystic woodland beauty calls, their sunlight cheers our gloom, in them we find the space we need, far reach of sea and sky, the loveliness on which we feed the famished soul of eye.

Though narrow are the boundaries that ring our pathways round, the pictures lead us far, in them we tread enchanted ground. Some pictures, though, we hang instead on walls of memory; our thought through time's dim galleries tread to glimpse their witchery. Bright scenes are there of childhood days, of golden hours gone by, fairer for all the world's dim ways that since have met the eye. They gladden life as paintings lead us far, in them we tread enchanted ground. Some pictures memory stores away to bless us, year by year.

BEHIND THE SCENES

By GENE COHN

IN THE versatility contests Ford Sterling has long since merited the laurel crown. Cast an eye over this list of astounding contrasts.

He started as a clown when a boy, and speaks four languages.

He is captain of Mack Bennett's Keystone Comedy Kops, yet he paints, cartoons and sculps.

He is a drawing room conversationalist of note.

ARTIST AND PIE TARGET
He has been the target for untruly on many occasions. But in "The Show Off" the picture will be his.

Starling got away to his start with John Robinson's circus, traveled with better school than Mack Bennett's musical classroom, which graduated Gloria Swanson, and many another "serious" star of today.

For a time he studied medicine, which got him interested in chemicals, and brought about his photographic hobby. More than a hundred of his subjects now are being shown in a British salon.

INSIDE film circles Starling has long since been established as a superior comic. And he has been lauded critically on many occasions. But in "The Show Off" the picture will be his.

RECIPIENTS OF SILVER TROPHY

Cup is Presented to Craydens
at Manchester Unity Gathering

The handsome silver trophy awarded to the Craydens, winners of the Cantleaver Lodge, I. O. O. F., Manchester Unity baseball league was presented last evening at the social gathering of the members of both Loyalty and Cantleaver Lodges held in the Oddfellows' Hall in the market building. The presentation was made by R. Lloyd Berringer, past provincial grand master, and the trophy was received by the manager of the league, Craydens, Collins and Keating, each team being named after one of the three donors of the trophy, who were E. H. Crayden, grand secretary of the I. O. O. F., Manchester Unity; R. Collins, deputy grand treasurer, and H. W. Keating, grand treasurer.

The cup is about 10 inches high and is of silver with gold lining. On the top is a shield bearing the following inscription: "Cantleaver Lodge C. C. K. trophy, 1926." Any team in the league must win this trophy three successive years to hold it permanently.

Mr. Whitehouse expressed the thanks of his team, in accepting the trophy. The gathering was largely attended and Charles McConnell, treasurer of Cantleaver Lodge, who was the chairman, extended a hearty welcome to the visitors in the name of the two hostess lodges. Seated with Mr. McConnell on the platform were the grand master, A. W. Black, and A. L. Berringer, P. P. G. M., who gave a very instructive address on the good of the order and stated that Manchester Unity I. O. O. F. was the oldest order of Oddfellows in the world.

An excellent concert program was enjoyed. The various numbers included the following: Vocal solo, G. Morris; piano duet, Miss Viola Hearn and Irene McAuley; vocal solo, Donald Stockford; piano solo, Miss Emily Pye; the Charleston dance, by Miss Miss Priscilla Earle; vocal solo, Arthur Harris; step dance, the Colmanes, Miss Smith; recitations, R. L. Berringer and Mrs. A. M. Dupliss; vocal solo, Mrs. E. Beckham.

Dainty refreshments were served and afterwards a dance was enjoyed. The members of the refreshment committee were Mrs. A. M. Dupliss, Mrs. G. M. Brown, Mrs. J. Courtney, Mrs. H. Lambert, Mrs. H. Earle, Mrs. B. Berringer, Mrs. Cummings, Mrs. Dixon, Mrs. D. Jewett, Mrs. Connell, Miss Evelyn White and Miss Florence McKay. The members of the entertainment committee were J. Peters, Mr. Clark, P. L. Miller, L. Gordon, T. Kingsmill, H. Earle, R. Winter, E. H. Stacey and Charles McCannell. The members of the reception committee were Mrs. E. H. Stacey, Miss E. White, Harold Earle and Albert Black.

The hall was very attractively decorated for the occasion, red, dahlias, red gladioli and white phlox being used most effectively.

Miss Alice M. Thompson.

"Miss America" as a title has been appropriated by the bathing beauties, but the Sequi believes that the ideal American girl is of a different type. Miss Alice M. Thompson is the Sequi's choice as America's ideal girl. She is a freshman at Ohio Wesleyan University, is unobscured, doesn't Charleston and has worked for her college tuition; incidentally she is a charming sort of person.

Mrs. Barnett and Miss Vail Leave Gagetown to Live Here

GAGETOWN, Sept. 28.—Mrs. Mary E. Barnett and her niece, Miss Gladys E. Vail, left on Tuesday afternoon for Saint John, where they will make their home and where Miss Vail will take a business course. Both will be greatly missed in the varied activities of the community and especially in church work. They have been the recipients of many tokens of good will from friends, as well as from the societies with which they have been connected. On Wednesday afternoon, last week, at the weekly chain tea for the rectory fund, which was held at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Jones and was largely attended, Mrs. R. B. Reid, president of the Ladies' Aid of St. John's church, on behalf of the society, presented to Mrs. Barnett a case of silver knives and forks, with a card of appreciation and good wishes. Mrs. Barnett made a gracefully worded speech of thanks. Her presentation was witnessed by Mrs. Jones and Miss Annie Dickie who were assisted by Miss Laurie Law and Miss Winifred Babbitt.

On Monday afternoon last week the Gagetown Girl Guides enjoyed a happy outing to the Mount as a farewell for Miss Gladys Vail, who has been a popular member of the Guides since their organization. Miss L. M. Peters, captain of the Guides, on behalf of the company, made the guest of honor the presentation of a fountain pen.

New York News Stand Proprietor Gives Girl $10,000

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—F. T. Hayes, proprietor of a news stand at the northwest corner of eighty-sixth Street and Broadway, whom neighbors had considered eccentric for several months, tore a cardboard placard from his stand and with a stub of a pencil hastily scrawled his last will. Then he ran into the Seventy-ninth Street station of the West Side subway and jumped head-first under an incoming local train. He was decapitated.

Hayes who had been a regular patron for years of the Keith Theatre at Eighty-first Street and Broadway, sent his incoherent will to E. T. Goodman, assistant manager of the theatre, by a boy just before he ran to the subway. The will left $5,000 to Goodman and $10,000 to Miss Stevenson, cashier of the theatre, to whom Hayes had given motion picture and other magazines for months.

James Durkin, 603 West Fifty-ninth Street, an employee at the stand, said that Hayes had been irrational for some time, but had never spoken of committing suicide. Miss Stevenson

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brought natural relief in a few weeks

A remarkable, convincing tribute is paid Kellogg's ALL-BRAN in this letter from Mr. F. C. Amineen: "I suffered with chronic constipation for many years and was compelled to use pills every night. But since I got your Kellogg's ALL-BRAN I would not take pills every night. Now it is so different. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN works so naturally and is pleasant to take."

F. C. Amineen (Address on request)

You can get permanent relief from constipation with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN if eaten regularly. Two tablespoons daily—or in chronic cases, with every meal. Doctors recommend it because it is ALL-BRAN. It does a job only ALL-BRAN can do. Part-bran products may not do any good at all.

Get Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream. Use it in cooking. Try the recipes given on the package. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in London, Canada. Served by the leading hotels and restaurants. Sold by grocers.

Mrs. W. H. Smith President of Society Formed at Mirral This Week

A new Red Cross Branch was formed at Mirral on Monday, when Miss Ethel Haas Jarvis, provincial secretary, visited that centre and completed the organization of the new body and presented the charter. Mrs. W. H. Smith was elected president and Mrs. J. A. Trott was named provisional secretary and Mrs. Muir and Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick were elected vice-presidents.

Additional members of the executive appointed were Mrs. F. R. Jones and Mrs. C. E. Smith. The organization meeting was held at the home of the president and the members planned to take up the work of the society immediately. A group photograph of the charter members was taken on the lawn.

The new branches at Mirral and

FOR Stomach Acid PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips' Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all flatulence. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and greatly urges this souring waste from the system without purgating. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

"What Makes It So Wonderful?"

Naturally, the question follows the utter astonishment of hearing the new Orthophonic Victrola for the first time.

COMPARED with the enchantment of actual performance,—explanation seems futile. Yet, humans are curious. The query persists: "What makes Orthophonic Victrola music so captivating?"

First, there is the revolutionary new acoustic principle. Second, there are the things it only,—of all reproducing instruments,—accomplishes. The Orthophonic Victrola reproduces the bass sounds as they should be heard. Harshness,—it does not know. Piano notes are maintained for their true duration.

Organ music has full organ resonance. Dance music rhythm is compellingly faithful to its original. Vocal harmony parts are clear and distinguishable from one another. Diction is natural as life. All tones have their true proportionate values. The result is beauty that matches the original, tone for tone.

There is yet a third reason for the wonder of this peer of instruments. It is a Victor Product! Your nearest "His Master's Voice" dealer can transform your interest into conviction today.

SURVEY STATES
DRY LAW ADDS TO DRINK EVIL

Moderation League Issues
Statement; Wayne B.
Wheeler Answers

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Drunkness throughout the nation is surpassing all previous records, and in several hundred of the principal cities has exceeded pre-prohibition conditions, according to the report on a national survey just made public by the Moderation League, of 885 Madison avenue. The survey constitutes a study of liquor conditions for the last year.

INTOXICATED AUTOISTS.

The number of cases of intoxicated automobile drivers has topped all previous high levels, the report says, and the indulgence in liquor by youths of both sexes has risen to such an extraordinary degree as to constitute one of the most distressing of the present day prohibition problems. With respect to all these things it is asserted that the situation in the original dry states is far worse, compared with 1918, than are the conditions in the so-called wet states.

While most of the references in the survey pertain to 1925, figures of a big insurance company on deaths from alcoholism are cited to show that drunkenness during the first half of 1926 has increased 20 per cent. over the like period last year.

REFERS TO CANADA.

"From the experience, before national prohibition, of the states which had restricted laws, from the experience of the whole country during the restricted years 1918-1919, and from the experience of the Canadian provinces and the Scandinavian countries, we believe that a greater degree of temperance can be obtained by a wise restrictive law than by a bone-dry law which does not command the respect of a large part of the people."

WHEELER ANSWERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 29.—Wayne B. Wheeler, of the Anti-Saloon League, described the Moderation League's "second annual screed against prohibition" as being "a foundationless as the first one."

"It juggles figures," Mr. Wheeler said, by ignoring increased population, failing to compare conditions now with licensed days, and failing to take into account greater activity in arresting intoxicated persons.

The number of cases of intoxicated automobile drivers has topped all previous high levels, the report says, and the indulgence in liquor by youths of both sexes has risen to such an extraordinary degree as to constitute one of the most distressing of the present day prohibition problems. Morning Stock Letter

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—So far as we can see, the market acted no differently yesterday than the day before, except that selling was a little heavier. We believe a great part of this is short selling. The high money rate and fear of possible advances in out-of-town discount rates were the big factors in the selling yesterday. Admittedly, the market is high and dangerous, and we are still inclined to believe that higher prices will be seen in October. The bearish sentiment seems to us to be too widely spread to be effective and we are inclined to look for big breaks at times when they are least expected. Rather than when the public and professional element are so bearish as they are now. There were special moves in the selling yesterday particularly Yellow Truck, Allis Chalmers and U. S. Steel. General Motors, electric can be bought on dips for good returns. Warner Bros. Pictures reacted rather sharply for a time but came back. Eventually we think this stock will highly speculative will show sharp advances from time to time. L.V.N.G.S. CO.

Brokers' Opinions

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Moses and Ferguson—"Market leaders are appearing being groomed for higher prices." Hornblower—"The market is high and money requirements in a fair way to be adjusted within the next few days. We ought to get a fairly good idea of what the market will take through the early part of October." Block-Maloney—"The market is high and money requirements in a fair way to be adjusted within the next few days. We ought to get a fairly good idea of what the market will take through the early part of October." Pynchon—"General Motors continue to act in an extremely good market and we anticipate still higher prices for this stock."

THE CITIZENS' COMMITTEE

Sir.—The Citizens' Committee draw the inference from the announcement of Mayor White in last night's "Times" regarding Dr. Brittain, that it is the intention of the council to have the "survey" made by this gentleman although the committee have neither named nor opposed him, but have objected to him because he was named by Mr. Olive and selected by the commissioners whose departments are to be investigated. Unless it is the intention of the mayor and council to continue to ignore the expressed wish of the committee, regarding an independent audit and investigation, to be secured as outlined in the petition, steps should at once be taken to notify Dr. Brittain that, owing to a misunderstanding, he will not be required to consult with the members of the council on the matter of undertaking a survey of municipal affairs as they affect Saint John.

It will be utterly useless for the council to expect of satisfying the taxpayers who signed the petition, and it would be a waste of money so far as any practical result to be obtained. A mere "survey" will not show what the honest tax-payers expect. This, after all, is a very important matter, and results can be accomplished only by an independent audit and investigation by experts, which experts the petitioners, through their committee, insist they should name or approve. It is said that Dr. Brittain is not an auditor, nor an efficiency expert. His line is municipal research. He may be qualified to make a "survey" of municipal affairs, but he does not all the things the petitioners have in mind as the remedy for existing condition in Saint John. Why should the taxpayers be saddled with the cost of this useless "survey" where it is going in the present and where it will go in the future unless we find the leaks and put a stop to them? We do not want any camouflage. We do not want Dr. Brittain.

Yours truly, GEO. CARVILL, Citizens' Committee, Saint John, Sept. 30, 1926

Letters To The Editor

Editor Times-Star: Sir.—Offer to purchase timber from city lands near Spruce and Ludgate Lakes came before the commission yesterday and was referred to Commissioner Wigmore for a report. The cutting of timber from lands which comprise the water shed from which the city water supply is secured, should be considered with great care before any cutting is done. If permits are granted to cut the timber—even as the Provincial Government grant them—a grave mistake will be made, which will not be easy to remedy. At present the city lands are sparsely covered with trees, although some sections may have thick enough growth to require thinning, but on no account should it be let by contract and cut in

YANKEES SLIGHTLY FAVORED IN BETTING ON WORLD SERIES

MORE ST. LOUIS MONEY SHOWING IS LATE REPORT

Hornaby to Remain in Line-up Despite Mother's Death
Canadian Press Despatch.
NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—As the opening of the world's series approaches, more and more St. Louis money is reported as appearing in the betting markets.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The dying wish of Mrs. M. D. Hornaby that her son, Rogers, stick to his post as manager and head of the St. Louis Cardinals and lead his team against the New York Yanks in the coming world series, is to be carried out.

A NEW BRUNSWICK Baseball Association will overcome this difficulty next year.
What about this year?
The Watermen have forfeited yesterday's game but they have protested Monday's forfeiture. That has to be decided yet. If the game is played, it means Mr. Stirling's ruling must be upset by President Doyle, to whom the protest has been forwarded. If it is not upheld, the championship goes by forfeit. Neither move is satisfactory to the fans.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The dying wish of Mrs. M. D. Hornaby that her son, Rogers, stick to his post as manager and head of the St. Louis Cardinals and lead his team against the New York Yanks in the coming world series, is to be carried out.

Sorrow over the death of Hornaby's mother, was expressed today by Miller Higgins, manager of the Yankees, the Cardinals' opponents in the coming world series, John Heydler, president of the National League, and Kenesaw Mountain Landis, High Commissioner of baseball.

Watermen Would Bring Newcastle Here With Proceeds To Orphans

System of Handling Title Play-offs In N. B. Unsatisfactory

(Reprinted From Telegraph-Journal.
THERE will be general regret among baseball fans in New Brunswick that such a successful start in the way of provincial championships since 1922 when St. Rose's and Chatham started matters.

IT is unfair to both clubs concerned. It puts a blench on the win by Newcastle and we believe there is enough sports blood on the Miramichi to say they would rather win on the diamond than in the conference room.

THEY can condemn Mr. Stirling for giving such short notice. They can condemn the Watermen for not showing up. Why not condemn the system that allows these very important games to be decided on at the close of the season?

What would happen to professional baseball if Judge Landis told the St. Louis Cardinals on a Sunday that they had to play the first world series game with the visiting Yanks on the following day? Impossible, because these dates were set this year BEFORE THE WINNERS IN EACH LEAGUE WERE DECIDED.

French Belanger, of Toronto, got the call over Wee Willie Woods, of New York in an eight round semi-final. Jimmy Britt, of Montreal, outpointed Ace Hogan of Boston in eight rounds.

Gaps Left From Last Year Likely to Be Filled—Nearly 70 Out For Practice

FREDERICTON, N. B., Sept. 30.—The objection that college athletics concern only the few does not hold at the university of New Brunswick during football season for practically every second male student is turning out for rugby football.

GAPS TO BE FILLED

The great red and black team of 1925 which won the Mariner Cup at Montreal and the Eastern Canadian title has a number of holes which must be filled to permit four fifteens to play with. About 20 men are playing rugby the majority with little hope of sports sake.

THE LINE UP

At present the scrum is little different from last year. McLennan and Woods are playing front line with Dalzell as lock and Macaulay and MacMurray mating with him. Capt. W. W. Donohoe is playing third line as before with Fowler and Pettie working for the other third line position. MacMurray, Pettie, and Capt. Donohoe are from Saint John.

Yankee Pitching Corps Now In Shape For Series Opening In New York Saturday Next

Pennock, Shocker, Reuther and Hoyt Are Formidable Quartette Backed up by Bob Shawkey and "Sad Sam" Jones

Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The five star pitching staff that carried the New York Yankees to victory in 1921-22 and 23 has undergone several changes since the American League last faced the National League opponents in a world's series. The New Yorkers will place their main dependence in the seven game series and will doubtless score a victory in the first game.

Pennock is generally conceded to be the best left hander in the big league today. With over twenty victories to his credit the slender slinger of the Yanks has rounded out his best year in baseball. His control has been uncanny and he has pitched several games without giving a base on balls, something rare for a southpaw. Pennock employs a spinning curve that breaks down and in to right-hand batters and keeps them popping the ball in the air. He requires at least four days of rest between games and will doubtless face the National League in the first game. He beat

Miramichi League Winners Take N. B. Ball Title Yesterday

The NUT CRACKER by Joe Williams

A sporting proposition to solve the present tangle regarding the New Brunswick amateur baseball title being placed before the Newcastle team today by the Water Department 1925 Maritime champions, through their captain, Charlie Gorman.

"We have been accused of kind of unsportsmanlike conduct in 'matter by Newcastle," he said, "morning. "We will see now what kind of sportsmanship exists in the Newcastle team. Here is our proposition: 1. "We will pay Newcastle's expenses here and back for a game after tomorrow.

"The game will be played at St. Peter's Park, if arrangement be made, and the proceeds will go equally to the Protestant and Catholic orphanages."

Gorman said that as far as St. Peter's Park, if arrangement be made, and the proceeds will go equally to the Protestant and Catholic orphanages."

What they did meant was the fact, which he felt were water, were being made on the Newcastle was told of a game Monday on Friday night and they were to be taken care of by the team in the Maritime Provinces.

Newcastle's answer to this is being awaited with considerable interest as it is also the decision by S. F. Doyle, president of the M. P. B., in regard to the Watermen's protest of Monday's game here.

In the meantime, Newcastle was declared New Brunswick's winners yesterday at Newcastle when the Watermen failed to show up. Two games were taken yesterday, the future somewhat mysterious local fact was that it was proposed that if Monday's game here was postponed, Newcastle would need to first game yesterday, Charlottetown and Westville play the final of the N. S. P. E. I. series today.

TOURIST OFFICIAL VISITS BRANCHES

W. E. Anderson Back From North Shore Trip—Finds Business Good

W. E. Anderson, secretary of the N. B. Tourist Association, returned last evening to the city from an extended trip to the North Shore and eastern New Brunswick. Mr. Anderson visited the newly established sub-agencies in Moncton, Newcastle, Chatham, Bathurst and Campbellton to investigate and survey the work of these tourist offices.

The Moncton office reported an exceptionally heavy tourist season this year. Newcastle and Chatham likewise reported a very great increase in business. At Bathurst the secretary received a very optimistic account of this year's activities. The hotels enjoyed a big summer's business, he said.

In Campbellton good reports were also received. The volume of hotel business in this town had increased this year from three to five times over that of any previous year. Mr. Anderson said that Campbellton seemed to be entering upon a new era. The great industrial development which will follow upon the development of the Grand Falls project augurs well for the rapid growth of this town, he added.

Speaking in general, Mr. Anderson found that the tourist industry in the part of New Brunswick visited had taken on a new lease of life and that it was now in a very healthy state of rapid growth.

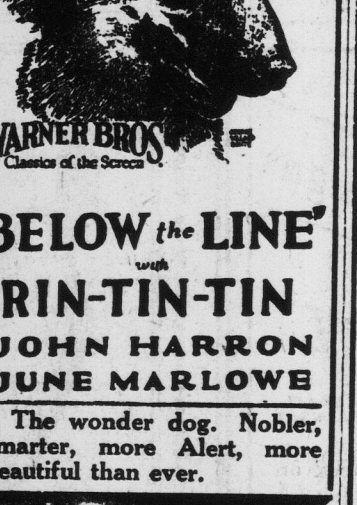

Regarding business, the secretary said that the outlook of the lumbering industry was not as encouraging as it might be. On the other hand, the woodworking and saw mills were all working and business with them seemed to be good. From reports obtained in the various places visited, Mr. Anderson found improved business conditions in general.
