DOWAGER QUEEN ALEXANDRA DEAD

PASSES AWAY TODAY AFTER SECOND ATTACK

King, Queen and Prince of Wales With Dowager at End; Oxygen Used as Last Resort To Alleviate Suffering

SANDRINGHAM, Nov. 20—Queen Mother Alexandra, widow of King Edward VII., and mother of King George V., died late this afternoon at Sandringham House.

The Dowager Queen suffered another heart attack early this afternoon. Her physicians took free recourse to oxygen to mitigate her sufferings, but she did not rally.

KING AND QUEEN WITH HER

The King and Queen have been with Dowager Queen Alexandra since 11 o'clock this morning. Queen Maud of Norway, Alexandra's third daughter, arrived hurriedly at about one o'clock.

PRINCE OF WALES THERE.

The physicians remained throughout the night at Sandringham House, where also every other kind of human aid was at all King George and Queen Mary were at the bedside, ready to be summoned in case of need. The Queen of Norway, daughter of Alexandra, was at Appleton House, two miles distant from Sandringham. The Dowager Queen's second daughter, Princess Victoria, was near the bedside in Sandringham Palace, and the Princess Royal is proceeding thither today. The Prince of Wales has also gone to Sandringham.

Some of the guests King George and Queen Mary were entertaining for a week of bird shooting, left Sandringham last night, and the others departed today.

LONDON SORROWS.

Great gloom was thrown over London and the entire British Isles, when the official announcement came that Queen Alexandra had been stricken.

Owing to her age, nearly 81 years, there were fears that she might not be able to withstand the shock. Her sudden attack, for only the day before Alexandra had taken her usual drive through the precincts of Sandringham, came as a complete surprise.

Shortly after the announcement that the Queen Mother had been stricken, the people of the neighborhood and the countryside, gathered in small groups outside the Royal Palace, awaiting news from the bedside. They recalled a similar report of the Queen's illness in June, and were fearful.

RUSH FOR PAPERS.

When the evening papers made their appearance, with the bulletin of physicians announcing her illness, large crowds rushed to buy them, and everywhere people were to be seen talking about her. They had known that for some time her strength had been reported as falling, and that while she was able to take short rides in the country around Sandringham, she had been forced to abandon her visits to London, but they were unprepared for the sudden news that the newspapers contained.

It was decided more than a year ago, that Alexandra would attend no further public functions. For the first time last year, she had to abandon what long had been one of the features of her life, making her appearance on Alexandra Road.

PRINCE FETE CANCELLED.

King George, when he was informed of the illness of his mother, and after he had visited her bedside, immediately telephoned the Prince of Wales at St. James Palace. The message of the King was of a somewhat reassuring nature, for shortly afterwards a bulletin was issued from York House that the Prince of Wales would, unless further news of a serious nature was received from Sandringham, go in procession to the Prince of Wales today for a welcome home celebration and luncheon tendered by the Lord Mayor of London.

Great preparations had been made for this function, and the people were heartened by the news from York House, for it had been their desire to view the Prince as he rode through the street in an open carriage, escorted by Household Cavalry, and give him the greeting due his rank, and his popularity. This morning, however, the announcement that the procession had been postponed, cast a shadow of gloom and apprehension over London.

SISTER ALSO ILL.

Coincidental with the illness of Alexandra, is the pathetic fact that the Dowager Empress of Russia, the favorite sister of the British Queen Mother, is lying seriously ill in Denmark. It is asserted that the one great desire of Marie Feodorovna, is that she might again meet her sister

Methods Used Explained by M'Gill Doctor

Dr. Edward W. Archibald, professor of surgery at McGill University, Montreal, explained an operation for the treatment of tuberculosis, in which the surgeon cuts away portions of the ribs on one side of the body, allowing the other ribs to sag inward, and compress the cavities left in the lungs by the ravages of disease. By compressing these cavities, the lungs are permitted to react and develop a resistance to the tubercle bacilli, which enables the body apparently to throw off the disease in a large percentage of selected cases, he said.

first met Alexandra of Denmark. His bride-to-be was 17. That was in 1851, two years before the wedding. How the alliance was brought about makes an interesting chapter. The widowed Queen Victoria, in this matter, as in many others, was vastly influenced by her uncle, King Leopold of Belgium. This excited adviser to the Queen of England prepared a list of ladies of royal rank in Europe who were eligible to become the wife of the Heir-Apparent to the British throne. Even in those days there was evident in England a distrust of making matches between members of our own royal family and of the reigning houses of German States. Prussia, in particular, was showing an arrogantly ambitious bearing, and was betraying a sinister attitude towards Denmark concerning the possession of Schleswig-Holstein. King Leopold's list of eligible brides for Albert Edward was naturally scrutinized most thoroughly by Queen Victoria and her courtiers. The German princesses, who headed the list, were eventually ruled out. Alexandra of Denmark stood fifth. In the summer of 1851 there was a meeting between the royal pair, a meeting which was repeated more than once. Queen Victoria herself contrived to meet Alexandra at Coburg. The Danish princess, with her youth, and her natural grace and beauty, charmed the critical widowed Queen. The announcement of the engagement soon followed. It was stated that "the marriage is based entirely upon mutual affection and the merits of the Princess." Undoubtedly this was absolutely true, but whether there is not something of a diplomatic fiction about the further announcement that the betrothal "is in no way connected with political considerations" is open to doubt. As has been said, Prussia was already adopting a menacing tone towards Denmark, and it is certain that the reigning Prussian house took the news of the engagement with ill grace.

BRITAIN PLEASED.
However, the rest of the world heard of the alliance with entire satisfaction. In Great Britain the news was received with feeling of the keenest pleasure. These feelings were demonstrated to the full when the royal yacht, with the young bride-elect aboard, put into Gravesend on March 7, 1858, three days before the wedding. The Princess was met by the Prince at Gravesend. Together they made the journey through London amidst such a demonstration of delight as the capital had not witnessed for at least a generation. The unaffected graciousness of the young Princess, the youth of herself and the Heir-Apparent, and the knowledge that the future Queen of England came from a royal house where the rule of life was one of service and not one of self-aggrandizement—all these drew the hearts of the people of Britain to the bride of Albert Edward.

GORGEOUS WEDDING.
The wedding was certainly the most moving I ever saw. The Queen above looking added such a wonderful chord of deep feeling to all the lighter notes of joyfulness and show. Everyone behaved quite their best. The Princess, calm, self-possessed. The Prince with more depth of manner than ever before. The little Prince William of Prussia between his two little uncles to keep him quiet, both of whom he—the Crown Princess afterwards told me—bit on the bare highland legs whenever they touched him to keep him quiet.

AT MARLBOROUGH.
The royal couple took up their residence at Marlborough House, which only a year or two earlier had been purchased by the nation as a residence for the Heir-Apparent. Here, it may be mentioned, it was some years afterwards that the then Prince of Wales acquired his Norfolk estate of Sandringham, where he lived the life of a country squire, although on many occasions after his accession he received ministers, ambassadors and other distinguished visitors there. Sandringham was King Edward's own property, and upon his death Queen Alexandra continued to enjoy the use both of Marlborough House and of Sandringham House. Now that Queen Alexandra has passed away it remains to be seen what ultimate disposition King Edward made of his Norfolk property. The future of Marlborough House presumably lies within the discretion of Parliament. Throughout Queen Alexandra's widowhood, their present Majesties, King George and Queen Mary, continued to make use of York Cottage, Sandringham, as they did when Prince and Princess of Wales.

HER GOOD WORK.
To follow in detail the life of Queen Alexandra from the day of her marriage would merely be to record her participation in one good work after another. The hospitals, the condition of the outcast, the care of children—in all these and many other philanthropic enterprises she displayed an unceasing active interest. One wing of the great London Hospital, in the East End of the city, is called the Alexandra Wing in commemoration of its opening by her late Majesty a year after her marriage. There are hospitals all over the country which bear similar titles. The position which the Danish Princess had to fill in this country was one of extreme delicacy, for her own station, exalted though it was,

was naturally and properly overshadowed by the personality of Queen Victoria. The latter, as already indicated, persisted for many years in maintaining a strict seclusion in her widowhood. It fell to the Princess of Wales, therefore, to fulfil many duties which in her own person, friendships were invariably bestowed upon men and women of high-minded outlook. This is not to say that Queen Alexandra did not enjoy life on its animated side. At Epsom or at Aintree races, for instance, Queen Alexandra was always one of the most eager spectators. With King Edward she visited Ireland three times, the first occasion being in 1868 the second in 1886, and the third after King Edward's accession, in 1908. All three visits were pronouncedly successful, the graciousness and charm of the royal consort largely contributing to this happy outcome.

ONCE NEAR DEATH.
Only once was the life of Queen Alexandra ever in danger at the hands of an assassin. In 1900 their Majesties were travelling on the Continent, and at the Gare du Nord at Brussels, Belgium, the youth of 15, named Sipi, fired twice at the royal couple. One bullet lodged in the boarding of the railway car between the Princess and the Queen. Neither of them was visibly alarmed. The would-be assassin pursued merely to be hunting for notoriety.

A letter of Queen Alexandra's has been preserved which illustrates her sentiments towards a certain form of public function. The Princess of Wales, in 1872, upon his recovery a service of national thanksgiving was proposed to be held in St. Paul's Cathedral. To this idea Queen Victoria was greatly opposed, but her ministers and other advisers persisted in reasoning with her Majesty on the matter. The Princess of Wales wrote to the Queen: "I quite understand your feelings about public thanksgiving. I do not like it myself, for it seems to me almost to be making too much of an outward show of the most sacred and solemn feelings of one's heart, and I quite agree a simpler and more private service would be more in accordance with one's own wishes. But then, on the other hand, the whole nation has taken such a public share in our sorrow. It has been so entirely by its own will, and in our grief, that it may, perhaps, feel it has a kind of claim to join with us now in a public and universal thanksgiving." These views ultimately prevailed, and the great service duly took place at St. Paul's.

FINED ON ONE CHARGE.
Detective Biddiscombe and Inspector Killen arrested Benjamin Dunlop this morning on a warrant charging him with unlawfully selling liquor to W. Weatherpoon on Nov. 18. A search of his premises in North street this morning resulted in a quantity of alleged liquor being found and for this he was charged with having liquor in his possession illegally. The case came before the magistrate this afternoon and the defendant entered a plea of "not guilty" to both charges. The evidence showed that the liquor was found this morning on the kitchen table and as the defendant alleged it was for his private use the second charge was dropped. A fine of $200 or three months in jail was imposed on the first charge. J. Starr Tat appeared for the prosecution.

K. H. Smith, M.E.I.C., of Halifax Gives Interesting Sketch of European Tour

The World Power Conference at Wembley, England, in June and July, 1924, and the Scandinavian tour in this connection, were the subjects of a comprehensive and interesting address given by K. H. Smith, M. E. I. C., district engineer with the Dominion Water Power Branch, Halifax, at a meeting of the Saint John branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada in the New Brunswick Telephone Co. Ltd., building last evening.

There were representatives of 89 countries at the conference, called by the British Electrical and Allied Manufacturers' Association, and notes of electric power work and methods used were exchanged. A number of addresses by Canadians were very interesting and instructive.

On July 15 they started their tour of the Scandinavian countries, going first to Norway, then to Sweden and returning by Germany and France. They noted a great difference in power developments in the first two countries.

In Norway, because of the mountains and the utilization of hill streams, great heads of water were obtainable. In this country there were innumerable opportunities for power development but there was no call for the power.

Sweden was not so mountainous, the speaker went on, and far greater volumes of water were needed for power purposes. Because of the fact that the canal systems and the power systems were under the one control, the canals could be utilized.

W. R. Pearce, M. E. I. C., presided at the meeting. A vote of thanks to the speaker was moved by Geoffrey Stead, M. E. I. C., and G. G. Murdoch, M. E. I. C. Among those at the meeting was Mr. Doran, of Montreal, a member of the Montreal branch of the Institute.

Muffin Girls Now Appear in London

LONDON, Nov. 20 — Muffin-selling in London streets is the latest "profession" to be invaded by women. The muffin bell, as sure a sign of autumn as the falling leaf, is now rung by girls, who in many parts of London have replaced the men. The girls carry baskets on their arms, instead of the familiar tray covered with green bales, which the men balanced adroitly on their heads. Trim figures parade the quiet by-streets of London, adding one more picturesque touch to the changing modern world.

Balanced for Service FIVE factors decide how much service you will get from Steam Hose: (1) The quality of cover—its ability to withstand wear and heat. (2) The strength of fabric—its ability to withstand bursting pressures. (3) The quality of friction—its ability to hold the fabric together under great heat. (4) The quality of inner rubber lining—its ability to protect the fabric against heat. (5) The skill and experience with which these first four are BALANCED. The first four are relatively easy of attainment in hose manufacture. But the fifth virtue, as exemplified in Goodyear Steam Hose, is secured only by long, careful study of the needs of Steam Hose users. In Goodyear Steam Hose every part lasts just as long as every other part—the hose grows old only after giving you much longer service than you expected. SAINT JOHN, N. B., NOVEMBER 20, 1925.

TRANSPORTATION.

At the Winnipeg conference the St. Lawrence waterways project was the subject of an instructive address by Brigadier-General C. H. Mitchell, of Toronto. The Maritimes, while this subject is under consideration, are reminded that the new Welland ship canal when completed will represent an expenditure of $100,000,000, and, in the words of the Montreal Gazette, "an even larger amount has already been spent upon the St. Lawrence canals and the ship channel, all these facilities being available without charge to ships of the United States as well as of Canada."

There is a growing conflict of interests as between Quebec and Ontario with reference to the proposal to make the Great Lakes accessible to ocean-going vessels, and it is suggested that the Quebec Government will attempt to hold up development of the upper St. Lawrence on the ground that Quebec province, by a recent judgment, has established its ownership to the bed of the river. Notwithstanding Montreal's objection to a plan which is thought to menace that city's hold upon St. Lawrence traffic it seems likely that in the end the projected improvements will be undertaken. The cost, which it is yet impossible to measure, will run into hundreds of millions. If further examination of the enterprise gives convincing reason for believing that it is in the interests of Canada, as a whole, it is unlikely that Quebec will shoulder the responsibility of holding it up, though as to that doubt will exist for a long time to come.

But the Maritimes, which contribute pro rata to all these improvements, and which note the expenditure of $100,000,000 on the Welland canal and an even larger amount upon the St. Lawrence canals and ship channel, have a right to expect that the other provinces, through their representatives in Parliament, will see the justice, as well as the national importance, of spending the considerable, but by comparison the modest sums, necessary to equip the Atlantic ports upon which Canada must depend during the long period when the St. Lawrence is closed. The St. Lawrence project is intended to provide for the greatly increased traffic of coming years. It will not, however, achieve any miracle such as would prevent the St. Lawrence from freezing up. Meantime a pressing need in connection with national transportation is to make provision for the facilities already needed at Saint John.

Even if the requisite appropriation is made by Parliament this year, construction will fall behind the requirements of next year's traffic. In this year, year after year, through neglect to face the situation squarely, traffic is diverted in increasing quantities to alien harbors. This is a matter upon which Maritime members of Parliament should take prompt, united and sturdy action at Ottawa. They may rely, we feel sure, upon reasonable support from other parts of the country, so clearly is the equipment of Maritime harbors a necessary national enterprise. At all events it is time for a showdown. The Maritimes must know where they stand.

"It will be difficult," says the Ottawa Citizen, "to hold the Maritime Rights group together for long merely on a basis of grievance." It is not so much a matter of grievances as of one of fair play and justice. The resolution passed by the Winnipeg conference squarely confronts Parliament with the duty of giving the Maritimes what they are entitled to as full partners in Confederation. The Maritime members—all of them—should place this issue ahead of all others when Parliament meets.

Premier Bruce of Australia, following his victory at the polls, has taken drastic action in regard to the suppression of Communism. The president and secretary of the Australian Seamen's Union have been arrested and are to be deported to some destination not yet made known. The question of their deportation figured extensively in the recent elections, and the Premier has accepted the voting as a mandate warranting him in expatriating Communist leaders, whom he holds responsible for much of the trouble caused by extremists during the last year or two.

"When the British Secretary for Foreign Affairs and the German Ambassador to the Court of St. James' drink out of the same loving cup at a Lord Mayor's banquet, the thing has a promising look," says the Boston Transcript. "This happened in London on Monday night and marked what some have thought would not come to pass for many a year, if ever within the lives of us who now have seen the event take place. Of course there was some parade about it, but underlying was the fact that the Powers are returning to a sane and sane judgment state of mind whose great evidence is the Locarno Agreement."

Political feeling between Montreal and Toronto is running strong. Toronto is in favor of the St. Lawrence waterway improvements which would give ocean steamers access to the Lakes. The Montreal Star, on the other hand, says there must be "no cutting the throat of Montreal and Quebec province by a fatuous deep-sea channel to Toronto."

Odds and Ends

The Highway Woman

(Chicago Journal of Commerce.)
Lately there has been a remarkable increase of a rather new kind of criminal—the girl "highwayman." In many cases the victims are taxicab drivers. In one recent case, a girl drove up to a fashionable hotel, kept her cab waiting while she had a light lunch, then returned to the cab and resumed her journey, which ended when she produced a pistol and robbed the driver. In every such case the driver is at a far greater disadvantage than if the highwayman were a man. The prospective victim might resist a man, and either knocked her to the ground or wrested away the pistol and wounded or killed her, who would believe his story? He might easily be mobbed before a policeman appeared; and if he were to appear in court, he would have no witnesses to corroborate his version.

On the other hand, if he should resist and the girl should wound or kill him, she need merely call him the assailant. Nobody would question her story. She would be described and photographed as a heroine. Police captains, prosecutors and judges would vie in praising her. In the end her victim, if he lived, would be taken from his hospital cot to the courtroom, there to hear the verdict of twelve good men and true upon this enemy of American womanhood.

The assumption too frequently is that the soft-headed male has placed them in a position where they can literally "get away with murder." They are prepared to commit murder if resisted. So far there is no record of any resistance. Taxi-cab drivers know better than to take a chance with the great chivalrous public.

After all, perhaps the taxicab drivers deserve their fate. They're men, aren't they? And as men they are jointly responsible with all other men for the soft-brained sentimentality which gives an advantage to women crooks.

Not According to Hoyle.
(Ottawa Journal.)
A despatch from Brooklyn states that three armed bandits held up a poker party, at which much whiskey was being consumed, and got away with $5,000. This is the first time in history that three knaves took the pot from a full house.

Will H. Lane was quite sick Friday from nervousness and stomach trouble.

Better Citizenship.
(Montreal Star.)
There is no compulsion upon any Canadian to buy any goods he does not wish to buy. He is free to exercise his own choice. But he will be setting an infinitely better example as a citizen if he shows openly that he is anxious to support the industries of his own land.

Getting It Right.
(Boston Transcript.)
Mr. H. G. Wadlin has written a lovely poem, descriptive of scenes in Maine, which contains this stanza:
Over Lake Saco's smiling face
Falls twilight's purple veil.
Mt. Webster's might mass is lost
In misty shadows pale.

This sounds well, and is good verse, but it isn't good Maine. To be strictly descriptive it should read as follows:
Over Lake Chemquassabamcook's smiling face
Falls twilight's purple veil;
Mount Molechunkamunk's mighty mass is lost
In misty shadows pale.
The late Red Man was a poetic individual. His meaningless names should be embalmed in our literature.

How they grumbled How they frowned!
Then, how still it is before
The first drop tumbles down!

Dinner Stories

HE HAD just returned from a perilous sea voyage, and, comfortably seated in the club's best armchair, was relating to a host of admiring friends some of the privations endured on the journey.

"Then," he said, "I went down to the cabin for a little lunch."
"But," protested a listener, "you have just said there was nothing left to eat on the whole ship. What did you have for lunch?"
"Oh, it was quite a trifling affair, you know. Beef, wine and an egg."

"Well, where did the beef come from?" queried a listener.
"From the bulwarks, of course," was the retort.

"Where did you get the wine?"
"From the porthole."
At this a laugh echoed through the room, but still someone asked:
"But what about the egg? Where did you take that up?"

"Oh, that was simplest of all," smiled the boulder. "The captain ordered the ship to lay to and he gave me one!"

"THE way some of the foreign diplomats are trying to bulldoze us into cancelling our war claims has brought forth statements and arguments that are as ridiculous as one made by a professor of my acquaintance," said Senator Borah recently.

"This professor was very proud of his dignity and when one of the members of his class proved not as humble as the professor deemed he should be, he called the young man to account, saying:
"What do you mean by this insolence? Are you in charge of this class, or am I?"
"I know I am not in charge, sir," admitted the student.

"Then," roared the professor, "since you are not in charge, don't try to act like a condescended ass!"

The Best of Advice

BY CLARK KINNAIRD
SYNOOPHANTS AND SYOOPHANTS.

IT HAS become so that heretical opinions, i.e., opinions contrary to those commonly held, do not perceptibly gain or even lose ground. They never blaze out far and wide, but continue to smoulder in the narrow circles of thinking and studious persons among whom they originate without ever lighting up the general affairs of mankind with either a true or deceptive light.

And this is kept up a state of things very satisfactory to some minds, as John Stuart Mill points out in his masterful Essay on Liberty, because, without the unpleasant process of tarring and feathering or imprisoning anything, it maintains all prevailing opinions outwardly undisturbed, while it does not absolutely interdict the exercise of reason by dissentients afflicted with the malady of thought.

A convenient plan for keeping all things going on very much as they are. But the price paid for this sort of intellectual pacification is the sacrifice of the entire moral courage of the human mind.

IT IS a state of things in which a large portion of the most active and inquiring intellects find it advisable to keep their genuine principles well patronized quacks.

THE BABIE

Nae shoos to hide her tiny tae,
Nae stockings on her feet;
Her supple ankles white as snow
Of early blossoms sweet.

Her simple dress of sprinkled pink,
Her double dimpled chin;
Her nicker'd lip and bonny mou',
With nae ane tooth between.

Her een sae like her mither's een,
Two gentle, liquid things—
Her face is like an angel's face—
We're glad she has nae wings.

ARTIST WITHDRAWS ROYAL PORTRAIT

Picture of King George Evoked Much Criticism at Academy Exhibition

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The much criticized portrait of King George exhibited by Charles Sims in last year's Academy exhibition will not hang, as originally intended, among the Burlington House portraits of royal patrons.

Mr. Sims has himself withdrawn the picture, which was shown for two weeks until October 19 in the Knoedler Galleries, New York.

When the picture was hung in the 1924 exhibition the critics considered it, as a likeness, as "unjust to the King."

"The expression of the eyes," wrote one critic, "is that of a short-sighted man who has mislaid his glasses. The features are pale and undistinguished, and the impression given by his face is that of weariness."

U. N. B. Team Honor Guests at Complimentary Banquet at Fredericton

FREDERICTON, Nov. 19.—The Rugby team of the University of New Brunswick, holders of the MacTier trophy, were guests at a complimentary dinner given in the Barker House this evening by a number of their friends. About 180 attended the dinner, which marked the close of the football season for the university.

A. S. McFarlane acted as toastmaster for the evening.

The toast to the team was proposed by Hon. C. D. Richards and was responded to by Paul Fraser, of Saint John, captain of the team, and C. B. Burden, the coach.

The toast to the University of New Brunswick brought forth many reminiscences of former teams, the proposer, Dr. H. H. Hageman, having been captain of the second team in the history of the college, in 1892, and Dr. C. C. Jones, chancellor of the university, who replied, having been a member of teams in the 90's.

The City of Fredericton was proposed by Professor John Stevens and replied to by Mayor R. L. Phillips and J. P. Jennings.

L. S. Webb proposed the toast to next year's team and W. W. Donohue, of Saint John, responded.

In proposing a toast to the press, Coach Burden expressed appreciation of the efforts of the Fredericton papers and of the Saint John Telegraph.

Sunderland Plays Host to West Ham United in Game Tomorrow

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Interest in the First Division of the English Football League continues to be focussed on Sunderland and their fans are inclined to concede them another chance, following their disastrous handling of the game last week at Leicester. It is only the most optimistic of Sunderland's supporters who now look at them through the small end of the glasses for to the more disinterested observer, Sunderland are acting like a team who have shot their bolt and who are cracking under the tremendous pace that they themselves set. An opportunity to re-establish themselves in the favor of their anxious fans presents itself the day after tomorrow when the leaders play host to West Ham United. Having the advantage of locale, Sunderland may be expected to try to acquire a couple of points, an experience of which they have been deprived since they won from Bolton Wanderers a month ago. Arsenal, traveling only one point behind Sunderland, are offered their chance to snatch the leadership when, with their vastly improved team, they invade Lancashire to wage a campaign against Blackburn Rovers. Having scoured the ends of the earth for talent—and being sufficiently wealthy to purchase the best that's going—Arsenal are now holding one of the strongest aggregations that ever donned the Jersey.

Aston Villa, with the memory of a glorious victory over Huddersfield Town a week back still inspiring them, go to Everton convinced that all is over but the shouting. Everton's position is humble and their record is a necrology of lost hopes. They began the season poorly and became worse as the weeks advanced. Whether their victory over North County last Saturday is an earnest or a serious minded rally remains to be seen. They have many bitter defects to atone and it is doubtful if Aston Villa are exactly the right sort of team to accommodate them.

OLD LAWS FAIL TO BAR FINE
WINNIPEG, Nov. 19.—Old laws, promulgated when Charles the First was King of England, proved of no avail here yesterday, when Walter Masters was convicted and fined $400 for selling liquor. His counsel claimed his arrest was illegal because it was made on a Sunday.

"Then, I Learned How to Shave."

"I had developed the habit, like lots of fellows, of shaving year after year with the same old "safety".

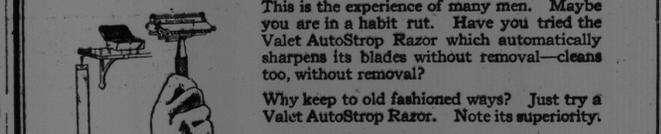

"I was out camping with a chap who used a Valet AutoStrop Razor and was very enthusiastic. 'Just try it,' he urged.

"Results! What a difference! It is all in the stropping, I learned.

"I'll never go back to the ordinary "safety" because I'll never be content with the blade giving only a few shaves, the blade getting duller with every shave. Believe me, those two weeks convinced me that I had been in a rut as far as shaving is concerned."

This is the experience of many men. Maybe you are in a habit rut. Have you tried the Valet AutoStrop Razor which automatically sharpens its blades without removal—cleans too, without removal?

Why keep to old fashioned ways? Just try a Valet AutoStrop Razor. Note its superiority.

Suggestion Made That Men Lend Their Support to Work of Women's Hospital Aid

Matter Will Be Further Discussed at Later Meeting - Christmas Treats Planned For Patients in G. P. H. and County Hospital

THE SUGGESTION that men might be urged to become contributors towards the Women's Hospital Aid and supporters of its activities was favorably received at the monthly meeting of the Board of Trade rooms and will be further discussed at a later meeting.

The members planned for the Christmas treats to be given in the General Public and Saint John County Hospitals and decided to give a four compartment baby bed to the children's ward in the General Hospital.

Very gratifying reports of the regular visiting of jolly day and of treats provided at Hallowe'en were submitted.

BALANCE ON HAND.

Mrs. Lester W. Mowry, treasurer, reported a balance of $1,083.96 after expenses of $280.12 were deducted.

When plans were made for the Christmas treats in the two hospitals it was decided there would be no decorations provided, except a wreath for each hospital and for the General Public Hospital nurses' home.

At the County Hospital, Mrs. George Ewing and Mrs. J. J. Stohart are to be conveners of the Christmas treat.

Mrs. Hail was in charge of the Hallowe'en treat at the County Hospital and during the last two months the Baptists had supplied all visitors while delicacies were taken to the patients each week.

Mrs. H. Watson was appointed visiting convener for the ensuing month.

A report was given of the conference with the commissioners of the General Public Hospital with reference to taking over the social service department.

Mrs. George Ewing reported on the visiting at the public hospital and the difficulty in obtaining enough visitors.

COOK BOOK SALES.

In jolly day reports it was said that about 800 jars would be sent to the General Public Hospital and 38 to the East Saint John Hospital.

When denominational vice-presidents gave their reports, Mrs. J. H. Doody for the Catholics, reported nine follow-up cases cared for.

Miss Belle Howe's report as social service worker, showed 78 visits were made, clothes given three families, four cases reported to the Aid and cases supplied for three cases.

Mrs. T. H. Carter reported as convener for the Hallowe'en treat at the General Public Hospital and told of the many generous gifts received.

Mrs. W. E. Morris gave the house committee report, telling of the need for a four compartment baby's bed in the children's ward.

The magazine report was given by Mrs. Travers in the absence of Mrs. Ralph Robertson. The Baptists, with Mrs. F. A. Dykeman as convener, will provide the magazines next month.

REFUSES $100,000 BEQUEST IN WILL

Allgood's Unexpected Action Blasts Plans of Mrs. Crouse's Nieces

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Andrew Perry De Forrest Allgood, New York clubman, has renounced all claims to $100,000 bequeathed him in the will of Mrs. Alta Pease Crouse, Syracuse society leader, who was killed in a fall from a New York hotel window a few months ago.

The unexpected action blasted plans of two nieces of Mrs. Crouse, Mrs. Lillian Osgood and Mrs. Ella Veale, both of Boston, who had hoped to use the Allgood bequest as an opening wedge to break the will.

Allgood said he wants Mrs. Crouse's money to go to the people and for the purposes specified in her will and not to those who are contesting it. He signed papers renouncing the legacy and right to act. The Syracuse Memorial Hospital is expected to benefit. Named as residuary legatee, entitled to all the estate left after the written bequests are cared for, the hospital's bequest will be increased $80,000 by Mr. Allgood's action. Allgood asks that he be paid $10,000 in cash within 30 days to reimburse him for legal aid and other expenses.

He also renounced his right to serve as an executor. Surrogate John W. Sadler consented to allow the case to go over until the May term of court.

The Slight Cold Of To-day May Be Serious To-morrow

On the first appearance of a cough or cold, do not neglect it, but get rid of it at once before it has a chance to grow worse and becomes settled on the lungs, for once it does become deep-seated you are going to have a lot of trouble in getting rid of it.

Our advice to you is that on the first sign of a cough or cold you should procure a bottle of as by its timely use you may save yourself many years of suffering from some serious bronchial or lung trouble.

The Operation I Avoided—

MRS. IDA M. COFFMAN, SIDELL, ILL.

IF there is one thing more than another a woman dreads, it is a surgical operation, and to be told that one is necessary is very disheartening.

Hospitals are grand institutions, and undoubtedly many operations are necessary. However, we have received hundreds of letters from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after an operation had been deemed advisable.

Every woman who suffers as Mrs. Coffman did naturally wishes to avoid an operation if possible, and the remarkable statements which she makes in her letter will be read with interest by women everywhere.

Mrs. Coffman's Letter Follows:

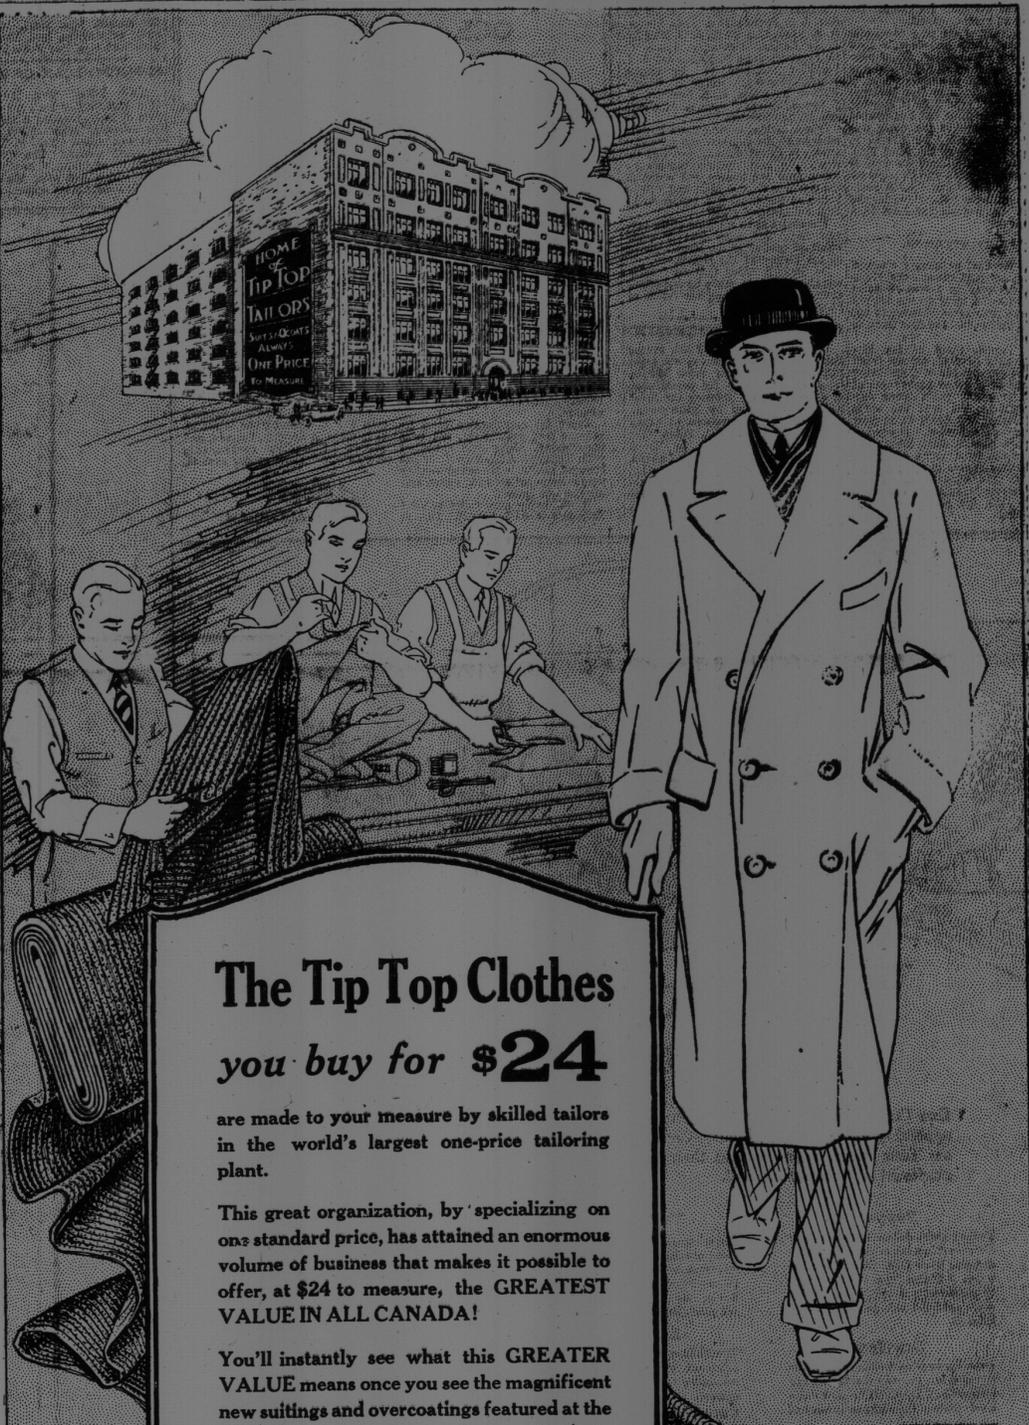

Sidell, Illinois.—"I was a nervous wreck. I was suffering from a pain in my left side which was noticeable at all times, but sometimes it was almost unbearable and I could not even sit in the bed during the night. I had been sick for seven years, but not so badly until the last eighteen months, and had become so run-down that I cared for nobody and would rather have died than live. I couldn't do my work without help and the doctor told me that an operation was all there was left for me. I would not consent to that so my husband brought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begged me to take it. I have taken fourteen bottles of it and I feel ten years younger. Life is full of hope. I do all my housework and had a large garden this year. I never will be without the Vegetable Compound in the house and when my two little girls reach womanhood I shall advise them to take it."—Mrs. Ida M. Coffman, R. R. No. 3, Sidell, Illinois.

Alberta Woman Avoids an Operation. Provost, Alberta.—"I was in a bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do anything. The doctor said I should have an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. After taking three bottles I became much better and now I have a bonny baby girl four months old. I do my housework and help a little with the chores. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter."—Mrs. A. A. Adams, Box 54, Provost, Alberta.

PRICES FIRM AT WALL STREET OPENING TODAY

President's New York Speech Has Salutory Effect on Exchange

BRAZILIAN FEATURE OF MONTREAL MART

Advance Half to 76 1/4 and Has Largest Turnover of All Issues

Canadian Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Stock prices displayed a firm tone at the opening of today's market. Retention of the 3 1/2 per cent. rediscunt rate by the New York Federal Reserve Bank and the speech of President Coolidge in New York last night, declaring that the government was committed to the task of permitting business to expand, had a favorable effect on speculative sentiment, which did not appear disturbed by the raising of the Philadelphia reserve bank rediscunt rate. Opening gains of 1 to 3 points were registered to Chrysler Motors, United States Industrial Alcohol, General Electric and Nickel Plate, the last named touching a new record high.

IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—Brazilian was prominent at the opening of today's stock market, supplying by far the largest turnover and advancing 1/2 to 7/8. The balance of the list was comparatively inactive with the exception of Steel of Canada, which was up 1/2 to 3/4. Other fractional gains up 1/4 to 1/2. Dominion Textile, up 1/4 to 89 1/2. B. C. Fish up 1/4 to 88. The weak spots were Twin City and Winnipeg Halls, each off 1/2 to 7/8 and 48 respectively.

CABLE TRANSFERS.

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—Cable transfers, 48 1/2.

JOE LAMB NOT IN PRO. RANKS YET

Sussex Boy Did Not Figure in Ottawa Victory Last Night

OTTAWA, Ont., Nov. 20.—The world champion Victoria Cougars, fresh from or perhaps tired from two victories in Montreal, went down to defeat last night, before the Ottawa Senators, six to two. Senators goals were clean cut, and left no room for dispute. Leading the Senatorial offensive, came veteran Cy Denneny, who hanged four goals. Hooley Smith and Nighbor, got the other two. In center ice, the great Nighbor again showed that he is in a class by himself. He outplayed who ever opposed him. Hooley Smith came next on the honor list, with a magnificent game both ways. Clancy and Boucher were both good. Loughlin and Frederickson stood out for the losers, with "Old Fox" Jack Walker and Hart both turning in useful games.

Joe Lamb, the Sussex boy, who is trying out with the Senators, did not take the plunge into the pro waters last night. It is not known just what Lamb will do yet.

ALTHOUGH FLORENCE IS THE MAIN BACKGROUND of "Romola," important scenes, including the thrilling fight at sea, were shot in the port of Leghorn and at Pisa, with its famous leaning tower. But most of the actors in the cast, with the exception of the principals, were natives of Florence; many of them distinguished members of the nobility.

POLICE WATCH DOOR BEGGARS

One Case Exposed Last Night by Arrival of Police

Man Posing as From Windsor, Ont., and Here Seeking Work

The police are watching a group of young men who are annoying householders on front street locations with begging tactics. The usual request for an old suit of clothes or an overcoat and while some of these cases may be genuine it has turned out that some are schemes to secure money through the sale of the apparel. Further investigation suggests that the money thus secured mostly goes for liquor.

Last night an uptown doorbell was rung after 11 o'clock—the third visit of the kind within a week. The request was for the price of a bed for the night, a suit of clothes or an old overcoat. The young man making the request appeared to have been drinking. He gave a name and said he was from Ontario and had been advised to come to Saint John where there was plenty of work.

While the young man was talking with the householder the porch door opened and a policeman flashed a light in his face. This caused him and he acknowledged to the officer that he bore another name and was a local resident. He also confessed to having been drinking in spite of these confessions the man was given an order on the Salvation Army for a night's lodging.

A few minutes later the police officer returned to the home where the man had been befriended and explained that he was watching the fellow as there had been attempts at robbery made in some automobiles parked nearby. The beggar confessed to the officer that he had been told by others that the house in question was "good for a piece of change."
