(Canadian Press Cable) London, Sept. 14.—The impression is growing here that a Turkish peace can be arranged only in a large international conference in which Russia, Roumania, Bulgaria and the other Balkan states participate. This impression is based in part upon the renewed expression of Russia's attitude regarding the Straits of the Dardanelles, as contained in a note of protest against the Allied action in Constantinople, sent to Great Britain, in which she demands that the question be settled primarily by the powers that use the Black Sea as an outlet to the ocean.

REASONS FOR
VALUE OF EGGS
IN HUMAN DIET

In Real Intrinsic Value Eggs Stand Far Above Their Value as Ordinarily Rated.

The egg is truly a fountain from which the human race may draw mental and bodily health and vigor. It is not so very long since eggs were regarded as a luxury in the home, and while it is true that today they are regarded as an ordinary article of diet, it is equally true that they are not so freely used as they should be, and it is evident that their wonderful nutritive value is not as generally understood as it should be.

A few years ago, when measuring the value of a food or any very little consideration was given to the proportion of mineral matter or inorganic constituents contained. Today in the light of the newer knowledge of nutrition, it is entirely different. It is essential that the diet should contain adequate mineral matter, and here the egg stands preeminently. In other words, there are at least five important factors to bear in mind in measuring the nutritive value of a diet.

(1) Good protein; (2) Adequate mineral matter; (3) Food essential fat soluble A; (4) Food essential water soluble B; (5) Sufficient calories or heat creating units.

The "Vitamin Twins"—the egg and milk—are the only two foods in ordinary every day use which can answer
"here" to these requirements as contained in themselves. In real intrinsic value eggs stand on a pedestal far above their value as ordinarily rated.

It has been given to Dr. E. V. Mc-Collum, of the Johns Hopkins University, to reveal to us by actual practical feeding experiments conducted by him and repeated over a long period in association with other scientists, the real and wonderful value of eggs and milk.

Dr. McCollum has proved that egg yolks and butter-fat contain unidentified food essentials or vitamins, which for lack of better names he describes as Fat Soluble "A" and Water Soluble "B." In sufficient proportion to ensure the growth and vigor of the young animal, to replace the wasted tissue and protect the health of old and young, and in no other foods can these essentials be found in sufficient quantities.

Dr. McCollum believes that the real reason why the men and women of China and Japan are small in stature is that their diet has been faulty, lacking mainly in milk and eggs. In contrast, the peoples of Europe and America are liberal users of both eggs and milk.
They are the largest people in the world.
They have the lowest death rate, the longest span of life, and accomplish most in every line of activity. The varied diet, including milk and eggs and leafy vegetables, has made Europeans and read Americans the sturdiest peoples of the world.

Professor James Dryden says: "It is not to be assumed that the science of nutrition represented by Doctor Mc-Collum is going to develop a superior race of men and eggs and milk alone.
The value of proteins, of fats and of carbohydrates loses none of its importance, but these are rendered more efficient when supplemented by the unknown substance called vitamins that is found only in sufficient quantities in eggs and milk. A varied diet is necessary, but a greater use of eggs and milk is essential even in America. Certain diseases prevail alarmingly where eggs and milk are lacking in the diet." Eggs and milk are the protective foods.

The experiments of Doctor McCollum read almost like a romance. In all his experiments, as well as those of Hart
and Steenbock of the Wisconsin station, nothing was found to take the place of either milk or eggs.

In experiments with pigs the animals failed to make proper growth when these dietary essentials found in the yolks of eggs and in milk were left out. One pig that was fed wheat meal and wheat glut-ten weighed only fifty-five pounds at the end of the experiment, while the other wheat meal and skim milk for the same period weighed 165 pounds.

Egg yolks are not pure fat; they contain protein and other things, and when these other things are separated from the fat by chemical process—in other words, when the fat is purified, this lack again being due to the prevailing system of buttering for or buying eggs from producers by count, absolutely without consideration as to their quality.

"Eggs" and, today, Canada is the only country in the world, as far as can be ascertained, having a national standard for eggs based on interior quality.

Efforts have been and are being made to familiarize the consuming public with these standards, in order that consumers may buy intelligently according to their requirements. These grades are applied to both fresh-gathered and storage eggs, and consumers should bear in mind that fresh eggs properly stored are excellent and wholesome food, and a splendid substitute for fresh-gathered eggs.

There is little doubt that the consuming public could obtain a glimpse of the interior of the majority of the cold storages, splendidly kept and operated by our wholesale distributors, and prejudice which exists in many quarters against cold storage eggs would disappear.

While we have no positive proof that any chemical change detrimental to quality has taken place in what is left of an egg when it has become stale, we do know that its palatability is an important factor in the diet, and, therefore, while the somewhat inferior grades of eggs may be wholesome food, they should be made distinguishable to consumers in combinations in cooking, and be paid for according to their somewhat lesser value.—T. A. B.

What Hydro Has Done For Ontario in the Way of Reduced Rates For Electricity.

Gordon Kribs, electrical engineer for the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission, yesterday gave out the following statement. It should cause the consumers of electricity in St. John to do some serious thinking:
In order that the citizens of St. John may realize at least in part the benefits which the policy of the New Brunswick Power Commission will bring to the city, we are tabulating in the following table the cost per K. W. H. of domestic lighting in some of the larger towns in Ontario before the advent of hydro and the cost of the same or better service under the hydro in 1920:

Table with columns: Municipality, Cost K. W. H. prior to hydro, Average monthly bill hydro, Cost at present hydro rates, Monthly saving by hydro.

The following points are clearly demonstrated and should be noted in particular:
(1) The very high rates charged in the municipalities mentioned when the distribution of light or power was in the hands of private companies.
(2) The exceedingly low average rate for domestic lighting under hydro—municipal ownership.
(3) The large average consumption for domestic consumers due to the almost universal use of domestic electrical appliances made possible by the low rates in force.
(4) That in spite of this large consumption of electricity in the homes, the average monthly bill per home still hovers around $1, often less, and seldom more.
(5) That the saving effected in domestic lighting rates due to the adoption of the people's hydro policy ranged from 69.7 per cent to 82.5 per cent.
(6) Similar results can be obtained if the city of St. John distributes Musquash power.
This information is taken from the annual report of the Hydro Electric Power Commission for 1920 which was audited by the Ontario government auditors and is available for anyone who may wish to investigate.

CHANGE OF MANAGEMENT

Having found it necessary on account of impaired health to remove from the city, George M. Ross has resigned as general manager of The Ross Drug Co., Ltd., and Louis A. Titus has been appointed to that position.
Mr. Titus will be well remembered by many friends as the efficient head clerk for many years of McDiarmid's Royal Pharmacy, and later, for the last two years, as store manager of The Ross Drug Co., Ltd.
In assuming the general management,
Mr. Titus is confident that he will be able to maintain the high standard of service that has made The Ross Drug store in the city and province; and believes that it will also be possible, from time to time, to make new innovations and changes which will be appreciated
by customers.
It, of course, goes without saying that Mr. Titus is a fully qualified druggist, and he will carefully supervise the prescription department; and this, together with the well-known large stock and high quality of drugs carried by The Ross Drug Company, is an assurance of safe service in this very important matter.

SUPPLY WORMS

New Method of Securing
Earthworms for Poultry—
Process Explained.
Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 14.—That Peter O'Keefe, son of Mr. and Mrs. William O'Keefe of Greenwich, is entitled to enrolment among the great benefactors of the race, is shown in an unique device he conceived for supplying poultry with earthworms by electricity. Mr.
O'Keefe, who is chief storekeeper in the Navy Yard at Portsmouth, N. H., by writing a description of new device, has been awarded a prize given in a Boston contest to the person furnishing the most unusual new item.

The process consists in pushing two brass rods into the earth, several feet apart, and a wire being attached to each rod, and the ends of the wires being connected with an ordinary telephone magneto. By twisting the handle for a few seconds the earth between the poles begins to break all along, and all shapes and sizes of worms come to the surface.
This is caused by the vibration, and tingling effect of the magneto in the damp ground between the poles. The chicks promptly get to work.

SAVING ROOF OF WESTMINSTER

Famous Architectural Work
was in Danger of Collapse
Because of Insect.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—(By Canadian Press.)—Westminster Hall's famous roof, one of the architectural glories of the world, is being saved from imminent danger of collapse at a cost of more than £100,000. The cause of the trouble is a tiny grub known scientifically as xestobium tesselatum, and popularly known as the death-watch beetle. The roof has withstood time and the elements for more than 400 years in an excellent state of preservation, but this pestiferous wood-boring grub through the centuries has been steadily eating the heart out of the timbers and perforating their outer surface with innumerable exit holes until they resemble gigantic pepper castors.

An extraordinary feature of the insect's work is that what outwardly timber may appear to be quite sound
the interior may be wholly eaten away.
This is explained by the habit of the grub, which lives continuously in the wood until it has passed the chrysalis stage, and woria to and fro in little tunnels. After three years it emerges and prepares to leave its natal flight, usually in May and June, which are the popular marriage months.

In connection with the restoration of the roof the first work has been to get rid of the devastating grub. This has proved a difficult task, as the use of any insecticide containing poison or chloroform would have seriously affected the members of the House of Commons during the sittings of the house. Finally a remedy which is regarded as equally effective has been procured, consisting of a mixture of benzine, castile soap and cedar wood oil. With powerful air blasts the timbers have been cleansed of dust and the solution has been sprayed on the wood at a pressure of sixty pounds to the square inch. Every part has received at least two soakings.

Whether this treatment of the timbers is all that is needed time alone will show. Experiments have proved that the female will not lay her eggs on wood so treated, and that the grub must die if it touches it. The lifetime of the grub in the wood is three years, and the solution will last longer than that. Periodical spraying may follow. The work-work in the roof has been reinforced in such a manner as not to detract from the original beauty and design thereof.

Sir Frank Baines, director of works in His Majesty's Office of Works, has prepared the scheme and is responsible for

The great historic Westminster Hall, which was the royal residence until 1612, when it suffered greatly by fire,
was built by King William I., surnamed
Rufus by reason of his red complexion.
He reigned from 1067 to 1100. The beautiful roof which is now undergoing repair was built in the fourteenth century.
Westminster Hall, where the mortal remains of King Edward the Peacemaker lay in state before being con-

famous, in its tragic dignity, of the possessions of the realm. Within its walls have been held such state trials as those of William Wallace, Sir Thomas More,
Anne Boleyn, Somerset, Strafford, Charles I. and Warren Hastings. The preservation of so glorious a monument of England's "island story"—for all the many acts of injustice and the agonies of mental suffering that its walls have looked upon—has been regarded as a sacred duty.

COSTLY NECKLACE MISSING ON LINER

Search of Crew and Their Quarters Failed to Reveal Jewels.

New York, Sept. 14.—The loss of a pearl necklace, valued at $10,000, and possibly of a diamond necklace, by a negro member of the crew, who declared, had trusted his head and arms through the porthole of her stateroom and said things for which his husband would have killed him," were reported by Mrs. N. A. Davidson, one of the passengers of the La Lorraine, which came to this port from Havre and Plymouth.

Following the theft, she said, the quarters of the crew and their staterooms were thoroughly searched without discovery of the missing necklace. The cabin passengers offered to have themselves and their staterooms searched, but the alleged assailant, Mrs. Davidson, said that a guard was detailed throughout the voyage to patrol the deck outside her stateroom. A passenger, a woman with two daughters, who declined to give her name, corroborated Mrs. Davidson's statement, saying that there had been some unpleasant experience with members of the crew.

Mrs. Davidson, whose home was originally in Indianapolis, but who has lived nearly two years in Paris, the wife of an Englishman, in the British government service, reported both her loss and the treatment of herself to Purser Villar, of the La Lorraine. She said that when she went to bed on Monday night she placed the necklace with a valuable brooch and some rings in a reticule, which she left on her bureau.

She did not lock the door of her stateroom and when she arose the following morning the necklace was gone, but none of the other jewelry was touched. There came the futile search of crew and quarters.

20,000 Boys in All Will Aid Institute's Campaign During Safety Week.

The Safety Institute of America has announced that 20,000 Boy Scouts and 2,000 Scoutmasters would aid the institute to prevent accidents during safety week in a campaign which will be inaugurated with a Safety Week in October. Judge Elbert H. Gray, President of the United States Steel Corporation and chairman of the Safety Institute's Public Safety Committee, in making the announcement, said that Franklin D. Roosevelt had been appointed chairman of the Boy Scout Committee.

The support of the entire volunteer scouting leadership and of all the scout troops of the greater city is pledged in a letter from Mr. Roosevelt to Judge Gary, in which he said:

"I am heartily in sympathy with the aggressive campaign of education which you outline. I believe that a substantial reduction of accidents requires the co-operation of all the people, and that, as you indicate, depends upon crystallizing the public opinion in favor of those measures which are designed to reduce accidents."

"You may rest assured that the Boy Scout Foundation of Greater New York and the individual boy scout units are ready to co-operate with you and the experts of your staff. The Foundation, which was recently organized to co-ordinate more effectively the Boy Scout activities is in a position to place the entire volunteer Scouting leadership, some 2,000 scoutmasters, and all of the Scout troops, more than 20,000

BIG CHEATING, SAY MOTORISTS

Alleged Yearly Toll Taken by "Short-Measure" Sellers of Gasoline Denounced—Losses $250,000 a Day.

Washington, Sept. 14.—"Short-measure" selling of gasoline is estimated by the National Motorists' Association to be costing purchasers $90,000,000 a year. This figure was based on an estimate that each of the 10,000,000 motorists of the United States buys two gallons of gasoline daily and that the average flogging by "short-measure artists" amounts to two pints in each five-gallon, resulting in a total daily loss to purchasers of 1,000,000 gallons valued at approximately $250,000.

The association announced its intention to combat "short-measure" selling by "short-measure artists" through the use of "fraud-detecting devices," carefully made under official auspices by representatives of automobile clubs, the statement said, "developed the astounding fact that out of a number of purchasers of gas in five-gallon lots there was a shortage running from one to three pints each in over 50 per cent of the tests made."

These tests were conducted chiefly, it was said, in Cleveland, Louisville and Kansas City, although in one large city only one or two cases of flogging were reported.

"No evidence has been found," the statement added, "that the fraud is contained by the oil companies, and in fact offers of assistance are being received from such companies."

MORE MELONS THIS YEAR.

Cantaloupe and Watermelon Crops Both Increase.

(New York Times)

The total commercial cantaloupe crop is estimated at 44,578 cars by the Department of Agriculture at Washington. This is thirty-seven per cent larger than the 1921 crop of 32,555 cars, 850 crates to the car. An average yield per acre of 149 crates of cantaloupes with 136 crates in 1921.

Of the early crop, already marketed, 20,591 cars were produced, compared with the production of 12,938 cars in 1921. Estimated production of the intermediate crop is placed at 14,117 cars, compared with 12,831 cars in 1921, and the production of the late crop is forecast at 9,869 cars compared with 6,798 cars in 1921. The leading state in late commercial cantaloupe production is Colorado with a crop forecast at 7,120 cars, compared with 5,909 cars in 1921. None of the other late states has a prospective crop as large as 1,000 cars. The forecast for New York is 962 cars, Washington 514 cars, New Mexico 446 cars, Iowa 229 cars, Michigan and Tennessee 220 cars each and Virginia 154 cars.

Production as estimated includes carlot movement, movement in less than carloads whether by freight in mixed cars, express, automobile truck or for consumption in home markets, and also that part of the crop which for any reason is not moved off the farm.

Production of 60,000 cars of commercial watermelons, 1,000 melons to the car, is estimated by the department. The acreage is estimated at 244,700 acres, compared with a final estimate of 166,000 acres last year. An average yield of 317 melons per acre, compared with 375 melons in 1921, is indicated. Of the 1921 commercial crop, the railroads reported carlot movements of 45,474 cars.

The early crop of watermelons is forecast at 8,304 cars, compared with the final estimate of 46,578 cars in 1921 and the late crop at 14,697 cars, compared with 15,024 cars in 1921. Missouri leads the late producing states with a crop forecast at 2,904 cars, then Oklahoma with 2,684 cars, the Central District of California 2,094 cars, Indiana 1,028 cars, Virginia 1,163 cars, Illinois 1,140 cars, Arkansas 1,092 cars and smaller production in other states.

FATHER ADOPTS HIS OWN SIX-YEAR-OLD DAUGHTER

Worcester, Mass., Sept. 14.—Six-year-old Rose Edna Casey of this city, has become the adopted child of her own father by decree of the Probate Court.

The decree, signed by Judge Frederick H. Chamberlain, permits Mr. and Mrs. Carlton E. McDougall, of Worcester, to adopt the child and to change her name to McDougall.

It was only two years ago that the little girl's mother, Alma C. McDougall, died, and she and her brother, Harry Gilmore McDougall, were adopted by their maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Pauline Casey of Worcester, their names changed to Casey by authority of the court.

Then the grandmother died, and Mr. and Mrs. McGilchrist, who were her mother's father and mother, decided to adopt the girl. The child's grandfather, with whom the boy is now living, assented to the change of name and adoption.

Dr. Euclide Legere, of the staff of the General Public Hospital here, was chosen as a member of the Franco-American Society held in Moncton yesterday to take the two-year scholarship in Paris given by the French government.

Dr. Legere is the son of Arthur Legere of St. Joseph's, N. B., and is a graduate of St. Joseph's and Laval Universities. Miss Laura Gaudet of Moncton was chosen to take the scholarship if Dr. Legere is unable to go to Paris.

Structures in West Slowly Disintegrating—Scientific Research Work.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—Millions of dollars worth of cement construction are involved in an important series of scientific experiments now under way. Examination has shown that cement structures, particularly in the western provinces, are slowly disintegrating.

A committee of scientific experts, under the chairmanship of Professor J. MacKenzie of the University of Saskatchewan, was appointed to investigate and a fund was created to finance the work. The Research Council of Canada has given $5,000, while grants from the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Canada Cement Company, the C. P. R. and the City of Winnipeg brought the total funds available to $18,200.

It was decided to divide the work into two phases: physical field tests and chemical research. Two hundred and fifty blocks of cement were exposed to action of alkaline water at different points, this stage of the experiments being conducted under the charge of Prof. Williams of the University of Saskatchewan. The work, according to advices received here, is now about to enter on the second stage, that of chemical research. The test blocks will be taken to the University of Saskatchewan and there chemical research work will be carried on under Prof. Thoroldson. It is not expected, however, that any results will be ready for publication for another year.

Disintegration of cement construction under the influence of alkaline water, it is said, reached such a point that until more cement can be used where alkaline water is.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT SUFFERS ILL HEALTH

His Highness is Threatened With Breakdown of Heart.

London, Sept. 14.—(By mail.)—The health of the aged Duke of Connaught, former Governor-General of Canada, is giving rise to serious anxiety. His Highness suffers almost exactly in the same manner as his brother, the late King Edward, with a tendency to bronchial congestion, which strains the heart and threatens its breakdown.

He has passed the last two or three winters upon the coast of the south of France, and in the ordinary course of events would do so this season. But he has expressed a wish to remain in England this winter, and Baghdad Hotel will therefore be fitted up with special appliances for maintaining an absolutely equable temperature. The illness of his dead brother has increased remarkably of late, and these who were in close attendance upon King Edward during the last year of his life says that it is positively startling to come suddenly upon the Duke of Connaught, so faithfully does he feature the monarch who now sleeps in St. George's Chapel at Windsor.

One of the great regrets of the Duke of Connaught has been the fact that he is compelled to take a very inactive share in the great business of life. A keen soldier, he longed to go out to South Africa and take his place in the actual fighting, but Queen Victoria's premonitory forbade it, and there was quite a scene when he wrote from London to Balmoral that he had made up his mind to go. The War Office were favored with a tremendous telegram from Scotland—and the Duke stayed in England.

CUTTING COSTS BY HYDRO

The extent of the actual savings made by householders in some of the larger Ontario towns, as a result of the municipal ownership and operation of hydro-electric plants, is shown in a graphic manner in the statement by Mr. Gordon Kribs, which appears elsewhere in this issue. The contrast between the rates paid when the distribution of the electric current was in the hands of private companies and the rates charged under municipal ownership is a striking one. The statement furnishes additional proof of the most convincing nature of the wisdom of the decision made by the people of St. John when, by their votes in the last civic election, they declared emphatically for the policy of civic distribution of the Musquash power.

Although, in the towns mentioned by Mr. Kribs, the old rates were considerably lower than St. John has been permitted to enjoy under the private ownership system, experience proved that they were far higher than there was any necessity for paying. What happened when the municipalities undertook the distribution of hydro current demonstrated that fact beyond contention. Residents of these Ontario communities were not content to continue paying tribute to private corporations; they saw reason for denying themselves the electrical conveniences which private ownership rates placed beyond their reach; and they were not willing that the growth and prosperity of their towns should be limited by reason of excessive rates for electric current. The policy of civic distribution of hydro current offered the way out—and they took it.

Their new policy—the policy for which St. John has voted and which St. John people are determined shall be put into effect here—did not disappoint them. Bramford, Hamilton, Fort Arthur and Toronto had been paying a rate of eight cents for current for domestic lighting, with an additional charge for meter rent; under municipal distribution of the hydro current, they are paying 1.7 cents, 2.3 cents, 2.3 cents and 2.2 cents respectively for the same service. The highest of the old rates mentioned was twelve cents, which was paid in Stratford and Windsor, and those places now pay 2.1 cents and 3.2 cents.

The tables showing the amounts per month paid by the average household under the municipal hydro system now in effect in these places, show what the reduction in rates has meant to the householders. As Mr. Kribs points out, "the average monthly bill per home hours around one dollar, often less, and seldom more," and this almost nominal rate is enjoyed in spite of "the large average consumption due to the almost universal use of domestic electrical appliances made possible by the low rates in force."

For a monthly payment of about one dollar the residents of these towns are receiving current which would have cost as high as $6.28 under the old rates, or more than that under the rates now in effect in St. John.

These are not dreams nor guesses; they are the figures taken from the annual report of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission for 1920, duly verified by Ontario government auditors. They show what has been accomplished in Ontario, and what can and will be accomplished in St. John.

SOUND ADVICE

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Premier of Canada, visited Kitchener, Ont., the city of his birth, yesterday. Strange it would be if the occasion did not call to his mind memories of his early days here and happy thoughts of father and mother. Not unnatural, too, was it that there should arise before him scenes of boyhood and the life of that day, or that he should contrast conditions then with those that now obtain. From these memories and from this contrast, the Premier drew a lesson which he put in striking terms in reply to hearty words of greeting spoken to him. He said: "It is not the girls who drink cocktails, smoke cigarettes, spend their evenings between the movies and the dance halls, any more than it is the women who spend their afternoons at bridge, who make the mothers of men, who rise up to call them blessed because of the equipment with which they go forth into the world work. It is not the men who are striving to subvert the old established customs and institutions, to break with the traditional and provoke a reign of anarchy, that are making either the world or our country a better place to live in. It is the men who have just passed has dangerous tendencies in these directions. We must return to the quiet and gentler and more refined modes of living if we are to ensure our nation's future along the paths of happiness and peace."

The Premier undoubtedly has put the case well. Give us back the home life of a few generations ago, the family group, rhapsody in the evening gathering, the respect of the young for the elders, and check us in the mad rush for pleasure and gain that marks the day in which we live. Individual, family and nation will have gained much by the reversion.

A London cable today quotes the chief newspapers of that city as much concerned over the situation in the Near East. Grave possibilities attend upon the Turkish victory over the Greeks and unless the powers act soon in concord there may be serious developments. The attitude of France is said to cause anxiety and definite declaration of the stand of that nation is eagerly awaited in the British capital.

Friends of the Power Company who have been attempting to belittle the professional standing of Engineer Kribs have their answer in Mr. Gaby's letter. Mr. Gaby is chief engineer of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario and anything he says on hydro matters is worth while. He pays a high tribute to Mr. Kribs' ability as a hydro expert.

There would seem to be great need of a steamship line between St. John and southern American ports. It should be a paying investment both for the Canadian government merchant marine and the farmers and other producers of the Maritime Provinces.

Premier Lloyd George is expected to lead the British Delegation to the League of Nations assembly in Geneva next week. Among the most important questions to come before the assembly are those bearing on conditions in Austria and the economic situation of Central Europe.

LOOKING INTO OPPORTUNITIES FOR INVESTMENT

George T. Steeves of London in Province on Mission—Was Born in St. John. Fredericton, N. B., Sept. 14—George T. Steeves, of London, Eng., a member of an investment brokerage firm, is now here on a visit to the Dominion making a study of Canadian opportunities for investment of English capital. He is at present visiting relatives in Fredericton after having visited Montreal and Ottawa in the past. He is in the city to continue to look into the possibilities in search of information and incidentally in connection with a land reclamation project in that province, of which he is chairman of the board of directors. Mr. Steeves was born in St. John, but has resided in England since removing there with his family when she was eight years of age, with the exception of a Canadian visit twenty odd years ago. Mr. Steeves is particularly interested in British Columbia opportunities. He says that there are large quantities of English capital lying idle and considering the present as the opportune time for Canadian investment. "Especially is this true in view of the prevailing tendency towards investments within the empire which are finding a preference over European enterprises," English investors, he says, are getting away from the old habit of making Canadian investments with Canadian representatives who visit with one country to secure capital and are now demanding investigation by their own representatives and representation on the controlling capital is placed.

Lesson No. 104. THE POTENTIOMETER.

Some types of crystal detectors are found to be more sensitive if a potential of a few volts is impressed across the terminals. The adjustment is usually fairly critical, requiring a very fine voltage regulation which is obtained with the device known as the potentiometer. The necessary voltage is usually supplied by several dry cells connected in series, across the terminals of which the potentiometer is connected. A sliding contact allows the resistance of the detector and may be reversed to adjust the best results.

Connection of Potentiometer.

The potentiometer is constructed of a carbon or graphite resistance rod with sliding contact, or non-resistance coils are wound on small bobbins and the terminals brought to switch contacts. The total resistance is from a few hundred to several thousand ohms depending on the type.

The advantage of the potentiometer circuit is that very fine adjustment of the voltage may be obtained. The main disadvantage is that the battery is short circuited through the resistance continuously, thereby placing a steady load on the dry cells and shortening their life. The higher the resistance of the potentiometer the less will be the drain on the batteries.

Another form of potentiometer which is becoming more common is used in connection with vacuum tube receiving systems, especially those employing radio frequency amplification. The potentiometer is shunted across the filament battery and the variable contact is connected to the grid circuit. It is claimed that this arrangement permits the potential on the grid to be adjusted so that the circuit will function just below the oscillating point for the tube.

The electrolytic detector which consists of a fine wire in an acid solution also employs a potentiometer and battery. This type of detector is hardly ever used since the development of the vacuum tube has brought within the reach of many experimenters a more sensitive form, and those who reach do not use tubes prefer the simplicity of the galena or silicon detectors. The electrolytic detector like the coherer has therefore almost disappeared from use. (All Rights Reserved by United Feature Syndicate. Reproduction Prohibited.)

THE SONNET.

As some old, rare and mellowed instrument That master hands, dust long ago, have played, So is the sonnet; I am half afraid My very touch may seem irreverent; For, as some ancient jar keeps redolent With dust of roses that bloomed but once, So is the sonnet's sweetness poignant made With dust of great ones who before us went.

LIGHTER VEIN.

For Keeps. The Sire—"Young man, I demand to know your intentions toward Nora, the cook." The Son—"Oh, just kidding her a little, that's all." The Sire—"All right. Flirt with her and keep her contented, but don't you dare to marry her and take her away from us."—Boston Globe.

Needed a Caddy.

The continental traveler deposited an enormous bag beside the table in the restaurant. The conductor promptly rebuked him. "Don't you know you can't bring your luggage in here. You'll have to put that bag in the van." "Luggage?" sneered the traveler. "That isn't luggage. That's my purse. I'm going to Austria."

Murphy's Answer.

A young Irish preacher was delivering his first sermon, and took as his text the miracle of the loaves and fishes. But, being nervous, he read it: "And they fed five people with five thousand loaves of bread and five thousand fishes." On hearing this, one of the parishioners murmured: "That's no miracle, beggers!" The preacher overheard him, and so, on the following Sunday, he announced the same text, but, being no longer nervous, read it as it was written: "And they fed five thousand people with five loaves of bread and a few fishes." He paused a second, and then said: "Could you do that, Mr. Murphy?" Murphy replied: "Sure, your reverence, I could assist you with what was left over from last Sunday."

POSTAL AND RADIO MAKE AGREEMENT

New York, Sept. 13—Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph Cable Company, announced this week that his company has entered into an agreement with the Radio Corporation of America, by which the Postal Telegraph places at the service of the radio corporation, its land line system extending to all parts of the United States, for the collection and delivery of transatlantic radio messages. The agreement provides that the Postal Telegraph shall accept at all of its offices, wherever located, despatches to be sent to Europe, and that the radio corporation shall deliver to the Postal Telegraph all messages received by it for delivery to land line points reached by the Postal Telegraph.

In order that America may maintain its present position in communication, he said that his company had just completed an agreement with the Telefunken Company of Germany, a great radio manufacturing company which has constructed radio stations in all parts of the world, whereby the Mackay interests secure the right to purchase from the Telefunken Company all the high powered radio apparatus necessary to construct, in the United States, one of the radio powered radio stations for the transaction of radio business. This contract also carries the right to a portion of the wireless intercept of radio traffic with the telefunken stations in all parts of the world. This insures to the Mackay interests the opportunity if it so desires.

SONIA WINS HER FIGHT FOR LIFE

New York, Sept. 13—Greenwich Village, that Bohemian center regarded as a perpetual fountain of myth for a time, but now the tale has taken a new turn and the happy ending is in sight. A few weeks ago Sonia, the Cigarette Girl, was stricken desperately ill. Heart disease, a strange form, the doctors said. For weeks she lay in a hospital ward, pale and wan. And very lonely was Sonia, for she found that her village friends, the poets and painters who laughed with her and blew smoke rings with her in cellar and garret, had deserted her.

The Year Around.

A lady who is devoted to her home environment and stays there the year around was assailed by a friend who scarcely remains at home long enough to acquire an environment. Said the fashionable friend: "I knew that you wintered here, but I was astonished to learn that you summered here, too." "I have not only wintered here and summered here," said the unfashionable one, "but you will be even more astonished if I learn that I always live here and have sometimes sprung here."

SEPTEMBER IS THE TIME TO PAINT

Fall is the ideal time for exterior painting, because buildings are thoroughly dried out and the moderate Fall weather allows the paint to dry properly. Protect your property from Winter's rain and snow, for it's the rough Winter weather that's hardest on buildings. "HAND AND RING" PAINT wears wonderfully well and lasts longer. It will save the expensive repairs you will undoubtedly have to make if your building goes unprotected. "A Coat in Time Saves Nine"

(Commerce and Finance). The Mugher Manuscript, published by the American Archaeological Association, containing the so-called Annals of the Assurbanipal, unearthed by the American commission early in the present century, reveals the details of the commercial transactions and many of the very documents in use by the Babylonians 2,000 or 3,000 years before the Christian era. One of the most interesting records is the "Story of the King's Wrath against the Repairer of Pipes," printed in chapter 16, volume 4 of the Annals. It reads in part: "Then Neriglissar the Repairer of Pipes came into the palace as he had before Merodach the King. "And Merodach the King bade Neriglissar make whole the pipe where in it had been broken. "It is bad pipe," said Neriglissar; "would that I and not another had laid it in the palace, so it had been better done." "Neriglissar the Repairer of Pipes worked upon the pipe where it had been

ANCIENT ENGLISH HOME BEING REMOVED TO U. S.

London, Sept. 14—Norland Hall, an ancient English homestead near Halifax, is being dismantled and prepared for removal to San Francisco where it will be re-erected. The stone and timber comprising Norland Hall are being packed into big crates. Over one hundred of these crates were taken on motor wagons to Liverpool last week and they are now on the sea. Antiquarians lament the loss of Norland Hall, but admit that it had been allowed to fall into a decaying state. It may therefore, obtain longer existence in San Francisco.

RECENT DEATHS

Everett L. Blackwood.
Moncton, Sept. 13—The death occurred at his late residence this morning of Everett L. Blackwood, a retired C. N. R. machinist, following an illness of six weeks, due to paralysis. Mr. Blackwood was born in Maine seventy years ago, but removed to Moncton in his childhood days and had been a resident of the city ever since. The late Mr. Blackwood is survived by his wife and one son and five daughters.

Miss Caroline Welling.
Shediac, Sept. 13—(Special)—A telegram has been received by her relatives at Shediac Cape announcing the death on Monday of Miss Caroline Welling at the Vancouver hospital, after a long illness. Miss Welling was the fourth daughter of Mrs. Julianna (Bateman) Welling and the late George L. Welling, a well known orchardist of Shediac Cape. She attended the Provincial Normal school and had been a school teacher in Albert county, Westmorland county and elsewhere. She is survived by her mother, two sisters, Mrs. Eva Colpitts, of Petitcodiac, and Mrs. Walter Belyea, of Winnipeg; and two brothers, George L. and Charles, orchardists, of Shediac Cape. Miss Georgina Welling, of Carmarthen street, St. John, and Mrs. S. J. Welling, of Shediac Cape, are aunts. General sympathy is expressed for the family in their bereavement.

The funeral is to take place at St. Martin's Anglican church, Shediac Cape, early next week.

Mrs. William Cosman.
Mrs. William Cosman, who died recently in British Columbia, was in her ninety-second year. She had gone from St. John to Vancouver with her husband, who conducted a hardware store. Among the children surviving are Mrs. G. Bates and Charles Cosman of Moncton and Melbourne of Amherst, N. S. The funeral was held on Tuesday.

MEET HERE NEXT MONTH.

At a meeting of the Presbyterian synod in Halifax yesterday a motion was passed approving of the college federation scheme. It was characterized as an ambitious and splendid project. The public system of Nova Scotia came in for severe denunciation. Dr. A. H. McKay, superintendent of schools, attempted to defend the conduct of the Nova Scotia school laws but was frequently interrupted. Rev. A. V. Monah of the St. John presbytery invited the synod to meet in St. Andrew's church, St. John, on the first Tuesday in October. The invitation was accepted.

PLAN GREAT ELECTRIC LINERS

Lasker Announces Company With $80,000,000 Capital Proposed—Ships 1000 Feet Long.

(Special to The New York Herald.) Washington, Sept. 12.—Chairman A. D. Lasker of the United States Shipping Board declared today that there is a movement to form an American steamship company with a capitalization of $80,000,000, which will build two electrically driven liners each with a 70,000 gross tonnage.

In making the statement Chairman Lasker explained that he was not at liberty to disclose the names of those in the enterprise, but he added that they were among the best known financiers and shipping men in the United States. Their names, he said, "are household words."

The project has reached the stage where the plans for the ships, which are designed to exceed anything afloat, are under preparation, Chairman Lasker declared. If constructed these electrically driven vessels would exceed in size the Majesty of the White Star Line, the largest ship afloat, by 15,000 tons.

The vessels are designed to be 1,000 feet long and to be operated entirely by electrical machinery. Chairman Lasker stated that already there has been appropriated $250,000 for preparing plans and blue prints and that marine engineers and naval engineering experts and architects are at work on details.

The project was started three months ago when the Shipping Board was first approached in regard to the plans for the new company. At that time Chairman Lasker was asked if there would be funds available for the company from the ship construction loan fund as authorized by the Merchant Marine act of 1920.

Chairman Lasker informed the spokesman for the company that the board had been authorized by Congress to set aside $25,000,000 annually for this purpose and extended hope that if the ships were of an approved type the project would receive the support of the board. One financier already has offered to subscribe $5,000,000 as a nucleus for the company.

There is an additional interest in the proposed company from the point of view of the Shipping Board because of the situation in regard to the steamships under the flag of the United States Line on the Atlantic. The Leviathan, the ex-German ship, and the American built President liners constructed after the war are to be offered for sale as soon as there is a decision on the ship subsidy question.

Depending on Subsidy Bill.

Mr. Lasker said the project would be carried out if the men behind it had assurance that the ship subsidy legislation would go through. In making the announcement the chairman added that he wanted to emphasize the fact that the project must still be considered in the embryonic stage. He declared, however, he could vouch for the character and business capacity of the pioneers.

Vessels of 70,000 tons would represent the most daring advance the shipping world ever has seen. While the practical shipping men on the North Atlantic have predicted that the day of the 55,000 ton liners has passed and that there would never be constructed another vessel of the proportions of the Majesty or Leviathan, the projected liners are to be 1,000 feet long, with accommodation for more than 5,000 passengers. The Majesty is 915 feet long and the Leviathan 907.

Shipping men first heard of the proposed 1,000 foot liners early in the summer, when Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Newport News Dry Dock and Shipbuilding Company, said he knew of responsible persons who would build two transatlantic vessels of this size provided the Ship Subsidy bill passed Congress.

TO TEST SUPER-BOMBER.

Largest Airplane Constructed in United States Soon to Have Trial.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Interest in aviation will be increased, army experts expect in the forthcoming trials at Fairfield, Ohio, of the largest airplane constructed in the United States. The machine, a super-bomber triplane with a wing spread of 127 feet and carrying six Liberty motors, totaling 2,400 horsepower, will have an estimated speed of 100 miles an hour, with a carrying load of 20,000 pounds. Its construction was begun in 1919 and carried forward secretly at the Whittmann Aircraft Company's plant, Hasbrouck Heights, N. J.

Parts of the triplane recently sent from the New Jersey shops had to be shipped by circuitous routes to the Ohio station to get tunnel clearance for them on the railways. The six motors are set in three pairs with one puller and one pusher to each group. The total weight of the machine, including the carrying load, will be 30,000 pounds. A cruising radius of 1,300 miles is called for by the specifications, exceeding by hundreds of miles the radius of bombing machines now in the service.

The machine will be known as the Baring bomber, in honor of W. E. Baring, its designer, who is said to be a British designer of war aircraft.

SEEKS LOVE INDEMNITY.

Famous Players Want $1,000,000 Policy Against Negri Marrying.

New York, Sept. 14.—Agents for Lloyds who are considering an entirely new line of insurance for the Famous-Lasky Corporation announced yesterday that it was negotiating a $1,000,000 policy to insure against the possibility of Pola Negri, the motion picture star, falling in love or marrying while she is under contract with the company.

Miss Negri will arrive today on the steamship Majestic and will leave shortly for California, where she will begin work immediately on a pictorialization of Robert Hichens's novel "Bella Donna." A statement by the corporation said that "As Miss Negri's coming to America represents a considerable investment, we are desirous of securing this investment and also her contract by means of insurance in the amount of $1,000,000 for three months from September 23, the day she begins work in our studio."

BOOTLEGGERS USED CODE.

Head Redcap and Two Lieutenants Held at New Orleans.

(Special to The Gazette.) Chicago, Sept. 8.—Local prohibition agents sent from Chicago to plug the southern end of an alleged "New Orleans-Chicago Pullman porter liquor syndicate," have reported that they had broken up the ring with the arrest of the head "red cap" and two of his lieutenants, at the New Orleans station of the Illinois Central.

An apartment near the station, said to be the clearing house through which Chicagoans have been receiving 300 cases of what they thought Bermuda liquor each week, was raided by the prohibition officers, who seized several suit cases containing whisky.

In one of the rooms they found a telegram which read: "Hold mother's body until further notice." The telegram is quoted as a part of an extensive code used by the bootleggers, agents said, and was sent following the announcement that United States District Attorney Clyne and Guy Gliders, chief prohibition field agent, has opened a drive on liquor by Pullman employes, who, it is charged, have disposed of more than 12,000 cases recently. It was said that most of the liquor was moonshine, embellished with forged strip stamps.

In the meantime Mrs. Long had taken a train for Madoc, but was subsequently located at her home and brought here by the police.

The Crisis in Austria—The War Debts—Flying March Discussed—Celebration of Ypres Day on October 31.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
London, August 31.—Opinion is divided as to whether the financial panic in Berlin is the beginning of the collapse of Germany or whether the real smash can be postponed for some months. On the one hand, it is pointed out that Austria survived her panic for a year, while, on the other, it is argued that the two cases are not comparable. Sooner or later Germany was bound to go through a period of acute depression in company with the rest of the world, and it would certainly be far worse for her than it has been for this country, because she has made no effort whatsoever to provide against inevitable and has, in fact, committed every financial sin which would make the smash, when it comes, a real catastrophe.

Not until the Allies brought pressure to bear did she attempt to balance her budget by increasing taxation and stopping lavish subsidies, or to set some limit to the activities of the printing press. These reforms, such as they were, have been in force only a few months, and it appears certain that they were inaugurated too late to have any appreciable effect on the situation. The German financial policy is contrasted with the drastic regime imposed on itself by this country, the reason why her slump will become a catastrophe and be readily appreciated. For all our efforts we are going through a period of unexampled depression, while she has made no efforts at all.

Not All Reparations.
Although we shall probably be told responsible, the fact of the matter is that the crisis in Germany has been started off so long mainly owing to the concessions and forgiveness of her creditors. The frequent requests given to her and her former prestige as a producer have enabled her to keep going while almost the whole of the world was afflicted in the war of depression, but she has so misused the interval that she is now in a worse position than any country to face the world-slump. Some days ago I mentioned that prominent German financiers were indifferent to the question of a moratorium, believing that even if granted on their terms it would have no real effect on the internal situation. Now it is obvious that this is the case, and it is very doubtful whether anything the Allies, or Germany herself for that matter, can do would avert the crash. If reparations were written down to a negligible figure and a long moratorium to make such action by the Allies worthwhile, Germany has got to go through her period of depression like the rest of us, and she has made it very much more dangerous by her own action.

Political Reactions.

Whether we like it or not, the effect of a German collapse would be an automatic moratorium, and it is this consideration which makes the situation so ugly. France is in desperate need of tangible reparations to save her from similar financial collapse, and she will very naturally accuse Germany of engineering a forced moratorium. In her present state of mind, and with this added suspicion, she is quite capable of taking the law into her own hands and seizing the Ruhr Valley. The German situation makes it desirable to have a possibility far more likely than it was a few days ago, and the voices in favor of moderation, which have been strong in France recently, are likely to be smothered in an outburst of rage. Within Germany there is also reason to fear widespread social and political chaos, although this may be postponed until the winter, and it would be accentuated by any drastic French action. Once again the European situation has forced itself into the forefront.

Austria Afloat.

At the same time the question of Austria has become acute, and some decision cannot any longer be postponed. The fundamental principle of British policy is that it would be disastrous to allow any part of Europe to slip down the ladder of civilization, and in regard to purely agricultural countries like Hungary, this is especially so. Austria was the seat of government of an industrial community, and by the peace treaty she was cut off from her sources of life. Her desire is to be absorbed either by Germany or Czecho-Slovakia, but while this would be desirable economically, there are political forces inimicable to either proposition. France will not hear of absorption by Germany, and it may be that the gathering crisis in Germany will make this idea less palatable to Austria herself. In regard to Czecho-Slovakia, Italy has objections, harboring the notion that Austria might better come within the Italian state. But the ethnographical and geographical factors are, both contrary to Italy's ambitions.

The Crisis in Vienna.

Austrian diplomats in London have consistently declared that there was still a chance of saving the situation in their unhappy country, but now they frankly admit that the crisis has come. Food-stuffs at least are becoming definitely beyond the reach even of those in regular employment, and it is the ability to buy food that must be the crux of the situation. Recent official figures from Vienna show that a pound of flour costs 2250 kroner, and a 2 lb. loaf of bread costs 4190 kroner, with the probability that the price will be raised by 600 kroner on Monday. Horse-flesh fetches 4000 kroner a pound, and poor quality beef is 7000 kroner a pound. The cost of living rose 120 per cent. in twenty-eight days. Coal, moreover, is the important factor in the industrial position, for it has almost all to be imported from Czecho-Slovakia. With the exchange at 2100 Austrian kroner to one of Czecho-Slovakia, it is impossible to the export trade of America. For many years before the war exports from the States to this country were much greater than our exports to them and since the war this huge debit balance against us has become six times as great. Payment of debts in gold being out of the question, financial men are agreed that the only way for this country to pass from the state of debtor to creditor is by an increase of our exports and a diminution of the imports of the U. S. A. It is significant that at a recent meeting of the U. S. A. Chamber of Commerce, held in Washington, many prominent bankers and financial men openly advocated the cancellation of all inter-Ally war debts.

The Newest Craze.

I have had a talk with an experienced air pilot about gliding, which some of our "stunt-artists" are running as an alternative craze to broadcasting, and the information is worth passing on. From the scientific standpoint gliding is nothing more than flying from an altitude in a machine without an engine. The motive power being the force of gravity, which is split up into vertical and horizontal components by the resistance of the plane to the air. As a pastime it is rather more strenuous than skiing, hardly so exciting, and certainly more risky. On the other hand, the term "gliding" is used to cover a very different method of progression which is of great scientific importance, and deserves the correct title of "soaring flight."

ability to take advantage of eddies and vertical currents in the wind in the proximity of natural contours.

Soaring Flight.

No sixth sense was necessary to explain the soaring bird's skill, for it had been acquired by long experience and practice. So those great pioneers, the Wright brothers, started their experiments with the idea of putting in all the time they could in gliding flights, in the hope that, by experience, they could acquire something of the bird's instinctive knowledge of the behavior of wind currents, and, in time, be likewise able to take advantage of the knowledge to make sustained flights. They discovered that a gust of wind strikes a machine with an upward component and dies away in a downward direction, and that is the sum total of our knowledge even to this day. To use the wind to gain height, the wings of a machine would have to be highly sensitive to controls and intimately connected with the controlling "brain," be it bird's or man's. That seems to have been achieved in large measure by the German experimenters, but there is not the slightest evidence of ordinary flight from place to place at will and in all weathers can ever be accomplished without engine power. Soaring experiments will improve the efficiency of wing forms and the control of aircraft at low speeds, and will enable flight to be accomplished with far less power than is used today, but the wireless aeroplane is not a scientific proposition, nor is it the aim of experimenters.

England Not Behind.

There are several well-known air pilots who have been studying the German experiments and making plans on their own account for soaring flight. To mention one, Frank Courtney is keenly interested in the subject and has been busy for some time of late. One of our coolest and most daring pilots, he will be remembered as the winner of the aerial "Derby" in 1920, when a few of the Matyside "Semi-Quaver" and finished the race by landing upside down, having been temporarily blinded by streamer smoke. With a pale, staid face and precise pince-nez glasses, he is the very reverse of the traditional idea of the "air hero," but those who know him are certain that he has that rare combination—an excellent pilot with a scientific mind.

Around The Salient.

"The vandal hand of peace" as a witty ex-Gunner expressed it, is rapidly obliterating the familiar features of the war of the Ypres Times (price received), contains ample evidence of this process in photographs and in the half-regretful comments of the contributors. This number of the official organ of the Ypres League is of extraordinary interest to all who were present in the salient, and to nearly 2000 pilgrims, headed by the Earl of Ypres, attended the solemn ceremony in the Grand Place—one of the few spots still very much as it was in 1918—and wreaths were laid on the sacred ruins of the Cloth Hall. Elsewhere in this periodical will be found poignant impressions of the famous area as it is today by men who fought there, and an ex-officer censor provides the necessary touch by an imaginary correspondence between "Mary" who is visiting the salient, and "Bill," left at home, who cannot understand how she home, who cannot understand how she home, who cannot understand how she "got his."

On October 31 Ypres Day will be celebrated, and blue cardholders will be sold throughout Great Britain. The proceeds will go partly towards the building of a hostel for Ypres and partly to the Disabled Society. The Ypres League aims at including in its membership all who served in the salient, and its headquarters are at 23 Henriettes Commercial Vehicles in Trouble.

I have heard from an official of the Society that there is not going to be a Commercial Vehicles Exhibition at Olympia this autumn, owing to the very serious position of that branch of industry. They have been all but ruined by the sale of their own re-conditioned war lorries, which have swamped the market, and reduced the demand for new products to negligible importance. In no other branch of surplus war stores has such a position arisen, and it is mainly political. At first the government intended selling its vast stock of war lorries by public auction, more or less as it did with the military trucks, and to the benefit of the State. It is proposed that they should be sold to the private motorist, but to carry through this programme the government needed the great Slough Depot, where lorries from abroad could be concentrated and put in better condition. Then there came the Slough agitation, and contrary to their understanding with the industry, Slough and all the lorries on all the fronts were sold outright to an enterprising syndicate. The new owners adopted a policy of marketing only re-conditioned lorries, which kept the market almost as new and all for years of work, and they were able to offer them at very low prices. The demand for new lorries, which kept up for two years, then declined altogether, as the Slough scheme increased its output, with the result that the manufacturers are now going through the bitter experience of seeing themselves ruined by their own war products.

Facts About Austria.

An unprejudiced and unofficial observer of the state of affairs in Austria has given me some views of that country which put a very different complexion on the immediate future. According to him, the difficulties of Austria are caused, not only by the fact that she is prevented from trading by the new frontier barriers, but because she is suffering from an incurable bureaucratic muddle, not only has she the old bureaucracy, which was the biggest in the world, but a new one also, created during the war and since the peace she has all there are entitled to government pay and government pensions. No country in Europe could afford to take over such a burden, therefore we may regard the absorption of Austria by any one country as merely so much talk, and it will never become history. The only alternative would seem to be, according to my informant, some division whereby part of the country would go to Bavaria, part to Italy, and part to Czecho-Slovakia, leaving Vienna with twenty or so surrounding industrial towns in a sort of enclave.

Future of Vienna.

In such a sub-division the government of the City of Vienna and the surrounding district would probably revert to the municipality, which seems to be about the only practical body in Austria today. It is an extraordinary contrast to note, that if Austria is divided, the despoiling fall into the abyss of Austria as a country, and the striking efficiency with which the municipality is administered. It is under the control of practical Socialists, who are determined that the city shall pay its way, and in spite of all the difficulties it does so. Before this, or any other, solution of the Austrian problem can be accomplished, there will have to be extremely delicate negotiations among the Powers immediately concerned, and negotiations to a conclusion. Within the last few months another very powerful factor has been added, namely, the prospect of Russian recovery. Some day economic and industrial reconstruction of Russia will have to be undertaken, and it is impossible to ignore the fact that the lion's share in this reconstruction will fall to Russia's neighbor, Germany. Without doubt, Herr Stinnes has his plans matured, and they would include the co-operation of the French interests not only in Lorraine, but in Silesia and Poland. He could put up a most attractive proposition to the French industrialists, and they would see no reason why they should not share in the spoils. So the stage is set for big European industrial development in the near future, and from the political standpoint they presuppose a solvent Germany.

How Britain Stands.

It is hard to say how much of these movements behind the scenes are going on with the connivance, and perhaps the active participation of the German and the French governments, but they certainly know all about them just as our government does. Our paramount interest is peace, and an economic understanding between France and Germany would be as good a guarantee as any could be found anywhere. The spectacle of a Franco-German industrial combine would not be pleasant on the surface, but our interests in reality lie deeper. No one outside the Labor party ever imagined that Britain would secure strengthening their hands in the Stinnes negotiations and isolating the British steel trade, but that came to nothing. Of late several things have happened which tend to hasten these commercial negotiations to a conclusion. Within the last few months another very powerful factor has been added, namely, the prospect of Russian recovery. Some day economic and industrial reconstruction of Russia will have to be undertaken, and it is impossible to ignore the fact that the lion's share in this reconstruction will fall to Russia's neighbor, Germany.

Our paramount interest is peace, and an economic understanding between France and Germany would be as good a guarantee as any could be found anywhere. The spectacle of a Franco-German industrial combine would not be pleasant on the surface, but our interests in reality lie deeper. No one outside the Labor party ever imagined that Britain would secure the direct Russian market. All the facts of geography, of past experience and former connections are against the proposition. We should get a share in it, of course, but our chief benefit would come later on when the rehabilitated and productive Russia became once more a buyer in the world market. When she starts to buy tea from China again, then the Far East market for British goods, especially textiles, would once more revive, and this is but one example of the kind of benefit we in this country can expect from Russian reconstruction. Although it may be hard to trace as it is, the Franco-German plan would mature greatly to our advantage, and therefore we should do nothing to hinder it. It is a very narrow outlook which sees in these developments a punishment for England's attitude towards France. Politicians may call it such, but the French industrialists and the French government know better.

A NEW BISHOP

Rome, Sept. 13.—Pope Pius XI has appointed Rev. Joseph Linnoges as Bishop of Mont Laurier in the Province of Ottawa.

The Netherwood school for girls at Rothsay re-opened today after the vacation. There are fifty pupils in attendance, and several applicants had to be refused on account of the lack of room. Some improvements in the buildings and several changes in the staff have been made. Miss Orton, formerly of Bishop Strachan school in Toronto, replaces Miss Matson in the primary department. Miss Woodworth has returned to her position as teacher of Latin and French, and a new matron, Miss Kennedy, is in charge of the household arrangements.

FAIRVILLE SCHOOLS. Presentation of Encyclopedia—Weather Regulations—Supervision at Recess.

The semi-annual meeting held each term by the trustees and teachers of Fairville schools was held yesterday afternoon, and matters of interest and benefit to school work were discussed. These volumes are a splendid acquisition to the school and this is hoped to be the beginning of a school library.

It was decided that no more half-holidays were to be allowed for weather conditions. The teachers were urged by the trustees to see that care was taken by the children not to deface the newly-painted buildings. Robert McGrath, on Way to Richibucto, Reports Being Robbed on Train.

Robert McGrath, who says he is French, en route to visit his old home in Richibucto, arrived in the city today at noon minus his railway ticket and $40 in cash but still a firm believer in "fortune-telling." While en route from Bangor to Vanceboro McGrath had his fortune told and it included among other things that he was to have "trouble" and it concerned "money." Just before he reached Vanceboro he discovered that his pocket book containing all his ready cash and railway ticket was missing from its usual resting place. He said today that he reported the loss to the American train conductor who replied that he could do nothing.

McGrath, however, suspected two certain individuals who befriended him at the local station today he told his story to the C. N. R. police but it was too late then to do anything with any favorable results. These friends each came across with $2 to help defray McGrath's expenses from St. John to Richibucto. "The loss might have been worse" smilingly remarked McGrath as he tipped his hat in French style to the railway policeman to whom he had just reported his mishap.

Conference Over the Matter of Steamship Service to South—Predicts Big Grain Season for St. John.

W. A. Cunningham, of Montreal, general freight agent of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine, arrived in the city this morning and is registered at the Royal. He will attend a meeting in the Board of Trade rooms tonight at which the question of a line of steamships to carry New Brunswick potatoes to the southern United States will be taken up. Mr. Cunningham spoke very optimistically of trade conditions, especially in shipping circles. Business in Montreal was good, he said, and grain shipments were being made so fast that last year's record would be broken. A large part of the influx of grain to Canadian ports for shipment Mr. Cunningham laid to the fact that U. S. railway shippers had been on strike for so long that the railway equipment had got out of the best condition. Another reason for Canada's getting a heavy trade, he said, was the fact that the grain elevators in the States were filled to capacity and, as a natural result, the traffic was diverted to this country.

Another optimistic note he struck was a prophecy that St. John would probably see a large amount of export grain this winter, due to the same causes and to the fact that the Canadian grain crop was unusually good. In regard to the possibility of a line of vessels to carry on a potato trade with the southern States, he said that he had not yet had time to get acquainted with the circumstances but had been invited to the conference tonight to hear what prospects there were for trade and what would be necessary in the way of ships.

METHODIST MEETING HERE

The financial district meeting of the St. John district of the Methodist church was commenced this morning in Centenary church with Rev. George A. Ross as chairman of the district, presiding. About thirty members were present and a very enthusiastic meeting was held. An address by Rev. W. G. Watson, B. D., of Sackville, president of the Methodist conference, and the allocation of the funds for district home missions were interesting features of the morning session. Rev. Dr. Watson, delivered an eloquent address. He dealt with the religious census of Canada and especially with its bearing on the maritime provinces. An interesting item of his address was the estimate that there were 50,000 Methodists in the maritime provinces. He also dealt with the matter of the training of the young members of the church and Sunday school and the necessity for this branch of Christian work. His address was listened to with careful attention and was greeted with much enthusiasm. The matter of the allocation of grants towards the home missions of the district was being discussed when the meeting adjourned for lunch.

30,000 DRUG ADDICTS REPORTED IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—Judge Harry S. McDevitt told the Grand Jury in an address in Quarter Sessions Court that there were 30,000 drug addicts in Philadelphia and that they were supplied with narcotics by at least 1,000 dealers and agents. "Unless this traffic is crushed," declared Judge McDevitt, "it will soon assume such proportions that it will be impossible to either eradicate the source or stamp out the tributaries. It is incumbent upon you to give close attention to the diligent effort now being made to stamp out the illicit traffic in drugs so prevalent in this and neighboring communities. It has assumed unprecedented proportions and it now menaces the health and safety of the entire city."

HIS FACE DISFIGURED, WORKER GETS $1,000

New York, Sept. 17.—Joseph Knapp has just received an award of $1,000 from John J. Blackford of 82 Maple street, Yonkers, as referee of the State Workmen's Compensation Commission, because of an accident that marred his facial appearance. Knapp, an employe of the Standard Oil Company, lives in Beacon. His right jaw and neck were badly injured and he has a facial disfigurement which, it is alleged, will be permanent. He receives the award in addition to his wages, which were paid to him by his employe-ment while he was laid up with the injuries received at his work.

NOON REPORT.

New York, Sept. 14.—Weakness of industrial shares caused the market to sag to a considerable extent during the morning. Bears, having succeeded in changing the upward course of prices yesterday, today redoubled their efforts to uncover weak spots and made temporary drives against special groups. Indications of profit taking by recent purchasers were noted during the reaction. United States Rubber first preferred was forced down 10 1/2 points to a new low for the year but recovered all but three in a rally which was started around midday by extensive buying of Cosden, Baldwin and Mexican Petroleum, all of which extended their early gains. Conspicuous weakness of U. S. Rubber, United Drug and American Tobacco, which receded two to three points. Call money opened 4 per cent.

At 3:30.

New York, Sept. 14.—Speculative interest converged on the railroad shares after midday. A rapid upturn of three points in Atchafalaya to a new high level today, initiated a demand for the general run of dividend paying and low priced railroads with resultant gains from 1 to 2 1/2 points. Union Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, C. P. R., New York Central and Rock Island bounded up 2 to 2 1/2 points. Better prices prevailed also for industrial shares, many of the early weak issues making up their entire loss.

QUITE A STIR ABOUT KIPLING

Controversy Rages in New York Papers

World Refuses to Accept a Flat Denial; Hearst Papers for Anti-British Sentiment—Tribune and Times Support Poet Against Paper.

(Canadian Press)
New York, Sept. 14.—Denial by Rudyard Kipling that he had expressed himself toward the U. S. as reported in an interview in the New York World by Clara Eberly, has but served to double the fury with which that paper is attacking him. Today's New York papers devote columns to the controversy. The World refuses to accept the flat denial made by Mr. Kipling. The New York American, Hearst publication, makes anti-British capital out of the matter and remarks that "the plain facts are that the average Englishman and Frenchman too, for that matter, know we saved their countries in the late war but deeply resent the fact that they had to depend upon us for their salvation, and therefore hate us, only merely because we saved them but because they had to be saved."

The Tribune attacks the World for what it terms "such a reckless and sensational perversion of the truth as it is now printing."

"There are various ways of breeding the national animosities and misunderstandings that lay the foundation for wars to come. One of the best ways was to imagine," it says, "is for a great newspaper to print as a public interview with a distinguished citizen of another country his private conversation embellished by an imaginative woman fancy for better tenness or accuracy."

The Tribune holds that it is probable that Kipling is stating the literal truth when he says that he was not asked to discuss the war in his interview. "He has not hesitated in the past to criticize America."

The Times says: "Every person of reasonable caution who reads the words put into the mouth of Mr. Kipling by Mrs. Sheridan doubted at once if they ever could have been uttered by him. Now we know that they were not."

The Wall Street Journal in entering the controversy in support of Mr. Kipling's denial, attributes the World's sensational action to politics. It states that though recent events should have removed the necessity for catering to the anti-British Irish vote, yet it appears that such is not the case.

US POLITICS

Boston, Sept. 14.—Massachusetts voters, as the result of Tuesday's Republican and Democratic primaries, will decide on November 7 whether Henry Cabot Lodge, long senior United States senator, is to return to Washington for another term, or if William A. Gaston, Democrat, is to replace him. Gaston earned the right to contest the seat by acquiring a plurality of 27,000 votes over his nearest opponent, Sherman L. Whipple, while Senator Lodge went through to win over Joseph Walker, by approximately a four to one majority, polling 209,577 votes.

Governor Channing H. Cox, who yesterday defeated J. Weston Allen, attorney-general of the commonwealth, 210,096 to 73,882, will be opposed by the Democratic nominee, John F. Fitzgerald. The latter won over Mayor Peter F. Sullivan of Worcester, next in the Democratic running, by more than 36,000 plurality.

Leut.-Governor Alvan T. Fuller safely returned his party's nomination for that office by more than 74,000 majority over Joseph E. Warner, former speaker of the State House of Representatives. John F. Doherty is the Democratic nominee for lieutenant-governor, having won by about 2,000 plurality over Michael O'Leary, next up.

Detroit, Sept. 14.—Senator Charles E. Townsend has been renominated by the Republicans of Michigan to be the United States senatorial nominee. He defeated Herbert F. Baker of Woodock, his nearest opponent and the candidate of the Farmer-Labor organization in Michigan, by a large margin.

Governor Alex. J. Groesbeck was assured of renomination, having polled a much larger vote than the total count for his two opponents, Richard H. Fletcher of Bay City and Theodore M. Johnson of Adrian.

ROAD AGAIN

Persons traveling to St. Andrews or St. Stephen by automobile are using the road between Musquash and Lepreau which is being repaired, so it was said today. It has been necessary to make a detour at Musquash, striking the main road again at Lepreau, and the detour is both rough and narrow. It is only a makeshift in use until the main road was repaired. Repairs upon the main road now are sufficiently advanced, it was said, to allow automobiles to pass over it, at the owners' risk, of course. While rough as yet, it is eight or nine miles shorter than the detour and a number of people are using it.

TONIGHT'S MEETING

A meeting will be held in the Board of Trade rooms this evening at 7:30 to discuss special facilities for potato trade. There will be two questions discussed, that of a frostproof warehouse for storage in the winter months and that of a line of steamers between this port and the southern parts of the U. S. Among those who will be present at the meeting are J. C. Chesley, of the marine and fisheries department; T. W. Caldwell, M. P. of Florenceville, who returned to the city on the noon train; W. Cunningham, general freight agent of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine; and W. C. Robinson, a potato dealer from Sackville.

MR. GABY WRITES ABOUT ABILITY OF MR. KRIBS

Chief Engineer of Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission Assures Public of His Expert Knowledge of Hydro Matters.

Herbert Phillips yesterday made public the following letter received from F. A. Gaby, chief engineer of the Hydro Electric Power Commission, of Ontario:

HYDRO ELECTRIC POWER COMMISSION OF ONTARIO. Engineering Department.

August 25, 1922. Herbert Phillips, Esq., St. John Municipal Commission, St. John, N. B.

Dear Sir:—My attention has been directed to an attack upon the professional ability of Mr. Gordon Kribb, whom we recommended to you to make a report in connection with the John situation. I am given to understand that the enemies of the undertaking you are contemplating are attempting to discredit the standing of Mr. Kribb as an engineer, and I think it my duty to write you at this time, to fully assure you that the ability of this man as an engineer, and his experiences are such that I consider you fortunate indeed in being able to temporarily engage him for the work you have in hand.

I am going to take the opportunity of thoroughly advising you with respect to his abilities and experiences, and especially with respect to the satisfaction the commission had with him as their employee. I feel sure that you personally have no doubt by this time, on account of your association with him, that what I have to say in connection with him has been proven a fact; but there are, no doubt, those who may be innocently misled by the propaganda of those interests which are intent upon discrediting your undertaking. For this reason you are hereby to use this information to combat any such influences in any manner that seems best to your judgment.

Mr. Kribb is a graduate of the University of Toronto, in electrical engineering. He completed his course in 1906. During his college course he was a practical course with the Westinghouse Co. at Pittsburgh. This was later followed up, after graduation, with the same company at Hamilton. The Canadian Westinghouse Co. put him in charge of construction work in the Montreal office, and for some time he was engaged in the erection of plants in the district covered by the Montreal district office.

In 1909 Mr. Kribb was engaged by the consulting firm of Smith, Kerr & Chace, which, as you know, is a reputable engineering firm of long standing in Toronto, and his duties as a practical engineer in connection with the design of the Trent river, and in connection with the design of the Matabichouan plant in Northern Ontario, and the Nipissing System and Calgary Power Development. It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary sweetener the stomach, neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bilester Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloating right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bilester Magnesia (in powder or tablet form)—never liquid or milk)—is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is made of the waste of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

LARGE PIMPLES ALL OVER FACE

Itched and Burned. Face Disfigured. Cuticura Heals.

"Large, red pimples were scattered all over my face. They festered and itched and burned so that I scratched them. The pimples were so large that I was ashamed to go among my friends. I would lie awake half the night, and my face was awfully disfigured. A friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. After using them for some time the pimples began to disappear, and when I had used three cakes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was healed." trict, together with the Nipissing system, which includes the municipality of North Bay. After this property was taken over by the commission, the engineering was placed in the hands of Mr. Kribb, who was also given charge of the eastern portion of the province and had direct dealings with municipalities in this district, on municipal matters, valuation of private companies' properties, and reports on the financial possibilities in this district.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS. Remedies Daily Use of Magnesia To Overcome Trouble, Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling which is the most certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion." Acid stomach is dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

When Mr. Kribb returned to Toronto he was first engaged by the Toronto Hydro-Electric Commission, valuating the system of the Toronto Electric Light Company. The Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario employed him in 1914, specifically for the purpose of making a valuation of the properties of the Electric Power Company, and the Seymour Power Company's physical assets. As you are aware, this was purchased from the company for the sum of $8,000,000, and the property comprises hydraulic plants, transmission lines, sub-stations and distribution systems in the municipalities in the Trent valley district, together with the Nipissing system, which includes the municipality of North Bay. After this property was taken over by the commission, the engineering was placed in the hands of Mr. Kribb, who was also given charge of the eastern portion of the province and had direct dealings with municipalities in this district, on municipal matters, valuation of private companies' properties, and reports on the financial possibilities in this district.

Featured Player in "The Valley of Silent Men" Has Thrilling Experiences.

While Alma Rubens has never posed as an athlete in "The Valley of Silent Men," a new Paramount creation based on James Oliver Curwood's novel of the same name, which is being filmed at the same time today, she performs some feats of endurance which prove her an out-door woman. Paramount sent a company under the direction of Frank Borzage to film the story amid the scenes where the author conceived it. For twelve weeks Miss Rubens, with the company, sharing all the inconveniences and dangers of camping in the northern wilds.

At the meeting it was decided to vote the sum of $30 to the Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis and to send a letter of appreciation to the members of some importance, and in preparation for this year's Christmas sale several committees were appointed and necessary plans formulated.

IGNORE IDEALS OF THOSE WHO DIED IN WAR

General Ian Hamilton Contrasts Boer Peace With What Followed the World War.

London, Aug. 25.—(A. P., by mail.)—General Ian Hamilton has asked an interesting question. "Why is it," he inquired, "that the two last successful wars, one against the Boers in South Africa and the other against the Germans, had such opposite results? How is it that the Boer war put an end to the feuds, race-hatreds, bankruptcies, disorders and bloodshed which had paralyzed South African progress for a generation, while the great war, on the contrary, has inflicted race hatred, bankruptcy and murder over the best part of the world, from Ireland to the Near East, and turned Central Europe into a seething caldron of hate?"

A Great Race

Twenty thousand excited racing fans saw three grand circuit importations each take a heat in the Woodstock $2,000 free-for-all, yesterday. John R. Brayden, the iron horse, made the first in the premier heat, while Roy Grattan took the second and Jackson Grattan made it a win in the third. As the race was limited to three heats, the stake was divided among the three horses as they stood at the end of the race. The supremacy of the three favorites is still in doubt. The horses may race again at an overcoat meet on the same track.

The Summary

Free-for-All, Purse $2,000. Roy Grattan, Caribou Driving Club (Cummings), 2 1 2. John R. Brayden, "Moosehead" Club, Presque Isle (Willard), 1 2 3. Jackson Grattan, Houlton Driving Club (Tangle), 3 3 1.

This was one-fourth of a second faster than the world's mark established by Sanardo at Aurora, Ills., several weeks ago.

Grand Circuit

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Six races are on today's card of Grand Circuit racing over the track at the New York State Fair grounds and in addition, Geo. La Blodgett, race secretary, has promised that, weather conditions permitting, he has Thomas W. Murphy's promise to send Peter Manning out in an attempt to lower the world's trotting record. London Anxious Over Near East

Some of Newspapers Alarmist in Tone

Danger of War Again and Powers are Called to Act at Once and in Agreement—Much Depends Upon Attitude of France.

(Canadian Press Cable.) London, Sept. 14.—The Near Eastern situation is causing considerable concern here. This is reflected in the editorial columns of the morning newspapers, some of which adopt a distinctly alarmist tone.

"A grave crisis," confronts the powers, says one, while others declare "the situation is drifting to the danger point," that "all the elements are present for another flare-up of war," and that "the powers must act at once, and in agreement; if they fail to agree, nothing but a miracle can avert disaster."

The one sentiment which dominates all is fear lest France, although agreeing to maintain the neutrality of Constantinople and the Straits of Dardanelles, may interpret the "legitimate aspirations" of the Turks in such a manner as to prevent the co-operation of Great Britain.

Elsewhere the fairly confident hope is expressed that France eventually will agree to co-operate with Great Britain, which is generally credited with upholding the letter of the treaty of Sevres. Declaration of the French view is expected hourly, and awaited with the greatest eagerness.

If the fear regarding the French position is removed, the other fears will be immediately lessened, but at present they are acute. Turkish military aggression is feared, military activity in the Balkan countries is feared, incursion of the Russian Soviets into the troubled arena is feared, while behind all is the restless menace of the immense Moslem population of India and the other Moslem communities.

Each day brings fresh reports of the intense feeling aroused in the Mohammedan countries by the Turkish victory in Anatolia, with indications of determination to support the Turkish claims with whatever means lie at their disposal. Reports from British India especially represent the Moslems there as greatly excited.

The Daily Express today publishes a

CECIL SAYS THAT FEAR BREEDS WAR

London, Aug. 25.—(A. P. by mail.)—"When we come to analyze the situation closely we find that the fear of war is the biggest of unwisdom," said Lord Robert Cecil, recently discussing conditions in Europe. "Russia's apprehensions have been translated into vast armies withdrawn from reproductive work, ill-fed, ill-clothed, ill-disciplined, and consequently a greater menace to their friends or fellow-citizens than to their enemies."

"In France the fear of war has led to the establishment of those armies of occupation on the Rhine that are costing bankrupt Germany more than one million pounds a week—more than two thousand million marks."

"Fear of war is leading a section of public opinion in England to demand a vastly increased air service, and still further concentration upon scientific methods of slaughter. In all directions we find that knowledge is still harnessed to destruction; that the readiest means of money-making is to invent something that can destroy life and the products of life—energy faster than nature can replace them. Behind all these manifestations lies fear."

Cairo despatch quoting information just received of equally intense excitement in Palestine. News of the Russian Soviet's note of protest against the Allied action in Constantinople had not reached there when the despatch was filed, but it will fall on soil prepared to receive it and add to the prevailing alarm.

Fear of an attack on Constantinople by the Turkish Nationalists before the Allies can reach an agreement has brought to the front the question of the whereabouts of the main Kemalist army, which apparently never entered Smyrna. It is asked if this army is on its way to the Straits by secret forced marches?

The urgent need of the quickest possible agreement of the Allies is seen by even the calmest of the commentators, and a suggestion for an immediate conference is put forward.

It is said that the British cabinet will meet to discuss the critical situation tomorrow by which time it is hoped France's position will have been made clear.

SEA CAPTAIN HANGS HIMSELF AFTER ROW

Hanson's Wife Packed Up Her Belongings and Left Him—He Leaves Money to Pay Obligation.

New York, Sept. 14.—The body of Edward Hanson, thirty-five, a prosperous shipmaster, of 414 Forty-second street, Brooklyn, was found hanging from a steam pipe in his bathroom. Hanson, who was six feet tall and heavily built, apparently had thrown the coil over a valve on the pipe near the ceiling, tied a noose about his neck, and then jumped from the edge of the bathtub. His neck was broken.

The barking of Hanson's poodle dog and five puppies and the ringing of Hanson's telephone bell attracted the attention of Eadner Rindquist, in the next apartment, who telephoned the Fourth Avenue police station. Detective John Fitzsimmons and a policeman broke down the door, but Hanson was dead when they entered. Four notes were found on the dining room table, all signed "Ed." One addressed "To My Best Friend" read:

"In regard to the meeting we had last night, I wish you luck, but I want to say that you know that John is dead because of breaking up three homes. You know that as well as I do."

Detectives say that Mrs. Hanson called at his house Friday night with a policeman and packed her clothes, which she took to the home of a woman friend in Warren street, Brooklyn. A second note, addressed to H. Carlson, 946 Forty-second street, Brooklyn, said:

"I hereby leave everything to you." In the third note, addressed "To My Best Brother," Hanson wrote:

"You are thinking of coming to a home of gold, but you will not find me there." In the note was $30. The brother is said to be in the Swedish army.

The fourth note was addressed to a Captain Remberg, and contained $200. Information in the hands of the police is that Hanson had contracted with Remberg to furnish a crew of men for a vessel in Boston. This was Hanson's occupation, and $200 had been advanced him for expenses. The note was as follows:

"Please forgive me for what happened. I enclose the $200."

WOMEN WANT MORE PLACES IN PARLIAMENT

London, Aug. 23.—(Associated Press by mail.)—The women of England are preparing an intensive campaign with a view to securing more women members of parliament. They are quite satisfied with Lady Astor and Mrs. Wintomb, but they want more women in the House of Commons. They have now formed a committee to include all parties except the Communist. They call it the Women's Election Committee. They are raising a central fund, too, to help women candidates. Any one who sends along more than a pound can have it earmarked for the support of a candidate for any particular party.

The Duches of Atholl has her eye on a seat and although her aristocratic friends are trying to dissuade her from engaging in an electoral contest, it is understood she is preparing to stand for the parliamentary vacancy that will occur if the expected promotion of the Lord Advocate to the Scottish Bench takes place.

DRUGGED, ROBBED AND ABANDONED

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 28.—(Associated Press by mail.)—Nine emigrants from Central Europe and one from China recently paid $150 each for a ten hour motor boat ride, a cup of drugged coffee and the privilege of footing it thirty-five miles back to Havana after being robbed of $1,500.

According to the story they told the police, three men agreed to land them on the Florida coast without bothering the American immigration authorities. Boarding a motor boat at dusk near Marianna, they put to sea. At dawn the next day, after several hours deep slumber brought on by what they believe was drugged coffee, they were landed in a desolate cove, told they were on American soil and left to shift for themselves after all their cash and valuables had been taken at the point of a pistol. A little scouting located the Cuban village of Jibacoa and a rural guard who pointed out the road to Havana.

The police are holding a man who says he is an American, and a Cuban, charged as principals. The third man has not yet been found.

DOCTOR IN INDUSTRY A VALUABLE ASSET

He Saves Economic Waste and Teaches the Worker the Price of Neglect.

Many interesting and beneficial results are ascribed to the introduction of the physician into the industrial organization, according to the Conference Board of Physicians in Industry, which acts as adviser on medical problems to the National Industrial Conference Board.

A report just issued giving the conclusions of the Board of Physicians points out that the physician's work in the organization has revealed to the employer many sources of economic waste and a broader view of his social obligations and of the value of his services in creating and maintaining better living and working conditions among large numbers of persons of a fairly uniform social standing.

"Among the subjects considered in this report," says a summary from the Conference Board, "the relation of the physician and his industrial work to workmen's compensation laws of the various States is given important consideration. The effective administration of workmen's compensation laws depends in large measure upon the work of the medical men and yet, as Dr. Frank L. Rector, Secretary of the Conference Board of Physicians points out in his paper, Washington is the only State to give a physician membership in its industrial commission by legal enactment. In that State the medical member is chairman of the board. In three States, the appointment of a medical adviser is mandatory, in eleven others the law is permissive in regard to the appointment of a medical adviser, while in nineteen States legal provision is made for one or more impartial medical examiners upon whom the industrial board may call at any time to examine applicants for compensation."

"In a paper by Dr. W. B. Fisk, of the International Harvester Company, need for more adequate medical representation in drafting as well as administering the compensation laws is emphasized by references to certain provisions of the laws in various States which do not have sufficient regard for the medical and surgical questions involved in their administration. As an instance of the need of medical advice in the administration of these laws, Dr. Fisk discusses the provision that certain employees pay compensation for aggravation of a disease from which the worker was suffering at the time of beginning his employment. Another instance cited is one where the employer must pay the same compensation for an amputation whether made at the 'point of election' below the knee or at the hip joint, that is, no value is given to the function of the knee joint although by competent surgical practice the function of the leg can be markedly increased by the preservation of the knee joint."

"Another instance cited in this paper says that a certain sum must be paid for the loss of a leg at the ankle with an increasing rate of compensation for each portion of the leg amputated above the ankle. It is stated that such a law puts a premium on poor surgical work, for under economic pressure from employer or insurance carrier, an amputation may be done which will not give the patient the most serviceable stump."

"Another and very important question discussed by Dr. Fisk is the provision of certain State laws which compel the last employer to pay for permanent total disability of a worker who entered his employ already defective by the loss of an important member such as a foot, hand or eye.

"Each compensation commission has its own method of estimating eye injuries, according to Dr. J. A. Jackson of the New York Edison Company, and no two of these methods are similar. This has resulted in the establishment of conflicting standards between the States which very often leave employer and employ in doubt as to whether they have received proper recognition for their claims. Dr. Jackson states that a standard method of testing eyes and estimating the percentage of disability following eye injuries should be devised."

"Dr. F. E. Schumehl of the General Electric Company in discussing back injuries from the compensation standpoint points out the difficulty of determining not only the cause of the injury, but also the exact type of injury. He states that it is impossible to differentiate clearly between industrial and non-industrial back injuries, as many such injuries are caused by conditions found outside of industry."

"The compensation laws of twenty-seven States contain reference to occupational diseases, but in only three of them has an attempt been made to list the diseases which are compensable, according to Dr. Rector. About twenty-five diseases are compensable under the laws of New York and Minnesota, while in Ohio the list is confined to fifteen. This paper states that twenty-four other States take note of occupational diseases in their laws but, in different ways, the laws of fourteen States are so worded that 'injury' and 'personal injury' include only such diseases and infections as result from the injury. In three States in addition to these specifications occupational diseases or infections are specifically included. Four States include diseases peculiar to occupation but exclude contagious, communicable or mental diseases, while in three other States the law specifically provides for exclusion of diseases of any kind.

"In the decisions of industrial commissions in certain States, according to this paper, cases of pneumonia following exposure during employment and typhoid fever contracted from polluted drinking have been classed as occupational diseases and compensated accordingly."
