NEW CONSTITUTION GRANTED TO PERSIA

Sultan Thinks No Family Should Be Without One.

Goos Back to the Plan of His Predecessor After Six Months of Bloodshed—Elections Coming Soon.

TEHERAN, May 5.—A proclamation granting a constitution to Persia has been signed and issued by the Shah. The document announces that it has been accorded by his majesty because "a constitutional regime alone is capable of bringing about the restoration of order and promoting the welfare of the people. Elections will be held in accordance with a new electoral law which is to be published shortly and should be completed by July 22nd when the deputies will assemble in Teheran.

The decision of the Shah of Persia to grant a constitution to the country follows six months of revolutionary agitation on the part of the Persian people for the restoration of representative government. The present Shah who succeeded to the throne in January of 1907 found the country under a constitution that had been granted by his predecessor. This government was continued for a period of about twenty-eight months, but in November of 1908 the Shah decided that the people should no longer have a constitution and his proclamation to that effect was posted in the Mosques November 27th. This was followed by a serious revolutionary movement particularly in Northern Persia, where the power of the Shah was practically nil. Great Britain and Russia have been exerting influence on the Shah to compel him to restore the constitution and inaugurate certain reforms.

WRIGHT BROS. ENGAGED BY BRITISH WAR OFFICE

Will Conduct Experiments on Their Return From America—Zepplin Proposes a Long Flight.

LONDON, May 5.—Wright and Orville Wright, the aeroplane inventors, have been engaged by the British War Office to conduct experiments on a secret nature. On their return to England they will carry out some important trials for the British government, the character of which he was not permitted to divulge.

Berlin, May 5.—A despatch received here from Stuttgart says that Zepplin, about the middle of the month will undertake to come from Friedrichshafen to Berlin in his new airship, Zepplin II.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 5.—The All Russian Aero Club has placed an order for a Wright aeroplane in Paris. M. Lebedev, a member of the club, will go to Paris for instructions in manipulating the machine.

MARSH HAS ENTERED THE $10,000 MARATHON

Canadian Runner Believed to Have a Good Chance Against St. Yves

NEW YORK, May 5.—An even dozen runners have entered for the $10,000 International Marathon Race at the Polo Grounds on Saturday afternoon. The full list follows: St. Yves, Orphee and Chot, France; Simpson and Marsh, Canada; White, Ireland; Carvajal, Cuba; Appleby, England; Dorando, Italy; Maloney, Ireland; Svensberg, Sweden, and Crook, United States.

The entry of John D. Marsh, who now holds the world's track record for the Marathon distance, has stirred up fresh interest in sporting circles and has sent the price up against St. Yves, who is the favorite. Marsh is a strapping big fellow with a world of endurance coupled with plenty of speed. His time of 2:34.7, in one minute two and two-fifths seconds faster than the Frenchman made in the recent New York Marathon Derby. This time is all the more remarkable because of the fact that after the fifth miles a great part of the race was run through rain and snow.

NEGROES ELECTROCUTED

RICHMOND, Va., May 5.—Joe and Isham, two more of the negroes who figured in the recent Powhatan county tragedy, in which Mrs. Skipworth and Walter Johnson were murdered, were electrocuted in the penitentiary today.

TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND HAVE FALLEN VICTIMS TO THE MYSTERIOUS SLEEPING SICKNESS OF THE AFRICAN CONTINENT

Seven European Doctors Have Given Their Lives in the Effort to Conquer This Disease—Gruesome Description of Scenes at the Segregation Camps.

MOBESSIA, British East Africa, Saturday, April 3.—The sleeping sickness Commission is hoping that Theodor Roosevelt will pay a visit to the expedition camp at Seese, Uganda, where Sir David and Lady Bruce are in charge of the Segregation hospitals. The governments of Germany, France and Belgium as well as the government of the United Kingdom, are loyally working together endeavoring to find a cure or preventative for the sleeping sickness. Altogether seven European doctors have succumbed to the fatal disease since the determined attempt to cope with the evil were commenced. Governor Sir Hesketh Bell describes his latest visit to the camp in part as follows:

"The patients were lodged in large thatched huts and were divided according to sex and the various stages of the disease. In one enclosure we saw a number of infants in whom the first outward signs of the scourge were just appearing. Unaware of their impending doom the little black mites played and romped to their hearts content in the shade of the banana grove and only the swelled glands at the base of their throats showed that their fate was sealed. It was sad indeed to think that in a very short time these merry peals of laughter would gradually become more and more rare, and that all those poor little creatures in whose joy of life we were so strongly engaged would after a year or two of misery be laid in the crowded cemetery that I could just see between the trees.

"In a row of sheds, surrounded by the banana groves which supply the food for the patients, we saw numbers of those who had reached the second stage of the disease. Most of them appeared to be suffering acutely. They seemed to shun the cool shade of the broad thatched roofs and preferred to sit or lie in the full blaze of the noonday sun. Even those who had their shivers almost constantly and drew about their emaciated limbs the brown rags of dark cloth which partly covered them. Drawn features and haggard eyes testified to the gnawing pains that almost constantly afflicted them and the unhappy creatures appeared to have special dread of being touched. Many of them were in a peculiar state of lethargy which has doubtless been responsible for the misleading name by which the disease has become commonly known.

"Further on we came to those who were in the last stages of the disease. Lying about on beds of withered leaves, they had reached a degree of emaciation that was horrible to see. The unhappy creatures looked like skeletons and only their doleful moaning indicated the presence of life in the wretched remains. A few in whom nature was struggling hard had gone raving mad and in spite of the fact that the poor creatures had to be chained to heavy logs to prevent their doing harm, one almost envied them their insensibility to the tortures that afflicted their fellow victims. The frenzied laughter of these unfortunates seemed particularly dreadful in that abode of suffering and death.

"It is generally accepted that a variety of the tsetse fly is the principal, if not the only agent for the transmission of the disease. This fly exists in enormous numbers on the shores of the Victoria Nyanza, and also on the borders of some other lakes and rivers of Uganda. Its habitat, however, is restricted to a narrow belt of forest growth adjoining water, and a width of two miles is believed to be the limit of the infested zones. Out of some 200,000 souls inhabiting the shores of the Victoria Nyanza and the islands in the great lake over 200,000 have already been swept out of existence, and it remains to be seen whether the remainder can be saved.

"The extermination of the tsetse appears to be a hopeless task, and it has therefore been decided to remove all the surviving population out of the reach of the fatal fly."

G. T. PACIFIC MAY USE GRAND FALLS POWER

Officials of the Company Looking Into the Scheme

Nova Scotian Chosen Head of Montreal Reform League—Gaulth Preachers Object to Big Hais in Church.

MONTREAL, May 5.—The project of electrification of the G. T. P. from Montreal to Moncton, 460 miles, seems to be taken seriously. The officials of the company here have it under their serious consideration and the Government of Canada and New Brunswick also have it in hand. The power utilized would be the Grand Falls on the St. John river about half way between the two points and connection with the lakes would give 150,000 horse power. The officials here are very reticent and beyond saying that it is under their serious consideration, decline to make a statement. The chief reason for its use if it becomes a fact, is the cheapness and the great saving it would mean in the absence of bush fires in the immense stretch of spruce forest through which the line passes.

MONTREAL, May 5.—Maxwell Murdoch, a native of Nova Scotia, who was traveler for Coratine, till he retired a few years ago, was elected last night president of the Montreal Reform Club by acclamation.

GUELPH, Ont., May 5.—The Ministerial Association has passed a resolution condemning the large hats worn by women and requesting that they be removed in the church.

CITY HALL NOTES

First Meeting of Ferry Committee Tomorrow—Huntor's Petition Arouses Discussion.

The ferry committee will meet tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock to give the new chairman a chance to meet his committee and arrange the policy for the coming year.

The committee to consider the recommendations contained in the mayor's address has not yet been appointed. It is understood that the mayor is waiting to see if the committee which was appointed to consider the best form of civic government is going to bring in a report so that the two committees will not conflict.

The petition to the council asking that Engineer Hunter be given charge of the water and sewerage board is the subject of considerable discussion around City Hall. It is understood that some of the aldermen who in the past have expressed a lack of confidence in Mr. Murdoch, will support the move. Others are perfectly satisfied with the way the city engineer has performed the double duties since his appointment and will be opposed to any change. Another matter that enters into the discussion is the fact that the council having only recently put the two departments under one head would be placed in a somewhat undignified position making a sudden return to the old method.

There are prospects of an interesting fight when the matters come before the board for their decision.

A MILLION DOLLARS FOR HORSE RACING

CHICAGO, May 5.—The spring session of the Board of Appeals of the American Trotting Association announces the list of purses, which aggregate $1,000,000.

The handicap totals are $155,000; stakes, $211,000; and futures, $45,000, making a grand total of $411,000, one of the largest in the history of trotting races in the United States. Joe Martin.

VERY SUDDEN DEATH OF H. PICKARD TRUEMAN

Well Known Seaville—In Good Health Away Last Evening—Conductor Passed Away Shortly Before Death

SEAVILLE, N. B., May 5.—H. Pickard Trueman, for twenty-five years an official of the N. B. and P. E. I. Railway, died very suddenly last night, aged sixty-five. Less than two hours later he passed away in bed, practically without warning. Doctor Secord was summoned as soon as it was known that Mr. Trueman was ill but nothing could be done. An autopsy probably was the cause of death. For many years he had served as conductor of the road and was esteemed by the company and people alike. He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Carter of Fort Egbert, one daughter, Miss Trueman, at home, and one son, Donald, of McKenzie and Trueman, Campbellton. Another daughter, Mrs. E. R. FENETY-JOHNSON EQUITY CASE BEING HEARD

FREDERICTON, N. B., May 5.—The Fenety-Johnson equity case was continued today before Chief Justice Barker. This morning Mr. H. G. Fenety, who acted as solicitor for the estate in drawing the necessary papers of transfer, was the first witness examined. His evidence told of the instructions received to draw the deeds, and having completed the same and handed them over to the estate. He was briefly cross-examined by Mr. Phinney, but nothing new was brought out. Mr. J. F. Winslow, who is acting as solicitor in the present suit, was the next witness. He told of tendering the deed of property to Mr. Johnston and the latter's refusal to accept it. This closed the plaintiffs case for present and at 12 o'clock Mr. Johnston took the stand on his own behalf and was still under examination on adjournment at noon. Most of Mr. Johnston's evidence corroborates that given by the plaintiffs' witnesses. He acknowledged a memorandum of agreement of sale being drawn, that he declined to purchase the property, but that on advice of his lawyer, Mr. Barry, who acted for him, the title to be given would not be satisfactory. The case was continued this afternoon and will probably last over tomorrow.

EMBEZZLER SAID TO BE CARDINAL'S NEPHEW

Elmore Ferrata, an Italian Contractor, is Charged With Misappropriation

NEW ORLEANS, May 5.—Elmore Ferrata, an Italian contractor and inventor and said to be a nephew of Cardinal Ferrata, secretary to the Pope at Rome, was arrested here last night at his home on Tulane Avenue on telegraphic advice from the chief of police at Roanoke, Va. He is charged with being an embezzler to the extent of $100,000 and it is alleged has been wanted by the authorities of Roanoke for more than a year. The allegation of Ferrata's misdealing is made by Frank Moto of Roanoke, who claims that Ferrata misappropriated money which the former advanced to carry out contact with the Norfolk and Western Railroad.

Ferrata declares his willingness to return to face the charges which he says are without foundation.

WANT A MATCH BETWEEN TREMBLAY AND LUTTBEG

CHICAGO, May 5.—Officials of the Illinois A. C. have announced that they are trying to match Max Luttbeg and Eugene Tremblay for the lightweight wrestling title of America. Luttbeg is the acknowledged lightweight champion, having won the title at the tournament of the I. A. C. last month. Tremblay is the Canadian champion. The I. A. C. has guaranteed a purse of $1500 to a victor and a percentage of the receipts. If the two grapplers can be matched the bout will take place in the I. A. C. gymnasium May 25th. Both wrestlers have defeated George Bothner, former holder of the title.

Reformers Find Millions in Money in Abdul's Palace—He Had $5,000,000 on Deposit in a Foreign Bank.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 5.—The commission which is taking an inventory of the property at the imperial palace at Yildiz has discovered according to the local newspapers, bank notes to the value of $2,250,000, and a large quantity of jewelry including a rosary alone valued at $75,000. Papers seized at the palace show that Abdul Hamid had something over $3,000,000 on deposit in a foreign bank. Tewfik Pasha has placed his resignation as Grand Viceroy in the hands of the Sultan, but he has agreed to retain the post until after the ceremony of "Girding on the sword" which corresponds to the coronation of countries and for a few days thereafter until the country is quieter. The sword ceremony probably will take place next Monday.

HADJIN, Asiatic Turkey, Tuesday, May 4.—Hadjin is facing a terrible famine and there is neither money nor food in the city. The orphans that have been cared for by the missionaries are craving for even a small piece of bread, and the missionaries are anxious that their friends be notified of the situation here.

BEIRUT, Asiatic Turkey, May 5.—The situation at Durtiuyul again is critical. Trouble is brewing and further anti-Christian outbreaks are feared. Five hundred Turkish troops have been despatched to these points.

In addition the British battleship Triumph with the British consul on board left here this morning for Durtiuyul. Durtiuyul is beyond the coast about half way between Alexandria and Latakia.

The charge of selling beer without a license that was preferred against Parker O'Leary was withdrawn yesterday in the police court on O'Leary's undertaking to see that no more beer was sold on his premises. He claimed that he was only getting clear of some old stock.

Roman Catholics are showing intense interest in the solemn Tridium at the Basilica of the Holy Heart in Halifax, which starts tomorrow. The exercises will be of a most impressive character and will be in honor of Father Jean Eudes. Prominent church dignitaries in the Maritime Provinces contemplate attending and His Lordship Bishop Casey of this city will assist in the services. The services will continue on Friday, Saturday and conclude on Sunday.

A crowd of North End boys have a day imbibed a truly martial spirit, imitating Mohawks on the warpath. Fan-like riders and bodies of warlike spirit, using as their munitions of war, rocks, stones and even the not too harmless marbles. Desperate and reckless in their onslaught they have done considerable damage to properties, R. E. Coupe being the latest victim. Mr. Coupe is a druggist residing at 371 Main street, and had his large plate glass window smashed. The police are unable to detect the culprits, who disappear with the swiftness of a shrubb.

Word was received in the city yesterday telling of a serious accident to Thomas Young, of the West Side in Quebec. Young left the city on Saturday's train. He fell from the Atlantic express as he was approaching Sherbrooke early Sunday morning and narrowly escaped being killed. The man had been in company with others standing on the platform of a car, and was thrown head first to the ground, striking against the rails. He was discovered by section men on the C. P. R. in an unconscious condition, lying by the side of the track.

Young was taken aboard the train and carried through to Montreal. He is improving as nicely as can be expected.

A special car was attached to the Pacific Express from Halifax last night and in it were 2,000 live lobsters. The lobsters were taken at Sydney (C. B.), and are en route to Vancouver, where they will be planted at Vancouver Island. The shipment was in charge of Alexander Finlayson, inspector of fish culture for the dominion, and he was accompanied by Clifton Cunningham as assistant. Mr. Finlayson said he expected to get the shipment through in good order. Last year he took across the continent 1,620, and out of the number lost only 73. He expects to have even better success this year. About 800 of the lobsters are in pairs, while the balance are in separate compartments. They are kept in trays in large cases, each one covered with seaweed and a large number of jugs of salt water are carried for keeping them well supplied with their natural element. Applications of ice are also administered as needed to keep the temperatures even and cool.

DR. BAILEY DELIVERS A SPLENDID LECTURE Heard to Advantage on Mines and Mining by Natural History Society

The regular monthly meeting of the Natural History Society was held last evening. Dr. Geo. F. Matthews presiding. Miss Maud Watson was elected an associate member.

The library received a series number of exchange from other scientific societies and several valuable books on the microscope from John Kerr.

The museum was graced by a glass globe and specimen of polished agate from Miss Carman and one hundred and ninety-three Cambrian fossils from A. Gordon Leavitt.

Dr. Matthews referred to a new species of fossil plant discovered by A. Gordon Leavitt and to the finding of some fine examples by Mr. McIntosh of a plant discovered by him a couple of years ago.

The lecturer of the evening was Dr. L. W. Bailey, and his subject, Mines and Mining, and altogether all of Dr. Bailey's lectures before the society have been entirely interesting and instructive, that last evening was certainly the best he has delivered.

The lecturer referred to all the mineral and metals used by both prehistoric and historic man, showing the mode of obtaining and using them and in this connection vast amount of information was imparted re the great difference between the early and present methods of trading the various minerals.

A large number of mines was referred to and the triumph of modern machinery in moving the material and keeping the mines clear of water and injurious gases was explained.

The quest for minerals was shown to have caused many interesting events, such as the invasion of England on account of its tin deposits, and the wild scrambles to Australia and California in search of gold, to say nothing of the present rush to Cobalt.

The enormous values of the output of coal, gold, copper, silver and asbestos mines were given, and it was shown that Canada held an ample supply with regard to the products of mines.

The lecturer, by citing many cases of money wasted in quest of minerals where none existed, and of the overlooking of rich deposits, showed the great value of a careful geological survey.

A large number of views of mines and mine workings were shown by the reflectoscope, and at the close of the lecture a hearty vote of thanks, moved by Dr. Hay and seconded by A. Gordon Leavitt, was tendered the lecturer.

MYSTERIOUS EXPLOSION IN GUTTA PERCHA WORKS Three Injured and Thirty Have Narrow Escapes in Toronto Factory.

TORONTO, May 5.—Three men were hurt and thirty escaped injury in an explosion which took place this morning in the press room of the Gutta Percha Rubber Works. Nearly all the windows of the building were blown out by the force of the explosion and it was a miracle that more men were not hurt. Houses on the west side of Westledge Avenue were shaken as if there had been an earthquake and as soon as the noise was heard several anxious women rushed across the road to see what had happened and if their husbands were injured.

What caused the explosion is not known and the officials say they can give no reason for it. However, they refused to say anything about the accident.

An event of especial interest to the Newfoundland colony took place last evening in the Carmarthen Street Methodist Church when Miss Druce Bursey and Mr. Gethro Cooper, of Old Pelican, Newfoundland, were united in marriage by Rev. Charles W. Squires, pastor of the church. The bride was becomingly attired in a cloth suit of Copenhagen blue with hat to match, and the bridesmaid, Miss Lydia Tolland, looked very pretty in white trimmed with pale blue and picture hat. Mr. Frederick Bursey was the groomsmen. After the ceremony the guests repaired to the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Cooper where a supper was served and a pleasant evening spent.

AMUSEMENTS. "CROMWELL AND CHARLES I" AT THE NICKEL

The pictorial feature that the Nickel presents today and Thursday is one that will appeal for a long time. It is a faithful living reproduction of the troublous times when Charles I of England strove against Oliver Cromwell, the resolute and aggressive. The costuming, scenic settings, outdoor views, horseback riding and diabolical scenes of the drama are of the highest quality and much light is thrown upon the page of history by the re-enactment. A charming thread of womanly character, as represented in Cromwell's daughter, is interwoven with the tale of the story. This whole reel is richly colored. The other picture-feature of the program is Pathe's sensational society drama, A Pair of White Gloves, which is in reality a film de luxe. Miss Edwards will conclude the evening with "Home, Sweet Home," and the New York Talking Picture Company will present their screaming farce, "The Feathers," which evoked so much laughter last evening.

A DANDY SHOW. Heading the picture portion of the program at the Princess today is one of the most powerful temperance lessons ever portrayed in motion picture. The title of the film is A Drunkard's Reformation. There is not the slightest question that in this subject the Biograph has produced the most powerful motion picture ever made. No stronger or intensely moral lesson has ever been given. Heading the vaudeville section is Lottie Blanchard, a dainty little comedienne who has met with a decided success at every appearance. Then comes Louis Pritzkow, who has a whole carload of new funny stories that are sure to receive the applause. A word to the wise, be early for the show.

HILARIOUS FUN AT THE "STAR." If its pure fun the people want it the city has a supply of it in the cozy little Star Theatre in North End, which tonight the new show contains that scream of success, "The Anti-Noise Crusade," which has been a hit in every house yet shown in Boston and New York. The new show will be bright and catchy music. On Thursday evening the orchestra will play and next Monday Frank Austin, the popular balladist, commences his engagement.

BAKERS' STRIKE STILL MARKED BY RIOTING NEW YORK, May 4.—With sporadic rioting unabated, the strike of 1,500 bakers on the East Side apparently with no hope of a settlement. There were frequent attacks on shops employing non-striker bakers and strike-breakers today. No one was seriously injured, however. Thirty-five cops on the East Side have shut down for lack of men, and the unions announce that several master bakers have agreed to the terms of a strike which fix a minimum wage scale and provide for improved sanitary conditions. The strike has caused a disastrously affected the city's bread supply.

YALE STUDENTS ARRESTED AFTER RUNNING AMUK NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 4.—Charged with breach of the peace and injury to property, W. F. Howe, Jr., of Brookline, Mass., and D. G. Tomlinson, of New York City, members of the Yale freshman class, were arrested tonight in the foyer of a local opera house. Howe and Tomlinson, in company with about 300 other Yale students, made a demonstration in front of the opera house, later entering the foyer and smashing the fittings there and assaulting an attendant who attempted to prevent their entering the body of the house. The two men were released on bail for appearance in court tomorrow morning.

NEWSPAPER MAN DRANK CYANIDE OF POTASSIUM LYNN, Mass., May 4.—Chas. R. Cutts city editor of the Daily Evening Item, took his own life by his residence in Swampscott tonight. The cause of his act is a mystery to his friends. He was a man of sunny, jovial temperament, and today attended to his newspaper duties as usual, seeming to be in his customary good spirits.

This evening about 6 o'clock the servant at his home found him dying in his room from the poison which he had taken. Mr. Cutts was 37 years old and a native of this city.

POOR SAM LANGFORD; HEADED BY FERGUSON. SANDY FERGUSON. The blooming aspirations of Sam Langford were checked rather suddenly when he met Sandy Ferguson, the Chelsea heavyweight in a 12-round draw in Boston. The referee called it a draw, but Ferguson had his dusky opponent hanging on desperately at the end and had he possessed at least a faint sense would have won a K. O. decision earlier in the fight.

That it is necessary for a man to drink liquor daily is a theory that will not hold water.

AGED MOTHER OF CAPT. HAINS ON THE STAND Pathetic Scene in the Court Room—Trial Nearing the Alienist Stage.

FLUSHING, N. Y., May 4.—Mrs. Virginia Jenkins Hains, mother of the defendant, concluded her testimony this afternoon after a trying and pathetic ordeal on the stand in an effort to save her son, Peter C. Hains, Jr., who is on trial for the murder of Wm. E. Annis. Now that father, mother and two brothers of Captain Hains have testified, the trial soon will reach the "alienist" stage.

The defense has but two more lay witnesses to examine and the five alienists retained to show that the defendant is insane, probably will testify Thursday.

People and on the verge of nervous collapse, the testimony of Mrs. Hains was the most dramatic incident of the trial. She broke down and sobbed convulsively throughout her direct examination, and when District Attorney Dewitt started his cross-examination the strain proved too much for her mother's heart. She sank into the witness chair, covered her face with her hands and wept bitterly. At this point, Mr. Dewitt promptly announced that he had concluded the cross-examination and the old lady was taken from the court room.

Both the defense and the prosecution were as gentle as possible with Mrs. Hains, but besides the strong feeling she exhibited while telling of scenes between herself and her accused son up to the time of the shooting of Annis.

A number of witnesses were called today before Mrs. Hains took the stand. The substance of her testimony was to show the alleged irrationality of the defendant as they saw it, during the summer of 1928 and previous to the time he shot and killed Annis.

SPORTING NOTES Boxing, Bowling, Ballooning and Trotting.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 4.—In the 11th round of a 15 round fight before the Eureka A. C. tonight, Frankie Neil, of California, was given the decision over Young Britt, who was disqualified for wrestling. Neil had the better of his antagonist when the fight was stopped.

BOSTON, Mass., May 4.—A new three tiered balloon was created tonight at the opening of the National Duck and Candeign record at the Somerset. The record total of 323 made by Lucia last year being broken by Geln of Springfield, who rolled up 325 Springfield had eleven entries in this individual competition.

FITCHBURG, Mass., May 4.—The first balloon ascension of the year was made late today by Chas. J. Glidden of Boston, and J. Walter Elzag, of Worcester, in the balloon Boston, owned by the Aero Club of New England. The balloon left the ground at 4:10 from the Aero Park and drifted slowly in a northeasterly direction.

HAVERHILL, Mass., May 4.—The balloon Boston containing Messrs. Glidden and Elzag landed on the farm of G. H. Damon, in Arkison, N. H., 7 miles from this city at 5:40 tonight, having covered 40 miles in an hour. Appeals of the American Trotting Association today disposed of a large number of matters of a routine nature. An unusually prosperous year for harness racing is in sight, according to the declaration of members of the board. It is estimated that about $1,000,000 will be distributed on the various circuits this season, despite the stringent anti-betting laws now in effect throughout the country. The Grand Circuit alone, nearly $1,000,000 will be distributed.

It required all the persuasive power of Justice Garretson and Mr. McIntyre to quiet her. The hypothetical question in regard to Captain Hains' sanity, which will be submitted to the alienists, contains ten thousand words and will require an hour and a half in reading. It covers the chief incidents of the defendant's life as brought out by the testimony up to the time of the shooting of Annis.

A number of witnesses were called today before Mrs. Hains took the stand. The substance of her testimony was to show the alleged irrationality of the defendant as they saw it, during the summer of 1928 and previous to the time he shot and killed Annis.

The Man Who Was 'Horse-Crazy'

By CAROLINE LOCKHART.

Long-legged Jim Gaylord sat on the edge of the empty manger and looked reflectively at five silver dollars which lay in the palm of his hand. He had just looked at Phoebe.

"It's a question, Phoebe," said he, "which of us eats today—you or me. Them Saddle Creek restaurant beef-steaks have a terrible takin' smell when you pass the door. If only I could fill up on alfalfa or timothy, it would reduce my livin' expenses considerably; but I can't, and be comforted, I gotta get resigned to the idea of goin' on eatin' the rest of my days. But fortunately," he continued in his low, husky voice, "I has the choice of what I eat. I can eat beefsteaks or I can eat them blam'd breakfast foods you has all the oats that's good for you and the best timothy what's housed into town. When it comes to a question as to who eats, Phoebe, I guess you wins, as usual. If I heard you winnin' for oats, and I hadn't none to give you, I reckon it would set me to eatin'."

Jim Gaylord slid from the edge of the manger and slipped his gangling arm about the neck of a brown mare, patting the white star in his forehead, with his other hand. The mare's eyes grew soft and limpid, as a horse's eyes will when caressed by some one he trusts, and turning her head, the mare pushed him a little with her velvet nose.

"Meal time, Phoebe? Gittin' empty, eh?" He gave her a farewell pat. "There was a horse in the other stable, big and showy, and far handsomer than Phoebe, but he only slipped the horse's flank good-naturedly as she passed.

As Jim crossed the street to the feed store, a stranger on a high-stepping sorrel rode into town. The stranger sat on his horse with the air of a man who believes he is riding the best, and Jim's glance took in the small pointed nose, the shining coat, the slim legs and neat hoofs which bespeak the blooded horse.

Jim borrowed a hundred dollars on his saddle horse.

"I'm goin' broke," he explained, "I might as well go broke right." Then he placed the hundred dollars getting odds of ten and twenty to one, which he had no difficulty in doing, as the crowd snapped at each dollar he offered.

"He'll be afoot by this time tomorrow," said the wise ones. A murmur of delight and admiration swept over the grandstand at six that evening when "Mormon Slim," in a red silk shirt and black silk trunks, rode out on the track on the high-stepping sorrel. He looked the real thing in the way of a jockey, did "Mormon Slim" on his racing saddle, and the gamblers already had Jim's money spent as the sorrel warmed up to his work on the preliminary.

A spontaneous shout of laughter went up from the grandstand when Jim rode out. The mare's mane and tail were matted with cocklebairs. Her coat was dusty and as rough as though each hair had been brushed the wrong way. Jim's long legs did not look to be more than a foot and a half from the ground. He was riding sorrel, and he was a pair of faded blue overalls and a salmon pink undershirt. "Mormon Slim" grinned in Jim's face as the sorrel dashed past a spectacular gallop. The hopeless race was made more so by the fact that Jim drew outside places.

When the race was called the sorrel fought the bit and fretted to be off. The little brown mare stood still, her nose out, her soft eyes shining. "Go!" The leap she gave started the sorrel. It floundered, and scarcely eight jumps from the line she had the rail. But the sorrel had heart, and he gathered himself and gained, until they were neck and neck. The crowd shrieked and howled.

"Why don't he let him out?" "He's holdin' him in for the finish!" yelled the wise ones. "But look at the mare! She has no feet—she flies!" At the quarter of the half-mile track they were still running neck and neck—even like a team. The sorrel did not lose, but he did not win. "Now!" roared the grandstand. "On the last quarter—on the turn—on the home-stretch watch the sorrel!" "Good Lord!" yelled a man who had bet Jim twenty to one. "The Mormon's whippin'!"

He whipped at the beginning of the last quarter. He whipped around the turn. He was whipping on the home-stretch. The gravel flew behind him. The rail-tail of the other horse was like the tail of a drum. Down the stretch they came, but no longer neck and neck! The little mare was running low, like a bounder, her neck stretched, her tail flying out on the breeze. She swept by the paralyzed grandstand, game, graceful, reaching out like an antelope with her slim legs and tiny hoofs while the stretch and the daylight grew between her and the rounding straining sorrel abehind. And crouched on her shoulders was Jim, who turned his head to throw one glance of exultation and derision at the grandstand.

"I'll tell you what," said Jim, as he holder a hauf of money from the stake-holder. "I had a terrible time a-leadin' them the sorrel crocodile tears and a hunter's cockle-bairs."

THE POLICY OF SPOILATION.

British Wealth in a Way to be Taxed On the Earth.

LONDON, May 4.—A new Sultan in Turkey, a new royal baby in Holland and a new spoliation budget in England have filled the life of the Old World with varied emotions this week. The Turkish and the Dutch cheers are swallowed up in this immediate atmosphere by the bitter groans of oppressed Englishmen.

This bewildered country is beginning to take account of the practical effect of the new burdens imposed by a socialistic government. The operation of the lot of the poor rich man. He must pay for 8 per cent. income tax, $200 a year for each of his big automobiles, double the former on all stock exchange transactions, a new tax on all his land and 30 per cent. of all increase in land values.

When he dies, if he is a millionaire, 27 per cent. of his entire property. This is divided into three taxes; 15 per cent. death duties, 10 per cent. legacy duty on all bequests except to nearest relatives and a general tax of 2 per cent. on all estates passing probate. There are numerous instances every year where estates pass probate twice in the same year through the effect of successive bequests. The operation of the new law would confiscate to the State as high as 54 per cent. of such property if the total amounted to a million pounds or more. The burden upon very big estates is even greater than these figures indicate, for the government compels immediate cash payment. Great properties of course do not represent cash, but all manner of investments. Executors will therefore have to make immediate forced sales of sufficient property to satisfy the government demands. This especially when the property consists of real estate, may involve heavy sacrifices.

THE NEW COUNCIL.

The newly elected council has assumed control of civic business. At the organization meeting the plan of reducing in number the various boards was adopted. This was a good move and will no doubt facilitate the conduct of business by doing away with some of the futile discussions which have in the past made board meetings very monotonous.

Without attempting to bring about a revolution the new council can introduce further important reforms by insisting that civic officials assume responsibility for the work of their own departments and carry out all works according to instruction from the council.

LIQUOR LEGISLATION.

There appears to be considerable uncertainty as to the proper interpretation of the amended license act. Mr. Hazen declines to instruct those whose duty it is to enforce the law.

since last Friday, the temperance people have no ground for complaint. Such changes in the law as have been enacted cannot be rigidly enforced in ten minutes, and certainly what has already been done is most satisfactory.

It is unkind to intensify the grief of those Sachville parents by suggesting that they are in any way contributory by negligence, to the tragic deaths of their three children.

Decided to Start Vigorous Campaign—Co-operative Committees

As a preliminary to a vigorous campaign throughout the province in the interests of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, a meeting of those prominently identified with the work hereabouts was held yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the Dufferin Hotel.

Well, darling, when this letter reaches you you would have arrived in South Africa. I could not sleep at night for thinking of my sweet darling and girl out on the rolling billows on such a rough night. I hope you were not much affected by the wind, darling.

SPRING CHICKENS OUT OF SEASON CAUSE OF FREAK WEATHER

Farmers and Wives Sow Seeds of Argument—Unusual Wellness Spoils Spongy Cake—To Raise Mutton Sheep.

MAGNETIC SPRINGS VERY ATTRACTIVE. ALLENS, Pa., May 4.—One of the wonders of nature in this vicinity is the magnetic spring. It has drawn many visitors during the past few years, attracted them, as it were, by its peculiar properties. Wonderful things are claimed for the waters of this body of water. Several young women spent a few weeks there last summer. When they arrived they had no especially pleasing features and were fearful lest they should be compelled to travel through life unadorned. After drinking the waters they became charged with merriment and attracted so many admirers that they were married before the close of summer. A man who said his life had been a failure managed to get to the spring. A few glasses of the water and he was out and picked up a living. One hunter dipped the muzzle of his gun in the magnetic spring, starting out on a trip. He killed three bears which had been attracted to him. An ass once painted a picture of the spring and it was exhibited. Unfortunately this so weakened it that it failed to draw the first prize.

VARIABLE WEATHER LAID TO CHICKENS. HENRYVILLE, Pa., May 4.—At last there has come an explanation for the extremely variable weather of the last few weeks. Peter Doyle, who has made a study of climatic conditions, declares that the seasons have changed because of the perversity and ambition of man. "I can well recall the times," said Mr. Doyle, "when spring chickens were raised in the spring and sold early in the summer. The seasons were regular then and could be counted upon. Now we are raising spring chickens in August and selling them in January. This is contrary to the natural law and we are paying the penalty by seeing hundreds of lives snuffed out by cyclones and thousands of dollars lost in growing crops. I have no doubt that the flare-back on March 4 can be traced directly to the enormous number of spring chickens eaten in Washington that day. "We must reform ourselves. We must raise spring chickens in season, or else we must suffer the consequences of our folly."

WEST SPRING RUINS DRIED CORN CROPS. SHOWERSVILLE, Pa., May 4.—This has been one of the wettest springs in years. All of the streams are running bank full and men who voted prohibition in the last year have returned to their homes soaked. At a social held last night in the church it was found that the spring cakes were so filled with water that they had to be placed in elder presses and squeezed before they could be sold. The Rev. Mr. Glank, who during his entire career in the ministry has preached nothing but dry sermons, was especially pathetic in his remarks on the subject. He said that the congregation weep so copiously that the cellar was flooded with tears. Nearly all the crops have been ruined, and in most instances the planting will have to be done over again. About the only thing that has been raised this far is wheat. The crop of dried corn and dried apples is totally destroyed.

SEEDSBURG, Pa., May 4.—There is an awful mix-up in the community over the spring sowing. The farmers and their wives are at odds over the most perplexing problem and cannot agree, wherefore all work has been suspended. The women insisted upon being permitted to do their spring sowing before the regular farm work was begun. They said unless their husbands and the men would have no clothes in which to do the spring sowing. So that is the problem whether the sowing or the sewing shall be done first. It is very evident that the spring sowing will materially add to the sewing, but at the same time the spring sowing must be done or there will be no money to buy material for the sewing. Both sides say this is so. So it is most likely that the farmers will go ahead with their spring sowing and the women will suspend their sewing.

THE ROYAL ACADEMY DISPLAY. Panel by Sargent Among the Best Paintings Shown—Colossal Cecil Rhodes.

LONDON, May 4.—The 141st exhibition of the Royal Academy opened on Monday. The private view was given on Sunday. The rooms were decorated and the hanging was better than usual. There are 240 fewer oil paintings than were shown last year, and so there was less crowding. A few pictures were added, but this did not detract from the excellence of the exhibition as the general level of the work is no higher than usual, and there are still many pictures that might have been painted by schoolboys. There is no sensational picture and no problem picture, such as John Collier usually provides. Although the shadowed face of Frank Dicksee's "Nun Praying Before a Crucifix" will probably be the favorite. Full of beauty is Sargent's decorative panel, which could only be seen in a more appropriate setting. It is surrounded by a scroll which groups of angels hold before him. This scroll, like that which borders the whole design, is inscribed with Hebrew characters. The pictures hanging near are fine landscapes by Hugh F. Stanton, Arthur Streeton and J. J. Shannon. The best portrait is by Anthony L. Prince. Sargent's other works are a lifelike portrait of Cecil Rhodes and one of Mrs. Astor, also a picture which, in the perfection with which the artist achieves that which he aims at, is probably the best picture of the year. It is scarcely more than a study showing seven girlish figures draped with cashmere shawls, very slightly treated. The beauty of the arrangement of the drapery, the grace of the poses and the suggestion of gently ordered motion make a triumph of combined skill and feeling. Edward Poynter, president of the Royal Academy, shows a portrait of the Earl of Northumberland, one of E. H. Pembler, secretary of the Dilettanti Society, and some water-color landscapes. Three members of the cabinet, Messrs. Asquith, Lloyd-George and Burns, found time in spite of their parliamentary work to sit for their portraits to Luke Fildes, S. J. Solomon and Harold Speed respectively. One of the most charming pictures of the whole exhibition is "The Boat Race," by Byron Shaw, a picture which disproves the unpicturesqueness of people in modern dress at an ordinary social watering place. Among the sculptures a colossal figure of the late Cecil Rhodes by Henry Pegram, the model for the Cape Town statue, a large bronze tiger by Robert Colton, and "Dawn," by Charles Hartwell, will attract attention.

TO BE DYSPYPTIC IS TO BE MISERABLE. Dyspepsia is the prevailing malady of civilized life. It is largely due to gross errors in diet, over-eating, too free indulgence in stimulants and over-taxing the stomach with indigestible food, eating too rapidly without chewing the food sufficiently, indulging in hot biscuits, pastry, pickles, confectionery, etc. Constipation, headache, heartburn, sour stomach, distress after eating, belching of wind, flatness, and fullness and distention of the stomach are a few of the many distressing symptoms of the poor, weary dyspeptic. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the stomach, stimulates the secretion of the saliva, and gastric juice to facilitate digestion, removes acidity, purifies the blood, and tones up the system to full health and vigor, and thereby cures dyspepsia and all its tributary diseases.

Mr. Amos Sawyer, Gold River, N.S., writes—"I was greatly troubled with dyspepsia, and after trying several doctors to no effect, I commenced taking Burdock Blood Bitters and I think it is the best medicine there is for that complaint."

"SMILING JOE'S" GRIT WINS 4-YEAR FIGHT ON DISEASE

Boy, Whose Picture is Known Country Over, Now Well—His Happy Face Strired Many to Give to Charity.

NEW YORK, May 4.—"Smiling Joe," the boy whose picture has been printed in nearly every magazine and newspaper in the United States, left the hospital of Sea Breeze Home, Coney Island, today, sturdy, straight-backed and still smiling. He had been cured, by four years' treatment, of tuberculosis of the bones, a disease for which there was once no help. You've seen "Smiling Joe's" picture. Nice out of ten of the donors wrote to the Society for Improving the Conditions of the Poor, which conducts the Coney Island place, that what had moved them to contribute was the face of that little fellow looking out from the pages of some periodical. Once President Roosevelt went all the way to Sea Breeze to shake Joe's hand and wish him all the luck in the world. Today there was a "Smiling Joe" party at the home to celebrate the cure of his most famous patient. Then, with a lot of his fellows, who are recovering, he rode in an automobile through Brooklyn to the show lot and saw his first circus, as a guest of Ringling Brothers. Then he came back to his parents in Manhattan as healthy as a little chap as you'd see anywhere. And still just a smiling.

PLANS TO INTERCEPT WIRELESS FROM MARS. Amherst Professor Will Take Instruments Up in a Balloon.

BOSTON, May 4.—Professor David Todd, of Amherst College, is also ambitious to establish communications with the planets Mars and Venus, but he has plans which are radically different from those which have been put forward recently. He expects to ascend not later than September to a very high altitude in a balloon fitted with receiving instruments, and then come back to receive communications from Mars or Venus. He will act on the assumption that the planets may be inhabited by a race of superior intellectual beings who long since perfected wireless telegraphy even beyond our present understanding. Professor Todd will ascend to a height greater than would freely support life, and, accompanied by astronomer Leo Stevens, will increase himself in a light-weight constructed human case supplied not only with oxygen to sustain life, but with an artificial air pressure.

POEM WINS FREEDOM FOR TWO MURDERERS. Kansas Governor Thought So Good a Verse Maker Should Have Liberty.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 4.—Early this month there will walk out of the penitentiary at Lansing two free men. They are Carl Arnold and William Harvey, murderers. They were sent to prison for life, but their sentences were commuted by E. W. Hock, when he was Governor, to eighteen years in the penitentiary. They killed the Mayor of Kinsey, Kan., by shooting him in the back when he resisted their efforts to rob him. That was in 1923. These two men owe their approaching liberty to a poem said to have been written by Arnold. So far as was explained, the time communication was granted, Arnold's poem had demonstrated that he should have the benefit of such ability. Prison walls, it was argued, were not conducive to broadening a poet's mind and a man should have freedom in order to expand.

THE SUN has secured exclusive serial rights in this province from the New York Herald, and will begin publication in a few days.

AT THE HANDS OF PERSON AS YET UNKNOWN

HAMILTON, May 4.—We, the jury assembled to inquire into the death of Ethel Kinrade, hereby find that deceased met her death by shot wounds inflicted by some person or persons unknown to the jury. Owing to the fact of the unreliability of some evidence produced, the crown is especially requested to continue their investigations, and we also desire to express our hearty appreciation of the able, courteous and kindly manner in which this investigation has been conducted by Coroner Anderson and counsel for the crown.

This was the decision of the jury in the Kinrade inquest, after an hour and a half consideration from the time when it was finally placed in their hands by Coroner James Anderson. The proceedings came to an end somewhat more rapidly than was generally anticipated. On the previous day the half inquest had been recalled by the murdered girl would be called had been given. It also was known that subpoena had been issued for twelve additional witnesses. The real object of the crown in issuing these summonses was explained by Blackstock in his closing speech.

SUSPENDED LIKE MAHOMET'S COFFIN. Aeroplane Went Up All Right But Failed to Come Down—Toy Balloon to the Rescue.

MEXICO CITY, May 4.—A Pueblo despatch says: "Having failed to perfect the descending mechanism of his new aeroplane in his enthusiasm to take the machine up, Felix Gallo, of this city, who has been working on the problem of aviation for months, found himself suspended for an embarrassing period in the air this morning. With the lightness and grace of a bird the machine left the earth when Gallo put it in motion before a large group of witnesses just outside the city. It attained an altitude of about fifty feet, when, at will, Mr. Gallo wanted to come down, however, the flying machine refused to obey orders. Finally a small boy sent up a toy rubber balloon to which was attached a fine thread, and with this thread Mr. Gallo was able to pull up a stout cord, which in turn pulled up a rope. A number of men seized this rope and pulled the flyer back to earth."

Day by Day Little by Little

The old worn-out cells are rebuilt slowly but surely when the change is made from Coffee to

POSTUM

Nature requires time to rebuild. This cannot be done instantly. But each day progress can be seen.

The change to Postum is not hard because the flavour of well-boiled Postum is similar to that of mild Java and it quickly wins its own way.

The aches and ills (caused from coffee) cease and the pure food elements of Postum bring out the glow-of-health in place of the muddy coffee complexion.

The change is worth while.

"There's a Reason."

POSTUM CEREAL CO., Ltd., Gaithe Creek, Mich.

MORE THAN EVER

Increased Capacity for Mental Labor Lessening of Coffee.

Many former coffee drinkers who have mental work to perform, day after day, have found a greater capacity and greater endurance by using Postum instead of ordinary coffee.

An ill woman writes: "I had drunk coffee for about twenty years, and finally had what the doctor called 'coffee heart.' I was nervous and extremely despondent, had little mental or physical strength left, had kidney trouble and constipation."

"The first noticeable benefit derived from the change from coffee to Postum was the natural action of the kidneys and bowels. In two weeks my heart action was greatly improved and my nerves steady."

"Then I became less despondent and the desire to be active again, showed proof of renewed mental and physical strength and brain power. I formerly did mental work and had to give it up on account of coffee, but since using Postum I am doing hard mental labor with less fatigue than ever before."

LAND OF WOMAN'S RIGHTS.

Centuries Ago the Hopi Women Went on Strike and Won the Privilege of Choosing Their Husbands, Ruling the Tribe and Doing as They Pleased.

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz., May 4.—Down here in the Great Painted Desert man beleaguers the woman. The suffragist may find fully illustrated the fate that will be his when the woman's rights movement reaches its fullest fruition. Long before the beleaguered woman of the East even thought about demanding the ballot the blighted sisters in the Hopi Indian nation had fought out the matter and won.

The Hopi are better known to fame as the Moquis or Moqui, but the latter appellation was bestowed upon them in derision by their warlike Navajo and Apache enemies. Hopi means "people of peace." Moqui means "dead man."

Hopi women do not vote, but it is only because they do not want to. They do about everything else that is masculine and do it because they like it.

Hopi houses are built by the women. These houses are their own, and their children take the mother's name, not the father's. When a Hopi maiden makes up her mind to marry she does not trouble herself about asking the consent of the man upon whom her eyes have alighted with favor. She asks her mother.

The husband does not prepare a home for his bride. She takes him in. The produce which he raises is his own when it is stored in her house, and no Hopi man ever has property in his own name.

Hopi houses are of an architecture purely Hopi. Always they are built high on the feet back of the first story, so that the roof of the latter is a terrace for the second, and the third rises still further.

The women are expert adobe mixers and molders. The rocks and the timbers are carried down the steep clumps down on the desert on the backs of burros. This work is done by the men. After the men have delivered the material the women go to work.

Without any of the tools of the mason they lay the stones with precision. The division of labor is complete. Some carry the rocks and the sand, some mix the adobe, some do the laying and the finishing. Building a house is great fun, and the neighboring women are always glad to help the new home builder. The adobe is plastered on and with it the adobe is plastered on and the walls smoothed.

The roof is a mass of willow and earth supported by cross beams and poles. The floor is of hard packed dirt. The interior decorations consist of gypsum whitewashing, and symbolic paintings. Sheets of gypsum formerly served for windows, but nowadays doors and windows from some far off place are used in almost every home.

Tradition has it that the ascendancy of the Hopi woman was secured centuries ago as the result of a strike. The ancient Hopi used his women as beasts of burden, following the usual Indian custom.

They rebelled and gathered by themselves on an unoccupied mesa. There they held out, resisting all blandishments and entreaties and threats, and only consented to return when assured that they should be complete bosses in the house and the village.

Generations of rulership have stamped the Hopi woman as the superior sex. They are beautiful, but modern good looking as women and often retain their rounded faces and fine hair until old age comes on.

Compared to them the men are stunted. The women are of more than average good figure, muscular and healthy looking. The men grow wiser and older and go about their tasks as though they didn't get much out of life. Of smaller stature, they are often very hardy and as messengers are capable of going tremendous distances without apparent fatigue.

THREE LITTLE CHILDREN DIE FROM SUFFOCATION

Sackville the Scene of a Sad Tragedy at 10 o'clock Last Night

Boarder in House Rescues Fourth With Difficulty; Another Fire Victim

SACKVILLE, May 4.—One of the saddest tragedies in the history of the section of the province occurred tonight, when three little children died from suffocation as the result of a fire which badly gutted the house of their father, Charles Crossman.

The Crossman home is situated on a street leading off Broadway street. This evening Mr. and Mrs. Crossman went down to see some friends on the left in the house a boarder named Brownell and their four children, Joseph, aged ten; George, aged eight; Gerald, aged six years, and a little four year old girl named Gretchen.

Brownell Awakened
About ten o'clock Brownell was awakened by the fire and found the house full of smoke. He picked Joseph Crossman out of his bed and with great difficulty fought his way through the thick smoke to the head of the stairs where he and the boy almost succumbed. They both tumbled down the stairs and managed to reach the street. As soon as Brownell could regain his breath he made a gallant attempt to get up the stairs again to save the other three children, but was quickly driven back by the fire and bedroom floor dead. He had undoubtedly been awakened by the dense smoke and managed to get out of bed in an effort to escape, but had not time to even reach the room door when he was overcome by the smoke. When Mr. and Mrs. Crossman heard of the fire they rushed to their once happy home only to find it destroyed and three of their children dead. The grief of the father and mother was most pitiable.

The firemen worked on the building for about an hour before the last sign of life was extinguished. The house, which was a two story frame building, was badly gutted, and little or no furniture was saved. It was still marked by comparative simplicity.

As the result of being burned in a fire near the house last Friday, a five year old daughter of Mrs. Fred Allen, living in a tenement on Charles street, died this afternoon. The mother, who is a hard working woman, was absent from home at the time. Some children living in another part of the house got into some matches in some way and proceeded to kindle a fire in the yard. In a short time they had it going merrily, and then began jumping through the flames. In this way the clothing of the little Allen girl caught and in an instant she was in a blaze. An older sister came to her rescue and succeeded in extinguishing the blaze after being badly burned herself. Dr. Copp was at once summoned and did everything possible for the little sufferer, whom he found frightfully burned about the back. One arm had also suffered badly.

INTERESTS OF MARITIME PORTS WILL BE GUARDED

OTTAWA, May 4.—The only tangible product of several hundred Hansard pages of opposition criticism of the government's bill authorizing a temporary loan of ten million dollars to the Grand Trunk Pacific to secure the completion of the prairie section of the road this year was evolved today in the form of four amendments proposed by Messrs. Borden, Meighen, Ames and Laurier.

Maritime Ports Protected

In respect to the first amendment it was pointed out by both Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Meighen that it was both unnecessary and inopportune. The terms of the government's bill are in favor of the shipping and ocean ports, and when the lease of the National Transcontinental to the company comes to be signed the interests of Sir John and Halifax will be further safeguarded if deemed necessary.

Mr. Borden said the amendment of Mr. Borden was only intended to be a vote catcher in the Maritime Provinces. He pointed out the manner in which there was a day bought for fertility and suitability for cultivation was equal to the valley of the St. John or the valley of the Saguenay. As for Mr. Borden's prediction that the Grand Trunk would divert export trade from the West to Portland, Sir Wilfrid pointed out that the national transcontinental has no superior to any road that would be built by the company to use it rather than to divert it to Portland.

AMERICAN LUXURY.

Prof. Ferrero Finds Accounts of Extravagance Exaggerated.

PARIS, May 4.—Prof. Guglielmo Ferrero in his second article on American luxury, deals with American luxury. "Much is said," he writes, "in Europe of the 'barbarous luxury' of the Americans of the North. It is written about it, its psychology, its causes and its effects are studied; and yet I have not seen this 'barbarous luxury.' American life, above all in the higher classes, seemed to me to be still marked by comparative simplicity.

Of course there are in New York, Philadelphia, Boston or Chicago, just as there are in Paris, London or Berlin, men and women whose amusement is to squander their money in folly. This class may even be more numerous in America than in Europe, but it is none the less true that these men and women form in America, as in Europe, an insignificant minority and that their folly cannot be looked upon as a normal phenomenon of American life.

It is extremely rare to see real palaces in America. One of the greatest private houses in New York is the Vanderbilt on Fifth Avenue, but it is very far from reaching the proportions of a real palace in the sense we give to the word in Europe. Mr. Carnegie has built immense palaces throughout America for museums, schools, and libraries, but for himself he keeps in New York a house which a European would consider hardly worthy of a man who possesses millions, let alone the colossal fortune of the famous iron-master.

"I did not see Mr. Rockefeller's house, but I saw at Chicago his daughters, which every one said was more luxurious than her father's. It is certainly a very fine house, but it is no more than a house. Mr. Rockefeller, like all the other great Americans, is not a man who passes his life in the acquisition of wealth. He is a man who has made his money and now spends it in the service of his country and of his fellow-men.

It is true that from time to time the newspapers tell us stories of the incredible ostentation of American luxury, of fortunes spent in jewels, dresses, shows, of fabulous entertainments given in New York. Like everybody else, I confess that before going to America I used to read these tales with belief. Now I must say that I have become very sceptical and no longer consider the newspapers as very safe sources of information as concerns American luxury. For example, the luxury of jewels is far less in New York than in Paris, and in Philadelphia it is far greater than in Philadelphia or Boston, that is to say in the wealthiest towns.

It is almost all the rich houses which I visited in Philadelphia or Boston I saw many books and few jewels. In French luxury, but it has nothing to do with the luxury of the great European metropolises.

To sum up, I noticed no essential differences between American and European luxury. Undoubtedly American luxury has not yet acquired the exquisite artistic refinement of French luxury, but it has nothing to do with the luxury of the great European metropolises.

DISAGREE ON THE TARIFF
HALIFAX, N. S., May 4.—Halifax is to be up-to-date in transportation. A company is in process of formation to operate the latest pattern of public conveyance, taxicabs throughout the city. The capitalization of the taxicab company is $100,000, and it is proposed to begin operations with four of these cabs to be placed on convenient stands for the use of the public. License has been applied for. The cabs will have taximeters and the charges will be based thereon on a sliding scale. It is expected that the seats will be so arranged that a trip to or from the depot will cost 50 cents, even if there are four passengers. Of course if one taximeter is desired to occupy the cab alone he must pay the 50 cents, but if there are four in it each will pay only a fourth of the 50 cent charge. In responding to calls no charge is to be made for the time taken in going to a point of call or coming from a destination point when the passenger has been left there.

FIGHTING DEATH WHEN AID ARRIVES

MONTEREAL, May 4.—There was no very startling revelation at the civic inquiry today. At the morning session an ex-keeper named Simonneau stated that when in the employ of Cote & Landry, who keep a saloon on St. Lawrence Main street, he was in the habit of paying Constables Bennett and Cantin $10 a week for not reporting the place for selling on Sunday.

Later he made an affidavit as to the facts and had given it to Chief Campbell. At the afternoon session Chief Campbell was asked about this, and he said that he remembered it. The constable had denied it, and it came to a question of taking the word of the constables or Simonneau. He preferred that of the constables, for Simonneau was a saloon man's spy and he had no faith in him. He had, however, removed the two men to another section of the city. To the list the aldermen gave the other day as having approached him with the request that he suspend action, he added the names of ex-Id. Walsh, Deserres and Tansley and Ald. Selwyn.

Captain Reed, of the Carnegie, Says Hope Had Almost Been Lost When the Mohawk Arrived.

NEW YORK, May 3.—How the Mohawk steamed through the fog and heavy sea to save the crew of the William Carnegie, the five masted schooner, wrecked on beach of Moriches, Long Island, was told yesterday on the revenue cutter, which reached her anchorage off Pompekinville, early in the morning.

According to Commander Mitchell Reed, commander of the schooner, he and his eleven companions in the schooner's yawl boat could not have held out much longer. With only a little hard tack and water to nourish them, and soaking wet from the sea, they were nearly exhausted when the Mohawk came alongside the night before.

When Captain S. M. Landrey, commander of the Mohawk, received the wireless message asking for help for the crew, which had left the battered vessel and rowed out to sea, the revenue cutter had but just anchored from a cruise of two weeks and was short of provisions, coal and water. Stores were put on board tidily and the water boat was waited for until two hours had passed, and Captain Landrey determined to essay the run to the eastward, using the fresh water in the ballast tank aft for the boiler supply.

BOTH SIDES REGARD DECISION AS A VICTORY

Hotel Keepers Need Not Move Bars to the Street Front But Must Provide for Unobstructed View.

Joy was brought to the hearts of the hotel men by the announcement made last night by Inspector John B. Jones that their bars would not have to be moved out to the street front.

The announcement was to the effect that there must be an unobstructed view of the bar, but not necessarily from the street front. As most of the hotel bars are situated in the middle or rear of the buildings this provision will not be any serious inconvenience to their patrons. If this provision is enforced so that the interior of the bar can be seen from the office or lobby it will be likely to do away with the dark suspicion entertained by the police and temperance people that liquor is sold at unconventional hours in the hotels. The temperance workers regard the decision that the hotels should have to give an unobstructed view of their bars as a victory for them. It is said, however, that some difficulty will be met in making this provision of any practical effect.

If this is the case it is likely that the temperance workers will endeavor later on to have the bars moved out to the street fronts.

PUGSLEY INVITES FULLEST DISCUSSION

Foster and Borden Attempt to Force Matters

Speaker Rules Against Them But Minister of Public Works Asks That No Opposition be Offered to Consideration

OTTAWA, Ont., May 5—It was expected that the attack on Hon. William Pugsley, based on the findings of the New Brunswick Royal Commission, will be opened in Commons today, and members of the opposition came fully armed for the fray. As a preliminary, Mr. Foster moved for leave to lay on the table an order in council appointing the commission and the findings of that body.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier pointed out that the motion was absolutely out of order, no notice having been given. "There is another reason which I might urge," added the Prime Minister, but I think that is sufficient."

Mr. Borden jumped to his feet and heatedly observed that the Prime Minister appeared to be very much afraid of the documents "inasmuch as the report of that commission contains matter affecting a member of his own government," said Mr. Borden. "I think he should be the first to rise in the house and move as a matter of privilege and without notice that the copies of the documents should be laid on the table. He is strong on rules but I am sure that he will not object to the report of a commission which as every member knows gravely touches the public conduct of a member of this house should not be laid on the table of the house."

Speaker—"The hon. member cannot discuss a point of order."

Mr. Borden—"I am not discussing a point of order. I say that inasmuch as this report touches the conduct of a minister of the crown, Mr. Foster is entitled as a matter of privilege and without notice to have the documents laid on the table."

Hon. Mr. Fielding—"I think it is unfortunate that the leader of the opposition should begin his remarks with the rather superfluous observation that the hon. member is a pig. I have these papers laid on the table. It will take even a more astute man than the leader of the opposition to get any question on this matter to go into supply."

After an interlude during which questions on the order paper were answered, the opposition took opportunity to open the attack on Dr. Pugsley by making use of the privilege to bring up any question on motion to go into supply.

Mr. Crothers (West Elgin) in announcing his intention of discussing the findings of the New Brunswick Royal Commission said he had no personal animosity against the minister of public works, but was actuated simply by a sense of public duty. He was proceeding to refer to the case which was exercised in England to protect the dignity of parliament when the conduct of public men was challenged, when the speaker raised the point whether he was in order to discuss a motion reflecting upon a member of the house on motion to go into supply.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that while he had his own opinion of the course being pursued, the minister of public works would not press the point of order.

Dr. Pugsley—"So far as I am concerned I am desirous that no objection shall be raised to the fullest and amplest discussion in this matter."

Mr. Crothers then proceeded with his case, spending most of the time until noon recess in a detailed summary of general relations between the New Brunswick Central Railway and the provincial government.

STREET WALKER BEFORE COURT THIS MORNING

White Girl Seems to Prefer the Company of Colored Men—Several Drunks.

In the police court this morning three common drunks were fined four dollars each. Frank Danaher, who was given in charge of the police last night by Mrs. Margaret Lannon, was remanded to jail. Mrs. Lannon charges Danaher with being drunk and disorderly and with threatening her life.

Sarah Lobb, a 19 year old white girl who has a liking for the company of colored men, was arrested near midnight on Prince Street, Carleton, by Policemen Lee and Marshall. The officers had been summoned by Manassah Hogan, a colored man, to his home on Watson street, to eject the girl, who refused to part company with the colored people. Manassah said the girl arrived at his home on Sunday about midnight and said that she had missed the last car and trip of the ferry. She said she was going to join the Salvation Army and go to work. The colored man said there was only one bed in his home so he allowed the white girl to sleep with his wife and Manassah took the sofa. Sarah apparently fled her new boarding house, and Manassah becoming tired of the hard work, ordered the girl out of his home last night. On her refusing to leave he was forced to call on the police. The girl informed the police that she was taken to the house by a colored man named Parker Hogan, and when ejected last night she had no place to go. She was accordingly arrested. Policeman Marshall informed the court that the girl is well known to the police as a street walker and has a fondness for picking up colored men, and it is said has on several occasions been seen under the influence of liquor. She was remanded to jail.

The case against Wm. Daley for going beyond the stand allotted for coachmen at the I. C. R. depot, was further postponed until Friday morning.
