FREDERICTON, April 6 .- With the testimony of Mr. Murray, Mr. Warner and Mr. Cushing, the evidence in Mr. Flemming's resolution regarding the This session of parliament was called placing of duty on American logs was concluded this afternoon.

Mr. Murray said that he was against the resolution. He did not think there were enough logs on the crown lands to warrant the action. The lands above Grand Falls were mostly owned by private individuals and the New Brunswick Railway Co. As regards the alien labor law he never knew of our laborers being denied employment in Maine, in fact our men were sought for, so he regarded the preamble to the resolution erroneous. There are about sixty millions of American logs cut in St. John and almost the full work on these were done by our own people. just emerging from the midst of a widespread murder carnival which seems to have more or less affected all states, but more especially that part of Massachusetts in the vicinity of this centre ef culture. Last menth there were eighteen murders in New England, some of them of a mysterious nature and therefore above the ordinary cases. As has been recorded in the press of the United States and Canada, an affair which baffles the police is the murder of Miss Mabel Page, the daughter of a leading family, who was stabbed to death while alone in her home at Weston, six miles from here. on March 31. The Pages were once wealthy and formerly lived on Commonwealth avenue, Boston, the leading aristocratic thoroughfore. Miss Page was 42 years of age and a handsome woman, who, once disappointed in a love affair, had never again contemplated matrimony. OTTAWA, April 5 .- The house resun ed its sittings this afternoon to full galleries, the first time this session, and to fairly full benches.

The return of Sinclair of Guysboro, was announced by the speaker, after which Laurier, amid government applause, moved his Grand Trunk Pacific resolution. He said the transcontinental transportation question was one that engaged the attention of the Canadian parliament and people. This second line from Pacific to Atlantic tidal waters was made necessary by the growth of the country, especially with regard to the development of the country around the great lakes. The government had not, he thought, made a mistake last year in deciding on a setoday has a population of some six milto bridge over the gap between the east and west that the new line was ities between all parts of the dominion

But commercially as well as politically this road was necessary. Sir Wilfrid criticised the present condition of things, contending that as soon as lake navigation is closed, the trade of the west was paralyzed. It was beyond doubt that the line around Lake Superior is not able to carry the volume of wheat demanding transportation. All sections of the road were needed. He denied that the land eastward from Winnipeg to the St. Lawrence was a barren region. It was a land needing development and affording a line of railway as level as the line over the prairies. ranges as in other parts of Quebec. Taking up the contract he said the G. T. P. Railway Co. said the conditions of the original arrangements were too onerous. Concessions had since been made, but they were very moderate. The time would come to discuss these items. It was not now. The first concession was to extend the date of the completion of the western section by three years, or till Dec., 1911. The second concession was that the G. T. P. R. should, after it had completed net ready, be entitld to return of their deposit. The third amendment eastern section shall not be more Canada. onerous than the original agreement.

Turning back Mr. Borden showed that the Grand Trunk had in the past obtained vast sums of money from Old Canada, and from that standpoint criticised Sir Rivers Wilson for his attack on the opposition in parliament, charging them with "unfair opposition in parlament," which opposition had consisted in suggesting amendments that were accepted by the government. It did not therefore lie in the mouth of Sir Rivers Wilson to make such a charge. William J. Cole Got Away with Money from a Lumber Camp.

There is in a cell at the central police station in this city a young man who, while he maintained at one time Tuesday afternoon that he was another man, admitted later that he was guilty of the crime with which he is charged. The individual referred to is Willam J. Cole, and the charge against him is that he stole $300, the property of Andre Cushing & Co., from the camp of Wm. J. Nobles, on the Allegash river.

Cole was clerk and bookkeeper for Mr. Nobles up at the place named. Later on at the central police station papers were discovered which showed that the arrested individual was Cole, and he finally admitted that he was the man wanted. On his person $343.47 was found, which he admitted to the officers was the property of the Cushing concern. Cole told the police that he got drunk after Mr. Nobles had left the camp, and after that he had no recollection of what he did.

His Honor Police Magistrate Ritchie this morning pointed out strongly to one, William J. Cole, the evils of drink showing him how near it came to sending him to Dorchester.

Cole had a row with the foreman and started for Fredericton to find Mr. Nobles and get matters settled. He got drunk on the way and the first intimation Mr. Nobles had that anything was wrong was a report that Cole was in Chatham.

In court yesterday Cole told his story, which was corroborated by Mr. Nobles and Alexander Wilson, accountant for Messrs, Cushing. He had the money on his person when arrested and made no claim to it. Mr. Nobles

I met him, for the first time, some three months after the Sultan of Madrapore's visit to England. He was the possessor of a striking personality-a handsome if somewhat rakish face, a sharp and ready wit, an ability to make himself liked by people that I have seldom known equalled, and an audacity of which the following narrative is, I think you will agree with me, an excellent specimen. What he was by profession, or where he originally hailed from, nobody ever knew. He appeared to have an intimate acquaintance with most of the out-ofthe-way countries of the world, and to my certain knowledge spoke six languages as fluently as he did his own. He was an excellent shot, parcularly with a revolver, and at the billiard table could hold his own with most professionals. Why he should have entrusted me with the following marrative I am at a loss to understand: since I have it, however, I intend giving it to the world, and I shall wait to see what comes of it.

It was now nearly midday, and the heat in the street was terrific. I turned to my left hand on leaving the house, and strolled along in a different direction from that which I had followed on approaching. So far, I felt convinced, I had not been shadowed; but in Madrapore, as in Constantinople, you can never be too sure. I had no desire to fall into the hands of either Wis Majesty the Sultan or the Governor of the whose reputation more than equalled that of his master. In order to make sure, I turned into the first mosque that I encountered. I took off my slippers in the porch and then entered the mosque itself, where there were many men engaged in their devotions. That I was being shadowed admitted of no doubt, for I had twisted and turned on my homeward journey to such an extent that there could be no sort of coineidence in the cripple's pursuit of me. I never saw her but that once, and, though I made inquiries, here, there, and everywhere, I could not discover her whereabouts, or even her name. LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

QUEENS CO., April 2nd.

To the Editor of the Sun: Sir,-Is it not time that some one made a kick about the bungling piece of legislation that our wise (?) members are about to impose on us, namely the new road law? Aside from some of its other bad features an act that would compel people to move back their fences in order to make a road four proceeding. Such a law in fact would be nothing but legalized stealing. If such a ridi-culous law was carried into effect not only fences, but buildings in hundreds of cases would have to be removed. Farmers living along a country high way have always considered the land adjoining it as their own, especially when the road was laid out through land that was a part of their own freehold. Such an act would be an useless expense and trouble both for the government and private individuals. The extra land thrown out would simply grow up lints, weeds and bushes. The amount of tax proposed will not keep the roads in half repair after the good party men that the governmen will appoint as superintendents get their pickings. The excuse that the roads should be widened to prevent drifting in winter is not worth discussing. Roads in exposed places with high fences on either side would drift if they were five rods wide. It is only a question of time when wire will replace the old worm fences all over the country. Can it be that our government members are irresponsible creatures and not to be taken too seriously? Is it possible that discussing the affairs of the "Provincial Hospital for the Cure of Nervous Diseases" has rattled their brains so that they are incapable of handling a problem with their usual mental activity?

WITHDRAWAL OF THE FACTORY ACT.

After having positively stated that he would not withdraw the factory act, the attorney general has withdrawn it. The history of the late measure has been rather dramatic. It was submitted, explained, and advocated by the attorney general. Dr. Pugsley got a general idea of what was wanted from the Trades and Labor Council and the Fabian League. But the act was framed by himself from the Ontario and New Zealand statutes.

Several delegations waited upon the government after the bill was printed. ister of agriculture explained that it was The Trades and Labor Council and paid to two doctors for furnishing informa-Fabian League asked for amendments. The Board of Trade delegates were made to feel that they were inconsistent in suggesting that the act was hastily drawn. inasmuch as they themselves admitted with its provisions.

But apparently the attorney general facturers had arrived. On Tuesday he anything it contains. submitted amendments changing nearly every feature of the bill. It was still apparently the intention to force the measure through in some form, and those interested were invited to offer suggestions.

By Wednesday the attorney general had reached the other conclusion of the St. John Board of Trade that the measure should be postponed for a year. Yesterday Dr. Pugsley gave notice to all delegations that were to be sent to Fredericton, telling them to stay at home. The act would be held over for consideration.

A commission is to be appointed. representing employers, working men, and other interests. One commissioner is to be a lady. The burden of preparing a measure is to be placed on this rather large commission. One hardly sees the necessity of creating a commission for this purpose, especially a commission of five persons. That is a rather expensive way to devise public legislation. But the government has got rid of the question

THE BANK TAXES.

The Bank Taxation Bill sent up by the city of St. John appears to have got into a bad muddle, from which probably the best escape is to leave matters as they have been, pending the preparation of a general assessment system for the city. It is not easy to adjust taxation as between the different banks, so that it shall bear equally upon them. But in regard to the Bank of New Brunswick it is well known that those who are so fortunate as to own shares in that corporation pay much less taxes on that part of their property than most others do on their possessions. The reduction of the capital stock of this bank some years ago had the effect of reducing the taxes of the bank. It seems now to be suggested that the stock ought to be increased without increasing the taxes. The purpose of the bill before the legislature was to increase the revenue of exploring the route from Winnipeg to the city. If in the amended form the measure does not serve that purpose it as was necessary for Grand Trunk might as well be dropped. The con- purposes. A RECKLESS PREMIER.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier says that the grades and curves of the Canadian Pacific line north of Lake Superior are such that this route or another near it can never be used extensively as a grain route from the west. While this statement may be correct the connection in which the premier uses it shows how unpractical he and his scheme are. Sir Wilfrid is asking the country to commit itself to the construction of 1,800 miles of railway from Moncton to Winnipeg. The route which he proposes to follow has never been explored. No man knows what grades and what curves will be necessary on the Grand Trunk Pacific. There is not the slightest evidence that the country to be crossed will be better suited for a railway than the route of the Canadian Pacific. Yet the leader of the government cheerfully asks the people of Canada to take the risk and make their $125,000,000 or grades and curves.

An Amherst correspondent informs the Sun that Mr. Logan has been hold-Mr. Black sits in the house of assemmight if he should exert himself be a PORTLAND TO THE PACIFIC.

From Bay or to some other westerly point on the present Grand Trunk line Mr. Hays and the Grand Trunk people are interested in the eastern section. East of that point they are taking no interest in it.

A branch from the proposed main line to Thunder Bay will bring grain in summer to the lake route. Another branch to North Bay or another Grand Trunk point will transfer the western freight in winter to the old system and so on to Portland. Maine. Mr. Havs evidently intends to cause the government to build first to these junction points. The remainder of the road may be delayed indefinitely. But that part must be completed soon. Time and Mr. Hays cannot wait.

We have other evidence of the intentions of the promoters of the Gift Enterprise. While the measure was before the house last summer the Grand Trunk Company had surveyors Lake Temiscaming. That was as far ton or from Quebec to the point of the cannot be complete without a referproposed junction. The government is paying these explorers, but the Grand Trunk has charge of the operations. Thus it happens that the part of the road from the longitude of Toronto eastward is no better known that it was when Sir Wilfrid prayed Heaven

There is more than this. The promoters have already taken steps toward procuring the branch lines to connect the main road with the old system and with the Maine port. Not long ago the Ontario government was asked to vote a cash subsidy and a land grant toward this connection. We have not heard that Mr. Havs has taken any steps to secure the construction of branches to Montreal and St. John. These eastern ports are beyond the sphere of influence which is now exerted. It is plain enough that Mr. Hays will proceed on the line of his address to the shareholders. He will show the Edinburgh objectors that the old Grand Trunk system is all right and that Portland is all right. The Grand was again and again pointed out to him and Trunk Pacific will be what Mr. Hays and his friends have sought from the first to make it, a road from Portland

Joy because we have in the good Providence of God been brought into ntimate and close fellowship; gratitude because you have been the instrument in God's hands of leading many to make a profession of their faith in Christ; others you have helped in their hour of weakness and trial to seriously regard their position by pointing out to them plainly and forcibly their duty to God and those connected with them by ties of relationship and affection. OCAL LEGISLATURE

FREDERICTON, N. B., April 5. -The house met at three o'clock. In the absence of the speaker, Mr.

Allen took the chair. Hon. Mr. Tweedie-With regard to the railway bills that are being introduced I desire to give notice that the government will not recede from the sition it has already taken, that before a charter is granted for the building of a railway the promoters must give satisfactory evidence of their abilto do the work. I must therefore ask the chairman of the committee not to deal with these bills until they have a certificate from the provincial secretary that the promoters have satisfied the government of their financial ability to build the lines for which they were asking legislation.

Hon. Mr. Tweedie moved that the committee under Mr. Flemming's resolution be allowed to sit while the house was in session for the purpose of taking the evidence of certain persons who desired to go home. Agreed The bill relating to the town of St. Andrews was considered in committee. Mr. Carpenter in the chair, and agreed The house went into committee on the factory act, Mr. Osman in the

Hon. Mr. Pugsley said-It is right that I should inform the committee that since this bill was last before them the government has been favored with the attendance of representatives the labor council and others intersted in factory workers and also of reresentatives of the board of trade and manufacturers and employers of laor. We have also received suggestions writing from many others and as a ult the government has concluded that it would be desirable to make rome important amendments in the One of these amendments relates to holidays and the committee will be isked to strike out all the sections reing to holidays. They do not proide for giving holidays to all the emeyes, but only to the women and The women's council say that here should be no distinction in this espect. These sections are also in the Zealand law, but that law also vides for certain hours of labor and government have concluded to that matter to the good judgof both employer and employe. ental to this is section 20, which also to be struck out. This section ers to the hours of labor and is not plicable here. Another question, wisdom of which has been regarded as doubtful, is the ertion regulating meals and provida place where employes could the their meals. After hearing the representations made on this subject, rticularly by those interested in cotton mills, the government have come doubt whether such a provision ould work. We have learned that in some places lunch rooms have been built by the employers, but these the aployes will not use. We have not me to a final conclusion on this subbut we desire to hear the opinion hon, members on both sides of the ise. It may be that as a result the will not be asked to enact With regard to the sections which refer to sweating shops, we do not think that this has grown great extent in New Brunswick, understand it is getting a foothere, and therefore it is desirable heck it. I also think it right to make a further statement. From exssions of opinion we have had from nt sections of the province we are led to believe there is a feeling on part of the manufacturers that ther consideration should be given some of the sections of this bill. hat also is the view of the St. John oard of Trade. The best method of providing for this is to appoint a small commission, one person representng manufacturers, another representing labor and the third a lady, and let them consider the whole subject and assist me in making amendments to the bill. The enacting of advanced factory legislation is not an easy thing in a country like New Brunswick. ere there has been no such legislation. In England, factory legislation began more than sixty years ago, and nce then amendments have constantly been made to meet the changin contemplation to charge one of members of the government with work of giving special attention to the interests of labor. He will be known as the minister of labor, and it will be his duty to collect statistics will not involve the creation of a new department, for one of the present heads of the department will be charged with this work. Mr. Hazen-Are any changes to be made as to inspectors, and also as to the definition of what, is a factory Hon. Mr. Pugsley-I will make a statement on these points when the bill is being further discussed. I think, however, it is likely the number of hands required to constitute a factory will be increased. There is a difficulty here, because I have a communication from a person interested in labor who thinks that even in places where there are only a few persons employed they are as much entitled to protection as where there are a large number. It is not unlikely that we will raise the number to 15 or 20, and I think that canning factories will be excepted from the operation of this act. With regard to inspectors, while the provision of the bill will probably remain as at present, the government will probably take power at some future time to appoint two paid inspectors for the province, a man and woman, the latter to be the assistant. It will be necessary to have a woman inspector for factories where a large number of women are employed. At resent the government have so many calls upon them that they do not feel ike incurring further expense, but I ave every reason to believe that it will not be long before we will be in a better financial position and able to pay these inspectors. I am opposed to annual license fee or any other inancial burthen being imposed on the wners of factories. I think that if it is worth while having a factory act the expenses connected with it should borne by the provincial government. may say further that I have no strong views on the subject of factory egislation, and am open to receive suggestions from any quarter, so that we may make the act as perfect as

Mr. Hill said that, according to the provisions of the act, the inspector will e the chief of police or constabulary, and in most cases that official would have little or no knowledge of sanitation, hygiene, or machinery, and will hence be of little value. He did not think that the section requiring a dining room to be provided for employes was a practical one, as his knowledge the plan had been voluntarily tried by a number of prominent manufacturers in the province and without success once. The employes generally preferred to eat their simple repast off by themselves. Relative to the section providing that all doors in factories shall open outward, he thought it was a valuable provision, but in some cases it would be a great hardship and inconvenience in factories where sliding or hotsting doors were more practicable. Some provision should be made to limit this by leaving it to the direction of inspectors.

Mr. Clarke thought that the bill was giving too much power to the inspectors, which might be used to the disadvantage of manufacturers and cause considerable dissatisfaction and annoyance and expense Hon, Mr. Pugsley said he was much impressed with the necessity of the provision. It was the desire, however, to have the inspectors chosen with proper qualifications for the discharge of their duties. It was all important to have a man of discretion and ability and he must have certain powers in his official duties.

Mr. Hill thought his hon, colleague was borrowing unnecessary trouble. All officials had an opportunity of abusing their power if they desired, but if so they could be discharged. A provision might be made so that in case of dispute an appeal might be made from the inspector's decision to the minister of labor.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley thought that to prevent overcrowding employes in factories a provision might be made to allot a space of about 250 cubic feet for each person employed in the factory. He understood this was the provision in England, and it might be well to have it embodied in the act, though there were probably few factories in the province which did not comply with the provision.

Members are beginning to return from their Easter holidays, and the house will be open tomorrow with fairly full benches. Several prominent railway men are here in connection with the Grand Trunk Pacific contract changes, but they are not talking for ters are still out of town, they, like Cox, will have to wait a little longer. If one can judge from the talk in the corridors and around the hotels the debate on the G. T. So far the opposition has made no announcement of the line it will pursue, but it may be relied on that Mr. Borden will insist on a free and full explanation of each section of the measure and of the scheme as a whole before permitting the bill to pass the house.

Mr. Purdy informed the committee that that the council were willing to Macdonald accept $2,000 as the total amount, but added that the city wished to have added that if the bank should increase Its capital over one million that an additional license of one-tenth of one per cent should be made.

Mr. Purdy naturally felt much put out with this turn in affairs and exclaimed warmly that he would have nothing further to do with the bill. He wished, however, to have Recorder Skinner and Ald. Ald Macrae had little to say; he had not come to Fredericton in the interests of this bill, but on other business. Mr. Skinner soothingly explained his position. Yesterday afternoon he had met the mayor and a few of the aldermen. They had agreed to the amendment and authorized him to come to Fredericton to so state the case.

Mr. Hazen again protested that this was no authority; that a few aldermen met together had no right to express the opinion of the whole council, and the committee should wait until the council decided as a body what they thorough knowledge of the Transvaal were willing to accept or not accept. Mr. Tweedie and Dr. Pugsley then arrived on the scene and these gentlemen spoke strongly against the committee considering the bill. The bill had been dealt with yesterday and passed upon, and Mr. Copp's resolution was entirely out of order unless a resolution were first made allowing a reconsideration of the whole matter. Chairman Allen did not agree with this contention. Mr. Purdy's action had opened up the whole business and members had a perfect right to express their opinions. Mr. Purdy had introduced new matters and the committee had a right to consider the bill as it it were now before them for the first

But there is no law to prevent Capadians going to Japan or Siberia and offering their services. Among Canadians who are said to be about to take service with Japan is Captain Ryan of Kentville, Nova Scotia, who recently took passage for Yokohama. He has seen something of war in Africa and would like to enlarge his experience. It is not permitted to any agent of Japan to engag him or to pay his passage. Made Lots of Fun for Themselves on the Steamer, and Are Thoroughly Enjoying the Trip.

The delegates to the World's Sunday School Convention to be held at Jerusalem on April 18th and followings days, have been heard from by the New Brunswick executive. Miss Almeda Burchill of Hibernia, who is an officer of the Queens County Sunday School Association, writes:

On our third day out, when sea-sickness of many had been evercome, the Canadian delogates held their first separate rally. Seventy-seven answered to the roll-call out of over eighty Canadian delegates abeard. Rev. John Potts, D. D., from Toronto, was chosen as chairman of their company, and Wm. Johnson, a Sunday school superintendent of Belleville, Ontario, as secretary.

One of their first motions was that. to save stewards and others Sunday work, they consented to set aside their evening dinner, if this met with approval of captain, officers and the United States delegates. This, with the hearty concurrence of all delegates, was changed in wording to two meals on Sunday if the captain agreed. The next announcement was heartily received, namely, that Wm. Johnson had provided small flags enough for all Canadian delegates (Miss Burchill had taken a small silk one with her from Metaulay Brothers' house of this city), and that the Ontario premier had presented the delegation from that province with a large and beautiful dominion flag for the tour. Thus our Canadian delegates will honor their flag, as those of the United States will honor theirs. These two flags, with the Christian Conquest Flag, and that other flag which the English company of delegates will bring with them-all these identified with Sunday school work-will leave their influence in the lands to which these delegates go.

Our irrepressible Canadians have dies and Bermuda. what sounds very much like a college yell. It sounds quite effective, and reads thus, "C-A-N-A-D-A"-Canada Liscomb (repeated). Streng for the right, Lift up the light, Banners unfurled, Greet all the world. Hurrah, hurrah for Canada." To each of the 804 delegates Captain Reimkastein presented 32 inches of black ribbon, into which is woven in yellow the name of the ship, "Grosser Kurfurst." and the German emblemanchor and key crossed-which the delegates wear and which will be among precious souvenirs of the trip. Among that company are many who are very dear friends of the New Brunswick Sunday school workers. There are Dr. Potts, who is chairman of the International Lesson Committee: Marion Lawrance and Mr. Pearce and such Sunday school editors as Charles Gallandet Trumbull, who succeeded his late father, Dr. H. Clay Trumbull, as editor of the Sunday School Times, and W. J. Semelreth of the Evangel, another netable International Sunday school paper. Many cameras are aboard, and a scientific photographer to give instruction in the use of them. Lectures, conferences, business meetings occur on all days except Sundays and when ashore. Prayer meetings, preaching service and Sunday school occupy Sunday. On shore, places of historic and other interest are visited, and missionaries are met at every possible point, and many will return to put new missionary interest in their school. All delegates seem to be enjoying this memorable cruise.
