This announcement of the rapid sale of tickets in Ottawa is quite correct. Among the members of t ple don't leave home because they find Govern the field, workshop or kitchen. People don't leave home because they find it difficult to make a living by working for it, but because they fancy a living may be made elsewhere without work. The bitter disappointments that follow the trial are generally carefully hidden within the breasts of the sufferers. A case has just come to light in Boston that is, except for the tragic ending, the counterpart of many thousand. A young man left his farm for "genteel" employment at an "intelligence office" in Boston. He was at once engaged as a bill collector, at a good salary, deposited all the money he had, the fruits of his savings of years, as a scourity for the faithful performance of his duties, found that he had been made a victim—that the engagement was a bogus one, and was langhed at when he presented the note he had received from the agent with whom he had deposited his money, went back to this home, brooded over his loss and his shame for a time, and then blew out his bame for a time, and then blew out his shame for a time, and then blew out his shame for a time, and then blew out his shame for a time, and then blew out his bame broaded the discovery of the cause of the left discovery of the cause of the left discovery of the cause of the latter to our shores, I have of course a much larger number of relatives to find.

mium. Even in St. John a common laborer commands higher wages than a skilled workman or a merchant's clerk.

A mechanic asks tairty cents an hour for doing a job, and a laborer demands forty or fifty cents an hour for shovelling coal. Girls can be hired to work for a mere trific at anything considered "genteel," while it is growing more and more impossible to get trustworthy girls to do housework at any price. Should Mr. Anglin has a retentive memory.

Tilley's words. Later on in the evening, trimmed with ruby satin and Honiton Mrs. Corbett—White satin petticoat; rose colored train. Mrs. Robertson Ross—Corn colored train; black Maltese lace over-skirt caught up with roses; diamond ornamets.

Mrs. Fox—Green silk trimmed with pale primrose color; flowers to match. Miss Mary Kenny, Halifax.—Wore a lovely dress of blue silk, trimmed with maize colored and white tarletane; ornaments of pale blue.

The Misses Robertson, of St. John. more impossible to get trustworthy girls to do housework at any price. Should this craving for the "genteel" continue to increase there will soon be only one adequately paid class—the common laborers—all trades and professions being so overstocked that their members will look with hungry envy on the well-paid laborers who make laws and regulations for the government of their employers and all concerned.

It was the intention of the Government to prorogue the House the first week in May, and unless business is delayed unexpectedly, the intention will be carried out.

was gentls, amiable, and lovable in humanity."

Mr. Anglin has a retentive memory, strong lungs, and a fair knowledge of public questions, and ought to occupy on the House. The only hindrance is in himself. His mere to every attempt to develop the resources of our young Dominion, his expressed and implied contempt for men of New Brunswick whose names command respect at home and abroad, and the concentrated bitterness with which he impregnates every word, are the causes of his failure and powerlessness as a public maize colored and white tarletane; ornaments of pale blue.

The Misses Robertson, of St. John, N. B., were very tastefully attired in dresses of pink and crimson. Head-dresses pink and crimson flowers and white feathers.

CLADSTONE'S "LIFE OF FARADAY."
Michael Faraday. By J. H. Ghadstone Ph., D. F. R. S. Joine, Cloth, 90 cents

Ph., D. F. h. S. John, Arthur and C. T. L. is founded mainly on the personal reminiscences of the writer. Mr. Gladstone is master of an easy and graceful narrative style. His memoir is written with warm personal feeling, no less than with a just appreciation of the position of Faraday as a man of science. It is intended for popular reading, and aims to do justice to the admirable personal qualities of the subject, which are quite as remarkable as his philosophical discoveries.—[N. Y. Tribune.
