CONTINUATION OF CALDWELL'S SPEECH

Here is more of one of the best speeches made in the House this year. Not only farmers but every person will find it profitable reading.

I have said that I was somewhat surprised and disappointed at different matters in the Budget Speech, but I was more surprised at a statement made by the mover of the amendment (Mr. Fielding) in his speech of May 18, more especially, as he has been looked upon for a long time as the father of the reciprocity agreement and an exponent of lower duties on manufactured articles, especially the instruments of production. On page 2582 of uncorrected Hansard, for May 18, he is reported as saying: "I had a call one day from a manufacturer who informed me that he had no complaint in regard to the tariff. He said he was satisfied with it, and as a matter of fact was doing fairly well in his business. Indeed, he said, he was contemplating an expansion of his business and he felt that in view of the large trade he was then doing, and the large business he was planning to do in the future, he could afford to sell to the ultimate consumer at a little lower price, and so he had scaled down the price of the article of importance in which he was dealing. I remarked that that was gratifying, but he said: 'Wait a moment, I want to show you a letter I have,' and thereupon he placed on my desk a letter written by an agent of an American manufacturer, the concern which is engaged in making in the United States a similar commodity to his and shipping it into Canada. This agent wrote to the man of whom I am speaking: 'Why do you cut the price? You can just as well get the larger price and there is no reason why you should not. If you reduce your price you will have to reduce your quality. We will not buy your goods if you are going to start reducing prices. We will meet you and keep on reducing, and no matter what price you name we will cut it for you.' After that was a very high up the question of dumping. Again, I suppose you might say that he was a little right, let him send his goods in; let him come in; much the better. Well, if we could get a bond from these manufacturers in the United States that would compel them to send goods for ever at sacrifice prices, we might have been an excellent thing to have adopted the course suggested in this hypothetical quotation. We could afford to close our Canadian factories and any American goods if we could have got a bond from across the border guaranteeing us their goods for all time at a sacrifice price, and who imagines that the American had any intention of doing that industrially? He avowed intention was to cut prices and sell at a sacrifice just long enough to close the other man's business. That was the clearest thing in the world, and my manufacturing friend visiting me asked me what he was to do. Notice that he speaks of just this one thing: 'What do you think of the situation yourself?' He replied: 'Well, I suppose I have to go back to the old price or shut up shop,' and I told him that I could not blame him; I said we would have to think the matter over. We did consider the matter, and the conclusion we came to was embodied in the dumping duty. We came to the conclusion that if the manufacturer concerned in the United States could come here and close up Canadian manufacturing interests it was right that there should be a special duty to meet that condition. I was considered by some as a piece of freak legislation, but I am glad to know that it has been copied in other countries, and the present Government have paid us the compliment of continuing it on the Statute Book.

In the first place, he says that a number of people consider this freak legislation. I think they do yet. I myself would not have felt flattered by having the legislation copied by the present Government, or by having anything in common with them at all. What impressed me most about this statement of the hon. member for Shelburne and Queen's was that if a call on him from one lone manufacturer, who had no complaint in regard to the tariff, had such an effect on him, an avowed low tariff advocate, as to cause him to enact a protective tariff to protect his one lone manufacturing friend, not from hardship, but from something he was afraid might happen to him, what would he do if the Canadian Manufacturers' Association had called on him en masse with some of the cook-and-bull stories they are able to put up with regard to the measure of the United States manufacturers? Does any hon. member of this House or any intelligent elector in this country believe that the United States manufacturers can manufacture goods or machinery any cheaper in the United States than can be done in Canada, or that the United States manufacturer is any fonder of cutting prices than his Canadian competitor? I heard my hon. friend who took his seat not long ago say, 'what good follows the British manufacturers were because they did not cut the price. That seems to be the one thing in common with all these manufacturers. In the above statement of the hon. member for Shelburne and Queen's you will see one writing to another: 'Why do you cut the price? You could just as easily get a bigger price.' And the hon. member for Shelburne and Queen's was willing to pass legislation to enable these men to get together and hold the price up. And still they talk of reducing the cost of living to the consumer! This hoggy in regard to the American manufacturer and price-cutting is trotted out time and again and made to do service by our protectionist friends, but I was surprised to find so old and shrewd a politician as the hon. member for Shelburne and Queen's riding this hobby, and I would be inclined to think that he is riding for a fall with his own party when he rides that hobby. I should like to warn him that he will have a tendency to discredit his party's low-tariff professions throughout the country. I would also point out to him that there are a large number of electors in this country who are still of the opinion that the duties on the necessities of life should be lowered, if not entirely taken off, and certainly lowered on the implements of production.

I think, Mr. Speaker, that on a former occasion in the early days of this session I made my position fairly clear with regard to the present tariff, but even at the risk of being tedious I wish on this occasion to emphasize some of the remarks I made at that time. I wish especially to impress on this House and the country the fact that a tariff law that will enable an American manufacturer to establish a branch factory or assembling plant in Canada, bring in his raw material

BASE BALL IS GOOD CLEAN SPORT

Monday Evenings Game Best Ever Played in Hartland is Verdict

Without wishing to speak in any derogatory manner of any other games, The Observer and other spectators of the Perth-Hartland ball game on Monday evening agree that it was at once the snappiest and cleanest game that was ever played on the Hartland diamond. The Perth aggregation was made up of a number of bright and clean young men and their performance reflects credit on the up river town. The line-up follows:

Perth	Hartland
McPhail	Billing
C. Lewis	McKenzie
Dionne	Ward
H. Lewis	Keith
McCrea	Lavigne
Riddle	Hatfield
Merritt	Hovey
McLellan	G. Taylor
Westmore	Kyle

Following is the score:

Perth 00000310-3
Hartland 1000003x-4
Billing walked one and struck out 19; McPhail walked 2 and struck out 9.

Umpires: V. F. Noddin and C. D. Dixon.

In the game at Grand Falls on June 3 Hartland lost in a score of 10 to 7. McCluskey and Quigley comprised the Grand Falls battery. Billing and DeWitt the Hartland battery.

An interesting game was played at Florenceville on Monday evening, when the Woodstock High School team was defeated by the Florenceville. Roscoe, who was Centreville's strong south paw last season, pitched the first half and W. Tompkins the second half. The Woodstock lads were defeated in a score of 19 to 4.

Tonight there will be a game with Woodstock senior team at Hartland. On Monday Hartland plays at Florenceville, and on Tuesday at Woodstock.

New Pastors for Woodstock District

The N.B. and P.E.I. Conference of the Methodist church met at Sackville last week.

Ministers for the Woodstock district are as follows: Matthew E. Conron for Woodstock, replacing Rev. Samuel Howard who goes to Zion church, St. John; J. K. King to Hartland; T. Spence, Origo to Lindsay; Walter J. Donville to Dubou; Hugh Millar to Centreville to replace J. B. Champion who goes to Newcastle. Other churches retain their former pastors: Harry Harrison at Jacksonville; F. A. Wightman at Florenceville; Charles Flemington at Andover. Argyle will have summer supply. Tobique and Canterbury will be vacant. Hereafter Hartland and Lindsay were one circuit, but hereafter they will be separate and Mr. King will have no other church than Hartland.

G.W.V.A. Memorial Service

Hartland Branch G. W. V. A. will have their annual memorial service on Sunday, at 3 p. m. in the United Baptist church. Rev. E. Bertram Hooper, the war chaplain of the Fighting 26th Battalion has consented to come and conduct the service. Every returned man should attend this service in memory of comrades who sleep in Flanders fields, or in the fields of France, or in a hero's grave wherever it be. Come in uniform if you possibly can; if not, come with your service button and parade from armory to church.

Parents and all friends, come and help honour the noble ones who gave themselves for us and for the great cause of liberty. The noble boys sleep, they passed the torch to us to carry high, and we give this day to them in loving memory of their sacrifice.

G. S. Barten
Sec. G.W.V.A., Hartland.

Claude Thistle, W. E. Thistle and J. Kilcollins of Bridgewater and David G. Thistle of Lowell; Mrs. Frank Bishop and three sons from Knoxford were on Sunday guests of T. B. Thistle.

On Sunday there will be Church of England service at Beaufort at 10:30, at Glasville 2:30, at Hartland 7:30.

The Shaw Comedy Company played in the Star Theatre three nights this week to fairly good houses and gave fairly good performances.

WAS A BLESSING TO HIS WIFE, HE SAYS

Nerves Steady, Headaches Gone, Eats Anything Since Taking Tanlac

"It has been six months now since Tanlac overcame my wife's troubles after she had suffered for ten years, and today she is still enjoying perfect health," said Arthur Hillier, a well-known carpenter residing at 25 Dawson street, Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, a few days ago.

"Nearly eleven years ago my wife's health broke down," he continued, "and since that time she has gone through her share of suffering. Her digestion was so bad that nearly everything she ate caused trouble and gave her pains in the chest and stomach. She complained of a heavy, smothering in her chest and at times she was so choked up with gas she had to fight to get her breath. Many a night she was in such misery I had to be up for hours trying to help her get relief so she could get a little rest, but often it was nearly daybreak before she became easy. One time last winter she had an attack of acute indigestion and they sent for me to come, as they thought she would die. These spells got to coming on her often, and whenever they did she would be in bed for two or three days at a time. She was badly constipated and subject to severe headaches. Her nerves were in a wretched condition and she was about fifteen pounds under weight. Many times I have seen her so weak she could hardly walk and it was impossible for her to do any of the housework.

"We had been reading about Tanlac, and when she saw it recommended by several of our friends we decided to give it a trial. Well, sir, before my wife had finished the first bottle I could tell she was improving, she looked better and was picking up in weight. In all she took six bottles, gained fully fifteen pounds in weight and was restored to perfect health. This was six months ago and she has never been troubled in any way since. She is eating more than she has in many years and it all agrees with her perfectly. Her nerves are steady and strong, she sleeps like a child at night and does all her housework without any trouble. She is free from constipation and headaches and she never complains of an uncomfortable feeling of any kind. Tanlac has certainly been a blessing to her and she never loses an opportunity to praise it."

Tanlac is sold in Hartland by Etey & Curtis Co., and E. L. Field, Bloomfield, and by the leading druggist in every town."

T. W. Caldwell's Speech

practically duty free, and charge the Canadian consumer the price of the finished article, plus the duty, putting that duty in his pocket, or worse still into his Yankee bank account—a tariff law that will enable that to be done has something radically wrong with it. The duty that this American manufacturer collects from the Canadian consumer does not stay in Canada. It might make us feel a little more comfortable if we felt it was going to make Canadian millionaires, but we are making American millionaires, for this money does not stay in Canada.

The hon. member for Lincoln (Mr. Chaplin) made a statement that you could buy machinery as cheap in Canada as in the United States. Fortunately, I had heard that statement before, and I went to the trouble of securing price-lists of an American farm machinery company doing business both in the United States and Canada. It is an American firm with a factory, or assembling plant, whichever you like to call it, in Canada. My hon. friend quoted the prices of axes in Montreal and Pittsburgh. No doubt those axes were manufactured by different firms at widely separated points. The price-lists I have here are those of an American firm with a Canadian branch factory, or assembling plant—the firm itself calls it a factory. The two points at which these price-lists are put into effect are only six miles apart on either side of the American boundary, one being in the State of Maine and the other in New Brunswick. I am not simply giving hearsay in this matter, because I live within six miles of the American boundary line myself, and I know the conditions; I know whereof I speak. Two men living on adjoining farms, one on the American side, and the other on the Canadian side, buy the same machinery and one pays the American price, while the man on the Canadian side pays the bigger price. Here are the prices. On a six-foot mower the price in Canada is $97.50; in the United States, $90; a ten-foot rake, $57 in Canada, $52 in the United States; five-foot reaper, $134 in Canada, $125 in the United States; nine-foot land roller, $77.50 in Canada, $60 in the United States; six-foot binder, $258.50 in Canada, $235 in the United States; six-row potato sprayer, $335 in Canada, $185 in the United States. If you want any more evidence I can give it by the yard. I am sure that these prices will be of interest to the hon. member for Lincoln, who, I am sorry, is not in his seat. I know they are of interest to the hon. member for Brantford (Mr. Cockshutt), who I see eyeing me very sharply. I have some of his prices here which I could compare with the prices of machinery sold by the Grain Growers in Winnipeg, but I will not put them on Hansard unless he wishes. He shakes his head. I do not blame him.

Mr. COCKSHUTT: Do not consider me. You won't hurt me.

Mr. CALDWELL: Of course the same old cry will be raised, how will you raise your revenue? I should like to ask my high protectionist friends how the revenue has always been raised. The people of Canada must always raise the revenue, but there has been a tendency for the party in power in this country to make the people believe that the Government by some miraculous agency was able to raise the revenue of the country without going into the pockets of the people. The sooner we get away from that fallacy the better, because there is no miraculous way of raising the revenue. It is up to this Parliament (and we can all assist if they take our advice a little) to devise the most economic method for raising the revenue. I do not think a man needs to be any very great student of economics to realize that our present tariff is the most extravagant method of raising the revenue that could be devised, for, as I have shown, pretty clearly I think, for every dollar of duty, especially on the implements of production which I have mentioned, goes into the treasury of the country, perhaps three or four go into the pockets of the Canadian manufacturer, or worse still, into the pockets of the American manufacturer with a Canadian branch factory, who sends the duty, he collects from the Canadian people back to his Yankee bank account.

Mr. COPE: Does that apply to the ploughs as well?

Mr. CALDWELL: Undoubtedly. I do not blame the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, or the hon. member for Lincoln for protesting against the lowering of the tariff, because it would cut off a mighty nice graft they have been collecting from the people. I put the blame where it rightly belongs, and that is on the shoulders of any government or any party in this country which will enact legislation allowing them to do this. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, or its members, are only human after all—we are all more or less human. One of these Canadian manufacturers is so human that I think he made the statement under oath that he was not running his factory for the glory of God, but to make dividends for the shareholders. That is what we are all doing more or less, but I hope that some of us, in our daily work and business, are giving a little more glory to God than that man was. However, I say I do not blame these people, but the Government, which enacts legislation which enables them to do this, and even instruct them through that legislation

HAD RHEUMATISM FOR FIVE YEARS

No Return of the Trouble Since Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. JOHN E. GUILDERSON

P. O. Box 123, Parrsboro, N. S.
"I suffered with Rheumatism for five years, having it so badly at times I was unable to get up without assistance. I tried different medicines I saw advertised and was treated by doctors in Amherst, also in my home town, but the Rheumatism came back."

In 1916, I saw in an advertisement that 'Fruit-a-tives' would stop Rheumatism, and took one box, and got relief; then I took them right along for about six months and the Rheumatism was all gone and I have never felt it since.

Anyone who would care to write me as regards 'Fruit-a-tives' I would be glad to tell them what 'Fruit-a-tives' did for me."

JOHN E. GUILDERSON, Contractor and Mason, 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

how to do it by stating on the invoice to the next man to whom the manufacturer sells his goods what the tax is and to charge it up, for fear it otherwise would not be charged up to the retailer, and in turn to the customer. From my experience with the manufacturers I do not think these instructions were needed. I do not think the Minister of Finance needed to add that rider to his Bill.

Of course, your high protectionists will say that if you take the duties off these things, it means direct taxation. I for one, am not afraid of direct taxation, nor are the farmers of this country, and if the farmers, the largest property holders in Canada—I say that without fear of successful contradiction—are not afraid of direct taxation, why should the rest of the people be afraid of it? I consider that direct taxation is the only equitable method of raising the revenue, because then every man in Canada will pay his share according to his ability to pay. In other words, he pays according to what he is worth, instead of on what he consumes. I think the tariff carried to its logical conclusion even tends to raise the revenue, but I will show you why. You need not laugh Mr. Cockshutt, because I can show you that what I say is true.

Mr. Deputy Speaker: Order. I must point out to the hon. member that the rule of the House requires that a member shall refer to another hon. member by his constituency.

Mr. CALDWELL: I am sorry for having transgressed the rules of the House, Mr. Speaker, but I assure you I did so inadvertently. May I ask if it is in accordance with the rules of the House for one hon. member to laugh at another?

An hon. member: Of course; if you talk rubbish.

Mr. CALDWELL: I do not mind the laugh Mr. Speaker, and I know it does the hon. member for Brantford good. I believe, Sir, that the tariff, carried to its logical conclusion, will tend to raise suicide at the present high cost of living. Take a labouring man working for ordinary wages and having to support a family of nine; indeed, Mr. Speaker, I know a man in my constituency—he is a farmer—with a family of twenty-one. At the present high cost of living, with the high duty on woolen goods and shoes, especially, this new tax added to all these articles if they come above the maximum price at which goods are exempt—and I believe that a good many articles will come above that price even when bought by the poorest people in Canada—it will be almost prohibitive for a poor man to raise a family. For that reason I think I am justified in saying that the tariff will tend to raise suicide; I think I am logical in that statement.

With regard to direct taxation I am very much pleased to know that I am in such close accord, on this very important subject, with one of the oldest and possibly one of the wisest parliamentarians in Canada today. I refer to the hon. the Minister of Trade and Commerce (Sir George Foster), and I desire to quote from his speech delivered on May 18, 1920, at page 2592 of unrevived Hansard:

"Every one must realize the fact that there is a duty to be done, and that it is not by the indirect method that it shall be done. We have had two systems of taxation, one almost entirely predominate up to the present time, and that is the method of indirect taxation, by which the people paid heavily and did not know when they were doing so. All sorts of assertions have been made as to the amounts they paid—assertions which of course would paralyze the imagination of the man who made them and of his boldness of speech. All kinds of assertions, have been made, many of them grotesquely exaggerated; but nevertheless one of the features of indirect taxation is that you pay out not knowing how much you do pay. I doubt, if that system of taxation, altogether imposed upon a country, is a good school teacher to that country, and does finally eventu-

Why Canadians Should Insure in a Canadian Company

BECAUSE—Experience covering a period of forty-six years has proven that the death rate of insured lives is about 25 per cent greater in the United States than in Canada.

BECAUSE—A Canadian does not need to assist in paying for this extra heavy death rate in a foreign country.

BECAUSE—A Canadian insuring in a foreign Company is sending his money out of Canada. If retained in Canada, he and Canadian generally will benefit by its circulation and investment.

BECAUSE—In The Policy-Holders' Mutual Life (of Canada) he can secure his insurance at lower rates and on easier terms than in any other Company.

BECAUSE—The Policy-Holders' Mutual Life (of Canada) was organized for the express purpose of eliminating all objectionable features in Life Insurance.

BECAUSE—In The Policy-Holders' Mutual Life (of Canada) the Policyholder votes and participates in the management on equal terms with the Stockholders.

BECAUSE—By its Act of Incorporation provision is made for the Policyholder going at his own home if convenient to attend the general meetings.

BECAUSE—By its Act of Incorporation the dividend to its Stockholders is limited and all profits above this limited dividend belong to the Policyholder.

BECAUSE—By its Act of Incorporation no trustee, so-called "Gold Bond" policies or anything of a like nature can be issued.

BECAUSE—Its Policy-holders participate in the annual distribution of profits after the third of the life of each policy.

BECAUSE—The low rates and annual distribution of profits leave the money in the Policyholder's pockets or return it to him each year instead of its being retained for speculative purposes as has been charged against some Companies.

BECAUSE—Premiums may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually as best suits the convenience of the insured.

BECAUSE—In the Policy-holders Mutual Life (of Canada) he will be insured in a Canadian Company incorporated by special Act, especially safe-guarding his interests, thoroughly democratic in its principles and management, with every safe-guard and security, to which the strongest Stock Company can lay claim or which government deposit reserve and inspection can secure.

Mrs. M. I. P. Carvell of the Canada Life Assurance Co., St. John, was in town on Saturday on her way to Fort Fairfield to visit relatives for a few days.

Mrs. Jessie Pelton was hostess at a very pleasant dinner party recently given in honor of her brother, Daniel Craig of St. Paul, Minn. He expects to return to his home in a short time.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Spurgeon M. Tompkins, who gave his life for his country, June 16, 1916.

Four years have passed
Our hearts still sore;
As time goes on we miss him more.
He left his home for freedom's cause,
Among the first, he did not pause.
"Somewhere in Belgium" he sleeps to-night;
Above his grave the stars shine bright,
He was a soldier, brave and true;
He gave his life—all he could do.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Annie M. Davis, a popular young woman of the town, and Howard E. Adams, a well known young business man. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. G. W. Boyer, on the afternoon of June 23.

The Church of England will hold their annual picnic on Dominion day and a day of delightful enjoyment is as sure as the weather may be fair. The annual church picnic has been so successful in the past that the people have only to know the date to be on hand. "Stolen Orders" will be a special feature shown during the evening. Of course during the afternoon there will be all the usual picnic sports and a literally gorgeous repast, the providing of which the women of the congregation are famous.

Caldwell's Speech

to raise your price to out competition. I never was able to do it. This is the information which was sent out by the Canada Food Board.

"Potato crop of Canada for 1918 set new record. Exportable surplus. Over and above all needs for domestic use and seedling Canada has 28,000,000 bushels to send abroad.

"Ottawa, November 20.—A revised estimate of the Canadian potato crop from figures in possession of the Canada Food Board shows an exportable surplus in six provinces of 28,433,000 bushels over all requirements for domestic use and seedling."

It goes on to say that in the other provinces of Canada there will be none for export, but that the total export for Canada will be 28,433,000 bushels. In view of the fact that Canada never exported more than 4,000,000 bushels in one year, you can judge what effect this had in the market in which they were selling our potatoes—and that year we were exporting largely to the United States and Cuba. I received a letter from a prominent dealer in Cuba who had evidently got my name as President of the New Brunswick Potato Growers' Association, and perhaps he thought I was a more important man than I really was. In this letter he inquired about conditions in New Brunswick and asked if this large amount of potatoes was actually available in Canada for export. I told him that while I did not have anything but the Government report, I did not believe any such thing, and I think that later information which I have received has fully justified that statement. However, this report had gone out broadcast to the dealers in the United States and Cuba to whom we were shipping our potatoes, and it was natural that they should expect to get potatoes for little or nothing. Potatoes are not like wheat or hay; they are perishable, and you must sell them within a year from the time they are produced. Now, I had the export returns for that year and knew what they were, but I put a question on the Order Paper to which I received an answer on April 19th, because I wanted the Department of Agriculture to put themselves on record. I was somewhat in the position of the Minister of the Interior, who said in a recent speech in this House with regard to resolutions passed by the G. W. V. A., that he was just a little suspicious of their motives in moving these resolutions. Well, I was just a little suspicious, that my hon. friends opposite might question my figures, but I knew that they could not deny their own. The question was as follows:

"What was the total export of potatoes from Canada to all countries from the crop grown in 1918, giving the number of bushels exported each month from August 1, 1918, to July 31, 1919?"

To which the reply was:

"Hon. Mr. Burrell: The total export of potatoes from Canada to all countries from August 1, 1918, to July 31, 1919, is as follows: The department has no information as to the export of potatoes as to crop grown in 1918."

The reason why I asked for the returns by the month was this: We begin to harvest our potatoes towards the end of August and we finish marketing them before the end of the following July, because they are perishable. Very few are shipped in July, so that shipments from August, 1918, to July, 1919, cover the 1918 crop. No potatoes of the former year's crop are carried over until August of the following year; nor are any left in the country from the crop of the year before to be shipped out after the end of July. The answer then proceeded to give the following figures of the exports by months between August 1st, 1918, and July 31st, 1919:

Month of:	1918	Bushels
August	4,321
September	27,861
October	275,952
November	515,800
December	328,866

Month of:	1919	Bushels
January	438,343
February	350,633
March	599,613
April	472,939
May	877,659
June	200,227
July	58,613

Instead of 28,000,000 bushels which the Canada Food Board states to be the exportable surplus, these figures show a total of 4,159,847 bushels of potatoes available for export from Canada for that year.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I want to give you the effect of this statement which has been published in the Canadian newspapers and heralded broadcast throughout the world. Up to the 24th November, about three or four days after this statement appeared in the Canadian papers, potatoes had been selling at $3.50 a bag or $3 a barrel. The price immediately dropped off after this; it went down to 50 cents a bag; at least half the potatoes that were exported from New Brunswick were sold at from 75 cents to $1 a bag—potatoes that cost the farmers $1.40 a bag to produce and haul to the railway siding. So you can understand that the farmers of New Brunswick were not making much money in the growing of potatoes; they were not profiteering. In March, however, the supply of potatoes ran out; this 28,000,000 bushels did not materialize and the price went up at one jump to $3 a barrel or $1.50 a bag. It advanced to $2.50 a bag, and there was not a sufficient supply to meet the demand. Consequently our potato growers in New Brunswick—and I think what is true of New Brunswick is true of the other potato-growing sections of Canada—in the spring of 1919 did not plant a very big acreage of potatoes, and I do not think that the people of this country can blame them very much for that. They said: If the Government, while urging increase of acreage and of production generally and calling upon the farmers to raise a larger crop at greater expense than ever before, that causes us to lose 65 cents a bag on our potatoes, certainly we are not going to be caught in that trap again. As I say, therefore, the farmers planted a very short acreage of potatoes last year, and as high as $12 a barrel has been offered for them. In that connection, as I said before—and I do not

And His Family Medicines

MOST people first knew Dr. Chase through his Receipt Book. Its reliability and usefulness made him friends everywhere.

When he put his Nerve Food, Kidney-Liver Pills and other medicines on the market they received a hearty welcome, and their exceptional merit has kept them high in the public esteem.

Take Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for example. There is no treatment to be compared to them as a means of regulating the liver, kidneys and bowels and curing constipation, biliousness, kidney disease and indigestion.

One pill a dose, 25c a box at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

few successful contradictions—the potatoes were not in the country. Now, it may be said that this statement was sent out by some official who is no longer in the service of the Government. But I am inclined to think that the same man is there yet, because a further estimate was made of the quantity of potatoes said to be in the farmers' hands on April 24, 1920. I got the following from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics a short time ago:

"Ottawa, April 24, 1920.—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics issued today a press bulletin giving in summary form the results of its annual inquiry as to the total quantities of wheat, oats, barley and flaxseed in Canada, at the end of March, the stocks of all kinds of agricultural products remaining in farmers' hands at the same date.

I will give the quotation only in regard to potatoes, because it is potatoes that I am talking about. This statement says that the stock of potatoes in the farmers' hands on April 24, 1920, as stated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics was 31,646,000 bushels, compared with 32,836,000 bushels last year and 24,130,500 bushels in 1918. Now, here is a quotation from a paper, and by the way, I am able to give the authority for this too: I do not believe in making any quotations without citing the authority for them. This despatch is headed: "Says Canada is Swept Clean of Potatoes." It is a Canadian press despatch dated at Montreal, April 22, the day before the statement was issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics to which I have referred.

"Montreal, April 23.—Are American buyers invading Canada in droves to buy up every potato that can be discovered? The assertion that they are doing so is made by local dealers who give this as the greatest reason for the high price now being paid here by the housewives for the family supplies. Here is the way a dealer sums up the situation:

"It is almost impossible to get potatoes anywhere in the provinces of Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island now."

And these are the big potato-growing provinces. "The Americans have sent swarms of buyers into the Dominion and there are four or five men bidding for everything that is available. One United States buyer told us he had got five carloads at $5.75 per bag f. o. b., in Prince Edward Island; another said he had found eighty cars for Pittsburgh at the same rate. I tried to get two cars for Montreal in Prince Edward Island. After a long time I got them at $4.75 f. o. b. there for a bag of 90 lbs. It costs about 75 cents per bag to bring them to Montreal, making the cost here about $5.50. But the real reason why Montrealeers are paying such enormous prices now is that the country has been swept clean of its crop by the Americans and so it has passed over the border."

I want to tell the House why the potato growers received such high prices for these potatoes. You will say: Well, the farmers are profiteering in getting such high prices for these potatoes. The farmers had already sold all the potatoes they intended to sell, as I can prove that by any number of witnesses, but I think my word is sufficient. These were potatoes which the farmers had intended to plant this spring, and a large number of potato growers have sold half the quantity of their seed potatoes this spring, having been tempted by the high prices. Consequently, the acreage planted in potatoes will be short this year, and owing to the statement issued by the Canada Food Board on November 24, 1918, there will be high prices for potatoes next fall because these things have far-reaching results. As Premier Drury wisely said in the Ontario legislature a short time ago, when he was asked to put an embargo on a few cars of potatoes on track in Toronto, "it is a very unsafe thing to interfere with the law of supply and demand."

I think that concludes my remarks.

No, it does not; I have one other thing.

Some hon. MEMBERS: Oh, oh! Mr. Caldwell: Do not be disturbed though, Mr. Speaker, because I will not detain you very long. I want to compare the attitude this Government adopts towards our farmers with the attitude of the authorities in the United States to their farmers, and I want to read this quotation also from the Associated Press:

"Washington, May 25.—Decrease in agricultural production may result in the United States becoming dependent on overseas food supplies, Herbert Hoover."

That is a name to conjure with in the United States and perhaps in Canada, I am sure it is in Europe, when you come to talk of food supplies and food matters:

"—today declared in a letter to Representative Diddley, Republican, Montana, setting forth the former Food Administrator's views as to practical measures to insure better returns to the farmer for his labour and investment.

Association that present high prices of commodities sooner or later will decrease, Mr. Hoover said 'this deflation must not begin on the farmer.' Shortage in production outside the United States, wild extravagance, and misuse of extended credits for speculation and profiteering and non-essential production are contributing factors in the present inflated prices, he wrote. When the collapse occurs, he predicted, intermediate dealers will be able to pass the greatest portion to the back of the farmer, no matter how carefully handled.

The whole marketing system in many of our commodities is indirect, expensive, wasteful, obsolete and increases the margin unduly, the latter continued.

Our manufacturing industries have developed out of pace with our agriculture and labour is being drawn in thousands from the farm to the town at wages which the farmer cannot contend.

A commission studying the whole situation, Mr. Hoover declared, would deal with these things with that same common sense."

I should like hon. members to listen to this: with which similar commissions of farmers met the great economic problems of the food administration during the war with equal consideration for farmer, distributor and consumer."

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

On Sunday afternoon the members of the local branch of the G.W.V.A. paid a fitting tribute to their dead comrades and friends who made the supreme sacrifice in the late war. At 2 p.m. some 40 veterans gathered at the opera house and were joined there by a delegation from Hartland which was warmly welcomed. The whole number then proceeded in a body to the U. R. church which was packed to the doors by appreciative civilians.
The service was conducted by Rev.
W. J. Hurlow of Tracey Mills who gave a very able address and made fitting reference and eulogy to the sixteen heroes and the nursing sister from the parishes of Wilmet and Wicklow who gave their lives on the altar of Liberty. Lieut. Frank Bassett rendered a solo which was much appreciated. At the conclusion of the service in the church the Veterans marched to the grave of Nursing Sister Annie West and stood in attendant while a wreath was laid on the grave by Nursing Sister Pauline Balloch.
The ceremony was brought to a fitting close by Last Post blown by Bugler James Monteith following which the boys marched back to their quarters and were disbanded. On Sunday next a similar service will be held by the Hartland Veterans in which all the boys from here who can possibly attend will gladly participate.

Dr. E. R. McClintock left on Monday for Oregon for a short visit with his parents and family. He humbly craves the indulgence and good will of all good friends and patrons. He leaves hoping that the radical change will erase all furrows of care and will return forthwith to try and treat all his clientele more pleasantly and efficiently. The busy exit was not occasioned by debt or difficulty but to be in time for attendance at the convention of Shriners which meets in Portland, Oregon, next week.

Mrs. E. R. McClintock left on Sat-

An interesting event occurred on Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. West when their daughter Vera became the bride of Ernest Powell of St. John. The ceremony was performed under an arch of evergreen and roses in the presence of the relatives and a few immediate friends of the bride. Rev. J. W. Williams, brother-in-law of the bride, officiated at the function and the happy couple left on the evening train for St. John where they will make their home in the future. The good wishes of a host of friends follow them in their new venture.

The concert given by the famous Tinker's Orchestra on Saturday evening was patronized by a full house who were well repaid by a program of high class music played in a most brilliant manner. Although some were slightly disappointed that the program wasn't a little longer, all were free to stay to the dance which followed, the music at which was really a continuation of the concert and in no way inferior. The dance was a real treat to the devotees of the art and all will eagerly await their return engagement which will be played on Tuesday evening, June 23. The orchestra will be warmly welcomed at each future con-eczema. This ointment is delightfully
