

The St. Andrews Standard.

SAINT ANDREWS, MARCH 19, 1879.

THE ATLANTIC AND NORTH WEST RAILWAY

(FORMERLY CALLED THE MEGANTIC.)

In last week's issue we gave extracts of a letter from capitalists in England, to a gentleman here, making enquiries with reference to the progress of the proposed railway, terminating at St. Andrews, and who are prepared to furnish the means to complete the line, and also for Harbor improvements.

With reference to the route, distances, the portions of the line in operation, and to be built, we append the following derived from a reliable source. The whole distance from St. Andrews to Montreal, will be about 389 miles, made up as follows:

From St. Andrews to where the line would intersect the N. B. & C. Railway, (about 13 miles from the Town) is about 22 miles to Princeton; from thence to the crossing on the European & N. A. Railway at or near Passadunk is about 60 miles; from thence to a point on the Piscataquis Railway, 12 miles; from thence along said railway to Moose Head Lake about 47 miles; from Moose Head Lake to the Boundary line about 55 miles; from thence to Sherbrooke is 80 miles, all of which latter is completed and in operation with the exception of 14 miles near the Boundary line. From Sherbrooke to Montreal 109 miles—making in all a distance of 389 miles from St. Andrews to Montreal, 229 miles of which is now in operation, leaving but 160 miles to be completed.

It has not yet been determined whether any point of the N. B. & C. Railway would be utilized, as the whole distance would be lessened by about 7 miles by building a line through the Parish of St. Croix to Joe's Point. This consequently would be a shorter route than any other named, affording a spacious and safe harbor, open at all seasons, and protected from the sea swell, where vessels of any tonnage may safely lie at anchor in all weathers.

THE HARBOR OF ST. ANDREWS proper, embraces the sheet of water called Passamaquoddy Bay, which is protected from the sea by Deer Island and McMaster's Island, on the East by the mainland Parishes of St. Andrews, St. Patrick and St. George, and on the West by the State of Maine. There are two entrances from the Bay of Fundy, viz—Head Harbor passage, which is the principal ship channel, and also by Le Tete passage to the East through both of which we learn from competent Pilots and Shipmasters, vessels of the largest class have passed with safety. Le Tete is much narrower at low tide, yet there is sufficient depth of water in the channel, and they also state that this entrance at low tides, is as good as that into Portland harbor. The former passage (Head Harbor) is much wider with a great depth of water, having sea room for three or four ships to pass at the same time, and the ingress and egress of these channels in all weathers is perfectly safe, and when inside vessels can ride at anchor securely, being shut out from the ocean. Once, an iceberg was skimmed over with ice during extremely cold weather, but it was not so thick as to prevent steamers working through it. During that time we remember that in Halifax, Portland, Boston and New York harbors, the ice was so thick, that steamers had to be cut out.

The inner harbor is formed by Navy Island in front of the Town, and is about a mile wide, and is better adapted for a smaller class of vessels, but proper accommodation for loading and discharging large ships, can be had by the erection of wharves at Joe's Point, Katie's Cove, or Indian Point, and other contiguous sites in this vicinity, suitable for the purpose. This harbor could be made at some outlay, one of the largest and best Dry Docks on the continent, as has been heretofore suggested by Naval officers and shipmasters.

In consequence of the fogs which prevail at certain seasons in the Bay of Fundy, we made the following enquiry of experienced Pilots. When vessels from Europe for this Port reach Cape Sable, what course should they steer? The reply was—"To the Machias Seal Islands; because in thick weather they could then hear the fog whistle on the Island; from thence to West Quoddy and North Head of Grand Manan where there is also a fog whistle, thence to Head Harbor where there is a whistle, and from which place to St. Andrews it is plain sailing."

We may here mention that the Flagship Duncanson and several gun boats, made the passage from Halifax to St. Andrews, in 1869, without the aid of pilots. When vessels of such large tonnage can enter this Port without pilots, it speaks volumes for its easy access from the ocean.

The present article has exceeded the limits of space at our disposal, and we conclude for the present by stating that the facts presented have not been overdrawn, but gathered from reliable data, and in the words of the Finance Minister, while unfolding the "National Policy" in Parliament on Friday last, "we invited gentlemen representing all interests to assist." They imparting such information as could be depended on.

As a respected contemporary truly said, we "desire to advance the interests of St. Andrews," which we know well, and where we have resided so long; and we can assure him, it is not done at the expense of truth or for the purpose of creating a sensation, or to put forward claims which cannot be substantiated by facts and figures. Perhaps those of our confederates who so kindly noticed and copied the previous article, may think proper to give this place in their columns.

THE BUDGET SPEECH delivered by the Finance Minister, unfolds the Tariff policy, was one of the ablest of his efforts since he entered public life. To frame such a tariff was a work requiring a vast amount of information and labor. Several of our contemporaries highly approve of the National Policy and Tariff, while others condemn it. But no tariff will please every one, and we trust that the new policy will produce all the good anticipated and none of the evils predicted. Our small space does not permit of publishing the able speeches pro and con on the subject.

AS PREDICTED.—The Canadian manufacturers of Rubbers, Boots and Shoes have given notice that they have added 12 per cent. to the price of these goods. This is but the "beginning of the end," and was foretold last fall. What now becomes of the argument so freely and frequently used, that this Province would send its products to Quebec and Ontario. Those who made the assertions have profited by the dust they cast in the eyes of the people, and have basked in the sunshine of office and emolument. They gained their ends but have forfeited the confidence of their supporters, and their popularity is on the wane, as they experienced recently.

PRETTY GOOD.—In these days when the Temperance question absorbs so much of public attention, it may not be out of place to quote the saying of an eccentric English gentleman, Sir John Delafield Astley, a candidate for Parliament, at a recent meeting of his constituents. A man in the crowd called out, "What about the liquor bill?" "Well," said Sir John, "mine was uncommonly high last year. 'How was yours?'" That hit the nail and will apply to many others, who wish to put burdens on men's shoulders which they will not bear themselves.

GEORGE BENNET, Crown prosecutor on the Munster circuit, raised a laugh at a medical witness, in a case of death, by his interrogation: "Well, doctor you attended the deceased?" "Yes." "And he died accordingly?" "How very applicable, and alas too true in many instances."

TOPICS OF THE WEEK

On Monday an old-fashioned snow storm occurred, and the travelling is now fair, but the sun will soon melt the snow.

New Vessel.—J. R. Bradford, Esq., has a fishing vessel nearly finished at Brandy Cove ship yard, which will be launched shortly.

Schr. "Ned," Hooper, loaded with cordwood, sunk in the harbor last week, but has been raised, and is being unloaded for repairs.

Auction.—Mr. Hatheway will sell at auction on Saturday next, furniture, etc. to be continued each day until the whole is disposed of.

PERSONAL.—N. Smart, Jr., Esq., from Carson City, Nevada, is on a visit to his parents at Oak Bay.

Dr. COCKBURN arrived by train last evening.

THE STEAMER BELLE BROUVY commenced her spring trips on Friday last between Eastport, St. Andrews and Calais.

THE British force has been reinforced in Burma, in consequence of reported premeditated danger.

SALE.—From an advertisement in this issue, it will be seen that Mr. Smart offers for sale his farm at Oak Bay. It is one of the best in the County, and the situation is pleasant and within a few miles of St. Andrews and St. Stephen.

Rev. Mr. KNOX, assistant Priest at St. George's, was thrown from a sleigh and dislocated his shoulder. Medical attendance was procured, and his shoulder set. It will be some time before he will be able to resume his duty.

THE SZEGERIN CALAMITY was a heart-rending occurrence. Six thousand persons lost their lives, 9,000 houses were destroyed, and the suffering was great. The waters had fallen at latest accounts.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. R. Lindsay Cockburn, who has been confined to the house for the past two months from illness, died suddenly this morning of consumption. He was a retiring young man, of inoffensive habits. We sympathize with his family in their affliction.

We have received from Julius L. Inches, Esq., the Annual Report of the Secretary for Agriculture of the Province of New Brunswick for 1878. It contains in addition to the County Societies Reports, a full Report on the Provincial Exhibition; an Appendix with "List of New Brunswick Plants," by James Fowler, M. A.

HOTEL.—Mr. Angus Kennedy has leased the International Hotel, and is building an addition which will contain kitchen and bed rooms, and hopes to open it by 1st May, if not sooner. We understand he has purchased the old Railroad Hotel lot, (late Clarke's) and proposes erecting on it a large hotel, the plans for the edifice have been drawn and the building when erected, will be a credit to the town.

Mr. DAVID JOHNSTON and family, who have resided here for the past eighteen years, left here yesterday for the Province of Quebec. Mr. Johnston was formerly a contractor for building the N. B. & C. Railway, but unfortunately lost his sight some years ago. He was much respected here, and carries with him the best wishes of his many friends.

The Premier announced in Parliament, that Sir A. T. Galt had visited France and Spain to promote trade relations with those countries. This was a capital move, as anything which tends to an increase of business and opening new markets for Canadian products must be beneficial to the country. It is strange that while facilitating an interchange of commerce, he has been engaged in Canada, placing restrictions upon it. However, all is well that ends well.

An incident occurred in New York on Monday evening which is worthy of note, from its connection with one of the greatest and most successful enterprises of modern times. It was nothing less than the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the signing of the agreement to form an ocean telegraph company at the house of Mr. Cyrus W. Field. Four of the original signers of the deed were present, and the successor of the fifth, in the same room in which the company was organized a quarter of a century ago. Among the hundreds of guests were many gentlemen eminent in every profession. A number of short and appropriate addresses were delivered, and a feeling of general exultation prevailed. No achievement of either ancient or modern times could more tangibly demonstrate the efficacy of science than the construction and laying of the Atlantic cable, and few, if any, could be attended with more important results to society. What a blank and loss would be occasioned were it removed or destroyed. No less than 70,000 miles of cable cross the seas.

THE GLOSS OF A DISGRACEFUL TRIAL.

The sudden termination of the great Vanderbilt will case, which for months has made the Sarrogate's office the wash-room for the vilest kind of unclean family lion, gave rise, last week, to rumors of secret compromises, in which money considerations, it was asserted, played an important part. These rumors are exactly in the line of the low morality which the legal advisers of the contesting children have all along been urging before the judge and the country. The path to the coffer's where this fortune is held was paved with immorality and sinister suggestions of crime and bribery on the part of the oldest brother, and bold assertions of insanity and egregious self-glorification on the part of the Comptrolleur.

The sudden collapse of the case, however, can be explained by a less violent constriction than that of bribery or compromise. For one point pushed persistently to the forefront by the prosecution has been the claim that while Mr. Vanderbilt was a remarkable money-maker, he in his old age became weak-minded, and fell an easy prey to the wiles of his son. To this end, spiritualists and horse-jockeys, card-players, servants, low women and physicians were marched in turn to the witness-box, and the vulgar side of a not very moral man—his conceits, tobbies and his worldly ambitions—were spread in a nagging and untruthful light before the world. The admission, however, being made that within recent years he was a sane man, several wills drawn years ago were presented, in which substantially the same provisions were made as in the one in dispute. The bulk of the estate went to different members of the family. This knocks the underpinning from under the theory of the prosecution. They cannot prove him insane ten years before his death, and these wills were the same as the last except in details.

The worst feature of the case, in our opinion, is the lack of moral principle in lawyers who lend aid to so deplorable a case, and maintain good reputations. To be sure, an apology was made, but this is not enough. The public is familiar with the needless charges of these legal gentlemen which have not been supported by a particle of proper evidence, and we doubt very much if the admitted professional privileges of an advocate in defending laid causes can by the most liberal construction justify the course of the contestant's attorneys in the Vanderbilt will case.—N. Y. Chronicle and Examiner.

THE POLITICS OF CHRISTIANITY.—Such was the title of a somewhat remarkable lecture delivered by Prof. Blackie in St. David's Church, Edinburgh, on Sunday evening, the 23d ult. An objection is sometimes raised to the introduction of politics into the pulpit. It is contended that they form no part of the ministerial function or message, and that they tend not only to degenerate the pulpit from its legitimate sphere, but also to engender differences of opinion and feeling which are antagonistic to devotion and spiritual growth. There is some force in this objection, and it will be wise for Christian ministers generally to avoid the discussion of party political questions in the precincts of the sanctuary, and as part of the devotion of the Church. It is possible, however, to push the objection to an extreme, and to attempt to rob both the pulpit and its occupants of one of their distinctive features and prerogatives. It must not be forgotten that a minister of Christ does not abdicate his citizenship, and that in this civil character he has an indefeasible right to form his own opinions on all political questions, and to exercise unimpaired his franchise in relation to them. Nor is it of less importance that the gospel in its legitimate character has a social relation and political bearing, no less than a strictly spiritual tendency, and that as such it may and should influence the course of government in the world.

Another ecclesiastical trial is to be obtained upon the public. None other than Dr. De Witt Talmage is to be put upon his trial by the Brooklyn Presbytery; and for what? Not for heresy or sensationalism in preaching, but for "falsehood and deceit." This is the charge formulated against him by the committee of inquiry, upon which there are seven specifications, and in support of which a long list of witnesses will be brought forward. The fact is not an agreeable one to start with, but it is quite as well that the matter should be settled. So many things have been said to the discredit of Dr. Talmage that it is high time he was exonerated or condemned.

Weak and Sickly Children with their pinched features and emaciated forms appeal strongly to the best sympathies of everyone. Yet, our sympathies are of but little benefit unless they take a practical form, and the sufferings from both Mental and Physical Debility be relieved by administering some such strength-giving medicinal and nutritive Blood and Brain food as Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime. It adds the processes of digestion and assimilation, re-vitalizes the blood, and supplying material for bone and muscle structure, furnishes the foundation for strong and healthy constitutions. Prepared solely by J. H. Robinson, Pharmaceutical Chemist, St. John, N. B., and for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1 per bottle; six bottles for $5.00 19m.

MARCH COMES FOR BARNUM.

THE GREATEST SHOW GETTING READY TO TAKE THE ROAD.

With the spring comes Barnum. Not that Barnum is ever exactly hidden, for in this winter he usually shows himself in the legislative halls at Hartford, and now and then runs off to some neighboring town to lecture for charity; but it is at this season of the year that the public at large begins to expect Mr. Barnum, or at least the fanfare of his trumpets. Indeed March is a month of activity in the circus business. The Grand Central, Hoffman, Ashland and Revere hotels are to-day alive with showmen, who flutter about like a flock of birds anticipating a sudden migration. "What route do you take?" asks one of another.

"A route it will pay your show to follow, is the answer. All them singularly anxious to know what Barnum's route will be. Mingling among these roaming people a reporter heard Barnum's name from all lips, and overhearing among other things an assertion that the great showman had "gone clean crazy," paid a visit at once to Mr. Keeler, the venerable oracle of circus lore, to see what he had to say about it. "The fact of the matter is," said Mr. Keeler, "these other fellows, who haven't made much money themselves, all think old Barnum has gone crazy because he is branching out wider than ever. He has already hired his principal performers, with more artists for the ring than he can use at any one entertainment unless he shows all day. He has secured Mme. Dockrill, of the late London show, together with her husband and their trained horses, at a bigger salary than was ever paid any one in this line of business. Then he has engaged Emma Lake, who made such a hit last season, Kate Stokes, and a host of others. It will jump his expenses up at least $300 a day more than last year."

During the election of 1872 the question every where asked, especially in the eastern division of this city, was: "As tu vu le contrat?" and to the fact that a contract entered into with Sir Hugh Allen was not profitable, the late Sir George Cartier owed his rejection. The effect of that contract and the negotiations which at that time were going on would have been to secure to the then Northern Colonization Railway the bulk of the trade which the Canadian Pacific Railway would have brought along. The subject of the Georgian Bay Branch campaign recently in the Senate, on a motion for papers by Mr. Reed, and in the course of the discussion it transpired that, though the present Government when in Opposition had severely censured the Mackenzie administration for undertaking it, they proposed to construct a road over mainly the same section of country.—Montreal Star.

BALLOON MONTHLY MAGAZINE FOR APRIL.—The leading illustrated article of the April number of "Balloon's Magazine" is on old St. Paul's of London, and then follows half a dozen other articles, all accompanied by engravings. There are the usual number of stories, adventures, poetry, and domestic mottoes, the whole forming the best collection of reading material to be found in any magazine in this country; and all this can be obtained at the low rate of $1.50 per annum, postpaid. Published by Thomas & Talbot, 22 Hawley Street, Boyton, at $1.50 a year, postpaid.

London, March 12.—A despatch from Szegeidin says that the catastrophe for some days apprehended occurred this morning aided by a gale. The water broke through the dam and rushed in broad streams toward the town, the inhabitants fleeing to the synagogue which told burying numbers of people who had sought refuge in it.

THE GREAT CAUSE OF HUMAN MISERY.

We have recently published a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY of the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc. resulting from excesses. Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured, without the dangerous use of internal medicine, or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically. This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and man in the land. Address THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO. 41 Ann St., New York. P. O. Box, 4536.

Parks' Cotton Yarns!

Awarded the Only Medal Given at the Centennial Exhibition. For Cotton Yarns of Canadian Manufacture. No's. 5's to 10's.

WHITE, BLUE, RED, ORANGE and GREEN. Made of Good American Cotton with great care Correctly numbered and Warranted Full Length and Weight.

WE would ask the purchasers of Cotton Yarn to remember that our Yarn is spun on Lutescent Frames, which make a stronger yarn than the Ring Frames, used in making American yarn. It is also better twisted and more carefully reeled: each hank being tied up in 7 leas of 120 yards each. This makes it much more easy to wind than when it is put up without leas - as the American is - and also saves a great deal of waste. Those acquainted with weaving will understand the great advantage it is to them to use yarn put up in this manner.

COTTON CARPET WARP,

Made of No. 10 Yarn, 4-Ply Twisted. WHITE, RED, BROWN, SLATE, &c. All fast colors.

Each 5 lb bundle costs us 10,000 yards in length and will make a length of Carpet in proportion to the number of ends in width. We have put more twist into this warp than it formerly had, and it will now make a more durable Carpet than can be made with any other material. Since its introduction by us, a few years ago, it has come into very general use throughout the country. All our goods have our name and address upon them. None others are genuine.

THE Examiner and Chronicle,

[ESTABLISHED IN 1823.] An Eight-page Weekly Journal of the Largest Size. Distinguished, Wide-Appeal and Popular. AND BY MANY THOUSANDS THE MOST WIDELY CIRCULATED BAPTIST NEWSPAPER IN THE WORLD.

Besides giving special heed to the principles and progress of the denomination of which it is a part, the paper includes the whole field of Christian journalism. Its carefully edited departments are: Late Leading Events - Vigorous editorials and Short News Notes, giving a carefully prepared summary of the week's news. Topics of the Times - A series of articles equalling in ability to the best of Review articles, by the best writers of our own and other denominations. The Pulpit and the Platform - Sermons by Rev. C. H. Spurgeon and others, or a lecture by some layman, such as Mr. Joseph Cook. A Sunday School Workshop - Expositions of the International Series, with Side Light Topics and Clips from the brightest sayings and writings of prominent Sunday school workers. Literature, Science and Art - Reviews by eminent specialists and competent critics, with occasional notices of periodicals. Notes and Queries, a column of lively Chat, and the facts of general interest in Science and Art. The Religious News of the World - Editorials on subjects of denominational and general religious interest; Baptist "News and Notes," fresh and full news of our denomination than is given by any other paper; Our General Outlook, all the really important news about other denominations. Our Young Folks' Page - Original stories by writers whose names are regularly found on the title-pages of St. Nicholas and Wide Awake, and a Puzzler's Column which is a favorite with all the young people. House, Farm, and Garden - An Agricultural department unequalled in any weekly religious paper in this country, to which practical farmers, stock-breeders, etc., of the first rank are regular contributors. Besides these, there are Educational Notes, Missionary Sketches, Letters of Travel, Reviews of the Markets, etc. For sample copies and terms to canvassers address P. O. Box 333, New York City. Terms: $2.50 a year in advance. Postage prepaid by the Publishers.

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD

Notes for the Orchard and Garden. Tree seeds should be sown as early as the ground can be worked...

Budded Stocks.—These nursery trees that were budded last summer, will need attention when the buds begin to swell...

Planting trees is a job that should not be hurried. It is not fair treatment of a tree to put it into a hole with clods of wet, half frozen earth around its roots...

Late frosts are often destructive, especially to peach trees at the South. We advise those who fear frosts on the well advanced buds or blossoms to try the method found effective in the vineyards on the Rhine...

GRAPE.—The distanco apart will depend upon the method of training; if on a regular trellis, eight feet will answer for most varieties...

NOSH BLEED.—If the use of cold water will not stop the bleeding, place powdered alum in the nose and leave it there until the wounded vein is healed.

SORES AND ULCERS.—The juice of celery, mixed with honey of roses and barley-water, may be used as a gargle by those who suffer with sores and ulcers...

POISONS.—Many poisons which have been intentionally or accidentally swallowed, may be rendered almost instantly harmless by simply swallowing two pills of sweet oil...

COMMON CUTS.—In case of a common wound bind the lips of the wound together with a rag, and put on nothing else. If the wound is large, lay narrow strips of sticking plaster obliquely across the wound...

Nothing but ultimate ruin stares that farmer in the face who does not pay personal attention to the minute details of his farm. There are a thousand small leaks about the management of an ordinary farm that, if not closely attended to, will surely bring the most hard-working farmer to ruin and bankruptcy...

Attention to the small details of the farm. Close supervision of the machinery, tools, stock and their feed, a place for everything and everything in its place...

The Preservation of Forests.

In an article with the above title in the North American Review, Felix L. Oswald, after reviewing the disastrous effects which have followed the wholesale destruction of forests in various countries of the world, remarks that since the year 1835 the forest area of the Western hemisphere has decreased at the average yearly rate of 7,600,000 acres...

When we consider how the agricultural products of the eastern continent become from year to year more inadequate to the wants of their still-growing population, we may foresee the time when the hope of the world will depend upon the productivity of the American soil...

He Walked.

At an early hour yesterday morning a man who had an eye brim-full of confidence in himself entered a Detroit restaurant, kept by a man who takes an interest in many sports, and thus began: "My name is Shaw. I have just arrived. In case I can work up sufficient interest in this city I propose to walk one thousand miles in..."

"Call again—very busy—see you later—got to go right over the river!" said the restaurant man as he got away out of sight.

The man named Shaw did not seem greatly surprised at his reception, and his chin was still high as he walked into a bill-poster's and asked:

"Can you do some pasting for me?" "Oh, yes. There's scarcely a month in the year that we don't post up at least one dodger for some one or other," was the reply.

"I may want to put out 10,000 three-sheet bills next week," observed Mr. Shaw; "I propose to begin here an attempt to walk 1,000 miles in..."

"All our boards are secured for two months ahead," interrupted the poster with terrible earnestness, and he at once began to sweep the dusty floor with a dry broom.

Mr. Shaw coughed and went out. The store of confidence in his eye had been reduced about one-half, but he had a good card left. Making his way to a tobacconist's store whose shop is the headquarters of lovers of dogs, horses, dumb-bells and athletic sports, he purchased a cheap cigar and casually observed to the crowd:

"Gentlemen, my name is Shaw. I was thinking that if a hall could be secured on favorable terms I would attempt to walk..."

"Wait!" shouted every man in the room in chorus, and in less than fifty seconds all had fled out and gone their ways. Then the tobacconist reached down for his slingshot, crying out that Mr. Shaw had driven away seventeen of his best customers, but before he could use it Mr. Shaw made the attempt to walk past one street corner in one York minute, and he achieved a grand success.

Words of Wisdom. Gratitude is the memory of the heart. Never rejoice but when thou hast done well.

He has the largest life who lives in the lives of the largest number of people.

No man knows the highest happiness of life until he knows the happiness of giving.

He is the only rich man in the world who has learned to be content with what he has.

Have nothing to do with any man in a passion, for men are not like iron, to be wrought upon when they are hot.

The object of all ambition should be to be happy at home. If we are not happy there we cannot be happy elsewhere.

Whosoever would work wisely and with success, must have clearly before him the ends which he wishes to accomplish.

It is better to wear out than to rust out. We must not only strike the iron while it is hot, but strike until it is made hot.
