The Pamirs.

The Anxious Problem Likely To Be Amicably Settled.

"Dr." Cream Committed on Charges of Murder.

A Russian Town Burned and 5,000 Rendered Homeless.

Arrest of a British Captain of Fusiliers Who Has Stolen £200,000—The Ameer of Afghanistan Meets with Another Reverse—Ten Thousand Welsh Tin-plate Hands Out of Employment.

10,000 Tin Plate Hands Idle.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Several Welsh tin plate manufacturers closed their works on Saturday. Sixty works are now closed and 10,000 hands are idle. Many sailed on Saturday to find employment in America.

Labouchere to Gladstone.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Henry Labouchere has written a letter to Mr. Gladstone, complimenting him upon his chivalry in accepting the sole responsibility for the arrangement of the Ministry.

The Pamirs.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 28.—It is stated in well-informed quarters here that M. de Staal, the Russian ambassador to England, has entered upon an exchange of views on the Pamirs question with Lord Rosebery, the British Foreign Secretary, and that a satisfactory settlement is likely to result.

A Russian Town Burned.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 28.—The town of Mosier, on the River Pripets, about 146 miles from Minsk, has been destroyed by fire. Mosier has a population of about 5,000, nearly all of whom are homeless and the misery among them is described as appalling.

Stole Nearly $1,000,000.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Scott Sanders, ex-captain of the fusiliers, has been arrested on the charge of forging a check for £3,700 in the name of Lord Londsborough. It is stated that Sanders' stealings amounted to £200,000. He had booked passages for himself and a woman to the West Indies.

The German Military Bill.

BERLIN, Aug. 28.—The Radical newspapers condemn the proposed Military Bill and demand a legal two-year service system. The Liberals else are preparing to oppose all military votes unless concessions be made. The situation threatens a renewal of the crisis that attended the introduction of the Septennate Bill in 1887.

American Fruit in Demand.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Cable advices this morning from Liverpool say there is a great demand for American fruit. The first shipment of this season's apples were sent over last week. They arrived in good shape and sold rapidly at 11s 6d to 15s a barrel. California Bartlett pears are in great demand in England.

A £120,000 Fire in Dublin.

DUBLIN, Aug. 27.—The South Dublin market was burned this morning. Adjoining the market stood Warren's hotel, which was crowded with guests. The fire communicated to the hotel and in a short time the whole structure was wrapped in flames. The guests were panic-stricken and fled in every direction. Many narrowly escaped with their lives. Loss £120,000.

Neill Cream Committed.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Thomas Neill Cream was brought up again yesterday on the charge of having murdered Matilda Clover by strychnine poisoning. After hearing evidence, Sir John Bridge committed Cream on the four charges of murder by poison, namely, the mother of Matilda Clover, of Ellen Donworth and of the girls Shrivell and Marsh. The cases now go to the grand jury.

Another Reverse for the Ameer.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—A dispatch from Simla to the Times says the Government has replied to the Ameer of Afghanistan, again expressing the hope that affairs will settle down and enable him to receive the Roberts mission. The Government calls upon him to withdraw his troops from Wana, west of Waziristan, where they have a disturbing effect on the Indian border. Unless this is done Gen. Roberts will not proceed to Jellalabad. Rumors come from various sources that the Ameer has suffered another reverse at the hands of the Hazaras.

Bogus Home Rule Bills.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The Tories are again attempting to force Gladstone's hand by publishing bogus details respecting his Home Rule Bill, but they do not appear to have imposed upon anybody, and they have signally failed to draw out the Grand Old Man, who has spent the week, as far as outsiders can see, in saying kind platitudes to Liberal excursionists, visiting bazars, and making speeches about the cultivation of flowers, for all the world as though he were a simple country squire instead of a statesman with the cares of an empire on his mind. The Tories have no heart for anything to-day.

Labby Made a Mistake.

The New York Sun's cable dispatch says: The information obtained by the Sun reporters justifies the belief that Mr. Gladstone's decision not to ask Labouchere to take office was taken several months ago in consequence of editorials which appeared in Truth urging the postponement of home rule until various British reforms had been accomplished. The editorials, which were written in Mr. Labouchere's cynical manner, virtually urged Mr. Gladstone to betray the trust which Irish members had reposed in him and to set at naught the most solemn obligations and engagements. Those articles caused some stir at the time and created a feeling of uneasiness among the Irish leaders, which was only removed by direct assurance that the editor of Truth in no way represented Mr. Gladstone's views. There is good reason to believe that this repudiation was followed shortly afterward by a confidential intimation that Labouchere would not be a member of the Liberal Government.

Labouchere has lost much prestige over this business. People had learned to regard him as a fearless, independent politician who did not care a button for place or power. He is seen now in the unpleasant character of a disappointed office seeker, criticising, as malignantly as any Tory, members of the Ministry from which he has been excluded and sneering at his leader. Rumors, natural under the circumstances, are current of Labouchere's intention to form a section of malcontents for the purpose of worrying Gladstone in the same manner that Churchill and the so-called "fourth party" harried the Tory party some years ago; but in the present temper of the country it is not likely that many men will venture to follow Labouchere in this dangerous and disreputable work. The dragging of the Queen's name into this controversy has distressed Mr. Gladstone and greatly shocked constitutional pedants. It is not calculated to do Labouchere much good, especially after Mr. Gladstone's statement. Even in Labouchere's own Radical town, Northampton, at the meetings held to protest against his exclusion from office, mention of the Queen's name has been enthusiastically cheered, and elsewhere popular feeling is undeniably against Labouchere. Of course, this does not prove anything except that Labouchere has made a mistake.

Killed in a Bear Cage.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—Mme. Mars, a bear tamer, while performing at a show in this city on Saturday, slipped and fell upon the floor of the cage. The bears, which she had been holding in check, at once sprang upon the prostrate woman and tore her to pieces. Her husband, who was near by, made a desperate effort to save her life, but in vain. He killed one of the bears, but before the others could be subdued, their victim was dead. The husband was severely wounded in the struggle with the bears.

Germany's Relations With Russia.

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—Communications which have taken place between the leaders of the Center party have resulted in an agreement that that party in the Reichstag will oppose any increase in the war budget and will also oppose any commercial convention with Russia tending to be prejudicial to German agriculture. The negotiations with Russia over a commercial treaty, though slow, are sure. The results are officially expected to be placed before the Reichstag before the Christmas adjournment. The diplomatic circle is chiefly interested in Russian action in Afghanistan. The croakers affirm that only bold and decisive action by England, which is not likely to be taken by the Gladstone Government, will prevent Russia from forcing the Ameer to abandon English protection for Russian protection, or else submit to losing part of the Afghan territory.

WELSH MINE DISASTER.

The Number of Lives Lost Now Placed at One Hundred and Seven.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—5 p.m.—Another rescuing party saved eight more of the imprisoned miners. The volunteer rescuers state that they have signaled a party of imprisoned men who by knocking on the barriers, told that there were fourteen of them waiting for the rescuing party to dig them out.

LONDON, Aug. 28—9 p.m.—Mr. Asquith, Home Secretary, to-day visited the Parkslip pit at Bridgend, Wales, the scene of the disastrous explosion of Friday last. Mr. Asquith examined the mine machinery, conferred with officials and questioned survivors.

A dispatch received to-night says that only 41 miners have been rescued from the pit and that two have since died. Exploring parties are still searching the mine, though all hope of finding further survivors has been abandoned. The number of the dead is therefore placed at 107.

TERSE TELEGRAMS.

The News of the Day, Culled and Condensed.

Ray Rundle, an actress of some note, died in New York Saturday.

Lottie Collins, the well-known music hall singer, sailed Saturday for New York.

Nearly 1,000 houses, including the Government buildings, have been burned in Borrisov, Russia.

The death of Edward Wait, superintendent of Lansingburg (N. Y.) public schools, occurred Sunday.

At Paris the Congress of the working-men's Socialist Revolution party has adopted a resolution of sympathy to send to the American miners.

Within the past ten days sixteen persons have committed suicide at Trieste while laboring under mental derangement brought on by the excessive heat.

In a brutal prize fight near Leeds Saturday night between a boot finisher named Asquith and a miner named Rotheray, the former received severe injuries about the head from the effects of which he died.

Miss Frances E. Willard, of Chicago, president of the world's Christian Temperance Union, accompanied by Miss Anna Gordon, her secretary, sailed from New York on Saturday for England on the steamer Etruria. They go to England as the guests of Lady Henry Somerset.

The Porte recently ordered an investigation to be made into the burning of the house of Rev. Mr. Bartlett, an American missionary at Bourdour, Asia Minor, and a report has been received showing that the destruction of the dwellings was due to the carelessness of an American servant and not to fanaticism of the natives.

A CRUEL LIE.

No Truth in the Reported Loss of the Wapiti on Georgian Bay.

COLLINGWOOD, Aug. 27.—The reported loss of the yacht Wapiti of Detroit and the drowning of all but two of her hands is a canard, as she is safe in port. The report originated through a message sent by the cook who was discharged here for drunkenness. He will be prosecuted.

Farm Laborer Drowned.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Aug. 28.—Walter Wortley, a farm laborer, employed by a farmer named Bickle, of the Sixteenth line of East Zorra, was drowned while swimming in the River Thames this afternoon. The body was recovered this evening.

The Deadly Foe.

Alarming Increase of Cholera in the East.

It Finds Its Way Into the City of Glasgow.

An Outbreak Considered Inevitable in London.

Five New Cases Reported at Antwerp—78 Deaths in Hamburg—and 3,203 in Russia in One Day.

HAVRE'S RECORD.

PARIS, Aug. 28.—A total of 45 new cases and 18 deaths represents Havre's cholera record for Friday. The bedding and furniture used by the sick are being burned, the authorities indemnifying the owners. The Temps states that cholera infection was brought to Havre by a Hamburg ship carrying several hundred immigrants, who were allowed to disembark, the Hamburg authorities having concealed the existence of cholera at that port.

AT THE DANUBE.

BUDA PESTH, Aug. 27.—Hungarian newspapers declare that a number of cases of Asiatic cholera have occurred at the iron gates of the Danube.

CHOLERA IN GLASGOW.

LONDON, Aug. 27. — The St. James Gazette says two cases of Asiatic cholera have occurred at Glasgow. The patients were German emigrants on their way from Hamburg to the United States.

ALARM IN LONDON.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—It was announced this morning that another passenger who arrived at Gravesend on the steamer Gemma, which arrived Thursday from Hamburg, had died from cholera at the Gravesend Hospital. Considerable uneasiness has been created by the knowledge that some of the German passengers are now in London. The whereabouts of all of them is not known to the authorities, but a strict watch will be kept by all the medical and sanitary officials for the first appearance of the disease. It is considered that an outbreak is inevitable.

AN AWFUL RECORD.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 27.—The official returns show that throughout Russia yesterday there were 6,930 new cases of cholera and 3,203 deaths. In St. Petersburg 108 new cases were reported and 29 deaths.

FIVE NEW CASES AT ANTWERP.

ANTWERP, Aug. 27.—Five new cases of cholera and ten deaths have been reported here since yesterday morning.

INCREASING IN HAMBURG.

HAMBURG, Aug. 27.—The official cholera statistics show that up to noon yesterday there were 183 new cases and 78 deaths. These figures indicate a large increase in both the new cases and the deaths. All the schools are closed.

HAMBURG, Aug. 29.—The plague has now spread over the whole city and to the suburbs. The exodus of the wealthier Hamburg families is now proceeding on a large scale. Many merchants would close their shops but are prevented through fear of adding to public depression, which wants but little to become absolute panic. The people of Berlin talk of forming an absolute cordon around Hamburg, Altona and the mouths of the Elbe. This is a cowardly and panicky idea and would be a merciless restriction upon those within the cholera sphere while in official opinion it would be ineffective.

The Hamburg correspondent of the London Standard says: The epidemic here is assuming truly alarming proportions. All Sunday excursions and amusements have been stopped. There were 320 interments during the first half of yesterday (Sunday), the average number being 85. The Senate has demanded an extra credit of £150,000 to buy medicines, etc. The disease is increasing rapidly in the suburbs as a center.

The Hamburg American Packet Company has stopped its steamship service.

NOT CHOLERA AFTER ALL.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Dr. Whitcomb, the sanitary officer at Gravesend who inspected the steamer Gemma, which arrived there from Hamburg Thursday last, and three of whose passengers, subsequently died from what was said to be Asiatic cholera emphatically denies that the disease was the dread scourge. He attended all three of the patients in the hospital and says they died from cholerine. He further says the emigrants on the Gemma were of the better class and were greatly superior to the general run who arrive there. It is now declared the sickness on the steamer Laura was due to acute diarrhea and not to cholera. The Laura arrived at Lynn Friday last with suspicious cases on board and was ordered to sea. Notwithstanding the denials made of the presence of cholera in the country, the residents of Gravesend were thrown into a state of excitement to-day by the arrival of the steamer Portia from Hamburg. The steamer was subjected to a rigid examination and all the passengers were mustered for medical examination. Not a trace of cholera was found. All the emigrants, 40 in number, were allowed to land at Gilbury, opposite Gravesend. They all belonged to the poorer classes.

CHOLERA IN BREMEN.

BREMEN, Aug. 29. — Thirteen cholera patients have been admitted to the hospital here, five of the cases were certified to as Asiatic cholera. Six patients died.

A DREADFUL TOTAL.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 29.—The official cholera returns from all infected districts show that on Friday 4,767 new cases and 2,324 deaths were reported. In St. Petersburg yesterday 125 new cases were reported, while the deaths numbered 35.

NOTES.

The Berlin president of the police reports that not a single case of Asiatic cholera had yet been certified to in Berlin.

Switzerland is being invaded by Germans fleeing from their homes to escape the cholera.

The first death from cholera in Rotterdam occurred Sunday morning.

It is rumored in Vera Cruz that there is cholera in Habana.

A number of cholera cases have been reported at Wiener Nanstadt, at Bollenau in Austria and in Wienna itself, where the rapidity of the deaths are suggestive of Asiatic cholera.

The English liners are loading at Havre as usual. All the usual liners are expected to call for cargoes, except White Star liners, which have been stopped till further notice.

Scrupulous care is now taken at Bremen and Hamburg. The inspection is extending not to emigrants alone, but to the crews of vessels and all passengers. Late advices leave every populous place in Germany free from Asiatic cholera except Hamburg.

A Paris correspondent says a lady called at the Mairie at Montmartre to register the death of her husband from cholera. The person in the office drew away in terror, when suddenly the lady fell to the floor, writhing with pain. She was at once removed to the cholera barracks, where her husband had been taken on the previous day. Three deaths from cholera are reported at Le Mans.

A Vienna dispatch says: The Emperor has abandoned his proposed visit to Lemberg and unless the sanitary condition of Europe improves all military maneuvers will be abandoned. The sanitary board of Pesth has ordered that all bread be delivered in closed paper bags in order to prevent contact with hands.

A Washington dispatch says: There is undoubtedly a widespread feeling that immigration from countries where cholera is now gaining hold ought to cease.

Attempted Train-Wrecking.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 27.—An attempt was made to wreck the east-bound Chicago and New York limited express on the Pennsylvania Railroad near Enon, Pa., this morning. Several ties and pieces of iron were found tied to the track by a farmer, who set to work to remove them. While engaged in doing so he was shot twice. He succeeded in clearing the track and the train passed in safety.

Archbishop Duhamel Interviewed.

OTTAWA, Aug. 28.—The press dispatch from Rome received at Montreal yesterday stating the congregation of the Propaganda had requested the French Government to protest to Great Britain against the closing of Catholic schools in Manitoba, was shown to Archbishop Duhamel this morning. His Grace read the dispatch and laughed. "Oh, no," he said, "there is nothing whatever in that. I am not aware anyone has ever written to the Propaganda respecting that matter, and I am very certain that the difficulty can be settled here without any outside assistance. I am sure the good sense of the people and the justice of the Government will see the rights of the minority in Manitoba will be respected."

"Is it at all likely, then, that France would be asked to interfere in any event?"

"Not at all likely," replied the archbishop; "I cannot believe in that at all, I am very sure that such a thing was never thought of."

United States Methodists.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—A bulletin issued by the census bureau shows that there are 102 annual conferences of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the United States. These conferences represented 2,240,354 communicants, including members and probationers. The church has 25,861 organizations, with 22,844 places of worship, the seating capacity of which is 6,302,708, and a valuation of $96,623,408. This valuation does not include parsonages and other church property, and is the largest reported by any church except the Catholic.

Political Prohibition Plan of Campaign.

TORONTO, Aug. 27.—The committee appointed by the council of the Royal Templars of Temperance at its recent meeting in Hamilton to organize a political prohibition plan of campaign met here last night. It was decided to write all sections of the temperance party in Canada, and out absolutely adrift from the old parties. Associations will be formed in all electoral divisions, and a pledge will be taken by all becoming members by which they undertake to support only those definitely pledged for aboiute prohibition. Members will be in two classes—electors and non-electors. W. E. Fee, an old Scott Act organizer, was appointed official organizer for the new association, and will commence active work at once.

Babyland for September is a remarkably clever number. Its pictures are pretty, its jingles are gay, and the stories are just such stories as Babyland makes for the babies. "A Rhyme for Baby's Fingers" is a dainty bit of verse meant to captivate mamma and charm baby. What would the little folks do without Babyland? Price, 50 cents a year; 5 cents a number. D. COSTLY CONFLAGRATIONS.

Two Lives Lost and Several Injured at a New York Fire—Other Conflagrations.

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Fire broke out shortly after 10 o'clock this morning in the boiler room of Goldberg's picture frame factory at 124 and 126 Wooster street. The fire spread to the adjoining buildings and to several buildings on Prince street, all of which were entirely destroyed. At 11:40 o'clock the brick wall of the buildings at 124 and 126 Wooster street fell outward and two firemen were crushed in the debris. Maurice Stack, of engine company No. 27, was carried out. His head and face were horribly cut and bleeding profusely and he was internally injured. A fireman named McCloy was also rescued from the ruins. Firemen were on the fire escapes of the building 120 and 122 Wooster street when the wall fell, and their escape from death was almost miraculous. All descended in safety. Five other persons were injured. They were: Mary Ellen Hanley, burns on head and face, will probably die; Mary Guonnenzo, slightly burned; Jacob Langwasser, fireman, fell from a ladder and received a scalp wound; A. P. Sperry, slightly burned, and George Winters, fireman, slightly bruised. Loss $150,000.

Other Fires.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 28.—A. E. Brooks & Co.'s candy factory and wholesale store was damaged $15,000 by fire last night. Insurance, $10,000; loss on building, $2,500; insured. Origin unknown.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 28.—At an early hour yesterday morning the livery stables of Hynes Bros. were found to be on fire. The fire started in the mow where a number of cuttera and several tons of hay were stored, which were all consumed. The horses and buggies were all taken out. Loss about $1,500, covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

SHAKESPEARE, Ont., Aug. 29.—A fire occurred here yesterday morning, originating through some boys playing with matches in the stable of George Forbes. The stable, together with Forbes' furniture wareroom adjoining, the stables of P. O'Rourke and F. Rober, and the dwelling house of John A. Crerar, all frame buildings, were destroyed. The contents were mostly saved except a quantity of hay and oats. There was a small insurance on the dwelling houses.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 29.—A row of oil sheds and cars belonging to the Lake Shore Railway burned last night. The dry dock owned by the Smiths was partially destroyed. Loss, $26,000.

PANIC IN A CHURCH.

Women and Children Trampled Upon and Badly Hurt.

FORESTVILLE, Mich., Aug. 28.—A Roman Catholic Church three miles from this place was burned to the ground, and the following people were burned: Miss Tilly Gustin, fatally; William Grant, seriously; Mrs. Jane Armstrong, seriously. The fire was discovered while services were being held and a wild panic ensued among the members of the congregation. Women and children were trampled upon, and many of them were badly bruised. Miss Gustin, who was fatally burned, was so seriously hurt during the mad rush for the doors that she was unable to make her escape and was caught by the flames. The value of the church was $3,500.

THE AERONAUT'S FUNERAL.

Gertie Carmo's Obsequies Attended by a Large Crowd—The Remains Incinerated.

DETROIT, Aug. 29. — The funeral of Gertie Carmo, the aeronaut who met with a frightful death at the exposition grounds on Thursday evening while attempting to make an ascension, was held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the residence of her brother-in-law, Rudolph Apel, Monroe avenue. The body, which was robed in a white satin gown, rested in a velvet covered casket. Through the glass top the ugly cut and bruises on the left side of her face, which she received when thrown against the exposition building tower, were plainly visible. On the casket rested a number of simple floral wreaths and bouquets, sent by Miss Carmo's personal friends. As soon as the casket was opened people began to arrive from all parts of the city, and from 10 o'clock yesterday morning until the hour set for the funeral there was a steady stream of people in and out of the house. At 2 o'clock the street in front of the house was jammed with people, and the eagerness of the crowd to see the dead woman was such that the casket could not be closed until nearly 2:30 o'clock.

There were no funeral services at the house, and as soon as the curiosity of the multitude had been satisfied the casket was carried to the hearse, to be taken to the cemetery at Woodmere, where in conformity with Miss Carmo's wish, her body was to be incinerated.

As the funeral procession drove up to the cemetery it was met by fully 500 people, whose curiosity had prompted them to be present at the final rites. The small chapel was also packed. As the casket was brought into the chapel Canstatter Maennerchor sang a hymn, after which Dr. Tobias Sigel, director of the Turnverein, delivered an appropriate address in German. The casket was then opened and those present were allowed to view the remains. The chapel was then cleared, with the exception of the relatives and immediate friends, when the parents of Miss Carmo took a last look at their daughter's remains. The casket was then quickly closed, pushed into an opening and disappeared from view, while the Canstatter Maennerchor sang another hymn. The body was placed in the oven as soon as possible and reduced to ashes. The oven will be opened to-day, when the ashes will be placed in an urn and turned over to the young woman's parents.

MET A TERRIBLE DEATH.

Ex-District Attorney Rodman, of New York, Scalded in a Bath Tub.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Thomas H. Rodman, formerly district attorney of Kings county, has met death in a frightful form at his home, 169 Congress street, Brooklyn. He was terribly scalded in his bath, and he lingered for eighteen hours, suffering intense agony. Mr. Rodman, who was old and feeble, went to his bathroom to take a warm bath. He got into the tub and then turned on the hot water. The boiling stream came with great force, scalding Mr. Rodman severely. He was unable to check it, and becoming faint he fell back in the tub. He called for help. When the bathroom was opened Mr. Rodman was found in the bottom of the tub covered with the scalding hot water. Dr. Edwin A. Lewis was summoned, and he remained with Mr. Rodman for several hours. When he left the venerable patient seemed to be somewhat easier. He became worse and died the following morning. Mr. Rodman was 70 and an old resident of Brooklyn. In politics he was a Democrat, but of the independent type.

MANUFACTURES AND WAGES

Interesting Returns from the Canadian Census Bulletin.

OTTAWA, Aug. 28.—The Department of Agriculture has just issued Census Bulletin No. 13, dealing with manufactures and wages. The returns show that out of a total of 75,768 industrial establishments 48,748 were run full time during the year ending April, 1891; 12,981 half time, and 14,039 quarter time. Thus 64.3 per cent. run full time and 18.5 quarter time. According to the census of 1881 the per head wages of employes were $233 per annum, which in 1891 was increased to $272. The number of employes in 1881 was 254,935, drawing in the aggregate $59,429,000, and in 1891 the employes numbered 367,496, drawing $99,762,441. The average per head is based on these figures, which include the wages of men, women, girls and boys lumped together. As the men represented 76.07 per cent of the whole number in 1881 and only 73 67 per cent. in 1891, the average of the latter year is reduced as compared with 1881. Nevertheless the average of wages paid in 1890-91 was over 16 per cent. of an advance on the average wages of 1880 81. The census shows a considerable difference in the wages paid in the different Provinces in the same industry. In the west wages are much higher than in the other Provinces. In the variety of industries the returns show in Ontario 270 different kinds in 1891, against 139 in 1881; in Quebec 213 against 145; Nova Scotia, 139 against 99; New Brunswick, 131 against 88; Manitoba, 75 against 39; British Columbia, 75 against 51; Prince Edward Island, 69 against 50, and in the Northwest, 35 against 11.

FELL 100 FEET.

Nellie Steele's Bones Unbroken and She May Live.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 27.—Miss Nellie Steele, the balloonist, ascended in her balloon on the grounds of the Columbus Shooting Club, intending to make a parachute jump to the earth. The balloon rose gracefully to a height of 300 or 400 feet; then Miss Steele attempted to make the parachute descend, but the rope by which the parachute was suspended from the balloon was only partially severed and she hung dangling and helpless.

Her frantic efforts to cut the rope and free the parachute finally tipped the balloon over upon its side, the canvas covering burst, and as the gas escaped it began to descend with awfully accelerated rapidity. For the last 100 feet the helpless woman fell like a cannon ball. She struck the roof of a building. Her body rebounded several feet and then rolled off the sloping roof to the ground. She was unconscious when the horrified spectators reached the spot, and there was no appearance of life.

The most remarkable feature of the affair was that when Police Sergeant Schultz examined Miss Steele he found no bones broken, and he stated that she might survive. If she does live it will be one of the most remarkable escapes in the history of balloon ascensions.

The Same Old Story.

TUSCOLA, Ill., Aug. 28.—The old story of the wealthy farmer being swindled by three-card monte men who wanted to buy his farm was reported here yesterday, when Farmer Ephraim Dressback allowed two strangers to walk away with $5,000 of his hard-earned money while he held a box containing a block of wood.

SMASHUP ON THE SOO ROAD.

Four Men Killed and a Score or More Injured.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 28. — A special from Barrett, Minn., on the Soo road, gives the details of a railroad accident by which four men were killed and a score or more wounded. The train was a regular passenger. Nearing Barrett there is a trestle bridge. The engine and one car had crossed in safety when the bridge collapsed, carrying down two coaches. Four persons were instantly killed as follows: Gust Berquist, of Hoffman, Minn.; James L. Lannia, of Cyprus, Minn.; Edward Smith, Dunbar, Wis.; Michael Crockett, Ironwood, Mich. The bridge had been inspected yesterday and pronounced perfectly safe, and five trains had passed over it to-day. A thorough investigation will be made.

COMFORT FOR THE AGED.

Food Better Than Medicine Dosing.

"The old folks do not need medicine so much as they do pure and nourishing food," said a physician recently.

"In three or four score years of life a great many tons of food have been digested and this wear and tear results in weakness of the digestive organs. Stimulate them with medicine," he continued, "and the effect is speedy destruction. Nourish them with an easily digested and strengthening food and strength will return."

The best physicians in the world indorse this theory. They have found that Lactated Food, the perfect food for infants, whose digestive organs are of the weakest, gives the same happy success when prepared for the aged.

Married His Last Couple.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 28.—At Aberdeen, Ohio, a small town opposite Maysville, Ky., has been located for years the Gretna Green of eloping young Kentuckians. There dwelt Esquire Massia Beasley, who was always ready, day or night, to tie the nuptial knot. The remarkable justice of the peace, who has married 5,000 couples, died this morning, aged 81. He has held the office of justice of the peace since 1869, and in all that time was known as the man whom eloping couples from Kentucky applied to be quickly joined in marriage.

Confirmed.

The favorable impression produced on the first appearance of the agreeable liquid fruit remedy Syrup of Figs a few years ago has been more than confirmed by the pleasant experience of all who have used it and the success of the proprietors and manufacturers, the California Fig Company.

THE USE OF WINGS.

Practical Lesson From Bible Imagery.

Dr. Talmage Touring in Europe—Characteristic Sermon by the Noted Brooklyn Preacher.

LONDON, Aug. 28.—During the past week Dr. Talmage has been preaching to enormous audiences in the great manufacturing towns of the English Midland counties. The sermon selected for publication this week is on Isaiah, vi. 2: "With twain he covered his face; with twain he covered his feet, and with twain he did fly."

In a hospital of leprosy good King Uzziah had died, and the whole land was shadowed with solemnity, and theological and prophetic Isaiah was thinking about religious things, as one is apt to do in time of great national bereavement, and forgetting the presence of his wife and two sons, who made up his family, he has a dream, not like the dreams of ordinary character which generally come from indigestion, but a vision most instructive, and under the touch of the hand of the Almighty.

The place, the ancient temple; building, grand, awful, majestic. Within the temple a throne higher and grander than that occupied by any Czar or Sultan or Emperor. On that throne, the eternal Christ. In lines surrounding that throne the brightest celestials, not the cherubim, but higher than they; the most exquisite and radiant of the heavenly inhabitants, the seraphim. They are called burners, because they look like fire. Lips of fire, eyes of fire, feet of fire. In addition to the features and the limbs which suggest a human being, there are pinions which suggest the lithest, the swiftest, the most buoyant and most inspiring of all intelligent creation—a bird. Each seraph had six wings, each two of the wings for a different purpose. Isaiah's dream quivers and flashes with these pinions. Now folded, now spread, now beaten in locomotion. "With twain he covered his feet, with twain he covered his face, and with twain he did fly."

The probability is that these wings were not all used at once. The seraph standing there near the throne overwhelmed at the insignificance of the paths his feet had trodden as compared with the paths trodden by the feet of God, and with the lameness of his locomotion amounting almost to decrepitude as compared with the divine velocity, with feathery veil of angelic modesty hides the feet. "With twain he did cover the feet." Standing there overpowered by the overmatching splendors of God's glory, and unable longer with the eyes to look upon them, and wishing those eyes shaded from the insufferable glory, the pinions gather over the countenance. "With twain he did cover the face." Then as God tells this seraph to go to the furthest outpost of immensity on message of light and love and joy, and get back before the first anthem, it does not take the seraph a great while to spread himself upon the air with unimagined celerity, one stroke of the wing equal to 10,000 leagues of air. "With twain he did fly."

The most practical and useful lesson for you, and me—when we see the seraph spreading his wings over the feet is a lesson of humility at imperfection. The brightest angels of God are so far beneath God that he charges them with folly. The seraph so far beneath God, and we so far beneath the seraph in service, we ought to be plunged in humility, utter and complete. Our feet, how laggard they have been in the divine service! How many missteps they have taken. In how many paths of worldliness and folly they have walked!

Neither God nor seraph intended to put any dishonor upon that which is one of the masterpieces of Almighty God—the human foot. Physiologist and anatomist are overwhelmed at the wonders of its organization. The articulation of its bones, the lubrication of its joints, the gracefulness of its lines, the ingenuity of its cartilages, the delicacy of its veins, the rapidity of its muscular contraction, the sensitiveness of its nerves. It is the foundation of the physical fabric. It is the base of a God-poised column. With it the warrior braces himself for battle. With it the orator plants himself for eloquence. With it the toiler reaches his work. Its loss is irreparable disaster. The Bible honors it. Especial care—"Lest thou dash thy foot against a stone." "He will not suffer thy foot to be moved." "Thy feet shall not stumble." Especial charge—"Keep thy foot when thou goest to the house of God." Especial peril—"Their feet shall slide in due time." Connected with the world's dissolution—"He shall set one foot on the sea and the other on the earth." Give me the history of your foot, and I will give you the history of your lifetime. Our feet not always in the paths of God. Sometimes in paths of worldliness. Our feet, a divine and glorious machinery for usefulness and work, so often making missteps, so often going in the wrong direction. Oh, we want the wings of humanity to cover the feet. Ought we not to go into self-abnegation before the all-searching, all scrutinizing, all-trying eye of God? The seraphs do. How much more we. "With twain he covered the feet."

Another seraphic posture in the text—"With twain he covered the face." That means reverence Godward. Never so much irreverence abroad in the world as to-day. You see it in the defaced statuary, in the cutting out of figures from fine paintings, in the chipping of monuments for a memento, in the fact that military guard must stand at the graves of Grant and Garfield, and that old shade trees must be cut down for firewood, though fifty George L. Morrises beg the woodmen to spare the tree, and that calls a corpse a cadaver, and that speaks of death as going over to the majority, and substitutes for the reverent terms, father and mother, "the old man" and "the old woman," and finds nothing impressive in the ruins of Baalbec or the columns of Karnac, and see no difference in the Sabbath from other days, except it allows more dissipation, and reads the Bible in what is called higher criticism, making it not the word of God, but a good book with some fine things in it. Irreverence never so much abroad. How many take the name of God in vain, how many trivial things said about the Almighty. Not willing to have God in the world, they roll up an idea of sentimentality and humanitarianism and impudence and imbecility, and call it God. No wings of reverence over the face, no taking off of shoes on holy ground. They talk of the love of God in a way that shows you they believe it does not make any difference how bad a man is here, he will come in at the shining gate. They talk of the love of God in such a way which shows you they think it is a general jail delivery for all the abandoned and the scoundrelism of the universe. No punishment hereafter for any wrong done here. The Bible gives us two descriptions of God, and they are just opposite, and they are both true. In one place the Bible says God is love. In another place the Bible says God is a consuming fire. The explanation is as plain as plain can be. God through Christ is love. God out of Christ is fire. To win the one and to escape the other we have only to throw ourselves, body, mind and soul, into Christ's keeping. "No," says Irreverence, "I want no atonement, I want no pardon, I want no intervention, I will go up and face God, and I will challenge him, and I will defy him, and I will ask him what he wants to do with me." So the finite confronts the infinite, so a tack hammer tries to break a thunder-bolt, so the breath of human nostrils defies the everlasting God, while the hierarchs of heaven bow the head and bend the knee as the King's chariot goes by, and the archangel turns away because he cannot endure the splendor, and the chorus of all the empires of heaven comes in with full dispassion, "Holy, holy, holy!" Reverence for the old merely because it is old, reverence for stupidity however learned, reverence for incapacity however finely inaugurated, I have none. But we want more reverence for God, more reverence for the sacraments, more reverence for the Bible, more reverence for the pure, more reverence for the good. Do not be flippant about God. Do not joke about death. Do not make fun of the Bible. Do not deride the Eternal. The brightest and mightiest seraph cannot look unabashed upon him. Involuntarily the wings come up. "With twain he covered his face."

Who is this God before whom the arrogant and intractable refuse reverence? God the first, God the last, God the only. He has one telescope with which he sees everything—his omniscience. He has one bridge with which he crosses everything—his omnipresence. He has one hammer with which he builds everything—his omnipotence. Put two tablespoonfuls of water in the palm of you hand and it will overflow; but Isaiah indicates that God puts the Atlantic and the Pacific, and the Arctic and the Antarctic, and the Mediterranean and the Black Sea and all the waters in the hollow of his hand. The fingers the beach on one side, the wrist the beach on the other. "He holdeth the water in the hollow of his hand."

Claims $50,000 Damages.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—Edward Carlin, an American, formerly in the employ of the Pacific Mail Company, wants $50,000 damages from the Government of Ecuador. In 1888 the police authorities mistook him for an Englishman who had swindled a number of people. He was thrown into a dirty prison, where he was fearfully maltreated; then sent to a mine, where he was made to work with convicts for a year. When released he was told to get out of the country. The State Department will be asked to see that justice is done him by Ecuador.

Dougherty in Danger.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18.—Daniel Dougherty, the celebrated lawyer and orator, is lying in a very critical condition at his home, 2,021 Spruce street. The attending physicians think that there is hardly a possibility of his recovery. The family will, however, not give up hope until the last. Mr. Dougherty has been ill for three months and in a serious condition for ten days. He is suffering from nervous prostration, and the fear is now that it may settle on his brain. If it does there will then be no hope for his recovery.

Gertie Carmo's Remains to be Incinerated.

DETROIT, Aug. 28.—In accordance with the will of the unfortunate aeronaut, Gertie Carmo, her remains will be incinerated this afternoon at the Detroit Crematorium. The remains will be removed from Geist's morgue at 9 this morning to the residence of Rudolph Apel, 408 Monroe avenue, brother-in-law of the deceased, and the funeral will be held at 2 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. John Clausen, parents of the deceased, have arrived from Vancouver, B. C., and when apprised of the fate of their daughter yesterday morning were prostrated with grief. They will remain in Detroit and make their home with Mr. Apel.

The Stock Yard.

—Losses by sickness among the live stock of the farm may generally be avoided by proper attention to their food, water and quarters. Good food, pure water and clean quarters mean healthy and profitable animals.

—There are people who object to ensilage and roots because they are watery food. But the animals who eat these foods are themselves quite as watery. Flesh contains 75 per cent. of water, and sugar beets have no more. And yet cows feed on these roots will drink five gallons of water a day. Why might it not be as consistent to say water is too watery, and takes heat from the animal in the cold weather? But who knows whether it does or not? The elements of water burned give out the most intense heat, and while I do not pretend that water warms an animal, why may it not by decomposition actually to so?

—The first great thing to study in the management of a farm is economy and productiveness of labor. The farmer is very liable to waste labor, and no man knows it better than he. Hence he is often too chary about employing labor sufficient to do the necessary work and do it well enough to get any profit out of it. The next thing is economy of land. There are hundreds of farms where an important portion of the same are waste acres. The investment was the same per acre and the taxes, expenses for fencing, and interest account on these idle acres is eating up half that the productive acres earn. Then there is economy in the management of both summer and winter feed to animals. The idea of so managing a pasture as to get full results from all the feed it produces is one that but few farmers have entertained. Yet there are numbers of such farmers in every county. No discreet farmer will allow the hay to be trampled in the mud and half of it wasted, yet that is just what is done with the feed in most of our pastures. Hiram Smith, of Wisconsin, used to say of his herd of 100 cows that the most expensive feed he gave them was the pasturage. He kept 100 cows on 200 acres of land. He claimed that the only economical way to manage a pasture was to stock it with a few more animals than it could well carry, and make up the deficiency by partial soiling. In this way all the grass was more nearly eaten.

BRANT.

There is trouble in connection with the teaching staff of the Brantford Collegiate Institute. Mr. Merrill was recently appointed English master, and the principal has seen fit to question his testimonials. Mr. Merrill is defending his position in the columns of the local papers.

A surveying party for the T., H. and B. Railroad is at work in West Brantford. The right of way is also being secured with a view of extending into the city and bridging the Grand River.

John Preper, of West Brantford, is suing the city for $500 damages incurred through a defective sidewalk.

It is said that a majority of the aldermen of Brantford are in favor of inviting new tenders for the lighting of the city by private companies and not accepting the offer of the existing company, which was the lowest received when tenders were invited recently.

The factory of the new Farmers' Binder Twine and Agricultural Implement Manufacturing Company at Brantford will, it is said, be in operation by not later than December next.

BRUCE.

The board of trustees of Kincardine High School are bound to retain the services of S. W. Perry, if possible, and have increased his salary from $1,100 to $1,300, to date from Sept. 1.

The bridge over the Teeswater River at Paisley collapsed the other day.

Under the new voters' lists of Tilbury North and Tilbury West those townships will be both deprived of deputy reeves. The total vote in Tilbury North, including legislative votes, is 535, and Tilbury West 457.

Anderdon council is demanding the garbage fine of $250 lately imposed by the Amherstburg magistrates. As a council, they have nothing whatever to do with the fine; it may only be paid to the township treasurer for the local board of health and subject to its disposition.

Amherstburg suffered official decapitation the other day by the action of a magistrate who fined the mayor for frequenting a barroom during prohibited hours. Sec. 66, chap. 184, R. S. O., provides that if any member of a municipal council is found guilty of an offense under this act he shall, in addition to any other penalty, forfeit and vacate his seat, and be ineligible to sit or vote for ten years.

ELGIN.

Wm. Ashton was crossing what is known as the Jamestown bridge, a few miles south of Aylmer, on Friday night with a steam threshing engine, when the stringers gave way and precipitated engine, driver and team into the creek below, a distance of about seventeen feet. Mr. Ashton was badly injured. One leg was so badly crushed that it had to be amputated below the knee and the other leg was broken in two places. One of the horses received such injuries that it had to be killed, while the other escaped without a scratch. The engine is a total wreck.

Frank Stuart, living at the corner of McDougall avenue and Erie streets, Windsor, had a colored baby left on his door steps the other night.

Several important additions have been made to the teaching staff of Alma Ladies' College, St. Thomas. These are Mrs. Lucian J. Martin, to the professorship of elocution; Miss Margaretta Sawwell, as assistant teacher in elocution; Miss Mabel Sykes, to the chair of mathematics and natural sciences; Miss S. Emma Sisk, to the position of governess; Miss Jetret Almy, to a position on the regular staff of the music department; and Misses Flora Macdonald, Viola Robinson and Maud Windsor, as assistant teachers. The appointees are of a high class order, and their appointments should give general satisfaction both to the residents at the college and to the citizens of St. Thomas.

Martin Truax, of Wheatley, general storekeeper, has assigned.

Ex-Treasurer Wright, of Windsor, has engaged George K. Prowse to go over the books in the treasurer's office and endeavor to find out the deficit charged against him.

John D. Sullivan, St. Thomas, went home the other night and broke the dishes on the table which had been set for breakfast and a hanging lamp over the table, setting fire to the table cloth. He had previously got a revolver from Harry Calver on the pretense that Alf. Calver had sent him for it, and was trying to get some cartridges when George Prentice got it away from him. He was arrested. It is also learned that Sullivan threatened to kill Miss Henderson, with whom he boarded, and broke two doors in an attempt to reach her. At the police court he was remanded to jail. His friends live in Buffalo and have been communicated with in the meantime.

Mr. Hindley, toolmaker in the M. C. R. St. Thomas shops, has resigned to accept a more lucrative position in the C. P. R. shops at Winnipeg.

David Saunders, of Dutton, died Friday after an illness of about two months, aged 58 years. Mr. Saunders came from Owen Sound, where he carried on farming for over 30 years. Since his removal to Dutton he has been engaged in market gardening. He was a citizen highly respected by old and young, and was a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church for many years, taking a leading part in the Sabbath school. In politics he was a staunch Reformer.

HURON.

A sad accident occurred at Centralia the other day, resulting in the death of the only son of Samuel Gallis. The little fellow was playing around his father's hay-rack, when the horse started, catching him in the spokes of the hind wheel and crushing him against the inside of the rack. He lived but a few moments.

Miss Dawson, of Eberts, was a few weeks ago poisoned by ivy. The effects of the noxious vine were first shown in the young lady's losing her sight for the time completely. Her condition in other respects was most precarious, and doubts were entertained for her recovery. She is now improving.

On Friday evening about 9 o'clock fire was discovered in a straw stack on the farm of J. W. Stamhoff, of Steinhoff & Lillie, bankers, Wallaceburg, which quickly communicated to adjoining stacks and soon enveloped the two barns, granaries and sheds, which were consumed with contents, including about 1,500 bushels of oats of last year, together with all of this year's produce, consisting of 150 tons of hay, 2,700 bushels of wheat, besides oats and other grain, and also two thrashing machines. A stiff breeze carried cinders across the River Sydenham to Steinhoff & Gordon's mill, which was ignited a couple of times, but the hose was turned on and extinguished the incipient blaze. Buildings insured. Loss, $10,000. Origin, incendiaries.

LAMBTON.

Lawrence's mill at Watford was burned down while the men were away at dinner on Saturday. The fire was noticed about ten minutes after the men left, but it burned so rapidly that it was impossible to save it by the time the fire engine got there. Much sympathy is felt with the Lawrence Bros., as this is the second disaster of this kind within a year, and they have had no insurance. The fire is supposed to have originated by sparks from the furnace. The loss is unknown at present.

MIDDLESEX.

Dr. John F. MacAllister, formerly of Lobo, lies dangerously ill with blood-poisoning at his home in Washington, D. C. His first attack was in June, from which he apparently recovered, but in the latter part of July he had a relapse, and has been confined to bed the past three weeks.

The new hall in Embro will be one of the finest village halls in Ontario. Work has been commenced and the job is to be completed by the new year. B. F. Young, of Stratford, and A. E. Causey, of St. Marys, have the contract. Their tender was $3,757. The building will be 40x60, two stories. On the first floor will be the Mechanics' Institute, with a ladies' and gentlemen's reading room, and the council chamber upstairs will be a large hall with gallery, capacity 400.

Miss Langstaff, of Strathallan, daughter of Harry Langstaff, had a narrow escape from death last week. She was walking behind a horse in the stable when a cat sprang out. This frightened the horse, and it kicked Miss Langstaff in the stomach, inflicting serious internal injuries. She was very close to the horse at the time, a circumstance which no doubt saved her life. The young lady was knocked with great force against the stable door, producing concussion of the spine, but no danger is anticipated on that score.

Lightning struck and shattered a post in the barn of E. Yorke, of Dereham. Mr. Yorke, who was lying in the mow a few feet away waiting for a load of hay to come in, was stunned, but sustained no injury.

While visiting his grandfather, E. York, of Dereham, York, son of E. Borland, of Tilsonburg, was kicked by a horse the other day and had two ribs broken. The boy was leading the horse through the gate, and turned round to close it after him, when the animal pulled the halter off and turned and kicked him.

A Tilsonburg exchange complains that though there have been a number of cases of typhoid fever in the town lately, the law requiring the placarding of the houses in which the fever exists has been entirely disregarded.

During a heavy electrical storm which passed over this section, E. Yorke, of Dereham, father of Mrs. E. Borland, of this town, had a very narrow escape. Mr. Yorke and his son-in-law, W. A. Elliott, were in the barn, having just unloaded a load of grain, and having a short time to wait before another load would come in, the former laid down for a short rest in the mow about six feet from the barn door, when lightning struck the building just beneath the eaves above the door, ran down the post, splintering it, knocking the door to pieces, and splintered the handle of a fork which stood near and melting the iron band at the bottom of the handle. The building was filled with smoke but no fire resulted. Mr. Yorke was partially stunned for a short time but sustained no injury. Mr. Elliott had only a few minutes before gone out of the mow down to the barn floor, and when the building was struck was only about twelve feet from the post that was shattered. He was also uninjured.—[Tilsonburg Observer.

WATERLOO.

A sad accident occurred recently on the farm of John Ludwig, town line of Hawkesville. N. Snyder, while stopping the horses on the horse-power, slipped and had his foot caught between the spur wheel and some of the pinions and so badly crushed that amputation was necessary.

Mrs. William Armstrong, Linwood, who was reported as recovering from a serious illness, took a relapse and died on Sunday. She leaves a husband and five children to mourn her loss.

Impaled on Scissors.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—A 5-year-old child named Lena Reniska was killed in a peculiar manner at her home here yesterday. While leaning over the railing of the piazza she lost her balance and fell over upon the points of a pair of scissors which she held in her hand. The sharp blades entered her side, penetrating her right lung. Her injuries proved fatal and she died a few hours after the accident.

Drank Pounded Glass.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 28.—Charles Poe, confined in the county jail here awaiting trial for wrecking a Toledo and Ohio Central train near Brice on May 10 last, made an attempt at suicide yesterday which may prove successful. Securing a pop bottle, he broke it and reduced the pieces to dust by pounding and drank the glass in his coffee. The fact was not discovered until he began to suffer pain yesterday afternoon. He is suffering terribly now.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

THE HORSEMAN.

A shoe when properly applied should only rest on the wall of the hoof, and not upon the soles of bars. Various forms of shoes give rise to corns. Shoes whose concavity extends too far back on the heels; shoes with high calks, shoes with thin heels which tend to bury themselves in the soles of the foot, shoes to short in the heels, with a calk immediately under the foot, and any form of shoe which presses on the sole or one which has been on so long that the horn has overgrown it; these are generally the kind which produce corns. In treating an ordinary case of corn, remove the shoe and apply hot poultices to the foot for two or three days, or till it is apparent the animal is relieved.

* * *

In the horse the corn is the result of a bruise involving the structure of the sensitive sole. It appears as a reddish or brownish spot in the triangular space situated between the bars and the wall of the heel. Its color is due to permeation of the horn with the blood which comes from some of the capillaries ruptured by the bruise. A corn is always considered as an unsoundness, although the animal may not go lame. At first a corn may be simply a bruise, but in some cases it terminates very seriously, as for instance, in supperation, partial necrosis or death of the parts, or by extending to the surface of the coffin bone and causing, through inflammation, the formation of a roughened bony tissue. Cases of this sort are very difficult to treat and seldom if ever recover.

* * *

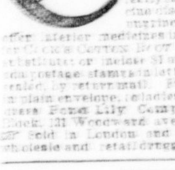

There are various cures for corns, different conditions that exist predispose an animal to them. For instance, wide feet with low heels and a flat sole are usually afflicted with corns; then again feet with thin, brittle or weakened wall at the heel, unable to sustain the pressure of the shoe, are apt to have corns. High heels, altering the natural relative position of the bones, causes a great increase of concussion to those parts. Contracted heels also render a horse liable to corns by increasing the pressure of the soft tissues at the heel. The commonest cause of corns can be attributed to errors in shoeing, erroneously paring and rasping away the foot, paring away the sole and frog, which is the elastic cushion intended by nature to support the heel.

* * *

After the foot has been treated surgically it should be soaked in warm water for an hour daily and afterwards poulticed. A very good plan also is to syringe the parts with a strong solution of bichloride of mercury, 1 to 200, or to cauterize with lunar caustic. All diseased tissue or horn must be removed, and soaking, poulticing and cauterizing continued until the soreness subsides and the wounds take on a healthy appearance. The after treatment will consist in dressing the foot with tar and oakum, and when the horse is able to bear it have him shod. Now, it is very well to give directions as to the treatment of a case of corns, but the most important of all things is to discover the cause, and, if possible, to avoid it in the future. So, in shoeing an animal recovering from corns, the blacksmith must be careful that the bearing shall not be on the injured parts, but only on the sound part of the foot.

* * *

In shoeing the animal later, a very good plan is to have a leather sole applied, which is retained in position by the shoe nailed over it; but care must be taken so that there will be no bearing on the injured part. If the horse has a good large frog, it is a very good plan to shoe him with a bar shoe. In some cases the application of a three-quarter shoe will be found quite practicable, and we prefer its use whenever the opportunity presents; by this method the shoe only presses on the sound part of the foot and leaves the injured part absolutely without pressure and acts as a protection by elevating it from the ground. In the treatment of suppurative corn, the animal suffers intense pain, and it is this fact which generally leads one to search for pus, for, if not discovered and relieved, it is apt to work its way and break out at the top of the heel. Sometimes one's attention is called to such a case where there is a swelling over one of the heels and the horse is suffering severe pain. Here it is that an opening must be made on the sole over the seat of the corn, in order to allow the escape of pus, or if necessary, an opening may be made on top, especially if the parts "pit" on pressure.

THE TAX ON ESTATES.

Numerous inquiries have been made as to the act passed at the last session of the Ontario Legislature for the collection of a succession duty from the estates of deceased persons which came into force on July 1 last. The ADVERTISER, therefore, supplies a synopsis of the provisions of the measure, which has been generally recognized as a very proper enactment.

The act does not apply (1) to any estate which after payment of debts and expenses of administration does not exceed in value $10,000; (2) to property given for religious, charitable or educational purposes, nor (3) to property passing to father, mother, husband, wife, child, grandchild, daughter-in-law or son-in-law of the deceased whose aggregate property does not exceed $100,000 in value. The act applies to all property of the deceased situate in Ontario, provided the deceased was domiciled in Ontario at any time within five years of his death, also to any such property voluntarily transferred in contemplation of death. When the estate passes in whole or part to persons named in exception (3) and exceeds $100,000 in value, the duty is $2 50 for every $100, and where the value exceeds $200,000 the duty is $5 for every $100. When the value of the estate exceeds $10,000 so much thereof as passes to grandfather, grandmother, brother or sister of deceased or their descendants or to brother or sister of father or mother of deceased or their descendants is subject to a duty of $5 for every $100 and so much thereof as passes to any other person in any other collateral degree of consanguinity or to any stranger in blood to the deceased is subject to a duty of 10 per cent. on the value, and it is provided as to such estates last named that where the whole value of any property passing to any one person does not exceed $200 it is exempt from duty.

Executors or administrators are required to file a sworn inventory of property and to give bonds for payment of duty. When the inventory is not considered satisfactory a valuation may be directed to be made by the sheriff, which is subject to appeal to the Surrogate judge. The duty is payable at the death of the deceased or within eighteen months thereafter, after which interest at 6 per cent. is payable—until paid the duty is a lien upon the property. The duty, however, on any estate or interest to take effect in the future shall not be payable nor interest begin to run thereon until the person or persons shall come into actual possession of the estate or interest. The time for payment may be extended by order of the Surrogate judge on its being shown that payment is impossible owing to causes over which the person liable to pay the duty has no control. Executors, administrators and trustees must deduct duty before delivering the property, and they have power to sell so much of it as may be necessary to pay the duty. The duty is payable to the Provincial Treasurer, or as he may appoint. The payment may be enforced by the order of the Surrogate judge, after notice to all the parties interested in the property liable to duty. Regulations are made by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council to carry out the provisions of the act.

The object of the act is declared by its preamble to be to provide a fund for defraying part of the Provincial expenditure for asylums for the insane and idiots, and for institutions for the blind, and for deaf mutes, and towards the support of hospitals and other charities, which expenditure has greatly increased of late years, and is expected to continue doing so.

THE OTHER BIG FAIR.

Toronto has the show of the east as London has the show of the west. The exhibitions are rivals, but rivals only in trying to excel in point of attractiveness. There is no jealousy in London and the west over the phenomenal success of the Toronto Fair in times gone by, and we are assured that the exhibition which opens in the rival city on Sept. 5 and continues till the 17th will be in every sense a success. Western people who desire to visit Toronto cannot do better than go during the time of the fair, which will be well worth the time spent in inspection. It will do them good to see the Toronto fair, and then contrast it with the fair of the west, which will be held in London from Sept. 15 to 24. They cannot miss the Western, but if they can find time and opportunity to see the fair at Toronto also so much the better.

"SOCIETY" AS IT IS.

Mrs. Amelia E. Barr, in the North American Review for September, has an interesting article on "Not in Society." She discourses somewhat severely on society people and their ways. "Every community," she says, "now has a goodly number of these social dissenters—men and women who are 'not in society,' and who are neither pained nor shamed by the fact, but rather avow it with the complaisance of clever people who have found out a fraud. These social dissenters are by no means from the unknown or unimportant classes. They are usually people of distinction, who live well, dress fashionably, pay their bills, are blameless in character, courteous, hospitable, and with no taint of cynicism in their nature; yet they 'save themselves' from their fellows, and, without explanations or regrets, refuse to add one more to the hundreds of persons leading a life that has no attraction for them. But as a rule there are few conditions in life which are not many-sided and capable of being defended on every side. And we must first notice that social secessionists are expecting society to be what society never purposes or wishes to be, and that therefore they might as justly complain that a man is a hedger or ditcher when he might be a poet or a preacher. Society never yet set itself to be good or great. It has no higher mission than to promote social pleasure and order, and the qualifications it requires are not piety or intellect but the ability to dress well, to say a great deal about nothing, to lead a dance, to keep every tittle of the rigid traditional law of uniformities, and in all disputed questions, or doubtful positions to imitate that truly great and wise man, the Levite, rather than the officious, demonstrative Samaritan. We must, of course, admit that this is a low moral and intellectual plane, but it is a plane which satisfies the aspirations and capabilities of the majority who tarry there; and all things in life are not equally happy and justifiable."

This is rather a sweeping assertion. There are, in every community, society people and society people. There are those of whom the pen-photograph given by the writer is correct in every particular. They are social busybodies, who do little else than talk about frivolous matters and dabble, as far as they can safely do it, in petty scandals. On the other hand, there are estimable men and women who mix freely with their fellows, and thoroughly enjoy social intercourse on the higher intellectual plane. They may not be so numerous as the class criticised by Mrs. Barr. "A saving remnant" may be the best title to apply to them. But who can doubt that their influence, properly exerted, is great? Happy the man who can find time and opportunity and disposition to enjoy social intercourse on this higher plane. It is in pleasant contrast to the life of the society moths and butterflies who misspend so much of their lifetime, while obtaining no lasting benefits from their trifling. That "A little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men" is a truism few will care to gainsay. What we need to strike is the happy medium. There is altogether too much trifling, squandering of valuable time, even in our methods of social enjoyment. We do not by any means make the most of our opportunities.

TOPICS OF TO-DAY.

The fiction in Harper's Magazine for September includes short stories by A. Conan Doyle and Margaret Sidney, and the continuation of the two serials, "Jane Field," by Mary E. Wilkins, and "The World of Chance," by William Dean Howells.

* * *

Harper's Weekly contains a complete set of illustrations from photographs of the riots in Tennessee and around Buffalo. There is also a graphic and entertaining description of Pekin, the capital of China, copiously illustrated. This is the seventh installment in the important series "The Capitals of the World." Among many other attractions in the same number there is an article on "Buffalo Bill in London," with a number of striking illustrations by Frederick Remington.

* * *

Hon. Chauncey F. Black, of Pennsylvania, has written for the September Forum a frank review of the trouble at Homestead, in which he makes an effort to point out a remedy for such conflicts. He proposes the incorporation of labor organizations on the same plan and plane with organizations of capital. David A. Wells will publish an explanation of the Real Meaning of a Tariff for Revenue, in which he sets forth the Democratic doctrine, in a style meant for a scholarly and thorough campaign document. Also there will appear in the September Forum two "Studies in Immigration"—one of the Scandinavians in the Northwest, by Prof. Kendric C. Babcock, of the University of Minnesota, who is writing a history of the Scandinavian Settlement in his State; and the other about "The Mine Laborers in Pennsylvania," by Henry Rood, who has made a special study of the social and civil life of these people from Southern Europe.

* * *

The ex-Empress Eugenie is at present at her beautiful English home in Farnborough. Her hair has become white as snow, and she can walk only with the aid of a stick. Passers by the entrance to the park are now confronted with the large board, inscribed "Trespassers will be prosecuted. These grounds are private." This notice has been found necessary, owing to the repeated intrusion of strangers at times when the Empress is herself walking in the gardens when she always wishes to obtain complete privacy. The public are courteously admitted at certain hours upon proper application being made, and, of course, the road to the Mausoleum is always accessible during the time that building is open to the public. Here again, however, the Empress has been obliged to more strictly regulate the visits of strangers, for only the other day some avaricious individual had the impudence to steal her rosary off the desk in the chapel and flowers are repeatedly torn from the withered wreaths on the late Emperor's sarcophagus. When such acts occur, no wonder the people are debarred from many privileges they might otherwise enjoy. The Empress's seat and desk are now kept covered up, and the public are admitted four at a time only.

AN UNMITIGATED EVIL.

Hon. Adlai Stevenson Talks About the United States Tariff.

Protection a Delusion and a Snare for the Mechanic and Laborer,

And to the American Farmer a Hollow Mockery.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Aug. 28.—The Democratic national campaign in this State of Illinois was opened here yesterday with great enthusiasm. An immense crowd was present to hear Gen. Adlai Stevenson, the Vice-Presidential candidate; Senator John M. Palmer, Gen. Black and many noted Illinois Democratic leaders.

The tariff, said Gen. Stevenson in the course of his address, is the all-important issue of the campaign. The position of the two leading political parties upon that question cannot be misunderstood. The Republican party, as illustrated by its recent enactment of the McKinley law, stands for a high protective—in other words, a prohibitory tariff. The Democratic party, as emphasized by its utterances and its acts, is the advocate of tariff reform. The issue is squarely presented.

CLASS LEGISLATION.

After sketching the history of the high tariff, Mr. Stevenson said: The monopolists, growing year by year stronger and more powerful with the protection afforded them, demanded yet higher duties. In 1890 during the first session of the fifty-first Congress their demand was in substance for a prohibitory tariff. The response to this demand was the passage by a Republican Congress of the McKinley Bill. The avowed object of this bill was to check importation. Its purpose so to increase the rate of duties, as in many instances to exclude absolutely foreign goods from our markets, and thus by cutting off competition enable the home manufacturer without let or hindrance to fix the price of his wares. In a word, the McKinley law, by its prohibitory features, gave its beneficiaries a practical monopoly and enabled them, in fact, to levy an additional tax upon the consumer, to the extent that the duty had been increased. Was this legislation demanded by the people? Was it in their interest? Was it not class legislation of the most odious character—such legislation as enriches the few at the expense of the many?

It is worse than idle to speak of the benefits of the tariff to the American farmer. What he demands is both a foreign and a home market for the products of his farm. It is mockery to tell him he is protected against the corn and wheat products of the old world. While he is compelled to sell in the open markets of the world, he should be allowed the poor privilege of buying what his necessities require without paying high tribute to the protected classes of his own country. To the mechanic and laborer no less than to the farmer protection has proved

A DELUSION AND A SNARE.

In no instance has it opened up to the farmer "additional market for a pound of meat or a bushel of grain." Has it in a single instance given to the mechanic or laborer increased wages? The present high tariff adds largely to the cost of articles necessary to the comfort of the wage earner. How has he been benefited? Has it increased his wages? Has it in any manner benefited his condition? Recent events connected with the most highly protected establishments of this country sadly attest the fact that a high protective tariff affords no protection to those who earn their bread by daily toil. It was never intended to benefit them. Long enough has the wage-earner been deluded by the cry that high tariff means high wages. Tariffs have no effect on wages, except to diminish their purchasing power. The higher the tariff the less the purchasing power of the wages. Wages are governed by the great law of supply and demand. If the claim of the protectionist is well founded why have not the wages increased as tariffs have increased? Why constant reduction of wages in the most highly protected establishments in the land?

ROBBERY OF THE POOR BY THE RICH.

In his great speech against the high tariff corn laws in the British Parliament in 1843, the matchless orator, Daniel O'Connell said: "But what is the meaning of protection? It means an additional sixpence for each loaf; that is the Irish of it. If he had not the protection the loaf would sell for a shilling; but if he has protection it will sell for one and sixpence. Protection is the English for sixpence, and what is more, it is the English for an extorted sixpence. The real meaning of protection, therefore, is robbery—robbery of the poor by the rich."

I have shown that instead of a surplus of little less than $100,000,000 left by the Cleveland Administration, the treasury is now confronted by bankruptcy. This is the result in part of the reckless extravagance of a Republican Congress. It is in a large measure the

NECESSARY RESULT OF THE M'KINLEY TARIFF.

By that bill the treasury was deprived of $50,000,000 of revenue by repealing the sugar tax but, in order to compensate the sugar grower for this loss of the "protection" afforded him, $10,000,000 annually, for fifteen years, are to be paid him out of the treasury as a bounty. The consumer is to be deluded into the belief that he is the recipient of great benefits under the free sugar clause of this bill, while under another section of the same bill $10,000,000 are to be taken annually from the pockets of the taxpayers and given to the sugar growers. In addition to this, whatever benefit might come to the consumer by the free sugar clause of the bill is overbalanced many fold by the largely increased cost of woolen goods and of all other necessaries of life. The repeal of the sugar tax was simply intended to reconcile the consumer to the still greater taxes laid upon him. Heretofore, the persistent claim of the protectionist has been that tariff taxes are not paid by the consumer. Then why take so much credit to themselves for removing it? Is there not danger that the consumer may inquire, "If removing the tariff tax upon sugar lessens its cost, why would not the same blessed result follow a reduction of tariff taxes upon all the other necessaries of life?"

THE DEMOCRATIC RECORD.

The Democratic House of Representatives of the present Congress has passed a bill removing the increased duty imposed by the McKinley Bill upon tin plate, and providing that within a few years it shall go upon the free list. It has also passed the Free Wool and Cheap Clothing Bill, by which wool is admitted free of duty, and a large reduction sought to be effected in the tariff upon woolen goods of all descriptions. It has also removed the tariff upon binding twine. But for the hostility of a Republican Senate, these measures, so just, so beneficial to the people, would now be upon our statute books.

THE TAX ON RAW MATERIAL.

It is to the interest of manufacturer and consumer alike that in the main raw material be admitted free of duty. Working the raw material into the finished product would give employment to our skilled workmen. The reduction of tariff taxes to the minimum upon the necessaries of life is important to all of our people; it would prove of inestimable value to the millions who earn their bread by daily toil. To you the tariff is the all-important question. The question is not how much of your earnings shall be given to the support of the Government, but how much shall under the forms of law be seized by the favored—the "protected" classes.

The Democratic party wages no warfare on any business enterprise. We believe that the burdens of taxation should be equally distributed, and we oppose all legislation that enriches the few by taxing the many.

Hamilton would be better prepared to fight a cholera invasion had it fewer cesspools and stinking inlets.

A FRIEND: SOME DEFINITIONS.

[London Tit Bits.]

This is the prize definition:

> The first person who comes in when the whole world has gone out.

The following are some of the best definitions submitted:

A bank of credit on which we can draw supplies of confidence, counsel, sympathy, help and love.

One who considers my need before my deservings.

The Triple Alliance of the three great powers, Love, Sympathy and Help.

One who understands our silence.

A jewel, whose luster the strong acids of poverty and misfortune cannot dim.

One who smiles on our fortunes, frowns on our faults, sympathizes with our sorrows, weeps at our bereavements and is a safe fortress at all times of trouble.

One who, having gained the top of the ladder, won't forget you if you remain at the bottom.

One who in prosperity does not toady you, in adversity assists you, in sickness nurses you and after your death marries your widow and provides for your children.

The holly of life, whose qualities are over-shadowed in the summer of prosperity, but blossom forth in the winter of adversity.

He who does not adhere to the saying that No. 1 should come first.

A watch which beats true for all time and never "runs down."

An insurance against misanthropy.

An earthly minister of heavenly happiness.

A friend is like ivy—the greater the ruin, the closer he clings.

One who to himself is true, and therefore must be so to you.

The same to-day, the same to-morrow, either in prosperity, adversity or sorrow.

One who combines for you alike the pleasures and benefits of society and solitude.

One who acts as a balance in the see-saw of life.

One who guards another's interest as sacredly as his own and neither flatters nor deceives.

A nineteenth century rarity.

One who will tell you of your faults and follies in prosperity and assist you with his hand and heart in adversity.

One truer to me than I am to myself.

"August Flower"

For two years I suffered terribly with stomach trouble, and was for all that time under treatment by a physician. He finally, after trying everything, said stomach was about worn out, and that I would have to cease eating solid food for a time at least. I was so weak that I could not work. Finally on the recommendation of a friend who had used your preparations with beneficial results, I procured a bottle of August Flower, and commenced using it. It seemed to do me good at once. I gained in strength and flesh rapidly; my appetite became good, and I suffered no bad effects from what I ate. I feel now like a new man, and consider that August Flower has entirely cured me of Dyspepsia in its worst form. JAMES E. DEDERICK, Saugerties, New York.

BASEBALL

NINE TO NOTHING.

Hurrah for the Alerts!—the champions of the west.

They won that honor Saturday afternoon by the score of 9 to 0—so the umpire said; and what the umpire says ought to go—if his decision is right. It was in this instance.

They defeated the Blues, a team having headquarters at Tilsonburg, but composed of players from all over—a miscellaneous assortment of amateurs, professionals and ex-professionals upon whose banner victory perched in their recent eastern tour, but came "off the perch" when they struck the crack club of the Forest City on Tecumseh Park. These same Blues, however, put up a good article of ball, and in was the entrance of a fine contest, combined with the interesting fact that upon the result depended practically the baseball supremacy of Western Ontario for this season, that drew out such a splendid audience. It was one of the old-time crowds; the attendance and enthusiasm went to show that the national game is by no means dead here and that it only needed first-class ball to bring about a live resurrection. There were between 1,200 and 1,500 people present, including many leading citizens and scores of the fair sex.

The Alerts went first to bat and had to face the delivery of Pete Wood. The first of the Blues to step up to the plate was Andrus, the celebrated professional right-fielder, specially imported for the occasion. He secured first on a fumbled hit, and his reputation as a base-runner created the impression that he would soon make the circuit. Grant was the laugh, therefore, when Webber nipped him at second. Andrus never reached the initial bag again, as he failed to find the ball safely. His coaching was enjoyed immensely by the crowd, but it did not have its intended effect in rattling Hiscott. Fred and Pete Wood made singles and came home on Hutchinson's hit to center. Rallas fouled out and Anderson died to left, retiring the side with two runs. An error by Arthur, a hit by Hutchinson and a beautiful drive to left by Rallas brought in two more in the fourth. Apart from this the Blues failed to do anything at bat.

With the score 4 to 0 at the end of the sixth, the prospects of the Alerts were "nine," indeed, and the home sympathizers had had little chance to "let themselves out." Most of the "exercising" had been done by a delegation of Tilsonburg "rooters," who did some lusty howling. But in the first half of the seventh affairs took a turn for the better, from the local point of view. Ball got first on an error. Burton made a single, advancing Ball a base. Webber died to third and Ball was caught by a double play. Two men out and no runs—dope fail to zero. It rose again when Sheers knocked a pretty one to center, and Burton came home amid the wildest cheering, which was renewed when Hiscott followed with a single to right, sending Sheers to third. Player was pitched four bad balls and the bases were filled. The excitement became intense. "He's rattled!" "They're getting on to him!" "He's played out!" and many other such remarks were applied to Pitcher Pete Wood, who had until that stage of the game been almost invincible. The crowd were now thoroughly warmed up and cheering broke out again when Hynd was hit with a pitched ball and Sheere was forced home. Then came the crisis. With Hiscott, Player and Hynd on bases, Arthur hit safely to the left. Hiscott started for home and Player and Hynd for third and second respectively. F. Wood threw to second to cut off Hynd, who evidently got there in advance of the ball. Hiscott in the meantime scored and the audience was in a paroxysm of enthusiasm. They were astounded the next moment by hearing Umpire Harris, of Tilsonburg, pronounce Hynd out at second. He was so apparently safe that the crowd could hardly credit the decision. The Alerts began to question his judgment, and in an instant the diamond swarmed with the crowd and the unfortunate Harris was surrounded by a surging mass of indignant humanity. He was given a thorough tongue-thrashing, but no violence was offered him. The Blues started towards the gate, vowing they would not play again. The Alerts coaxed them not to break up the game and the visitors half yielded and began to retrace their steps. The field was cleared and the spectators sought their seats again. But the Blues changed their minds once more and filed out of the grounds to the disgust of the crowd. The Alerts offered to continue with the same umpire, but their opponents professed that they were afraid of being mobbed, though protection was guaranteed them. The Alerts then took their places on the diamond, Hiscott pitched a few balls over the plate and "Billy" Reid, of this city, who had been umpiring ball and strikes while Harris was watching the bases, gave them the victory by a score of 9 to 0. The crowd cheered and dispersed. Harris' decision was given at a critical time. The result of the game seemed to depend on it, as had Hynd been pronounced safe the Alerts had every chance to win. If the umpire had any doubt, the runner, by the rules of the game, should have been given the benefit of it. Fred Wood, who threw the ball, declined to say whether Hynd was out or not when questioned by a reporter. Catcher Anderson was heard to remark that he thought the runner was safe. No matter what the decision was, it was too bad that the game broke up in the way it did and that the Blues did not return to finish it out. The crowd was wrong in flocking on the diamond, but they would assuredly have let the visitors play it out unmolested. It is to be hoped that the Alerts and Blues will continue to be good friends, as teams so evenly matched can afford genuine pleasure to the lovers of baseball.

The following was the score up to the first half of the seventh inning:

NOTES.

The Blues have a star in Hutchinson.

Rallas, the Blues' first baseman, lives in St. Thomas, and is an ex-professional.

Andrus left Sunday to play with the Cobourg team. He is a fine fellow and is well paid by his amateur friends.

The receipts will swell the Alerts' treasury. Had the Blues remained they would have had their share of it.

The impression is strong that Pete Wood's arm was getting very weary in the seventh.

Johnson made a beautiful catch of a hot liner. Ed is a player of whom any team might feel proud.

Six of the visiting nine are Londoners and ex-Londoners. Pete and Fred Wood live here, and Jeff Wood, Ward, McPhail and Anderson are former residents.

Sheers and Burton gathered in some nice flies. Both teams fielded splendidly.

Umpire Harris was treated better Saturday than Umpire Phil Powers was at Tilsonburg, where the latter was disgracefully assaulted.

An interesting technical point arose. Arthur at short was discovered lifting the ball, and threw it to Hiscott. "That's a balk," yelled Andrus to Hiscott; "you were in the box." "I had one foot out of the box," replied Hiscott, and the crowd laughed.

THE STARS SHINE AT GALT.

The Stars, of this city, visited Galt on Saturday, and in an exciting and splendidly played game defeated the crack team of that town by the close score of 4 to 3. The features of the match were the good stick work of the home team and the fine fielding of the visitors. The attendance was large. The score:

HANDLY THE CROWN.

The following dispatch which has been sent the rounds from Tilsonburg is hardly true as Umpire Harris had no authority to award the game to the Blues. Umpire Reid's decision in favor of the Alerts having the preference because the latter was behind the bat: "TILSONBURG, Ont., Aug. 27.—A game of baseball was played to-day between the Blues, of Tilsonburg, and the Alerts, of London, on the latter's grounds. At the end of the sixth inning the score was four to nothing in favor of the Blues. In the middle of the seventh inning the crowd, to the number of 1,000 or more, rushed on the diamond and prevented the game from proceeding for over twenty minutes, when Umpire Harris gave the game to the Blues, nine to nothing."

FLYS.

The Alerts expect to play Cobourg and Hamilton here shortly.

The Stars of this city would like to meet the Blues of Tilsonburg or the Alerts. There are few stronger teams in the country than the Stars.

The Athletics, of South London, and the Atlantics indulged in a friendly game of baseball Friday afternoon on the Erie grounds, the former nine being victorious by the score of 5 to 3. Batteries—Turner, Durkin and Culbert; Howell, Wilson, Milroy and Stein. Umpire—W. Temple.

THE TURF.

MORELLO WINS THE FUTURITY, WORTH $75,000.

SHEEPSHEAD BAY, L. I., Aug. 28.—The great Futurity was won by a horse that, under ordinary conditions, would not have been permitted to leave his stable, and Morello, beneath clouded skies, before only 10,000 spectators and over a track deep in mud, captured the great event, by two lengths, from August Belmont's Lady Violet. While the winner stood at the post before the race had started saliva fell from his nostrils to the track in profuse quantities, and those who had gathered to witness the seventeen contestants struggle for the big Futurity stake were astounded beyond description to see this colt win the $75,000 prize by two open lengths from Lady Violet. After a ten-minutes delay in getting the flag in a good start, with Lovelace in first place on the rail, he was outpaced in the opening sixteenth by the Belladonna colt, on which Hamilton was endeavoring to make a runaway race. At the bend into the home stretch proper, or as the end of three furlongs, Morello was seen to be breaking through from the bunch. At the half mile post he was at the Belladonna colt's neck, and Hamilton began to whip Keene's colts in a desperate but futile attempt to retain first place. Nearing the last furlong post Hayward went up in the air and came down with vicious severity on Morello's ride. He then took a line in each hand and began to ride the game son of Enquirer, who was right at home in the mud his daddy loved so well. From that point to the finish it was no race at all, Morello easily outspeeding all of his opponents and winning, eased up in the last dozen strides, by two lengths in 1:12 1-5—nothing good time considering the heavy condition of the track. Garrison rode one of his old-time finishes on Lady Violet, but she had met her master and could only struggle for second, beating the Belladonna colt a neck for second money. As a great horse race it was a failure, all the glory going to the winner for his gameness in running such a grand race in the face of his severe attack of influenza. At the close Morello's rider, Wm. Hayward, was lifted into the floral chair adorned with a horseshoe bearing the letters "Futurity" in pinks. Hayward gets $7,000 for his mount.

GRAND RAPIDS DRIVING CLUB.

GRAND RAPIDS, Aug. 28.—At the recent big meeting meeting here, in which $50,000 was offered in purses, the association lost $24,000, about half of which was in premiums. Last night the members held a meeting and reorganized under the name of "Grand Rapids Driving Club." The new club will pay up all the debts, increase the capital stock and get ready for another big meeting next year.

CRICKET.

The London Cricket Club commence an eastern tour on Sept. 5. They play Toronto on the 6th, East Toronto on the 6th and Hamilton on the 7th.

JUST FOR FUN.

A friendly match was played Saturday between cricket elevens from No. 1 Company, R. C. I. and the London Cricket Club on the latter's grounds. The military men were defeated by a score of 123 to 80. Evans and Barker made double figures for No. 1 Company. Ed. Hall's 50 not out and George Macbeth's 25 were well played for. Lorne Becher and George Harris had 18 and 12 respectively to their credit. Pope and Sippi proved of service to the red-coats in the bowling department, while Sayers, in the other side, moved down the wickets with success. The score:

TEAM FOR THE INTERNATIONAL MATCH.

TORONTO, Aug. 28.—The team chosen to represent Canada in the international cricket match at Philadelphia next month has been chosen as follows: Rev. F. W. Terry, W. Jones and J. M. Laing, of Toronto; L. Coate, G. D. Worden and W. T. Bristowe, Ottawa; W. A. Henry and S. G. Bengough, Halifax; A. Gillespie and A. F. R. Martin, Hamilton, and D. J. Bacon, London. Substitutes—D. W. Saunders, Toronto; W. R. Marshall, Hamilton, and G. R. Atkinson, Chatham. W. A. Henry will captain the team.

THE WHEEL.

The pneumatic tire has come to stay; at least a big manufacturer says so. The safety, too, will in all probability remain the most popular wheel, although the new geared ordinary will find many friends.

TORONTO VICTORIOUS AT MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 27.—Toronto carried off all the principal prizes of the annual race meeting of the Montreal Bicycle Club this afternoon. Notwithstanding the very uncomfortable weather a couple of thousand people gathered on the grounds between the races. The track was in splendid condition, but there was no record-breaking.

AQUATIC.

KENNY BROKE THE MILE SWIMMING RECORD.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 28.—Four thousand people saw Arthur Thomas Kenny, of the Philadelphia Amateur Swimming Club, break the world's record Saturday afternoon in the Schuylkill River at Lafayette at the Amateur Athletic Union swimming races for the championship of the United States. In addition to breaking the mile record by covering the distance in 28:45 3-5, Kenny won the 100 yards event in 1:18 1-5. The one-mile race was with a turn, and this, giving the swimmer half of the way with the tide and half against it, neutralized matters, and the record will not be disputed. Kenny won easily by 65 yards. Kenny is the half-mile champion of Australia and is a dental student at the University of Pennsylvania. Kenny recently won the 100-yard and one-mile races at Montreal for the Canadian championship.

100 yards—Arthur Thomas Kenny won, Thomas Carey, New York, second; Normanie, N. Y. A. C., third. Time, 1:18 1-5.

One mile—A. T. Kenny won, A. Meffert, M. A. C., second, Earnest Crowther, P. S. C., third. Time, 28:45 3-5.

The previous best world's mile record was 29:25½, made in a lake at London, Eng., in 1877, by Horace Davenport.

LACROSSE.

A DRAW AT WOODSTOCK.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Aug. 27.—A game of lacrosse played here yesterday afternoon between Paris and Woodstock was declared a draw owing to rain. The Woodstocks won the first goal in five minutes and Paris took the second after an hour's play.

SEAFORTH DEFAULTS TO WALKERTON.

WALKERTON, Ont., Aug. 27.—The semi-final in the Saugeen lacrosse district, set down by the C. L. A. judiciary to be played here yesterday between the Seaforth and Walkerton clubs, did not take place, the former club failing to appear.

CORNWALL VS. TORONTO.

TORONTO, Aug. 27.—The Cornwall-Toronto lacrosse match to-day resulted in favor of Cornwall 3 to 1. Cornwall took the second, third and fourth games in 13, 22 and 9 minutes.

STRATFORD VS. PARIS.

PARIS, Ont., Aug. 27.—About 3,000 people were at Riverview Park here to-day, and witnessed what was without exception the finest lacrosse match ever played in this town. The game was between the Stratford and Paris clubs, one of the series of the association. The Stratfords were the victors by four games to three.

Burned in Its Cradle.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Aug. 28.—Yesterday Mrs. William Hertel went out to purchase some groceries, and as it was early she left her four children lying in bed. Before going out she locked the house up. During her absence a fire started. A passer-by broke in the door and rescued three of the children, but did not see the baby in the cradle, and the little one was burned to death.

A Bridegroom in Hard Luck.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 28.—Walter Silbernitt quarreled with his sweetheart in St. Louis. In desperation he enlisted in the United States army. He had been a soldier but a few days when she wrote him, asking him to return. He deserted, and, marrying the young woman, came to this city. The receiving officers discovered his whereabouts and he was locked up.

"A Crown of Glory."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 28.—The letter of acceptance of Gen. John Bidwell, of California, nominee of the Prohibition party for President, has been given out for publication. The letter is long and discusses the principles of the party as enunciated in the Cincinnati platform. Referring to the question of woman's suffrage he urges immediate emancipation of women. The nation that first gives women equal rights with men, he says, will earn a crown of imperishable glory.

Big Shark in Newark Bay.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug. 28.—Excitement prevails among Newark Bay fishermen over a monster shark which has appeared in the bay the last few days. Those who have seen the shark say it is at least fifteen feet long and that its fins are four feet apart. "Billy" Dixon, a veteran fisherman, accompanied by C. F. Smith, a merchant, sighted the shark at the Central Railroad trawbridge and tried to bait him with three pounds of fresh meat, but without success. He swam around for a few minutes in close proximity to the bait and then disappeared. The shark made his first appearance last Tuesday, when he badly frightened Georga Carmon, an oysterman, by making a dash at his skiff. Carmon struck at the fish with an oar and the shark vanished. Half a dozen other fishermen have seen him since then and they are talking of getting up a big hunt to capture the monster.

Purity, Strength and Fine Flavor are the qualities found in the "Para Gold" brand of Flavoring Extracts. 3

Speculation in Cheese.

Probably no previous season has witnessed such a large amount of speculation in cheese as has taken place this year, short sales having been the rule from the very commencement of the season. It is now reported that about 50,000 boxes of September cheese have been sold for future delivery at around 30s c. i. f., Liverpool, a portion of which have, it is said, already been covered. Further contracts have been made in the Belleville section at 10c to 10½c, about 12 factories having been secured this week at those prices for August, September and October. It is reported that 10½c has been bid for other factories in the same district. In this market $100 has been paid for the privilege of putting 1,000 boxes of September or October goods at 10½c in December or January next.—[Montreal Trade Bulletine.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—Miss Dean, of Buffalo, is the guest of Mrs. J. Tune, York street.

—The last Port Stanley swimmer of the season will be run Wednesday.

—Hundreds of boys and girls gathered up their neglected books this morning and hied away to school.

—Mr. Frank Love, city, leaves this evening for Detroit, where he will act as commissioner in an important law suit.

—E. C. Babcock, of the Bay City, Mich., Bicycle Club, passed through here this afternoon on his wheel en route to Buffalo.

—At the annual Caledonian games in Montreal on Saturday, James S. Bell, of this city, took first prize in the quoiting match.

—Massachusetts Conclave, No. 12, Knights of Pythias, passed through the city this morning on their way home from the Kansas City convention.

—At Sunday evening's service in St. Paul's Cathedral the Dean of Huron made touching reference to the sad death of Mrs. James Priddis, a member of the congregation, who had worked faithfully and zealously.

—Wm. McDonald, proprietor of Coote's hotel, opposite the Asylum, has been summoned to appear before Squire Lacey to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock on a charge of having sold liquor on Sunday, Aug. 14.

—Attention is called to the reopening announcement in the ADVERTISER'S amusement column of Messrs. Dayton and McCormick's Palace Dancing Academy. All the beginners' classes commence their first term next week.

—Mr. P. J. Boyle leaves to-day for Hamilton as delegate from Branch No. 4, C. M. B. A., to attend the annual meeting of the Grand Council of that body. Mr. Samuel R. Brown, grand secretary, will also attend in his official capacity.

—A correspondent writes to say that if it were possible for the dog-catchers to operate on Sunday they would reap a big harvest, as there were a great many stray dogs abroad yesterday. He says that in his locality people who have no checks for their dogs keep them tied up all week and let them out on Sunday for an airing.

—Misses Boak and Rudd, of Askin street school, South London, who passed their examination as assistant kindergartners at the recent examination in this city, left for Toronto on Saturday. They will take a course at the Normal School, and in all probability earn a certificate that will entitle them to take full charge of a kindergarten.

—The magnificent car Jeannette passed through the city yesterday having as passengers a select body of Pythian Knights en route from Kansas City to Boston. Among the passengers was Louie J. Harris, president of the Harris Car Company, Boston, and the designer of the Jeannette. The car is a combined sleeper and day coach and a veritable palace on wheels. Mr. Harris showed a number of local people thought it.

—Mr. James Fairburn, superintendent of the Stevens & Burns works, was made the recipient Saturday by the workmen of the establishment of a handsome leather easy chair, accompanied by an address testifying to the good feeling existing between all parties and as a token of the esteem in which Mr. Fairburn is held by his fellow-employes. Mr. Fairburn briefly responded in terms expressive of his pleasure at the handsome present which they had given him and assuring them he should long remember his old friends at the works.

The National Convention.

This evening at 8 o'clock, at Victoria Hall, the local organization will be effected, and selection of officers, also of delegates to the Des Moines convention of the Boys' and Girls' National Home and Employment Association. All should assist in this reform movement, that Canada may cooperate with the United States in caring for homeless, dependent children on the most approved plan. It is of much importance to the taxpayer.

Matrimonial.

The marriage is announced in this issue of Miss May Stevens, youngest daughter of Mayor Stevens, to Mr. F. G. Walley, druggist, of London, son of Mr. G. W. Walley, of Ingersoll. The ceremony was performed at Bracebridge on Monday last by the Rev. Mr. Clarke, pastor of the Methodist Church of that place, and the news received here this morning was quite unexpected, no cards having been issued. After the ceremony the young couple returned to Keewaydin, where Mayor Stevens and his family are spending the summer, and were accorded a hearty reception by the residents of the island. The bride is a popular and talented young lady, a favorite with all who have the pleasure of her acquaintance, and the groom is of sterling worth and manly character.—[Ingersoll Tribune.

Helping to Boom Chicago.

Another Canadian family has removed to the western metropolis. About three months ago the firm of Deacon & Small, hotel-keepers, was dissolved, and Wm. A. Small, the retiring partner, accepted a lucrative situation on the World's Fair grounds in Chicago as superintendent of the blacksmith shops. Recently Mr. Small was invited to become a shareholder in a company to manufacture a popular new Russian drink. The Russian consul was one of the directors, and at a late meeting Mr. Small was offered the position of manager of the company at a liberal salary. He accepted, and yesterday he returned with his family to his new home after a few days' visit with his old friends here. The company will sell its manufactures only in Chicago until after the World's Fair, and agencies will then be formed throughout the continent. The many friends of Mr. Small will be pleased to hear of his success.

Marriage of a Former Londoner.

A quiet but still a very interesting marriage ceremony was performed this morning at 11:30 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. W. A. McIntosh, 124 McWilliam street. The principals in the event were Mr. J. B. Grimshaw, late assistant secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Victoria, B. C., and who has just been appointed general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., New Westminster, and Miss Emma McIntosh, a very estimable young lady of this city. Prior to his removal to the coast Mr. Grimshaw was, for a considerable period, a resident of this city, where he made a large number of friends. The bride's many friends in the First Baptist Church have shown their appreciation of her in a very substantial manner, and to-day presented her with a handsome silver tea service, accompanied by a suitable address. In the ceremony to-day the groom was supported by Mr. W. R. Bartlett, and the bride was attended by Miss Bella McIntyre. Mr. and Mrs. Grimshaw take their departure for the coast with the very best wishes of a large circle of friends.—[Winnipeg Daily Tribune. The groom's parents reside in South London, and he has many friends here.

Death of Mrs. Ed. Palmer.

The many friends of Mr. Ed. Palmer, of Detroit, but who for many years was a well-known tobacconist on Richmond street in this city, will be pained to hear of the death of his estimable wife, which sad event occurred at Detroit on Saturday night. The deceased lady was only ill about a week, the trouble being an abscess of the stomach, and death was not unexpected. Mrs. Palmer was a daughter of the well-known citizen, Mr. Wm. Kelly, and was married to Mr. Palmer, 28 years ago. She was born in Blenheim township in 1839, coming to this city with her husband from Buffalo at the close of the American war 27 years ago, and had resided here continuously till a couple of years ago, when Mr. Palmer and his family removed to Detroit. She leaves, besides her husband, three sons and one daughter, George and Alva, both married and settled in Milwaukee, and Ralph and May at the home in Detroit. The body arrived in this city by the noon train, and was interred at Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. Robert Henderson, John Balkwell, Wm. J. Craig and Soper.

Miss O'Brien Appears Again.

Another big crowd of spectators was at the Police Court this morning to see Miss Lizzie O'Brien, of Buffalo, who has of late become notorious on account of her strange conduct and strange doings. She had her wits about her and was ready for anything that might come. Detective Rider sat beside her on a bench in front of the prisoners' cage and to him she chatted freely while justice was being meted out to the other prisoners. J. C. Judd appeared as her counsel. A city druggist has laid an information charging her with obtaining goods, valued at $6, under false pretenses. Mrs. A. G. McLeod, the first complainant against Miss O'Brien, is in Toronto and unable to attend court, so both cases were adjourned by consent for a week. As the prisoner was leaving the court she turned towards the crowd of spectators and waving her handkerchief said, "This is the dead march."

Mary Cameron and Viola Fellows, two neighbors living on Piccadilly street, were bound over to keep the peace. The latter had charged the former with threatening her, and each made the necessary declaration that she was afraid of the other.

Adam Graeme, of Mossgray.

By Mrs. Oliphant.

"And he was like that?" said Isabell. Do ye think I dinna ken that nae fremd man could be like that? will you tell me what they ca'ed him? Ye'll read in books whiles o' gentles for their ain pleasure taking anither name—it bid to be Mr. Hew."

"His name was Grant," said Lilias, "he was not Mr. Hew; he was a young man—quite young."

"And what should he be else but young?" said the little old woman, pattering up and down with her short, unequal, agitated steps. "Div ye think he's withered and auld like me? I tell ye he is the gallantest lad ye ever set your e'e upon; ye may ca' that like him, but it's naething till him—the spark that was in his bonnie e'en, and his brent broo—as if I dinna mind! If he was far blithe and lightsomer like than that, and yet had a face that could be wae when need was, for ither folk afore himsel; and if he had a presence o' his ain that gar't ye bow, and a smile that made ye fain; then I say it was Mr. Hew ye saw, and nae ither living man!"

There was some wonderful power in the old woman's words. The sad pale head of Lilias slowly followed her motions as if by some magnetic attraction. She did not speak; but as Isabell ceased, she closed her eyelids painfully, perhaps the better to see again the person thus truthfully described—perhaps to shut in the tears.

The housekeeper pattered up and down for a while in silence; at length she stopped short immediately before Lilias, and repeated with emphasis—

"I'm telling ye it was Mr. Hew."

"It was not Mr Hew, Isabell," said Lilias gently, as she rose to go away. "It was one whose home is very far from this; who came from the northern islands far away; and it is a mere fancy of mine that he is like the portrait. He was not Mr. Hew."

Isabell was not satisfied—she accompanied her visitor to the door with many mutterings; "the kindly face" could belong only to a Murray, "it bid to be Mr. Hew."

Lilias turned away across the unsafe bridge, and went hastily up a steep lane which led to the Fendie high-road; she was not going home, and excited and anxious as she was, she could not bear the meditative calm of the waterside.

It was a somewhat long walk, and Lilias was not like herself; her feverish hasty pace and the painful flushes of color which now and then crossed her brow were unnatural. It was the first time she had been tried by this trial—the deadly anxiety with which we shiver and burn, when our sole hope is in peril, and there comes to us no tidings. She thought she could endure to hear of any certain calamity, but that blank of suspense was terrible to her—she could not bear it.

There had been mail after mail from the far East, but no letter for Lilias; and this was the day again. She had gone to Murrayshaugh to fill up the feverish blank of those slow moments; to look once more upon the face which never perhaps she should look upon with faith and trust again; and now she was hurrying to the decision of all those tremulous doubts and fears; if there was a letter to-day—and if there was none—

Her lips were parched—they would hardly meet to ask that question—"No." Lilias looked into the postmaster's face wistfully again; she would not hear the denial. "No, there were no letters for Miss Maxwell."

And immediately there fell upon her a dead calm; a dull slow pain of quietness. She went out in her noiseless way, and glided down the street like a shadow; her heart was sick—she could have seated herself by the roadside, and wept out the slow tears that were gathering under her eyelids, unconscious of any passers-by; but those who did pass by saw only the grave, pale, pensive Lily of Mossgray. The fever was over—there remained no present hope to distract her now, and she was calm again.

And then she began to think, and labored bravely to put away from her those doubts and fears—but Lilias had not the impulsive energy of hope; the elastic life which can fight and wrestle with sorrow at its strongest, was not in her; but she could do what the more buoyant could not have done—she could wait—and knowing the time that she must wait, she became calm.

She had intended going home, but as the shock softened, she changed her purpose. She went to borrow hope from Helen Buchanan, in one of those sudden yearnings for gentle company, with which sad hearts are sometimes seized. In her hush and faintness she wanted to have some living thing come in between her and her secret pain—she wanted to forget herself.

It was a holiday with Helen, and she was in a holiday mood, withstanding, with her natural enthusiasm, the gloomy dogmas of Mrs. Gray, who was making a gracious call upon Mrs. Buchanan. Mrs. Buchanan did not much like the melancholy lady; her sanguine gentle temper recoiled from the somber atmosphere which suited Mrs. Gray; but she was Mrs. Whyte's sister, and a very respectable acquaintance for Helen; so the good mother submitted pleasantly.

"Are you ill, Lilias?" said Helen.

"No, Helen, It is nothing," answered Lilias, gently. It was her universal answer; the melancholy cloud was indeed very visible, but she would not speak of the cause.

"My dear," said Mrs. Gray—she was very affectionate, this good doleful woman—her very gloom increased her tenderness; "I'm very much afraid you are not taking sufficient care of yourself. I am sure you got damp feet that day you were at the manse, and Elizabeth would never think of asking you to change them. Elizabeth is really very careless about damp feet; she never heeds them herself, and I have known many a one get a consumption with them. You are looking very white, my dear; you must really take care."

"I am quite well, Mrs. Gray," said Lilias; "perfectly well, I assure you."

Mrs. Gray shook her head.

"Really, my dear, people never know. We are well to-day, and ill to-morrow; it is a strange world."

The proposition in this case being very abstract no one controverted it.

"When I see," continued Mrs. Gray, oratorically, "young people going out on the world with such false notions as most of them have, poor things, it grieves me, Mrs. Buchanan. So little as there is to enjoy after all, even if they get all they expect."

Mrs. Buchanan, like Mr. Oswald, had an old-fashioned prejudice that there was something orthodox in all this; a prejudice which made her diffident of answering.

"Poor things!" she echoed, with a slight falter; "but after all, Mrs. Gray, we had light hearts in our own youth, and why should we discourage them? Sorrow aye comes soon enough."

A sigh from Lilias sounded like an assent, and the Lily of Mossgray indeed bent her head and assented. She began to believe that sorrow—nothing but sorrow—was the common lot.

But Helen's face was flushing—her small head growing erect. Mrs. Gray turned round—she was no coward—to face her vowed antagonist.

"Miss Buchanan, my dear, I am speaking the truth. People say that the happiest part of life is youth; now just look at yourself. Toiling and laboring with these children; wearied with them every night, but just having to begin again every morning! with little time to yourself—to visit your friends, or read or whatever you might choose. My dear, just look at it yourself. What have you to enjoy?"

Helen started.

"I have all the world—not this little humble house—not that school-room only; but the earth, and the sky, and the sea! Look at them—look at what God gives us—the sunshine and the clouds—the hills and the rivers—and you ask me what I have to enjoy? I have all the world; the weariness and the rest, the labor and the sleep, the night and the day, they are all given us, waiting our pleasures like the spirits of the old dreams. There is no one born into the earth who is not born rich, richer than kings, for we have all the world."

Mrs. Gray was not prepared to answer this; she turned away to look from the window at the flowers, and prudently shook her head, half at the wild doctrine, and half at the eager manner; but she tilted no more at that time with Helen.

"Will you walk up with me to Mossgray, Helen?" said Lilias, in the subdued melancholy voice which made the petition more urgent than a command; and Helen consented at once. As they descended the steps at the bridge, and waded through the long, thick grass, which spreed between the backs of the Fendie houses and the river, the pensive calm of Lilias touched the variable spirit of her friend. They began to talk in that tone of half-playful sadness which veils over griefs which the speakers would not tell. It is the mood of speculation; and they were neither of them too old for the girlish dreamy fancies, half-superstitious, which belong to our imaginative years.

I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

Diarrhea and Vomiting.

Gentlemen,—About five weeks ago I was taken with a very severe attack of diarrhea and vomiting. The pain was almost unbearable and I thought I could not live till morning, but after I had taken the third dose of Fowler's Wild Strawberry the vomiting ceased, and after the sixth dose the diarrhea stopped, and I have not had the least symptom of it since.

The Grain Fields.

—When to cut the corn for either silage or the old process of curing seems generally conceded to be at the glazing stage of the kernels. This condition occurs at a much earlier date than many suppose, and should be closely watched for. The grain does not improve by standing uncut longer, while the value of the fodder deteriorates rapidly. Nowhere does promptness pay better dividends than in cutting the corn on time.

—The New Zealand wheat crop this year shows a wonderful expansion as compared with last year. This year, throughout the colony, 402,273 acres of wheat were harvested, as compared with 301,400 acres in 1891, an increase of 100,810 acres. The yield was estimated at 10,257,738 bushels, as compared with 5,723,610 bushels in the previous year. These figures show the large increase of 4,534,128 bushels upon the crop of the previous year, and will provide a large surplus for export.

—Prof. Henry, of the Wisconsin experiment station, found, by thorough experiment, that of $100 worth of corn product $37 was in the stalks and $63 in he ears. It may be well to bear this in mind the present season and see if some practical means can not be put in action to save the stalks in better shape. There has been and will be yet a tearful waste of values of money already earned in the shape of wasted corn fodder. Some farmers say they have not help enough to save the fodder rightly. It is hard to see how they can make money by growing so many acres of corn that they must lose over one-third of its value in order to save two-thirds. Less acres and more thorough work will solve the problem.

The Poultry Yard.

—The best hen is the one that lays high priced eggs. They begin in the fall and keep right at it until the next summer. This kind of hen never roosts in trees through the winter.

—Unfertilized eggs keep better than those that are fertilized, and hens lay as well or better without male accompaniment. Kill off the cocks, therefore, as soon as the hatching season is over, as their usefulness is gone.

—There is a large amount of vegetables thrown away every year because they are too small for marketing. Most of these are good poultry feed, and if chopped fine, so as to be easily eaten, they will come handy for winter feeding when vegetables are scarce. Laying hens suffer from too concentrated grain rations. All the odds and ends should be saved. Something will eat them, and in this saving may come profit where otherwise loss would be inevitable.

—It is in late summer and fall that pure bred fowls can be bought for a small sum. The breeders are now overstocked with birds, and are anxious to reduce them. They usually retain the young stock until fully matured, so as to select their prize-winning males and females. When this is done the surplus is sold. This surplus may really be the best of the flocks, as breeders select more for a few useless points than for vigor or utility, and those who buy now will be able to get better stock than by waiting until spring. It is not easy to procure hens or pullets of the pure breed in the spring without paying a greater sum than many are willing to give, but at this season prices are within the reach of all. If pullets are not desired, the object should be to secure a male or two, in order to grade up the common flocks. If this is done, the improvement will be so satisfactory as to impress the importance of the use of pure breeds entirely.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil, is ear ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, in which the young are specially subject.

The Bible is being translated into the Corean language.

LAWRENCE, KANS., U.S.A., Aug. 9, 1888.

George Patterson fell from a second story window, striking a fence. I found him using

ST. JACOBS OIL.

He used it freely all over his bruises. I saw him next morning at work. All the blue spots rapidly disappeared, leaving neither pain, scar nor swelling. C. K. NEUMANN, M. D.

ANTI-DANDRUFF

Anti-Dandruff acts directly on the scalp, removes all Impurities, cures Eruptions, prevents Baldness and causes the hair to grow thick, soft and beautiful. No sugar of lead or any other poisonous ingredient is contained in the formula. It is a new departure as a hair preparation and contains properties unknown to any other preparation. Be careful to get Anti-Dandruff, manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co. Toronto, Ont.

If a dealer tells you he has something just as good as Anti-Dandruff do not believe it; he has not and would not make such statement if he knew the ingredients of Anti-Dandruff. We have paid for and have received from the Trade Mark Office at Ottawa papers showing that we are the only persons in Canada entitled to use Anti-Dandruff as an advertising design or such name to a specific preparation. Any preparation advertised to the public in which advertisement of Anti-Dandruff is used is a fraud and will be dealt with accordingly.

When a barber tells you he has something better than Anti-Dandruff take no stock in the statement; there is nothing so good, therefore nothing better. Barbers, like other business men, will wake up to the fact that a preparation of merit like Anti-Dandruff and one that is far superior to any preparation for the hair now known must come to the front. Try it once with your patrons and advise us if it does not please.

LADIES

Anti-Dandruff is a valuable addition to your Toilet Table, is exquisitely perfumed, pleasant to use, clear as Crystal, free from all injurious ingredients and is thoroughly appreciated by all who use it as a perfect Hair Dresser. In every home there is some one who requires a hair dressing or a remover of dandruff. The mother usually knows first when such an article is required. It is within our province to say that Anti-Dandruff makes the outer head comfortable and imparts pliability to the hair. One trial with father, mother or child will prove its merits. No poisonous ingredient enters into its composition.

THE WEATHER.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 28—11 p.m.—To-night the pressure is either about the average or a little above throughout the Dominion. It is highest over the lower lakes and lowest off the coast of Nova Scotia. The weather has been showery in Manitoba and Nova Scotia and fine in the other provinces.

Minimum and maximum temperatures: Victoria, 50°—68°; Edmonton, 36°—63°; Calgary, 38°—74°; Qu'Appelle, 42°—58°; Minnedosa, 48°—50°; Winnipeg, 54°—58°; Toronto, 55°—71°; Montreal, 52°—70°; Quebec, 48°—66°; Halifax, 56°—66°.

TO-DAY'S PROBABILITIES.

TORONTO, Aug. 29—1 a.m.—The indications for the next 24 hours for the lower lakes region (covering the peninsula and as far east as Belleville) are: Fair and moderately warm, followed by some rain to-night or to-morrow.

critical state. She called to Mrs. Priddis' brother, Mr. Samuel Taylor, who had just entered the house. Doctors Eccles and Woodruff were sent for immediately, but Mrs. Priddis died before they arrived. The bursting of a blood vessel, and not heart disease as stated, was the cause of death. Deceased was 33 years of age and was married in 1883. She was a daughter of the late Mr. George Taylor, formerly of Wyoming and Petrolea. Deceased was an estimable lady, and was greatly esteemed by a large circle of friends, whose sympathies will go out to Mr. Priddis in his bereavement. Mrs. Joseph Scandrett, a sister of deceased, is very ill, and the sad intelligence may seriously affect her.

SIX MONTHS MORE.

The G. T. R. Will Continue to Run the L. and P. S. R.

A Half Year's Renewal at the Old Rate

Granted by the City Council—Probability That the Ratepayers May Be Asked to Make a Choice in January.

It is understood that the Railway Committee of the City Council have offers for the lease of the London and Port Stanley Railroad; but as they are not in a position to accept any offer at present it is not considered advisable to make public the terms of the propositions received.

There are legal difficulties attendant upon the matter. Under the bill passed at the last session of the Dominion Parliament the city representatives will, at the next and all subsequent meetings of the London and Port Stanley Railway Company, be allowed to vote on their bonds the same as shareholders do on their stock. This will enable the city to elect its own directors and control the road. But the next annual meeting cannot take place until the third Friday in January, and in the meantime the road is in the hands of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, provided the present Port Stanley Railway Board do not put the G. T. R. out at the expiration of the latter's present lease on Sept. 1, 1892.

The G. T. R. have offered to continue to run the road for six months dating from Sept. 1 at the same rate they are now paying—$20,000 a year. The City Council have accepted this offer. As the great bulk of the season's passenger traffic, consequent upon picnic excursions, cheap rates, etc., is about over, the company's six month renewal will cover the poorest paying part of the year. This extension expires on March 1, 1893, so that the new lessees, whoever they may be, will enter upon the busy period.

No. 1 Committee will endeavor to get things in shape so that when the city is in possession of the road they will be able to handle this important question comprehensively, and in London's best interests. It is understood that the mayor and most of the aldermen favor submitting the matter to the people for their choice at the municipal elections in January.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—There is one idiot who is worse
Than any now outside a hearse;
That idiot is—now, please take note—
The idiot who rocks the boat!

—Rev. Canon O'Meara, of Winnipeg, preached in the Memorial Church yesterday.

—The Daughters of England of this city picnicked at Port Stanley on Saturday and spent a pleasant time.

—Mr. John S. Carty, wife and family, of Detroit, Mich., are visiting at Mr. Carty's old home, South street. Mr. Carty is in the building and contracting business in Detroit, and is doing well there.

—A young man named George Irwin, of this city, was entering the Franklin House at Port Stanley on Saturday, when he fell through a trap door and broke his arm. He took an early train home and had the injured limb attended to.

—Last spring Alf. Tune, York street, struck his left knee while getting into a wagon. About a week ago the knee began to swell and now it is feared that the loss of the limb may be sustained if the disease enters the bone.

—The London Field Battery propose having a fancy drill corps in connection with their organization, as they believe it would tend to keep the members together. Following are the officers elected in connection with the scheme: Sergt. W. Patton, president; Corp. T. Robson, secretary; Corp. W. Elliott, treasurer; Sergt.-Major Taylor, drill instructor and manager.

—Rev. Wm. Gauld, B.A., the young missionary designate to Formosa, preached in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church yesterday morning. In the evening he conducted the service in the First Presbyterian Church. His sermons throughout were very interesting and of a missionary character. At both he set forth a strong plea for aid in carrying on the missionary work. Pecuniary aid was the kind most needed. Mr. Gauld is a native of Middlesex, and is well-known here. Large numbers of his friends in other denominations turned out to hear him.

—Following is the order of merit for general proficiency at the recent Toronto University junior matriculation scholarship examination: D. McFayden, Jameson Avenue Collegiate Institute; Chas. C. Bell, Chatham Collegiate Institute; Arthur M. Scott, Jameson Avenue Collegiate Institute; Thos. G. Bragg, Bowmanville High School; Miss L. R. Laird, London Collegiate Institute; F. W. C. McCutcheon, St. Marys Collegiate Institute; Arch. D. Sinclair, Brantford Collegiate Institute; Percy J. Robinson, Jarvis Street Collegiate Institute; Peter J. Thompson, Strathroy Collegiate Institute; Alex. M. Dewar, Owen Sound Collegiate Institute; William J. Wright, St. Mary's Collegiate Institute; Richard Franchot, Upper Canada College; John D. Falconbridge, Jarvis Street Collegiate Institute.

A Treat in Store.

The public is doubtless aware that Rev. J. Monro Gibson is now on a tour through Canada and part of the States. Taking advantage of this, he has been requested and has kindly consented to deliver his lecture on "The Life and Faith of the Poet Robert Browning" in the First Presbyterian Church on Tuesday, Aug. 30, at 8 p.m. The admission is free, but a silver collection will be taken up on behalf of the Ladies' Aid Society, under whose auspices the lecture is to be delivered. Lovers of the true and beautiful in English poetry will be delighted on this occasion, as Dr. Gibson has made a special study of this great modern poet, whose works are becoming more appreciated the better they are known.

Division Court Cases.

At the last sitting of the First Division Court Albert Hall, London township, sued Col. John Peters for $60 damages claimed to have been sustained by Hall's wife and child on account of a rotten floor in a house owned by the defendant and occupied by the plaintiff. Mrs. Hall was rocking her baby when the floor sank beneath them, injuring them. Hall also put in a claim for alleged damage to crops caused by defective drainage. Judge McKenzie, of Sarnia, gave judgment for $12.

Thos. Cox sued Sainsbury Bros., King street, for having sold a revolver to his 12-year-old son. The lad says he purchased the weapon, and while returning with it loaded it went off, the bullet entering the calf of his leg, where it still remains. Judgment was reserved.

Societies' Day at the Fair.

An enthusiastic meeting was held in the City Hall on Saturday evening last by the representatives of all the societies in the city to complete arrangements for societies' day, Monday, Sept. 19, at the Western Fair. The societies were awarded by ballot the following positions in the procession:

Companions of the Forest.
Sons of England.
Canadian Order of Foresters.
Ancient Order of United Workmen.
St. George's Society.
Select Knights of Canada.
Independent Order of Oddfellows.
Chosen Friends.
Knights of Pythias.
Ancient Order of Foresters.
Loyal Orange Ladies.
Independent Order of Foresters.
Woodmen of the World.

Arthur Carrothers was elected grand marshal, and each society will appoint a marshal and report the appointment to him. Messrs. Showler and Richards were appointed assistant marshals, who, with Mr. Carrothers, will be mounted on horseback. The turnout promises to be a large one.

Mrs. Priddis' Death.

Mr. James Priddis is at present upon the ocean, and is expected to reach New York on Wednesday or Thursday, so that he will not hear the sad news of his wife's sudden death Saturday until he arrives there. It will be broken to him by Rev. Evans Davis, who is in that city. It appears that after Mrs. Priddis had returned home from shopping shortly after noon she retired to her room, complaining that she was not feeling well. The servant, upon carrying upstairs the articles that had been purchased, found her lying on the bed in a

A Druggist Experiences 14 Years Steady Increase in the Sale of Royal Crown Remedy.

ST. MARYS, April, 1881.

Some three years ago Isaac Williams' Royal Crown Remedy was introduced to me for sale; since then it has had a steadily increasing sale. It seems to give the best of satisfaction wherever used. E. FRALEIGH, Chemist.

Liver Complaint, Kidney, Debility and Female Weakness All Cured.

LONDON, June 29 1880,

For some time I was a sufferer of liver complaint, affections of the kidneys, debility and female weakness; also with pain in the side, between the shoulders and underneath the shoulder blades, and much weakness in the back and distress across my body, and much sinking down of the system. Through persuasion I tried Williams' Royal Crown Remedy, and have derived great benefit from its use; in fact I am feeling better at present than I have for a number of years. I can with pleasure recommend it, and I would induce any one who is afflicted to get it without delay MRS. E. GREEN.

MARS MAKES TROUBLE.

Jealousies Among the Astronomers of Lick Observatory.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Aug. 28.—The glory growing out of the observation of Mars through the Lick telescope has precipitated trouble. It is alleged that Director Holden desires all the honors. Astronomers Burnham and Keller resigned and now Dr. Henry Crews has withdrawn. He says:

"I had not been at the observatory over a fortnight before it became clear as day that my position was to be entirely auxiliary and I was to have no opportunity of original work. Shortly afterwards, in order to settle the question, I preferred a request for one night's use of the great equatorial per week. This was immediately refused, and I had no alternative but to resign.

"The committee of the regents were fair enough to over-rule the director's decision upon learning the facts, and I returned to work, but every possible obstacle has since been placed in my way by Director Holden. I was offered and have accepted the chair of physics at the Northwestern University, and am on my way there now."

BOUND TO A TORTURE STAKE.

Osage Indians Utilize Oliver White for a Heathen Germonial.

GUTHRIE, O. T., Aug. 28.—Officers have left here to arrest several Osage Indians for maltreating Oliver White, who was traveling overland with a horse and wagon.

A band of Osages, who had been participating in the ghost dance held recently near the reservation, came upon him at night, dragged him from the wagon, bound him hand and foot and tied him to an upright post. Some of the band were for torturing him with knives, but the chief finally prevailed upon them not to go to extreme measures.

The Indians built a great fire near the stake and executed a dance around it. Every once in a while one of them would approach White, grasp a lock of his hair and cut it from his head with a bowie knife.

White did not suffer much physically, but his mental torture was terrible. After the Indians had cut off all his hair they stripped him of his clothes and threw them into the fire. Then those members of the band who had possessed themselves of locks of his hair dropped them one by one upon the fire, all the time keeping up their dancing and dreadful shouting.

Rioting in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Aug. 28.—Supt. Brunn, of the Erie, has notified the sheriff that the freight crew was attacked by strikers and driven from the train. The affair occurred at the Van Rensselaer street crossing.

Poultry.

Rev. T. S. Brooke, pastor Central Presbyterian Church, Clarksburg, W. Va., U.S. A., says: "I saturated a piece of yeast bread, the size of the end of your thumb, with St. Jacobs Oil and forced it down the throat of a chicken that was in the last stages of the disease. I repeated the dose immediately, and in half an hour it was eating heartily. The next day I repeated the dose and again on the fourth day. In less than a week it was as well as ever. Finding that all my chickens were affected, I shut them in the henhouse, giving them nothing to eat until 2 p.m. I then mixed up some cornmeal dough and poured into it enough St. Jacobs Oil to make it smell strongly, and, giving them nothing but plenty of fresh water, they soon ate it all. I then turned them out. This I repeated every alternate day for a week. I saw no traces of the cholera afterwards, but my flock was in a healthier and generally better condition than it had ever been." All raisers of poultry use it.

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

Mr. J. R. Allen, upholsterer, Toronto sends us the following: "For six or seven years my wife suffered with Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Inward Piles and Kidney Complaint. We tried two physicians and any number of medicines without getting any relief, until we got a bottle of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. This was the first relief she got, and before one bottle was used the benefit she derived from it was beyond our expectation."

An absent-minded barber has a shop in Philadelphia. He lately tucked a newspaper under a patron's chin and gave him a towel to read.

A Perfect Cook.

A perfect cook never presents us with indigestible food. There are few perfect cooks, and consequently indigestion is very prevalent. You can eat what you like and as much as you want after you use Burdock Blood Bitters, the natural specific for indigestion or dyspepsia in any form.
