GREAT ATTACK ON FORTRESS COMMENCED AT DAWN TODAY

Mikado's Batteries Are Now Pouring Shot and Shell Into Harbor and Streets of Doomed Pt. Arthur.

FLAGS ON RUSS SHIPS AT KIN CHAU HAULED DOWN

Che Foo, Aug. 15, 1:30 p.m.—A telegram just received here from reliable source states that a general attack on Port Arthur began at 4 o'clock this morning.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The American counsel at Nagasaki reports to the State Department that six hundred of the survivors of the Russian cruiser Rurik (of the Vladivostock squadron), sunk by Admiral Kamimura, have arrived at Sazebo. Sazebo is used as a naval base by the Japanse.

Under the Walls.

Berlin, Aug. 15.—A dispatch to the Lokal Anzeiger, from Tokio dated today confirms the reports that heavy fighting has occurred at Port Arthur during the past few days. The Japanese captured three Russian batteries and secured positions close to the inner fortifications. Both sides lost heavily. The Japanse have commenced a bombardment from Lang mountain on the harbor and inner defenses.

A Jap Repulse.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 15, 3:20 p.m. — The war office today received a message fre from Port Arthur in which Gen. Stoessel, under date of Aug. 11, reports a successful repulse of a general assault on the Russian outer positions during the night following the departure of the Russian squadron. He does not mention a naval engagement or refer to the return of the warships.

The Novik Sunk.

Che Foo, Aug. 15, 10:20 a.m.—An unconfirmed report which has reached here from Tsingtau says the Russian cruiser Novik, which put into Tsingtau after the battle of Aug. 10 off Port Arthur and which coaled there and put to sea within her 24 hours' limit, has been sunk 40 miles from Tsingtau.

At It Again.

Washington, Aug. 15.—The State Department has received advices to the effect that it is reported there from Che Foo that a general naval battle at Port Arthur was begun at dawn today.

Czarevitch's Flag Down.

Tsing Chou, Aug. 15.—The Russian flag has just been pulled down from the battleship Czarevitch and the three cruisers which took refuge here. The lowering of the colors was done in the presence of the German governor. Previous cables have stated that there were three torpedo boat destroyers at Tsing Chou, and it is probable that the above should read three destroyers instead of cruisers.

Bandits Busy.

Liao Yang, Aug. 16.—Chinese bandits last night blew up a portion of the railroad ten miles south of Liao Yang. The road was repaired in a few hours.

Twelve Chinese bandits have been brought to Liao Yang for firing on Russian scouts, during which two dragoons were wounded.

The weather is cool and the rain is falling occasionally. Already there are signs if autumn.

The Russian troops are refreshed by their long rest, but they are downhearted at the absence of news from Port Arthur, and the impossibility of going to the rescue of the fortress.

Gun Crews Annihilated.

London, Aug 15.—A dispatch from Tsing Chou to the Daily Telegraph describes how the Czarevitch was surrounded by four battleships and two cruisers, which rained shells upon her from all sides at close quarters. Her gun crews were annihilated. Her deck gear was curled into fantastic shapes, like pieces of tin. The survivors describe the scene as infernal. The hair of some of the men turned gray. Admiral Witthoft, before he was killed, cried, "This is our last fight, men, be brave!"

At Liao Yang.

Liao Yang, Aug. 14. — Delayed in transmission.—The Japanese are preparing to make an attack. They make reconaissances daily to ascertain the strength of the Russians at Anshanchan. The Japanese are eight miles to the southward of Anshanchan and thence hold a line southeast, including the Valley of Sidahi, where their line runs northeast to Holounggiw, which is occupied by a large force. Further north their outposts are some miles from Landiansan.

Russ Press Is Sore.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 15, 1:26 p.m. — The newspapers today devote slight editorial space to the naval engagement off Round Island Aug. 10, and generally express the belief that the remainder of the Port Arthur squadron has broken through the Japanese fleet. The editorials mostly deal with the Ryeshitelni incident. M. Souverin, editor of Novoe Vremya, vehemently declares that Captain Shestakovsky by slapping the face of the Japanese commander administered the only punishment suitable for such an outrageous act. All the papers made sarcastic allusions to the "bankruptcy of international law," and the Russ, Novoe Vremya, and Novosti reproduce an article from a Berlin paper based on the perils of the work of maritime law, pointing out that the Japanese were not justified in attacking the Ryeshitelni regardless whether she was armed or disarmed. The same authority invokes support for the contention that the Russian warships did not violate international law in seeking shelter in neutral ports.

The Knight Commander's captain is expected to arrive in St. Petersburg shortly.

The Baltic squadron is still engaged in fitting conveyers for coaling at sea.

The hearing of the appeal in the case of the British steamer Allanton has been set for a fortnight hence.

Japs With Bandits.

Mukden, Aug. 15.—The Chinese bandit leaders Kitsushan, Tulisan and Folingo, each with 1,000 followers, are now in the Sin Minting district, moving up the Liao River Valley with the object of attacking the railway. Each of the bands, which were organized by Japanese, is accompanied by 100 Japanese with mountain guns.

Too Late Now.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 15. — There is considerable activity aboard the ships of the Baltic fleet. A large amount of sailors' baggage is being transported to the new battleships. Orders have been issued that all torpedo boat destroyers of the second division shall be coaled in the full capacity. The boats are to await further orders in the small roadstead at Cronstadt. Shore liberty on all vessels has been curtailed after sunset.

RUSSIA'S SCATTERED SHIPS.

The squadron which left Port Arthur consisted of six battleships, four cruisers and eight torpedo boat destroyers. The following have been accounted for:

Czarevitch, in Tsing Chou harbor, a German port; badly damaged. Admiral Withoft, her commander, and four other officers and 210 men killed and 60 wounded.

The Pobieda and the Retvizan, both badly damaged, are believed to have put back into the harbor at Port Arthur.

The Bayan has not been heard from since the fighting.

The Sebastopol was so badly damaged that she could not be maneuvered, and is stranded somewhere in the vicinity of Port Arthur.

The Novik reached Tsing Chou harbor, where it coaled and subsequently put to sea.

The Poltava is missing, no reports of her whereabouts having been received.

The Askold reached Shanghai and went into drydock. Fifteen of her crew were killed and 50 wounded.

The other cruiser is believed to be off the Saddle Islands, awaiting coaling vessels.

Two destroyers stranded in the vicinity of Wei Hai Wei. Their crews reached port in safety.

The Ryeshitelni put into Che Foo, but was subsequently cut out and captured by the Japs.

The Grozovoi is at Shanghai. A destroyer was off the coast of Korea, on Aug. 11, steaming to the westward.

Two other destroyers are at Tsing Chou slightly damaged.

KAMIMURA SINKS A CRUISER; AND PUTS FLEET TO FLIGHT

Japanese Corner the Vladivostock Squadron and Send the Rurik to the Bottom.

OTHER SHIPS DAMAGED BUT ESCAPE TO THE NORTH

Double Naval Victory Gives Mikado Control of the Seas and Japs Now Plan to Crush Port Arthur—St. Petersburg Plunged Into Gloom Over Disasters.

Tokio, Aug. 14.—4 p.m.—Vice-Admiral Kamimura encountered the Russian Vladivostock squadron at dawn today, north of Tsu Island, is the Strait of Korea, and attacked the enemy at once, The battle lasted for five hours, and resulted in a complete Japanese victory. The Russian cruiser Rurik was sunk and the cruisers Rossia and Gromoboi fled to the northward after having sustained serious damage. Vice-Admiral Kamimura cables the navy department that the injuries indicted upon his vessel were slight. The fate of the crew of the Rurik is not known. It is presumed that many of them were killed or drowned. The strength of the fleet, under Vice-Admiral Kamimura is not known, but it is presumed that he had the Adsua, Idzumo, Iwate, Takashiho and other light cruisers. Tokio is joyous over the news, as it gives Japanese mastery of the sea and restores commerce.

Tokio, Aug. 14, 8 p.m.—Flags are flying, lanterns are glimmering and cries of "Banzai" are ringing in the streets of Tokio tonight in honor of the victories gained at sea by Admiral Togo and Vice-Admiral Kamimura. Underneath the jollity of the populace lies a feeling of deep satisfaction and gratification at the disposal of a desperately serious problem of the war.

The Russian squadron which confronted Admiral Togo refused battle. It was stronger than Admiral Togo's squadron in battleships and armored cruisers, and, had it elected to fight, the result might have altered the fortunes of war. The strength of the squadron which opposed Admiral Togo compelled him to draw vessels from the squadron under Vice-Admiral Kaminura, and this left the Japanese navy powerless to operate against the Russian Vladivostock squadron and unable to prevent the raids of these vessels.

The raid conducted by the Vladivostock squadron in July was extremely expensive to Japan, and not only was retaliation tempting, but it was demanded by commercial interests. Vice-Admiral Kamimura, after months of weary waiting, finally got his chance at dawn today off Tsu Island. He sunk the Russian cruiser Rurik and sent the cruisers Gromboi and Rossia fleeing back from the fight.

Japanese guns dominate the dockyards at Port Arthur, and in view of this fact it would seem to be impossible again to make seaworthy or fightable the Russian battleships which have returned to Port Arthur. It is probable that the Russian battleship Czarevitch will disarm at Tsing Chou.

The best possible naval force that Russia can now concentrate at Vladivostock is four cruisers. In the fight if Aug. 10 the squadron under Admiral Togo was practically uninjured. The battleship Mikasa suffered the most, but she continues on the fighting line.

The cruisers Yakumo, Nishin and Kasuga also were hit, but temporary repairs already have been made, and they are fully serviceable. Eleven wounded officers and 65 wounded men arrived at Sasebo today. The Imperial Prince Kwacho was hit in the region of the heart, but his wound is slight.

Washington, Aug. 14.—The Japanese legation has received a cablegram from Tokio, dated today, saying that "Admiral Kamimura reports that our squadron, after five hours' severe fighting with the three ships of the Vladivostock squadron on the morning of the 14th, in the mouth of the Tsuhmita Island, sank the Rurik. The other two ships, which appeared to have suffered heavily, fled northward. Our damages are slight."

Another cablegram from Tokio to the legation says: "The commander of the Takeshiho naval station says that our fleet reported by wireless telegraph that the Vladivostock squadron as sighted at 5:10 a.m. on the 14th.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 14, 5:10 a.m.—Not since the beginning of the war between Japan and Russia has anything so obviously affected Russian spirits as the gradual revelation of the Port Arthur squadron's reverse. The details of Rear-Admiral Withoft's fatal sorties are not known to the general public even at this hour, though the receipt of the report of Capt. Matouzevitch gradually permeated official circles in the course of the day, and the captain's statement was issued late tonight in the form of an official report. Capt. Matouzevitch makes it clear that the Port Arthur squadron fought what was probably the greatest battle of ironclads since steel replaced wood in naval construction. The effort of the Russians to fight their way through the Japanese would probably have been successful had it not been for the disaster to the battleship Czarevitch, which compelled the squadron to fight a second battle, ending in the dispersal of the Russian fleet in the darkness. The Associated Press learns that the awful mortality among the officers of the Czarevitch, which was merely in the official report, is due to the fact that Admiral Withoft and most of his officers were gathered on the bridge during the action in order to set an example to and encourage the men. Instead of remaining in comparative safety in the protection of the conning tower, A Japanese shell burst beneath the bridge, wrecking that part of the ship, and killing or wounding every officer on duty thereabouts. One of the most important features of Capt. Matouzevitch's dispatch, aside from its grimly brief account of the battle, is the detailed statement of the makeup of Rear-Admiral Withoft's fleet, which consisted of six battleships, eleven cruisers of various classes, and, approximately, thirty torpedo boats. Accordine to this statement there were in line of battle some ships previously reported destroyed. This gives an indication of Japan's naval force, which Admiral Togo has hitherto concealed.

The Japanese Losses.

Tokio, Aug. 14, 3 p.m. — The following are the casualties sustained by the Japanese in the action of Aug. 10: On board the battleship Mikasa, Admiral Togo's flagship, there was 4 officers and 29 men killed, 6 officers and 29 men severely wounded, and 4 officers and 29 men slightly wounded, while the armored cruiser Yakumo had 1 officer and 11 men killed, and 10 wounded. On board the Donelan and Patrick O'Brien, Nationalist members of Parliament. They will attend the convention of the Irish League, to be held in New York on Aug. 20.

THE PACIFIC CABLE

A Large Deficit Announced—Receipt and Expenditures.

London, Aug. 15.—The report of the chairman of the Pacific Cable Board states that there has been an actual expenditure of £54,824, or £25,000 less than the gross receipts.

As the board, however, set aside £35,000 towards a renewal fund, and also to pay an annuity to meet the interest on capital and to replace the whole capital in fifty years, the actual deficit ambounted to £88,000, which has to be provided in the proportion already agreed upon by the contributing governments.

A conference, the report says, will immediately be held in London of the various governments interested. The object is to settle certain matters at issue between them.

CANADIAN GIRL SUICIDES

Was Acting as Governess to Children of Mr. Edison.

New York, Aug. 14. — Miss Ethel K. Pardee, governess for the children of Thomas A. Edison, commited suicide today at Orange, N. J., by inhaling illuminating gas. Friends of Miss Pardee say that she worried in the discharge of her duties as governess, owing to anonymous letters received by the Edisons two years ago containing threats to kidnap the children.

Miss Pardee was the daughter of a Canadian clergyman, and her home is said to have been at Nober, Ont.

ANGLO-FRENCH TREATY

Measure Given Its Second Reading in the House of Lords.

London, Aug. 15. — In the House of Lords, Lord Lansdowne, referring to the Newfoundland convention, said the French Government was not able to obtain ratification before their separation a short time ago. The question then arose whether it would be well for His Majesty's Government to ratify it in the absence of ratification by the French. They had no reason to believe the French Chamber in November would not give consent, and they thought it would be very unfortunate if by postponing legislation it was shown they entertained any suspicion of the attitude which the French chamber had a right to adopt. The bill was read a second time.

WORLD WIDE CHURCH

Archbishop of Canterbury Hopes to See It a Reality.

London, Aug. 15.—The Archbishop of Canterbury's visit to the United States on which he starts on the Celtic, is arousing the keenest interest among English and American churchmen. This visit is really a courteous return for the visits of American bishops to the decennial Lambeth conferences of which the archbishop was practically the organizer.

The details of his sojourn in America have not been fully completed, and they are entirely in American hands, especially in the hands of Bishop Tuttle, of Missouri, Bishop Potter of New York, Bishop Doane of Albany, Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts, and of the best laymen. He may possibly make occasion to repeat his visit later.

It is more than probable that the archbishop's visit to America will prove memorable on both sides of the Atlantic. For the conference of 1887, it is believed, gave birth in the then secretary's brain to a far-reaching transcendent idea from which may come a new thing—from which may spring one of those tremendous forces which remake the face of the religious world. This idea absorbs him, its realization is his greatest purpose.

It is to create in his day and by his handiwork the union of the English-speaking Protestantism into one corporate body of world-wide scope. Such a union, the archbishop feels certain, is destined to become the dominant moral force of the world, greater than the papacy ever was. Such a union would stamp its will upon the nation by the might of faith and charity and so affect this twentieth century by nothing short of a religious revolution or reconstruction such as the world has not seen since the first preaching of the Christian Gospel. Such is the archbishop's mission and purpose in life. His visit to America is a step toward the accomplishing of the mission.

Not only is he the first occupant of the chair of St. Thomas, who will have set foot in America, but he is the first Archbishop of Canterbury who has left the shores of England in thirty years.

AWFUL MASSACRE OF HEBREWS AT OSTROWITZ CITY, IN RUSSIA

Twenty Were Killed and Many Wounded by the Christians—Riots at Polseveh.

New York, Aug. 15.—The Tribune this morning says: The Jewish Morning Journal will print today the following from its Warsaw (Russia) correspondent: "On Sunday, July 31, in the city of Ostrowitz (Government of Rodom) a Jew was quarreling with a gentile. The latter, who was an epileptic, fell during the encounter, as a result of one of his epileptic fits. The Christian bystanders, however, raised the cry that the Jew murdered their comrade. In a short time all the Christian inhabitants of the town turned out and proceeded to avenge the alleged crime. The riot which then ensued resolved itself into an awful massacre of Jews, of whom 20 were kiled and a great number were wounded. The massacre lasted all day.

"Another massacre occurred on Saturday, July 30, in the town of Polseveh (Government of Seiblitz) in the following manner: A local clergyman induced a small Hebrew girl to embrace the Christian faith. The parents of the girl went to the church where their daughter was confirmed, accompanied by some of their Jewish friends and demanded her release on the ground that the court decided that the girl was under age, and could not act independently in such matters. The clergyman, seeing the Jews were determined to use force, called the mayor to his aid. The two incited the populace, and a fierce riot ensued. More then 100 Jews were severely wounded. The number of dead is not known, as the police withheld the facts."

CUT OFF HER HAND

A New York Iceman's Brutal Attack on a Little Girl.

New York, Aug. 15. — With one vicious stroke of his axe, Alexandro Carrotoro, an iceman, cut off the hand of little 7-year-old Lillian Carson. The little girl went into Carrotoro's place of business to get a piece of ice to eat. As she reached out for a fragment the Italian chopped at her outstretched hand and cut it off. The little girl fell unconscious.

An angry mob chased Carrotoro through the streets, threatening to lynch him. But the man eluded them and hid in his house, where he was arrested. He was held in $1,000 bail when arraigned in court.

It has been the custom of the children of the neighborhood to gather little pieces of ice from the wagons that visit the neighborhood, and no objection has ever been found by the icemen.

READ FIELDING, GIRLS

The Advice of Writer "John Oliver Hobbes" to Her Friends.

London, Aug. 15.—Mrs. Pearl Craigie, known to literature as "John Oliver Hobbes" earnestly defends her advice that every girl on reaching the age of 18 years should be given "Tom Jones" to read. She says:

"I consider Fielding as a nerve tonic nowadays, an antidote to the morbid, neurotic twaddle which, under various disguises—romantic, sentimental and historical—is consumed by girl and woman readers.

"If I had a daughter I should certainly give her the works of Fielding. I should be sorry, of course, that she would have to make the acquaintance of many severe facts Fielding deals out, but she would have to learn these things at one time or another, and I do not think she could learn in a better way than by reading 'Amelia.'"

LIKES THINGS ENGLISH

Czar Ea's English Meals and Talks English at the Table.

Berlin, Aug. 15.—Many interesting details of the daily life of the Czar are becoming known through the talking propensities of a lady who for a long time stood high in court favor at St. Petersburg, but who was recently "requested" to take up her residence in some other clime.

The Czar rises at 6 o'clock and breakfasts after purely English fashion on bacon and eggs, bread and butter, tea and marmalade, prepared by an English cook. The Czar prefers everything English, including the English style of living and bringing up children.

At 7 o'clock he takes up the duties of the day, some days examining as many as 500 documents. At midday an English luncheon is served, and only English is spoken at this meal, so that the servants may not understand what is discussed.

The Czar's favorite game is the Russian "wint," at which his majesty is said to wager large sums of money. The evenings are often spent by the Czarina reading the Czar an English novel or the London Times.

WALES' VISIT OFF

Cancellation of Trip to U. S. Blamed on Roosevelt.

London, Aug. 15.—The World correspondent hears on entirely relable authority a remarkable story as to how the projected visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales to the St. Louis Exposition was prevented.

It appears that early this year informal negotiations for the royal visit to the exposition were carried on through the American embassy here and through Washington with such satisfactory results that a public announcemint of the proposed visit was expected shortly to be made, and President Roosevelt caused it to be conveyed to the King how delighted he would be to welcome his son and daughter-in-law to American soil.

At the last moment, however, when everything had been going satisfactorily, an intimation was received from Washington that the idea had better be abandoned, as it would be impossible to guarantee the safety of the royal couple.

The matter has been bruited about among prominent Americans here, who express much resentment at the reason given for stopping the visit, which is regarded as a mere pretext and a very unfortunate one, as being made at the expense of the reputation of the American people.

It is quite well understood here officially as well as in royal circles that President Roosevelt realized that the visit might prove a political mistake, in view of the Presidential campaign, and suddenly changed his mind about it.

The fruit crop generally has a bright outlook, and unless hail storms occur there will be a fair yield of peaches.

"LITTLE ITALY" IN WILD PANIC

Fresh Paint on a Gas Tank Catches Fire in the Italian Colony in New York.

New York, Aug. 16.—Fresh paint on one of the big gas tanks of the Consolidated Gas Company in First avenue between One Hundred and Tenth and One Hundred and Eleventh streets, caught fire Saturday, and in an instant the big steel cylinders were enveloped in a sheet of flame, and a terrible explosion of gas was prevented only by the prompt action of the fire department.

The blaze was the signal for a wild stampede of the residents for blocks around to get out of the neighborhood. In their panic people left their homes, shops and belongings, some even forgetting their children in the excitement which led many to run as far south as One Hundred and Fourth street to Willis avenue bridge on the north and over into Central Park to escape the expected explosion.

The horror-stricken Italians who compose the bulk of residents of the neighborhood fled, casting aside everything that would hamper their flight and trampling down the weaker ones. Second avenue, First avenue and all of the cross streets from One Hundred and Fourth street to Twelfth street became filled with a panic-stricken mob as the news of the fire spread and every effort was made by each to outrun his neighbor. The recreation pier at the foot of One Hundred and Twelfth street soon became jammed with people, and but for the strenuous work of the police many would have jumped into the water.

The tank is nearly 200 feet in diameter and rises nearly 120 feet above the ground. It was surrounded by a scaffolding and workmen had finished painting the lower 35 feet of the surface. The pain was still fresh and the inflammable oil burned fiercely. Almost as soon as the fire was discovered it completely surrounded the tank, while the cans of paints and oils left by the workmen on the scaffolding burst and dropped blazing into the moat surrounding the tank, the water in which prevented the ignition of the gas.

While the fire was one of the hottest that the fire department has had to contend with in some time, it was of short duration, the last vestige of the sparks having been extinguished within 45 minutes after the arrival of the apparatus. The firemen worked under great tension, expecting every minute that the reservoir would explode.

"I was nearer death tonight, I believe, than I have been before in many a day," said Deputy Chief Dougherty, who was in charge at the scene. "The bravery of the men, in facing almost certain death, was an example of heroism unsurpassed."

A BLOCK GUTTED

Carberry, Manitoba, Visited by a Disastrous Conflagration.

Carberry, Man., Aug. 15.—Early yesterday morning fire was discovered in the Stickle Block, which was completely gutted. The fire at one time threatened many other buildings, which fortunately escaped with a scorching or slight loss from water and smoke. Among the heaviest losses are: T. D. Stickle, owner of the block, which was worth about $15,000; two-thirds insured. S. H. Gilmour, general store; loss about $15,000; well insured. Jones' grocery stock, total loss; partly insured. Richardson's jewelry store, loss unknown. Haslani's book store, well insured. Phoenix furniture store, loss small. Row's tailoring store, loss small. Among the buildings damaged were: Western Hotel, insured; Noble Dickie building, covered by insurance; F. H. Hallette's house and contents, insured, and several plateglass windows in stores and buildings adjacent.

A G. T. R. TOUR

Hays to Take Officials and Directors Through Far West.

Toronto, Aug. 15. — The directors and officers of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway have been invited by the recently-elected president, Chas. M. Hays, to take a tour of thirty-eight days in the Canadian west. The purpose of the tour is to look over part of the ground through which the new road will run, and more particularly to look into the question of securing the best terminals possible, both on the Pacific Coast and on the great lakes. The party will leave Montreal on Saturday night, on a special train of five cars, and will travel to North Bay, via Toronto. About two days will be spent at Port Arthur and Fort William, and thence the party will proceed to Winnipeg and Edmonton. From Vancouver a trip will be taken up the Pacific coast to Kitimat, Port Arthur and other places, which are regarded as probable western terminals for the G. T. P.

Severe Headache Stomach Troubles

Was Laid Up for a Month But Complete Cure Came With Dr. Chase's Ramedies.

Mr. Frederick Whittaker, 906 Queen's avenue, London, Ont., writes: "I used nine boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and six boxes of his Kidney-Liver Pills for a run-down system, and now feel like a new man in every way. Before beginning this treatment I had been laid up for a month, as I had not the strength to stand up at my work as machinist and suffered much from headaches, stomach troubles and pains in my legs.

"If I ever get run down in health again I shall not be long in trying these medicines, for I have proven their excellence."

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2 50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. To protect you against imitations, the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box.

ATHLETICS MAKE LOAFERS

Football Expert Gives Experience of Twenty Years.

London, Aug. 15.—Rowland Hill, for 20 years secretary of the Rugby Football Union, in talking of the effect of athletics on the community as a whole, said:

"One cannot help believing that a great deal too much time is spent upon sport. Games have a loafing effect if they are not recreations. What is a boy of 20 going to become when he has been doing nothing but play? He is absolutely ruined for indoor work. He will never settle down."

OUTLAW SHOOTS JAILER

Fatally Wounds Officer and Commits Suicide in House of Governor.

Helena, Mont., Aug. 15.—Isaac Gravelle, a train robber and desperado, brought to bay by pursuers and severely wounded, killed himself today in the basement of Governor Toole's house, made a break from jail in which he probably fatally shot Tony Korizek, a deputy sheriff.

Korizek was leading Gravelle out of a cellroom when the outlaw pulled a revolver which had been smuggled to him and fired twice at the deputy, both bullets taking effect. Gravelle ran one block eastward, where he tried to mount a horse. He was too hotly pressed, however, and continued his flight. A moment later he took refuge in the alley beside Governor Toole's house, from where he emptied his revolver at his pursuers. There Gravelle, wounded, ran into the governor's house, where he blew out his brains.

Gravelle was convicted five months ago of sending threatening letters to officials of the Northern Pacific, of whom he demanded $50,000. It was proved that he had dynamited Northern Pacific trains and property in an effort to blackmail the company. He was captured after a long campaign that cost the Northern Pacific $50,000. He was sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary. When he escaped he was on trial for robbing a powder-house near Helena of explosives which he used in wrecking trains.

Gravelle had been in the penitentiary twice before. He was a range rider and cattle rustler and was regarded as a dangerous man.

May Mean a Constitution.

Berlin, Aug. 13.—The Kleine Journal says it expects that the birth of an heir to the Russian throne will be followed in a few days by the proclamation of a constitution, claiming to have been informed that Emperor Nicholas vowed he would give a constitution to Russia is the empress gave birth to a son.

No Implement Combine.

Toronto, Ont. Aug. 15.—The Commercial West, of Minneapolis, says the McCormick, Deering, Frost & Wood and Massey-Harris Companies are to amalgamate.

Mr. J. K. Osborne, manager of the Massey-Harris Company, when spoken to on the question, stated that the report was "all rot. There was nothing in it at all. It is a canard got out about ten days ago," he added: "but there have been no negotiations whatever with our company."

Senator Lyman Jones, president and general manager, said: "There is no truth in it at all, so far as the Massey-Harris Company is concerned. There have been no overtures of any kind, nor do I know of any being made by others."

HAZARDOUS JOB, A DALAI LAMA'S

With One Exception They Have Died Young and Presumably None Too Pleasantly.

London, Aug. 15. — Col. Waddell, a well-known expert in Tibetan matters, describes how since the year 1749 it has been the policy at Lhassa to assassinate every dalai lama. In 1749 the Tibetans having massacred the Chinese at Lhassa, the Chinese Emperor sent a punitive army and restored the Chinese ascendancy and the influence of the Chinese ambans was enormously increased. They kept the appointment of a regent in their own hands and were the real driving power of state. Col. Waddell continues:

"Henceforth the dalai lama always died young. He never attained his majority. No sooner had a dalai reached the age of 18 than he died in a mysterious manner, thus necessitating the accession of a new-born infant and prolonging the regent's term of office. So a regent was always in charge of the Government and he has worked in collusion with the Chinese ambans to limit the life of the dalai lama.

"Of the four last dalai lamas, one died at 11 and the other three at 18. The present dalai has been permitted to become an exception to this rule, and this was a blow against the intolerable tyranny of China. The national party which has arisen in Tibet and to whom Chinese interference has become too onerous and distasteful, is credited with having saved the present dalai from the fate of his predecessors. Certainly he and his Government have now escaped from the Chinese leading strings. When the present dalai, who was born in 1876, reached the tragic age of 18, which is regarded as the limit of a dalai's life, the young national party by stratagem obtained the seals of office from the regent, whom they imprisoned in a monastery, where shortly afterwards he died. The dalai lama assumed sovereign power and deprived the Chinese ambans of any say in the Government. The latter officials procured an indignant Chinese edict from Pekin, ordering that the regent be reinstated and the seals returned. Meanwhile the regent died or was murdered and a new senior amban came to Lhassa and was bribed heavily to let matters remain as they were. He suppressed the edict while at the same time leading the Pekin Government to believe that it had been complied with. Afterwards the opportunist young lama, profiting by China's loss of prestige through her defeats by Japan and afterwards by the allied armies in 1900, openly refused to be guided by the Chinese and these have now to confess how powerless they are in Tibet and how contemptuously the Tibetans regard their authority, which is now an empty farce.

"As recently as 1902 the Chinese viceroy of the western province of Szechuan, which adjoins Tibet, had to ask Pekin to send an army to Lhassa to make Chinese power respected."

POISONED COFFEE

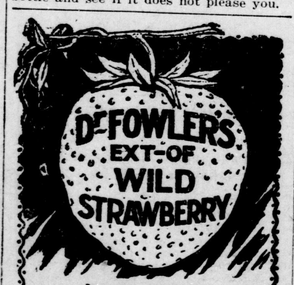

Caused Death of One and Others May Die.

Mt. Sterling, Ky., Aug. 15.—At Frenchburg, Menefee County, Mrs. Bettie Botts is dead from poison, while Miss Lucretia Bowling and Miss Esther Downs are in a dangerous condition and may die. The women ate supper together, and shortly after they took violently ill. Mrs. Botts suffered in a horrible manner for several hours and died in great agony.

At supper the three women drank coffee from an old coffee pot, and it is believed to have been poisoned. An investigation will be made, and it is believed that sensational results will occur. While no motive can be given for the attempt at wholesale poison, the people believe that it was a deliberate plot to murder them.

Misses Bowling and Downs are members of prominent families in the mountains. Mrs. Botts was not known to have any enemies, and no motive can be given.

Great Britain Annexes Bird's Island in the West Indies.

Kingstown, Island of St. Vincent, B. W. I., Aug. 13.—The British cruiser Tribune, on Aug. 11, landed a party under command of Lieut. Thelfall, at Aves, or Bird's Island, one hundred and twenty-seven miles west of the north end of the Island of Dominica, and annexed it as a British possession. Guns were hauled through the surf and landed, the British flag was hoisted, and a royal salute was fired. The Tribune then proceeded direct to St. Vincent, arriving here on Friday. The Tribune left on Saturday, being ordered to Venezuela to protect British interests at Caracas.

EXCESSIVE RATE CASE

Commission Decides Against the Kingston and Pembroke Railway.

Ottawa, Aug. 15.—The Canada Gazette Saturday contained the judgment of the Railway Commission on the complaint of J. A. Scovill against the Kingston and Pembroke Railway Company for alleged excessive freight rates. The commission orders that the respondent company immediate cease levying tolls on cedar and its products, such as lumber, ties, posts, telephone and telegraph poles, in excess of tolls on other descriptions of timber and their products.

HE WAS TOO EASY

Wife Divorces Husband for Being Too Fond of Her.

Denver, Col., Aug. 15.—Because Howard Bryning, of Kansas City, was too fond of his wife and acquiesced in everything she did, Mrs. Bryning has secured a divorce.

"My husband had no backbone," said Mrs. Bryning in talking over the strange reason for a divorce. "Whenever I asked for anything I always got it without question. There is no satisfaction in that kind of humdrum existence for me."

Mr. Bryning is traveling passenger agent for the Northern Pacific, with headquarters in Kansas City.

BURNED IN BED

John Berthiaume Burned to Death in an Arnprior Hotel.

Arnprior, Ont., Aug. 15. — Saturday night, about half-past ten, John Berthiaume, a Frenchman, was burned to death in a fire in C. A. Dagenais' hotel here. The blaze, which originated in a bedroom occupied by Berthiaume, was speedily extinguished, but the unfortunate man, who had been overpowered by the flames, died a few minutes after assistance reached him. It is supposed that deceased had been smoking while in bed, and, falling asleep, the pipe ignited the bedding. Deceased was about twenty-six years old, and a son of Mr. Berthiaume, of Bridwater, Que., He had been in the employ of McLaughlin Bros. for four or five years. An inquest has been deemed necessary. The damage to the hotel was very slight.

MINTO AND IMMIGRANTS

His Excellency Inspects Immigration Buildings at Quebec.

Quebec, Aug. 15. — His Excellency Lord Minto, accompanied by his military secretary, Major Maude, went to the immigration buildings Saturday morning and made a minute inspection of all the arrangements. He watched the medical inspection and asked a number of questions of all the passengers he came in contact with, and was particularly desirous to learn if the steerage passengers were well treated and properly fed on board the steamship Parisian on their way to Quebec, which was answered in the affirmative. His excellency afterward went into the building occupied by the American immigration commissioners and watched their mode of procedure, and then inspected all the apartments of the main building. He appeared perfectly satisfied with his tour of inspection.

DEPORTED A RECTOR

U. S. Ships Rev. Mr. Hart Back to the Old Country.

Washington, Aug. 13. — Alfred Burleigh Hart, who was arrested at Ellis Island as he landed from England, on the charge that he was attempting to enter the country in violation of the immigration laws, today was ordered by the immigration authorities to be deported.

Hart, who claimed that he was the rector of a church in Brooklyn, and that he had resided in the United States for more than a year prior to a recent trip to England, was detained at Ellis Island until he could have a hearing on the charges.

It was alleged that he had been convicted in Great Britain of a crime involving moral turpitude. The inquiry developed truthfulness of the allegations. The testimony in the case was transmitted to the Washington authorities, arriving here today. After an examination of the testimony, the immigration authorities, acting under the law, which is practically mandatory, ordered the deportation of Hart.

New York, Aug. 13.—Alfred Burleigh Hart, who has been ordered deported, established the Church of St. Mary's, in Schenectady avenue, near Atlantic avenue, Brooklyn, after he came here a few months ago. He asserts that he was entitled to enter the United States because of his former residence here. He was arrested Friday and taken to Ellis Island on the charge that he had been convicted of a crime in London and so was not eligible to land here.

IT RETAINS OLD AND MAKES NEW Friends.- Time was when Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil had but a small field of distribution, but now its territory is widespread. Those who first recognized its curative qualities still value it as a specific, and while it retains its old friends it is ever making new. It is certain that whoever once uses it will not be without it.

His Claims to Make the Complexion Good and the Face

BEAUTIFUL

Fully Justified — Thousands of People Are Calling For Munyon's

WITCH HAZEL SOAP

And the Wonderful Paw-Paw Laxative Pills.

I claim that through the use of my Witch Hazel Soap — the purest soap made — and a course of my Paw-Paw Laxative Pills, anyone can have a clear skin and a good complexion.

All over the United States may be found hundreds who will testify in support of this claim. My Witch Hazel Soap has won its way and established itself in the homes of the people, in the face of the most active competition. So clear is its title to superiority that it is being imitated in both the United States and Canada, and the name "Witch Hazel!" attached to soaps that have none of its worth and excellence to commend them. See that you get "Munyon's Witch Hazel" Soap if you want the soap that makes the skin soft as velvet. For the nursery it is indispensable.

See that you get Munyon's Paw-Paw Laxative Pills if you want the pills that will act like a whip to a lazy liver; that will make the blood pure and cure constipation, biliousness, jaundice and all other ailments due to a sluggish liver.

Join with those who are using Munyon's Witch Hazel Soap and Paw-Paw Liver Pills as a certain means of driving away eczema and all other skin diseases. You can have a good complexion and a clear skin if you want to. Begin today by getting a supply of those preparations. MUNYON.

Munyon's Remedies and Munyon's Preparations are known to be reliable the world over. His Rheumatism Cure has driven out more obstinate cases of rheumatism than all other preparations combined. His Kidney Cure is well-nigh infallible.

Some Shudder Stories.

In a squalid court in Edinburgh many years ago a man who had been notorious for his cruelties as a slave-trader lay dying. Mental terror made his end appalling to witness. According to Scotch custom, the family opened the door to let the spirit pass. To their infinite horror the bloody head of a black man suddenly rolled into the room. The family shrieked with fright, the man on the bed gave a yell of terror. They turned to his bedside, but he expired as they watched. When they looked toward the door again the head had disappeared. There was a splash of fresh blood upon the floor to mark the spot where it had been, but nothing else to certify that the horrid sight had not been a creation of morbid imaginatians.

This appearance of a negro's head in the room of a man dying after he had committed innumerable barbarities upon black slaves was a strange coincidence and nothing more. Prof. Owen, the famous anatomist, had been attending an anatomical lecture, where the body of a negro had been dissected. He was taking the head home with him to examine it more carefully. The streets were wet and slippery. Just as he was passing the open door of the house in which the man lay dying he tripped, and the head, slipping from the cloth in which he had it, rolled into the little room. The cry of the dying man diverted the attention of those who were in the room, so that Owen was able to secure his treasure and depart unnoticed.

Lord Eldon records a strange coincidence. A man was murdered and his assailant escaped. Twelve years later the brother of the murdered man fell asleep in the bar of a Liverpool public house. He awoke, feeling somebody in the act of picking his pocket. The moment he opened his eyes he exclaimed: "Good God! That man killed my brother twelve years ago." The pickpocket was secured, tried and condemned. The evidence showed that immediately after the murder he had enlisted and gone to India. He had but just landed in Liverpool when he went into the public house, and his first act in that city was to attempt to rob the brother of the man whom so long before he had killed.—Chicago News.

THE TURK GIEVS IN

Sultan Agrees to Meet All Demands of U. S. Government.

Constantinople, Aug. 15.—After prolonged pour parlers and considerable haggling on the part of the Turks, a satisfactory solution of the American school question has been arrived at. This matter, which is the most important of the American demands, was settled by extending to American schools the same treatment as that accorded to schools under the protection of other powers. A settlement of other matters affecting American interests in Turkey of secondary importance has also been effected, and Minister Leishman has telegraphed to Rear Admiral Jewell, in command of the United States squadron sent to Smyrna, instructing him to salute the batteries on land and depart. The sitting of the council of ministers at which the settlement was agreed upon was a long one. The delay in the settlement is believed to have been caused by the intervention of the palace functionaries, whose policy, in order to retain the Sultan's favor, consists of combating the rights and privileges of foreign subjects.

Non-Fighters May Leave.

Tokio, Aug. 13, 7 a.m.—The Emperor, through Field Marshal Yamagata, chief of the genral staff, has directed Field Marshal Oyama, commander of the Japanese armies in the field to permit the women, priests, merchants and diplomats and the officers of neutral powers to leave Port Arthur and to extend to them shelter at Port Dalny. Oyama is given authority to remove other non-combatants not enumerated, providing it does not affect the military operations. Yamagata's formal order declares that the Emperor, prompted by humanity, desires to spare the non-combatants at Port Arthur from devastation by fire and sword.

Shell Hits Hospital.

Tokio, Aug. 15. — Chinese dockyard laborers who left Port Arthur on the night of Aug. 8, and who arrived here today, confirm the report of heavy fighting there. They state that the Japanese lines are closing in on inner forts. A shell, which exploded in the general hospital, killed a number of the number of the patients.

The Japanese Account.

Tokio, Aug. 13. — The navy department has issued the following statement covering the Che Foo incident:

"According to reports received to date the Asshawho and Kasumi, belonging to the first destroyer flotilla, Captain Fujimoto commanding, were dispatched in search of the enemy's ships scattered during the engagement of the night of Aug. 10. They found a vessel resembling one of the enemy's destroyers, and gave chase, but lost her in the darknes. Continuing the search they discovered that she had entered the Port of Che Foo. The Japanese ships waited outside the port, but the Russian failed to leave. Captain Fujimoto anticipating its escape during the night, if possible to attack merchant vessels, entered Che Foo with the two destroyers and found the Russian destroyer Ryeshitelni remaining undisarmed. Lieut. Trashima was then sent to the Russian vessel with a message to the effect that the Japanese commander expected him to leave by dawn or surrender. The Russian commander refused to comply with either demand, and while the conference was still going on he was heard to instruct his men to blow up the ship. At the same time he caught hold of Lieut. Trashima and threw him overboard. Our interpreter was next thrown overboard by some Russian sailors and others among the sailors showed signs of resistance. While this was progressing the forward magazine exploded, killing one and mortally injuring four of our men. We then captured the destroyer and retired. Lieut. Trashima and ten others were wounded."

Municipal Aid.

Toronto officials are criticising somewhat severely the statement of a Toronto man at a meeting of the Manufacturers' Association, that the city did not give business men any encouragement, or even fair play. To show the absurdity of the charge, the assessment commissioner points out that, what with fixed assessments, exemptions, etc., the very man who was grumbling so much was only paying taxes on a $20,000 assessment, while his firm had assets to the extent of $150,000.

The disgruntled Torontonian is a type of a class. All manufacturers are not of that class. While they all naturally want to make as much money as they can, many of them—we hope the large majority—are willing to live and let live. They pay their employes fair wages, and charge their customers fair prices. But some are never satisfied with what they make. No matter what profits they get, they want more. No matter what assistance they receive from governments and municipalities, they always cry after more. No matter who suffers, they must have their pound of flesh—with twenty ounces to the pound.

That manufacturers should be encouraged, no one will deny. It is a good thing for a municipality to have them; and the more of them the better. They supply work for the citizens, and nearly all the money they pay in wages is spent in the locality. In many cases, especially when the firm is new, and perhaps struggling hard to build up a business, if they were taxed to the full limit of assessment, they would never succeed at all. Municipalities do wisely, therefore, in giving assistance, in the way of reduced assessment, or free water, or some exemption, or a site of land, or even a loan of money. But that is a practice that might easily be carried too far. And in many cases it has been carried too far, against the interests of the ordinary taxpayers, whose pockets must provide this encouragement. Certainly the proprietor of an established business, who can pay his way, even though his profits are small, has no just claim to more assistance from the community than his neighbor who does not run a factory, and is hardly making enough money to pay his debts. And if he gets more it is only as an act of charity at the public expense. That is a sort of pauperism of which a man with any spirit of independence should be ashamed. Or, in such a case, if it is not charity it is worse. Those who hold the public purse, and make the laws, are either using the public funds for his relief as a pauper, or else they are conspiring with him to rob the public for his benefit.

And a similar principle applies in that form of assistance which is given certain parties through the medium of a customs tariff. A government should not tax the community further than is necessary to raise enough money to carry on the public business effectively. But if, in raising that money by a customs tax, it can so arrange matters that, without imposing any heavier burdens on others, it can assist some private enterprise in the country; can develop or encourage some special line of business; can guard some one from undue competition of outsiders; such assistance it may very properly give.

And that assistance the Government of Canada does give the business men of this country, in the duties it imposes on goods imported. Not only does it raise a revenue thereby ample for its needs, and providing something to pay its debts, but in the arrangement of its tariff it gives an incidental protection to manufacturers and merchants which materially increases their profits. And to that much protection not even the free trader objects.

But while this is satisfactory to all fair-minded men, there are those who still cry for more. They want municipalities to give them exemptions and fixed assessments so low as to be unjust to their neighbors, who have to pay the taxes which they do not pay. They want the Government to put on a protective tariff so high that they will be enabled to control the markets, form monopolies, raise prices, and thus prey on their fellow citizens.

Men of this class are an injury to society. They are the people, who, more than any others, precipitate the frequent conflicts between labor and capital. They strive to live at the expense of others—at the expense of their employes—at the expense of their customers—at the expense of the community.

But they pursue an unwise policy; for they only make enemies who will strike back, and strike hard, at the first opportunity. And the government that panders to them pursues an unwise policy that will in time react against itself. "A fair field, and no favors," is the motto of every independent man. All he asks of the community, through its governing bodies, is to assist him only so far as to secure for him the fair field he requires. If he gets that he asks no more; and does not need any more. He will succeed, if he deserves success. And if he cannot succeed with that, then it is evident he can only live through charity or crime.

Australia has added a new feature to the protection policy. It imposes a duty of three pence per pound on all magazines having more than 15 per cent of advertisements. The avowed reason is to discourage the introduction into the commonwealth of advertisements of foreign manufactures. If a protective policy is a proper thing, then the Australian plan may not be a bad one. Tons of cheap magazines come into Canada—half of their pages consisting of advertisements, while the reading matter itself has a strong United States flavor. It would be better for the country, if, in their place, we had the English magazines, whose literature would be more acceptable to us. Besides, which if we had less of the cheap magazines from across the border, our own publishers might have a better opportunity to make both ends meet.

As to Russell.

[Chicago Record-Herald.]

If you could live to be as old and rich as Russell Sage is
Would you not willingly work up through all the trying stages?
Would you not be inclined to get along without vacations,
If thus you might outlive your poor and hungering relations?

I'd like to have R. Sage's wealth—I may as well confess it—
But not that I might pile it up, not merely to possess it;
I wouldn't care to live to set my relations
all sighing;
'Twould kill me to be blamed because I was so slow in dying.

Origin of Tip.

[New York Sun.]

An odd little word of three letters, which greatly influences the treatment a man gets in public dining places, goes back a couple of centuries to the coffee houses of England for its origin. At the doors of eating rooms there hung brass-bound boxes engraved with the phrase "To insure promptness," and into the slit in the top customers were expected to drop coins for the waiter. The initial letters of that phrase have ever since been used to express the fee given to waiters and servants as an extra inducement to them to do their work well, or as a requittal for service promptly rendered.

Peers' Horseshoes for Castle Wall.

[London Daily Mail.]

According to a very ancient custom, every peer passing through Oakham has to leave a horseshoe or its equivalent to be placed in the castle. The custodian has this week received horseshoes from the Duke of Westminster, the Marquis of Londonderry, Earl Cadogan, the Earl of Mar and Kellie, Lord Leconfield and Lard Barnard. There are 154 shoes now on the castle wall, including those given by the King, the Queen and the Duke of Connaught.

After the Vacation.

[Chicago Tribune.]

Back from my summer vacation,
In the noisy old town once more,
Away from the vicious mosquitoes,
And the chiggers that sting and bore.
With my neck all raw and blistered,
And my nose as red as a beet,
I find that the city is welcome,
And that life in town is sweet.

Back from my summer vacation,
Away from the worms that creep,
And the gnats that crawl down my neckband,
And bother me while I sleep.
Afar from the flies and the spiders,
And the June bugs that biff and pelt,
I am glad to get back from the country
And the loneliness I have felt.

Back from my summer vacation,
And the soggy old stuff to eat,
Where a restaurant meal is welcome
And a table d'hote is a treat.
Where there's something to do besides grumble,
And something to do besides wait,
Where I get my papers each morning
And they're never a whole day late.

Back from my summer vacation,
In the good old town once more,
Afar from the oppressive silence,
To the rush and the rout and roar.
In the city there's something doing,
There's joy in the meet of might,
And the soul expands with the struggle
And grows in the shock of flight.

Reading For Style.

[Exchange.]

The story is told that Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, is bitterly opposed to the yellow journal habit of indulging in slipshod English. Just before his staff started for the St. Louis convention he gave them these pithy directions: "Get the news, boys, and all the news, and write it in the English language. I want you all to improve your style." "And how can we improve it?" asked one of the reporters. "Read, read, study good books." "What books?" was asked. "Well, there's Thackeray, for instance. Read 'Pendennis' as a starter." The first night the young men were in St. Louis there was some delay about sending their report, and Colonel Watterson wired them: "What on earth are you boys doing?" This was the reply: "Reading 'Pendennis.'" and the colonel laughed as loudly as anybody who saw it.

SPLENDID FIGHT OF CZAREVITCH

Beat Off the Japanese Ships Until Cruisers Escaped.

MIKADO'S FLEET TOO SWIFT

The Flagship Attacked After Dark by Torpedo Craft, But Succeeded in Getting Away.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 13. — In the midst of the general mourning over the loss of so many brave men in the naval engagement off Port Arthur there is general rejoicing over the grand showing made by the squadron in the face of overwhelming odds. Battleships and cruisers alike were handled manfully and their guns are known to have done much destruction. The boastful statements from Japanese sources that their fleet "suffered no material damage" is discredited by reports which have reached the admiralty from apparently authentic sources in the far east. These reports go to confirm the earlier reports that not only was the Japanese first-class cruiser Kasuga sunk, during the fight, but three others of Admiral Togo's squadron were so badly damaged by the Russian fire that they were in danger of sinking and had to be given aid by their more fortunate mates.

Although Rear Admiral Withoft was killed during the battle he has left behind him a glorious heritage for his kinsfolk and countrymen. With his flagship, the Czarevitch, he bore the brunt of the Japanese attack and so manipulated his ship that the Japanese were unable to close with the lighter vessels of the Russian squadron.

The navy department has received the chief of staff's report of the naval battle, which shows that the Russian ships were forced to fight in the face of terrible odds and that any of the ships escaped seems a miracle. The report states that on Wednesday the entire Russian fleet, consisting of six armorclads, four cruisers, and eight destroyers sailed boldly out of the harbor of Port Arthur about 9 a.m. Admiral Withoft signaled "battle formation" as soon as the fleet reached the open water, and the line was formed with the Czarevitch in the lead and on the extreme right of the column. Behind the flagship came the squadron, three abreast, with the cruisers in the center, and the destroyers, four on a side as flankers.

When some 30 miles from Port Arthur a Japanese fleet was sighted, consisting of six battleships, eleven cruisers and 30 destroyers and torpedo boats. Admiral Withoft made signal and immediately the Russian battle flags were broken out on every vessel in the squadron. The Japanese made haste to attack, but the Russian vessels maintained their positions and held on their course. The Japanese opened fire, were answered with a will, and soon every craft in both fleets was in action. Following a signal from the flagship the Russian vessels broke line and were enabled to sail between the Japanese columns and for a time it seemed as though they would be enabled to get away. The superior speed of the Japanese vessels told, however, and soon the Russian fleet was overtaken and a battle at close range was begun.

It was then that the admiral, seeing that all could not escape, signaled to the cruisers to make for the open sea, and he maneuvered his flagship so as to come between the two fastest of the Japanese craft and the lighter Russian vessels. For a time the Czarevitch stood up well against the fire of the Japanese vessels and her larger guns did good execution, being served with remarkable precision. The fight was of the fiercest and for 40 minutes the doomed armorclad fought off practically the entire armored cruiser division of Admiral Togo's fleet. Her steering gear was carried away by a Japanese shell, and, almost in the same instant, another shell swept the bridge, killing the courageous admiral and his flag lieutenant.

The Japanese, seeing that the Czarevitch had been rendered unseaworthy, abandoned her and began the chase after the other Russian vessels which were then headed for the open sea. The latter had scattered and several of the vessels are believed to have gotten safely away and to be en route for the agreed rendezvous.

Emergency repairs were made on the Czarevitch, but when night came she was attacked by a flotilla of Japanese destroyers which made every effort to blow her out of the water. Her torpedo nets, however, proved efficient and finally the Japanese were compelled to withdraw beyond the range of her remaining effective guns and taking advantage of the lull the badly battered armorclad was headed for the nearest neutral port where she arrived at dawn. At Klao Chou she found the Novik and a destroyer.

ROYAL COUPLE'S HARD PENANCE

Proceeding on Foot to Rome, Seeking Forgiveness.

DIVORCED AND RECONCILED

Prince Waldenburg and His Wife to Devote Rest of Their Lives to Charitable Work.

Vienna, Aug. 15.—A prince and a princess are making a pilgrimage of more than 400 miles on foot to Rome to appear in pentinence before the Pope.

These personages are Prince Frederick Von Schoenberg-Waldenburg and his wife, Princess Alice, the youngest daughter of Don Carlos, the pretender to the cown of Spain.

This couple, married in 1897 at Venice by the patriarch, now Pope Pious X, were divorced by the House of Lords of Saxony last December. Each party to the suit charged the other with unfaithfulness, to which the princess added accusations of deprivation of her liberty and of even personal ill-treatment.

The reasons for the divorce were kept secret. The report current at the time of the separation was that the princess had eloped with her coachman and she threatened slander suits of damages against the persons whom she blamed for the story.

It is presumed that the personal influence of the Pope, who is an old friend of both, was exerted to reconcile the pair. However that may be, they are walking hand in hand over a rough country to fulfill a self-imposed pennance before asking absolution for their sins, including that of obtaining a divorce, which the Catholic Church cannot sanction.

The princess wears a black gown of severely plain-cut and unfashionable material. Her head is covered with a dark shawl. Her husband wears a rough gray suit with a band of black tied around the sleeve, in token that he is a pilgrim pentinent. His feet are shod with sandals, and he wears a common gray felt hat.

They stop at the nearest inns on their route. At every halt they bestow alms through the parish priest upon the poor, and devote themselves to whatever work of pious merit may offer itself. Their road will lead them over the Austrian Alps into Italy. The penitent pair had reached, at last account, St. Veit, in Carinthia, a small mountain town thirty miles from their starting place, the princess' country seat, where reconciliation took place.

They have announced their purpose to devote the remainder of their lives to religion and works of humanity and charity.

The prince, who was born in the Protestant religion, is one of the medalized hignesses of Germany. He traces his ancestry back to the year 998, and some of his relatives reigned in a small principality. He was ineligible to marry a daughter of the royal, if not the regnant, Bourbon Carlos.

LONG TUNNEL COMPLETED

First Train Passed Through From Switzerland to Italy.

Domodossola, Aug. 15.—The first construction train went through the new Simplon tunnel a few days ago and was received at the mouth of the long gallery by a large number of the nearby population and the officials of the company. This event marks the accomplishment of one of the greatest engineering feats in history. The tunnel is twelve and one-half miles long.

This new passage, which is to connect Switzerland and northern Europe with Italy, through Milan, under the highest mountains of the Alps, was begun toward the end of 1898, and the contracting company had signed agreements to have the work entirely finished by May 15, 1904, but the enormous engineering difficulties prevented the company from filling its contract in time.

The Simplon tunnel, which is the fourth to be driven under the Alps, was finished more rapidly, considering its length, than any of the preceding ones, owing to improved machinery and experience gained in previous work. The Mount Cenis, which is nearly eight miles in length, took fourteen years to finish.

It is not expected that this new and important passage under the Alps will be in running order much before next summer, as the approaches are nearly all to be built. When completed the tunnel will furnish easy and rapid means of communication from London and Paris with Milan and Brindisi, by which route the India mail is sent from England. The Italian and Swiss Governments share alike in the cost of construction.

A WIDE SPHERE OF USEFULNESS.—The consumption of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has grown to great proportions. Notwithstanding the fact that it has now been on the market for over thirty-one years, its prosperity is as great as ever, and the demand for it in that period has very greatly increased. It is beneficial in all countries, and wherever introduced fresh supplies are constantly asked for.

There are altogether 44,000 hotels in the United States, according to a New York manager, representing an invested capital of over six billion dollars. These establishments employ 3,500,000 persons. The hotel population is enormous and steadily increasing. Some of the finest houses cost as much as $4,500,000.

HARD AND SOFT corns cannot withstand Holloway's Corn Cure; it is effectual every time. Get a bottle at once and be happy

Exporters of gold always prefer to ship in bars rather than coin, simply because of the greater subjection of coin to abrasion in transit. They cannot be packed as closely as bars. It is said that $1,000,000 in American eagles may show as great a loss as $100 from abrasion in being carried from New York to Paris.

AMBULANCE BRINGS BRIDE

Girl Escapes From Home To Be Married by Faking Suicide.

New York, Aug. 15. — Miss Maru Kronberg's wedding coach from her home at 48 Main street, North Bergen, N. J., yesterday morning was an ambulance, and the way she succeeded in gaining her liberty from her home was by a fake attempt at suicide.

Miss Kronberg was to have been secretly married to Julius Braun, of North Bergen, Friday, but as she was leaving the house she was stopped by her mother and forcibly returned to her room. She was so closely watched since that time that there was no chance to escape. She got a note to her lover Friday night, through a mutual friend, and the ruse was planned which proved successful.

Mrs. Kronberg was working downstairs about 10 o'clock yesterday morning when she heard a shriek and a fall upstairs. She found her daughter stretched out on the floor, apparently writhing in pain. An empty bottle that had contained carbolic acid was by the girl's side.

Necker's ambulance, which does duty for the North Hudson Hospital in Union Hill, was called, the supposed despondent sweetheart was carried out on a stretcher and the trip to the hospital, a distance of over a mile, was begun. The ambulance, however, stopped at the office of Justice of the Peace Frank Stuke at Lewis street and Bergenline avenue, Union Hill, Braun had made arrangements with Mr. Necker, and was on hand at the Justice's office. The girl hopped out of the vehicle and the lovers were married.

Fifteen minutes later they boarded a trolley car bound for the Hoboken ferry. They have not yet returned from their honeymoon.

LUCKY MISS GREGORY

Philadelphia Milliner Leaves Halifax Girl $500,000.

Philadelphia, Aug. 15. — Miss Mary J. Miles, who amassed $1,000,000 by furnishing millinery to the aristocracy of Philadelphia and who recently died in Ephrata, Pa., bequeathed $500,000 to a girl she met on a sea voyage and fancied resembled a younger sister who had died. The recipient of the fortune is Miss Jessie Gregory, of Halifax, N. S. She is the daughter of former Judge Gregory, of that city.

Miss Miles had only one relative, a brother, with whom she often disagreed over his mode of living. She leaves $10,000 in trust for him.

Miss Miles and Miss Gregory traveled over Europe together and the milliner wished to take the girl to Philadelphia with her as a companion and heiress. Miss Gregory's father refused to permit it, but allowed his daughter to make frequent visits to Miss Miles.

HEIR PROMISED IN DREAM

The Czarina Had a Vision and Heard Message From a Saint.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 15—It is a matter for satisfaction that the birth of a son has broken the melancholy which had settled upon the Emperor. Members of his entourage say the conviction that he is a hopeless victim of misfortune has given place to a strong optimism, which is already evident.

The religious superstition connected with the event gives the clergy a renewal of the hold upon the imperial family and people. This is evidenced by an incident which the people of St. Petersburg are eagerly discussing. The Czarina about a year ago dreamed that she saw one of the saints of the Russian Church, who expressed sympathy with her desire for an heir. He directed her to open his tomb and remove the relics therefrom and her wish would be gratified.

The Empress related the dream to the Czar. She did not know the name of the saint, so the Czar collected pictures of all the Russian saints and the Empress identified St. Seraffim as the one of her dream.

The Emperor and Empress went personally to his shrine in the forest on the Volga. The tomb was ordered opened. The body of the saint was in a state of perfect preservation and the relics which were there as described were given to the Czarina. News of their Majestiy's mission to the shrine became known through the past year and hereafter it is certain to become a Russian Lourdes or Mecca.

A STRANGE STAR

It Appeared and Disappeared at Intervals in Eastern Nevada Sky.

Reno, Nev., Aug. 15.—A strange star in the east aroused much interest throughout Nevada recently. The star was midway between the horizon and the zenith, and had the appearance of being a planet. It appeared suddenly and illumined the heavens and then gradually decreased in brightness until it entirely disappeared.

The star appeared to be traveling toward the south and its form varied, sometimes having the appearance of a winged wheel. The phenomenon would perhaps be explained by the statement that it was a balloon were it not for the fact that from Winnemucca, Wadsworth, Virginia and Carson the same stories were received. They all agreed in one particular, that the star appeared and disappeared at intervals of from one to five minutes. Added to this is the fact that seldom before have falling stars been so numerous. They fell in constant showers all that evening. There also was considerable sheet lightning.

GATES LOST $100,000

Got on the Wrong Side and Ordered Holding Sold Out.

Chicago, Aug. 15. — John W. Gates stepped down and out of the wheat market Saturday after sustaining a $100,000 loss. He discovered that he had taken the bull side late in the campaign and that with the improving crop reports from the Northwest it was not wise to hang on.

It is said that Gates telegraphed Sam Scotten to sell his wheat quickly, and the Scotten shovelers were put to work on the job, which was finished just before the closing bell was sounded.

There is a story connected with this Gates deal to the effect that Gates was anxious to get into wheat on the bull side and he telegraphed a friend in LaSalle street asking him what he thought of wheat as a purchase. The answer was sent back to New York:

"Wheat going to $1 25; Northwestern crop; you can't stop it."

Gates took on a few million bushels. At the same time the Lasalle street man referred to above put selling orders into the market and unloaded.

Industrial Jubilee.

Montreal, Quebec, Aug. 15.—An interesting industrial jubilee celebration in this city recently was that of the Canada Sugar Refining Company, which was established Aug. 12, 1804, by the late J. J. Redpath. An address was presented to Sir George Drummond, the president, and loving cups were presented to several veterans in the service.

LIGHTNING BOLTS KILL TWO WOMEN

Saturday's Storm Causes Fatalities at Cayuga and Wingham —Barns Burned.

Cayuga, Ont., Aug. 15.—An electric storm of great violence, accompanied by rain, passed over the village on Saturday evening about 6 o'clock. Several places were struck. Mrs. Ed. Cousins was sitting in her house when an electric bolt struck the window, and, piercing the glass, killed her instantly. The bolt apparently struck her arms and neck. Her baby, about one month old, was in the mother's arms, and escaped apparently unhurt.

Mr. Richard Martin's store chimney was struck and badly shattered. The bolt entered the room where he and others were sitting, but no one was hurt.

Wingham, Ont., Aug. 15.—A severe electric storm passed over this section on Saturday. In Turnberry the barn of Wm. Robinson was burned. Another barn was struck in East Wawanosh, and was destroyed. Mrs. Allan Bruce was upstairs in her residence near Marnock, when the electric fluid struck the house, setting it on fire. Her son ran up and found his mother dead and her clothing on fire. She was 72 years of age. The family were all shocked by the lightning stroke.

Toronto, Aug. 15.—One of the most severe electrical storms that Toronto has seen for a long time broke over the city shortly after 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon and raged for nearly an hour. Rain fell in torrents, accompanied by hailstones large as marbles, and the lightning was very vivid. Some of the transformers at the Toronto Electric Light Company's works were seriously incapacitated, and the electric disturbance proved to be such that the telephone service had to be abandoned for some time. The R. C. Y. C.'s races had to be called off, after several events had been decided. A number of yachts were cruising across the lake to Port Dalhousie, and these must have encountered rough weather.

The most remarkable feature in connection with the storm was the immunity enjoyed by the small craft on the bay from danger. At the time the storm broke out the bay was dotted with numerous dingies, large and small, and that all, so far as could be ascertained, succeeded in making port without further mishap to the occupants than getting drenched, is to be regarded as both fortunate and unusual.

THE TYPOS' CONVENTION

Business at World's Fair Gathering Concluded—Toronto Next Year.

St. Louis, Aug. 13, World's Fair Ground.—At today's session of the International Typographical Union, favorable action was taken by the convention of the proposition to provide for the administering an obligation by certificate to new members, outside the jurisdiction of subordinate unions, making more stringent the present law relative to abuse and vituperative language against any members, providing a standard of measurement for linotype matrices, and providing that provisional members may use the union label.

After a lengthy discussion, in which the internal affairs of printing offices figured as a prominent factor, the convention sustained the action of a New Orleans foreman in discharging a printer on the grounds of alleged incompetency. The delegates who opposed the decision asserted that the printer in question had been discharged by the foreman because of personal feeling. The convention's action establishes a precendent which, it is said, will make it necessary for a man working in any department of a union printing office to be absolutely competent to perform the work required of him. The convention then adjourned to meet in Toronto on Aug. 15, 1905.

A LIVING SCREEN

Sumatra Warriors Place Women and Children in Front.

New York, Aug. 15.—An interesting explanation of the killing of large numbers of women and children in the recent fighting between the Dutch expeditions and the natives in North Sumatra, is given by Colonel H. F. C. Van Bylevelt, a retired officer of the Dutch East Indian army, who has just arrived here. Colonel Bylevelt has had 30 years of active service in the Dutch East Indies, and comes to America to place his son in college. He said today:

"A small expedition of about 200 men under Lieutenant Colonel Van Daalen was sent to Cajoe and Alaslands, in North Sumatra, but not belonging to Achin. The Alas natives are well armed, but their rifles do not carry as far as those of our troops, and in order to overcome the disadvantage their leaders, being well aware of the disinclination of our men to harm women and children, place them in front of their fighting line as a living screen.

"The women and children are sometimes armed and have often fired at our troops. Sheltered by this screen, the natives allow our men to approach within point-blank fire. In almost all engagements they have followed the same tactics, though repeatedly warned by our officers. As a rule our troops withhold their fire as long as possible, but they dare not run the risk of being overwhelmed by a sudden rush of the natives from behind their living wall, and are often forced to fire regardless of the women and children.

"Regrettable as it is, experience has shown that it is utterly impossible to induce the natives to abandon their cowardly tactics, and it is equally impossible that we should abandon our purpose because of this action."

STATE MONOPLY IN IRON

Project for Control of a New Process in Australia.

Melbourne, Aug. 15.—A scheme is on foot to secure to the Commonwealth of Australia a share of the world's iron market.

For some time two Melbourne inventors have been engaged on a process for making iron and steel direct from ore without having first to be made into pig-iron. So far they have used magnetic iron sand, obtained from Taranaki (N. Z.) beach, and their operations have been successful.

They claim that they will be able to treat equally successfully the vast deposits of iron ore in various parts of Australia, and that their process will save £2 per ton on the present world's cost of producing steel.

The idea is that New South Wales should start state iron works, receiving a bonus from the Federal Government, and that the former, by licensing iron masters in other parts of the world to use the process at a stiff royalty, would thus secure to its own works an advantage of £1 to £1 10s per ton, while the royalty fees would constitute a reserve and depreciation fund, thus leaving the ordinary working account in a better position to pay the high rate of wages prevailing in Australia.

DEADLY DANISH GUN

Weighs 15 Pounds and Fires 200 Rounds Per Minute.

London, Aug. 15.—The British War Office is considering the adoption of the new deadly field gun which interested the King during his recent visit to Denmark.

Both his majecty and the Prince of Wales, as well as Lord Roberts, have been impressed with the possibilities of the Danish invention, and now that the gun which the King saw has been acquired by the Rexer Small Arms Company, a British firm, experiments are likely to be carried out in this country.

The features which commend the gun are its extreme mobility, its rate of fire, its lightness for use in the roughest country, and the fact that it can be adopted by any arm of the service. The rate of fire is 200 rounds per minute, and the weapon is so light that it can be taken anywhere over a man's shoulder or across a horse.

It is a multiple single-barreled gun, with an outer rifled tube encased in a jacket. Its weight is under 15 pounds, and 600 rounds can be fired before the barrel becomes heated.

"DUDE KING" GOES TO WAR

He Does Not Want To, But He Is Being Punished.

Berlin Aug. 15.—Prince Frederick Leopold, of Prussia, a second cousin of Emperor William, has been ordered to Gen. Kuropatkin's headquarters, in Manchuria, to represent the Hohenzollern family and to study the war from the Russian side. The explanation is a court scandal.

Frederick Leopold and the Emperor married sisters. The Emperor and the Empress are living examples of connubial bliss but the domestic relations of the prince and the princess are more than strained. According to rumor the Emperor has had to interfere more than once to keep peace in the family. Frederick Leopold, nicknamed the "Dude King," is not a warrior, although he is a general of cavalry. The richest members of the Hohenzollern family, he is a luxurious liver and the toils and the dangers of a campaign are not at all to his taste.

It is pretty certain that the Emperor has exerted his authority as the head of the house of Hohenzollern to send his cousin on an expedition which must be accepted by him as punishment for ill treating his wife.

A MODERN MIRACLE

Leg Grew Five Inches After Immersion in Well.

Liverpool, Aug. 15. — A wonderful cure has just been effected by the waters of St. Winifrede's well in the little Welsh town of Holywell, the fame of which dates back hundreds of years.

The patient is James Plunkett, a builder's laborer, of Manchester, who became almost a helpless crippie after falling from some scaffolding twelve months ago last December. He was treated without success, and a fortnight ago he made the pilgrimage to Holywell with his crutches and his right leg five inches shorter than the left.

He was dipped in the well and given a course of baths, and was soon able to discard his crutches, which are now to be seen in the crypt of the well. His injured leg began to resume its proper shape, and he was enabled to place it to the ground.

At present Plunkett is still an inmate of the hospice on the hill above the well. He now walks with the aid of a stick, having only just the suspicion of a limp.

He has been home, and the change in his condition created excitement in the district of Oldham road where he lives.

A BOYCOTT

Has been declared by the labor unions against the products of the Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., viz.: Grape-Nuts and Postum Food Coffee.

The labor papers notify the public not to buy these things until Mr. C. W. Post, the proprietor, obeys the orders of the Unions.

These "orders" are that he withdraw the advertising from certain newspapers that have fallen under their displeasure.

They openly announce that they propose to "break up," "ruin" and "put out of business" the publishers of such papers, and insist that Mr. Post join in this conspiracy with them.

These publishers have been faithful to their contracts with Mr. Post, are upright business men and good citizens, their only crime being that they decline to turn over the management of their papers to the leaders of the labor trusts (alias Unions), who are generally ignorant, willful and violent men, incapable of conducting a business.

Mr. Post declines to be a party to such unlawful conspiracy to financially ruin anyone, and this together with the fact that he has been rash enough to publicly expose some of the criminal acts of members of labor unions, has produced this boycott.

The average American citizen, not employing labor, knows little of the insufferable arrogance, impudence, and violence of the ignorant bullies, decorated with brief power by the most tyrannous of all trusts, the "labor trust" or Unions.

Put supreme power in the hands of any ignorant man, not accumstomed to affairs, and he quickly becomes a bully, denouncing and abusing anyone and everyone who does not instantly obey his "orders." He cares nothing for law or the right of others.

The Unions are made up of two classes, 1st. The men who have a ready and abusive tongue, and who can howl down, and by violent and loud talk, dominate the meetings of the Unions.

These men are seldom if ever good workers, or thrifty, home-owning and desirable citizens, they have small chance on their own merits to earn first-class wages, unless they can force themselves on employers by a Union card. They bring on strikes and misery for good workmen, and try to, and do, blackmail employers into settling same by paying them graft money. Some of them have been jailed for such offenses but the great majority still hold forth. They have brought untold disgrace on the fair name of "labor" and made the term "the poo-er werken mon" a by-word, hissed and laughed at by the public.

The second or other class in the labor unions is made up of good, capable, intelligent, peaceable, thrifty citizens, who go into unions with the laudable purpose of bettering their conditions, and to support an honest association, which they hope will be honestly conducted, truly and fairly, in the interests of labor, but to their surprise and disgust they find that whenever they try to speak in the meetings for fairness and honorable procedure they are hooted and howled down by the other class.

They try to counsel peace, equity, and justice, but they might as well launch a feather in a cyclone. Then they sometimes try to keep at work when they need the wages, and know they are fair, but they are abused, and frequently their families maltreated and themselves beaten back into submission, so there are literally hundreds of thousands of decent American workmen, absolutely forced to bear the disgrace and ignominy of the galling yoke of Unionism, because of the hated tyranny of the others.

Every American of the right sort is a workman, either with brain or hands, or better yet, with both, and in the mind of each is a fundamental deep-seated respect for the able, competent, thrifty, and peaceable worker, and a correspondisg dislike and antipathy to the arrogant and violent pretender of the other class.

The second class named, are for the time being forced to stand the denunciation of the public against labor unions, for they are in sad company, which has brought disgrace upon the name of Unions, so there seems no way but for the decent men to stand it until in some way they can obtain control, and make the old or new unions, which they may form, lawful, respectable and worthy of the esteem of the public.

We are on record as being friends and well-wishers of the second class named, and as thoroughly and unalterably opposed to the law-breakers, criminals, and bullies of the other class, so when union men denounce and revile us, it is easy to determine in which class they belong.

The union men in the first class are genuine and undeniable anarchists, aliens and outlaws.

Let us analyze and see.

When a strike occurs, they picket plants, threaten people, assault men, dynamite property, boycott and even murder, they are criminals and opposed to all law.

An anarchist is one opposed to law.

When police or the military are called in to preserve the peace, and protect the common people, do these men welcome and uphold them? They do not, but hasten to "protest" and do all in their power to remove them, so they can carry out their acts of violence and law-breaking.

They favor no law but their own, and that is the true hall mark of an Anarchist pure and simple.

Someone says we are harsh in our description of these men. We are not responsible for their character and acts. They do these things regardless of anyone, and the only way the public can fairly judge them is to know the facts.

It is this class of union men who have placed a boycott on our products, in trying to force us to join their lawless ranks, and ruin some publishers, and they are the ones who propose to punish Mr. Post for fearlessly telling the facts about them and their methods.

A man with a family of children to support was kept out of work by a strike in Chicago. The family would have starved, had he not obtained money to buy them bread.

God Almighty has instilled in the mind of every man, worthy the name, a desire to work and furnish bread and clothing for his little ones, but in this case the labor union said he must not.

God's motive was the strongest, he broke the rules of the union and went to work.

They caught him one evening on the street, knocked him down with brass knuckles, kicked him unconscious, then pried his mouth open, and poured carbolic acid down his throat.

Another man who was forced to work to support his family was met, and the strikers put their fingers in his eyes, gouged one of them out until it hung on his cheek. Are these the only cases of outrage?

Hundreds of acts equally infamous are repeated from day to day, daring strikes conducted by lawless and criminal members of labor unions.

Decent people read with horror the tales of distress, women attacked and sometimes stripped on the street (St. Louis street car strike), workmen blown to pieces with dynamite, men acssaulted, mobs formed, millions of dollars worth of property destroyed many lives lost, and a general reign of terror, disorder, and anarchy conducted by the labor trust, in trying to force the balance of mankind to obey, without question the mandates of the leaders of the Unions.

Such outrages on the public peace, and such absolute disregard of the lives, property, and liberty of citizens, has finally aroused the people to a universal and not to be ignored demand that these criminal bullies be restrained and forced to obey the law, and the unions that harbor them have forfeited the respect of the public.

The harm these criminals have brought to the fair name of peaceable honest labor is too great to be easily computed.

Such outrages to enslave the liberty of the common and respectable American citizen make the blood boil and surge. Many of us has forbears that in 1776 shouldered the old flint lock, left their comfortable homes for the open camp, suffered from cold, hunger, and exposure, wounds, disease, and even death to preserve the sacred heritage of liberty, and that same old sturdy, fearless blood, today calls for the sons to again stand fast, and oppose and crush the ugly spirit of tyranny, and oppression so plainly shown by these labor unions.

There are things in this world dearer than money or business.

We expend about a million dollars a year with newspapers, most of which goes to printers and other workmen. Probably two millions a year more are spread among our workpeople, farmers, and others.

Our factories cover many acres of ground, and the business furnishes the food and clothing for nearly 3,000 human beings.

This act of the Unions is openly for the purpose of ruining the business, and therefore taking the livelihood from these 3,000 people whom God has created, and naturally intends shall be fed and clothed.

Our workpeople are paid high wages.

Those who have been with us one year, receive 5 per cent above regular wages, and the two-year and over veterans receive 10 per cent above the highest regular wages. They are of necessity in the work clean and capable. Most of them own their own homes and are unusually thrifty, sober, and prosperous, the savings accounts in one of the banks numbering above 1,450.

The agitators of the labor unions have tried to introduce their methods of strikes, hatred, poverty and distress among our people to replace the present conditions of peace and prosperity, but thus far our people have been intelligent enough to decline to make the exchange.

It is these peaceable and reputable citizens, living in content, who have done harm to no one, whom these labor Union Anarchists propose to "ruin" and "put out of business" along with the company.

Every industry is dependent upon the public for its existence, for unless the factory produces articles of sufficient merit to meet the need of the public, no business can result. If a factory produces the very highest grade of goods and a general and egective boycott is established that prevents the public from buying such products, the business must stop.

We have stated the facts herein, to the truth of which we are ready to make oath. If the great buying public decide to obey the orders of the labor unions, and refuse to purchase our products, we have but one thing to do—go out of business and let the families dependent on that business go adrift and shift for themselves. Such ruin will carry down with it everything connected with the industry that has taken years and millions of money to establish.

We cannot and will not join in conspiracy of these labor unions to ruin publishers.

We cannot and will not discharge a single one of our faithful and time-tried workmen, upon the orders of any labor union.

Upon these principles we stand. If the unions can make their boycott effective and sink our ship we will go down, with the captain on the bridge and in command.

LOCAL MARKETS.

London, Monday, Aug. 15.

The offerings on the market today were of the usual kind for this day of the week.

Thirteen loads of hay were on the stand; sales were moderately brisk, at $7 to $7 50 per ton.

Oats were sparingly offered, as there were only a couple of loads on sale, both of which were disposed of at $1 06 per cwt.

A carload of live hogs were purchased by Mr. D. McIntyre, for which he paid $5 75 per cwt for selects and $3 25 to $3 50 for sows.

STOCK MARKETS.

H. C. Becher, stock broker, Bank of Commerce building, received the following by private wire from Bartlett, Frazier & Carrington today:

New York, Aug. 15. —Noon. — The same reason that was furnished throughout the whole of last week for the rise in prices might be given today, and can hardly be improved upon. Of course, outside business is always attached to a rising market, and there is probably rather more commission house business today than since the upturn set in. For the most part, however, the morning advance is sufficiently well accounted for by the continued and active bullish manipulation, the absence of liquidation and the presence of a considerable short interest. That the latter has not been fully driven out of the market was sufficiently attested in the failure announced on the stock exchange this morning. So far as we can learn there is not the slightest gossip to be attached to the movements in any particular stock. The market does not seem to pay attention whatever to the rapid advance in grain. Considering the strength of the American stocks in London, the dealings here for foreign account have been rather disappointing.

Board Will Deal Firmly With the Pere Marquette

Road Must Be Repaired and Better Equipment Provided.

Otherwise Steps Will Be Taken Towards Canceling Lease.

Report of Engineer Graydon Shows the Line To Be Much in Need of Repairs.

Many important matters pertaining to the London and Port Stanley Railway came up for consideration at a meeting of the directors held his morning at the city hall. The most important, possibly, was the report of the city engineer on the condition of the roadbed and the rolling stock of the Pere Marquette, the lessees of the road. The report was anything but favorable to the latter, showing as it did that the roadbed was in a poor state of repair notwithstanding that the lease of the line provides that it should be kept in good condition by the railway holding the lease, and also that some of the passenger equipment was very antiquated and unfit for even the excursion traffic.

Engineer Graydon had gone over the entire line from London to Port Stanley on a hand car, and carefully examined all the bridges, buildings, yards and the roadway. He said among other things that the main track in the London yard was in a very poor condition, particularly from Simcoe to Hill streets, where the rails had hardly any bearing on the ties. The roadbed from the river south of the city to St. Thomas was found to have been neglected and far from first-class. Twenty-five per cent of the ties were in need of replacing, and in many places the roadbed required ballasting. Farm crossings and also the crossings of the road allowances needed replanking. Between St. Thomas and Port Stanley the engineer found the roadbed in fair condition although there was one place where the embankment was liable to give way in the spring of the year, when the frost is coming out of the ground. In the St. Thomas yard many ties are in need of replacing.

Referring to the bridges, Engineer Graydon told of a number of repairs that were necessary. Paint was badly needed on some of them, and on others minor repairs were required to the stone work. At the Port Stanley bridge the breakwater and cribwork are in bad condition and should be attended to to prevent the abutment being seriously damaged in the spring. Like the bridge over the Thames, that over the river at Port Stanley, is too light for the heavier locomotives. A new breakwater should be built along the west bank of Kettle Creek, north a considerable distance from the bridge at Port. The culverts and stations were also wanting some repairs.

Regarding the train service, the engineer says:

Ignored By Company.

"This clause (caling for first-class, closed excursion cars), has never been carried out, but almost entirely ignored ever since this company has operated the road.

"On every excursion train you will find that there are from two to four or more coaches which could not even be classified as second-class cars, much less first-class, and there are never sufficient cars for the passengers.

"I have not been able to examine all the coaches, but if you will look at No. 54, and 55, you will find them about fourth class. Cars 25, 26, 59, 62, and 67 are in the second and third class list. These cars do not come up to the provisions of section No. 11.

"Last Wednesday (Aug. 10) the train arriving at Port Stanley at 3:40 came through a rainstorm, and one of the coaches leaked so badly that men and women had to put on overcoats and waterproofs to keep their clothes dry. Pools of water were on the floor. There was no number on the outside or inside ends of the car, so I cannot locate it, but at least half a dozen passengers complained bitterly to me about having to sit in this car with the water falling from the roof. I have the names of these complainants if required. This train in returning from Port Stanley to London at 3:45, took two and a half hours to make the 23 miles, or about 9¼ miles an hour, although their agreement (clause 8) expressly stipulates a speed of not less than 20 miles an hour, including stops.

"A complaint was laid by a citizen to me that on the 9th of August, the 6:50 p.m. excursion train was down in the Port Stanley yard south of the station and pulled out and ran past the station without stopping, although hundreds of people were waiting to go home on it, and had to remain there for 2 hours and 40 minutes before another train was sent to London.

Neglected for Freight.

"From observation, investigation and information from people using the train service (summer), from six to a dozen times a week I am led to conclude that the passenger and excursion traffic is only a secondary consideration to the company, and everything is sacrificed to their freight business, and that no attempt has ever been made to carry out section 8 and 11 of their agreement from the day they took possession.

"I am informed by several of the summer residents at Port Stanley that the service from Port Stanley for a month after May 24, is utterly useless, as there are only two trains a day from Port Stanley. I am not fully possessed of the facts of their complaint, but I can refer you to Mr. Wm. Bowman and Dr. A. O. Jeffrey for particulars."

The board decided to notify the lessees that in the event of their neglecting to remedy the matters referred to in the report steps would be taken towards canceling the lease.

Ald. Becher said the way the road was being run was a crying shame. The mayor and others agreed with him, the former saying also that the board should go the full way, if necessary, which would mean the forfeiture of the lease.

Engineer Graydon also reported on a number of properties belonging to the board, and not registered, and the solicitor was instructed to ascertain the rights of the company in all of them and to take steps to complte the titles.

A letter from Supt. Jones, of the Grand Trunk, re the use of the depot at St. Thomas by the lessees of the L. and P. S. R. was referred to the solicitor to investigate the rights of the latter.

The engineer will consult with the city solicitor regarding the siding on the L. and P. S. R. property between Waterloo and Colborne streets, and used by the Grand Trunk. The G. T. R. may be ordered to vacate it.

The mayor told Ald. Matthews that nothing had been heard of the lease extension for some months.

THE FIRST FATAL CASE OF TYPHOID

Miss Bertha Imlach the Victim —Number of New Cases Reported.

The first death from typhoid fever in this city since the outbreak of the disease some ten days or two weeks ago, occurred this morning, the victim being Miss Bertha Imlach, of 706 Richmond street, daughter of the late Mr. W. J. Imlach.

Miss Imlach had been stopping at one of the cottages at Port Stanley, and on the day of the annual picnic of St. John the Evangelist Sunday school, she went to the heights and joined in the outing, she being interested in the school. She drank some water from the pump at the east side of the Fraser House, and later developed signs of fever. Her case was from the first considered serious, and for a day or two no hope had been entertained for her recovery.

Several new cases were reported to the chairman of the board of health today. One physician alone came to the city hall and registered five cases, and others had smaller numbers. However, the chairman of the board of health is aware of the fact that all of the doctors of the city are not reporting cases as they should, and he has had blank forms sent to each to be used for reporting contagious diseases. Some of the fresh cases came from West London, and it is supposed that these are the result of the flood and the filling of the wells with impure river water. Dr. English says it is possible for the effects of the flood to be showing itself now.

There are now six of the choir boys of St. John the Evangelist Sunday school suffering from typhoid fever.

One of the patients reported to be ill today is not expected to recover. Two women were among the number, and strange to say each had a son reported at the same time.

A HEAVY FINE IN EACH CASE

One Offender Resisted Arrest the Other Interfered With a Policeman.

This wasn't bargain day at the police court, although one of the local lawyers thought he could get a fine reduced somewhat. One of the men who tell the magistrate that they are through with the hard stuff for good, and then get off, going out with the idea of reforming the town, and after all come back in about forty-eight hours, more intoxicated than ever, came up this morning. He had been drinking again; he didn't have the nerve to say anything himself, so his lawyer asked that he be given time. This the magistrate refused, and then it was suggested to the court, that if the fine were made $5 dollars, the prisoner, perhaps could pay it. However, the magistrate simply said: "I won't reduce it." It was fixed at $10.

Magistrate Love doesn't have much sympathy for men who resist arrest. When they get drunk only, they are let down fairly easy, but when the men are charged with abusing the police, then they get no leniency. Harry Nolan this morning was charged with being drunk and disorderly in the above manner, and was fined $10 or 21 days. Then Tim Sullivan was charged with interfering in the arrest of the former prisoner, and admitted he should have kept his mouth shut. Sullivan got $15 or 21 days.

John Watson had refused to pay his fare on the street car until he had taken a ride half-way round the system, and then when he left he used language that the conductor objected to; hence a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He was fined $5 or ten days.

Mrs. Routledge, an old woman, was given a week to become an inmate of the Aged Women's Home. Otherwise she will have to be committed as a vagrant.

JAPS WILL TAKE PORT ARTHUR IF THEY HAVE TO LOSE 10,000

Mr. Shaw T. Nishimura Hopeful of Outcome of the War With Russia.

Mr. Shaw T. Nishimura, of Montreal, a Jap of wide knowledge, is registered at the Tecumseh House. In March last, when on a visit to this city, he predicted that the Japanese would defeat the Russians so badly by August that only long-drawn-out peace negotiations would prevent the close of the war. He smiled today when approached on the subject and said he knew he was right so far as that the Japs would win. The war, perhaps, would not be finished as soon as was hoped, but the end would be the same. Mr. Nishimura, who is a graduate of the University of Japan (and, by the way, says that Japan is far ahead of Canada, not only in its military development, but in its education), reads the papers very closely and shows that he is well acquainted with the situation there. As far as Port Arthur is concerned, he had this to say:

"Port Arthur will fall; there is no doubt about that. Just when that will happen it is hard to say. From this morning's news it is clear that there is no longer any danger from Vladivostock. The Japanese are holding off from the attack on Port Arthur, as they want the Russians to surrender. The fate of both sides is in the hands of Gen. Stoessel. If he says 'surrender,' then many thousand lives will be saved. If he says 'no surrender,' then he will be responsible for the loss of perhaps 20,000 lives. It will be a slaughter, futile to the enemy. The outcome will be all the same and Stoessel should surrender. I do not think it is bravery on the part of the Russians to be annihilated, as they will surely be. If they could save Port Arthur, then I should think it would be right to make the sacrifice, but where there is no chance for them it is foolish indeed. Every day they are getting weaker. The city's sick cannot be attended to, their ammunition is failing and every advantage is on our side. But if the Japanese have to lose 10,000 they will take Port Arthur. This morning's paper says that protection has been promised to all sick and wounded, priests and non-combatants who will leave the city. I take this to mean that by the end of the week, if General Stoessel does not surrender, the attack will begin. Then General Kuropatkin will be captured.

"Do you think that will end the war?" was asked.

"No, I do not, there is one man who will have to be captured or killed before this war is over, and that is Gen. Alexieff. He was the one man who brought the Russians into this war and he has shown himself a coward by asking his recall in the face of danger. He it is who is the trouble-maker of the world."

Mr. Nishimura takes great pride in his country, especially as it is worsting a country that always held Japan in contempt. He says at the same time the Japanse at home are very cool. The counry is not in disturbance through the war but the greatest confidence exists throughout the land. Trade is not hurt at all, and he illustrated by showing that the exports for this year will exceed last year's figures. He himself is in the tea business and instead of tea being dearer as a result of the war, it is two cents a pound cheaper.

In response to a question as to the refusal of the Japanese to allow the war correspondents to the front, he upheld his country in this action. "It is a necessary precaution," he said. "For years other countries have been attempting to deal with this question, but Japan is the first country to succeed in keeping back the correspondents. And she has done so without much complaints from the newspapers. Our course, our people recognize that the papers want the news as quickly as possible, but the danger is that some correspondent will talk to spies or give out information that would do us great injury. The only way is to supply the news to the correspondents ourselves. Hence the newspaper representatives are being kept at Tokio at the expense of the Government, and being treated royally, and then as soon as an engagement has taken place they are officially and authenticaly informed."

EDWARDS CASE WAS DISMISSED

Police Magistrate Love Gives Judgment on an Interesting Point of Law.

In the case of Albert J. Edwards, charged by the London Engine Company, with a breach of the apprentice act, judgment was rendered at the police court this morning, the young man being dismissed by Magistrate Love. Mr. Judd, acting for Mr. Parsons, intimated that an appeal would be entered. Last week when the case was argued by Mr. Judd, on the one side, and Mr. Graydon, on the other, it was shown that the defendant was over the age of 21 years, and that when he apprenticed himself he did so without the advice of parents or guardians. It was also shown that he was not making a living wage. He had, therefore, left, being a good workman, and had secured a situation elsewhere. Mr. Parsons endeavored to hold him by law to the indenture, which the magistrate described this morning as a "home-made agreement." Mr. Love gave the following judgment when the police court opened this morning:

"I do not think the language of section 5 of the apprentice and minors act is sufficiently explicit to warrant me in arriving at the conclusion that a minor, in the position specified by the statute entering into an agreement, whether verbal or written, to perform any service or work, thereby becomes an apprentice either indentured or otherwise, and liable to be proceeded against under the plenary powers conferred by the statute in section 19, sub-section 1 and 2. In my opinion the burden imposed on such a minor by section 5 (if any), is in the nature of a liability to be proceeded againse in an action at law for the recovery of damages for any failure on the part of the minor to meet the obligations of his engagement.

"What is the liability imposed by section 5 on the minor and what is the benefit accorded to him? The burden is in the language of the statute such as he would have incurred had he been of legal age at the time he entered into the engagement and the benefit is to enable him to sue in his own name without the intervention of a next friend. Taking, as I conceive I must, that view of the minor's liability, I must hold that the complainant has no remedy in this court at all events, and I dismiss the case, but under the circumstances, without costs."

HURT AT BASEBALL

David McLeod Collides With Player and Is Seriously Hurt.

While playing baseball at Queen's Park on Friday evening, David McLeod, son of Caretaker Bryce McLeod, of Queen's Park, sustained an injury which resulted in concussion of the brain. It is expected that he will recover, but at first grave fears were entertained.

Young McLeod was running after a batted ball when M. Tierney who was running a base, accidentally collided with McLeod, the former's knee coming in contact with McLeod's neck. The latter was carried to his home, and Dr. Seaborn called in, when it was found that he was suffering from a concussion of the brain. His injury was thought to be very serious at first, but with good attention he was brought around, so that today it is thought by his physician that his recovery is certain.

A DOG HERO

Pushes Child From Railroad Track and Is Crushed Under Locomotive.

Athol, Mass., Aug. 15.—While trying to push little Ella Cheston from the path of the 3:30 train on the Boston and Albany Railroad a big shepherd dog named Dandy, owned by Patrick Quinlan, was caught under the wheels of the engine and killed.

Mamie McDonald, Ella Cheston and Greenland Getis, three little girls, started off on a berrying excursion, and Dandy accompanied them. As they walked about a mile down the track Dandy bounded on ahead, but not losing sight of the children.

When the train from Athol came around a curve Ella Cheston was playing on the track. The whistle screeched, the engineer yanked the bell cord, but the child was too frightened to move. Dandy in a few bounds was on the track, colliding with the girl. She rolled into the ditch, out of danger. The wheels of the engine made short work of the dog. The McDonald girl, who was greatly attached to the dog, was so overcome that she fainted.

DEATH OF REV. ALEX MACKAY

Service in the Ministry—Author of Several Works.

Toronto, Aug. 15. — Rev. Alex Mackay, M.A., D.D., who was called to his rest on Saturday at the age of 71, from 39 Hepbourne street, Toronto, was born in Embro, Oxford county, Ontario, and brought up at the feet of the late Rev. Dr. McKenzie. He began to prepare for the ministry at the age of 12 years. In his early years he taught school, and after teaching for some time in the high school, Chatham, pursued his studies for seven years at Knox College and Toronto University. The study of Latin, Greek and Hebrew was a specialty among the subjects he devoted much attention to. He preached his first sermon in 1856. Graduating from Knox College in 1859 he was ordained and inducted as pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Tiverton, 1860, where he labored faithfully and diligently until 1868. From there he was transferred to Knox Church, Elmira, V. S., continuing there as pastor till 1873. He was then transferred to Duff's Church, East Puslinch, where he gained much success and continued as pastor till 1889, after which he was settled as pastor of Chalmers Church, Dunwich. Advancing years and weakness of voice are among the reasons assigned for his retirement.

He wrote and published several works and contributed many interesting articles for various papers. In his preaching he was evangelistic, and a spiritual revival followed his labors. To hear him meant to love him, and he had no enemies. In his last illness, which continued over a year, he was kind, patient, affectionate and sympathetic. His sister and youngest brother, Dr. Mackay, were with him all the time. The funeral will take place tomorrow at 3 p.m. to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

A German who has been a student of chemistry at the University of Giessen for 66 semesters without being able to pass the examinations, died there recently, aged 51 years. The cause of his inability to remember what he had learned was an injury of the membrane of the brain which he received in a duel. His name was Christian Busch; his death also caused comment because he had left his possessions, valued at $25,000, to the town of Giessen. But as he had neglected to sign the document, the money will go to distant relatives.

The first glovemakers were monks. In the days of Charlemagne the monks were granted by that monarch the unlimited right of hunting, in consideration of their making gloves, girdles and book covers from the skins of deer they killed. There is an old saying that it takes three nations to make a glove—Spain to produce the kid, France to cut it out and England to sew it together.

James J. Hill, pioneer railroad king of the Northwest, has herculean prejudices. Among other things he dislikes bells. He owns the finest sleighs and horses in St. Paul, but no jingling accompanies his sleighing. For the same reason he has little use for telephones and never uses one when it can be avoided. Mr. Hill maintains offices in several cities, but none of them is equipped with that modern convenience so essential to the average business man.

Sweet as a Rose.

"One moment," he says, in a low voice, and he bends over her hands, "there!" Paula whips her hands behind her as Bob enters.

"I'm very sorry, Sir Herrick," he says, "but I'm afraid I can't go with you this morning. A man has come over on business, and I'll have to go with him. It's Jackson, Paula, and he says there are some pigs at Wolfden market. I shall have to go and see them."

"Doesn't matter in the slightest," says Sir Herrick, walking up to him. "Any other day will do."

"But this is just the morning for fishing," says Bob, regretfully, "just the morning."

Then a brilliant idea strikes him.

"Here, Paula," he says, cheerfully, "you go with Sir Herrick, and show him that place just below the mill pool——"

"Oh—I couldn't trouble Miss Paula," says Sir Herrick, but his eyes brighten as they rest on her downcast face.

Bob laughs.

"Oh, it's no trouble. She can throw a fly as well as I can—pretty nearly, and she knows all the best places, don't you, Paula?"

"Yes," Paula murmurs in compulsion.

"Let her go with you, says Bob, all forgetful of the character he had given his guest, "she'll put you on the proper spots. Mind Paula, the end of the mill pool, just in the shallows!"

"But—" says Sir Herrick, remonstrating, "Miss Paula may not care—"

Bob cuts in with a short laugh.

"There's nothing she'd like better, Sir Herrick. Get your hat on, Paula——"

And Paula after a moment's hesitation, dutifully obeys.

After all, what else can she do, unless she should be downright mulish?

CHAPTER VI.

Of course it is not the proper thing for a young lady to accompany a young gentleman, alone, after the first few moments of introduction, especially if she has also been guily of the indiscretion of waltzing with him on a gravel path the preceding evening without any introduction at all. But what can Paula do?

Bob, who knows about as much of the convenances, and etiquette generally, as a bull knows of crochet-work and who looks upon Paula as little better than a child—who is wont indeed on occasions to call her "the kid"—has simply issued his orders, and she can scarcely turn round with a blank refusal, or explain that Bob's suggestion is shocking.

Sir Herrick could help her if he likes, and he does mutter something about "troubling Miss Estcourt, and taking up her time," but Bob cuts him short with a laugh.

"Oh, Paula," he says, with all a brother's indifference, "it's not trouble to her—she'll enjoy it; her time's her own. You can take my rod, if you like," he says to her, graciously, and adds, for Sir Herrick's information, "she throws a very decent fly."

Paula gets her hat and Bob's lightest rod, and when she comes down finds Sir Herrick standing under the veranda, with his rod in hand.

He greets her with the smile that seems almost familiar to her now.

"The fates are gracious to me," he says. "Are you really coming, Miss Paula? Don't, if you'd rather not. I'll accept any excuse, I assure you."

"I haven't got one ready," says Paula. "Besides, Bob's word is law—when my sister Alice is not about. I think I'd better go."

"I breathe again," he says, "I thought you would back out of it."

"This way," says Paula, with a laugh.

He lights a cigarette and slings his fishing basket on his shoulders, then he lays hands on her rod.

"I'll carry that," he says, gently; and Paula relinquishes it.

They go down the winding path and across the meadows, and presently the brawl of the river, as it tumbles over the stones smites upon their ears. Paula is very quiet, and Sir Herrick smokes in respectful silence. There is an air of attentive respect with which he opens the gate for her and assists her over stiles, that is not lost upon Paula.

But given a lovely morning in June, and two young people of different sexes walking across meadows fresh with the breath of summer and silence is rather difficult to maintain.

'And you go in for fly-fishing?" he says.

Paula colors as if he had accused her of a crime.

"I learnt it of Bob," she says, apologetically.

"A rattling good thing to learn," he says. "I only knew one woman who could do it; and I often wondered why it didn't come into fashion with ladies; just the sport they could use to perfection. Wants a light hand and a keen eye, and those are just what women have. What a lovely morning! Ah, this is beautiful!"

And he stops short as they reach the river, and looks round.

It is a perfect little picture; the bright, blue sky above, just flecked here and there with white, fleecy clouds, the trees clad in their summer greenery, the silver stream bubbling over the smooth stones and bowlders.

"Beautiful!" he says, drawing a long breath. "Jove, how happy you must be."

"Happy," says Paula, with a smile. "Yes, I suppose we are happy. Better put our rods up here."

He takes her rod and fits it for her, and follows suit with his own. Then he hands her his fly-book. It is a serviceable one of time-stained leather, but Paula notices that it is emblazoned with the Powis crest—two hawks with outstretched wings.

"You had better choose the fly," he says.

Paula nods and opens the book, and her dark brows come together thoughtfully, as she turns over the leaves.

He stands looking, not at the book, but at her: stands looking with the light of admiration in his eyes; there is so much of youthful beauty in the face as it is bent over the book, that he wishes—as many a man wishes—that he had the power of transferring it to paper or canvas.

"That's the fly," she says, looking up suddenly, and very narrowly escaping his direct gaze.

"I'll put one on each line," he says, rather quickly, for her glorious eyes, in their intent look, startle him. "There—now you shall have the first throw."

"No," says Paula, firmly; "you shall; you are the visitor, you know," and she laughs.

He is too well-bred to argue, and stepping to the edge of the stream throws the fly lightly on the water, and Paula stands a little way back watching him.

There is a cloud over the sun just at the moment; a most favorable time in which to insure the silvery trout; but though they rise before him he does not succeed, and Paula smiles.

Almost as if he saw her, he turns his head.

"You are laughing at me," he says. "I won't throw another cast until you have!" and he steps back with a smile and a shake of the head.

"Won't you?" she says. "What nonsense! You haven't given them time. Well—" and she takes up her rod, a light, "girlish" thing, as Bob would call it, and raising her arm, throws the fly so that it just alights on the water.

Twice, thrice, she repeats the action, and Sir Herrick, watching, wonders whether anything more graceful has ever been imagined than this little figure poised on its right foot, the beautiful chestnut-crowned head, and the dark eyes, all aglow with enjoyment.

Suddenly he sees the line jerk, there is a splash in the water, and her laugh rises in the silence.

"You have got one," he says, going up beside her.

"Yes," she says. "Number one. It is a large one, too."

"A beauty!" he says, with a dash of color in his face.

"Will you take the rod?" says Paula, modestly.

"Not for worlds!" he replied, emphatically. "Why should I? Do you think I don't know that you can land it as well as I can."

She laughs. And he stands and watches her as she plays with the fish, which runs up and down the stream, leaping out of the water now and again, and gleaming in the sun; until, when he begins to tire, Paula raises her rod, and with a swift, graceful turn of her wrist brings him to the bank.

"Beautiful?" cries Sir Herrick.

But Paula is heart and soul in her work.

"Quick!" she cries, as if it were Bob standing beside her and not Sir Herrick Powis. "Quick, or he will be gone again. Kneel down and put your hand under him, and when I say 'now,' throw him on the bank! It is a beauty!"

Obediently he kneels at her feet, and does as he is told.

"Now!" she cries, in her clear voice, and the next moment Master Trout lies, a bar of silver, upon the grass behind her. Flushed and panting she stands looking down at him, and he still kneels looking up at her. Her hat has fallen in the excitement of the struggle, and the soft red hair, ruffled by the gentle breeze, caresses her low forehead; her lips are half parted, her eyes beaming. Venus rising from the crested waves surely did not look more beautiful, more soul-entrancing.

He rises slowly, with a long-drawn breath, and fetches the fish.

"That was splendid!" he says. "He is almost too long for the basket. Your brother was right; you can throw a fly. You shall go on, and I will watch."

But Paula shakes her head, and puts her rod over her shoulder.

PERRINS PLAYED UNDER PROTEST

Wholesale League Game at Springbank Saturday Twice Interrupted by Rain.

The game in the Wholesale League at Springbank on Saturday afternoon drew the usual large crowd. The game was between the Perrin and McClary Clubs, and the interest was just as apparent as ever, as these clubs generally put up a good article of ball. The game on Saturday was twice interrupted by rain. Play was suspended at the half of the second inning, and was not resumed until 4:40, and the game was called again at the fifth inning, owing to the storm, the score standing 7 to 2 in favor of the McClary nine. The work of Abram in center field for McClarys, was the feature of the game, he having five put-outs. Phillips and Clark pitched good ball, but wild-throwing on the Perrin team told heavily against them. The management of the Perrin Club entered a protest on the field, but played the game out. The following is the present standing of the league:

The management of the Port Stanley Baseball Club and that of the Y. M. C. A. Baseball Club, of this city, made arrangements to play a friendly game on the former's diamond in Port Stanley on Saturday afternoon last. The Londoners went down and were ready to play ball, but were informed by one of the Port Stanley men that a team couldn't be brought together to play with them.

M'CLARY NINE LOST GAME BY A SERIES OF INFIELD ERRORS

Yet It Nearly Tied the Rockets in the Last Inning—The Blue Labels Lose.

The Londons and Blue Labels furnished a neat game in the City League on Saturday. In the second match the McClary nine came dangerously near snatching victory from the Rockets, the head-liners in the league. Both games were interesting, the second being cut to six innings by the rainstorm.

Had the score in the first game been in accordance with the hits, very few runs would have been made. Both sides made errors at inopportune times and the hits were few and far between. Both teams scored in the first inning. The Londons got in their run after two men were out. The Labels were given great chance in their half, and three men reached first on misplays, two of them getting home. But this was the best the Labels could do. Until the eighth, with the score against them, they struggled until their efforts bore fruit. Then there was but a single run, while London was several to the good. London had won its game in the sixth. Sippi went out and Bell drew a pass, stealing second. Ed. Stein's single placed him on third and then Wanless was retired by Maxwell. Bell reached the plate on the throw. Ward's fumble of Graham's hit let Stein home. Then Sheere smashed out a well-placed single and Grant (who drew a pass), and Graham came home on the jump. Fleming flew out, retiring the side. The score:

Londons.	A.B.	R.	B.H.	P.O.	A.	E.
Fleming, s. s.	5	0	0	0	6	1
Sippi, 2 b.	4	0	0	3	4	1

McClary's threw the second game into the Rockets' hands by a series of bad infield errors. With two hits, the four misplays counted for four runs. Dewan, who should have been put out at first, secured a round-trip ticket when the ball was lost. The foundrymen scored in the second and third by five hits off Maule. Then in the sixth when, because of rain, it was hard to handle the ball, the McClarys scored two runs and all but tied the score.

The score of the game, which was called at this junture, was as follows:

LONDONERS MADE SOME GOOD SCORES

Messrs. B. W. Glover and Sid Screaton at Brantford Tournament.

Messrs. B. W. Glover and Sid Screaton, of this city, were in Brantford last week attending the big shoot held under the auspices of the Dominion Trap Shooters' Association. There were over seventy competitors in the majority of the events, and the Londoners did remarkably well, although they are comparatively young at the sport, having first started shooting with the Springwood Gun Club of this city only a year ago. Messrs. Glover and Screaton were entered in ten events on Thursday, and each shot an average of over 82 per cent, the former making a total of 164 and the latter a total of 165 out of a possible 200. There were twenty birds in each event, the scores being as follows:

Event.	Glover.	Screaton.
No. 1	16	15
No. 2	17	15
No. 3	13	19
No. 4	16	14
No. 5	17	16
No. 6	17	18
No. 7	17	18
No. 8	19	15
No. 9	15	18
No. 10	17	17
Totals	164	165

The third event of the day was for a valuable silver service, and it was won by McGill, an old-time shot, of Toronto. In this event Screaton came within one of making the possible twenty, and tieing with McGill, which would have given him another chance at the prize. What made it appear all the more unfortunate was the fact that Screaton lost the first bird, and then hit nineteen in succession.

On Friday the Londoners were in the team race, twenty birds each, Glover making a total of eighteen and Screaton seventeen. In the Grand Canadian handicap at eighteen yards, 50 birds, Glover made 37 and Screaton 43, and in the individual championship of Canada, Glover scored 42 and Screaton 39. The shoot was in every way a success, and brought together many of the crack amateur riflemen of the United States and Canada.

SCHOLES THROWS GREER AGAIN

American on Arriving Home Is Dead Anxious to Race the Champion.

Toronto Aug. 13.—At a recent meeting of the East Boston Boat Club of Boston, Mass., it was decided to issue a challenge to the world for single scullers and to particularly name Lou Scholes and Peterson. The former is the man the club is after. The challenge is issued on behalf of Frank Greer, of the above club, who is still anxious to get a chance at the winner of the Diamond Sculls. Copies of the challenge were mailed to the two mentioned, and should be received by them not later than Monday. The challenge states that the distance shall be one mile and a half with time to be given for Scholes and Peterson to get into shape.

When Scholes was informed of this today he stated in a most emphatic manner that he would simply ignore the matter. "I have nothing to say," he said, "except that I will not accept the challenge under any consideration. Why should I give Greer a race. I have told him that I would not row, and that is definite. I will say no more about the matter at all."

DELHI LED ALL WAY IN SARATOGA DERBY

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 13. — James R. Keene's Delhi won the Saratoga Derby today, his only opponents for the $5,000 stake being Stalwart and St. Valentine, both from the stable of E. R. Thomas. The race was featureless. The Keene colt led from start to finish. St. Valentine was second until they had gone nearly a mile, at which point Stalwart passed him, finishing in second position, a length and a half back of Delhi, and as much in front of his stable mate.

M'GINNITY IS YET THE BEST PITCHER

Heads the Profession for This Season—His Good Work in Past Years.

Joe McGinnity, known to the baseball cranks as the "Iron Man," and whose great twirling so far this season has largely been responsible for McGraw's Giants retaining the lead in the National League pennant race, is the most-successful pitcher in the baseball profession so far this season. McGinnity was born at Rock Island, Ill., in 1873. He first began playing professional baseball in 1894 with the Kansas City team.

At the close of that season he dropped out of the game, remaining in seclusion for three years. During that time he twirled for an amateur team in Springfield, and while playing with that team he won seven games in six days. In 1898 he went back to playing professional baseball again and twirled for the Peoria team of the Western Association.

In June of that year he pitched a twenty-one-inning game, which is a record that has never been broken. Peoria was playing against the St. Joseph nine, and at the beginning of the twenty-first inning the score stood 2 to 2. The Peoria team made three runs in their half and won the game.

George Pickney, the old-time third baseman of the Brooklyn team, who saw McGinnity pitch this great game, recommended McGinnity to Charley Ebbets, of the Brooklyn Club.

When the Brooklyns and Baltimores were consolidated, and parceled out in 1899, John McGraw signed the "Iron Man" for Baltimore. McGraw and his supposed team of "dubs" set a hot pace for the league that year, and McGinnity was the principal factor in the pitcher's box. He pitched in forty-five games, winning twenty-eight. His percentage of victories was .622, while Baltimore finished the season with .581 per cent.

In 1900, when the National League circu't was reduced, McGinnity was trasferred to Brooklyn. In 1901 he signed with the Baltimore American League Club. During that season he twice pitched in both games of double headers, winning one and losing the other each time.

McGinnity continued pitching with the Baltimore team during the season of 1902. When McGraw was made manager of the Giants the early part of last year he brought McGinnity along with him to New York. McGinnity did great twirling for the Giants last season, taking part in three double headers during the season, winning all six games, which is a feat which may never be equaled.

ONLY TWO CLUBS THAT HAVE NOT MADE CHANGES

No less than twenty-five American League players are playing this year on different teams from those they played with last year most of the shifts being made since the season started. Philadelphia and Chicago are, in fact, the only teams in the circuit that have not made changes. The list of players who have been shifted since the end of last season follows, the players who were changed before the season opened being marked with a star:

Boston—Unglaub,* of New York, Tannehill,* of New York, Selbach, of Washington.

New York — Orth, of Washington, Dougherty, of Boston, Powell* and Anderson*, of St. Louis, McGuire,* of Detroit.

Washington — Wolfe and Hughes, of New York, Hill and Huelsman, of St. Louis, O'Neil, of Boston.

Cleveland — Lush,* Buelow and Carr, of Detroit.

Detroit — Hickman, Killian,* and Stovall,* of Cleveland, Coughlin and Drill, of Washington, Beville, of New York.

St. Louis — Moran, of Washington, Howell* and O'Connor, of New York.

JEFFRIES' KNEE BEHAVING ITSELF

Is in Good Shape Now—Munroe's Trainers Optimistic About Miner's Chances.

San Francisco, Aug. 13.—With only eleven days of work remaining, Jim Jeffries' knee is behaving handsomely. It has carried him through days and nights of deer stalking, without emitting a creak, and has borne its share of the boilermaker's bulk uncomplainingly during many boisterous seances with the 400-pound sand bag.

The housemaid's hinge has been tried in the fire and proven, and if the champion is doomed to break down again during the present campaign it will be at some other point of his anatomy.

Further mishaps are not looked for, however. So far as the work of preparation is concerned Jeffries feels that he has rounded the stretch bend and is heading for the wire. All those who have had to do with getting the big fellow ready for his seventh championship battle are confident he will mount the steps of the fighting platform in good shape on the night of Aug 26. In Billy Delaney's opinion Jeffries has been fit to go to the scratch for several days.

MUNROE IN FINE SHAPE.

The men who are handling Jack Munroe are correspondingly optimistic. They think out at the beach that the postponement was a good thing for Munroe after all. He put on very little weight while resting and since he resumed work he has boxed daily with heavyweights of every known variety.

There is just one thing wanted to complete Munoe's happiness at present. He would like to have Kid McCoy around. He believes McCoy showed him lots of tricks while he was training for Sharkey and he is in daily hopes of being joined by McCoy at the beach. McCoy, when heard from a day or two ago, was somewhere around Salt Lake. He said he was coming to San Francisco to coach Munroe, and, incidentally, to inquire into prospects of a match with either Fitzsimmons or O'Brien.

The kid told his interviewers that he expected to see Munroe lower Jeffries' colors. He will surely create some excitement when he turns up at the beach.

WORLD'S RECORD WAS EQUALED

Without a Runner in Front, Major Delmar Covers a Mile in 2:02 1-4.

The Grand Circuit meeting at the Empire City track, New York, was concluded on Saturday. One of the events on the programme was a trial by Major Delmar to reduce the trotting record of 2:02¼, made without a runner in front. The $40,000 bay son of Delmar equaled, but could not lower the mark. He went to the wire with a strong breeze blowing. With a runner on each side of him, but none in front, he went to the quarter in 31 seconds, to the half in 1:00¼, to the three-quarters in 1:30½ and came home in 2:02¼, thus equaling the Cresceus record. It was a most wonderful performance, weather conditions considered, and equals the world's record, excepting the performance of Lou Dillon of 1:58½ and Major Delmar's performance of 1:59¾ with a runner in front.

The other events were decided in dashes. Results:

ANNUAL TOURNEY IN SEPTEMBER

Quoit Club Fixes Dates for It and Also Decides on New Grounds.

The members of the Forest City Quoiting Club got together on Friday night and settled a matter that has been agitating them for several months—the selection of a ground for the season. It has been conceded by the members generally for some time that the old grounds in rear of the Grand Trunk station were unsuitable, but where to go was a matter that they could not readily decide. Some favored the renting of the grounds in the rear of the C. P. R. station, but the main objection to that move was the outlay it would entail. Others were favorable to using the fair grounds, where dressing rooms were offered the club free of charge, and these finally carried the day. With this matter settled, the season for the quoiters is expected to commence in earnest.

At the last meeting the question of the annual tournament was considered, and it was fixed for Sept. 20, 21, and 22, at Queen's Park. The programme has not been completed, but it will likely contain as many events as last year, when the best tournament in the history of the game in London was held. The Chicago contingent which participated a year ago may again be on hand, and there will also be players from Seaforth, Toronto, Port Bruce, Fort Wayne, Ind., Ayr and Belleville. The championship trophy offered for Dominion competition by Mr. C. S. Hyman, and now held by Callander, of Toronto, will be played for. Callander will have to win it this year and in 1905 before it will become his property.

TORONTO CLUB WILL NOT PRESS PROTEST

Toronto Aug. 13.—The Toronto Rowing Club has decided not to press the protest against the Argonauts for rowing senior men in the junior light-oared race at the Canadian Henley at St. Catharines, on the last day of the regatta. The club has also decided that if the double consisting of E. C. McGee and Frank Smith made a satisfactory trial, they will be sent to New York in the Harlem regatta. The pair have been doing well together since the St. Kitts regatta, and are now in good shape. They will be given a fast trial next week, and if they do the mile and a half in good time they will be sent as competitors.

PAYING OFF ITS DEBTS

Mr. E. W. Moore, of the Everett-Moore street railway syndicate, of Cleveland, was in Cincinnati recently, and of his visit the Times-Star, of that city, says: E. W. Moore, of the Everett-Moore syndicate, was in the city on Monday in consultation with various financial powers indirectly interested in the affairs of the syndicate. In the financial district it was stated that an effort was being made by the syndicate to place its affairs in such shape as to be able to withdraw their matters from the hands of the bankers' committee which has held the assets of the company intact pending a settlement with creditors. The creditors of the Everett-Moore syndicate have practically all been satisfied since the syndicate was forced to give up its operations, temporarily, some time ago. It had liabilities of $28,000,000. These liabilities have now been reduced to $4,000,000, and it is the intention of the syndicate to settle for this amount in the near future. Mr. Moore, it was stated, was in Cincinnati making arrangements to market certain securities to provide funds with which to satisfy the remaining creditors. The syndicate, however, will not sell any of its Detroit United, Northern Ohio Traction or Toledo Railways and Light stock.

Plans are already in hand for a series of public meetings at the principal centers, while an important conference of the Canadian auxiliaries will be held Sept. 14 and 15 at Toronto.

A Few Words of Advice to Housekeepers Who Make Their Own Pickles.

Housekeepers often experience much annoyance with their pickles turning soft and spoiling. They make a mistake buying just ordinary vinegar, thinking it will keep their pickles hard and crisp. The most important thing in making your pickles is to use strong, pure vinegar. The large percentage of water contained in vegetables needs a vinegar that it strong enough to draw this off and still have strength enough to keep them hard and crisp.

Messrs. T. A. Rowat & Co. do a large and increasing trade every year with their special white, pickling vinegar, which they guarantee the strongest and finest flavored vinegar made. Those who have once tried this vinegar have found it so satisfactory they could not be induced to use any other.

Messrs. Rowat & Co. sell this vinegar at 75c a gallon. They have also:
Imported English Malt, 75c.

HEAVY HAIL BEAT DOWN THE GRAIN

Many Farmers in Westminster Suffer Heavy Loss by Saturday's Storm.

The rainstorm of Saturday afternoon was possibly the most severe of the present season.

The downpour began between 5 and 6 o'clock, and it continued unabated for over half an hour. So heavy was it that the sewer openings in the downtown sections were not large enough to carry the water away, and in some places the walks were partly flooded. The rain was accompanied by a high wind, thunder and lightning, but as far as learned no buildings were struck.

To the south of the city the storm was much more severe. Throughout the township of Westminster the rain was accompanied by hail, so heavy that the grain in many fields was beaten flat, and acres of corn were also destroyed. Few if any of the farmers escaped, and in not a few instances the loss amounted to $150 or $200.

All along the line of the Grand Trunk east of the city, and also on the C. P. R. as far as Toronto Junction, the storm was heavy. In the majority of places hail accompanied the rain, and the loss of the farmer was equally as bad as it was in Westminster.

Fish on a Long Jag.

Dayton, Ohio, Aug. 15.—Several hundred barrels of whisky ran into the Little Miami River Tuesday when the distillery at Trebein was destroyed by fire. Since then the fish have been on a prolonged spree.

The liquor was too much for the fish, and they became sportive and gay. Men and boys waded into the stream and threw them ashore with pitchforks and shovels by the hundreds, and farmers in the vicinity are eating nothing but fish. So many fish were taken out of the river that the fish market in Cincinnati has become overstocked.

CHEERS AS MEN DIE

Ten Drowned at a Regatta, But the Races Go On.

Washington, Aug. 14.—Ten persons were drowned by the capsizing of a naptha launch on the Potomac River, off Georgetown, tre western section of this city, during the annual Potomac regatta. Four others who were on the launch escaped. All were from this city. The capsized launch was the Recreation, owned by Drs. Stewart and Wagner. During the first race the launch got in the way of the eight-oared shells and its wash was such that the officials reprimanded its crew and ordered them out of the way. There was some show of resentment at this order and the launch headed for the shore, but miscalculated its course, and, striking the strong undertow caused by the mill-race, rocked for a moment, and, as the passengers rushed to one side, turned turtle. Only a few of the thousands of people that lined the shore witnessed the accident. The police immediately set to work to recover the bodies. Many of the spectators, including officials of the district government, protested against the continuance of the racing, in view of the tragedy, but the officials in charge declined to stop the sport, saying that it was inexpedient because people had come on from other cities to take part and that the regatta was the result of long-laid plans in which many outside interests were concerned. The cheering for the competing crews as they passed the scene of the tragedy and the shrill and deafening whistles of the pleasure craft, continued while the bodies of the unfortunate victims were being grappled for, dragged into view and sent to the police station.

WANTED TO CUT THROAT

A U. S. Congressman Gets Angry at a Chautauqua Gathering.

New Albany, Ind., Aug. 15. — "If the man who just called me a liar will meet me outside the park when I finish my speech, I'll cut his throat from ear to ear," declared Congressman Champ Clark, of Missouri, during a joint political debate with Congressman Charles B. Landis, of Indiana, before the Chautauqua Assembly here on Saturday.

The debate was the principal attraction of the Chautauqua. During the speech of Mr. Landis, some one in the audience shouted: "Where's Bill Taylor?" Mr. Landis replied: "He is in Indiana, and will say there until he gets justice."

When Mr. Clark took the platform he referred to Ex-Governor Taylor as an assassin, charging that the Republicans were protecting a man who should be hanged. Continuing, he said: "The Republicans want to rule this country by assassination." Some one in the audience cried out "That is not true; you're a liar." Immediately Congressman Clark shouted his challenge, which was greeted by hisses. When quiet had been restored, Mr. Clark continued his speech.
