TANNING FACTORY

Proposal to Establish a Large Manufacturing Concern in Maple City—Representative Here.

There are possibilities of a tanning factory coming here if proper inducements are offered. Harry Hill represents the Cleveland Tanning Co. of Cleveland, Ohio, is in the city. He will meet the civic industrial committee at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The Cleveland Tanning Co. takes in about 300 hides a week and turns out 1200 split hides. The company will invest $50,000 and will employ fifty men all the year round. There is only one factory of this kind in Canada. The factory and grounds they will build here will cover about five acres. Several eastern cities are after this factory, but a factory here would be more convenient to the one in Cleveland. There are also better connections between Chatham and Cleveland, especially in summer.

LAI D TO REST.

The remains of the late Mrs. C. R. Atkinson, Jr., were reverently laid to rest in Maple Leaf Cemetery yesterday afternoon, in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. The services were conducted by the Rev. Robt. Sims. The pall-bearers were:—L. L. Nichol, Captain Massey, Chas. Hadley, Fred Ridley, Captain McLaren and Thos. Scullard. The floral tributes, sent by sorrowing relatives and friends, were very beautiful and appropriate.

BOTHA SHOWS GOOD SENSE

He and Other Boers Leaders Have Decided to Repudiate Kruger's Authority.

Lord Kitchener Reports Another List of Boer Casualties—Pursuit of Kritzinger Keep Invaders Moving.

London, June 18.—Lord Kitchener, in a despatch from Bloemfontein, sends the following report of Boer casualties since his last weekly telegram, exclusive of the killed and wounded accounted for in the fight with De Wet, mentioned in his despatch of last Saturday: Killed, 24; wounded, 14; prisoners, 265; surrendered, 165; rifles captured, 137; small-arm ammunition, rounds, 8,200; wagons, 198; horses, 1,500; cattle, 3,000. Among the latest prisoners captured by the British is Mr. Tengbergen, the Landdrost of Mrs. Botha, the wife of the Boer commandant-general, who is now in Europe. Landdrost, Von Brandis, of Piet Retief, has also been taken prisoner.

The casualties mentioned in Monday's cables as having occurred at Graspan are merely corrected returns of the fight with De Wet reported by Lord Kitchener on Saturday.

SURROUNDED A PATROL.

Cape Town, June 18.—Sir Gordon Sprigg, the Prime Minister of Cape Colony, reports that 150 Boers in the vicinity of Calvinia, in the western part of the colony, under Commandant Maritz, surrounded a British patrol of twenty-nine men. The British had two killed, two wounded and twenty were captured. The Boers are being closely pursued.

REBELS ON THE MOVE.

A force of rebels at Kakamas, in Gordonia, some miles to the east of Prieska, in the Cape Colony, numbering about 200, has moved to the southwest.

IN THE MIDLAND DISTRICT.

Col. Doran has engaged 100 Boers in the Midland district. The burghers had two men killed and three wounded.

LOOTED STORES.

Another part of Scheepers' commando entered Murraysburg on Thursday and looted the stores.

THE PURSUIT OF KRITZINGER.

The chase after Commandant Kritzinger, who broke back from the Barkley East district, has not as yet led to any result other than keeping the invaders moving in several detached parties, which are spread over the Alberta and Marasburg districts.

NEARLY 20,000 PRISONERS.

The Boer prisoners now number 19,242.

BOTHA'S GOOD SENSE.

London, June 19.—The Sun, which, however, has not heretofore been over reliable on this subject, hears that Mr. Kruger has actually cabled to Gen. Botha declining to concede anything, and that in consequence of this decision, Gen. Botha and the commandants agreeing with his peace views, have decided to repudiate Mr. Kruger's authority, and a further consultation with Botha's representative and Lord Kitchener will be arranged for next week.

On the Track of the Escaped Convicts.

An All Night Chase of the Trio of Truant Desperadoes.

Once Early this Morning the Police Posse was Almost Upon Them.

Account of the Chase by The Planet Representative Who Was Present.

RETURN OF THE TIRED OFFICERS AND REORGANIZATION OF THE HUNT.

The mystery surrounding the sudden disappearance of the three jail-breakers—Abram, Epperson and Siddals—has been cleared up, and all because a man got into a row with his wife and blacked up her eyes.

After the trio had made their dramatic disappearance into Chatham township, they made a detour and concealed themselves in the woods of Mr. Wilson, near the cemetery. They stayed there Sunday night and Monday, being, it is said, supplied with food by friends.

The first news the police received came last evening through Mrs. Marble. Through her it was learned that her daughter, "Dunny," who is married to Aaron Siddals, a brother of the escaped prisoner, could give some information. Mrs. Aaron Siddals is the woman who became insane and was sent to the London Asylum after she had attempted to drown herself in a well.

P. C. Dezelia interviewed the woman. He found her at the residence of her mother, Queen St., and she had one of her eyes badly bruised. From her the officer learned that the men had been lying hiding in Wilson's bush. Her husband and his brother John, she said, had been visiting them at night and furnishing them with food. She had strongly objected to this because of the differences between her mother and Sam Siddals.

P. C. DEZELIA.
(Who received the first information.)

It will be remembered that Mrs. Marble had Sam Siddals arrested on a charge of indecent assault, and it was for this offence, coupled with the stealing of a watch, that he was sentenced to a year and a half in the Central Prison. Then her husband, who had been working for Frank Wilson, wanted to draw his money and go with the three jail-breakers and John Siddals to Detroit.

Aaron Siddals and his wife had a terrible row over this and he, she claims, struck her, blacking her eye. She didn't want him to go. He, however, went over to Mr. Wilson, but the latter wouldn't give him the money till it was due, Saturday night.

The Planet learned this at the same time as the police and this journal at once despatched a representative to beat up the bush and locate the escaped men.

About six o'clock a messenger, much exhausted with fast riding, rode madly up to the residence of Chief Young with the information that the three men had been seen near Fletcher, on the sixth concession of Raleigh. They were accompanied by a fourth man, who, it is supposed, is either John or Aaron Siddals.

The posse that had been prepared to raid Frank Wilson's woods, was at once despatched to Fletcher. There were two double rigs containing P. C. Tom Groves (in charge), James Dodson, Capt. Coggon, Constable Cape and a Planet representative. It was quite evident to the authorities that the runaways had become frightened when Mrs. Siddals had returned to her mother and that they had departed. They took the sixth concession because it is so secluded and lined with bushes, which would protect them from observation.

The posse left the police station at 7.45. At Indian Creek, they were met by The Planet man, who had been sent to Wilson's bush, and he followed them on his wheel. The route was taken out the seventh concession, then back to the sixth, and on the sixth concession to a mile this side of Fletcher, where an old mill used to stand. The posse travelled at a rapid rate and by 9.15 had reached the site of the old mill, where the first stop was made.

At this point there are a number of vacant houses, once occupied by the mill hands. It was along here that the robbers were first seen and the houses and outlying land were carefully examined, but no trace of the jail-breakers could be discovered. The posse then decided to push on, on the trail. Here one of The Planet representatives left and returned to the city, the other remaining with the posse. As Tom Groves left on his onward hunt he remarked, "Tell Judge Houston and Sheriff Gemmill we won't be back till to-morrow, some time, and later if need be. We will stay with the scent as long as there is any use. We want the three, but we want Beck the worst of all, and we will get him if possible."

The three runaways were seen about six o'clock last evening a mile this side of Fletcher on the sixth concession. They were strung out along the road. As the Chatham man passed, Siddals put his handkerchief to his face to hide his features. Abram was boldly talking to a man sitting on the fence, and Beck was lying with another man on the roadside a hundred yards further towards town.

The information that the authorities had received a clue to the whereabouts of the escaped convicts was first given to the public shortly after eight o'clock by a Planet window bulletin.

At ten o'clock this journal issued a brief "Extra" giving the first facts of the organization of the posse in pursuit and their preliminary operations.

At eleven o'clock the news that the officers had reached Fletcher, where they received much information to strengthen their knowledge of the whereabouts of the jail truant, was brought to the city by the returned

NEARING THE END

A Planet Representative Sends in an Important Despatch This Morning.

William Angus, the member of The Planet staff who was with the police posse throughout the whole of their night work, wired this journal from Tilbury at eight o'clock this morning as follows:—

Arrived here early this morning. Officers have put in a most energetic night's work and are now convinced that they are nearing a successful end of their effort.

"Information from all sources regarding the near whereabouts of the trio is met with on every concession and, if reliable, I do not think there is any doubt that the officers will recapture the men."

"Groves says he now feels confident that they will be secured by noon, if information he received is accurate."

"The posse is armed and put in a busy night, for which they deserve credit. There was lots of hard, constant work to be done. Am forwarding to The Planet by this morning's mail my 'copy' giving details. The intention is to put on from here immediately.

OFFICER TOM GROVES.
(Who was in charge of the expedition.)

"Groves requests me to tell you to ask Mr. Houston to postpone the Police Court Case in which Constable Cape is interested until his return, and to arrange with police in town to feed the Police Court prisoners."

"Will telegraph The Planet any further developments immediately. 'Copy' by mail."

"ANGUS."

Immediately on receipt of this message The Planet notified Judge Houston and Sheriff Gemmill conveyed the messages regarding the Police Court doings. Mr. Angus, it will be seen, proceeded with the posse, and The Planet will at once make public any further information received from its energetic and capable representative.

THE TRIP

Posse Returned to the Maple City This Afternoon Minus the Prisoners—Another Squad Will Likely Go Out.

The posse returned to this city this afternoon at 3 o'clock after a very hard day's work. They did not bring in the prisoners, however, the men having given them the "slip" at Tilbury. When the police party left Chatham yesterday evening they proceeded direct to Fletcher, where the four men were seen by the man who gave the information to the authorities.

The people residing along the road for one mile east of Fletcher were closely examined by officers Groves and Cape. In one of these places a little boy stated that he had seen four men walking along the road. Continued on Fourth Page.

MATERIALISM.

The Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant, a New York Episcopalian, has been giving expression to some very emphatic views on the distribution of wealth. The chief criticism generally made against the multi-millionaire is in regard to the effect he has upon economic conditions—the dangerous accumulation of power in a few irresponsible hands, the abject poverty which is the corollary of enormous wealth. But Dr. Grant sees an even more insidious danger than this. He preached a baccalaureate sermon on Sunday to the College of the City of New York, in which he called the spirit of materialism the greatest temptation that would meet the path of the graduates. The moral influence of these enormous fortunes upon an age which is taught to regard them as the finest examples of success—this may well be as dangerous as mere inequalities of wealth and position. As dangerous and far more widespread, for it affects every class, not only the industrial and operative, but the professional and cultured, destroyed their whole perspective of life and its ideals and objects.

Many of the men who have amassed great fortunes attach too much importance to the rough and ready spirit which they believe to have aided them most materially. Mr. Schwab, we may conclude, has little confidence in education along higher lines as an assistance in business affairs. The men of millions have power. Wherever they throw the vast impulse of their capital the labors are accomplished. They have unlimited power. Young men see this and what is the result? They throw themselves like fogies into the furnace of material production.

The enormous fortunes of the rich oppress the youth of America. The constant realization of wealth which has been amassed in the country will bear down upon the aspiration of Americans. Freedom from this shadow depends alone upon the attitude with which it is opposed. The only salvation of American youth, the only means of maintaining the liberty of our forefathers is a belief in God, the only true, healthy, rigorous instinct which alone can preserve the Americans from the shadows burden of Materialism.

There is too much reason to fear that just at present a belief in Mr. Schwab and Mr. Carnegie, and in what they represent, is more present to the average young man's mind than the belief in God, in justice, and in purity. We cannot but believe that these men are poor ideals to contemplate and poor models to follow, and that happiness for oneself and usefulness to society do not lie along those paths. Yet, between the life of MacKay of Formosa and that of Carnegie of Pittsburgh and Homestead, how few young men today would hesitate to choose?

STAND BY OUR OFFICERS.

In view of recent occurrences and the thoughtless and injurious comment of many citizens, the following, contributed by "Lally Bernard" to Saturday's Globe, will prove helpful by a careful and thoughtful perusal. The Planet will possibly have more to say on the same subject, at a later date.

The Globe says:—
In thinking over the circumstances which led to the death of a public servant the thought comes of how much we owe to the constabulary and how little show of gratitude we make all the guardians of the King's peace—Detective, constable, policeman and the like; those men who by day and night in sunshine and in storm, with steady fidelity and heroism, expose themselves to hardship and peril in order that we, our lives, and our property, may be secure—how little we give them in return! Not only so, but by one of the strongest and most misguided trends of human frailty, a large number of even the law-abiding classes of the community look upon them as enemies, or at least as a kind of necessary nuisance, who are to be lampooned and insulted with impunity. It is amazing that it should be so. These officers, who are picked men, are only paid fair wages at best for the discharge of arduous and responsible duties calling for the highest fidelity and conspicuous courage. They are subject to many privations and the most rigorous discipline, and hourly carry their lives in their hands to protect society from the criminal classes. One would imagine that they would be the subject of constant favor and solicitude on the part of the public; and yet how seldom does one witness even a faint show of these sentiments! Ever and anon I read of some unfortunate policeman being almost beaten to death by a gang of pitiless ruffians, who have no quarrel with him as an individual; merely that he represents the majesty of the law.

Eczema

How it reddens the skin, itches, oozes, dries and scales!
Some people call it tetter, milk crust or salt rheum.
The suffering from it is sometimes intense; local applications are resorted to—they mitigate, but cannot cure.
It proceeds from humors inherited or acquired and persists until these have been removed.

and is an obstacle to their machinations. In the same column one is liable to read of a criminal trial, in which some gentleman of the long robe, convulses the court room and secures the acquittal of his guilty client simply by the cheap and unworthy trick of heaping insult and ridicule on the detective or policeman who happens to be called, all against his own wish, as a witness. It is always assumed that these men depose to what is false to secure conviction of the accused persons, and are capable of every crime in the catalogue, without the slightest proof. Opprobrious epithets are hurled at them without let or hindrance, while too often intelligent men of Character and position enjoy the fun. Surely this is a disgrace to our civilization! Many of these men are heroes, and scarcely one of them could maintain his position for a week were he not made of good stuff. They are the men to whom we should all be proud to offer every mark of courteous sympathy and approval, and who should be supported constantly by popular respect and consideration.

Canada's aggregate trade, according to the returns for the eleven months ending May 31 amounted to $329,352,721, as compared with $308,548,034 for the same period of the previous fiscal year. The increase is made up almost entirely in exports from the mine, which have gone up $20,000,000. Manufacturers have increased over two millions, while agriculture has fallen off about the same amount.

London Truth.
To men whose memories reach back half a century there is a touch of irony in the spectacle of a naval and military exhibition to celebrate the Jubilee of the Crystal Palace. What a commentary upon the vanity of the illusions of 1851! The great exhibition was to usher in a reign of peace to bind the nations together in universal brotherhood, to substitute friendly rivalry for art and science and industry for the barbarous conflicts of armies and fleets. But those bright hopes were soon shattered, and now, after the lapse of fifty years, the building consecrated to the triumphs of peace is given up to the worship of Mars.

OFFICIAL CROP REPORT.

Prime's crop report says—Corn in Illinois is in excellent shape. Generally good stand, and fields very clean. Temperature falling again and every indication of more rain. All things considered this is best growing week of the season.

Australian wheat shipments this cereal year aggregate about 10,000,000 bushels against 4,000,000 bushels last year in the same period.
The Handels-Zeitung, of Buenos Ayres, May 10th, estimates the corn crop at about 100,000,000 bushels, by far the greater portion of which would be available for export.

THE LOCAL MARKETS.

Planet Office, Tuesday evening, June 17.

J. B. Stringer, of J. B. Stringer & Co., gives the Planet the following grain gossip.

Wheat.—The receipts are very light owing to the lower prices in the west and the better feeding. Sixty-five cents is the price paid now.

Oats.—Are coming in very sparingly owing to the fact that they are all needed for home use. The prices are about a cent and a half lower, 28 and 29c, are paid for outside trade while 30 cents is paid for home use.

Barley.—The season is about over for barley. The price given for the loads delivered lately is 30c, a cwt.

Corn.—There is a fair delivery in corn, but the market is lower owing to the very slack demand from feeders and jobbers. 35 cents is now paid for ear corn, while 1 or 2 cents more is paid for shelled corn.
Beans.—Are having a better inquiry from the United States and Canada. The prices are firm, $1.10 is now paid for primes. Pickled beans bring $1.20.
Wheat, 65c.
Mixed oats, 28 to 29c.
White oats, 29 to 30c.
Barley, 77 to 80c.
Corn, 39 to 40c per 56 lb. shelled.
Ear corn, 35c.
Beans, primes, 80c, to $1.00.

HAY.

Tennant & Burke report that the market is decidedly weaker and the demand light, it having gone down some $2 in price during the last two weeks. Slight improvement may be expected during the time the farmers are harvesting their crops, as very little hay will be marketed then. The outlook for the season's crop is splendid except on a few old meadows. The new meadows all over the country will give a heavy yield. Clear timothy hay will doubtless command the much better price, as the clover clover catch was exceptionally good, and very little export business is being done at present, but with a large clover yield, and consequently lower prices, there is a good outlook for export business on the new crop.
Hay, clover, $5.50 to $7.
Hay, baled, $9 to $10 per ton.
Hay, loose, $7.50 to $8.
Hay, buyers are paying $5 to $6.

SEEDS.

It is hardly expected that alsike and red clover will command the high prices of last season. The crop in the western district never looked better and very little seed is being sold this year in comparison with the past. The farmers are sowing chiefly Dwarf Essex, Rape and Alfalfa.
Millet, 40 to 50c.
Red clover, $5 to $7.
Alfalfa $5 to $7.
Alsike, $5 to $7.
Timothy, $1.50.

WOOL AND HIDES.

Wool deliveries are very light. Wool is picking up a little. Formerly the wool that has been brought in is mostly unwashed. Larger quantities of washed wool are now being brought in.

Wool, unwashed, 7c.
Wool, washed, 12c.
Calf skins, 5c to 7c.
Lamb and shearings, 10 to 20c.
Cow hides, No. 1, 5 1/2-2c; No. 2 4 1/2-2c.
Pelts, 10c.
Horse hides, $1 to $2.
Dog skins, 25 to 75c.
Coon, 25 to 75c.
Muskrats, 5 to 10c, each.
Mink $1 to $1.50.
Skunk, 25 to 75c.
Red fox, 75c to $1.50.

MEAT.

Spring lamb, 85c to $1.15 per quarter.
Pork, 9 and 10c.
Mutton, 7 and 8c.

HOUSEHOLD SUPPLIES.

There was a good market Saturday.

In Danger.

Every one is in danger who neglects the warnings of declining health. The warnings are not as startling as the sudden shriek of a locomotive, but they are just as ominous. When the body begins to lose in flesh, when the cheek is hollow and the skin sallow it is Nature's warning that the body is failing of proper nourishment. It is a condition of "weak" stomach, and "weak" stomach soon involves other organs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and cures through the stomach diseases seemingly remote, but which have their origin in the disease of the stomach and its allied organs.

There is no alcohol in the "Discovery" and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.
"Before I commenced to use your medicine I was in a bad condition (for eight years), and four doctors treated me," writes Mrs. Bettie A. Lewis, of Carleton Place, Ontario, N. C. "They, of course, gave me at the time some relief, but it did not last long. I was some days in my bed and some days I dragged about the house. I have used five bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and five of the 'Pierce's Prescription' and four vials of the 'Pellids'. Now I feel like a new woman, and I want the world to know it."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, 1008 large pages, paper binding, sent free on receipt of 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only, or 50 stamps for it in cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

morning. Strawberries were the chief feature. They sold at 21 cents a box. Butter sold at 14 cents and eggs at 10c. There were a few gooseberries offered at 8c a quart.

Grain dealers report a good demand for beans from Western points.

It is expected that the demand will clean up the stock of all the local dealers. The price has increased 15c on the former price. All coarse grains are lower in price and the demand is very slack especially in corn.

The following are a few of the prices:

Butter, 14 to 15c, per lb.
Eggs, 10c, per doz.
Eggs, dealers' price, 9c.
Chickens, each, 25 to 35c.
Spring chickens, 10 to 15c.
Potatoes, 30 to 40c a bag.
Spinach, 10c per peck.
Onions, 3 bunches for 5c.
Green onions, 3 bunches for 10c.
Cabbage plants, 15c, a box.

Tomato plants, 10 cents per box.
Apples, 90c to $1 per bag.
Turnips, 10c, a peck.
Squash, 8 to 10c, each.
Strawberries, per quart, 12c.

FISH MARKET.

Smoked Herring, 40c, per doz.
Pickled, 10c, per lb.
White fish, 10c, lb.
German carp, 2c per lb.
Cutfish, 20 to 25c.

There Comes a Time.....

In almost everyone's life when the question of eyesight has to be considered. There are several unmistakable symptoms of eye weakness. Nearly everybody heeds these warnings sooner or later—few, very few, heed them soon enough.

The proper time is on the first appearance of the first symptom—the first aching, burning sensation, when reading by lamplight first becomes unpleasant—when frequent rests are necessary—and the letters blur and run together.

The longer this condition lasts the more difficult it will be to cure. So call as soon as you can. Examination always free.

ON THE TRACK OF ESCAPED CONVICTS.

about six o'clock last evening. One, who by the boy's description, was Epperson, was walking ahead. Abram, Siddals and another man, who is evidently a stranger, brought up the rear. Shortly after the boy noticed them Abram got up on a fence and commenced talking to a farmer who was working in a field near the road. The man supposed to be Epperson asked the young lad the way to Tilbury.

After gaining all the information they could from this source the posse proceeded to Fletcher. A number of young men were standing in front of a grocery store when the rig pulled up.

Officer Groves stepped out and addressed the crowd and asked if any one had seen a short stout man with a fair complexion and sandy moustache in that vicinity during the evening.

"Do you mean Sam Siddals?" asked one in the crowd.

"That is the man," said Officer Groves.

"Why, yes," replied the genial farmer. "I saw Sam Siddals and three other tough looking fellows around the M. C. R. station to-night about 7 o'clock.

"Are you sure it was Siddals," enquired the canny officer.

"Yes, I am sure it was he. I know him as well as I do anybody."

He was then asked the description of the other men.

The description he gave tallied exactly with the description of Epperson, Abram and the stranger.

Another man named Kelly saw the four men in question on the M. C. R. track about a mile west of Fletcher. A west bound freight train was coming along at the time and he thought the four men could have easily boarded it if they so wished.

The posse then concluded from the evidence received that the four men were enroute for Tilbury.

After telegraphing to Campeau at Windsor, warning him to be on the outlook for the men, the party proceeded to Tilbury with the object of cutting the men off.

They arrived in Tilbury at twelve o'clock midnight, and from that time until morning every freight, both east and westbound, was cautiously and carefully examined and watched but the men did not put in their appearance.

The party then thought that the desperadoes might have passed through Tilbury before 12 o'clock. In the morning, therefore, they proceeded to Comber, but the officials there had seen nothing of the men.

The officers were then at a loss to know what to do. They decided to return to Tilbury. This they did and here fresh news awaited them.

William McFadden, who resides near Fletcher, was driving about two miles west of Fletcher when he saw the four men proceeding from the M. C. R. track, where they had evidently been walking, and were making in the direction of Jeannette's Creek. Two of the men were ahead and the others were coming behind.

As it was too late to start out on a fresh run, and as the horses had already covered a great distance, the officers decided, therefore, to return to Chatham and await further orders, which they did, arriving at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The officers' return was due to the fact that the horses were played out, while the convicts "hove" steady search had well worn out the pursuing party.

That they were actually close upon the convicts the police do not for a moment doubt, and have telegraphed all villages in the vicinity to the effect that a continuous keen lookout will be kept.

The mode of operation of the desperado trio and their associate is to do their travelling at night, usually by side roads and railroad tracks, while the day is spent in the seclusion of the bush, which is very dense at that point.

The officers' theory is that the men are gradually making their way westward, and it is probable that a second posse will proceed this afternoon from Jeannette's Creek, while Detective Campeau at Windsor has organized a corps, which is now working eastward over the same ground.

The Planet has made arrangements for the immediate communication of all developments to this journal.

SHOT FIRED

A Noisy Row on Adelaide Street Caused a Commotion Late Last Night.

Shortly before midnight the screams of women, the angry utterances of men and the loud report of a gun or revolver aroused the residents of Adelaide street, south of Park street.

In an amazingly short space of time a large throng of citizens had gathered on the street, but the trouble—which is alleged to have resulted from a too liberal association with John Barleycorn—was rapidly quieted down.

Officer Dezalia was on the scene a few moments after the occurrence and he secured the early peace.

No police court case has yet been scheduled in connection with the affair.

TEN MINUTES

The Time This Expert Metal Worker Says it Would Take to Cut the Jail Bars.

An expert metal worker visited the jail yesterday and was shown the window and bars which were sawn, and by which the three prisoners escaped Sunday afternoon.

When asked by The Planet how long it would take to saw the bars, the expert said it would take, with a good saw, about ten minutes to sever the first bar, another half hour to saw the second bar, and another half hour at the brass lock on the inside.

"The two outside bars were unquestionably sawn from the outside," he said, "as the second bar or the first bar could not be reached from the inside and sawn the way they were. The first outside bar was sawn almost horizontally, the second one being cut off diagonally, as it had to be sawn between the first set of bars, and in a very awkward position."

"The material used in these bars was of the softest kind and should never have been used for that purpose. In making the recent improvements these new guards were put in place."

"On the two outside bars there was a burr on the inside of the cut, which could not be there if sawn from inside."

The expert also gave it as his opinion that had proper steel bars been slipped and fastened in the morning by Mr. Conway and, it is said, stated that his home was in Detroit. An inquest is being held.

A young man from Ridgetown, named Butler, employed on the L. E. & D. R. steel gang, was seriously injured while returning home. The train had stopped and a number of men got off. Butler, while attempting to board the train after it had started, slipped and fell, his knee striking upon the cattle guards, the sharp points of which penetrated deeply into the flesh, making several ugly gashes. The man was carried to the Elgin House, where his wounds were dressed, and later was taken to his home upon one of the work trains.

GOOD TIME

Col. Leys Cast the Cares of Business and Officialdom Behind him When he Visited the Maple City.

Col. Leys, M. P. P., was in the city last evening in company with T. L. Fardo, M. P. P., and several local fishermen from the mouth of the river, via Bagnall's gasoline launch.

"Of course I'm really no longer the member for London," said the genial Colonel in a short interview with The Planet, smiling as he said so. "But then I hope to be re-elected all right."

"Then you have withdrawn your resignation and all plans for retirement?" was asked.

The Colonel's only answer was another broad smile.

"And what about fishery matters?" was the next query.

"Oh, this is purely a little pleasure excursion on my part," commented the Colonel. "Nothing official connected with it at all. Just out on a little outing."

PINGREE IS DEAD.

London, June 19.—Ex-Governor H. S. Pingree, of Michigan, died here last night at 11.35. His son was the only one present at the time of his death.

The attending doctor left Mr. Pingree's bedside at about 11.05, promising to return shortly. H. S. Pingree, Jr., who has been watching at his father's side for four days, and who has not removed his clothes during that time, noticed a sudden change in his father's condition. He had barely reached the patient's bedside when his father died peacefully, without warning and without speaking one word. Young Mr. Pingree has wired his mother and his uncle in the United States not to come to London. The body of the late Mr. Pingree will be embalmed and taken to his home.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed, you have a rumbling sound, or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

AN HUMBLE HERO

BY THOMAS
P. MONTFORT

Copyright 1901, by Thomas P. Montfort

"One! Who?"
 "Great Lord!—Are you blind—plumb blind and dumb?"
 Sim did not reply at once, but stood uneasily twirling his hat about in his hands, first looking down at his feet, then casting a furtive glance at his companion. When at last he did speak it was in cold, unimpassioned tones.
 "I reckon I ain't so blind and dumb as I might be," he said, "but you ain't called no names, an' I ain't making no guesses—"

"If you wasn't as blind as a bat an' dumb as an owl," Mrs. Mann said softly, "you wouldn't need for me to call no names, an' you wouldn't need to make no guesses either."
 "Mebbe that's so," Sim replied slowly, "an' if I am blind I don't know that I'm sorry. There's times in a body's life, Mrs. Mann, when it's best to be that a-way."

Without a word Mrs. Mann turned away and, entering the house, slammed the door shut behind her. Sim walked on down the street, chuckling softly to himself. But could he have seen the expression on Mrs. Mann's face at that moment and the steady glitter in her eyes he might have had a premonition of some things that were to follow.

When he had passed out of sight, a
 fence and stole quietly away in the opposite direction.

CHAPTER V.

YOUR UNCLE JONATHAN TURNER.

Melvin was more fortunate than he had dared hope, for he had gone but a short distance when he came into a road and after following that a little way ran on to a house.

It is true it was not much of a house, being merely a small log cabin, and its surroundings were meager and uninviting, promising little in the way of comforts; but, for all that, it would afford shelter and food, and that was a great deal under the circumstances.

He rode up to the tumble down rail fence that stood between the yard and the road and was preparing to call to let his presence be known when a man came around a corner of the house.
 He was a little, wiry, weather-beaten old chap, almost hidden under a mammoth broad brimmed straw hat. He was not expecting a strange visitor, and the appearance of Melvin was a great surprise to him. He stopped short, his mouth and eyes flew wide open, and he stood staring in perfect silence.

It was Melvin who spoke first.
 "I have lost my way," he said, "and I am looking for a place to spend the night. What chance is there for stopping with you?"

If Melvin expected this man to prove as reticent and morose as the one he had just passed, his mind was soon dis-abused of that idea, for the response to his speech, although not altogether relevant, was prompt, vigorous and effusive.

"Lord-a-mussy!" he exclaimed. "You mean to tell me that you done plumb up an lost your way go took to wanderin round in the woods for all the world like a stray suckin' calf? Great granny, man, what made you go an do sich a thing as that?"

"For the reason that I couldn't help it, I presume," Melvin answered. "I couldn't help it. Why, Lord-a-mussy, man, what do you mean? You ain't aimin to tell me you couldn't help gittin lost, are you?"

"Waal, I'll be dad switched! That shore beats my time, as the feller says.
 The idea of any human critter havin little enough sense to go an git lost in the woods! Why, say, a cat knows more than that!"

"Very likely," Melvin replied. "But what of it?"

"Nothin, only it shore stumps me that a growed up man like you'd go an git lost like this."

"Isn't it just barely possible that you might do such a thing?"

"Do sich a thing as what?"

"Me git lost! Your Uncle Jonathan Turner git lost! Waal, that's a good un shore. Say, did you ever hear tell of a groun' hog gittin lost?"

"I don't know that I ever did."

"Waal, when you do hear of sich a thing you may then begin to figger out that it's just barely possible that Jonathan Turner might some day lose hisself in the woods."

"Do you think it impossible for you to lose your way in a strange wood?"

"No, I don't think nothin 'bout it.
 I jest know it's impossible."

"How would you keep from losing your way?"

"Jest like I'd roll offen a log. I'd jest do it."

"Suppose you were in a strange place, and, coming to two roads, you didn't know which one to take. Then what?"

"Oh, I'd know all right which one to take."

"How would you know?"

"Jest have sense enough to know,
 as the feller says."

"Would you? Well, all right. I am anxious just now to learn whether or not you can give me shelter for the night?"

"I guess that's so. Rld a right smart piece today, I reckon?"

"Yes, quite a way."

"Jedgin from appearances, I'd take you to be a stranger in these parts?"

"I am."

"Waal, whar mought you hail from,
 if I may make so bold as to ask?"

"I'm from the north."

"From the north, eh? Waal, that's a smart big spread out sort of a

Since, as I understand it, an feller mought come from thar an still not

"None in the world. I'm from Chil-

"Are, eh? I've heard tell of that place. Consid'able little town, I judge?"

"Yes."

"More account than Beckett's Mill

"I think so."

"Reckoned from what I'd heard tell now, you have business in these

"Yes, some."

"Guess you ain't one of them preach-

"No."

"Never preach none, eh?"

"I never have."

"Oh, hah! Jest a plain ever'day common cussin man, I reckon?"

"I haven't ever made it a practice to do much 'cussin,' as you say, but I've almost been tempted today to wish I was an expert in that line. But, say, how about stopping with you tonight?
 I've got to find lodgin some place, and it's about time I was knowin where."

"That's so, stranger; yes, s'ince. Jest about time you was findin out whar; yes, sir. Reckon you ain't sorter fig-gerin on tryin to git to teach our school, are you?"

"No, I'm no schoolteacher."

"Hain't, eh? Guess mebbe you mought be kinder lookin round with a notion of buyin a farm in these parts?"

"No. All I'm lookin around for now is a place to spend the night."

"Edzackly. N'gurally you'd be more interested in that than anything else jest now."

"Yes, and I asked if I could stop with you."

"That's a fact, stranger. You shore done that very identical thing. I ain't a-pretendin to say you didn't."

"But you haven't answered me."

"No, I guess I ain't. I'm glad you

"Certainly not."

"I knowed you couldn't hardly be, who believe there are rich deposits of mineral in this section, and my business here is to investigate and learn whether or not their surmises are cor-and I hope you'll tell me without any you, as I can see, nary a speck. But I wonder, now, what kind of mineral them fellers thinks they're a-goin to find down yere?"

"Great Caesar, man! Let me have some supper and a place to rest, and I'll tell you everythin I know. I've been in the saddle all day, and I'm dreadfully hungry and tired."

"Why, to be shore you must be. It stan's to reason a feller would be hungry an tired after ridin all day.
 Yes, sir-ee. Guess them fellers hain't no notion that they're a-goin to find gold around here, have they?"

GILBERT PARKER, M.P.

His Breadth of View Eloquent of Greater Britain.

It was a relief when this loud declamation of England ceased, and Gilbert Parker caught the Speaker's eye. Hitherto the member for Gravesend has used his occupancy of one of the seats of the mighty simply to ask questions. Noting his intellectual, handsome, face, listening intently to some answering Minister, one wondered whether timidity kept him from taking part in debate. The question is settled. It was not timidity. Mr. Parker lacks neither self-possession, nor voice, nor animation. A little finish might be added to his style, but that will come with practice. He made a cheery speech, holding that growth of expenditure simply meant increase of Empire, denying that we were losing in the race for trade, and pointing out, as a Canadian with experience of Australia, the importance of our colonies. There was something in the address that the House was not accustomed to—a hopefulness and breadth of view eloquent of Greater Britain.—Pall Mall Gazette.

I may never traverse the halls of art, yet the dawning day is mine, and the fading twilight, and the lake at eve, and the galaxy of the midnight sky.

I may never come within hailing distance of a great music interpreter, yet I may listen with my soul to the silent symphony of a moonlight sonata.

I may never place in a Dresden vase one single hothouse flower, yet I may lave me in a field of yellow buttercups.

I may never find among my chattels, caskets of frankincense, and myrrh, yet I may sit in a rose tree's shade, and I may wander through the wild violet's purple haze.

I may never see the far-off shimmer of the white sand of a desert beach, yet I know where a tiny lake lies hidden in a bower of green, and the birds sing all day long, and the sunlight falls mottled on the water.

Dr. Bell, assisted by Dr. Doyle, was soon on the scene and dressed the wounds of the unconscious man. He is doing well at present.

Preparations are being made for a grand lawn social at the residence of H. Sales, Middle Road.

It is with general regret that we learn that Rev. J. C. Reid has been changed from here to Cottam by the conference which has just met. His year's work here has been a decided success. During the year Mr. Reid carried on successful evangelistic meetings and has made arrangements for the building of a new parsonage. He has the degrees of B. A. and B. D. He will be greatly missed here.

SWEET STRAINS OF MELODY

Successful Complimentary Musical Presented Last Evening by Miss Elda Idle and Pupils.

Startling Successes by Several Students—An Admirable Program Delightfully Rendered.

The pupils of Miss Elda Idle, assisted by Miss Flossie Bogart, Miss Gertrude Kelly and Miss Cowan, gave a delightful and excellent recital in the lecture hall of the Park St. Methodist church last evening.

It has been generally known for some time that Miss Idle had one or two especially talented singers. This had been learned from the fact that two or three pupils had made their debut during the past winter season and all proved worthy to stand high in the ranks of the Maple City vocal artists, but last evening's recital was a revelation. Seldom in the musical history of this city has there been an occasion on which so many singers of such ability have made their first public appearance and seldom have new aspirants for musical honors made such an impression and met such general approbation.

tyre, Miss Flossie Bogart and Miss Florence Darling. Their singing was a surprise and must have proved a source of pride to their instructor. The male soloists, comprising Messrs. Otto Edwards, of Bothwell, Clarence Terry and Ernest Kelly have already made a reputation for themselves, with the exception of Mr. Edwards, and he, too, can now lay claim to high place among the solo singers of Western Ontario.

There were two noticeable features of the program. The first was the excellent all male chorus, "I sing because I love to sing," and the great variety of voices represented among the soloists. It was much regretted that Robert Knight, owing to serious indisposition, was unable to take his part of the program. He is one of Miss Idle's best pupils.

Miss Idle, assisted by Miss Pratt, played all the accompaniments. Miss Lillian Pratt, and Miss Cowan, of Tilbury, and Miss Gertrude Kelly, piano pupils of R. Victor Carter, assisted at the recital and each young lady displayed excellent technique and a high degree of musical culture. The piano used was a Nordheimer, kindly loaned to Miss Idle by the company and sent specially from London for the recital.

MISS ELDA IDLE.

Miss Idle deserves not only the warmest congratulations but also the warmest praise for the training she has given her large class. Last evening, it was easily recognized that all of this teacher's pupils were talented, but, at the same time, they could never have attained such proficiency without exceptionally careful training. The singing of all displayed the result of excellent instruction and, to the observant ones, evidence of this training, as revealed in the solo work of the pupils, was the highest tribute that could be paid to any teacher.

Miss Idle came here two years ago a stranger, her splendid soprano voice, her musical culture and her extensive musical education, at once gave her a prominent position in musical circles in this city, and the large number that took part in the program last evening gives some idea of what Miss Idle's class must be and proves that true merit and ability are appreciated in this city.

To make special mention of any one number on the program would be manifestly unfair, but, it is impossible to refrain from stating that of the senior pupils, those who already have made a name for themselves in public, all acquitted themselves splendidly. These ladies are Mrs. M. B. Bogart, Miss Allie Humphrey, Miss Pearl White, Miss Maude Weese and Miss Ida Lairde.

The pupils who made the sensations of the musicals, however, were, Miss Edith Dolson, Miss Effie Quinn, Miss Nan Battisby, Miss Carmen McIntyre.
