COME TO AN AGREEMENT

Question of Contraband Settled by Moroccan Conference.

Fears That It Would Lead to Tension on the Carrying Out of the Repressive Measures Proves Happily Groundless — Feeling Strengthened Among the Delegates That Results of Conference Will Be Satisfactory.

Algiers, Spain, Jan. 19.—The delegates to the Moroccan conference held a private session lasting two hours yesterday afternoon. The session resulted practically in an agreement on the main lines of a plan for the repression of contraband entering Morocco. It was feared that this question of contraband might lead to Franco-German tension as to who would carry out the repressive measures proposed, but this happily appears to have been averted. The discussion was an informal one for the purpose of permitting the delegates to speak their minds without having their views officially recorded. The discussion proved to be most conciliatory, the only divergence being a statement made by the Moroccan delegates, that they could not permit the repression of, or the hunting for, arms without first referring the matter to the Sultan.

The delegates were in accord upon the need of all the powers passing laws penalizing the introduction of contraband. They also tended towards a plan under which Morocco would adopt rigid repressive measures in co-operation with the powers. This followed a proposition submitted by Spain, which was designed to reconcile the differences between France and Germany.

Goes to Committee.

A committee of five was appointed to study and report on a final project at the session to be held Saturday. This committee is composed of Signor Malmusi, Italian; Count Von Tattenbach, German; H. Regnault, French; Sidi El Mokri, Moroccan, and Senor Cavallero, Spanish.

Yesterday's meeting has strengthened the feeling among the delegates, that the results of the conference will be satisfactory.

The day has been fruitful in meetings of various groups of delegates with a view to conciliating their different interests. Active telegraphing is going on between the Ambassadors and their respective capitals. The French are trusting to the land lines, but send their despatches by a fast torpedo boat to Algiers, where they are cable to France. The Duke of Almedovar, Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs, who is president of the conference, has a telegraph instrument in his private rooms for communication with Madrid.

Germany Approved.

The Spanish proposition comprised eight articles, the sixth of which pointed out that France and Spain, having territory contiguous to Morocco, should be charged with the surveillance of contraband along their respective frontiers. When the Duke of Almedovar read this article Herr Von Radowits immediately rose and said that it met with the approval of Germany.

The French delegates expressed themselves as highly gratified with the attitude of Herr Von Radowits, as it had been anticipated that Germany would likely raise difficulties concerning the control of the frontiers.

FRANCE IS GETTING READY.

Will Make Naval Demonstration Soon Against Venezuela.

Paris, Jan. 19.—Official confirmation of Venezuela's acrimonious treatment of M. Taigny, the retiring French charge d'affaires at Caracas, has reached the Foreign Office. The Government immediately decided to adopt the most energetic measures to obtain satisfaction. It is understood that a naval demonstration is under preparation, the division of the French warships recently assembled in the vicinity of Venezuelan waters being utilized for that purpose. A diplomat said yesterday that President Castro's action amounted to an act of hostility. Such an act could not remain unchallenged, and France, the diplomat added, will have the support of the whole world in demanding and obtaining proper satisfaction, even should armed intervention prove necessary.

The cable company's officials received confirmation yesterday of the reports that their managers at Caracas and La Guaira have been expelled from Venezuela.

M. Maubourguret, the Venezuelan charge d'affaires here has received an intimation to leave French territory.

A telegram from L'Orient, the French war port in Brittany, announces that the cruisers Jean Bart and Chasseloup-Laubat, are preparing to join the French division cruising in the vicinity of Venezuelan waters.

Congratulations.
Paris, Jan. 19.—President-elect Fallieres was yesterday overwhelmed with telegrams of congratulation from rulers, foreign statesmen and his colleagues.

An Alien Labor Case.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—H. Holman Evans, manager of the Union Life Insurance Co. was yesterday charged in the Police Court with having brought Albert Feeles, an industrial insurance expert from the United States in contravention of the alien labor law. T. C. Robbette, his counsel, pleaded that it did not come within the law. A week's remand was granted.

It doesn't take a man long to find that he is short.

SOME FACTS

Ald. Austin Secures Figures on the Allegations Preferred Against Him

Ald. Austin has energetically inaugurated an investigation into the allegations made concerning his rental of the market store rooms. The results are very interesting. There is still one-third of the space in the market building unrented, notwithstanding the many who were said to be clamoring for it at three times the price Ald. Austin was paying.

Moreover, Ald. Austin was offered double the capacity at an equally convenient place on King St. for a very small advance in rental.

The following letters, perhaps, speak best for themselves:—

Chatham, Jan. 19th, 1906.

Mr. Chas. Austin, City:

Dear Sir,—In response to your inquiry re the renting of the portion of the upper market building, would say that I was not approached to rent the upper portion of the building during the year that I was chairman.

Yours truly,
W. H. WESTMAN.

Chatham, Jan. 19th, 1906.

C. Austin, Esq.:

I beg to submit the following as being the amount collected for rent upstairs in the old Town Hall for the years 1899 to 1905 inclusive:—

1900	6.00

AN EXPLOSION

The fire in Murray's second hand store, mention of which was made in yesterday's Planet, occurred in a very peculiar way. Mr. Murray filled his stove with paper and lit a match above the chimney being unable to carry it away, and there was a loud explosion. The lids were knocked off the stove and the front windows were broken. The fire caught in the rug that was lying on the floor, but the prompt arrival of the firemen prevented much damage being done by fire.

At 4.15 the brigade was called out to a burning chimney on the Eberts building.

GOOD CONCERT

Last evening the A. O. F. Orchestra and Symphony Company gave a concert at the King street Baptist Chapel. A fairly large audience enjoyed the lengthy program, which included, among others, the following items:

Trombone solo—Mr. Thorndyke.
Selection, "Gonna Waltzes"—Orchestra.

Song, "Mamma's Boy"—Mr. Hallman.
Cornet solo, "True Love"—Mr. Suermann.
Animated Pictures, shown by Mr. Bennett.
Selection, "Yankee Grit"—Orchestra.
Duett, "Marie"—Messrs. Hallman.

Selection, "Trombone Sneeze"—Orchestra.
After the entertainment refreshments were served in the basement, which concluded a very pleasant evening.

KIND WORDS

Writing editorially in the Ridgeway Dominion, Phil. H. Bowyer, M. P. P., says:—
His host of friends in Chatham and throughout the county have learned with regret that Mr. Harry W. Anderson, for many years connected with The Chatham Planet, and for the past seven years its editor, is about to leave for Toronto, to take a position on the staff of the Toronto News. The Dominion, while sharing in this regret, and looking on Mr. Anderson's departure as a distinct loss to journalism in Kent county, at the same time rejoices in what might be termed his promotion to the wider metropolitan field. Mr. Anderson is a clever, forceful writer, and we predict for him a bright future.

A merry heart maketh a cheerful countenance, and it also induces very good digestion, which is the source of good health.

DIE CAST FOR RUSSIA

First National Political Party Convention Has Opened.

Constitutional Democrats Discuss Party's Attitude Towards the Elections to the National Assembly — Two Leading Speakers Advise Participation in the Duma So Long As Its Majority Sympathized With Party.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 19.—The first National Convention organization by a political party in the history of Russia, that of the constitutional Democrats, opened here yesterday. Two hundred and fifty delegates, representing 60 provincial organizations, were present. Under the chairmanship of M. Petrunkovich of Tver, representatives took up the discussion of the party's attitude towards the elections to the National Assembly. Prof. Millukoff, Editor Haasen and Prince Hakefsky were the leading speakers.

The two first named advocated participation in the duma, but only so long as it was shown that the majority of the duma sympathized with the principles of the party.

Prof. Millukoff said, in view of the gathering agrarian storm, unless the representatives in the duma immediately instituted all the liberties demanded and passed a broad and simple election law instead of the present "worthless" law, the "struggle must be recommended along the old lines and all the forces of society must be mobilized to war against the common enemy."

The delegates reported that the party had made good progress, but that the reactionary local authorities were interfering with the propaganda in various sections. Complaints concerning this interference, they said, had been made to Count Witte, but only slight satisfaction had been given.

Revolutionists Get Munitions.

Kief, Russia, Jan. 19.—The local revolutionists, by a daring exploit, have obtained a large quantity of war munitions from the arsenal of the fortress. A number of men in military uniforms appeared at the arsenal with forged regulations, loaded two wagons with munitions and escaped.

Anarchist Jews Executed.

Warsaw, Russian Poland, Jan. 19.—Six Jews, members of the local anarchist committee, were tried by court-martial and condemned to death, were executed yesterday in the court yard of the Warsaw citadel.

Chicago Man Arrested in Russia.

New York, Jan. 19.—News of the arrest in St. Petersburg of William English Walling of Chicago, was received here yesterday. Mr. Walling went to St. Petersburg to study the social situation and was arrested because of his alleged sympathy for and participation with the revolutionary party. Mr. Walling is interested in social settlement work in this country. Walling is a Harvard man, and a grandson of William H. English, who ran for the vice-presidency on the Democratic ticket in 1880. At one time Walling was state factory inspector in Illinois.

It costs more to revenge wrongs than to bear them.

LEGAL ADVISERS OF WRONGDO-ING.

Chancellor Boyd in his remarks on the ethics of the legal profession has made some timely observations, and, coming from the bench, they will have influence.

Only a few days ago, when Mr. Phillips was placed under arrest in connection with the York Loan affair, he is reported to have exclaimed to the officer who took him in charge, "I did nothing except under legal advice."

The plumbers who have been subjected to heavy fines, or who are under suspended sentence of imprisonment, carried on their illegal operations guided by expert legal advice. The aim was to do the thing forbidden by law, but to do it with such craft of law that punishment could be evaded.

If five men gather around a table to plan a criminal act, four of whom possess the desire to do it, and the fifth is a lawyer supposed to possess the skill by which it can be put through in a way that will circumvent the law—why should the four be deemed criminals and the fifth not? The four stood to gain, perhaps? So did the fifth. His charges would be in keeping with the nature of his services.

The remark made by Mr. Phillips shows the point of view that prevails in the business community. The lawyer is coming to be the business man's father confessor. Questions of right and wrong disappear, and a man does what will make money for him; his lawyer grants him absolution. It is but a question of the way to do that which will pay him the greatest profits, and it is for the lawyer to show him how he can do it without becoming liable under the law framed to prevent the doing of that very thing.

It is not for work of this nature that lawyers are made a privileged class. Their professional privileges arise out of the assumption that they assist justice and are not its expert enemies. The Law Society should take up the question discussed by Chancellor Boyd, and not let it blow over with the occasion, or public opinion will some day take it up in its rough way.

PIC EXPLOSION

In an explosion of dynamite last week at a quarry in Gary, Ill., 20 miles from Chicago, five men were killed, two were fatally injured and a score were seriously hurt. The shock was felt within a radius of 25 miles. A resident of Dover, who has a brother living two miles from the scene of the accident, received the news, and her brother said the shock was felt so distinctly that they thought the explosion had occurred at La Grange, where he lives.

DEATH OF MRS. DARRACH

The late Mrs. Darrach, wife of Angus Darrach, who died at the family residence, 280 Christina street south, Sarnia, was born in Montreal, Quebec, about 48 years ago. Shortly after her marriage, she moved to St. Thomas, and from there to Chatham, where Mr. Darrach was engaged on the old Erie & Huron Railway. When the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway Co. took over the Erie & Huron, eight years ago, they moved to Sarnia. Mrs. Darrach always enjoyed good health until last Thanksgiving day, when returning from her sister's, in Enniskillen, to Petrolia, she was thrown out of the buggy and her spine injured. Paralysis set in and although everything was done that medical skill could suggest she passed away on Saturday morning last. She leaves, besides her husband, three sons, Donald, Roy and Robert, and three daughters, Annie, Pearl and Maggie, all at home; also two brothers, Mat. and Thos. Collins, of Petrolia.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon and was very largely attended, when following gentlemen acted as pall-bearers: Messrs. John E. Campbell, George Mitton, F. W. Davidson, James K. Nelson, William Potter and William Earl. Services at the residence and the grave were conducted by Rev. Mr. Hall, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, of which deceased was a faithful member.

Among those who attended were Mrs. Pink and Miss Bessie, of Chatham. Beautiful floral tributes were received from Mrs. Winegarden, Mrs. Pink, Mrs. T. Rheintgan, Mrs. Wanless, Mrs. Westmore, Mr. and Mrs. Eastman, Chatham; Miss McQueen, Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. Jordan, Miss Darrach, Mrs. Raeburn, St. Thomas; B. Ward, Mr. and Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Davidson, Josie Bertland, James Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Pole, Mrs. Stewart, Misses Nelson, Sarnia; a crescent from employees of Hager Bros., Port Huron; anchor, Mr. and Mrs. Collins, St. Thomas; star, Mr. Darrach, St. Thomas; wreath, Mr. E. Broadbent and sister, anchor, Mr. and Mrs. Eastman, Chatham; cross, Mr. and Mrs. D. Darrach, and a pillow from the family.

TELLS BY THEIR SLEEP

"I can tell by my little ones' sleep when a cold is coming on," said a mother when speaking of the advance symptoms of colds in children. "They toss about, are restless, their breathing is heavy and there are symptoms of night sweats. The next morning I start with Scott's Emulsion. The chances are that in a day or two they are all over it. Their rest is again peaceful and the breathing normal."

Here's a suggestion for all mothers. Scott's Emulsion always has been almost magical in its action when used as the ounce of prevention. Nothing seems to overcome child weakness quite so effectively and quickly as Scott's Emulsion.

The S. O. W. Club held a very successful hop in I. O. O. F. Auditorium last evening. Pritchard's orchestra was in attendance and provided excellent music for the dancers. OIL AND GAS

There are great prospects for the oil and gas outlook in Tilbury East. The well on the Kerr farm is proving the best in the two counties, and there is scarcely a day but that one or more visitors from Detroit are not in town on their way to the well, and arrangements are being made to further exploit the field. The village trustees were informed last night to consider an application for a franchise to pipe gas through the village by the same company boring on the farm of J. W. Smith, Tilbury East.

'WARE WIRES

Some excitement was caused yesterday noon by the dropping of a large tree at the corner of Murray and Adelaide Sts.

Half a dozen men found the job a tough one, as the tree was to be dropped in a very narrow space between a verandah and the electric lighting wires at the edge of the pavement.

While engaged in sawing through the last few inches of the trunk the electric "tree fellers" were informed by City Engineer Jones that if they injured the electric light wires in any way they would end up in the Police Court. "I have been troubled too much by this sort of a thing lately," he said, "and I am not going to stand it any longer."

Undeterred by the chance of being arrested, however, the gang persevered and finally dropped the tree safely between the wires and the houses.

NEWSPAPERS IN SCOTLAND.

It is Sometimes a Very Difficult Matter to Buy One.

The American custom of glancing over the morning paper as you sip your coffee at breakfast goes with you abroad, but it is no simple thing always to get a morning paper. On coming down to breakfast the first morning in Edinburgh, I found there was no paper to be had, but, thinking it was a simple matter to buy a Scotsman on the street, I went out on Princes street and walked three blocks without the sight of a newsboy. "Where can I get the morning Scotsman?" I said to a policeman. He thought for a moment.

"Well," said he, "there's a great news shop about three blocks up, and ye might find one there." I followed the direction and found myself in a large news distributing depot. There were stacks and stacks of newspapers and magazines all about. "I would like the morning's Scotsman," I said. The man in charge looked bewildered. "I'll see," he said, "if we have one." He fumbled around a little while, and then went back into the rear of the store for fully three minutes. At last he came back, saying, "We haven't one." "Well," I said, "this is about the strangest thing I have seen. Can't ye get the morning paper here in Edinburgh?" "No," he said, "ye'll find it difficult." "What do they publish papers here for, anyway?" I rejoined. "Do they want to keep them out of the hands of the people? Don't they want people to read them? Do they print papers to keep the news secret?" He bridled at once. "I want ye to understand," he said, "that the Scotsman is not published for the general public; it's published for the subscribers."

The Scotsman, you know, probably ranks next to the London Times. "Well," I said, "this is all new to me. In my country publishers want to have their newspapers read. They want to sell all they can. They don't try to keep them out of the hands of the 'general public.' Can you tell me where I can get one, for I want to see the morning paper, though perhaps I shall have to get a letter of introduction to buy one?" "Weel," he answered, "there's a woman about a hundred yards from here that takes the Scotsman. She might sell you hers." I took the direction carefully, found the woman who took the Scotsman—she kept a thread and needle store—I bought her copy, and reached the hotel a half hour late for breakfast, which I had ordered before going out on the difficult quest of buying a morning paper in the great city of Edinburgh.

BUSINESS SENSE.

All things come to him who doesn't wait, but hustles.

Too many clerks and not enough salesmen—that is the cry. The sheriff is always making goooes at the store that doesn't advertise. Resolve not to worry so much about your competitor. Take the lead for a change.

Many succeed because they advertise correctly and ever so many fail because they don't.

If you never do more than you are paid for, you will never get paid for more than you do.

If you have no confidence in your employer, for heaven's sake be honest and go in and tell him so. Draw your pay and quit.

It is a waste of time to argue over an order which comes from headquarters.

TAXING THE RAILWAYS

Subject Under Consideration by the Ontario Government.

Municipal Associations of Counties of Wellington, Waterloo, Halton and Perth Wait Upon Cabinet, and Urge Certain Ideas of Railway Taxation—Railway Taxation Commission Recommended Tax of 3 Per Cent. on Gross Earnings.

Toronto, Jan. 18.—The Municipal Associations of the Counties of Wellington, Waterloo, Halton and Perth were represented by a deputation which waited upon the Ontario Government yesterday afternoon regarding a proposed measure of railway taxation for municipal purposes.

J. P. Downey, M. P., introduced the deputation to Premier Whitney and the Cabinet. The visitors were Herbert Wright, reeve of Guelph Township; John A. Cockburn, reeve of Puslinch Township; J. Mahon, reeve of Nassagaweya Township and James Donaldson, warden of Perth Township. The members of the Cabinet present were: Premier Whitney, Hon. W. J. Hanna, Hon. Nelson Montell, Hon. Dr. Reaume, Hon. Adam Beck.

A resolution which had been passed by the association proposed that the railways should be taxed on an assessment of $5,000 per mile on single tracks and $10,000 a mile on double tracks, and that municipalities should be the sole recipients of the taxes, and further that the assessment should be exclusive of the lands and buildings at present assessed under the municipal act.

During the discussion of the matter the question was raised as to whether it would be just to have the taxes go entirely or in a large part to the municipalities through which more than one railway ran while a considerable portion of traffic might have its origin in adjoining municipalities through which no railways were running.

The Premier replied that the whole matter of railway taxation was now under consideration by the Government and in the framing of a new legislation the representations made by this deputation would be given due weight.

Hon. Col. Matheson stated that last year the province received in taxes from railways $191,825. In the previous year the amount was $187,918. Now, the provincial rate of railway taxation is a fixed levy of $30 a mile on single tracks and $10 a mile on each additional track in organized districts. The rate is $20 and $5 in organized districts and on railways not exceeding 150 miles in length $15 and $5.

The Railway Taxation Commission, in their report, recommended the imposition of a tax of 3 per cent. on the gross earnings of the railways.

LONDON DEPUTATION'S REQUEST.

Ask Ontario Government For $75,000 For Hygienic School.

Toronto, Jan. 18.—The large deputation from London which waited upon Premier Whitney and the Cabinet yesterday asked for a Government institution to cost $75,000, to be known as the Hygienic Institute, or a school for sanitary science. Dr. McCallum replied to the Premier that the idea was to have the institution built and controlled directly by the Government. Mr. Whitney said he had asked a reply to the question because there seemed to be an idea that the proposed institution would be in affiliation with the Western University. He declared emphatically that the Government stood where the Sandfield Macdonald Government stood 40 years ago on the granting of provincial aid to denominational institutions. They were directly opposed to it. He wished that the subject of medical education be discussed separately from the question of general university education. London's claims were entitled to consideration and the Premier asked for a detailed statement of their wants. The various speakers suggested that instruction be given in the new institution to medical health officers, and that laboratories be established for the benefit of the medical profession of the district.

Mining Men Foregather.

Toronto, Jan. 18.—A number of those interested in the mining industry of Ontario met last evening at the King Edward Hotel and formed a Toronto branch of the Canadian Mining Institute. Craig, vice-chairman; Geo. Nickle, treasurer; S. Dillon Mills, secretary; Dr. A. P. Coleman and Prof. W. G. Miller, councillors.

R. was willing to arbitrate, a general sympathetic strike would be declared on the whole of the road.

WINGLESS BIRDS.

New Zealand Swarmed With Them Before Its Occupation by Man.

For ages before its occupation by man New Zealand swarmed with great wingless birds, which found there no carnivorous enemies, but an abundance of vegetable food. The moas not only existed in vast numbers and for thousands of years, but had such diversity of form as to embrace no less than seven genera containing twenty-five species, a remarkable fact which is unparalleled in any other part of the world. The commonest kinds in the North Island were only from two and one-half to four feet high. Those of the South Island were mostly from four to six feet tall, while the giant forms, reaching twelve and thirteen feet, were always rare.

Immense deposits of moa bones have been found in localities to which they appear to have been washed from the hills in tertiary times. Skeletons on the surface of the ground, with skin and ligaments still attached, have given the impression that these birds have been exterminated in very recent years, but other facts point to a different conclusion. Tradition seems to show, according to F. M. Hutton, that the moa became extinct in the North Island soon after the arrival of Maoris in New Zealand—that is, not less than 400 to 500 years ago, and in the South Island about 100 years later.

The flesh appearing skin and ligaments are supposed to have been preserved by unusually favorable conditions.

A Valuable Agent.

The glycerine employed in Dr. Pierce's medicine greatly enhances the medicinal properties which it extracts and holds in solution much better than alcohol. It is a powerful medicinal agent of its own, being a valuable demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic and antiferment. It acts directly to the efficacy of the Black Cherrybark, Golden Seal, Stone root and Queen's root, contained in "Golden Medical Discovery" in subduing chronic, or lingering coughs, bronchitis, throat and lung affections for all of which these agents are recommended by standard medical authorities.

In all cases where there is a wasting away of flesh, loss of appetite, with weak stomach, as in the early stages of consumption, there can be no doubt that glycerine acts as a valuable nutritive and aids the Golden Seal root, Stone root, Queen's root and Black Cherrybark in promoting digestion and building up the flesh and strength, controlling the cough and bringing about a healthy condition of the whole system.

Of course, it must not be expected to work miracles. It will not cure consumption except in its earlier stages, chronic cough, and laryngeal troubles, and chronic sore throat with hoarseness. In acute coughs it is not so effective. It is in the lingering coughs, or those of long standing, even when accompanied by bleeding from the lungs that it has performed its most marvelous cures. Send for and read the little book of extracts, treating of the properties and uses of the several medicinal roots that enter into Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and learn why this medicine has such a wide range of application in the cure of diseases. It is sent free.

Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. The "Discovery" contains no alcohol or harmful, habit-forming drug. Ingredients all printed on each bottle wrapper in plain English.

Sick people, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private and absolutely confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

GRAY-HEYWARD.

The magnificent home of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Pike, Murray street, was the scene of a most elaborate and exceedingly happy society event last evening, when Mrs. Pike's youngest daughter, Miss Verna Heyward, was united in marriage to Dr. James William Gray, of St. Catharines.

The beautiful marriage ceremony of the Church of England was conducted by Rev. Rural Dean McCosh, rector of Christ Church, in the presence of the relatives and a small number of the friends of the bride and groom.

The house decorations were most appropriate for the occasion. The two drawing rooms were resplendent with palms, cut flowers, etc., while the dining room was tastefully adorned with palms, smilax and cut flowers. The color schemes were yellow for the drawing room and green and white for the dining room. In the centre of the bridal table was an artistic centre piece of ferns in a silver dish, and the other ornaments were two silver candelabras, cut glass, and silver, and four bows of white satin ribbon prettily arranged at each corner.

A few minutes before six o'clock the bridal party entered the drawing room, the ushers each carrying satin ribbons, which formed an entrance to the bridal hassack. Precisely at six the bride entered on the arm of her step-father, J. M. Pike, who gave her away. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Helen Smith, who also presided at the piano throughout the evening. The ushers were Sydney Falls, H. Melville, R. E. Kizer, John Smith, Wilfrid Smith and W. Sutherland.

The bride's gown was a most becoming and expensive dress of crepe de chene over white tulle with rose trimming. She wore her sister's veil with orange blossoms and carried a white kid prayer book with a gold monogram "H." and a point lace handkerchief.

The bridesmaid, Miss Nettie Gray, wore a beautiful dress of blue silk with rose trimmings and carried pink roses with satin ribbon.

Miss Smith was attired in white organdie with blue flowers with blue satin trimming and Valenciennes lace.

The best man was Dr. Wm. Bentley, of Sarnia.

The groom's gift to the bride was a sunburst of pearls and diamonds, to the bridesmaid a gold locket and chain, to the groomsmen a diamond stickpin, and to Miss Smith a blue turquoise ring.

During the banquet which followed, Mr. Wilfrid Smith sang a couple of songs in good voice. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Mowat and most heartily it was responded to.

The happy young couple left on the 9.19 for Detroit. They will visit in Buffalo and New York, returning to their new home in St. Catharines about the first of February.

The bride's going away gown was a grey broadcloth with blue panne velvet and blue Persian trimming and grey silk braid. She wore a grey hat with cock's plumes, cut steel dagger and white fox furs. It was generally remarked that she was one of the prettiest brides that ever left Chatham, and the hearty send off was conclusive evidence of her popularity.

The bride, who is the last of the Heywards, is a deservedly popular young society girl, and she will be greatly missed in local musical circles. She was counted one of Chatham's most talented sopranos and has held positions in both the First Presbyterian and Christ Church choirs.

The groom is a clever and prosperous dentist of St. Catharines and before he left that city he was the guest of honor at two elaborate functions given him in celebration of his approaching marriage.

One pleasant feature of the occasion last evening was the presence of both grandmothers of the bride—Mrs. Reeve and Mrs. Heyward.

The list of presents included many costly and handsome gifts, evidences of respect and esteem from the hosts of friends of both the bride and groom.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mrs. W. D. McKee and Mrs. A. D. Brander, of Wallaceburg; A. G. Mowat, of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pike, of Windsor; and Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Gray and Miss Nettie Gray, of Hamilton.

QUEER WEDDING

Miss Hattie Craig, Well Known in Blenheim, Married Beside Her Mother's Coffin

Before her death at her home, three miles east of here, Mrs. T. V. Craig requested that her daughter, Hattie, and her affianced, Geo. Higdon, be wedded beside her coffin, and that her son-in-law, Rev. O. C. Christian, of Eau Claire, Wis., officiate. When the preacher arrived the ceremony was performed. The bride objected, however, to the gruesomeness of the scene and they were married in a room adjoining that in which the body rested, but which was separated only by an archway. The ceremony was witnessed by relatives only.—Detroit Journal.

Mr. Craig, the husband of the deceased lady, is a brother of Mrs. Geo. Halleck, of Blenheim, and the daughter, Hattie, was here for a week's visit last summer and will be remembered by a number of citizens.—Blenheim Tribune.

Receipts of live stock at the city market since Tuesday, as reported by the railway: 100 car lots, consisting of 1384 cattle, 2007 hogs, 919 sheep and lambs and 60 calves.

Exporters.
No straight loads of exporters were offered, only a few lots picked out and mixed. J. B. Mulholland, Albert, topped the market with 7 choice shipping calves, 1250 lbs. each, at $4.75. Other lots sold at $4.50 to $4.75. Export bulls sold lower at $3.50 to $3.75 per cwt.

Trade in butcher cattle was not nearly so brisk for the common grades, which declined in price from 15c to 16c per cwt, but the good to choice qualities held their own fairly well, as there was a limited supply. A few choice calves sold at $4.25 to $4.50; loads of good sold from $3.50 to $4.10; fair to good, $3.00 to $3.75; common, $2.50 to $3.00; cows at $2.50 to $3.00 per cwt; canners, $1.50 to $2.

Feeders and Steers.
A moderate supply of stockers and feeders met a drabgy market. Harry Murby bought about 100 at about the same prices as we quoted on Tuesday. Mr. Murby makes a specialty of these classes and had a few orders to fill, otherwise he would not have been able to place them at these prices: short-keep feeders, 1100 to 1200 lbs. at $3.50 to $3.80; best yearling steers, 600 to 800 lbs. at $3 to $3.50; common feeders, which there were few sold, at $2.75 per cwt.

Milch Cows.
About 35 or 40 milch cows and springers were offered. Prices ranged from $30 to $70 each, but there was only one brought the latter price.

Veal Calves.
Thirty-two calves sold at $3.50 to $7 per cwt. and more good calves were wanted.

Sheep and Lambs.
Trade in sheep and lambs was active with prices firm, for sheep and lambs were higher, as will be seen by quotations of sales given below. Export sheep, $4.00 to $4.75; hucks, $3.50 to $3.75 per lb. Lambs, $4.00 to $4.50; sold at $3.50 to $3.75 for the bulk, with one or two lots reported at $4.50 to $5.00 per cwt.; mixed lots sold at $3 to $4.50 per cwt.

Hogs.
There was a liberal supply, which sold 10c higher than was quoted on Tuesday. Mr. Harris quotes selects at $6.75, lights at $6.50, and $6.50, sows at $4 to $5, stage at $2.50 to $3.50 per cwt.

At several points in the country $5.00 and $6.00 per cwt. was reported as being paid by the Davies and Montreal Packing Companies to the farmers.

The LUST of HATE

BY GUY BOOTHBY

On coming to the surface again I shook myself and looked about me. Behind me was the great vessel, with her decks by this time almost on a level with the water. In another instant she would be gone. True enough, before I had time to take half a dozen strokes there was a terrific explosion, and next instant I was being sucked down and down by the sinking ship. How far I went, or how long I was beneath the waves, I have no possible idea. I only know that if it had lasted much longer I should never have lived to reach the surface again or to tell this tale. But after a little while I found myself rising to the surface, surrounded by wreckage of all sorts and descriptions.

On reaching the top, I looked about me for the boats, which I felt sure I should discover; but, to my surprise, I could not distinguish one. Was it possible that the entire company of the vessel could have gone down with her? The thought was a terrible one, and almost unnerved me. I raised myself in the water as well as I was able, and as I did so I caught sight of two people within a few yards of me. I swam towards them, and to my joy discovered that they were Miss Maybourne and the child upon whom I had fastened the cork life-preservers a few minutes before.

"Oh, Mr. Wrexford, cried Miss Maybourne, in an agonized voice. 'What are we to do? This poor child is either dead, or nearly so, and I can see no signs of any boat at all.'"

"We must continue swimming for a little while," I answered, "and then we may perhaps be picked up. Surely we cannot be the only survivors?"

"Oh, poor, poor child," she cried. "Can he have perished? Oh, it is too awful!"

The cork lifebelts were keeping them up famously, and on that score I felt no anxiety at all. But still the situation was about as desperate as it well could be. I had not the least notion of where we were, and I knew that unless we were picked up we should be better drowned at once than continue to float in this state of starvation. However, I was not going to frighten my only conscious companion by such gloomy anticipations, so I passed my arm round the child's waist and bade Miss Maybourne strike out for the spot where the ill-fated Fiji Princess had gone down. At the same time I asked her to keep her eyes open for a boat, or at least a spar of some sort, upon which we could support ourselves until we could find some safer refuge.

On the horrors of that ghastly swim, I will not be necessary for me to dilate. I must leave my readers to imagine them for themselves. Suffice it that for nearly a quarter of an hour we paddled aimlessly about here and there. But look as we might, not a sign of any other living soul from aboard that ship could we discover, nor anything large enough upon which three people could rest. At last, just as I was beginning to despair of saving the lives of those whom Providence had so plainly entrusted to my care, I saw ahead of us a large white object, which, upon nearer approach, proved to be one of the overturned lifeboats. I conveyed the good news to Miss Maybourne, and then, with a new burst of energy, swam towards it and caught hold of the keel. She was a big craft, and, to my delight, rode high enough out of the water to afford a resting-place for myself and the child I carried on to her, and to drag Miss Maybourne up after me, was the work of a very few moments. Once there, we knew we were safe for the present.

CHAPTER VII.

For some minutes we lay upon the bottom of the overturned boat too exhausted to speak. I still held the unconscious form of little Esther Bailey in my arms, and protected her, as well as I was able, from the maddening seas. Though the waves about us upheld many evidences of the terrible catastrophe, such as gratings, broken spars, portions of boat gear, still, to my astonishment, I could discover no signs of any bodies. Once, however, I was successful in obtaining possession of something which I knew would be worth its weight in gold to us: it was an oar, part of the equipment of one of the quarter boats I imagined; half the blade was missing, but with what remained it would still be possible for us to propel the boat on which we had taken refuge.

What a terrible position was ours, lodged on the bottom of that overturned lifeboat, icy seas breaking upon us every few seconds, the knowledge of our gallant ship, with all our friends aboard, lying fathoms deep below the surface of the waves, and the remembrance that the same fate might be ours at any moment; no possible notion of where we were, no provisions or means of sustaining life, and but small chance of being picked up by any passing boat!

"Mr. Wrexford," she said, and her teeth chattered as she spoke, "at any risk something must be done for that poor child you hold in your arms, she will die. Do you think we could manage to get her up further on to the boat and then try to chase her back to consciousness?"

"By all means let us try," I answered, "though I fear it will prove a difficult matter. She seems very far gone, poor little mite."

With the utmost care I clambered further up the boat till I sat with my burden astride the keel. In the darkness we could scarcely see each other, but once the child was placed between us we set to work rubbing her face and hands and trying by every means in our power to restore consciousness. Suddenly a great thought occurred to me. I remembered the flask I had taken from the cabin where I had found the clothes. In an instant I had dived my hand into my pocket in search of it, almost trembling with fear lest by any chance it should have slipped out when I had dived overboard, but to my delight it was still there. I had pulled it out and unscrewed the stopper before anyone could have counted a dozen, taking the precaution to taste it in order to see that it was all right before I handed it to Miss Maybourne. It was filled with the finest French brandy, and, having discovered this, I bade her take a good drink at it. When she had done so I put it to the child's mouth and forced a small quantity between her lips.

"Surely you are going to drink some yourself," said my companion, as she saw me screw on the top and replace it in my pocket.

But I was not going to do anything of the sort. I did not need it so vitally as my charges, and I knew that there was not enough in the bottle to justify me in wasting even a drop. I explained this and then asked her if she felt any warmer.

"Much warmer," she answered, "and I think Esther here feels better too. Let us chafe her hands again."

We did so, and in a few minutes the satisfaction of hearing the poor mite utter a little moan. In less than an hour she was conscious once more, but so weak that it seemed as if the first breath of wind that came our way would blow her off her feet.

"What length of time elapsed from the time of our heading the boat before daylight came to cheer us, I cannot say, but, craning up as we were, the darkness seemed to last for centuries. For periods of something like half an hour at a time we sat without speaking, thinking of all that had happened since darkness had fallen the night before, and remembering the rush and agony of those last few dreadful minutes on board, and the awful fact that all those whom we had seen so well and strong only a few hours before were now cold and lifeless for ever. Twice I took out my flask and insisted on Miss Maybourne and the child swallowing a portion of the spirit. Had I not brought that with me, I really believe neither of them would have seen another sunrise.

Suddenly Miss Maybourne turned to me.

"Listen, Mr. Wrexford," she cried, "what is that booming noise? Is it thunder?"

I did as she commanded, but for some moments could hear nothing save the splashing of the waves upon the boat's planks. Then a dull, noise reached my ears that might very well have been mistaken for the booming of thunder at a great distance. Thunder it certainly was, but with me, I really believe, neither of them would have seen another sunrise.

"That was the thunder of surf, and that being so, I knew there must be land at no great distance from us, I said her my conjecture, and then we set ourselves to wait with what patience we could command, for daylight.

What a strange and, I might almost say, weird dawn that was! It was the beginning of a new life under strangely altered conditions. The first shafts of light found us still clinging to the keel of the overturned boat, gazing hopelessly about us. When it was light enough to discern our features, we two elder ones looked at each other, and were horrified to observe the change with the terrible sufferings of the night had wrought in our countenances. Miss Maybourne's face was white and drawn, and she looked years older than her real age. I could see by the way she glanced at me that I also was changed. The poor little girl Esther hardly noticed either of us, but lay curled up as close as possible to her sister in misfortune.

As the light widened, the breeze which had been just perceptible all night, died away, and the sea became as calm as a mill pond. I looked about me for something to explain the noise of breakers we had heard, but at first could see nothing. When, however, I turned my head to the west I almost shouted in my surprise, for, scarcely a mile distant from us, was a comparatively large island, surrounded by three or four reef-like smaller ones. On the larger island a peak rose ragged and rough to a height of something like five hundred feet, and upon the shore, on all sides, I could plainly discern the surf breaking upon the rocks. As soon as I saw it I turned excitedly to Miss Maybourne.

"We're saved!" I cried, pointing in the direction of the island, "look there—look there!"

She turned round on the boat as well as she was able and when she saw the land, stared at it for some moments in silence. Then with a cry, "Thank God!" she dropped her head on to her hands and I could see her shoulders shaken by convulsive sobs. I did my best to console her, but she soon recovered of her own accord, and addressed herself to me again.

"These must be the Salvage Islands of which the Captain was speaking at dinner last night," she said. "How can we reach the shore? Whatever happens, we must not drift past them."

"Have no fear," I answered, "I will not let that happen, come what may."

So saying, I shifted my position to get a better purchase of the water, and then using the broken oar began to paddle in the direction of the biggest island. It was terribly hard work, and a very few moments showed me that after all the horrors of the night I was as weak as a kitten. But by patience and perseverance I at last got the boat's head round and began to lessen the distance that separated us.

At the end of nearly half an hour we were within a hundred yards of the shore. By this time I had decided on a landing-place. It was a little bit of open sandy beach, perhaps sixty yards long, without rocks, and boasting less surf than any other part of the island I could see. In addition to these advantages it was nearer, and I noted that that particular side of the island looked more sheltered than the others.

Towards his haven of refuge I accordingly made my way, hoping that I should not find any unexpected danger lurking there when I should be too close in to be able to get out again. It was necessary for every reason that we should save the boat from damage for by her aid alone could we hope to make our way out to passing ships, or, if the worst came, to strike out on our own account for the Canary Islands. That the rocks were now making were the Salvage Group, as Miss Maybourne had said, I had no doubt in my own mind, though how the skipper came to be steering such a course was more than I could tell.

At last we were so close that I could see the sandy bottom quite distinctly only a fathom or so below us. A better landing-place no man could have wished for. When we were near enough to make it safe I slid off the boat into the water, which was just up to my hips, and began to push her in before me. Having grounded her I took Miss Maybourne in my arms and carried her out of the water up on to the beach and then went back for the child. My heart was so full of gratitude at being on dry land again and having saved the two lives entrusted to my care that I could have burst into tears on the least encouragement.

Having got my charges safely ashore, I waded into the water again to have a look at the boat and, if possible, to discover what had made her capsize. She was so precious to us that I dared not leave her for an instant. To my delight she looked as sound as the day she had been turned out of the shipwright's yard, and I felt if once I could turn her over she would carry us as well as any boat ever built. But how to do that, full of water as she was, was a problem I could not for the life of me solve. Miss Maybourne's wife, however, was sharper than mine and helped me out of the difficulty.

"There is a rope in her bows, Mr. Wrexford," she cried; "why not drive the oar into the sand and fasten her to that? then when the tide goes out—you see it is nearly full now—she will be left high and dry, the water will have run out of her, and her eyes will be able to do whatever you please to her."

"You've solved the difficulty for me in a very simple fashion," I answered. "What a duffer I was not to have thought of that!"

The mouse can help the lion sometimes, you see," she replied, with a wan little smile that went to my heart.

Having got my party safely ashore, and made my boat fast to the oar, as proposed by Miss Maybourne, the next thing to be done was to discover a suitable spot where we might fix our camp, and then to endeavor to find some sort of food upon which we might sustain our lives until we should be rescued. I explained my intentions to my elder companion, and then, leaving them on the beach together, climbed the hill-side to explore. On the other sides of the island the peak rose almost precipitously from the beach, and upon the side on which we stood it was, in many places, pretty steep climbing. At last, however, to my great delight, on a small plateau some thirty yards long by twenty deep, I discovered a cave that looked as if it would suit my purpose to perfection. It was not a large affair, but quite big enough to hold the woman and the child even when lying at full length. To add to my satisfaction, the little strip of land outside was covered with a coarse grass, a quantity of which I gathered and spread about in the cave to serve as a bed. This, with a few armfuls of dry seaweed, which I knew I should be able to obtain on the beach, made an excellent couch.

What, however, troubled me more than anything else, was the fear that the island might contain no fresh water. But my doubts on that head were soon set at rest, for on the hillside, a little below the plateau on which I had discovered the cave, was a fair-sized pool, formed by rainwater in a rock, which, when I tasted it, I found to contain water, a little brackish it is true, but still quite drinkable. There was an abundance of fuel everywhere, and if only I could manage to find some shell fish on the rocks, or hit upon some way of catching the fish swimming in the bay, I thought we might manage to keep ourselves alive until we were picked up by some passing boat.

Descending to the beach again, I told Miss Maybourne of my discoveries, and then taking poor little Esther in my arms we set off up the hill towards the cave. On reaching it I made them as comfortable as I could and then descended to the shore again in search of food.

HEAVY HEADACHE FOR FOUR YEARS

But Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Cured It—They Are Known By Their Works All Over Canada.

"By their works ye shall know them," and if you know Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets by their works you must admit they are the greatest comfort producers of the present age. Here is some of their work. Mrs. A. Waddell, of 34 Simcoe street, Hamilton, says:

"I was troubled with heavy headache for four years caused by Dyspepsia. I doctored with the best doctors, but they failed to help me. I got one box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and after taking part of them I found I was cured. I can now eat in the morning; before I could not eat at all."

Thousands of other Canadians relate similar experiences. In fact everybody who has used Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets tells the same story. Indigestion and Dyspepsia cannot live in the same body with them.

Americans Kept In Ignorance.
London, Jan. 18.—Kier Hardie, the Labor M. P., in an interview yesterday, said American labor was hopelessly ignorant, and was kept under by capitalists. European workmen, he said, were better educated.

MORE DEADLY THAN FAMINE.
Neglected catarrh sooner or later causes consumption, which destroys more human beings than famine and war combined. The way "Catarrh-zone" cures catarrh is very simple; it first kills the germs that cause the irritation; then by soothing away the congestion and inflammation it cures the discharge, hawking and dropping in the throat. "I suffered so continually from nasal catarrh," writes Ernest R. Dakin, of Rosemont, "that I sorely knew what it was to be free from headache and pain over the eyes. Catarrh-zone relieved me at once and made a thorough cure." No other remedy cures like Catarrh-zone—try it for your next cold.

John McLeod Suicides.

HELL OF FLAMING FIRE

Dr. Torrey's Vivid Picture of the Place of the Rejected.

People Grow Worse In Hell, Declares the Evangelist in Toronto's Massey Hall—A Place Without Hope—Only One Way of Escape From the Terrible Torment—"Take Christ! Take Him at Once!"

Toronto, Jan. 18.—Dr. Torrey preached the Gospel of an unmitigated and eternal hell of flaming fire for those who reject Christ during this life, to an audience that packed Massey Hall last night.

"Anyone who dares to hold out one ray of hope to the men who die impenitent dares to do what the Word of God does not do," he said. "The future destiny of the wicked is hopeless. There is not one ray of hope for those who die without Christ."

To accept Christ is to believe in Him in the heart, and to make a public profession, as in Dr. Torrey's formula, "I accept Jesus as my Saviour, my Lord and my King."

There was an absolute certainty of hell, because Jesus said so; it was described in Scripture, and our experience, our observation and common sense affirmed it, declared Dr. Torrey. It was a place of intense bodily suffering, torturing memories and remorse.

People Grow Worse In Hell.
"In that dark world it will not take long for man or woman to sink to the level of the lowest," he declared.

"Hell is without hope. Forever and ever is the ceaseless wall from that restless sea of fire. Would to God those who think otherwise could succeed in proving it! If they could only bring one text which, taken in connection with its context, would do so, I'd be the gladdest man alive. I am familiar with every passage used for this purpose," said Dr. Torrey, "and they won't bear the interpretation put upon them."

Only One Way of Escape.
"There is only one way to escape hell: By accepting Christ as your Lord and Master, and by living each day to please Him," Dr. Torrey then appealed to penitents to stand up. Like an express train he heard the far distant rumble and thunder of the wrath of God as it came rushing on.

"Get off the track! Take Christ! Take Him to-night!"

NOTED WOMAN DEAD.
Her Son Committed to Prison to Await Investigation Into Cause.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 18.—John McMorrow, son of Anita McMorrow, known as the "Coke" girl, who was yesterday committed to prison to await the coroners inquest into the death of his mother. Mrs. McMorrow died suddenly Tuesday, and the police say that a short time previous to her death she quarrelled with her son. McMorrow declared he was in no manner responsible for his mother's death.

Mrs. Anita DeB McMorrow was 75 years old, and was once famous because of her claim to ownership of vast estates in Spain and Cuba of the value of $2,000,000. At one of her functions in 1876 was President Grant, Don Pedro of Brazil, and Senor Barea, Spanish Minister to the United States. Senor Barea was a frequent visitor after that, and one night the countess induced him to let her have for a day the $20,000 that had been sent him for legal expenses. She did not repay the sum, and with disgrace sent herself in the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York.

GERMANY NOT INTERESTED.
Disclaims Interference in France's Controversy With Venezuela.

Berlin, Jan. 18.—The Foreign Office calls to the attention of the Associated Press to a London despatch which asserts upon an ostensibly excellent Paris authority that President Castro's attitude toward France is due to German intrigues. The Foreign Office says this is absolutely false. Germany has not interfered by a single word in France's controversy with Venezuela.

French Charge d'Affaires Ruled Off.
Caracas, Jan. 18, via Port of Spain, Trinidad, Jan. 18.—M. Talmy, the French charge d'affaires, having gone on board the French line steamer Martinique, at La Guayra yesterday without legal permission, the Venezuelan authorities have prohibited his landing again in Venezuela and he must go to Colon.

More Immigrants Coming.
Ottawa, Jan. 18.—For the year ending December last there was an increase in immigration of 10,395, as compared with the previous year. The arrivals for the year 1929 were: British, 64,863; Continental, 35,331, and the United States, 44,424, making a total of 144,618, as compared with 134,223 for 1928. The prospects are that the returns for 1930 will be greater than for the past year.

Doctors Ask For Grant.
Ottawa, Jan. 18.—Dr. Reddick, Montreal; Dr. Starr, Toronto, and Dr. Prevo, Ottawa, saw Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday and asked for a grant towards entertaining the British Medical Association, which meets this year in Toronto.

Sir Wilfrid promised earnest consideration. The deputation also saw the customs authorities with a view to securing free entrance of exhibits.

Going After Salvation Army.
Montreal, Jan. 18.—As a result of the conviction of Pierre Gauthier a short time ago for having disturbed a Salvation Army meeting, J. E. C. Espartero, who defended the accused, said Tuesday that he would take proceedings shortly to stop the Army from holding services on the streets, on the ground that such services constitute a public nuisance.

THE BOLD GUY CO. - WINNIPEG MAN.

A Brown Bear.
A large brown bear was seen by hunters in the vicinity of Mr. Sam Jamieson's, near Lindsay, last week. Several young pigs have disappeared from farmers throughout that district of late, so the mystery is now practically solved. The hunters tracked him to his retreat, where they found quite a meat store established under the roots of a partly upturned elm tree.

Rossini and Meyerbeer.
Rossini, walking one day on the boulevard with the musician Braga, was greeted by Meyerbeer, who anxiously inquired after the health of his dear Rossini. "Bad, very bad," answered the latter. "A headache, a side ache and a leg I can scarcely move." After a few moments' conversation Meyerbeer passed on, and Braga asked the great composer how it was he had suddenly become so unwell. Smilingly Rossini reassured his friend: "Oh, I couldn't be better. I only wanted to please Meyerbeer. He would be so glad to see me smash up."

CONTRACTED CHRONIC DIARRHOEA WHILE IN THE PHILIPPINES.
"While with the U. S. Army in the Philippines, I contracted chronic diarrhoea. I suffered severely from this terrible disease for over three years and tried the prescriptions of numerous physicians, but found nothing that did me any good until I tried Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, two small bottles of which entirely cured me and I have since had no return of the disease."—Herman Stein, 212 N. Union Ave., Pueblo, Colorado. For sale by all druggists.

A sensible answer is sometimes out of the question.

Between the ages of fifteen and forty-five the time when womanhood begins and motherhood ends, it is estimated that the aggregate term of woman's suffering is ten years. Ten years out of thirty! One-third of the best part of a woman's life sacrificed! Think of the enormous loss of time! But time is not all that is lost. Those years of suffering steal the bloom from the cheeks, the brightness from the eyes, the fairness from the form. They write their record in many a crease and wrinkle. What a boon then to woman, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It promotes perfect regularity, dries up debilitating drains, lessens absorption, cures female weakness and establishes the delicate womanly organs in vigorous and permanent health. No other medicine can do for woman what is done by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

WESTERN DAIRYMEN.

Some Cheese Factory Patrons Skim Milk or Water It.

Ingersoll, Jan. 18.—The early part of yesterday morning's proceedings in connection with the Western Dairymen's Convention was occupied with some interesting cheese scoring contests.

At the subsequent meeting, Chief Instructor George M. Barr presented his report on the work of instruction at cheese factories last year, and in this he complained of the objection on the part of cheese makers to instructors visiting the patrons. Such visits, however, he deemed as very desirable. He also expressed regret that larger numbers of patrons had either added water or taken off cream than in any previous year.

George A. Putnam, superintendent of Farmers' Institutes, took the farmers to task for not availing themselves of the advantages offered by the Government to obtain instructions.

Professors H. H. Dean and J. A. Rudick spoke on the subject of Canadian cheese in the British market, describing the classes of goods which were required in the old country.

First Use of Potatoes in Ireland.
In the garden adjoining his house at Youghal, Raleigh planted the first potatoes ever grown in Ireland. The vegetable was brought to him from the little colony which he endeavored to establish in Virginia. The colonists started in April, 1587, and Thomas Harriot, one of their number, wrote a description of the country in 1587. He describes a root which must have been the potato:

"Openank are a kind of roots of round form, some of the bigness of walnuts, some farre greater, which are found in moist & marshy grounds growing many together one by another in ropes, as though they were fastened with a string. Being boiled they are very good meat."

The Spaniards first brought potatoes to Europe, but Raleigh was undoubtedly the first to introduce the plant into Ireland.

TERRIBLE PAINS ACROSS BACK

SUFFERED EIGHT MONTHS WITH KIDNEY TROUBLE.

WOULD HAVE TO STAY IN BED FOR THREE DAYS AT A TIME

Doan's Kidney Pills

CURED HIM

Mr. Thomas Fitzgerald, Hazleton, Ont., writes us as follows: "I was a great sufferer from kidney trouble for eight months. I had terrible pains across the small of my back. I would have to stay in bed for three days at a time and could not do any work. I tried several remedies but of no avail, and also plasters but they were of no use."

One day a neighbor of mine advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I was so much discouraged I told him I was tired of trying remedies, but he urged me to try one box so I purchased one, and before I was through using it, I found a change for the better so I got five boxes more, and I have had no trouble with my kidneys since. I would not be without Doan's Pills in my house."

It is really not difficult to cure kidney trouble in its first stages. All you have to do is to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. They are a never-failing cure for all forms of kidney trouble. They quickly relieve the congested, overworked kidneys, and gradually bring them back to health.

Doan's Kidney Pills 50 cents per box at three boxes for $1.25, all dealers or Thos. Doan Kidney Pill Co., Toronto, Ont.

NOW GLASGOW SWINGS

Unseats Five Unionists in the Polling Thursday.

Bonar Law and Lord Advocate Dickson Among the Fallen—Six of Ex-Premier Balfour's Ministers Have Now Been Defeated—Summary of the Political Situation in Great Britain at Midnight.

London, Jan. 19.—The following is a summary of the political situation at midnight:

Total seats 670
 Conservatives 381
 Liberals elected 205
 Unionists 82
 Laborites 32
 Nationalists 62
 Seats the last House for same seats:
 Liberals 98
 Unionists 215
 Laborites 8
 Nationalists 62

Glasgow Swings Round.
 Glasgow's big change constitutes the feature of a section of the returns last night. In five of the seven seats Conservative candidates were defeated, one being the seat for the Conservative remaining seats are held by Conservatives described as free traders.

Bonar Law Among the Fallen.
 Glasgow's defeated candidates include A. Bonar Law, a Canadian and one of the prominent men of his party. He had been the seat for the Conservative in 1900 and was appointed in 1902 as Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade. This time he failed in a three-cornered fight, the result of which was: Barnes (Labor), 3,284; Law (Conservative), 2,974; Provand (Liberal), 2,056.

A Labor candidate also figured in the Camlachie division and polled 2,588. He is blamed for the defeat of the Liberal, who polled 2,871 compared with 2,119 votes for a Conservative free trader.

A Canadian Elected.
 Foster Boulton, the Liberal candidate who defeated Alwynn Fellowes, Unionist, and late President of the Board of Agriculture, in North Huntingdonshire, is an old Torontoian. For some years he has been a resident of the constituency. He has received many congratulatory telegrams on his success, after a hard struggle.

No less than six members of the Balfour Ministry have been unseated, namely, William St. John Brodrick, Secretary of State for India; A. Bonar Law, Ernest George Prentiss, Secretary to the Admiralty; Lord Stanbury, Postmaster-General; Alfred Lyttelton, Colonial Secretary, and Alwynn E. Fellowes, President of the Board of Agriculture. Henry Chaplin, who was President of the Local Government Board in the Salisbury Ministry, also among the defeated, who now include seven members of the late Cabinet.

The defeat of A. Bonar Law will be a serious loss to the tariff reformers, as he has been looked upon as one of the ablest advocates of Mr. Chamberlain's policy.

The following were returned yesterday unopposed:

Nationalists—Northeast Cork, Abraham; South Wexford, French; West Mayo, Ambrose; North Cork, Flynn; North Roscommon, O'Reilly; West Clare, Harkin.

Unionist—West Down, Liddell.

GRAND TRUNK WILL PAY HALF.

Most of Depressing Tracks in South Parkdale, Toronto.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—When the scheme for the depression of the tracks in South Parkdale was before the Council last year, Engineer Rust was asked to communicate with the Grand Trunk authorities and obtain from them a definite proposition.

He has it. Yesterday he received from Mr. C. M. Hays a letter stating that the Grand Trunk was prepared to bear half the cost if the city would pay half.

The estimate of the G. T. R. engineer submitted with the plans was $1,100,000.

The letter has been sent to the City Clerk, and will be brought before the new Level Crossings Committee at an early date.

Steamboat Man Dies.

Kingston, Jan. 19.—C. F. Gildersleeve, steamboat manager, died yesterday morning at 1 o'clock. He had been ill for two weeks. Mr. Gildersleeve was born here in 1833, studied for the law, but later succeeded his father and brother in steamboat activities, the company they originated being the oldest on the continent. His father aided in building the Frontenac, the first steamer off Lake Ontario. Deceased was from 1894 to 1904 the general manager of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Co. He was an ex-mayor, an Anglican and a Liberal. A wife and two children survive.

Suits For Overcrowding Cars.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Suits were filed by the City of Chicago yesterday in the circuit court against the Union Traction Co., for $1,500,000, and the Chicago City Railway Co., for $500,000, for alleged violations of the city ordinance. The actions are based solely on the overcrowding of cars in December. There are 15,000 cases against the Union Traction Co. and 5,000 cases against the City Railway Co.

Montcalm Runs On the Ice.

Quebec, Jan. 19.—After several hours of exciting experience with the ice just above the Chaudiere, the Government steamer Montcalm returned to Quebec early yesterday morning. The vessel had a trying time of it, but sustained no damage whatever. In running the ice just west of the Quebec bridge, the Montcalm ran up on the ice, so strong was it, that it carried her full weight.

A POINTED ADDRESS.

"God's Blockade on the Road to Hell," Subject Handled by Dr. Torrey—2,000 Excursionists.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—Commencing next Monday, Dr. Torrey will address two meetings each evening at Massey Hall. Outside throngs filled Massey Hall to overflowing at two meetings yesterday. Excursionists were run from London, Barrie, Guelph, Trenton and Woodstock. Fully 2,000 came by special train.

At the afternoon service the subject was "The Influence of the Holy Spirit." The evangelist went into the great joy and richness and experience that was imparted to those who had the Spirit springing up in them like a well of water unto everlasting life.

"God's Blockade on the Road to Hell" was the subject of a very pointed address in the evening.

God placed many influences in man's way to draw him out of the wrong path. The Bible was perhaps the greatest of these. Mother's influence and teaching, and mother's prayers had brought back many a wanderer from the fold. Sermons had also a great influence in showing men their lost estate, and teaching them the way eternal.

Prudential circumstances could be cited on every hand where men would have been plunged to hell had not some slight happening interfered and brought them to themselves.

Kindly words and actions on the part of Christian people would redeem thousands of wrecked lives.

Forty persons came to the front in response to the doctor's invitation.

To thine own self be true, and it must follow as the night the day, thou canst not then be false to any man.

A man must become wise at his own expense.

18 MEN ENTOMBED.

Explosion in a West Virginia Coal Mine—Tons of Wreckage Hurled From Mouth of the Mine.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 19.—Eighteen men are said to have been killed by a terrific explosion in one of the mines of the Detroit & Kanawha Coal Co. at Detroit, on Paint Creek, this county, twenty-five miles from here.

That more men were not in the mine at the time of the explosion was due to the fact that almost all of the day men were eating their dinners on the outside. The explosion occurred at 12.30.

Had it been either before or after the noon hour hundreds of men would have been killed. The force of the explosion was so great that the hills trembled. Tons of wreckage and debris were hurled from the mouth of the mine, blocking the entrance and making the work of rescue difficult.

The first rescue party, consisting of fifteen men, entered the mine at 5.30 o'clock. The first body reached was that of G. P. Neal, which was discovered 150 yards from the entrance.

Mothers, wives, children and friends of the entombed miners are crowded about the mouth of the pit, declaring they will not leave until they know the fate of the unfortunate men. The explosion is believed to have been caused by a blast igniting the dust which has accumulated in the mine.

Niagara Falls, Jan. 19.—While a number of men were at work on an elevated road at the transformation station of the Toronto & Niagara Power Co., George Steele fell through the scaffolding 35 feet to the concrete floor below, and had his head so badly crushed that the physicians have no hope of his recovery.

Belated News of Accident.

Winnipeg, Jan. 19.—Word has just been received here by courier that several men were badly injured by an explosion of an old cannon at the Hudson Bay fort on Cumberland Lake during the firing of a salute on New Year's Day.

CAUGHT FIRE

The Lake Erie Coal Company are having their full share of trouble. Some time ago one of the large piles of slack coal at the company's docks at Erieau was discovered to be on fire.

A large amount of the coal has been destroyed. Last week another pile, located some distance from the first one, was discovered to be on fire, and will cause another big loss to the company. Spontaneous combustion was the cause of the fire in both instances.

The lot that was not for sale the last time you inquired about it may be advertised to-day.

A wise man doesn't wait for opportunity to come along, he goes after it.

Sniff of Burned Ballots.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—There was a reminiscent odor of burnt ballots around the Parliament buildings yesterday, for the Attorney-General's Department received a cheque from St. Thomas for $1,960, which was the net amount coming to the Crown on the ball bonds granted for the release of Duncan Rolfe, who personated and operated as R. B. Stafford, returning officer, in a West Elgin polling division where eighty-four votes were proven to have been given the Conservative candidate, while in the returns he was credited with but forty-two. The ballot boxes and contents were accidentally burned.

Quebec Legislature Opens.

Quebec, Jan. 19.—The Quebec Legislature was opened yesterday by Lieutenant Governor Jettie, with the usual ceremonies. In the speech from the throne regret was expressed that the question of increased subsidies for the provinces had not been settled. Advanced legislation was promised to benefit poor school municipalities and establish Normal schools.

Building Trades For Peace.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—The first move of the Building Trades Unions in 1906 was for peace. The Steam Fitters Wednesday joined their employers in arranging a friendly basis of wages and conditions during three years.
