No. 1032.

Some time ago during the "long ago," a certain old lady, yelept Mother Shipton, gave to the world a whole easts that of predictions that in those days seemed utterly impossible of ultimate accomplishment. Among the foredvice that were suppressed as being decidedly too utterly too too, as the story goes, was one relating to a light-giving did results should gladden the hearts of all who came into possession of it. The simplicity, economy, and the splendid results to be obtained from this invention clearly show that the old lady had in her mind nothing else but the littaburgh Lamp; there is no other like it. #### Dublishers' department.

The offers we made last week are still continued, and we have added two others which will prove acceptable.

From now until further notice every one who sends in two dollars for Grav for one year in advance, whether new or old subscribers, will receive "Grip" one year and the "Farm Journal" one year, $2.50 for $2.00.

"Grip" one year and "Woman's Work" one year, 82.50 for 82.00.

"Grip" one year and the Excelsior Webster Pocket Speller and Definer, $2.50 for $2.00.

"Grip" one year and a Revolving Planisphere, $2.50 for $2.00.

For $2.50, "Grip" one year and the "Home-Maker" Magazine, $4.00 for $2.50.

Below we give fuller particulars as to these offers.

The Farm Journal. Every farmer, gardener, stock breeder, orchardist, dairyman, poultryman, their wives, and even the boys and girls will find Farm Journal crowded full of helpful information. It aims to be practical rather than theoretical, to be brief and to the point, in fact, to be cream, not skim milk. It is adapted to all parts of the country, North, South, East and West. If you are not acquainted with it, send a postal card to Farm Journal, Philadelphia, Pa., for a sample copy. It has already more subscribers than any other monthly agricultural paper in America.

Woman's Work. A literary and domestic magnzine—deservedly one of the most popular published. It is pure, entertaining and helpful in every department. Its pages are filled with high-class original reading matter and illustrations suited to all ages; it is published to satisfy the great need for good home literature, and no other periodical meets it so well.

The Home Maker. A handsome 200 page illustrated magazine edited by Mrs. Croly (Jenny June.) The Home.Maker is, without doubt, in quality and quantity of reading matter, the lowest-priced magazine published. It is a wonder at $2.00 a year, the subscription price, and as it only costs our subscribers 50c. we feel sure they will appreciate this offer and take advantage of it in large numbers.

THE GRIP PRINTING & PUBLISHING CO., 201-203 YONGE ST., TORONTO.

ALTON McCARTHY'S assault on the N. P. has not appreciably shaken the administration, as only three Conservatives, himself included, supported his resolution. The vote in the House, however, is no criterion of the feeling in the country, owing to the wellknown disposition of members to stick to the dispensers of patronage through thick and thin. If Mr. McCarthy wishes to accomplish anything he must burn his boats behind him, cut completely loose from Toryism and appeal to the electors. The N.P. could not survive a vigorous campaign under his leadership. But if he aspires to make his brilliant talents useful to the country he will have to broaden his opinions on other questions than the tariff and the provincial Home Rule.

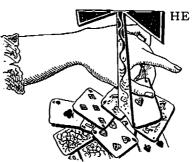

is rather a reproach to Canadian literature that none of our aspirants to poetic fame have yet succeeded in inventing a native Canadian dialect. The begosh school of liter ature has made the reputations of dozens of American writers who couldn't carn their salt by writing ordinary English.

THE resumption of the office of Minister of Justice by M. Bourgeois gives additional point to the assertion of the Socialists that France is merely a bourgeois republic.

IF the Ottawa authorities will see that the next census is taken the day following a heavy snow storm they can make a still better showing of fifteen-cent industries, as many thousands of the unemployed will then have a temporary job.

THE Toronto School Board is rapidly degenerating. If the trustees don't mend their manners they will pretty soon be degraded to the aldermanic level, and become a byword and a reproach, without the compensating advantage of being able to steal the public funds—except to a very limited extent.

HE intimation of Mr.
Foster that the treaty negotiated between France and Canada by Sir Charles Tupper is not acceptable in its present shape, has caused some indignation in British official circles, and is of course warmly resented by the Lord

High Commissioner. Mr. Foster's position is a sound one, and should be upheld by all self-respecting Canadians. If our right to have a voice in the making of our own treaties is anything but a farce and a matter of form, it implies that it is the duty of Parliament to consider such proposals in detail, and reject them if manifestly prejudicial to our interests. The French treaty is altogether onesided, the articles upon which a reduction is made in our favor being mainly those in which our trade is infinitesimal, or non-existent, while the French get the advantage of lower duties on their wines and other produce for which there is a large market here. Commissioner Tupper, in short, has lamentably failed to secure Canada any tangible advantages in return for concessions putting France on the "most favored nation" basis, so that in the event of reciprocity with the U.S. she could claim vastly more important benefits than those appearing on the face of the treaty. Evidently the qualities which go to make a rough and ready stump orator do not necessarily fit their possessor to shine as a diplomat.

IN BAD FORM.

SHE—"O, John, dear, I saw the loveliest bonnet to-day in a shop window and—"
HE—"Now, darling, remember we have passed a rule that we mustn't talk shop in the house."

IN a recent interview Sir Charles Tupper gave a clue to his motives in framing the treaty by asserting that "in view of the French presidency of the Behring sea tribunal it was of the utmost importance to maintain the entente cordiale with France." In other words, he regards the concessions to France as in the nature of a bribe to influence a favorable award in the Behring sea case. This makes the matter worse, showing that our plenipotentiary regards questions of diplomacy from the standpoint of a successful boodler, accustomed to regard a bribe as an all-prevailing argument. European diplomatists may not always be honest, but they have at least enough tact and discretion not to give themselves away in this fashion.

AN ARTHURIAN EPIGRAM.

W E read in old Arthurian fable
About the Knights of the Round Table,
And Lancelot's conduct to his chief,
Which caused King Arthur so much grief.
The Table Round, as all must feel,
Had better far been a square deal.

A HANDSOME SOUVENIR.

GRIP has received a souvenir volume, entitled, "The Brown Palace Hotel," from Messrs. Bush & Tabor, proprietors of that famous hostelry, of Denver, Col. It is a unique and elaborately got up book, containing a number of handsome illustrations, giving an idea of the sumptuousness and elegance of the Brown Palace.

PROF. GOLDWIN SMITH—" Pshaw! do they think to frighten me with a scarecrow like that. Why should I fear to go on seeing I have such good company as Oliver Mowat who goes with me as far as Independence."

A LECTURER'S SERIOUS MISTAKE.

The meetings which have been held by Hon. Winifriede Sugden have been largely attended. On Saturday, at 4.30 p.m., she will address senior women only, also in St. James' school-house. - Globe.

OII, Mrs. Sudgen, much I fear That you'll be rather lonely, No other female will come near When on the platform you appear For "senior women only."

Dear lady, don't you really know
That it is most uncommon
To find a woman who would go,
Even though her hair were white as snow,
If classed as "senior woman."

Now, if you want to make a hit, And gather funds in plenty, Reverse your policy a bit, And advertise you won't admit A woman over twenty.

"THAT IS THE VERY ECSTACY OF LOVE."

ETHEL-"Is he much in love with you, do you think?"

MAUD—"Quite a bit. He has been in the ice-cream, sweets, and oyster stage for some time; but he has not hed the ring stage yet."

A CHICAGO COURT-SHIP

TWAS eventide. Far. far below twinkled the distant lights of the great city, while a confused murmur of the noises of traffic was borne upon the twilight breeze laden with the aroma of the stock-yards, for which the emporium of the West is so justly famous. In a spacious and elegantly upholstered apartment on the thirty-seventh flat of a building whose summit was lost amid the clouds, sat a beautiful woman of some thirty-two summers, be the same more or less, whose ample pedal extremities denoted the purity of her extraction. Beside her, and gazing fondly into her limpid lustrous orbs, reclined a youth whose whole being seemed absorbed by the subtle and magnetic personality of his companion.

"And Charles dear," she said in low tremulous tone, "Are you sure that you love me?"

"Sure Arabella! Have I not known you for fully a month. Have I not for the past ten days been your devoted clave? Oh, Arabella, can my faith, my constancy, ich finds expression in every

the never-dying affection which finds expression in every throb of a heart which beats but for thee alone?"

"Nay, Charles, I was wrong to imply a doubt of your affection, proven as it has been by opera tickets and

SELF-MADE.

MISS MEENLY—"He says that you have robbed him of his heart and made him miserable."

MISS MADEUPPE—"Well, I can't help it if the Lord has made me beautiful."

MISS MEENLY-"O, don't blame the Lord for your own work."

drives. Money talks. But are you sure that you love me better than any one else?"

A temporary shadow chased itself athwart his massive brow.

"Yes," he replied in calm, firm tones, "better than anyone else—with the possible exception of Mrs. Weedlesnick whose sordid and tyrannical husband has taken her to Paris for a year—it will take her some time after they return to get a divorce, so that need prove no bar to our happiness."

"Oh, no!" replied Arabella

"Oh, no!" replied Arabella re-assured, "for I love you fondly, truly, and with my heart's warmest devotion, compared with which my fourth husband from whom I secured a divorce last month, wasn't in it with you."

"And Fred Singleton, how about him?" asked the young man, as a flush of smothered resentment over-spread his features.

Arabella paled for a second and her frame quivered with the intensity of her emotions.

"Speak not of him," she replied. "But yesterday and I would have given the world to have called him mine—but since he became bankrupt, owing to a fall in pork, I have plucked his unworthy image from my bosom—Charles, I am yours alone."

"I would sooner have you a gift than a loan," he rejoined, twining his manly arms around her palpitating form. "Now I know that you are indeed mine."

"Yes, Charles, to-morrow shall seal our union and we will love each other so long as the world—I mean the World's Fair—shall endure, and when the chilly breeze of autumn sweeps the land we will secure a divorce and live happy ever afterwards."

We will dearest, we will."

And the gloaming deepened into darkness as in loving converse they laid their hopeful, joyous plans for the halcyon future.

GIVE LIVE MEN A CHANCE.

BRAVO! Sir Oliver, your plan is good,
Strike off the Voters' Lists the dead men's names,
And when 'tis done, Sir, don't you think you should Pay some attention to live voters' claims?

The present method's awkward and unfair,
And must be changed, on this we shall insist;
Complete your work, a simpler plan prepare
For placing live men's names upon the list.

JAGSTER—"Thish is blish (hic) to clasp round the waist sush cold 'n' haughty damsel (hic). Don' shtand there boy, don' you shee you embarrass young lady."

G. C.

NASPERATED TENANT—
"See here, unless you put the place in some sort of decent condition I'll not stop here another month."

TYPICAL LANDLORD — "Well, what's wrong now?"

TENANT—" The bath leaks so we can't use it, and the cellar is flooded a foot deep."

HER PERIL.

CANADA-"I'm in a nasty six myself, but I don't think I'm quite as badly off as she."

A DIRTY CITY.

JOHN (just returned from his visit to the city)—"Thet Toronto is the dirtiest town I wuz ever in. Jest look at that collar, an' I only wore it a week!"

QUITE BEYOND HIS ABILITY.

ETHEL—"I fancy there was a double meaning in what Cholly said to me."

MAUD—" Nonsense! Cholly very seldom manages to get one meaning into what he says."

AN IRISH REMEDY.

HE—"Now, supposing you had a little boy that was getting too large to sleep with his parents, what would you do with him?"

SHE—"I don't know—what?"

HE-"Why, boycott him, of course."

OUR IGNORANT ANCESTORS.

JOHN HAMPDEN, Pym, and many thousands more Believed that taxes surely made them poor, Nor knew they then, not even Pym, or John, 'Tis not the tax, but how it is put on. They lacked the knowledge of our statesmen which By heavy taxes makes a people rich. Had but to them been known these simple facts, How changed their lots! how different their acts! There would have been no civil war, I guess, History had had a bloodstained page the less. They'd paid their taxes and grown rich instead, And Pym his ears had kept, the king his head.

TOMMY—"Why, when the teacher calls the names I holler 'present' louder than any of the boys, and I've never got any yet."

A REASONABLE EXPLANATION.

BICKERSTAFF—"What do they mean by a bal

PLUGWINCH—"'Poudre' is French for powder, I believe."

BICKERSTAFF—"Yes, but what has that to do with a ball?"

Plugwinch—" Well, it takes powder to make a ball go."

TOUGH LUCK.

ACK—"I am in tough luck just now."
Tom.—"How?"

JACK—"I am in love with Clara, and the engagement ring I always give is in pawn, and I haven't enough cash on hand to redeem it."

THE TROUSERS THAT MY MOTHER USED TO MAKE.

OUR DEAR ONES.

SHE-"George, darling, am I just as dear to you now as when you first married me."

HE-"Dear! Great Scott, yes, and a darned sight dearer. Why, I spend over $80 a year on you for hats alone."

PRESERVING HIS SOCIAL STATUS.

"Ef 'Rastus Johnsing had insulted me like-a-dat I'd cut him nex' time I saw him on de street."

" oh bet yoh neck! Dat's whad I'm gittin sharp fer."

KNEW HUMAN NATURE.

"THOU hast learned much," I said unto a sage, And in thy mind I'm sure that wisdom rules. "Humph!" he replied, "I fear I can but say I've learned to be a connoisseur in fools."

PAPA'S MEAN THRUST.

JOHNNY—"Mamma, we'll be late for church."
PAPA—"Hush, Johnny. Mamma has on a new bonnet to-day."

A HAIR-BREADTH ESCAPE.

CAYUSE DICK—"Did you hear of the narrow escape

Lariat Bill had yesterday?"

Винсом Вов-" No."

CAYUSE DICK—"He fell over a precipice, but when he was half way down he lassoed a boulder and saved himself."

MIRABILE DICTU.

ER waist is one arm's length around,
She hardly weighs one hundred pounds;
She is not half as tall as I
And yet above me—as the sky—
To me her counsels have a weight
That put all sages out of date,
And yet although divine she be
Her love is lavished all on me.

HIS DEBTS.

GLADYS-"I hope, dearest, that you will never contract any debts."

JACK-" Never ! "

GLADYS-"George, are you sure?"

JACK -" Positive! I always expand my debts."

NO REFERENCE TO SIR JOHN.

WHEN great men die, successors rise, But oft it happens that Although they fill the great ones shoes, They can not fill his hat.

THE DIFFERENCE.

M. SCRIPT—"How did you like my novel, old

FRIEND (frankly) — "I thought it started out rather dry."

M. SCRIPT-"So does all of Dickens' stuff."

FRIEND—" Yes, but yours continues so throughout the piece."

ONLY A BLUFF.

SHE-"A penny for your thoughts."

HE-" I take the offer."

SHE-" Dear me. And I haven't got a penny ?

HE-"Well, why did you make the offer?"

SHE-" Because I felt sure you wouldn't have a thought."

ON SHERBOURNE STREET.

A T early morn my slumbers break,
Dreams take fast flight and I awake
From sleep so sweet;
A noisy, banging "cling, clang, cling,"
As bells of ponderous motors ring
On Sherbourne Street.

At nine o'clock I hurry down
My garden path en route for town,
And gladly greet
The welcome noise I hear afar
Of the fast-flying motor car
On Sherbourne Street.

At twelve o'clock no need to munch A resurrection-restaurant lunch, While motors fleet Can pick one up and place one soon To get a cheaper feed at noon On Sherbourne Street.

At six o'clock, when work is done,
To catch the car I swiftly run,
And keep my seat,
Tho' lady fair, or damsel fine,
May have to stand, for hogs must dine
On Sherbourne Street.

A STRANGE COINCIDENCE.

CHESTERFIELD STUCKUP—"I noticed that you turned to look behind you when that boy whistled a moment ago. Surely you did not think he was whistling for you?"

BRUMELL McAllister—"Of course not. I only turned to see what you were looking at."

CHESTERFIELD STUCKUP—"Why, that is just what I turned for."

BOTH (together) -" What a strange coincidence!"

A QUESTION AND ANSWER.

"WHEN joyous spring is in the air,"
The poet asked, "who can despair?"
The wind bore Echo's answer back,

"The man that doth a spring suit lack."

LARGE INDUCEMENTS NECESSARY.

ETHEL—"Clara seems to want the earth."
MAUD—"She does. I suppose she thinks if she can get it she will then be able to get a husband."

Tario.

MRS. SUBURRAN—"Do you raise your own vegetables?"

Mrs. Howson Lott-"We can only afford to pay the rent of the cottage and grounds this year; but next year we shall be well enough off to be able to raise a few tomatoes and such things."

THE STORY OF A NOVEL.

MR. HOWELLS' latest novel, "The Coast of Bohemia," now running through the pages of The Ladies' Home Journal, was written in four different States. Mr. Howells began the novel at his father's home in Ohio last May; continued it in Boston in June; took it to the mountains of New Hampshire during the sum-mer and worked on it; brought it to New York and wrote a number of chapters there in October; took it back again to Ohio in November, and finally finished it in New York last December. And yet, despite all these changes of places of writing, the novel turns out really to be the brightest piece of work that Howells has done for a long time.

CRUMMER-"There is one marked differ-

Bond-Holders and Bread-Winners.

By S. S. King, Esq. A startling picture of political crimes committed in the name of Liberty. Facts and figures from the Eleventh Census, with maps and illustrations. Massachusetts enabled to accumulate more wealth than nine great Western and Southern States. Pennsylvania more than twelve. New York more than fifteen. Agriculture and labor robbed. Price, 25 cents, sent postpaid.

Is This your Son, My Lord?

A Powerful Realistic Romance. By Helen Gardener, author of "A Thoughtless Yes," "Men. Women, and Gods," Etc. This is probably the most fearliess and terrible expose of conventional immorality and hypocrisy ever written. 25,000 copies sold in ten months. It is a book for teachers of youth. A fine portrait of the author forms a frontispiece. Price, paper 50 cents; cloth

Who Lies?

An Interrogation, By Prof. EMIL BLUM and SIGMUND ALEXANDER. This is one of the boldest, most radical, and realistic works of the decade. It is as unconventional as it is unique, and will unquestionably call forth hostile criticisms in quarters where its shafts enter. In religion and ethics it is radical. In politics, strongly socialistic. In literature it is extremely realistic. In general, bold, frank, and truthful. Price, paper recently. so cents.

Jason Edwards.

An Average Man. By Hamlin Garland, author of "A Spoil of Office," "Main-Travelled Roads," Etc. This powerful story depicts with startling fidelity the real life of the artisan and farmer today; a terrible picture of the unequal struggle of the poor for bread and roof. This story is rich in sunshine and shadows. Price, cloth St.00; paper

Main-Travelled Roads.

Six Mississippi Valley Stories. By Hamlin Garland, author of "Jason Edwards," Etc. These stories give the most vivid pictures of Western life among the farmers ever written. Mr. Garland has been justly termed the Ibsen of America. Price, paper 50 cents : cloth, $1.00.

The Irresistible Conflict between Two World Theories.

By Rev. Minor J. Savage. This work, which was suggested by Dr. Lyman Abbott's recent lectures on the "Evolution of Christianity," is unquestionably the most powerful presentation of the views held by evolutionary thinkers in the religious world that has ever appeared. Price postpaid, paper 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

Burdett's New Comic Recitations

and humorous readings, compiled by the celebrated humorist, James S. Burdett. In addition to the new and original pieces here contained, this book has the advantage of bringing together into one volume all of the very best selections of a comic nature which have hitherto attained a wide popularity through the public representations of the most renowned humorists of the day. It is the newest, handsomest and choicest of its kind.

The lessons in elocution are particularly well adapted for children of the primary classes, and include exercises in breathing, voice development, and distinct articulation. They are suitable for home practice as well as school, and every child should be thoroughly and systematically trained in them.

Sir Morell Mackenzie in "The Hygiene of the Speaking Voice" says: "As to commencing the education of speaking (which, of course, includes the reading) voice, it can hardly be begun too soon." This book aims to aid the teacher in making this heginning.

TO LEARN BOOK-KEEPING

When you can Learn it AT HOME Within 100 Hours' Study, Without the Aid of a Teacher

From Goodwin's Improved Book-keeping and Business Manual—Guaranteed

"I learned the science of book-keeping from your work in less than three weeks, and am now keeping three different sets of books. What I learned from your work in so short a time cost a friend of mine $600 and over a year's time."—Thomas Tantish, Skowhegan, Me., March 29, 1890.
"You illustrate what I never saw in any other work of the kind—practical book-keeping."—E. H. Wilder, book-keeper for Pratt & Inman, Iron and Steel, Worcester, Mass.
"Worth $500.00!"—N. Tomney, book-keeper for Graham, Horne & Co., Vermillion Bay, Ont.
"Without the aid of a teacher, I studied your book just eight weeks, sent my work to you for examination, and succeeded in obtaining your 'audit.' I then came to this city, without ever having seen the inside of a set of books, and immediately took control of a set of double-entry books for this firm, whose receipts during 1890 were about $1,500,000. I am now the firm's chief accountant and have five direct assistant book-keepers under me. It is said—and I do not think exaggerated—that I have the largest set of books in Indianapolis. The above surely stand as self-evident facts that the channel of success was opened to me through the medium of your book."—WM. O. Shirkey, head book-keeper for the Parry Manufacturing Co., Road Carts and Road Wagons, Indianapolis, Ind., February 23, 1891.
