LETTER NO. III.

MONCTON, N. B., May 1, 1878. REV. JOHN BROWN, Baptist Minister: Dear Sir and Brother,-IV. LEXICOGRAPHICAL TESTIMONEY.

The testimony of the Greek lexicons is important. We should remember however, that such testimony is human, and, therefore, not infallible. You are no doubt aware that some lexicons are designed to explain classic Greek, where baptizo is used in the sense of overwhelming with debts, taxes and burdens; and intoxicating, drowning sinking ships, inundating, etc.—that is, it is used in the sense of abusing, aspersing, pouring abuse upon people; but in the Scriptures it is never so used. In classic Greek it was never used in any religious or ceremonial sense.

Some lexicons, on the other hand, were written solely to define New Testament Greek. These vary according to the taste or purpose of the lexicographer. In these lexicons New Testament words are, at most learned, critical and scientific Greek taste for "dogmatism.' But, so far as I times, explained from New Testament lexicon ever published. The edition of am concerned, it is quite satisfactory. right. We must suppose that this Comstandpoints, and at other times from the 1841 is in three volumes of nearly two You don't give any authorities that prove mittee were vested with ecclesiastical, and classic standpoint, and, hence, these lexicons are more or less mixed, and perplexing, and misleading.

The point upon which you appear to desire information is, not whether baptizo, in classic Greek, means sometimes "to immerse," which of course, it does; but whether the lexicons give sprinkle, or pour, among their significations of that word. Let me give you the testimony of some of the best Greek lexicons, so far as they indicate that baptizo may be correctly rendered either "to sprinkle" or to "pour upon." Please allow me, also, to refer you to the Southern Baptist Publishing Society Report of the "Great Carrolton Debate," 1876, pages 27-31, where this topic is discussed, and whence I am drawing largely for materials for these letters. First of all, I will give you four authorities, who did not write lexicons, but who spoke from the standpoint of lexicography, defining, and rendering the word in question. They are earlier than any lexicons we have that defines baptizo-Hesychius and Suidas, who belonged to the fourth and tenth centuries, only defined partially the root bapto.

1. Tertullian, who wrote in the year 190, defines baptizo "to sprinkle," (per-extant. They have, however, been mutilated, in some of their editions, so far as the word baptizo is concerned. Some editions, or parts of editions of these lexicons, do not meanings of baptizo, while other editions, or parts of editions do. It is very easy, is aspersion. therefore, for some controversialists to affirm that certain great lexicographers give only to dip, or only to plunge, or only to immerse, as the meaning of baptizo. I will quote from the unmutilated editions.

26. Stokius—who holds a very high rank among lexicographers, gives among other meanings, " wash, wet, besprinkle;" he says: "The washing or cleansing can be, and generally is accomplished by sprinkling the water, Mark vii. 4-Luke xi. 38. Hence, it is transferred to the sacrament of baptism."

27. Sch'eusner says: "(1) To immerse in water; to plunge into water, from bapto. But in this sense it never occurs in the New Testament, but frequently it does in Greek (classic) writers. (2.) to wash, or sprinkle, or cleanse with water.....Not only to wash, but to wash one's self, can be proved by many passages. Hence it is upon, etc. 29. Frederic Passow, who died in 1833. devoted his life to the preparation of his great lexicon. It is admitted by German, English and American scholars to be the thousand pages each, double columns and what you say about the dipping business fine print. The popular German lexicon of Drs. Rost and Palm is a successor to that of Passow. Liddell and Scott's lexicon is chiefly a reprint and abridgement of Passow's. Passow says "Baptizo, from bapto, oft and repeatedly to im_ merse (one immersion is not baptism,).... to moisten, to wet, to sprinkle.....generally to besprinkle, to pour upon, to overwhelm, to burden with taxes, debts, etc.

baptized; to bathe. to wash." Now brother Brown, in the presence of such testimony as these twenty-nine witnesses, bearing upon the question under onsideration, do you not see how absurd it is to say, as your leading writers often do: All the lexicons teach what the Baptists teach." "All the great and learned men, of all the ages, believe just what the Baptists believe about the word baptizo." " All the scholars OF NOTE in Europe, Asia, Africa, and America, and all the rest of the world, have admitted again, and again and again, and always must admit that babtizo never had, and never can have but one meaning, and that meaning is either plunge, or immerse, or dip ?" (See Cramp, Cox. Conant and yourself.)

V. PRIMARY MEANING OF BAPTIZO.

Will you allow me, brother Brown to remind you that immersionist writers get strangely confused and mixed sometimes with regard to the primary meaning of baptizo. Some of them affirm that its primary meaning is to immerse. You need not search far nor long, if you will adopt proper methods, to discover how greatly your people are in error upon that point. If you will carefully examine the authorities you will ascertain that the following statements are correct :-

1. No lexicon gives immerse, or dip, as meaning of baptizo, in Greek, earlier than Polybius, B. C. 165; next comes Diodorus Siculus, B. C. 66 to 32; next Strabe, B. C. 54 to A. D. 54; and still later Josephus and Plutarch. 2. Though baptizo, in later classic Greek, means to immerse, it is a derived, a late, remote, and rare meaning.

3. The laws of language, and the science of language, show that to sprinkle is the primary classic meaning of the word baptizo. 4. The lexicons show that immerse is the latest of all the meanings of baptizo. 5. No Greek writer used baptize in the sense of immerse in the earlier ages of and pour-not one of them dip-not one 25. Gazes—native Greek scholar, "shed of them immerse. Pindar, born B. C. 522, Aristophanes, B. C. 450, Alcibiades, The remaining Greek lexicons, from B. C. 400, Demosthenes, B. C. 835, use it which we will quote, are among the best for asperse, and pour abuse upon the people. Plato, born B. C. 429, uses it three times to intoxicate, and once to confound with questions. Aristotle, so far as I can discover, was the first to use baptizo in give "to sprinkle," or "to pour upon," as literal sense, and he uses in the sense of " to overflow," whose primary meaning

> 7. Aristotle used baptizo in the sense of "overflow," two hundred years before Polybius. Hence, baptizo meant overflow two hundred years before it meant immerse. Immerse therefore was not the primary meaning of baptiso.

> 8. Plato used the word baptizo in the sense of "ovewhelm," nearly two centuries and a half before baptizo was used in the sense of immerse. According to Plato. baptizing meant applying the element to the object—the element coming upon it.

Let me refer you, for additional information on this topic, to two Baptist sources which you may appreciate

1. You will find in the Halifax Christian Messenger, of May 31, 1876, as article by J. Brown," which I assume was written by yourself, wherein you say: "P. does not like my dogmatism. That I can not transferred to the solemn rite of baptism." | help, but I can assure him that baptize 28. Liddell and Scott-" to wet, to pour | means to dip, only to dip, and nothing but to dip, and can never be made to mean anything else." I don't know what effect this quotation had upon "P." He may not have liked it. He may have been unreasonable. He way not have had any So much the better for that. I never other hand, the easy and confident manner with which you "assure him" the dip. ping matter is all right, is really fine. There is a clever ring about that way of putting it. The dipping theory, probably was never more satisfactorily proved than you have proved it. Who would ask for anything better than this: "I can assure him that baptize means to dip, only to dip, and nothing but to dip, and never can be made to mean anything else ?"

2. The other Baptist source of informa tion to which I desire to refer you is brother Ingham. Mark how he, with Conant, Carson, Campbell, Cox, Cramp and other immersionist lights before him. renders baptizo! He gives one hundred and sixty nine quotations in his book from Greek authors, with baptizo, in some form or other, in each, and he renders it fifty times "overwhelm" and only once dip." Once only "dip," out of one hundred and sixty-nine times! And he-Ingham, a Baptist minister! What is the matter with Ingham! Who is right, Brother Brown, Ingham or yourself? What are we to infer, when your doctors so disagree, on definitions. and on radical and fundamental principles? Does baptizo always signify dip? Does baptizo always signify immerse, as some Baptists affirm? Does baptizo always signify plunge, as other Baptists affirm? There must be something wrong, brother, when the authorities of your church are so contradictory. The truth is always consistent with itself. Where is the difficulty? Has it never occurred to you that your creed needs revision, and correction, much more than our good old Bible does, and much more than our valuable Greek lexicons do?

I am, dear brother, Yours truly, D. D. CURRIE.

THE MIRIMACHI PRESBYTERY REPLIED TO BY REV. H. McKEOWN.

A copy of the Mirimachi Advance has eached us, with the following letter in its correspondence co'umns. It would seem from its tenor that the subject has been in agitation in the local prints for some time, though this is the first article bearing upon it which has come to our notice. Two things are here maintained by Mr. McKeown-that the

Yet we observe by the proceedings of the Presbytery, elsewhere published, that the Report maintaining those serious charges was adopted by the Presbytery of Mirimachi.

ESCUMINAC CHURCH.

MR. EDITOR:—Communications on this subject have occupied your columns for some time past, censuring the good people of Escuminac with collecting moneys under false pretences, and the Methodist church with fraud. These anonymous writers were fully and manfully refuted by the Trustees of the said Church over their own names. I then thought the matter was at an end, as one of these writers professed to write for the information of the Presbytery; especially, as I never dreamed that this ecclesiastical body arrogated to itself the exclusive right to occupy this region of country, and sit in judgment on the religious faith and actions of others.

I have carefully watched the spirit and actions of the few, who have with a zeal worthy of a nobler cause, endeavoured to disturb the peace of a community, arouse the spirit of persecution, and charge a Christian Church with dishonesty. But to my surprise, your last issue contained a report of a Committee who profess to have investigated the whole affair. This official act makes my duty plain, and, however reluctantly I enter the field of religious strife, duty calls me to the aid of injured innocents. God will defend the of the duty assigned them, as they have knew any one else that did. And, on the given their report to the public. From their report we find that the Methodist Conference, and the Trustees of the Escuminac Church were on trial for their past offences. Here are two distinct charges; one against the Conference of the Methodist Church, the other against the actions of the Trustees of Escuminac Church Now, if the spirit of christianity or even fair play, had actuated this Committee in their investigation of the acts of the Conference, they should have, to say at least, requested the Chairman of the District in which the offence was committed to be present, and answer to the wrong doings of which the Conference had been guilty. The burden of the offence, and that in which all the following evils are found is contained in the first section of the report as follows:-

"After careful and extensive enquiry your Committee find"-that the Methodist Conference had sent a preacher to that section of the country before the District meeting had been petitioned to do so.

In defence of this charge against the Conference I have to say, that if the Committee had made themselves as well acquainted with the records of the District meeting of which they write, as they profess to be with the County records, they would have seen that for two years previous to the appointment of which they complain, a young man was asked for in this part of our work. In possession of this information the Committee would not have been driven to such extremities in their attempt to establish what they hoped was a fact, which had no foundation in truth. The first fact with which this Committee would corroborate their statements and condemn the action of the Conference in their appointment of a young man to labour in this section of country, is certainly conclusive in making manifest the spirit of the Committee and nothing more. Must not the readers of that report be amused, to say the least, when they learn that the Methodist Conference of New Brunswick was arraigned before the Miramichi Presbytery for appointing one of their ministers to a certain field of labour. However the heart might be under the influence of a narrow theology. and a sectarian bigotry. I was not prepared in this age of intelligence to see such statements made by any persons, more especially Christian ministers. To save the Presbytery of Mirimachi from again putting themselves in such an unenviable position before the country, as to call in question the action or authority of the mittee, the commission under which the Methodist Church is enrolled, Mark 16 chapt., 15 v. "Go ye into all the world. and preach the gospel, &c."

As to the charge against the Trustees of the Escuminac Church, they are quite able to answer for themselves, which they have done to the satisfaction of all who are not under the power of sectarian bigotry.

The committee would make their report to resemble the scorpion that has its sting in its tail, when it states that these Lay preachers administered the ordinance of " Case's Bible Atlas. Price, $1. Eepecially prepared to accompany the lessons. The maps are engraved on copper and printed in colours by the Messrs. W. & A. K. Johnston, Edinburg, Scotland, the best map makers in the world. Size, quarto, 9x11 inches; convenient for class use. The letter press descriptions (16 pages) are very full and interesting. The maps are sixteen in number and include in detail all the lands mentioned in the Bible.

The alphabetical index enables the reader to find any place in a moment. Every person teaching a Sunday-school class needs a Bible Atlas. Every Bible student needs one. This is one of the best Bible Atlases we know. It has received very warm commendation from numerous Sunday-school workers. Every Sunday-school Library at least ought to have one for

No one can read, much less teach the Bible intelligently without having clear conceptions of the geographical relations of the places mentioned. Study with a map and without is like the difference between being lost in the woods and walking along a travelled path. The book is sold through canvassing agents, who will be supplied at publisher's prices. Single copies sent to any addess, post-paid, on the receipt of price, $1, by the General Agent for the Dominion, Emily J. Andrews, Strathroy.

The Religious Herald, Richmond. Va... mentions an interesting fact :-

There is a very prominent and very zealous Methodist layman in this state, who refuses to allow his children to be christened in infancy, because he fears that when they grow up and are converted, they may become dissatisfied with such baptism and desire to be immersed, and so be obliged to join the Baptists to accomplish that desire. Of course no Methodist preacher can consistently immerse one who has been christened in infancy. In order to save his children to the Methodists, this gentleman deliberately sets aside one of the foundation principles of Methodism. He does not seem to be afraid of the spread of Baptist doctrines, but simply of Baptist church membership."

We have heard of a case somewhat similar. A Congregationalist declined to have his children christened in infancy, in order that they might not be deprived of the opportunity of being "baptized" on profession of faith. But he was not understood to assume that they would insist on baptism in our sense of the word. -The Watchman.

The above has been going the round of the Baptist papers. Crumbs of comfort, surely! We know of a Baptist deacon who has his children baptized. or permits it. What his motives are we cannot tell. Protably he has light which he does not choose to use in a more open way. But what do such solitary cases prove? Absclutel; nothing. One swallow does not make a

MISSIONARY ANNIVERSARIES.

We held our Missionary Services on this Circuit, beginning on Monday, April 15th.

Our first meeting, as usual, was held a Warwick. Our church there was tastefully decorated with choice mottoes of floral beauty, and many rich and rare boquets gracing the pulpit and other prominent places were the subject of many pleasant remarks and much admira-

The house was crowded to excess. The music, the addresses and the collections were all good.

The speakers on this occasion were-Revs. Brown, Purvis, Johnson. These names are a sufficient guarantee for the success of a missionary meeting. H. J. Atwood presided and conducted the business of the meeting well. The service was a grand success.

Our next meeting was held at Port Royal, once the headcentre of commerce and social influence in Bermuda. Now known to ministers chiefly for its intelligent appreciation of our doctrines and polity, and its generous hospitalities to the servant of the church and his family.

The evening for this service was not so propitious as that for the previous one. but the church was filled to overflowing.

The staff of speakers had somewhat increased at this meeting, Bro. Ryan being to the front. This meeting was a good one. The speecher were of a high order. The church was beautifully decorated in festoons of evergreens and flowers.

The presiding officer, Capt. Balford did his work well. The music was hearty, but is going to take a new departure one of these days.

Somerset came next in order. rain on this occasion answered the purpose of keeping many of the good people from the meeting, and leaving us with a house not nearly full. Here let me say with a mighty emphasis that Bermudians never stay away from a missionary meeting because there's going to be a collection. They just as much expect to give on these occasions as they do to breathe. This is good. We are glad to be able to make this unequivocal and most truthful statement after an incumbency of three years. We would like for every one in Canada to read this.

The meeting here was good—the music thoroughly missionary. The chairman G. H. Siggins, Esq., performed his duties most efficiently. I'hursday evening found us in th

Royal Theatre, Ireland Island, Capt. Moresby, R. N., having kindly placed this building at our disposal, as the schoolhouse was occupied by divine service, it being "Holy Week" here. No doubt many are glad Lent is over. . There is a great deal of praying done in this land during Lent, but there is not very much said on this subject at other times. Well, we conclude that it omens well for a people who can be pious during the Lenten During these extended days there are no balls, no theatricals, and billiards can be played only on certain days, and that not to excess, and Friday is always observed as fish day. So you see that we have times and seasons' here that are more than usually sacred.

But to return. Our missionary service in the Royal Theatre did not come off, the evening was stormy, and we concluded to postpone it.

We ought to mention, before we pass from this part of our jottings, that Wm. Bluck, Esq, placed his beautiful yacht "Minerva" at our service for Port Royal, Somerset and the Dockyard, thereby adding very greatly to our comfort and that of the many friends who accompanied us.

Good Friday evening we held our last of this series of missionary services, in Zion Church, Hamilton. The evening was very fine. The old church was most elaborately decorated. We never saw anything like it. The scene that met the wondering gaze was more like a grand conservatory than anything else-spice trees. palms, festoons, mottoes, hedgerows of beautiful flowers so tastefully arranged. Flowers to the right of us, flowers to the left of us, flowers in profusionbeautiful. It was grand, it might even be called sublime. We have only to add -May the hands that trimmed those beautiful flowers into so many beautiful forms, be employed throughout this brief pilgrim life in trimming an amaranthine crown of holy and virtuous deeds to be placed on the head of Him on whose head are " many crowns."

On this occasion old Zion was filled to its utmost capacity. A. M. Oudney, Esq., occupied the chair. No church need be ashamed of such a chairman. He did his work well.

The choir gave us some of its sweetest anthems.

On the platform were Revs. Layton, Brown and Ryan. We need say nothing of the speeches beyond the mere fact that the audience was held in almost rapt atwhen the time for closing arrived. The collection was in advance of the two preceding years.

Thus, we may say, closed a most interesting series of services, the memory of which will long linger with us to comfort and inspire future work.

As we pen these words, we feel that tidal wave, in a few days, is to bear us away from these scenes of happy toil not, however, to inhospitable shores, but to the society of beloved friends and brethren with whom, in other days, we have had sainted and holiest pleasures. We are loth to sever bonds we so strongly cherish here, but we will touch them with as gentle a hand as we possibly can-May increasing fulness of blessing come upon this people and upon God's work in these Isles. May our Father give to this important charge workmen anointed better than we were, and more capable And may His tender and loving hand lead us and our little ones forever.

R. WASSON. Hamilton, May 1, 1878.

Christians in Trinidad, Colorado, doing a sensible, millenarian thing. The town has forty or fifty Presbyterians, and about a half score of Methodists. These unite in the support of Rev. H. S. Hilton. Methodist minister, who preaches in the Methodist church in the morning, and in the Presbyterian, in the evening. We have heard of a few cases of the kind, and are glad to know of this additional admission that the same Christ rules, and the same Heaven attracts, all Christians .-Northwestern Advocate.

And so the millenium has first dawned in the Northwest, in the land of bugs and grasshoppers! Will it extend East? We have our fears. This plan of dividing the territory of the church so that one man might live where two are supported by outside help, thus liberating the second man for other work, has been suggested and urged by the Methodist and Presbyterian organs of the Lower Provinces, some time ago. Yet we know one instance in which the experiment has failed through sheer ecclesiastical prejudice. And we fear the lean kine will continue to swallow the fat kine, in this, way, for a long time to come. Perhaps this millenium will keep on going west, till it belts the globe and comes upon us from the east after completing its circle. But it has a long journey before it in any case. Meantime we go on spending mone and building up denominational walls in each little hamlet and settlement.

SELF EXAMINATION.

This is one of the most neglected and ofttimes one of the most unpleasant, yet certainly one of the most important of duties. God has not only given us the power to think, to eason, feel that it is our duty to look into ourselves, to study ourselves, to learn our own value. We need to do it. We shall make no marked spiritual progress unless we closely examine, and become thoroughly acquainted with our temperament and disposition, and then guard all the weak places of our nature.

"Do you want to know," says Whately, "the map against whom you have most reason to guard yourself? Your looking-glass will give you a very fair likeness of his face." The Apostle says. "Let a man examine himself." Mark that word "himself." We are too frequently disposed to examine others, rather than ourselves. We are too eager to let others see us, before we have seen ourselves. We often want others to be what we are, whereas we have never, perhaps, really ascertained what we are. But "let a man examine him-

The proper exercise of this duty has always a very wholesome effect upon us, changing our spirit and action most wonderfully. It removes many obstructions to the right use of our faculties. It enables us to see more clearly, to feel more tenderly, to act more wisely. It cheeks pride and self-will, and induces humility and charity. It brings us into deeper sympathy with the human, and into closer union with the tention till ten o'clock, and seemed sorry are than others, but how nearly we resemble Christ. Such self-examination only can be true and thorough, for Christ alone represents the perfection of manhood. He, then, must be the one whom we seek to reproduce. Yes, the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ" must be the standard by which we compare ourselves, and which we aim to reach.

> Dissatisfaction and unrest will invariably follow such a self-examination, even among the holiest of persons. Not dissatisfaction and unrest, however, in the sense of disappointment and pain, but in the sense of seeing approachable, yet unscaled, heights, which you are eager to reach. There is a touching story told of a modern sculptor, who was seen one day standing before his masterpiece, sunk in sad reverie. On being approached and questioned as to the reason of his sadness, he answered, Because I am satisfied with it. have embodied all that I can think or feel. There is no discord between what I dream and what I can do, so I feel that the limit of my growth is reached.' As soon as our ideal is reached, we are satisfied, and often cease to grow. But while there is no limit to our capacity for receiving, and so long as Christ, the complete man, who is the express image of God. in whom "dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily," that is, really, is our ideal, can we be satisfied? He who is satisfied with his present attainments, shows clearly that he possesses neither a true knowledge of himself, nor yet of Christ. No man, who knows himself and his Saviour too, will ever be satisfied, either in this world or that which is to come. His attitude will always be that of "reaching forth unto the things which are before," and his prayer-

"Give me the enlarged desire, And open Lord my soul, Thy own fullness to require, And comprehend the whole : Stretch my faith's capacity Wider, and yet wider still Then with all that is in Thee, My soul forever fill."

Self-examination should always lead to watchfulness and exertion. Otherwise this great virtue would become to us a great evil. Better never to see and know ourselves than seeing and knowing to make no effort towards improvement, for unimproved knowledge increases both guilt and danger. As soon as we discover our faults, we should seek diligently to remove their cause, or they will grow upon us until they work our utter ruin. At every weak point we should set a double guard. We often err just here. We are too apt to give special attention to and to discriminate between the right the strong places, and leave the weak and the wrong, but He has given us to unguarded. Now you cannot make the strong too strong, but you must not strengthen one part at the expense of another, or by and by every part will suffer. For instance, do not try to strengthen your will power by tempting your appetite, or going where your passions are likely to be unduly excited, Where one may possibly succeed, ten will fail. And never expect to gain spiritual strength by keeping company with those who take pleasure in strengthening themselves in their wickedness, but seek to avoid evil; watch against its approach; shun the avenues through which it comes.

Lastly, self-examination should always be accompanied by prayer. We need the Holy Spirit to guide us in the performanced of every duty. Without his aid, all our enneavours to see ourselves in a true light will be in vain. O. how signal have been our failures at many times, simply because we have not asked the Spirit "to help our infirmities!" Let us, therefore, recognize Him, and implore His direction, as we attempt to search and prove ourselves.

THE CHILD'S OFFERING TO JESUS -Mr. Ralph Wells tells a beautiful incident of his visit to a State convention in Minnesota. After one of the sessions a little girl stepped forward and presented him with a small boquet of dandelionsan ordinary flower, but early, and doubtless the only one she could well procure at that time in the season. He inquired why she gave him the bouquet. "Because I love you," the child answered. "Do you bring any gifts to Jesus?" said Mr. n seeking to ascertain how much wiser Wells. "Oh," said the little child, "I THE "RANK AND FILE."

Oh, blow for the Hero a trumpet. Let him lift up his head in the morn; A glory of glories is battle, It is well for the world he was born. Let him joy in the sound of the trumpet, And sun in the world's proud smile; But what had become of the Hero, Except for the "rank and file?"

Oh, grand is the Earth in her progress, In her genius and art and affairs; The glory of glories is progress, Let the great find a joy in their cares. Let the kings and the artists and statesmen Look round them and proudly smile: But what would become of the nation, Except for the "rank and file!"

And when the brief days of this planet Are all ended and numbered and told. And the Lord shall appear in his glory, And shall summon the young and the old. For the hero shall sound forth no trumpet, For the great no welcoming smile; Before the good Lord in his glory, We are all "the rank and the file."

Morrisey, the New York Congress. man, who just died, has been noticed very widely by the press. This is the best criticism we have seen of his life.

He was a strange compound—this prize fighter, gambler, legislator, congressman. He had in him the making of a first-class citizen, and a first-class citizen he was in many respects. He could always be counted on the side of public honesty, and it was sound policy that rallied the better elements of his district to his support last fall. He had strange ambitions; he would be satisfied with nothing else than the championship of the prize ring, he was proud to the last of running the greatest gambling establishments in the country, and vet he wanted to be congressman for the sake of the better reputation he might thereby leave his only child, a boy who died about a year ago. There was never a notorious law-breaker who was more respected for the good that was in him, nor one who had combined so successfully in one person the gambler whom the good citizen must condemn, and the honest legislator whom the same citizen had to endorse.

THE SEAL FISHERY .- Many of our people have great pecuniary interest in this branch of the Newfoundland trade. A letter from a corrospondent reveals something of the awful difficulties involved at times in the sealing voyage. From St. John's papers we copy the latest intelligence. Vessels in during fortnight up to May 7th :-

Brigt Rolling Wave Emmeline 1000 Pearl 2100 S. S. Walrus 2300 old seals. 2000 4600 Esquimaux 250 clean Brigt Balclutha 400 young seals Dawn Gem 1800 " Pet

The accounts of vessels still outside are very meagre, but enough is known to convince us that the result of the second trip will be far below an average.

The second trip of the sealing voyage is being abandoned by some of our sealing steamers. The prospects do not appear to justify the undertaking of a second trip at this late stage of the season. The Greenland and Panther have brought They did not know that she was speaking their crews to their respective homes.

The S. S. Hercules returned from the Northward on Saturday, May 4th, having succeded only in getting within fifteen miles of Tilt Cove, calling at Twillingate, Fogo, and other ports to the Southward. The quantity of seals reported to have been taken at Twillingate, appears to have been exaggerated. At Fogo the catch was about 70 seals per man. Nine men were lost off Twillingate on the 16th current. It appears that after leaving the latter port they succeeded in capturing a large number of seals, which however, they were live. compelled to abandon, and the poor fellows met tueir sad fate in the vain endeavor to gain the shore. Several bodies have been recovered frozen on the ice.

The Rev. Dr. John Hall Hall has been lecturing the Young Men's Christian Association of New York, on the "Perils of the times." The first danger which threatens our young men is shallownessthey are in too much of a hurry and bustle; the second is that of making too much money and the gentility it gives; the third peril is caused by a certain unsettledness in life-we are not born with any certainity as to what we are going to do: the fourth danger comes from our tendency to choose pleasures which relax and weaken, rather than those which strengthen us for the hard work of life-not one of the "theatre-goers" among the Doctor's classmates has ever attaine d success in after life. The perils which threaten spiritual things, wrote to his widow as the citizen are, first, a lack of public spirit: follows: "In the conversation which I second, a weak commercial conscience: third, an exaggerated idea of personal freedom; fourth, the feebleness of religious life among us.

THE indignant denial by General John A. Dix of the charge that the cor. poration of Trinity Church, New York, leases much of its property for immoral purposes was hardly necessary. The denial has, however, brought out from the comptroller (General Dix) a precise statement of the value of the Trinity domain, which will be corrective of many exaggerated reports. The number of city lots owned by Trinity Church is 750; their estimated value is $7,000,000; the revenue of the corpor. ation in 1877 was $456,786. All the property is taxed except "the church edifices, the cemeteries, four school, houses in which free schools are kept and an infirmary in which the sick receive gratuitous treatment." The amount of yearly tax is $100,000. The charge was made in a Boston paper that the corporation's real estate supported over 800 houses used for liquor saloons and worse purposes. To set this acon. sation at rest letters of inquiry wereaddressed to the police and excise commissioner, asking for their testimony as to the facts. The reply of the Commissioners is an explicit statement that no license to sell liquor has been given to any person occupying property owned by Trinity Church, and that the records do not show any improper places supported by the real estate of that cor.

MRS. JOHN SKALING.

Died at Kempt, on the 29th of April. Mrs. John Skaling, beloved wife of Capt. John Skaling, in the 64th year of her age, esteemed by all that knew her. She was early converted to God, and they that knew declare her life to have been remarkably consistent. Luke under the guidance of the Holy Spirit said of Barnabus, "he was a good man, and full of faith, and of the Holy Ghost." And me cumbered by clay, and having limited spiritual knowledge, on account of too close contact with earth, yet being able to judge of individuals from daily life and conversation, can say of this mother in Israel, she was a good woman, and full of faith, and she was not for the Lord took her.

She died, as we would die, in the way of her duty. Her husband and she had been to prayer-meeting Sabbath evening, and were returning conversing of spiritual things, and as they arrived at home, she s smitten down by paralysis. She lingered for a few hours, and then passed away without a struggle to her reward. The holy emotion imparted by contact with things that are spiritual, had not ceased to thrill her heart before she was called into the presence of the Master, with whom there is fullness of joy and glory eternal. When at the prayermeeting opportunity was given for any to speak, she testified of God's goodness, and returned thanks to him for the blessing she had received that evening as she waited upon Him.

Little did they think, as they listened to her, that this was to be her last tes testimony on earth. The last time that the soul in the tabernacle was to express its emotions and joy on earth. to them from the borders of the spirit world, and that the angels had come forth to convey her home. The earnestness of her words and the play of emotion upon her face teaches us now that it was her close contact with God that caused the spirit to shine through the flesh. Please sant memories of our sister linger as the splendor that remaineth of the setting sun. And as the perfume remaineth in the place where the vase is shattered, so does the generous and holy life of a person continue after they have ceased to

CAPT. GEORGE MORRIS

Died at Swansea, Jan. 17, 1878, Capt George Morris, fourth son of the late John Morris, of Mill River, New London, P. E. I. Capt. Morris left his home and family last autumn, in charge of a vessel for England; and after a prosperous voyage, arrived at Swansea, but very unwell, and notwithstanding all that the best medical skill could do, he, after suffering till the 17th of Jan., yielded up his spirit to God. A widow and two children mourn the absence of husband and father, but not as those "who have no hope." During his last illness Capt. Morris was led to seek for the salvation set forth in the Gospel, and trusting in Jesus as his Saviour was enabled to "rejoice in hope." The Rev. Joshua Mason, chairman of the Swansea District, who kindly ministered to him had with him, no doubt was left on my mind that he was ready for the change." THE SINGING LESSON.

BY JEAN INGELOW.

A nightingale made a mistake; She sang a few notes out of tune, Her heart was ready to break, And she hid from the moon. She wrung her claws, poor thing, But was far too proud too speak. She tucked her head under her wing And pretended to be asleep.

A lark, arm-in-arm with a thrush, Came sauntering up to the place; The nightingale felt herself blush, Though feathers hid her face. She knew they had heard her song, She felt them snicker and sneer. She thought this life was too long, And wished she could skip a year.

"O nightingale!" cooed a dove,
"O nightingale, what's the use, You bird of beauty and love, Why behave like a goose? Don't skulk away from our sight,
Like a common, contemptible fowl;
You bird of joy and delight,
Why behave like an owl?

" Only think of all you have done; Only think of all you can do: A false note is really fun, From such a bird as you! Lift up your proud little crest : Open your musical beak; Other birds have to do their best, You need only speak."

The nightingale shyly took
Her head from under her wing, And giving the dove a look, Straightway began to sing. There never was a bird could pass The night was divinely calm; And the people stood on the grass, To hear that wonderful psalm!

The nightingale did not care, She only sung to the skies; Her song ascended there And there she fixed her eyes. The people that stood below She knew but little about, And this story's a moral I know, If you'll try to find it out.

CAN WE KNOW?

For one reason or another it has come to pass that many Christian's regard

faith and knowledge as being opposed to each other; so that if we rightly understand much that we hear now-adays, faith (?) is almost the synonym of doubt, and knowledge is likened unto presumption. It certainly is a question of no little moment to God's children, to know how much they may know. Faith is the basis of all knowledge of divine things, but faith has failed of her work if it does not lead on to knowledge. He that cometh to God must believe that He is," but believing that He is and coming to and finding Him. -he knows. What comfort is there in believing that God is; that Christ is and that He is yours and that in Him you are complete, if that faith is of such sort as leaves you in doubt about the whole matter? I am sure the Master never meant His disciples to be in doubt of any of the divine things He came down from heaven to give to the world, as witness His words: "He that followeth Me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of (Jno. viii. 12.) "If ye continue in My word, then are ye My disciples indeed; and ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free!' (Jno. viii. 31, 32.) "He that believeth on the Son of God hath the witness in himself!" (1 Jno. v. 10.) "Hereby we know that we dwell in Him and He in us because He hath given us of His Spirit." (1 Jno. iv. 13.) "And hereby we do know that we know Him." (1 Juo. ii. 3.) "I am the good Shepherd, and know My sheep, and am known of Mine." (Jno. x. 14.) Such passages might be multiplied indefinitely, but we call your attention to but two more. "And I will pray the Father, and He shall give you another Comforter, that He may abide with you forever [as I have for a season]; even the Spirit of truth, whom the world cannot receive, because it seeth Him not, neither knoweth Him: but ye know Him, for He dwelleth with you, and shall be in you." "If a man love Me, he will keep My words: and My Father will love him, and we will come unto him and make our abode with him." He that loveth Me shall be loved of My Father and I will love him and will manifest Myself to him." (Jno.

xiv. 16, 17, 21, 23.) Dear Christian, could or would our Lord give such promises as these if He did not mean to fulfil them, and could these promises be fulfilled in any one Without that one knowing. If the fulfilment means anything it means knowledge, and it means not only the knowledge of the Lord objectively, (excuse the use of these much hated words,) but it means the knowledge of the Lord subjectively, that is, within ourself-"He that believeth hath the witness within himself." But we need not speculate about it at all; it is not a question of interpretation simply—it is a matter of testimony. John says, over and over: "We know;" Paul says: We know." "Ah, but," do you say, "John and Paul had both seen the van den Dag.

Lord with their own eyes and so had the testimony of the senses." Nay, but John says he knows "by the Spirit" which the Lord had given him. (1 Jno. iv. 13.) Paul says distinctly that, though he had known Christ after the flesh, yet now his knowledge rested no longer on such testimony or in such relation. If this passage is doubted, take Paul's word in Rom. viii. 16: "The Spirit beareth witness with our spirit:" or this of Paul's: "Now we have received the Spirit * * which is of God, that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God." (1 Cor. ii. 12.) It has been nearly two thousand years since Paul and John bore witness to the truth of those promises, and yet they are true and living to-day, for I, too, know the Lord, for He hath given me His Spirit and He has manifested Himself to me and has with the Father taken up his abode in me. Praise and bless His dear name -that He should come and live in our

One word more, and it is a vital one. He who would thus know the Lord must be the Lord's. This knowledge cannot be had by any one who is living a divided life. The world cannot receive Him, or see Him, or know Him (Jno. xiv. 17); and if the world is in your heart and life it will prevent you from knowing Him. If ye are carnal and worldly, the counter witness of the flesh will prevent you from knowing the witness of the Spirit. These great promises are fulfilled in them, and them only, who "follow Me," and "keep My words." The Lord is spiritually known the carnal mind cannot know Him. Wherefore come out from among them and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing and I will receive you and be a Father unto you, and ye shall be My sons and daughters saith the Lord Almighty.' (2 Cor. vi. 11-18.)

In the present European complication over the dismemberment of Turkey, Eng land appears as the champion of a united Greece. To this end she desires that the little kingdom shall be represented in the congress, so that its rights may be more effectively impressed upon the greedy, would-be territorial gobbler's who stand impatiently waiting to clutch provinces and peoples with little regard to abstract justice. It is as desirable that the Greek. speaking provinces should be united under one government as that there should be a united Italy. Indeed, the parallel is very similar. It is as great a violence to the natural order of things that Epirus and Thessaly and a portion of Macedonia should be chained to Turkey as the possesion of Venetia was by the hated Austrians, and that fertile Crete with its nearly 200,-000 Greeks should be the spoil of Mahommedans, as if Sicily was in subjection to the African Arabs across the narrow sea. And now seems the providential opportunity to heal the injustice of generations and cement the Hellenic race into congenial, homogenous whole.

THE VITALIZING NUTRITIVE-TONIC QUALITIES of Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lactophosphate of Lime would indicate its great value as a Restorative and Invigorator in that low condition of the system prevailing in patients recovering from Diphtheria as well as Fevers, especially in those of a Typhoid character; while, if taken when the first premonitory signs of lassitude and weakness appear, it would have a tendency to prevent the attack, or lighten it and shorten its duration. The cases in which it has been used fully bear out this

HONOR FROM EUROPE.—It is conceded on all sides that Dr. Ayer's Pills are above comparison with other medicines. Uniting the best elements known to the chemist they are particularly effective against the numerous stomachic disorders for which they are recommended as a cure. These Pills are so mild, yet searching, that they are often prescribed by doctors who otherwise do not favor patent medicines. Indeed, with the fruits of Dr Ayer's genius in the shape of Pills, Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure and Cherry Pectoral, one might with impunity travel througg the swamps of tropical America, or follew Stanley on his travels through the interior of Africa. - Amesterdam Nieus

DR. C. GATES:-

Dear Sir .- I was afflicted with the Rheumatism for more than twenty years by turns particularly in the autumn, which would seize me sometime in my shoulders and sometimes in my back but in September of 1876 it took me in my hip which made me very lame. I tried several things for relief but got none until February 1877. I took a severe cold which almost prostrated me, which time you happened at my house and recommended your No 1 Syrup to me. I confess at the time I had not much faith in it but knowing I needed Physic I purchased a bottle and commenced taking it and in one week's time I was cured of my cold and what I least expected my Rheumatism too, so that I have not been troubled with it since I think that if any person has any complaint that can be cured, they had better try your medicine. THE WESLEYAN

SATURDAY, MAY 25, 1878.

GENERAL SUPERINTENDENCY.

If one may judge by the correspondence in the last number of the Guardian which has reached us, there are expectations in the West that the question of a General Superintendency-the appointment of one or more chief officers to travel throughout the Methodist Church of Canada, with certain supreme prerogatives-is to be brought forward at this General Conference. One correspondent of that paper surmises that an article favorable to such a scheme appeared in the WESLEYAN some time not far back. We have no knowledge of anything of the kind. Our friend, Dr. John Carrol, in a lengthened notice of Smith's History-our Smith-seems to infer that our historian attributes to the absence of a general superintendency amongst us the cause of our present limited hold upon the country, as compared with Ontario. If we understand Mr. Smith, however, he rather takes the ground that, at a certain period in the early history of our Church in the Eastern Provinces, a link was broken by the removal of the general superintendent, or presiding elder, to the United States, and hence an injury which subsequent years have failed to repair. The infant Church was tender and needed care—that is the argument as we see it.

We would hesitate to write emphatically on this subject, were it not that we know the minds of Eastern brethren as regards this matter of a general superintendency. At the Committee on Union, which met in Montreal under Or. Punshon's direction, the Eastern representatives were a unit against this form of government. They, with a few others, felt so strongly in opposition that a dead lock ensued in negotiations until a resolution was offered by which the Conferences might decide effectually.

The scheme was rejected by the Western Conference, thus superseding all | man by young Harry Osborne. These necessity for expression by the Conference of E. B. America. Friend Carrol imagines that prejudice against a general superintendency can only spring from a Scottish Presbyterianism; that Episcopal education must engender rather an admiration for this office. But really our prejudices in the East are caused by the fact that we are overwhelmingly British in our types of Methodistic thought and ambition, rather than American. Mr. Carrol further inclines to the opinion that one serious objection to the office is removed by the intention of electing general superintendents only for a term of years, and not for life. But there are two questions in reply to the scheme in any shape. Firstly, Is it safe to create an office in Canadian Methodism which has been tolerated in American Methodism only after it has been fenced about with safeguards, until the Bishop has not the privilege of an ordinary member of Conference? Secondly, If British Methodism can be presided over by a minister in full circuit work, why should it be necesary to have one or four men in Canadian Methodism who shall have but to travel and superintend, which really means, be supreme wherever he goes, and have the exclusive right of ordination?

DEATH OF HON. JUDGE WILMOT.

Rarely are we called to record an event so impressive as that which is implied in the heading of this paragraph. The illustrious lawyer, orator from earth. We conversed among other things upon the delegation to Atlanta General Conference. He expressed a regret that alternates had not been appointed, as he felt it due to that large and important branch of our Church that we should stand before them in the persons of our representatives. Judge Wilmot deserves a Biography. Rich, comprehensive and eloquent it well might be, if material at all corresponding with the magnitude of his services to the country can be obtained Who is to take his place-in Fredricton, its Methodist Sabbath School, its University gatherings, its social circles?in our General Conference, its debates, its great public occasions ?-in fact, wherever he has held an bonoured

A mysterious blow has thus fallen upon the distinguished delegates for the Southern General Conference. Dr. Douglas prevented by illness, while on his way, from proceeding beyond Hamilton; and Judge Wilmot, about the date when he would have electrified the Southern brethren by his marvelous magnetic eloquence, laid low in death ! May the kind Hand of Providence preserve to us still for many days the surviving member of this delegation!

A message to the Telegraph gives these particulars:

"Our whole community received a great shock at five o'clock, by a report that Ex-Governor Wilmot had died suddenly. It could be scarcely be believed as he had been seen in his carriage about four o'clock driving down Queen Street, but inquiries proved the rumor to be too true. The Judge, on reaching home after his drive, walked in his garden feeling a slight pain in the region of the heart. He went into the house and in five minutes was a corpse. Dr. Atherton was in immediate attendance but Mr. Wilmot never spoke after reaching his room. The doctor says that the rupture of a blood vessel was the immediate cause of death. It is a terrible shock to the people, to his church and to every citizen of Fredericton, being so unexpec-

THE SHEDIAC MURDER CASE.—The finding of McCarthy's body has been followed by the discovery, near the same spot, of a stone corresponding with that sworn to by Annie Parker as having been tied around the neck of the dead are strong corroborative facts. A surmise that the body must have been taken up, and the coats put on the murdered man, to falsify this evidence, seems rather weak, in view of the fact that any one disposed to do this would naturally have hidden the body somewhere else, and so brought about a contradiction of her story. This girl adheres to her statement, as to the mur- foe. der. But everything is not yet out, or we are very greatly mistaken.

BROTHER BROWN is having his little letter to Brother Currie answered with a will. It was amusing to us last week, the reading of Mr. Brown's answer to Mr. Currie's first letter, sent for publication in the WESLEYAN. Mr. B. took Mr. C. to task for evading the question -for, in fact, telling something like an untruth, by affirming that the lexicons did say what they did not. In our drawer, at the same time, was Mr. Currie's second letter, treating this subject, as our readers have seen, in the most pitiable light of mutilated lexicons. It would have been a fine specimen of the two letters, side by side. By the way, we wonder what proportion of z's Our Foremen complains that Brother Currie is using all of that letter which can be gathered or borrowed; yet he writes the word baptizo only as once to a score of times compared with the statesman, has passed away suddenly Baptists. It has been decided by the Executive Committee of the Eastern Book Room, to try the experiment of a summer agency in Newfoundland. Mr. George O. Mr. Fulton will be guided largely by the advice of our brethren in Newfoundland, and the prospects of business, as regards his movements. He carries with him the fullest confidence of the Book Committee. His knowledge of our trade is very thorough. Any counsel that may be required in respect to books, tracts, stationery, the WESLEYAN or other interests he will be competent to give. He is commissioned to represent our business in all its departments.

There is a wide field for the circulation of our literature in Newfoundland. Our Ministers and people there, will now have a rare opportunity of calling to their aid in this work a young man of experience and energy, for his object primarily will be to serve the cause of God. We need not add, for it is a rea. sonable conclusion from a business standpoint, that his stay on the Island will depend upon the extent to which his time can be profitably occupied.

THE GENERAL CONFERENCE of the Methodist Church South, has been in session at Atlanta since May 1st. We are sorry to find that our own delegates did not reach that city, Judge Wilmot having been detained by business and Dr. Douglas by illness. It is surely a mistake that alternates are not appointed for these duties.

(N.B .- Judge Wilmot's death, occurred after the above was written.)

There had been some important decisions reached up to latest dates, of which we have record. Much time was occupied over the rights of one lay representative to his seat. As lay delegation is new with them, they doubtless resolved to begin well by defining their

We note a few of the decisions:

A communication was received from the committee from the M. E. Church in regard to the propriety of holding an Ecu-menical Conference of Methodists, and was referred to a special committee, composed of some of the ablest and most prominent members of the Conference.

This provides for a careful consideration, as least, of the measure we have ourselves advocated in common with other Methodist papers-a conference of representatives from all branches of Methodism. This may lead the way for a conference of, at least, several denominations who could find it advantageous to adjust certain differences in a brotherly way, enabling them to bring a more united and compact front to the

There is a fourth year allowed in the South now, we believe, under certain conditions, but a memorial came up for extension of the ordinary period where it might be thought advisable. This General Conference has voted against it. Perhaps the presence of the laity had much to do with this adverse vote, as in our own General Conference. Where the laymen are against the measure, ministers, in all modesty, ought to avoid pressing it.

The are used in Baptist publishing offices? Recorder, organ of that body, in Pittsburgh, has this little note from a correspondent, with the editor's reply. It is a pretty stroke of irony:

MR. EDITOR.—Could not our Publishing House in Pittsburgh issue a Methodist Protestant Bible? The copy we use in our church does not recognize our denomination anywhere from Genesis to Revelation. Besides the very same Bible is used by the Methodist Episcopal Church; and even the Unitarians preach from it. Unless we can issue an edition of the Holy Scriptures with special reference to our polity as a denomination, there is danger that our beloved church may fail in accomplishing its mission in EPSILON.

Not exactly knowing what our correspondent is driving at, or whether he inquires sincerely or sarcastically, we are at a loss what to say. We are sort o' choked up, so to speak, and rather inclined to pass the conundrum and its wrappage to Bro. Robinson. Such inquiries, now that we come to think of it, should be addressed to the Publisher and not to DIOCESAN SYNOD .- The Episcopal Bishop and clergymen have been in annual convocation in Halifax. By a resolution brought up for confirmation at a stage in the proceedings, we may infer how far the Bishop's authority is considered to be agreeable and constitutional. Here it is :-

"That in case it shall happen that the Bishop shall withhold his assent to any act or resolution of the Synod, the same may be brought up again at the next Session; and if it shall then be passed by a majority of two-thirds of each order present and voting, and shall again be dissented from by the Bishop, such majority shall have the right to appeal to the House of Bishops iu General Assembly in Canada, whose decision shall be final."

This hedging about of a Bishop's dignity and power does not indicate that the office is considered incapable of being abused. A milder form of resolution was afterwards submitted and passed though we cannot see that it deviates materially in intention from

"That the House of Bishops of the Ecclesiastical Province be respectfully requested to inform the Synod of this Diocese if, in the event of an appeal made by them on a subject dissented from by the Bishop, their Lordships would be ready to receive an appeal and give an opinion

Here is the Report adopted by the Synod on Temperance. It plainly shows that in the Episcopal body Temperance is making head-way. The last clause implies that a pledge has been used by the parochial societies which allows a moderate use of stimulants:

"Your committee beg to report that in accordance with a resolution passed at the last session of this Synod, a public meeting was held in the city of Halifax at the earliest convenient date, His Lordship the Bishop in the chair, at which a Diocesan Society was formed. Since then several parochial societies have been organized, a lew of which have become affiliated with the Diocesan Society.

" By taking this action the church in the Diocese has publicly acknowledged the importance of the Temperance movement, and showed their sympathy therewith. But we regret that more has not been done by the church in this matter, but believe it due to some extent to the wave of Temperance Reform which swept over the Diocese shortly after the formation of our Society. Your committee has reason to think that much good has been effected by the Reform movement, and that after a while our own organization will take a more prominent place among the various Temperance bodies in the land. At the same time your committee cannot but express their regret that so many of the clergy have as yet held aloof from the work, and would fain hope that ere long more of them will follow the example of our Bishop, and if they cannot see their way clear to become total abstainers, will at least give the more general pledge their hearty support."

THE outward bound mail steamer which eaves Quebec to day will have, as part of ts cargo, four white whales, commonly called porpoises in the regions of the lower St. Lawrence. Such a "whale was first exhibited in the New York Aquarium but soon died owing to a severe cold caught by a sudden change in the temperature of the water of his tank, when renewed. Since then quite a number of them have been caught alive at the mouth of the St. Lawrence, and, being packed in sea weed, have been transferred to New York. The present, as far as we are aware. are the first which have crossed the ocean alive, except by their own endeavours.

The above is from the "Montreal Witness." It seems to us, after visiting this greatly celebrated New York Aquarium, that it is, itself, very much of a "whale"—one of the most success ful instances of "blowing" in these days of sound and pretensions. A visitor pays fifty cents for admission, walks around a very small circle of very tame exhibitions of fish. When he enquires for the Chimpanzee, he is politely told that this is an extra charge. CORRESPONDENCE

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

Gratitude to God is awakened by a thoughtful review of the past. We should not forget His manifold mercies, providential and gracious. While it is true that the hope of success is the life of any enterprise, it is also certain that occasional indications of success are necessary in order that hope may not fail. As a religious organization, Methodism rejoices in the progress she has made in the past, and is very thankful to the Head of the Church ior continued manifestations of His presence and grace. We would at this time, not for self-glorification, but to inspire fresh courage to work in the vineyard, -go back in thought to the year 1858.

and compare with 1878. Methodism then, in the Maritime Provinces, was comprised within the boundaries of the Conference of Eastern British America. The Conference at that time was but three years old. It was formed out of three Mission stations, viz., Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, and Newfoundland. These stations had been carefully looked after by the British Conference for more than seventy years.

It was evidently quite time that they should, with the consent of the Parent, assume something like self-government. The result has proved the wisdom of the movement.

In 1858 in the Conferences named, there were 114 ministers, including supernumeraries and young men on probation. There are now within the same boundaries 255, as follows: Nova Scotia, 110: New Brunswick & P. E. Island, 96; Newfoundland 49.

The Conference commenced with 7 Districts, but in 1858, the Truro District was formed,—the Eastern part of Nova Scotia having for a time been a part of the Charlottetown District. Those 8 districts comprised & circuits. N. S., 35; N. B., 25; NAA., 5; P. E. I., 6; Bermuda, 1. There are now 197 circuits, N. S., 80; N. B., 76; Nfld, 41.

There were then 13.511 church members; at present, 28,385, in the three Conferences as follows: N. S., 8,877; N. B., &c., 7,718; Nfld., 5.790. From these figures we learn that the membership has not increased in equal proportion to the ministerial force.

Twenty years ago, we had 6 Supernumeraries, now 24; N. S., 11; N. B. &c., 10; Nfld., 3. Then, 1 in 19 were supernumeraries, now one for every 10 and a-half. Then, there were 9 men who had been 30 years in the ministry; now only seven in the active work, all but one being in the N S. Conference.

There were then 60 men who had been in the work 10 years and under: now, there are of this class, 185, nearly two thirds of the whole number of preachers. In the Nfld. Couference there are only 9 ministers who have travelled more than 10 years, in N. B., 25, and in N. S., 86. Of the 141 who were in the Conference of E. B. A. in 1858, 41 are still with us in the active work: 33 have been removed by death; the rest are found among our supernumeraries, and in other portions of the Methodistic field; only one of the 141 has left the connexion and joined another denomination.

In 1858 the officers of the Conference were, President, Rev. M. Richey, D.D., Co Delegate, Rev. R. Knight, D.D., Secretery, Rev. H. Pickard, D.D.

In 1874 three Conferences were constituted out of the E. B. A. Conference, namely, N. S., N. B. and P. E. I., and Nfld. These annual Conferences, with three of similar nature in the West, are now governed by a General Conference, meeting once in four years. This Conference comprises a larger territory than the Dominion of Canada, for it includes the Island of Newfoundland, which seems as yet to prefer Downing street to Ottawa.

As a branch of the Christian Church we have been greatly favoured by the Head of the Church, for during the last 10 years. before the Census, our increase was much larger than that of any other denomination. As the largest branch of the Protestant Church in the Dominion, we should feel deeply the responsibility devolving upon us, to continue to spread scriptural holiness through the land.

Our approaching annual Conference meetings in June, and the General Conference in September, ought to awaken much thought and prayer. If special wisdom from above can be obthrough some training, under the lash, tained, we ought to have it, for many

SIR.—In an editorial remark, referring to the Latin version of "Rock of Ages," which appeared in your last issue over my signature, you state that "two errors occur in type." In the English portion of the article there were also some typographical lapsus, one of which seems to demand correction, as it affects the sense. It is found in the first paragraph, where "would be" is made to take the place of "should be" before the predicate 'judges.' I would be sorry to appear to apply any offensive or questionable phraseology to the compilers of the modern hymnals alluded to, as I did not intend to refer to them in other terms than those of respect. Other errors need not be specified, as they would not mislead injuriously.

SCRUTATOR" LOOKS AT "ONE IN THE WATER."

DEAR MR. EDITOR,—We have just had placed in our hand, a copy of the Christian Messenger of the 1st inst., containing a letter signed, "Geo. H. Goudey." As this piece of composition is a curiosity of its kind, in literature, it deserves to be noticed before sinking into oblivion. From the letter we learn that a short time ago, the writer had occasion to baptize some persons by putting them under the water,-or as he phrases it, "I have had the pleasure of burying and raising again (Rom. vi. 4) seven suitable persons for this process." Of course every man likes to quote Scripture in support of his actions. and the above is made to do duty here. Having turned to the passage and read it carefully, we fail to see that St. Paul claims to have done anything of the sort for the Romans. Perhaps the writer will favor us with an exegesis of the first eight or ten verses of that beautiful chapter, as we protest against the use of disjointed not present through in lisposition.

texts to prove any theory. Give men this Rev. Mr. Hart delivered a few encourations.

Rev. Mr. Hart delivered a few encourations.

The was born, lived and died at the blessings and the blessings are the blessings and the blessings and the blessings are the blessings are the blessings and the blessings are the b liberty with the Bible, and they can have no difficulty in making it teach false belief, false geology, false chemistry, false baptism, or anything they please.

It appears also that on the above occasion, while he was standing in the millstream, that it rained. He tries to be funny while comparing the "sprinkling" with the dipping process. Afterwards he gravely asserts, "we were all baptized under the cloud, and in the sea." We assume that here he has a vague impression of of something experienced by an ancient people. (1 Cor. v. 2.) We must prefer the authorised version to his mutilated rendering of the passage. When giving his comment on Romans, he will confer a favor by running out the parallel between a man standing in the water and the Israelites crossing the Red Sea dry shod. The way he puts it can only awaken a smile and a feeling of pity for a man whose perception of the relation of things is so obtuse. He seems to be afflicted with a feeling of horror against "sprinkling," either as a word or an act. He can scarcely tolerate a shower of rain, and in reading Isa, 52nd Chap., lest the mind of any one should be directed to the mode of baptism divinely prescribed, the 15th verse in which the objection-able word is found, must remain unread.

He says again: " However all the subjects present could walk and talk and wore long clothes." We infer that he intends this as an item of information for paedo-Baptists; that is to say that certain improvements have taken place in the Baptist denomination. We have known some who were gladly received into that church who did not say anything at all,-an experience was not demanded. In our boyhood days, and since, we have read of men and women who were put under water without having on any clothes at all. As this was such an outrage on common decency they afterward put on a little; now we are told they wear "long clothes." We have heard before of apostolic suits, and long dresses mysteriously freighted with lead, to protect the persons of sensitive females from exposure to the gaze of any gaping and irreverent ones who might witness the rite. We congratulate him on his advancement. True to his Baptist instincts the writer must have his spiteful fling at other churches. Let me cite a few lines, "Some who Were present and received the pouring as indicated were as fit, I doubt not, as many Who received it in the name of baptism from the hands of a 'Free moral agent,' nearer terra firma." We would respectfully suggest that he and all others of a similar spirit should clean out their own Augean stables before they pronounce judgment upon others. It ill becomes a church to criticise other denominations that are a sonage, though auspiciously begun, under last, and sixty thousand more will be turned hundred-fold purer than itself, and which retains on its records very many names that would have no place elsewhere. receives and reads the whole Bible; that sense; that has no need of a special version to prop up its dogmas; that does not require its candidates for baptism to submit to a mode that must confuse the feel. ings of every refined and modest lady; and that is prepared to recognize all who love the Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity and truth, as members of the brotherhood of saints.

We hope that the next time Mr. G H. G. advertises his doings, we shall find him at the end of his epistle not "in the water," but upon the dry land. Yours truly, SCRUTATOR. May 20, 1878.

NEWS FROM THE CIRCUITS.

A MEETING OF THE PORTLAND METHODIST CONGREGATION

FOR THE PURPOSE OF HEARING THE AC-TION OF THE BUILDING COMMITTEE IN REFERENCE TO THE REBUILD-ING OF THE CHURCH.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the members of the Portland Methodist Church was held in the school-room of the Portland Baptist Church last evening, Rev. Mr. Teed in the chair. The meeting was called for the purpose of explaining the action of the building committee in the rebuilding of the Methodist Church, and also for the exhibiting of the plans of the church. The meeting was opened with singing, and with prayer by the Rev. Mr. has removed from us during the year, Hart, after which Rev. Mr. Teed made some of our eldest and best beloved peosome remarks. He was pleased to see so many present that were interested in the nection with the rebuilding of the church, gation. The committee is now hopeful members of the Building Committee were | fortable home with Bro. Richardson and spoke of the enthusiasm evinced by Portland people in Church matters. The Rev. partner, his children, and to his children's gentleman congratulated the Methodist people in securing the services of such a skillful architect as Mr. Welch. Mv friends, he continued, with every sound of the trowel, and with every blow of the hammer, your enthusiasm and interest in the matter will grow, and you will then feel more like putting your hands into vestry on the side 25x20; tower 85 feet your pockets and adding to your subscriplong. tions; may God bless your efforts.

Mr. Welch, the architect, placed the plans of the church in a conspicuous part of the room and explained the style of its construction. The church is to be constructed of brick, with stone trimmings. The front, however, will be of stone, and it will have a very attractive appearance. The front, from the ground to the top of the steeple, will be one hundred feet in height. In the basement of the church there are three large rooms, the larger one to be used as a lecture room, and the other two as class rooms. In the church proper the room will be commodious, the seating capacity being about 750, including the gallery. It is proposed to have the choir on the left hand side af the pulpit, this location being considered the most desirable. There will be a rear entrance on Chapel street. The church is to occupy all the ground owned by the congregation. The tower of the church is of a beautiful design, and will add, when completed, greatly to the appearance of the fine edifice.

Rev. Mr. Teed made some remarks as to the financial condition of the church. The church was insured in a Provincial Company for $7,000 and the Mission House for $2,400. At the time of the fire the Church was in debt to the extent of $4,000, thus the amount on hand after the fire should have been $3,000, but, unfortunately, he said, the church had been | the people's affections. insured in a bankrupt company, and as yet no insurance money had come in. He had been told that the church need not expect any more than 25 per cent. of the amount of insurance. The cost of the church, completed, with a bell, will be $20,000, but it is proposed only to build the main part of the church, leaving the tower and a portion of the second story in the front to finish at some future time.

It was proposed by Rev. Mr. Teed that the ladies of the church make arrange. ments for the holding of a bazaar to aid the Committee in furtherance of their enterprise. The ladies will no doubt take the matter in hand, and, as has always been the case with anything the Portland Methodist ladies have taken hold of, the affair will be a grand success.—St. John

Quite a a large audience by their presence showed their appreciation of the good object, and evinced most evidently their satisfaction with the bill of fare presented for their enjoyment. The Pastor of the Church had given most diligent care, and attention to the preparation, and the services of Mr. Alfred Letts, in the musical department, assisted by Mr. Robt. Smith, who prepared a very fine and novel transparency, representing the steps to Heaven, were most valuable, or rather invaluable. Everything went off beautifully. The adult singers, of course, did themselves justice, while the little folks, in music and recitations, looked and performed their several parts admirably.

DON'T STAY LATE TO-NIGHT.

The hearth of home is beaming With rays of rosy light, And lovely eyes are gleaming, As falls the shades of night; And while thy steps are leaving The circle pure and bright, A tender voice, half grieving, Says, "Don't stay late to-night."

The world in which thou movest Is busy, brave, and wide; The world of her thou lovest Is at the ingle side; She waits for the warm greeting; Thy smile is her delight: Her gentle voice entreating, Says, "Don't stay late to-night."

The world, so cold, inhuman. Will spurn thee if thou fall: The love of one poor woman Thy children will cling round thee. Let fate be dark or bright. At home no shaft will wound thee. Then "Don't stay late to night.

THE TWO PREACHERS.

Both these men were more than ordiary. Both were small physically; but as unlike in other respects as they well could be. The first was a great preach. er, and the second a great pastor. The trained to a most wonderful degree. the rarest gifts of the orator it was ever the writer's privilege to hear. His voice, accent, modulation, gesture, and new melody; and as he read the simplest and commonest utterances of Jesus of Nazareth, we heard anew the Master. At his magic touch, the domain of science, to many inexplicable, assumed the order and beauty of the rainbow. His accurately trained mind furnished him the treasuries of history at will; his fancy culled the rarest gems of poesy; and his genius wove them all into a splendid fabric of argument and appeal. His quiver was ever full of the keenest Parthian arrows; but when he plead, by tne mercies of God, the most obdurate heart melted. In brief, in the pulpit, from a human stand point, he was lacking in nothing. And yet, with all this matchless eloquence, poured out at times with vehemence and tears that flooded all hearts that heard, he failed! he preached that church to death!

His successor, without any of the in what is called the Paragraph Bible, but praying. We well remember his first sermon, and the unexpressed wonder how we could endure one year of such preaching. We felt that he was good but a weak brother. His reading of notices was almost enough to provoke laughter. His hymns did not glow with beauty, nor did the words of inspiration, under his handling, sparkle as diamonds. He remained with us three years! He prayed that dead church to life. The hundred luke-warm members had become four hundred warm, live members; and none who were not of us can know with what sorrow of heart we let him go, because we could retain him no longer. His small figure had grown no larger, his voice no stronger, and his mental abilities no greater; but his prayers had been unceasing, his zeal unwearied, and his love unbounded. How eagerly we drank in every word of his last ser-He read 1 Cor., second chapter, as a text: "And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech," etc. How true and appropriate the theme! He had known nothing among us, " save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified." In the great day of eternity will be seen the great work of that feeble man of mighty faithnot only in his own charge, but throughout the city, in all churches.

Such were the two preachers, and such their work. The one was a great preacher, and the other a great pastor. The one failed, the other succeeded. Why the wonderful orator failed can only be conjectured, as he seemed to be imbued with true spiritual zeal. Possibly he luxuriated in the exuberance of his marvelous powers, and took too much pleasure in his splendid successes; and, conscious of his strength, he leaned on his library, instead of God. The other, with no faith in himself, conscious of his own weakness, leaned on God. The one felt, perhaps, that the ministry was a splendid field for the display of his splendid talents: the other felt, "Woe is me if I preach not the Gospel!"-Texas Christian Advocate.

SHAMEFULLY ABUSED BOOK.

In the May number of Sunday Afternoon, the new periodical for Sunday reading, Mr. Rossiter Johnson makes a strong protest against the treatment to which the Bible has been subjected nary preachers: they were extraordin- by printers and publishers for many generations. Other books are printed in style appropriate to the character of the work, and the most purblind reader can distinguish at a glance between one had marvellous intellectual powers, a history and a poem, and-although the mistake would be in many cases His powers of analysis enabled him to excusable—is in little danger of condissect all subjects with the skill of a founding a theological disquisition with master. text. In the former, which is rarely to be found in book-stores, and is, therefore, practically almost inaccessible, the text is precisely that of the socalled Authorized Version, but it is arranged to some extent—but not wholly -according to the dictates of common sense. The historical books are printed as would be books of profane history, the divisions being marked by the requirements of the narrative. The poetical books are presented as poetry, and some attempt made to preserve the order and arrangement of the original lines. Where in the prose narratives a character breaks out into song the metrical form is at once adopted, as is the case in the prophetic books when the writer rises from the level of prose vaticination or denunciation to the heights of poetic inspiration. The result is that the sacred writings become not only readable, but highly interesting, and even fascinating by their literary beauties. He who has read the book of Job only in the ordinary version, can have but a faint conception of the beauties of that pastoral drama of hoar antiquity, as brought out more clearly by the simple restoration of the lines their proper poetic form and arrangement. Two instances of personal experience may be given in illustration of the int jury done the Scriptures by the absurd manner in which they are commonly printed. A worthy church member who has been thoroughly familiar with the sacred text from his boyhood, and in whose family a chapter at least is read daily, by chance picked up a copy of the Paragraph Bible, read a page or two out of curiosity, continued his reading with interest, and borrowed the volume for a few days, at the end of which he returned it with the remark that he "thought he knew the Bible from cover to cover, but never till now realized half its beauties." The same volume was taken up some time after by a man of fine literary taste, who, from having been compelled to read the Bible as a task in his boyhood, had acquired a strong prejudice against it. Opening at one of the prophetic books printed in metrical form, and attracted by the unusual style, he soon became absorbed in its contents, and at the end of half an hour laid down the volume with an inquiry where a duplicate copy could be obtained, as he had never come across a book which had so deeply interested him.

Were the "Sacred Volume" to be multiplied into a number of volumes, grouping the Historical, the Poetic, the Prophetic, the Gospel narratives, and the Epistles in separate volumes, and printing them in form appropriate to the character of text, such an edition would undoubtedly find readers among many to whom the Bible, which lies on their tables, is now a sealed book, its beauties would be more widely appreciated, and its influence possibly greatly increased .- Cleveland Herald.

EXTRAORDINARY JOURNEY BY TWO BOYS.

(From the Liverpool, G. B., Post, April 26.)

The Allan steamer "Sardinian" from Halifax, Nova Scotia, which arrived at Liverpool on Monday morning. brought with her two young lads, Richard and Philip Valot, eleven and twelve years old, respectively, who had found their way to England under the extraordinary circumstances stated below. The lads belong to Montreal, and the desertion of their father and subsequent death of their mother left them destitute. They were received into St. Patrick's Home at Montreal, until they were sent for by their grandmother at Halifax. The Fathers of the Home sent them off by the train which conveyed the passengers for the "Sardinian," placing them under the protection of the conductor. The large number of passengers, however, and the consequent confusion, seemed to have so occupied the attention of this official that he was neglectful of his charge. and the two boys "going in the swim," were soon on board the "Sardinian." They had a vague idea of having to cross a ferry at Halifax, and meant no disrespect when they took the stately liner "Sardinian" for an unpretending erry-boat. This "ferry," however, proved unusually broad, and very soon attention was directed to the two poor lads, who crouched on deck, looking very much scared and distressed. Their history was soon told, but as the pilot had left there was nothing for it but to give them a trip across the Atlantic. The helpless condition of the two poor waifs attracted general sympathy, and Captain Dutton placed them in charge of the stewardess, under whose motherly care they were soon lively and comfortable. The bracing Atlantic breezes, and the kindly attention of the passengers and crew had a wonderful effect on the two, and they arrived in England in excellent health and spirits. Here they were comfortably lodged and rigged out by Messrs. Allan Brothers, who will provide for them until the 30th, when they will be sent back to Halifax by the steamer "Nova Scotion." In the meantime the firm sent a cable message to their agents at Halifax to acquaint the no

A CHILD MISSIONARY. Rev. William Greenough, pastor of the Cohocksink Presbyterian church Philadelphia, at a recent monthly concert of prayer, related the following affecting fact: "One year since, one of our Sabbath scholars, who had been but recently admitted to the church, was removed from us by death. It now appears that for some years past her father had been in the habit of giving her a certain amount of money each week, as spending money. When her physician told her during her last illness that she could not recover, she called her mother and said: " Mother, I have been saving the money papa has given me, and now I want you to take t and keep it to the end of the year, and then give to our pastor for the missionaries." To-day I have received the package, and counting the money, found it to amount to $14.47. Never have I held money that seemed more sacred, never received a legacy more precious. Here is the fruit of the Sab bath school lessons, in which the needs and claims of the heathen world are presented. Here, too, the influence of the love of Christ is seen, bringing salvation to our own hearts, and filling us with love and care for the perishing .-N. Y. Observer.

An amusing incident occured in Rockland, just before the opening of the East Maine Conference. The book boxes of our devoted and eminently law abiding agent, Mr. James P. Magee, reached the place before his own arri. val. It happens that there is a namesake (but an animal "of very different color") of the Methodist bookseller, in the city of Rockland, who keeps a miserable rumshop. He has a very crooked habit of evading the admirable Maine law, receiving his contraband liquors in all sorts of ways. When the boxes came to Magee, without stopping to examine the Christian initials, the indefatigable city officer opened them, to see if the enemy were skulking away in any corner of them. The appearance, however, and the guarantee of the respected pastor of the M. E. Church in town, relieved all further anxiety about the matter. We heartily commend this vigilance of the authorities.-Zion's Herald.

Here is a bit of scholarly wisdom from Thoreau's Journal. He made the entry May 1, 1857. It is not by any means a record of his highest principle of insight and wealth. There are treasures a great deal more hidden and interior than those of the reason, imagination and fancy " It is foolish for a man to accumulate material wealth chiefly, houses and lands. Our stock in life, our real estate, is that amount of thought which we have had which we have thought out. The ground which we have thus created is forever past turage for our thoughts. I fall back on to visions which I have had. What else adds to my possessions and makes me rich in all lands? If you have done any work with those finest tools, the Imagination and Fancy and Reason, it is a new creation, independent of the world, and a possession forever. You have laid up something for a rainy day. You have to certain extent cleared the wilderness."

A GENTLEMAN in a northern town in this State spied a farmer who some weeks ago had sold him some very "crooked" hay. The party in question is an active professor of religion and a most zealous worker for his own pocket. The man's profession and practice being in such marked contrast caused the Colonel to eye him with dislike. When he came up the Colonel charged him with deception in the matter of the hay. The skinfling stoutly denied the charge. The Colonel drew himself up to his full height, and disdainfully observed: "I am a soldier sir-not a liar!" "So am I a soldier." whined the promoter of "crooked" have 'You!" ejaculated the Colonel in a tone of disgust. "What kind of a soldier are you?" "I am a soldier of the Cross," said the skinffint, with a detestable flourish of the hand. "That may be," said the Colonel dryly, "but you've been on a furlough ever since I knew you!"

CHRIST'S BEAUTY

In the words, "Thine eye shall see the King in his beauty," some suppose that reference is made to the Assyrian King who would be seen at the walls of Jerusalem where he would be destroyed and overthrown. Its immediate reference was to Hezekiah. A greater than Hezekiah is already referred to; the Messiah is thought of and to be seen. There is the blessed assurance that Jesus who is desired of all nations, is to be seen. How often we long to see Jesus, and nothing short of this can satisfy substantial Christians. There is beauty in the perfect humanity of Christ, and in it we see a new glory. It exalts him as a man, and His wonderous beauty was his humility and gentleness. In all stages of His life although there is no record of Him for eighteen years, He was illustrating humanity. Christians behold him as a sympathizing friend under all circumstances. With one hand He touches the immacalate robe of God, and with the other lifts man from the depths of sin and crowns him with glory. All men cannot appreciate Christ's beauty. In his last days he was rejected and hated by the Pharisees. What was true then is true still with many who rank high among the scholars of the world. To the genuine Christian all nature is Christ. The sun the moon the stars, all remind the Christian of Jesus. Man must be blind when he does not distinguish the footprints of Jesus, and there are reasons for this as men do not want to see this beauty when it comes between them and sin. It is true also that believers do not properly represent Christ to the world. Their inconsistencies in life are the occasion of this True Christians, however, see something of His beauty, from the history of his life, by things which were effected by His power.-Rev. R. S. Macarthur.

OLD SOUP.

The following curious anecdote is

In the autumn of 1876 I was living in the interior of Bengal, and I went to spend Christmas with my friend, it gets hold at last of a plaything some in the interior of Bengal, and I went phants, bullock-carts, and soldiers, Nicholas. under his command.

On the morning after my arrival, after a cup of early tea (often taken before daylight in India), I sat smoking with my friend in the verandah of Philpott, "I heard such a tale about his bungalow, looking out upon the windings of the sacred river. And, di-would be so very naughty. One—" rectly, I asked the major about his children (a boy and a girl), whom I had not yet seen, and begged to know when I should see them.

"Soupramany has taken them out fishing," said their father.

"Why, isn't Soupramany your great war-elephant?" I cried.

"Exactly so. You cannot have forgotten Soupramany !" "Of course not. I was here, you elephant who went mad while loading a transport with bags of rice down yonder. I saw the mad elephant when he suddenly began to fling the rice into the river. His 'mahout' tried to stop Edith to speak of me as I have of her." him and he killed the mahout. The native sailors ran away to hide themselves, and the mad elephant, trumpeting, charged into this inclosure. Old Soupramany was here, and so were Jim and Bessy. When he saw the mad animal, he threw himself between him and the children. The little ones and their nurses had just time to get into the house when the fight commenced." "Yes," said the major. "Old Soup was a hundred years old. He had been trained to war, and to fight with the rhinoceros, but he was too old to hunt

"And yet," said I, becoming animated by the recollections of that day, what a gallant fight it was! Do you remember how we all stood on this porch and watched it, not daring to fire a shot lest we should hit Old Soupramany? Do you remember, too, his look when he drew off, after fighting an hour and a half, leaving his adversary dying in the dust, and walked straight to the 'corral' shaking his great ears which had been badly torn, with his head bruised, and a great piece broken from one of his tusks?"

"Yes, indeed," said the major. "Well dear little ones than ever. He takes them out whole days, and I am perfectly content to have them under his charge. I don't like trusting Christian children to the care of natives; but with old Soup I know they can come to no

Beside the children, on the Bank of the Ganges, stood old Soup with a bamboo rod in his trunk, with line, book, bait, and cork, like the children's. I had not watched him long before he had a bite; for, as the religion of the Hindoos forbids them to take life, the river swarms with fishes.

The old fellow did not stir : his little eyes watched his line eagerly; he was no novice in "the gentle craft." He was waiting till it was time to draw in his prize. At the end of his line, as he drew it up, was dangling one of those

When Soupramany perceived what a fine fish he had caught, he uttered one of those long, low, gurgling notes of satisfaction by which an elephant expresses joy; and he waited patiently. expecting Jim to take his prize off the hook and put on some bait for him. But Jim, the little rascal, sometimes liked to plague Old Soup. He nodded, as much as to say, "Look out, and you'll see fun, now!" Then he took off the fish, which he threw into a water jar placed there for the purpose, and went back to his place without putting any bait on Old Soup's hook. The intelligent animal did not attempt to throw his line into the water. He tried to move Jim by low, pleading cries. It was curious to note what tender tones he tried to give his voice. Seeing that Jim paid no attention to his calls, but sat and laughed as he handled his own line, Old Soup went up to him, and with his trunk tried to turn his head in the direction of the baitbox. At last, when he found that all he could do would not induce his willful friend to help him, he turned round as if struck by a sudden thought, and, snatching up in his trunk the box that held the bait, came and laid it down at the major's feet; then picking up his rod, he held it out to his master.

"What do you want me to do with this, Old Soup?" said the major. The creature lifted one great foot after the other, and again began to utter his plaintive cry. Out of mischief, I took Jimmy's part, and, picking up the bait-box, pretended to run with it. The elephant was not going to be teased by me. He dipped his trunk into the Ganges, and in an instant squirted a stream of water over me with all the from a book about elephants, written by force and precision of a fire-engine. to a French gentleman, named Jacolliot, the immense amusement of the children. and we will let the author tell his own The major at once made Soup a sign to stop, and, to make my peace with the fine old fellow, I bated his hook myself. THE THREE SIEVES.

"O mamma," cried little Blanche

"My dear," interrupted Mrs. Philpott, " before you continue, we will see if your story will pass the three sieves." "What does that mean, mamma?" inquired Blanche.

'I will explain it. In the first place, is it true?" "I suppose so; I got it from Miss

White, and she is a great friend of Edith's." "And does she show her friendship know, when he had that fight with the by telling these tales of her? In the next place, though you can prove it to

FROM the Christian Intelligencer: "The soul of the late Pope, solemnly decreed to be infallible in matters of religion, is now in purgatory. The pontiff was claimed to be vicar of Christ, the vice-regent of God, and yet the people who a few days ago adored him as such are now trying to pray him out of purgatory. Every Romanist, when he dies, has no hope of eternal life except in the faithfulness of the men he leaves behind him to pray for the repose of his soul, the prayers to be addressed chiefly to the Virgin Mary and the saints. Romanism puts man, and to a large extent the priest, in the place of God."

LIBERAL TERMS TO AGENTS NOTICES OF THE PRESS.

This work will be found a most interesting volume, especially to Methodists. The time for its appearance had fully come. Such works as Mr. Smith's, connect them selves with general literature, and they become of interest, not merely to the denomi nations whose careers they describe but to every one interested in tracing the rise and progress of a people.—Reporter, Halifax.

As Methodism in the East and West is now consolidated into one organization, this history of Mr. Smith's is well adapted to make the Methodists of the West better acquainted with the origin and history of Methodism in the East, and thus bring them into closer sympathy with the work of our brethren in the East. A fuller knowledge of that work will be a bond of fraternity and unity. The volume is highly creditable to both the author and the publisher. It is got up in good style. We bespeak for it a wide circulation among the readers of the "Guardian"—Guardian, Toronto.

It would be a means of grace, as well as a source of valuable information to our people; and ought to be in every Methodist family .- Rev. C. Stewart, D. D. Prof. of

Is invaluable as a repositery of the annals of Methodism in this country. It opens with a judicious chapter on the Origin and Characteristics of Methodism, and then, chapter after chapter, gives the history of the evangelistic efforts and operations of the Methodists, from 1769 to 1813. Mr Smith has evidently bestowed great pains on this work. It is minute and comprehensive and appears to do ample justice to the subject. We trust his services will be heartily appreciated and that he will thus be encouraged to prosecute a task for which he seems peculiarly well qualified .- Presbyterian

It is needless to say that the book is interesting, especially so to our Methodist friends. While the main object kept in view by the author has been to present an authentic and reliable history of Wesleyan Methodism, he has necessarily embodied in his narrative many historical facts of a general character, bearing upon the condition of the country socially, morally and religiously, which are calculated to render it valuable as a history to people generally as well as to Methodists. The book is deserving of a wide circulation and careful perusal.—Chronicle, Halifax.

Its typographical appearance reflects credit upon the establishment from which it emanates. The work is ably written, and the information to be derived from it is invaluable.—Reporter, Fredericton.

We recommend our readers to procure it for themselves. It will do good both to their heads and their hearts - Canada Methodist Magazine.

This book ought to be in every Methodist Sabbath School, side by side with the first books in real merit.—Rev. D. D. Currie. If our readers want to possess a history of heroic struggles and glerious triumphs let them procure this book. We trust that it will have a wide circulation, especially among those for whom it is chiefly written .- Recorder, London. The Churches in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward-Island, and the Bermudas have found a painstaking historian in Mr. Watson Smith, who traces their rise and progress, and chronicles the names and doings of the pioneer missionaries with loving care.—Recorder, London.
