GOOD HEALTH AND GOOD SPIRITS

Depend Upon the Condition of the Blood—Keep it Rich, Red and Pure.

When a doctor tells you that you are anemic, he simply means, in plain English, that your blood is weak and watery. But this condition is one that may easily pass into a hopeless decline if prompt steps are not taken to enrich the blood. Poor blood, weak, watery blood is the cause of headaches and backaches, loss of appetite, poor digestion, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervous irritability and many other troubles. To poor blood is due the pimples and blotches, the muddy complexion that disfigures so many faces. To have good health, a good complexion and a cheerful manner, the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. This is easily done through the use of a blood enriching tonic like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The whole mission of this medicine is to help enrich the blood which reaches every nerve and every organ of the body, bringing with it health, strength and new activity. That is why people who occasionally use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills always feel bright, active and strong.

Mrs. E. E. Cook, Simcoe, Ont., gives strong testimony to the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when the blood is in an anemic condition, she says: "I have been a sufferer for some years from a run down condition of the system. I suffered from pains in the back, twitching of the nerves and muscles, my appetite was poor, I had indigestion and would get drowsy after eating. My hands and feet were almost always cold, and though I was constantly doctoring, the medicine I took did not help me. I had practically given up hope of good health, until a friend from Hamilton came to visit me, and urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It took some persuasion, but finally I consented to try them. I have reason to be grateful that I did, for after using seven boxes I felt like a new person. I have gained in weight, have a better color and my work is now a pleasure. For this condition my thanks are due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I cannot praise them too highly."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

There are practically no women auto drivers in Argentina.

Surnames and Their Origin

JACKSON

Variations—Jacks, Jaxon, Jakes, Jake, Jacox.

Racial Origin—English. Source—A given name.

Here is a group of family names, the derivation of which seems quite obvious. As a matter of fact, it's only half obvious.

You think these names all trace back to the given name of John. So they do. But they all also trace back to the given name of James. In the case of the individual family it is impossible to determine which, unless the ancestry of the family can be traced back to the person from whom it took the surname; and then the research will fall unless there is enough of the history of that individual available to determine whether his medieval neighbors called him "Jack" because his name was John or because it was James.

The nickname of Jack was, if anything, more commonly used for the given name of James than of John in the middle ages. And really the discussion gets more confusing as we go on, for we pause here to remark that the name of James in the middle ages was not James at all, but "Jacobus," and that to-day the French form of the name is "Jacques." That is why the nickname of Jack was more often the variation of James than of John.

The manner in which the family names of Jackson and Jaxon were evolved from Jack is, of course, quite clear. Jacobus, not a very common variation, has been developed from Jack in the same way that Hancock was built up on Han (from Johan, or John), through the diminutive ending "cock."

The Boy Scouts Association

The Tenth Annual Meeting of the Provincial Council for Ontario of the Boy Scout Association held in Toronto on Friday, January 28th, was the most largely attended meeting that body has ever had, some fifty members of the Council and representatives from various sections of the province being in attendance. Mr. J. W. Mitchell, Vice-President of the Council, presided in the absence of the President, Mr. Gilbert E. Fauquier, who is spending the winter in Italy.

Reports presented to the meeting indicated that the organization in Ontario is now reaching practically 9,000 boys, there having been a substantial increase both in the number of troops and in public interest in the Scout movement since the early summer. It was also stated that the Provincial Board of Honour which deals with all applications for awards for life-saving, etc., dealt with seven meritorious cases during the first six months it was in office. Of these, two were for saving persons from death by fire, four for gallantry in water accidents, and one for specially good services rendered to the Boy Scout Movement. One boy saved two children from certain death in a fire which destroyed their home in which they were quarantined because they were suffering from scarlet fever. The scout not only performed the rescue at great risk to himself, but in doing so contracted a severe attack of the disease.

For the year 1921 Mr. Gilbert E. Fauquier, of Ottawa, was re-elected President, and Mr. W. K. George, of Toronto, Provincial Commissioner. Mr. J. W. Mitchell, of Toronto, and Rev. Fr. Hebert, of Ottawa, are the Vice-Presidents, and Messrs. H. A. Laurence and G. H. Ross respectively are the Provincial Secretary and Provincial Treasurer. The new Executive Committee consists of Sir John Eaton, C. Q. Ellis, A. B. Fisher, J. E. Ganong, J. G. Gibson, Lt.-Col. Hendrie, John G. Kent, Lt.-Col. Noel Marshall, C. B. McNaught, John A. Northway, A. J. Mitchell, J. F. M. Stewart, H. R. Tudhope, A. J. Gough and J. J. Vaughan. Messrs. Frank Arnold, K.C., H. A. Laurence, T. Albert Brown and A. T. Reid were re-elected to the Board of Honour.

Thrifty Boy.

Mother—"Oh, Freddy! I thought you were trying to economize, and here I find you with both jam and butter on your bread."

Freddy—"Why, of course, mother. One piece of bread does for both."

It is not Christianity that is a failure, it is the lack of it.

A Plea.

My life is what I made it, good or ill.

Let me forever know this, and be still. I would not lay to destiny or fate. The failures that are mine, or over-rate.

Those fruitless efforts made.

But looking on this life as but a grade, I would with contrite spirit strongly strive

To let what good there is in me survive.

WELL SATISFIED WITH BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she will use nothing else. Her use of them leads her to believe there is no other medicine to equal them for any of the many minor ailments of childhood. Concerning them Mrs. Eugene Boisvert, East Aldfield, Que., writes: "My baby was terribly constipated, but after the use of Baby's Own Tablets he is entirely well again. I am so well satisfied with the Tablets that I lose no opportunity in recommending them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

To Study Pain in "Phantom" Limbs.

Dr. G. Jefferson, of the Royal Infirmary at Manchester, has just received a grant for the purpose of studying the after-history of amputation cases, particularly those in which pain is felt in "phantom" limbs, the former members which no longer exist. Dr. George Riddock, of London, in discussing "phantom limbs," says: "When a person has an amputation of a leg or an arm it is a fact that he often complains of pain in the missing member. He may be wearing a cork leg at the time, but the feeling is that the foot is still there. Sometimes this peculiarity is distressing and, although it may last only a few months, cases are known in which persons who have had only one arm or leg for years have complained of aches and pains in the limbs they had lost."

"Cascaret" If Sick, Bilious, Headachy

To-night sure! Let a pleasant, harmless Cascaret work while you sleep and have your liver active, head clear, stomach sweet and bowels moving regular by morning. No griping or inconvenience. 10, 25 and 50 cent boxes. Children love this candy cathartic too.

How Animals Sleep.

Elephants sleep standing up. When in a herd a certain number will always stand watch while the others sleep, for the big, powerful beasts are timid and cautious at night and will not go to sleep unguarded.

Bats sleep head downward, hanging by their hind claws.

Birds, with few exceptions, sleep with their heads turned tailward over the back and the beak thrust beneath the wing.

Storks, gulls and other long-legged birds sleep standing on one leg.

Ducks sleep on open water. To avoid drifting ashore they keep paddling with one foot, thus making them move in a circle.

Foxes and wolves sleep curled up, their noses and the soles of their feet close together and blanketed by their bushy tails.

Lions, tigers and cat animals stretch themselves out flat upon the side. Their muscles twitch and throb, indicating that they are light and restless sleepers.

Owls, in addition to their eyelids, have screens that they draw sideways across their eyes to shut out the light, for they sleep it, the daytime.

"Pape's Diapepsin" Corrects Stomach.

"Pape's Diapepsin" is the quickest, surest relief for indigestion, Gases, Flatulence, Heartburn, Sourness, Fermentation or Stomach Distress caused by acidity. A few tablets give almost immediate stomach relief and shortly the stomach is corrected so you can eat favorite foods without fear. Large case costs only 60 cents at drug store. Absolutely harmless and pleasant. Millions helped annually. Largest selling stomach correcter in world.—Adv.

Quarantine.

"This child has the scarlet fever," cautioned the doctor, picking up his hat, "and must be kept apart from the other children. Do you understand?"

"O! do," replied the father.

The next morning early the physician again called. When the Irishman observed the doctor glancing around the room, he said:

"O! I'll soon hev him here, doctor. Ye told me t' keep 'im separate from the rest, an' seen' as we hev only th' wan bed f'r th' fove iv us, O! sent 'im over t' slape wid th' lad next door!"

No Acquaintance With Water.

"Could you do something for a poor old sailor?" asked the seedy-looking wanderer at the gate.

"Poor old sailor?" echoed the woman at work at the tub.

"Yes, ma'am. I followed the water for sixteen years."

"Well," said the woman, "you certainly don't look as if you ever caught up with it."

There are two kinds of religion: creeds and deeds.

Used Autos

Bradley's Used Car Market, Toronto, 402 Yonge Street.

New Uses for Paper.

We have heard of paper suits, and we have all donned paper hats at children's parties, but Germany is putting paper to an even more unique use.

Whilst travelling in Germany recently an Englishman was struck by the curious window straps in the German trains. Instead of being the orthodox leather ones they appeared to be made of some very strong twisted fibre.

Later he was able to procure a portion of one of these straps, and, on investigation, found that they were simply made of paper. It had been twisted into tiny strands, and twisted again and again, then probably treated with something to strengthen it, for the straps must needs be very strong to hold up a carriage window, especially as those in the German trains are of a large and heavy type.

The seats in many of the trains are also covered with the same substance, while baskets and many other articles are made in the same way.

His Hearing Restored.

The invisible ear drum invented by A. O. Leonard, which is a miniature megaphone, fitting inside the ear entirely out of sight, is restoring the hearing of hundreds of people in New York City. Mr. Leonard invented this drum to relieve himself of deafness and head noises, and it does this so successfully that no one could tell he is a deaf man. It is effective when deafness is caused by catarrh or by perforated, or wholly destroyed natural drums. A request for information to A. O. Leonard, Suite 437, 70 Fifth Avenue, New York City, will be given a prompt reply.

Mr. Paderewski's Title to Fame.

The Polish patriot and pianist, Mr. Paderewski, is keenly interested in farm stock. He once bought some prize pigs in Essex, a transaction to which the newspapers gave much publicity. Not long after he had made the purchase he was looking into the pigsty at a certain farm, when the farmer came up and began to talk. Being anxious to impress the visitor with his importance, the farmer led him to a sty that he had not seen and, pointing to the inmates, said, "Do you see them pigs? I've sold them to Mr. Paderewski, the great pig dealer from abroad!"

Most Wonderful Thing.

"Tell me, Jamie, what was the most wonderful thing you saw while at sea?"

"I think the strangest thing I saw was the flying fish."

"Noo, laddie, dinna mak' a fule o' yer mither. Wha ever heard o' a fish feelin'?"

"Another strange thing I saw when crossing the Red Sea. We dropped anchor, and when we raised it again there was one of the wheels of Pharoah's chariot on it."

"Aye, laddie, I believe you. We've scripture for that."

BITS OF HUMOR FROM HERE & THERE

Keep it Dark.

Johnson—"De Brown never speaks of his family tree."

Bronson—"I expect it's much too shady."

Dining Out.

"Where is the man who keeps this restaurant?" said the disgusted patron.

"He's gone out to lunch," replied the waiter.

A Compromise.

Patient—"Doctor, I'll compromise with you on that bill of yours."

Doctor—"Compromise! What do you mean?"

Patient—"Well, I'll pay for your medicine, and return your visits."

Model Husband.

Mrs. Newbride—"Oh, dearie, I meant this to be a cottage pudding, but it wouldn't rise."

True Husband—"That's all right, sweetest. Shall we call it a flat pudding?"

One of the Family.

Mrs. Puff (to the new maid)—"But, Alice, there are only two in the family—Mr. Puff and myself. Why had you set places for three?"

The New Maid—"But, ma'am, the cook told me that you had a piano-player in the house."

Scotch Thrift.

It was dinner-time the day after the wedding.

"What's this?" said MacTavish.

"Stewed fruit?"

"Aye," replied his bride. "Dinna ye like stewed fruit?"

"Indeed, I do," replied MacTavish.

"But what hae ye done with a' yon rice we got yesterday?"

In every Bayer package are directions for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Earache, Tooth Lumbago and for Pain. Handy tin boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell larger packages. Made in Canada. Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada), of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

Cause of Early Old Age

The celebrated Dr. Michenhoff, an authority on early old age, says that it is "caused by poisons generated in the intestine." When your stomach digests food properly it is absorbed without forming poisonous matter. Poisons bring on early old age and premature death. 15 to 30 drops of "Seigel's Syrup" after meals makes your digestion sound. 10

Inspector Makes Haul at Warton.

License Inspector White of Walkerton, who in company with Inland Revenue Officer Johnston of Owen Sound, made a raid on the illicit whiskey industry in the northern portion of the county last week, returned home from the chase with, figuratively speaking, the scalps of three offenders dangling at his belt and $1900 in fines recorded against the culprits. After having two brothers, Geo. and Samuel Wynoch, mulcted $600 for operating stills and manufacturing swamp whiskey on their farms near Cape Croker, the guardians of the law focused their attention on the soulful town of Warton, where on the front street, J. S. Cook, marble dealer, was caught with ninety gallons of brew, ready to be distilled into "swamp whiskey," together with a worm, still and other paraphernalia that goes to make up a complete tanglefoot manufactory. With a whiskey plant above his place and a tomb-stone business below, Cook seemed in a position to corrupt the living and commemorate the dead. Taken by surprise, the culprit merely bit his lips and swallowed his "Adams Apple." Afterwards he paid out $500 for violating the Dominion Act by having the still on the premises and $200 for a breach of the Ontario Law for keeping booze in connection with his business. All told he passed over $700 for the dual offence. The Inspector's visit to the North Country may be still further enhanced, if a clue that he is working on, materializes, as seems likely for if he can but see the smoke the local sleuth can be counted upon to find the fire.—H. & T.

Fire at Knechtel Factory.

Fire broke out in the finishing department on the fourth floor of the Knechtel Furniture Co.'s main factory here last Thursday morning shortly after 8 o'clock and resulted in damage to the extent of about $2,500.

The fire started probably from spontaneous combustion when an employee, George Krueger, drew a pail of gasoline from a tank. The benzine ignited on touching the pail, and the room was soon in flames. Krueger had the presence of mind to turn off the tap before leaving the place. The sprinkler system of the company worked admirably and prevented the spread of the flames. The Hanover Fire Brigade was called out, but their assistance, happily, was not required, as the blaze was soon under control.—Post.

Palmerston Burglars Must Stand Trial.

Provincial Detective Elliott last Thursday morning returned to Guelph with a prisoner from Palmerston, Edward Hayes, who was placed under arrest in connection with a burglary at Anderson's harness shop, Palmerston, on Sunday morning. High County Constable Green and Detective Elliott had been working on the theft since Monday and made three arrests. Avril Mitchell, a pal of Hayes, and Rolson Driver, a farmer, who resides in Maryborough Township, were the other two taken into custody. Mitchell faces a charge of theft along with Hayes, while Driver is charged with receiving stolen goods. The three men appeared before Magistrate Rabb at Palmerston on Wednesday of last week and were committed for trial. Driver and Mitchell were allowed out on bail of $2,000 each. Some of the stolen goods, it is alleged, were located at Driver's farm, while the remaining articles were found in a swamp just outside of Palmerston.

It cost J. S. Cook a Warton stone-cutter, $780 for manufacturing swamp whiskey and George and Samuel Wynoch of Cape Chin, about 16 miles north of Lions Head, were soaked $600 for home-made mountain dew. The Wynochs were making the real old red-eye under a barn and in the house of Samuel Wynoch.

That is what everyone says who comes to our store and hears the pure musical tone of Edison's Amberola Phonograph, after listening to shrill "talking machines" and the metallic sound of ordinary phonographs. That is what you will say when this revelation of pure melody greets your ears. No wonder Edison's Amberola has proved its marked superiority over ordinary phonographs in great public tests.

EDISON'S NEW DIAMOND

is the world's greatest phonograph value—the "master product of Edison's master mind." Just consider its genuine Diamond Point Reproducer, which forever does away with the bother and expense of changing needles!

And Amberol Records are just as far superior to ordinary records. They are practically indestructible, and give years of enjoyment after ordinary records have broken and been thrown away.

When you consider that you can own Edison's Amberola on practically your own terms you must realize you owe it to yourself and your family to come to our store without delay and let us play the world's best music for you on this wonderful phonograph. Don't delay your visit—come today, tomorrow, as soon as possible—we will expect you. Bring all the family and your friends, too—they will all be welcome.

GRAY-DORT

UNIT by unit, and feature by feature, a comparison shows the Gray-Dort to be bigger or stronger or better than other light cars. The motor is bigger, with cooling system to match; 40-pound crankshaft; three-ring pistons; Westinghouse starting and lighting; big axles; long springs; deep upholstery; hand-tailored top; side curtains opening with the doors; Thermoid brake-linings. Any man who will take the trouble to measure and weigh, and test the units of light cars will be able to see and feel the value which is in the Gray-Dort.

This value has made sales so rapid that you should see the Gray-Dort dealer at once to be sure of securing your car.

Mild Weather Will Continue.

A man who knows cold weather when he sees it holds out no new hope to the coal preferences for the balance of this winter. Sir Ernest Shackleton, famous Arctic explorer, arriving from England on the Aquitania, gave it his opinion that the balance of the winter is to be as mild as it has been thus far.

"The North Atlantic is loose," says the explorer. "The northernmost parts of Norway, Sweden and Siberia are also having a mild winter, and the peaks in Spitzbergen are not even covered with snow."

"As far as I can see, the mild winter which the whole world is experiencing will continue. My own observations lead me to this conclusion."

No dividends are probable for shareholders of the defunct Farmers' Bank, according to G. T. Clarkson, liquidator. The most that the assets will do is to redeem the note issue and provide for liquidating expenses. All the assets have been disposed of, with the exception of a few judgments of doubtful value and a one-quarter interest in the Cochrane mining claim of Cobalt, which may have some value.

IN THE SURROGATE COURT OF THE COUNTY OF BRUCE.

In the matter of the estate of Lewis Meyer, late of the Township of Carleton Place, in the county of Bruce, (widower) deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given pursuant to Section 56, Chapter 121, R. S. O., that all persons having claims or demands against the estate of the said Lewis Meyer, deceased, who died on or about the 23rd day of December, A. D. 1920, are required to send by post, prepaid or deliver to the undersigned executor, John Kunkel and Alex Meyer on or before the 15th day of March A. D. 1921, their claims and surnames and addresses with full particulars in writing of their claims and statement of their accounts and the nature of the security (if any), held by them, July verified by statutory declaration.

And take notice that after the said 15th day of March 1921 A. D., the said executors will proceed to distribute the assets of the said deceased among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which they shall then have notice, and the said executors will not be liable for the said assets or any part thereof to any person or persons of whose claim notice shall not have been received by them at the time of such distribution.

Voison—Meyer

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at Formosa St. Mary's church, Feb. 1st at 9 a.m., when Miss Matilda Rosetta, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. D. Meyer, Ambleside, councillor of Culross, became the bride of Mr. George Voison, 12 Commercial Street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Brohman. The bride who was prettily attired in dress of white satin trimmed with Georgette crepe and gold lace, with picture hat to match, carried a bouquet of white roses and maiden hair ferns. The bride was attended by the groom's sister Miss Ella Voison, who wore a dress of cream silk and carried pink carnations and ferns. Mr. Leo Meyer, brother of the bride acted as best man. After the ceremony the relatives and friends of the bride and groom retired to the home of the bride's parents where a dainty dinner was served. Many handsome gifts testified the popularity of the bride.

"Here Comes The Bride!"

Everybody wishes her well! Happy and radiant she starts out on life's adventure. She should have health to begin with. Good looks in woman do not depend upon age, but upon health.

You never see a good-looking woman who is weak, run-down, irritable, out of sorts, fidgety and nervous. Headaches, backaches, and troubles of that sort are all destroyers of beauty. Men do not admire sickness. It is within the reach of every woman to be well, healthy and strong if she will take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

TORONTO, ONT.—"Less than a year ago I was in a very poor state of health; my back ached dreadfully and I could scarcely drag myself around to do my housework. I started to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and I cannot praise it too highly for the great benefit I received. My back-ache and pains disappeared entirely and I soon was restored to perfect health. I know that Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best woman's medicine, for I have tried others that were recommended, and nothing has ever helped me so much as the Favorite Prescription."—Mrs. KATHLEEN WILLIAMS, 13 Brookfield St.

Twenty-nine five pound pails of honey were seized by Dominion Food Inspector W. E. Wilson from a London grocer on Wednesday last. Recent orders from Ottawa were to the effect that any honey container which did not have the name and address of the beekeeper would be confiscated and given to some charitable institution. He intimated that there were several other stores in the city where honey was kept without the proper identification and that these places would be cleaned up next week. When asked how the grocer could get back a portion of money for his goods confiscated he said that if the grocer knew whom he bought the honey from, he could demand enough cash to cover the loss. He also stated that before long an act would be passed necessitating the name and address of the producer of everything sold on the market.

"The Blooming' Old Rag Overhead"

A SMALL Union Jack stippled amid the trees top, there seemed something quaint about it, a rag, won't-be-downhearted spirit, when you heard its history. A doctor at the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives was talking. "The sad thing is, it's young people, eager, hard-working boys and girls, T.B. attacks usually—those who make the best Canadians, because they're ambitious. See that flag? The fellows in that pavilion were determined to have a flag. Each contributed the little he could. They got the flag, but poor chaps, they're disappointed—it's so tiny."

Yes, tiny up among the towering pines, but defiantly proclaiming "What we have we'll hold." And in the cots beneath, lads, weak and ill, but battling for health, laid those precious pennies bought "the rag overhead," are seeing its dauntless spirit—"What life we have we'll hold." Lads worth saving surely! Contributions may be sent to Sir William Gage, 41 Spadina Avenue, Toronto, or to Geo. A. Reid, Treasurer, 228 College Street, Toronto.

Soils and Crops

Address communications to Agronomist, 75 Adelaide St. West, Toronto.

More Attention to Farm Forestry.

Aside from the income resulting from the sale of timber, the area devoted to the farm woodlot makes a substantial contribution to the success of the farm. It provides fuel, fence posts, materials for construction and repair, products of the sugar bush, and protection to crops, stock and buildings against weather extremes. The forest holds back flood waters, improves and builds up the soil and adds greatly to the attractiveness of rural scenery.

The rapidly increasing attention that is now being given to this department of the farm is due very largely to the much higher prices recently paid for forest products. Timber is a national necessity. The country was suddenly awakened during the war to its defenseless position should our wood supply be exhausted. The increased demand occasioned by the gradual growth of peaceful pursuits as well as by military needs and the gradual reduction of available stocks have been responsible for the flight in lumber quotations. That value will be maintained on a correspondingly higher level in years to come than during the past can hardly be questioned owing to this relation of supply and demand.

The farmer should make his woodlot permanently profitable. When the lesson that all departments of the farm should contribute a reasonable share to the operator's income is generally understood and practiced, the farmer will see to it that land unsuited for cultivated crops will be devoted to the growing of timber. Through the production of a greater abundance of trees of superior quality by protecting them from fire, thinning where too crowded and planting where too thin, the farmer's income will be enhanced. The farm management problem will be partly solved in that he will be better able to employ his men and teams during the cold months. The attempt to combine stock raising and forestry will be abandoned by the thoughtful farmer, who will rather strive to keep the floor of his woodlot free from grass through encouraging the growth of a dense forest roof. He will come to realize that the quantity of products taken from this department of the farm will be doubled and tripled if he gives it the same consideration accorded other crops.

Perhaps no province in the Dominion offers more promising opportunities for the adoption of modern woodlot practices than does Ontario. The growth of her unsurpassed virgin forests proves the adaptability of her soils and climate. The wide variety of these soils provides for the production of wood to meet every human need. Here may be found extensive areas not well suited to the culture of other crops, that may well be devoted to forestry work. The best markets in the world are available and transportation lines and woodworking factories were built for marketing this particular class of products. Since general farming predominates, the labor situation in rural districts could be generally improved by furnishing productive employment throughout the year. These and other inducements urge Ontario farmers to a more careful study of modern methods of producing and marketing their woodland products.

How You Can Get Good Hatches.

It is easy to forget that hatching eggs are really living objects, and must be cared for as such. Most people are very careful with eggs under a sitting hen or in an incubator, because they realize that there are delicate, living chicks inside. But they will handle eggs, before starting incubation, with no other thought than "an egg is an egg," and that breaking them is the only way they can be harmed.

It is true, before the hatching egg is heated, that the germ in it is more hardy than after hatching has started. In this respect egg germs are like buds on a tree. Buds will stand a lot of cold weather changes during the winter when they are dormant, but after a little warm weather has awakened these buds, and they show signs of life, we know that a cold spell means disaster to them.

So it is with the germ in the hatching egg. It is dormant when laid, but a little heat will start it growing. Then it is very tender, and a changing temperature will either kill it or materially weaken it. A great many eggs get heated in the laying nest. An egg laid in the morning might be under different laying hens continually, until late afternoon. The heat from these hens would be enough to warm up the egg and start germ growth. This very tender germ may be seriously weakened or even killed before it reaches the incubator. It is therefore important to keep hatching eggs in an even temperature.

There is no more important factor in successful hatching than that of moisture. If you have ever operated an incubator you doubtless know this, and provide moisture when needed. But did you ever think of providing moisture before putting the eggs in the machines? The egg shell is just as porous before it is in the machine as afterward, and it will lose moisture just as quickly if we are not careful. Once the moisture has left the egg, it cannot be replaced, so that if this factor is not considered we start off with an egg much too dry for best hatches.

Warm, circulating air is more desirable than cool, moist air, and will absorb water from an egg ever so much more quickly. So when hatching eggs are to be held for a day or more they should be placed in a cool, damp place. The cellar is often the best place, and the kitchen the worst.

If you will gather your hatching eggs often, if you will keep them from getting heated enough to start germ development, and will place them in a place which is neither too warm nor too dry, you will get good results. In doing this you eliminate two factors—heating and drying, which spoil more hatching eggs than anything else.

Dominion Department of Agriculture.

The Report of the Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa, for the year ending March 31st, 1920, makes reference to a conference of representatives of Federal and Provincial Departments at which an agreement was reached which will, to a large extent, eliminate overlapping and allow for close co-operation in the varieties of work carried on. Production, it was agreed, is to be carried on through provincial activities, while marketing and experimental work are to be cared for by the Dominion Department, except where special arrangements to the contrary are deemed wise. The Report of the Minister covers, in addition, the work of the Department carried on through the year by the various branches: Dairy and Cold Storage, Seed, Live Stock, Health of Animals, Fruit, Entomological, Publications, International Institute, and Experimental Farms. Among the new activities reported are the record of performance for poultry and special relief policy of the Live Stock Branch, with relation to the supplying of feed to unfortunate districts in the Prairie Provinces. The Report is distributed by the Publications Branch, which is shown to have sent out, during the year, two and a half million copies of publications.

THE REASON

Jane was tardy at breakfast, not because she cared especially about sleeping late, but because her family insisted that a school-teacher on her summer vacation ought to sleep late. As she sat down in her cool, loose blue smock she noticed the contrast between herself and her sister Frances, who, neat and trim, all ready for her day at the office, sat opposite her.

"Have a roll, Jane?" asked her father. "Now that you are at home you must eat and get those rosy cheeks back again."

"Don't worry about me," said Jane smiling. "I'm so glad you are here at last, dear," said Frances. "I couldn't bear to think of you away up there in that little school among the horrid coal mines. And we have always had such good times together here."

"It feels perfectly wonderful to be at home," declared Jane. "Oh, by the way, sis," said Rodney, "I saw Martin on the street yesterday, and he wanted to know if you were coming back to the Chronicle this summer. He says he wants to make it permanent. He said you could be society editor by the first of the year."

"Oh, no, Rodney," said Jane mildly. "You know I made my decision last summer. I am a teacher, not a newspaper woman."

"Jane!" cried Frances sharply. "How can you talk so? You can change your mind. And such a splendid offer! Why, before I'd go back to wear myself out in that tiresome hole in the woods for the sake of a hundred wild youngsters I'd—"

"It does seem as if the newspaper work were not so tiring," said mother gently.

"Of course newspaper work is no end more lively," said Rodney.

"It is better paid; there's one thing to be said for it," said father.

"Oh, but every consideration is against teaching," Frances urged her. "Teaching is just burying yourself, tearing yourself out before your time. You are never appreciated—"

Frances was interrupted by a sharp ring at the doorbell.

"Postman," said Rodney. "I'll go." He returned presently with a handful of letters.

"One for Jane from her northern town," he announced. "What queer writing!"

Jane tore it open and read it. At the end she looked up with a little inarticulate noise that was neither a sob nor a laugh, but a combination of both.

"I wish you people would read this," she said breathlessly. "It's the reason—one of the reasons—why I have to go back to my high school. Herbert is a little fellow in the junior high; he just escaped being sent to reform school the year before I went up there. We got to be pretty good friends, and while he was sick in the spring he wanted to do something for me; so he gave up smoking. I thought he never had smoked since then, but—well, read it."

She passed the disreputable-looking little letter to her father, who slowly read it aloud:

"Dear Teacher. I thought I would write you a few lines because I have something to tell you. You know that last night at the party you asked me if I had ever smoked again since I promised not to, and I said no; but it was a lie, because I had. No one ever spoke as kind words to me as you have, and you are the only one I ever gave my word to; and then I only kept it a month, and I think that is what made me feel so mean the last few weeks of school. That is why I never came to tell you good-bye. Please forgive me, and I will try harder not to smoke. O Miss Harrison, if you only knew how sorry I am! I can see the smile on your kind face yet. Hoping to hear from you soon, I am, Yours truly, Herbert Machall."

As Jane's father laid the blotted little letter gently upon the tablecloth no one spoke. Mother was wiping her eyes.

"Plucky little chap!" muttered Rodney.

Jane smiled suddenly, radiantly. "Dear people, don't you see why I have to go back?"

"Yes, I see! I see, Jane!" cried Frances, springing up to kiss her. "You blessed old dear!"

SPROUTS

Sort over the vegetables and estimate the amount needed for home use. All that can be spared will prove fine green feed for the hens and help to keep the breeding stock in vigorous condition until they can use the range every day. Mangels are cheaper than sprouted oats and are good health producers but possibly they are not relished by the hens as much as oat sprouts.

Dry mash hoppers can be made by sketching the side view of a hopper on the side of a packing box. Then saw out the hopper and use the boards removed to close up the front and top. Use a small cleat in the front of the hopper as a lip to keep the birds from drawing out the mash with their bills. A piece of wide-meshed poultry wire stretched across the opening will enable the hens to eat, but prevent wasting of the mash. Open receptacles for serving dry mash do not work well according to our experience, as the hens frequently scratch in them.

When it is snowing and blowing it is much satisfaction to know that the hens have hoppers of dry mash serving them cafeteria fashion, with the balanced ration which is as near as possible to ideal for egg production. Of course it is not exactly like the spring ration on the range, but it does help to keep hens thrifty and makes them lay.

Canada's Maple Products.

The manufacture of sugar and syrup from the sap of the sugar maple is an important farm industry in the Eastern provinces of Canada, and particularly in Quebec. Long before the white man settled the country, maple syrup was known to the aborigines, and apart from wild honey was the only intensely sweet product at their command. The methods of procuring it were naturally of a very crude description. Modern methods have greatly improved the product and have led to an ever-increasing demand. Quebec province is the centre of the industry. Of the 20,000,000 pounds, or thereabouts, produced annually in Canada, more than two-thirds have to be credited to Quebec. Ontario is officially reported to be responsible for five million pounds, and the Maritime Provinces for half a million pounds only. The other provinces of Canada do not figure in the calculations. These facts are gathered from a timely pamphlet just issued by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, of which J. B. Spencer, Director of Publicity, is the author. From this well illustrated and technically detailed publication it is also learned that the production of maple sugar, and its equivalent in syrups, of late years has shown a tendency to decrease. From 1851 to 1861 we are told the average yearly production was about 13,500,000 pounds, from 1861 to 1871 about 17,500,000 pounds, from 1871 to 1881, 19,000,000 pounds, and from 1881 to 1891, 22,500,000 pounds. The latter was the pinnacle of annual production, for in the next decade the average per year was 21,200,000 pounds, and in later years the average has been little less than 20,000,000 pounds. It is thought that perhaps with the increase in price that has taken place recently greater production may be looked for. It is estimated that the value of the yearly manufacture of sugar and syrup is $2,000,000, and that 50,000 people are employed in the industry at the height of the season, which is of very short duration, extending over only five or six weeks at the most. Stringent laws against the adulteration of the product have been passed, especially in Quebec, where schools of instruction have been established and the Pure Maple Sugar and Syrup Co-operative Agricultural Association has been organized.

It is easier to stay out than to get out.—Mark Twain.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

FEBRUARY 20, 1921

The Wise and the Foolish Virgins, St. Matt. 25: 1-13. Golden Text—St. Matt. 25: 13.

Time and Place—Tuesday, April 4, A.D. 29; Mount of Olives.

Connecting Links—Between the last Lesson and that for to-day, Matthew inserts Jesus' severe denunciation of the Pharisees (ch. 23: 1-36) and his lamentation over Jerusalem, ch. 23: 37-39. Other incidents of the same day in the temple are narrated in Mark 12: 41-44, Luke 21: 1-4, and John 12: 20-50. In the evening, ascending the Mount of Olives with His disciples, Jesus spoke to them about the events which should occur before His second coming to judge the world (ch. 24, compare Mark, ch. 13, and Luke 21: 5-36). The parable of the Ten Virgins forms part of this discourse.

I. The Warning, 1-5.

V. 1. Then; at the time of Christ's coming, referred to in the previous chapter. Kingdom of heaven; the kingdom which the Messiah came to establish, the kingdom which is the rule of God, whether in the human heart or in society. It exists now, but it has its full realization in eternity. Here the kingdom is regarded as a round number, as we would say a dozen. Or, perhaps the number "ten" signifies completeness, ten according to Jewish notions constituting a congregation. The ten virgins sum up the whole body of Christians, of whom there are just two classes. The ten virgins, strictly speaking, do not represent the kingdom of heaven, but those who are desirous of entering into it. They stand for those who are in the kingdom, so far as it can be enjoyed on earth, but who are on probation so far as the kingdom yet to come is concerned. Took their lamps. Being saucer-shaped and shallow, these held little oil and, therefore, would soon require refilling. To meet the bridegroom. It is usually supposed that the virgins went forth from the house of the bride's parents, in which the marriage was to be celebrated, to meet the procession of the bridegroom and his friends. Another view is that the bridegroom had gone to the house of the bride to fetch her to his own house and that the virgins had gone out to meet the returning procession.

V. 2. Wise . . . foolish; not good and bad, but prudent and imprudent, thoughtful and thoughtless. No oil; no additional supply. Oil in their vessels; an additional supply in case of need. The bridegroom tarried; an unexpected delay, due to some accident of the road. It suggests some delay in Christ's return. All (wise and foolish alike) slumbered and slept. There was nothing wrong in their sleeping; it was only natural after the long night hours of watching. The Greek is vivid; they nodded a bit, and then fell sound asleep and continued in slumber, perhaps in the shelter of a city gateway. When Jesus comes, as He does to every one at death, he may find us asleep, or busy about our daily work; but that matters little, if we are trusting in and serving Him.

II. The Warning, 6-9.

Vs. 6-8. At midnight. So the Messiah should come (see 1 Thess. 5: 2). Behold, the bridegroom; a brief, rousing cry, heard by all the sleepers. (Compare 1 Thess. 4: 16.) Go ye out to meet him; literally, "go forth to meeting." No words are used that could be dispensed with. Arose and trimmed their lamps; by adding oil and clearing the fibres with a needle. Are gone out; Rev. Ver., "are going out." The foolish virgins were not altogether unwatchful. They were alert, ready for the bridegroom's return.

V. 9. Not so; omitted in the Rev. Ver. The refusal was not expressed, but was implied in the reason given. Let there be not enough. Others connect with what follows: "Let there be not enough . . . go . . . to them they sell." Go . . . and buy. Some take this for sarcasm. Could oil be bought at midnight? If they went to buy, would they not miss the festivities? As the wedding procession to music and song was very slow, perhaps there was a chance of their buying and being back in time to overtake it. Bruce thinks the wise virgins simply refused to be burdened with their neighbors' affairs. Plummer says that "the refusal of the wise virgins to give of their oil indicates that they did not want to be put to impart to another the spiritual power which comes from frequent communion with God's spirit."

III. The Wedding, 10-13.

V. 10. While. The bridegroom was nearer, or came quicker than even the wise had thought. Went to buy. Compare Prov. 23: 23. There was no question about the ability to buy. The oil, symbolizing a living religion produced by the Holy Spirit (see Ex. 30: 23-25, 30; Ps. 45: 7; Zech., ch. 4) is without money and without price, Isa. 55: 1; Rev. 3: 8. The only difficulty was the lack of time. It was too late. Ready; the word on which the whole parable turns. To be ready here means to be properly equipped. Went in . . . to the marriage; Rev. Ver., "marriage feast." The blessedness of the kingdom is often pictured as a banquet (see chs. 8: 11; 36: 29). The door was shut. The guests were all supposed to have entered with the procession.

Vs. 11, 12. Lord, Lord, open to us. Compare ch. 7: 21. They had probably knocked and met no response; now the fear that they may not be admitted seizes their hearts, and they make a last urgent, desperate appeal. The appeal is addressed to the bridegroom; but it points forward to the Day of Judgment, and the bridegroom becomes the Lord Jesus Christ. I know you not. There is here a picture of those who are strangers to Christ, not belonging to the number of His true disciples, who alone enter the kingdom of heaven. He infers from their not being on time that they do not belong to the guests.

V. 13. Watch therefore; the moral of the parable, a warning not against sleep, but against lack of forethought, trusting to one's luck. Christ will surely come, when we know not; therefore, be always ready. Application. 1. The parable of the ten virgins shows how easy it is to miss the golden opportunity, through neglecting preparation. Shakespeare makes one of his characters say: "There is a tide in the affairs of men which taken at the flood, leads on to fortune; Omitted, all the voyage of their life is bound in shallows and in miseries. How important therefore, is it to make the right decision: When the war clouds burst over the world in 1914, what if Britain had refused to make any decision? What if Canada had delayed and debated and hesitated? We are standing at the parting of the ways in Canada, especially in Western Canada, to-day. Shall we commend Christianity to all the people with fresh enthusiasm and power, or shall we drift with the tide? In one's personal life, too, it is of great importance to seize the strategic opportunity before it elude our grasp. How often men and women regret their wasted years and their lost opportunity for an education gone; the decision for Christian service delayed. 2. The missionary application of this parable. Missionaries tell us that the nations of the earth are in a plastic condition, and that such countries as China, Korea, India, are awake as never before, and open to spiritual impressions. "If we win China, we shall win the world," said a missionary home from Korea, only the other day. How eagerly young men and women should present themselves for service in these great days! And should not all church members be instant in prayer that God would send forth laborers into his harvest? We are to "watch" the signs of the times, and the indications are that the Orient is ready for the gospel as never before. If we delay, the countries in the East may drift into agnosticism, and the supreme chance of the centuries be missed. 3. The 2nd, 3rd and 4th chance. In the parable the foolish virgins were shut out in the darkness. Their chance never came again. There is a deep and solemn truth in this final exclusion from the light, but in ordinary life we may recover ourselves somewhat. A youth may delay his decision for Christ, and later declare himself on the Master's side. But there is loss of course, and his regret will always be that he postponed his decision. If we have missed the golden opportunity we must be content with the second or third best afterwards. 4. What is the opportunity? It is participation in the divine kingdom. We have our Honor Rolls in our churches and colleges of those who enlisted in the Great War. Shall not the Great Master write down our names, every one, on the Honor Roll of the brave and valiant ones who join God himself as his "fellow-workers" in his task of establishing the kingdom? But what is the "kingdom of God"? It is growing in our midst quietly. It is nothing else than the reign of God on the earth, a reign that is to include all nations, kindreds, tongues; all institutions and societies; all legislation and industry; all joys and sorrows. There is one rich opportunity before the youth of Canada to-day—the life of definite service in building up the Master's kingdom, and more particularly the career of Christian leadership. We need hundreds of recruits for the ministry. There is no more patriotic and satisfying service than this. It needs preparation. Just as the "wise virgins" took "oil" with them, and were ready for the marriage feast, so our best leaders must equip themselves for the great duty of establishing Canadian life on the foundation of Christ. The "foolish" aspirants for leadership will rush to their task without "oil," without the necessary training and years of patient study. The old question rings out: "Who will go for us?"

sleep, but against lack of forethought, trusting to one's luck. Christ will surely come, when we know not; therefore, be always ready.

SMUTS WINS VICTORY IN BITTER ELECTION FIGHT IN SOUTH AFRICA

General Election Returns Give Gen. Smuts' South African Party (Loyalist) a Majority Over the Secessionists and All Others of 22 Clear Seats.

A despatch from Capetown says:—General Jan Christian Smuts, the Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa, and his Coalition of the South African and Unionist parties have won 43 seats in the House Assembly in the bitter election fight against the Secessionists, who had only 12 seats to their credit. Labor had won nine seats and the Independents one seat. Altogether there are 135 seats to be filled.

The returns received to date were mainly from urban districts and it probably will be several days before the full report from the country is available.

The followers of Gen. Smuts claim that he is certain of victory, since the bulk of his strength heretofore has been in the country districts.

General Smuts has been returned for Pretoria West by a big majority. The feature of the results, so far as known, is the collapse of the Labor party. Apparently the Labor party will only have nine members in the new Assembly, against 21 in the last House. Col. Cresswell, Leader of the Laborites, was defeated in Treynville. The urban results have been very encouraging to the South African party, but the country returns are causing anxiety to the Government. The Minister of Justice in the Smuts

Administration has been defeated by a Nationalist in Potchefstroom. Sir Abe Bailey, well known in racing circles, retains Krugersdorp.

Enormous majorities were given the South African party in Durban and Cape Town, while the Labor party suffered a severe reverse in the Rand district. In Cape Town the South African party gained two seats, in Durban three, in the Rand eight and in East London one.

The victory of the party headed by Prime Minister Smuts is attributed to the fact that workingmen voted against the secession issue raised by General Hertzog, and did not pay much attention to factional issues raised by Labor leaders.

A later despatch from Johannesburg, South Africa, says:—The position of the parties in the South African general elections, now in progress in that country, at 9 o'clock on Thursday night was:

General Smuts' South African party . . . . . 73
Nationalists . . . . . 29
Labor . . . . . 9
Democrat . . . . . 1
Tied results . . . . . 2

This gives the Loyalists a majority over the Secessionists and all others of 22 clear seats. Eleven seats are still to be heard from.

New Opposition Party in British House

A despatch from London says:—Lord Robert Cecil has accepted the Chairmanship of the group of members of Parliament favoring economy. This action means the organization of a new Opposition party, with Lord Robert as the Leader, at the opening of Parliament next week.

The new party is expected to have about thirty members in the House. Cecil is an able and energetic Leader, who has been looked upon for some time as a possible successor to Lloyd George in the Premiership. He is opposed to imposing harsh terms on Germany.

Mrs. Rogers, M.P., Seconded Reply to Speech

A despatch from Winnipeg says:—Mrs. Edith Rogers, the first woman to be elected a member of the Manitoba Legislature, seconded the reply to the Speech from the Throne in the Provincial House. E. A. August (Dufferin) moved the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

BRITISH OIL INTERESTS BUY TITLE TO CAUCASUS OIL FIELDS

Remarkable Political-Commercial Bargain Which Speculates on the Downfall of Bolshevik Power in Russia Within Ten Years.

A despatch from Paris says:—The Shell and Royal Dutch oil interests are reported on good authority to have concluded a rather remarkable political-commercial bargain which amounts to betting that the Bolshevik regime in Russia will fall within ten years.

Under this arrangement, which, it is understood, was consummated in Paris, the British oil interests have bought from Russians who held title to the property under the Czar's regime the rights to oil from the Grosnyi district in the Caucasus. The basis of the agreement is a payment now of from five to ten per cent. of the estimated value of the production from those fields in return for which British interests are assured the exclusive control of all production of that district.

There is a time limit of 10 years to the agreement—in other words, if at the end of 10 years the old owners are unable to regain their property the deal is off. Naturally, if the Bolsheviks fall this year and are replaced by a regime which recognizes the old property rights, the British interests may get the oil quickly.

Considerable secrecy surrounds the deal. But it is learned it is of such magnitude that lawyers who handled the deal here got a commission of several million francs. The payments made by Shell and Royal Dutch are said to run into many millions of francs, gold.

A number of Russians owning property in the Grosnyi fields are refugees in Paris and are engaged directly in the negotiations, it is said. It is a common report in Russian colonies here that a number of Russians recently have had much money to spend—men who didn't have so much a short time ago.

Negotiations are said to be under way by both British and French oil interests to make a similar arrangement for the control of oil in the Baku district. This district is now under doubtful control, being held by Soviet organizations of Azerbaijan, whose subservience to Moscow appears at this time doubtful. A pipeline from Baku to Batum on the Black Sea built by the Czarist Government, runs through Azerbaijan and Georgian territory. This is the richest oil district of the Caucasus.

WIRELESS SERVICE BETWEEN LONDON AND PEKING SOON ACCOMPLISHED FACT

Chinese Government Establishing Great Radio Stations, Making a Stride Forward in the Opening Up of China and Affording Unlimited Scope for British Enterprise and Trade in the Far East.

A despatch from London says:—It will soon be possible to send a wireless message from London to Peking, owing to efforts being made by the Chinese Government, according to Henry Barnes, the Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Mail.

There is a fine spirit of enterprise and a touch of romance in what is being done. A chain of wireless stations is being established which will link Peking, the seat of the central Government, with Kashgar, 3,000 miles away, in Chinese Turkestan, he says. Kashgar will then be within reach of the wireless stations in India and so with countries farther afield.

The wireless chain may be said to follow the line of a great trade route which was ancient before the Romans landed in Britain. For thousands of years this track has been a highway from the uplands of Central Asia into China, and has been trodden by countless races and tribes of men both in peace and in war.

The scheme, which is boldly planned, is being carried out by the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company to the order of the Chinese Government. One great high power station has been equipped at Urga, in the Province of Kansu, 800 miles from Peking, and these two places are already in communication. Urga is also in touch with Shanghai and Hankow and messages can be received from the long distance stations in America.

Another similar station is being established a thousand miles farther on at Urumachi, and, all being well, it will be in operation in about three months' time. Subsequently the terminal station of the series will be erected at Kashgar.

Thus a stride forward is being made in the opening up of China. Modern methods of communication will assuredly be extended in other directions. It is permissible to hope that railways will be developed on a big scale in the near future, and therein lies unlimited scope for British enterprise and the advancement of British trade relations with the 400,000,000 of inhabitants of China.

Dusting More Effective Than Spraying Trees

A despatch from Boston says:—Dusting trees is better than spraying them as a preventative of pests, the Massachusetts Fruit Growers' Association was told by F. H. Dudley, State Horticulturalist for Maine. Dusting has been proven by tests in Maine to be quicker and more effective than spraying, he said. A crew can dust 300 trees in fifty-four minutes. The material used is arsenate of lead, sulphur and tobacco dust. Cost will depend on the proportions of the mixture.

The Provincial University.

The occupations of the fathers of the 1,833 students who applied for admission to the University of Toronto in the session of 1919-20 are as follows: Farmers, 351; retail merchants, 218; artisans, 144; finance, 124; church, 116; wholesale merchants, 106; manufacturers, 106; medicine, 81; teaching, 62; railway employees, 56; Dominion officials, 41; law, 40; engineering, 26; municipal officials, 21; journalism, 17; pharmacy, 17; Provincial officials, 14; lumbermen, 13; dentistry, 10; soldiers, 8; art, 5; veterinary, 4; library, 2; fishermen, 1; not specified, 240.

The homes of the 4,777 students in attendance during the same session were distributed as follows: Algoma, 24; Brant, 90; Bruce, 96; Carleton, 108; Dufferin, 26; Dundas, 24; Durham, 41; Elgin, 56; Essex, 68; Frontenac, 14; Glengarry, 9; Grenville, 14; Grey, 93; Haldimand, 49; Halton, 57; Hastings, 45; Huron, 126; Kenora, 8; Kent, 58; Lambton, 67; Lanark, 46; Leeds, 48; Lennox and Addington, 22; Lincoln, 64; Manitoulin, 5; Middlesex, 121; Muskoka, 14; Nipissing, 23; Norfolk, 36; Northumberland, 39; Ontario, 112; Oxford, 79; Parry Sound, 12; Peel, 72; Perth, 135; Peterborough, 66; Prescott, 4; Prince Edward, 14; Renfrew, 27; Russell, 6; Simcoe, 189; Stormont, 13; Sudbury, 10; Thunder Bay, 15; Temiskaming, 11; Victoria, 56; Waterloo, 81; Welland, 64; Wellington, 142; Wentworth, 169; York, 182; Toronto, 1,828. Attention is drawn to the wide representation of all parts of the Province in this distribution of students, and to the fact that the homes from which they come represent in a remarkable way almost every variety of occupation in the Province. These figures show how thoroughly democratic is the character of the student body.

St. John's Uses Tank to Level Snow Drifts

A despatch from St. John's, Nfld., says:—Newfoundland is fighting to beat back its worst snow siege in 30 years, with monumental drifts blocking its gates after a four-day blizzard. Railroad, steamer and highway transportation still was suspended on Wednesday night, although the storm had ceased.

The first sally from this city against the besieging element was made by a whippet tank captured by Newfoundlanders in the war, which was put to work crunching down snowbanks on Water street, the city's main thoroughfare.

An official list of the heroes who fell in the Great War is being published to be completed in eighty volumes. Between June and December British towns adopted about fifty places in France which had suffered in the Great War.

SOUTH OFFERS NO SPECIAL PRIVILEGES

Mennonites Warned of Conditions Regarding Settlement in Southern States.

A despatch from Herbert, Sask., says:—Should the Mennonites of Saskatchewan and Manitoba decide to settle in Mississippi and Alabama, according to plans which have been under way for some time, they need not look for any special territorial or religious privileges, according to the statement of H. A. Emerson of Yellow Pine, Alabama, who addressed a large audience at Herbert recently.

Mr. Emerson, who has a controlling interest in more than half a million acres of fertile agricultural lands in Alabama and Mississippi, has been negotiating with the Mennonites for some time, with the end in view of establishing a colony of these people in the South.

So far none of the old colony Mennonites nor any of the Sommerfelder Mennonites have actually settled in the South, although a tract of 125,000 acres has been selected for purchase, and an option taken on 100,000 acres more.

The communities affected in the proposed trek to the South are those at Rhineland, Man.; Swift Current, Sask.; Hague, Sask.; and Roathem, Sask., and a few scattered families in the south district.

At the close of the meeting no one seemed particularly anxious to leave the country without first giving careful consideration and counting the cost. The number of families affected in the new colonization scheme is approximately five hundred.

WAS OFFERED SPEAKERSHIP

Mrs. Ralph Smith, M.P.P. for Vancouver, has declined the post of Speaker in the British Columbia House. It is the first time in history that such an honor was ever offered to a woman. The wife of a Newcastle miler, Mrs. Smith came to Canada twenty-eight years ago, and it was through helping her husband, who ultimately became Minister of Labor, in his political work, that she acquired the knowledge and experience which led to her parliamentary election.

Many stories are told of Mrs. Smith's tact and ability in controlling unruly meetings. On one occasion a man was heckling her.

"Come up on the platform and have it out," said Mrs. Smith.

The heckler hesitated. "He's shy, Mary Ellen, he's shy," shouted a wag in the audience, adapting the words of a popular song.

"Don't be shy of me, sonnie," reported Mrs. Smith: "I'm everybody's pal." The crowd laughed heartily and the heckling ceased.

Ulster to Have Old Mace and Chair

A despatch from Belfast, Ireland says:—Negotiations are in progress to obtain the old Irish House of Commons mace and Speaker's chair for the new Ulster Parliament. They are heirlooms of Lord Massereene at Antrim Castle. The offer of the use of Belfast City Hall as a temporary building for the new Parliament will be accepted.

The Russian ruble, before the World War, was worth a little over fifty cents. Now it takes 5,000 rubles to buy a pound of salt pork. The moujik owning a hog that would dress at 200 pounds, is a ruble "millionaire."

CARLSRUHE.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at Carlsruhe C. church on Tuesday of last week, when Mr. Joachim Reitzel, son of Mr and Mrs Joseph Reitzel of St. Clemens was united in the bonds of holy matrimony to Miss Bertha Hoffarth daughter of Paul Hoffarth and the late Susanna Hoffarth, nee Druar. The groom was assisted by Michael Hoffarth of here, prother of the bride, and the bride by Miss Mary, sister of the groom. Rev. Father Reitzel, of Kitchener, brother of the groom, tied the nuptial knot. After the ceremony the happy young couple repaired to the home of the bride's father, where only the nearest relatives were present. There were a number of useful gifts received which showed the esteem in which the young couple is held.

Mr. Isidore Lang attended the wedding of his only daughter to Mr. And. Freiburger of Riversdale on Monday.

The 50 acre farm, known as the Carr Corner for many years, was disposed of by tenders last week to Mr. Xavier Pochman for the sum of $6000. The farm has been in the Carr family for over 65 years. Mr. Pochman is busy making improvements on the place. It will be one of the best 50 acre farms in Brant.

Mr. Chas. Schwan put in a supply of ice last week, taking the shortest time it was ever put in. He had five or six trucks engaged for the job.

Mr. John Kastner of Shaunovon, Sask is visiting friends here. It is 8 years since he left from here and the change on his former chams was a surprise to him. His many friends were very glad to see him as he was well liked here by everyone. He took up a homestead when he left here. He has it all broken and raised over 3,000 bushels of wheat last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Grub visited in Mildmay on Sunday.
