BLIND MAN ON PHONE EXCHANGE

Has Been Sightless 33 Years But Does His Work and Satisfies People.

MURTAIR, Okla., June 16.—Several private telephone exchanges in the eastern part of Oklahoma are operated by blind men, who perform their work as rapidly and unerringly as men with perfect vision. But McCurtain has a telephone exchange that is operated by a blind man who also attends to all the other work of the exchange.

T. M. Warrell, thirty-five years old, who has been blind since he was two years of age, is a half-owner of the McCurtain exchange and attends to all of the outside work in the exchange. He is relief and night operator of the system. He keeps his own books, using the New York point system, which he learned in the school for the blind in Little Rock, Ark., where he spent eight years of his boyhood.

In addition to keeping the lines and acting as telephone operator, Mr. Warrell installs his own telephones, strings the wires, clears trouble on the lines and instruments and does all of the work ordinarily done by linemen with perfect vision.

In operating the switchboard Mr. Warrell can answer and complete the calls as quickly as though he could see. He clears the switchboard of trouble by first testing and locating the wires as nearly as possible. Then he follows the wires with his hand until the broken part is found and connected.

If the lines are crossed from the outside Mr. Warrell enlists the services of a small boy. True to small boy nature, there is always some youngster willing and ready to help the blind man and trace the trouble until the youngster sees where the wires are crossed. Mr. Warrell then puts on the lineman's belt and sports, climbs the pole and quickly clears the trouble.

The blind man has less complaint from the patrons of the exchange than many men who can see to operate a switchboard have. He is prompt and accurate and has a natural bent towards electricity and a love for his work, and he has never asked any favors because of his affliction.

A ROUSING MEETING HELD AT SCOTLAND IN FAVOR OF CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATES

Biggest Meeting Ever Held in the Village--Messrs Brewster and Westbrook Were Both Enthusiastically Received by the People.

Mr. W. S. Brewster and Mr. J. W. Westbrook, Conservative candidates in South and North Brant respectively, held a joint meeting at Scotland last night in Fiddin Hall. The meeting was the largest and most enthusiastic ever held in the Village of Scotland. The hall was crowded. The Liberals held a meeting the night before, but the Conservative meeting was attended by twice as many people as the Liberal meeting. Many ladies were in attendance.

Mr. J. W. Westbrook was the first speaker, and made one of the best speeches that he had ever delivered. It was the universal opinion of those present that Mr. Westbrook has developed most rapidly since his election to the legislature, and he is now a finished speaker with a full grasp of the affairs of the province, and would be a credit to any riding.

Mr. Westbrook dealt with the record of the Whitney government. Mr. W. S. Brewster delivered a powerful speech and dealt with the statements made by the Liberal speakers at their meeting the previous evening. He criticized Mr. Ham for having made the statement that the Whitney Government had increased the expenditure of the Province from $100 million to twenty-two million dollars. He stated that the expenditure does not exceed seven million dollars. Mr. Brewster showed that notwithstanding the fact that the expenditure had increased, the revenue had increased proportionately, and that during the nine

Another Overwhelming Victory Freely Forecasted On Returns From Every Part Of Province

(By Special Wire to the Courier) TORONTO, June 17.—The political campaign in Ontario is swinging into the stretch, with every promise that Sir James Whitney will again sweep the province. At Government organization headquarters there is the greatest enthusiasm. Reports of an authoritative character are coming in from every riding, and without exception they indicate that the strong administration of the people to the Whitney administration in the last nine years is fully maintained, and that the Government will be overwhelmingly returned. The Opposition's best card has proved a dismal disappointment to the party. This is admitted at Liberal headquarters here. The prediction made by prominent Liberals in outside constituencies that the province could not be won by dividing the temperance forces is being fulfilled already in the large number of constituencies where the Liberals will not have a candidate of their own. Welland is an instance. Addington is another. Men of strong Conservative principles are running as independent candidates, ostensibly upon the "banish the bar" policy, but are suspected by the Liberals of having personal ambitions. Their presence, however, effectually precluded the possibility of a straight party candidate to represent the Opposition in the contest.

CONFLICTING STORIES RE EMPRESS OF IRELAND WRECK TOLD TODAY

First Officer of the Storstad Gives His Version and is Closely Examined by Lord Mersey--All Details Submitted Not Quite Satisfactory to Court.

(By Special Wire to the Courier) COURT HOUSE, Quebec, June 17.—The concession by Chief Officer Tuftenes of the Collier Storstad at the Empress of Ireland wreck enquiry this morning, that according to a diagram he had prepared of the relative positions of the two vessels when they sighted one another just before the collision which sank the liner it would appear as if they should have cleared, was the breach made by Butler Aspinall, K.C., acting for the Canadian Pacific Railway, in the defence of the owners of the Storstad. The officer had contended in his testimony that the Empress was travelling ten knots an hour and the Storstad only one when they were disclosed to one another about two ships lengths or eight hundred feet away. Mr. Aspinall by the questions he immediately asked upon this matter and the carelessness of Lord Mersey to give the witness an opportunity to express his opinion, clearly showed the importance attached to this decision on the part of the witness. Mr. Aspinall followed it up by suggesting that the only way the Empress could have been struck straight into her boilers, if she was not stationary, was for her to move onto the Storstad like a crab, but the witness held to his story that the liner was crossing his bows at a good speed.

The witness came in for some heckling on why he did not call Captain Anderson sooner, Lord Mersey making the suggestive observation that in disobeying his instructions to summon the master at the appearance of fog and using his discretion, it so happened that Captain Anderson did not get on deck until all the damage was done and his immediate order when the Empress appeared, to reverse the engines, came too late. Captain Anderson was placed in the box during the morning and examined by Mr. Haight on behalf of the Storstad owners.

CHANGING SHAMROCK

LONDON, June 17.—A special dispatch from Portsmouth, says the rig of the Shamrock IV. is to be altered from that of a sloop to that of a cutter. The challenger for the America's Cup is to be given a longer bow sprit, with jib and foresail. The despatch adds that the removal of the lead will reduce her waterline and affect the time allowance.

AN UNWARRANTED ATTACK ON INTEGRITY OF A YOUNG ENGLISHMAN BY THE GRITS

Brantford Soldiers Not Good Enough To Vote--Expositor Endeavors to Cover Up Unscrupulous Methods Adopted by Ham Supporters.

Trifling with the inherent right of every British subject to vote, calling honest men perjurers, the Grit machine of Brantford, backed up by its subservient organ, the Expositor, made a subtle attempt last night to cover up the dastardly effort made by said Grit machine to strike off from the voters' list practically every member of the two Brantford regiments who were eligible to be registered, and who were away at camp attending to their country's business and doing their duty as volunteer soldiers of the Empire.

False, hypocritical and iniquitous as the Liberal representations of this campaign have proved so far, the exposure of the effort to deprive true British subjects of their right of the franchise has thrown the full glare of the calcium as to what length of political cajolery the supporters of Ham in South Brant are willing to go. A complete investigation into the matter shows how sinister in all respects was the effort made—an effort so despicable in political tactics that it is bound to fail.

The statement made in the Expositor that a double registration of voters was attempted by the Conservatives was false, as the members of both regiments know and as the facts reveal the case. Before the members of the Dufferin Rifles and Dragoons returned from camp practically all of them were appealed against by the Grit agent, Rev. C. H. Emerson.

THE FACTS OF THE CASE.

The facts of the case regarding the registration of the members of the Brantford regiments are as follows: When it was found that the Dragoons and Dufferin Rifles were going into camp, without any questions being asked as to politics, the names of all members entitled to register were secured through the officers. These lists were prepared, and in order, when the regiments were in camp, that their absence could be verified, also their other qualifications. Mr. Sydney Weir was sent down. On Friday morning, no information having been received that the men would be back in time, preparations were made to register the soldiers as absentees.

THEY WERE REGISTERED.

At noon the Dragoons and 18 Dufferin Rifles were registered as absentees, the papers having been prepared and handed in, and preparations were continued to complete the list of the Dufferin Rifles.

WAS STOPPED RIGHT AWAY.

At 2 o'clock it was learned that the Dufferin Rifles were returning, and at once all further progress in connection with their registration as absentees was stopped. Mr. Sydney Weir was sent to the station to inform those he had visited in camp that they would have to register personally. Mr. Brewster and others also went to the drill hall, and when the regiment dispersed informed the men that they would have to appear personally at the registration booth.

WHAT LIBERALS DID.

The part played by the Grit agent, Mr. Emerson, was a sorry one, however. Acting, no doubt, on instructions from Ham headquarters, he appealed the registration of the soldiers, practically all of them except a few of his own friends, before the Dragoons ever arrived back in the city.

APPEALED THEM AGAIN.

Not only that, but appeals were filed against those who had gone after they returned and registered themselves as duly entitled to vote. The entire effort of the Grit machine was directed at keeping these volunteers off the voters' list, an unscrupulous effort at its best, and one which the vigilance of the Conservative workers was able to overcome. When an appeal is entered against a man's vote, it is taken to mean that the party which makes the appeal doesn't want him to vote. The appeals made by the Grit machine were not even based on technicalities; they were made against British subjects who had every right and every qualification to cast their vote in the forthcoming election.

ATTACK ON ENGLISHMAN.

Not only did the Expositor go the limit in political cajolery and subterfuge in endeavoring to explain the matter away, but it made a brutal attack on a splendid type of young Englishman in the person of Mr. Sydney Weir. The organ practically accused Mr. Weir of committing perjury. Mr. Weir was sent to Niagara camp to establish the fact that certain members of the regiment were in camp and absent from the city. He went there and ascertained first-hand that they were in camp, and took an oath to that effect. The young gentleman, who bears a high character and has been a worker at the Colborne Street Church, does not propose to let the matter rest, and legal proceedings are being considered against the proprietor of the Expositor. The attack on Mr. Weir's character was most unwarranted, and reflects the length to which those backing Ham in the present contest will go to gain a point.

THREE ARRESTED

Sergeant Wallace, With Constable Borthwick Makes Capture at Station.

Sergeant Wallace, assisted by P.C. Borthwick, effected a smart capture at the Grand Trunk station this morning. The sergeant had been notified that three men suspected of breaking the law in a serious manner in London had arrived on a freight train. He left for the station and picked up the constable, and together they went to the station, where they saw the three, George Smith, John Clarke and John Nolan, making away along the track. They were called to a halt and submitted to arrest, saying they had just come in from Toronto. They never mentioned London, and none of them claimed to have come there from. Before the bench as vagrants, in lieu of a more serious charge, which further investigations is expected to produce, they eagerly pleaded guilty in order to get clear of the city, but the Chief Constable asked for a remand in order to make enquiries as to the men's antecedents. They are thought to be the men who broke into a freight car in the London district and escaped after doing considerable damage.

KER—RUMBALL

Rev. A. E. Lavell, Brantford, officiated at the marriage last week of Miss E. May Rumball of Niagara Falls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Rumball and Mr. Stanley M. Ker of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ker. The wedding took place in the house, her father giving away the bride, who wore embroidered net over cream satin. Her sister, Miss Mabel, was bridesmaid and wore embroidered lawn. Mr. Merle Ker being best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Gladys Serle.—Toronto Globe.

M'GRAW—SCHULER

Quite one of the prettiest weddings ever witnessed at St. Basil's church, which was beautifully decorated with palms flowers and candles, was solemnized Tuesday morning at ten o'clock when Miss Etta Schuler became the wife of Mr Roy T. McGraw. The Very Rev. R. E. M. Brady, D.D., performed the ceremony and sang Nuptial High Mass, the following priests assisting, Rev. W. Cassidy of Burlington, Vt.; Rev. G. Cassidy of Paris and Rev. J. P. Padden of St. Mary's, Brantford.

The petite bride, who was given away by her father, Mr. W. B. Schuler, looked sweetly pretty in her lovely bridal gown of cream moire silk with pearl ornaments. She wore the conventional wreath and veil and carried a beautiful shower bouquet of bridal roses and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Miss Gertrude Schuler in apricot silk crepe with black picture hat and carrying American beauty roses made a charming bridesmaid.

Little Miss Annie Ion carried the ring in a rustic basket of sweet peas. Mr. Reg. Pennessy of Detroit, performed the offices of Best man. Mr. Lloyd McGraw, brother of the groom and Mr Herbert Henderson officiated as ushers.

Mr. D. L. Wright presided at the organ and during the ceremony Mrs. J. Cook sang very sweetly. Miss Gertrude Bloxham sang Ave Maria during the signing of the register.

Following the ceremony breakfast was served at the home of the bride, Duke street, covers being laid for some forty guests.

Mrs. Schuler, mother of the bride wore black silk with corsage bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley. Mrs. McGraw, the groom's mother was in taupe silk, crepe de chine, also wearing orchids and lilies of the valley. Mr. and Mrs. McGraw left on the 1.42 train for New York, followed by the heartiest congratulations and good wishes of their hosts of friends.

They will be at home after Sept. 1, at 29 Ada Avenue

CAUDWELL—McMAUGH.
An unusually pretty but quiet wedding took place this afternoon, at 3.30 o'clock, in St. Catharines, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Arthur W. McMaugh, King street, when her eldest daughter, Beatrice Marion, was united in marriage to Mr. G. Gordon Caudwell, second son of the late George Caudwell and proprietor of the Criterion Hat Shop of this city.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ralph S. Mason, curate-in-charge of St. Thomas' Church, St. Catharines. The house was decorated with palms and yellow roses.

To the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, played by Mr. Phelps, organist of St. Thomas' Church, the bride, who looked radiantly lovely in a wedding gown of white duchess mousseline, embroidered with pearls and draped with tulle, and who carried a shower bouquet of roses and lily-of-the-valley, entered the drawing-room unattended on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Charles Case.

The Dutch Cap veil, edged with pearls and orange blossoms and with long sweeping ends, reached to the end of the train of the gown.

Mr. Norman S. Caudwell of Toronto, brother of the groom, was best man.

After the ceremony the bridal party and guests adjourned to the dining-room, where a tasty buffet luncheon was served. Several toasts were proposed and responded to and many telegrams of congratulation were received.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl and diamond ring and a signet ring to the best man. The handsome presents included a silver tea service, a cabinet of flat silver, cheques and a quantity of dainty gifts in china and cut glass.

Mr. and Mrs. Caudwell left, amidst showers of confetti and good wishes, on the five o'clock train for Montreal, where they sail on Saturday on the S.S. Andania of the Cunard Line for England, where the honeymoon will be spent.

The bride travelled in a smart sapphire blue suit with director's collar and white tagel hat with blue ostrich to match.

On their return, about August the first, they will occupy as soon as completed their new home at 94 Lorne Crescent, city.

BENNETT BURLEIGH DIED AT LONDON

A Celebrated Scotch War Correspondent Who Fought in the American Civil War.

LONDON, June 17.—The death occurred to-day of Bennett Burleigh, oldest and most widely known of war correspondents. A Scotchman, born in Glasgow nearly 70 years ago, he early followed the drum, for he joined the ranks of the Confederates in the Civil War and fought through the entire campaign, being twice captured and sentenced to death by the northern troops.

Later he turned to newspaper work and reported a number of campaigns for a news agency. In 1882 he began the connection with the London Daily Telegraph, which lasted till his death.

He followed for that paper the Egyptian war and the various Sudan campaigns, the French annexation of Madagascar, shanti war, the Spanish expedition in Morocco, the first Greco-Turkish war, the Tripoli war, the Transvaal war, the Somali war, the Russo-Japanese war and the recent Balkan war.

For many years he was able to visit his home on only rare occasions owing to his constant service in the field.

At one time Bennett Burleigh went into politics and stood for a Scottish constituency.

Outside of his newspaper writing he was the author of a number of books which were widely read.

THE COMPOSER VERDI

A LINK OF THE PAST TO THE PRESENT IN OPERA

Wherever, whenever and however popular music is known, the composer who must be accorded universal laurels is Giuseppe Verdi, born near Parma, Italy. His true name was Francesco Ferruccio. He received his musical education from the chapel master of the cathedral for whom he composed marches at an early age. His first opera was presented at the La Scala, Milan, in 1838 and a few years later on the pronounced success of "Ermani" made him one of the popular operatic composers of the day. The arias from "Il Trovatore" were sung and whistled upon the streets whenever opportunity offered and where rendered wherever, whether in opera, symphony, concert, or street hand organs.

Every collection of songs tend to hear a number of the arias from Verdi's operas will always appeal to the age. The musical career of Verdi is one of the notable chapters in the history of music of all times.

Several of Verdi's most famous arias appear in "Heart's Desire." This unique volume contains a treasury of songs for a half century now offered by the Courier.

A WORD OF WARNING.

Many instances have been reported to the Courier of weird statements made by some of those who are canvassing for Mr. Ham.

The Courier is not blaming that gentleman for the circumstance, but the fact remains, nevertheless.

Some, no doubt, follow this course from ignorance, and it is equally certain that others are doing so from intent.

The Courier does not wish to prate about itself, but it does affirm, and many years of contests have served to prove it, that readers are perfectly safe in taking its political assertions as incontrovertible facts.

The one endeavor of the class of canvassers previously named is to play the prohibitionist on the one hand and the non-prohibitionist on the other.

The first-named are told that if Rowell carries the Province all drinking will be stopped. That is absolutely untrue. His plan is to abolish the bars and to leave the liquor shops open, thus driving the drinking into the homes.

The second class are told (1) in some instances that only a few bars will close, and (2) that although the bars as such will disappear, beer and other stuff can be purchased in other rooms of hotels. This is equally and absolutely false.

Another favorite assertion is that the Whitney Government is hand in glove with the liquor interests. That also is absolutely false—in fact, some hotelmen consider that the Administration has gone too far in restrictions and rigid enforcement.

Many of the Whitney standard-bearers have been total and lifelong abstainers—such, for instance, as the Conservative candidate in this riding—and it may be safely affirmed that they have all of them the interests of true temperance at heart, just the same as the Whitney Government, a fact which the figures and experience abundantly prove.

For instance, the Local Option measure had been on the statute books under Liberal Governments for fifteen years when Whitney attained power. The thing at that time was an absolute farce. It could be carried by a simple majority of one or repealed by one, the Councils were masters of the situation, and enforcement was absolutely rotten.

What was the result? Eighty-five municipalities carried Local Option, and out of this number 36 were either quashed by the courts or the Municipal Councils refused to give the by-laws third readings. When it came to the simple majority vote 22 municipalities went back to license. This left 27 municipalities under Local Option when the present Government took office. To-day there are 347 municipalities under Local Option, and 158 have no licenses.

Put these absolute facts up to any canvasser. They cannot, dare not, deny them.

GREATER ONTARIO

Under the auspices of the Whitney Government 146,400 square miles have been added by the Dominion to the Province of Ontario, being known as the district of Patricia, and securing to this province a port on Hudson Bay by means of a strip of land five miles in width from over northern boundary to Port Nelson.

The work of developing our great northern heritage inaugurated by the present government has been carried on with vigor and effectiveness. Large and increasing sums of money from year to year have been expended by the Colonization Roads Department in the construction of colonization roads; by the Public Works Department in the construction of bridges, drains, buildings, and other works; by the Education Department in educational purposes, and particularly in special help to poor schools in the newer and outlying settlements; and by the Agricultural Department in providing district representatives, supplying thorough-bred cattle, the establishment and maintenance of experimental farms, and in other ways stimulating settlement and agricultural activity in that section of the province.

The Government has been successful in securing the construction of large plants in addition to those heretofore established for the manufacture of pulp and paper, and other wood products at Abitibi, Metogami, Dryden, Fort Frances and elsewhere in the north, thus furnishing markets for the timber the settlers have to sell, and greatly aiding in the building up and development of the country generally.

In addition to the large sums above referred to annually expended for works in the north, in 1912 the sum of $5,000,000 was set aside for the construction of works and improvements, the making of roads, the development of water powers, the advancement of settlement and colonization, assistance to settlers, the improving of transportation and the encouragement and assistance of agriculture in the north.

Mr. J. F. Wilson a man of outstanding ability and integrity, and understanding and appreciating to the full the resources and possibilities of Northern Ontario and its requirements, has been appointed Commissioner of Northern Ontario Development and charged with the expenditure of this fund; and under his direction $1,274,225 has already been expended in this work. In 1912 considerable progress was made in the construction of roads in Timiskaming. During the year 1913 work was carried on in every section of Northern Ontario, extending from the Quebec boundary to the Rain River valley. Seven hundred and sixty-four miles of road have been constructed, a large mileage of drains dug, and bridges and other important necessary works have been completed.

HOSPITAL REFORM.

There are eight hospitals for the insane, one hospital for feeble-minded and one hospital for epileptics in Ontario, caring for 7,600 patients.

For a number of years before the present Government came into power the hospitals for the insane lacked the progressive features which at present characterize them.

In the treatment of the patients the first step in advance was made by the installation of the continuous baths and hot-air system. These methods had been in use for some years in Europe and the United States, but had never been introduced into the Province of Ontario.

In all the provincial hospitals radical changes in the treatment of patients have been brought about. No longer are patients going to these hospitals suffering from the feeling when discharged that they have been detained in insane asylums. Many of them will never have seen the inside of one, but will go out into the world again feeling that no stigma attaches to them from their hospital residence, and they will feel that they have been merely under-going treatment in a hospital in the same manner as any other patient would.

To bring provincial hospitals up to the highest standing, better facilities had to be installed to enable the medical officers to properly observe their cases and to compile the necessary histories relating to the same. To accomplish this a complete system for recording clinical cases has been put into effect, and the medical officers no longer spend hours daily in performing clerical work, but their time is devoted to the careful study and observation of their patients.

A Bulletin is now issued quarterly and a copy of the same sent to every physician in Ontario. The Bulletin records the work being done at each hospital. By this method the general medical practitioner is kept informed regarding the work being done and the most improved methods of treatment.

A regular system of Training Schools for Nurses has been established so that those in charge of the insane are instructed by a course of lectures, followed by examinations, written and oral, conducted by a Board of Examiners appointed each year by the Provincial Secretary. By this reform the greatest improvement has been made in methods for caring for the sick and infirm. Now a patient sent to a Hospital for the Insane receives hospital care by trained nurses under constant instruction and direction. The results have proved of incalculable benefit to the patients and have raised the institutions to a standard of efficiency hitherto unknown.

One hundred Greeks were massacred by the Turks in the town of Phokia. Col. Roosevelt arrived in London to address the Royal Geographical Society on his Brazilian expedition.

THE VIEWS OF A BISHOP

The following is taken from the Hamilton Herald (Independent):—"In Centenary church yesterday the Rev. Dr. Williams discussed the dominant issue in the provincial election campaign in a fair and reasonable spirit, without using his pulpit as a party hustings. Dr. Williams regards the liquor traffic as an unmixt evil, and he sympathizes with the movement for the abolition of the bar. But he puts it up to Christian people who are aiming to abolish the bar whether that aggressive policy is alone sufficient to meet the needs of the situation—whether it ought not to be supplemented with a plan to provide a satisfactory substitute for the bar. This is the position taken by the Anglican Bishop of Niagara. It is a reasonable position.

That the bar traffic in liquor does much harm is admitted. But it must be admitted also that the bar fulfills a certain social function; it satisfies a distinct social want. Not all those who regularly frequent bar rooms go there for liquor or are any the worse for going there; many resort to them as to a convenient rendezvous where they are likely to find congenial companionship. They have an hour's talk over a glass of beer or even "soft stuff," and come away with no harm done. The abolition of the bar would deprive such people of a privilege which they enjoy and do not abuse. Is it not fair to ask those, people who on principle never enter bar rooms and have no use for them, and who are bent upon abolishing them because of the evil they do, to make provision for some satisfactory substitute for the thing they propose to abolish?

Let them consider that if they succeed in abolishing the bar they will by no means have succeeded in abolishing the drinking of liquor. No doubt if the bar goes there will be less light beer consumed, for the bulk of the bar trade is in lager; but the strong probability is that more whiskey will be consumed. Men are going to meet somewhere for social intercourse, and when they do meet there is going to be something to drink; the custom formed by years of habit is not to be put aside by legislation. And it will be more convenient to fetch a bottle of whiskey than a dozen bottles of ale—two or three bottles of whiskey than a keg of lager. Any change which encourages the substitution of spirits for malt liquor as a beverage is a very doubtful temperance measure. If people are not permitted to have an hour's talk over a glass of beer in a licensed hostelry, surely those who deprive them of this present right ought to feel the responsibility of compensating them for the enforced deprivation."

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Let Adam Beck finish the good work.

The Whitney Government has never had a scandal at its door.

Vote for the Whitney Government, a government without hypocrisy and cant.

Compensation for injured workmen is a Whitney slogan. Do you endorse it?

English as the language of instruction for Ontario's schools is the Whitney slogan.

The Government which smashed the school book and electric rings, is worthy of your support.

Ontario's schools must be English-speaking schools. A vote for Brewster and Westbrook endorses that.

Can a volunteer soldier of the Empire vote? Mr. Ham and the Expositor are authorities on this question.

Retain Rowell as corporation lawyer, a job to which he is eminently more fitted than running this province.

The Whitney record of real temperance against hypocritical Rowell promises is having its effect in the present campaign.

Rowell is making a play for French votes by keeping silent on the bilingual school issue, but the ruse will not work.

A despicable attempt to keep Brantford's regimental finest off the Voters' list was throttled properly by the Conservatives.

The splendid meeting at Scotland in the interests of Messrs. Brewster and Westbrook, means victory once more.

A certain Brantford minister is reported to be willing to forget what the people voted for in 1902 and what Ross and Rowell failed to do.

One would think to hear the Liberals scoff at the prison reform policy of the Whitney government that there were no prisoners in the province prior to 1905.

Brantford soldiers, whether absentees or not, were appealed against by Grit manipulators, showing a wonderful admiration for those who would defend the flag.

TO THE PUBLIC:

THE State of New York, through its Department of Insurance, has completed the examination of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company which it is required by law to make every three years. The Chief Examiner, in concluding the report, said: "The treatment by this Company of its policy-holders in the prompt payment of their claims, in the voluntary payment of millions of dollars in bonuses, and in its social welfare work—are features of the Company's business, which deserve commendation."

The Superintendent of Insurance, the Hon. William Temple Emmet, in approving the report, wrote an extended review from which we make extracts:

THE COMPANY'S GROWTH AND MANAGEMENT.

"The administrative officers of the Company * * * have so increased the assets of the Company as to make these equal the resources of many states and even nations. They have at the same time steadily cheapened the cost of insurance to policy-holders, both by direct means and by the distribution of bonuses."

(The report shows that the Company has given back $35,367,293 in bonuses to Industrial policy-holders in nineteen years.)

"They have extended the Company's business to such an extent as to bring it into contact now with approximately one-eighth of the population of the United States."

(The number of policies outstanding December 31, 1913, was 13,957,748.)

"That this notable growth has involved no sacrifice of efficiency in the handling of administrative details, but, on the contrary, has been the direct result of constantly increasing efficiency, is shown by the comparatively small losses sustained by the Company in proportion to the large investments made."

ITS POLICY-HOLDERS SATISFIED.

"The fact that the percentage of lapses due to the abandonment of their insurance by policy-holders is constantly decreasing, speaks eloquently to the same effect."

(The lapse ratio of Industrial policies has decreased 31.7 per cent. in eight years.)

"This last mentioned development is perhaps the most convincing evidence which could be offered that the Company's policy-holders are, broadly speaking, very well satisfied indeed with what they get in return for the premiums they pay. A very remarkable showing altogether."

ITS SOCIAL SERVICE.

"This Company waited for no changes in existing law before striking out as a pioneer among insurance companies along the pathway of social service on a huge scale. For years it has maintained for its policy-holders a nursing service upon a great scale; this has latterly become a veritable marvel of efficiency and practical helpfulness."

(Metropolitan nurses made 1,127,022 visits to sick policy-holders in 1913, for which the Company paid the bills.)

"Leaving out of consideration the mere numbers of those who have been directly benefited by these activities, I think that the example which the Metropolitan has set to other great business organizations by its early recognition of the new responsibilities attaching to all business enterprises which have attained a certain size, is one of the most beneficial of recent occurrences in the field of American business. For years it has through its publications upon the question of health conservation been serving multitudes of people as a sort of University of beneficial instruction upon this most important subject."

ABREAST OF MODERN THOUGHT.

"This great institution, having so very recently been under our critical scrutiny and presenting so many admirable illustrations of what an efficient and enlightened modern business organization on a large scale can do in the way of keeping abreast of modern thought, seems to be in a position where I may properly use it as an illustration * * * that private initiative and enterprise are at their best still capable of doing the finest possible work in fields from which, latterly, all the talk has been that these agencies should be compelled to retire."

light rates. The Liberal candidate is still a patron of the monopoly which bled Brantford for years.

Mr. Workingman, had you believed the Expositor, the Cataract fangs would still have had you, and your electric light bill would still be double what it should be.

Ontario cannot afford to step back into the mire of political iniquity from which it was rescued in 1905, not even to accommodate N. W. Rowell and the hangers-on with office.

The brutal attack by The Expositor on Mr. Sydney Weir, the young Englishman who happens to be a Conservative will be properly resented by that gentleman's many friends on June 29.

The Grit machine in appealing nearly all the manhood suffrage members of the Brantford regiments evidently worked on the assumption that it has few friends among those willing to fight for their flag and country.

"We came here to hear the Word of God preached not to hear a campaign speech" remarked an old man in a Kingston Methodist church as he walked out in angry protest. The old gentleman doubtless distinguished between the two very properly.

One day Mr. T. F. Best says: "I am not anxious for a change of government" and says it over his own signature. The next day Mr. Best says he will support Davey, the Grit candidate in Hamilton because Davey is one of his personal friends. If better were best, it would have been well had Best not spoken at all.

According to the admission of Rev. T. E. Holling it has taken Rowell 12 years to get even the echo of the voice of the people as expressed in 1902 on the temperance question. And Row-ell's party was in office three years of that time. Rowellism is certainly great for even ministers to cheer for.

Begin to look as if there were some members of the pulpit guilty of extreme political bias. How can they look at the temperance record of Ontario for eight years under Whitney and compare it with twenty years previous under Grit regime, without giving credit where credit is due?

THE BULLFROG

The bullfrog has a widespread voice, the loudest ever born; his singing makes the world rejoice and chortle—in a horn. When to their nests the swallows wing their way, as does the dove, the cheerful bullfrog starts to sing a lay of home and love. He warbles like a frog—or bull—down in his swampy lair, and people plug their ears with wool, and storm around and swear. The frog obeys no rhythmic rules, and folks who hear him say, "We'd rather hear a thousand mules when they rear up and bray." Each night he stirs up human ginks to wild unseemly wrath, and yet no doubt the bullfrog thinks he's cutting quite a swath. Perhaps he mutters to his frau, as is the way of males: "Don't talk about your robbins now, nor yet your nightingales! In some things I do not excel," the modest bullfrog cries: "I doubt if I could dig a well or make crabapple pies. I do not boast about my skill at making ginger beer, but when a song is on the bill I feel I have no peer!" And I have met men and women too, just like the bullfrog host, the very things they cannot do are those of which they boast.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE SEVENTEENTH

George Henry Cowan, former M.P. for Vancouver, was born fifty-six years ago to-day in Lambton County, Ontario. After a brilliant course at the University of Toronto, he took up the study of law and about twenty years ago settled in Vancouver, where he has since been in practice. He has taken an active interest in British Columbia affairs and has written at least two valuable brochures on problems affecting the coast province. Besides this he helped to found the Bank of British Columbia and was for a time city solicitor. In 1908 he was returned to Parliament in the Conservative interest but did not stand again at the election of 1911.

Lapse of a Butler

Sent to Borstal for two years for stealing a £20 ring belonging to his employer, Sir C. Mansel, a butler named Barlow said he saw his master's motor-car in the hall and tried it on to see how it looked. The ring was in the pocket, and as he was going to Lampeter he took it "just for swank." He meant to return it. The jury did not accept his explanation at the Carmarthen Assizes where he was tried.

ASQUITH YIELDS TO LANDSDOWNE

Home Rule Amending Bill to be Introduced in Lords on June 23.

[From Our Own Correspondent] LONDON, Wednesday, June 17.—Although the Unionist vote of censure on the Government was not forced to a division in the Lords yesterday it led to one result which augurs well for a peaceful settlement in the near future. The Government have yielded to Lord Lansdowne's demand for the immediate production of the Irish Amending Bill and will introduce it on Tuesday next. Lord Crew also made the interesting statement that Sir Edward Carson had been in communication with the Prime Minister on the subject. The negotiations were not disclosed, but it is not surprising that they were chiefly concerned with the suggestion of establishing a statutory Ulster for the purpose of exclusion. Sir Edward has been invited to give his views on the delimitation of the area in the north-east of Ireland which, irrespective of existing county boundaries, would amount to a geographical definition of Protestant Ulster.

Carson stated last night that Lord Crew was wrong when he indicated that certain communications regarding the "policy" of Home Rule had taken place between the Prime Minister and myself. The only communication I have received from Carson "was a letter asking for a modification of the position of the different parties in Ulster. Such a man writes to anybody, and I sent the Prime Minister one."

John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, has gained control of the Nationalist volunteer movement. Ernest Bennett of Slones is drowned at an Anglican club at Van Wagner's Beach.

That the meeting in Tutela Park Thursday night in the interests of the W. S. Brewster will be a hummer is assured on all sides. SYNOD IS NOW READY FOR THE "VOTES FOR WOMEN" QUESTION Attempt Made at Last Night's Session to Bring on the Debate, But it Was Postponed at the Urgent Request of Mr. John Ransford, of Clinton.

LONDON, June 17.—So expeditious were the members of the Synod of Huron in the transaction of their business last evening that the consideration of the question of whether ladies shall be allowed a voice in the affairs of the church came near being foisted on the meeting like a bolt from the blue. As it was Mr. John Ransford, of Clinton, sponsor of the motion to enfranchise the fair sex, urged for a postponement of the voting on account of the lateness of the hour, and his wishes were finally acceded to. The matter will, in all likelihood, be threshed out this morning.

In referring to the proposed consideration of the matter, Bishop Williams said: "I hope that you will refrain the floods of eloquence on this question this year. Last year we spent our hours of talking and that was together too much."

The consideration, clause by clause, of the report of the executive committee, furnished the main business of last evening's session. Under the item of commutation fund some discussion arose as to the wording of the resolution naming the bishop as the first beneficiary under the fund, out of which it was finally decided to allow the word "stand" as in the report.

A resolution passed at the instance of Bishop Williams and introduced to the synod by Rev. R. S. W. Howard, of Chatham, it was decided to give power to the executive committee to make a grant, not exceeding $50,000, to missions where there is no house provided for the layman and where the stipend does not exceed the canonical limit in order that missions desirous of erecting houses may not go too heavily in debt in financing such enterprises.

A resolution introduced by Rev. Principal Waller of Huron College, to create a new class of law readers, who may extend their work throughout the diocese instead of confining their labors to individual parishes as at present necessary, was laid over for consideration to-day.

The Various Funds
The report of the executive committee showed that the sum of $62,028.80 had been paid out in grants during the year. The capital of the widows and orphans' fund was reported at $81,095.64. The amount paid out during the year under this fund was $70,418.39. In pensions, under the commutation fund, $7,515.06 was paid out during the past twelve months. The capital of the Huron College Jubilee fund had now reached the total of $16,367.41.

It was reported that owing to the large increase asked for the children's fund the full amount required had not been raised. On this subject Rev. Canon Tucker addressed the synod, calling attention to the prime importance of Sunday school work and the necessity of every effort being strained to meet the amount asked for. "The future of our country depends on the religious education of the rising generation," declared the speaker.

Rev. Canon Dowie of Port Stanley in a humorous speech, referred to the publication of the Sunday school paper, Our Empire, and claimed that it was without a peer among that class of periodicals. The circulation of the paper now numbers 26,000 weekly.

Rev. Principal Waller presented the report for Huron College, which showed that institution to be in a satisfactory condition. The number of students at the college during the past year was the largest in its history, and with the proposed expansion of the Western University, Principal Waller is hopeful of still better things. During the year the college was operated at a net loss of $381.86, but this is largely accounted for by the fact that several hundred dollars were expended on new furnishings.

At the afternoon session little business other than the hearing of the bishop's charge was put through. Rev. C. C. Purton of Paris was elected clerical secretary, J. Ransford of Clinton was re-elected lay secretary, and Messrs A. A. Booker and E. L. Spry of London were re-named as auditors.

The number of lay and clerical delegates at the opening session was reported as 256, there being 128 of each.

ODDFELLOWS IN SESSION CHOOSE DISTRICT MASTERS

The Big Convention Will Be Brought to a Close This Afternoon.

This morning's session of the Grand Lodge of the Canadian Order of Oddfellows opened at 10 o'clock at the assembly hall, Conservatory of Music, with Grand Master C. H. Denton in the chair.

The various districts reported the election of District Deputy Masters as follows:
Toronto District—L. S. Purchase.
Hamilton District—J. Jack.
St. Thomas District—Frank Burgess.

Galt District—Jas. F. Mellor, Brantford.

Chatham District—E. Morris.
Lindsay District—J. F. Palmer.
Belleville District—J. E. Nelson.
Montreal District—D. A. Young.

The committee on the state of the order then presented its report, the main features of which were as follows:
(a) That aggressive organization be carried on during the next year under the direction of the Grand Secretary and the executive committee.
(b) That the office of District Deputy Grand Master be continued.

(c) That steps be taken to organize a number of lodges in the Eastern Townships in the Province of Quebec.
The Grand Lodge then adjourned for luncheon and for a motor trip throughout the city.

This afternoon session, which will be the last, will be devoted to the report of the financial committee, the selection of the next place of meeting, the installation of officers and district masters and the closing exercises.

Afternoon Session

The afternoon session of the Grand Lodge of the Canadian Order of Oddfellows opened with an increased attendance of delegates. Grand Master C. H. Denton of Tillsonburg presiding. A very cordial welcome to the delegates was voiced in an unofficial way by Master Spry, who spoke briefly and was responded to in a few words by the Grand Master.

The Executive Committee which consists of the immediate Past Master, the Grand Master, the Deputy Grand Master and two elected representatives, reported on the management of the business of the Order during the interim between annual sessions of Grand Lodge, presented its report, showing the C. O. O. F. to be one of the 11 societies doing business in Canada, showing a net gain in membership during 1913. While the increase in numbers is but 114 net, and the lapses less than in the last three preceding years, the finances have steadily improved. The investment account shows an increase of over $20,000 during the past twelve months, with a substantial cash balance in hand of the Treasurer.

The total number of certificate holders on Dec. 31, 1913, was 3722. The total amount of insurance carried by these policy holders is $2,700,598.42, and a reference to the insurance policy issued by the Government shows this Order to be fourth in strength in standing in relation to assets to each $1,000 of insurance carried.

Committee on Laws brought in a report, the most important amendment recommended being in reference to an increased rate for the Sick Benefit and Funeral Funds. The result of the discussion was embodied in a resolution referring the whole matter to the Executive Committee with instructions to prepare a plan for transferring all sick benefit funds from the control of subordinate lodges to that of Grand Lodge and not to leave the matter optional, as at present.

The election of officers resulted as follows, in all the leading officers being re-elected:
Grand Master—C. H. Denton, Tillsonburg.
Deputy Grand Master—C. H. Bampfyde, Hamilton.
Grand Secretary—Robert Fleming, Toronto.
Grand Treasurer—W. H. Shaw, Toronto.
Grand Medical Referee—Dr. H. S. Bingham, Toronto.

YOUTHFUL TRAMP WAS TAKEN IN Buffalo Boy of 16 Years is Found in Sealed Car at G. T. Station.

Louis Caneck, a youthful wanderer of 16, from Buffalo, was found by Sergeant Wallace at seven o'clock this morning, looking very unkempt, making the best of a sealed car which stood on the tracks at the Grand Trunk depot. He, and his companion, who escaped, had not succeeded in overcoming the seal, when they were interrupted and Caneck was questioned and claimed he came from Terrace Hill, but he did not look like a Brantford lad to the Sergeant, who took him to the lock-up. Upon him was found some tobacco, biscuits, pipe and other things which looked new. At the station, he admitted coming on the bumpers from Buffalo and said he had a home to which he could go. He gave no reason for his action nor did he give his companions name. He was remanded pending further information regarding him, and will probably be sent back from whence he came.

Three rough looking customers were remanded on a charge of vagrancy for a week. They are suspected of robbery in London and were arrested at the Grand Trunk station by Sergeant Wallace and P.C. Borthwick.

The ordinary number of drunks completed the business.

Home Rule Amending Bill to be Introduced in Lords on June 23.

(From Our Own Correspondent) LONDON, Wednesday, June 17.—Although the Unionist vote of censure on the Government was not forced to a division in the Lords yesterday if led to one result which augurs well for a peaceful settlement in the near future. The Government have yielded to Lord Lansdowne's demand for the immediate production of the Irish Amending Bill and will introduce it on Tuesday next. Lord Crews also made the interesting statement that Sir Edward Carson had been in communication with the Prime Minister on the subject. The negotiations were not disclosed, but it is no secret that they were chiefly concerned with the suggestion of establishing a statutory Ulster for the purpose of excluding Sir Edward from the different parties in Ulster. Such a map is open to anybody, and I sent the Prime Minister one."

After the heavy business session of the afternoon, the members of Grand Lodge were entertained at the Conservatory of Music by the members of Grand River lodge of this city.

A special degree team from Hamilton was present and initiated a large class of candidates into Canadian Oddfellowship. The team also exemplified the white and blue degrees in a splendid manner. After the work was finished, the rest of the evening was spent in social intercourse among the brethren. Refreshments were served, and a most enjoyable evening was spent by all the visitors pronouncing the members of Grand River lodge royal entertainers.

Call From St. Kits.
Louis Stander yesterday received a request from St. Catharines for 50 able-bodied men to work in various factories in that city. He has not yet decided to send them, as he thinks they may be needed as strikebreakers, and he has no intention of allowing them to go to St. Catharines. This is so. Mr. Stander says he will be able to obtain the men if he finds that all are in order, and will supply them as soon as he is satisfied with the request.

Big Derrick Is Busy In Raising Bridge

P. H. Secord and Son, contractors, have the preparatory work for the raising of Lorne Bridge well under way. This morning the big steam derrick was at work raising the dirt from where the men are busy undermining the big abutment stones of the bridge, and these will then be taken out so as to make way for the new inner wall now under construction on both sides. Just as soon as these walls are completed, the bridge will be raised. Of course most of the abutment stones on which the bridge now rests will have to be torn out of the way of the new inner walls, but as the abutment runs a considerable distance out and under the bridge the bridge will have plenty in fact, just as much, support as it had until it is raised and rested on the new abutments. The whole work is being carried on with very little interruption of traffic to and from West Brantford. The big derrick is erected on the site of the approach to the bridge next to the armories, and its boom swings across the street, dips the bucket down and then raises it over again where the bucket is dumped into the wagon awaiting it.

INDEPENDENT TO RUN AGAINST A. C. PRATT

Mr. Andrew Innes of Port Dover, is Named at Meeting attended Mostly by Liberals.

VICTORIA, June 17.—Mr. Andrew Innes, shoe dealer of Port Dover, is in the field as an independent candidate for the Legislature in South Norfolk. He will oppose A. C. Pratt, M.P.P., and expects to receive a certain amount of support from Liberals.

The meeting was called by Rev. J. Creighton, Methodist minister of Port Rowan, and Mr. Innes, who is a former license inspector, Rev. R. D. Abraham, representing the Dominion Alliance, addressed the meeting, which was presided over by Rev. J. Robertson, Presbyterian, of Port Dover. In addition to Mr. Innes, Messrs. Creighton, Anderson, Crews, Harding and Kelly were nominated, but withdrew.

Parts of the two parties made an arrangement recently by which Lieut. Col. Atkinson was to be given acclamation in North Norfolk in acknowledgement of no Liberal opposition to Mr Pratt in South Norfolk. Mr. Innes is presumably taking advantage of the fact that no one is in the field as a straight Liberal.

Mr. Pratt had 377 plurality in 1911 in a three-cornered contest.

SPIRIT OF TRUE SPORT BETWEEN NATIONS WAS EMPHASIZED

England's Team Has the Polo Cup Stored Away and Takes it Across Sea.

[By Special Wire to the Courier] NEW YORK, June 17.—The Westchester Cup, the much sought and highly prized trophy, emblematic of the polo championship of the world, is to-day stored among the effects of the British invaders and will start on its second trip across the Atlantic ocean on Saturday.

The score of four goals to two and three-quarters by which it was won tells only a part of the story which experts declare to have been the best game of polo ever played in this country. Victory for the challengers was hardly won and well deserved, and failure by the defenders to retain the trophy while disappointing for the moment, served to add interest to the game as a sport in the declaration of American poloists to challenge for a match next year.

In accepting the cup from Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney after the game, Lord Wimborne expressed the hope that there would be other international matches in which he might show an American team how much he appreciated the spirit of sport he had met here. That Lord Wimborne will have this opportunity was practically assured when Harry Payne Whitney, R. T. Wilson, Andrew Miller and others announced that they would back a movement to send a team to England next year to bring the cup back.

Major Barret, captain of the English team, in commenting upon the result said that at one time during yesterday's game it was a toss-up as to who would win.

J. M. Waterbury, captain of the American team, praised the good work of the visitors their good hitting and general excellence of play. He thought his own team had played a better game on Saturday and that they might have won with a little luck.

Receipts for the two games it was estimated to-day would aggregate about $200,000, while the expenses will probably not exceed a quarter of this amount. Last year the Polo association spent about $75,000 for the new national polo field at Narragansett Pier and it is expected that a part of this year's receipts will be set apart for a club house and other expenses.

Lord Wimborne made several large wagers on his team and is reported to have won about $17,000 on the match. His helpers also won heavily at the expense of the Americans.

With the City Police

There was a fair amount of activity in police court circles this morning when the cases were for the most part productive of fines which will enrich the court coffers to some extent. There were more in two of the charges than appeared on the surface.

The charge of attempted seduction against Robert Staats was this morning reduced to one of disorderly conduct, and upon this charge he was found guilty and fined $25 and costs. The case was adjourned from Monday for a witness to appear, and when he was examined to-day his evidence was not material to the case and did not bear direct testimony on the evidence given by the little girls as to the offering of money and the suggestions. The witness was on the other side of Dalhousie street at the time defendant accosted the girls and he did not hear anything direct, only knowing that they came to him with their story. The magistrate did not think that the first charge of attempted seduction was justified, but the evidence proved disorderly conduct, and upon this charge he convicted defendant.

Louis Harp was fined $10.00 this morning upon a charge of theft. He had obtained a horse and sold it while there was a lien upon it, but when the case was not gone into, the magistrate deciding that costs must be incurred.

Cupid is Busy In the Schools

What is the matter that so many of the public school teachers of the fair sex are resigning? is the question that is being asked by many of the citizens. No less than seven have handed in their resignations and there are over twenty applications on file for their positions. It is rumored that the chief reason is a ring—a wedding ring, of course—and that the fair teachers have decided that the single life is, after all, a lonely one, and, having found the "only one," have resigned their positions and decided to get married.

Judge Hardy Presides. Judge Hardy will preside as chairman of the board of arbitration to be held in Galt to-morrow in the case of House and the Galt, Preston and Hesperia Railway or the C.P.R.

Will Receive Damages. City Solicitor Henderson has written Mayor Spencer, recommending that the sum of $60 be paid to Mrs. Mary Kelly for damages received to her property by being flooded from backed up sewer.

Hamilton Horse Show. Brantford society will no doubt be well represented at the Hamilton Horse Show which opens to-morrow afternoon and closes on Saturday evening. The show will be held at the H. A. A. (the old Cricket grounds).

Is Called Home. Mr. Reginald Robbins of the Bell Telephone Co., was called home to Hamilton early this morning on account of the death of his father. Reg is well known here as the popular catcher for the clerks softball team.

Battery is Home. The 32nd Battery left Petawawa camp last night at 7 o'clock and arrived here to-day at noon. The health of men and horses has been excellent, no accidents being reported. The gunners looked splendidly fit and bronzed with their period under canvas, and spoke highly of the time spent there.

Building Permits. Crompton and Co. have taken out a permit for the erection of a $1,000 brick cottage on Wellington street, with Doris and Drake as the builders. A. E. Watts has been granted a permit for extensive repairs to his house at 84 West street including a sleeping porch. Mrs. Norah Grant, 25 James street, has taken out a permit for a brick addition to her house.

Bill View Opening. The Bill View School, which has been a year in building is now completed and preparations are being made for their formal opening of the new school on Friday evening of this week. Many prominent speakers will take part in this formal opening, and a good musical programme will be given. This school adds one more to Brant county's many fine schools.

Retail Merchants. A large and most enthusiastic meeting of the local Retail Merchants Association was held last evening in the K. of P. hall. It was decided by the merchants that they should show a large picnic some time in July, the date of which was not definitely decided upon. There was considerable discussion about the Realt By-law to be voted on by the ratepayers on June 26th, and the merchants present were unanimously in favor of it and passed a resolution, approving of the by-law as they considered it to be a splendid thing for the city in general and especially for the merchants.

A Japanese Art Student. There is at present residing in the Y.M.C.A. an interesting visitor to the city in the person of Mr. R. Shimizu, B.A. of Tokio, Japan. He has been studying for some years at Queen's University, Kingston, and took his degree at the college, with honors. He is now touring in North America, and is exhibiting a splendid collection of Japanese watercolors executed by himself and a fellow-student. He intends to finish his education in philosophy at the Edinburgh University, for which he will leave during September. Mr. Shimizu is a very entertaining and interesting Jap, who converses in four languages, besides Chinese, and is a well-versed scholar in the classics.

THE STORY CAME FROM ROWELL'S FAMILY CIRCLE

This is Latest Phase of Reported Intention to Drop "Abolish the Bar"

LONDON, June 17.—The disclosure that the abandonment of the Opposition policy of "abolish the bar" is being discussed in the most intimate Liberal circles brought a telegram to the Free Press yesterday, signed by N. W. Rowell, in which he says he was not in London, and could not have made the statement here that he intended to drop the attack on the bars.

However, the Liberal newspaper at London, which gave wide prominence to the alleged statement, did not credit it to Mr. Rowell directly. The report by the Rowell paper was that the information came from the wife of the Liberal leader, and was disclosed at a class meeting at the Askin Street Methodist Church. The same newspaper repeats the report in its issue of last evening, with the intimation that the intention to drop the policy came from another person, understood to be Mr. Rowell's sister, and not from his wife.

The published assertion was that the present campaign would be the last in which Mr. Rowell would appeal to the voters to "abolish the bar." The Liberal newspaper giving circulation to the story accompanied it with the comment that the statement "was a significant one," and further, that coming from such a source it was to be regarded as "authoritative."

Members of the class meeting who were present state that the Rowell newspaper report of what was said is substantially correct. The supposition is that the information imparted to the class meeting was not intended to be made known generally, as class meetings are semi-private in their character.

Apparently the newspaper in question, which is not believed to be in sympathy with the Rowell policy, welcomed the story, for it gave most unusual prominence to it, in addition to violating the generally accepted rule that class meetings are private in nature.

That the statement came from a member of the Rowell family circle gave it the importance in the view of the Liberal newspaper that received it, and the public are likely also to regard the matter as "important."

GRAND NINTH INNING RALLY GAVE THE RED SOX VICTORY
OVER TORONTO—SCORE 5-2

Scored Four Runs in the Ninth Off Kirley—Chase Again Pitched Clever Brand of Ball—Taylor at Second.

TORONTO, June 17.—Three hundred shivers in the cold wind of the Brantford Red Sox win second game of the series from the Sox yesterday by a score of 5 to 2. Until the ninth the game was a drawing duel between Kirley and Chase, but the former weakened in the final period and three hits suggested by three errors resulted in the victory of the Red Sox crossing the plate.

Both Kirley and Chase pitched good ball, the former allowing only six hits, three of which were made in the ninth, and the latter four, one of which was a double by Ort, and a single by Moseley. None of the hits scored off Kirley's delivery were for extra bases. Kirley struck out eight men and gave three passes to Chase whiffed three and gave no liability.

Brantford opened the game with a safe. Burns was passed aryl advanced to second on Taylor's sacrifice. He advanced to third on Moseley's wild pitch. Ivers was passed out by Burns engineered a double and the latter scoring on Harkins' error to second to catch Ivers.

The Sox evened the game up in the seventh. Killilea was safe when Taylor tumbled his grounder.
He advanced to second on Schultz's error to the pitcher, and came home when Isaac singled to right.
He took the lead in the eighth.
Moseley, the first man up, tripled to right and scored on Trout's sacrifice fly to right.

Bowling

July 1st is the new date for the Fifth Annual Brant County Lawn
Bowling Tournament in this city, as it was felt that holding it at the usual time on Civic Holiday, it would conflict with the Old Boys' Reunion.
Mr. T. L. Wood president, was in the chair, and there was a good attendance. The changing of the date and the election of officers were the matters disposed of. It was felt that though the time was short, to get good results it must begin on some holiday. Each succeeding year it has grown in interest and is now anxiously looked forward to by all the bowlers in the city and county as their affair.

The officers elected for the year
were as follows:
Hon. Presidents, Messrs. Lloyd
Harris and W. F. Cockshutt, M.P.; president, Mr. John G. Cohee; vice-presidents, Messrs. James Smiley and W. C. Creech; secretary-treasurer,
Mr. R. C. Burns; executive committee: Messrs. D. G. Husband, A. T.
Duncan, John Laing, W. H. Biggar,
Dr. Anderson, W. J. McNeilly, T.
A. Cowan, Robt. Inkster, F. Corey.

borne, R. Gorman, E. C. Tench and

ENGLAND TAKES POLO TROPHY
FROM THE U.S.

Won Desperate Struggle Yesterday by 4 to 2 1/2—Victory in Final Period.

WESTBURY, L. I., June 17.—The International Polo Cup, emblematic of the world's championship, will cross the ocean again, having been won here yesterday by the English team in the second game of the series by a score of 4 to 2 1/2. Although the United States defenders made a desperate last ditch stand, they were not quite equal to winning. Their thrilling rushes both individually and as a team in the closing minutes of the struggle aroused the 40,000 spectators to a frenzy, however, and no previous international polo struggle ever closed under such tense and exciting conditions.

When the eighth and final period opened the American four was leading by a fraction of a point, but despite their desperate efforts they could not hold the advantage. Each team scored a goal in this period, but the defenders on their last play, being the victory transgressed the rules by sharp crossing and were penalized for fouling.

Major Barrett of the Hurlingham Club's successful four, was carried to the club house on the shoulders of the English players, being Union Jacks, and American polo devotees began to discuss plans for a 1915 invasion of England in a fresh quest of the cup.

Penalties Lost the Game.

Outplayed and utterly routed in the opening contest, when they went down to defeat by a score of 8 to 2,
the Americans came back in surprising form and scored an equal number of goals to those made by the winners. It was the desperate style of their play and the lack of perfect teamwork that finally wrought their downfall, for they lost in penalties 3 to 1 points out of a gross five, while the English were penalized but one point, retaining four of their five goals.

It was only the finished team work of the English four which gave them the edge, which finally brought victory. The American string of ponies proved just as fast yesterday as that of the Hurlingham representatives, and in riding off quick sprints and checking the two teams appeared equal.

England Was Hard Checked.

Experts expressed the opinion after the game that the English four play a trifle below the remarkable form of Saturday, and this was undoubtedly true, but the fact remains that the forcing play of the defenders gave the winners little chance to show the clever combination work in passing and striking that was so marked in the first game.

On the challenging side Tomkinson improved over his showing in the opening game. Capt. Cheape did not rise to quite the heights of sensational play which so distinguished him previously. Major Barrett, however, closed up the gap, and with Lockett repeatedly rushed up to the fore when a score appeared possible.

It was this splendid support by the English second line that helped to win, for both Cheape and Tomkinson frequently over rode the tide.

This was demonstrated by the fact that Barrett scored three of the five English goals, including the tenth and final one, which won the game.

The forwards, Tomkinson and Cheape divided the other two between them.

When the victory was clinched the large English contingent showed most unusual enthusiasm. The successful players were lifted from their tired ponies and hugged and carried about the field. After they had escaped to don blanket coats they were escorted to the clubhouse by a big delegation of Englishmen, carrying small Union Jacks, and here they were congratulated by hundreds of English and American polo enthusiasts. The officers of the Polo Association praised their splendid sportsmanship and play, and they in turn congratulated the defenders on their strong stand in the closing game.

ERIE DEFEAT LONDON.

ERIE, June 17.—Erie hit Heck in the pinches yesterday, and won a thrilling game 8 to 5. Except in the seventh and eighth innings London's hits were kept well scattered. In the seventh three runs were scored on a single by Mullins and home runs by Snyder and Heck. The score: Erie,
8; London, 5.

Manager Deneau has shaken up the Red Sox. The Brantford manager apparently disgruntled with things, has decided, pending the arrival of new players, to shake things up any way. Yesterday he went to centre field himself, putting Ivers on first.
Wagner was benched and Taylor was put in at second. With Taylor in the tray doubtless the hitting of the team will be improved. Barney should be in the game to-day at Toronto, as he sent a wire that he had left Detroit Monday night.

President Nelson announced last night that the club was after a couple of hitters for the outfield and one new pitcher. With Chase going good the Red Sox president was satisfied that the pitching would be well looked after. Brantford in beating Kirley yesterday beat Toronto's best pitcher. Likewise Bobby Heck aryl Dolan, two other good heavers, went down in the fray.

"If we haven't got a good ball team," said Mr. Nelson, "we have the nicest looking grounds in Canada. There will be no further excuses for errors because of the grounds." Last week the entire infield was plowed up and 38 loads of new

BLACK HAND SECRETS REVEALED BY CHIEF OF SECRET SERVICE

The Long Arm of the Black Hand

By WILLIAM J. FLYNN,
Chief of the United States Secret Service

ACROSS deserts, rivers, seas the long arm of the Black Hand reaches. In every State of the Union its crushing grip may be felt, and even in Europe it may strike and do its enemies to death.

In the fight against the Lupo-Morello gang the Secret Service was concerned for the most part with counterfeiting operations in and around New York, but much was learned about the activities of the band in other fields, and many crimes were at least in part explained which might otherwise have gone down as baffling mysteries. There are criminal organizations in Italy, perhaps to a certain extent allied with the Black Hand of America, but the society which has its headquarters in New York fights its own battles.

Comito, the man who ran the counterfeiting presses for the Black Handers in the stone house at Highland, in his confession, which I have quoted freely, throws light on the killing of Joseph Petrosino in Palermo while on business there for Theodore Bingham, then Police Commissioner of New York city. It is an example of how the Black Hand hunts its enemies to death. Petrosino left New York in great secrecy and no mention was made of it in the newspapers. His purpose was to get evidence against members of the Black Hand so that they could be deported, and he was chosen for the work because he was himself an Italian, serving as the head of the Italian Detective Bureau of the New York police. He it was who helped me in establishing the identity of Mariano Benedetto, the victim of the barrel murder, and there was among the police no man more hated and more feared by the Lupo-Morello band than this Petrosino.

While Petrosino was in Palermo carrying out his mission he was shot to death walking in the street, and his murderers escaped and were never apprehended. The crime remained a great mystery, and although the police of New York called upon the Italian government to assist in clearing it up nothing was accomplished. While I may not say with certainty who killed Petrosino, I believe that certain things which Comito, the man who operated the counterfeit press in the stone house at Highland, told me throw light on the subject.

As I told in a previous article, Comito was called to New York by Cecala, Morello's lieutenant, to consult on the printing of the two-dollar American bills, which were conditionally a little off color. After complying with certain formal conditions Comito was taken to a room over a bank up town, where he was questioned by Morello about the ink used in printing the bills. In the room with Morello, Cecala and Comito was a Calabrian, a tall man, very dignified in appearance and giving the impression of great dignity and strength. Throughout the interview this man, whom Comito knew only as Michele, the Calabrian said not a word. He seemed to be in a reverie. As Cecala and Comito were leaving the room, according to Comito's confession:

"Cecala turned to Morello and said in a low voice: 'Tell me something, Piddu, have you arranged for the fare for the Calabrian?'

"Piddu is a nickname for Giuseppe Morello.

"Cecala asked, 'Why not?'

"Because we are not certain that he is going," said Morello.

"How not certain? Cecala asked.

"It is not sure that this low detective will go. But as soon as Coto returns from Brooklyn I will have him get information from that friend."

"Coto was a stepbrother of Morello.

"The newspapers are not talking about it," said Cecala.

"Certainly not," said Morello, "for it is a secret thing and not even known to many of the police as yet."

"Pezzo di Sibiro" said Cecala, which is to say, 'damn detective.' He guards his own hide without calculating how many he has ruined."

"Don't talk too much. Go away," said Morello, and we left the house. I did not know at that time of whom they were talking."

Now this was just before Petrosino left for Sicily, and although in itself it might not seem to have any great bearing on his death, Comito was to hear more of it later.

In one of the previous articles Comito told how Ignazio Lupo came to the little stone house at night and frightened the counterfeiter before they learned who the visitor was. After Lupo had unpacked the magazine rifles and cartridges which he had brought to the house the Black Handers sat down to a big meal which Caterina and Comito were forced to serve. To quote from Comito again:

"They were all eating and drinking merrily when Uncle Vincent (one of the counterfeiter) turned to Lupo and asked, 'What news are you bringing, Ignazio?'

"You know all the news that I bear," said Lupo, except that it is said Petrosino has gone to Italy."

"If he went to Italy he will be killed," said Uncle Vincent.

"If it could only be done successfully," said Lupo.

"Lupo smiled, a crooked, twisted, wicked smile, which has ruined many," he said. "It is enough to say that he had himself locked up in the Tombs Prison to interrogate the detained and uncover crimes."

"Many mothers' children he has

"You have done well," said Cecala. "Let us drink to our health and to h— with that carogna."

Italian government would institute proceedings. The fact that they do not is probably due partly to a feeling that Italy is well rid of them and partly to political influence. The political parties of the United States are by no means free from the influence of the Black Hand. Neither party as a whole is culpable in this respect nor any party in particular, but minor organizations of all parties existing in New York realize the power of the Black Hand and are not always above using it.

In fighting the Black Hand the police in the past were to a certain extent hampered by this political influence.

"I never knew him," I said.

"You never will," Cecala said grimly.

"Then, after all it was successful?" repeated Uncle Vincent.

"Certainly," said Lupo. "It could not be successful in New York because he guarded his hide so carefully. When he walked he brought a revolver in his coat pocket and was accompanied by two policemen a short distance behind him."

"It is a good example for the policemen," said Uncle Vincent. "No one will dare to go to Palermo, for going there they will find death."

"Una, another of the counterfeiter, came down from the pressroom in time to hear the last part of the conversation.

"As soon as we can," he said, "we must have a really big celebration. Now we will have to be content with a glass of wine."

"After this I went again to work at the press and because of the noise I could hear no more of Petrosino."

No one has ever been arrested and convicted for the murder of Joseph Petrosino, but what Comito heard during his connection with the Black Hand speaks for itself. It shows the scope of the society, how its mailed fist may strike even across the seas, through the headquarters of the band is in present matter of fact New York.

There are other evidences of the worldwide power of the Black Hand. Many of its members have committed crimes in Italy and would be extradited if the conversation at Morello's house and the time that Lupo was at the stone house before, I asked—

"Who is this Petrosino?"

"He was the head of the Italian police in New York," replied Cecala. "A 'honest' man. Worse than the bubonic plague."

"I never knew him," I said.

"You never will," Cecala said grimly.

"Then, after all it was successful?" repeated Uncle Vincent.

"Certainly," said Lupo. "It could not be successful in New York because he guarded his hide so carefully. When he walked he brought a revolver in his coat pocket and was accompanied by two policemen a short distance behind him."

There are other evidences of the worldwide power of the Black Hand. Many of its members have committed crimes in Italy and would be extradited if the neighbor of Giovanni Vella, walked through a dark alley to make a short cut to her home. In a shadow she noticed two men, lurking. She was a little frightened at first, but noticing that one of the men was Morello, who she knew very well, she continued on her way and would have thought nothing more of the incident.

"Who are the men?" he asked.

"The Black Hand agent enumerated them. At the mention of Giuseppe Morello his listener started. It would perhaps be safer to contribute to the fund. He knew the record of Giuseppe Morello in Italy.

Giuseppe Morello! That was the man who had slain Giovanni Vella, chief of the Sylvan Guards, not half a block from his residence in Corleone.

The entire story came to the mind of the man who had been asked to contribute to the defence fund for Lupo and Morello.

Again he heard the crash of exploding powder in the night. As though he were reacting the scene he remembered how he had run from his house into the street, frightened more by the horrid scream of anguish he had heard than by the report of the revolver. He saw the sickly, pallid face of Giovanni Vella as the light from the street lamps shone upon the little group of men who were trying to succeed him. He heard the choking voice of Vella, trying to tell them who had fired the shot which sent a bullet tearing through his back into his lung. And he remembered how Vella had died almost as soon as they had carried him into his house, before even the priest had come to insure his soul everlasting life.

The man in New Orleans remembered all this, and he trembled for his wife and for his children, should he refuse to contribute to the fund.

He gave freely.

But what had Morello to do with all this? I will tell you the story, and it is stranger than fiction.

One night in 1880 Anna Di Puma, a neighbor of Giovanni Vella, walked through a dark alley to make a short cut to her home. In a shadow she noticed two men, lurking. She was a little frightened at first, but noticing that one of the men was Morello, who she knew very well, she continued on her way and would have thought nothing more of the incident.

She had not reached her house, however, when she heard a shot behind her. Running back into the alley she was the first to come upon the body of Giovanni Vella lying in the very shadow where the two men had been standing.

Next day Mrs. Di Puma told her neighbors of the two men she had seen in the alley, and declared that she would go to a magistrate and relate all she knew.

Two days later Mrs. Di Puma sat in the doorway of a neighbor's store. A carbine crashed twice. Mrs. Di Puma toppled forward on the ground. Two bullets had entered her body and she was dead.

Morello was arrested and charged with the murder of Anna Di Puma, for it was known that the woman intended to become a witness against him when the Vella case got into the courts.

Now Morello was at that time a member of the Mafia, an organization which Vella had sworn to break up. In the Mafia were two lawyers, who swore that Morello was in Palermo at the very hour when Anna Di Puma was shot in Corleone. Morello was discharged for lack of evidence.

Francesco Ortonello had been arrested for the murder of Vella. He was taken place Ortonello had to be in a position to arrest and convict a number of the members. At the time of his death the election for the chief of the Sylvan Guards was at hand, and the Mafia, knowing that to defeat Vella they must put up a man of unquestioned integrity, brought about the nomination of Francesco Ortonello, who was not aware that the Mafia agents were behind the campaign for his nomination.

Shortly before the election was to take place Vella went to the home of Ortonello and denounced him.

"So, Francesco Ortonello," flamed Vella in a rage, "you have taken off your mask. Never before did I think that you were one of the Mafia's puppets. I thought that you were an honest man; but alas, I fooled myself."

Angered by this denunciation in his own home, Ortonello took up a carbine and drove Vella from the house. Nevertheless he considered well what Vella had said and investigated the situation. When he was satisfied that the Mafia had forced his nomination in order to defeat their other foe, Vella he resigned.

The next night Vella was shot to death.

It is no wonder that Comito in the stone house at Highland, enjoyed a reputation for crime in Italy. Comito tells of his confession.

"One day while we were working at the presses," he told me, "Uncle Vincent explained that he had been a member of the Mafia in his own town. He said he saw two oxen which he wanted to purchase."

"The price the owner asked was satisfactory to him and a discussion followed, in the course of which one of the oxen said something at which Uncle Vincent took offense."

"Without saying a word Uncle Vincent raised the rifle which he was carrying and shot the owner of the oxen. Another man who had been working in the field ran for his life, but I shot him cent dropped him with a bullet and he had gone fifty paces."

Having committed a double murder Uncle Vincent knew that he must leave the country. He had no money and searched the pockets of the oxen and found 250 lire. The money was waited only long enough to be exchanged for his family, then he went to Tunis, Tunisia, where he lived by odd jobs. He had accumulated enough money to go to Liverpool and live on until he left there for New York.
