Stella Mordaunt:

The Cruise of the "Kingfisher."

CHAPTER XXIV.
CHAPTER XXV.

They had turned the corner of the house, and, just as they did so, a lady rode up on horseback, followed by a groom.

Lady Cecilia shaded her eyes from the sun, then exclaimed:

"Why, it is Mary Hatherley!"

The ladies hurried forward to welcome Mary.

"Why, Molly, dear, what a delightful surprise! How good of you to come over so soon!" exclaimed Lady Cecilia, and as Mary looked from her saddle, she put her arm round her and kissed her affectionately; for the two girls were great friends.

"I heard that you had come back and I rode over directly," said Mary as she shook hands with Lisle. "How well you are both looking! I am dying to hear about your travels! What a long time you have been away!"

"Oh! I've a budget to unfold!" said Cecilia; then she looked round at Stella, who had hung back to allow the two friends to exchange greetings. "Mary, this is a new, but a very dear friend of ours—Miss Mordaunt, Stella, Lady Mary Hatherley is an old school-fellow and neighbour."

Stella came up, and the two regarded each other with the conventional gravity, but each felt somewhat attracted, and Mary held out her hand with the Hatherley smile which so few persons could resist.

They went into the house, and after a minute or two Stella quietly left them and strolled into the garden.

"What a lovely face!" exclaimed Mary, as soon as Stella was out of hearing.

"Isn't she beautiful?" responded Cecilia, "and she is as sweet as she is beautiful. We met her in our travels—she and Cecil had agreed to tell no one of the way in which they had met Stella—and we have induced her to come to the Abbey. She is supposed to be my companion, but it is a convenient fiction. I am so glad you admire her, and I am sure you will like her when you know her. Life has been a different thing since she came to us, hasn't it, Cecil?"

He assented gravely.

"And now come up to my room and take off your hat! Of course you are going to spend the day with us, and we'll ride part of the way home with you."

The two went up to Lady Cecilia's room, and Cecilia sat by the dressing table and regarded her old school-fellow and friend lovingly as Mary stood before the glass taking off her hat.

"One can't well avoid corns in these days of dainty shoes. But it's folly to keep them, pare them and doctor them."

A chemist has invented a way to end corns quickly. It is known as Blue-jay. Attach it and the corn pain stops at once. Then a bit of wax—called B & B wax—loosens the corn very gently. In two days the whole corn disappears without any pain or soreness. It seems magical. After a Blue-jay plaster is applied, the shoe can't hurt the corn. After 48 hours there is no corn to hurt.

Folks have proved this on some 70 million corns. They are removing in this way a million corns a month.

That's why corns are not so common as they used to be. Blue-jay plasters came—folks found them out—and half the corns that grow today are quickly ended by them.

A Remedy For All Pain

"The efficiency of any drug," says Dr. C. P. Robbins, "is known to us by the results we obtain from its use. If we are able to control pain and disease by means of any preparation, we certainly are warranted in its use. One of the principal symptoms of all diseases is pain, and this is what the patient most often applies to for relief. It is something to relieve his pain. If we can arrest this promptly, the patient is most likely to trust in us for the other remedies which will effect a permanent cure. One remedy which I have used largely in my practice is Anti-kamnia Tablets. Many and varied are their uses. I have put them to the test on many occasions, and have never been disappointed. I found them especially valuable for headaches of malarial origin, where quinine was being taken. They appear to prevent the bad after-effects of the quinine. Anti-kamnia Tablets are also excellent for the headaches from improper digestion; also for headaches of a neuralgic origin, and especially for women subjected to pains at certain times. Two Anti-kamnia Tablets give prompt relief and in a short time the patient is able to go about as usual. These tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They are also unexcelled for headaches, neuralgia and all pains."

hat. The excitement of their meeting had brought the colour to Mary's face but it had died away by this time, and Cecilia saw that she was pale and that there was a melancholy look in the beautiful eyes which had not been there when they had parted in the early spring.

"And now tell me all the news, Mary," she said. "Have you been quite well, dear?"

"Oh, yes; quite," said Mary, but rather listlessly.

"But have you? You are looking paler, thinner—but prettier than ever, dear."

Mary looked at her reflection in the mirror absently.

"Am I not looking well? Yes, I am thinner, I think," she said, casually.

"New? I don't think there is much."

"How is Lord Hatherley? I hope he hasn't forgotten the girl he used to call the 'second favourite!'"

Mary smiled, but rather sadly.

"He is not likely to forget you, dear; and he would have come over with me, but he has a touch of the gout. He has not been well lately. I think he is worried about something."

Lady Cecilia looked surprised.

"It is strange to hear of your father worrying about anything; he is always so bright and cheerful. What is it, Molly?"

Mary hesitated.

"I scarcely know," she said; "business of some kind, I fancy; but he does not tell me—now; perhaps he thinks I should not understand," she added, as if she should not seem to be complaining. "Women do not understand business, you know, Cis. It is something in which he and—Lord Rattion"—she paused a moment before she spoke his name—"are mutually concerned."

"Lord Rattion, the new earl!" exclaimed Cecilia. "I want to hear all about him, Molly. You know he did not appear—turn up—until after we had gone. We read a short paragraph about his claim and succession to the title, and we are, of course, very curious to hear what he is like. Is he nice, Molly? Do you see much of him?"

Mary answered the last question, evading the first.

"Yes; a great deal. He comes over to us—to see father—nearly every day, and—oh, yes! we see him very often."

"What is he like?" asked Cecilia, with natural curiosity. "He is very young, of course? Is he good-looking and—well, nice in every way? Do you like him, Molly?"

"Lord Rattion is young, and—yes, good-looking," said Mary, very quietly. "Most persons would call him handsome."

"Which means that you don't," commented Cecilia.

"It does not matter very much whether I do or not," responded Mary with a laugh which sounded strange and forced to Cecilia. "He is very popular—extremely so, and with all sorts and conditions of people, for he is very hospitable—there have been a great many entertainments at the Hall since he came—and he is very good to the tenants and the people on the estates."

"Notwithstanding all which, I see you don't like him very much, Molly," remarked Cecilia, with a woman's shrewdness.

Mary flushed for a moment.

"I ought to be very grateful to him, for he saved my life," she said, gravely.

"Saved your life!" exclaimed Cecilia. "Why, how? Tell me, Molly."

Mary related the incident of the runaway horse and Ralph's plucky rescue; but though she told the story graphically, and exaggerated rather than depreciated her danger and Ralph's courage, Cecilia noticed that there was none of the enthusiasm in Mary's voice which might have been expected.

"I can never forget it, and father—"

"I know how your father must feel towards him, Molly. He must feel that he owes Lord Rattion a debt he can never repay—your life! Oh, Molly! we are all grateful to him! If he is so popular and hospitable and good to the people on the estate, and possesses such courage, he must be nice. Why, Mary, he is quite a hero."

"Yes," assented Mary, mechanically. "I daresay you will like Lord Rattion."

"I will get Cecil to ride over to call on him to-morrow, and we will ask him to dinner. You and Lord Hatherley will come, Molly?"

A shade passed over Mary's pale face.

"Father does not go out much now, Cis," she replied, in so constrained a fashion that Cecilia tactfully hastened to change the subject.

"And now tell me some of our other friends, Molly. How are the Bryans, for instance?"

Mary turned aside to put down a hair-brush, so that Cecilia did not see the crimson which flooded her friend's face.

"They are very well," she replied. "I lunched there yesterday. They are delighted at your home-coming."

"And where is Edward?" asked Cecilia, eagerly. "Have they heard from him lately?"

"He is abroad," said Mary, very quietly, her face pale again, and her manner well under control. "They have not heard very lately—he is in the wilds somewhere and cannot write."

"Dear old Ned!" said Cecilia. "I hope he is getting on all right. What a dear fellow he is! Do you remember the happy times we four—you and he, and Cecil and I—used to have in the holidays? There never was anyone so nice as Edward Bryan! What a pity it is that he is not the eldest son. But I ought not to have said that, Molly, and yet one can't help regretting it. You were always his special favourite, you know, and we used to tease him about you."

"I remember," said Molly, in a low voice. "And now tell me about your travels and all that has happened to you, Cis."

Cecilia was silent for a moment. She noticed a change in her once light-hearted school-fellow. Mary who used to be the most frank-hearted of girls, had become reserved, and seemingly cold; and what was the meaning of the subtle air of melancholy in her voice and manner, and the sad expression in the eyes which Cecilia remembered sparkling with innocent, girlish fun? She spoke and looked as if a cloud were hanging over her, as if she had something on her mind.

If Lady Cecilia Lisle and Lady Mary Hatherley had been a couple of factory hands or domestic servants Cecilia would have risen and thrown her arm round Mary's neck and asked her what was the matter; but they were two ladies of rank, and in their world impulse is held in check, and confidences are waited for, not invited. Besides, Mary's secret sorrow had lent her a new and strange dignity, which alone was sufficient to curb Cecilia's longing to learn Mary's trouble and comfort her. So she gave Mary an account of their travels; and she, on her hand, had something to conceal when she spoke of Stella.

"We—we met her quite by accident," she said, "and I have grown very fond of her. Poor girl! she has no relations, and is quite alone in the world. I hope you will like her, Molly. But, indeed, you won't be able to help it!"

Mary had gone to the window and was gazing out with the far-away look in her eyes which was now their habitual expression; but she was listening to Cecilia with interest.

"I am sure I shall like her," she said, warmly, "and it is just like you to—"

She stopped suddenly, as if something in the garden below had attracted her attention. Cecilia went to the window to see what it was.

Stella and Cecil was standing on the lawn, and as Mary had been speaking, he had stopped and picked a flower and offered it to Stella. There was nothing to attract attention in the simple action; but Mary and Cecilia saw the look in his eyes as he gave Stella the flower; and Mary glanced at Cecilia with a startled look, and turned away from the window as if she had seen something that was not intended for her eyes.

Cecilia crimsoned.

"I know dear," she said in a low voice. "Yes, he is in love with her. He has been in love with her ever since—from the first moment—we saw her. It was love at first sight. I know what you think, what everybody will say. They will blame me for having her here, for making so close a friend of her. But, Molly, she is good and true, and though she has no position, and though we know so little of her, I cannot interfere, cannot come between them. And if I wished to do so, I could not. My heart's on her side, Molly. Isn't that strange? It must seem so to you; and you will blame me."

Mary turned, with a sudden colour in her face and a light in her eyes.

"No, I don't blame you," she said with an earnestness, and emotion which almost startled Cecilia. "Why should you come between them? What right have you, has anyone, to wreck Lord Lisle's happiness? If he loves her—and I can see that he does, I saw his face just now—why should anyone interfere? If she is good and pure, what does it matter if she is not of the same rank as ourselves; if she is poor—I suppose she is poor?"

Cecilia inclined her head in silence; she was surprised by Mary's unusual vehemence.

"He is rich enough for both, rich enough to choose. Oh how fortunate he is, how fortunate!" she broke off, with sudden bitterness. "I am sick of the worldliness that separates two persons who love each other because the one is poor or not in 'Society.' Money, rank! We worship them nowadays. As if they were the only things that brought happiness! Happiness! Is there any class so unhappy as ours! Oh, Cis! I never pass the lodge without envying the keeper and his wife; they are just married—they have been in love with each other since they were children; and because they happen to be poor working people they are permitted to be happy. There was a smile on her face to-day, as I stopped and spoke to her—that made me want to kiss her—while we who are supposed to be free and privileged are little better than slaves to Rank and Mammon!"

EVERYDAY ETIQUETTE

"When a couple are married without any attendants, who keeps the wedding ring?" inquired the Engaged Girl.

"The groom should keep it in his vest pocket until the time arrives when he is to place it on the bride's finger," advised her married friend.

At the House.

THURSDAY, May 27th.
Mr. Kent presented a petition asking that the Newfoundland Building Association be incorporated. The petition was referred to a Select Committee, consisting of the following:—Mr. Kent, Mr. Lloyd, the Premier, Mr. Moulton, Mr. Coaker, Mr. Higgins, Mr. Bennett, Mr. Emerson.

Mr. Woodford presented petitions re wharf and road.

The Prohibition and Volunteer Force Bills were read a third time and sent to the Upper House for concurrence.

The Council's amendment to the Patriotic Association Bill was concurred in and sent back to the other Chamber.

A despatch was laid on the table informing the House of the appointment of Mr. Bonar Law, as Secretary of State for the Colonies.

The Council's Amendments to the Municipal Bill were read a second time. These were mainly the amendments proposed by Mr. Lloyd, which were supported by the Government but voted down by the Opposition but endorsed and adopted by the Upper House. The amendments had the effect of allowing the present Commissioners an extra twelve months to finish their work, ending June 1916.

The original clause provided to give the Board an extension of only six months.

Mr. Kent was of the opinion that the amendments were a great improvement to the Bill. Twelve months ago he had expressed himself, which he reiterated now, that the old Council should go on as it was going and that a special Commission be appointed to formulate a new system of Civic Government. They were now in office about a year, but to terminate their term in the middle of their work would stultify everything the Commissioners had done. In all probability, said Mr. Kent, they will be able to make some remedy for civic improvement when they come into this House next winter, with their report, whereas if they had gone out of power in the meantime their work would be incomplete and would be taken up incompletely by other people who would necessarily have to go over the same ground again. The amendments were concurred in and sent back.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Council's amendments to the Logging Bill.

Mr. Coaker objected to most of the amendments which were entirely in favor of the Logging Companies and were unjust to the men. He suggested that the matter be taken up in Committee with a view of effecting a compromise.

Mr. Kent found a way to adjust the disagreement existing between both Houses, regarding the Logging Bill. He proposed that a Select Committee of both Houses meet and discuss fully their differences about the Bill that a satisfactory compromise could be made and a law enacted satisfactory to all concerned. It matters are allowed to remain as they are nothing would be arrived at. Mr. Kent's solution to the difficulty was acted upon and the following members comprised the Select Committee:—Messrs. Kent, Lloyd, Coaker, Emerson, Clapp, Moulton and Higgins.

The House then went into Committee on Supply.

Mr. Clapp rose and indignantly complained of the unfair treatment meted out to his district (Bonnie Bay) from time to time by the present Government. He first asked the reason why the motor ferry boat was discontinued running between Woody Point and Norris' Point. In 1913, shortly before the elections the boat was put into operation for the conveyance of passengers to and from these places. It appears that the boat was taken out in 1914 and substituted by an ordinary row boat. He (Mr. C.) then brought down to the House an influentially signed petition to have matters remedied and he was given the impression that the Government had acceded to the request until he recently received a letter from a prominent clergyman of the district complaining of a row boat being used. An extraordinary circumstance is, said Mr. Clapp, that this gasoline boat was authorized to be run by the Public Works Department which also sent a supply of gasoline to a Government supporter at Bonnie Bay.

However, the motor boat was not allowed to run after the elections were over. It must be borne in mind, emphasized the indefatigable member for the district, that Bonnie Bay contributes a considerable amount to the revenue of the Colony and deserves, at least, a passing notice from the Government. In 1914 Bonnie Bay paid $10,128 and there was no reason at all why the people there should be deprived of the use of a paltry ferry boat whereas Pogo could get a large wharf erected in election year that cost the Government $12,000. In addition Mr. Clapp pointed out that there was not a single public building in his district. The Post Office was a disgrace prior to the elections, a fact that the Premier knew well. In conclusion he asked that some provision be made to supply a much needed motor boat or allow the former ferry to be reinstated and that the people be given a convenience for travelling between the points mentioned.

Mr. Moulton denied having got a big grab re the repairing arrangement of the Government. He said the Postmaster General had been a sick man for the past four months and any way was too old to give it his attention. He promised a Commission of Enquiry.

Mr. Morine suggested the superannuation of Mr. Woods and that Hon. J. A. Robinson be nominated right away in his place.

Mr. Moulton denied having got a big grab re the repairing arrangement of the Government. He said the Postmaster General had been a sick man for the past four months and any way was too old to give it his attention. He promised a Commission of Enquiry.

Mr. Coaker could not congratulate the Colonial Secretary on his defence of the matter. He knew last year irregularities were going on in connection with the Postal Telegraph Department and he did not like to create a fuss over the matter.

Mr. Kent said he did not intend to labor the matter as the Colonial Secretary had given the House the assurance that there would be an investigation. Continuing, he said, we ought not to despise the details of the statements made by Mr. Stone, the member for Trinity, in view of the confirmation of some portions of the statements made by the Colonial Secretary. He (Mr. K.) thought that Mr. Stone deserved the thanks of the House and the whole country for bringing the matter to light. He believed circumstances warranted an enquiry into the Postal Telegraph Department.

The House then went into Committee on the Resolutions re exportation of timber.

Mr. Morine opposed the Resolutions. He thought the new policy a mad one and was simply asking to skin the country and leaving it barren the same as the scuttling of a ship. What timber is in the country should be kept here to be manufactured and not let another acre go out unless the Colony got the benefit. The property on the Labrador was procured under the law that timber should be manufactured here and not be monopolized by speculators.

The Premier then occupied the House and was speaking when recess was taken.

AFTER RECESS.
The Premier continued his speech in defence of the Pt. Prop Resolutions after recess. He quoted some millions of figures as usual and showed the immense amount of labor that would accrue from the adoption of the measure.

Something for Nothing
The Government carried last night in the House of Assembly their resolutions to allow the export of pulpwood from the Labrador for ten years. This is a reversal of the policy which governed the Bond party and the Morris party for the past twelve years. The very fact that such a permission was likely to be given at this session of the Legislature has gladdened the hearts of those interested in timber licenses on the Labrador, and there is quite a large number of friends of the Government party who have secured licenses to cut timber there since 1909. The rumor that such a course was probable has also had the effect of causing quite a rush for timber areas in that dependency. The course pursued last night is quite in keeping with what was done in 1911. Under the law which governed licenses before that date, they were liable to have their licenses taken away from them for not paying the rents due after a certain time and also for not complying with other conditions of the license relating to surveying and the erection of saw mills or pulp mills. By the law passed in 1911, licenses became forfeitable only for non-payment of rent, but not for non-fulfillment of other conditions of the license. The re-issuing of licenses from the latter obligations for that is what the change amounts to in practice was strongly opposed by Sir Robert Bond and the Opposition of that date. By the law, which is now being made, licensees on the Labrador are being relieved of their obligation of not exporting timber in an unmanufactured state from the Labrador. This is a very considerable concession to these licensees and they are put in a position as speculators to dispose of their limits on more favorable terms to suppliers of pit props and pulpwood to pulp and paper mills in Great Britain and the United States. They are placed on the same level as those who get licenses to cut on Crown Lands and export from the Labrador and who have no limits to sell and merely pay an export duty of One Dollar a cord. This valuable concession they obtain for nothing. There is good reason for the joy of the friends of the Government who have obtained timber limits on the Labrador during the past six years.

Letters for Reservists.

J. R. BENNETT,
Colonial Secretary's Office,
May 27th, 1915.
Admiralty, May 22nd, 1915.
Sir,—With reference to your letter of the 18th March, No. 12740, respecting delay in the delivery of letters addressed to Nfld. R.N.R. men, I am commanded by My Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty to acquaint you for the information of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, that enquiry has been made at the Home ports and it appears that in many cases the delay has been caused by the letters having been insufficiently addressed. Any letters intended for Newfoundland R.N.R. men should be addressed in the following manner:—

Name—
Rating (e.g. A.B.) followed by the words: "Newfoundland R.N.R."
Service No. (if known).
Name of ship in which serving, or R.N. Barracks, Portsmouth, Devonport or Chatham, if serving in any of these establishments.
The last words should be "C/o G.P.O."
I am to suggest that the proper method of addressing letters should be published in Newfoundland.
Men in the Fleet belonging to Newfoundland R.N.R. will also be informed and will be advised to communicate to their relatives the name of the ship or establishment where they are serving.
I am, etc.,

At the House.

Mr. Kent said that he had listened with considerable interest to the remarks of the Prime Minister, but nothing that he had said appealed to him. He was prepared to go as far as possible in order to assist the Empire and her Allies, but did not believe that a measure such as that before the House should be brought under such a guise. The cutting of timber for export is a matter that today is receiving the most careful consideration of every country in the world that has such resources. It is a well known fact that we are particularly rich in these resources both in Newfoundland and Labrador, and the first duty of the Legislature should be to make the best of our resources. Owing to exceptional circumstances arising out of the war we had a request from the Imperial Government and the Republic of France, whose sons are fighting side by side with the Empire's sons in this great struggle that the Colony allow the exportation of the proceeds to facilitate the work in the mines. This was helping the Empire and all were unanimous that Newfoundland should do her share in every way possible. To extend a license for indiscriminate cutting of timber was another matter. We are continually hearing complaints regarding the three mile limits due to indiscriminate cutting. What cleared out the forest areas of the State of Maine, of Ontario and of Quebec but the indiscriminate cutting. Mr. Kent then referred to the fact that on the opening of the debate on the Speech from the Throne he had read a clipping from the "Standard of Empire" which he again read to the House. He contended that the item showed that a campaign had been initiated to provide a license to cut such timber as referred to for an indefinite period. The proposal combined with previous information was in his opinion sufficient proof that such a campaign had been in progress. He contended that the information was only apparent since the introduction of the Bill, though the Government had shown that the "Standard of Empire" had come from an authoritative source. "The pulp wood industry is a remunerative one," said the N. D. McElroy, Co. and Albert Reed Co. would not continue their business as they have done. No effort has been made by the Government to show that it is impossible to profitably carry on the business. In the event of a Legislature permitting the exportation of timber, they should in the first place establish a code of laws for a proper system of re-forestation of trees. He would not support the Bill for the period of the war only, but not from Newfoundland for any time, because the supply on the Labrador was sufficient to meet all the requirements of the authorities. He was of the opinion that we should hesitate before passing such a Bill. The passing of the Act in its present form will mean the destruction of the forest areas one of the most valuable resources of the Colony.

Mr. Coaker made a practical speech along similar lines, and held that there should be no timber industries in the Colony. He, too, believed that a campaign such as referred to by Mr. Kent had been initiated and referred to the fact that members of the Government were interested in the companies possessing timber limits on the Labrador areas and would naturally support the Bill for that reason. Mr. Emerson, the Colonial Secretary and Mr. Higgins supported the Bill, disclaiming any personal interest in the success of the measure. Mr. Halfyard would favor the Bill if it were to assist the Empire and her Allies, but thought that general exportation was an entirely different matter. Mr. Winsor stated the case of the people of his district, who would be materially affected by the passing of such a measure.

Mr. Lloyd was pleased to notice the disclaimer of the members of the Government who had stated that they were not personally interested in the Bill. By the Bill of 1914 the licenses of timber limits had been released from certain obligations, and now the House was asked to release them from further obligations. It was a well known fact that the campaign referred to in the "Standard of Empire" was carried on last fall. Mr. Grimes and Mr. Hickman also expressed their disapproval of the Bill.

Mr. Kent moved an amendment to the Resolutions which embodied permission to export pit props from Labrador during the War, but not from Newfoundland and opposed the granting of licenses to cut and export pulpwood from the Labrador for ten years. It was lost on a party vote.
At 12.30 the Committee rose and the House adjourned.

Makes Hair Grow
The time to take care of your hair is when you have hair to take care of. If your hair is getting thin, gradually falling out, it cannot be long before the spot appears. The greatest remedy to stop the hair from falling is SALVIA, first discovered in England. SALVIA furnishes nourishment to the hair roots and acts so quickly that people are amazed. It destroys the dandruff germ, the little pest that saps the life that should go to the hair from the roots.

From Private W. Cornick.

The following clipping is from a Canadian exchange, of recent date: "A postcard stating he is safe and well has been received from Private W. Cornick, of the 14th Battalion, by his sister, Mrs. H. Pitcher, 3010 Casgrain Street. He has two brothers with the Newfoundland contingent, and a third has enlisted with the 42nd Highlanders.
Private Cornick was amongst the Canadians who so ably distinguished themselves at the Battle of Langemarck. His two brothers Edward and Fenwick, have enlisted with the Nfld. Regiment, and another, Herbert, has joined the 42nd Highlanders. His sister is married to Mr. Herbert Pitcher, an ex-member of the C.I.B., who served in the South African War.

The ice is still in the offing, moving in and out with the wind and tide.
The handsome sum of $47.00 was the proceeds of the concert in Coughlin Hall on Empire night and not $40.00 as we stated on Wednesday.
The first codfish for the season was taken at Bristol's Hope yesterday. Herring of a large quantity are still plentiful.
Word was received in town a few days ago of the death at Boston of Mr. William Sparkes, well known here. Mr. Sparkes leaves one sister here, Mrs. Edmund Taylor, South Side.
Miss B. Hawkins of the West End met with a bad accident yesterday as a result of which she is now laid up with her leg broken. It seems that she was on her way to house-cleaning, and was in the act of hanging some paper when she fell, breaking the leg just below the knee. Her many friends will regret to hear of the accident.
The schr. Harry Lewis has just landed a load of coal to Messrs. E. D. McElroy & Sons. The coal came just in time as there was a scarcity of that article here.

OFFICIAL.

LONDON, May 27.

The Governor, Newfoundland: While supporting the Australian and New Zealand forces at the Gallipoli Peninsula, the battleship Triumph was torpedoed and sunk by a submarine. The majority of the officers and men are reported safe.

General French reports continued progress east of Pestubert, prisoners being captured. The First Army has since May 16th pierced the enemy's line of front extending three miles. Total prisoners, 8 officers and 777 men. Ten machine guns also were captured.

Two women were killed and one child injured by Zeppelin bombs at Southampton last night. Little material damage was done.

The French Government report very violent fighting, all gains maintained, and progress made at various points.

The French air squadron bombarded one of the largest German explosive factories at Ludwigshaven, striking several buildings and causing many fires.

The Russian Government reports desperate fighting continues on both banks of the San. BONAR LAW.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, May 27.

In Belgium along the Yser Canal, intermittent artillery engagements have taken place. In the section north of Arras the day has been marked by several actions of an intense character which gained for us new successes.

In the region of Angres the enemy delivered two counter-attacks, but was twice repulsed. We remain masters of the positions conquered by us. German losses very heavy.

Further south, east of Ablain, a vigorous attack by troops who had previously taken Carency and a lower greater part of Ablain, resulted in the occupation of German trenches in front of the village cemetery. Immediately afterwards we carried the cemetery itself where the enemy was strongly organized, and we then advanced beyond the cemetery. We took 400 prisoners, among whom were several officers.

In the region of Ecurie and Rollcourt there has been a severe artillery combat between Arras and the Vosges the day was calm.

BELGIAN OFFICIAL.

HAVRE, May 27.

The Belgian official report of May 26th, says: Artillery bombarded our advance posts and the village of Costkerd. Our batteries replied successfully, notably in the direction of Schoore, where bursting shells caused fire and violent explosions.

ITALIAN ADVANCE.

GENEVA, May 27.

A sharp Italian advance guard crossed the Isanzo to-day after a sharp fight with an Austrian force, and have arrived before Monfalcone, 20 miles from Trieste. The first of the Austrian wounded are now landing at the latter place. The Italians also attacked at several points along forty miles of the Carinthian frontier. A battle is now raging around Ploken also west of the Praedil Pass in Austria. Italian forces are now marching on Gorz, and Gradisca.

TURKS SUSTAIN HEAVY LOSSES.

LONDON, May 27.

A statement given out to-night by the official Press Bureau says that the losses of the Turks in the recent fighting in the Dardanelles were considerably heavier than had been supposed. The statement was in the form of a report from Major General Birdwood, transmitted to-day from Cairo. It follows:

To-day, General Birdwood reports that during the suspension of fighting, in order that the Turks might bury their dead, much larger losses than 5,000 dead, already reported, came to light. Two areas in front of one of our sections, where heavy punishment of the enemy had not previously been reported, were covered with dead. Corpses counted in an area of 80 by 100 yards numbered about 400.

Turkish burying parties worked quietly and quickly. They were all supplied with cotton wool, prepared with some solution to deaden the stench, a most necessary precaution.

Over 1,200 Turkish rifles were picked up on our side of the dividing line during the suspension of hostilities.

On the 25th an advanced trench of 150 yards, in front of General Cox's brigade, was rushed and occupied by our men.

GERMAN AEROPLANE DESTROYED.

PARIS, via St. Pierre, May 27.

A German aeroplane, which was making a course for Paris this morning, came in contact with our air fleet near retrenched fortifications, and dropped in its flight several bombs, without any result, upon Villenoy near Meaux. Our air fleet at the front was immediately notified, and kept a look out for the German, and on his return shortly afterwards, the German plane, loaded with bombs was brought down by our aviators near Bralpe, Soissons, and the two German airmen were killed. Our aerodrome of Brayelle, near Douai, The sheds and instruments were struck.

'ADRIATIC' SAILS.

NEW YORK, May 27.

The White Star liner Adriatic left New York to-day for Liverpool with 260 passengers and 18,000 tons of general cargo and munitions, an unusually large manifest. Among the passengers is Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. Only three passengers were Americans.

A Coward's Weapon.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

It is as easy to laugh as to cry, says the optimist cheerfully. Quite true. And sometimes it's easier, may more, sometimes it's altogether too easy.

Ridicule is a weapon which not one person in a hundred knows how to handle fairly, wisely and with proper restraint. And yet it lies ready to the hand of the most unjust, the most prejudiced, the most uncontrolled.

Bringing the Millennium a Million Years Nearer.

If it were as easy to make people think as it is to make them laugh, the millennium would be about a million years nearer.

Not long ago I attended a mass meeting in favor of a certain reform with a woman who does not believe in the cause. She lames rather caustic wit and she turned it against every speaker and every incident of the evening. She soon had the people about her in the mood for seeing the ridiculous in the most commonplace thing. The serious side of the meeting was entirely forgotten, a spirit of mockery and ridicule crowded it out.

I do not call that fair or just. The woman is clever but she could find a better use for her cleverness than that. Hadn't she a perfect right to see the funny side of the thing, you may ask. Yes, a right in one sense, but not in another. You remember what Phillips Brooks said, "We don't have a right to all our rights." The right to try to make a sane serious movement seem ridiculous is emphatically one of the rights we don't have a right to.

Easier to be a Martyr Than a Laughing Stock.

Ridicule is all too often the weapon of cowardice and injustice.

If I were absolutely unscrupulous and I wanted to fight some good man or some high cause I would not try to blacken the man's character or prove the cause wrong, I'd just try to make the man or the cause ridiculous. That would be a much safer and surer way of accomplishing my purpose.

If the truth were known, I think we should find that ridicule makes more backsliders in any great cause than persecution. It is easier to be a martyr than a laughing stock.

One reason why people like to join in ridiculing anything is simply that they like to laugh. Another quite as potent is that the attitude of derision gives them a false sense of superiority.

The Sense of Humor versus the Habit of Ridicule.

To ridicule a person does not prove that you are any cleverer, any wiser, any wittier than he. It probably proves that he is in earnest about something and you aren't.

It is the American habit to exalt the sense of humor. That's all right. But remember, a sense of humor and the habit of ridicule are not the same thing. A sense of humor that gives us the grace to see our own absurdities and the funny side of our daily annoyances and to laugh with tolerant, tender mirth at the follies of our friends is one thing; a habit of ridicule that makes us always ready with a derisive sneer is quite another.

A Tribute

To a Gallant Newfoundlander's Memory.

The Rev. Dr. Geo. J. Bond, of Halifax, sends us the following: At the Convocation of the Nova Scotia Technical College in Halifax, last Friday afternoon, in the presence of the Lieut-Governor and a distinguished audience, the following tribute to the late Gordon V. Boone was given by Principal Sexton in the course of his address to the graduating class:—

"We have to honor here to-day the memory of one of our graduates who recently gave up his life in the bloody battle of Langemarck, where the Canadians gloriously held the flower of the German veterans from crashing through the thin way line of trenches on the east of the Yser. Gordon Valentine Boone of the class of 1913 perished in this assault. His memory will be dearly cherished by all who knew him. He was a native of Newfoundland and came to Mount Allison to take his first two years preparatory work before entering the electrical engineering course at the Technical College. After graduation he entered the employ of the Canadian General Electric Company and was among the first to enter the First Contingent. He was an excellent athlete and an eminently satisfactory student. He possessed the strength of character, the initiative, the modest, clear-headed efficiency, the capacity for sustained effort and other British qualities which in the mass of our soldiers will eventually demolish the inhuman, smashing German juggernaut. We mourn that we shall never grasp his hand again, but we shall ever honor his memory in giving his all for the ideals he cherished."

Grand Falls Athletic Club.

Monday, May 31st, the athletic season opens in Grand Falls, and in spite of the vacancies caused by the thirty-five or forty volunteers who have gone with the Newfoundland Regiment, it promises to be quite up to the mark.

On the 23rd, the daylight scheme was again introduced, and in view of its success in the past will no doubt be an annual occurrence in the future. It has been a real boon to the community at large, and to the athletic portion in particular has been of inestimable value. It provides ample time for a very full evening's sport, and gives everyone splendid opportunities for entering any branch of athletics that is available here.

At the annual meeting held some weeks ago, the following were elected to act as the Committee for the ensuing year:

President—M. M. Beaton, Esq.
Vice-Presidents—W. Scott, Esq., C.E.; E. A. Sursham, Esq., V. S. Jones, Esq.

Treasurer—C. H. Hayward, Esq.
Secretary—R. M. B. Philip, Esq.
Cricket Captain—Mr. L. R. Cooper.
Football Captain—Mr. D. A. O'Flynn.

Baseball Captain—Mr. J. H. Judge.
Hockey Captain—Mr. W. E. McHenry.
Committee—Messrs. O. Olson, P. Fahey, A. Ogilvie.

There will be three teams in each section and a fixture card is being arranged which will provide two nights each week for each section. —O.F.

MAY 28. Full Moon—28th. Days Past—147. To Come—217.

WILLIAM PITT born 1759. The second son of the Earl of Chatham and one of the most brilliant statesmen that England has produced. Entered Parliament at 21, and by his oratory captivated the House of Commons. He became Chancellor of the Exchequer at 23, and Premier at 24, and held that office for 17 years. He died when only 46 years old.

THOMAS MOORE born 1779. Ireland's greatest poet. His "Irish Melodies" have sung their way to the hearts of all English-speaking people.

WEBSTER died 1843, aged 55. The famous American lexicographer and grammarian whose large "Dictionary of the English Language" was a monumental achievement.

GEORGE I born 1660. The first King of the House of Hanover. He came to the throne in 1714, but could not speak English and was never popular with his subjects. Or blooms there a prospect in nature or art Like the vista that shines through the eye to the heart! —Moore.

A Grand Patriotic Concert.

A grand patriotic concert was given in the Methodist Schoolroom here on Thursday night last under the management of Mr. A. C. Pittman and Mrs. Pittman assisted by a number of other talented ladies and gentlemen who in histrionic and elocutionary ability would compare very favorably with the talent sometimes displayed in St. John's audiences. However, the concert eventuated as planned and provided for and the good patriotic friends of Clarenville did nobly in coming to the front to give their aid, in some small measure, to an effort to assist our grand Empire in its titanic struggle with a vicious enemy having no respect for divine law or human rights.

The Performers Praised.

The performers received, as they well merited, the very highest encomiums, despite the infinitesimally small-mindedness encountered, from the large audience that attended the occasion. The programme was an excellent one and certainly anticipated the demands of an intelligent and representative audience some from Clarenville proper and numbers of others from adjacent settlements.

The dramatic and comic items—some bearing on the present war—were very interesting indeed. The recitations were rendered with faultless expression and in perfect harmony with elocutionary rules. The musical selections were simply charming, so much so that under their sweet and soothing strains we were reminded of the poet who penned the following stanza:—

The night shall be filled with music And the cars that infest the day, Shall fold their tents like the Arabs And silently steal away.

The concert was a success although the weather at the time was somewhat unpropitious, and the managers did not receive that sympathy and help that they might have expected from responsible officials.

A LONDON BUDGET.

LONDON, To-day. The battleship Majestic was a vessel of 14,900 tons and 10,000 horse-power capacity. Her officers and crew on a peace footing aggregated 757 men. The Majestic was built in 1895, and carried four twelve inch, twelve six inch and sixteen three inch guns and twelve three-pounder guns. In addition she was armed with five 18-inch torpedo tubes. The sinking of the Majestic makes the fifth British battleship lost in the Dardanelles campaign, and the second by hostile submarine. The Triumph having been sent to the bottom of the Gulf of Sars last Wednesday. The French also have lost one battleship in the Turkish campaign. About the same time, the steamer Princess Irene, which was built last year for the Canadian Pacific British Columbia coast service and which was taken over by the Admiralty at the commencement of the war, was accidentally destroyed by an explosion while at anchor at Sheerness, where she was undergoing repairs. The submarine menace is growing both in the Aegean Sea and homewards. These vessels promise to take an active part in the operations in the narrow waters around the Adriatic, where, as in the Aegean, the numerous islands afford good shelter. The Admiralty still believes the American steamer Nebraska, now on her way to Liverpool, was torpedoed. In addition to the British steamer Morwenna, bound for Canada, and the Danish steamer Betty, have been sunk by submarines. Only a few days ago, a commander of a submarine informed a Danish captain he had no orders to sink Danish vessels.

Amongst the activities on land, sea and air from the Dardanelles to the waters around the British Isles, Central Galicia remains the scene of the greatest and most important fighting. There the Austrians and Germans continue to batter the Russian lines northeast and southeast of Przemyśl.

ITALY REPORTS SUCCESSES.

ROME, To-day. An official statement issued to-day, says: On May 25th on the Tyro-Trentino frontier, the Italian troops occupied the heights of Mont Banno, from which point the enemy were forced to retreat, abandoning tents and material which Italian artillery looted at Tomazzo, and silenced the enemy's fire. In Carnia, our success around Val Degano is confirmed, the Italians occupying Sasseti Prevalia. In the Asolana Valley, our losses were four killed, one officer and ten soldiers wounded. The enemy's losses according to reports, which have not been confirmed by official statements, they have severed communications between the former Austrian fortress and Lemberg. If these reports are true, Erzerum, which less than three months ago was taken by the Russians after a long siege, is again surrounded. It would appear, however, that while the Teutonic Allies are pressing very hard on the fortress, they have not yet forged the circle to completion which is being stubbornly opposed by Russians. The Germans have forced another crossing of the San River, eleven miles north of Przemyśl, and have extended by several miles the zone held by them east of San. Southeast they also claim to have broken the Russian lines and to have taken some important positions. Despite all these claims, Petrograd announces with the greatest optimism the belief that the Russian reinforcements will be able to stem the Austro-German onslaught. In the west the French and British report further advance, which generally is denied by the Germans. The latter who themselves have made another air raid on Southend, make no reference to the French statement that eighteen French airmen flew over Ludwigshafen dropping bombs and setting fire to the chemical works which had been engaged in manufacturing poison gas since the outbreak of the war.

THE GREAT EXPLOIT OF ALLIES' AEROPLANES.

PARIS, To-day. An official report issued to-night describes more fully the French air raid on Ludwigshafen, where important munition factories are reported to have been set on fire and partly destroyed. The text follows: The aeroplanes which bombarded Ludwigshafen numbered eighteen. They took the air at 3 a.m. on Thursday. The works of Bradische, Anilin and Sodafabrik Co., the largest explosives factory in Germany, occupy the entire quarter in Ludwigshafen near Mannheim. An important annex has been established near Oppau, a mile and a half from Ludwigshafen. The aeroplanes threw 47 four inch bombs and two six inch bombs on the main establishment, and 36 four inch bombs at Oppau. All the bombs reached the mark. Towards 6.15 three enormous columns of yellow flame could be seen at Ludwigshafen. At 6.30 aviators saw Ludwigshafen and Oppau covered with vast volumes of smoke. The aeroplanes all returned, except one. According to pilots the latter machine was obliged to land. Ludwigshafen was seen to be in flames as soon as it landed. They believe the landing which was caused no doubt by the enemy's fire, was effected normally, that the pilots burned the machine to prevent it from falling into the hands of the Germans. This expedition which shows what degree of skill and daring our aviators have attained, and constitutes the first the greatest aerial exploit yet accomplished during the war.

NEBRASKAN AT LIVERPOOL.

LIVERPOOL, To-day. The American steamer Nebraska, which was disabled Tuesday night by explosion, off the coast of Ireland, arrived here shortly before midnight. The captain said: "I saw no submarine, but am certain it was a torpedo which hit us. Moreover the submarine could not have failed to see our name and nationality, which was outlined in huge letters on our sides. Members of the crew of the Nebraska were agreed that the explosion was undoubtedly caused by a torpedo. The forward part of the ship was completely wrecked."

THE NEW FIRST SEA LORD.

LONDON, To-day. Admiral Sir Henry Bradwardine Jackson has been appointed First Sea Lord of Admiralty, and takes the place of Admiral Lord Fisher, who resigned recently, owing it is said to differences with Winston Churchill, then First Lord of the Admiralty. Admiral Wilson will remain with the Board of Admiralty in an advisory capacity.

GOOD WORK OF E 11.

LONDON, To-day. The British submarine E 11, the following report from the Vice-Admiral of the Eastern Mediterranean, Submarine E 11, Lieut. Commander Martin and E. Nansmith has sent to the Sea of Marmora a vessel containing a great quantity of ammunition, comprising charges for heavy howitzers and several gun mountings for six inch guns. She also chased a supply ship with a heavy cargo of stores and torpedoed her, alongside the pier at Rodosto. A small store ship was also chased and run ashore. The submarine E 11 entered Constantinople, dispatched a torpedo at a transport alongside the arsenal. The torpedo was heard to explode.

12.30 P.M.

LAUNCH AND CREW BLOWN UP.

LONDON, To-day. No trace has been found of a harbor steam launch which was moored alongside the Princess Irene, or its crew of five men, since the explosion which destroyed the big steamer. It is assumed five more men must be added to the list of dead.

SUNK BY GUN FIRE.

PENZANCE, To-day. The British steamer "Cadeby" has been sunk off Scilly Islands by the gunfire from a German submarine. All aboard the vessel including four passengers were saved. The Cadeby was 677 tons and owned in Glasgow.

PERSIAN TOWN OCCUPIED.

PETROGRAD, To-day. Urumiah, Persia, has been occupied by the Russians after an engagement with the Turks in the direction of Dilman and near Bekkala.

OPTIMISTIC ABOUT DARDANELLES.

LONDON, To-day. The allies are described as buoyantly optimistic concerning the operations in the Dardanelles owing to the daily arrival of reinforcements of troops, ships and guns. The Turks are said to be short of heavy ammunition and to be using shrapnel filled with pebbles as well as shells with an inner casing of wood instead of more effective projectiles. Men from the front reports that the Turks on May 22nd attempted to capture the Australasian position at Gaba Tepe. Describing the attack, the Times correspondent says, the first onset began at 3 a.m. and for twelve hours the enemy attacked in serried columns in a series of desperate assaults. Yet at 2 p.m. the Australasians were able to signal that they were holding easily and at 3 o'clock they counter-attacked, driving the enemy back with the bayonet and pursuing him in the open to his entrenchments with great slaughter. The Turks lost 2,000 killed and 5,000 wounded. The Australasian casualties though heavy were light in comparison.

ARTILLERY BATTLE ON TREN-TINO FRONT.

ROME, To-day. A successful raid upon the Trieste

Nebrasin railroad by a squadron of Italian hydro-aeroplanes, together with the occupation of additional Austrian territory, along the Tyrol frontier and on the Friuli are reported in an official statement issued by the Italian War Office. It is stated that an artillery battle is raging between the Italian fortified positions on the Trentino front and those of the Austrians.

2 P.M.

CHARGED WITH HIGH TREASON.

LONDON, To-day. A despatch from Copenhagen says that German newspapers announce the arrest at Altona of the German millionaire Senator Posselt, who, it is asserted, is charged with high treason for selling metal and pyrites to Great Britain from his Swedish and Norwegian works.

RAID ON NEWSPAPER OFFICE.

MONTREAL, To-day. Several thousand Italians made a raid on Henri-Boussie's newspaper office Le Devoir last night and smashed the plate glass windows and made an attempt to force an entrance into the building from the rear. The police drove the mob away and made three arrests. The cause of the Italians' wrath against Boussie and his paper was an article published reflecting on Italy as having entered the world war on selfish grounds.

DEMAND TEN PER CENT INCREASE.

MANCHESTER, To-day. The labor trouble in the cotton mills has approached a crisis. The union operatives angered by threat of the employers to declare a lockout, yesterday presented demands for immediate ten per cent. increase. They say that the threat of the mill owner to lock them out constitutes a breach of agreement with them and leaves them free to demand an immediate wage advance. An effort to adjust the differences will probably be made early next week.

ESCORTIAL PALACE FOR POPE.

MADRID, To-day. It is said that King Alfonso has offered Escorial Palace to the Pope as a residence in case the Pontiff decides to leave Italy.

On the Morwenna.

Capt. E. English is in receipt of a message from Capt. Holmes, of the s.s. Fogota, who having sailed in the British Channel yesterday. The message which is from Millford Haven reads as follows: "Morwenna torpedoed; crew landed here; Hartery will advise wife."

It is thought that the T. Curran, mentioned in the despatch as having been killed, may be Thomas Curran, of this city, who having sailed with Capt. Hartery when the latter was in command of the Dunure, might possibly have been on the ship when she met her fate. We understand that besides Capt. Hartery, several other Newfoundlanders are amongst the crew.

Fogota Back.

The s.s. Fogota, Capt. Dalton, arrived in port from the northward last night after a round trip of 27 days during which much ice was encountered. Leaving here on Saturday, May 1st, the ship made a good run to Bay de Verde. The run from Bay de Verde to Catania, which under ordinary conditions takes about 3 hours, occupied 5 days. Four more days was spent before Greenspod was reached. At Pool's Island the Fogota took a supply of coal from the s.s. Bloodhound, and attempted to force her way farther north. The farthest port reached was Newtown, though the ship was some miles past Newtown but could not enter any of the more northern ports because of the blockade. The run from Greenspod to this port was made in 30 hours, which is remarkably good considering the ice and fog conditions. Capt. Dalton says that it would not be difficult to get down to St. Anthony on the outside of the ice, but no ship could enter the intervening ports because of the ice which is continually shifting about with the tide and blocking the harbors. The Fogota brought one passenger, S. C. Skinner in sloop and 32 in steerage, including several crews from Greenspod and other places, who have come up for their schooners which have been moored in this port during the winter. The ship sailed again for the northward on Tuesday next.

BRITISH THEATRE!

Week-End Programme.

"THE WEAKLING." Kalem drama in two parts. The Weakling, the mentally brilliant, is a physical coward. The girl he loves promises to marry him when he overcomes his bodily fear. His efforts to do so, and the tragic ending, forms a gripping story. Alice Joyce plays the lead.

"THE SUBSTITUTE HEIR." A Selig melo-drama. The heir turns out to be surprisingly black "ON THE BRINK." A Lubin Western drama. An absorbing story of a wife who swerved from the path of duty and was encouraged by a so-called friend of her husband, but awakened to a real sense of her duty before it was too late.

"THE BOY AND THE CIRCUS." A Vitagraph comedy with little Bobby Connelly in the lead. Bobby puts one over on his aunt and gets to the circus. He also gets a bath.

THE BRITISH THEATRE.

This popular house of amusement has an attractive programme for the week end. "The Weakling" is a two-part Kalem drama, featuring the celebrated actress Alice Joyce; the story is brimful of interest and tells of a young man who is mentally brilliant but is a physical coward, the girl he loves promises to marry him when he overcomes his cowardice. The story is a gripping one told in an interesting manner. "On the Brink" is a Lubin Western drama, an absorbing story of how a wife returned from her errors to the path of duty and fidelity to her husband before it was too late. "The Boy and the Circus" is a Vitagraph comedy featuring little Bobby Connelly, and "The Substitute Heir" is an interesting Selig melodrama.

Mr. Arthur Priestman Cameron will be heard in his favourite comedy numbers.

Death of the Rev. Mother John

Of the Presentation Convent, Harbor Grace.

(By H. F. Shortis.)

On the Octave of the Ascension, May 20th, the sad tolling of the Convent bell, announced to the people generally of Harbor Grace, that the pure spirit of the beloved Rev. Mother John had passed to its reward, to receive its crown of glory. No person, old or young, rich or poor, who had the privilege of speaking to the deceased lady but was edified and delighted with her pleasing personality, which brought with it an atmosphere of sanctity to the surroundings. The loss to the good Sisters of the Convent is great, and the memory of her kindly disposition, her care and attention to those committed to her charge will be life lasting. The children particularly will miss the loving care of the saintly Rev. Mother.

The Rev. Mother John (Mary Shortall) was born in the town of Mountmellick, Queen's County, Ireland, about 50 years ago. She received her early education at the Presentation Convent in that town, and subsequently she attended the Schools of the Presentation Convent, Cahel Co. Tipperary, so famous for the number of subjects it has fitted out for foreign missions. On the expiration of her period of training she with Sister M. Patrick, still in the Convent, left for Newfoundland and arrived here just 32 years ago. At that time the community consisted of Rev. Mother de Sales Lovelock, Rev. Mother Josephine French, Sisters M. Catherine de Sazli, Clare, Teresa, afterwards Rev. Mother, who are so well remembered and venerated by the older generation. Since taking up the calling to her sacred duties, Rev. Mother John devoted herself to the teaching of God's little ones, and there are many proofs of her zeal. The Rev. Mother, with Sister M. Patrick, entered her religious life May 3rd, 1883, the Feast of Ascension, and was received by the late Most Rt. Rev. Bishop MacDonald, on the Feast of Presentation, 1886, in the beautiful old Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, which was destroyed by fire on the 2nd September, 1889. Owing to the death of Mother de Sales, they were not professed until August 15th, 1886. This ceremony was also performed in the grand Cathedral. In 1911 the late Rev. Mother and Sister M. Patrick celebrated their Silver Jubilee, and at the time of her demise the Rev. Mother was in the 29th year of her profession.

The Rev. Mother was for some time suffering from an incurable illness, which she bore with all that sweetness and patience which characterized her every act in life, humbly submitting to the Will of God. Her illness necessitated two operations, the first performed by Dr. Keegan in Dec. 1914, and the second on March 6th, 1915, by Dr. Fraser. These gentlemen have the lasting gratitude of the good Ladies of the Convent for their untiring attention to their beloved dear one's wants, as well as have the great number of friends for their sympathy in their sorrow.

The remains of the Rev. Mother rested in the beautiful Convent Chapel until Saturday morning, when borne out to the Cathedral, High Mass was sung by Rev. Father Walker, the Rev. Dr. Whelan also being present. The procession then proceeded to the Convent Cemetery. Amongst the cortege were the school children, Catholic Cadet Corps, Children of Mary and citizens of all classes. The remains of the beloved Rev. Mother were placed in the sacred plot, among those of the dear Religious who welcomed her and Sister M. Patrick to the shores of Newfoundland, 32 years ago.

R. C. School Concert

AT GRAND FALLS.

On the 24th inst., a very successful entertainment was held in the Albert Hall by the pupils of the R. C. School under the management of their teacher, Miss Rita Flynn. A full house greeted the youthful performers. Their rendition of the several musical items and also their acting was a surprise and delight to all. The dialogue, "Our Volunteers" deserves special mention, the camp scene with the chorus: "Tenting To-night" being very effective. The same may be said of the chorus: "The Three Jolly Britons" who were personated in national costume, by three little boys, Teddy Kelly, Alex. Kelly and Georgie Payne. Miss Madeline Flynn acted as accompanist during the evening. SPECTATOR.

Combinations of fruit are often more delicious than one fruit alone, both in preserves and in fresh fruit dishes.

Let Us Do Your Dyeing.

Very often we grow tired of the color of a Suit, Coat, Skirt or Evening Gown, and the garment, although not worn out, is finally discarded. Now the proper thing to do in a case like this is to wrap the garment up and send to who are our Newfoundland Agents, and it will be duly forwarded here and given a new lease of life. Our process makes the garment just like new.

KEEP MINARD'S LINIMENT IN THE HOUSE.

Within the next few weeks you are going to buy a new Spring Suit—that's certain. Perhaps to-day, perhaps to-morrow, perhaps in a month—but you're going to buy it.

We think you ought to know why it's wise to "Do it now." The best reason is that our stocks are complete—you're bound to get more style satisfaction out of a broad choice than a narrow one—you get the broad choice now—you may not get it later.

This is why we invite your inspection of the stylish patterns now on hand.
