A Letter from the Rebel Leader. QUEBEC. July 2 .- A letter has just been eceived by Dr. Fiset from Louis Riel, dated Regina jail, June 16. After thanking the committee for the active part they are taking for his defence, Riel says he often here in Paris that one is tempted to more and a second of second if the second is the battle he perceived an assailant lying wounded on the ground. He went up to him and offered words of np to him and offered words of solace to him and took him along with him, and ministered to his sufferings. The name of the man he does sufferings. The name of the man he does not know, but Gen. Middleton has since told him he knew him, and that he intend-ed to commend his action to the govern-ment. The other prisoners and wounded, he says, were sheltered and succored till claimed by their friends. He concludes by humbly asking not to be treated like a by numbly asking not to be treated like a murderer, and not to be chained before the jury have pronounced, and he is confident they will not find him guilty. He says his incarceration is telling upon his health, notwithstanding the kind attention of his inilers.

MONTREAL, July 2.—The accident by which Thos. W. Hamilton, brother-in-law to George Hes of the Windsor, lost his life, occurred under the following circum stances: Mr. Hamilton, who was only married on June 18, was running a foundry. On Tuesday evening last, while working at a large wooden frame, the cross beam fell upon his temple, stunning him. He was able to wakk home, however, but soon complained of great pain in the head. A doctor was sent for, who gave it as his opinion that Mr. Hamilton was suffering from concussion of the brain. The unfortu-nate young man expired in three hours. His remains have been brought to the city, and the funeral will take place to morrow. Deceased was only 26 years of age. MONTREAL, July 2 .- The accident by England will lose a true friend and one who would have always prevented quarrels between Germany and England from coming to extremity. GORDON NOT SANE. The publication of Gordon's diary seems to confirm the view which has always been taken of his obserator in these columns. Beyond doubt he had some of the qualities of a hero; a worker of mirsoles he might wall he in the east, where madness is revered as inspiration; but perfectly sans he certailaly was not. A fatal error was committed when the nation was in any way identified with Gordon's enterprises, and when the scope and extent of the operations in Egypt were made dependent on his crater. In the interconting, the final Truck system, with its complete and efficient service, and above all the spinendia achievements in the Canadian Pacific, which, unlike any Pacific truck line in the United States, running only from the centre to the circum-farance of the cantiness. That the wails of the main room of canadian scenery, by Canadian artists; and he would even add to the clubs's treasures sketches, embroidery and fancy work, "from the nimble fingers and artistic skill of our Canadian sisters." In his peroration, which is evidently the "business end" of his speech, he talks in graver strain, and here we must let him give his own views in his own words:

Side by side with this glorious republic. Canada is working out the noble problem of self-government. The marvelous success which in the southern part of this yeat continent, has attended the government of the people, for the people, by the people, here marked than is the success which in the southern part of this yeat continent a different form of government, the regions of the north, attends the pursuit the common thing to believe that in the content the sole is believe that in the the common thing to believe that in the souther bart of this yeat continue to be believe that in the common thing to believe that in the souther bart of the success which in the southern part of the sole problem of the regions of the north, attends the pursuit the common thing to believe that in the souther bart of the sole problem of the sole problem of the sole by the people, her the sole sole which in the southern part of the sole sole which in the souther part of the people. here we must let him give his own views in his own words: Side by side with this glorious republic. Canada is working out the noble problem of self-government. The marvelous success which in the southern part of this was con-tinent, has attended the government of the people, for the people, by the people, is not more marked than is the success which in the regions of the north, attends the pursuit of liberty, law, and equality by the people, under a different form of government, but with results equally beneficent. It is quite the common thing to believe that in the possibility of self-government in its highest form, and that the experiment, the scale of which it is our good fortune to witness, of a vast nation self regulated. self-poised, and, with good reason, self-confi-ent, is the only experiment was re unqualified success is a chieved. It is quite common to believe that no well-regulated country can put up with the trappings of royality, and that monarchies and other ind cations of effete despotiens must disappear in a free country, before a free people who can assert their own progressand their own freedom. But in our belove Can da the spectace is presented of a progre-size and self-reliant people, enjoying the law, set degree of libert? with a voice in the government just as potent as in this country, and yet who yield a hearty all giance to a form of government as old as the monarchies of this country should make their great dec ar thon of independence. It is true that the influences of that de laration upon all actions of the world hare been be youd all calculation, and that the freedom of Canada from interference by England and the liber is it with which by the home gov-ernment he has been treated, are directly investible to the influence set in motion by the wise and patriotic statesmen who set affort, on an un nown set, the ship of state under whose flag we safely live and thire. With he acknowled we meent to the United States of the canada, that in her own way, with cincumatances an on the refu come into office. THE FUTURE OF ENGLAND. What is the political outlook in England? The probability is that in the coming election they (the moderate men like Giad-stone) will be ground between the upper and the nether millstone, and that though personal eminance may secure the election and the nether milistone, and that though personal eminence may secure the election of the leaders, they will return to parita-ment with a scanty following. The field will then be divided between the party of tory reaction, mere or less in alliance with a mob, and that of revolutionary democ-racy, in which the ultimate triumph of democracy is ensured by all the tendencies democracy is ensured by all the tendencies of our age, but in the course of which Ireland may be lost and the foreign policy of England may be totally ruined by the reckless hands of contending factions.

States of the *xample sot, and the influence put in motion at their instance, it nevertheless can be claimed for Canada, that in her own way, with circumstance- so peculiar, and with a geographical position far less favorable, she has made a progress in gover ment, in legis-ation in law, in science, in art and in devel-or, ment of material resource, equal to that of iny country in the world, while in many re-uce s she has exhibited qualities that ohal-enge the highest admiration. When it is re-valled that the dominion cocupies a portion of he continent quite as large as that of the any country in the world, while in many re-speces she has exhibited qualities that ohal-lenge the lightest admiration. When it is re-called that the dominion occupies a portion of the continent quite as large as that of the lunited States, with the disadvantages of a lack of variety in her products with the United States is favored, her progress, when placed side by side with this country, is remarkable. A glove contest, to take place in Hamil-ton, has been arranged between Collins of that city and James Fell. Clasper bost by the Argonauts on June 17: The Canadian four, consisting of R. M'Kay (bow) (steering), O. Murphy, A. G. Thompson, and J. W. Hogg (stroke), started for their usual practice about five o'clock on Wednes-day, and gently floated down to the custom-ary practice water below the Island, between which and Hambledon Weir they, did some good work. About six or a little after they started for home, hugging the Berks shore, but a tug and barge coming down, they were compelled to go out into mid-stream, and dis-covering numerous row boats on the Berks side, continued their Course in the centre of the river. When rounding the "Point" McKay looked round, and seeing a perfectly clear course announced the same, and the four then made a slight spurt. Meantime, it seems, a young gentle-man (pupil of Mr. Beard, a local surgeon) Clasper boat by the Argonauts on June 17: At Detroit on Wednesday Wm. Vick of Chatham, Ont., knocked out George Peter of Detroit in the tenth round. The bank clerks of Hamilton will play baseball with the clerks in the wholesale houses of that city on Saturday afternoon.

A meeting of the Master Builders' asso-ciation was held at Shaftesbury hall last night to consider the situation re the strike. The meeting was well attended, and considerable discussion took place as to what steps should be taken to supply the place of the strikers, but nothing was done further than that it was decided that no action would be taken until the hext meeting of the association. The feeling of the meeting was decidedly against giving any more than 16 cents per hour. A communication was read from the secretary of the Laborers' union in reply to a request to have the troubles referred to arbitration, stating that the Laborers' union had decided not to comply with the request.
