The N. P. stronger than ever—Only things which are not to be done...

The N. P. has more supporters in Parliament to-day than ever it had. Sir John Thompson, as Prime Minister...

The English bankruptcy law would form a sound basis for a Dominion act. They are administered by a court, the creditors having power to appoint a trustee...

Mr. McCarthy is an N. P. man who wants the tariff modified to suit his Imperial Federation idea. But failing Imperial Federation...

The Mail, it is true, once advocated the N. P. and then discarded it. But it will not ask us to believe that there ever was a change of heart...

Only one of the men who were disappointed men are out against the N. P.; and they are so, not because of conviction, but for other reasons.

The people are with the N. P., Parliament is with the N. P., the Government and the Premier are with the N. P., the Conservative party is with the N. P.

The N. P. is the most acceptable legislation ever passed in this country.

The Bankruptcy Act Question. The making of acts for the regulation of matters arising out of insolvent estates...

A crisis arises in the career of a person, trader or otherwise, when his debts are so far beyond his power of paying...

The Montreal Witness' Toronto correspondent says it is regarded as evident, from Mr. Laurier's remarks...

Mr. Villiers, the father of the House of Commons, enters upon his 92nd year to-day, and there is not a single colleague of any party who will fall to wish his return a happy new year.

Mr. Elford, who in such sore trouble about his share in the Paxton, has designed the new bridge over the Nova at St. Andrew's, upon the construction of which $1,000,000 will be expended.

The Wash Railway have now on sale round trip tickets at very low rates to southern points, including Old Mexico and California.

What that warm water suggests is something that will both the kettle, cook an egg or fry a breakfast in a hurry, rather than the old-fashioned way of boiling water.

In his address to the jury yesterday afternoon in the Gordon v. Denison and Stephens case, Judge Ross cautioned them to consider the evidence calmly and not to make anything if they found that the Magistrate had acted hastily and without due consideration it could be construed into an improper action.

A number of questions were then submitted to the jury. After being out for two hours the following answers were returned to the queries:

Was the defendant, the magistrate, acted by any improper or indirect motive in granting the warrant in question?—We think not.

Did the defendant, the magistrate, act, reasonably, with care and due consideration, in granting the warrant in question?—We think not.

Was the arrest on the 16th for the purpose of giving evidence on the 21st necessary or reasonable?—It was not either.

What damages do you find reasonable to be paid by the magistrate for the arrest under the warrant and also for the treatment of the plaintiff after his arrest?—$1000.00.

In directing the examination, search and imprisonment of the plaintiff for anyone of the reasons mentioned by any indirect or improper motive?—Yes.

Was he acting in good faith in the supposed performance of the duties of his office?—No.

Did such facts appear as make it reasonable for the inspector to act as he did?—It was necessary or reasonable and the circumstances for the inspector to order the examination, search or imprisonment, or any one of them?—It was unnecessary and not reasonable.

What damages do you find unreasonable to be paid by the inspector by the defendant, search and imprisonment?—Five hundred dollars.

A question has been raised by the defence as to whether the jury were not asked to decide questions of law instead of evidence, and argument in reference to the query will be held this afternoon.

The damages will come out of the treasury of the Administration of Justice, but not out of the private purse of the Colonel and the Inspector, at least so says Mr. Justice of the Peace Baxter.

In the case of Gordon v. Ross, where the plaintiff sued for damages on account of an injury sustained by his hand while working in the mill, the jury found a verdict in favor of the latter.

More Papal Interference. The World wonders if the able Mail, when one of the pillars of the Liberal Party from the time of the first Lee down to the present one, and which has devoted so much of its space to bullying-ragging the Church of St. Peter, has heard of the Spaggiari despatch published in the United States.

And, then, the dear Globe. It has been so friendly to the papal school system of Manitoba, and took such a noble stand in order to lead Sir John into the pit that we are surprised that it has not seen these decrees or found space to publish them.

THE AMUSEMENT WORLD.

Mr. George Grossmith's Capital Entertainment at the Grand-Opera.

Mr. George Grossmith appeared in one of his original musical comedies, musical entertainments at the Grand-Opera last night. It was probably as great a social event as the professional performance can be.

He comes with a great social backing; he has been a member of the London club, the club of the Boston society and of Montreal, and his entertainments have received the guinea stamp of social approval.

Some limited years ago he was a mimic named Samuel Foots, who gave entertainments at the Grand-Opera, and he is remembered for one thing, he has become like a milk for babes, and he has become like a milk for babes, and he has become like a milk for babes.

Mr. Grossmith's personality is a perfect one. His face is white and his eyes are blue and his hair is black and his nose is straight and his mouth is smiling.

The program was divided into three parts. First, a musical comedy, "The Little Folks of High-Grade Society," in which the actor played a number of parts.

Second, a musical comedy, "The Little Folks of High-Grade Society," in which the actor played a number of parts.

Third, a musical comedy, "The Little Folks of High-Grade Society," in which the actor played a number of parts.

At the Grand-Opera last night, during the second act of "A Breezy Time," the music was interrupted by a song.

The concert was given by the choir of the Grand-Opera, and it was a very successful one.

FATHER O'REILLY DEAD.

The Gilted Parish Priest of Leslieville. The remains of Father O'Reilly, of the late 15 years parish priest at Leslieville, lay in state yesterday afternoon and evening.

Many of his parishioners visited St. Michael's Hospital and many a woman burst into tears in looking at the majestic, kindly face that looked so peaceful and grand even in death.

Father Michael O'Reilly was born in 1822 at Grand County, Longford, and received a classical education at St. Michael's Seminary, Longford.

He was ordained priest on the 20th of August, 1845, and served his parish at St. Michael's, Leslieville, for 47 years.

The personal attractions of the man were immense. Of immense frame, standing 6 feet 4 inches tall, his shoulders were large in proportion. He literally gave away everything he had, and no tale of social or domestic misadventure was told without his aid.

As a preacher and as a man his field of labor was immense, and he spoke to the parishioners as a father to his family. He was a firm and kindly man who won the hearts of all who came in contact with him.

The illness which caused his death was a complicated one. At the time of his death he was suffering from diabetes and pneumonia. He has been suffering for two years, and for the last two months unable to attend to his parish duties. Six weeks ago he said his last words.

This morning the body will be removed to St. Joseph's Parsonage, 172 Leslie-street, and the funeral will take place on Thursday morning, a requiem mass being celebrated in St. Joseph's Church at 10.30. His Grace the Archbishop will officiate.

He Denies The He Preceded Aid. Hallam. The unexpected death of Aid. Hallam for the chairmanship of the Parks and Gardens Committee was discussed by nearly everyone around the City Hall yesterday.

"I never promised Aid. Hallam that I would support him for the chairmanship," said Aid. Burns to the World yesterday afternoon. "I considered Aid. Orr the better qualified for the position and it was for that reason that I supported him. I would do the same thing again to-morrow. Three or four days ago I met Aid. Hallam. He asked me what I thought about the chairmanship of the Board of Health, and I told him that my name had been prominently mentioned in the papers for the office."

Regarding Saturday night's caucus, early in the afternoon I received a telephone call from the Mayor, Mr. McPherson, asking me to call at his office at half-past seven. I went to do so, but I did not know till I got there what was the object of the meeting. At that meeting the only subject discussed was the resignation of the Mayor. The Mayor had resigned and the Board of Health had to be re-elected. The Mayor had resigned and the Board of Health had to be re-elected.

At the annual meeting of the Central Presbyterian Church, the managers reported that the average collections for the year were about the same as in 1891, viz., $112.35 per week, against $112.38 the previous year. The expenditures for the year were $777.31, of which some $210.00 remained to be provided.

The report was adopted and the following resolutions were passed: That the Board of Managers be authorized to raise the amount of $111.07. The principal items of disbursement during the year had been $894.00, fuel and water, $201.01, and interest, $103.48. The mortgage debt account amounted to $19,468.00. The total amount contributed for missionary and benevolent purposes was about $4000.

At the annual meeting of the Bloor-street Baptist Church last evening Pastor O. C. S. Wallace presided. The report presented was satisfactory. The year closed with a membership of 42, and an increase of 7. The total receipts for the year were $18,000, and the total disbursements were $17,000. The church has a fine collection of hymns and songs, and the choir is well trained.

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Conference on Educational Accommodations. Remedies Suggested.

A number of school trustees and representatives of the newspapers met in the school board office yesterday afternoon, and were entertained by Inspector Hughes, who gave a disquisition on the present state of the schools.

The Inspector presented a statement to the following effect: There are at present 27 rooms rented to accommodate the children of the city, and nearly all of these are for primary classes. The attendance is small in the rented rooms, and the children are crowded in the school buildings.

In October there were 1700 pupils without proper accommodations for 1116; in November there were 1700 pupils without proper accommodations for 1116; in December there were 1700 pupils without proper accommodations for 1116.

A number of different plans were suggested for the relief of the overcrowded schools. The most practical plan was to build new schools, and to improve the existing ones.

The Inspector also stated that the school board had received a report from the Board of Health, that the schools were a source of danger to the public health, and that the school board should take steps to improve the schools.
