FIFTY years ago this month, the Civil War in the United States broke out, the first shot being fired at Fort Sumpter. In these days when arbitration is talked of it is interesting to remember that had a proposal to buy out the slaves been accepted the issue would have been settled, not only without bloodshed, but at a fraction of the cost that war and the accompanying pensions entailed.

WATFORD, MAY 12, 1911.

Living Here and in England.

Some interesting and instructive figures were recently issued by the British Board of Trade relative to incomes and the cost of living in both America and in England. An analysis of the situation makes it evident that those who live and work on this continent have much to be thankful for. As a matter of fact we have twice as much to be thankful for as have the workers of the British Isles. According to these statistics, which have been gathered

GURED OF CONSTIPATON

Mr. Andrews praises Dr. Mcrse's Indian Root Pills.

Mr. George Andrews of Halifax, N.S.,

Mr. George Andrews of Halifax, N.S., writes:

"For many years I have been troubled with chronic Constipation. This allment never comes single-handed, and I have been a victim to the many illnesses that constipation brings in its train. Medicine after medicine I have taken in order to find relief, but one and all left me in the same hopeless condition. It seemed that nothing would expel from me the one ailment that caused so much trouble, yet at last I read about these Indian Root Pills.

That was indeed a lucky day for me, for I was so impressed with the statements made that I determined to give them a fair trial.

Trey have regulated my stomach and bewels. I am cured of constipation, and I claim they have no equal as a medicine."

For ever half a century Dr. Morse's with the care usually exercised by this institution, covering twenty eight American cities and towns, and a corresponding number of English sentres, it is shown that the average combined cost of rent and food is 52 per cent. dearer in America 'than in England, while on the other hand wages on this side of the Atlantic are at a rate of 230 as compared with 100 in England and Wales. In other words the worker in the United States and in Canada, for the statistics of the two countries would be much alike in this respect, is receiving two and one-half times more than is the Britisher in the same occupation. The margin which Canadian and American workmen enjoy over the actual necessities of life is such that saving a fair sized competency is within reach, while in England on the other hand this is well nigh impossible.—Saturday Night.

Value of Play.

Remember how old a man used to be at 50. He did not play. Remember the old type of grandmother, who was old at 40 and who was entitled to be ranked among the oldest inhabitants at 60? She was a dear old creature, without whose gentle counsel some of us to-day would be much nearer worthless than we are. But she was old too young; she had forgotten how to play.

That is one of the reasons why a house without children is so profit-less an abode. Robbed of the natural incentive to play, parents grow old before their time. Their hearts dry up; they think always soberly; it's work, work, work. They miss the mental and spiritual uplift that go with a romp on the nursery floor or a childish game under the parlor

And the best part of it is that one need not drop work in order to play. Turn your work into play; that's the secret. For exercise play tennis or golf, don't get into a treadmill. The most prosaic of tasks becomes a game if one looks at it from the right angle. Work? There is no such thing. The world is a great playground, the games as various as the players and the person who cannot see the uselessness of insisting that work is work and nothing more deserves to grow old, wither up and blow away before his time.-Cleveland Plain Dealer.

IT IS A LIVER PILL.—Many of the ailments that man has to contend with have heir origin in a disordered liver, which their origin in a disordered liver, which is a delicate organ, peculiarly susceptible to the disturbances that come from irregular habits or lack of care in eating and drinking. This accounts for the great many liver regulators now pressed on the attention of sufferers. Of these there is none superior to Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. Their operation though gentle is effective, and the most delicate can use them.

There were probably more silos erected in Canada in 1910 than in any other one year, says Dairy Commissioner J. A. Ruddick, who is in a good position to judge. Steadily the logic of economy dislodges the prejudice expressed in such epithets as "pickled corustalks" and "saurkraut corn." Both beef-makers and dairymen are coming to recognize that, while they are coming to recognize that, while they may make money without the silo, they can make more with it.

The Bald Headed Man may Look Wise

But If He Had Been He Would Have Hair Now

You do not want a scientific treatise on the hair follicle—you are not particularly interested in the name of the German scientist who isolated the bug that is said to cause baldness. What you do want to know is how to save the hair you have and make it strong and lustrous.

Nyal's Hirsutone will do it better than anything else.

It is not claimed that Hirsutone is a wonderful scientific secret—but fit is the concrete result of all that is proven in the scientific treatment of sick and diseased hair and scalp.

It is a happy combination and you will notice a prompt improvement in the feeling of the scalp and the look of the hair.

Hirsutone loosens and removes all scaly and matted deposit on the scalp—stimulates the hair bulbs and gives new life and vigor to the hair itself.

Nyal's Hirsutone gives back to the hair and scalp just what it has been resulted to by your neglect and abus.

It is one of the Nyal remedies and no higher recommendation can be given it. They are all good. Ask your Nyal Druggist. He recommends it.

observance:

"The small boy with his cut finger, the tiny girl with her torn frock, make an immediate chase for 'Mother'—sure of a wisdom that will repair the injury even if some wholesome advice be thrown in about 'Not doing it again.' Then come the impatient half-grown years when the exclamation 'Mother is so oldwhen the exclamation 'Mother is so old-fashioned,' and 'Mother doesn't under-stand that things are different now,' are constantly heard. But the years, those unhalting years, march steadily by, and we hear the man and the woman, with their own stern problems to solve, admit-ting regretfully—'I believe Mother was right,' and 'I wish I'd done as Mother advised me.'

Caused Palpitation, and Prevented Sleep-When Health Was Gone, Cure Followed Use of "Nerviline."

"My last wish will be," writes Harry P. Pollard, a well-known boot and shoe traveler of Hartford, "that everyone with a bad stomach may learn as I did. before it's too late, that Nerviline is the one remedy to cure. Why, I was in mighty bad shape, my digestion was all wrong, and every night I would waken with a start and find my heart lumping like a threshing machine. This was caused by gas on my stomach pressing against my heart. When I started to use Nerviline I got better mighty fast. It is certainly a grand remedy for the traveling man, keeps your stomach in order, cures cramps, prevents lumbago or rheumatism, breaks up chest colds and sore throat—in fact there hasn't been an ache or pain inside or outside for the past two years that I haven't cured with Nerviline. Do you wonder I recommend it?"

A Picture of Night.
Along the high hedged lane John Strong swung, the June gloaming deepening into night. He loved to shove his face into the night. He gloried in the uncertainty of night, the indefiniteness of night, and his soul cried back a wild answer to the cry of the nighthawk and the owl. Night is more primitive than day; night is more calamitous; night is a savage; night everywhere is the true aborigine. Day has taken on civilization. Night hurls the world back to the day of the war club, the flint arrowhead, the painted visage. John Strong loved the night with an almost malevolent love. In the night he could hear the Valkyries screaming, the witches riding their broomsticks, the ghouls scraping the mold from off the new buried coffin. John Strong swung along, his face set to meet oncoming night.-Adventure.

Thomas was an old gamekeeper on Sir Greville's Scotch estate, says Sir William Kennedy in "Sport In the Navy." When he was sixty years old he contracted measles and was very ill for a time. asked Thomas how he liked the fruit. "Weel, Sir Greville," answered the gamekeeper, "the plums was good, but I dinna think much of the turnip."

SUFFERED GREATLY FROM COLIC

Mrs. Aime Guenette, L'Immaculee Conception, Que., writes: "My little boy suffered greatly from colic. I gave him castor oil and other medicines without helping him in the least. One day I saw Baby's Own Tablets advertised, so wrote for a box. I found them so good that I always keep them in the house and would use no other medicine for baby." The experience of Mrs. Guenette has been that of thousands of other mothers. Not only do the Tablets cure colic, but they cure constipation, vomiting, indigestion, make teething easy, banish worms and make baby bright, active and happy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Mrs. Aime Guenette, L'Immaculee

Torture and Death Used to Be ti Price For This Pastime.

People who went out of their way to libel their sovereign in days gon by did not usually get off so lightly as did the defendant in a recent notorion

For instance, Leigh Hunt, the fa mous essayist and poet, was sent to prison for two years exactly twice the length of Mylius' term-for calling George IV. "a fat Adonis of fifty." And George was not even king at the time, only regent.

Going back further still, we find John Stubbs, a student of Lincoln's Inn, arrested for libeling Queen Elizabeth. He was sentenced to have his right hand cut off, and the barbarous punishment was inflicted in public in the market place at Westminster by driving a cleaver through the wrist with a mallet.

Then there was that unhappy Walter Walker, grocer, at the Sign of the Crown, who said he would make his son heir to the crown. When Edward IV. was told of this merry jest he or dered Walker to be arrested and put to death for treason.

Almost as hard was the fate of the Buckinghamshire churl who, drinking one day in a village ale house, spoke disrespectfully of Henry VIII. "King Hal," he hiccoughed, "is no true king. Would I had his crown here that I might play football with it." The libeler was hanged, drawn and quar-tered, and pieces of his body were distributed as a warning among the market towns of the county.

In the reign of Charles I. an individual published a seditious libel concerning his majesty. The book containing the libel was burned before his face by the common hangman, while its author stood in the pillory in two places, having an ear cut off at each. He wore a paper on this head describing the offense, was ordered to pay a fine of £5,000 and suffer perpetual imprisonment.

The Ignorance That Exists In Russian Official Circles.

The following amazing story illustrates how deep is the ignorance of Russian officials on some matters and how bitter is their hatred of even the mere mention of the name of the late Count Tolstoy.

It is required by the Russian law the police shall be notified of the fact. Recently a club complying with this injunction also forwarded a copy of the program, wherein appeared the item "Kreutzer Sonata." Across this the chief of police wrote, "Tolstoy pro-However, the program was proceeded with unaltered, and, hearing this, an infuriated chief of police summoned the directors of the club before the governor. "How dare you disobey orders!" they were asked. "You were told that Tolstoy was prohibited." Light dawned on the concert promoters, and they quickly explained that the "Kreutzer Sonata" which appeared in their program had no reference to Tolstoy's book of that title, but to a musical work composed by Bee-thoven. "Everybody knows Tolstoy," snapped the governor, "but who knows your Beethoven?" It was only by a telegraphic appeal to M. Stolypin, who assured the governor that there was such a person as Beethoven and that he had written a "Kreutzer Sonata," that the club officials were able to convince the governor that he had jumped to a hasty and wrong conclusion.

Historical House Crumbling.
One of the most important land-marks in southern California, the old adobe house southeast of the Raymond hotel, South Pasadena, Cal., is crumbling, and efforts are being made to keep the structure intact. It was in this house that General Fremont met the warring Mexican chief General Andres Pico at dinner on a July evening in 1846. Here the treaty was signed giving over to the Americans the whole of California. This house is the oldest one in South Pasadena or, in fact, the whole valley in this section-

You see the statement every day that the one cause of baldness is dandruff. But is it?

True, dandruff often precedes the departure of the hair.

It is equally true that you know men with a shock of hair you can hardly pull a comb through, who have carried around a dandruf laden collar as long as you have known them.

Tou have also seen men whose scalp was kept as clean as a baby's whose hair was surely departing.

That dandruff talk sounds well and convinces a good many of us, but let us not fool ourselves.

Of course dandruff isn't a good thing to carry around, but it is only an indication.

THE FOURTH ESSENCE

It Helped Its Owner to Obtain His Object.

By CLARISSA MACKIE Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Bob Pendleton and I had been friends for years until the inevitable woman stepped in between. For a while we were rivals for Eleanor's love. and then Pendleton lost out and disappeared entirely from our lives. Eleanor lived only a few brief years, and I, who was then bereft of both friend and wife, was more alone than I had ever been. My business was of such a nature that I had much leisure -more than was good for me-and instead of returning to my home city, where old friends and old haunts awaited me, I closed the house where Eleanor and I had spent the brief and happy years of our married life and, winding up my business affairs, became a wanderer on the face of the earth.

I became absorbed in the study of Byzantine architecture and thus at the close of our year was lingering in Constantinople.

One night I was sitting in my favorite cafe dreaming over the events of the day when Pendleton's name sounded so distinctly in my ears that I leaped to my feet and looked around. The cafe was quite empty save for one or two Turks in a distant corner, the slipshod waiters and myself.

Bewildered, I sank back in my seat, only to be assailed by the insistent repetition of Pendleton's name. It seemed to be beating against some inner consciousness and was not, as I had at first supposed, an actual vocal

Then, forgetting the bitterness he had held against me and remembering only the pleasure of our long friendship, I was impelled to go to him. I felt that he needed me-that somehow, in some way, he was calling me to -and, following some blind instinct. I returned to my house, placed my courier in charge of my belongings, packed a portmanteau and at dawn the next morning had taken steamer for India.

With me constantly was the suggestion that Pendleton called me, and, as if guided by this invisible thread of desire, I entered a new country. At Dinaghpore I secured guides and hastened down to the ruins of the ancient city of Gaur. -We reached Gaur at sundown of a breathless day, and my arrival seemed to signal the departure of my fancies concerning Pendleton and his desire to see me. Once more I was the practical level headed individual who had held Pendleton's churlish attitude slightly in contempt. I marveled at the delusion that had brought me thousands of miles to the suburbs of Gaur, yet I was bound to take advantage of the opportunity and investigate the ruins. Then I would return to Constantinople. for India did not interest me at that

Perhaps we were a couple of miles distant from any habitable portion of the city, for here the ruins of ancient edifices were surrounded by a thick jungle, and my guide, a low caste Hindu of gigantic stature, told me that the jungle was infested with man

How To Stop Stubborn Cough

We don't mean just stop the irritation in your throat-but cure the underlying cause.

Cough syrups cannot do this. It takes a constitutional tonic body builder to do the work properly—and cure you to stay cured. Vinol is the remedy you need.

Mrs. Minnie Osgood, of Glens Falls, N. Y., writes: "After trying several rem-edies for a bad cough and cold without benefit, I was asked to try Vinol. It worked like magic. It cured my cold and cough and I gained in health and strength. I consider Vinol the most wonderful tonic and invigorator I ever saw."

If we cannot stop that cough with VINOL-our delicious cod liver and iron tonic-which is made without oil-we will not charge you a cent for the medicine you This seems like a pretty fair buy. proposition- and ought to be accepted. Don't you think so? With this understanding we ask you to try a bottle of VINOL.

The Warning of Mr. Geo. C. Fox Is One That Should Be Heeded by All.

Few men on the road are better known than genial George Fox. whose friends throughout the West are legion in the following letter he expresses gratitude for signal services rendered by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. He goes on to say: "Until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills and experienced their wonderful mildness and curative power. I estimated the value of every pill by its activity. Talking about this to a well-known physician I met on the train the other day, he explained there are different kinds of drugs that act upon the bowels, the most active being known as drastic. Except in extreme cases where the life of the patient depends upon speedy evacuation of the bowels, pills should never be drastic. Purgatives cause catarrh of the bowels and inflammation; their dose must be increased, causing even more harm. With such a clear explanation.

bowels and inflammation; their dose must be increased, causing even more harm. With such a clear explanation I could see why Dr. Hamilton's Pills are curative and not irritating, why they are mild, yet most searching. "From my experience I recommend everyone that takes pills to give up the old-fashioned harsh, purging pill, and, instead, to use Dr. Hamilton's. They cure headache, billousness, constipation, bad stomach, and keep the system in perfect condition."

My men were well armed, and as we had made camp in the crumbling upper story of what had once been a eautiful tiled temple we felt secure from marauding beasts.

Before the swift dusk fell and while my men were preparing the evening meal I picked my way down the broken ramp that led from the second story and wandered curiously among ruins.

There was little to be learned there, for most of the traces of that once beautiful medieval city were either overgrown with vines and shrubs or else lay at this hour in deep shadow. Rounding a high wall, I found myself In a small temple.

A tall Brahman priest bent above a tone altar, and at the sound of my footstens he turned and without evincing surprise at my intrusion calmly advanced and slid into place a slab of stone that served as a door, thus cutting off my retreat.

"Open that door, please," I commanded sharply. I had spoken in English, and to my surprise he answered in the same tongue, and his voice was vaguely

"It is too late. I have sent for you, and you have come. Do you not recognize me, Brayton?" He lighted a resinous torch and, sticking it in the wall, held his face in its light. I looked and stared and stared again, incredulous at first and then convinced that it was Bob Pendleton himself. His skin was burned to the color of mahogany; his hair was concealed under a folded white cloth; his eyebrows were shaven, and his black orbs rolled fiercely in their deep sockets. Handsome he was, as he ever had been, but wretchedly worn and emaciated and so changed from the handsome, buoyant fellow I had known that I might not have recognized him save for the deep bell notes of his voice. His fierce unfriendliness as expressed

"Bob Pendleton! My God, man, what are you doing here?" I gasped at last. "Waiting for you, Brayton," he said, with an odd laugh.

by the malignant glitter of his eyes brought forcibly to my mind our strain-

"Waiting for me?" I repeated stupidly. "Why, that is why I came, of course. You needed me."

"Wanted you-I don't need you," he sneered. "But I called you, didn't I-across five seas and the empire of India?"

"By some superhuman power you did summon me. I am here. If you do not need me I will go. Bob, do you still hold that grudge against me? It was a fair fight and"-

He held up a long, thin hand. "Be still," he said harshly. "I do hold the grudge. I have nurtured it these years past, and now my turn has come. did not come with you, Brayton? No? Strange. I sent her a most appealing call, and time was when she was not entirely indifferent to me."

Glowering down at me from his tall height, he smiled cynically and turned to the altar, which held nothing save a small square box of some rare wood. I suspected he was insane, and yet there was a certain deadly purpose about everything he did and said that impressed me with a degree of fear that he might not be mad.

The silence of the little shrine buried growth.

deep in the heart of this ancient ed city, the rear of a tiger from the jungle outside, the very thought of my utter isolation from all mankind, my only companion this half mad enemy.

"My men will be looking for me, Pendleton. Just open this door, win you, please?" I asked in a matter of

He turned, snarling: "My men, Brayton. I paid them to meet you at Dinaghpore and offer their services Now they are miles back on the road You are quite alone with me, entirely in my power, and when I am through -there are the jackals and vultures, you know!" He bent over the table once more. "If one of us must die I believe have the advantage, Bob." I leveled my revolvers at him, and, though my head was cool, my hands trembled slightly, for Pendleton had once been my friend.

"They are empty, fool," he said bitterly. "My men removed the bitterly. "My men removed the charges en route." He flung this over his shoulder, still busied over the little

It was true. The cartridges had been removed, but if the worst came to pass, as it undoubtedly would from Pen-

But I will not tell you that! "Here, in one of the dead cities of the world, isolated as one may hope to be, I have waited for you to come and take your medicine. You have loved her for years. He leaned carelessly against the altar, smiling down at my perplexed face.
"And you—what are you to do?" I breathed quickly.

"Why, Brayton, I believe I shall have my day, my share of happiness. fourth essence-why, Eleanor will be a widow and I may console her. Do you doubt my power?".

"Why not murder me outright?" I questioned calmly. "Your essences are a fool's trickery, Bob. Supreme happiness, perfect love and immeasur able content are all attained by drinking the fourth essence, and that is"-"What?" he demanded fiercely. "Death."

He bowed his head sullenly. "Yet von must drink or die-die anyway, that I may live and have my share of happiness," he said doggedly.

Slowly I unbuttoned my coat and drew forth from a hidden pocket a leather case. In the front of the case was a miniature of my wife, Eleanor. Slipped in the back of the case was a newspaper clipping of her death. Without a word I gave the paper into his unwilling hand. He held it to the light, devoured it with lightning glance, and a look of poignant suffering came into his face for a brief moment.

Then, tossing it back to me, he broke into a joyful laugh. I win at last." He snatched at one of the cups, drained it, and, while I struggled to detain him, he drank the others one at a time.

When the first hot red rays of the morning sun broke through the slit of window they fell on his dead face. All the anger and bitterness had fled. He looked young and beautiful, as if he had attained to supreme happiness, perfect love and immeasurable content—these the gift of the fourth essence, the key to the spirit world.

THE BRIGHTEST DAY FOR EVERY WOMEN

Comes With Good Health Through the Use of Dr. Wilhams' Pink Pills.

Her brightest day for every girl and every woman is the day when she looks well, feels well, and is well; but with most of the fair sex such days are rare. Instead they suffer from a painful languor, have a terrible weakness in the back, headaches that make everything seem blurred, and a ceaseless aching in the limbs. These and other trials afflict girls and women through the lack of rich red blood nature is calling for. Dr. Wilred blood nature is calling for. Er. Williams' Pink Pills have given the joy of real robust health to thousands of women who are happy to-day because these Pills actually make the rich, red blood that makes weak ones well and strong. This statement has been proven over and over again. Here is further proof from Mrs. C. J. Brook, Manitou, Man., who says:—"After a busy term on second class work, followed only by a short time of relaxation, and in a strenuous two and a half months normal course, in March, 1906, I began teaching school. I had a heavy rural school, with a large attendance, and consequently a large number of grades, thus I tound the work a great nervous strain. This added to the overwork of study, previous to teaching, soon work of study, previous to teaching, soon resulted in a "run down" condition. When vacation time came I did not pay much attention to my condition as I thought the holidays would fully restore me, but as I resumed work again I soon found this was not the case. One morning when I came to breakfast everything recled before me and I almost fainted away. The lady with whom I was board-ing advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She always spoke very Pink Pills. She always spoke very highly of them, her daughter having used them with the most beneficial used them with the most beneficial results following a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism. I decided to take her advice, and had only taken a few boxes when I begau to improve in health—and such an appetite as I had. I rapidly gained health, my face had a healthy glow, and I gained in weight. I have since often recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to others who have used them with equally beneficial results. used them with equally beneficial results, and I believe the Pills to be a standard remedy for the ills for which you recommend them."
