HOLD TWO MEETINGS
Peterboro, Ont., Jan. 23.—(Special).
The thorns are crackling under the political pot in West Peterboro and the pot is boiling away so furiously that it threatens to run over or burst before polling day on the seventh of next month. The official nominations occur tomorrow, but no speaking may be attempted, as the city is pretty well deluged with oratory. During the past week Sir George Postler,
Hon. Mackenzie King and Ernest Lapointe, M.P., have been heard, and next week Hon. S. F. Tolmie, minister of agriculture, and Sir Henry Drayton are expected. The prime minister will also return for another meeting, and Hon. Mr. King, who returned to Ottawa last night, expects to spend a week in the city. The L.P.O. candidate has rented the grand opera house for the 28th inst. and hopes to have
Hon. T. A. Crerar here on that date.

Mrs. Ruby Cross, aged 31, of 12
Wood street, was shot, probably fatally,
yesterday afternoon when a revolver was discharged in an adjoining room of the house during a struggle between Stanley Hallam and his younger brother William. The revolver, which was in the hands of Stanley Hallam, was exploded twice, the first bullet imbedding itself in the bureau harmlessly,
but the second passing thru the wall,
penetrating the abdomen of Mrs. Cross.
Her delicate condition at the time of the accident is prejudicial to her prospects of recovery, and at St. Michael's Hospital, where she now lies, little hope is held out. The bullet, which entered the lower left side of her abdomen, has not been removed.

Physicians Say Dangerous

SHOULD BE INSPECTED
To my mind, one of the most important things which present inquiry into the use of injections for blood diseases has brought out," said a Toronto physician to "The World," "is that these drugs should be as nearly foolproof as possible when placed in the hands of the doctor who is to administer them."

Armed Burglar Routed
By Panful of Suds
Chelsea, Mass., Jan. 23.—That a masked burglar with an automatic pistol is no match for a woman armed with a panful of hot, soapy dish water, has been proved by Mrs. Elsie Waite. The intruder poked his head and revolver thru the kitchen doorway and demanded all the money in the house. He got about a gallon of boiling suds and withdrew without further comment.

REVOLVERS EVIDENCE
London, Ont., Jan. 23.—(Special).
Norman Garfield, aged 24, and Denton Garfield, his brother, aged 20,
both of Toronto, arrested here at 84
Dundas street in a raid at 11 o'clock Friday night on suspicion of being implicated in recent robberies, have been charged with the murder of Ben Johnston, Woodstock, proprietor of a confectionery store, who was held up and shot there Thursday night, Jan.
20, at 11 o'clock. The charge has been laid by R. N. Ball, crown attorney at Woodstock. It followed identification of the prisoners by three men who were in the store at the time of the hold-up and who came to the city Saturday afternoon. As a result of further identifications, Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop declared today that there will also be charges of committing robbery with violence against Vincent Perry and of fruit merchant, 788 Dundas street.
The accused will appear before Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in police court tomorrow, Mr. McKillop stated.

Registration, including appeals to the court judge, is now completed, with sixteen thousand names on the pollers' list. Some of these, no doubt, are names of people who have died or moved away. The fight is undoubtedly between Roland Denne, the government candidate, and G. N. Gordon, the candidate for the Liberal party. Both are good campaigners.
Mr. Denne has been addressing meetings in the country, while Mr. Gordon put in a busy day yesterday (Saturday) staging the receptions and meetings of his leader and Mr. Lapointe.

The Hallam brothers, who are under arrest charged with criminal negligence, gained much notoriety during the height of the Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin's activities in pursuit of rum-runners on the border, their methods leading to the arrest of the Rev. J. O. L.
Spracklin. Should Mrs. Cross die, the charge may be enlarged to one of manslaughter.

Paris, Jan. 23.—France's attitude in the supreme council concerning reparations was the subject of a conference this morning at the Elysee Palace. Aristide Briand, the new premier and minister of foreign affairs, went to the palace, accompanied by Philippe J. L. Berthelot, general secretary of the foreign office; Louis Louchere, minister for the liberated regions; Paul Doumer, minister of finance; Louis Dubois, president of the reparations commission; M. Seydoux and M. Pierre Chevesson, the French financial experts at the Brussels conference, and discussed the entire reparations question with President Millerand.

A Problem For Russians Only.
Mr. Wilson adds that these events have only strengthened his conviction that the Russian revolution, "beneficial in its main purposes," must be developed to a satisfactory conclusion
by the Russians themselves with such help from outside as may be "voluntarily received."

Made Discovery.

Percy Grist, 18, no home, and a 15-year-old boy, were arrested at 10 a.m.
yesterday by Detective Alexander, of West Toronto police station, on a charge of shopbreaking.

John Macdonald, the vice-president of the Independent Labor Party, formally severed his membership in that party, announced himself as a communist and invited all other members to join him as followers of the third international in the assembly hall at the Labor Temple last night.

Geneva, Jan. 23.—The story of a murder in the Alps is reported by the monks of St. Bernard Hospice, which stands at an elevation of 8,110 feet. The monks and their dogs were aroused in the early morning of Friday by revolver shots and went to investigate. They found the bodies of three Italian alpinists, named Leden, Anseloni and Brignon in the dead snow.

Two farmers, William Elliott and William Charterwill, were kidnapped yesterday. Elliott's body was found in a bog near Bellinville. No trace has been found of Charterwill.

The labor radical was the centre of a storm of criticism from the more moderate members of the I. L. P., who considered that he went too far from the ultra-socialists present, and who accused him of insincerity in that he was fighting the extremists of communism only a month or so ago.

THE SAFE, WHICH CONTAINED OVER $200 IN cash and several watches, was recovered by Detective Alexander in a dumping place on Indian Grove. It had been in a very bad condition for several days before being thrown in the dump. The blistered and discolored condition of the metal on the safe indicated the use of liquid explosive similar to that used in the looting of General safes in Weston recently.

He strongly decried the dictatorial set up in Russia by Lenin and Trotsky on the ground that the belligerents in the war, which he described as a capitalistic war, had found it necessary to place their people
under the most stringent dictatorship, conscription of the army, the workers of the industries, and curtailing free speech and the freedom of the press.
In order to maintain the Russian Sov-

Kingston, Ont., Jan. 23.—(By Canadian Press.)—On Saturday night the charter was presented to the new Kingston Kiwanis Club at the inaugural, when over 300 guests sat down to dinner. The inaugural dinner was undoubtedly the liveliest affair ever held in the city, and "peg" and good fellowship prevailed throughout the entire evening.

Let the People Know the Facts.

What are the city hall and the Dominion government going to do to get the new Union Station into service?

The World hears that the railway companies, rather than the National Railways and the Canadian Pacific, say they cannot find the money to build the elevated viaduct for the tracks along the esplanade at the present time; that if the public wish to get the use of the new and expensive station and the government get the use of their new postoffice sorting wing in the new station (it cost nearly two million dollars) the city must join in asking for the suspension of the order of the board of railway commissioners for the elevation of the tracks, and allow the railways to build bridges over the tracks at Yonge and Bay streets, instead, for say ten years, and to put up a train house over the tracks on the existing rail levels.

Mr. King, at Peterboro Saturday night, highly complimented Mr. Burnham for withdrawing from this moribund parliament. Yet after this complimenting Mr. Burnham, the Liberal leader told his followers to vote against the man whose conduct he so highly commended. True, he intimated that he would have supported Mr. Burnham had the latter turned Liberal overnight. But why should Mr. King care how many or how few followers he has in the house of commons at the coming session? If they follow his example they will refuse to take any part in the important business of the session, and their seats might as well be occupied by Indian cigar signs. Indeed, if Mr. King is to do nothing but sit and look idly at the government, a statue of the same kind might satisfactorily fill his position.

To say that any parliament has less power than any of its predecessors is to talk absolute nonsense. Parliament is the high court and the supreme tribunal of the nation. Only last session, Mr. King urged this same parliament to deal with the tariff in a drastic manner. Now he says it has no power to deal with the tariff at all. He had a tight place to get out of Saturday night at Peterboro. He will have a tighter place to get out of when parliament assembles at Ottawa.

Since Mr. J. J. Morrison has "come to an agreement" with Premier Drury, may we not hope to see him at the legislature opening in a bottle coat, with a flower in his buttonhole?

THE WAR PROFITS OF OUR MILLERS.
If any evidence of profiteering is wanted there is no chance of getting it when you start a public investigation. A much better method is to get a broker to give the statistics when he is soliciting business for the companies' shares. Greenfields & Co., Montreal bankers, in their monthly review, give the following table, showing the earnings of the Ogilvie Milling Company. In 1918 the company earned no less than 72.6 per cent. on the nominal capital, and the average earnings for the six years, 1915 to 1920, inclusive, were nearly 50 per cent. on the nominal capital. The shareholders certainly had no cause of complaint, and their dividends and bonuses for the last four years were just over twenty-five per cent. Some profits this, in a commodity which is the basic element in the cost of living! Here is the table given by the brokers:

Year End.	Surplus for Common.	Dividends Paid.	Per Cent.
1912	276,431	11	8
1913	351,734	12	8
1914	389,843	12	8
1915	1,379,394	55	28

Mackenzie King at Peterboro.
A free trader, or even a radical tariff reductionist, would be about as popular in Peterboro as a smallpox patient at a garden party. No wonder, therefore, that Hon. Mackenzie King told the people there last Saturday night that he had no intention of interfering with protection. He went further, and intimated that he would make no proposals at the coming session respecting the tariff. Even though by some strange accident he became prime minister, he would refrain from tariff legislation. When the budget comes down at the coming session he will not criticize it or discuss it or pay any attention to it beyond stating that parliament has no power to pass fiscal legislation. He will claim that parliament having been elected merely for the duration of the war has ceased to exist; in short, that it is civilly dead. A fine point, truly, for nothing is so tender as a delicate conscience. We can only hope that his scruples will not prevent Mr. King from accepting the trifling fourteen thousand dollars per session, which has been voted him at leader of the opposition. Shocking, indeed, would it be if the accountant of the house of commons took Mr. King at his word and decided that parliament, being dead, there was no one entitled to pay as leader of the opposition!

DR. JAMES L. HUGHES REPLIES TO WORLD

We want more pulp limits to keep our mills going.

Some guys don't know when they're in luck, and when it comes they try to duck. They never know that they're blessed, and are the envy of the rest, but try their best to step aside, and from good fortune try to make a guy like this we've read about, who always finds the quick way out, whenever a maiden spots her man, and tries to catch this erring yep. This girl has chased him every-where, and yet he always takes the air whenever she appears in sight, this poor boob soon takes to flight. She's chased him all around the world, and words of love she's often hurled, but yet this male hear his hapless words, and says to her cry. So long she's kept upon his trail that now they've locked her up in jail, and there she lingers, but keeps up her tale of love about this pup.

I don't seem right to us, we think, the time she's wasted on that sink, when others, more deserving still, are handed names, but by chancy when a maiden's love would seek—she simply asks them on the cheek. We've tried for years to get a man to only by that chasing game. They chase all right, but hear us criers—his always straight away from us. No girl our path has ever crossed who's said the world she counted least if she ever love could never gain, or that our beauty caused her pain. Deserving men, like us, to wit, get stalled while hapless make a hit, but that's the way it goes, you bet—we want what we can never get.

Fair shines the moon upon the earth and moonlight now set its worthy; in fact its now so very high that it appeals to every eye, you'll see the stuff and make some doubt before officials get to know. Thus many did their thirst anoint down their throats, while others, in Chicago, Illinois, where they bought quarts of bottled joy. And there with spirits bright, they'd come to the beach, and the pined moon until the cops on deck the wiser, and pinched the joint and all the guys who saw they'd save the night away by pulling off a bonehead play. In fact, there's a man, who's looking bright and glad, and thus it struck the spotter's head, that it was something far from dead that many mourners there—'twas sniffed. There's spirits bright, and the question we're going to moralize, to under-keeper, boogie guys, that when a customer is dead, be sure his name should have been set the stuff at all, be sure par-takers sady bawl, and when they come to leave you that wear a crown, and any sorrow on their face, if when they walk away, they roll, don't let them breathe it to a soul.

Apparently Dr. Hughes, in the midst of his many duties, read rather hastily the recent statement respecting the attempt to place Mr. Thomas W. Bengough as director of the Technical Association of Canada, and he followed the paragraphs in Dr. Hughes' letter regarding the inspectors' annual report as a matter of record, but the board of education building and the suppressed report were not presented to the management committee.

The special committee appointed three years ago was not supposed, the outside world is well aware, to have aimed at the appointment of an outsider to the school affairs. When it appeared that the board of trustees on the two trustees on it they decided not to proceed, and they had a natural death.

The question as to whether Mr. Bengough's services, in connection with the technical commission on technical education qualifications, were of the most interesting nature, and best suited to call into exercise his special talents, was the occupation of a boy's or girl's life should not be left to chance.

Since I first saw vocational guidance in the public schools, I have been convinced that it is the most interesting and important thing that has happened in the world since the invention of the automobile. It is a thing that should be guided so that they may decide intelligently in regard to the department of the world they wish to enter, and that they may be prepared to meet the competition of the world.

(Continued From the Sunday World.) Peter Clancy and Captain O'Malley stood for a moment in the hall after letting the surgeons out, discussing the results of the investigation. O'Malley was demonstrating something to his eager pupil and assistant.

"You see," he said, "the knife entered here," touching Peter on the back just below the shoulder blade, "and went down this way," drawing a line with his stumpy forefinger downward and toward the spine.

"That means one of two things," he continued. "Either the blow was dealt by a person with very long arms, standing close in front of her, or the murderer stood behind her and struck the blow with his left hand. If he had used his right while she was standing behind her, the course of the weapon would have been straight in from right to left. You see that, don't you?"

"Sure," answered Peter, eagerly. "What we've got to look for is a left-handed guy with a motive, or a long-armed assassin with a motive." "I wish we could be sure which."

"You look for a man who prefers to use his southpaw, and don't waste your time on the outrang-outing theory," said O'Malley, with conviction. "If you parent. Now, the first thing we've got to do is to find out if anybody in these could have worn the shoes that came out of it. He produced the shoe insole as he spoke. "It's the best thing I've got, and it ought to be a good one, at that. See what you make out of it, Pete."

Clancy took it in his hand and considered it in silence for a minute. "It was still damp when we found it. That makes it darned near certain that it was left during the rain last night. It didn't start to rain till nearly midnight, and it stopped a little after three this morning. Since the murder was committed about that time, the probabilities are that the man who wore the shoe knows a hell of a lot more about the crime than he's going to wish he did when we get onto his tracks."

The two men ascended to the floor above. A glance in at the open door of the front room showed it to be the sitting-room or boudoir of a woman of expensive and bizarre taste.

"Her husband, do you suppose?" O'Malley, pointing to a large photograph in an ornate silver frame standing on a table near the door.

NEVER has a policyholder suffered loss through the failure of a regular life assurance company operating under charter from the Dominion of Canada. Can as much be said of any other class of business?

The soundness of each Canadian life company is rigorously tested, and the renewal of its license each year depends upon the result of an examination into its affairs by inspectors from the Government Insurance Department. Where else are trust funds so carefully guarded?

To guarantee the fulfillment of policy contracts, the Dominion Government has fixed a minimum standard of reserves to which every company is obliged to conform. The Imperial Life maintains reserves greatly in excess of the Government standard.

Every regular life assurance company in Canada must at all times provide security of an amount at least equal to its liabilities to policyholders. The Imperial Life provides security of more than $130 for every $100 of liability to its policyholders.

A deposit is required to be made with the Receiver-General by each regular life assurance company doing business in Canada. The Government deposit maintained by The Imperial Life is more than four times the amount required by law.

Just write your name and address on the coupon below and mail it to us. Then we'll send you a free copy of our booklet, "A Few Facts." This booklet contains many distinguishing features which ensure absolute security and liberal profits for Imperial policyholders.

Hamilton, Ont., Jan. 23.—The Canadiens gave hockey fans somewhat of a surprise here last night when they defeated the Hamilton team in the closing game of the first half of the N. H. A. schedule by a score of 7 to 5.

Goalkeeper Forbes was cheered to the echo for his remarkable work in the Toronto game and several occasions when Stewart, their new defence man from the maritime provinces, had more than his share of the blame for the team's defeat.

Ottawa continued to dominate the Toronto team, and after twelve minutes play they had scored two goals, the first being a shot and the second a slap in the rebound, leaving it 2 to 1 for Ottawa when the first period ended.

HE UNMATCHED DOOR

By LEE THAYER—Copyright, 1920, by the Century Co.

It was nearing midnight and all the back house lay bathed in silence and darkness save for a light that burned high and clear in the dining-room, where behind near blinds, two men sat talking earnestly.

The body of Inez Rutledge had been removed early in the evening, except for the two men, the house that had been a witness of her fate was empty. The old housekeeper, who had made the necessary arrangements for the removal of her wife's body, had gone to a hotel for the night.

The gate seemed a little vague as to her plans. She had given the address in the Greenwood village, with the statement that she would be there, if directed to her in his care.

"I'm not altogether easy in my mind about that girl, said O'Malley, leaning his heavy arms on the old refectory table and looking over his glasses at Clancy, who was sitting at the table with him. LACK OF BUILDING KEEPS PRICES UP, SAYS ONE BUILDER

Predicts Still Higher Prices and More Pronounced Shortage This Spring.

NO HOUSES FOR RENT

The following letter on the housing situation in Toronto has been received from H. Addison Johnson, a builder in the eastern section of the city:

"The writer is strongly of the opinion that the interests of the citizens in general would be well served by the publication to the widest extent of the following facts regarding the housing situation in Toronto.

(1) It is acknowledged by all who are familiar with conditions in Toronto that there are no houses being built for rent. It does not pay those who want houses must buy them.

(2) In spite of the house shortage in Toronto, the regular fall buying of houses did not materialize last year. Builders, failing to sell more than one-third or one-quarter of their houses, stopped building. When the buying starts, as it will this spring, the delayed fall demand, together with the new spring demand, will not find enough houses to go round. Those who buy early will buy cheap.

(3) The much-advertised cutting of prices to pre-war values has not applied, and will not apply for a long time to building material prices. After the American civil war it was twelve years before building material prices dropped to normal. And the last war was an immensely greater disturbance.

(4) In the last analysis the cost of a house is the cost of labor, and except for a few slight reductions the cost of labor used in making building supplies and erecting houses stands the same as before the war. Those who have been confidently expecting to buy houses at half-price this spring will be sadly disappointed.

(5) During the past few months it has been almost impossible for the average builder to obtain building loans. On various pleas and excuses the loan companies, estates and private investors have refused to advance funds. Whatever the true cause, the effect on the housing situation is not to be disputed. Building has been further retarded, the house shortage has been made more serious, and its only beneficial effect, from the builder's standpoint, is that it has tended to keep the price of houses from dropping.

"The man who buys a house built last fall will pay a lower interest rate and get better terms than he who waits.

(6) How Prices Went Up. The builders of Toronto are one of the few sections of business men who did not profiteer during the war. But they ask no credit for that. The builder had no chance to profiteer. The thousands of old houses on the market at prices away under the cost of producing new ones prevented the builder from raising his prices to where he could get even a normal percentage of profit. The fact that hundreds of builders have quit the business entirely shows that the profits were unduly small.

"Before the war a detached six-roomed brick house with hardwood floors and all conveniences, together with a fair-sized lot, cost the builder

"Another large builder has gone away for the winter. No houses being built.

"Still another builder usually has eight or ten under way; is building two houses.

"One firm organized to build and sell houses has gone out of business after losing considerable money.

"Others will shortly be worse off. A worse house famine than there has been yet."

BUSINESS GOOD IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Alien Question Not Troublesome One Now, Says Visitor to Toronto.

Business conditions in British Columbia are remarkably good, according to W. R. Boyle, buyer for the Hudson Bay Co. who is in Toronto on a trade visit. He is accompanied by Hon. J. R. Boyle, attorney-general for Alberta, who is here on official business for his department.

"There is a misconception in this part of the country of conditions in British Columbia," said Mr. Boyle. "We have had a remarkable season in every line, and that applies to other houses as well.

"You see," he stated, "we are not a manufacturing country, and that accounts for the difference between a province like British Columbia and one such as Ontario. We live on the fishing, mining and lumbering industries principally, and these have been keeping up fairly well. We have had a little trouble with the lumbering industry owing to the excessive demands of the lumber camp workers. Most of the camps are closed. That is the darkest aspect of the situation throughout the province. At the same time, however, the mills seem to have plenty of logs to work on, so the situation is not quite as bad as it might be.

Mr. Boyle said the alien question in the west was not so much a problem as it formerly was. Nearly three-quarters of the Hindus have moved to the southern states in the past two years, while the Chinese and Japanese continue to keep up the market gardening industry in the province on a profitable basis. The remaining Hindus are engaged almost entirely in the lumbering mills and camps.

STAGE ALL SET FOR OPENING OF HOUSE

Lieutenant - Governor Will Adhere to Time-Honored Customs.

"The stage is all set and the details arranged for the opening of the legislature tomorrow afternoon. The usual time-honored ceremony will be followed in detail. The lieutenant-governor, Hon. Lionel Clarke, with his official secretary and aide de camp, will leave government house by motor in time to reach the parliament buildings at three o'clock precisely. A travelling escort from the Royal Canadian Dragoons will accompany them. At the main entrance a guard of honor from Stanley barracks will be drawn up and as his honor alights from his car a band will play the National Anthem. The guard will present arms and then stand at attention while the governor, escorted by the officer commanding the district, and the officer in command of the guard makes an inspection. Meanwhile a battery of artillery stationed north of the buildings will fire a lieutenant-governor's salute.

At the entrance to the legislative chamber the governor will be met by the prime minister and the two will enter together, the house and visitors meanwhile arising and remaining on their feet until his honor has seated himself in the Speaker's chair. The speech from the throne follows, and the house then adjourns until the following day. Adjournment lasts only about twenty minutes.

Following the adjournment Speaker and Mrs. Parliament will hold a reception in their quarters.

JEWELERS WILL SEE PREMIER DRURY

Will Put Up Fight to Retain Right to Issue Marriage Licenses.

Toronto jewelers are not satisfied to see their long-held right of issuing marriage licenses lightly taken from them by the government. They are arranging to have a deputation wait on the Drury cabinet next week to submit their case in opposition to the recommendation of the public service commission, which provides that all marriage licenses be issued by municipal clerks or police magistrates.

"Personally I do not care about the income from the issuing of licenses, for it is not a drop in the bucket in a jeweler's business," said Mr. James Ryrie, "but we take the view that it would be a great inconvenience to the public to take away from the jewelers the right to issue licenses. In a big city like Toronto to compel all municipal clerks to issue the city clerk's office within business hours would be somewhat of an inconvenience."

FRAUD IS CHARGED AGAINST C. ISLING

Employed as Collector and Failed to Turn in Money, Police Claim.

Christopher Isling, no home, was arrested on Saturday afternoon by Detectives Waterhouse and Watson on a charge of fraud, involving a sum of $10. The complainant is William Miller, auto lens dealer, 163 Church street.

Isling, the police claim, secured employment from Miller thru the government employment bureau. His work consisted of collecting outstanding accounts for his employer. Miller swore out a warrant charging that Isling collected one account for $10 and he did not see him again.

PROMOTE DETECTIVES CROVYN AND MITCHELL

It is rumored that when the board of police commissioners meet on Wednesday next it will deal with the reorganization of the detective department. This scheme, it is said, will inaugurate regular eight-hour duty and will thus entail the promotion of two detective-sergeants to the rank of sergeant of detectives. It is understood that Detective-Sergeants Bart Guthrie and George Lydian will be the two appointed.

The question of the permanent appointment of Acting Inspectors Nat Guthrie and George Lydian will also come before the board.

ENDORSE POLICIES OF CONSERVATIVES

Ontario Ministers for Carpet, East York Meeting Speakers Say.

NEW OFFICERS CHOSEN Charge Drury Government Has Turned Away From Many Ideals.

George S. Henry, East York; Col. W. H. Price and Edward Underwood all agreed Saturday at the annual meeting of the Ontario Conservative Association, which re-elected Dr. Burgess president, that the new session of the provincial legislature would prove unusually interesting in that the U.P.O.-Labor coalition would be under fire. They also leveled their guns at the commission which was comprised of Hon. Justice Riddell and Hon. Justice Latchford, which probed into the alleged misadministration of the timber grants under the former provincial government.

The association heartily endorsed the policy of the Dominion premier, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, protecting home industries, and also right endorsed Hon. G. Howard Ferguson as leader of the opposition in the present provincial house.

Another resolution which was unanimously passed was that moved by John Kennor demanding that the banks and insurance companies, many of which had made huge dividends, be called upon to help the government to relieve the unemployment situation with a liberal share of their dividends.

This investigation business has proven to be rather valueless," said Col. Price, member for Parkdale. "About the only thing left to investigate is the administration of the Ross Liberal regime of 1896 and the Backus deal instituted by the present Farmer-Labor regime."

Continuing the speaker said that the little tiff between Mr. Drury and Mr. Morrison was evidence that Mr. Morrison was afraid of the admixture in his party of foreign and, therefore, undesirable elements, and that Mr. Drury on the other hand was afraid of the minority which would ensue with the Farmers' party as it now stood.

Charges Deserving Ideals. George S. Henry stated that the Drury government had turned away from many of its first ideals. He recounted that two years ago he had made a deputation to Hon. F. G. Macdormid, then minister of public works with a request to stop the building of provincial roads. This same man now headed a government which was spending huge sums upon the building of not less than 1800 miles of new provincial roads. Not only were the budgets of the present government enormous, they were unaccountable, and covered not only the problem of roads. When they were divulged at the next provincial session they would provide food for thought. Touching upon the Drury-Morrison fight, the speaker stated that both Mr. Morrison and Mr. Drury were fearful of losing prestige, and that the patched-up peace of the moment but preceded a much greater flare of opposing forces. He foresaw the fall of the U.P.O.-Labor coalition as such. The signs of the times were present in strength, as evidenced by the secession of a well-known labor member from its ranks. This was the first of a series of transfers which boded ill for the future of the Drury administration.

J. A. McDonald was elected vice-president, and Miss Constance Boulton second vice-president. J. S. Francis was elected secretary-treasurer.

Others who addressed the meeting were Tom Underwood, the well-known farmer member of the association, who sheltered farmers were generally very prosperous, and Edward Meek, who spoke at length upon the ideals of loyalty to the flag of Britain as opposed to loyalty to the flag of Canada. "Canada," said Mr. Meek, "is not a nation, but a part of the greatest of all nations, Great Britain."

Dr. Burgess presided.

MAY NOT FULFIL ALLEGED PROMISE

Government Has Not Agreed to Hand Over Big Timber Area

The claim entered by the Spanish River Pulp & Paper Co. for 5000 square miles of timber lands in Northern Ontario has not been agreed to by the government, according to Hon. Beniah Bowman. It is based on a promise said to have been made to the company cases decide upon the lands and forests, Howard Ferguson. "So far as I know no assurances were ever given to the company that this government would implement any promises that Mr. Ferguson may have made," said Mr. Bowman Saturday.

"I did tell Colonel Gibson of the company that the government would hold the desired limit in reserve, not allowing any selling, with a view to the possible future needs of the large industry at Espanola."

TOBACCO GROWERS WIN AGAINST BUYERS

Companies Were Nipped in the Falling Market of 1919.

That the tobacco buyers were badly nipped in the falling market of 1919 has been revealed in the suit heard at Osgoode Hall, which ended on Saturday in a verdict for certain growers of Essex county. The market dropped from 40 to 13 cents a pound and one buyer refused to take delivery of about 800,000 pounds and the growers lost about $250,000.

The three cases decided were test cases, brought by Norman Peterson, Charles Vamparys and David B. Stevenson, farmers and tobacco growers, against the Dominion Tobacco Co., W. C. MacDonald, Registered, and the Foster Tobacco Co. of Leamington and their agents, Henry Deacon and George Jaspanson.

In 1919, Henry Deacon was agent for the Dominion and Foster Tobacco Companies and Jaspanson for MacDonalds. Deacon purchased 1,100,000 pounds, of which he turned 300,000 over to the Dominion Tobacco Co. Jaspanson refused to take delivery of the remaining 800,000 pounds.

Justice Middleton decides that the farmers are entitled to recover against the Dominion Tobacco Company, who in turn are entitled to recover against Jaspanson, with interest from date of tendering delivery and $25 for change of contract.

He says he cannot find that MacDonalds knew anything of their agent's dealings, and that Jaspanson was "full of scheming and machinations for his own personal profit."

CITY TURNED DOWN BY LAW SOCIETY

Another Appeal Will Be Made to Government for Space.

The benchers of the Law Society have refused to consent to the transfer of two high court judges from the city hall to Osgoode hall. Two conferences on the matter were held between the board of control and the Law Society, the city representatives emphasizing the lack of room in the city hall for the city departments and the county courts.

Acting Mayor Maguire said on Saturday that the provincial government possessed title to Osgoode hall and another appeal would be made to the government to make room in Osgoode hall for at least two courts from the city hall.

MILD WEATHER HELPS BUILDING CONTRACTORS

Another week will see the new King Edward Hotel half bricked in and the building entirely closed in before the end of February.

The mild weather has been a boon to the contractors who have the work in hand, and construction is proceeding considerably ahead of schedule, all the floors have been laid but the rapid progress is now being made with the installing of the plumbing and the building of the partitions.
