CZAR'S DECISION TOASTED IN FLOODS OF CHAMPAGNE

St. Petersburg Conservatives Celebrate Dissolution of the Duma in an All Night Fete.

SE. PETERSBURG, June 17.—From a well-informed source, the Associated Press learns that the decision to dissolve the duma and abolish the former election law, was due to the initiative of the emperor, whose original intention went far beyond the mere actual taking of his majesty's wish to dismiss parliament a fortnight ago, and along the interval between the convocation of a new assembly, thinking that the would permit the agitation throughout the country to subside. He was encouraged in his attitude by court circles, but finally yielded to the arguments of Premier Stolypin who strongly advocated the convoking of the duma in the autumn. The premier also succeeded in having stricken from the electoral law, provisions increasing the educational and property qualifications for suffrage and making the age limit of voters from 20 to 30 years, working upon him majesty by what is designated described by one of his opponents as "the bogaboo of reaction."

 CHAPTER XXI.

"Roger—you what is it? What has brought you to Barrington Lodge?" So Patience faltered when she realized that it was her brother-in-law who was advancing to meet her along the rain-soaked path. For a moment he was no answer, and when he spoke his voice was hoarse, his tone utterly different from that to which she was accustomed.

"I have come to see you, Patience," he muttered. "I was on my way to the Lodge." He seized her by the hand. "But we can talk here—here in the summerhouse. It will be better, for there is no time to be lost." He spoke in short, pointed sentences. He pushed open the door of the summerhouse and dragged her in after him.

"What is it?" she panted. "Vivienne—oh! don't say there is anything the matter with Vivienne? She wrote me such a strange letter."

"No there is nothing the matter with Vivienne," returned Roger, abruptly. "She has gone to Cornwall, where I hope to join her. I have only come to ask you a question, Patience, and I expect you to answer it truthfully lest a greater ill befall you."

"What do you mean?" She had with drawn her hand from his clasp and stood before him, her breast heaving, her breath coming painfully.

"I will come straight to the point," he said. "The Blue Diamond was not the only object stolen at Barrington Lodge the night before my wedding. You stole the diamond, Patience, and I have every reason to believe that you were also the thief who took the papers—the importance of which I don't suppose you realized—from the pocket of my coat, in order to hand them over to that blackguard, Spenser Stern." He gave a short, harsh laugh as she remained silent before him. "No, I don't suppose you knew what those letters contained for, had thought you are I don't think you would bring about the absolute ruin of a man who loved you, and his poor old father—a man who is at death's door as it is. You have ruined them—do you understand?—unless something can be done to restore your action."

"I don't understand," Patience murmured, faintly. "Won't you be calm, Roger, and tell me exactly what has happened?"

Yet she knew what had happened. It was all painfully clear to her. It was from Roger that Vivienne had taken those papers which Spenser Stern admitted having in his possession. Had not Stern himself said that the means of ruining Jack had fallen into his hands? Had he not promised to return those fateful papers when she became his wife? But it was suspected of another theft—she who had already suffered so much for her sister's sake.

"What is the use of bandying words," said the man, roughly. "I have only come to see you in order to confirm my suspicions, so that I may know how to act. You are intimate with this man Stern, I know that. It was

A WOMAN'S KIDNEYS
 What Doctors Notice and What They Don't.

Disease in the kidneys is one of the last ailments for which a doctor looks when treating women. This is a great mistake. Women are very prone to kidney trouble and in fact many physicians attribute a woman's languor and ill health to a derangement of the genital organs when it is simply plain kidney disease, and nothing else.

Many so supposed female complaints are either kidney or bladder disease.

Sick kidneys of course make associate organs sick also.

The result is back pains, bearing down sensations, urter weariness and headache.

But Dr. Hamilton's Pills go right to the spot.

They put life into the kidneys that makes a worn out woman feel like new.

Indirectly the blood and nervous centres are assisted by Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and the result is a proper performance of the function and a painless fulfilment of nature's command.

Thus it is that a woman can gain much happiness and abundant good health by the regular use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

From her home near Portland (Ont.), Mrs. A. B. Coburn writes:

"For two years past I have been sickly and weak. My color was dull and sallow, and I felt exhausted and weary, as if all my strength were being eaten up with some hidden trouble. I heard of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and decided to use them. The change in a few days was surprising. They regulated my kidneys and bowels and cured all my sufferings; today I am perfectly well."

You can rely on Dr. Hamilton's Pills with implicit confidence; their effect is wonderful. Sold by all dealers. Price 25c. per box, five boxes for $1.00, or by mail from N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

WHERE DOES THE PAPER GO?

The first question asked by a general advertiser. The Telegraph and Times reach that class of people who subscribe and agree to pay for the reading privilege. These papers go first hand from the publishers by carrier and not through street boys to be left in office or store by purchaser after reading. Common sense teaches that every paper passed into homes direct will be read. The Telegraph and Times are home papers. Do they contain your advertisement?

Getting Hot

I asked an old farmer who had come into Brooklyn from his farm with a load of vegetables to sell if the people out his way were waking up to the presidential campaign, and he answered with great heartiness:

"You bet they are! Yes, sinner, things are getting hot down my way."

"Folks taking a great interest, eh?"

"Heaps and heaps. Did you hear about Jim Wheeler calling Bill Smith a liar?"

"No."

"Yes, sir, called him a liar right to his face and then spit on his hands to back it up. Hear about Jim Sawtelle?"

"No."

"He got so excited talking politics that he put a hot pipe in his pocket and burned his coat-tails off. You must have heard about Tom Stevens and Eliza Jones?"

"I don't think I have."

"They have been friends for years. They were at the post office the other night and got telling who they wanted for the next president, when Tom spoke up and says:

"'Alphie, you are an infernal liar!'"

"'And you are a jackass on wheels!'" says Eliza, and then they pulled off their coats, put chips on their shoulders and stared each other to knock 'em off. They have agreed not to speak to each other again as long as they live. Then we've had two cows die of bollerism, and one mad dog running around and a bull

What Malt Is to Beer

Malt is barley, with its life-germ artificially grown. Malt gives body, strength and quality to beer. The better the malt, the more satisfying the beer. The Pabst Eight-Day Malt Process follows Nature—it grows the barley slowly, thus preserving all of the nutritious food properties of the grain, and transmitting them to

The annual picnic of Brussels street Baptist church took place at West End Beach on Saturday and proved very enjoyable despite the coldness of the weather. A good crowd was in attendance. A series of sports were productive of much competition among the youths of the congregation. A refreshment table proved a great attraction. Those in charge were Mrs. McGinty, Mrs. Belding, Mrs. L. A. Belys, Miss Julia Elliott, Mrs. Wm. Smith and Miss Marsh.

SUPERVISED PLAY

The first annual meeting of the Playground Association of America will be held this week in Chicago, lasting three days—Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Many cities will send delegations. For example, the city council of Detroit voted $150 towards the expenses of five delegates from that city, including Mrs. Clara Bates from that city, including Mrs. Clara Bates from that city, including Mrs. Clara Bates from that city...

of the second Duma failed to justify our expectations. It was not with the will or desire to strengthen Russia and perfect the new administration that many of the delegates of the nation set to work, but with a manifest tendency to augment her troubles and assist in the disruption of the state. The Duma did not lead its moral support to the government in the restoration of order, and Russia continues to suffer the shame of an epoch of crimes and disasters.

ATHLETIC EXERCISES

The high school boys held their sports on the Victoria grounds on Saturday afternoon. There was a good series of events, well contested. Several hundred persons, the larger number being small boys, although there were some men and quite a number of ladies, witnessed the competition. Very few parents were present, only a few teachers, and no members of the school board.

Another result of the growing demand for supervised play-grounds has been the institution of summer schools where persons may fit themselves especially for the work of play-ground teaching and supervision. The Times has received from Miss Mabel Peters a copy of the circular of the New York University Summer School, dealing with its new course on the organization and administration of play-grounds and children's clubs. Dr. Gulick, who is president of the Playground Association of America, is also the president of this department of physical training. The course consists of thirty hours work, half in the lecture room and half in practical work, and extends over three weeks, from July 1st, for a merely nominal fee. The lectures will be given by practical teachers, prominent in play-ground and settlement work, and will deal with children, both large and small. Thus, along with the educational work of the school rooms will presently go on in every wide-awake community the lessons to be learned and the physical, mental and moral benefits to be derived from the supervised play-grounds and children's clubs. It is a most interesting and promising development of an era that is well characterized as the era of the strenuous life.

"IMMEASURABLE EVIL" Crime rather than dependence is the result of intemperance, according to an address by W. H. McClain, of St. Louis, delivered at a session of the National Conference of Charities and Corrections in Minneapolis last week. "The amount of evil to be charged to intemperance is immeasurable," said Mr. McClain, "but a little careful discrimination will clarify this subject. It is the opinion of many who have given special study to the subject that crime rather than dependence is the direct result of intemperance. Drunkenness makes itself felt in the incomplete development of offspring, in the frequency of imbecility and 'idioty. The appetite for strong drink acts to perpetuate its kind."

THE DOUMA DISSOLVED

The Russian Duma has been dissolved because it hesitated to comply with the demand of the government for the expulsion of fifty-five Social-Democrats, and the arrest of sixteen of them, for openly declaring in favor of revolution and a republic. In his proclamation the Czar announces that there will be important changes in the electoral law, in order that there shall be fewer of these disturbances in the next house. He says: "The Duma was summoned to strengthen the Russian state and ought to be Russian in spirit. Other nationalities forming part of our empire ought to have representatives of their needs, in the Duma, but they ought not to appear and shall not appear in such numbers as will make it possible for them to be arbitrators on questions which are purely Russian. Within the confines of the state where the people have not attained sufficient civic development, the elections to the Duma must be temporarily suspended."

REVISED VERSION

Abbie Ben Adams, may her life be spared. Awoke one morning and found her husband for an hour's writing on a little slip. Exceeding nervousness made Abbie quake. Ask to Vision kindly the speaker. "What wrote that?" The Vision looked appalled. At her presumption, and quite coldly drew. "The list of our Best People who depart. For watering-places summery and smart. And am I in the second Miss Abbie. The scornful Vision said. "You're poor, you know." "I know," said Abbie. "I go where it's cheap. I can't afford mountains or prices steep. But, ere you leave, I'll look this item down. I never leave my cats to starve in town. The Vision wrote, and vanished. Next night, late. He came again and brought his little state. And showed the names of people really best. And lo! Miss Abbie's name led all the rest!"

FIGHT FOR BEER ENDED IN DEATH

Bare Knuckle Contest at Stratford, Ont., Results in a Fatality. Stratford, Ont., June 16--Henry Lockey is in jail here charged with murder as a result of a bare knuckle fight last night with Noah Hill. Lockey and Hill, it seems, had been drinking Saturday and had a quarrel at one of the city hotels and were turned out. They decided to settle the quarrel in the English style by fighting it out with fists. "For points," as alleged by Lockey, the winner of the most points to buy the beer. A man named Chapman, who had just returned from London camp, was selected by Hill as his second, while Frank Morris did a like duty for Lockey. They determined to fight the matter out in the rear of the skating rink. Repairing there and divesting themselves of their superfluous clothing and shaking hands, the contest commenced. Hill, the taller man, getting in a blow on Lockey's chest. The latter retaliated with a blow with the left hand on Hill's right jaw, breaking the latter's neck. This was what is currently reported. There was but one witness, a lad of eleven years, named Hatch, except, of course, the seconds. Lockey says Hill stumbled and fell, and that the blow he received was but trifling. An inquest will be held tomorrow. Both seconds have been arrested and locked up.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

The Hague, June 15.—The second annual peace conference was opened in this city this afternoon. The opening session lasted scarcely twenty minutes and was devoted to any incident outside of the cut and dried programme. It consisted simply of a short speech of welcome by Dr. Van Tels Van Soudrian, the Netherlands foreign minister, the adoption of a resolution to send telegrams of greeting to Emperor Nicholas and Queen Wilhelmina, and the delivery of the eagerly awaited speech by M. Nelidoff, head of the Russian delegation, who was unanimously chosen president of the conference. The keynote sounded by M. Nelidoff on behalf of Russia was a crushing blow to the pacifists. There was no mining of words when he spoke of the idea of ultimate disarmament, and the inauguration of a regime of universal peace was relegated to the limbo.

All in the Word

The young man who had gone to New York from Georgia to secure a place and to carve out his fortune had made a good start and came home on a brief visit. Among his friends he met Deacon Hazlett, who had expressed a great interest in his going, but who now was passing him by with a nod when the young man called: "See here, Deacon, haven't you got a hand-shake for me?" "I'm afraid not," replied the good man with a solemn shake of the head. "But what's the matter? You were in favor of my going to New York."

DINNER TO COL. STEELE

Officers and Men of Strathcona's Horse Dine Him in the Russell House.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 17 (Special).—About a score of officers and men of Strathcona's Horse, residing in the east, tendered a banquet to Col. S. B. Steele, C. R. M. V. O., their commanding officer in the South African war, in the Russell House, Saturday evening. The dinner was one of the most elaborate private dinners which has been held in that well known hostelry. In addition to an excellent menu, the dining hall was banked with flowers and draped with South African and other flags. Capt. F. L. Cartwright presided. Col. Steele, in reply to the toast "Our guest," expressed the appreciation of the honor one him and claimed that the commander-in-chief and many brigade commanders in personal conversation with him, paid tribute to the efficiency of the regiment in South Africa. A cablegram was read at the banquet from Lord Strathcona which in part is as follows: "We all did so well in South Africa, it is sufficient praise to say that none acquitted themselves better than Col. Steele and his regiment. He had the approval and confidence of the commanders and governors under whom he served. I have the warmest regard for him and would gladly join you in honoring him." Telegrams of greeting were read from several Strathcona Horse officers in the West, all of whom expressed gratification upon Col. Steele's return to Canada to take up an important command in the western provinces. It was suggested at the banquet that a regimental dinner should be held yearly at some point in the west, such as Winnipeg, Calgary or Edmonton, to keep the men of the regiment in touch with each other.

MAY BE A FIRE BUG

AT WORK IN CARLETON

Yesterday morning about 3.20 o'clock Policeman Godine noticed flames bursting from John Bowler's barn on St. John street. He sounded an alarm from box 116, but before the firemen arrived John Bowler, who lives near the barn, felt the heat, and getting up, with the aid of Edward Lambert and George Pollock, stretched hose, and attached it to a hydrant at the foot of St. John street. When the fire was about under control, a spark ignited an ornament on No. 8 engine house and it had to be chopped off. Thirteen hens perished in the flames. They belonged to Mr. Rowley. A second alarm was sent in about 3.40 but it is not known who did it. The fire caught in a loft inside the barn and there is a suspicion of incendiaryism.
