The "Kaysers" SILK Glove

is the World's standard silk glove—all other silk gloves are measured by the "KAYSER" standard. The development of the "KAYSER" silk glove represents the attainment of an ideal, the achievement of which has not been hampered by restrictions of cost or time, nor influenced by a passing demand, for features most aptly characterized as "talking points."

We could not afford to buy expensive advertising space "year after year," to tell the women of America that "KAYSER" gloves are the best—in style, fit and finish—if it were not true.

"KAYSER" gloves "cost no more" than the ordinary kind—and are worth double in quality, fit and value. Don't accept the "just as good" kind, there's a way to tell the genuine—"Look in the Hem"—if you find the name "KAYSER" you have the kind that "don't wear out" at the finger ends.

IN PARLIAMENT

Ottawa, May 5.—In the commons today, Hon. Mr. Pelletier, postmaster-general, introduced a bill ratifying an agreement with a new wireless telegraphy company, which he believed it would provide cheaper rates lowering the present figures by about 25 per cent. He said, in response to criticisms from Hon. Messrs. Lemieux, Pugsley and Oliver, that there should be state ownership of wireless and cable, that provision was made for taking over the rights of the company should the government desire at the expiration of a term of years.

W. F. McLean and J. E. Armstrong from the ministerial benches, also came out strongly in favor of state ownership in this connection, and urged that the government should try to assume control at once. Mr. Armstrong said that he believed the new company, to which the rights would be given if the bill were passed, would soon be merged with the cable company and thus there would be no further competition.

The name of the new company Mr. Pelletier said was the "Universal Radio Syndicate of Wireless Telegraphy," and it was composed of British millionaires. A deposit of $10,000 had been given that the contract would be carried out.

Advance in trans-Atlantic freight rates, resulting from the combine of companies known as the "Canadian North Atlantic Steamship Federation," was discussed yesterday, but no practical means of reducing the rates was suggested, excepting the appointment of a commission, or an "of-ficial inquiry," suggested by Hon. Mr. Perley, who said that "there could surely be a remedy suggested after this had been done."

"The scheduled sailing of the Empire of Ireland was for Friday, May 2, from St. John, and on May 3 from Halifax, but in conformity with the new plan the Empire will begin her voyage on Thursday, May 1, and will proceed without stop of any kind to her destination. The sailing will be the last of the winter season, but the C. P. R. and Allan Line are expected to cut out the Halifax call entirely and to make St. John their only Canadian terminal, while the White Star and Canadian Northern steamers will probably end their voyages at Halifax. The new arrangement will give Canada a better mail service, and will prove, it is believed, the long sought for solution of the problem of going there direct the mails will reach Montreal and the west in quicker time than has been possible heretofore."

ARTILLERY BAND IN EXCELLENT CONCERT

Artistic Programme Keenly Enjoyed By Large Opera House Audience

The concert given by the band of the 3rd Regiment Canadian Artillery in the Opera House last evening proved a great treat to the large audience which filled the house. Under the leadership of Bandmaster F. W. Nichol the band has attained a high standard of efficiency and the varied selections of a carefully selected programme were rendered in a most artistic manner. The band was assisted by Miss Blenda Thompson and a ladies' quartet, consisting of Misses Stammers, Brown, Blanche, and McLean.

The programme opened with O Canada and the band selections included an excellent range of both classical and modern pieces, which were all played with great expression and precision, the full beauty of the music being brought out by the excellently trained band.

Miss Thompson's magnificent contralto was heard in several selections and she received great applause.

The ladies' quartet was also much appreciated and the young ladies had to respond to several encores.

Solos were given by Bandman Louis Nye on the piccolo and by Bandman H. Williams on the baritone saxophone and both were well received.

Is Your House Like a Castle in Spain

By J. R. HAMILTON
Former Advertising Manager, Wanamaker's, Philadelphia
(Copyrighted)

CASTLES in Spain are wonderful things in books but they are horribly unsanitary and uncomfortable to live in.

The upkeep of Spanish castles is said to be very poor. It may be romantic to own one, but it is unpardonable to live in one.

An ideal home is a home where plumbing is good and the furniture is comfortable.

It may be all right for you to consider your home as your castle. But when you treat it as a Spanish castle, it usually becomes a leakable, unspeakable affair.

Now we people who are divided by the Atlantic ocean from antiques and antiquity are a decidedly practical set. We are only fond of Jacobean and Elizabethan chairs and Hepplewhite tables when they have four legs. We are quite willing to buy Highboys provided they will hold shirts; otherwise we want chiffoniers.

All of which leads us to the fact that the time has come again for renewing the clothing of our house just as we have been renewing the clothing of ourselves.

Old rugs must be supplanted by new ones. New paper must go on the walls, new draperies on the windows, new furniture in our rooms. For this is the season of newness. Fully fifty per cent of everything needed in the home is purchased at this season of the year.

The furniture stores, the Drapery and Rug Departments, the Piano Houses, the stores and Departments of House Needs, of Wall paper, and of paints, all recognize this fact and all are ready with great new stocks of merchandise from which to provide you.

Their sales and their announcements are in this paper day by day. They lend every effort possible to help you in your choice. Their advertising should be most vital news to you at this time, because it will save you both time and money in your selections.

Be sure you read this advertising now. Be sure you see what each store is offering.

For only by reading this advertising and answering it can you keep your home up to the standard of a modern, comfortable, desirable place of abode.

The difference between a castle and a home is the difference between an inherited derelict and a place you have worked for and earned.

DON'T GROW BALD, YOUNG MAN!

Take Care of Your Hair While You Have Hair to Take Care of

It's a safe bet to one bet that the young man who uses PARISIAN Sage as an occasional hair dressing will never grow bald. There's a reason, of course, and it's a very good and sufficient one.

Dandruff germs cause falling hair and falling hair means thinner hair and in due time baldness.

PARISIAN Sage prevents baldness, by destroying the cause of baldness—the little persistent voracious dandruff germ.

If you have dandruff or itching scalp it means that dandruff germs are sapping the vitality from the roots of your hair. Get rid of all hair troubles by using PARISIAN Sage.

It is not a dye, mind you, neither does it contain poisonous sugar or lead or even sulphur. It is a scientific preparation that abolishes dandruff, stops falling hair and scalp itch, and makes hair grow lustrous and luxuriant.

Many young women as well as men are growing bald and for the same reason.

Use the delightful, refreshing PARISIAN Sage; it nourishes the hair roots, if the roots are not dead, and brings to every user a head of glorious hair—radiant and fascinating. Large bottle for 50 cents at drug stores and toilet counters. See that you get PARISIAN Sage.

All druggists guarantee it.

BEATEN IN EFFORT TO MEND MATTERS

Hungarian Count Gives Up All, Including Country

SOUGHT TO BE REFORMER

Wealthy, Pleasure-Loving Hussar Officer Made a Brave Fight To Improve Conditions in Homeland But In Vain

(Times' Special Correspondence)

Buda Pesth, April 22.—Mad Count Bathany has abandoned his family, his title, his citizenship, his estates, and his invested millions, and taken refuge in England. The "mad count" is the hero of the quaint drama of renunciation and self-sacrifice in European aristocracy's history.

Only Thirty Six

Count Erwin Bathany, aged thirty-six, is head of the proudest of all Magyar clans. He traces descent to Arpad, the creator of Hungary. His family, during the thousand years since Arpad, has played a notable role, and amassed a vast fortune.

Count Louis is one of the national heroes whose memory is embodied in the Buda Pesth, Heroes' monument. In the districts of Pesth, Pozsony, Bihar and Debreczin and in five other "Komitats," County Bathany has vast estates. He has an income of a million dollars a year; and a millionaire aunt who, till lately, proposed to leave him another million.

Four years ago Count Erwin was a wealthy, pleasure-loving hussar officer, who seemed destined to live the ordinary cavalryman's life and to die happily. His life, like Tolstoy's, was changed by a "fall." He came to the conclusion that he must change his worldly ways; that he had responsibilities which were as great as his wealth; and that a soldier's life in peace time is no worthy career.

When he broached these terms of thought to his fellow officers they laughed. Later, when he repeated them they began to think him a bit of a bore; and finally they and the rest of the hussars had to conclude that he was mad, for he announced that he would throw up his officer's commission and henceforth devote his life to the poor and down-trodden.

Count Erwin added that in order to fit himself for his new career he would pursue a course of social and political science. Naturally his brother magistrates, who do not know social and political science from trigonometry, were horrified. Their horror was intensified when the millionaire count appeared on the platform of the Social Science Union, a semi-socialist and anti-aristocratic league.

And the horror knew no bounds when the count proceeded from reading to writing and publishing fiery articles against wealth. His "Twentieth Century" of the Social Science Union.

Attacks His Own Class The "Twentieth Century" focuses the views of the semi-revolutionary youth of Hungary, the youth which fights clericalism, big landed estates, aristocratic prejudices, and all the various things which usually men like Count Bathany call blessed in Hungary classes are more

PERSONS CURED OF ECZEMA

Within the past few months over 100 persons have written to the Zam-Buk Co. reporting their cure of eczema, rashes and skin diseases by Zam-Buk! Don't hesitate to prove that Zam-Buk is something different? Don't you need it in your household?

Mrs. Mary McCaughey, 913 St. Catherine Street, W., Montreal, says: "I do not know words powerful enough to express my gratitude to Zam-Buk. Eczema broke out on my scalp and hands. The irritation of the scalp was so bad that I could not sleep or rest, and I feared I should have to have my hair cut off. On my hands the disease appeared in sore patches, the burning and itching of which drove me many times to the hospital, but they referred me to a skin specialist, who said that mine was a bad case of eczema as he had seen. He gave me some ointment, and then a second lot, but neither gave me any relief.

I was in a very bad condition when Zam-Buk was introduced, but I soon found out that it was different from all the ointments and such that I had used. The irritation and smarting soon disappeared, then the sore began to heal, and finally the skin grew over the parts which had been sore, and I am now free from all traces of eczema. My hair has also been saved by the use of Zam-Buk. I am now free from all traces of eczema, and I am now free from all traces of eczema. My hair has also been saved by the use of Zam-Buk. I am now free from all traces of eczema, and I am now free from all traces of eczema.

HELPLESS CRIPPLE FROM RHEUMATISM

Toronto Lady Took "Fruit-a-tives" And Cured Herself

Home Place, Toronto, Dec. 13th, 1909. "I was a helpless cripple from rheumatism for nearly a year. All down the right side the pain was dreadful and I could not move for the agony. I was treated by two physicians without benefit. I saw "Fruit-a-tives" advertised and decided to try them after taking one box I was much better.

When I had taken three boxes I could use my arm and the pain was almost gone. After taking five boxes I was entirely well again. The cure of my case by "Fruit-a-tives" was indeed splendid because all the doctors failed to even relieve me. "Fruit-a-tives" cured me.

solid against classes than in almost any other country. So Count Erwin's conversion proved to be a sensational event. The whole Magyar press took it up. The "mad count" was attacking the reactionary parliamentary franchise, the influence of the church, the official ideal of patriotism and the neglect of politicians to provide schools for the peasants.

More mercifully of all he attacked the privileges of his own class. Some of these privileges date from the middle ages, and they give a power over the peasant population which practically means serfdom. Of course, magistrates, landlords, high officials and conservative were up in arms. The "mad count" was denounced as incendiary, anarchist, traitor to his class and to his country. To each vituperation Count Erwin made no reply. He pursued his own resolute way and two years ago abolished all the feudal customs on his estates without taking any return from the peasants who benefited.

The local magistrates saw that their own estates were threatened and started a boycott. When Count Erwin appeared before the provincial Council of Nobility forty-seven of his fellow nobles demonstratively left the hall. Angrier still were the members of the noble line of Bathany. In addition to sharing in the resentment felt by the landlords, clericals, and conservatives, they were terrified by the thought that the irresponsible count would give away the family estates. Angriest of all was the Countess Erwin. She withdrew from Count Erwin the light of her countenance, and turned it on another Bathany, Count Bathany Janos.

Count Erwin persisted. He announced that he would give the peasant workers on his lands a share in the profits of farming. This overwhelmingly convinced Hungary that he was mad. His relatives, fifteen indignant counts and countesses, held a family council; and resolved to address a solemn motion to their estate landsman. Count Erwin thanked them for their interest, and invited them to try profit sharing with their own peasants. The council met again. It decided that the relative must enter a sanatorium for nerve sufferers. The plan failed. Mad as was Count Erwin in the eyes of respectable society, no doctor could be found who believed he was insane. Count Erwin replied to his relatives' move by publishing a pamphlet on "The Shame of Hungary" in which he attacked the aristocracy and the "mad count" appeared as the "traitor count," the "abstent count," and so on. Things might have developed slowly in this direction had not the reckless Erwin taken a step which transcended all his past intrigues and insanities. He began a campaign in favor of education for the poor. Of all the prejudices sacred to the Hungarian magistrates a hatred of education for the poor is the chief. It is as great a crime in Hungary to found a school as it is in England to shoot a fox. The magistrates depend on illiterate labor for their vast wheat growing estates. There is a constant governmental policy against schooling, and five or six thousand municipal districts are without any schools at all. "I not only demand schools, but I shall get them," said the "mad count." And he decided to found his own schools. He started the first schools on the estate nearest Fezth and near Nebreczin. The schools were to be equal to the best in Europe. The count took the advice of Kirchnastetter, Germany's famous pedagogy expert; and he brought a school architect, Klansens from Vienna to put up the school buildings. Four schools were built, and equipped with every appliance of the most advanced pedagogy. The enterprise was run practically, meaning as every thing was done in a cheap way, and so as to prove a model to estate owners elsewhere. When the schools were opened a flood of professors, not a few socialists and many other "mad persons" came to them. The peasants fought in order to get their children into them. For three weeks the schools flourished.

On a January morning when the little Magyar children with red kerchiefs over their heads appeared at the school building they found the door shut. On the door was pasted a notice: "Closed by ordinance dated the 13th of January, 1913, of the Minister of the Interior."

With that ended the school experiment. Had he been a hero of the novel's kind the count probably would have defied the government, fought society, and ended his life in jail or on the gallows. But Count Erwin is not even a suffragette. He is merely a mild, sentimental, earnest, and nice at all to be a hero or a martyr. In this spirit he acted. He has declared that it is impossible for any man with a conscience to live in a country where society and politics are organized as they are in Hungary. And he has left Hungary for free England where a man may be as mad as he likes, "I shall never set foot in Hungary again," are his parting words.

The final step is a petition to the Peith ministry of the interior, demanding "release of Count Erwin Bathany from the state union." That means that the "mad count" wants permission to abandon once and for ever his Hungarian citizenship. It is the only time in history that such a request has been made by a Hungarian noble. It is said that the ministry has already granted the petition and that "Mr. Bathany, British subject, will be the future title and description of Hungary's "mad count."

FOR EDUCATION OF THE POOR

The newspaper war on Count Erwin continued. He was declared to be not only mad and foolish but also malign and vicious. The "mad count" appeared as the "traitor count," the "abstent count," and so on. Things might have developed slowly in this direction had not the reckless Erwin taken a step which transcended all his past intrigues and insanities. He began a campaign in favor of education for the poor. Of all the prejudices sacred to the Hungarian magistrates a hatred of education for the poor is the chief. Laurier in Toronto, Heard By 7,000; Many Turned Away

THE NAVAL POLICY

Shows the Tory Somersault Under Pressure of the Nationalists and Ridicules the "Emergency" Cry—Liberal Chieftain in Stirring Speech

Toronto, May 6.—This Conservative stronghold turned out in tremendous numbers tonight to hear Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The arena, in which the meeting was held, accommodated something over 7,000 people and then literally thousands were turned away. All those who did get in the enthusiasm was unrestrained and when the leader of the opposition arose to speak he was given a remarkable ovation.

On the platform with him were Hon. G. P. Graham, Hon. Charles Murphy and Dr. Michael Clark, besides many local Liberals of prominence. Hon. MacKenzie King was chairman of the meeting. Sir Wilfrid said in part: "The object which brings us among you is to place before you, to submit to your judgment, and to your appreciation, and, as I hope, your approval, the policy of the Liberal party upon the now acute question of naval defence, and the course that we have followed through the present session of parliament.

"The government brought in the measure appropriating $35,000,000 to build three of the most powerful battleships which money could buy or science devise, and make not a present of them to the British government, but loan them for the time being to the imperial government—to the admiralty.

"This was done upon the assertion of the government that the naval forces of Great Britain at the present day are inadequate to meet the requirements of the situation. We challenged the government upon the position they took and they failed to substantiate their statements and we have taken the position which I am now presenting to you here.

"It is the part of Canada to come forward and take her share in the defence, that the boats built, so far as it may be done, by Canadian labor, equipped and maintained by Canadian sailors under the control of the Canadian government, of the Canadian parliament and of the Canadian people.

"I will give you here tonight, you citizens of the province of Ontario, do you believe that England is no longer England, and that she cannot fight her own battles, as she has done for so many centuries in the past? "I do not believe such a statement as that. The evidence has not come to us, for the simple reason that the first lot of the admiralty has on more than one occasion said that England learns nothing, and let the enemy come whenever he please he will find the British navy equal to any emergency that may be placed upon it.

"I ask my friends of Conservative persuasion to let me tell you that this policy was adopted by the two parties in the house of commons. The motion was made by Mr. Foster, an amendment was suggested by me, a further amendment was suggested by Mr. Borden, which I accepted, and in this unanimous decision that the time had come, and that parliament was recommended the creation of a Canadian navy in close co-operation with the British admiralty.

"You know that Mr. Borden sacrificed to the Nationalists the principle of a Canadian navy at which one time he believed, and the Nationalists have since then believed, and this hybrid agreement which

Neuralgic Condition of the Nerves

The nerves must be restored before cure can possibly be effected. In many cases neuralgia is easily curable by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The patient is thin and bloodless and needs tonic treatment to form new, rich blood. The application of cloths rung from hot water will afford relief from the suffering, and the regular use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for a few weeks will completely overcome the neuralgic condition. Powerful drugs are to be avoided, because of their injurious effect in further weakening the nervous system. The Nerve Food cures by building up the feeble, wasted nerve cells, and for this reason is of lasting benefit.

MCGRAW'S REVIEW OF THE BIG LEAGUES

By JOHN J. MCGRAW Manager of the Champion Giants

(Continued from Monday.) The Washington Club is making a flashy showing, and I believe has a good chance to take the pennant. As I stated last week, it strikes me that the fight will finally be between the Athletics and Senators.

Hubby Jennings, who won three major league pennants in six years and finished longer than third once in this period, has let go by enough talent to make up a full-fledged all-star team.

Jeff Teague hung his hat in a Detroit locker for about ten days in 1909. The Ozark material in that year was pitching for an Arkansas State League team when that circuit blew up.

Neither Birdie Cree nor Jack Warhop ever wore Tiger uniforms, but they were the property of the Detroit Club in the winter of 1908-9. Both men had made fine records with Williamsport teams in the Tri-State League, and Jennings had picked them up.

In 1869, or forty-four years ago, the first professional ball team in the world, the famous Cincinnati Reds, which went through that entire season without losing game, had a pay roll of $9,000, as follows:

Harry Wright, captain ... $1,200 George Wright, shortstop ... 1,100

ONE OF MEN WHO FOUND BODIES OF SCOTT AND COMRADES IS NOW IN THE DOMINION

Captain Gram, a Norwegian Explorer, Tells of New Incident of the Antarctic Tragedy

Fort William, Ont., May 6.—On his way to attend the royal geographical society convention in London, Captain Trygve Gram passed through this city from the west yesterday. He was a member of the Scott expedition to the South Pole, and was one of the party which discovered the remains of the heroic commander and the others who perished on their return journey from the pole.

Capt. Gram denied that the loss of Captain Scott and his companions could be blamed on any of the members of the party.

The cause of the disaster, according to the Norwegian, can be laid only at the door of Dame Fortune, who, while apparently camping on the trail of Captain Amundsen, left the British party to the mercies of the elements and piled obstacle after obstacle in their way.

In speaking of the finding of the three bodies in their tent, Captain Gram said that Captain Scott, who was the last of the party to die, had wrapped Wilson and Bower up in their sleeping bags and both of them looked just as they had in life.

The young trout are now an inch and a half long. They must be fed every two hours. Fortunately the trout are not fed from bottles, but on liver, of which forty pounds to the feeding are required. The liver is ground up fine and makes a toothsome morsel for them.

Last fall drew one another the hatchery is kept dark at all times so the white fins on their backs are not visible.

REV. P. J. STACKHOUSE IN THE CITY TODAY

Speaks of Church and Community Work in Amherst

Rev. P. J. Stackhouse of the First Baptist church, Amherst, is in the city today. Mr. Stackhouse was one of the leading promoters, and is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of community work in the Nova Scotia town. He says that the pastors of all the churches work together in the most brotherly spirit to promote the work, which is under the direct supervision of John Bradford.

The Baptist church, of which Mr. Stackhouse is pastor, is one of the largest, if not the largest, east of Toronto. He has about 600 families on his calling list. Mr. Stackhouse was one of the leading promoters of the church in his work. The age of the church may be inferred from the fact that the father of Sir Charles C. Duggan was its pastor for twenty-five years. When Sir Charles was in Amherst on a recent Sunday he attended service in the church.

Mr. Stackhouse says that they are not troubled by having too many churches in Amherst, for all of them have full congregations. Each of them rejoices in the prosperity of the others, and all of them unite heartily in community work. Mr. Stackhouse was much grieved to learn of the destruction of the Baptist church, parsonage, and the residence of the Rev. Mr. Stackhouse. He preached in that church two weeks ago, and says that they had a most valuable plant, and he would judge that not more than half the loss was covered by insurance.

Rev. Mr. Stackhouse, referring to the decision of the Amherst School Board to provide in the plans for new school houses the facilities for community work, referred especially to medical inspection in the schools, and expressed surprise that there is still no such inspection in the schools of St. John. He said they found in Amherst that many children, because of some physical defect, such as adenoids, deafness or weak sight, were two or three grades behind, and their condition immediately improved when they receive proper treatment. They were stupid and did not know the cause, until it had been discovered by medical inspection and removed.

MR. HAYES GETS GOOD ONE

St. John Horseman Buys Trotting Stallion C. R. Wilkes

Local followers of the turf will be interested to learn of Thomas Hayes' purchase of the fast black trotting stallion, C. R. Wilkes, by Gambusia Wilkes, sire of Guineas, 2:05 3/4; The Duchess, 2:05 3/4; Credette, 2:05 3/4; Lottie Lorraine, 2:05 3/4; Nancy H., 2:06 3/4; Cabela, 2:06 3/4; Elyndel, 2:07 3/4; Fret Card, 2:07, and many others in the 2:30 class.

He is sire of the dams of Endora, 2:05 3/4; and Frank Wilson, 2:06 3/4, and grand sire of the sensational pacer, The Bel, 2:01 3/4; Gambog, 2:03 3/4; Besse Leah, 2:08 3/4; and others in the 2:30 list.

His dam was by Gold King, 17:85, a grandson of Almont. His second dam was by Ambassador, grandson of the renowned George Wilkes, which gives him a double Wilkes' cross.

He is a handsome horse, coal black, 15 1/2 hands high, and weighs 1250 pounds. He has the best of feet and legs. He was bred by E. W. 1218 of Somerset, Ky., and it is understood Mr. Hayes paid a pretty high price for him.

He will be taken to his owner's farm on the Marsh road and later will be got ready for the fall races, making his first start at the Fredericton exhibition in September.

MAROON AND WHITE FOR MARATHONS' UNIFORMS

The Marathons will appear on the diamond this year not only clad in new uniforms but in uniforms of a color new to the team. An order has been placed for outfits of maroon and white, the body being of the former color and the trimmings being white. The design is a very neat and each uniform will have "Marathons" across the front. The locals will be the only team wearing this colored suit. It is expected that Fredericton will have grey, Calais, Stephen navy blue and Bangor a distinctive color of its own.

John Graham, charged with encumbering Erin street with a sleigh, explained that he was hired to clean the premises and had pulled the sleigh out and that the owner was to come and take it away. The matter was allowed to stand. In the case of Alexander Jardine and Rupert Rive, reported for having the yard back of the Ottawa Hotel in a dirty condition, Mr. Rive said that men were now at work cleaning the place up and the case was allowed to go over for a week to give the owners a chance to have the work finished.

You Cannot Tell a Young Man What Kind of a Suit He Wants

Apart from that, it is a Clothier's business not to dictate to a young man as to the suit he should buy, but to sell him just the suit he wants to buy at the lowest price for which it can be sold.

We are always ready and willing to help our young men friends by advice and suggestion, if they want to be helped, but we are building up a very large young men's specialty clothing business upon the patronage of young men who do not need to be told what's what in fashions or fabrics. And it is because they know the fashions that they know where to find them.

We were never better prepared to satisfy them than we are now. The new stocks of Spring and Summer Suits for young men make a really fine exhibition of fashions and the tailoring art.

Norfolk Suits are especially plentiful in the collection, all of them with the true hall-mark of individual character combined with jaunty and vigor. In one, two and three-button Sack Suits, the selection is all embracing, as regards colors, fabrics and style features.
