REPORTS FROM THE WAR DIFFER

One Intimates That Turkish Fleet Is Destroyed

ANOTHER SAYS NO

Landing at Tripoli Believed to Have Been Effectual—Russia and Japan Neutral—Mahomedans Appeal to Britain to Intervene

(Canadian Press) Paris, Oct. 2.—The Agency Française at midnight sent out the following Rome despatch, dated Oct. 1:—

"A telegram from Constantinople to the Tribune says that all the consuls at the Dardanelles have telegraphed that a naval battle is going on in the straits. Reports of guns are heard as far as the Bosphorus."

At 12.30 o'clock this morning, the same agency gave out a Rome despatch dated Oct. 2, saying: "News of the destruction of the Turkish fleet seems to be confirmed."

This is different Constantinople, Oct. 2.—The safe arrival of the Turkish fleet in the Dardanelles is confirmed. The commander reports that he managed to circumvent the Italian squadron. The British officers on the Turkish warships are being disembarked. Admiral Williams, who is reorganizing the Ottoman navy, has informed the minister of marine that owing to the state of war, he is unable to continue his duties.

The German Emperor's promise to the Sultan to renew his efforts at intervention is learned, is qualified by the condition of "circumstances permitting."

London, Oct. 2.—A despatch to the Times from Malta, says that the report that no landing has occurred at Tripoli seems to be trustworthy.

A Constantinople despatch to the Times says it is reported that the Italians have landed 1800 men at Prevesa, after bombarding the forts, and have seized the promontory on which the forts are built. The Turkish garrison retired to avoid re-entrance from Janina, which, it is believed, have now arrived.

The Italian attack, says the despatch, probably had as its object the destruction of a possible base for torpedo boat attacks on the Italian line of communications from Tripoli.

The Daily Mail's Constantinople correspondent asserts the Kiamil Pasha will decline to enter the ministry, knowing that the committee of the union of progress will oppose him. The new ministers sat in council all night long. A secret navy commission has been formed.

Refugees on British Steamer Malta, Oct. 2.—A scene of considerable confusion occurred at the quarantine station here a little after midnight when the British steamer Castlegarth entered the harbor in the height of a severe gale crowded with 1300 Maltese refugees from Tripoli. The 1300 passengers were huddled on the decks clamoring to get to land after three days with an insufficient supply of food and water. Although there had been no casualties, practically all the refugees were faint from hunger and thirst.

(Special to Times) Fredericton, N. B., Oct. 2.—(Special to Times)—Two boys named Goodie, aged ten and twelve years, have acknowledged burning the stable and garage at F. B. Edgecombe's summer camp at Kingsclear.

N. J. RAYMOND WRITES OF PRINCE RUPERT CITY

An Article of Interest From the Pen of Former Member of the St. John Daily Telegraph's Staff

The following interesting article published in the British Columbia Magazine or August is from the pen of William Wainwright, second vice-president of the Grand Trunk Railway who it is announced is to be relieved of the heavier duties of this position on the 15th of the month.

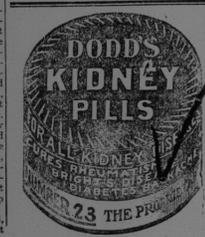

Five years ago the townsite was unbroken forest. The waters of Tuck's Inlet were seen to reflect on it all. Prince Rupert being built on more hills than Rome ever dared think of.

Princo Rupert today has barely commenced. Rough edges and raw corners the city has in abundance. Yet there is something in the nucleus of a real city.

Within the next year or so the establishment of industries will represent an outlay of millions. There are certain facts about the Grand Trunk Pacific terminus which appeal to business men everywhere.

There are five chartered banks, six hotels, and the city owns the light, telephone, water and sewerage systems.

Meanwhile, far back in mountain fastnesses by the Alberta border, an army of toilers labor mightily. They are piercing the backbone of the continent.

King George has selected Lord Durham to accompany him to India next month in the capacity of lord steward of the household in the place of the late Lord Chesterfield.

The earl is not precisely a courtier, although a particularly agreeable one. He is an uncompromising foe of everything that savors of sham, humbug or questionable expediency.

The Evening Chit-Chat By RUTH CAMERON

AND all the while their acquaintances look on in stupor, and ask each other with almost passionate emphasis, what so-and-so can see in that woman, or such-one in that man.

Molly, the little stonemason lady, had just read in the evening paper that Mr. So-and-so was going to marry Miss Such-and-she and had promptly justified Mr. Stevenson's description by exclaiming, with almost passionate emphasis, that she didn't see how such a nice man as he could possibly like that girl.

"Well, what kind of a girl do men like anyway?" asked the lady-who-knows-somebody.

"A girl with spirit," declared the want-to-be cynic, "a girl who is interested, alive and always ready for fun."

"A girl that is thoroughly silly," sniffed Molly, "and doesn't annoy men by pretending to know something."

"The girl with a pretty face or figure, no matter what else she has," contributed the author man's wife tartly.

"The girl who is always respectful to her father and mother, doesn't wear ultra clothes, likes to be outdoors and likes children," described the man-who-thinks.

"Seems to me," said the lady-who-knows-somebody, "that we got some pretty good suggestions about the kind of a man a woman likes, when Ruth asked her reader friends about it. Suppose we go over to ask them about this."

Will my reader friends please again consider themselves appealed to for their points of view.

Our symposium on the kind of a man a woman likes was most interesting. Let's have another on the kind of a woman a man likes.

Please remember, as close to a hundred words as possible, and please don't generalize too much. Think of the girl you like and tell us what qualities made you like her.

That's the kind of thing that really means something, to quote my beloved Stevenson just once more. "There is probably nothing rightly thought or rightly written on this matter of love that is not a piece of the person's experience."

GOOD NEWS FOR ST. JOHN

St. John rejoices today to learn that the contract will be awarded for the great works at Courtenay Bay, for which Norton Griffiths & Co., were the lowest tenderers.

The Halifax pastor who desires to withdraw from the presbytery because he believes there are heretics in it is a survival of a type that is passing away.

Russia is determined to have a formidable navy. A St. Petersburg cable states that the naval estimates for 1912 provide for an expenditure of $82,108,078, an increase of $27,979,778 over 1911.

Sir Hibbert Tupper is mentioned as the high commissioner. But Lord Strathcona will remain at his post for some time longer.

Progressive Moncton hopes to have its street railway open by the end of November. The next few years will witness great growth in Moncton, as a result of the introduction of natural gas for heat, light and power purposes.

The news concerning the war between Italy and Turkey is so conflicting that it is impossible to get a clear knowledge of the conditions, or of what has been done, or what the attitude of the great powers is toward the combatants.

Canada's trade continues to expand at an enormous rate. An Ottawa despatch remarks that the Borden administration will take office with trade and revenue increasing at the most rapid rate in the history of Canada, and with the way paved for another huge surplus at the close of the fiscal year.

Strange as it may appear, there are office seekers in Ottawa itself. The two new members for that constituency have deemed it necessary to announce in the press that persons seeking government appointments must apply at an office they have opened at certain hours. They add that persons applying at their private residences, "will not be considered."

The Ottawa correspondent of a leading Conservative paper writes:—"It speaks well for the amenities of public life that there has always prevailed between Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Borden a friendly feeling. Strongest of opponents politically, personally they are friends. They live in the same part of the city and both being democrats, travel on the street cars, occasionally meeting in that way and having a chat on conventional subjects."

Speaking in hearty approval of Dr. Bathurst's declaration that private slaughter houses should be abolished and all killing done under proper inspection, the Montreal Star says:—"Wherever meat is killed for sale, the government or the local authorities should see that nothing is done to endanger the health of buyers. One of the first functions of all civilized governments should be to make it safe for busy people to purchase food in public markets and shops without worrying about the sanitary conditions which may have surrounded its production."

A Toronto letter to the Montreal Star states that the Tax Reform League, who stand for the removal of taxation from improvements, are making headway in Ontario, and adds:—"Legislators and other leaders of public opinion have been giving careful consideration to the views of the single taxers, so that it will not altogether be surprising to see at least a measure of assessment reform tried in this province, despite the fact that Sir James Whitney has hitherto treated any such bills introduced in the Ontario house as rank heresy, threatening the sacred rights of property."

France. "The Dutch barges go dropping down the river to Hansweert, and steer north behind the outlying barrier of islands, through canal and estuary, to find their way to Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Schiedam and Haarlem. Others are loading to fire slowly from the easterly arm of the Scheldt across Belgium and into the Rhine for Cologne, Mannheim, Duisburg and Strasburg. Others voyage to France, through the Oise and along the vale of the Meuse, past the rugged steeps and dark forests of Ardennes."

Antwerp was a great shipping port nearly four hundred years ago, but was desolated by wars, and as late as 1803 Napoleon found it "little better than a heap of ruins." Its greatness therefore, as Mr. Paine points out, "is not a matter of slow growth, but a renaissance, swift and brilliant."

There is a lesson in the growth of Antwerp for the dwellers in other ports which are so situated as to be able to attract to their wharves a share of the world's commerce. The people must first have faith in their port, and refuse to listen to the pessimists who tell them there is no hope of expansion. Then they must see to it that provision is made to handle the traffic with speed and economy, and with an eye to the growing demands of the future.

Referring to the prison farm in Guelph, a writer in the Toronto News says:—"The Gospel of the Second Chance is being preached at Guelph, not in words but in works, and the work there being done cannot but be fruitful in raising fallen members of society. The inmates are under no guard. They sleep in dormitories like hospital wards, each man in a single, comfortable bed, and live a life far removed from that with which one is used to associate prisoners. They are provided with good wholesome food and plenty of it, and although a necessary discipline is enforced no display of force is deemed necessary."

THE STATUE OF PARNELL IN DUBLIN

Memorial Complete at Cost of $15,000—Coal in Ireland—News of Green Isle in Letter to the Times

(Times' Special Correspondence)
Dublin, Sept. 23—The elaborate Parnell monument in Dublin, which has been in course of construction for a long time, at a cost of about $45,000, is now complete, and the unveiling will take place on October 1, when the ceremony will be performed by John Redmond, M.P. The memorial of the Irish leader consists of a bronze statue of heroic size—the work of the late St. Gaudens, the celebrated American sculptor—set on a pedestal at the foot of a great triangular shaft, whose tripod crown rises more than 60 feet above the ground.

Parnell is represented standing in oratorical attitude, with his left hand resting on a table. The inscription, an extract from one of Parnell's own speeches, reads as follows: "To Charles Stewart Parnell. 'No man has a right to fix a boundary to the march of a nation.'"

Coal in Ireland
The constant rumors about the discovery of coal in Ireland are about to materialize. A small party of financiers and mining experts have arrived in Dublin to promote a company for working of the Leinster coal area. The most prominent member is Price Williams, who has great experience of coal fields and has acted more than once as adviser on the subject to the British and dominion governments. Mr. Williams says that he has every hope that a new and most important industry can be established in this country.

The coal area is situated near Castlecomer in a plain bounded by Kilkenny, Maryborough and Carlow. There are several collieries already working in the district, but up to the present the only coal obtained has been anthracite. Sir Edward Dowling's report shows that the coal corresponds closely in specific gravity and burning power to the best Welsh steam coal. It is estimated that there are more than a hundred million tons of this coal in the field. The seams are only about two feet thick, which is of course a difficulty, but Mr. Williams believes that with the aid of new machinery they can be profitably worked. The coal rests on a solid bed of fire clay, such as under the name of ganister is used in the lining of the Bessemer steel furnace.

In the neighborhood also is found lignite of a kind used in making concrete. At present there is no railway within ten miles of the place, and the cost of carriage is prohibitive. The Great Southern & Western Railway Company possess parliamentary powers to build a line but up to the present no arrangement has been reached for its construction. Undoubtedly the coal is there, and with good management could be profitably worked.

An Election Case
Commissioner Price has delivered judgment in favor of the petitioners in the Ardertown Council election petition. The candidates at the election were Thos. Healy, who was returned, and St. John Henry Donovan. The petitioners alleged bribery, treating and undue influence, and asked that the election be declared void. A. M. Sullivan, K.C., was leading counsel for the petitioners, and T. M. Healy, K. C. M. P., for the respondent. The commissioner said that he believed Mr. Healy, the respondent, when he said that at the outset of his election he was on his guard, and he appeared to have been warned by Mr. Donovan. The respondent gave instructions to his agents, but he (the commissioner) held that the agents interpreted the instructions as got going to avoid breaking the law, but to avoid being found out.

After dealing with the evidence in detail, the commissioner said that he was satisfied that treating was going on by the roadside, but not for the purpose of affecting voters and accordingly he acquiesced in the giving of half a sovereign by Mr. Healy to the Ardert band, he believed that the money was given in return for the service of playing him into Ardert, but not for the purpose of influencing voters. With regard to the dance referred to several times in the evidence, he held that the corrupt practice which took place there was with the respondent's knowledge and consent.

The conduct of the petitioners on the rival candidates had been questioned by the respondent's counsel, and it had been suggested that they had no foundation for many of the charges and that they had sought to support them by evidence which they knew to be false, and alleged that those who brought the petition were motivated by personal venom. There was not the shadow of foundation for any of these charges. The persons who brought forward the petition did so for the purpose of fulfilling a public duty and for purifying the conduct of such elections. It would be well in the interests of public purity if the petition had that effect. The petitioners had succeeded in their main contention, and he would give the costs of the petition against the respondent, save the costs of the items in which evidence had been called. The cost of the holding of the court would be paid by the treasury and recovered from the ratepayers.

The effect of the judgment is that the respondent has been found guilty of treating by himself and his agents regarding the dance at Mr. Leary's house and drink supplied at Mrs. Lynch's house at O'Brien's.

Daily Hints For the Cook

SNOW CAKES.
Four tablespoonfuls of butter, half a pound of potato flour, a few drops of lemon extract, one teaspoonful of baking powder, two eggs and yolk of one egg. Beat the butter and sugar to a cream, add the eggs well beaten alternately with the flour; then beat for ten minutes, stir in the baking powder and the vanilla. Pour into a flat baking cake tin, which must be well buttered, dusted with sugar, then with flour; the mixture should cover the tin about half an inch thick. Bake in a moderate oven for half an hour, turn out, and when cold divide in finger lengths or fancy shapes. They may also be covered with frosting if liked.

COFFEE CAKE FROM BREAD DOUGH
Set apart two cups of dough which has been kneaded and is ready to be moulded into loaves. Work into it a beaten egg, one-half cupful of sugar and one small tablespoonful of shortening. Knead and beat with the hand until you have a light soft dough. Put into a shallow cake tin to rise. When it is light, spread with melted butter and sprinkle with fine mixture of sugar; a tablespoonful of butter. Rub these together until they crumble between your fingers. Sprinkle upon the cake and strew again with granulated sugar, or pulverized, if you prefer, and ground cinnamon. Bake in a moderate oven.

ACQUIT INVENTOR OF CHARGE OF DEFAUDING

Man Who Has Machine "To See Round the World" Has But Child's Conception of Business Affairs

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 30—Philippe Vignoli, inventor of a machine "to see around the world," has been acquitted by a jury in the criminal department of the Spokane county court of the charge of defrauding Antonio Scarpelli, a local contractor, of $2,300, the amount advanced to perfect the apparatus. He declared that America will not have the opportunity of seeing his contrivance in operation. He has decided to give the honor to Italy, for which country he will leave in a few days.

Vignoli's defense was that the instrument is based on correct mechanical theories, and he had several experts testify in his behalf. He said also that the machine would have been completed and in successful operation had not Scarpelli interfered with the work by causing his arrest in Los Angeles. Deputy Prosecuting Attorney McWilliams said after the hearing that the charge never would have been preferred against the inventor if it had been known he has only a child's conception of business affairs.

FINDS TRACE OF AWFUL TRAFFIC IN CHILDREN

Sister Employed to Look After Waifs Comes Upon Work of Evil Organization

Berlin, Oct. 12—A sensation has been caused here by a statement made by Sister Harriette Arendt, until recently employed by the Stuttgart police in looking after waifs and strays. She has been for some months in Berlin investigating and now declares that she has come on traces of a well-organized traffic in children, who are sold abroad at prices ranging from $75 to $250.

These children, it is alleged, are sent in large numbers notably to Paris foundling hospitals, where they are supported for some time by the French nation and then sold for various immoral purposes.

Sister Arendt has discovered people in Berlin whose business it is to accept the care of children for these purposes. She complains that although she has made repeated representations to the police she has received no assistance from that quarter.

The matter has now been taken up by various societies interested in the protection of children, and the sister's accusations will be carefully investigated.

"Tell me," cried the young man, straining her to his breast, "why do you call your little brother Time?" "Because," she replied, as she freed herself from his embrace and looked beneath the sofa, "because Time will tell."

DECLARE NO DANGER OF INDIAN PLAGUE OR FAMINE EXISTS.
Preparations for the Imperial Durbar go on Apace—The Matter of the King's Visit

TAKE ANOTHER'S PLACE IN JAIL IF MADE WORTH WHILE.
A New Way of Making a Living is Disclosed in Letter in London Court

Simla, Oct. 1.—Naturally enough, the interest and attention of India have been centred on the imperial durbar for months, and only within the last few days has the dark cloud overshadowing the international situation rivalled it as a universal topic. It is not in the least that India is scared or even excited; the huge machinery of administration grinds out its tale of work as steadily and as efficiently as ever. Germany herself offers no parallel to the magnificent, yet minute, discipline and method of Indian government, which, though often sneered at as bureaucratic, is a living organism to a certain advantage that bureaucracy enjoys in times of crisis. Preparations for the durbar proceed methodically breaking a plate-glass window, electric lighting, drainage—all, that is, that composes the skeleton of the gigantic encampment—far advanced and ready in many cases completed. The huge outer circle of the durbar auditorium, more like the edge of a crater, or the 3,000-foot lengths of the Brooklands racing track than a theatre for the accommodation of human beings, is ready for some months. There is no case of plague within a radius of 200 miles round Delhi, and the rewards of fame is passing away; the fear of famine is passing away; the fear of plague has never existed for some months. Only northern Dakh, in the United Provinces, and scattered districts of the Punjab, Rajputana, and Kathiawar still largely need rain, and the reserve stocks are ample under modern conditions of railway transport. Moreover, it is fair to remember that in the territories of the native chiefs, where, if anywhere, the pinch might be felt, nothing could provide such a stimulus for philanthropic exertion as the presence of the king-emperor in India.

Of course international complications may make it impossible, and serious industrial or political emergencies may render it inadvisable for the king to carry out his intention. With that India has nothing to do, and will accept the inevitable disappointment with resignation. But it is intended to insist that the words "Indian plague" and "Indian famine" should no longer be used in any discussion at home, about the proposed royal visit.

SEINE VERY LOW.
Incredible Fall From the Flood Height of Last Year—Very Little Rain

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY.
Through Service to Quebec and Montreal

Paris, Oct. 2.—Contrary to last year's freak, when the Seine threatened to engulf the city, the river has now gone down so low as to seem on the point of drying up. Will it come to this? When one looks at the plates recently affixed on the walls and the ends of the piers to mark the maximum level of last year's level of the water, the difference is almost incredible. The bed of the river can be seen even through the muddy water. The boats move along with apparent difficulty, their propellers churning in the mud. Wooden piles and bits of crumbled walls that once formed part of dams or preparatory works emerge out of the water.

STREET SCENE IN CHENG TU

Province of Szechuen in the Terrors of a Native Uprising of Serious Import.

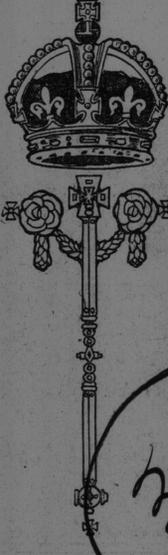

FLEEING TO THE CITIES

The above photographs are of American missionaries in China, especially in the outlying districts of Szechuen and Cheng Tu, who are in danger in consequence of the general unrest among the natives arising from the government's railroad policy. Rioting is of almost daily occurrence and the missionaries have been ordered by the viceroys to concentrate in the larger towns to escape from the infuriated mob. The disorders are of a political nature, and are due partly to Chinese opposition to the reigning Manchurian dynasty, but more particularly to the proposed railroad from Central China to West China, which is to be financed with money borrowed from foreign nations by the Chinese government.

Szechuen is a western province of China, bordering on Tibet. It has an area of more than 200,000 square miles. The region is mountainous, some of the ranges reaching a high elevation. The population is estimated at about 70,000,000, far exceeding that of any other Chinese province.

American missionaries are stationed in three districts of the province. At Cheng Tu, the capital, missionaries are maintained by the Mennonite General Conference of North America, and it is also the station of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Church of Canada.

Of the two outlying districts where American missionaries are working, Kia-ting is a station of the American Baptist Missionary Union, and also of the Canadian Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, while the Mennonite General Conference has missionary workers at Chung-shu.

The Prince of Wales

THE mere fact that a young man takes porridge for his breakfast is not especially significant.

But when the young man happens to be the future ruler of the British Empire, the fact becomes important.

H. R. H. The Prince of Wales has been reared with extreme care, that he may be fit in mind and body for extreme responsibilities.

His diet and exercise are guided and watched over by wise and great physicians. Regularly at breakfast he eats porridge.

Ask your doctor to tell you about the value of porridge to growing children.

Then make Tillson's Rolled Oats the daily breakfast food in your home.

REV. J. J. McCASKILL'S REPLY TO CRITICS

To the Editor of The Times,
Sir—The duties of religion are liable to become petty if we neglect the wide horizon. It is only by sending our eye through the task and viewing each particular duty as but a single feature of the great kingdom of righteousness, that we acquire the dignity of citizens of that kingdom. Many of our preachers have offered undiscriminating criticism of the clergyman in politics and it is difficult to forgive him for the crime of being a citizen. But those who criticize forget that the chief work of the prophet in the past was to alter the civic and national religion, and to make it more spiritual. They may call this presumption of me to cite the example of the prophet, but with a suspicious eagerness they tender the prophet's reward. With remarkable unanimity they offer the cup of hemlock and the poison chalice.

But the unanimity is more apparent than real. From a leading clergyman in the church comes a letter in which he says that the present attitude of the people towards the rights of the clergy in this matter creates a spirit of hypocrisy and cowardice. He continues: "If a man dare not give expression to his views on any subject he is a slave. So if your action never hesitated about giving them expression. I claim this right for myself and lay it to no one. I would not for a moment continue my connection with an ecclesiastical or other organization that denied that freedom. Emerson says that the man who aims to speak as books enable, as symbols use, as the fashion guides, and as interest commands, babies. Let him hush." Our preachers have builded for us a haven of freedom of opinion, so today we can breach our theory of church and government and society with no fear of Gavehouse and his dragons clattering down the rocks upon our conventicle in the plen, or of Alva and his troops holding us to the indignation.

I freely grant that ordinarily there is not enough difference between the policies of different parties in this country to justify positive action. Without a genuine issue of great importance in the matter of Canada expressed a passing opinion. When Cobden was fighting for an exactly similar issue in England, the repeal of the corn law, he was asked to subscribe to a fund for erecting ten new churches in Manchester. A part of his reply was: "Until this object be attained I shall be compelled to deny myself the satisfaction of contributing to other public undertakings of great importance in themselves, and secondary only to the first of all duties—the feeding of the hungry. It is for this reason that I am reluctantly obliged to decline to contribute to the fund for the building of ten new churches. My course is, I submit, in strict harmony with the example afforded me by the divine Author of Christianity, who preached upon the mountain and in the desert, he sought no other roof than the canopy of heaven, and who yet, we are told, was careful to feed the multitudes that flocked around him."

When the lords rejected the Liberal budget a few years ago, the Nonconformist pulpit in England was placed at the disposal of the party and many prominent clergymen took to the platform in the interest of the popular cause. The question at issue was similar. There it was a question of taxing a privileged class; here it was the question of remitting the taxes on the food of the people. In both cases the special interests were contending against what they feared would enlarge the freedom of the common people and assist the workman in the struggle for economic independence. We are not arguing the question at present, only stating the point of view from which we approach it.

"On many so-called 'moral' questions our church has interferred in politics, and in the past we have had a lobby at Ottawa for that purpose. Had this struggle to induce government to remove their hands from the avenue of trade in natural products been successful, it would mean more, even in moral and social results, for the people of our provinces than the ministrations of half a dozen Presbyteries for a generation. The clergy of the parts of Europe where the Schuller, Millich, and other co-operative banks have been introduced among the poor, confess that these agencies have done more to evangelize the people than all their toil. Where these banks appear hovels and mortgages disappear, the usurers leave the country, the tavern keepers fail. The defeat of greed and special interest on the lines proposed would also mean a distribution of well-being such as the country has never known."

NO ROOM FOR DOUBT.

(Answers.)

The afternoon was warm, holidays were approaching and the teacher was almost worn out in trying to drum the elements of grammar into the wooden craniums of her pupils.

"Now, Johnny, said she, 'tell me—would it be proper for you to say 'You can't learn me nothing' for a moment and then reply in a tone of conviction—'Yes, num.'"

"Why, Johnny?" she asked. "Tell me why."

"And now the answer came quick and—"

"'Cause you can't!" said Johnny, triumphantly.

MR. RUSSELL, ON STAND, GIVES MORE DETAILS

Montreal, Oct. 1—David Russell was again on the stand yesterday in his case against the Pinkertons.

Mr. Russell explained at some length his talk with McNamara when it was claimed the latter had promised if he would drop the suit against the Pinkertons he would secure a settlement of Russell's land suit against J. N. Greenhalgh's estate. Mr. Russell explained that this former suit was for a very large amount and had been settled at the Waldorf hotel, New York, by D. D. Mann. He said that this previous case was over the same business suit against Mr. Greenhalgh, so that when McNamara offered to get it settled he concluded it was worth looking into.

A good deal of examination followed regarding the alleged four bottles of "dope." Mr. Russell produced a copy of the prescription for the first bottle, which was initiated "T. G. R." This copy Mr. Russell said had been made at his request by Dr. Wesley, and that the initials stood for Dr. T. G. Rodick. Mr. Russell said he had this bottle. A copy of the other prescription was also produced with the same initials. Mr. Russell said three bottles had been made, but that they had been destroyed.

It was announced by Mr. Geoffrion that he intended later to call Mr. Russell himself as a witness for the defence.

Mr. Russell produced a copy of the hearing that for a considerable time two other judges accompanied Justice Archer on the bench, Justice Landry, of New Brunswick, and Justice Dunlop, of the superior court, while throughout the morning the court room was crowded, especially with lawyers who watched the battle of opposing counsel with professional interest.

TOWN OF AUSTIN IS SWEEPED BY FLOOD; HUNDREDS DIE

Great Dam Burst and Wall of Fearful Disaster

Austin, Pa., Oct. 1—Three hundred or more persons met their deaths through the bursting of a dam above this town yesterday. Fire followed and completed the work of destruction.

The flood did not spend its force until it raced for more than ten miles from the reservoir. Wharton, still further on, suffered somewhat, but is practically intact. The loss of life at Costello, where the residents had more warning, is believed to be but three. Property loss in the valley is estimated at upwards of $600,000.

In Austin out of the hundreds directly enveloped in the deluge, hardly a dozen survive. The furious flood let loose when the Hayles Paper & Pulp Company's dam crumbled yesterday afternoon, picked up a huge battery of heavy timbers in the mill yards at the foot of the dam, and with these thousands of planks and logs, rammed its path with terrible havoc.

The immediate scene of the obliteration of Austin covers an area three-eighths of a mile wide and one and three-quarter miles long. This comprised the business section and the valley residence portion.

Credit for the quick spreading of the alarm was given to Lenn Binney, a telephone operator. Upon receiving the message from the Cliff House that the dam had broken, he pushed the alarm button connecting with the fire department and the engineer's office of the Goodwyer lumber mill below the town. The engineer tied his whistle down and the fire bell in the town.

BOMBARDMENT OF PREVEZA HAS BEEN CONFIRMED

Sunday Cables, However, Say it is Doubtful if Italians Have Taken Tripoli

Constantinople, Oct. 1—It is officially confirmed that the Italian squadron has bombarded Preveza, but the landing of Italian forces there is denied. It is announced from Jannina that two Italian warships yesterday bombarded the port of Reschade, and torpedo boats lying in that harbor, one of which was damaged and landed its crew.

The Italian ships entered the port and shelled the town, several houses being struck. After taking soundings they left and later entered Port Muralto, taking the captain of the port and three battalions of the Red Sea, the Mediterranean, and the Adriatic. The Italian workers in the administrative factories have been diminished. The Italians employed on the construction of railways in Asia Minor are abandoning work and leaving the country.

Malta, Oct. 1—The British battleships Duncan, Cornwallis, Russell, Triumph and Swiftsure and the cruisers Bacchante, Aboukir and Lancaster arrived here today.

London, Oct. 1—Out of a perfect mass of conflicting reports and rumors it is utterly impossible at the present stage to sift the grains of truth concerning the opening days of the Turko-Italian war. It appears even doubtful whether there has been any actual occupation of Tripoli, and it is generally certain that there has been no bombardment by the Italian warships.

The Tripoli cable is closely sealed, so that it is impossible for the world to know what is going on there. The Italian government, clearly is not in a hurry, and the most significant news of the day is the decision of the Turkish council again to appeal to the powers and in the meantime suspend offensive measures.

Constantinople, Oct. 1—An official announcement is made that the Turkish squadron returned from Beirut without loss.

ST. PETER'S Y. M. A.

Plans for an active and very interesting season are being made by the members of the St. Peter's Young Men's Association, of North End, for the coming year. Reorganization for the winter months has already taken place, the election of officers has been made, and preparations for the programme in the athletic, educational and social field are well under way. It is planned to open the bowling alleys in the big gymnasium about the middle of the present month, and several teams are now being organized for the formation of an inter-society league.

It is probable that those competing will be composed of the following: C. M. B. A., H. and Knights of Columbus, St. Michael's, Holy Trinity and St. Peter's, and a meeting of representatives will soon be called to complete arrangements.

The newly elected officers are as follows:

President, Jas. B. Dever.

KIDNEY PAINS IN THE BACK

Could Not Stand or Even Turn in Bed—Legs Greatly Swollen—All Doctor's Medicine Failed—Cured Effected by Use of DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Again this great medicine has triumphed over kidney disease of severe type. Mrs. W. A. ... health and strength by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Kidney pains in the back, tortured her. Dropsical swellings had set in and she had no reason to hope for even relieve her. Read what the husband says about this remarkable cure.

Mr. Thos. D. Walsh, Pictou, N. S., writes: "Two years ago my wife took to her bed after suffering for a long time from kidney pains in the back. She was not able to stand on her feet or even turn herself in bed. The doctor's medicine was no benefit whatever, that we could see. Sometimes her legs would swell considerably being cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, we purchased two boxes when these were used she was able to sit up. With three more boxes she was restored to health and doing her own housework."

"As for myself, I also found these pills of great benefit. I give this statement in order that others may obtain the same case from suffering as that experienced by my wife and myself."

FOLKS PAST FIFTY MUST USE CASCARETS

What Glasses Are to Weak Eyes, Cascarets Are to Weak Bowels—A 10-Cent Box Will Truly Amaze You

Most old people must turn to the bowels for relief, and they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural, but it is just as bad as a cold for old people to walk about. For age never so actively as youth. The muscles are less elastic and the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. On might as well refuse to wear weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle laxative. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as old age.

Age is not a time for harsh physical youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lax can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets and the cost only one cent per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

National Commission Meeting. Cincinnati, Sept. 30.—Owing to the uncertainty of the National League rate, as well as the length of time that still intervenes before the world series, the National Baseball Commission at a meeting here today deferred action upon a world series schedule and will meet next Thursday in New York to again take up the question. The committee adjourned after a four-hour session.

A number of findings were promulgated by the commission. J. Cobb, of Detroit, was fined $100 for participating in a game with a semi-professional team playing Sunday baseball. The team was the Suncoyals, of New York state.

Diamond Sparkles. Without Marquard, the crack southy in the very best condition, McGraw will have the time of his life winning the world's championship from the Athletics. Marquard has been batted out of the box in five of his last six starts.

Philadelphia hits all kinds of right-hand twirling fast and often. Good portside twirling on the other hand, seems to be the death of the White Elephant.

With the American League champion, Connie Mack has already been up to rest for the big tilt with the Giants.

Big Ed Walsh, the star spitball toser of the White Sox, won from Boston on Thursday. He out-pitched Collins and whelmin.

A Giant Pitcher. Spokane, Wash., Oct. 2.—Barney Joy, ho was secured from Boston as a result to the 1912 pitching staff of the Spokane team in the Northwestern League, as the distinction of being the first player imported for an organized club in the United States. Joy was hurrying up the latter in Honolulu, five years ago, when King of San Francisco sent a scout to be crossroads of the Pacific with the result that he was signed to play with the Seals. He was in good form during the first few months, but "peddled" toward the end of the season and was set adrift by the manager.

Two years afterward he showed his mettle and his second trial resulted in a sale to Boston. While with the Seals in San Francisco Joy had Charley Street, now with the Washington team, at the receiving end. Joy is a veritable giant and has remarkable speed and a lot of other things, including control. He will report or practice in Spokane early next spring. Manager Cobb has every confidence in the native-born Hawaiian and expects to get good service from him.

The bout was held before the Harry A. C. Think Burns Won. San Francisco, Sept. 30.—Frank Burns of Oakland, Calif., and Matty Baldwin of Boston, fought twenty rounds to a draw on Friday night. The fight was fast and alwin was considerably battered up. The season was not popular, the majority of spectators expressing the opinion that should have gone to Burns.

MISS STOKES 2:08 1/4

W. E. D. Stokes says that he received the equivalent of $25,000 for the three-year-old trotter Miss Stokes, 2:08 1/4 sold by him last week to George G. Moore, of Detroit. The Waverline, 2:14, was taken in part payment at a valuation of $12,000. Mr. Moore undertaking to give him a record of 2:10 or better this season before delivery.

A lesson of sacrifice and stoic fortitude that should be long remembered. It tells a sad and subtle tale of an Indian's loyalty and gratitude. "Talk about 'talking pictures.' This is eloquent," says the critic. "The actors are worked in upon the brain in such exactness, perfection and reality that you will almost think you hear the voices." The balance of the programme is made up of three other pictures and an illustrated story by Ralph Fischer.

Hockey. The Halifax Herald sporting writer says that there will be a six team professional hockey league in the province during next winter. The teams, he says, will probably be from Fredericton, St. John, New Glasgow, Moncton, Truro and Halifax.

AMUSEMENTS IN ST. JOHN; WHAT THE PLAYHOUSES OFFER THE OPERA HOUSE. That nothing can be done in praise of the Kinemacolor pictures which will be shown at the Opera House tonight and for four days, matinee and evening, was shown to a party of newspaper men and a few others when the reels were run off last evening so that all would be in smooth order for the opening presentation this evening. It is not too much to say that they have not been approached by any other show here. They stand out in contrast to motion pictures as we have known them in that they give the scenes not only in action but in the color of the actual picture reproduced. The coronation scenes are gorgeous. The scientific times of the soldiers, the golden trimmings of uniforms, the many colors in the dresses of the ladies, even the differing shades of color of the cavalry horses, all are there and make one easily forget that he is looking at pictures and believe that he is watching the actual scenes. The coronation scenes show review of troops by King George and the Kaiser, the procession through the London streets, peers and princesses in their

SOUGHT TOMB OF SOLOMON AND DAVID

In Explanation of "Violation of Mosque of Omar" Announcement of Important Discoveries is Made

London, Oct. 1.—Early in May last great excitement was created in Turkey and throughout the Mahomedan world by a rumor that the Mosque of Omar had been violated. A party of English archaeologists, it was said, had entered the sacred precincts in search of the remains of Solomon and the Ark of the Covenant, the Tablets of the Law, the treasure worth a hundred millions of pounds Turkish, or whatever else the flamboyant imagination of the Orient might suggest.

The leader of the party explained on May 8 what its real objects were. He and his friends were looking for the tombs of David and Solomon; and they had in connection with that search, cleared out and carefully investigated the so-called Virgin's Well and the tunnel that runs from it to the Pool of Siloam. They had also definitely ascertained the site of David's Jerusalem, and of the Jebelste city, which predated it, and obtained evidence of Jebusite occupation for 2,000 years before David's conquest.

A fuller account of the objects, methods, and results of the explorers was entrusted to a well-known member of the "Ecole Biblique et Archeologique" in Jerusalem, and will be published by Horace Cox on October 14, simultaneously with an English, slightly abridged translation. Meanwhile a shorter version of this account has just been published.

The translator's preface states that in June, 1880, there was accidentally discovered an ancient inscription cut upon the rocky wall of the ancient conduit, or subterranean passage, which had been cut through the southern spur of the hill on which the Mosque of Omar stands, in order to bring water from the Virgin's Well on the eastern side of Jerusalem to the Pool of Siloam on the south.

The underground Jerusalem has been as yet but little explored; and if we may find a record of the kind in a spot which is easily accessible, and has been not infrequently visited, what discoveries may we not expect to make hereafter, when the temple area can be thoroughly investigated and the subterranean watercourses of the capital of the Jewish monarchy laid open to view?

It is with the discovery of some of the important details of these subterranean works that the forthcoming pamphlet will chiefly deal.

The explorers rather erred on the side of superstitious caution than of reckless zeal. The true secret of the Hill of Ophrah has never yet so nearly been revealed as by the expedition whose work down to April 15, 1911, has been described in the pamphlet.

The pamphlet goes on to describe the construction known as the Virgin's Well, and the maze of tunnels and chambers connected with it. The debris found occurred in two distinct layers. Above, the debris was clearly of a later date than its pottery mingled with Hellenistic ware, and even with some of the glazed red pottery called Samian. Beneath there was blackish mud and the rough fragments of a thick earthenware with sides or uneven thickness, its paste relatively homogeneous, but cruelly worked in coarse clay, red or yellowish in tint, sometimes dry, friable, and uniform in color, with a kind of glass on the concave walls to mark the inside of the vessel, sometimes showing the characteristic of a red slip.

A few fragments of handles or of patterned vessels were also seen. The fragments of the latter are of great significance. Yet, slight as these fragments may be considered, they furnish a practically certain proof of Jewish origin. The pottery, perhaps, be attributed to Canaanitish potters, but not one can be dated as late as the ninth century before Christ.

A record was made last week for the number of cars run over Brookline bridge in an hour. According to an official count, 384 cars passed in sixty minutes.

ACCUSE GIRL OF BURGLARY Theft of $3,400—Little Footprints Gave Detective His Clue Geneva, Oct. 2.—A pretty girl of eighteen belonging to a family of good position in Geneva, has been arrested on a charge of burglary. The circumstances are of singular character. About three weeks ago the villa of an elderly bank clerk, M. Lemaire, was broken into between midnight and 2 a. m., and $3,000 in notes stolen from his bedroom. M. Lemaire had collected the money during the day for the bank, but owing to illness he was unable to reach the bank before it was closed, and therefore he took the money home. The police next morning were astonished at the smallness of the burglar's footprints. The rope attached to the window, too, was so slim that it would not bear the weight of an ordinary man. A detective came to the conclusion that the intruder was a woman, and, as the result of inquiries, has made the arrest reported. The girl, a distant relative of M. Lemaire, has spent more than $1,000 in expensive clothes and jewelry since the theft, and the remainder of the money has been recovered. She refuses to confess, and is in prison awaiting trial.

BURIED IN A GLACIER. A broken alpenstock bearing the carved name, "Dr. J. Bean, Baltimore," has, the Chronicle says, just been found by a Chamoniis guide in the ice of the Glacier des Bossons, which "flows" down direct from the summit of Mont Blanc to the Valley of Chamoniis. The find recalls the most terrible accident in Alpine history, when eleven climbers perished on the summit of the Great White mountain in violent snowstorms which lasted a week. In September, 1870, Rev. G. MacKinnon, of Glasgow, and two Americans, Dr. J. Bean, of Baltimore, and Mr. Randall (both elderly men with little experience of the Alps), set out from Chamoniis with eight guides and safely reached the summit in doubtful weather. Hardly had the descent commenced when the snowstorm started, and not one of the eleven climbers was seen again alive. A strong force of guides some days later found the bodies of five victims, including the clergyman and Dr. Bean, but the other six were never found, having most probably fallen into crevasses. It is now thought, owing to the discovery of the broken alpenstock, that the bodies of the six climbers, who have been buried in their tomb of ice for the last forty-one years, have reached the end of the glacier, which travels at the rate of about 200 feet a year, and are not far from the surface of the ice at the lip of Chamoniis valley.

IMPORTANT PROJECTS OF TRADE BOARD

Immigration Policy at Meeting Tomorrow—Monthly Gatherings May Take Form of Smokers at Keith's—New Election Plan.

Business of importance is to come before the quarterly meeting of the board of trade tomorrow afternoon, and there should be a large attendance of members. The president, T. H. Estabrook, and W. Frank Hatheway, M. P. P., will express their views relative to an immigration policy for New Brunswick. This is a very important question, concerning which action should be taken.

The board will also to nominate a member of the pilotage commission. The council will recommend a new method of selecting officers of the board, by which every member of the board will have an opportunity of voting at present those who attend the annual meeting elect the officers, and the absent members have no voice. There will also be discussion of a suggestion that the monthly meetings of the board be held in Keith's Assembly rooms, and take the form of a smoker, with an address at each by a prominent man who will discuss a commercial or civic subject. There are now about 400 members of the board of trade, and it is felt that all should be encouraged to take an active interest in its work, to advance by every means the interests of the city.

SANITARIUM FOR THE CITY AND COUNTY

Municipal Council to Be Asked to Provide Home for Advanced Cases of Tuberculosis—The Need of It

A matter of deep importance to St. John city and county as well as beyond these limits is to be brought before the county council at tomorrow afternoon's session. Two delegations will be heard urging upon the council the necessity for the establishment of an institution in which will be placed and cared for people suffering from tuberculosis in an advanced stage.

One delegation will be composed of three doctors members of the St. John Medical Association, and the other will comprise three members of the St. John Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis. Much importance is attached to the project that they will forward for the reason it is contended, that it is absolutely necessary in order to wage successfully the battle against the white plague, to isolate the advanced cases, and in this way put a check on the spread of infection. Moreover it will be told to the council that there is no such place at present for the care of these unfortunate, and the sufferers must remain in their homes where members of their families and others are in constant contact with the disease. The committees will not be without specific instances to recount in support of what they propose. A Times reporter was told today of several such cases in which nothing could be done to save the patient, and which had become centres of infection.

The delegations will ask the municipal council to provide an institution where advanced cases in the city and county can be cared for and it is felt that with St. John in the lead, the example will be followed by other municipalities. The city of Montreal is moving in the direction of a home for advanced cases of tuberculosis. At a meeting held last week, shocking conditions were shown to exist, and Lt.-Col. Burland stated that he looked forward to the time when the government and municipal authorities would appreciate to a greater degree their duty towards the community in regard to the stamping out of tuberculosis. There was a crying need in Montreal, he said, for a home for those who were in the grip of this disease. The Kind Edward Institute was doing all it could under the circumstances, but its work had, necessarily, its limitations.

DEATH BY ACCIDENT

George F. Beard, Formerly of St. John, is Fatally Hurt in Cambridge, Mass.

News of the death of George F. Beard came to his relatives here on Saturday. Mr. Beard was a former St. John boy, but had resided in Cambridge, Mass., for several years. He was employed in Baker's shoe works, and was operating on a circular saw when in some way a piece of plank flew back into his right side, breaking his ribs and puncturing his liver and lung.

He was taken to the Massachusetts General Hospital where he died from his injuries. He leaves his wife, mother and one brother in the States. Mrs. L. D. Allen and Mrs. Sawyer of St. Andrews street are aunts of the deceased.

GOLF

The men's foresomes against bogey, the contest on the local golf links on Saturday, brought out a good field, although the day was cold and a high wind prevailed. The match resulted in a tie between J. G. Harrison and L. V. Peters and Andrew Jack and Otto Naas, both pairs being five down to the Colonel.

The semi-finals in the Stetson cup will be played this week. Those now remaining in the contest are H. N. Stetson, J. T. Thomas, J. T. Hart, L. W. Peters and Dr. F. L. Kenney.

Making Clothing for the Man With Ideas

When a Suit is properly Custom-made it expresses all that is best in the wearer. That is the particular usefulness of that sort of Suit—that it can be made to express the ideas of the man who has it made for himself.

Oak Hall Custom-made Clothing is much better than the work of the average tailor; it has its share in the superiority of this store. And the Suit is never yours until it fits your satisfaction.
