Causes the Death of the Archbishop of Canterbury on Sunday.

He Was on a Visit to His Old Friend Hon. Mr. Gladstone at Hawarden.

Her Majesty's Message of Sympathy to the Bereaved Widow-The Funeral

London, Oct. 13.—The Archbishop of Canterbury was seized with apoplexy after the service commenced at Hawarden church Sunday morning. He was carried to the rectory, where he died at 11:30 o'clock. The Rev. Archibald Farrar, dean of Canterbury, received a telegram from Staphen Gladstone, the rector of Hawarden church, stating the Archbishop of Canterbury passed away peacefully and suddenly at 11:15 o'clock. He had attended the early communion. Dean Farrar, in preaching in the cathedral Sunday evening, referred to his forty-five years' intimacy with the deceased prelate.

The Archbishop of Canterbury arrived at Hawarden on Saturday evening, on his return from a visit in the north of Ireland. He appeared then to be in robust health, and expressed to Mrs. Gladstone his great gratification over his Irish tour. He arose early on Sunday, and attended the early communion with his wife and others. The weather was bitterly cold, and Mr. Gladstone did not cupied the Gladstone pew, near the Columbia.

Directly the service pegan, and while the rector, Rev. Stephen Gladstone, was reading the absolution, Archbishop Benwho was kneeling, was seen to witch in the arm for a few minutes, Gladstone, finding the Archbishop had had a dangerous seizure, cailed to the clerk and others, who carried him to the library. Doctors were hastily summoned. The stricken prelate was gasping painfully for breath. Apcations of ether and other means to duce artificial respiration were resort-Mr. Gladstone, the rector, who d left the church when the archbishop

Henry Gladstone whispered the news the rector, who announced the archbishop's death, the news causing a profound sensation among the worshippers in the church. The hymn, "Forever With the Lord," was sung and the death march was played, all present standing and showing themselves to be leeply affected Mrs. Gladstone conveyed the sad news to her husband, who was greatly shocked and distressed. Afterwards, remarkng on the event, Mr. Gladstone said: "He died like a soldier."

The official medical announcement of the death to the coroner stated it was due to apoplexy. The medical attendan's concur in the opinion that heart failure caused the death, but that was irectly due to the seizure.

Mrs. Benson was present at the time of her husband's death, and she afterwards went to Hawarden. The bells were tolled, and references were made to the death of the primate of all England in many of the churches in the kingdom Sunday night. The Queen has telegraphed to Mrs. senson, widow, as follows: "I am unned at the awful news and my heart bleeds for you, but my own sorrow is great, for I was so fond of the dear, kind, excellent archbishop. At the terrible loss to all my dear daughter joins ne in my expression of sympathy." Mr. Gladstone is well, but deeply saddened at the death of Dr. Benson, his old

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 13.-The judgment of the supreme court to-day in the case submitted to it as to the status of the provinces and the Dominion in inland and non-navigable waters is very much involved, but practically the decision is in favor of the provinces, except in so much as it confirms the judgment in the case of the Queen vs. Robertson in respect of non-navigable waters and extends the same rule of law to all navigable rivers and great lakes, the bodies of which are wholly in the province, the right of fishing therein being a publie common right subject to provincia; legislation. The Dominion is confined to the powers of conservancy and regu-lation of fisheries. The Dominion has power to enact the imposition of a general license upon all persons fishing, but such license cannot be restricted to any particular locality. He States His Views in a Long Letter to Samuel Bancroft Jr.

was received to-day from Ambassador Thos. F. Bayard by Samuel Bancroff, Jry of Every Evening, in which the views of Mr. Bayard regarding the present political crisis in the United States are given at length. The letter is as follows: London, Sept. 30th., 1896.—My dear Mr. Bancroft.—It seems scarcely possible that any one can be in doubt in relation to my personal opinion upon the very serious issue now placed be-fore our countrymen. The evils which surround us, and the perils which confront us are not grown in a night, nor do they come without warning. The dangers of disregarding sound financial principles have been distinctly before been told and reiterated. Looking over the last twenty-five years, as representative of Delaware in the United States senate, and as a citizen discussing else there public measures, I cannot discer any failure on my part to speak with absolute plainness in opposition to the acts of legislation and the financial and commercial policies which are respon-ible for the present perilous and dis-legislative flat to create values, and regardless of their intrinsic or commercial value, to invest one or other of the earth metals, with arbitrary power as money, and override and alter by legislative will or caprice the ratio of exchangeability of the metal regardless of the impairment of obligations or contracts, his answer should be that such a claim to power is not consistent with the government's limited powers as defined by our constitution, and contains the quintessence of tryanny, of dishonest absolutism, and is destructive of that moralty which is essential to the peace and stability of civilized society. In plain words, the proposition is to destroy the institution of property, and break down every legal defense for its protection. This one question, and its answer, sufficiently justifies the prompt and absolute refusal of a constitutional Democrat to support, in any degree, the minees of the Chicago convention (Messrs, Bryan and Sewall) and the preosterous claim of legislative power contained in their platform, under which he credit of the nation, the peace and order of society, would inevitably perish. On the other hand, we have the Republican organization, whose measures and leaders have steadily created dangers that threaten the country and made possible such a ticket, such propositions as were presented at Chicago. While compelled to recoil from the policy of compulsory purchase and coinage of silver as an unlmitted legal tender, they yet insistently propose to employ means to intensify the profound powers of public taxation, to prohibit commerce with other countries, thereby preventing reverue from coming into the public treasury, to lay on taxes which shall prevent the payment or collection of other taxes necessary for the support of la grippe and recognizing it as danger- the government. Those powers are to be exerted, directly and personally, upon each individual citizen over every tisement of Chamberlain's Cough Rem part of land or water within our boundedy and the many good recommenda- aries. Every constitutional Democrat can truly reply to such propositions that they are fraught with such gross iniquity between man and man as is inconsistent with public safety, because

Toronto, Oct. 13 .- The Globe says the terms of settlement of the school question will probably be made known within a week. It is pretty certain that it will meet with the approval of candid minded men familiar with the spirit of our constitution and the circumstances of the case. The whole country will welcome the immediate removal of the question from the federal arena. Mr. Watsen asked as to the object of the visit of the delegates, and they replied "school question." Philadelphia, Oct. 13.-The British steamer Evelyn, Capt. Their condition when rescued was a most pitiable one, and so faint had they become that it was necessary to tic lines to them to haul them aboard the ship. The particulars of the terrible sufferings of the men are meagre, as they are still too weak to go into details. The Lovise, in charge of Captain Anderson, left Mobile Aug. 17 for Rosario with a full cargo of lumber. She experienced hurricanes and was badly disabled. Her condition became so bad that all hands had to leave her in two small boats, and until the Evelyn hove in sight they had not seen a vessel for nine days. They could not have lasted another night. The council made an excellent selection last night when Dr. Fraser was appointed medical health officer for the city. It would have been difficult, from among the applicants, to have chosen one who would not have made an efficient officer, since they were all highly qualified members of the profession. ## SENATORIAL INDIFFERENCE.

The supplies barely missed not being passed by the senate. The incident is thus described by the Toronto World: The Upper House met on Saturday afternoon in order to keep step with the Commons in parliamentary work. When the house reassembled Sir Oliver Mowat announced that there was no prospect of the supply bill being sent up from the House of Commons until Monday, and suggested an adjournment until it seemed to dawn upon Sir Oliver's mund senate on Monday if the senators continued to leave for home as they had been doing, and at that time there were only eighteen senators in the house. He asked those present to give assurance that they would remain in sthe city. Several of the eighteen said they could not remain. This made things a little awkward and Sir Oliver asked those who could remain to stand up and only thirteen rose. Finally two more reluctantly rose. This did not seem to satisleader of the house, who remarked that this was sailing too close to the wind, as a quorum of the senate was fifteen senators, including the speaker. He made a strong appeal to all the senators present not to leave the city. It was most important that there should be no doubt about the senate | silv matter: having a quorum on Monday. If there was not the supply bill could not be passed, and most disastrous things would happen to the country.

The danger was fortun-tely averted. as a quorum remained un'il Monday and completed the business of the session by voting the estimates. The counsider to have been asked from parliatry, we suppose, has reason to rejoice ment last session. It is quite true, as that fifteen senators were found who Mr. Blair said in the house in answer had sufficient regard for duty to remain to Mr. McInnes, that no provision was at their posts until the last. It is, no doubt, the privilege of every senator to do as he pleases. Is he not appointed business of the house that it became for life and responsible only to himself? useless to present the subsidy resolu-

not absolved from further attendance that is the view that many of these at the Cedar Hill meeting, the first of antiquated legislators entertain of themselves, for if they had any higher conception of the responsibilities of their positions it would not have been necesserv for Sir Oliver Mowat to ask that at least fifteen out of eighty would remain until the close, so that the entire work of the session might not be wasted. ## MINING STOCK LIABILITY.

Dealing with the question of liability comments adds:

It is apparent from Judge Turner's opinion that if a mine were capitalized for $2,000,000, of which $1,500,000 in paid-up stock was transferred to the vendors for their property, and $500,000 was kept in the hands of the treasurer and did not go out of the company's possession until sold for development purposes, the purchasers of that class of treasury stock would be liable, in the event of the failure of the company, for the full par value of the stock, no matter at what discount it may have been sold by the company's officers. In effect therefore, if companies have been issuing stock of this sort directly from their treasury, the purchasers who buy it at 10 cents are liable for the remaining 90 cents under the laws of Washington, and presumably also under the laws of British Columbia. The most common method of avoiding the legal difficulty is, as Judge Turner points out, for the vendors, after being paid in fully paid-up stock for their claim to donate to the company, or to trustees, for development purposes, a portion of the stock they have acquired. Such stock, after it again reaches the treasury, is unquestionably non-assessable. What the Ontario investor wants to know is whether any of the companies floating treasury stock, so called, on the eastern market have lost sight of the distinction pointed out by Judge Turner, and have by failsued stock that could be assessed in the event of the company's failure. Judge McDougall, who as a director

Helbing was alleged to be indebted to Mrs. Fay, who succeeded in securing both her own and her brother's share of a legacy that was sent them from Germany, and the brother's share she applied toward paying herself the money claimed her brother had borrowed. Hebling's defense was that his sister had no money to loan him or anybody else, so he assigned his claim to the legacy to W. McFadden, and suit was commenced to recover it. An effort was being made to prove that Hebling could not have become indebted to his sister, as she claims, and John Gorman he had known her as a dissolute woman vithout means, when Mrs. Fay called or a weapon that she might shoot him. "You're a liar! You're a wretch! If I had a pistol I'd kill you," she shrieked as she stepped to the platform beside the justice and advanced toward the witness. Her attorney and some friends seized the woman before she got close enough to the frightened object of her vrath to do any violence and led her away from the court.

An Indian Killed and an Instructor Shot on the Blood Indian Reserve

Toronto, Oct. 15 .- A. M. Hoy, a prominent mining man, is on his way from England with a party of British capitalists, bound for the Rainy River district, with a view to investing heavily in gold mines. Commenting on this the World says: "A boom, and a big one at that, is in store for the new Western Ontario gold regions. Nothing evidences this more than the fact that British capitalists are turning their attention to justifiable homicide. Four citizens were this great field with a will."

Meeker, Colo., Oct. 15.-Yesterday three men entered the bank of Meeker, which is connected with the storeroom of J. W. Hughes & Co., who owns the bank. Two of the men held the store employes at bay, while the third went to the bank cashier's window, firing one shot. He ordered cashier to throw up his hands. The order was not quick-ly obeyed and the robber fired again, whereupon the cashier's hands went up. After gathering up all the money in sight, the robbers marched the cashier and store employes into the street with their hands uplifted. They then rushed out the back way with their booty. Citizens, attracted by the shots, had pretty well surrounded the building. Being armed, they opened fire on the robbers, two of whom, Charles Jones and Wm. Smith, were killed by the first volley. The third, George Harris, was shot through the lungs, dying in two hours. He was identified and gave the other names, which are believed to be fictitous.

George Rooney, clerk of the Meeker House, slipped into the bank, which is situated in the general mercantile store of J. W. Hagus, to make a deposit and stood talking to the assistant cashier, David Smith. As he turned to leave he felt a heavy hand on his shoulder and glancing up he looked into the muzzle of a revolver. The man with

New York, Oct. 14.-Capt. W. W. Green and six men, crew of the schoon-Del., who were picked up at sea from their dismasted and waterlogged vessel by the Morgan liner Elmar, were brought to this city to-day. The schooner left Brunswick, Ga., September 30, with a cargo of railroad ties for Elizabethport, N. J. On October 1, off Cape Roumaine, she met with a northerly gale. On Sunday three or four heavy seas washed aboard, starting the deck load and opening seams so that the vessel began to leak badly. The crew manned the pumps until the vessel filled and burst up the hatches. The hurricane struck the Reynolds broadside and she heeled over until the topmast touched the water. The crew scrambled over the bulwarks and hung there. The seas, running heavily, soon washed the masy and deck house away. Then the vessel righted, but the decks were ripped up the cabin was flooded, and all food, water, clothing and nautical instruments gone. The crew huddled aft, with no protection save a strip of canvas. All Sunday night they watched for help. Monday at 11 a.m. the Elmar hove in sight well to the southward and, sighting the wreck, took off the Reynolds'

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

Charles Rivers-Wilson's Reform Policy Criticized.

London, Oct. 14.-More than usual interest attached to the meeting of Grand Trunk shareholders to-day. The changes of policy by the new general manager, Mr. Hayes, particularly his favoritism for American railroad men, had excited much adverse comment and it was evident that Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson would be compelled to answer many inquiries why the reform policy had not been productive of more profit to owners of the road. The attendance was large. Sir Charles said it was charged that he was Americanizing the system, while, as a mater of fact, very few American officials, considering the large staff, had been appointed. Three important understakings by the company were in progress, viz., the grain elevator at Portland, Me., the new Niagara bridge works and the contract for the new car shops at London. They had been placed at very advantageous terms. Mr. Jeffreys spoke in condemnation of the dismissal of numerous servants of the company to make room for Ameri-

Mr. Barker, of Bristol, expressed his disappointment with the report, with the statement of accounts and with the chairman's speech. The policy of the old board, he said, had been indorsed by its successors, while the expenses had been increased. He moved the omission of the proposal to construct an elevator at Portland, Me., the actual cost of which, he alleged, would be double the amount estimated. Sir Charles Wilson replied that the elevator would recoup the company for its cost, and would be a valuable addition to the company's property. Mr. Barker's motion was only supported by three of the shareholders and was rejected. Vice-President Price, replying to the criticisms made by Mr. Barker, of Bristol, said that an assessment of the stockholders is impossible. The main difficulties of the company, he said, were due to the duplication of the line ! by the Canadian Pacific and the concurrent increase in fixed charges. The most encouraging feature was the very large proportion of the company's local

Mr. Foster Offers Some Peculiar Criticism at the Close of the Session.

The Hollowness of Opposition Pretentions Exposed by Minister Fielding.

Ottawa, Oct. 5.—In the house commons to-day Mr. Foster, on the third reading of the supply bill, said he felt it his duty to call attention to the financial situation. The estimates for 1895-96 amounted to $37,832,353, and for 1896-97 to $39,763,250. To the latter amount must be added the sum of $400,000 which would be required for the meeing of parliament next session, making a total of $40,163,259, or an increase of $2,330,906 over last year. The estimat- and then they had this form of reply ed expenditure on capital account last that they would have got the money year was $8,936,220, and for this year were it not for the obstruction pursued year was $3,936,220, and for this year $4,498,091, or an increase of $561,871 by the Liberal party in the house last rear was therefore $41,768,573, while the liberal party in the house last session. And so, when the hon, gentlemen opposite convey the impression for this year on consolidated and capital accounts it was $44,661,350, or an increase of $2,892,773 over last year. To the estimated expenditure for which the eyes of the country, we are compellthe government had provided there ed to look upon that as a statement would have to be added also the amount of the supplementary estimates, which will come down next session. Looking at the estimates in detail it would be found that the decreases were few and far between, while the increases were many. In all the principal controllable items there was a very large increase. The principle underlying these figures was that in its first year the Reform government started out with an estimated expenditure of $2,892,773 greater than the preceding year. While the estimates showed an expenditure of $44,600,000. the revenue at the most was not likely to exceed $37,000,000. He did not think that in the annals of parliamentary government a finance minister in normal times had ever faced parliament with a proposition of that kind. Mr. Fielding had not condescended to give the house any information as to the way | the printed sheets of the estimates were in which he proposed to make up the deficit. One would have thought that for the first year at any rate he would are going to ask for so much money, and have tried to have brought expenditures | we hope to get it. They said this has and revenues somewhat nearly on a ben provided for in the estima"es. par. Before the year was out it would Therefore, I am bound to assume that be necessary for the finance minister to these estimates which the hon. gentleborrow at least $10,000,000 to make himself square. It is rather an extraordinary thing for the hon, gentleman, especially at this stage of the session, to present the marvellous statement which he has given to the house to-day. Perhaps, sir, it is be cause the hon. gentleman (Mr. Foster) has the high honor of having within three successive years, rolled up deficits to the amount of $6,000,000, or very near it, that he thinks he ought to commence to prophecy what the deficit of his successor may be.

I do not think the country is going to be very much alarmed by comparisons between estimates. It may be necessary to compare estimates from time to time, but the practical common sense people of this country are much more concern ed in comparing actual expendntures that they are in comparing estimates. (Cheers.) They know well that the estimates which the hon. gentleman (Mr. Foster), has presented in the past have been a very clear indication of the actual expenditure of the country. Certainly, we take the estimates presented by him for the current fiscal year, we are forced to conclude that they were not inpare the expenditures of the two years. year before they will be deposed to government and the extravagant government of the past. When a discussion similar to this was up at an earlier stage of the session, I had to say that I carry out engagements entered into by

The hon. gentleman (Mr. Foster), swells the estimates to a degree that may be alarming to people who do not understand the question. He swells it to I do not know how many millions. He asked the people of Canada to believe that there must necessarily be this chormous deficit. He says that we only have a revenue of thirty-six and a half millions. As he, himself, placed on the table of the house at the close of last estimates for $38,300,000, chargeable to consolidated fund account, he certainly started out with the resolve of having a heavy deficite (Hear,

He states that we cannot have any tions to be correct, the honorable gen- of economy—understanding by economy have a deficit representing the difference between that amount and $38,308, 514 which were included in his main estimates. But do these main estimates of the honorable gentleman represent correctly the public expenditure that he anticipated? We know that the honorable gentleman, (Mr. Foster), did intend to have supplementary estimates, and we know that these supplementary estimates amounted to an enormous sum. mates amounted to an enormous sum. I will accept the statement that in some respects these supplementary estimates had not passed the council, but I am compelled to say that estimates for large public works either passed the council or were made by the ministers, and they were used by the representatives of the Conservative party throughtives of the Conservative party through-out the Dominion to do work in the election, and they were led to expect that they would have them. Throughout the length and breadth of Canada we had Conservative candidates declaring again and again with respect to any public work with which the people were interested that they had provided for these works and that the government would take the money for them in the supplementary estimates that they had never passed in council or elsewhere in any authoritative way, the estimates for the public works and which does not represent all the facts. If we are to accept that statement loyally as the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, then it is a statement which reflects most seriously on the Conservative candidates throughout the Dominion of Canada, because they made statements which must have been untrue and unfounded. Now, I am forced to ask the question:

Which hon, gentleman am I to regard as giving the truth of the matter? Is it the ex-minister of finance who seeks to convey the impression that there have never been such estimates, or the 200 odd Conservative candidates throughout the Dominion of Canada who told the people everywhere that there were estimates, and that they would have been brought down to parliament but for the time that was used in the obstruction that took place? In some cases shown to the audiences. They did not say we expect to get these grants, we men are so anxious to get rid of to-day referred to estimates which they had in-

What do we find? We find that the consolidated revenue amounting to $38,-308,548, and also supplementary estimates for the various departments chargeable to capital account. (Cheers.) When these hon. gentlemen tell us that they never intended to bring down these estimates, they only make that statement by discrediting their own friends throughout the length and breadth of the country-and ministers,

Now, the estimates brought down to parliament this session are of three classes: First, there is the blue book containing the main estimates. These are substantially the estimates of the hon. gentlemen opposite. When they differ at all they differ in the interest of economy, because the gross amount is were easier, and I could eat without sensibly less than the amount to which the hon. gentleman committed himself. Clearly, then, in a comparison between parties, he is as much responsible for these estimates as we are. come to the first supplementary estimates. What are they? public works of the country, a policy on which we can safely challenge the critiism of parliament and the verdict of the country. (Cheers.)

Sir Hibbert Tupper described it as a lame excuse to say these estimates were the estimates of the late government. Sir Charles Tupper followed in one of his denunciatory speeches, clothed in large, unmeasured language. Mr. Fielding had wholly failed to meet Mr. Foster's arguments. The estimates were an emphatic contradiction to Liberal professions. No attempt had been made to show how the difference between revenue and expenditure was to be got. He described the finance minister as impotent and his estimates as the grossest proof of extravagance ever presented to parliament. The credit of the country would suffer.

Mr. Davies was indignant at the hypor crisy of Sir Charles Tupper and his wild, reckless statements. He should look upon the financial situation with shame. He was unable to contradict the statement that nearly every dollar was for debts of the late government, debts which Sir Charles Tupper himself had pleased the government to pay. (Hear, hear.) The same trick was played last year as in 1878, when huge bequests of debt and deficit were left for the incoming government to pay. (Hear, hear.) If the government had to borrow $10,-000,000 this year as Mr. Foster predicts ed, then what possible responsibility would the new government have? Whe neurred the debts and obligations and labilities? It was the late government, and upon their shoulders lay the sole responsibility for every dollar. Mr. Foster had last year estimated for a deficit of nearly $2,000,000, and had already. without the knowledge or consent of parliament, ordered a million dollars worth of arms and made no provision at all for the deficit of three million dollars. The state of affairs was disgraceful, and for it the late government were alone responsible. (Cheers.)

Eighteen tortoiseshell combs, seven hand neckties, seven gold watches, nine clocks, seventeen valuable fans sixteen brooches, seven tortoise shell eyeglasses two plated toast racks marked "Hotel Cecil" and a large number of smaller articles of less value. During the reading of this list Mrs. Castle appeared to be upon the point of losing conscious ness. Frequently she ejaculated. "Oh dear," "Oh, dear," and finally closed her eyes and sank moaning feebly upon her husband's shoulders. Mr. Harris, Jeffs and Harris, furriers, Regent street, was the first witness called by the prosecution. He testified that Mr. and Mrs. Castle, accompanied by their son, 10 years old, who was arrested at the same time as his parents, but subsequently released, visited the store together upon three occasions. Mrs. Castle, he added. did most of the talking and the party separated while in the store, going to different counters. After the departure of the Castles, witness continued, some were missing and the suspicion of the sable boas and some chinchilla skins members of the firm were aroused.

Miss Edith Evans, saleswoman in the employ of Jeffs & Harris, was then called and confirmed the evidence furnished by Mr. Harris. Counsel for the treasury department at this stage of the proceedings made an attempt to prove that Mr. Castle was with his wife and son on each occasion, but after considerable legal fencing witnesses became so tangled up that they could not swear definitely whether Mr. Castle formed one of the party every time Mrs. Castle visited the store. The next witness called was Mr. T.

Cook, manufacturing furrier, of Great Portland street. He said in substance: The female prisoner came to my shop on Oct. 5th. She said she was sailing on the following Tuesday, and asked if I could make a sable cape in time for her to take it with her. I called at the Hotel Cecil later, as she said she had some sables for this cape, which I was to match. While at the Hotel Cecil she left the room and I examined a package of furs she had. I saw some well known marks and agreed to make the cape. Her husband came in about that time and gave his consent to the bargain. Detective Cunningham followed Mr.

Cook on the witness stand. The officer described the arrest of Mr. Castle, who, witness said, exclaimed: "Good God, there's some mistake. I will pay anything rather than have this charge pressed. I know nothing about it." Manager Field, of Charles D. Drobig furrier, was next examined. He told practically the same story as Mr. Harris, except that Mr. Field swore, under crossexamination, that the furs were in such Diseases Are Cutting off Thousands.

Paine's Celery Compound Makes Nervous People Well and

Health is the first and most important thing in this life of ours. Health is a blessing far beyond our computation, it is vastly more important than wealth or great social distinction.

One of the most dread troubles of the present day is nervousness. It is generally acknowledged that nervous diseases are growing alarmingly prevalent

The causes that led to Neurasthenia or weakness of the nerves, are many. Business cares, feverish haste after riches, social and household worries, sexual and alcoholic excesses all contribute to the breaking down and physical ruin of thousands of men and women.

In words of truth and soberness we set before the sick and afflicted the claims of Paine's Celery Compound as a quick relief and certain cure for all forms of nervous diseases. It is a perfect restorer of nerve force and power to the weakened and debilitated system. Prominent men and women, all over the country, have renewed their lives and kept their places in business and in society by using Paine's Celery Compound. In all large cities, where nerrous diseases are most frequently seen, the best physician's prescribe Paine's Celery Compound with immense suc-

The following letter from Mrs. Alfred Perry, Port Maitland, N.S., proves that Paine's Celery Compound has no equal for the cure of nervous diseases in whatever form they may present them-

"For two years my system was all run down, and I suffered more than I can describe from nervous prostration and insomnia; at times I almost lost my reason from severe pain at the base of the brain. My husband advised me to try Paine's Celery Compound, which I did, and the effects were wonderful. I soon began to sleep well, the pain left my head, my whole system was strengthened, and I am now enjoying very good health. "I would cheerfully recommend Paine's Celery Compound to any one suffering from like troubles. You have my best wishes for the future success of your excellent remedy." TRAIN HELD UP. Union Pacific Train Held Up Eight

A DETERMINED STAND.

Made by the Cuban Forces Under Gomez and Garcia.

Havana, Oct. 13 .- The Cuban forces in Eastern Cuba, under Gomez and Garcia, have taken the field, and meagre accounts have just been received of a determined siege by them lasting thirteen days, of Cascorris, in the eastern district of the province of Puerto Principe. The official report of this affair is just given out and is as follows: "The thirteen days' siege of Cascorris by the insurgents has been broken by General Castillanos. The troops taking part in these engagements numbered 5,-000, including 1,800 infantry, 3,000 cavalry and two pieces of artillery. The insurgents fired as many as 219 shells during the siege. On October 8 another engagements occurred, in which the insurgents were defeated after four hours' fighting, their loss being unknown, but it is presumed to be large. The troops in this engagement lost five killed and two chiefs, three officers and 51 privates

A Party Land in Eastern Cuba With Rifles and Ammunition,

New York, Oct. 13 .- A dispatch to the Herald from Gibara, Cuba, says: The Herald's correspondent in Baracoa reports the landing of a new filibustering expedition in Marivi, Eastern Cuba. It is understood that the party brought 1,000 rifles and a proportionate quantity of munitions. The men disembarked from a Haytian schooner between two Spanish forts, neither of which were a mile and a half away. The war material was all transported into the interior before any alarm was raised. Such is the state of suffering among the poorer classes in Baracoa that the local Spanish commandant is now permitting women and children to go through the government lines to beg food in rebel camps. More than 300

A MISSING LINK.

When Dr. Dubois of the Netherlands army set out for his station in the east, he little dreamed how important would be the result of his labors in unfolding to science one of the lost steps in life's progress. To understand more clearly the nature of this discovery, writes a contributor to Lippincotts, which is the greatest that the infant science of anthropology has ever made, a little explanation is necessary about the so-called "missing links." The life history of the earth, if we only knew all, would probably present unbroken chain of progress, beginning with simple, structureless protozoa and ending in man-linked, however, one to the other by the various intermediate forms of radites, mollusks, articulates, fishes, amphibians, reptiles, birds, and mammals; but the old earth has not yet yielded all her secrets, and the record we have is, therefore, a broken one, with here and there a missing step. For example, there is a wide and unfilled gap, in this life's scale, between articulates records end abruptly and inexplicably; for fishes, the oldest and the simplest, start off fully formed, without any vesand this is the link-humanity's missing link-which Dr. Dubois claims to have

The McCulloch Creek Tunnel Company, better known as the Last Chance, operating on McCulloch creek, have at last, after many years of labor and expenditure of money, struck pay, having a week ago Sunday got into rich gravel averaging 25 cents to the pan, and this is only on the rim. They have sunk a shaft 35 feet in bed rock and then ran a tunnel 62 feet in solid rock, cross-cutting the old channel of the creek and bringing them into pay. There has been already 159 feet of workings done on this placer, 62 feet of which was done in the old pioneer days, 30 years ago. Adjoining this is the North Star placer, about half a mile from the Last Chance workings, owned by George Laforme and Gus Lund, on which a tunnel of 750 feet runs right up the creek. The strike in the Last Chance makes it a certainty that this property will now prove a regular bonanza.

The No. 2 tunnel of the War Eagle has opened up a chute of ore over 300 feet in length and of an average width of not less than five feet. Tunnel No. 2 is 126 feet vertically below the level above, and owing to the dip of the vein the distance between two levels is about 140 feet. The two levels are connected by an upraise. In this one chute, therefore, there are over 20,000 tons of ore in sight above the No. 2 level of an average value of at least $55 per ton in gold. silver and copper, or considerably over $1,000,000. Besides this a large body of second class ore is blocked out in the west chute. The mine is now shipping at the rate of about 75 tons per day.

It has with its tributary territory contributed $50,000 to the provincial treasury already this year, and its contributions will range from $75,000 to $100,000 for the year 1896. Superintendent Long, of the St. Elmo, is much pleased with the showing in the tunnel he is driving through the Con. St. Elmo ground. The tunnel is now in 100 feet, and will have to be driven about 100 feet further before reaching the St. Elmo ground. The face of the tunnel is still in decomposed ore and vein matter, though some solid quartz with chunks of iron pyrites is beginning to appear. The whole mass is hardening perceptibly, and it is believed solid cre will be reached very soon. The assays are satisfactory, running as high as $13 in gold. The tunnel is being run on the foot wall. The width of the ledge is not yet exactly known, although it is not less than 18 feet. It is one of the largest showings ever seen in

be expected at almost any moment.

The shaft being run from the Josie shaft east on the vein came into Solid ore on Wednesday. The ore is of good shipping grade and is now being raised in considerable quantities by the new Josie hoist. The shaft, which is at the entrance of the west tunnel was down 90 feet when the drift was started and the drift had been run 40 feet when it struck the ore. The chute is a continuation of the one found in the tunnel above and from which a great deal of good ore has been taken. The finding of the chate all right nearly 100 feet lower down is another proof, if one were needed, of the permanency of the ore bodies of the camp. But the most interesting portion of the Josie mine continues to be in the east tunnel, where an ore chute has been opened up the extent of which has not even yet been determined. The chute is about 60 feet long. When it had run this distance, one of the so-called faults characteristic of the mines of this camp appeared and the ore was entirely cut off. Some ore was beginning to appear in the face of the tunnel Wednesday and it is prob able that the fault has been passed. The width of the ore back of the fault in the big chute has not yet been determined. The tunnel has been cut about ten feet wide, but this by no means represents the width of the ore body. Superintendent Long broke into what he believed to be the foot wall and found five feet of the highest grade ore in the whole chute. He continued on beyond this with a drill, running a hole six feet deep and he got $18 in gold from an assay of the drillings. This showed that tion last week and got an extension of ore exists there, but to what extent is time on the balance. The claim is looknot known. Marchant pointed out that he had cancelled an important business engagement in order to be present, that he did not think he could be present at the next regular meeting of the council, and that if the matter was to be postponed from time to time until a full council was present, the appointment might be delayed indefinitely. After some further discussion the council decided to vote, with the following result: Dr. R. L. Fraser..... 5 Dr. John A. Duncan.....

Dr. Ernest Crompton......1 Messrs. Drake, Jackson & Helmcken wrote again with reference to the drainage of the McTavish property. The communication was referred to the city solicitor and the engineer for report. G. Byrnes, chairman of the building committee of the Jubilee Hospital, wrote asking for another fire hydrant at that institution. The fire wardens will deal with the matter. C. T. W. Piper notified the council that he had built easy approaches at Point Ellice and that he would have a. steam ferry running ere the letter reached the council. Mr. Piper added that the mayor or any of the aldermen could ride free of charge. C. A. Holland, of the B.

Co., wrote as follows: Some few days since an account for $54 was rendered to us by the city water commissioner, showing the water rates in respect of the Adelphi Block to be some six months in arrears. Upon our objecting to pay forthwith, the water supply, by the instructions of the comer, was turned off from the building in question.

"We would respectfully point out that the commissioner's method of collecting or enforcing payment of rates is qualified to cause a great deal of annoyance and loss to innocent parties. If the commissioner had ultimately to look to property for the collection of arrearage should not allow the amount due to become so large that it is difficult or impossible for the property owner to collect from the tenant who has used the water and is properly liable. If again the property in question changed hands while rates are in arrears, it is unjust that the purchaser should be saddled with a liability which should have been borne by the vendor."

F. Elworthy, secretary of the board of trade, forwarded copies of the annual report, which were ordered to be acknowledged with thanks.

Ald. Humphrey moved the following resolution: "That whereas at a regular meeting of the council, held Oct. 5, 1896, the mayor ruled a motion of Ald. Partridge's out of order on the ground that the council had already decided by motion not to go on with the reservoir until the contractors had been settled with: and whereas at a special meeting of the council held Oct. 8, 1896, Ald. Partridge asked the mayor to point out the motion referred to, but failed to get the desired information; be it therefore resolved that in the opinion of this council the request of Ald. Partridge was just and fair, and that the mayor be requested to give the desired information.' Ald. Humphrey said that he considered Ald. Partridge and the council were entitled to know the mayor's authority for his ruling. Ald. Glover seconded the resolution. Mayor Beaven said that when he first saw the motion he considered it an aldermanic joke. He was at a loss to know what Ald. Humphrey wished him to infer. Was it that Ald. Partridge couldn't read the minutes. Practically the whole affair was a personal matter between Ald. Partridge and himself. If Ald. Partridge had studiously tried to make a motion out of order he could not have succeeded better. Before the meeting took place the mayor went out of his way to suggest that Ald. Partridge place his motion in order, but his advice was disregarded. At the meeting of the council referred to, the mayor had suggested a method of putting the resolution in order. Ald. Partridge had refused to accept this suggestion, and there was no other course left than to rule the whole motion out of order. The first part of the alderman's motion was order and could have been dealt with. Soon afterwards Ald. Partridge came to him and in a dictatorial manner asked him for his authority for his ruling. As he was very busy at the time, the alder man could not expect much attention. The necessary documents were open to the alderman, and he could have secured the desired information for himself. The whole thing was purely a personal mat-ter between himself and Ald. Partridge and did not concern the council nor the

Ald. Macmillan disagreed with the mayor in saying that it was a personal matter. When the ruling was given, Ald. Partridge asked for authority and the mayor failed to give it. It is the right of any alderman to know why a ution introduced by him should be ruled out of order. There is a deference which should be paid by the mayor to the aldermen as well as by the council to the mayor. Mayor Beaven reiterated that he had iven the authority. Any one acquainted with municipal matters could see that motion was out of order.

Ald. Macmillan believed he was slight acquainted with municipal matters but he could not see that the resolution was out of order unless it was gov some resolution previously erned by passed by the council. Mayor Beaven then stated that the esolution was out of order because it was unaccompanied by a warrant for the necessary to do the work. Ald. Partridge said that it was no per sonal matter. He had asked the mayor for information in a gentlemanly way and expected to receive it. All he wanted to know was the mayor's authority for Mayor Beaven-You asked me in a dic tatorial way. If you think you have the right to order me about, why enforce your orders. 'This is a very small matter anyway.

Ald. Marchant considered that the easier way to settle the difficulty was for the mayor to give the information asked for. He thought so at the last meeting and sent a note up to the mayor asking him to give Ald. Partridge the information. He would urge upon the mover of the resolution to withdraw it if the mayor would now give the information. It was more than a persona! matter. The council should have the right to receive the mayor's authority for overruling an important resolution Ald. Marchant agreed with the mayor that the whole resolution was out of order because there was no warrant. but when the mayor drew one out that was in order he left out the filter beds, the very thing Ald. Partridge was most anxious to deal with. The mayor then explained that this could not be included because the council had previously decided that nothing would be done to the filter beds until the contractors were settled with. Now Ald. Partridge has looked into the minutes and found that the only resolution introduced that suggested such a course was defeated. Ald. Partridge, therefore, was entitled to some explanation. Mayor Beaven explained that if he had complied with the request in Ald. Marchant's note it would have delayed Marchant's note it would like the concouncil would be better employed in dealing with public business.

The mayor was about to put the tion, but Ald. Humphrey pointed out that such a course was tantamount to saying that he refused to give the council the information asked for. The mayor had distinctly stated that Ald. Patrudge's motion was out of order be-cause the council had previously decided otherwise, but Ald. Partridge found that the previous resolution was defeated.

Mayor Beaven said the council had already decided upon a different course of action. The council had decided not to touch the work until taken out of the hands of the contractors. 46

Ald. Humphrey insisted upon the mayor showing where the council by resolution had decided upon such a course. The mayor wasted more time heating about the bush than he would by acknowledging he was in error or giving the information. The motion then carried unanimously.

The Point Ellice bridge bylaw was read a second time without discussion. and the council adjourned at 9:30 p.m.

DROPPED DEAD!

Suddenly Stricken Down by Heart Disease.

"A sad and sudden death occurred to well-known citizen on one of the leadng streets this morning."

Nearly every large city paper contains daily some such heading. The number of deaths from heart failure is very large, but it is only when they occur in some public and sensational manner that general attention is drawn to theru Palpitation and fluttering of the heart are common complaints. With the heart itself there is nothing radically wrong. But the system is disorganized, the kidneys and liver are out of order, and the stomach is not in condition to do its work properly. Between them all, they throw too much responsibility on the heart, and the latter is unable to stand the strain.

It was impracticable from the start, experience ed shipmasters say, to think of exhaust ing the water from the hold with ordinary ship pumps. It is conservatively estimated now that it will cost fully $50,-000 to get the Umatilla into condition to resume her place in the San Francisco nassenger route.

The Norwegian bark Prince Regent Capt. Stalhane, master, lumber laden from Hastings saw mill, and bound for Barrow, returned to Royal Roads in tow of the tug Lorne this afternoon. The Regent left Vancouver in tow of the tug Active. During the night the vessel struck something, but nothing was thought of the collision at the time. Captain Stalhane, however, discovered when twenty-five miles southward from Cape Flattery, that his vessel was leaking, and he decided to return. The Lorne picked the vessel up near the Cape and towed her to Royal Roads. The Prince Regent is not seriously damaged, the upper frame about two inches from the water mark being sprung. She can probably be repaired without discharging her cargo.

THE RING. IS CORBETT AFRAID.

San Francisco, Oct. 12.-The long expected letter from Corbett to Shar key's manager, Danny Lynch, has at last reached this city. It is dated two days later than on the day on which the National Athletic club put up $5,-900 to bind the Sharkey-Corbett match but Corbett says nothing about that. merely stating that he canont afford to neet Sharkey, as he must first attend to Fitzsimmons. The fact that Corbett will not pay any attention to the National club's offer of $10,000 for a tenround fight with Sharkey is generally deemed conclusive evidence that Corbett cannot again get in condition to meet the sailor boy. Highest of all in Leavening Power.-Latest U.S. Gov't Report

An Important Circular Letter Addressed to the People of British Columbia.

Outline of a Scheme to Provide a Railway from the Coast to Kootenay.

1.It is proposed to organize for the purpose of promoting the construction of a railway which shall afford a direct means of communication between the coast cities of British Columbia, the agricultural districts of the Fraser River camps, which shall be called "The People's Railway."

2. The object in view is the development of the richest agricultural and mineral sections in the province. 3. The people of the eastern portion of the Dominion, alive to the importance of railway connection with the Kootenay country, are using every means to induce the Dominion government to grant such assistance as will bring about the commencement and early completion of such a line. The proposal however, to construct a line of railway entering the province from the east of the Rocky Mountains and extending through the Crow's Nest Pass to the Kootenay, gives no hope for the development of the coast sections of our province; on the contrary the effect will be to divert the greater portion of the trade from British Columbia altogether to the cities of other provinces, and unless the construction of a line to the coast is made co-incident with the construction of a Crow's Nest road, it will be found very difficult to enlist the sympathy of the Dominion government in the scheme in future, or to recover our legitimate trade from channels into which it will have been diverted.

4. The construction of a Crow's Nest line alone and without a road to the seaboard means a loss to the coast portions of the province that can neve be recovered.

5. The route of the proposed coast railway will be from a point on the Gulf of Georgia to New Westminster and from Vancouver to a junction at New Westminster and thence easterly through the fertile municipalities lying between the Fraser river and the international boundary line to a pass through the Hope mountains, thence by way of the valleys of the Tulameen and Similkameen rivcamps en route) to a point near the Columbia river to be hereafter determined upon, connection to be made with Victor ria by railway ferry and with Nanaimo by steamer from Vancouver.

6. From any point beyond sixty miles east of New Westminster to that city, and to the cities of Victoria, Vancouver and Nanaimo, passenger and freight rates shall be the same.

7. On account of the present high rates and great distances to be travelled it is impossible for the merchants of the coast to carry on an extensive trade with the Kootenay centres; the time occupied in travelling from Rossland to the coast is two days and in the transfer of freight a much longer time in propor

8. By the proposed railway the journey from the Columbia river to the seaboard would easily be made in twelve hours and without change of cars, and at a greatly reduced fare. Daily freight trains would transport goods in one quarter of the time occupied to-day and at less than half the cost.

9. It is proposed to effect a junction at Rossland with the Corbin system and thereby with six continental roads, thus, while controlling all the passenger and freight business between provincial points, the road would be a strong competitor for transcontinental business. 10. The trade of Kootenay gold and silver districts is already sufficient to justify the immediate construction of the railway.

11. The already large and increasing trade of these places is handled largely by American railways, two of which penetrate this part of the province. An outlet through foreign channels is thus created and an immense revenue, capable of stimulating every local and provincial industry, is entirely lost to our country.

12. The construction of this railway would bring the rich agricultural lands of the Fraser valley within easy reach of the large mining camps of Kootenay, where the farmers would find a profitable market for every product of their farms. The large extent of what is now unproductive land would be speedily set. tled and tilled and thus an ever-increas ing trade be created for the railway. 13. The value of short and direct com munication between the mines and the seaboard can scarcely be over-estimated by the former. A large number of locations upon which prospecting and development work has been performed would send ores to the smelters, and, the cost of shipping and treating being reduced to a minimum, properties now idle would become a permanent source of wealth. 14. It is now generally known that the mineral belt is much greater than was at first supposed and in reality begins at the west side of the Hope Mountains, where valuable locations have been made. From Hope it may be said to extend eastward to the Rocky Mountains.

19. With a view to securing the con struction of the above discribed railway and in order that no interest or locality may be overlooked, it is proposed " form a provincial committee, with representatives from each of the cities, mu cipalities and settlements interested, who shall organize for the purpose of securing the necessary legislation and government assistance, and for the pu pose of making at once a preliminary imination of the route

16. It will also be for the com ider whether or not, in the of the construction of the Crow's Pass road, the interests of the provi should be guarded by the govern maintaining the road under its own trol and advise representatives a
