DISASTROUS FIRE AT SUMMERSIDE.

Loss Estimated at Two Hundred Thousand Dollars.

INSURANCE ONLY $50,000

Summerside, Oct. 11.—Early last night fire started in the railway freight shed near the east end of the town and burned in a north-westerly direction. The greater part of the southerly portion escaped, but a number of dwellings, the post office and a couple of hotels were destroyed. Roughly speaking about half the town was burned.

LATER.

Summerside, Oct. 11.—The fire is out: loss two hundred thousand dollars: insurance fifty thousand dollars.

The electric light station, court house and jail and over fifty buildings, mainly residences, were burned.

The fire started at the railway freight shed at 10 p. m. Wednesday and was fanned by a heavy south-east gale. It cut a path three hundred yards wide, and a mile long, burning itself out at a clear space.

The town had only two hard engines and one steamer to fight the fire. A special relief train from Charlottetown brought an engine and firemen, who helped to save the Presbyterian church and other buildings.

The origin of the fire is unknown but it is supposed to be incendiary. The churches burned are the Episcopal, Baptist and Christian.

SUDDEN DEATH OF CHATHAM MAN

Michael Hockin Stricken With Paralysis—Married St. John Lady who Died Recently.

Chatham, N. B., Oct. 14.—Grieving for the death of his wife, which occurred last November, Michael Samuel Hockin, one of the best known and honored of Chatham citizens, was stricken suddenly last evening, and as if in answer to his wish he too passed out in the great beyond within twelve months of his wife's death. Mr. Hockin has been in his usual health up to Saturday evening, and the news of his death came as a distinct shock to his fellow citizens, who had seen him around as usual all the week. He was in his office on Water street last evening, and evidently suffered a sudden attack of paralysis, for he had only managed to send a telephone message to MacKenzie's drug store, and when Col. MacKenzie hurried in he found Mr. Hockin partly paralyzed, but still conscious. He was conveyed to his home, but only retained consciousness for about twenty minutes and passed away at 11 o'clock Saturday night, within two hours of the attack. Dr. Joseph Benson, who was summoned, said the cause of death was hemorrhage of the brain.

Mr. Hockin married Miss Gussie Wright, daughter of Arthur Wright of St. John, about four years ago. The death of his wife, which occurred last November, was a shock he never recovered from.

One brother, Richard, of Moncton, survives and three sisters. These latter are Mary, wife of Rev. Canon Shrove of Sherbrooke, Que., Mrs. R. P. D. D. Joyce of Vancouver, B. C., who was visiting in Chatham during the summer, and Florence, wife of John Rogers of Montreal. Two sisters are dead, Susie E. (Mrs. A. A. Ritchie) and Bessie, unmarried.

Word was sent to Richard Hockin and he arrived in Chatham late Saturday night. Mrs. Rogers will arrive Monday.

Michael Hockin was the son of Richard Hockin, who was sent out by the British Government as collector of customs for the ports of Richibucto and Bathurst. He eventually settled here and built up a large business, which was continued by his son, Michael Hockin. He was 49 years of age, his mother being Miss Samuels of England, sister of the mother of Dr. Joseph Benson of Chatham.

Mr. Hockin was a staunch Lib-

DROWNED THURSDAY AT SEVOGLE.

Barnes McGraw Carried to Death in the Rushing Waters.

OTHERS SAVED.

Rain of Water in River Caused Wagon Box to Float Away.

What is called Newcastle Thursday morning of a sad drowning at the Old River place on the Sevoogle river.

A crew of men, consisting of five lumbermen and a driver were proceeding to cross the R. & J. Ritchie & Co. bridge on the Sevoogle.

It was necessary to find the river and the Old River place was the regular ford. To this place the driver proceeded but his horses fell into the water. They had not proceeded far before the water was found to be higher than was expected, but it was impossible to turn back. The water, which was at freshet height by the recent heavy rains, soon floated the wagon box of the wagon, carrying the load and the men with it. The driver held on to the horses, which managed to get ashore with the wagon, while the men were carried rapidly down stream by the rushing water. It looked bad for the unfortunate men, but they all succeeded in reaching the banks except McGraw, who sank and was carried away.

The heavy rains had made a tremendous freshet. It is said the water raised about five feet, something very unusual at this season of the year. This is the first accident of this kind has happened in the fall for many years.

The deceased belonged to Upper Bay du Vin. He was well known here, having worked for the Telephone Co., this summer.

The death of Mrs. Abigail Underhill, relict of the late Thomas W. Underhill, occurred on Saturday, September 29th, about 8 p. m. She had gone to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Millet Underhill, to attend her grand-daughter's funeral, and while there contracted a severe cold which developed into Pleurisy from which she died after a week's illness.

She was in her seventy-ninth year and is survived by three sons, two daughters and two sisters.

The esteem in which the deceased was held, was manifested by the large number of people who gathered at her old home on Monday at 2 p. m. to pay their last tribute of respect.

The pall-bearers were her three sons, Charles, Isaac and William, and Messrs. Millet Underhill, John and Ward Corney.

The services at the house and church were conducted by Rev. Archdeacon Forsythe. Interment was made in Holy Trinity burying ground.

ANOTHER SEARCH FOR THE GREAMER CHILDREN

Constable Thomas to Make Another Effort Monday to Discover Their Fate.

In an effort to organize a final search for the missing Greamer children, Constable Charles Thomas leaves on Monday for Bayfield. As was recently stated, this search is to be the final one, and an effort will be made to secure as large a party as possible along the line to look for the missing children. Several from Mancton, who has had a good deal of experience on this search and is well acquainted with the locality, and it is expected that the hope of securing the rewards, now amount to six hundred dollars, will induce many people along the line to join in the search.

The expenses of this expedition will be undertaken by Mr. F. W. Sumner of this city, who has already expended quite a large sum in endeavoring to solve the mystery.

The Adventurers

By H. B. MARRIOTT WATSON

COPYRIGHT, 1895, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

We had ridden halfway to Llanellan when Montgomery's mare fell lame, and he dismounted to examine her shoe. As he was engaged for some time in the occupation, I pulled my nag into the shade of the big trees by the way and waited for him. Throwing myself off, I put my arm through the bridle and walked over to the margin of the wood, where the grass grew in abundance, now fading to drab yellow under the magnificence of the autumn sun. The road here took a sharp lead and in the act an abrupt peninsula or headland of coppice stood out from the main continent of forest. As my horse nibbled at the grass, I heard a noise of wheels in the distance and glanced through the tangle along the highway. Down from Llanellan a trap was being driven furiously toward us. The rate at which it rolled was prodigious, and clouds of dust flew up and enveloped horse, vehicle and driver in their course. Thinking that this must be a runaway, I slipped the bridle over the horse's neck, and, calling to Montgomery, leaped into the saddle and turned the corner to meet it. As I did so the carriage, which was of a rude, servicable type common in the country, was plainly visible to me and I to its occupant. What astounded me was to see him raising his whip through the smoke of dust, in act to strike fiercely at the flanks of the animal, and the next second he stopped, dropped the whip, and, as it seemed to me, reined in his horse. At all events the pace was now much slower—in fact, but a comfortable amble. While I was wondering on this curious maneuver the trap drew near enough for me to notice the driver, and, to my astonishment, I saw that it was Hood.

His face was all a sweat and grimed with dust, and plainly he had been squeezing the last ounce out of his beast, as the saying is. Why, then, did he pull up on seeing me? A flow of thoughts rushed through my brain, but it was not until he came well nigh abreast of me that the inspiration seized me. He made as if to pass, civilly touching his hat, but by a sudden movement I wheeled my horse across the road and barred his way. Had he been going at his previous rate I confess that I should have thought twice ere I took this hazard; but, as it was, there was no harm done. Hood himself, taken by surprise, pulled back and jerked his left rein, sending the beast toward the ditch. I cried to Montgomery and, leaning over, caught at the reins.

"It's all up, Hood," I said. "You're a done man this time."
"Beg your pardon, sir," said he, staring at me. "But I was going to Raymond."

"Yes, and I dare say you were," said I. "But now you're going to the castle."

At that moment Montgomery came up, leading his mare, and took in the situation. Running round, he held the other rein. Hood looked from one to the other.

"This is highway robbery, gentlemen," he said.
"Call it what you will," I replied, with nonchalance. "Montgomery, I'll trouble you to peep into that carriage."

At the words Hood's eyes shot with a malignant light, and his nostrils curled and shivered like those of a vicious horse. The next second he sprang from his seat across the horse's back and leaped at my throat with his open knife. My horse plunged and took the blow upon his shoulder, which was ripped open in a red gash. Then, without a sound, Montgomery plucked the ruffian to the earth. It was not the first time that he had felt the grip of those great arms, and he lay still, underfoot in the dust.

We had been so engrossed with the incident that we had not noticed the sound of an approaching horseman, and now his voice broke in upon us, startling us.

"Thank you kindly, gentlemen. I am obliged to you," it said, and there was Sercombe, very red and very dusty, but with a twinkling smile struggling over a grave and anxious face. Hood got to his feet at once.

"The rascal gave me the slip," said Sercombe, "but I am much in your debt for stopping him."
"Ah!" said I. "That's the story, is it?"

It is extremely odd, and I recall the fact now with some sense of discomfiture, but this sudden appearance of Sercombe and the evidence that he had been chasing Hood completely put my reckoning out. The events had turned things topsy-turvy for the time, nor did I realize at once that we were still antagonists, opposed upon the possession of the very treasure which, I had conceived, was concealed in the carriage. But if I was late in coming to my wits, not so Hood. He might quarrel with Sercombe privately, but as against us he was the captain's partner, and, sitting up to him, he whispered a few words. Sercombe nodded, and ere I had time to observe all this properly he had edged his horse between the carriage and myself and pulled forth a revolver.

"Very sorry, Mr. Greatorex," said he, pointing it at me. "It seems an ungrateful return, but upon my soul I can't help it. I'd a deuced sight sooner offer the barrel elsewhere, but there it is—we are such creatures of fortune." He grinned pleasantly, and Hood whipped into his seat and turned the carriage about. As for Montgomery and myself, we were entirely taken aback. They had the advantage of us, and we should have been fools to refuse to recognize it. So, after the first stare of consternation, I made the best of it.

"Delighted to be of service to Captain Sercombe any time," I said. "And now, as I presume we are all going the same way, we shall have the pleasure of your company."

"That's right," he observed. "Hood, drive ahead, not too fast this time." And the innkeeper, who had now resumed his placid air, obeyed him. We jogged along together, conversing quite affably, but the captain kept an eye upon us, riding a little to one side and holding a hand ostentatiously in his pocket.

In this manner we rode through Llanellan and drew near to the Woodman. Sercombe turned to me a little way off. "I reckon," he said, "that you'll want to know where those chests are?"

"I reckon I have that chance now," said I.
"Faith, and you're right!" he remarked, gnawing his moustache in some perplexity. Hood never swerved in his course, and I tell you I kept a sharp watch on him. He drove up to the door of the inn and, throwing the reins on the horse's back, jumped down.

And now the adventure began to promise greater interest even than before. I racked my brains to guess what they would try for an exit to this blind alley. But in the midst of my speculations I perceived suddenly that there was a crowd of people before the door of the Woodman, and immediately upon our arrival we were hailed with excited shouts and cries. I jumped off, and the others followed suit. As I did so I perceived Jones, the police sergeant, elbowing his way toward me through the throng.

"What is it?" I asked.
"Is that Captain Sercombe who came with you?" he asked.
"Yes, yes. But what is it?" I repeated impatiently, for the ominous faces about me alarmed me with strange fears. Jones made a motion to go, and then turned to me.

"David Williams," he said formally, "a man employed by you, Mr. Greatorex, was found at 8 o'clock this morning stabbed to death in the lower Gwent."

CHAPTER XVIII.
THE sergeant turned on his heel as he concluded his sentence and strode off toward the door of the inn. A ghastly sensation of physical fear, as though I had been detected in the act of assassination, overwhelmed me and left me staring with my jaw down. Then I ran after Jones, calling upon him and elbowing my way through the crowd. Sercombe stood for a moment conspicuous in the doorway, and then he vanished. But Jones, being a small man, was swallowed up among the villagers. I caught sight of Montgomery standing apart by his horse and inhaled to him. He hesitated for an instant and then pushed through to me.

"Find Jones," I said hurriedly. "Williams is dead—murdered by this bloody gang. Oh, there he is!" And we reached him simultaneously.

I pressed my questions home, and Jones, beckoning to one of his men who stood by, lent half an ear to me.
"Excuse me, sir," said he, "I will attend to you directly," and whispered some order in the officer's ear. The man made his way through the throng and disappeared. "Yes, sir," said Jones. "A little way from the stream we found the body, first discovered by a man, Lewis, going to work. Evidently attacked by more than one person, but the coroner will determine that."

"See here, Jones," said I, "can I see Jon later?"
He looked at me with his sharp, uncompromising eyes. "Yes, sir; I dare say we'll want your evidence."

"All right," I answered, and, turning to Montgomery, "Come, we'd better get back. There's nothing to be got from him at present."

Montgomery pulled my arm. "Hood!" he whispered.
I started. The idea flashed upon me in a distasteful light. "To be sure," I said. "I had forgotten." We hurried out of the knot of stragglers. The carriage and Hood were gone!

This discovery brought my wandering senses together. We had been duped again and that by a sheer accident, of which Hood had cunningly taken advantage. I myself had prepared my own disappointment. Montgomery informed me apologetically that he had tried to keep his eye on the carriage, but that my summons had taken him from his post. We inquired eagerly among the bystanders, but that was of little avail. One or two had seen the carriage drive off, and these all agreed it had taken the road to the castle. The futility of these inquiries soon dawned on me. It was not so that Hood should be taken, and I went back to Jones with my news.

"If you want the real murderer," I declared, "you will find him on the top of a carriage driving somewhere between here and Abernol."

Cure For The Blues

ONE MEDICINE THAT HAS NEVER FAILED

Health Fully Restored and the Joy of Life Regained.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that region of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture. It is usually this way: "She has been feeling 'out of sorts'."

For some time her head has ached and back ached; she slept poorly, became quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart-beats very fast; then that horrid, down feeling, and during her periods she is exceedingly despondent. Nothing pleases her. Her doctor says: "Cheer up; you have dyspepsia; you will be all right soon."
But she doesn't get "all right," and her condition gets worse—the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.
Don't wait until your sufferings have driven you to despair, with your nerves all shattered and your courage gone, but take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. See what it did for Madame Josephine Rivville, Mastel, Que. She writes:

"I suffered for four years with female troubles—inflammation of the stomach and fallopian tubes which caused me violent pain and often torture, so much so that I could not walk at times and attend to my daily duties. Life was misery to me. I was so blue and despondent I did not know which way to turn for relief. I had tried the doctors but they did not help me. I was used to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I bought a box, I am glad that I did so, for I am well and strong today and the world looks bright, for I have perfect health, thanks to your medicine."
If you have some derangement of the female organism write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice.

The sergeant stared at me.
"Hood," said I.
Jones smiled. "What evidence have you, sir?" he asked, pulling out his note book.

"I stammered and hesitated. 'He's a scoundrel!' said I.
Jones looked extremely disapproving, but seemed prepared to copy down my sentiments. All of a sudden I saw the situation in its ridiculous light, but, though it stopped my tongue, it did not dispose me to laughter.

"If you have any evidence to offer against Mr. Hood, sir, I shall be pleased to take it down," said Jones, and at the same moment he elevated his eyebrows in a formal smile at some one behind me. I started around, and there was Hood, immobile and civil, as always.

"I never said a word."
"I shall be pleased to answer any questions, sir," said Hood.
I cursed him in my heart for an amazing scoundrel and turned on my heel. It did not please me to suffer so black an eclipse. Montgomery followed meekly at my heels.

"I would have knocked the beast down if you had given the word," he said.
His leantly won my heart. "Montgomery," said I, "if there's any good soul in this world, which I have begun to doubt, it's you. And now the devil of it is that we have Williams in our hands."

"I started around, and there was Hood, gisard, and the clearer it appears the blacker it looks." After which I think we spoke no more till we reached the castle.

Sheppard took our news gravely and seemed to turn things over in his mind. "This is bad, Ned; very bad," he said at length. "The place will be too hot to hold us."

"They don't identify us with the murder," said Montgomery.
"No," replied Sheppard deliberately, "but it pulls the police web closer over us. We're marked men in a way. We shall have a difficulty. This business is getting too complex. The fact is, we ought to have settled it by a bold stroke much earlier."

"I said nothing then at once, but presently I spoke up.

TWEEDIE AND PUGSLEY GOING TO WASHINGTON

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 10.—As soon as the provincial conference is over Premier Tweedie and Attorney General Pugsley will leave for Washington to look into the forestry regulations of the United States and to consult with the experts thereon, the question of Forest Preservation, Premier Tweedie stated to you correspondent that he proposed to call a forestry convention for New Brunswick, to be held some time in December.

MANY ACCIDENTS IN MAINE

PANGOR, Me., Oct. 7.—Three shooting accidents, two of which proved fatal, signalized the first week of Maine's deer hunting season. Only one of these actually belongs in the list of hunting season casualties, that which resulted in the death of Edgar Bailey, of Mattawamkeag, who was shot by mistake for a bear in the dim twilight of early dawn Saturday morning by his friend and hunting companion, Guy Lordly.

His Wife—You used to say I was the sunshine of your existence.
Her Husband—So I did.

His Wife—And now you stay out night after night.

Her Husband—Well, one can't expect sunshine after dark, you know.

What, queried the very young person, is an earthly saint?
An earthly saint, answered the home-grown philosopher, is a man who can witness a ball game and not want to fight the umpire when he gives an unjust decision against the home team.

Miggles—I understand you told Hyker that I was a fool.
Wiggles—Never told him anything of the kind. I merely said that if I were you and got a glimpse of the fool-killer coming up the street I'd dodge up an alley.

Clerk—Excuse me sir, but I would like to get off for a week.
Employer—Why, you have only just returned from a two weeks' vacation.

Yes, sir, and that's the trouble, I need a rest.

She—And do you really think you cannot live without me?
He—You want the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, I suppose?

She—Certainly.
He—Well, I can live without you, all right if necessary, but I don't see how you can possibly live without me.

OBITUARY
Campbellton, Oct. 10.—Citizens generally were painfully shocked yesterday morning to hear of the death of Mrs. Jane Cool. Although the end was not unexpected it nevertheless came with a great shock to many of the residents.

Mrs. Cool was born in New Carlisle and moved to Campbellton in 1850 and was married in 1851 to the late Alex. Cool. Deceased during her many years of residence here made many friends. She leaves to mourn the loss of a kind and affectionate mother, four sons, John of Washington Territory, Jas. W. of Vancouver, Clarence of this town and David of Newcastle, the last two mentioned being locomotive engineers on the I. C. R.; and six daughters, Annie B. at home, Mrs. Wm. Storey, Mrs. J. C. Morton, Mrs. Allen Miller of this town, Mrs. Crawford of Perix, B. C., and Mrs. Thos. Vallie, of Hamilton, Ont.

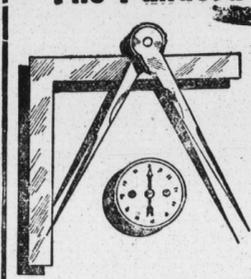

General Car Inspector D. White, is now on an inspection trip over the road, explaining to the different mechanical foremen the necessity of having as many freight cars as possible repaired before they leave the stations, in cases where they need repairs, and not to allow any freight cars to leave stations needing repairs. These orders have been issued on account of the crowded condition of the I. C. R. Shops and yards here, where large numbers of freight cars are at the present time undergoing repairs for the winter season.

The Pandora Thermometer

The thermometer on the Pandora range oven means precisely in accuracy to the cook what the square and compass mean to the draftsman. Without the square and compass the draftsman would have to work entirely by guess, just as you do without an accurate and reliable thermometer on your oven.

The Pandora thermometer reduces cooking to an exact science. You know precisely how much heat you have and what it will do in a given time. It is one of the small things which makes the Pandora so much different and better than common ranges.

IF!

Everybody knows that Cod Liver Oil is a wonderful flesh producer, IF you can take it.
Nobody doubts that Iron is the greatest enricher of the blood, IF you can digest it.

It is well known that Phosphorus is the ideal nerve and brain tonic, IF it is properly administered.
"IF," ah! there's the rub.

But everybody does not know that Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus have at last been combined in an emulsion so palatable that anybody can take it, so easily assimilated that the smallest infant can digest it without difficulty and so perfectly and scientifically prepared that the value of the original ingredients is enhanced fourfold.

FERROL

(Iron and Oil)

"FERROL" has wiped out the "IF."
"FERROL" has brought the wonderful and universally recognized virtues of Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus within easy reach of the multitudes who need them.

"FERROL" is the only perfect emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, because it is the only one that contains IRON and no emulsion is perfect without it.

That is why FERROL is an unequalled system builder.
FERROL is not a patent mystery. The formula is freely published. It is prescribed by the best Physicians. It is endorsed by the most eminent Medical Journals. It is used in the prominent Hospitals, Sanitariums, etc.

In anticipation of the coming winter, the I. C. R. is getting its freight cars into shape to withstand a possible rough season. One of the improvements being made to box cars is the fitting out of them with wooden side ladders, to replace the step and iron rungs formerly used.

TROUT Mezzowork

The undersigned have received from Mr. Nash of Maine the agency for New Brunswick for his famous trout mezzowork. A trout mezzo is one half the fish so mounted upon a convex elliptical panel as to stand the fish out in bold relief, giving the effect of an oil painting of whole mounted fish, with the real thing to see at your proudest. The process of preserving fish in this artistic way was discovered by Mr. Nash in 1900, and patented by him.

VENOIT FOR THE SENATE

Stodg Effort Being Made to Secure His Appointment.

(New Freeman) A Gloucester county correspondent writes: "I have been much interested in the political rumors and predictions of 'Onlooker' in the New Freeman, especially those pertaining to the calling of an Acadian from New Brunswick to the Senate of Canada. One reason for my deep interest in this question is the fact that since the friends of Hon. O. J. LeBlanc, M. P. for Kent, have given up all hopes of his being called to fill one of the two vacancies, the name of Mr. P. J. Venoit of Bathurst has been placed before the federal cabinet with the recommendation of four of the seven Liberal members of this province, including Mr. LeBlanc, M. P. Up till last March Mr. Venoit was a strong advocate of Mr. LeBlanc's appointment feeling he deserved it and feeling also that his appointment would seem to bind closer the Acadian vote for the Liberal party in the future. Mr. Venoit only allowed his name to be used when his friends as well as Mr. LeBlanc's friends, felt that he was out of the race. Since then Mr. Venoit has put up a pretty vigorous fight and claims to have the strong support of the old time Liberals of the northern counties, as well as those of the Madawaska and Westmorland. And here allow me to say that his friends are in no way interfering with the nomination of Hon. John Costigan, because we Acadians feel we should only look after our own and not interfere in the nomination of an Acadian representative. We feel up north that the four northern counties are entitled to representation in the Senate and as they are populated in a large majority by the Acadians one of their number should be chosen. I feel proud to see that the New Freeman entertains the same opinion but I am little surprised to see that you can only have an eye for Mr. LaBillois and seem to think him the only qualified Acadian in the fight. Of his ability I will not speak here, but in his capacity as a representative Acadian Liberal I think I have reason for saying that he deserves absolutely nothing from the Liberal party. Where was he in the darkest days of the Liberal party? He with the Landrys the Gaudets the Richards, was fighting us tooth and nail. When Mr. Venoit came north in 1887 to try and instill Liberal principles into the minds of his Acadian compatriots in Gloucester and Restigouche, who was his bitterest opponent? Who was the Acadian champion of the Conservatives? Hon. C. H. LaBillois. And did he not come into the Liberal fold only in 1904 when we could elect a Liberal in Restigouche in spite of him and when his aid was not required. In the face of such facts, is it fair, is it just that he should be shoved to the fore and placed upon the highest pedestal of honor and emolument in the Liberal party while we still have good, staunch Liberals like Mr. Venoit of the old school as true to the party as in days of darkest opposition? While we have tried, stalwart Acadian Liberals do not let the Liberals be party to such an act of injustice as to name Mr. LaBillois over the heads of any of these good old Liberals."

Ontario was one of the last to come to this agreement. Premier Whitney maintained that Ontario was the largest contributor in proportion to its population to the revenue of the country, and that it should therefore be entitled to a larger share of the sub-sidy, but it claimed to have received less help toward railway construction than the other provinces. Therefore Mr. Whitney was willing to accept the increase provided for under the Quebec resolutions provided he was allowed to reserve his right to apply for more. He was charged with wanting both his share of the increase and to retain his grievance. He has since abandoned this position though he said that he cannot agree to give up the control of deep water fisheries, as the other provinces are, until he has taken the opinion of his colleagues. The federal government wants the undivided jurisdiction over Lake Erie fisheries along the international boundary.

Premier McBride wants the special claims of British Columbia for larger subsidy left to be adjusted by a commission of valuation. The other members of the conference are unanimously opposed to this. They are willing to recommend the federal government to grant British Columbia fifty per cent. more than its real proportion of the allowance for civil administration, but they insist that the amount shall be specified and not left open for valuation.

Though he has not yet said so the belief is that Premier McBride will concede the point and accept the extra compensation the other provinces are willing to concede to him owing to the difficult nature of his country. Premier McBride is not as definitely willing as the eastern provinces to give up his claim to a share of the control of the coast fisheries. However, this is another point which he is expected to concede.

British Columbia, Quebec and Prince Edward Island are all willing to give up their tax on commercial travellers, which the federal ministers have indicated will be necessary before they can expect increases.

Each of the provincial premiers came to Ottawa with a desire for an increase of the provincial allowance. They found themselves in agreement on this point and passed a resolution giving expression to it. Each of the premiers however, had up his sleeve a carefully prepared case showing that his province was entitled to special consideration, and each of them has attempted to convince the other members of the conference that his case should have the unanimous support of the members. The result has been a general recognition of the fact that they must agree to get anything from the Dominion government, that they must not ask for more than can be reasonably granted, and that there must be give and take among them in the preparation of their case.

This is what has kept them talking for the better part of the week. The task has not proven an easy one. Prince Edward Island does not want to have its subsidy reduced to the present proportion of its population. The other provinces want an increase in proportion to their growth. New Brunswick wants $200,000. It is claimed the Dominion owes an account of fisheries and wants a clause submitted to the judicial committee of the privy council for the division of the Halifax fishery award. Quebec and Ontario want special consideration in proportion to their size and do not want to part with any of their authority over railways, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta want financial compensation for the fisheries in rivers and lakes which are withheld from them by the terms of the acts admitting them to the Dominion. The eastern provinces have the inland fisheries. British Columbia wants special treatment for the extra expense of administering its affairs owing to the mountainous nature of the province and the great extent of its territory. These are some of the things which the provincial representatives have had to encounter and have the federal authorities reorganize.

Tomorrow the provincial ministers meet at ten and the federal ministry will meet them an hour later to consider the clause if it is ready for them. If not the conference will continue until an agreement is arrived or until it is too late to longer talk over the case.

PREMIERS HAVE FINALLY COME TO AN AGREEMENT.

Provinces Drop Special Claims and go in for General Demand for a Per Capita Increase—British Columbia stills holds out, but will Probably Submit

Ottawa Oct. 11.—It is understood that as a result of this afternoon's sitting of the Provincial Conference all of the provinces, with the exception of British Columbia, have agreed to drop their claims for special consideration and to go in on the general demand for a per capita increase.

Ontario was one of the last to come to this agreement. Premier Whitney maintained that Ontario was the largest contributor in proportion to its population to the revenue of the country, and that it should therefore be entitled to a larger share of the sub-sidy, but it claimed to have received less help toward railway construction than the other provinces. CLOSE ENCOUNTER WITH A BEAR

Shediac Man Has an Adventure in the Woods up North

ENRAGED ANIMAL CHARGED Upon Hunter and was Killed Within Only Five Feet Away—Stood Seven Feet High

MON. MOR. N. B., Oct. 10.—Falling in the path of a huge black bear, incensed by a bullet wound which while severe, caused the big animal only enough pain to thoroughly engage it, Emil Patrud, of Shediac, had a thrilling experience in the woods along the Nepisiguit river, killing the bear which was charging upon him with the third bullet almost as it layed. Patrud who with Hal Weldon returned this morning from a hunting trip, was successful in landing a moose and a bear, and Weldon also got one of each. The shooting of three of the animals was not accompanied by any unusual incidents, but it was in the bringing down of the fourth a great black bear, which measured seven feet when standing that the most thrilling adventure was experienced.

Powling around the carcass of a moose in the woods by a hunter, the bear was about twenty five yards away when Patrud first sighted it, and dropping on one knee he took aim and fired, the bullet, it was afterwards learned, striking the animal on the head. With a cry of pain and rage, the bear turned and made for the hunter, covering the ground with great leaps. Hastily Patrud threw back the lever of his rifle to face the oncoming furious animal, stepped forward to brace himself for an accurate aim. Just as he pulled the trigger his foot slipped, and he fell forward to the ground, the shot going wild, while the bear was rearing in the air in readiness to spring. Almost as the animal leaped Patrud thrust his rifle out, the muzzle almost touching the shaggy chest, and pulled the trigger sending a heavy bullet crashing into the bear's lungs and sending it to the ground dead.

ELEVATOR FULL OF GRAIN TOPPLES OVER Regina, Sask., Oct. 10.—A big elevator belonging to J. S. Glenn at Indian Head and Toulon toppled over and several thousand bushels of grain were found on the track side. Superintendent Brown of the C. P. R., who was in Regina at the time, went up and ferreted the assistance of the railway company in providing cars for the immediate shipment of grain. This was accepted and the work of clearing up the grain is now in progress. The elevator was filled to the roof at the time, and contained about 44,000 bushels, which was almost its capacity.

A THIRD PARTY.

One of the most amusing things politically, that has happened for some time, is the serious way the press of Canada is treating a news despatch which had its origin in St. John, referring to a movement there to form an independent party in politics. The story published in the St. John papers a few days ago was read and laughed at, by people on both sides of politics, who knew those behind the movement. But by a rather fanciful correspondent, the news items was flashed over the wires to the dailies of Montreal and Toronto and there was treated seriously and in prominent type, with attractive headlines, the papers announced the birth of a movement that formed a new era in politics. They regarded as already formed, and in active operation, a movement which as yet can be described as a "pipe dream". Even the steady and dignified Toronto Globe took it seriously, and has worked out a few editorials over it. The World, the editor of which is Mr. W. F. MacLean M. P., has also devoted a lot of space to the matter. Mr. MacLean is known to be ambitious to be the head of a new party himself and therefore his otherwise unaccountable interest can be accounted for. In the course of a long editorial the "World" says:—

"There is a star in the east, if her people will only follow.

Less important than union or separation is the dissatisfaction with perfunctory government. The demand for a new party is the demand of the people that their own benefit, and that this part of Canada shall have her share in the national growth and prosperity."

Follows the star everybody. It is supposed to be hovering over St. John just now, and it will lead you to where some of the newspaper men are enjoying the sensation caused by one of the best newspaper canards that has been evolved for a long time.—Transcript.

There has been rumors circulated with more or less persistence that a provincial election would take place before the House of Assembly is again called together. Probably no decision has been reached in the minds of the politicians who control matters of that kind. It is not unlikely, however, that the addition to the provincial revenue may help those who advocate an election presently. The existing legislation of New Brunswick was chosen early in 1903, and it has had four sessions, so that its time is pretty well run out.—Globe.

THE RICHARDS CO. START IN BUSINESS.

Will Cut About Two Million of Logs This Winter.

Fredericton, Oct. 15.—H. H. Gunter, president of the Richards' Company, confirmed the truth of the statement that the company still controls about fifty square miles of rich timber limits on the Rocky Brook, Dungarvon and Southwest Miramichi waters. This year the firm's operations are not very extensive and are more for the purpose of opening up so as to be prepared for the future. This year's cut will be about 2,000,000.

Three moose were seen on the south side of the river near the Northwest bridges on Monday.

Hickson's mill was down yesterday on account of a temporary shortage of logs.

The telephone exchange in the Lounsbury Block is now in operation.

J. E. T. Lindon, Town Clerk shot a nice moose Monday morning. He was only an hour and a half in the woods when he got his game.

At the close of the prayer meeting in Wesley Memorial church, last evening, the pastor, Rev. H. E. Thomas, was presented with a purse containing an amount, fully covering the expense of his recent trip. Mr. W. T. Sands occupied the chair, and the presentation was made by Mr. J. S. Magee, who spoke of the willingness with which all had contributed to the gift. A suitable reply was made by Rev. Mr. Thomas.—Transcript, Oct. 12.

Surveyor-general Sweeney said to a Transcript representative:—"From returns thus far, the sale of hunting licenses and the revenue therefrom, exceed all previous records so far. Most of the non-resident sportsmen have gone away well satisfied with their hunting spoils. Some magnificent heads have been obtained. This record maintains New Brunswick's position as the premier province for big game, considering its easy accessibility.

One of the handsomest head ever seen here was brought in recently by Mr. Don S. Creaghan. The antlers had 22 points, and were very symmetrical, the spread being 51 inches. This is Mr. Creaghan's first moose, and it took two shots to bring him down, though the first probably caused a mortal wound. Mr. Creaghan was accompanied by Jack Kingston, and they hunted in the Beaver Brook district. When the moose came up in answer to the call he was accompanied by a cow. The two hunters were waiting on either side of a small knoll, and when the cow took fright she nearly ran over Mr. Kingston. Mr. Creaghan has sent the head to Fredericton to be mounted.

Mr. Jacob Steeves, of Flatlands Restigouche Co. was stricken with paralysis early last Wednesday morning. It appears that Mr. and Mrs. Steeves, sr., had spent the night at the home of their son Thomas, who is station agent and lives over the station, and the old gentleman who is about 78 years of age, went over to his own house, a distance of 200 yards in the early morning to start the fires while, putting the kindlings into the stove it is thought Mr. Steeves felt himself being overcome, and sought relief in the open air, as he was found about an hour afterwards lying outside the door in the drenching rain unconscious, his right side completely paralyzed.

He was working at the trimmer when a knot from the lath machine flew striking him a glancing blow on the eye, injuring the sight.

He was taken to Dr. Desmond's office where everything possible was done to save the eye and at present writing the injury is doing nicely, but it is feared that the sight will never be totally recovered.

New Buildings Going Up and Alterations Being Made.

Bridgetown is a busy place these days, and when the alterations and improvements are complete one will hardly be able to recognize that bustling village.

The fine new residence for the manager of the Edward Sinclair Lumber Co. on the corner is an imposing building.

The old buildings at the bridge are being moved, and new buildings are being erected. A substantial stone fence is being erected around the Sinclair homestead and other improvements made.

Wedding Bells.

McLEOD-SCOTT.

An attractive home wedding took place at eight o'clock Wednesday morning in the parlor of the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. McLeod, Newcastle, when their daughter, Miss Katherine Fraser (Doctor of Osteopathy) became the bride of Dr. J. H. B. Scott, B. A., of Columbus, Ohio. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. M. MacLeod, of Pictou county, N. S., cousin of the bride, assisted by the Rev. H. S. Rice. Both bride and groom were unattended. The bride wore a handsome dress of duchesse satin, with chiffon and pearl trimmings, and carried a beautiful bouquet of bride roses. The happy couple went away on the 10.45 train and will visit St. John, Boston and New York, before going to Columbus, where they will reside, and where Dr. Scott has a large practice. The bride's going away gown was of navy blue broadcloth, and she wore a hat to match. Mrs. Scott was one of Newcastle's most charming and popular young ladies which was evidenced by the numerous display of handsome and costly presents.

The Advocate joins with friends in wishing Dr. and Mrs. Scott much pleasure and prosperity.

Charles Moffat, one of Fredericton's best known contractors and carpenters, took his life Sunday afternoon at New Maryland by cutting his throat with a razor. He had been in ill health for some time.

Bert McLean Beat Wm. Arbing

The roller races in the Opera House Monday evening drew a good house and were very interesting. The first race was between two Newcastle young men J. LeGough and A. Hoffman, and was won by Hoffman.

In the second between the fast Moncton skater and Bert McLean of the town, McLean proved too fast for the visitor and won easily, and is now the champion roller skater of the North Shore.

The potato race between six town boys created much fun and was won by Wilfred McCullam. The contestants were Wilfred McCullam, H. Ronan, A. Doncett, E. Brooks, R. Sinclair and E. Treadwell.

CONFERENCE OVER;

New Brunswick Will Receive $130,000 More Per Year.

Ottawa, Oct. 14.—After a week's stay at Ottawa, the provincial premiers have returned to their homes with the assurance of increased financial aid and better understanding between themselves and the Dominion on a variety of subjects which in the past created more or less friction.

The result of the work of this conference will mean an additional expenditure to the Dominion of a little more than $2,250,000, and in return the Dominion is not likely to be harassed with such legislation as the commercial traveler's tax and discrimination by the provinces against companies chartered by the Dominion.

Taking the 1887 resolutions what the provinces will receive will be as follows:

Province	Subsidies for Government and Civil Legislation	Increase
Ontario	$240,000	$160,000
Quebec	240,000	170,000
Nova Scotia	190,000	130,000
New Brunswick	180,000	130,000
Manitoba	180,000	130,000

Monday night Joseph Jardine slipped and fell from the deck of the steamer Brattinsborg to the water, striking the steamboat Mascot in his descent. Captain McLean of the Grey Loggie, jumped overboard and rescued Jardine, who was brought home yesterday morning. It is feared his injuries are serious.

A schooner, name unknown, is reported aground on Portage Island.

GOT TWO BEARS
WHILE HARVESTING
POTATOES.

Catapellton, Oct. 10.—While Mr. John Wyres, of Patapedia, was engaged in harvesting his potatoes, near the edge of the woods, the party were surprised by the sudden appearance of three large bears. As they manifested a determination to dispute the ownership of the premises, Dave Ferguson of Flat Lands (a river guardian, who was lending a hand in digging) quickly secured a gun, and succeeded in killing two of them. These animals appear to be unusually plentiful this season.

SAW THE FIRE AT SUMMERSIDE

Mr. F. H. Gough Was Present and Helped Fire Fighters.

Mr. F. H. Gough of this town was in Summerside last week visiting his father and brother.

While there the recent fire which destroyed so much property in that pretty island town, commenced and Mr. Gough had quite an experience. His father is the Sheriff and lived in the jail which was destroyed by fire, with nearly all its contents. Mr. F. H. Gough looked after the prisoners and saw that all were released, and assisted in removing a portion of the furniture, etc. His brother was also a heavy loser by fire. Mr. Gough says that for years there has been an agitation for a water system for the town, but this fire will likely convince the citizens of the necessity of having a good fire fighting system.

CHINAMEN WERE BURNED TO DEATH.

Fire on Steamer Hankow May be Work of Incendiary—The Awful Results.

Hong Kong, Oct. 14.—The fire on the steamer Hankow, which was burned at her dock early today, with the loss of the lives of several hundred Chinamen, was brought under control at 6 o'clock a. m., at which time only the shell and hull of the Hankow remained. The gruesome work of recovering the dead was then begun.

The firefighters recovered seventy five corpses early. Many of them were huddled together and only singed, while others were incinerated beyond recognition.

A large number of the 2,000 Chinese aboard are supposed to have been drowned by jumping into the bay. Of the cargo 200 bales of raw silk were saved, but badly damaged by water.

The remainder was totally destroyed. There are many theories as to the cause of the fire. The first is that the fire was caused by the overturning of a lantern of a Chinese boarding house customer, who came aboard seeking customers. The second was that an opium smoker accidentally set fire to the third is that it was caused by the crossing of electric wires. A fourth theory and one that is considered the most probable, is that the fire was incendiary and was the outgrowth of the boycott against British river boats.

The first convocation of Castle Northumberland was held Friday night. There were not many members present, but what was lacking in numbers was made up in earnestness and enthusiasm, so a good deal was accomplished.

The open convocation when parents and friends are invited to be present was fixed for Friday 26th, so the coming Friday is to be devoted to drilling. This will be a good wagon one night last week. First night for new members to join. An axe was used, then a saw but the earlier in the season the better each time iron was run into.

as all will then receive the full benefits of the club. Word was received that a blackboard was available for that no money was required. That was good news.

Stewart Weldon was elected king for the first month and Frank Ward, Seneschal.

Some miscreant tried to cut the shafts of the Lonsbury's delivery to drilling. This will be a good wagon one night last week. First night for new members to join. An axe was used, then a saw but the earlier in the season the better each time iron was run into.

The last year's business done by the Hartt Boot and Shoe Co., of Fredericton amounted to about $250,000 and this year it is hoped that the company will do a business of about $350,000. The winter run at the factory started Thursday morning and the cutting commences with a staff of about twenty-five men. The output of the factory in former years has been about 400 pairs of shoes per day, but this run it is expected that about six or seven hundred pairs per day will be turned out. On former runs the employees at the shoe factory have numbered between 100 and 125, but this run there will be from 150 to 175 men, boys and girls at work. Already a number of experienced workmen have arrived in the city from upper Canadian cities and some of them went to work this week at the factory.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and anti-time nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Three Moose, Three Caribou and Two Bears Result of North Shore Visit.

St. John, Oct. 12.—W. S. Hodgkins, of Boston; S. Holmes, S. A. Sizer and W. D. Stark, of Jacksonville (Fla.), were at the Royal Hotel yesterday. They have been hunting in the Bathurst and Bathurst districts of the Intercolonial Railway hunting grounds, and are returning well pleased with their two weeks stay. Among them they secured three moose, three caribou and two bears.

Mr. Holmes, who was in the Bathurst district, four miles from the railroad, shot a moose which the guide assured him had the best head seen around there in fifteen years. There are many with a greater spread but this one, he says is wonderfully symmetrical. He says that next year there will be a very large party of sportsmen from Jacksonville for the New Brunswick hunting season.

Mr. Hodgkins has been coming here for the last twenty-two years almost every season. He says that moose are increasing very rapidly in numbers here. He is convinced that New Brunswick leads the world in that particular species of big game. On the other hand caribou are decreasing. Regarding the fact that moose are found in such large numbers near the railroad track he says some of the guides appear to think that the whistling of the locomotives acts as a call to the bulls. Mr. Hodgkins thinks, however, that the explanation of the I. C. R. follows the lands which are the natural haunts of the huge animals.

Mr. Hodgkins has had much experience with guides in New Brunswick. Since he began coming here he has, he says, employed more than fifty different ones. No two of these, he has found, calls moose in exactly the same way. Some of them call very softly, muffling the sound as much as possible. Others blow a bold challenge note. The bulls will respond to either though Mr. Hodgkins says the muffled call has been the most successful in his experience. The explanation he thinks is not so much in the nature of the call as curiosity on the part of the bull moose.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

Wash oilcloths and linoleums with warm water and Sunlight Soap, rinse clean and wipe dry. The colors will be preserved and the surface unharmed.

Common soaps fade the colors and injure the surface. Sunlight Soap cleans, freshens and preserves oilcloths and linoleums.

Sunlight Soap washes clothes white without injury to the most delicate fabrics, or to the hands, for it contains nothing that can injure either clothes or hands.

Sunlight Soap is better than other soaps, but is best when used in the Sunlight way (follow directions).
