

DRURY CABINET READY TO ASSUME OFFICE ON FRIDAY

New Premier Has Completed His List With Selection of W. F. Nickle as Attorney-General, is Latest Report.

BUT WHAT RIDING WILL DRURY REPRESENT?

Toronto, Ont., Nov. 12.—The Drury Cabinet will be ready to assume the government of the province on Friday as originally announced. The presence in the city to-day of W. F. Nickle, K.C. Ex-M.P., and former member of the Ontario house, is expected to prove a solution to the problem with which Premier Drury has been engaged during much of the past week. With the selection of an attorney-general the Cabinet will be complete.

When on Friday the cabinet is sworn in the members are expected to assume office as follows:—

Premier and President of Council—E. C. Drury.
Attorney General—W. F. Nickle, K.C.
Minister of Lands and Forests—Beniah Bowman.
Minister of Mines—Harry Mills.
Minister of Health and Labor—Walter Rollo.
Minister of Education—H. C. Nixon.
Minister of Public Works—F. C. Biggs.
Provincial Secretary—R. H. Grant.
Provincial Treasurer—Peter Smith.
Minister of Agriculture—Manning Doherty.
Minister without portfolio—Col. S. Carmichael.

Grant for Education.

Toronto, Nov. 11.—Premier Drury announced that R. H. Grant, member of the Ontario House of Commons, had accepted the portfolio of Education, in Ontario cabinet now being formed. Mr. Drury also stated that he had wired W. F. Nickle, K.C. of Kingston offering him the portfolio of Attorney-General.

Where Will Drury Sit?
Toronto, Nov. 12.—What constituency will be represented in the legislature by Premier E. C. Drury?

It was earlier suggested by Mr. Drury himself that he would go to the electorate in Centre Simcoe which H. Murdoch, U. F. O. member by a majority of 1400, now represents.

Mr. Murdoch offered his seat to the future premier on the day when the latter was chosen to lead the U.F.O. but since that time complications have arisen which lead the Central Simcoe member to suggest that Mr. Drury find a seat elsewhere.

Mr. Drury, however, has expressed a desire that the offer of an opportunity to go to the electors in that riding be not withdrawn. He suggests that the matter be considered by the U. F. O. Executive in that riding. Contrary to the fears expressed by Mr. Murdoch that a defeat for the U.F.O. standard might result, Mr. Drury is said to have stated that he felt his election in Centre Simcoe would be realized. The present member is also said to be of the opinion that nothing should have been said of the offer publicly until the conditions had been consulted.

RAILROADERS MAY CO-OPERATE WITH LABOR COUNCILS

Running Trades Have Previously Held Aloof From Rest of Labor Movement.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 12.—The joint committee of the railroaders and conductors which is negotiating with the C.P.R., was addressed yesterday by Ald. Ernest Robinson, Secretary of the Trades and Labor Council, to pave the way towards closer cooperation between the running trades and the rest of the labor movement. It is proposed to bring this about by affiliation of the local lodges of railroad orders with various trades councils.

The running trades unions have never affiliated themselves in the past with labor councils, nor have they been affiliated at headquarters with the American Federation of Labor, although they have often cooperated with the other in legislative programs.

The Grand Lodges of the "Big Four," as the running trades are called, have recently undergone a change of mind in regard to participation in the American Federation of Labor, and it is said that there is a feeling among the rank and file of the membership in favor of a greater participation in the American Federation of Labor, in favor of a greater degree of cooperation with the rest of organized labor.

'SLEEPING SICKNESS' MAKES APPEARANCE IN WINNIPEG

Dreaded and Mysterious Disease Has Already Caused Two Deaths in Western Metropolis, With Six More Cases Now on List.

CANNOT WAKEN THE SUFFERERS

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 12.—Death has come to Winnipeg riding in a new chariot. Two deaths and at least six cases make up the present toll which physicians lay to a disease which has never before made its appearance here. Sleeping sickness is the popular term for the epidemic.

Dr. Bell has conducted two post mortem examinations of "Sleeping death" victims in Winnipeg, and under observation living sufferers from the disease. Physicians have tried to arouse the victims by tickling the soles of their feet when patients were so far sunk in coma that they showed no signs of life when prodded with a hatpin.

THE HOUSING COMMISSION ASKS FOR APPROPRIATION

Dominion Rubber System Will Make Early Start on Proposed Houses. Conference Held Last Evening.

HOUSES WILL BE MODEL STRUCTURES

Chairman J. S. Schwartz of the Housing Commission last evening was authorized by the Housing Commission to meet Mr. J. A. Ellis, Toronto, Director of Municipal Legislation, and to present to him the Commission's request for an appropriation of $600,000 for this city for the purposes of loaning money to the housing company of the Dominion Rubber System which will build at least 200 houses in this city. Mr. Schwartz will be accompanied by Mr. N. Davidson on behalf of the company.

Last evening Mr. Davidson, and Mr. J. Martin, the manager of the Dominion Tire Company, met the Commission and reported that the housing company has been formed and the necessary formalities and preliminaries with the company's executive officers completed. This had required considerable time and they regretted the delay occasioned. The Company is ready to build and it is the intention to erect at least thirty houses this fall. The necessary land has been secured. The purposes of this conference was to learn whether the Company are on the right track. If they are the next step would be for the company to announce to the Commission the land on which they propose to build, land which they own, and also lay before the Commission the plans of the houses and all details.

Chairman Schwartz replied that the Commission is only ready to assist the company and to help them in getting building under way.

As soon as the details are ready to lay before the Commission the formal application to the Department at Toronto can be made for the loan of the eight five per cent. of the cost of the houses. The housing company after getting the exact figures from the contractor who will secure the work will lay the figures on the cost before the Commission.

Mr. Davidson impressed the fact among others, that the housing company will build a class of houses which will be in keeping with the high standard of the city's houses of which all are justly proud.

Among others present were Mayor Gross, Mr. S. U. Bean, Mr. Jacob Baetz, Sr., and City Solicitor H. J. Sims.

STREET CARS IN HEAD ON COLLISION THIS MORNING

No Serious Injuries Sustained by Passengers in Crash at King and Francis Street Shortly After 8.30 O'clock

A collision between two street cars of the Kitchener-Waterloo line occurred shortly after 8.30 o'clock this morning. Fortunately no serious injuries were sustained by any one.

The crash was between car No. 20, Waterloo bound, in charge of Motorman Lachman, and car No. 22, Kitchener bound, in charge of Motorman B. Kehl. It occurred at the corner of King and Francis Streets.

The contributing factor to the cause of the accident was the thick fog which hung over the city. Car 20 had proceeded from the end of the double track section at King and Water Streets on the assumption that the other car had passed. Owing to this fog also the two motormen were not able to see each other's car and as they were going at a fair rate of speed it was too late to avoid a crash when they noticed the other car approaching.

While the passengers and motormen were badly shaken, no serious injuries resulted. Motorman Kehl had his arm bruised slightly but the injury does not prevent him from being as active as usual. A young man, Hans Hagemann, a student at the Collegiate, sustained a bruised knee.

The ends of the two cars are badly damaged, especially No. 22. The vestibule is knocked in and the motor case smashed. The air brake apparatus also is out of commission. The end of car 20 is also damaged but not to the same extent.

Enjoyed House-boat Party

Dr. Chapman has had a pleasurable week's outing with a house-boat party on the St. Clair flats. The house-boat is towed by launch to the flats and is practically isolated, being about 14 miles from any village. The men do their own cooking, etc., and all own the most enormous appetites. The doctor and a friend were lucky enough to get 120 ducks in two weeks.

PASS FOUR MILLION MARK

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—Victory loan totals at noon were Ontario $219,224,666; Dominion $392,212,788, but as this does not include Monday and Tuesday totals from New Brunswick and Alberta and Tuesday totals from five other provinces it is certain four hundred million mark has been passed.

THE EFFECT OF STEEL STRIKE

Local Manufacturer Queried About Same.

CANADIAN BLOWER & FORGE A BUSY PLANT.

"Yes, we do feel the effects of it," Manager A. S. Caswell of the Canadian Blower and Forge Company, Ltd., said when asked whether there is any noticeable effect of the steel strike in the United States.

Mr. Caswell informed the Record that it is difficult to get shipments of sheets. Orders for sheets which were placed months ago have not been received by the plant stocks from which foundries and forging plants have been drawing are running low and in many cases are exhausted. Should the strike not be settled soon the situation will become very serious and many a shop will certainly be up against the inability to get its raw products.

The Canadian Blower and Forge plant is busy with orders and all the raw material available. The company continues to enjoy a good share of export trade. Forges, blowers and other divers lines are being turned out for New Zealand, Australia and South Africa. Orders for heaters also have been received from England. The only difficulty is the scarcity of bolts.

The company has about 150 men on its pay roll, more than at any time, not including the period during which the plant was engaged on war-orders.

EXPECTED SUBS WOULD FORCE A 'USABLE PEACE'

Former Minister of German Navy Gives Interesting Evidence in War Investigation.

BERLIN, Nov. 12.—Vice admiral Von Capelle, former Minister of the Navy, was summoned at the National Assembly sub-committee investigation into the war with questions as to why the submarine campaign was not avoided and why more submarines were not built. Forty-five submarines were built before the war, the admiral told the committee, and 775 during the war, of which 579 were ordered by Von Capelle during his two and half years of office the latter part of the war. Asked whether the submarine campaign was planned with the purpose of crushing Britain or merely compelling agreement to a "Usable" peace, the admiral said: "We believed we could force England to a 'Usable peace' in five months."

OBSERVANCE OF THE ANNIVERSARY

G. W. V. A. Held Successful Smoker.

The first anniversary of Armistice Day was fittingly celebrated by the returned men of the Twin Cities who were among the hundreds of thousands of Canadians who made a victorious peace possible. Last evening a smoker was held in the G.W.V.A. quarters. It was a successful event in every way. About four hundred members and friends were present. A splendid program of musical numbers, addresses and other entertaining features was provided.

The Program
Mr. Atkinson of the Canadian Consolidated Pelt Company gave the audience the benefit of his ability in sketching. The ease and skill with which he handled the pencil and the original ideas which he put on paper in quick order, besides the humor and wit in the same were much appreciated. Mr. Wrenn entertained the hearers with the guitar and peppery Southern song.

Rev. H. Lang-Ford spoke briefly, alluding to the significance of the day, the first anniversary of the victorious peace, the thanks for which are owing to the returned men.

Popular songs recalling the life overseas were sung in which everybody joined.

An address was delivered by Mr. S. J. Williams who among other things alluded to the fact that the British flag is the best in the world. Further he pointed out that the great war veterans would justly play a big part in the problems of the future.

Pte. Leacock delighted the audience with his musical voice. Several songs were pleasingly rendered.

A brief address was also delivered by Dr. J. F. Honsberger, who among other things contrasted the observance of the armistice last year in civil life where there was jubilation and revelry and at the front where the eager Allied soldiers suddenly were dumbfounded when they learned the enemy had quit and there was nothing for the former to fight them. He added that he always had and always will have the kindest feelings for the returned men.

Mr. Eager, attired in Scottish kilts, sang several comic numbers to the delight of all.

Mr. Carlo Bauer, the well-known vocalist, also gave the audience the benefit of his ability.

A general social hour followed.

Capt. D. G. McIntosh, president of the local G.W.V.A., presided as chairman.

A letter has been received by Postmaster E. H. Lindner from Los Angeles, Calif., asking him to hand over $10 enclosed in the letter to a Miss Grey who formerly kept a millinery store here. If the former owner cannot be located the money is to be given to some charitable purpose.

MINERS GOING BACK TO WORK

Workers Will Continue on Strike Only in Isolated Cases.

Indianapolis Ind., Mon. 12.—The reports on the number of men returning to work are slow in reaching international headquarters of the mine workers, chiefly because of the order rescinding the strike call of Oct. 15 has not been received in many districts and because many local unions will hold meetings before deciding whether to return to the mines. Despatches received up to this time while not clearly defining the attitude as a whole are believed to indicate that workers will continue on strike only in isolated cases.

MANY DELEGATES IN ATTENDANCE

The annual Convention of the Knights and Ladies of the Macabees met this morning in the C. O. hall with a good attendance of delegates from all centres of the district. The convention is graced with the presence of Sir Knight S. W. Trusler of Camanche while other prominent Macabees from Hamilton, St. Thomas, London, Waterloo, Kitchener and other places are in attendance. This evening the delegates will be the guests of the local order to a social concert when prominent speakers will be heard and all members and friends are specially invited to be present.

David Livingston. The four had been active in suppressing radical activities in this community.

The reason for the attack had not been fully today but it was said

SOME JOKER STARTED THIS

Reported That Farmers Could Not Drive on Highway Without Rubber Tired Wheels.

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—Reports have been circulated around stating that the farmers could not drive along the Hamilton highway because of the wheels not being rubber tired. When questioned this morning as to the truth of the report the Toronto-Hamilton highway offices said: "The report is incorrect, farmers may drive on the highway at any time with their rigs but they cannot run tractors on the road because it has been found that they dig up the concrete."

MANAGEMENT OF G.T.R. WILL NOT BE CHANGED NOW

Probably a Year Before Board of Arbitration Brings in its Award on Value of Stock.

OTTAWA, Nov. 12.—To all intents and purposes there will be no immediate change in the management and operation of the G.T.R. by reason of the legislation which passed parliament last session. It will be the better part of a year before the board of arbitration under Mr. Justice Cassels of the exchequer court has brought in its award and has fixed the value of the preferred and common stock through the acquisition of which, in return for Dominion non-voting bonds to the value of the award, the government becomes owner of the system.

Meanwhile the agreement must be approved by the shareholders of the company.

Auctioneers at Rochester, N. Y., agreed to adopt a blue flag in place of the red emblem so long associated with their production.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE NOT IN FAVOR HERE

Would be Serious Drain on Dominion Finances, Says Minister of Labor.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Canada is preparing keen fight against obligatory provisions in the draft on unemployment now before the International Labor Conference.

The clause to which exception is taken by the Canadian delegates refers to reciprocity in unemployment insurance. It provides that "States Signatories of this convention which have established systems of unemployment insurance shall make arrangements whereby workers belonging to one such state and employed by another, shall be admitted to the benefits of such insurance upon terms to be agreed upon between the states concerned."

Canadians take the position that there should be no obligation to extend the benefits of unemployment insurance to the workers of any other country, that the clause should be optional. When the draft came before a sub-committee on unemployment, Henry Robertson, Minister of Labor, declared that the Dominion Government could not assent to any such obligatory provisions as were proposed. There were at the present time, he said, over 300,000 foreigners in Canada over the age of sixteen years. To have to extend the benefits of any unemployment question scheme to these would mean a serious drain on Dominion finances.

In times of financial difficulties the Locheoans, residents of the southwestern islands of Japan, sometimes pawn the graves of their relatives. They are always redeemed, however, failure to do so meaning family disgrace.

How Much Tobacco Will My Heart Stand

A Question Vital to Every Man Who Smokes or Chews

IS ANY COST A PRECIOUS LIFE TO BE LIVED OUT BY EXPERIMENT.

The heart of every user of tobacco bears a double burden. It does its allotted duty and then adds nicotine for its own. As long as the heart wins the battle when it loses he dies, but before the final victory of nicotine you pass through many stages of decline and decay and suffer many pains. Heart is a main bulwark—some are stronger than others; therefore, some hearts will stand more tobacco than others, but there is a limit to what any heart can stand. If you put this additional strain on his heart a dozen times a day by smoking cigarettes, a pipe or cigars, or chewing tobacco, is taking a madman's chance with health and life to lose and nothing to win but the chance that he may not lose them. He is indulging in a habit that is the expense of precious health. Ask any doctor anywhere, and he will tell you that using tobacco is a habit that is far better to quit the habit than to experiment to find how much tobacco your heart will stand without serious results.

But the thought of quitting is unpleasant to most men—even to those who know that tobacco injures them—and to really quit takes more will power than the habit and comes more suffering than the habit and comes more suffering than the habit and comes more suffering than the habit.

habit make it easy for yourself by getting Nicotol tablets and taking them as directed. The habit really quits you, and its departure is a pleasure equal to its indulgence.

If you want to know how much easier it is to quit the habit with Nicotol than without it, go twenty-four hours without tobacco and note what an effort it costs you; then begin using it as usual and take Nicotol tablets. At the end of a week discontinue smoking or chewing for a day, and it is probable you will have no desire to resume. At least your desire will be greatly diminished, and another week or two should make it not only possible, but a pleasure to quit.

48-HOUR WEEK TO COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—The proposed convention of the 48-hour week, with all amendments and suggestions in relation thereto, goes to a special committee of the international labor conference. On that committee there will be three Canadian representatives, Senator Robertson, to represent the Dominion Government, S. R. Parsons for Canadian employers, and H. M. Harper for the Canadian workers.

THE HIGH COST OF LOAFING

We are confronted by a condition, not a theory. Prices are high, and show tendency to go higher. Wages are high, with an upward trend. When prices rise, wages must follow. When wages go up, prices must keep pace. The wage-earner demands that prices drop while wages remain stationary or even continue to go up, the employer of labor has about given hope of declining wages, but insists that prices must rise while wages stay put. And between the two millstones, right in the dead centre of the vicious circle, are some millions of salaried workers who, call upon Heaven to witness that whatever happens they must pay.

To the demand for a solution of this puzzling mess there are many answers. We are not going to invade the field of the economist to venture an opinion upon the thousand and one panaceas that have been put forward, for we are not at home in that field. But there is one proposition which can of the mysteries of economics, one that is mathematical in its simplicity, direct in its bearings, and clearly within our field.

If we hire a boy to pick blueberries at a dollar a day, and he picks ten quarts, the cost is ten cents per quart. If he doubles his output he cuts the cost to five cents. If he knocks off in the middle of the day to go swimming, and reports at quitting time with only five quarts, the cost goes up to twenty cents, and if he himself comes around the next day to buy blueberries, he may kick at the price based on this figure but he must pay it.

All this is plain enough. There is no reason why the application of a principle in other fields should not be equally plain. If a linotype operator or a lathe hand or a carpenter or a railroad repair man or anybody else on the world loafs on his job and thereby slows down his production he automatically increases the cost per unit of his product. If he is working for the Government, he may not thereby increase its price to the consumer—which means himself and everybody else, but even the Government, while it doesn't have to earn its keep, has to meet its deficits, so he at least raises taxes his own and everybody's else.

In no uncertain terms Mr. Wilson pointed out to the railroad men that the remedy for high prices is not decreased production. His remarks had to do with production decreased through organized refusal to work at all, they are just as applicable to individual refusal to work, to work full time, and to work effectively. The world faces a shortage of every manufactured article, and at the same time a shortage of labor. It is perhaps natural, now that there are more jobs than men, for the worker to loaf, but the law of demand is still doing business at the old stand—even in Russia where it was officially abolished. If demand exceeds supply prices must rise until demand drops way you can possibly make 100 pair of shoes go around 200 prospective buyers is to put the price where half the buyers can't reach it. On the other hand, if supply exceeds demand, prices must fall until they attract new buyers to swell the demand.

The law of demand is still doing business at the old stand—even in Russia where it was officially abolished. If demand exceeds supply prices must rise until demand drops way you can possibly make 100 pair of shoes go around 200 prospective buyers is to put the price where half the buyers can't reach it. On the other hand, if supply exceeds demand, prices must fall until they attract new buyers to swell the demand.

There is just one way to force prices down under present conditions—that is for us all to produce so much of everything that at the same time prices can and must go down. Cut the cost and boost the supply and prices must drop. But as long as we go on cutting the supply and boosting the cost by loafing on our jobs, prices will hold their upward course. Scientific American.

BALTIC STATES CONFER

DORPAT, Livonia, Nov. 11.—Delegates of the Baltic states summoned to meet at the Baltic conference on Sunday and Monday. The first general meeting with representatives of Finland, the Ukraine and Poland in attendance was held this afternoon. White Russia was also represented. So far there has only been an exchange of views on the question of an armistice with Bolsheviki and the formation of a border states league.

MEETING WAS NOT HELD.

Paris, Nov. 10.—Although to-day had been set as the date for a meeting between representatives of Germany and delegates of Great Britain, France and Italy, to discuss the proposed protocol to German Peace Treaty, in which Germans are expected to bind themselves to live up to the armistice conditions, the discussion didn't take place. The Italian delegate if development was not ready for conference.

The Economical Farmer So far, $6,200,000 has been spent on the new Parliament Buildings at Ottawa.

While it is hoped that the new structure will be ready for the next session, there is no doubt that two millions more at least will be expended before the job is completed.

Since the Farmers are thinking of using the costly residence of the Lieut. Governor at Toronto to house soldiers, it may be that if the Farmers obtain power at Ottawa, the elected members will never have the privilege of showing their constituents the gorgeous chambers in which they now expect to do the business of the country.

Making Divorce Cheaper and Easier With the exception of Ontario and Quebec, every province in Canada has its own divorce courts, where unfortunately-mated couples may take the necessary steps to get back into a state of single blessedness.

Last session, Mr. Nickle succeeded in getting the assent of the House of Commons to a Divorce Bill, whereby divorce courts would be established in all the provinces. However, the session ended before the bill reached the Senate and now, if ever, the work will have to be done all over again. Mr. Nickle is no longer a member and it may be that the bill will not be re-introduced.

The Senate a Divorce Court At present, Ontario and Quebec people must obtain their divorces by bringing their cases before the Senate. The privilege of hearing the evidence is thought to be highly appreciated by the ancient gentlemen of that body. But the whole procedure is very costly. Witnesses must be brought to Ottawa, bills printed and lawyers paid, and usually each case involves an expenditure of not less than a thousand dollars.

Easy for the Rich Only This divorce is possible only for the wealthy man. In Canada, the law recognizes practically only one valid reason for granting divorce—that of adultery. If there is to be any law at all for the annulment of marriage, the latter should be attainable at reasonable expense, under proper safeguards, through the ordinary courts.

Four or five divorces only were granted at the present session of Parliament, but there is already a waiting list of fifty more for the next session.

SOFT WORDS OF NO AVAIL
Soft words butter no turnips and it would be foolish to be other than frank with regard to certain aspects of the present Victory Loan campaign. It is certain that some disappointment has been experienced by those who have charge of that campaign at the apathy of the farming community in certain sections of Canada. This was markedly true at the end of the first week of the drive, when it appeared that only one farmer out of sixty had on the average subscribed to Bonds. On the other hand the people of the towns and cities who have perhaps less reason to recognize the gains of the existing agricultural prosperity have shown a commendable enthusiasm and foresight.

Disappointment is also mingled with surprise, for the farmer of all men, can least afford to permit the present Loan to end in a partial failure. The overseas market, financed by credits to Great Britain and European countries, has yielded enormous returns to the agricultural interest; and its maintenance is wholly dependent on a generous over-subscription to the present Loan. If the sum realized is inadequate to permit the maintenance of credits on their present scale the farmer will be the first to suffer. There is no time for excuses or arguments as to the justification for apathy. The time between now and the close of the subscription sheets is too short. Every farmer must make up his mind now what he is going to do to help in this great Loan so clearly framed in his interest.

TO-DAY'S EVENTS

Ten years ago to-day occurred the great mine disaster at Cherry, Ill., in which more than 300 men lost their lives.

Seventeen of the larger typewriter and calculating machine companies of the United States have been cited by the Federal Trade Commission to appear in Washington to-day to answer complaints charging unfair competition.

Important present-day problems, with particular reference to the part that the colored race must bear to their permanent solution, will be discussed by prominent speakers at a readjustment and reconstruction congress which is to meet in Washington to-day under the auspices of Howard University.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

Aristide Briand, who is looked upon as a probable successor to M. Clemenceau, has already been six times Premier of France. In a country where meteoric careers are the rule, M. Briand's rise to prominence was marked by its swiftness. Two decades ago he was unknown except among the members of his own party, the Revolutionary Socialists. Beginning life as a lawyer in a small provincial town, he later went to Paris and there turned his attention to politics and to journalism rather than to law. His opportunity came when he was appointed reporter of the Church and State Separation bill. His work in this post was marked by exceptional ability and the result was his appointment as Minister of Instruction and Public Worship. Two years later he was appointed Minister of Justice, and in 1911 he became Premier for the first time. In every office to which he has been called M. Briand has displayed great ability and strength of character. He is also an orator of extraordinary power and eloquence.

"How is it, Sandy," asked a visitor of a Scotch coal merchant, "that you quote the lowest prices and yet you can make money?"
"Well, it's this way," explained Sandy in an undertone. "Ye see, I knock off two shillings a ton because a customer is a freen o' mine, and then I knock off two hundred weight a ton because I'm a freen o' his."

He Stoops to Conquer
"Gee, but it's late! Will your wife get up and let you in when you get home?"
"I'll make her. I'll scratch on the door and whine and she'll think her dog's been locked out."

Proof to the Contrary
There is a certain long-suffering father whose nerves sometimes give way under the constant fire of questions from his talkative eight-year-old son.
"Dad," asked the youngster, just as the old man had one evening settled down for a perusal of his newspaper. "Dad, am I made of dust?"
"I think not," responded the unhappy parent, "otherwise you'd dry up now and then."

Scare Up There
"Mamma," said little five-year-old Stanley, "do only good little boys go to heaven?"
"Yes, dear," replied the mother.
"Well," continued the youthful observer, "i that's the case boys must be rather scarce up there."

Magistrate: "Did I understand you to say that the parties used high words?"
Witness: "Their voices were pitched rather high but the words used were extremely low."

SUFFERED IF SHE WALKED A BLOCK

Mrs. Smith Was in a Run Down Nervous Condition Before She Took Tanlac.

The list of testimonials in behalf of the merits of Tanlac grows daily as new tests of its powers are made. Mrs. A. F. Smith, of 614 South 8th St., East Cedar Rapids, Iowa, testifies her experience with the medicine, recently said:

"For the last three years I have suffered from indigestion, gas on my stomach, nervousness and constipation and, as I had used many different kinds of medicines and kept getting worse, I was beginning to think there was no help for me. I had gotten in such a run down, weak and nervous condition that I could not walk a block without suffering intense pain and was in no shape to do anything."

"But I am feeling altogether different now and I want to tell the people that it is because of what Tanlac has done for me. It has helped me just like those whose statements I read in the paper said it helped them. I had not finished my first bottle until I was feeling better in every way. I have used four bottles now and my stomach is in condition to where I can eat just anything without an uncomfortable feeling afterwards. My nerves are in better shape than they have been in years. Before taking Tanlac I could not rest well at night, but now I can sleep like a child and that tired, worn feeling has left me. Tanlac certainly is a grand medicine and I never lose an opportunity to recommend it to my friends and neighbors."

Tanlac is sold in Kitchener by E. O. Ritz and Co., in Galt by E. W. Meekieham, in Hespler by Jno. R. Phin, in New Hamburg by W. H. Boule, in Milbank by R. E. Hamilton, in West by A. E. Richert and Co., in Freelon by H. L. Frick, in Waterloo by A. B. Learn, in Doon by L. C. Bullock.

Letter to News Record

To the Editor:
The marvellous growth of the City of Kitchener, during recent years, becomes a problem for interesting contemplation. This progress is not only great but it is varied and substantial, embracing manufacturing plants of all kinds, from collars and cuffs to automobile tires. Between these two extremes there is a large number of concerns, supplying the demand for a vast variety of goods required. It certainly would be an oversight to omit mentioning that Kitchener has in its limits the largest tannery in the Dominion, as well as furniture establishments of the greatest importance. When manufacturing concerns employ from fifteen hundred to two thousand hands constantly (and Kitchener will have more than one of these in the near future), the value of all real estate increases as these institutions multiply. The general drift from a commercial standpoint to-day is the amalgamation of smaller institutions into larger ones. Where a few years ago there were active flourishing towns and villages scattered throughout the country, with various shops and manufacturing establishments, we now find that these have ceased and the workmen together with many of the inhabitants moved into larger places.

What is the cause of the notorious influx of manufacturing institutions and citizens generally into the city of Kitchener? If there were dwelling houses sufficient available the population of the city would immediately increase by a couple of thousands. It is true that the city is not blessed with any navigable stream or other waterway but we have the two main lines of railway in Canada so that our shipping facilities are of no mean order.

The standard of education in this city has always been high. It may be said, too, that one of this city's attractive features is its faithful, energetic and industrious class of working people. Another feature which must not be lost sight of is the fact that this city differs from nearly every other city, because it has no slums. Of course there are a multitude of other reasons that could be assigned why this city is so attractive to manufacturers and others, but one thing is evident, that in the vast number of manufacturing institutions that are locating here and adding upon the city, a responsibility in proportion to such increase, demanding the best talent available, to fill the municipal offices in up-to-date style consistent with economy and efficiency. THE FRIDE OF LLEWELLYN

By Mrs. E. Southworth

CHAPTER IV. THE DISCOVERY.

As soon as Arthur had left her Gladys went to her own room, and shut herself up.
"How much she had lived in the last two days! The letters from the dead, the breaking off of her marriage, the return of her betrothed. All these events had crowded her life with a host of thoughts and feelings and emotions that she could in no way bring into harmony. All was chaos.
Restless through all this confusion of thought, she started up with the intention of going out for a ramble through the autumnal woods. But when she put her hand on the knob of her door, she found that it was locked on the outside. She was a prisoner in her own room. Now, Gladys had a high spirit—she was not a child—and a bad temper. Finding herself subjected to the insults and inconveniences of personal confinement and restraint, she fastened, and then knocked. "Please, miss, I can't open the door."
"Isn't the key on the other side?"
"Then go down to Mrs. Llewellyn, and give her my compliments, and say that I desire to see her in my own room."
"Yes, miss," said the girl, retreating.
Ten minutes elapsed, and then the sound of soft footsteps was heard approaching. A key was placed in the lock and turned, the door was opened and Mrs. Llewellyn entered, and carefully locked the door after her, and withdrew the key and put it in her pocket.
Gladys was standing in the middle of the room, with her slight figure drawn up to its proud height, her cheeks flushed, her nostrils quivering and her eyes blazing with indignation.
"Well, my love, you sent for me. What is your wish?" inquired the lady, calmly, sinking into an easy chair.
"I wish to know, madam, what is the meaning of this insult that is offered to my father's daughter?" demanded Gladys, turning upon her.
"What insult, my dear?" coolly replied the lady, adjusting the ribbons that adorned her dress.
Gladys, speechless with rage, silently pointed to the locked door.
"Oh, if you mean that I will tell you. Sit down, my dear—sit down. Do not stand there, burning and quivering and palpitating, like a bombshell ready to explode. Sit down, while I answer your question."
"I think, madam, that I will never sit down in the same room with you again! And I tell you now, that if I ever had any saving doubt about the history of those letters, that doubt is removed by your conduct of to-day!"
"Gladys, how dare you! What do you mean? Sit there, if you prefer to do so. The attitude is at least more respectful. But take care that you give me no insolence. I will not bear that, said the lady haughtily. "Will you explain your conduct, madam?"
"Certainly. I am your legal guardian, standing in the place of your deceased parents, holding a high trust."
"A trust that you have betrayed on that point," exclaimed Gladys, with flashing eyes.
"Silence, miss! Silence, this instant! Or I will teach you not only by personal restraint but by personal chastisement, that you are absolutely in my power, and bound to obey my will. I will have you to reflect upon this with what profit you may, and when you are in a meeker mood I will come to you again," said the lady haughtily.
And with these words she withdrew from the room, and locked the door behind her leaving Gladys transfixed with amazement and burning with rage.
"Good Heaven!" exclaimed the girl, starting and rushing up and down the floor. "Am I awake or is this a hideous, mocking dream? What was that she dared to say? Or could I have heard aright? Did she threaten me—with personal?—Al! the wretch! If she had laid the weight of her hand upon me I should have—Now I know how it is that people may be driven to—To threaten me, me who was never degraded by a blow in all my childhood and infancy! Me whose person was always sacred from such violence, even by my own mother and father and nurse! Heavens! If she had struck me, I should have—Yes, I should have killed her! Yes, I should have killed her!"

SCHELL BROS.

Suddenly, as she said this in the transports of her rage, Gladys threw back her head. And as she did so, her eyes fell upon a picture hanging above the mantelpiece. As she looked upon this picture she became perfectly still, her face that was convulsed with rage grew calm, the fire died out of her blazing cheeks, tears filled her eyes.
"Heaven forgive me," she softly breathed, "Heaven forgive me. What an I, poor child of dust, that I should grow furious at the bare threat of an outrage that Thou, the Son of God, didst bear without a murmur? Oh, Saviour, by Thy infinite love, give me a portion of Thy infinite meekness," said Gladys, sinking on her knees and melting into tears.
What was the picture that had moved Gladys so deeply? That had arrested her, in the very tempest and whirlpool of her passion and had softened and subduer her, and brought her to her knees?
It was a simple engraving from "Ecce Homo" of Corregio. It represented our Saviour bleeding from the recent scourging, crowned with thorns and wrapped in the mocking purple robes at the moment Pilate presented him to the Jews saying: "Behold the man." The artist had caught the spirit of the text, and the divine patience in that picture face subdued the angry passions of the beholder.
When Gladys arose from her kneeling posture, she sat down by the open window, and leaning her elbow on the sill, looked out upon the peaceful scenes of nature. Unders her eyes lay the ornamental ground, immediately around Kader Idris.

Will Anyone Else Do?

IN placing a Long Distance telephone call, users sometimes ask to speak to a particular person in the distant city, whereas it would serve their purpose equally well to talk to anyone else at that person's telephone or in his office.

"Particular person" long distance service takes from 2 to 5 times as much circuit time as a call from telephone to telephone, and the operating labor is much greater.

Oftentimes of course, "particular person" service is necessary. We suggest, however, that where possible when placing a long distance call you tell the operator that "anyone at that number will do."

The saving of time is worth while.

BULBS FOR BRIGHTENING

Outdoor Culture of Hardy Spring Flowering Bulbs.

An Open Situation Desirable and Reasonable Care in Planting With Protection During the First Winter—Fall Pasture for Stock.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

THERE is probably no class of plants that gives more satisfaction and are more thoroughly appreciated by the flower lover than a collection of spring flowering bulbs, flowering as they do from quite early in spring, even before the winter covering of snow has entirely left us, until well on into the early months of summer before but very few of the other border plants are in flower. Their bright flowers are doubly acceptable on this account.

Location.—Bulbs are best planted where there is good drainage and where no surface water lies in winter or early spring. When planted in masses or beds, it is best to have the soil in the centre of the bed a few inches higher than the margin, so as to pitch the water off readily. Bulbs succeed best planted in an open situation and not too close under buildings or under the dense shade of trees. For the later flowering kinds of bulbs, however, that flower about the end of May, such as the Darwin type of tulip, a little shade prolongs the length of the blooming season considerably.

Soil.—The best kind of soil for bulbs is a moderately rich, light, loamy soil. They will succeed fairly well in a sandy soil, but do not give as fine blooms as in soil of a loamy nature. If the soil is of a clayey nature, dig in some sand or black soil from the bush, or both, to lighten it. Fresh strawy manure should never be dug into the soil when planting. If manure is applied at planting time, it should be well decayed, barnyard manure, almost the nature of the soil itself, even then it should be dug in an inch or two underneath the bulbs so as not to touch them.

When to Plant Bulbs.—The best time for planting outdoor bulbs is about the second or third week in October, although bulbs may be planted until the ground is frozen over for the winter, even as late as the end of November or early in December. Later planted bulbs do not, as a rule, however, give as good results. The soil should be thoroughly dug and raked fine before planting.

Depth to Plant.—All of these smaller growing bulbs should be planted from two to three inches under the soil and quite thickly together, an inch and a half or two inches apart, to give a good effect. The Tulips, Dutch Hyacinths and Narcissus grow about twelve to eighteen inches in height and can be dotted in masses or blocks in flower beds, or in groups more towards the back of a perennial border. They are also very effective plantings in groups among or around shrubs. Tulips and Narcissus should be planted about four inches under the surface of the soil and about six inches apart. A group of these of a circular or oval shape, fifteen to twenty inches in diameter, especially Narcissus, has a very pleasing and bright effect in early spring, dotted here and there over the perennial or mixed border.

Protecting Bulbs in Winter.—All bulbs, especially late planted ones, are best protected during the first winter, as it prevents the bulbs from heaving and lifting. Bulbs that have become well established in the border require very little if any protection in winter. Long, strawy manure, straw or coarse grass about three or four inches in depth, make a good winter covering. Green pine boughs laid over the manure prevent unsightliness. Pine boughs alone make a good winter protection. Dutch Hyacinths especially need some protection in winter, as they are not as hardy as Tulips and Narcissus. The covering should be taken off about the end of March or early in April, when the weather has become settled. Remove the covering part at a time, taking away the wet underneath part first and replacing an inch or so of the lighter part for a week or so until the top growth of bulbs becomes hardened to the weather. Hot sun is often as injurious to bulb growth as late spring frosts.

Hardy Kinds to Plant.—Tall growing, 1 to 2 feet:
Narcissus—Emperor, Empress, Bicolor Victoria, Golden Spur, Poeticus ornatus, Barri sonpiscus, Mrs. Langtry, Stella, Poeticus Elvira.
Tulips—Darwin, Cottage Garden and Early Flowering in variety.
Dwarf-growing kinds, 6 inches to 1 foot high—Crocus in variety, Scilla, Chionodoxa (Glow of the Snow), Leucojum (Snowflake). The Paper White Narcissus, Chinese Sacred Lily, and the Roman Hyacinths are not hardy enough for planting out of doors. They are only useful for growing indoors.—W. H. Hunt, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Pasture Necessary for Stock In Fall.

One of the essential factors in keeping live stock in good condition through the fall and early winter, which is highly important, is good fall pasture, says Andrew Ross, vice-director of the Minnesota Experiment Station. Nothing excels the grasses for pasture, though mixtures of the grasses and clover are better than either grasses or clover alone and furnish the best kind of feed for all kinds of stock. Where an abundance of cultivated grasses can be obtained for pasture no further attention need be given the subject. Meadow after-math containing clover, or timothy and clover, makes good fall feed. Clover growing in the stubble field is also an excellent fall pasture.

RIOTING IN CORK

CORK, Nov. 11.—Constant collision between the military and civilians here culminated in serious rioting last night when soldiers, enraged in consequence of frequent attacks, broke through the police and came into conflict with the crowd. Sticks and stones were freely used and belts were removed and forcefully swung. There were also a few revolver shots. A captain and a private of the troops were badly wounded. The police eventually dispersed the crowd and got the soldiers back to their barracks.

FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

THE GOAT

By Abeline Mac Givray

"How do you do? I hope you're well today," cried Bert Russell, doffing his cap and bowing with extreme politeness. But Clarence passed by scornfully without even casting a glance in his direction.

"Dear and dumb, are you, Clarence?" inquired Bert, with an air of great concern. "Or is it pride? Oh, Clarence, pride is a terrible thing."

"You're no gentleman or you wouldn't go around insulting people. Why don't you go home and shine your shoes. They're filthy!" Burst out Clarence.

Bert blushed and said as if to himself: "Not deaf and dumb. Only proud. Pride goeth before a fall!"

Clarence bit his lip and strode off with his chin in the air. Suddenly he tripped and fell sprawling on the pavement. Bert had thrust a stick in front of him and laid him low.

"Now see what you've done," cried Clarence, rising wrathfully. "You've made me ruin my trousers. Just because you're dirty and sloppy is no reason why you should ruin my clothes."

"Oh, I'm so sorry!" cried Bert, with fawning eyes. "Let me help dust you off." And he began treating him as if he were a dusty carpet, whaling him energetically with his stick.

"Hi, quit that," squealed Clarence. "That hurts."

"Why don't you bluff him?" asked a sweet voice close by. "You're as big as he."

Clarence turned around and saw Grace Evans watching them.

"I wouldn't fight such a common chap," he said. "I'll get dirty if I touched him." And he looked down with a pleased smile at his own natty clothes which he was so careful not to muss or soil.

"I'd rather get a little dirty than stand for all that teasing," said Grace with a flash in her blue eyes.

"Isn't worth it," Clarence said, pulling down the cuffs of his silk shirt so they would show more. He then took out a silk handkerchief and waved it about so his two friends might smell the perfume on it. Grace looked a little impressed but Bert sniffed "Sney!" and strode away.

When Clarence reached home he was met by his sister June at the gate. "Oh, Clarence!" she cried. "What do you think? Daddy has bought a goat for Cousin Bob's birthday. And the goat's in our back yard and it's going to be taken to Cousin Bob's the first thing tomorrow. It's a beauty. It has horns and the nicest, white silky coat."

Clarence hurried through the house to see the animal when a well-known voice from the kitchen called: "Oh, Missa Clarence, won't you all git a

"I'd Rather Get a Little Dirty Than Stand For All That Teasing," said Grace soothing him to rest when he was little nor the many steps those old feet in the floppy carpet slippers had taken for him. No, all he thought was: "I wish Ma would get a cook with some style to her."

The next day was Saturday and at breakfast his father said: "Well, Clarence, since you don't have to go to school today you might take the goat to your Cousin Bob's and wish him a happy birthday."

"Oh, can't I go too?" June asked.

"No, pet," her father replied. "It's too far. Goats aren't allowed on the street cars so Clarence will have to lead it and it's three miles to your cousin's."

Clarence went and put on his best clothes and a red tie and shined up his shoes and started out with the goat, feeling very important. "Here's car fare to ride back," called his mother as he left the house.

It was still quite early and he met few people on his way, but he did meet Bert.

Bert was for walking along beside Clarence, but the latter turned and said coldly: "Keep away. I don't wish to walk with you."

"Oh very well, your lordship," replied Bert dropping back.

It was a very pleasant walk to Cousin Bob's and the way led a bit out of town. Clarence was handsomely greeted, thanked and given some cookies. He decided, since it was a drinking soda. There were several lady customers too. As Clarence bought a check and sat down at the counter he noticed that everyone had a pocket handkerchief out. Bert was all dressed up as neat as a pin, for he had been shamed by Clarence the day before, but he had evidently forgotten his handkerchief for he was holding his nose between his thumb and finger.

"What is that dreadful odor?" one of the lady customers asked the clerk.

"Don't know, ma'am," the clerk replied, setting down a long pink drink before Clarence. "Ain't it horrible?"

"It smells like something dead," said another customer.

"Little boy," the clerk said, looking straight at Clarence. "I believe it's you. It came in when you did."

"Ho-ho!" laughed Bert and the other boys. "Pshaw, Clarence!"

"I just can't eat my ice cream," Grace complained. "It's making me sick."

"I don't smell anything," said Clarence, and the other cried: "Where's your nose?"

One of the ladies had been sniffing the air quietly and now she said in a firm voice: "I know what that smell is—it's goat."

"Goat!" cried Clarence turning white with horror and shame.

"Ho-ho!" laughed Bert. "He's it. I saw his goat!"

"I'll have to ask you to just step outside and finish that soda," the clerk said, holding his nose tight, "the other customers object to you."

Red with shame Clarence rose, leaving his favorite drink untouched, and ran out of the store and home as fast as he could. Upstairs he dashed and threw off his clothes. Bert came down in an old suit and stuck his head in the kitchen door.

"Marm Liddy," he asked in a meek voice, "do you want some coal from the cellar?"

For Clarence had learned his lesson. "Style isn't everything," he said to himself.

THE JUNIOR COOK

CHESTNUT STUFFING

If you are allowed to help stuff the Thanksgiving turkey, you must watch the cupboard for a few days before to see that every single scrap of bread is saved for the dressing.

On the day before Thanksgiving, crumb all the bread scraps very fine. You should have enough to measure about two and one-half quarts (10 cups). When the turkey is crumbed, set it in a dry place till Thanksgiving morning.

Put the crumbs into a big bowl, arrange a hollow in the top of the pile of crumbs and put all seasons in this hollow.

Shell and blanch 1 pint of chestnuts. Grind or grind and put on the crumbs, with

1 teaspoonful celery salt,
1/2 teaspoonful sage (if this flavor is liked),
3 tablespoonful meat drippings (bacon fat is best),
Four into a saucepan 1 pint (2 cups) milk and bring to a boil.

Pour scalding milk right over the seasons that are on the crumbs.

When it has cooled 2 minutes, take a big fork and gently mix the dressing till seasons are all through the moistened crumbs.

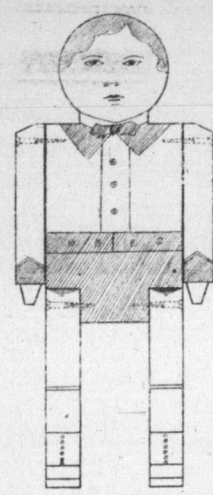

The dressing is now ready to be packed into the turkey. If there is too much, mold it into a ball and bake it in the oven along with the turkey. It will be fine to eat with gravy.

This same recipe is fine for stuffing the Christmas goose.

TOYS AND USEFUL ARTICLES THAT A BOY CAN MAKE.

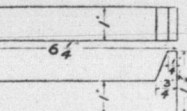

BY FRANK I. SOLAR

INSTRUCTOR, DEPT. OF FINANCIAL TRAINING, PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF DETROIT

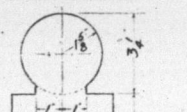

A WOODEN DOLL

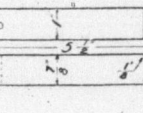

LEG PATTERN

HEAD AND BODY

ARM PATTERN

Its arms in many positions without falling over. It can also sit on the floor, stand on its head, or hands and be placed in many other amusing positions. There is no reason why it should be a boy doll if you prefer a girl, as a skirt and a bonnet will quickly transform it into a beautiful girl baby doll.

The same tools you have used for making other toys will do for this one, there are no new tool operations.

Select wood that is easy to work. It is to be painted so it is not necessary that all parts be made of the same kind of wood, any scraps can be used.

For the head and body get out a piece according to dimensions and after it is planed and sawed square, from a center line lay out the pattern. Then saw to line with a common saw wherever straight cuts are to be made and use a turning or coping saw for the curve.

Now make the legs as indicated by the leg pattern, rounding the end with a chisel and sandpaper. Bore holes for the screws a little larger than the shank of the screw and countersink for the head. If the screw is too tight the movement of the leg will soon turn it out of the body. Fasten legs to the body and see that they fit well before going farther. The arms are practically the same as the legs except that the layout work on them is not so difficult. They should fit well also, so the doll will properly balance when placed in a desired position. The drawing at the left shows that the screws will also have to be countersunk in the arms. Remove screws and sand all parts breaking the sharp edges with the sandpaper.

Layout with a pencil the features, etc., or if you are not very expert at drawing have someone do it for you. Little children who play with toys of this kind like bright colors so any combination of these colors that look well will be desirable. The pants might be blue, the shirt red, the face white, hair and features, black, the shoes black or brown, the stockings and tie green and the cuffs and collar yellow. Two coats will be necessary. Do not try to paint to a certain line with one color and continue from there on with a different color, while the first is still wet. If you do, the colors will run together spoiling the looks of the toy. Let one color dry thoroughly before applying the next. The painting will either spoil or improve the toy depending on the neatness with which it is done.

Solution to Out-Out Puzzle

DISHES

It was Jamie's task to wipe the dishes every evening. That was the way he earned his spending money. Sometimes it was very hard to be interrupted right in the midst of some exciting game to come in and wipe the old things. But a bargain is a bargain, and, of course, he never went back on his end of it. For the twenty-five cents he received every week came in mighty handy.

One evening his mother was not feeling well, so his father offered to take her place, while she lay on the couch in the living room and rested.

"Come on, old son," he said as they got up from the table. "Let's hustle and get through."

"Oh, but it's not my job to clear off the table!" objected the little boy. "I just wipe the dishes!"

"Oh, come on now and help me," coaxed his father. "If you do, I'll tell you a story."

"What about?" bargained Jamie. "His father was standing in the doorway with a cup and saucer in his hand. 'About these things,' he said, waving them about the cup almost slid off on the floor."

"All right, I'll help!" shouted Jamie, taking up a plate. "I always did wonder what dishes were made of."

So they cleared off the table and shut the door to keep the noise away from mother, and Jamie's father tied a big apron around his waist and began to dabble in the water. Then he said, "Dishes are made of clay."

"They are?" asked Jamie in surprise. "I should think they would be soft. How do they get so hard and shiny?"

"Yes, only much longer. It takes about forty-eight hours to bake a plate right. It has to be put into the oven before the fire is started and left in until it dries down, and even then it isn't ready to use."

Jamie polished the plate carefully. "How does it get so nice and shiny?" he wanted to know. "Do they paint it?"

"After it has been baked the first time it comes out hard, but not shiny. It has a dull finish and is called bisque ware. To give it that shiny look, it is dipped into a liquid made of white lead, borax and silica, and baked again. When it comes out it has a glaze on it—what you call nice and shiny."

"Is the clay that dishes are made of white, daddy?" Jamie asked. "It depends upon what grade of china it is," his father explained. "The clay used for ordinary china is kind of gray. Now, here is a fine cup that was made of a white clay called kaolin. It is as white as flour and is the very best clay for making china. Sometimes it is mixed with other kinds of clay, and used for china that is not so good. All kinds of clay have to be ground up and all the impurities taken from it. Sometimes big magnets are used to draw out any little pieces of metal that might be in it, for after it is fired they would make ugly places in the china."

"I wonder who ever thought of making dishes out of clay?" the little boy said.

"Long ago nobody but the Chinese knew how to make this fine china, for although other nations had been making china, too, it was not as fine. Of course, the Chinese wouldn't tell anybody and you know nobody was allowed to go into their country to find out. Finally, one Chinaman, who talked too much, gave the secret away while he was traveling in another country. He said it was made from a kind of clay that looked like ground wheat. So the chemists of other countries began to look for that kind of clay."

"Did they find it?" Jamie asked.

"Yes, but it took them a long time. About 1770 the King of Poland told a chemist by the name of Bottger to try to find it. Bottger wore a powdered wig, and one day when his servant brought in his wig all nicely powdered and curled, Bottger complained that it felt heavy on his head, and asked the servant, who was badly scared at his master's displeasure, what kind of powder he had used. The servant confessed he had used a new kind. Bottger ordered him to bring it in, and examined it closely. And guess what it turned out to be?"

"The white clay they were looking for?" Jamie asked.

"Yes, it was kaolin! Wasn't that a funny way to discover it? Later they found great supplies of kaolin at a place called Aue, and the King founded a pottery works there that made china called Dresden china, that became famous all over the world. The King was afraid some one else would discover how it was made, so he wouldn't let the workmen leave the castle and the clay was stored in barrels by deaf and dumb people."

"Why, he was as bad as the Chinese, wasn't he?" Jamie said. "Was that thin cup made at his pottery?"

"Oh, no, that came from Limoges, France," said his father, picking up the cup and looking at a little mark on the bottom. "Every pottery has its own mark. If you know the marks you can tell where the china is made. This is marked Haviland, and was made in a big pottery owned by an American. They get their clay right around there. It was discovered in rather a strange way. The wife of a doctor was pulling weeds in her garden and noticed some fine white soil clinging to the roots. She showed it to her husband, thinking it might be good to make soap of, and he took it to a chemist, who said it was kaolin.

"Gee, I wonder if there's any out in our garden?" cried Jamie.

"I'm afraid not," said his father. "We Americans don't seem to have the right kind of clay to make fine china."

Bang! Smash! A plate crashed to the floor and broke into a hundred pieces. It was only an old one, however, and Jamie's father held a piece for him to look at. "Now you can see the two different layers in the plate," he said. "See the dull part inside and the shiny outside covering?"

Jamie looked and sure enough he could see them.

After he had gathered up the pieces and thrown them in the waste basket he asked, "How do they make different shaped things, daddy?"

"The finest pieces are made on what is called a potter's wheel, a hard wheel on a stand that turns around very fast. The workman holds the clay over the wheel and as the wheel turns it shapes the clay into anything the workman wants, cutting away a piece here and there, pushing a bit over, rounding off an edge, and the first thing you know there is a beautiful vase or plate."

Jamie held up a cake plate with lovely red roses on it.

"How did these pretty flowers get on this plate?" he wanted to know.

"That was printed on by hand, and then baked again. But the little flowers that are on our whole set of dishes were probably transferred on, just as you transfer pictures. The gilt was printed on with stamps, but the gold on the hand-painted cake plate was put on by hand and is pure gold. After gold and flowers were on it was baked again for about 12 hours."

Without realizing it, Jamie had wiped every single dish and not once had he thought of the boys out front playing ball. As he hung up the dish-towel he said, "Gee, I don't believe I'll ever hate to wipe dishes again if I just stop to think about all the things you have told me about them."

FACTS ABOUT MEN'S HATS

There are very good reasons why you should be careful about the hat you select. Your hat mar your appearance as a good on your friend but not on you.

Buy a hat to suit your face as well as to fit your head. But be sure to try a

House of Refuge Committee Meets
The House of Refuge Committee met yesterday afternoon, there being present Warden Panabaker, Rev. E.
Bohlander, Mayor Mercer, Galt, and Mayor Gross, city. While the question of the addition to the present building was discussed it was finally decided that as the year is drawing to a close nothing further could be discussed. At the next meeting of the County Council, however, the Grand Jury recommendation will be presented to the Council with a recommendation that the matter be disposed of by next year's Council. Other matters of a routine nature were discussed.

Resignation Accepted with Regret

A business meeting of the Laf Lot Club was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Miss Myra Padden,
St. George Street, when the resignation of the President, Miss Doretta Leslie, who is about to take up her residence in Elmira was accepted with much regret by the Club members. Miss Padden was elected to be Miss Leslie's successor and as she is one of the Club's most active members they feel sure that she will capably fill the position. Regret was expressed at the removal of Miss Leslie from the city and the hope expressed that good luck would follow her in her new home. Miss Marian Shreiner was appointed Assistant Secretary. Following the business meeting dainty refreshments were served. Mrs.
Padden gave the girls a peak into the future by the aid of their tarot cards which was greatly enjoyed.

ary were the attendants as representatives of the North Waterloo Alumni Association.
Features of the building besides those mentioned are the assembly hall in which 300 people can dine at one time and quarters for several visiting athletic teams, all laid out along the most modern lines. The assembly hall and social quarters are open to any University.

WOULD LIKE TO EXPLAIN CASES

Roach and McCarthy on O.H.A.'s Decision.

"While the O. H. A. officials refuse to disclose the evidence in which they saw fit to expel 'Mickey' Roach and Tommy McCarthy from further participation in amateur hockey circles, there is a feeling in Hamilton that the drastic action was brought about on the complaint of Toronto men," a Hamilton report says.

"Mickey Roach expressed the belief that the trouble has arisen over the decision of himself and fellow-New Yorkers to locate in Hamilton last winter, after having promised Newman Hall that they would play with them. When spoken to in the matter to-day Roach said: 'I would like a chance to appear before the O. H. A. and have the affair straightened out. If the amateur hockey world is to be sure that we will not be barred. Anything we did in Toronto, while members of the Royal Air Force, was quite in keeping with the laws of amateurism.'

"Hamilton got two severe blows in one day in the defeat of Tigers by Montreal in the game that meant the championship of the Big Four Union, and the announcement of the departure of Roach and McCarthy.

"The O. H. A. incident was the big topic during the football game. 'Tigers' suffer more by the expulsions than any other club in the O. H. A. Roach and McCarthy are practically the backbone of the team. St. Pat's loss to the Tigers, and the fact that they went to the canvas for the sixth time. Mike Ertle, of St. Paul, and Pat Moore, of Memphis, bantamweights, fought a slam-bang no-decision, ten round match. Ertle had the better of the first five rounds, but Moore made a whirlwind finish. Writers disagreed sharply over the verdict. Referee George A. Barton said he gave Moore a slight shade.

Charlie White, of Chicago, beat Mike Paulson, Minneapolis, lightweight, but seemingly did not extend himself and was jeered by the crowd.

BOUNTS AT MINNEAPOLIS.

Three returned service men figured in two terrific bouts of a boxing card here at Minneapolis, which was attended by hundreds of American Legion delegates.

Bob Martin, heavyweight champion of the A. E. F., knocked out Jack Moran, of St. Louis, in the third round. Moran fought a game battle until he went to the canvas for the sixth time.

Mike Ertle, of St. Paul, and Pat Moore, of Memphis, bantamweights, fought a slam-bang no-decision, ten round match. Ertle had the better of the first five rounds, but Moore made a whirlwind finish. Writers disagreed sharply over the verdict. Referee George A. Barton said he gave Moore a slight shade.

DONNELLY BEATS HANLON.

Mickey Donnelly, Newark, N. J., lightweight champion, outpointed Jimmy Hanlon, of Denver, in a fast 10-round, no-decision boxing bout at Milwaukee, sporting writers agreed.

AGGIES IN THE FINALS.

Guelph Aggies are in the finals for the junior intercollegiate championship, and they also reached the same stage in the Mullock cup series yesterday when they defeated junior dentals 18 to 7 in Toronto. G. A. C. now meets junior Meds in the final. Aggies beat Dentals because they were the best balanced fourteen, and it was only the good tackling and courage when within the shadow of their goal that enabled the coming foot-pullers to keep their opponents' score to 18 points. Four times did Aggies have the ball one yard from Dentals' goal line, and three times did Dentals put up such a stubborn defense that Aggies failed to go over for a touch.

MINOR LEAGUES IN SESSION.

Future relations between the minor and major leagues of the country will be largely dependent on the action of the annual meeting of the Association of Baseball Leagues, which began at Springfield, Mass. yesterday. Delegates representing 16 minors attended the preliminary sessions preparatory to the convention business meetings to-morrow.

Several delegates have announced themselves hostile to suggestions of resuming the national agreement with the major leagues, and restoring the former practice of allowing major leagues to draft players from the minors. Advocates of the return of these policies have the endorsement of several major league managers, who are here as interested spectators, or are negotiating for promising minor league players.

The settlement of these and other questions, such as restricting the entire minor league territory of the country to effect several changes in the league circuits, is expected to make the convention the most important league in recent years.

MAY ABOLISH THE SPIT BALL

National Commission Did Not Meet Yesterday.

Contrary to expectations no meeting of the National Baseball Commission was held at New York yesterday. Despite rumors to the contrary it was stated that President Johnson, of the American League, is in Chicago and is not expected to arrive until the end of this week. President Heydler of the National League, said to-day that so far as he knew there would be no meeting of the commission at this time. Chairman Herrmann, he said, was in New York on private business which occupied most of his time. He called at the National League headquarters and met President Baker of the Philadelphia club there. They discussed league affairs in general.

"There is no intention at this time," said President Heydler, of making any move toward distributing the world's series third prize money claimed by the New York American League club. So far as I can see the American League will have to decide between the board of directors and the league as a whole and decide definitely which club has a legal right to the money. Until this is done the hands of the commission are tied so far as the disposal of the money is concerned."

Herrmann held an informal conference with Heydler, also expressed the same opinion.

Heydler informed Herrmann that the National League rules committee, comprising Barney Dreyfus, of Pittsburgh, William Veck, of Chicago, and himself would be ready to meet the American League rules committee whenever the commission decided to call a joint meeting. He suggested that it would be held in early January.

"By that time everyone interested in changing the rules—club owners, managers, players, umpires and patrons may submit suggestions and we can pass on the best ones," Heydler said. Heydler believed the spit ball would be abolished and he considered it unsanitary and responsible for many fielding errors. The shine ball also might be taken up, he added, but in his opinion effectiveness was greatly exaggerated.

In some districts of India the remarriage of widows is permitted except among certain castes, such as the Brahmins and Rajputs. The ceremony is performed on a night of "the dark fortnight," no women except widows being present. It is considered most suitable that the deceased husband's younger brother should marry the widow.

NICKLE REFUSES OFFER BECOME ATTORNEY

Endorses Drury Government, but Private Affairs Office.

GIVE NEW GOVERNMENT AMPLE OP

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—Mr. W. F. Nickle has refused the position of Attorney-General which was offered to him last night by Premier Drury. The reasons that influenced him in his decision are entirely connected with his private affairs. "I think that I should say that I've been impressed with the desire of Mr. Drury to promote efficiency and economy and to advance the interests of the people at large. I believe that there is a widespread desire that the new government should be given ample opportunity to work out its policies, free from captious criticism or obstructive opposition. After that, it must be judged by its works."

Mr. Nickle's refusal was purely in the nature of a private matter, not a public one. He is a well-known lawyer and has been in the law for many years. He is a member of the Ontario Bar and has been called to the bar in several provinces. He is a well-known figure in the legal community and has been a member of the Ontario Bar Association for many years.
