Strathroy Physician Was Badly Hurt in an Accident on a Highway.

PLAINTIFF TOLD HIS STORY TODAY

A Big List of Cases Up Before Mr. Justice Riddell.

The non-jury sessions of the high court opened at the court house at noon today before Justice Riddell, the list of ten cases being reduced to eight, Webb vs. the London and Western Trusts Company being referred, and Williamson vs. Hodgins laid over until the next court. Mr. R. K. Cowan is officiating as clerk of his own court.

The settlement conferences between the county and Dr. Frank Bateman, of Strathroy, who sues for $25,000 damages for injuries received on a county road, proved unsuccessful, this action, the first on the list, having been commenced.

The case of Williamson vs. Hodgins is laid over in order to allow the plaintiffs to examine certain witnesses for discovery up on a will which is to be produced at the trial. E. W. M. Flock and J. M. McEvoy for the plaintiffs; George S. Gibbons for the defence.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE SHOWS A FALLING OFF

This is a great day for the youngsters. The circus is in town. As a result there is a shrinkage in the school attendance. It is reported that fully forty per cent. of the youngsters are not busy with their studies today, but are out at the Carling farm revelling in pink lemonade.

They are probably sitting in wide-eyed wonder, as some daring acrobatic feat is pulled off, and are asking innumerable, unanswerable questions of everybody within reach. Or then again they may be peeking under the canvas, and afraid to ask questions.

It is a great day for the juveniles, but rather hard on the teachers and the parents.

However, circus day does not come often, and so the boys and girls can enjoy themselves to their hearts' content today.

Family of Late J. G. Rushton Say He Was Insured.

The family of the late James G. Rushton, of the London Electric Company, believe him to have been insured, but they cannot find any trace of a policy, and are advertising, so as to locate any papers, which relate to the case, and which may be in the possession of any of his friends.

PICKPOCKETS PINCHED.

Winnipeg, May 22.—Two professional pickpockets and goldbrick workers, giving names J. H. Burton and William Smith, are under arrest at Portage la Prairie. They are wanted in Chicago, Toronto and Montreal.

YEAR FOR A STABBER.

FAMILY WIPED OUT IN DRIVING ACCIDENT

A Frightened Horse Plunges in Front of Car With Buggy.

[Canadian Press.]

Newark, O., May 22.—The family of D. W. Dodson, of Hebron, was wiped out yesterday when an interurban car on the Newark division of the Ohio Electric Railway struck their buggy and killed Dodson, aged 36; Mrs. Dodson, of the same age, and their two little girls, aged 7 and 4.

The Dodsons were riding along the highway which flanks the electric line a mile east of Hebron, and were passing a car when their horse became frightened and plunged across the track in front of the car.

NEW PLAYERS FOR THE LEAGUE

All the Canadian Teams Are Making Arrangements to Strengthen Up.

LONDON HAS NET OUT

Manager Keenan Has Secured a New Catcher—Keegan Has Not Yet Reported.

The six teams of the Canadian League, having played four games each since the commencement of the season, and having discovered many of their weaknesses, have instituted a campaign that is calculated to tighten up the race within a few days.

Manager Keenan, of London, has come to terms with another catcher, Fiske, of Detroit, who has played with Flint in the South Michigan League, and he will probably report today. Keegan, the star outfielder, who was signed some days ago, has not reported yet, owing to the serious illness of his father in Troy, N. Y., but he is expected along now at any time.

High-Class Pitchers.

"I am after a couple of high-class pitchers, and expect to put a team on the field that the others will find hard to beat, within a few days," Keenan told The Advertiser this afternoon, before leaving for St. Thomas for the opening of the series there today. "The season is young and our pitching staff is not quite right yet, but the men will improve daily."

St. Thomas comes to London tomorrow in order to avoid conflicting with the circus at home.

A dispatch to The Advertiser says: Brantford, Ont., May 22.—Following a severe drubbing which the Brantford club received at the hands of Berlin Saturday, the local ball club is being strengthened. Pitcher Stevenson and Outfielder Riley, who were the worst players on Saturday, were released after the game, and Sunday Manager Kane went to Buffalo on a scouting trip, landing Pitcher Perry, who was farmed out to New Bedford this spring, but refused to go, getting a release later, and Infielder Downey, who is also a hitter. Both are recommended by Manager Vogt, of the Pullmans. In addition to these Hadley, a left-handed twirler, reported here tolay, from Beverley, Mass., and Kane is after Sweeney, another good one.

EMPIRE CONFERENCE OPENS WITH LUNCHEON AT PALACE

King George and Queen Mary Today Entertained the Visiting Colonial Premiers and Their Wives and Daughters.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 22.—The imperial conference was formally inaugurated by a luncheon at Buckingham Palace this afternoon, at which King George and Queen Mary entertained the visiting colonial premiers and their wives and daughters. Most of the members of royalty who are now in London were present at the luncheon, as were Premier Asquith and Mrs. Asquith and the officials of the colonial office.

King George, who is intensely interested in the colonial matters and who is personally intimate with them through his visits to the colonies, was markedly attentive to the visiting statesmen.

The conferences will open tomorrow at the foreign office, when Premier Asquith, in his address of welcome, will outline the Government's programme.

PREMIERS GUESTS OF HIS MAJESTY

And Reception Held at the Colonial Office Last Night

SIR WILFRID KEEPS "MUM"

Would Not Discuss Canada's Position on Questions Before Conference.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, May 22.—A Herald cable from London says:

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, when seen today, would not discuss Canada's position on questions coming up at the Imperial Conference, which will open on Tuesday, but British politicians hear he is just as strong as ever for colonial autonomy, and may be counted on to stand like a rock against the new imperialism.

His companions believe he will make a great fight for a larger measure of official recognition for the consuls-general stationed at Ottawa so that their semi-diplomatic status may be acknowledged, and that they may take places socially, commensurate with the importance of their positions.

Premier Remains "Mum."

In view of the reciprocity agreement pending between the United States and Canada, English newspapers and publicists are exceedingly curious to know what stand Sir Wilfrid will take on the question of British preference, which seems likely to be the leading topic of the conference, but the Canadian Premier remains "mum." If one may judge by what one hears, he will stand by the preference already accorded to British manufacturers, but no more.

In this are represented the feelings of Canadian manufacturers who are shouting for imperialism while fighting reciprocity. This will be the first protest against further reductions in favor of English products.

Another question to be brought forward by the Canadians will be the recognition of Canadian citizenship in all parts of the Empire. At present England requires a residence of six years before an alien can become a citizen, and Canada only three years, but Canadian citizenship is not recognized here. The conference probably will agree to recommend a compromise on five years in England and the colonies.

The colonial premiers were the King's guests on Sunday. There was a dinner in their honor, given by the Prime Minister, and a reception to the colonial visitors at the foreign office last night.

CHINESE BANKER TORTURED TO DEATH

[Canadian Press.]

Laredo, Texas, May 22.—At the end of a rope which had been tied around his neck, Dr. J. W. Lim, a Chinese banker, was dragged around the plaza at Torreon, Mexico, until his body was a mass of broken bones, according to reports reaching here today. From the same source of information details of a three days' battle at Torreon between revolutionists and federals were received. The battle is said to have occurred May 13, 14 and 15, resulting in a rebel victory.

Dr. Lim was one of the wealthiest Chinaman in North Mexico, and was at the head of a banking institution controlled by Chinese capitalists. After dragging Lim around the plaza until life was almost extinct, it is reported the rebels shot him a number of times. He died within a few minutes.

YOUNG MAN OUT TO SEE WORLD CARRIED A HUGE REVOLVER

Dennis Sale, of Port Colborne, Pleaded Guilty to Carrying Firearms and Also to Breaking Into a Bonded Car in East London.

Dennis Sale, aged 20, of Port Colborne, was arrested in the Grand Trunk yards in East London early this morning on a charge of breaking into a bonded car, and later when he was searched, another charge of carrying firearms was laid.

When he appeared before Deputy Magistrate Graydon this morning, he admitted his guilt on both charges, but the hearing was not gone on with as the authorities were not ready.

Sale told the police that he only left home a couple of days ago, and that he wanted to see the world. Early this morning when he went into the bonded car, some of the railwaymen happened to see him, and at once reported the matter to Night Yardmaster O'Leary.

The yardmaster went up and fastened the door of the car so that Sale couldn't get out and then telephoned for the patrol.

P. C. Kelly placed Sale under arrest. The youth carried an immense revolver of ancient make. It had an attachment for loading with powder and ball, and one of the old-time patent ramrods at the side. It was confiscated today, and will go to form part of the collection that Chief Williams is making.

ELOPING PAIR TAKEN FROM BOAT

French Ironmaster and Governess Detained at Quebec.

LIKELY TO BE DEPORTED

[Canadian Press.]

Quebec, May 22.—Admitting that he was Ferdinand Darrest Dabbadie, and that she was Helena Benoit, both were taken from the C. P. R. liner Lake Champlain this morning, and are now in the detention hospital, awaiting deportation. Dabbadie is the wealthy ironmaster of Evreux, France, who eloped with Miss Benoit, a governess employed in his household. The affair has created a great sention in Paris society circles, as Dabbadie and his family moved in high society. They travelled to Canada under the names of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Wye.

When questioned on the boat coming over, they stoutly denied that they were the eloping party, stating that they were on their way to take up farming in the west.

When the vessel docked and the immigration officials went aboard, they were taken off and conducted to the immigration building, where they were questioned separately. Finally admitting their identity, they were subsequently taken to the detention hospital, where they will be held until tomorrow in order to enable an examination board to be formed to decide what is to be done in the matter.

Dabbadie is a man of about 40 years, while the girl is a prepossessing maiden of 22. Besides admitting their identity, both admitted they were not married.

THE GOVT. WILL FIGHT UNITED SHOE APPEAL

Result May Be an Amendment to the Combines Act.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, May 22.—The labor department, in co-operation with the justice department, will put up a strong fight before the privy council to resist the appeal of the United Shoe Machinery Company from the decision of the Quebec courts, refusing an injunction to prevent the investigation ordered under the combines act of last session into the alleged infringement of the law by the company. In case it is found that the present statute is insufficient to prevent evasion by legal technicalities and delays, the minister of labor will introduce an amendment to prevent any thwarting of the intention of the act.

DONELAN UNSEATED

But Opponent Declines to Consider Him Responsible for Illegality.

Cork, Ireland, May 22.—The court which has been hearing the petition against the election of Captain Anthony J. A. Donelan, the Nationalist who defeated William O'Brien in the east division of Cork County at the last general election, today unseated Donelan, but declined to brand him with personal responsibility.

Justice Johnson found that the election had been conducted with disregard to law, and that accounts had been suppressed relating to probable compromising payments. The Cork County seat in the House of Commons has not been claimed by the O'Brienites.

DRAMATIC SCENE AT JUAREZ

All Troops to be Disbanded At Once—Gov't Concedes All Reforms Demanded.

[Canadian Press.]

Juarez, Mexico, May 22.—Officially designated representatives of the Mexican Government and the revolutionists at 10 o'clock last night, signed a peace agreement at the customs house here intended to end the hostilities that have been waged in Mexico for the last six months.

Though covering only the principal points negotiated thus far, the agreement practically records the concessions by the Government of those demands which started on Nov. 20, the last armed revolution in Mexico. Telegrams announcing the signing of the agreement were dispatched throughout Mexico to revolutionary and federal leaders alike.

Diaz To Resign.

The agreement records that President Diaz and Vice-President Corral will resign, and the Government is to concentrate its attentions on desired reforms.

The actual signing of the agreement took place under most extraordinary circumstances on the steps of the customs house. When the peace commissioners arrived they found the doors of the customs house locked, and no one there to let them in. Accordingly, they gathered on the steps of the building, and, while newspapermen held matches, fountain pens were produced, and the document signed.

When the signatures were affixed, the commissioners of both sides embraced joyfully, while a small crowd that had collected shouted "Viva La Paz."

Judge Carbajal represented the federal government, and Dr. Vasquez Gomez, Francesco I. Madero and Don Jose Maria Pric Suarez, the revolutionists. Railways and telegraphs are to be repaired at once. It is provided that the troops will disband proportionately as each state is restored to tranquility. This will insure the carrying out of the conditions in the various states.

CIRCUS BOUGHT NO WATER G. T. R. SUPPLIED MOST OF IT

Springs on Carling's Farm Also Came in Handy, City Council Likely to Introduce a Bylaw to Charge a License Fee for Parades.

The city did not get any revenue whatever from Howe's circus. It will be remembered that a contract was made with the management to charge $25 and 12 tickets for the water to be used at the grounds.

On Saturday Chairman Pocock and Mayor Beattie repudiated the contract, and made an effort to get a better price from the show people.

The commissioners wanted $50 for the water to be supplied the circus, but the management balked at paying this much money. As a result, the deal was off, the circus people getting their water from the Grand Trunk Railway and from springs on the Carling farm.

Shortly after the refusal of Howe's management to use city water, they requested Mayor Beattie for a permit to parade downtown. This his worship refused to give. He declares, however, that this was refused, because he had no power to allow the circus to parade, and he had no authority to prevent them.

The parade was put on, nevertheless, and at the present time the city authorities have no power to prevent them.

Chairman Pocock is not worrying over the fact that the circus management refused to take the water.

"We could not make much out of them, supplying the water at $25," he stated. "We would have had to keep a man there for 24 hours, and in addition, we would run the risk of having the hydrants smashed. I am just as well pleased. These people come here, use our streets, and the rest of it, and pay us nothing. I think they should be compelled to pay more than they have been paying.

There is some talk among the aldermen to the effect that a bylaw will be introduced at the next meeting of the council charging a license to circuses for parading the city streets.

"I do not know whether or not that could be done," said Mayor Beattie. "It might be a good suggestion, at that. We get nothing out of these people, although they use our streets. It is possible that I will go further into the matter, and see what can be done."

Manager Mitchell, of the Howe Shows, stated today that the reason the circus did not show inside the city limit sis that there ar eno grounds available. If the show could be put on inside the city limits he would be glad to pay the license.

EMPIRE LEADERS CONFER TODAY

Imperial Conference the Most Important Event of the New Reign.

MANY THINGS TO DISCUSS

London, May 21.—The most important event, politically, in the whole three months that England is devoting to the coronation festivities, will take place tomorrow, when the prime ministers of the Commonwealth of Australia, the Dominion of Canada, the Union of South Africa, the Dominion of New Zealand and Newfoundland, the King and his cabinet convene for the much-heralded imperial conference, which is to consider every topic in which a world-wide Empire is interested, from national defence to the design of penny postage stamps.

This will be the first official meeting of the new sovereign and his foreign ministers, and it is expected that England's attitude towards her possessions will be materially changed as a result of the reforms advocated by the different dominions and their premier.

Trade Preference.

Chief among many interesting questions raised by the delegates from England's colonies in their dispatches to the home Government, when the imperial conference was first proposed, is resolution No. 4 from the Union of South Africa, relative to England's position on trade preference. This resolution reads:

"That the desirability be considered of replacing the system of trade preference at present granted by the overseas dominions to Great Britain by a system of contributions in money or services to imperial navy and local defence."

This resolution, coming as it did at a time when the Canadian reciprocity agreement was pending both before the Legislature at Washington and the Dominion Parliament at Ottawa, raised a storm of protest among English citizens. The press of all political factions noted the resolution and commented strongly upon its introduction at a time when so many important measures were before the English Parliament. In fact so strong was the pressure brought to bear upon the minister of South Africa by the home Government that the Governor-General, Lord Gladstone, submitted a letter recalling section No. 4 of the tentative resolutions for discussion before the imperial conference, stating that he had been advised by his ministry that they desired to postpone the debate upon trade preference, but "that the right honorable, the Prime Minister hoped that he would have an opportunity during his stay in London to discuss the question raised with His Majesty's Government."

This action on the part of Lord Gladstone and the ministry of the Union of South Africa, eliminates a discussion of this all-interesting feature from the official imperial conference, but at the same time strongly intimates that it will be taken up by the visiting ministers and the Imperial Government outside the meeting room. Such an action makes it clear that England's colonies, though they do not intend to coerce the Imperial Government, will insist upon this important matter being threshed out at an early date—probably before the termination of the present conference.

Apart from the question of the preference, several subjects of the most vital importance to the future of the Empire are to be raised. Australia will move to rescind the objectionable features of the Declaration of London, and New Zealand has two equally important resolutions, one relating to the establishment of an imperial council, and the other the reorganization of the colonial office.

Imperial Council.

The first of the resolutions from New Zealand is apt to prove rather startling to the orthodox Englishman, for it is nothing more or less than a resolution providing for the establishment of a council which shall be composed of members from the constituent parts of the Empire, whether self-governing or otherwise, and which shall form an advisory body having a voice in all matters before the home Government pertaining to matters relating to the colonies.

The second resolution provides for the reconstitution of the colonial office, and sets forth that it is essential to the welfare of the colonies that the department of the dominions be separated from that of the crown colonies, and that each department be placed under a permanent separate under-secretary. This resolution also provides for the creation of high commissioners which shall have the status of foreign ambassadors, and be called into council with the Imperial Government whenever matters pertaining to the self-governing dominions shall come under discussion. This resolution, if acted upon favorably, will make the high commissioners the only channel of communication between the imperial and dominion governments.

Other, and scarcely less important resolutions presented by progressive New Zealand, provides for the interchange of all civil servants between the dominion governments and the imperial with a view to familiarizing them with the governments and needs of both, that they may intelligently meet all questions that will arise in the future; the establishment of a transportation line between London and New Zealand and Australia by means of boat to Canada, rail to the Pacific coast and boat to the latter countries, the establishment of reciprocal provision for the relief of the wives and children of the poor throughout the United Kingdom and her dependencies, and many other points of vital interest.

Need of the Broader Policy.

Whether all these matters will be discussed at the conference, and whether, if discussed, they will be acted upon, is a matter of uncertainty, for in the past twenty years several such conferences have been held and similar subjects of "vital" importance discussed without any apparent effort towards reform on the part of the Imperial Government. It is thought, however, that the present conference, unlike those which took place in 1887 and during the years of Queen Victoria's Jubilee, the Diamond Jubilee, King Edward's Coronation, and again in 1907, will bring home most forcibly to the Imperial Government the necessity of a broader policy in dealing with its rich and powerful dominions. In fact, it is said that his majesty is most anxious to place the relations between England and her colonies on the most cordial footing, and will himself take cognizance not only of the findings of the conference, but of the personal views of the visiting ministers. To this end, all state or official functions will be tabooed while the conference is in session, that both the visitors and their confreres devote their whole time and attention to the matters under debate.

ACTIVE CAMPAIGN DURING RECESS

Leaders Issue Orders for Hundreds of Meetings To Be Held.

RECIPROCITY THE THEME

Election Is Contingent On the United States Ratifying Pact and Opposition Still Blocking.

Ottawa, May 21.—Politics, like the weather, will be warm in Canada during the next two months. The word has gone out from the leaders of both parties for an active campaign in all the constituencies on the reciprocity issue, pending the reassembling of Parliament on July 18 for the final effort of the Government to secure the ratification of the agreement before prorogation. The Opposition members have left Ottawa with the declared intention of forcing the Government to go to the country on the issue in the autumn through the lever of obstructing the passage of supplies to carry on the administration. Before adjournment on Friday they consented to grant an interim supply bill, just sufficient for the Government's needs up to September. On reassembling they will probably grant supply for another two months, long enough to permit of the passing of the promised bill redistributing the Parliamentary seats according to the figures of the June census. Then the Government, with an empty treasury and the public service thereby disorganized, an admitted handicap in an election campaign, would have no recourse but to appeal to the electors to break the deadlock.

Government Confident.

The Government and the Liberal majority in Parliament, confident that reciprocity commands the support of the country as a whole, are not disposed to let the Opposition hold up the Government's programme any longer than is absolutely necessary to justify a prompt appeal to the country, and the word has gone out that the Liberal members are to perfect their organizations at once, and be ready for a sudden election if need be at any time after the House meets again. Election literature, with reciprocity as the main theme, is now being prepared by both sides, and as the members' postal franks are good during the recess it will be sent out in huge volume from Ottawa during the next two months. Meetings are being arranged by both sides covering every portion of the Dominion. In the province of Quebec, for instance, the Liberal organization has arranged for some three hundred meetings. The cabinet ministers will take charge of their respective provinces, and will be absent from the capital most of the time between now and July 18.

Mr. Borden will start on June 15 for a hurried tour of the prairie provinces, addressing some thirty meetings in three weeks. His meetings will be offset by Liberal meetings now being arranged for all the western constituencies. Hon. Frank Oliver will be in charge of the pro-reciprocity western campaign, and it is possible that Hon. Wm. Paterson, who was Hon. Mr. Fielding's colleague in negotiating the agreement at Washington, will address several meetings with Mr. Oliver in the west next month.

That is at present the political outlook. An election is contingent on the United States Senate ratifying the agreement and the Opposition finding as a result of their campaign that they can make headway against reciprocity. It is asserted that they are already assured of a liberal campaign fund from the interests opposed to reciprocity, but this is conditional on their preventing its coming into operation. If the American Senate fails to ratify the agreement or hitches it up with amendments onerous to Canada, then the chance for freer trade between the two countries will have been lost, for the present at least, and Parliament would probably speedily prorogue to take up other business at the opening of the next session in November.

CORRESPONDENCE

Against the Check-Rein.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I was pleased to note from press reports that the new Humane Society intimated at a meeting recently that they would begin an active campaign shortly against the check-rein, or over-check. Such a resolve is entirely praiseworthy, and should they be successful in putting this instrument of torture under the ban of the law, the organization will be justified, even should it accomplish nothing else. Is it not marvellous how the glamor of fashion blinds us to this subtle form of torture to the horse, while lesser forms of cruelty are sometimes, I fear, unduly magnified? We have had letters galore in the press recently, calculated to excite our sympathy and pity for the noble though much-abused animal, but I never remember reading anything for years in deprecation of the check-rein, though the suffering it entails is very real and apparent everywhere. Quite a number of years ago there was an agitation against it, when it even came before the courts, a man in Montreal being charged before a recorder with cruelty to animals, the cruelty consisting in the use of the over-check rein. The recorder dismissed the charge, claiming that no cruelty had been shown. A horse, he said, "must necessarily suffer some inconvenience from the way in which it was hitched." A mere matter of "inconvenience?" No, no; the over-check is wrong in principle and cruel in practice. A high-spirited animal that naturally carries a high head may suffer little discomfort unless driven until he is tired or the rein is unduly short. But notice the same horse after a year or two in the livery business and see how the check-rein has got in its deadly work. There are few more pathetic sights to any true friend of the horse than to see the poor, jaded livery horse returning from a long drive with all the proud arch of his thin, scrawny neck and the rein pulling his nose out until the facial angle is almost obliterated and his eyes are upturned to the glare of the sun as he ambles along weakly, responding as best he can to the whip of the driver. Is this the noble animal whose dash and fearlessness inspired the magnificent ode to the war-charger in Job? Did Jehu, the son of Mimshi, crack his whip over such a four as he drove his chariot furiously to Jezreel on that terrible mission? Look at the horse in art. See the horses in Rosa Bonheur's "Horse Fair." Notice the graceful carriage, the dashing pose, the correct facial angles. On the other hand, look at our best trotting horses going to the races, and, well-bred and well-groomed as they are, do they not suffer by comparison, and all through the use of the check-rein?

And why is such a device, of which little or nothing good can be said, but much to the contrary, perpetuated? Perhaps primarily because the average man is proud of his sporting inclinations. The turfmen, for some unexplained reason, adhere tenaciously to the check-rein, and the backwoods farmer and all intermediate grades must follow suit. It is just another example of the tyranny of fashion. Women will patiently endure the suffering entailed by artificially distorting the figure God gave them in order to obey the mandate of fashion and acquire the coveted conventional figure. Girls of rarest beauty will hide their facial charms under the most umbrageous and absurd toadstool-millinery in order to be considered up-to-date. Similarly multitudes of men will excuse or condone the suffering to the horse that must be apparent in the use of the check-rein for the sake of the lightness and supposed gracefulness it gives to the harness. The harness trade, too, is a mighty factor in perpetuating the check-rein, and many use it, not so much from choice, as because in some places only such bridles are stocked, and when harness is ordered the good old side-check style is discouraged, and the newer style advised.

BECKLES WILSON EXPLAINS.

London, May 20.—The mystery surrounding the reasons for the omission from the Festival of the Empire pageant of a representation of the battle of Chateauguay has been made more a mystery by a so-called explanation from Beckles Wilson, of Montreal, a member of the Canadian committee, which has just been communicated to the newspapers.

Mr. Wilson admits that Whitelaw Reid, the American ambassador, told him that Americans would not object to the representation of an historical event which happened before the battle of Waterloo, but says the committee received protests and expostulations from a source he declines to reveal, and that these caused the committee to decide to abandon the project.

HAD KIDNEY TROUBLE.

COULD NOT CROSS THE FLOOR PAIN WAS SO GREAT.

Miss Hazel Hess, Winchester Springs, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with my kidneys for five years. They were so bad, at times, I could not cross the floor for the pain. The doctor could not do me any good and a friend advised me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I bought six boxes and now I have been cured for over four years. I will recommend them to every sufferer."

No woman can be strong and healthy unless the kidneys are well. When the kidneys are ill, the whole body is ill, for the poisons which the kidneys ought to filter out of the blood are left in the system. Then how important it must be to see to it that this system of sewerage be not clogged up.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a purely vegetable medicine, realizing quick, permanent relief, without any after ill effects. A medicine that will absolutely cure backache and all forms of kidney and bladder trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

PILGRIMS AND PREMIERS

Heads of Overseas Dominions Will Be Dined by Famous Club.

London, May 20.—At the time of the last Imperial Conference the pilgrims dined the visiting colonial premiers, the dinner being, so far as speeches were concerned, purely a British affair. The pilgrims are giving the premiers another great dinner on May 23, which will be significant because the principal speeches will deal with Anglo-American relations.

Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign secretary, will be the chief speaker at the banquet, his topic being "Anglo-American Amity." John L. Griffiths, the American consul-general, who is constantly in demand for dinner oration, will respond on behalf of America.

It is hoped that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian prime minister, will speak for the premiers, and if he does, he can hardly avoid the topic. Lord Roberts will preside and Richard B. Haldane, the secretary of war, will toast the guests.

Sir Edward Grey will speak on the same topic at the National Liberal Club's dinner to Andrew Carnegie on June 1.

VEDRINE STARTS TO DON CAPITAL

Aviator Whose Flyer Killed the Minister Undismayed by Affair.

OFF ON THE FIRST STAGE

In Flight to Angouleme Makes Better Time Than Express.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, May 22.—Pierre Vedrine, undismayed by his own accident yesterday, when, just prior to the disaster in which the French Minister of War was killed, his machine suddenly capsized and was wrecked, again started in the Paris to Madrid race early this morning.

A thick haze covered the Issy-Les-Moulineaux aviation field and comparatively few spectators were on hand to witness the resumption of the race. The field looked desolate.

M. Train, who, in trying to avoid crashing into a squadron of Cuirassiers, galloping across the military field, caused yesterday's lamentable tragedy, and who was entitled, under the conditions of the race, to make another start, in the international flight contest, announced that he had no heart to do so, because of his terrible mishap yesterday.

Four other aviators, William Weymann, Frey, Garnier and Ferrier, also retired from the race.

Vedrine, at half past 3 this morning, took a preliminary flight around the field for the purpose of testing his motor, and then, at 4:11 o'clock, arose high in the air and disappeared swiftly in the fog towards Angouleme, the first stage of the Paris to Madrid race. There were no acclamations when the aviator started on his flight, the people seemingly being stunned by the accident attending the opening of the event. The crowd and the judges, however, remained on the aviation field throughout the morning and received telegrams from the timekeepers along the route of the flight.

Beats the Express.

Vedrine arrived at Angouleme at 7:50 o'clock, having covered the 279 miles in 3 hours and 39 minutes. The running time of the Southern Express between Paris and Angouleme is 5 hours and 17 minutes.

The judges announced that Vedrine had broken the record for the long-distance cross-country flight. His time was all the more extraordinary when it was considered that the airman had made a stop at Etampes, 35 miles from Paris, to regulate his motor. The aviator arrived at Angouleme in good condition, though he suffered considerably from the cold.

MYSTERY WRAPS FATE OF ABDUL

Some Believe the Ex-Sultan of Turkey Is Either Dead or a Madman.

Constantinople, May 21.—What has become of the ex-Sultan Abdul Hamid? Is he still at Salonica and is he still alive? These questions are asked constantly and from time to time bits of news are allowed to leak out which indicate either that he still lives or that it does not suit the Young Turk politicians to allow the world to know that he is dead.

For instance, about a month ago Europe learned, by way of Vienna, that Abdul Hamid had attempted to commit suicide by opening a vein with a broken glass tumbler, and that he had become violently insane, his insanity taking the form of an irresistible desire to smash furniture. Since then no word has come from his prison house in this city.

One may believe what he likes concerning the "guest of Salonica." Some people think him already dead, or at least insane, in proof of which they cite various facts; precautions in the vicinity of the villa have become less strict; formerly boys were not allowed to fly kites in the region, but recently an aviator was given permission to fly in the field opposite the villa, the mansion used to be brilliantly lighted each night, while now only a few candles or gas jets burning low give a faint glimmer through the blinds; the amount of provisions delivered at the villa is but a fraction of the earlier supplies.

D'ANNUNZIO WOULD WED RUSSIAN DANCER

Ida Rubenstein's Husband Blocks Desired Divorce.

Paris, May 21.—It really looks as if Gabriele D'Annunzio had found time even in the stress of his dramatic enterprises and business misadventures for another "grand passion." At any rate it is current here that the Italian poet, whose love affairs have been the talk of Europe for years past, has now so thoroughly lost his head over Mlle. Ida Rubenstein, the beautiful Russian dancer who plays the title role in his new play next week, that it is said he is quite ready to marry her.

She accordingly began divorce proceedings, but her wealthy Russian husband, M. Gorovitz, suddenly stopped them.

Recently, as is open secret, Mlle. Rubenstein fell in love with Baklanoff, the Russian baritone of the Boston Opera House, who has been attracting big audiences at the Sarah Bernhardt Theatre. It is believed that she will follow Baklanoff to America next season, and Signor D'Annunzio is likely to follow in their wake to prevent their marriage.

DROWNING AT HAGERSVILLE

Son of Rev. Charles Stringfellow Overtaken With Cramps.

Hagersville, Ont., May 21.—Charles Stringfellow, 18 years old, only son of Rev. Charles Stringfellow, a superannuated Methodist minister, residing at Hagersville, was drowned this afternoon while swimming in the pond at Winger's sandpit, about three miles from here. He was a good swimmer, but seems to have taken cramps and went down in fifteen feet of water. It was an hour and a half before his companions could locate and recover the body. Drs. Playfair and Quance worked over him for a long time, but could not resuscitate him. The pond is considered a dangerous place because of the coldness of the spring water and quicksand.

THIRD ELOPEMENT IN GAYNOR FAMILY

Daughter of New York's Mayor in Romantic Marriage to a Vanderbilt.

New York, May 19.—Gertrude Emily Gaynor, a daughter of Mayor W. J. Gaynor, eloped to Wilmington, Del., today and was married to William Seward Webb, jun., a son of Dr. Seward Webb and grandson of William H. Vanderbilt.

Miss Gaynor and young Webb were accompanied by Mrs. Edith Vingut, a sister of the bride, and her husband, Harry K. Vingut, who themselves eloped to Wilmington and were married less than a year ago. Mr. Webb's father is in Chicago.

Would Not Wait.

Mr. and Mrs. Vinegut proved enthusiastic guides for the young couple, and the elopement and marriage of Mr. Webb and Miss Gaynor was practically a re-enactment of the Vingut elopement last June. On their return to New York Mr. and Mrs. Webb went to the home of Mrs. Webb's sister, Mrs. Ralph Pulitzer.

Friends of Miss Gaynor and Mr. Webb said tonight that they had been devoted to each other for a year. Mr. Webb is 24 years old and a Yale graduate. He is working his way up as a clerk in the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., and his family requested that he and Miss Gaynor wait a year. They tired waiting however, and today decided to be married at once.

Dr. Seward Webb was in Chicago, Mrs. Webb in Europe and Mayor Gaynor was at St. James for the week end, so Mr. Webb and Miss Gaynor went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vingut, who at once picked out Wilmington as the spot for the marriage, and the time was settled by the first train arriving in Wilmington from New York.

Third Elopement.

When they reached Wilmington, as Mr. and Mrs. Vingut had done, Mr. Webb and Miss Gaynor called at the office of Attorney-General Andrew C. Gray. He was in New York, so they procured a license from Magistrate Robertson, and were married in the First Presbyterian Church, by the Rev. J. Stonecipher, the pastor, Mr. and Mrs. Vingut acting as witnesses.

Mr. Gray arrived just in time to congratulate the couple and to express regret that he was not on hand to aid. The wedding occurred shortly after 2 o'clock, and later in the afternoon the wedding party returned to New York and went directly to the home of Mrs. Ralph Pulitzer, who was Frederica V. Webb before her marriage.

Within thirty months three children of Mayor William J. Gaynor have eloped and been married.

In December, 1908, Rufus W. Gaynor, a son, who was a student at Amherst, left school and eloped to Chicago with Maria Oddo, where they were married later, he discovered that the woman he had married was really Mary Guiffi, and had a husband living. The marriage was annulled last April.

On June 21 last, Edith, the nineteen-year-old daughter of Mayor Gaynor, eloped to Wilmington, and was married to Harry K. Vingut, the wealthy sportsman.

BURNED TO WATER'S EDGE.

Newburgh, N.Y., May 22—The steamer Homer Ramsdell, of the Central Hudson line, was destroyed by fire while lying off here last night. The blaze started in the boiler room. In an hour she had burned to the water's edge. A deckhand named Michael Boyle was drowned.

WOMAN ASTRONOMER DEAD.

Boston, May 22. — Mrs. Williamina Paton Fleming, one of the foremost astronomers of the world, and curator of astronomical records at Harvard University, is dead at a Boston hospital.

Mrs. Fleming became one of the most interesting personalities among the scientists of the world through her acuteness in the handling of the astronomical photographs at Harvard University, by means of which she had discovered no less than seven new stars, and many variables.

She was born in Dundee, Scotland, May 15, 1857, and was an honorary member of the Royal Astronomical Society, of London.

LONDON, MONDAY, MAY 22.

NO VACATION FOR THE POLITICIANS.

The parliamentary recess from now till July 18 will not be idly spent by the leaders of both parties. The managers are acting as though an election were coming in the fall. It is pretty certain that in Montreal and Toronto large contributions have been promised for the campaign against reciprocity on the condition that the agreement be prevented from going into effect this session. These plutocrats have a shrewd notion that if it goes into operation no party will venture to repeal it. The Opposition, helpless in most matters, has the power to force an election by holding up supplies, a power which it is now using in a significant way.

It is plain that reciprocity is popular with the country at large, and the Government will be pleased enough to have an election on that issue. What would most delight the Opposition leaders would be the mutilation or rejection of the pact by the United States Senate; no election would then be wanted. But it looks as though reciprocity will have a majority at Washington in spite of the bitter attacks of special interests; while in Canada the feeling in favor of it grows stronger all the time. The opposition to it in this country, except within hearing of the loud timbrels at Toronto and Montreal, keeps fading away. So, then, in desperation, out into the field for a brief and intense campaign, let loose the leaflet literature and the orators in every constituency, let Mr. Borden invade the west and make a joyless noise against reciprocity in the teeth of the grain growers, or, better, convince them that he agrees with his western lieutenants that the pact goes not nearly far enough.

Foreseeing an election upon the stoppage of supplies, the Liberal organizations are wide awake. Some three hundred meetings are arranged for the next two months in Quebec, cabinet ministers will take charge of their respective provinces, Hon. Mr. Oliver, and perhaps Hon. Mr. Paterson, heading the pro-reciprocity fight throughout the west. It will not take much fighting to win the west for the pact.

One way of suppressing to some extent Western Canada would be to force the election before the decennial redistribution bill went through, but the Opposition would not care to use obstructive tactics to that end. The census results will be known in outline by the middle of July, and no party would take the responsibility of partially disfranchising a large section of the country. The Opposition must soon show its hand upon the reassembling of Parliament. It has already consented to supplies only till September. If its workers should find the ghost of a chance against reciprocity in their two months' probing of the constituencies, and if the American Senate has let the pact go through then on with the blockade until the Government must appeal to the country.

ATTACKING BRITISH NEWCOMERS

When the western grain growers came to Ottawa to demand freer trade conditions, there was an outcry that it was a Yankee move, a sort of disloyal agitation by American settlers to rob the Canadian manufacturer and organizer and sever Canada from the Empire. Then all of a sudden the Toronto News, which has a sort of rabies or dementia Torontonensis on the twin subjects of Cobdenism and Lloyd Georgeism, made the shocking discovery that not Americans but immigrant British Radicals were at the bottom of the western agitation. In the middle ages, fanatical ignorance blamed most things that went wrong on the Jews, and once a king banished them all out of England. At the time of the French Revolution, the Jacobins were the root of all evil in England, while Pitt was the "black beast" of France. The witches bore all the sins of pious but narrow-minded New England two hundred years ago. Similarly the News sees everywhere a British Radical in the fence. It should not "take on" so over its trouble, but try to be calmer. It should not shout so loudly that phrase, "British Radical," attaching to it so profane an import that it ought rather to be whispered into the attentive and sensitive ear, and spelled like other unprintable expressions with a dash, viz., B—h R—l. The full sound of such bad words is too horrible, and we had rather not hear them from so polite a journal as the News.

Here is its latest utterances on the subject of those Radicals and their traffickings in Canada:

"Having done the imperial cause all the harm they could at home by delaying the triumph of Mr. Chamberlain's patriotic programme, they have come out here to injure the Empire in one of its outlying portions. Having hindered by some years the adoption of tariff reform and the relief of unemployment in Great Britain, they get up an agitation in this country to stop the wheels of national progress. Having blocked the scheme of inter-imperial preferences at Westminster they have transferred their unpatriotic operations to the Canadian prairies, to Liberal newspaper offices and to the precincts of Parliament at Ottawa. They even league themselves with President Taft and Mr. J. J. Hill, who frankly admit that the ratification of the reciprocity agreement will prevent the fiscal consolidation of the British Empire and turn over the vast natural resources of the Dominion for the aggrandisement of the United States."

It is amusing to see the News try to become an organ of the British squirearchy, but it is more significant that the attack upon British newcomers should be made by a journal which is always boasting of its British tone and spirit, and setting up a claim to superior loyalty on behalf of its party.

SLAVERY IN MEXICO.

Great expiation has been made by the Anglo-Saxon for the sin of slavery and he has some right to speak and to hold other peoples up to their ideals and pledges. He was righteously indignant at the Congo atrocities and the Portuguese doings in Sao Thomas. John Kenneth Turner, an American writer, has turned the searchlight on Mexico. That country was one of the first formally to abolish slavery. One reason why Texas revolted in the olden days and joined the United States was that its Uitlanders, so to speak, coming in from the southern states wished to hold slaves but could not under Mexican law. Mr. Turner in his newly-published book, "Barbarous Mexico," shows under the long rule of Diaz slavery has been revived or strengthened, especially in out of the way parts of Mexico on the hemp and tobacco plantations, and that political officials of every grade, federal, state, and county, down to the municipal "bosses," participate in the profits of the iniquitous system. "Not since 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' was published, sixty years ago," says a reviewer, "have revelations of so dark and forbidding a character been issued to the world, as are contained in Mr. Turner's book."

For some time there have been suspicions and whispers about what goes on in Yucatan. But definite and accurate information is hard to obtain. The population of that secluded state consists of 250 slave-holding planters and 125,000 slaves. The great majority of slaves are concentrated in the hands of 50 "magnates," the largest planters, who live in costly palaces at Merida, the capital, and control the political machinery of the state. The accounts published of the hemp industry, the one industry of Yucatan, are dictated by them, for they have entire command og all the channels of communication with the outer world. But Turner, who "has lived for years in the southwestern part of the United States near the border-line of Mexico," having become curious to know the true state of things in that country, made the journey through Mexico, in 1908 and 1909, representing himself as a capitalist intending to invest money. He writes that the "bosses" (municipal prefects), eager to drive an advantageous bargain, initiated him frankly into the details of the slave system.

It is, of course, not called slavery, but compulsory service for debt, without pay, the debt being merely a sham. Mr. Turner describes scenes of brutality which he himself witnessed which recall the story of Uncle Tom's death. The Indian slaves are beaten to a pulp for slight offences, half-starved or fed on offal. The Indian women are torn from their families and forced to marry Chinamen. Slaves are sometimes killed, and nobody is punished for it, because the officials are appointed by the planters with the connivance of the Government.

In Yucatan a slave usually dies after about a year's service. Conditions in Valle Nacional, another slave-hole, are even worse; 15,000 slaves enter this region yearly, and 15,000 is the number employed in the tobacco plantations in the valley. The number does not increase, for the average duration of a slave's life is under a year. The 15,000 slaves are driven into Valle Nacional every year, precisely as you would drive so many oxen into the shambles. The tobacco planters have figured it out that it pays best to work the slaves to death in seven months. The cotton planters of the Southern States used to work their slaves to death in seven years. So the Mexican under Diaz improves upon the Legrees of former days.

Senator Powell, of Halifax, professes to think the tie of Empire was weakened because Earl Grey was not present when Parliament adjourned. The Empire is too big a concern for the baby-talk about it that so many politicians indulge in.

The Grain Growers' Association is reported to be taking an active part in the work to counteract the effect of Mr. Borden's tour in the western provinces. If precedent holds, this will be preliminary to the disappearance of the association from view.—Montreal Herald.

Last year when the grain growers were heckling Laurier they were capital fellows.

Whatever would little London do if it were deprived of Springbank, which is their main prop for the entertainment of visitors?—Hamilton Spectator.

We don't know what occasioned this cautious compliment to one of London's beauty spots—one of many—but it is quite a tribute from a city jealous of London and so inflated with local pride that it makes a mountain out of a mole-hill.

Speaking for the British Government, Lord Haldane says of the reciprocity agreement: "From every point of view we look upon the step she (Canada) is taking as probably a very good step in our interests, as well as in the interests of Canada." The statesmen at the head of affairs in Great Britain take Canada's attachment to the Empire as granted. The men who profess to cast doubts on it in Britain or Canada are not Liberals.

Scotland's increase of population in the past ten years was only 287,418, instead of the estimated half-million. While it has doubled its population in 80 years, the increase has been slower in the past decade than in half a century before. The figures are:

NEW YORK'S MAYOR ON RELIGION.

[Mayor Gaynor, New York.]

Why do I believe in the Father, God? Because I cannot help it. I simply know there is a God, and that settles it with me. I have absolute confidence in him, and am willing to submit to whatever he wills in respect of me. You ask, "What good comes from reading the Bible?" An immense deal of good. It soothes you and makes you content and charitable.

I might add that it educates you and gives you a good literary style, and that is another matter. Going to church gives people steady habits, and makes them prudent and careful, and makes them vote carefully. Church members make a stable nucleus for society.

A STRONG COMBINATION.

[Lethbridge Herald.]

Scotland will soon be depopulated, if this year's immigration to Western Canada keeps up. They are the best kind of people we can get. They are usually shrewd in business, Presbyterian in religion, and Liberal in politics, and what better mixture could be asked for?

CURTAIN CALL.

[Life.]

"Did they call on the author of that new play for a speech?"

"No, an apology."

ANTI-IMPERIAN PRONUNCIATION.

[Montreal Herald.]

Ambassador Bryce has been talking to the people of Toronto about "Oh-tah-reoh." The real fact is that he acquired that pronunciation (which is historically correct) in the Irish schools of his early youth; but the Toronto News and Telegram see in it only one more convincing evidence that he is a Frenchman and an enemy to the empire.

HARVEY'S GREAT DISCOVERY.

[Rev. Thomas B. Gregory, in New York American.]

At 10 o'clock on a bright spring morning, April 17, 1616, says Dr. Osler in a recent work, an unusually large company was attracted to the New Anatomical Hall of the Physicians' College, London. The second lecture of the annual course, given that year by a new man, had drawn a larger gathering than usual, due in part to the brilliancy of the demonstration of the previous day, but also, it may be, because rumors had spread abroad about strange views to be propounded by the lecturer. The centre of attention is the lecturer, a small, dark man, wand in hand, with black, piercing eyes, a quick, vivacious manner, and an ease and grace in demonstrating which bespeak the master.

The "small, dark man" with the "black, piercing eyes," was William Harvey, and he was about to make to the world the announcement of his immortal discovery of the circulation of the blood.

From very early times physicians were aware of the fact that the blood is not stagnant in the veins. The fact was known to Homer and to every augur who inspected the entrails of a victim, and every village leech who "breathed" a vein; but no one had a conception of a continuous stream starting from the heart and returning to its source. If they used the word "circulation" it was only in the vaguest sense.

It was Harvey who, on that bright spring morning, April 17, 1616, gave the world the knowledge it had been groping for through the centuries, the solution of the most "difficult and fundamental problem in physiology." And not the least wonderful part of the story is the fact that the immortal solution as given by Harvey was "almost perfect." The only thing that he failed to find was the capillary channels by which the blood passed from the arteries to the veins. This gap in the circulation was supplied by the great anatomist Malpighi in 1661, and after that there was absolutely nothing more to be added.

As might have been expected, the great discovery met with bitter and determined opposition.

MAN OF PRINCIPLE.

DETECTED.

"What does your father do when you ask him questions?" asked one small boy.

"He generally says I'm busy now; don't bother me," replied the other. "Then when I go out of the room he looks in the encyclopedia."

RECTORY STREET SCHOOL PRAISED.

[Montreal Herald.]

Fine evidence of organization is presented in the story of a fire scare in a London, Ont., school two days ago. Though the corridors were full of smoke, the children were brought out in perfect order. And as a final touching proof of the foresight of the authorities, a special detachment of boys, long previously assigned to the duty, rushed to the place usually occupied by a little cripple, only to find that he was not at school that day. This is the kind of thing that makes us rather proud of our Canadian schools.

ALL GOING.

FRENCH WAR MINISTER KILLED AND PREMIER BADLY HURT

Monoplane Hits Group of Cabinet Ministers of France.

WATCHING START OF GREAT RACE

Paris, May 21.—France today paid another and terrible toll in her magnificent endeavor to attain supremacy in the art of aviation, when a monoplane, the driver of which lost control, plunged into a group of members of the cabinet who had gathered to witness the start of the Petit Parisian race from Paris to Madrid, killing the Minister of War, and injuring the Prime Minister, his son and a well-known sportsman.

A large number of other persons of note had narrow escapes from injury.

The accident occurred on the aviation field at Issy Les Molineux, and was witnessed by two hundred thousand persons.

M. Trail was piloting a monoplane. With him in the car was M. Bounier, a passenger. Neither of these men was injured. The machine was wrecked.

Minister of War Berteaux was horribly mangled. The swiftly revolving propeller cut off cleanly his left arm, which was found ten feet away from the spot where he was struck, the back of his head was crushed in, his throat gashed and the whole of his left side cut and lacerated.

Premier Monis was buried beneath the wreckage of the monoplane. He was taken out as quickly as possible and examined by military surgeons, who found he had sustained compound fractures of two bones in the right leg; that his nose was broken; his face badly contused and that there were bruises on the breast and abdomen.

M. Deutsch and M. Monis, jun., were not seriously hurt.

Among those who had narrow escapes from injury was M. Lepine, the prefect of police.

The Start of the Race.

Premier Monis and Minister Berteaux and their party arrived at the aviation field about 6 o'clock, shortly after Roland Garros, M. Beaumont and M. Gibert had started in the race, headed in the direction of Angouleme, capital of the department of Charente.

The great line of spectators bordering the flying was being held rigid by a large force of soldiers, who, however, permitted the ministerial party and some half-hundred other persons of distinction to walk across the field to a point where they could get a better view down the course and see the airmen as they rose from the starting point and flew in their direction.

While the great assemblage cheered madly, the ministers saw Pierre Vedrines, who had been picked by many as the probable winner of the race, mount easily from the ground and head down the aerodrome, only suddenly to capsize and fall, but emerge unhurt from the wreckage of his machine. Aviator Trail, whose monoplane caused the disaster, meanwhile had taken his position at the starting line, levers in hand, and with M. Bounier beside him.

The breeze had been steadily freshening and the meteorological observer in the Eiffel Tower telephoned that his gauge showed a velocity of eight metres a second, or close to 30 miles an hour. The members of the aviation committee were discussing the adverse conditions.

Trail, however, left the ground. Ascending swiftly, he circled the great field, curving round to the starting line, and then flying down the course at a 40-mile-an-hour gait, the machine rocking in the gusty wind.

Swooped to Earth.

Trail's monoplane swooped toward the earth at the impulse of an air flurry, and it appeared as though the aviator was about to dash into the cavalry. The pilot's attentions seemed momentarily to have been diverted from his course and he made a quick turn to the left, towards where the party of officials were standing. Then he lost control of the craft altogether, and it dashed violently into the ministerial group.

The impact knocked M. Berteaux ten feet away, where he lay in a pool of blood, badly mangled, while under the wreckage of the monoplane lay Premier Monis, his son and M. Deutsch. Trail and M. Bonnier emerged from the wreck uninjured.

A scene of frightful confusion followed the fall of the monoplane. From all parts of the aviation field arose cries of alarm and dismay, and tens of thousands of persons broke through the lines and moved towards the scene of the accident. The cavalry, however, by repeated charges, managed to clear the field and the injured men were given first aid by the field surgeons. From the first it was seen that M. Berteaux was fatally hurt, and that M. Monis was seriously injured. After the ministers had been cared for, the surgeons dressed the wounds of those who had received minor bruises.

There are various versions as to the cause of the accident, but everyone seems agreed that it occurred with such frightful rapidity that there was no time for M. Berteaux, M. Monis and the others to escape.

M. Monis, jun., said that he thought he saved his father's life by pushing him violently to the ground the moment he saw the machine plunging through the air.

The Race Suspended.

M. Dupuy, immediately after the disaster, gave out word that the race should be suspended. M. Lepine issued a formal order to that effect, stating that it would be impossible to continue, for a large part of the aviation field was covered by vast crowds. Late this afternoon, however, the Aero Club decided that the six airmen, who had not started today should have an opportunity to do so tomorrow morning.

M. Berteaux's body was placed in a closed auto and escorted from the field by a squadron of dragoons, with swords at salute. Tens of thousands in that part of the field through which the automobile passed stood uncovered.

The body of the late minister of war lies at the ministry in the same room from which recently his preuecessor, Gen. Lirum, was buried.

Premier Monis, while being taken from the filed in an ambulance repeated over and over again in a low voice:

"It is nothing, it is nothing," and when he had somewhat regained a clearer consciousness, said that his injurie must not intertere with the race. He did not know that Berteaux was dead.

Doctors set the fractures without the aid of an anaesthetic and as far as it was humanly possible, the premier was made comfortable. Mme. Monis had planned to give a children's party at her house today. The rooms were full of flowers, and the premier's wife was arranging these when the ambulance arrived.

President Fallieries called on both Mines. Berteaux and Monis, and the King and Queen of Denmark, who were leaving Paris in the forenoon, sent their minister of the household to express their grief. The foreign representatives left cards of condolence and sympathy.

M. Cruppi Takes War Office.

M. Fallieres summoned his cabinet, and M. Cruppi, minister of foreign affairs, was designated to fulfill the duties of minister of war, pending further developments, and temporarily to act as head of the cabinet. Various reports were circulated to the effect that Premier Monis might resign and the ministry be reorganized. President Fallieres decided that it would postpone his intended visit, and sent a special mission to Basle, headed by M. Coullard-Descos, the French minister at Belgrade, to inform King Peter officially.

The general opinion is held that the lesson to be learned from the catastrophe is that the rule prohibiting spectators on the aviation field is one that should not be violated, even by members of the Government.

Maurice Berteaux was one of the most distinguished men in France, engaged in political life. He is credited with having caused the fall of the Briand ministry, through an interpellation. He had held the portfolio of minister of war once before, but though he relinquished this, he had devoted himself to army affairs. He accepted that office again in the Monis cabinet, which was formed March 2 of this year. He acquired a fortune in finance, and it was no secret that he cherished an ambition to become a candidate for president in 1913. His death is especially untimely for France, as, with M. Cruppi, he was directing the present delicate Moroccan question, which is still far from settled.

Almost from its inception, M. Berteaux exhibited a keen interest in aviation, and as early as 1905 he made an ascent in the Lebaudy military balloon. Much of the credit for the French army's pre-eminence in aviation was given to M. Berteaux.

The condition of Premier Monis, while still serious, is satisfactory to his physicians, and should no complications set in, the premier is expected to recover.

Henri Deutsch De La Meurthe, the veteran patron of aeronautics and automobiling, and Antoine Monis, son of the prime minister, both of whom were struck by Train's machine when it plunged into the group of officials, were not seriously injured.

How It Happened.

Although various versions are given as to the cause of the accident which occurred with such frightful rapidity as to make it impossible to follow the lightning changes in the aviator's course just before the monoplane dashed into the premier's party, it appears to be the consensus of opinion today that the disaster was caused by a defective motor, superinduced by an air flurry created probably by the galloping of a troup of cavalry across the field directly under the moving aeroplane. The ministerial party was hidden from the pilot's view by the detachment of troops, and in avoiding the soldiers, Train crashed into the group of officials as though shot from a catapult.

Confusion was rampant following the fall of the monoplane. Cries of alarm arose from all parts of the field, and thousands of persons broke through the lines formed by the gendarmes and crushed toward the scene of the accident. It was with great difficulty that the cavalry, by repeatedly charging the crowds, succeeded in clearing the grounds.

THE HUDSON'S BAY LINE

First Section of Road Will Be Ready for Construction This Summer.

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, Man., May 22.—Engineer F. P. Moffatt, in charge of a large party of surveyors, will leave Selkirk tomorrow on the City of Selkirk to complete the final location of Hudson's Bay Railway section from Manitou Rapids west to the pass, a distance of about 200 miles. This, the first section of the road, will be ready for construction some time during midsummer, and contracts will be let by the railways and canals department at Ottawa within a very few months.

MONIS BETTER

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, May 22.—Antoine E. Monis, the French premier and minister of the interior, who was seriously injured yesterday, when an aeroplane piloted by M. Train, dashed into a group of Government officials, who had gathered on the military field at Issy-Les-Mouilineaux to witness the start of the Paris to Madrid race, killing M. Bertreaux, the French minister of war, and injuring two other men, passed a quiet night.

Although Premier Monis, who was buried beneath the wreckage of the monoplane, sustained compound fractures of two bones in the right leg, had his nose broken, his face badly contused and received bruises on the breast and abdomen, his condition at noon today, according to a statement given out by the physicians attending him, is satisfactory. No complications have set in.

NEW AND BRIGHT IS HOWE'S CIRCUS

Some Fine Horses and Other Animals in the Street Parade Today.

A SPLENDID MENAGERIE

Big Crowd Saw the Show This Afternoon—Another Performance at 8 o'Clock Tonight.

There is a big crowd at the circus this afternoon at the Carling farm, Dundas street east.

The parade attracted much attention this morning downtown. Shortly after 10 o'clock, it moved down Dundas street to Adelaide, up Adelaide to Queen's avenue, up Queen's avenue to Talbot street, down Talbot street to King street, and east on King street to Wellington, and up Wellington to Dundas, and then east to the grounds.

All along the route there were large numbers of people, who all were well pleased with the display.

There are a number of fine horses, and the menagerie is very good. The costumes were clean, and original in design, and everything was new, clean and bright.

Three Bands.

Three bands made plenty of music for the crowd, and the usual array of clowns kept the youngsters particularly in a happy frame of mind.

Of course, there was a steam calliope, and all the other attractions that go with a circus.

The elephants attracted much attention. Conspicuous among them was the big one that ran away when the circus was at Ingersoll, becoming mired in a ditch near that town. The animal travelled in chains today, her two front legs being tethered to prevent her getting away. She is a manster, in fact, one of the largest elephants seen here in some time, and one can readily imagine that she could start some trouble if she so desired.

Crowds at the Show.

The ticket offices opened at 1 o'clock and from that time until the show opened, large crowds went out to see it. The menagerie showed up to much better advantage under canvas, and it was readily seen that the collection is an extremely valuable one. Some very rare specimens are to be seen.

An interesting trio are the baby lions. They are about a year old now, but are as playful as kittens, and amused the crowd this afternoon greatly.

A baby camel, born when the circus was in winter quarters, is another attraction worth seeing. There are many others worth special mention, but space forbids even a mention of them.

The performance is a highly creditable one. There are many features of more than usual merit. There is a fine corps of clowns, real funny fellows, more so than the usual run.

Some Features.

The famous Uyeno troupe of Japanese have one of the cleverest jugling acts ever seen here. Several bareback riders, among them Joe Wallace and Cecil Lowande, furnished plenty of excitement.

The famous Eddy Family, in an iron-jaw act, lived up to advance notices, in fact, surpassed the expectancy of the audience. They do almost any kind of a feat, hanging by their teeth. Their slack wire performance is thrilling.

It is said to be a good show, and will likely be well patronized this evening.

CHAPTER XXII.

A Letter of Introduction

Mrs. Carrington was enjoying the situation. Those young people were really delicious. They thought they had outwitted her, and were discussing gravely what they meant to do with the diamonds when they got them. The stones were to be handed over to her husband's creditors, for distribution among the widows and orphans in England; it was a touching scheme, but it was not the one which Mrs. Carrington proposed to see carried out.

But though she enjoyed her triumph, and did not mind in the least that she had gained it by admitted eavesdropping, she was really tired. Moreover, her headache had not benefitted by half an hour's crouching with her ear to the keyhole of the door. She expected to spend an energetic day tomorrow, and she did not think she was likely to gain any other information tonight, so she sacrificed present gratification to future profit, and announced that she was going to bed.

"Really to bed, this time," she said. "But don't go, Mr. Scarborough, on that account. I don't suppose a chaperone is really necessary, as Elsa's friend is with her. No doubt that was why Mademoiselle Mone de la Mar—I have got her professional name right, my dear, have I?—that, no doubt, is why Mademoiselle Mona de la Mar insisted upon staying. I am not needed, so I will retire. You have arrangements to make for tomorrow. I am afraid I have complicated them somewhat."

"You have," said Scarborough, quietly. She was trying to anger him, he thought; but he was not even annoyed, nad he rather admired the woman's impudence. She was a type that he had not met before, and he realized for the first time the tremendous advantage that a simple shamelessness gives a plotter who has brains to use it effectively. Mr. Carrington had the gift of shamelessness, but she also undoubtedly had the gift of brains. She was an added difficulty, of course, but his hands were not tied by misunderstanding now; he was free to grapple with difficulties, and he rather welcomed them as adding zest to the game.

"I should like to hear what you mean to do with me," she sad sweetly. "I am coming to the picnic, but I realize that I shall not be very welcome. I am an unfortunate complication—how are you going to deal with it?"

Scarborough smiled.

"I don't think there is anything to be gained by saying," he answered.

"You hope to be able to leave me out, after all?"

"Oh, no," said Scarborough. "If you say you are coming I have no doubt that you will. But you will probably make your own arrangements."

Mrs. Carrington gave him a quick glance.

"Young man," she said, "you are not a fool! I admit that I hoped you were. Good-night!"

She swept smiling from the room, and Mona jumped up and opened the long French windows that led to the garden.

"Elsa and I will see you on your way to the cable station," she said to Scarborough. "There are no keyholes in the open air. Never mind your hat, Elsa. It's warm."

When they were clear of the house and the trees round it, Mora halted in an open space of the road.

"I think this will do," she said. "There isn't a hedge within forty yards, and the sick-room of our headache patient is double that distance away. Our voices won't be heard. But speak without pointing at things. There's a bright moon, and an intelligent observer can deduce a good deal from gestures. Now, then, what's to be done?"

"I think," said Scarborough, "that you two had better give up your plan of going with me tomorrow; stay here and watch Mrs. Carrington. If she goes——"

"Oh, she'll go all right enough," said Mona.

"Yes, I think she will. If she does, you can follow her. Does she bicycle, Elsa?"

"No."

"Then she'll have a carriage. You on your bicycles can prevent her giving you the slip. I'll carry out my original plan of joining Phil at Furnas."

Mona turned to Elsa.

"Are you willing to give up your picnic?" she asked.

"I don't mean to give it up," said Elsa quietly.

Mona looked at Scarborough queerly. "A determined family, the Carringtons," she said. "I thought Elsa wouldn't submit to be bullied by the lady with the headache. You see, Mr. Scarborough, we're going. But instead of Mrs. Carrington giving us the slip, I suggest that we should inflict that experience on her. What time can you call for us in the morning?"

"I am on duty till eight," said Scarborough.

"Couldn't you get one of the other men to take the last bit for you, just for once? Couldn't you be here by six—or better, half-past five?"

"Perhaps Scott would do it," said Scarborough doubtfully; "but what's your plan?"

"To be off before the lady suspects that we are even awake," said Mona. "She will follow, of course, but we'll leave a competent detective to shadow her."

"Who?"

"Val B. He's at the cable station now; he has been dining with Mr. Scott, and he's going to stay the night. He'll do it if you say I told you to ask him, and he'll do it thoroughly."

"Does he know Mrs. Carrington?"

"No; so you can tell him what you like of her. Say that she's an interesting woman with a very sad past, a fascinating creature with abnormally developed criminal tendencies, and that a day spent in watching her will be well worth while to a close observer of character. Val B. Montague thinks himself rather a connoisseur of character, and is always complaining that the female villains he meets are bloodless and feeble—no real gritty vice in 'em, sir! Explain to him," said Mona, laughing, "that this one is real hard sand, and he'll do anything you ask for the chance of studying her."

Scarborough thought for a moment.

"You know him better than I do," he said at length. "Don't be annoyed at what I am going to ask. Is he absolutely trustworthy?"

Mona became suddenly grave, and the moonlight flashed in her eyes.

"Yes," she said simply.

"I mean," said Scarborough, "would it be safe to tell him, not what you suggest, but the simple truth. Can we make him one of us in this matter?"

"It is safe to trust Val B. Montague in anything," said Mona. She drew herself up, and it seemed almost that she said it proudly. "He is eccentric,perhaps, but he is the truest-hearted genetleman I have ever met."

"Then I think I prefer to tell him the truth."

Mona hesitated, and then held out her hand. "You are right," she said, with a straight look from her hazel eyes. "I am sorry I suggested that you should play upon one of his weaknesses. From me he doesn't deserve that. Elsa, shall we go back now?"

"You will come for us at half-past five, Horace?" said Elsa.

"Yes."

The girls went back, and Scarborough rode on to the cable station. He found Montague in the billiard room playing snooker-pool with Scott and another man. The Yankee circusman welcomed him characteristically.

"Mr. Scarborough, sir," said I, "I would say I was glad to meet you if I dared. I told you I was not a superstitious man, but what is the crisis in my affairs this time? You and I never meet except when fate has been shaking something into my lap out of her bag of worries. What is it, sir, this time? Any misfortune happened to my schooner, or to my children of Val B. Montague's combination? Or does your appearance merely portend that I am about to miss this easy shot at snooker?"

"Try the shot and see," said Scarborough.

Montague did so. The balls kissed and his own ran into the pocket.

"Off the pink, too!" he exclaimed ruefully. "Six off my score. But I'm glad. I was afraid the Sea Horse had gone to the bottom at least."

"Is your game nearly over?" Scarborough asked Scott.

"Yes. Want to join in?"

"No, thanks; but will you bring Montague to my room when you've finished? There's something I want to tell you both."

Val B. Montague looked up quickly.

"There is a crisis!" he said. "I was sure of it."

To Be Continued.

At Regent Park, London, an aloe is in bloom. The plant is 24 feet high and has huge fleshy leaves with large spines in the shape of big rosettes. Aloe leaves have a strong fibre, fine for rope, and the juice is used for soap or made into liquor like cider. An aloe takes long years to grow, sometimes 70 years. It flowers once and dies.

Forget Yourself.

Miss Cynthia Grey: I am a constant reader of your page, and write to see if you can help me in my difficulty. 1. When out an evening and meeting new acquaintances, I do not seem able to be as free and sociable as the other girls, and am so quiet it gives people the idea that I am stiff. It makes me appear awkward and makes me feel uncomfortable, and often I wish I had not gone. I try to dress as neat and attractive as other girls. 2. What will improve the complexion? Thanking you in advance for any advise you can give me.

A. J.

A.—1. It is hard, indeed, to overcome natural backwardness in company, but there is always a bright side to everything—it is better to be a little shy and perhaps, constrained in manner, than too forward and free. I know that while it is easy for me to say "Forget yourself and try to think only of giving pleasure and entertainment to others," it is difficult to put into practice. However, it is well worth trying. If there are any in the company who do not seem to be enjoying themselves, or are ill at ease, try to brighten the evening for them. Discuss local topics (not necessarily gossip), and endeavor to find out what interests them particularly and get them to talk about it. In doing so you will be surprised to see how you forget your own troubles. Another good thing is to read as much as possible of what is going on. Read the daily papers, and the current articles in two or three of the monthly magazints. 2. I stated my views on this subject in issue of the 17th, so please hunt up the answer to Blonde.

To Remove Stains.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please answer the following questions: 1. How can I remove dry white paint from window panes; from linoleum? 2. How to remove a yellow stain from a green Brussels rug? 3. What color of paint will suit the dining-room when the paper is green and pink? I do not wish green, white or pink. 4. Some hints on how to entertain some married friends, and what to serve? Thanking you in advance for these answers, and for hints received in your paper heretofore.

A YOUNG HOUSEWIFE.

A.—1. Soften with turpentine; then scrape with the point of a knife. 2. You do not say what nature the stain is. Ammonia is an excellent cleaning agent for grease spots. You might try an application to two to see if it would have any effect. 3. Mahogany. 4. As the warm weather is at hand, I would advise you giving a picnic instead of an indoor affair. A box of sandwiches, some of your favorite salad packed into a wide-mouthed jar; olives and pickles, and a variety of cake, make a dainty and satisfying lunch.

To Stop Teasing.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. The people around here are always teasing me. How can I stop it? 2. What are the latest popular pieces? 3. Is it proper for a girl to go driving with a fellow after 10 o'clock at night? 4. Is it proper for a girl to come home with a fellow who has been calling on her sister, when she objects? 5. Is Bruce a good name for a boy? 6. Give me a good recipe for fudge. Thanking you in advance.

FLORENCE.

A.—1. Don't get angry or annoyed, but seem not to mind it, and soon the fun of teasing will be taken away. 2. Any music store will furnish you with a list. 3. If returning from a garden party, picnic, or other outing, yes. 4. Although you have mixed your pronouns somewhat, you evidently mean that the sister objects. I do not understand the situation sufficiently to pass an opinion. 5. Yes. 6. Two cups granulated sugar, half cup milk, one tablespoon butter, stir constantly, and boil until it forms a soft ball when dropped into cold water. Remove from the stove and add a half teaspoonful vanilla. Beat until it becomes smooth, and pour into a buttered pan. Nut meats may be added, or two tablespoonfuls grated chocolate to make chocolate fudge.

Wedding Cake.

Dear Miss Grey: Please publish a recipe for a wedding cake, and also a suitable icing, and oblige,

A SUBSCRIBER.

A.—Two cups butter, 4 cups sugar, 2 cups molasses, 12 cups flour, 8 eggs, 2 pounds raisins, 2 pounds currants, ½-pound mixed peel, ½-pound dates, ½-pound chopped nuts, 2 tablespoonfuls mixed ground spice; juice of one lemon.

Icing—One pint granulated sugar, mixed thoroughly with water enough to dissolve when heated. Let it boil until it threads from the spoon. Beat the whites of 2 eggs stiff, stir the boiling sugar into the egg whites, gradually beating until it is smooth. Flavor with almond essence. The cake may need two or more coats of this icing to make it a decided white color.

EASY TO MAKE OVER AN OLD DRESS NOW

One of the easiest ways of giving a new lease of life to an old silk or satin dress is by veiling it with some transparent material; net, chiffon, marquisette, silk, voile, etc. Some of these materials are quite inexpensive. The nets, for instance, cost very little, and are two yards wide. Chiffon is about a yard and a quarter wide, and you can get a very wearable quality for 80 or 90 cents a yard.

You can use a black veiling over white or over a color, provided the color is brilliant enough not to be totally obscured by the overdress. Black worn with white or with a vivid color is the most popular color of the year, but you can use one color with another, if you like. For instance, American beauty pink is used with royal purple, old blue with flesh color, king's blue and flamigo, rose over white, black and old gold, royal blue and mastic, parrot blue and yellow, and so on through a na!most endless series of combinations.

If you have an old gown that you want to use as a foundation for a new dress of chiffon, net, etc., you must first rip the old skirt apart and cut it over in a new pattern. Its lines must be narrow, for merely veiling the dress will not give it a new, smart look if its cut shows its age. If you are remaking a semi-princess dress, it will probably only be necessary to rip the skirt; but if it is a princess dress you ought to take it all apart, although the principal change will be in the skirt part of the dress.

In recutting your foundation be sure that the lower edge of the skirt is in perfect condition. If the facing is worn or frayed, replace it or it will give a shabby look to your dress. Look over all the hooks and eyes and buttonhole loops. The hooks and eyes should be resewed if they have pulled.

If you find that you will have to replace the chemisette and undersleeves, use a plain, fine net.

As to necks and sleeves in general, all simple, practical dresses and tailored waists have high necks and long sleeves. For afternoon dresses and for semiformal daytime affairs, sleeves are either elbow or three-quarter length. In the afternoon dress you can use a high, collarless, French or Dutch neck, the neck depending largely on the purpose of the gown. For a dress that you would wear to a restaurant, a matinee or a reception, the waist should be high-necked or collarless. But if you are receiving or serving at an afternoon reception, you can use the French neck, which is a little lower than the collarless, but not quite as low as the Dutch, or else the Dutch neck itself.

A FEW DONT'S.

Don't put a small saucepan on a large ring. This ruins the pan, burns its contents and wastes the heat.

Don't use a big flame after the water has once boiled; the gas, if turned half on, will give sufficient heat to keep the water on the boil.

Don't leave the ring alight for one moment if there is no pot above it. A few odd moments during the day amount up at the end of the quarter. Keep a box of matches always beside the stove, and relighting it will be the work of a moment.

Don't heat the oven before it is necessary. Find out by experiment how long it takes to get it both warm and hot, then calculate accordingly.

Don't when roasting meat, keep the gas burning until it is time to serve the joint. The oven will remain sufficiently hot for some time after the jets are extinguished.

A Novel Blouse.

Another blouse of dark etamine over white had an oddly-shaped yoke and sleeves of embroidered batiste, and there are various models in silk with shallow yokes of lingerie stuff continued down the outside fo the sleeve in a band and sometimes, as in some charming models seen, running down the front of the blouse as well. Deep cape collars, sailor collars, Dutch collars, or embroidered batiste or linen appear upon many of the colored blouses in silk or sheer materials, and some exceedingly goodlooking models of silk, chiffon, silk mousseline, or etamine combined with white or cream batiste embroidered in color matching the silk.

Cooking Cabbage Without Odor.

It is quite possible to cook cabboge without perfuming the home, says the Rural New Yorker. One very good method is to slice the cabbage up fine, as for cold slaw, and immerse for five minutes in boiling water in an uncoveredsaucepa n. It is then covered with cream sauce, put in a baking dish with crumbs over the top, and baked until the crumbs are brown. Cabbage, cauliflower or onions, cut into small pieces and cooked in an open saucepan with plenty of water, develop little odor, and do not take so long in cooking. We notice that the cabbage served in Chinese restaurants, which is usually some of the tender green looseheaded varieties, is only cooked enough to be heated through, without losing its crispness, but it is not tender.

PRINCESS WANTS ENGLISH HUSBAND

London, May 21.—Princess Louise of Germany is quoted as saying to an intimate friend during her visit to England which ended today:

"I don't want to be a Bavarian, a Wuerttemberger or a Vinnese. I want to be English."

The attention of Emperor William, during his visit in London, paid to the Prince of Wales, and the official announcement that the prince will visit Potsdam during the present summer, has given zest to gossip regarding the possibility of a marriage between the Prince of Wales and Princess Victoria Louise, the only daughter of the German Emperor.

Princess Louise is slightly older than the young prince, vivacious and handsome. Both are great-grandchildren in direct descent of Queen Victoria, and some object to their union on account of consanguinity. The anti-German extremists also object on account of race prejudice and national jealousy.

But with many others the idea is popular. It is conceded that were Princess Louise united to the Prince of Wales, the circumstance would go far to obliterate the Germanophobes and the rivalry between the two nations. And were Louise queen of England there is no doubt she would do much to further amicable relations between the two nations. The marriage would not be popular with other European nations, and might drive Britain and Germany into very close relations in time.

SIX MONTHS' WORK AT THE CAPITAL

Royal Assent Was Given to One Hundred and Forty-nine Bills.

Ottawa, May 21.—The net results of six months, during which Parliament has been in session, were, so far as actual legislation is concerned, embodied in the 149 bills to which the final assent has been given. Of this list 41 were assented to before the Easter adjournment, and the balance have just been assented to by the deputy governor, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick.

In so far as Government legislation is concerned the principal measures include the guarantee of bonds to the Canadian Northern Railway for the thousand-mile-link of its transcontinental line from Montreal to Port Arthur; the bill to amend the railway act by extending the jurisdiction of the railway commission in several important details over railway, telegraph, telephone and express companies; the bill making further provision for forest reserves and parks in Western Canada; the bill extending the bank charters for another year; the bill regulating the sale and use of opium and other drugs; the bill respecting the inspection and sale of seeds; the bill establishing the international joint commission under the waterways treaty, and bills amending the customs act, the postoffice act, the fisheries act, the Indian act and the Canada medical act.

There are left for Parliament when it reassembles further consideration of the bills respecting the acquirement of branch lines of the Intercolonial; respecting the sale and handling of explosives; grain elevators, the Hudson Bay Railway, the Quebec bridge, and above all, the reciprocity proposals.

PORCUPINE FIRES EXPLODE MAGAZINE

District Around Pearl Lake Being Swept by Flames.

Porcupine, May 21.—Ignited by the bush fires, the dynamite magazine on the Hollinger property exploded, breaking the pipes, and the whole plant was gutted by the flames. Mr. L. K. Timmins, who is here, said that the loss on the Hollinger property is $70,000. The buildings on the McIntyre property have also been burned.

The district around Pearl Lake has been swept by the flames, and the settlement around Anra Lake has been completely wiped out.

Two houses and a general store were burned at South Porcupine. The schoolhouse at Porcupine, reported burned on Friday night, was saved.

Construction gangs on the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway fought the fires on the right of way. It rained hard on Friday night, and this considerably checked the flames. All the fires were out by Saturday night.

INVALIDS' THEATRE

The Latest Experiments in Curing by Mental Suggestion.

London, May 21.—Therapeutic theatres are the latest phase of the nature cure in Germany. The theory is that acting and reciting are cures for mental and nervous diseases. An Austrian doctor named Lack professes to have cured many person by forcing them to act before audiences of their friends in the open air.

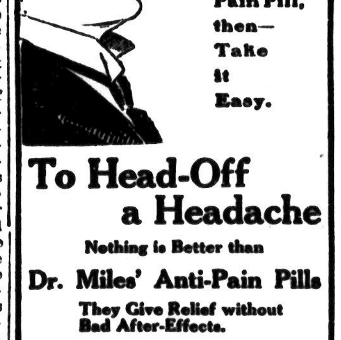

The explanation given is that acting takes the patients out of themselves, and thus prevents them from thinking of their own maladies. All over the empire are being founded theatrical organizations to produce plays in the open air, and during the coming summer nature performances will be given more or less regularly near every large town.

At Potsdam the municipality is leading the movement, and it proposes to build an open-air stage in a picturesque part of a neighboring forest. The movement is under the patronage of the Princess Eitel Friedrich, one of the aKiser's daughters-in-law, who is an amateur actress.

TURKEY AND UNITED STATES.

Constantinople, May 20.—One of the principal conditions required by the Porte in return for the grant of a concession for an extensive railway system in Asiatic Turkey to an American syndicate, headed by Dr. Chester, is a renunciation of the treaty right of trial by United States consular courts of citizens charged with criminal offences. The other great powers long ago abandoned this practice, contenting themselves with supervising the trials in Turkish courts.

A commission was named yesterday by the Porte to discuss the modification of the treaty.

WHY BAHAMAS SHOULD BECOME CANADA'S SOUTHERN PROVINCE

Rev. C. A. Dann, of Nassau, the Bahamas, Writes Interestingly to The Advertiser—Bahamas Already Self-Governing—Would Fit Easily Into the Canadian Federation—The Advantages to Both Countries—A New Field For Canadian Enterprise.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I have been much interested in an account in your issue of the 11th of April of the views of Mr. T. S. Hobbs on the question of the "Annexation of the Bahamas."

While it may be no easy task to convincingly express difference of opinion from a gentleman so evidently able, broad-minded, and well-informed, I yet feel that I ought to ask you to allow me to say something on the other side, from the standpoint of a Britisher who has resided for many years in this colony, and who feels that there are certain salient facts that Mr. Hobbs does not seem to have got hold of, and which should put an entirely different face on the whole matter.

Note carefully that Mr. Hobbs speaks of our sisal hemp and our "large trade in oranges, pineapples and various tropical fruits," and also of our fertile soil. Add to these statements the facts that sea-island cotton originally grew plentifully here, that the rubber vine is indigenous to the Bahamas, that it is a phenomenally fast and prolific grower, that specimens of the rubber sent from here to England have earned the verdict, 'second only to the very best quality in the world," and that tobacco can be easily grown and is grown now. Put to all those items these also: That our sponge beds are by no means exhausted, and our winter climate is second to none in the world for tourists, and health seekers, and you will see that the tendency of some of the statements of Mr. Hobbs rather favors the idea of annexation than otherwise from the Canadian viewpoint, seeing that what he says tends to prove how desirable a province we would be to Canada. The United States are a nation producing tropical commodities. Why should not Canada complete herself by doing the same? Some wisely-used capital could bring great returns.

Businessmen's Attitude.

I am certain that Mr. Hobbs is greatly misinformed on this point. What has struck me more than anything else since the inception of this movement has been the overwhelming majority of the men of business who favor the plan of annexation; provided always it would not be carried out on terms too onerous for us. Why, the Legislature here, which voted so strikingly for the principle of union with Canada, is made up mainly of merchants.

I think the reason for this opinion of Mr. Hobbs appears when one remembers that he speaks repeatedly of the other West Indian Islands in connection with this project. Now, Jamaica businessmen at present seem to be against drawing closer to Canada, and the same may be said of many merchants in other West Indian colonies; but it must be carefully and clearly noted that the proposition before us is the annexation of the Bahamas only. The businessmen of the Bahamas, with some exceptions, favor annexation by Canada as a principle. Some of these exceptions are deservedly influential men, but they are, so far as my observation goes, decidedly a minority. The colored people I have met are just as favorable.

Feasibility of the Plan.

For years my mind worked along the lines of a possible West Indian confederation, as does Mr. Hobbs' mind now; but a careful consideration of the matter has led me to believe that it would be simpler for the Bahamas to be linked with Canada than for the Bahamas to be linked with the other West Indian Islands. This statement may startle Canadians. Let me indicate what leads me to make it: As a matter of fact, our constitution could be more easily assimilated to that of the Dominion than to those of our southern neighboring colonies. We are a self-governing colony, with an entirely elective popular chamber and a nominated "upper house." If I at all understand the constitutions of the other West Indian colonies, they are crown colonies in the main; consequently it would mean less of an upheaval for us to join more democratic Canada than to be linked with them.

One feels most grateful to Mr. Hobbs for the warm praise he accords to the inhabitants of the Bahamas. His tribute is well-deserved. But it only points out how desirable our people would be as Canadian citizens. The majority of our people are colored, and after knowing them since the year 1889, over 21 years ago, and after travelling over these islands repeatedly from end to end, in the course of my work, I can warmly indorse the praise Mr. Hobbs gives to them.

And let me say that while occasionally there may be a little race feeling between some of the colored and some of the white folks, there is emphatically NO COLOR PROBLEM. Our colored people usually elect white men to Parliament and work well with their representatives, and colored men have a place on our administrative boards. We are so used to settling all such questions ourselves that there is no likelihood of our being a trouble to the Dominion Government on account of the color question. We sensibly remember that white and colored people belong to each other and have common interests. We have a most law-abiding people, with an extraordinary freedom from serious crime, which is an example even for Canada to copy, and our respect for law and order would free Canada from anxiety about us on the score of color were we to become a self-governing province of the Dominion.

Our colored people do not wish to live in cold Canada, and even if they did, our population is so small as not to constitute a color immigration problem for Canada. We don't want them to go from here. We want you to help us keep them here.

Canada's Aid Wanted.

Most of us feel, from past experience, that Canada will never help us to develop our resources unless she has a vital interest in us. The colony has progressed materially in recent years, but not fast enough for the support of the population. Our lack of capital is in our way. Come over and help us to develop our resources. Canada could step in and do much for us, while she would enrich herself, and widen her own national horizon.

Then she could study the question of union with the other British West Indies at her leisure, and with her Bahamian experience to guide her. But, mark this: We would be very little bother to the Dominion. Our people are too wise and too orderly for that.

And so, Mr. Hobbs, I will venture to entertain the hope that I may one day be a fellow-Canadian with yourself—a Canadian of your new model southern province of the Bahamas. Your spirit and intention are good. I hope that your views also may come into line with ours.

Remember that steamers have lessened distances, and that it is very little, if any, harder, to communicate with us, and send us your famous exports, than it is now to communicate with distant Vancouver and Victoria. Take out your maps and measure the distances. Yours very truly,

CHARLES A. DANN,
Missionary Superintendent, Bahamas Baptist Mission.

HELD AT QUARANTINE

Liner Gothland Fumigated Through a Case of Suspected Smallpox.

Montreal, May 21. — A third steamer coming up the St. Lawrence bound for Montreal has been held up by the health officials at the Gros Isle quarantine station. This time no less than 228 passengers have been put ashore there, while the steamer, having been thoroughly fumigated, has proceeded to Quebec. The victims this time are passengers on the new Canada liner Gothland, from German ports, and at quarantine they will be met by passengers forced to disembark during the last two weeks from the Dominion and from the Albania.

A case of suspected smallpox is the cause of the trouble, as in the preceding cases.

The health authorities are unusually strict this year, and many complaints are being filed by incoming captains, who accuse them of discourtesy to passengers. There were many complaints aboard the Gothland, as the cases of suspected smallpox had been discovered early on the voyage and the suspect isolated, while the section in which he had lived was disinfected and fumigated.

Her Face and Body Were Litterly Covered With "BOILS."

Burdock Blood Bitters Cured Them.

Mrs. John H. King, Johnston, N.B., writes:—"Last summer I was very much troubled with boils, and my face and body were literally covered with them. A friend advised me to take Burdock Blood Bitters. I got three bottles, and before I had taken all the first one my boils began to go away. I had just taken a few doses out of the last one when they all disappeared. My husband has also used Burdock Blood Bitters with much benefit."

Boils in themselves are not a dangerous trouble, but still, at the same time, are very painful. They are caused entirely by bad blood, and to get rid of them it is necessary to put the blood in good condition, and for this purpose there is nothing to equal that old and tried remedy, Burdock Blood Bitters.

IN TROUBLE AGAIN

"Big Frank," a Guelph Character, Charged With Stabbing.

Guelph, May 21.—Frank Gillias, better known among the Italians of the city as "Big Frank," is in the toils again. He is charged with having inflicted bodily harm to a fellow-Italian named Tony Tifini, who lives on Wellington street. It is alleged Frank pulled a knife and used it with telling effect on Tifini's head. The latter appeared in court this morning with his head bandaged up. Magistrate Saunders took the evidence of the injured man, and committed the prisoner for trial. It is only a few months ago that the latter was fined $100 and costs for a breach of the liquor act.

COLLISION AT GALT

Several Persons Injured in a Traction Car Accident.

Galt, May 21.—In a rear-end collision on the G. P. and H. Electric Railway at 7 o'clock on Saturday night several passengers were injured. The accident occurred at the Golf Club station, two miles north of Galt. One car stopped to pick up a passenger. The brakes on a second, following closely behind, failed to work, and the collision occurred. Both of the cars were crowded, and most of the passengers were shaken up or bruised. William Cardy sustained three broken ribs, and is injured internally, while John Blouse and Jas. Quirk also have fractured ribs. James Clulow fell to the floor of a car and was knocked unconscious, and in addition sustained an injury to the spine.

TURNED BACK

Immigration Agents Head Off a Party of Austrians.

Windsor, May 21.—Additional evidence of smuggling of undesirables across the Detroit River into Canada was brought out by Canadian immigration officers here in conection with the capture of eight Austrians at Puce yesterday as they were about to board a Grand Trunk train for Chatham. The eight men attempted to cross by ferry on Friday, but were rejected. Late on Friday night immigration officers received word that the party were at Tecumseh, and Officers Hailstead and Dufour went there and made the arrests. It is supposed the men were brought across to Tecumseh in a small boat, and that their guides, mindful of other captures, gave them instructions to walk down the railway track to the next station before attempting to catch a train. The eight men were locked up at the Windsor police station, awaiting trial, charged with attempting to enter Canada after being rejected.

QUEEN'S FAMILY IS NOW ROYAL

King of Wurtemberg Gives His Gracious Consent to Wife of King George.

London, May 21.—There is a deal of significance in the slender announcement that appeared in all the papers this week to the effect that Queen Mary had adopted as her colors geranium red with a narrow blue strip upon it. This is not merely a combination of the Queen's favorite colors, but those of the royal house of Wurtemberg, and it is here that the significance lies. The Queen on her father's side sprang from the house of Wurtemberg, her grandfather having been a son of that royal house. But he contracted a morganatic marriage with a nobly but not "eben-burtige"—"evenbirthy," as the quaint German phraseology has it, (herwise royally born Countess Claudine de Rhedey, and their descendants were given the title of Teck and were never considered by other European monarchs as a "royal family."

Lately Queen Mary asked permission of the King of Wurtemberg to use his colors as her own and his consent acknowledges the Teck family now as "royal."

Baby Eczema For Three Years

THREE DOCTORS AND SCORES OF TREATMENTS FAILED.

The Dreadful Itching Was Stopped and the Sores Healed by

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Here is an illustration of the wonderful control which Dr. Chase's Ointment has over torturing, itching eczema. By its soothing influence it stops the itching, and it heals the sores as if by magic.

Mrs. Wm. Miller, St. Catharines, Ont., writes: "My daughter Mary, when six months old, contracted eczema, and for three years the disease based all treatment. Her case was one of the worst that had ever come under my notice, and she apparently suffered what no pen could ever describe. I had three different doctors attend her, all to no purpose whatever, and all kinds of balms, soaps and lotions were tried, with no results.

"Finally I decided to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, and to my surprise she immediately began to improve, and was completely cured of that long-standing disease. That was four years ago, when we lived at Cornwall, Ont., and as not a symptom has shown itself since, the cure must be permanent. With a grateful heart I give this testimony to the great value of Dr. Chase's Ointment."

In scores of ways, Dr. Chase's Ointment is useful in every home to allay skin irritations and heal and cure sores, wounds and ulcers. Sixty cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

BRIDGE BURNED AT STONEY POINT

Wabash Express No. 9 Stopped Just in Time.

St. Thomas, May 21.—Traffic over the Wabash-Grand Trunk was very much interfered with yesterday, owing to the burning of a bridge at Stoney Point. The bridge was a wooden structure 60 feet long, and was probably set on fire by a spark from a passing engine. Engineer Lansberry, of No. 9 Wabash express, saw the burning bridge in time to bring his train to a full stop, and at once notified the authorities, who had the trains for the day detoured over the Pere Marquette and the G. T. R. Sarnia division.

Late in the afternoon a temporary structure was erected and traffic resumed, and it is announced that work on a new steel bridge will be started at once.

RAG STARTS FIRE

Considerable Damage Done to Theatre at Detroit.

Kingston, Ont., May 21.—Early this morning fire was discovered in the Princess Theatorium of Princess street. The blaze was close to the entrance, and was caused by spontaneous combustion in a rag drawer. The fire brigade was on hand in quick time and extinguished it. Lack of draft saved the building. The loss is estimated at $300.

CHEERS FOR KAISER

Londoners Give German Royal Party a Hearty Send-Off.

London, May 21. — Emperor William, the Empress Auguste Victoria, and the Princess Victoria Louise of Germany, who have been spending a week with their royal English cousins, left yesterday afternoon on their way home. They were accompanied from Buckingham Palace to the railway station by King George, Queen Mary and other members of the British royal family. The streets along the route from the palace to the station were lined by cheering crowds. There were affectionate farewells between the cousins, as the German party boarded the train. The German imperial party spent last night on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern at Sheerness, in the Medway, and sailed for Flushing today.

The Kaiser has invited the Prince of Wales to visit him at Potsdam.

CHAMBERLAIN'S ADVICE

Wants Preference Offers Made to Canada at Imperial Conference.

London, May 21.—On the occasion of an imperial preference demonstration on Saturday the Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain wrote as follows to the president: "This is the critical time for our preference policy, in view of the proposed reciprocity between Canada and the United States. Advantage ought to be taken of the imperial conference to make some satisfactory offer to Canada and the other dominions. I still believe it is the only way the empire can be strengthened and kept together. The English now have the opportunity; perhaps it will be the last."

Austen Chamberlain said he believed that reciprocity would mark the first step of a great reversal of the national policy of Canada, which for a generation has been the common policy of both the great parties, and to which Canada owed her extraordinary and magnificent development.

Mr. Bonar Law still believed it was not too late to attain the ideal which had been pursued throughout these years by all the colonies. The ideal of making common cause with men of our own race had peopled other lands by becoming with them one nation united in reality not only by the tie of sentiment, but also the bonds of common interest.

EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA ILL.

Vienna, May 21. — On top of the recent rumors regarding the health of the Austrian Emperor, there was much excitement today, when it was learned that Prof. Neusher, the court physician, had been called suddenly to Godollo, where the Emperor now is. He left today. Officials say that nothing is the maatter with Francis Joseph.

INDIGESTION

AN INTERESTING STATEMENT.

Portland, Me.—"I suffered so long with indigestion and stomach trouble that I lost flesh rapidly—I had used all kinds of remedies without help. Vinol was recommended and I decided to try it.

"I soon commenced to feel better, my stomach trouble disappeared, and I can eat heartily without the slightest distress. My experience leads me to believe that no other medicine equals Vinol for stomach troubles and indigestion. It tones up the stomach, increases the appetite, and creates strength." W. E. Waterhouse. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

Vinol seldom fails to strengthen and tone up the tired, overtaxed and weakened nerves of the digestive organs, and remove the cause of indigestion, and soon enables the sufferer to digest with ease the foods that once caused distress. Moreover, Vinol is delicious to the taste, contains no oil and does not upset weak stomachs, as do old-fahioned cod liver oil and emulsions.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

New Record for the Plate Set by Giddings' St. Bass

PUBLIC CHOICE JUSTIFIES SUPPORTERS AT WOODBINE

St. Bass Does Distance in Sensational Style at Opening.

POWDERMAN 2ND 5 LENGTHS AWAY

Jane Shore, Seagram Entry, 3rd For Second Consecutive Time.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Woodbine, Toronto, May 20.—Smashing the plate record of 2:10 2-5 set by Shimonese two years ago, St. Bass, the Giddings candidate, and choice of the railbirds, copped the feature event at the opening today in 2:08 4-5, beating Powderman by five lengths. Jane Shore, from the Seagram stable, was third, five lengths behind the place horse, while the remaining five finished drawn up in a bunch. Miss Martimas, who was expected to do something, never got out of the last position, and it was evident that she was in trouble. It developed that she has an attack of congestion of the lungs, that was not noticed at the start.

A Brilliant Gathering.

The attendance of the Governor-General and his suite, of the Lieutenant-Governor and party, and of an immense throng of people from all parts of the Dominion, made the lawns and inclosures a brilliant social gathering, the fine weather lending itself to a display of dazzling costumes, the like of which is not to be seen at any other outdoor function in the country. His excellency and Lady Grey came in state, with their outriders in scarlet livery, and powdered wigs, and an escort of mounted police and a squadron of the Body Guards. Coming in the gate at the head of the stretch, the parade drew up at the entrance to the members' lawn, where the distinguished visitors were received by President Seagram, and escorted to the vice-regal box in the members' stand, while the band played "O Canada," and the "National Anthem." The floral decorations of the royal box were a picture of sylvan beauty.

In the vice-regal party were: His excellency, her excellency, Lady Sybil Grey, Lady Evelyn Grey, Col. Lowther (military secretary to the Duke of Connaught), Lord Lascelles, Lord Percy, Captain Bingham and Mr. Freemantle.

The Government House party comprised: His honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Mrs. Gibson, the Misses Gibson, Major Shantz, and Mr. Fellowes, A.D.C.

The Feature Event.

The race for the Kings Plate was the great feature of the day's sport, and the paddock was thronged for a critical inspection of the candidates a they prepared for the parade. His excellency was particularly pleased with the impressive appearance of the eventual winner, St. Bass, a horse that would command attention in any company. The entire list of horses on the programme for the plate started in the big race, and everyone had plenty of admirers and supporters.

The running of the race for the guineas gave supporters of St. Bass little cause for uneasiness. He is a quick beginner, and was in front by the time the flying field had crosed the space from the chute into the main track. Never after wards was he in danger, and he always had a reserve of speed.

All of the eight horses on the card went to the post, Mr. Seagram and the Valley Farm stable each having a pair of representatives. Miss Martimas led the parade, and if the affair had been a show instead of a race, the ribbon would have been awarded to St. Bass.

Even those who thought Powderman would win, had to admit that the Oakville colt was of more commanding appearance, and it would be difficult to find at any racecourse a finer specimen of a three-year-old. They were not long at the post, and St. Bass gave little trouble. In his only race last year he had squatted at the raising of the barrier, and was left. Starter Dade was determined that this would not happen on Saturday, and an assistant straightened him up at the barrier. The delay was only one minute, and then Mr. Dade had them all away in a line.

St. Bass Sets Pace.

St. Bass immediately made his running, and was in front in less than a sixteenth of a mile. His rider had been instructed that the colt was good enough to set a pace that the others could not live up to, and to carry that pace to the end for a new record.

The judgment was correct, and Master Dugan had only to let the big colt race along. He is a good judge of pace, and always had his horse nicely in hand, for all that he was running at a rate never before seen in a plate race. From the top of the stretch to the judges' stand in 23 1-5 seconds saw Sanderling a length behind the leader, and Placerland third.

Powderman, a long-striding colt, was shuffled back in the early sprinting, and going around the lower turn he was taken to the outside in order to get a run when the field straightened out in the back stretch. He was back in the ruck when Koerner set out to improve his position, but soon worked his way up to second place, having to go by Havrock and Jane Shore, who had taken the places of Sanderling and Placerland as the next attendants on the leader. While the horses behind him were driving in order to hold or better their positions, St. Bass was racing along sweetly with a lead of three lengths.

Powderman Threatens.

Powderman drew closer and closer as they rounded the top bend, and when in the straight run home he made his last effort. Dugan was prepared, and St. Bass was ready, too. Taking no chances, Dugan used his whip for a couple of strokes, and the answer was an increase of pace that took him right away from the tiring Powderman. The race was over half way down the stretch. The Valley Farm champion was beaten, and St. Bass had only to gallop home to glory as the easy winner of the fastest King's Plate ever run in the half century of its existence. There was no danger from the others after Powderman's effort failed. Havrock failed to stay as long as his stable companion, and for the second time in succession. Jane Shore was third in the plate.

The others were strung out, the riders ceasing any strong effort when it was apparent that their horses were beaten. Miss Martimas, who should have been a factor at some stage, was last throughout, and her race was so bad that it was plain there was something wrong. It was afterwards learned by Dr. Black's examination that the filly is just developing an attack of congestion of the lungs, though there as no sign of it when she went out for the race. It will not be known until today if she will be able to start in the Maple Leaf Stakes on Thursday, but it was very unlikely yesterday.

Mr. Giddings Knew.

Mr. Giddings could have had $6,000 for St. Bass a week or two ago, but he preferred to keep him and win the plate for Mr. Giddings. The owner and breeder of the winner has had a long and successful experience with horses. Some of the rail side critics of the preparation of St. Bass for this race were inclined, as they always are, to express the opinion that he would be overdone, or underdone, or wrongly done in some way. The obvious answer to that was that St. Bass was the property of a man who had trained and conditioned horses in many countries, and acquired a comfortable share of the goods of this world through his skill in such matters. Consequently, the task in hand might well be left to him and his son. Saturday's race was the demonstration of the correctness of that view. Harry Giddings, the elder, was born in Toronto, and went to Europe a generation ago with harness-horses which he raced in Britain, France, Italy, Hungary, Austria and Germany. He returned several times for a fresh supply, and eventually settled in Austria, at Waidhofen a. d Ibbs, where he was married, and where young Harry was born. Having the skill and methods of an American harness-horse man, and some well-bred mares, he made a great success of breeding and racing, most of his stock being by Russian stallions from American mares. When he was best equipped to meet just such a situation, it happened that the Austrian trotting authorities decided to confine all the rich stakes to native-bred horses, and he swep the board for several seasons.

Dugan Applauded.

The great outburst of applause which greeted Jockey Eddie Dugan at the finish was renewed when the lad reached the jockeys' quarters. "St. Bass is the gamest horse I have ever piloted to victory," exclaimed the lad. "He set out to make the pace and held it throughout the race. It was an easy race, and when I passed the stand I concluded that the stride he had struck would be sufficient to land him a winner. I had unbounded confidence in him, and when I urged him he responded with elasticity and a renewed burst of speed. At the seven-eighths pole he slowed up slightly, and upon going down the back-stretch he set off challenge after challenge. Upon entering the stretch I saw that Powderman was loping along in my trail like one of the big jack rabbits of the plains. Then I slightly urged the colt, which in impressive style scared off all his competitors and romped home an easy winner."

Dugan, who is a Calfornia native son, has been riding for five years, and is under engagement to Mr. Belmont. He has won such good races as the Realization Stakes, the Burns Handicap, the Brooklyn Handicap twice, and the Suburban.

GUELPH HAMMERS FENSKE BEATING LONDON BY 7 TO 4

Royals Make It Three Out of Four From Tecumsehs. Defeat Locals Before Great Saturday Crowd—Big Scores In Canadian League Games.

By hammering Fenske hard in the opening innings and scoring three tallies on a combination of bingles and bobbles, the Guelph crew made it three out of four from London on the series Saturday afternoon, when a crowd of 1,500 saw the Tecumsehs fall before the xisitors by a score of 7 to 4.

Rankin followed him in the second inning, and while he made a good showing he was unable to pull up the slack. Muir, on the other hand, pitched a fine game. He had good breaks and fine control, and for a twirler showed something with the stick.

The feature of the day, however, was pulled off by a Londoner, Cross, whose home is in Ingersoll, pulling down a stiff liner with a great one-hand catch. This fellow looks better in the field every time out, and has shown considerable class with the willow.

President Lynch, of the National League, has taken occasion to request the umpires to hustle the games through. The arbiters of the Canadian League would improve matters by adopting the suggestion, and while the fans are delighted with the fast article of ball being shown at Tecumseh Park some of the players are inclined to waste time.

The play in detail:

First Inning.

Guelph—Jeffries walked. McWhorter passed also. Heider singled to right, filling the bases. Hackbush singled between third and short, Jeffries and McWhorter scoring. Hackbush was caught at second, McDonald to Nicholls. Heider scored on Nicholls' bad toss to the plate. Lane hit through short. Smith out to short, Lane going to third on Brant's bad throw over first. Johnson walked and stole second. Dinsmore flew out to Davis.

3 runs, 3 hits, 2 errors.

London—Cross hit past short; Nichol safe on Hackbush's fumble. Brant forced Cross at third, Muir to Hackbush. Keenan hit to Hackbush, who touched the base, completing a double play by throwing Jo-Jo out at first.

No runs, one hit, one error.

Second Inning.

Guelph—Muir walked. Fenske retired, Rankin taking up the hurling. Jeffries out on bunt fly to Rankin. McWhorter safe on Keenan's high throw to first. Heider out, Nichols to Daunard, the base-runners moving up. Hackbush fanned.

No runs, no hits, one error.

London — McDonald poled a two-base hit to left. McDonald went to third, while Muir threw Davis out. Daunard whiffed. Peacock out at first.

No run, one hit, no error.

Third Inning.

Guelph—Lane fanned; Smith flew to Nichols. Johnson out, Keenan to Daunard.

No run, no hit, no error.

London—Rankin hit to left centre, and was out stealing, McWhorter to Johnson. Cross hit between third and short. Nichols passed. Brant safe on Dinsmore's fumble, all the cushions being crowded. Keenan forced Cross at plate. Nichols scored on McWhorter's weird throw to third. McDonald out, Dinsmore to Lane.

One run, two hits, two errors.

Fourth Inning.

Guelph—Densmore lined to Daunard; Muir hit past short. Jeffries struck out. McWhorter hit by pitcher. Runners moved up on passed ball. Heider walked filling the bases. Hackbush slammed a two-base hit to centre, clearing the decks. Lane fanned.

Three runs, two hits, no errors.

London—Davis out, Hackbush to Lane. Daunard whiffed. Peacock went to third on Hackbush's three-ply overthrow over first. Rankin out to Jeffries.

No run; no hit; one error.

Fifth Innings.

Guelph—Smith lined to Brant. Johnson dropped a Texas Leaguer to right. Dinsmore given free transportation. Johnson and Dinsmore worked double steal, but Johnson was caught at the plate on Keenan's quick return of Peacock's short ooverthrow. Dinsmore stole third, and Muir hit to left, Dinsmore scoring; Jeffries walked; McWhorter also walked; Heider forced McWhorter at second.

One run; 2 hits; no error.

London.—Cross out, Lane to Muir. Nicholls rolled to Dinsmore, who tossed him out. Dinsmore got Brant's fly.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Sixth Iinnings.

Guelph—Hackbush out, Nicholls to Daunard. Rankin punctured Lane's anatomy, and he ambled to first Nicholls got Smith's fly near second. Lane out stealing, Peacock to Nicholls

No run, no hit, no error.

London—Dinsmore and Lane got Keenan. McDonald hit over second. Davis out, Muir to Land. Daunard whipped.

No run, one hit, no error.

Seventh Inning.

Guelph—Johnson was walked Dinsmore singled to right. Muir forced Johnson at third. Jeffries lined to Keenan, who doubled Dinsmore at second.

No runs, on hit, no errors.

London—Peacock flew out to left. Rankin safe on Heider's muff in centre. Cross went out, Hackbush to Lane, Rankin going to second Nicholls whiffed.

No runs, no hits, one error.

ElEghth Inning.

Guelph—McWhirter whiffed the breeze and was out. Cross got Heider's fly. Cross made a great one-hand catch of Hackbush's drive.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

London—Brant hit to third. Keenan hit to centre. McDonald out to Lane, advancing both runners. Davis hit to right, Brant and Keenan scoring, the latter making a great slide. Davis took third on the throw, and scored on Daunard's out, Johnston to first. Smith got Peacock's fly.

Three runs, three hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning.

Guelph—Keenan booted Lane's roller. Smith whipped. Daunard captured Johnson's pop fly. Lane stole second. Lane went to third on Brant's muff of Rankin's throw, to get him. Rankin hit Dinsmore, and he stole second. Muir walked, filling the bases. Brant got Jeffries fly.

No run. No hit. Two errors.

London—Corkin batted for Rankin, and fanned. Smith got Cross' fly. Johnson and Lane got Nichols.

No runs. No Hit. No errors.

ST. JOHN'S AND RAMBLERS WINNERS AT QUEEN'S PARK

Jubilees Defeated in First, While McClarys Put Up Stiff Fight in Second.

In the first game at Queen's Park on Saturday afternoon, the St. John's team trimmed the Jubilees by a score of 7 to 4, and in the second the Ramblers won from McClarys after a hard fight by 4 to 3.

In the second game Gatecliffe met with a painful accident by being struck on the bridge of the nose by a ball thrown by Phelan, who was trying to catch Watts as he was stealing second. The glare of the sun caused Gatecliffe to misjudge the ball, and it went through his arms. He was laid out for some minutes, but pluckily resumed play.

In the first game Arthurs made a long drive to left, and after a sensational run Prodgers made a great catch by picking it out of a tree. Both games were fine exhibitions of snappy ball, and were full of ginger throughout. They were enjoyed by a large crowd. The scores were as follows:

BRANTFORD LOSES AGAIN TO BERLIN

Green Sox Run Up Big Tally Over Kane's Men.

Brantford, May 21.—Berlin made it three straight here on Saturday before a big crowd, defeating Brantford in what developed into a farce of a game by 23 to 12. All the Brantford pitchers looked alike to the Berlin men, who drove four pitchers to the woods. Brantford also hammered Tracy out of the box in two innings, but could do little with Conley. Manager Kane released Pitcher Stevenson and Infielder Riley Saturday, and a scout has been sent through New York State to secure reliable pitchers. The teams will also be shifted somewhat. J. Miller and Cameron did some stellar work for Berlin, while Manager Kane and Minnes featured for Brantford. The score:

OLD-TIME BATFEST GOES TO HAMILTON

St. Thomas Defeated in Second Game of Series.

Hamilton, May 20.—Over 2,500 fans witnesed a real old-time slugging match here on Saturday, when Lee's Tiger Kolts won the second home game of the Canadian League series by a score of 18 to 8 on the St. Thomas Saints, piling up a total of 21 hits, including six doubles and a triple, landing on Hight and Easty, the two St. Thomas twirlers, in grand style, while the Saints collected ten safeties off Keating and Kolseth, who twirled for the Kolts. The game was worth while for the first five innings, but after that it developed into a free-hit affair, in which Lee's aggregation slammed the ball to all corners of the lot, much to the joy of the fans, who found much joy in the affair, especially as Hamilton won. BIG LEAGUE SCORES ON PAGE

DAILY HISTORY OF BASEBALL

MAY 22.

1890—Phill Knell, of the Philadelphia Brotherhood Club, passed ten members of the Cleveland team of the same organization, four of his complimentaries being awarded to "Cub" Strickler.

1895—Joe Kelley, now manager of the Toronto Club, and then one of Ned Hanlon's Orioles, made two singles, two doubles and a home run in a game with Louisville.

1896—Jack Dunn, now Baltimore's manager, and then with Toronto, held the Springfield Club to one hit. The Toronto franchise then was valued at $5,000, with no bidders, and now it is estimated as being worth at least $75,000, showing how conditions have changed both in the major and minor leagues.

1898—C. Cooper Fraser, brother-in-law of Fred Clarke, manager of the Pirates, who pitched in the big leagues for Louisville, Cleveland, Philadelphia and Chicago, almost became a no-hit hero, then being with the Colonels, and then pitching against Brooklyn. He twirled hitless ball for eight rounds, but in the ninth was touched up for a single.

1902—George Van Haltren, of the New York Nationals, broke his leg sliding into second base on the grounds at Exposition Park, Pittsburg, this accident being the cause of the ending of his big league career. Van Haltren now is the Pacific Coast scout of the Pittsburg Pirates. He has saved Barney Dreyfuss a of money by telling him which players not to take.

1909—Tom Hughes, of Washington, had the Cleveland Naps on his staff, fanning eleven of them in six innings. This was a great game for strikeouts, as Berger, of Cleveland, breezed nine men, and Walter Johnson, Hughes' predecessor on the Senators, made two men pound the atmosphere. The Cleveland Club always has considered Hughes a Jinx.

The Leafs broke even on the series with the Skeeters defeating them Saturday by the score of 3 to 1, thanks to Jim McGinley's masterly twirling. McGinley started off a little unsteady, but as the game progressed he grew better and finished in his old-time form, showing that Manager Kelley was wise in keeping him idle until the warm weather set in. Bartley was opposed to McGinley, and pitched good ball, outside of one inning, when the locals counted two runs. The score:

WAS A WEIRD GAME.

Buffalo Defeated Newark by a Score of 8 to 1.

Buffalo, May 20.—Newark played another weird game of baseball today, being walloped by Buffalo 8 to 1. The Bisons played errorless ball, but the Tigers muffed flies, misjudged high ones and heaved the ball about the infield in a reckless fashion, which all went to the benefit of the home club. Three pitchers were used by Newark. Score:

Fine Pitching Battle Between McGinnity-Hughes, Rochester Winning.

Newark, N. J., May 21.—The Flower City boys shut out the Indians today, playing an almost perfect game. It was mainly McGinnity against Hughes and they were well matched. KRAUSE IS PUZZLE TO JUNGLE TRIBE

The Southpaw Holds Jennings' Sluggers to Four Hits and Two Runs.

ATHLETICS HIT LIVELY

Bunch Safeties in Two Rounds, and Aided By Wildness.

Detroit, May 21.—Connie Mack's champions took the final game in the series with the Tigers yesterday by bunching hits off Jack Lively in the second and eighth innings, while the Tigers were almost helpless before the Athletics' southpaw, Harry Krause. The game was won by a score of 6 to 2, and it prevented Jennings' men from getting better than an even break in the series.

The contest was by far the best ball game in the series. The result was in doubt till the eighth round, when the Mackmen sent in three runs. Up to this time they had been playing under a lead of one tally, and Lively and Krause were both pitching ball that made it look as though either side would be lucky to send in another run. Score:

ARMITT---WOODROW

A Pretty Wedding in St. Peter's Cathedral.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Peter's Cathedral this morning, when Miss Annie Woodrow, a graduate nurse of St. Joseph's Hospital, of this city, was united in marriage to Mr. George J. Armitt, of Hyde Park. Only the immediate relatives were present. The ceremony was performed by Monsignor J. Aylward. The bride was given away by her brother, and looked charming in a light suit with hat to match, and carried bridal roses. Miss Mildred Woodrow, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Mr. Frank Armitt, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Armitt left on the 11:30 train for Detroit and other western points. They will be at home to their friends on the 4th concession of London Township after the 20th of June.

GOOBER MERCHANTS CLASH WITH POLICE

Selling Peanuts at Circus Grounds Without a County License.

High Constable J. A. Hughes and a couple of his men had a busy time about the circus grounds, just outside the city limits, on Dundas street, this afternoon, when a number of London peanut vendors persisted in disposing of their wares without a license.

Several refused to obtain a county license, while others stated in very fair English that they could not understand. Unless they come to time they will probably spend the night in jail, and pay a fine on the morrow.

JUDGE COMPLAINED OF NOISE IN THE CORRIDORS

Periodical Criticism of Court Is Likely To Be Renewed.

The county jail will probably again come in for its periodical criticism during the present session of the high court being conducted by Justice Riddell. At the opening at noon today his lordship complained of the noise in the corridors.

"You promised me these floors would be covered," he said ot Mr. T. G. Meredith.

"The court room has been attended to, my lord, but I suppose that the only thing that will bring them to time is an indictment," replied the city solicitor.

A number of the county councillors were in court to hear the Bateman and Middlesex case at the time.

HANG OLD NEGRO PASTOR TO A TREE

A Mob Lynches Leader of His Race Within Sight of His Own Home.

Swainsboro, Ga., May 21.—Rev. Ben Smith, the aged leader of the negro race in this section, was hanged to the limb of a tree and his body riddled with bullets by a mob of white men at an early hour this morning because he had wounded Deputy Marshal Canady.

Smith had had trouble with his young wife and the latter had complained to the authorities. Deputy Marshal Canady went to the Smith home to arrest the preacher. The latter resisted and shot the officer, inflicting a serious wound.

Smith fled, but was pursued by a posse with bloodhounds and was captured about daylight in a swamp near the town. He was brought back to town and hanged to a tree in sight of his home.

Smith was very old, being white-headed and toothless, but for years his word has been law to the negro population. He was noted for his oratory. While the mob was chasing Smith, unknown parties dynamited the negro Oddfellows' Hall, entirely destroying it.

Smith is the second negro to be lynched in a week, the other being John McLeod, who killed Deputy Sheriff Woods. The lynchings and use of dynamite have terrorized the negroes, and many are fleeing. A general exodus is threatened, which will work great damage to the planters.

The funeral was held ths morning from Griffiths & Willsie's undertaking parlors to the Grand Trunk station, and interment was made at Brantford.

Mr. Wm. Noble, an old resident of London, passed away on Saturday afternoon at his late residence, 526 King street. Robt. Lewis, entered into business under the firm name of Noble & Lewis. He was later associated with the late B. W. Greer, but for the past ten years had been retired. He was a man of sterling character and a lifelong member of the Methodist Church, having been an adherent of the old North Street and later of Dundas Centre, and though unable of late years, on account of failing health, to take an active interest in the church, his influence for good was always felt among those with whom he came in contact. He was twice married. His first wife, Mary, a daughter of the late Robert Hannah, died in the year 1871, leaving one son, Lewis. He afterwards married Ruth Hopkins. Besides his widow, he is survived by five children —L. W., Elizabeth, May and Pearl, of this city, and Wm. H., of British Columbia.

THE FRASER CASE TAKES A NEW TURN

Mrs. Fraser's Counsel Takes Objection to Reopening Case by Divisiona' Court.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Ont., May 22.—Argument in the Michael Fraser case, that case of many surprises, arising from the marriage of Michael Fraser, aged 84, of Midland, to Miss Hannah M. O. Robertson, of Dundas, opened at Osgoode Hall today with another surprise. John King, K. C., for Mrs. Fraser, took a preliminary objection to the reopening of the case by the divisional court.

"I submit that the court has no power or right in a case of this kind, in fact, in any case, to reopen a case and hear evidence, as was done here," declared Mr. King.

Chief Justice Mulock—We will hear your argument now, Mr. King.

Mr. King—I did not expect to be called on now. I understand that Mr. Creswick was to complete his argument and that Mr. MacDonnell was to follow him.

Chief Justice Mulock—We don't desire to hear them any further at this stage.

Mr. King—Merely to hear myself?

Chief Justice Mulock—At this stage, yes.

Mr. King—And nothing more?

A Rush For Papers.

While Mr. King was hurriedly collecting his material for argument, the members of the court watched the hands of the clock chase each other round the dial and F. W. Grant, Mr. King's aide, rushed off to the library for books.

The court intimated during the argument that question as to the validity of the marriage would not be touched by the court.

Chief Justice Mulock admitted that Mr. Fraser was probably better cared for than he had been.

"There aretwo issues," remarked Mr. King, in opening. "The first is as to Michael Fraser's soundness of mind and his competency to manage himself and his affairs. The onus as to that issue is upon the plaintiff. The plaintiff must establish both things."

Mr. King quoted from a section of the lunacy act to the effect that on the trial of the issue to determine sanity, the inquiry must be confined to whether, at the time of the inquiry, the subject is of unsound mind and incapable of managing himself and his affairs.

"The onus," declared Mr. King, "is upon the plaintiff to establish not only that Michael Fraser is of unsound mind, but is incapable of managing himself an his affairs. Unless both are established they fail in the position they have taken."

Chief Justice Mulock—You contend that, while Mr. Fraser may not require personal attendance, yet, however incapable he may be of managing his own affairs, the court has not jurisdiction.

Mr. King—They must establish both.

Mr. Justice Middleton—That's what the statute says. I think every one will agree with you as to that.

Mr. King—What does it mean, incapable of managing his own affairs—does it mean he must personally attend to all the details all the minutes of his business? What I submit is that this does not mean that a party must look after every detail."

Chief Justice Mulock—No, no.

Justice Middleton—No one would ever think so.

Mr. King—The evidence does not show that Mr. Fraser is incapable of instructing others as to the conduct of his affairs."

Mr. Justice Middleton—Does it show that he is capable of appreciating what he does?

Mr. King—Yes, I say it does. He may forget, as is common with old age.

Mr. Justice Middleton—Do you say this forgetfulness may extend so far as to make it impossible to manage his own affairs?

Mr. King—No.

Mr. Justice Middleton—If he has forgotte nevery transaction for six months.

Mr. King—The evidence does not show that.

Mr. Justice Middleton—I am taking an abstract case.

Mr. King—We must look at it from a broad ground.

Mr. Justice Teetzel—We questioned him and every business transaction from a year and a half down to the present time was a blank to him.

Mr. King—When your lordships went to Midland there were several questions you put to Mr. Fraser to which his answers were erroneous. If his solicitor or wife could have recalled to his mind the matters he would have remembered them. Take, for example, the statement that he had not given anything to his wife.

Mr. Justice Middleton—He said he did not intend to give anything.

Mr. King—Even so, he might have said, "Now I remember it," if it had been recalled to him.

Chief Justice Mulock—If, in the face of what he told us, he was ready to take another version it would hardly show he was capable of managing his own affairs.

Mr. King—Your lordships must remember that it was quite a strain for an old man to be examined by members of the court for an hour and a half. The strain on that old man was such as would confuse almost anyone of his age, considering the circumstances and his physical condition.

Mr. Justice Teetzel—It has been said that he was plied with whiskey with malicious intent. From the observations of the old gentleman when we were at Midland I should think it was hard to keep him from it.

Mr. King—No restraint was put upon him.

Mr. King then attacked the propriety of the court's visit to Mr. Fraser.

Personal Mention

William Walton, son of Mrs. J. Walton, 89 high street, has left London for Yorkton, Saskatchewan, where he intends to make his home.

Plaintiff's Story.

The plaintiff was then called ond told the story of the accident. He was driving along the Adelaide road from Mount Brydges to Strathroy, when his buggy collided with an obstruction which bore no light. He was hurled from his seat, and sustained injuries that have rendered him unable to practice since. His injuries were apparently permanent. Court adjourned for luncheon after an hour's session.

The cases in the order in which they are to be heard, unless a rearrangement is agreed upon among the solicitors, follow:

Toronto, May 22. — The divisional court has allowed the appeal of Emma Walsh from the recision of Judge Snider, and has dismissed the action brought by Maria Nixon. Mrs. Walsh had planted lilacs and other shrubs on the disputed strip, and claimed title by possession.

JOHN M'COIG GETS THE INVERERIE HOTEL

The Invererie Hotel, Port Stanley, has been taken over by Mr. John McCoig, manager of the Grand Central Hotel, St. Thomas. The deal was closed on Friday, and on Saturday the House was opened for the season. Mr. Brant, of Chatham, will be in charge.

A large number of Londoners went to Port on Saturday to prepare their cottages for the season. The hot weather has given them a desire to go down much earlier than ordinarily is the case.

The residents of Port Stanley are preparing for a big summer's business. Preparations for the entertainment of the visitors have never been made on so large a scale in many years, and they are confident that there will be the largest crowds this year that have ever been there.

From 20 to 25 new cottages are in course of construction, and more will be built during the summer.

The fishermen report that the season has been a good one. Fair catches are now being made.

BUGGY CAPSIZED.

Ingersoll, May 21. — George Goodhand, of Mount Elgin, was thrown out of a buggy into a barbed-wire fence while on his way home from here on Saturday night.

Three companions, who figured in the mix-up, escaped with slight injuries.

In turning to the side of the road to pass two vehicles the buggy capsized and the four occupants were hurled into the fence. Goodhand's head and face were badly lacerated, one of the scalp wounds being two inches in length, while another wound on the face was almost as serious.

He was taken to the hospital.

MOTHER GENERAL DIED SUDDENLY IN BELGIUM

Sad News Received at Sacred Heart Convent of This City.

The death occurred very unexpectedly at Jette Sainte Pierre, Brussels, yesterday of Sister Mabel Bigby, mother-general of the Sacred Heart Order. A cablegram received yesterday afternoon at the Sacred Heart Convent here brought word of the mother-general's death, and the news caused the greatest regret, as she was known personally to all of the sisters. She was 76 years of age, and some time ago had a severe illness. She had recovered somewhat, but about a week ago was again taken ill, and congestion of the brain resulted, causing her death. The mother-general was a woman of remarkable ability, and under her management the work of the Sacred Heart Order has spread all over the world. For some time her headquarters were in France, but during the religious troubles there recently the property of the order was confiscated and she had to fly with other sisters to Belgium. Twelve years ago she visited all the convents in North America and spent some time in this city. She was the eldest daughter of an Irish nobleman, and was educated in England, Belgium and France. Her sister, the Countess Geraldine, resides in England.

Tomorrow morning Bishop Fallon, assisted by the local priests, will celebrate a special requiem high mass at the Sacred Heart Convent.

If you did it would conduce to your own comfort and that of others. I wish you would think about this."

WAR AN INHERITANCE FROM BARBAROUS AGE

Rev. B. H. Hayden's Strong Sermon in Favor of World Peace.

"War, and Tennyson's 'Federation of the World,'" was the subject of the sermon at the Christian Church Sunday evening by Rev. B. H. Hayden, M. A. It was in observance of Peace Sunday, and as a part of the opening exercises Mr. Hayden read the editorial in The Adveriser of Friday on "Peace Sunday," with commendatory remarks. The text was from Matthew, xxvi., 52: "Then said Jesus unto him, Put up thy sword." Mr. Hayden said in part:

"In time of peace, prepare for war," is a sad inheritance of sentiment from a barbarous age. In prosperity, prepare for time of need; and in manhood prepare for old age, are most worthy reminders; but to be preparing for war is the more likely to invite it, just as carrying weapons leads to shooting in a spirit of anger. In the west men ucherd their cattle, and as a consequence they roam and fatten in peaceful herds.

Guizot has said that a bad principle or sentiment is worse than a bad fact, because it leads to other acts and facts. The war attitude of mind must be supplanted by the peace-loving spirit. Jesus came into the world as the Prince of Peace. The words of our text contain his condemnation of war. They are his final utterance. Shortly before this statement he had said, "He that hath no sword, let him sell his garment and get one." They said, "Lord, here are two swords." He said, "It is enough." Peter had one of them, and Jesus knew what he would do with it in the incident when Judas came with his band to betray and take by force, Peter drew the sword, and cut off the ear of one. Then came the "Put up thy sword," and the lesson is taught in the concrete, an object lesson to abide for all future guidance.

In Tennyson's "Locksley Hall" we have the old-time prophet's vision of a coming universal peace, when "nation shall not lift up sword against nation."

"For I dipt into the future, far as human eye could see,
Saw a vision of the world, and all the wonder that would be;
Till the war drum throbb'd no longer,
and the battle flags were furled,
In the parliament of man, the federation of the world."

In the last hundred years leading men of the nations have been seriously studying this problem of universal peace. In 1815, on Christmas Day, the Massachusetts Peace Society was organized in the study of Wm. E. Channing in Boston. Shortly before this a work was published by David L. Lodge, entitled, "War Inconsistent With the Religion of Jesus." The Rev. Walter Walsh, of England, put out a book, "The Moral Damage of War." From these pregnant beginnings have come our modern peace societies, The Hague conferences, and others, till the leaders of nations are seeking the harmony that promises better things.

That war does not settle the question of right is seen, notably, in the trail of Mohammedanism. Quite often long-enforced evils have been the result of war.

The Hague conference of 1899 had as its main object, "to develop and codify international law, and to create an internatioanl court for its application." The 150 cases of arbitration thus far give hope for the future, as in no case has there been a refusal to abide by this supreme court of the nations.

FAIR WAITRESS CLAIMED DAMAGES

Charged That Caricature In Comic Paper Injured Her

LONDON PAPERS PROTEST

Claim That the English Libel Should Be Reformed.

[Canadian Press.]

London, May 22.—Some recent awards of juries in libel actions against newspapers, in which the newspaper proprietors have been mulcted in heavy damages, have started an agitation for the reform of the law of libel. Mr. Justice Scrutton, judge of the King's bench division, high court of justice, in a recent speech, remarked that public opinion had been shocked by some verdicts given in libel actions. "But," he added, "the juries alone gave the verdicts, and it is not always the judges who are responsible for the misfortunes of newspaper proprietors."

When law of fair comment was thoroughly established, he thought, newspapers would occupy a better position than they do now. An innocent expression of opinion, although the jury disagreed with it, as fair comment, ought to be allowed, even though derogatory to certain persons concerned.

Big Sums Paid Out.

Although extremely heavy, the sums newspapers have to pay as the result of the decisions of the juries, they are nothing compared with the amount paid annually to settle their other actions. Hardly a day passes that London newspapers do not have to pay out large sums in settlement of claims for alleged libel, doing so because it is considered cheaper to do so than to fight a case against a man who might not be able to pay the costs if he happened to lose. Only last week an illustrated paper paid a waitress $500 in settlement of a claim for damages based on a comic picture labeled "the Stout Waitress." A waitress in a city restaurant brought an action, claiming damages for "ridicule," and the paper was advised to pay, although the artist was ready to bring forward the model, who sat for the picture, and was prepared to swear that he had never seen the city waitress who claimed that the picture was a caricature of her.

This is only one of the thousands of cases that never reach the courts. Those that do go before a jury have, at least recently, ended in the assessment of heavy damages against the newspaper, sometimes for the most trivial comment.

There are a number of newspaper proprietors in parliament, and they have undertaken to urge a reform of the law.

STRATHROY MAN DIED WHILE VISITING SON

Very Sudden Death of Mr. William Johnston on Colborne Street.

Death came very unexpectedly on Saturday evening to Mr. William Johnston, one of Strathroy's oldest residents. He had come to this city on the evening train intending to spend Sunday with his son, Mr. Fred Johnston, of 603 Colborne street, and had walked up to the house. After greeting the family, and as he was sitting chatting with them, he suddenly fell over in his chair and in a few minutes was dead from heart failure. Mr. Johnston was 74 years old. When he left his home he was apparently in his usual excellent health, and the news of his death came as a great shock to his family. For nearly 25 years Mr. Johnston had been caretaker of the postoffice, and prior to that time was engaged in the boot and shoe business. He leaves four sons and one daughter, Fred, of this city; Reginald, of Toronto; Harold, of McLennan; Earl, of Strathroy, and Miss Gertie, of Strathroy. The remains were taken to Strathroy last night, and interment will be made there.

FIVE CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH

Daughters of Utica, Kan., Man Trapped by Flames.

Utica, Kan., May 21.—Five daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Roach, of this place, ranging in ages from seven to sixteen years, were burned to death late last night in a fire which started in the Roach restaurant.

The parents were badly burned. The mother of the young girls, by mistake, filled a lamp with gasoline. Preparatory to ascending a stairway leading to the second floor room, where the daughters were asleep, she applied a match to the lamp. An explosion followed, the fire being communicated to a two-gallon can of gasoline, which sent a burst of flame up the narrow stairway.

The woman's dress caught fire, but the flames were extinguished by her husband, who had been asleep in an adjoining room.

He rushed up the burning stairs and caught his youngest daughter, five years old, in his arms. Calling to the other girls to follow him and leap into his arms, he ran to a rear window and jumped to the ground, the little girl in his arms.

He stood with upraised arms to catch the others as they jumped, but for some reason they failed to follow him, and a few minutes later, when another window was broken into the bedroom in which the girls were sleeping was a mass of flames. A half hour later the bodies of the five girls were recovered.

All had died where they lay.

The dead are: Bessie, aged 16 years; Leah, aged 14 years; Ruth, aged 12 years; Hazel, aged 9 years; Fern, aged 7 years.

The girls will be buried together in one grave tomorrow.

FELL INTO CANAL.

Welland, May 21.—The body of Frederick F. Schleffel was found in the Welland Canal, near a dredge, a contracting plant, which had not been working. Schleffel, aged 70 years, and in feeble health, disappeared on January 21. Diligent search was made from that time on, and a reward offered for his recovery, but no trace of him was found until his body was discovered. He had no doubt wandered away and fallen into the canal, which at that time had some open places in the ice.

The bolt entered the chimney, throwing the doors and lids of the stove about the room, and splintering the bedposts of the bed in which Mrs. Laing was sleeping. The victim of the accident is suffering from loss of speech and temporary paralysis, and her condition is precarious.

A BELLEVILLE SENSATION

Belleville, Ont., May 21.—The actions of a young man named Edward Carr caused considerable excitement in this city yesterday afternoon. He made an attempt to shoot his brother-in-law, Bert Report, and when an officer tried to effect his arrest he ran and jumped into the Moira River, followed by the officer, who apprehended him.

At the police station later, Carr made a determined effort to hang himself in the cell, using his suspenders, which broke, and the sound of his fall attracted the attention of the officer in charge at the station. The young man was frustrated in a second attempt to hang himself Carr, who is about 23 years of age, was under the influence of liquor at the time.

STAMPING OUT FEVER

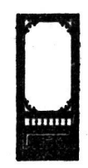

Isolation Building To Be Cleaned and Fumigated.

The hospital authorities are going to take every measure to do their share in stamping out scarlet fever in London.

"We are not going to take in another patient," said Superintendent Heard to The Advertiser, "until the entire isolation building has been thoroughly cleaned and fumigated. It is no use doing this thing by halves, and as soon as the wards are completely empty we will go thoroughly through them and cleanse them. For two years now we have been treating patients continually there. At the present time there are a number of patients being treated in their homes as a result of all the wards in the hospital being occupied."
