

LLOYD GEORGE IS WILLING TO YACHT RACE COINCEDE GREAT DEAL TO SETTLE IRISH QUESTION; NEW POLICY TO BE ADOPTED IN NEAR FUTURE

British Cabinet Discusses Problem At Length and Finds That There Are Many Difficulties To Surmount—Tory Elements in Favor of Declaring Martial Law in Ireland —Premier Willing To Grant Anything But a Republic —Carson Reported To Be Trying To Turn Government Out of Office.

London, July 24.—Another change in the Government policy towards Ireland is expected to be announced within a few days.

The cabinet, which wrestled with the problem again yesterday, is having difficulties within itself. Some of Mr. Lloyd George's friends say that he is willing to give Ireland almost anything except a republic, but the Tory elements in the cabinet are reported to be in favor of strengthening the military, and, if necessary, declaring martial law in Ireland.

The proposition to attempt negotiations directly with Sinn Feiners is reported to have received much less support at today's meeting than was the case a few days ago.

In view of the situation it is expected that whatever changes the Government decides to make will be announced in a statement to the press or by Premier Lloyd George in the House of Commons. Thus it is said that the Government will be apprised of what the Government is willing to do, and the cabinet will then wait the next move from the Grange-men and Sinn Feiners.

STRONGER MEASURES ARE ADVOCATED BY BELFAST NEWSPAPERS

Belfast, July 24.—The Belfast newspapers are influenced entirely by the existing local conditions in their comments on Sir Hamar Greenwood's speech in the House of Commons. The Unionist papers—the Telegraph, News and Northern Whig—all view the speech with disfavor, in effect, that they come to closer grips with the Sinn Fein and immediately establish martial law to convince the people they are in earnest. It is declared that neither Greenwood's schemes, nor any other schemes, will avail unless Dublin Castle and Downing street shake off their irresolute attitude and fight the Sinn Feiners without gloves.

Greenwood has proven himself an apt pupil of Carson and De Valera, says the Northern Whig. "His speech was a confession of abject failure of British rule in Ireland."

SON IS ALLEGED TO HAVE CONFESSED TO CRIME FOR WHICH FATHER WAS HANGED

Arnell Love of Ceylon Is Being Held in Owen Sound Jail.

TELLS HIS STORY

Young Farmer Said To Have Made Admissions To Evangelist.

Toronto, July 24.—By the Canadian Press.—The officials of the Provincial Attorney General's Department have not yet decided what action shall be taken in the case of Arnell Love, aged 22, a young farmer from Ceylon, Ont., who is in custody here, following his alleged confession that he murdered his mother—a crime for which his father, Henry Love, was convicted and hanged at Owen Sound, Ont., about seven years ago.

The father was convicted by the jury on what appeared to be good circumstantial evidence. There had been quarrels between the couple regarding business matters. The son, then 15 years of age, was one of the principal witnesses. On the scaffold, before the execution, the father made what was thought to be a confession of his guilt. When the son grew up into manhood he became a prosperous farmer, and the tragedy of his father's death was apparently buried in the oblivion of the past.

During the present week, however, there were evangelistic services in the neighborhood, and on Monday night the son gave his confession. He said that he had killed his mother, and he clubbed her to death with a stick of wood, and hid the body in the cellar, where it was found later.

On the advice of the evangelist the young man gave himself up to the police, who are investigating the story. It is said in some quarters that Love is of unsound mind.

CRITICIZES ACTIONS OF COMMERCE BOARD

Winnipeg Selected As Next Convention Place by the Retail Merchants.

Vancouver, B. C., July 24.—That the functions of the board of commerce should be of a constructive, rather than of a destructive nature, was the contention of J. A. Handfield, re-elected president of the Dominion Retail Merchants' Association, at the banquet which last night concluded the election convention. He scored the manner in which the board had been formed and remarked that its actions had brought it into ridicule.

No action was taken on a resolution brought forward by the British Columbia branch, that the board of commerce should be re-elected. The resolution was defeated by a vote of 10 to 5.

LIVELY TILTS MARK COMMUNIST TRIAL

Defendants Seek To Exclude
Ole Hanson From Court.

Chicago, July 24.—Lively verbal tilts between the lawyers, open allusion to Samuel Gompers and quotations from the Russian of Nicholas Lenine featured the trial of the 20 members of the Communist-Labor party today. James A. Duncan, head of the Seattle Labor Council, and a leader in the great strikes there in March, 1919, was on the stand. Attorneys for the defence tried to have Ole Hanson, former mayor of Seattle, excluded from the courtroom on the ground he was influencing the jury. The court refused the request. Hanson had sat in the room all the time Hanson was testifying and that no lines could be drawn. Mr. Hanson voluntarily moved his chair so that his back was to the jury and the miniature riot subsided.

A book, "Soviet's Work," by Lenine, was introduced as evidence. Duncan admitted it had been printed in the publishing house controlled by the central labor council of Seattle. Fifty copies of this book were printed and distributed throughout Seattle.

BOTTLE UNDER COUCH COST FAULKNER $200

King Street Resident Was Surprised By Police Early Today.

Police Sergt. Thomas Noonan entered the Union Tax Office on Richmond street, early this morning and discovered Robert Faulkner, a King street resident, sleeping on a couch beneath a bottle of whiskey. In police court today Faulkner was fined $200 and costs, with the option of three months in jail for the privilege of sleeping in company with his spirits.

Thomas Simpson, who was also in the office at the time, was allowed his freedom by the court, because Faulkner admitted ownership of the "crock."

Edward Patten, who has been remanded to jail several times recently on a charge of vagrancy, was committed to the Ontario Hospital for recommendation of the jail physician who examined him. Patten, who is very old, is a well-known character in London.

BRUSSELS GAY FOR ANNUAL CELEBRATION

Brussels, July 24.—The annual celebration held in Brussels on Thursday was a splendid success. Good weather, a large attendance and a well-organized program resulted in a fat treasury. At 10 and no small amusement was afforded the thousands of sightseers who flocked to the city. The program was a series of games and sports in the forenoon. The town was gay with flags and banners and the air was filled with the music of brass bands. The afternoon saw a hard-fought baseball game between Wingham and Brussels, with a score of 9-7 to former. They secured seven runs in the first inning but were blanked in the next seven, getting two in the ninth. Kin-cardine and Brussels battled for eleven innings to get a decision, when the former won by a run. Wingham and Brussels junior teams played football, the tally being 1-0 for the home team.

Gait Kiltie Band provided music and a promenade concert was given by them in the park in the evening.

IMPORTANT DEVELOPMENTS ARE PLANNED IN CONNECTION WITH INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC HEALTH

Extensions To Course Will Make London One of the Most Important Educational Centres in America On Special- ized Lines—Dr. Hill To Make Important Announce- ments Shortly.

Plans for the extension and expansion of the work of the London Institute of Public Health are under way which eventually will make London one of the foremost educational centres of the American continent along certain specialized lines. There is only one other institution of the kind in America, and that one is connected with Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore, Md.

Dr. H. W. Hill, who recently returned from Minnesota to take the headship of the London Institute, stated before leaving today for Liverpool that he will confer with Dr. H. A. McCallum, that important announcements regarding the public health department of the Western University will probably be ready for publication early in the week.

To Train Officials.

In conjunction with the medical department of the university, courses will be offered for the training of public health officials, medical health officers, public health chemists, bacteriologists and other workers in the field of public health and welfare work, who require scientific training of certain advanced lines.

The Dominion Medical Council has already agreed to fourth-year medical students completing their training at the Public Health Institute, and course will also be offered for full-fledged medical graduates in addition to other courses for nurses, and other students and workers along public health lines.

A course in mental hygiene will probably be added in the near future, and sociology will be dealt with in this connection from a psychological basis. The problem of mental defects is becoming an increasingly acute one, many skilled workers and medical men with special training are required to solve it, and a school where these may receive expert training is greatly needed. Just how soon all these branches of training will be added, is at present indefinite, but all come quite properly within the sphere of public health, mental, moral and physical.

Would Bring Students.

If the Public Health Institute in London could branch out quickly and meet all the fields that eventually it will cover, it would have very little competition to face, and London would naturally become a centre for special training, attracting large numbers of students from all over the world, just as they are attracted now to Baltimore, New York, Chicago and Cambridge, Mass., for advanced training in medical or psychological knowledge.

Much of the time since Dr. Hill returned to London he has spent in conference with President McCallum of the Western University, and the matters under consideration will be discussed with Dr. Hill. "I will probably have something to say on my return," Dr. Hill is expected to make any definite announcement.

COUPLE SOUGHT IN MYSTERIOUS TRUNK MURDER

Detroit Police Following Up All Possible Clues.

Detroit, July 24.—Through combined efforts of the New York and Detroit police, clues were unearthed Friday which may tend to the solution of the mystery surrounding the slaying of a young woman and the shipping of her mutilated body from Detroit to New York, where it was discovered Friday morning in the unclaimed baggage department of the American Railway Express on East Forty-fourth street, New York city.

It has been learned that a couple occupied an apartment in the Harper avenue house the address of which was used by the consignee of the trunk. The pair left hurriedly, the man explaining that his wife had been performing the duties of a nurse in the family. The police are seeking to learn the whereabouts of the pair, the man having an address near Shelby from which his postal authorities have returned mail as party unknown.

Maniac's Work, Is Belief.

A regular surgeon's work, including the removal of all vital organs except the brain, had been performed on the body. The gruesome container had been shipped here from Detroit June 16, while it was the usual procedure to borrow money at this time of the year prior to the collection of the second installment of taxes, that a much larger sum was being obtained this time than ever before. Collection of taxes earlier than last year will save considerable interest on this sum.

The city treasurer pointed out that in addition to the local improvement work for which payment is not collected from the citizens until the following year, the city has to pay school teachers' eight months' salary in six months. Other expenditures are kept up to the revenue before it faster than it comes in.

ASKING BANKS FOR $250,000

City Must Take Care of Costs of Local Improvements.

Local improvements have been so extensive this year that the city council Monday night will be obliged to arrange with the banks for a line of credit to the extent of $250,000 to meet the cost of the work.

City Treasurer Day stated today that in addition to the usual procedure to borrow money at this time of the year prior to the collection of the second installment of taxes, that a much larger sum was being obtained this time than ever before. Collection of taxes earlier than last year will save considerable interest on this sum.

The city treasurer pointed out that in addition to the local improvement work for which payment is not collected from the citizens until the following year, the city has to pay school teachers' eight months' salary in six months. WOULD LAY SEWERS IN WEST LONDON

Ald. Cameron Wilson Says the Present Conditions Are Disgraceful.

Laying sanitary sewers in West London so that they can be connected with any disposal system built later is being advocated by Ald. Cameron Wilson. Conditions at present are disgraceful, he declares, as there is not a foot of sanitary sewer in that section of the city.

Petitions to have work of this character done are expected immediately from scores of ratepayers in that part of the city.

City Engineer Brazier states that work can be started as soon as plans for the whole section have been completed. This will take two months. He doubts the advisability of laying the sewers while there is no outlet, however. He stated that whether a disposal plant is built for West London or the system is connected with the present disposal system it will be necessary to install a pumping system owing to the low level of the land. He thinks it is a question of policy whether a new disposal plant for the whole city should be built and whether it should include the West London section and that no work should be undertaken until this has been settled, as it might involve changing the plans.

Ald. Wilson does not agree with this, as he thinks that it will mean a long delay in providing relief for the West Londoners. He urges a separate disposal plant emptying into the river. "Sewage should be pumped into the river, and it always will," he declared.

Ald. Drake questions the advisability of laying sewers before there is an outlet for them. He agrees, however, that something should be done and favors the disposal plant built in East London, which was money thrown away as so small a number of sewers empty into it that it renders practically no service to the district.

PETITION AGAINST LOCAL IMPROVEMENTS

Secretary W. G. Tite of the trades and labor council secured petition blanks at the city hall today and announced his intention to secure signatures against paving and curb improvements on Dundas, Adelaide, Oxford, Wharncliffe and Mount Pleasant avenues and other West London streets. Mr. Tite claims that the taxes have never been consulted in the matter of these improvements, and that, anyhow, sanitary sewers are needed far more than pavements, street curbs and storm water sewers.

STORM CAUSES HEAVY DAMAGE IN N. Y. STATE

Crops Ruined and Railway Tracks Are Washed Out.

THREE REPORTED KILLED

Andover Village Is Reported Wrecked by Cloudburst.

Hornell, N. Y., July 24.—Thousands of dollars' damage has been done, miles of railroad track washed out, and a large section of this inundated by a cloudburst following an all-night storm of terrific proportions. Hail cut to pieces crops for miles around, then the cloudburst sent streams in the valleys on a rampage. The water of the Erie Railroad was torn up on both sides of the track and many through passenger trains are marooned in the floods. The flat lands east and west of the city are inundated for miles, and many streets in the northern part of the city are flooded. Street cars were halted and the city was in darkness all night, due to lightning striking the power plant. Rain is falling more and more, and threatens the entire valley.

At Andover, houses were unroofed, and a large part of the village is reported to have been wrecked or damaged. An unroofed school house is being pushed to the edge of the water. Every telephone and telegraph wire in that section is falling, making it impossible to learn the extent of the disaster.

LONDON MAY SEND DELEGATE TO SOUTH AFRICA CONFERENCE

Questions Affecting All Veter- ans To Be Discussed At Kimberley.

A conference for the purpose of uniting all the soldiers' organizations into one will be held at Kimberley, South Africa, beginning on February 12, 1921. Delegates from all the allied nations will be present, including China and Japan.

"If the purpose of the conference is satisfactory, I think it will be the biggest and the best organization in the world," said J. W. V. A. today. "All present will be representatives from G. W. V. A. organization."

Whether any will go from the city I do not know, as the delegates who will represent Canada will be picked from all parts of the Dominion. I think about 100 will go from the Dominion, however, I cannot say for certain. We intend to do our best to have a delegate go from the city, as the London branch of the G. W. V. A. is one of the strongest branches in the Dominion, and that is sufficient to warrant a delegate will in all probability be sent from here."

If the one big soldiers' organization is formed at this conference it will include all men who had anything to do with military work. The widows and orphans will also benefit by this union. Our pensions and all other rights which we deserve, will be looked after with the greatest of care. I hope that the conference will be a success and that it will be for the benefit of soldiers and the public in general," said Mr. Cunliffe.

CASE OF SMALLPOX DEVELOPS AT DUART

DIART, July 24.—Royden McCallum, a 17-year-old lad, developed smallpox about two weeks ago, and was promptly quarantined by Dr. F. R. Macpherson, the local health officer. After a few days the boy recovered, and another lad developed a rash, which was pronounced chickenpox. Outsiders, evidently not satisfied with the diagnosis, notified the provincial health officer at London. He paid a visit to Duart, and after an examination of the two cases, confirmed the local officer in his diagnosis of both cases. The smallpox case is mild and every precaution is being taken to stamp out the disease.

RESOLUTE, VICTOR FOURTH CONTEST, MAKES SERIES EVEN; TODAY'S RACE WILL DECIDE

United States Yacht Throws Handicap Overboard and Wins in Fastest Time of Series — Resolute Enters Today's Race Favorite in Betting.

SANDY HOOK, July 23.—Defender Resolute tossed his 6 minutes and 40 seconds handicap overboard today and defeated the challenger, Shamrock IV, boat for boat in the fourth race of the 1920 regatta for the America's Cup.

The series now stands a tie, and the deciding race will be run tomorrow. Shamrock won the first race last Thursday, when an accident to Resolute's rigging forced her out while far in the lead. The second attempt, last Saturday, ended in no race, the yachts being unable to get sufficient breeze to take them around the course in the specified six hours.

Shamrock IV scored the second victory last Tuesday. Resolute came back on Wednesday, running a dead heat with the challenger and winning by her handicap of 7 minutes and 1 second. Resolute will enter tomorrow's race a favorite in the wagering, her two wins having been more convincing than Shamrock's.

Today's race was the fastest of the series so far, Resolute completing the 30-mile triangular course in three hours, 37 minutes and 52 seconds. Shamrock followed in 3 minutes and 41 seconds later, but the actual difference in sailing time was only 3 minutes and 18 seconds, Resolute having led across the line by 23 seconds.

Lacked Sight Finish. There was a break blow for a few minutes at a short distance from the finish, which Resolute weathered without taking in any sail save her jib topsail. When it was over, Resolute was unable to reset her club topsail and was forced to set a smaller topsail, while Shamrock, with her original rig intact, kept calm and collected and then the wind picked up again. Shamrock caught it first and crawled slowly up until she was nearly, if not fully abreast of Resolute. But when the defender caught the breeze she forced quickly ahead with her superior rig, breaking out a balloon jib topsail to aid her progress.

Piled On Canvas. Shamrock piled canvas on then, breaking out both balloon and spinnaker, but the finish was close at hand and she was unable to close the gap. The steam yacht Victoria, carrying Sir Thomas Lipton, led the chorus of screaming whistles that acclaimed the victor. A few minutes later a tiny tug was under the bow of the Victoria, its crew of yachting enthusiasts giving three cheers and a "Who's a right?"—Lipton for the British sportsman. An excursion steamer and a fleet of smaller craft followed the tug's ample and the Victoria acknowledged the cheers with three sharp blasts of her whistle. Sir Thomas could be seen on the bridge waving his cap jauntily, apparently unmoved by the fact that her whistle had been used according to his predictions and his hopes. Each yacht was given until 9 o'clock tonight to make for a postponement. In the event it was found it would not get into condition to race tomorrow, but at that hour no word had been received from the rival skippers, and the committee went ahead with its plans to run the race as scheduled.

Was Closing Up. Shamrock thus closing up the gap that separated her from Resolute on this leg when a leaky bit of weather blew up that forced even the seasoned Jersey skipper that Captain William P. Burton had on the challenger as an adviser, and robbed Shamrock IV of whatever chance she had of taking the lead and winning.

The storm was running fast in a 15-knot breeze when signs of a terrific squall became apparent. Shamrock hastily took down her club topsail and her large jib topsail and prepared for rough weather. Resolute plowed ahead under full sail for a time, apparently bent on getting in all the fast sailing she could before the squall struck. And the squall did not strike—leaving not with the intensity Shamrock's skipper obviously had expected.

RESOLUTELED FROM START; LITTLE DOUBT AS TO FINISH

SANDY HOOK, N. J., July 23.—Resolute led from the start. To be sure there were times on the third leg when her lead seemed very narrow, and her chance to tie the series appeared to be seriously threatened, but in all other occasions there was no question as to the outcome of the race, provided the defender's rigging held.

Again the start had to be postponed.

THE MAN WHO WINS

Is Always Full of Life and Energy—Failures Are Weak and Bloodless.

Some men seem to have all the luck. If there are any good things going these men seem to get them. They make other people do their will—they are leaders. If they are businessmen they are successful; if they are workmen they get the foreman's job. They have the power of influencing people.

The same thing is true of women. Some have the charm that makes men seek them out; others are always neglected. But this is not luck. It is a personal gift—vitality. Men and women of this sort are never weak, puny invalids. They may not be big, but they are full of life and energy. The whole thing is a matter of good blood, good nerves and good health. Everyone would wish to be like this and the qualities that make for vitality and energy are purely a matter of health.

By building up the blood and nerves, strengthening the system, weakness of the back, stooping shoulders, headaches and the ineffectual sort of presence which really comes from weakness can all be got rid of. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made many weak, tired men vigorous and healthy, and many pale, dejected girls and women, plump, rosy and attractive, by improving their blood and toning up their nerves. If you are weak, ailing, low-spirited or unhealthy, try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and note their speedy, beneficial effect.

You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.70 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

BELFAST RIOTS CONTINUING, BUT LESS FREQUENT

Catholic Bishop Demands Protection in Telegram To Chief Secretary.

MOB ATTACKS CHURCH. BELFAST, July 23.—Late tonight a mob attacked St. Matthew's Catholic Church. It ignored warning to disperse, and the troops fired repeatedly. The rioting continues.

BELFAST. July 23.—Although comparative quiet has prevailed in Belfast today, rioting was resumed on Newton road shortly after 8 o'clock this evening, and riotous scenes were witnessed in the vicinity of Dea street, where a large party of rioters came in from the city.

The St. Matthew's Catholic Church in Ballymacart, a suburb, was occupied by the military. At the request of the bishop, the military were ordered to disperse the mob. The rioters were killed since the rioting began.

Order was restored in the disturbed area early this morning. There was renewed shooting in the Keshmish road area later. It was in this district and in Crown road that the heaviest casualties occurred.

DEMANDS PROTECTION. BELFAST, July 23.—The Most Rev. Joseph MacRory, bishop of Down and Connor, today sent a telegram to the chief secretary for Ireland, saying that the rioting in Belfast is appalling this morning; our Catholic people are being brutally driven from their homes. Unless the men expelled from Queen's Island be reinstated and adequately protected there is no hope of peace, and the line will be pulled them will only be encouraged to adopt similar tactics in the future.

Sir Edward Carson, the Unionist leader, today telegraphed Belfast Unionists as follows:

"I earnestly hope that all unionists in Belfast will assist the authorities in putting down the disturbance and restoring order."

DEPUTY-REEVE OF OSPREY TOWNSHIP COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Charges of Arson and Obtaining Money on False Pretences Heard.

OWEN SOUND, July 23.—Hugh McLean of Osprey, deputy reeve of that township, faced his preliminary hearing today in Meaford before Magistrate Cressor of Owen Sound, on the charge of burning a dwelling house. He was committed for trial at the coming of the court.

This afternoon a similar charge was heard based on the fact that his automobile was burned between Fiesherston and Eugene. The house was burned in October, 1918, and the auto in November, 1917. Crown Attorney Dyer prosecuted.

FATAL ACCIDENT, INQUEST, VERDICT LESS THAN 5 HOURS

Aged Man Killed Instantly by C. P. R. Freight Near Ingersoll.

INGERSOLL, July 23.—Struck by a C. P. R. freight train, near the first crossing west of the corporation limits in West Oxford Township, James Robinson, an old resident of the town, received injuries about 2 o'clock this afternoon from which he died almost instantly.

Hidden by Curfew. The aged man was walking the tracks on his way into town. He was very deaf and failed to hear the approach of the train. Owing to a curve near where the accident occurred he was not seen until the train was almost upon him. The emergency brakes were applied, but the train could not be stopped in time to avert the fatality.

The unfortunate man was carried some distance and his body badly mangled. Several of the wounds received were sufficient to cause death, the worst being to his skull. The remains were removed to the McIntyre undertaking rooms on instructions from Coroner Dr. Cornish, and an inquest opened.

Exonerate Crew. Among those who gave evidence were Engineer Conway and Conductor McBride of the train crew. They told of seeing Robinson on the track as they rounded the curve, and while the usual warning was given they could not prevent the fatality. The coroner's jury returned a verdict exonerating the train crew from blame. Robinson had rushed here for about 40 years and was formerly in the employ of the Ingersoll Packing Company. He is survived by two sons and two daughters.

Annually use these tablets of organic iron—Nuxated Iron—to build up blood, strength and endurance.

Dr. H. B. Vail, formerly Physician in the Baltimore Hospital and a Medical Examiner, says: "There are thousands whose bodies are ageing and breaking down at a time when they should be enjoying the best of health. The reason is that the forces of the body are being worn out. Iron is the blood of the body and in my experience I have found no better means for building the red blood corpuscles and helping to give increased power to the blood than organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron comes in tablet form only and does not contain any ordinary metallic iron but only the finest quality of predigested organic iron which is easily assimilated by the blood."

BLAMES POLICE APATHY FOR BORDER CONDITIONS

Acting Mayor and Chief of Police at Windsor Object to the Criticism.

WINDSOR, July 23.—In an interview in Toronto today Attorney-General W. E. Ramey is stated to have placed the blame for conditions on the border on the apathy of the local police departments. The lack of aggressiveness in enforcing the law, he said, was responsible for the deplorable conditions which exist today.

commission, who is checking up the work of the border police departments as compared with that of the two license inspectors of the department, said today that the work of 38 police officers shows very badly against that of the two inspectors.

Chief Eliza Wilks of the Windsor police, objected to the comments and declared that the authorities at Toronto had gone crazy over the matter. Acting Mayor Howell was also much peeved and declared it unfair that Windsor should be blamed for running down, which was mainly carried on in the country districts, though a large proportion of the cases came to the city for trial.

MERRICK VISIONS FLAGS OF NATIONS FLYING ON LAKES
WITH WATERWAYS REALITYUnited States Has Always Co-operated Successfully With Canada, Says Mississippi Valley Speaker, in Telling
Appeal For United Action — Mayor Little of London Speaker.

DETROIT, July 23.—(By Canadian Press.)—"There has not been a time since the civil war," declared Harry M. Merrick, president of the Mississippi Valley Association, speaking to the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Congress at the Board of Commerce this afternoon, "when we have not co-operated successfully with Canada. We don't need forts or armaments or armies, because we're all one. Let's unite now as we did during the great war, when the boundary was a boundary only on the map. There was no boundary between our hearts."

"Our transportation must be co-ordinated and co-operated," was the declaration of Hon. A. P. Nelson, member of Congress for the eleventh district of Wisconsin, who has the reputation of being the real father of the St. Lawrence waterways movement, having been the first member to agitate in favor of the waterway in the House of Congress.

"The development of this project will mean more than the clashing of hands across the border; it will mean more than the intertwining of the Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes. It will mean that here every flag on the face of the earth will find ingress and egress in the transportation and production of the necessities of life for all the world."

The address of Watson S. Moore, second vice-president of the United States Grain Corporation, was devoted almost entirely to the shortage of cars and its effect upon the industrial, economic and industrial life of the two nations.

Promises Support.
Speaking at the night session Governor William L. Harding of Iowa, referred to the project from the standpoint of his own state, promising his support for the project and the support of all the people in the Mississippi Valley.

"In the blind struggle in which we are engaged," said he, "with capital and labor gripping each other by the throat, we are asleep at the switch. The train of Opportunity is passing our door. The Allies, as well as Germany, are out after the bacon while we hold an animated tea party, debating whether the suit we wear is to be green or pea-green. Where is the business sagacity that has characterized our men in the past? We have the sinews of war and the men to lead. Let us submerge our differences at home and our quarrels among ourselves and go into the markets of trade and conquer for all our people and for all our interests."

An address on the types of ships to be required when the waterway is an accomplished fact, was delivered by C. C. West, president of the Manitowish shipbuilding company, and Charles Evan Fowler of New York, member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, delivered an illustrated talk on the port facilities which would be necessary for the project.

During the afternoon a resolution of the Milwaukee delegation was read, asking that all chambers of commerce and boards of trade in Canada and the United States form committees to give their particular attention and effort to the development of the St. Lawrence waterway. The resolution was handed to the resolutions committee to be presented with the other resolutions at tomorrow's session.

J. W. Worthington of the Tennessee River Improvement Association, extended an invitation to the convention of his association next spring. A short address in support of the work of the congress was also delivered by Governor Albert Sleeper of Michigan.

CANADIAN DAY AT HUGE CONGRESS

DETROIT, July 22.—This morning's session was Canadian Day at the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence tidewater congress at the Detroit Board of Commerce, several prominent Canadian visitors being introduced to the congress and delivering short addresses.

The first Canadian speaker was O. E.

the aim of securing definite action on the project.
In response to the resolution a unanimous vote of thanks was passed to the Canadian delegates for the whole audience for their promises of support.
"This is the most important matter which has faced Canada since Confederation," declared Mayor T. L. Church of Toronto. "We must go ahead with the project; we must not stand still on a question of such international commercial importance."
I hope that everyone here will live to see the fulfillment of our visions of a waterway from the lakes to the sea.

From every angle the project is desirable. It means cheaper transportation, greater production on our farms and more rapid efficient handling of all the problems of the sea, the farm, the forest and the mine.

There will be no trouble between the United States and Canada. The Americans are our own people and blood is thicker than water. You are one with us in those high democratic ideals of right, justice and honor. In all the 40,000 miles of border between the two countries there is not one permanent armed force and no fortifications except for one little old fort at the mouth of the Niagara River. "You have a peaceable, friendly neighbor beyond your northern border even though you have not one on your southern boundary."

Introductory Mayor Little, Ontario, and Controller O'Hara of Hamilton were also introduced at the gathering, and received enthusiastic ovations.
The chief speaker of the morning's session was to have been Senator Poincaré of Washington, but he sent a message, saying that he regretted that other engagements prevented his attendance. In his absence his message to the congress was read by William H. Adams, chairman of the inland waterways committee of the Detroit Board of Commerce.

"One of the acute problems facing the nation today," said the message, "is the present congestion of freight on our railways. It is having a serious effect on our national life. Production on our farms has been seriously cut down, many lumber mills on our Pacific coast have been forced to cease operations and cattle are dying on our ranges because of the impossibility of transporting them to the markets of our own countries and other parts of the world."

Toronto Association Threatens Injunction To Put Member Out.

TORONTO, July 23.—It is said the Southeast Toronto Liberal Association is threatening to apply for an injunction to prevent J. W. Curry, K.C., Liberal member for seat "B" in Southeast Toronto, from taking his seat when the Legislature meets again. The ground of the suggested legal proceedings is that Mr. Curry was elected by the voters of the riding to represent them, but is not representing them, because he is running counter to their wishes in refusing to follow the leadership of H. Hart, Liberal leader in Ontario. "I don't care what they decide to do," Mr. Curry said today, with reference to the matter. "They may do what they like. It's just a little silly talk."

The talked-of move against Mr. Curry is the outcome of his open declaration at the time and place he would no longer follow Mr. Dewar's leadership, and his supposed plotting to oust Mr. Dewar from the Liberal leadership and to substitute Mr. J. C. Talmie of Windsor as the Liberal leader in this province. At recent caucus of Liberal M. P.'s here a resolution expressing confidence in Mr. Dewar was passed.

OLD FOLKS' COUGHS,
CATARRH, BRONCHITIS
QUICKLY CURED

This Tells of a Method That Cures Without Using Drugs.

Elderly people take cold easily. Unlike young folks, they recover slowly. That is why so many people past middle life die of pneumonia.

Cough Syrup seldom does much good because they upset digestion. Any doctor knows that a much more effective treatment is "CATARRHOZONE," which heals and soothes the irritated surfaces of the throat.

In using Catarrhozone you do not take medicine into the stomach—you simply breathe into the throat, nose and lungs rich, piney, balsamic vapor, so full of healing power that colds, catarrh and bronchitis disappear almost instantly.

The germ-killing balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure medicinal essences, whereas with a syrup the affected parts could not be reached, and harm would result through clogging the stomach with drugs.

A Catarrhozone inhaler in your pocket or purse enables you to stop a cold with the first sneeze. Large size costs $1.00 and supplies treatment for two months, small size, 50c; trial size, 25c; all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Canada.

SOAP AND CIVILIZATION.

Looking over the self-everything-counters of a modern department store the customer is astonished at the number and variety of soaps available for his ablutions. "We sell 106 kinds," was the reply to an inquiry the other day at one of these establishments. If the art achieved in the wrappings and containers has been equaled in saponification, then assuredly soap ranks high in the march of civilization. As a world-industry it has reached a magnitude never imagined by Michel Chevreul and Nicolas Leblanc, French chemists, whose respective researches and plans laid its foundation a century ago. Following the reference to soap by the prophets Jeremiah and Malachi, Pilny of Italy, who wrote about nearly everything, mentions both hard and soft soap. Its manufacture in France and England began in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. That widespread need for its cleansing and medicinal properties was contemplated in the Divine ordering of nature is evidenced by hundreds of species of plants, the roots, stalks, leaves, bark or berries of which possess soap qualities used in cleaning the body and clothing, or as a shampoo. Among them are the amoles of New Mexico, the yuccas, a Texan species of walnut, certain plants of the yily family in California, "the soap of the Indians," "Bouncing Bet," and "Soapwort," once called "Fuller's Herb."

Civilization has increased a thousand-fold and in countless ways the uses of soap. Skillful advertising stimulates and directs the demand which immense establishments are at work ceaselessly to supply. Processes range all the way from the black kettle of the backyard to scientific laboratories. The industry illustrates the monetary possibilities of converting by advanced methods commonplace materials into a refined article that everybody wants. The profits of a couple of English soap-making concerns jointly are reported at over a million pounds per year for three years past, and during the seven preceding years ranged annually from over £760,000 to £1,117,000 net. It ought to be clean money.

At the dawn of the race it was evidently foreseen that man would require a deal of cleansing, outwardly as well as inwardly. Philosopher Bacon laid it down that cleanliness of body was esteemed to proceed from a due reverence to God, while later on Mark Twain linked up soap and education. John Wesley, who kept things in their proper relation, declared that slovenliness was no part of religion, and in one of his pre-eminently practical discourses gave perennial emphasis to the maxim: "Cleanliness is indeed next to godliness." He endorsed George Herbert's maxim:

"Let thy mind's sweetness have its operation

Upon thy person, clothes and habitation."

Though the Scripture contains but a couple of specific allusions to soap, there are hundreds of references to cleanliness and cleansing. There is an outward and an inward uncleanness. This was made eternally clear by the Redeemer himself, when he declared that out of the heart proceed the evils that defile and destroy, but to eat with unwashed hands was in quite another category. Pouring righteous scorn upon Scribes and Pharisees, he declared that they were outwardly beautiful, but within like sepulchres, full of all uncleanness and dead men's bones. By himself he proclaimed redemptive cleansing for human impurity. Although one of the commonest things in the world, authorities state that the precise nature of the way soap affects its detergent process is mysterious. So it is with "the mystery of godliness" and grace which the gospel reveals through the Messiah as the sole and sufficient saponin for the unregenerate heart and life. It is profoundly fortunate at a time when men's minds are surging with unrest and when empirics are offering sedatives and stimulants or rose-waters to sweeten the cesspools of sinfulness, that humanity can turn with freedom and assurance to an unfailing source of cleansing that reaches the very fountain of life.

THE HYDRO RADIAL PROBLEM.

In a letter reproduced on this page Thursday, A. T. Drummond, LL.D., presented some strong arguments against the acquisition of municipal radial lines by the Hydro-Electric Commission. Further reasons to show that Premier Drury is right in his radial policy are as follows:

Financing Would Be Difficult.

"(5) The large experiences in electric railroads in the United States have been for several years unsatisfactory, even before the war, and the commission would find it impossible at any price to float with New York bankers bonds for these projected roads, unless with the direct guarantee of the Ontario Government to provide the interest and principal."

"(6) The increasing experience of the United States Government and of the general public there is that the day of the electric railway of the past is gone, and that for all medium and short distances up to, even over, 100 miles, the 5-10 motor truck for freight and the large motor bus for passengers, with good roads, serve the public better, because the truck and bus are not limited to a fixed immovable track and definite stations for receiving and delivery, but can go wherever the business requires them. The United States postoffice has been experimenting for two years over many routes with trucks for parcel delivery. To illustrate: One route was 183 miles outside New York, and the truck started at 4 a.m., arrived at New York postoffice at 4 p.m. the same day, and all of its farm produce and parcels from the towns were in consignees' hands by 5 p.m.

Municipalities Will Not Be Liable.

"(7) Under the agreement they are required to sign, the municipalities, if they ever had any rights, give up every right in these railways, even if the roads become bankrupt, and every Canadian banker knows that the Ontario Government guarantees alone will float their bonds, and that in the event of deficits, that Government will have to meet them, as the municipalities in most—perhaps all—cases will repudiate responsibility and allege that they were led into the loss through the representations of the Government's hydro-electric commission, which alone owns, built, operates and entirely controls these railways. The huge load of bonds which the municipalities, with careless indifference, are handing over to the hydro-electric commission for an alleged security which financiers do not recognize, will injure the financial standing of these municipalities when they come to borrow for other purposes. The Legislature should place some restriction on such issues, for many municipalities could not pay them if called on."

"(8) Every railway's experience—and the Ontario Government's own road in Northern Ontario illustrates this—is that there are two years, new bond issues have to be made, and, in this case, further guarantees given, to pay for additional rolling stock, new sidings, double tracks, and scores of other betterments. This means additional financing on a very considerable scale from time to time in the early future."

Passes Already Issued.

"(9) The only experience of the hydro-electric commission in railways is in the London and Port Stanley electrification, and as I have often, in the press and to the late Government of Ontario and members of the commission, shown (see also London Advertiser of 10th inst.), the statements given to the public are quite misleading as to its alleged surpluses, the actual results showing a large deficit every year."

Not Good for Freight Business.

"(10) The concentration in two or three central plants of all the coal consumed on as many railways, and its utilization in these plants in producing steam power to be transmitted electrically through these radial lines, and in replacing steam locomotives, means economy in coal and power, and can, and probably will, be adopted on short systems of the steam roads, but here the similarity to the electric road must continue to operate on steam road principles. The electric road of the present day caters to frequent but slower trains with numerous convenient stops; to the people who are going short distances, and to very low fares to attract the multitudes where possible. As a rule, the freight business on electric lines has not been encouraged in the way it could have been, due in part to the frequent passenger trains and the need of double tracks. Especially in the package freight and the farmers' produce, the motor truck is in the United States found now to be much more serviceable, and "busses" are coming into vogue with the improved roads."

THE END OF THE STREET.

My country of mystery beckons me
At the end of the city street,
And wakens the gypsy in my blood
To hasten my wayward feet.

There are few cities of the size of London that have such a picture as is to be seen at the west end of Dundas street, but a few blocks away from the busiest section of the city. One cannot, of course, loiter in the centre of traffic and study the beauty of the glimpse of country there, but the most hasty glance at its loveliness gives a new tone to the business of the day.

Distant wooded hills, blue-misted, sloping green fields and clusters of trees of darker green, as they stand less sheened with haze in the foreground, make a gem of Nature's own tinting.

Whether the day be grey with storm,
Or hung with blue and gold,
Where the hill crest goes to meet the sky
There's a challenge sweet and old.

A wistful urge sends one on to the end of the street to meet the picture set there, and lo, the reward is a view still more beautiful, affording as it does a glimpse of the gleaming, indolent curves of the Thames, an ironwork bridge set softly in the distance, and the more intimate restfulness of the blue haze of varying tones, and the ever-changing shades of green. The passing of the seasons does not stain the loveliness of the picture—it remains, a luring, living water-color, in its curious setting of blue or grey sky, and dust-greys city buildings and streets.

MR. MOORHOUSE'S NEW STORY.

In his new story, "Every Man For Himself," Hopkins Moorhouse has written a story entirely different from his first book, "Deep Furrows." With a plot most amazing and full of the unexpected, a style different and arresting, and scenes entirely Canadian, the new novel is one of utmost interest that means a one-sitting reading, regardless of time. Canadian politics, the love element with a heroine of unusual type, adventure of the woods, keenness of business wits and the lure of the newspaper game intermingle in quick succession that make for a story of universal popularity. The Mussion Book Company, Toronto, are the publishers, and the price is $1.75.

LIFE AMID THE GRASS.

[Charles Kingsley in "My Winter Garden."] Have you eyes to see? Then lie down on the grass, and look near enough to see something more of what is to be seen; and you will find tropic jungles in every square foot of turf... dark strides, tremendous cataraacts, "deep glooms and sudden glories" on every foot-broad rill which wanders through the turf. All is there for you to see, if you will but rid yourself of "that ideal of space"; and Nature, as everyone will tell you who has seen dissected an insect under the microscope, is as grand and graceful in her smallest as in her hugest forms.

THE MIDDLE TEMPLE MURDER

A Detective Story by J. S. Fletcher.

Copyright 1920, Fred A. Knopf.
Copyright, 1920, by the Public Ledger Company.

Seventh—Mr. Criedir gave evidence of his rencontre with Marbury in the matter of the stamps. Eighth—Mr. Myerst told of Marbury's visit to the safe deposit, and further proved that the box which he placed there proved, on official examination, to be empty.

Ninth—William Webster retold the story of his encounter with Marbury in one of the vestibules of the House of Commons, and of his witnessing the meeting between him and the gentleman whom he (Webster) now knew to be Mr. Aylmore, a member of parliament.

All this led up to the appearance of Mr. Aylmore M.P. in the witness box. And Spargo knew and felt that it was that appearance for which the crowded court was waiting. Thanks to his own vivid and realistic special in the Waterman, everybody there had already become well and thoroughly acquainted with the mass of evidence presented by the nine witnesses who had been in the box before Mr. Aylmore entered it. They were all familiar, too, with the facts which Mr. Aylmore had again Marbury to point after the interview at the club which Ronald Breton arranged. Why, then, the extraordinary interest which the member of parliament's appearance aroused? For everybody was extraordinarily interested, from the corner downward to the last man who had managed to squeeze himself into the last available inch of the public gallery—all who were there wanted to hear what Marbury had to say for a stroll from which Marbury never returned. Spargo knew well why the interest was so keen—everybody knew that Aylmore was the only man who could tell the court anything pertinent about Marbury, who was, and see the man who met Marbury under such dramatic circumstances, and who went to his hotel with him, hobnobbed with him, gave him advice, what he was after, what his life had been, and so on. Aylmore, perfectly-groomed man, whose beard was only slightly tinged with grey, whose figure was as straight as a well-tended soldier, who carried about him an air of conscious power.

Aylmore's two daughters sat at a little distance away, opposite Spargo, with Ronald Breton in attendance upon them. Spargo had encountered them a friendly nod and smile. He had watched them from time to time; it was plain to him that they regarded their father as a novel sort of entertainment; they might have been idlers in some eastern bazaar, listening to the unfolding of many tales from the professional tale-tellers. Now, as their father entered the box, they looked at him with a gleam of color in their cheeks, a little brightening of their eyes.

"All that they feel," he thought, "is a bit of extra excitement at the idea that their father is mixed up in this delightful mystery. Um! Well, now, how much is he mixed up?" And he turned to the witness box, and man who that moment never took his eyes off the man who now stood in it. For Spargo had ideas about the witness which he was anxious to develop.

The folk who expected something immediately sensational in Mr. Aylmore's evidence were disappointed. Aylmore, having been sworn, and asked a question or two by the corner, requested permission to tell, in his own way, what he knew of the dead man, and of this sad affair, and having received that permission, he went on in a calm, unimpassioned manner to repeat precisely what he had told Spargo. It sounded a very plain, ordinary story. He had known Marbury many years ago. He had lost sight of him for—ah, quite twenty years. He had met him accidentally in one of the vestibules of the House of Commons on the evening preceding the murder. Marbury asked his advice. Having no particular duty, and willing to do an old acquaintance a good turn, he had gone back to the Anglo-Orient Hotel with Marbury, had remained a while with him in his room, examining his Australian diamonds, and had afterward gone out with him. He had given him the advice he wanted; they had strolled across Waterloo bridge; shortly afterward they had parted. That was all he knew.

The court, the public, Spargo, everybody there, knew all this already. It had been in print, under a big headline, in the Watchman. Aylmore had now told it again; having told it, he seemed to consider that his next step was to leave the box and the court, and after a perfunctory question or two from the corner and the foreman of the jury he made a motion as if to step down. But Spargo, who had been aware since the beginning of the inquiry of the presence of a certain eminent counsel who represented the Treasury, cocked his eye in that gentleman's direction, and was not surprised to see him rise in his well-known, apparently indifferent fashion, fix his monocle in his right eye, and glance at the tall figure in the witness box.

"The fun is going to begin," muttered Spargo. The Treasury representative looked from Aylmore to the corner, and made a jerky bow; from the corner to Aylmore, and then he turned to the Treasury, and asked a question or two. He looked like a man who is going to ask indifferent questions about the state of the weather, or how Smith's wife was last time you heard of her, or if stocks are likely to rise or fall. But Spargo had heard this man before, and he knew many signs of his in voice and manner and glance.

"I want to ask you a few questions Mr. Aylmore, about your acquaintanceship with the dead man. It was an acquaintanceship of some time ago?" began the suave seemingly careless voice.

"A considerable time ago," answered Aylmore. "How long?" roughly speaking.

"I should say from twenty to twenty-two or twenty years."

"Never saw him during that time until you met accidentally in the way you have described to us?"

"Never."

"Ever heard of him?"

"No."

"But when you met, you knew each other at once?"

"Well, almost at once."

"Almost at once. Then, I take it, you were very well known to each other twenty or twenty-two years ago?"

"We were—yes, well known to each other."

"Close friends?"

"I said we were acquaintances."

"Acquaintances? What was his name when you knew him at that time?"

"His name? It was—Marbury."

"Marbury—the same name. Where did you know him?"

"Oh, here in London."

"What was he?"

"Do you mean what was his occupation?"

"What was his occupation?"

"I believe he was concerned in financial matters."

"Concerned in financial matters. Had you dealings with him?"

"Well, yes—on occasions."

"What was his business address in London?"

"I can't remember that."

"What was his private address?"

"That I never knew."

"Where did you transact your business with him?"

"Well, we met now and then."

"Where? What place, office, resort?"

"I can't remember particular places. Sometimes in the city."

"In the city. Where in the city? Mansion House, or Lombard street, or St. Paul's Churchyard, or the Old Bailey, or where?"

"I have recollections of meeting him outside the stock exchange."

"Oh! Was he a member of that institution?"

"Not that I know of."

"Were you?"

"Certainly not."

"What were the dealings that you had with him?"

"Financial dealings—small ones."

"How long did your acquaintanceship with him last—what period did it extend over?"

"I should say about six months to nine months."

"No more?"

"Certainly no more."

"It was quite a slight acquaintanceship, then?"

"Oh, quite."

"And yet, after losing sight of this merely slight acquaintanceship for over twenty years, you, on meeting him, take great interest in him?"

"Well, I was willing to do him a good turn. I was interested in what he told me the other evening."

Poetry and Jest

THE TRAINER.

[Edith M. Thomas, in New York Times.] When a difficulty falls upon you, remember that God, like a trainer of wrestlers, has matched you with a rough young man. For what purpose? You may say: Why, that you may become an Olympic conqueror.—Epictetus.

I had a puny strength until the day When rose the rough young man beside the way— Zeus sent him; but I could not know it then: Of such as I his rude force counted ten.

He challenged me. But still I hung back loath; He flouted me, until my soul was wrought. I rushed upon him—with a nimble thrust He laughing sent me down to Mother Dust!

Round upon round he worsted me; and still I would not let him work his utmost will. But up I rose again, and yet again, Until of very fighting I grew faint!

Then laughed, in other wise, that rough young man: "Olympic conqueror, go— (Whom Zeus had sent—to carry out His plan). And cried: 'For you with no mean wrestler matched have been.'"

So wrote the "slave of Nero's freed-man" Who slave of his own man, nor of self, could be! Of his free order, too, and his great line, Who takes the training set by Power Divine!

Who, now, remembering that antagonists—last Circumstance—the trial would have missed? Though called to no Olympic wreath, he can, Unto the end, play the full part of Man!

THE MYSTERY OF GOLF.

"Does your husband enjoy playing golf?"

"Yes, but I don't understand how he can. It is beyond me how he can get any pleasure out of a game which irritates and angers him so."

EMANCIPATION.

[John Massfield.] In the last glowing of the sunset gold We looked our last upon that pirate hold: The palace gliding shone while like fire, We were at sea with all our heart's desire.

Beauty and friendship and the dream fulfilled, The golden answer to the deeply wiled. The purely longer for, hardly tried. Into the dark our seaboard dipped her wing.

Polaris shined out of the dark and none. Then came the moon and now Saffee was gone. With all hell's darkness hidden by the sea.

O beautiful is love, and to be free is beautiful, and beautiful are friends: Love, freedom, comrades, surely make amends. For all these things through which we walk to death, let us breathe your beauty with our breath.

All early in the Maytime when daylight we blessed the hawthorn blossom that welcomed us ashore: O beautiful in this living that passes like the foam: It is to go with sorrow yet come with beauty home.

JUST HIS STYLE.

"Has your husband a good ear for music?"

"I'm afraid not. He seems to think everything he hears played in church is a lullaby."

HOW CAN YOU KNOW?

[Frank L. Stanton.] How can you know "What's a-comin' along?" Sign you are signin' may end in a song. The world will roll right, though the world may roll wrong— Look to the bright side forever!

How can you know but a sweet star will rise In the storm that seems blowin' 'em all from the skies? A sweet rose is born for each dear rose that dies— Look to the bright side forever!

How can you know? . . . daisies deep Have dreams of the time when the south wind shall blow— They know your heart's spring's comin'—for God wills it so— Look to the bright side forever!

How can you know? . . . Let us trust To lighten the burdens of crosses an' cares. An' ever in the desolate rain of our tears— Look to the bright side forever!

MORE WATER NEEDED.

A crowd about a rigging attracted the attention of a sad-eyed individual who seemed to be still visibly affected by the succession of hangovers that had marked his life before the long dry spell began.

"Whence matter?" he inquired. "Oh, we're just watching the work."

"What work?"

"This is a drilling machine."

"What are they drilling for?"

"Water."

As the shaky individual turned to move away he muttered with fervor most intense:

"And to think we'd ever come to this."

HE HAD.

Today's life is different. The blood can be quickly nourished, can be made rich, red, and healthy. All you have to do is take two Ferrozone Tablets with a sip or two of water after meals. The effect is almost magical.

Do you know that millions of people who use Blue-jay keep entirely free from corns? If a corn appears it is ended by a touch. A Blue-jay plaster or a drop of liquid Blue-jay is applied. SUTTON-AIRE.

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, July 21, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Sutton, 102 Byron avenue, when Amie Alice, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Woodgreen, England, was united in marriage to Frank Gordon, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Sutton, the Rev. W. G. Dawson officiating.

The bride was charming in a gown of white crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of roses. She was attended by Miss Irene Sutton, sister of the groom, who wore shell pink crepe de chine with a corsage of sweet peas. The best man was Mr. Bruce Morris, only the immediate relatives of bride and groom were present.

Miss Alice arrived on Monday from England, where she was nurse in Tottenham Hospital. The groom, who has seen four years' war service, met Miss Alice while recovering from wounds at Tottenham Hospital, and the wedding of Wednesday was the culmination of the delightful romance that ensued.

After the wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Sutton left for Niagara Falls and will reside in London.

HOME ECONOMICS

MRS. ELIZABETH KENT, MACDONALD COLLEGE.

THE NURSING MOTHER.

With all the improvement that has been made by the use of food for infants, with all that we have learned about modifying cow's milk to suit their needs, all physicians remain agreed that for the health of both, a mother should nurse her baby if she can. It is a happiness no true woman will willingly forego.

If a mother has not enough milk for the baby's needs, it is possible and desirable to give him one or more bottles of modified milk, to supplement it, and in this case weaning is very easy when the time for it comes. A nursing mother must keep herself well. It is a poor kind of selfishness that brings her exhausted, or in poor physical condition to this primary responsibility. Her strength while she is nursing is not hers to give to any other demand whatever—it belongs to the baby. For our failure to protect nursing and pregnant mothers we are insured sadly punished by the kind of health our children show.

But mothers themselves, and fathers, need to understand and obey them in this matter. A healthy baby makes a house happy, and is comparatively little care. He does not keep people awake most of the night.

Rules for a nursing mother are: Eat plain nourishing food. Drink plenty of water, and milk, cocoa, malted milk, beef tea, or whatever form of nourishment you prefer, but no tea, coffee, nor any other alcoholic beverage. Keep your digestion in good order; do not neglect it for a day. Rest a few minutes before each nursing. If you possibly can. Let other things go. Wash the nipples in a solution of boric acid before nursing; do not omit this precaution, no matter how the baby yells. Nurse the baby regularly, twenty minutes at a time; give him a little cooled boiled water between times, but no tea, sugar or anything else. If he is not nursing properly do not nurse him often, irregularly, but consult a physician to see whether he needs a bottle in addition to his nursing. Save your strength for the baby, but take enough exercise and fresh air to keep you fit.

How Do You Function?

In our last conference on this subject we played a scurvy trick on the reader. Told him to sit quietly at rest for fifteen minutes, then to take four or five moderately deeper breaths than ordinary, something like sighs rather than hard or heavy breathing, then to hold his breath as long as he could, and then to breathe again. We told him that the normal breaking point, when breathing must be resumed, is approximately forty seconds, and that if he couldn't last that long without breathing he was beginning to die. Then, pretty sure they are going to die, then they call in the doctor. If human life had an established value, like real estate, this might be different. A man who owns a house hollers fire and sends for the fire department the instant he smells smoke; but his health and life are not so important, so he gambles with 'em for a long time before he decides to call the doctor.

From 100 per cent health down to zero, which is death, there are all grades of—what? Not health. Can't call anything short of 100 per cent health. There is no other word than death for it. Everybody knows that dying by inches is reality, but what with so much gambling going on, and such dense ignorance of all that pertains to health and hygiene, few know enough to realize when they are dying by inches, until there are only a few inches left.

Did you pass the breaking point in the first test? Fine. Congratulations. Try the second test—it will be given in our next conference.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Crying and Rupture.

Is crying likely to cause rupture in a baby? (D. R.)

ANSWER—No. That is a mistaken notion of some old time nurses. If a baby has a hernia it will manifest itself sooner or later, and crying does not cause it. The condition is a mere accident of development.

First, Catch Your Parasite.

What do you recommend for a tapeworm? I have a very hearty appetite, yet I am very thin. (T. H.)

ANSWER—As a general rule persons who really harbor a tapeworm have no hearty appetite than others and are pretty well nourished or overnourished. Before doing anything about tapeworm, it is advisable to make sure you have your tapeworm. It is a strictly a matter for your personal physician. Serious results, such as blindness, sometimes occur from ill-advised self-medication for tapeworm infestation.

Teeth and Foul Breath.

My boy, six years old, has a foul breath. The doctor found no diseased tonsils or adenoids. I am at a loss to know what to do. The teeth are all right, except that two back teeth are a little decayed. (Mrs. R. P. R.) If there are two or three decayed teeth will produce foul breath. Decayed teeth are a frequent cause of foul breath. It is more important that decayed teeth be treated by the dentist when the patient is six, than when the patient is sixteen or twenty-six.

Blood Pressure.

I am a sufferer from what the doctor called blood pressure. Kindly advise me. (O. A. S.)

ANSWER—Everybody has more or less blood pressure, and it couldn't be comfortable without it. If it is too high, the doctor should continue the examination and try to discover the cause. If it is too high pressure, I advise you to write to Dr. William Brady, in care of this newspaper, mentioning your trouble and inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Dr. Brady will send you a monograph about H. B. P. and if you write briefly and to the point, may be along with it one about C. V. D., which usually accompanies H. B. P.

Seeing in tonight's Advertiser you have some hooked mat patterns, I would like to get one if there is one I can spare. Will return to you in the enjoy reading your page. Inclosed find 25 cents for the hospital fund and 2-cent stamp. Thanking you in anticipation,

MRS. R. S. L.

Ans.—The patterns have just been mailed to you. I shall send you the hooked mat pattern, and if you have any more, I shall be glad to mail them to you.

Pardon my presumption in writing so soon again, but please may I have the crocheted baby bonnet? I will return as quickly as possible. I guess my request for the one Old Cook had been lost or overlooked rather than the pile, but will forgive you if I may have this one.

Say, Miss Grey, would love to have you come for your holidays. I would even let you drive the horses on the hayrack rope.

Ans.—The little bonnet has gone traveling again, but as soon as it is I shall send it to you. I shall be glad to have you for your kind invitation, but the Mail-Box never allows such disappointments as a holiday and a load of hay is rather precious for an amateur to be in charge of these days.

Raspberry Jam. Will you please tell Busy to make raspberry jam. Jelly take six pounds of raspberries, boil slowly for 30 minutes, and then add six pounds of sugar, boil for five minutes, then bottle. All scum should be skimmed as it rises, and keep it well stirred to prevent burning.

Would you please send me Mrs. Hopeful's address, as I would like to get a couple of her rose bushes which she so kindly offers to all.

An inclosing your directions for a luncheon set, trimmed with blue and white crocheted cap (wool) ladies' knitted sweater, without a collar, crocheted yoke, crocheted vest or nightgown, and hope they will be useful to some of the many correspondents of your interesting Page 1.

I inclose 10 cents for the C. H. I have the stocking-foot pattern, thank you.

Ans.—Thank you, Heather Bell, for all the contents of your letter and for the time for the hospital fund. Have mailed Mrs. Hopeful's address to you.

CEDAR SPRINGS W. I.

The Cedar Springs and South Harwich Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. T. J. Macdonald on Thursday, July 22. Sixty ladies were present and a most interesting meeting was held. Mrs. M. J. Jones of Bensenville, a splendid address, was the guest.

The project of building a new community hall in Bensenville as a war memorial was discussed, and it was thought that it would be a good idea to have a fund for this if all the organized societies, such as the churches, I. O. O. F., War Veterans, W. I., Y. M. C. A., and South Harwich would unite to consider ways and means. It was suggested representatives from each society meet and decide what sort of building would be desired, and for what purposes it should be used.

A report of the district convention was given by the secretary, Mrs. J. A. Huffman of Black Eice, Miss Anna Huffman and Miss Reta Risborough completed an enjoyable program.

VERANDA CHATS.

Would you be so kind as to let me have (to copy) the patterns for hooked mats sent in by Elizabeth Ann in this morning's Advertiser? I will return them by next mail. Also I am glad she likes the patches. If she wants some velvet ones I can send them to her.

If you will give me her address, I will have sent several things to Humburg, but do not know if she has received them or not.

Tell Elizabeth Ann not to take any or every cure for eczema, but go to a good reliable doctor. E.T.A.K.

Mona.—Have mailed you patterns and Elizabeth Ann's address. Will put balance from inclosed postage in hospital fund. Thank you.

I have been a silent reader of your Page for some time, but at last I have found courage to write. Will I will leave my address with Miss Grey, I drive 24 miles every day and I see lots of nice scenery. I have two pigs and a number of chickens. Well, Miss Grey, how would you like to draw in

PUPPY STORIES

(by Vincent G. Perry)

THE PERFORMING DOGS. All the little dogs in the market square were talking at once. Old Sim the collie, the dog in the town had heard it read from the paper. This is what he remembered:

Who should have in sight at this minute but our old friends, Roderick, Dandy and Mimmo. They had traveled far, and many weeks had passed since we last heard of them. How tall and stately Roderick had grown, and what a handsome dog he was! All the common dogs in the market were filled with great awe at such a distinguished-looking dog, but when the performing dogs showed how anxious they were to make friends, the others lost their shyness.

"I'm sure you must resemble the lost dog," whistled Roderick confidentially. "My father's name was Roderick D'Ardo."

"Well, then, you must be Roderick the Second," old Sim declared. When Roderick told his adventures, Sim was quite sure that Roderick was the missing dog that had been advertised for so long. How the other dogs envied Roderick when they heard that.

"But how am I to get back to my master?" asked Roderick, for he was still a young dog, and much worried at the thought of not being able to find his home once more.

"I know," cried Mike, the dog that lived at the police station. "I'll get the chief of the police station. I'll get the chief. He knows everything and Sim will recognize you," and he trotted off, his chest swelled out with importance.

Sure enough, he returned, and the chief of police was with him. That gentleman had been led to many a wrong door by Mike, so when he discovered that all Mike had brought him to see was three strange dogs, he was angry. It was a small town, and he knew every dog that lived there. He looked Roderick and his friends over and decided that they should be locked up. "No dogs without a home can stay," he said. "The pound for your Roderick."

IMPOSTORS SECURING

POSITIONS IN DETROIT
Masquerade As Heroes of War—Border Veterans
Register Strong Protest.

WINDSOR, July 23.—Masquerading as heroes of the war, and veterans of Canadian and Imperial forces, scores of impostors are securing positions from Detroit industrial firms and business places by displaying service buttons.
As a result of this situation general complaint against which has become prevalent recently, the Border Command of the G. W. V. A. today forwarded a resolution to Ottawa asking that negotiations be opened with Washington immediately and an effort made to have legislation passed as would render the wearing of veterans' badges by men who never went overseas illegal in the United States as well as in Canada.

Capt. H. Dobson Peacock, secretary of the local branch of the returned men's organization, today demonstrated the ease with which impostors can obtain positions by procuring these buttons when he showed 32 badges representing different phases of service during the war.

SPECTACULAR TWIN STORMS HIT TORONTO DAMAGE NOT SERIOUS

Two Residences Struck by Lightning, But No One Injured.

TORONTO, July 23.—A spectacular storm broke over this city about 7 o'clock this evening, followed shortly afterwards by a second storm, and while the two were the most severe of the season here, little damage was done. Two residences were struck by lightning, but neither was set on fire, and no person was injured. In the case of the first storm, a clothes line in a backyard, ran along the wire, burst in through the doorway, and across the kitchen and place a section of plaster off the wall.

Exceedingly heavy rainfalls marked the storm, and there was some flooding of streets as a result of blocked sewers. The telephone and telephone service in Toronto were little interfered with by the storm.

HAMILTON ALSO HIT.—Considerable damage was done in this city this evening by one of the worst thunderstorms of recent years, and at 6:15 it was almost pitch dark.

Power and transmission Company's plant was put out of commission and street cars and suburban cars were stalled for several hours. The public lighting service was also off. More than 200 telephones were out of service, and numerous poles and wires were blown down. The doors of the Shermans Hotel were shattered by lightning.

The storm east of this city was severe. All the transmission lines of the Dominion Power and Transmission Company were down, and the company here could not even get a telephone message through to find out what the conditions were.

The C. P. R. and G. N. W. telegraph services were crippled between this city and Toronto, and between Hamilton and Buffalo, because being broken and crossed wires.

FIRES AT NIAGARA.—A terrific electrical storm hit this city and district tonight and raged for over an hour, and in the case of the latter, falling in that time, flooding streets and basements. A great many fires are reported from various places. The incline railway was saved only by strenuous efforts after the building had been struck and burned.

Muddy Run Creek flowing through the city flowed for the first time in 20 years. Niagara Falls, another storm, fell in that time, flooding streets and basements. A great many fires are reported from various places. The incline railway was saved only by strenuous efforts after the building had been struck and burned.

There was a big fire at the Niagara Falls Hotel. Many fires occurred in this city. Inland areas became inundated during the rain, and it is feared that hundreds of thousands of dollars damage has been done.

TWO DEAD AND SCORE INJURED, CYCLONE TOLL

Total Casualties in Saskatchewan Storm Not Yet Known—Heavy Damage.

REGINA, July 23.—At least two persons were killed, a score injured and property damaged to the extent of $200,000 in a cyclone which swept the southern part of Saskatchewan Thursday afternoon in the trail of severe thunderstorms which swept the province from west to east. The full extent of the damage to the crops and the complete casualty list is not yet known.

The greatest property damage was caused at Alameda, southwest of Regina. Here the cyclone cut a swath two miles wide for several miles. While there has been no loss of life in this town, the damage is estimated at $100,000.

Torn to Matchwood.—The Alameda school house was torn to matchwood and scattered for miles around. The storm broke out about 4 o'clock, and in the town the down-pour of rain was nothing less than a cloudburst.

Two killed, four-day-old baby missing and the country laid waste in an area of miles long and several miles wide east of the village of Prosper is the toll of the cyclone there. Today along the country roads for miles are scattered timber, clothing, household utensils and farm implements.

The body of Mrs. Guy Holmes was picked up terribly battered half a mile from where her home stood. No trace of her four-day-old baby has been found. The nurse, Mrs. Buyers, in whose home the baby was lying when the cyclone struck the home, has been picked up 75 yards from the house.

Sixteen horses in a barn were stripped of their hair. Another horse was carried through the air half a mile and killed. His wife and six other children badly injured and all his farm buildings destroyed.

At Regina, considerable damage was done by basement washout. Light struck the Parliament buildings, but caused little damage. Telephone communication was out of commission for several hours. The Red Cross rushed aid to the stricken areas.

HYDRO COMMISSION SHOWS CONVINCE GOVT. OF WRONG

Mayor Westoby of Guelph Differs With Sir Adam Beck.

GUELPH, July 23.—In a long-distance conversation with Mayor Westoby today Sir Adam Beck informed his worship that he has the opinions of two prominent solicitors in writing on the Guelph radial railway proposition, and both are to the effect that the agreement between the hydro power commission and the city of Guelph is a bad one.

The hydro knight told the mayor that he thought it was up to the city to take up the question with the Government, but Mayor Westoby differs with Sir Adam on that point, and said that it was the hydro commission that should convince the Government that it was in the wrong.

The mayor got in touch with City Solicitor Kerwin immediately after conversing with Sir Adam, and he is to give his opinion on the matter in writing tomorrow.

They Used To Strap On Spectacles!

Old pictures and collections show grotesque shapes in early spectacles.

In the earliest styles the lenses were round, very large and fastened in a ring of black horn half an inch wide.

They were strapped on with a leather thong over the nose and another about the head. Small wonder wearers of spectacles were ridiculed in those days. Obviously, the adjustment could not have been very good. Such crudeness makes those shudder who appreciate the scientific necessity of delicate, accurate adjustment, as practiced at

LONDON PEOPLE IN AUTO SMASH NEAR MT. ELGIN

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCormick Painfully Injured—In Hospital At Ingersoll.

(Special To The Advertiser.)
INGERSOLL, July 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCormick of London were both severely injured about 6 o'clock tonight on the Tilsonburg gravel road, near Mount Elgin, when the Chalmers coupe in which they were traveling to Port Dover struck the side of a cement culvert and partially turned over.
Mrs. McCormick was pinned under the auto and Mr. McCormick, who was caught and held in the car by the steering wheel. They were found and released by Kish Clarke, who resides near the scene of the accident, and, after medical attention, were brought by him to Alexandra Hospital, where they are reported as resting quietly.
Miraculous Escape.
The most serious injuries were received by Mrs. McCormick, who is suffering from a dislocated hip and injuries to one shoulder and knee. Mr. McCormick was badly cut about the face, a thigh and knee. Some 25 stitches were needed to close his wounds. The car was badly smashed by the impact, and the escape of its passengers with lives is considered little short of a miracle.
Mr. McCormick is the vice-president of the McCormick Manufacturing Company of London.

LONDON GIRL'S FATHER KILLED BY LIGHTNING

Joseph Buchanan Was One of Harwich Township's Best Known Residents.

BLenheim, July 23.—(Special To The Advertiser.)—Joseph Buchanan, aged 66, one of the most prominent farmers of Harwich Township, was instantly killed about 11 o'clock this morning by lightning. With his hired man he ran into an old barn to take refuge from the storm. The bolt tore off one of his shoes. The hired man was unhurt.
Mr. Buchanan has four daughters, Beulah of the Bank of Nova Scotia staff in London; Josephine, Mabel and Winifred. Charles Buchanan, ex-reverend of Harwich, and Samuel Buchanan are brothers. The Buchanan farm is located in Harwich, about four miles out of Blenheim.

HAS-BEENS AND COME-BACKS PLAY TIE GAME

Feature of Baseball Picnic at Lobo Memorial Park.

ILBERTON, July 23.—The Poplar Hill ball team called a half-holiday picnic on Wednesday, with two ball games and a hand concert by the Strathroy Brass Band in the evening, at Lobo Memorial Park.
The afternoon game was played by old members of the Poplar Hill and Grosvenor teams who have not played ball for four or five years. Fred Harris captained the Poplar Hill Has-Beens, and Wm. McIntosh the Grosvenor Come-Backs. Seven innings were played, the score being 3 to 3. The tie will probably be played at some future date.
Owing to the farmers being busy in the harvest fields, the attendance was rather small. The Strathroy band made a triumphal entrance about 5:30, one of the trucks exploding just inside the park gate with so loud a report that it was feared that the old German gun had again started its work.
The game in the evening between Poplar Hill and Strathroy was up to the fifth inning a battle between the batteries, but in the fifth and sixth Poplar Hill got going. The score was 5 to 0 in favor of Poplar Hill.
The crowd was large at the evening game, and the band concert was much enjoyed by the many young couples who tripped it on the green.
A grand tournament and concert will be held by the ball team on August 25. The Lobo Continuation School is now an assured thing, and Miss Elsie Cavertill has been secured as teacher. Two schools have united, and two more are expected to join at once, and probably more soon. Seats have been bought and a building will be secured until a permanent school is built.

WINNIPEG, July 23.—Announcement was made today that the Dominion convention of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association will be held in Vancouver, commencing October 11. Fifty units of the organization are expected to attend.

FARM BUREAU FEDERATION TO SELL PRODUCTS DIRECTLY TO CONSUMER IS PLANNED

Chicago Convention, Representing a Membership of 1,250,000, Opens To Consider Advisability of the Scheme.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 23.—The Farm Bureau Federation, comprising a membership of 1,250,000, opened a two-day conference today to consider the advisability of establishing one great farmers' grain market, where the products of the farm may be sold direct to the manufacturer or consumer.
"The main object of the conference is to organize the grain interests into one workable overhead organization," J. R. Howard, president of the organization, said, "making it possible for the growers to control their grain until it reaches the manufacturer."
"We hope that this plan will give the grower a stable market, and at the same time prove of great advantage to the consumer."
Speakers declared that grain brokers now charge the farmers $50,000,000 each year for handling their crops.

HOTELS ONLY TO SELL "DRY" BEER SEPT. 1

TORONTO, July 23.—The amendment to the Ontario temperance act, which was passed at the last session of the Legislature, with a view to encouraging a better standard of hotel accommodation by giving hotel proprietors the exclusive right to sell temperance beers, will come into effect on September 1 next. At present the privilege of selling temperance beers is given by municipalities indiscriminately, by giving hotelkeepers the exclusive privilege it is believed that it will be an incentive for them to keep their houses up to the mark.
