AITKEN TO FIGHT COUNCIL

Will Not Resign as Fire Chief and Will Fight Dismissal.

"TOO OLD," SAYS MAYOR

Wenige Says He Is Afraid of Accidents in an Emergency.

Fire Chief John Aitken may be dismissed from office by the city council, but he will not resign.

This was the gist of reliable information secured today. The chief himself was not willing to commit himself on the matter, but there is much evidence to show that he will not quietly step from office. If the council on Monday backs up the action already taken by No. 1 committee, it will be a fight to the finish.

Definite statement of reasons for demanding the chief's resignation were given today by the mayor, who states that the chief is not only too old for the office but is also incompetent and has broken bylaws himself. The chief in turn has from time to time complained that his hands were tied by the council committee and that he was not given power to carry out the tenets of the bylaw.

"No, I don't want to talk about that until Monday," the chief told a reporter when asked if he would resign from office if the council demanded such action. "There is a lot to be said yet, but I'm not talking about it just now."

Assistant Chief Charles Scott was asked if he or any of the men had any complaints regarding the administration of the department.

"The bylaw prevents that," the assistant chief pointed out. "We are liable to immediate suspension if we bring complaints."

Wenige's Three Reasons.
The mayor in outlining his demand for the fire chief's resignation, states he has three definite reasons for his action.

"In the first place," the mayor states, "Chief Aitken is too old. It is all right to say that he looks like a young man, but the chief is getting on in years. He is liable to meet with an accident, at some critical moment, because of his age, and the city would regret it. There is no use in arguing. An old man has not the command of his faculties like a young man."

"Secondly, the chief has not been on the job. The provincial government sent in two engineers recently.
In two months they have ordered nine hundred places to be cleaned up.
Why didn't the chief do this? He has the authority of a fire marshal
I have taken the matter up with him several times in the last three years.
But what was the result?"

Violated Bylaws.
"In the third, the chief has been violating some of the bylaws. I claim that his actions have caused dissension in the department, and lost for him the loyal support of the men.
Lack of co-ordination in a fire department brings the same result as it would on a ship. It is fatal."

The mayor claims that the chief men who are supporting the chief lack the proper facts, and insists that they are neglecting their duty to the people by not securing them.

Toronto, April 3.—Efforts of Conservative members to link profits of $90,000 made by Douglas K. Ridout on deals with the Ontario treasury in 1923, with a U. F. O. campaign in 1923, featured the examination of E.
C. Drury, former prime minister of the province, before the public accounts committee today.

F. G. McBrien, Conservative member for Southwest Toronto, sought to establish that there had been an understanding whereby half of Ridout's profits were to go into the party fund, but that W. E. Roney had refused to allow the money to be paid in, because of a "fuke" of which Ridout had been guilty in depositing the money in his own bank, where it could easily be traced.

To these suggestions, Mr. Drury gave an emphatic denial, stating that he had investigated the matter after former "suspicions" had been drawn to his attention and had found that there was no connection between the party fund and the Ridout transactions. Private to obtain the name of Mr. Drury's informant, but Provincial Treasurer Price agreed with the former "time minister" that it was not in the public interest that it should be made public.

English Judge Finds Mrs. Den-

Damages.

CANNOT ENFORCE CLAIM

Associated Press Despatch.
London, April 3.—Justice Sir Henry McCardie delivered his reserved judgment in the Denniston case this morning. He held that the alleged agreement for Mrs. Dorothy Muriel Denniston's support by her former husband after their divorce, was void and could not be enforced in law.
Therefore, he ruled that Mrs. Den-niston's claim for damages for breach of contract had failed.
The judgment sets aside the verdict of the jury late last month awarding Mrs. Denniston $5,000, or nearly $25,000, for the alleged breach of contract.

JUDGE MUST DECIDE

Judge Judd has had some peculiar cases to decide in his career on the county court bench and to cap the climax he must give judgment on the singing efforts of a flock of canaries.

Be it known to the uninitiated that it is the male and not the female canaries that do the warbling for the house.

W. Giles purchased 30 canaries from Earl Dundas and declared in division court this morning that 15 were to be males. Later, when the birds failed to come through with a little music, he discovered that he was short seven singers and refused to pay for the lady bosses of the

His honor now has to decide the

Italian Veteran's Dream Is Fulfilled By His King

Associated Press Despatch.
Rome, April 3.—Giovanni Pirol, aged 31, a mutilated war veteran, partly paralyzed, unable to speak perfectly, and in tatters, yesterday approached the guard of the royal palace, saying:
"I want to see King Victor Emmanuel, for whom I fought and bled."

When informed of the man at the gate, the King sent for him, but in the presence of his monarch, Pirol was too nervous to stand. So the King asked the veteran to sit beside him while his story of misfortune was told.

"What can I do for you?" asked the King when it was completed.

At length, Pirol, who had been evicted from his house, said his life dream was a cottage of his own. But it would cost 10,000 lire, he added.

King Victor Emmanuel immediately ordered 20,000 lire given to the veteran, and as Pirol departed the monarch took 500 lire from his pocket, saying: "Buy food with this."

Labor Members Enthusiastic

London, April 3.—The house of commons devoted the best part of yesterday to speeches on emigration.
Sir Victor Warrender, who initiated the debate, pointed out that emigrants last year were less than half the number in 1913. The greatest decline was in emigration to Canada.
All the speakers favored emigration, especially those who had been emigrants themselves, but who have returned to this country. The Labor speakers were particularly enthusiastic.

Dr. Guest, another Labor member, said he would like to see the same ability which was used for the organization of armies in war used in the organization of emigration. For the emigration problem would be solved if the emigrants were able to march out in their battalions, brigades and divisions with real organizations to support them.

Despite the enthusiasm of the speakers, the debate was rather uneventful. The only member who faced the real problem was Percy Hurd, who formerly lived in Canada. He said he hoped none of the emigrants whom the government subsidized would be taken from the agricultural districts, which were already depopulated.

Although Hurd was snubbed for his statement, everyone knows he put his finger on the sore spot. His country and this government do not want to lose the agriculturalist. The dominions do not want to receive any other class of male workers. It is well known in London that the Ontario government, for instance, does not encourage any emigrants unless they are prepared to work on farms.

The real problem is that this country is suffering from an excess of town people and a scarcity of agriculturalists. It is therefore not a good position to send the dominions the kind of emigrants wanted.

Green Lights Not Favored

Secretary of London Motor Club Considers Idea Would Create Confusion.

Red lights on the rear of automobiles in Ontario, in the opinion of C.
E. Bernard, secretary-treasurer of the London motor league, are here to stay.

Mr. Bernard discounts the proposal of the Hamilton motor club that green lights should in future replace the red lights.

Because of the fact that a red light is almost universal as a danger sign, and certainly so in America, Mr.
Bernard assumes the attitude that any change, if confined to Ontario only, would prove very confusing and practically impossible of enforcement.

In this connection Mr. Bernard pointed to the number of United States tourists driving through Ontario every summer, and cited the difficulty of enforcing the carrying of a green light upon their cars.

The idea the Hamilton club had in mind, it appears, was to differentiate the red danger light on a stationary object as compared with the red danger light on a moving object, as compared with the red danger light on an automobile or other moving vehicle.

ACTION AGAINST L.S.R. MONDAY, SAYS M'KAY

Finance Chairman Says Two Satisfactory Courses Are Being Considered.

Definite action will be taken by Monday in the street railway tangle, chairman of No. 1 committee. Ald.

McKay is not ready to say just what this action will be, as several proposals are now under consideration.

There are two propositions, one that could definitely be acted upon and another, which would be more satisfactory all round, if it could be put into operation. "We will see,"
the chairman would say today.

Reports today were that no nego-

NEW BILL PLEASES NOBODY

Both the Unionists and Anti-Unionists Are Dissatisfied With Committee's Action.

IS "ULTRA VIRES"

Rev. James McKay Expresses Strong Disapproval — Dr.
Beattie Says "Compromise."

Neither unionist nor anti-unionist leaders in London are satisfied with the church union bill as it has been passed upon by the private bills committee.

Rev. D. C. MacGregor, D. D., who sat in on a number of the conferences with the committee as a member of the general assembly's church union committee, is inclined to adopt a tolerant attitude toward the bill.

Rev. James McKay, R. D. declares that the proposed bill is "ultra vires," because of the fact that the assembly had not the right to proceed into union.

Rev. William Beattie, D. D., C. M.
G., chairman of the London presbytery committee on union, views it as a compromise bill. He is pleased, however, that the decisions of the judicial committee in the appeal are to be final, thus eliminating the possibility of action in the civil courts.

"The private bills committee has arrived at a settlement," observed Dr. MacGregor, "which, while both sides may take exception to it, at least makes an honest attempt to reach a fair solution as between the two parties."

"To surrender Knox college to those who opposed the church policy when 80 per cent of those now in attendance at the college, in addition to the whole staff, are unionists, is not pleasant. While we regret the up Knox college, the vote polled by the anti-unionists in Ontario gives them a right to consideration and Knox college is the consideration that the committee has granted them after long deliberation."

"In the interests of peace and tranquility in the church," stated Dr.
MacGregor, "I am prepared to accept the committee's ruling, not so much on the ground that the ruling is just, but because of the fact that in the interests of religion a settlement is desirable."

"Ultra Vires," Says McKay.
"The legislature is accepting as a fact," said Mr. McKay, "what is only a theory, that the Presbyterian church has gone into union. The assembly had no right to go into union, and the matter is clearly showing that the principle is all wrong, and therefore the bill is ultra vires."

The Presbyterians have been literally "killed" by the "politicians have treated us just as fairly as our church leaders have, though that is not saying much."

"Well, you get Knox college don't you?"

"Oh, pshaw! Yes, but with a lot of strings to it."

Mr. McKay averred that the bill was as yet "only in the making" and expressed agreement with Rev.
Stuart Parker, D.D., Toronto, in stating that the whole question may yet be taken to the privy council by those Presbyterians opposed to union.

Dr. Beattie pointed out that the powers of the judiciary committee to be appointed were limited to apply in towns where there were two Presbyterian churches and under 59,999 in population.

In Dr. Beattie's opinion the proposed bill is "not entirely satisfactory."

The feeling of the committee was to fix the period of residence at three months, and that the collection shall be made from an outside municipality by the municipality where the patient resides and not by the hospital. It was urged that the hospitals had not the machinery to collect that the municipalities had. The proposal of three-months' residence, with the right of one municipality to collect from another, was approved.

Amendments To Beer Bill Suffer Defeat

SNAPSHOTS OF THE PARTY BEHIND.

LIQUOR BILL ADOPTED BY PROVINCIAL HOUSE IN FACE OF OPPOSITION

Legislators Approve of O. T. A. Amendments To Allow Sale of Beer.

SPURN AMENDMENT

Decide That 4.4 Must Be On Sale Whether Wanted or Not.

CLAUSE INSERTED

Bill Is Changed To Allow Advertising and Soliciting.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, April 2.—Early this morning the committee of the whole house adopted the Ontario temperance act amendments providing for the sale of 4.4 beer after a four-hour session in committee.

In the closing hour of the debate the attorney-general inserted clauses in the bill permitting advertising in relation to the sale of the beer and permitting the solicitation of orders. Druggists selling liquor on doctors' prescriptions which are technically irregular shall not be prosecuted without the consent of the minister.

Amendment Defeated.
By a large majority and supported by five French-Canadian Liberals and the three Labor members, the government defeated in the legislature tonight an amendment made by Progressive leader W. E. Raney, to exempt from the proposed 4.4 beer sale municipalities which prior to 1916 had voted themselves dry under the then local option privilege.

The Liberals who voted with the government were: A. Belanger, Russell, E. Proulx, Prescott, Z. Mageau, Sturgeon Falls, E. P. Teller, North Essex, and J. A. Pinard, Ottawa East. The Labor members who voted against the proposed exemption of previously dry centers were K. K. Homuth, South Waterloo, P. Heenan, Kenora, and J. C. Callan, Rainy River. On practically the same division, but with no poll of the vote, the house defeated two other amendments of Mr. Raney, his second one introduced being to exempt from beer sale municipalities that supported the Ontario temperance act in the recent plebiscite, and the third to reduce the proposed alcoholic content of the beer from 2.5 to 2 per cent proof spirits.

Restriction Spurned.
K. K. Homuth, Labor member for Waterloo, later introduced an amendment to restrict the permits to sell to British subjects. It was defeated.

During the course of this evening's animated discussions in committee stage of the Ontario temperance act amendments, Premier Ferguson said the government would see that permits would be granted only to the proper kind of persons with proper premises, and law-breakers would immediately have their permits revoked.

"One of the most serious features of this bill," said Mr. Raney in opening the committee discussion on the O.T.A. amendments, "is that it absolutely ignores that great area of the province of Ontario that was under local prohibition laws in September, 1916, when the O.T.A. came into force."

Mr. Raney went on to quote statistics to show the large percentage of municipalities which had voted

Pheasant's Life Taken By Train

Special To The Advertiser.
Komoka, April 2.—One of the few pheasants of the district of Komoka was killed yesterday by a C. P. R. train.

The bird was picked up by a passerby while still warm. It was a large, beautifully-colored male bird, the tail measurement being 20 inches. The spurs on the legs of the bird were over a quarter of an inch in length, indicating that it was an old bird.

For some years pheasants have been very scarce in this district. The one killed today was one of a pair nested near the railway diamond.

age of municipalities which had voted liquor out of their confines and enumerated the following towns as in that category: Kincaid, Orangeville, Bowmanville, Owen Sound, Meaford, Petrolia, Carleton Place, Strathroy, Brantford, Campbellford, Uxbridge, Ingersoll, Renfrew, The Soo, Midland, Orillia, Collingwood, Galt, Newmarket, and many other smaller places.

For Democracy's Sake.
"All the canons of right and democracy," Mr. Raney proceeded, "demand that the local autonomy of these municipalities ought to be recognized, and that is the purpose of the amendment I am about to move. It would be arbitrary in the extreme, I suggest, for this legislature to override the local autonomy of these municipalities."

Mr. Raney instanced the situation in his own riding, in which there had been a seven-to-one dry vote. Attorney-General Nickle said he was surprised at the attitude taken by the ex-attorney-general, which, if Mr. Raney were consistent, meant that local autonomy should prevail, and that a licensing system should be re-established in Ontario where the people had voted wet. When he assumed as a promise that a beverage of 2.5 per cent by volume was an intoxicating liquor, then it was the simplest thing to say that the entire province was being put under a license system.

Mr. Raney: "Your experts having been discredited, whom are the eminent scientists upon whom you rely?"

LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL.
Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, April 2.—Although not pressing for a formal division, the opposition groups in the Ontario legislature this afternoon fought the proposed beverage tax strenuously. W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader, and W. E. Raney, Progressive leader, expressed the opinion that the bill as brought in by the government was unconstitutional, declaring that it was in the form of an indirect tax and therefore beyond the jurisdiction of the province.

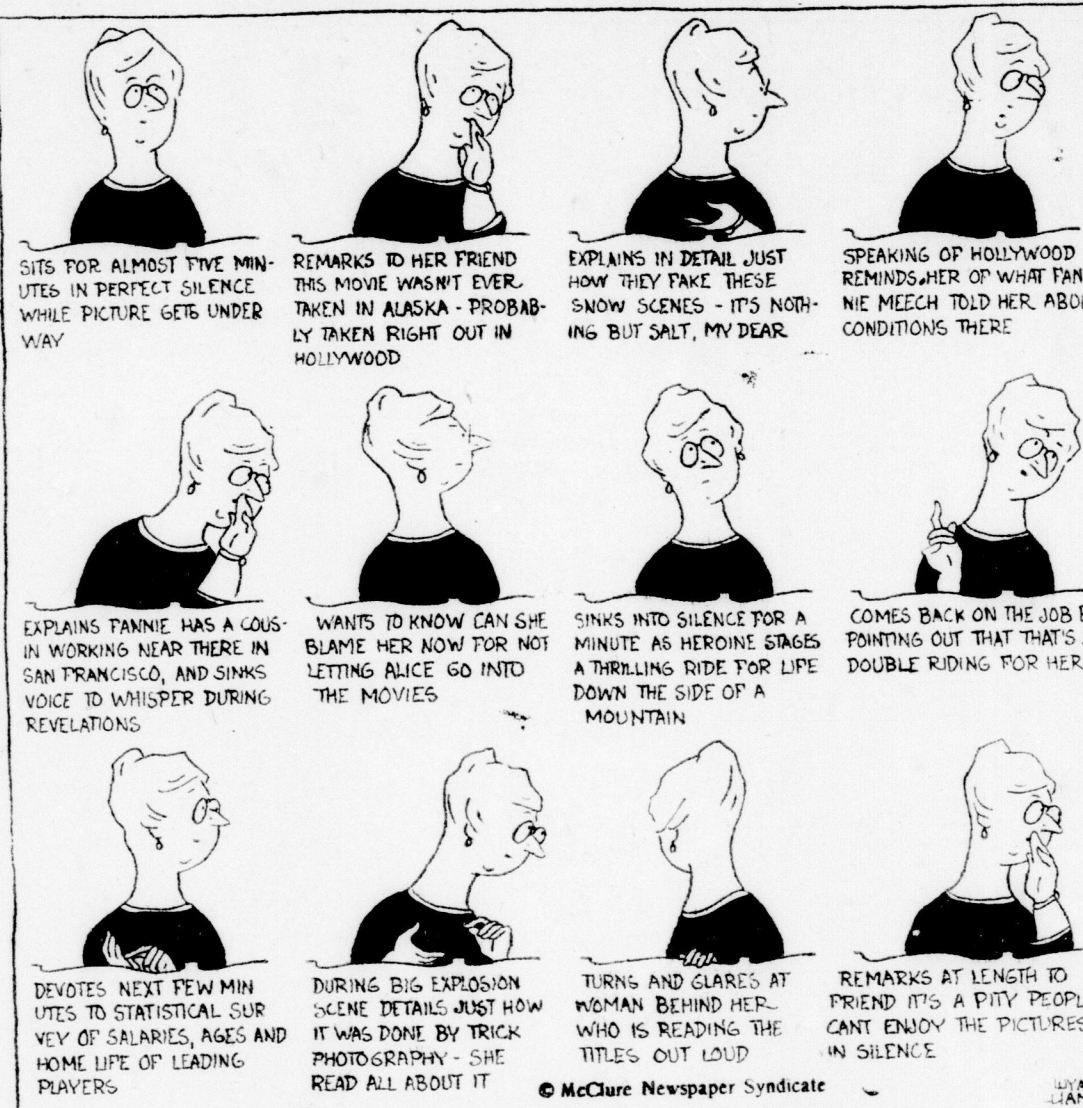

Several members of the opposition wanted the tax on soft drinks struck out, and promised that when the bill reached the committee stage they would move an amendment to that effect.

Hon. W. H. Price, provincial treasurer, in introducing the bill, said the tax would be ten cents a gallon on 4.4 beer. He claimed that a gallon of beer could be sold to the retailer for 25 cents a gallon, and with the tax would amount to 45 cents. In a gallon, he said, there were twenty 8-ounce glasses of beer, which at five cents would mean one dollar a gallon, or a profit of 110 per cent. He wanted to show, he said, that beer could be sold at five cents a glass. The tax amounted to one-half cent per glass and on soft drinks one-sixth of a cent.

On wines the tax would be 50 cents a gallon. Last year 270,225 gallons of native wines were sold for consumption in the province, and, based on this, the government would get $135,000 revenue from the proposed tax on wines. He estimated about $200,000 from the tax on soft drinks and $3,000,000 from the tax on 4.4 beer.

Mr. Fisher, Liberal, West Ottawa, said the bill was another piece of strict legislation, because it left nearly everything to regulation, and nearly everything to the government itself did not know how it was going to collect the tax.

K. K. Homuth (Labor, South Waterloo) said the bill was unfair in its taxation of soft drinks. It would play havoc with soft drink manufacturers, because people would make their own drinks, upon which there was no tax. He thought the tax on beer all right, but would rather see it collected in license fees than imposed on the beer. He thought the treasurer optimistic about the revenue to be derived on a beer tax because, although other

The remarks followed argument on the question whether Peter Wellington could give a purchaser of the farm bequeathed by his father in Samia township, Lambton county, good title. His lordship decided that he could.

APPEARS AT GRAND

Ellen Southbrook, Charming Actress, Has Few Equals in Fascinating Role.

"Aren't We All" Frederick Lonsdale's delightful comedy, featuring the lovable English actor, Cyril Maude, made an impression on Grand Opera House patrons last evening that will not soon be forgotten. Mr. Maude with his infectious smile and witty nonchalance, brought to a large measure of gladness to the hearts of everyone who saw his excellent performance. The play, leavened as it is, with the sweet philosophy of tolerance, was admirably suited for Mr. Maude's rare talents.

Devotees of the drama expect all this, of course, from Mr. Maude. What charmed and surprised them last night was the splendid supporting cast—each member a finished actor, well drilled in the subtleties of a subtle play. Ellen Southbrook, the charming English actress, has few equals in the role of the fascinating and vivacious Margot Tatham. Harry Ashford as Rev. Ernest Lynwood, was also exceptionally well cast. Brimming With Chuckles.

"Aren't We All" is a tonic for depression and a shrewd dig at what is popularly known as narrow-mindedness. Although brimful with chuckles, it points a moral in a kindly way—the moral of tolerance. It brushes human selfishness and narrow viewpoints aside as mere humorous incidents in a world made of joy. It refuses to regard petty men and women as petty men and women. There are human curiosities without the vision to understand that all men, in the last analysis, are whimsical and foolish. "Aren't We All?"

The play abounds with laughs. Mr. Maude, of course, is responsible for most of them. Cynthia Brooks as Lady Frinton, the indulgent man-catcher whose artfulness is such a success because she does not attempt to hide it, added much to the audience's pleasure. Hugh Huntley could scarcely be improved on as Hon. Willie Tatham, the much-in-love, but indiscreet husband. Isabel Lamson as Kitty Lake, the shallow siren, and Geoffrey Miller as John Wilkins, the Australian gentleman, were also splendid, as was every other character.

It is refreshing to see a play like "Aren't We All?" It is funny, yet has the effect of lifting people out of their mental ruts and viewing life from the angle of the gentle epicurean. It tells us that the world is a place where pleasure and laughter reign, that bigotry and puritanism are false logic, and that harsh condemnation of anyone at any time reacts to the disadvantage of all.

Replete With Humor.
The dialogue in "Aren't We All" is brilliant and yet naive in its cleverness, and almost every line is significant with meaning. The repartee, the humor and the bite of the lines were like bubbling wine, and went to the head in the most fascinating way. From end to end the play was replete with truth, kindness, fidelity to life and human nature, gaiety, insight and charity.

"Aren't We All" will be seen at the Grand tonight and twice tomorrow, and those who fail to see at least one performance will pass by one of the most fascinating plays that has come to London in a long while. "Aren't We All" is the first show to be presented at the Grand opera house under the new management, and this attraction is the calibre of what theatre-goers in London may expect in future, then the patrons of this house are going to be treated to the best.

Between acts last evening, after prolonged applause, Mr. Maude acknowledged the reception offered him and his company in a characteristic and witty

TWO MISSING AVIATORS FOUND FAR OUT TO SEA

United States Airmen Are Uninjured and Plane Goes Undamaged.

Associated Press Despatch.
San Diego, Cal., April 2.—An aeroplane which left the North Island naval air station here late yesterday and which failed to arrive at San Pedro, its destination, was found at sea together with two airmen, by the destroyer Sinclair today.

A radio message from the Sinclair, one of several warships sent in search of the lost aeroplane, said that Lieut. W. N. Updegrave, the pilot, and another airman, whose name was not given, were uninjured and that the plane was undamaged.

South-East London Gets New Dyke :: Colbert Wants Holidays for Everyone

DYKE TO BE BUILT IN SOUTH LONDON

Will Follow Erection of New Sewage Disposal Plant.

Erection of London's new sewage disposal plant in the vicinity of Front street, Southeast London, will lead to the building of a dyke in that neighborhood, a development that will be welcomed generally by citizens who are annually stricken with fears of flood disaster.

Purchase of low-lying property at the Front street corner is now being negotiated and is expected to materialize within the next week. Mr. Veitch, assistant city engineer, and R. H. Daulton of the provincial board of health, conferred this week on the new sewage disposal plant and plans are now being completed at the city hall here.

Revised plans show a reduction in cost of $5,000, and praise is given in civic circles for the good work of Mr. Veitch in bringing down the proposed expenditure. Ald. Harry Bottrick, chairman of the board of works, well pleased this morning when he heard the proposed cost of the plant had been cut from $35,000 to $30,000. The efficiency of the plant will be in no way endangered by the welcome reduction in cost. A change in the type of valves proposed is responsible for the cut.

According to plans discussed by city Engineer W. P. Nair and Mr. Veitch today, it will be quite practical to use low-lying land for the sewage plant. The property is of little use for factory or residential purposes as it is flooded every year by spring freshets.

During the recent spring floods, the area wanted was almost completely covered with water. It could be bought to advantage of both the city and heirs of the estate to which it is a part. Action in a deal with representatives of the estate is expected within the next week.

"SPARE-RIBS" HUNT MAY END IN CITY

Hound With Polka Dot Tie Held Here as Long-Lost Comic Strip Dog.

"Spare-Ribs," the playful thoroughbred hound who has been missing from Casper's and Toots' home for several weeks and for whom police of two countries have been conducting a thorough search, has been found in London. He was brought to the police station this morning and answers to the description broadcast all over the country by Casper. Buttermilk is anxious.

Police are endeavoring to take the animal's footprints that positive identification can be made. Should the hound picked up on London streets this morning turn out to be the actual and long-lost "Spare-Ribs," Casper will at once be notified by Chief of Police Robert Birrell and the former's speeding trip to Rosetown on a hand car will be stopped.

The dog now waiting at police station with an anxious look in his eyes, will be turned over to Humane Inspector George Tustin until further notice. He is assured that he is "Spare-Ribs" of comic strip fame.

He has long been known as a polka dot tie around his neck. The tie is a little worse for wear, and the colored dots, probably having run a bit from rain, appear to be checked. Police, however, believe this has been brought about through the career the little animal has had since he wandered away from his home some time ago.

LONDON SHOP EXEMPT FROM MUNICIPAL TAX

Hydro Store Will Not Be Affected by Proposed New Bill.

The London hydro shop will not be affected by the proposed new municipal tax to be levied on hydro shops throughout Ontario.

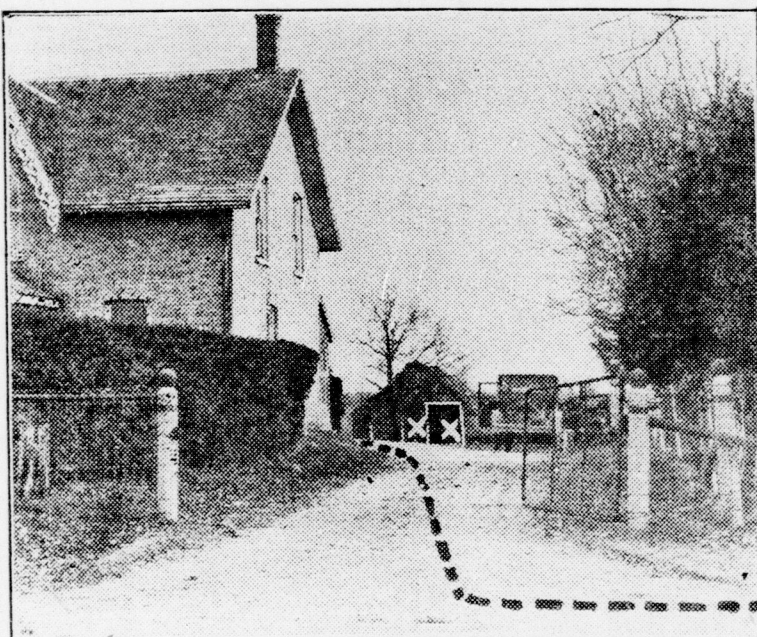

Such was the statement made by Acting Manager A. O. Hunt this morning in pointing out that the hydro shop here has for several years paid taxes to the city on the basis of 25 per cent of the land value of the property on which the public utilities commission building was erected.

The question of placing hydro shops on the same level as other retail stores with respect to taxation has again come to the fore by reason of a bill being introduced in the legislature by Hon. J. R. Cooke, minister without portfolio in the Ferguson government and member of the hydro-electric power commission of Ontario.

The amendment which is proposed to the power commission act will tend to eliminate the general dissatisfaction among retailers of electrical utilities with the favorable position the hydro shops have hitherto enjoyed as a result of their exemption from municipal taxation.

CANCER DELAYED YEARS BY RADIUM TREATMENT

Associated Press Despatch. London, April 3.—"We are definitely arresting cancer for periods of three, five and seven years among people who have been pronounced incurable by competent surgical authorities," declares Sir William Milligan, secretary of the Manchester Radium Institute. The present policy was to use the knife, but he foresees the time when improved technique a radium treatment would supersede surgery.

NOTED MISSIONARY WILL VISIT LONDON

Rev. Stanley Jones, D. D., of India, To Speak on April 24.

Rev. Stanley Jones, D. D., world famous as a missionary to India, will visit London on Friday, April 24. Arrangements are being made for Dr. Jones to address two mass meetings in First Methodist church on that date, one in the afternoon for women and a general meeting in the evening.

Dr. Jones, who is an American Methodist Episcopal missionary in India, was considered the most outstanding speaker at the recent world missionary conference held in Washington, D.C.

He was invited to speak in Canada by the missionary boards of the Protestant churches of Toronto. The fact that he will spend one day in London out of the two he will remain in Canada is due to the appeal made by the conference by the numerous delegates from London, who asked that either Dr. Jones or Dr. Kagaw of Japan be secured to address a number of missionary meetings in Canada.

Fascinating Speaker. Dr. Jones represents to India what John R. Mott represents to America in connection with the student volunteer life. He is a man with the great universities of India, with their thousands of students a sphere for Christian enterprise which interested him and lately led him to refuse the offer of a bishopric at the hands of his church.

Dr. Jones is a most fascinating speaker and that fascination he will apply to the question of the missionary movement in India today in speaking to London audiences on the date set for the latter part of the month.

Dr. Caroline MacDonald of Japan will also speak at the afternoon meeting for women.

Denominations To Unite. All the denominations of the city are uniting in making arrangements for Dr. Jones' visit and in this connection the following committee has been named: Honorary president, Rev. David Williams, D.D., D.C.L., bishop of Huron; president, Rev. W. R. McIntosh, D.D., King Street Presbyterian church; secretary, Rev. J. J. McCormick, Hyatt Avenue church; and Mrs. W. C. Young, branch president of the W. M. S.; Baptist—Rev. R. J. Murphy, Wortley road church, and Mrs. Jas. Baldwin, president of the Middlesex association; W. J. Robbins, First church; and Miss J. Claris, Southern church; Anglican—Rev. Ven. Archdeacon Doherty, clerk of synod of Huron, and Mrs. Frank Anderson, president of the diocesan women's auxiliary.

DENTAL COLLEGE ORDER IS NOT FAVORED HERE Majority of London Dentists, Though, Will Abide by "Code of Ethics."

Although the majority of London dentists adhere to a "code of ethics," which forbids members of the profession to advertise, they disagree with the stand of the Royal College of Dental Surgeons of Toronto in claiming the power to revoke the licenses of members if they place advertisements in the newspapers.

"We will stick by what the college orders," several said this morning, "but we believe we should not sit back and let patients come to us." There are only a few dentists in London who advertise to any extent. They claim the dental college has no authority to stop this practice and that the forthcoming judgment on the question in the second division court at Osgoode hall will not affect them at all.

"I advertise," one declared today, "and I'm going to continue. The college tried to stop me once, but it failed. It has no power to do so unless at the time of graduation a student signed papers giving his promise not to advertise in practice."

NO CHANGE LOOKED FOR IN EDUCATION TAX RATE

K. Greer Believes Present Rate Will Stand Until 1928. With Slight Variations.

MAINTENANCE HIGH
Running Costs Take 96 Per Cent of Estimates For Public Schools.

The legacy of 25 years of school building inactivity in London is a $4 mills tax rate for education in 1925, before the present building plans of the board of education are completed. This sum includes the new college, a new school in the west, and a new public school in the west.

The present tax rate will stand at 1928 at least, the opinion of K. Greer, administrator of London schools. Mr. Greer sees a change perhaps two or three mill points, but to see how any material change is possible.

"When the annexed area comes under the complete tax in 1928, I expect to see a drop of approximately one and one-half mills in the general rate," Mr. Greer informed The Advertiser this morning.

Cut Salaries.
The only way I can see to bring the present rate down is to cut salaries and they are not high at the present. Then, of course, the sinking fund will gradually disappear. Maintenance costs cover 96 per cent of the amount appropriated for public schools in figures given out by Mr. Greer this morning. This is made up of salaries, sinking fund, janitor service and fuel. These have to be met each year.

Mr. Greer points to the difference in rates charged as the main cause of higher rate.

While admitting that London has a high tax rate for education, Mr. Greer feels that charges of extravagance made against the board are groundless. Pointing to the high maintenance costs he feels that the board has produced a splendid constructive effort that will be recognized in a few years.

In surrounding towns education takes half of the total taxes, while in London it is 41.5 per cent. Mr. Greer feels that the rate in London is not the same as other cities in the province of the same size. What is a rising assessment will be in London in the future Mr. Greer is unable to state.

INDIAN BOY IS HELD IN BICYCLE THEFTS

William Nicholls, 18, Told Officer He Bought Wheel For 25 Cents.

William Nicholls, 18-year-old Indian boy of the Oneida reserve, was held from Wallowayton to London this morning by Detective G. Walsh on a charge of stealing a number of bicycles in this city on days.

Scholls appeared in Magistrate Drury's court several weeks ago on a charge of vagrancy. He was taken up by city police when in possession of a brand new bicycle, which he claimed he purchased from boy friend for 25 cents. Doubting the boy's story the court remanded him for one week pending an investigation. The following week he was allowed his freedom providing he would go to the reserve in his father's stead.

On Tuesday local police were notified that three bicycles had been stolen in the city. Descriptions of the wheels were sent to police of western Ontario. Nicholls was taken into Wallowayton followed when was found in possession of two of the stolen bicycles. He will appear before Magistrate Graydon in court tomorrow morning.

SIXTEEN HIRED.
Sixteen men were taken on by the P. R. this morning for track laying operations, J. C. Spencer of the permanent employment bureau said.

THE MORNING HER TONGUE WAS COATED HAD BAD TASTE IN MOUTH.

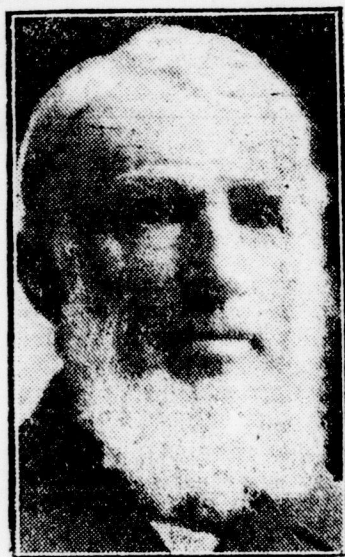

Miss Pearl L. Zink, Barrs Court, N.S., writes:—"I was awfully troubled with my liver, and used to say that I was doing my work in the morning when I used to get up, my tongue was coated and I had a bad taste in my mouth and sometimes, throughout the day, I was troubled with pains in my stomach."

"I suffered in this way until a friend of mine who had used your MILBURN'S Laxa-Liver Pills told me of having taken them, so I decided to try them, and I can truthfully say that they certainly did me a lot of good."

"I cannot recommend them too highly to all those who suffer as I did."

"You can procure Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills at all druggists or deal put up, for the past 30 years, by T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto."

JOHN R. BOOTH, of Ottawa, Canada's veteran lumber king, who will celebrate his 85th birthday on Sunday.

BOY WEEK'S PRIZES ARE BELIEVED SAFE

G.W.V.A. Counsel Is in Toronto To Take Any Necessary Action.

J. M. Donahue is in Toronto today in connection with the matter of the Boy Week prizes. He has instructions from the local command of the G. W. V. A. to take whatever actions may be necessary to protect the winners of these prizes in London.

He was in communication last night with Mr. Granger, head of the International Amusement Company, which put on the Boy Week program in the armories. Over the long distance telephone, Mr. Donahue believes that the company for the prizes and that legal action will not be necessary.

On Wednesday night the London G. W. V. A. at a special meeting, endorsed the action taken by the president, Harry Wray, in retaining Mr. Donahue and passed a resolution to safeguard the winners.

RAKE-OFF FROM BONDS NOT USED IN CAMPAIGN

He made known, although Col. J. A. Currie let slip the hint, "Mr. Drury got it from his superior officer." Mr. Drury faced a stiff cross-examination with perfect coolness, and several times succeeded in scoring at the expense of his interlocutors.

JURY IS CALLED.
Canadian Press Despatch.

(Toronto, April 3.—F. W. Wilson (Conservative, Windsor), at the opening of the public accounts committee of the Ontario legislature this morning, said that the impression had been falsely created that a former provincial treasurer had fallen down in his trust. He claimed that there had been a studied attempt to create this impression and also to make the public believe that the inquiry had been smothered. Mr. Wilson said that he was informed that the treasurer had been asked to create this impression and also to make the public believe that the inquiry had been smothered. Mr. Wilson said that he was informed that the treasurer had been asked to create this impression and also to make the public believe that the inquiry had been smothered.

He then referred to a speech made by W. E. N. Sinclair, the Liberal leader, at Ridgeway, that Mr. Sinclair objected. Mr. Wilson said that he was informed that the treasurer had been asked to create this impression and also to make the public believe that the inquiry had been smothered.

Col. J. A. Currie asked Mr. Sinclair why he went around the country "blackguarding" the public accounts committee. He said Mr. Sinclair must go into the box or be branded as a liar.

Mr. Sinclair asked for a withdrawal. Col. J. A. Currie said the honorable gentleman is a liar, said Col. Currie.

Mr. Sinclair denied any blackguarding, stating he had simply read evidence in his speeches and had not received from any comment.

Mr. Price declared that Mr. Sinclair had gone further than the evidence warranted.

Statement Challenged.
This statement was challenged by Mr. Sinclair. Mr. Price suggested that the motion be laid on the table in the meantime. Mr. Sinclair said the matter was opened up by Mr. Wilson for Tory propaganda.

This was promptly denied. E. C. Drury, former premier, then went into the box following a declaration by F. C. Biggs that he was ready to make a statement on the transactions of the Provincial Securities Corporation. He was informed that he would get ample opportunity to do so. Mr. Raney continued the examination of Mr. Drury. He was asked immediately what Mr. Smith told him in the bond deal, which he knew little except what had been made public by the inquiry.

Mr. Drury said in his time the treasurer said to him that he could not remember when it had ever sat separately. Mr. Drury said he had two conversations with Peter Smith, the treasurer, who told him he had suspicious about a loan made by Mr. McGarry. The conversation was in November or December, 1919.

SCOUT TROOP MEETS.
The weekly meeting of the "Eighteen Third" Troop of Boy Scouts of this city was held last night in the headquarters of the troop with a large attendance. Games and patrol work comprised the greater part of the evening's program. The next meeting will be held on Thursday night in the headquarters, as usual.

ABUSES JUSTICE AS BARRISTERS REFUSED

Jack Smith and Walter Slaghts Remanded on Dope Charge.

The police have never been fooled by the placid demeanor peculiar to all drug addicts and, least of all, by the suavity of Jack Smith, who makes his home at 34 Euclid street, and is listed officially as a chronic "dope." So when Smith forsook his quietude this morning and launched into a wild and terrible tirade against justice, court attaches removed the increased youth to the cells with a facility that bespoke an intimate knowledge of Smith and his trade.

Walter Slaghts, 256 Grey street, has been Smith's companion for some time, according to police, and Walter also faced Magistrate Graydon to give another excuse for having morphine on his person.

The bedraggled pair faced the bench with a tolerant ease born of experience. They thought the charge might be vulnerable, and spoke hazily of getting a lawyer. The magistrate indignantly asked what they wished to be tried. Tuesday was suggested.

"How about bail?" and Smith took hold of affairs.

"No bail. How long a remand do you want?"

"I'll have the idea—was all the court would take from Smith. He tried again but he saw in the magistrate's "Stop" a menace that he did not care to face. Then the officers saw the usual outburst coming and moved towards the prisoner.

"Can't have no bail or nothing," is there any justice in the country for a nigger is brought up for soakin' a guy and gets off, while— By this time, Smith was half way through the door to the cells, but he managed to shout a parting charge at being "persecuted for nothing."

Too Long to Wait.
Richard Brock, a cripple without any known home, has also an unbounded faith in lawyers and demanded a chance to see one before he would answer to a charge of assault. The police claim that he hit William A. Hayden, a paymaster at McClary's, with a heavy cane. Mr. Hayden appeared in court with his forehead bandaged.

Brock, who did not seem to realize his plight, was interested for a moment in the possibilities of letting a jury fix the whole matter, but the idea of waiting until June proved too long and he chose trial by magistrate. He was given a week's remand.

Wrong Pair of Markers.
George Douglas, of Ilderton, appeared in court on crutches to bear out his story that he is recovering from a broken leg and has been unable to drive a car for a couple of months. Officers found the wrong pair of markers on Douglas's car, but the wrong piece of ignorance of the law did not save him a $10 fine. The markers, which are not allowed to "swap" numbers were explained at length.

Pays Fine For Youth.
Employers are often called mean names, but one came forward and paid a youth's $30 fine, showing that the spirit of brotherhood is not confined to the ranks of labor.

PRIVATE PHONE SYSTEM PASSES

Bell Company Acquires the St. John's Line For $17,000—Farmers Lose Protest.

The St. John's telephone system, one of the few remaining private systems in this part of Ontario, has been sold by Mrs. (Dr.) McNeil of Arva to the Bell Telephone Company for $17,000, it was announced today.

W. B. Henderson of McEvoy and Henderson acted for Mrs. McNeil.

Farmers of the district opposed the purchase of the system by the Bell company and the Ontario railway board was called in to settle the matter.

After hearing both sides of the matter at a sitting in the courthouse, Vice-Chairman Ingram declared that the system would go to the Bell company unless the farmers were prepared to purchase from Mrs. McNeil. He gave the latter two months in which to make arrangements with the London township system to take over the matter, but negotiations did not materialize.

GORDON PHILIP'S JOB HAS FOUR APPLICANTS

But Nothing Has Been Heard From His Worship the Mayor.

Four written applications have been made for the post of secretary of the London chamber of commerce. Not one of these is from Mayor George A. Wenige.

Discussing the report that the mayor was after the post, President R. H. Dowler today stated that no application had been handed in by his worship.

The four applicants are local men, but Mr. Dowler didn't wish to make their names public.

An application from Mr. Wenige would be considered, it is admitted, but so far as can be learned, no strenuous efforts are being made to gain his services.

The mayor himself would not discuss the matter for publication, except in so far as to say that there was no legal reason why he should be ineligible for the position.

"Could I handle the position as well as the office of mayor? Well, that's like saying that because I'm mayor I can't run my own business."

STUDENTS TO HEAR HEALTH LECTURES

Program of Extension Work Is Announced For Secondary Schools in W. Ontario.

Lecture on insulin and diabetes, nerves and brains, nursing and public health, will be given before the students of secondary schools in Western Ontario, according to a new program of extension work announced by Col. Walter J. Brown, B.S.A., LL.M., executive secretary of the university of Western Ontario this morning.

The plan provides for 26 lectures which will be free to the students in secondary schools in the fourteen counties of Western Ontario. They will be given on dates decided upon between now and the closing of the academic year. The lectures are not intended for the public and will be given to the senior classes of the schools.

Eighteen lecturers drawn from the different departments of the university, Victoria hospital, and the institute of public health will be delivered.

The lectures cover a wide field in education. They will be of practical benefit to the students, and at the same time entertaining, said Col. Brown.

"Who should go to college and who should stay at home" will be the subject taken up by Prof. H. H. Bull and A. B. A. M. Ph.D., M. D. chief of the department of pathology and bacteriology at the medical school.

Miss Grace M. Fairley, superintendent of the school of nursing, Victoria hospital, will speak on "Nursing as a Profession."

Prof. A. J. Slack will lecture on "Insulin and Diabetes." Prof. A. D. Robertson, B. A. of the department of zoology, will talk on "Why We Are Sick."

Other lectures will cover history, astronomy, public health, memory in theory and practice, success and failure in business.

The following will lecture: Prof. J. D. Dettler, Prof. A. G. Dorland, Prof. R. C. Deane, Dean W. Sherwood, Fox, Dean H. W. Hill, Dr. H. R. King, Dr. J. H. McNeil, Prof. E. R. Miller, Prof. E. H. Morrow, Dr. K. P. R. Neville, Prof. W. J. Patterson, Prof. James A. Spenceley and Prof. W. F. Tamblin.

WIVES NOT AFFECTED BY "DEEDS OF USES"

Average London Woman Assured of Getting Third of Husband's Estate.

The average London wife doesn't need to worry about the one-third share of her husband's property that she is entitled to by law after his death.

"Deeds to uses," a bit of legal machinery that is sometimes used by a husband to keep his wife from receiving her share, are only about one per cent of the deeds filed away in the city registry offices, R. H. Dignan, city registrar, states.

Whether or not such deeds are really legal and binding will be decided by Mr. Justice Logie in the near future, when he will give judgment in a case fought out in Hamilton.

"We only get two or three of such deeds in a month," said Mr. Dignan. "I cannot say how many we have in the office now. They have been accumulating for the past 75 years and no special record has been kept."

"Would there be 2,000?" asked The Advertiser.

"There might be," replied Mr. Dignan.

A local lawyer stated that the practice of "deeds to uses" was more common in Hamilton than in London. He pointed out that a number of contractors' trade houses and other buildings specified "deeds to uses" to save the bother of having their wives sign every deed, as is necessary in ordinary practice.

Not because they were separated from their wives or had any family troubles. It was simply a matter of convenience.

"We have searched a number of deeds in the last six months and have only come across three 'deeds to uses,'" he declared.

At an enjoyable euchre party at the home of Sgt. and Mrs. William McCullough, 263 Belmont street, last night, given for members of the police department and their wives, Mrs. Thomas Nickle and P. C. Walter Thompson won first prize. Mrs. Glidden were winners of the "booby" prizes.

CALL IN THE COPS! PINCH YE COUNCIL

Beautiful Frame Shack on Federal Square Breaks the Law Twice.

Arrest the London city council twice!

Two laws, one municipal and the other the boast of the British Empire, have been shattered by the erection of a refreshment booth on the federal square.

Standing on the extreme north-west corner of the square, this little white-painted building, with a Union Jack trying to feel at home in the breeze above, represents the latest indiscretion of the council in the opinion of merchants and lovers of beauty.

"No man shall obstruct the king's highway" is the whole Empire's "pink law of freedom," and yet this little booth is doing it. It stands outside the building line both on Wellington and Dundas streets.

The building is owned by a Dundas street merchant, and he will dispose of soft drinks, for cream and candies. He aims to swell the provincial treasury mightily under the Tory soft drink tax.

"Any person could take legal action to have the building removed," said City Clerk Sam Baker to The Advertiser this morning. "It infringes on the city building by-law, which definitely states that no wooden structure shall be erected inside limit 'A.' And the federal square is practically in the center of that building district."

It covers the construction of wooden buildings is as follows:

"In limit 'A' no structure or building of any kind framed with wood, whether it is veneered with brick or covered with metal, plaster, stucco or other incombustible material, shall be erected, and all roofs shall be covered with incombustible material as hereinbefore specified under the title of 'roofs.'"

Mayor Wenige has an alibi for the council. "No iron bars will clank on the heels of his trusty dozen. He brings the bylaws up to the times and makes them stand at attention."

"The building is only temporary," stated his worship.

But the bylaw doesn't say anything about the duration of the building. "Say, did you ever see anybody haul any tents from a carnival off the square?" continued his worship. "Then this morning the side of the council, the building will stay until September. Come up to a softball game some day and I'll buy you a sizzler of pork."

STATES ALONG LAKES TO OPPOSE DIVERSION

Attorneys-General Meet at Cleveland—Consider Chicago Withdrawal Excessive.

Associated Press Despatch. Cleveland, Ohio, April 3.—Attorneys-general of several states bordering on the great lakes met here today to exchange ideas with a view to establishing a basis on which to oppose excessive withdrawal of water from Lake Michigan by the Chicago sanitary district.

Invitations were extended to attorneys-general of New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin, and City Manager William R. Hopkins and other Clevelanders interested in maintaining high lake levels, Harvey D. Goulder, general counsel of the Lake Carriers Association, said.

No program was arranged, Mr. Goulder stated. The discussion may continue tomorrow. It was probable, Mr. Goulder said, that the calling of a larger conference at some future date might be considered.

Chicago's application for a permit to divert 10,000 cubic feet of water a second was denied a few weeks ago by Secretary of War Weeks, and Chicago has been limited in its diversion of water, but still is allowed to take an amount considered excessive by the lake-bordering states represented at today's meeting.

EAST COLLEGIATE SITE UNSETTLED

Rumors Hint at Injunction Against Razing of Rectory Street School.

With rumors of an injunction going to be issued against the razing of the Rectory street public school, the question of the erection of the east end collegiate on that particular site is not yet settled.

It may yet be necessary for the board of education to fall back upon a certain clause in "The School Law Amendment Act, 1925," which is even now being debated in the legislature. The clause in question empowers the board of education to establish "such additional high schools as it may deem necessary and may provide for the location, erection, maintenance and management of the same."

Hitherto, while the power to create new or additional high school districts and select the site of the same has rested with the board, the regulations were rather ambiguous. So much so that last year's council was able to obstruct the board's building program on that very count.

The attention of Premier Howard Ferguson, minister of education, was drawn to the ambiguity of the regulations and the situation which had been made possible by different deputations of the board which have interviewed him during recent months with regard to London's educational problems.

It is a direct outcome of the local board's interest in the question, therefore, that the regulations have been reworded so that all ambiguity is eliminated from the clause.

Last year's objections of the council on the score of the formation of high school districts was cleared by the board's decision to build the school to replace a bylaw passed some years ago creating a second high school district in London South.

The new regulations, which were said Administrator V. K. Greer, M.P., this morning, "It is just the way the board wants it. We can create new high school districts or not, but we like it, and we will build the schools just where we want them."

ALLEGED THIEVES SEE GIRLS' PLUCK

Verna Wilkinson Takes Auto Key While Pair Battle Her Father.

How many girls, or young men, either would dash up to a motor car manned by alleged motor thieves and steal the key from the dashboard?

That, however, is what Verna Wilkinson did early yesterday morning when she boldly snatched the key from the car of her father, who was on concession 5 of London townships to frustrate the attempts of Gordon Hardy and Alex. Stillwell, London, to remove her own little coupe from the family garage.

While her father, John W. Wilkinson, fought with Stillwell, Miss Wilkinson slipped out of the side of Hardy's car parked in the laneway, and while Hardy was watching the battle between her father and Stillwell, she calmly reached in, pulled out the key, which would hold the car a prisoner.

It was not until she whirled and dashed for the house that the police covered what had happened. He jumped from the car and chased her, and before the young woman had time to close the door, Hardy grabbed her and forced the key from her clenched hand.

"I wished I had had sense enough to throw it into the field," said Miss Wilkinson this morning. "That would have been the proper thing to do, and we would have had their car. However, the police got it in a hurry, so it all ended right off."

Mr. Wilkinson stated that the car the men attempted to remove belonged to his daughter, who carried no theft insurance on it.

A partly-filled bottle of whiskey was found thrown over the gate yesterday morning, Mr. Wilkinson stated.

Neighbors who responded to the call for help carried by Miss Wilkinson stated that the men ran at them, and that they would have run them down had they not jumped nimbly to one side.

CITY HOSPITAL REACHES ACCOMMODATION PEAK

Victoria Sees 333 Patients Registered Last Night—Busy Three Months.

Exactly 333 patients were registered at Victoria hospital last night—the greatest number that institution has accommodated since its inception. The nearest approach to this number is 330 patients for Wednesday night.

Victoria hospital during the past month has been filled continuously. March saw a great amount of illness in the city. There are no epidemics, however, Cases of influenza, which are of a general type with no prevalence of any particular disease.

Accommodation at the hospital is based on the number of beds in the building pressed into service. An interesting and unexplainable fact in connection with the large amount of cases in London, according to Dr. A. R. Post, chief interne at Victoria, is that most of the cases are surgical. The operating-rooms at Victoria are kept busy every moment of the day. Appendicitis and tonsil operations, of course, are the most common. Appendicitis comes next, and then other forms of eye, ear, nose and throat surgery.

Wards for contagious diseases at the hospital are filled. Diphtheria cases are considerably less in number than for the same period of last year, but scarlet fever cases show an increase.

Of the 333 patients now at Victoria, the majority are of ages ranging in years from 35 to 40. Health of the older people is apparently better than that of children, there being a great number of young people at the hospital at the present time.

CLUB LAWS WILL RULE CITY COURSE

Thames Valley To Choose Captains and Other Officers—O. T. A. Clause.

While adopting strict rules for the Thames valley municipal golf course the public utilities commission has decided that the members shall be treated as a club.

Accordingly last year's members of the club, together with new members this year, will shortly be called together for the purpose of electing a club captain, selecting club committees and making the necessary arrangements for club competitions and inter-club matches.

According to the rules for the conduct of members, any member whose conduct on the course has given cause for a complaint may be suspended. Visitors committing a breach of the O. T. A. on the course shall immediately forfeit all privileges, and in no case be allowed to play on the course during the balance of the season. Dogs are not to be allowed to run loose on the course, and players are forbidden to buy balls from caddies or any person on the course other than the professional.

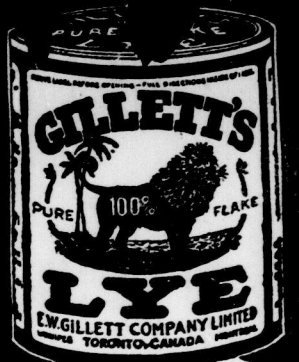

Relating to membership, the rules direct that visitors, resident or non-resident, may have the privileges of the course on payment of 50 cents per day as green fees. Resident visitors, however, who are members of the club, may have the course for more than two days in any one month.

The fee for club membership is fixed at $15 and a fee of $10 for the wife of any member or any member of his family under 18 years of age. A fee of $10 has been set for restricted members, those who are members of any organized golf club in the county.

COURT TO GIVE RULING ON DOWER FOR WIVES

Claim Many Property Deeds in Western Ontario Designed To Cheat Women.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, April 2.—Argument on a question which affects two thousand land titles in Hamilton, as many in London and a great number in Windsor and other Ontario towns was heard here today.

Counsel explained that in many subdivisions in Western Ontario conveyances were made in the form of "deeds to uses," a form designed to defeat the right of the grantee's wife to dower. The question for Mr. Justice Loe was whether the wife's dower had been extinguished.

"I don't see why wives make so much fuss about dower," remarked Mr. Justice Loe during argument. "In money it doesn't amount to anything—not more than a week's board."

Under dower provisions a wife is entitled to a life interest in one-third the real estate of her husband, and this is generally figured out on a cash basis.

Judgment was reserved.

Youth Asserts Religion Inspired Church Robbery, Repents, Returns Goods

Herman Durke of Windsor Raided All Saints' Anglican Church.

STEALS RECORDS

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent. Windsor, April 2.—Declaring he was moved by a religious impulse, Herman Durke, 23 years old, confessed today that he stole important historical documents from All Saints Anglican church here yesterday.

Durke called early today at the home of Rev. S. F. McKegney, rector of St. Aldans' Anglican church at Ford, and told him he had repented of his actions and wanted to return what he had taken. He took the rector to a vacant house on the outskirts of the city and recovered the documents, which included a record of baptisms in All Saints parish for many years, a book showing activities of the rector in his work among parishioners and many Bibles and hymn books.

"I belong to a sect which does not conform to ideas of your church," Mr. McKegney said Durke told him. "I was urged by Holy Ghost to break into the church and take away the records and anything else I could find of value to the church."

"At 3 a.m., Wednesday, I went to All Saints, and found the door open. I hunted around and eventually found the books I took away. I am sorry now."

Durke was taken to police headquarters at Ford, where he repeated his story, but no formal charge was made because Mr. McKegney refused to file a complaint against him.

POLLUTION OF THAMES DANGEROUS TO CATTLE

Question of Stopping Entry From Sewage To Be Discussed by Association.

The members will ask the co-operation of the association concerning the prohibition of the dumping of raw sewage in the Thames. Mr. Hay expects to have the complete list of heirs by September, when he will go to England for the purpose of establishing their claims with the proper authorities.

AT THE THEATRES

CAPITOL THEATRE

"The Devil's Cargo."

It is a picture of the early gold rush days of 1850 in Sacramento and San Francisco, and, as such, is a swiftly-moving vehicle that gives Pauline Starke and Wallace Beery many opportunities to prove their splendid ability as two of the foremost actors on the screen.

Miss Stark's role is that of Faro Sanson, daughter of "Square Deal" Sampson, proprietor of the most notorious saloon and gambling den in Sacramento. She is a girl of many moods—sweet and demure as a girl, but cold and revengeful as a woman—a fighting tigress, yet wistful and tender.

Wallace Beery is always at his best when he's at his worst, and this is true in "The Devil's Cargo," as Ben, the stoker on the river boat. Beery gives one of his best screen characterizations of his colorful career in movies.

The picture includes in addition to the feature of Pathe review and a Mack Sennett comedy, "Bashful Jim."

The musical program is, as usual, featured by the excellent numbers given by the Capitol Little Symphony orchestra, under A. S. Gesensway as leader.

Harry Carter, the Capitol singing usher, who has returned after an absence of two weeks from the city, singing in vaudeville, received a hearty reception from the large audience yesterday afternoon and evening.

His song this week is "Honest and Truly." He sings with as much color as ever and with greater strength.

When You Can Be Well, Why Be Sick?

Why Suffer Delay and Grow Worse?

Enjoy Life—Health—Happiness

To Have No Back Pains, No Nervousness, No Kidney Disease, With Plenty of Life, Energy and No Blood Disease, Is the Wish of Every Young, Old or Middle-Aged Person.

To you—if you are sick—if you suffer—if you are afflicted with any ailments of MEN—if you are worn out, tired or failing, if you need medical advice—if you are in perfect health—if life is a dragging, miserable existence—if you lack energy, vim and vigor that make life worth living, to you—rich or poor—young or old—you need my treatment at once.

Nerves and Blood Are Life
The lack of nerve force is found among men of all ages. This is true with men in all walks of life, from the day laborer to the mechanic or professional man. Merchant and clergy are alike sufferers—no man is exempt from the ailment who has rebelled against nature's laws—so if you have the result of overwork, dissipation, sedentary habits or worry, and your vital organs are disturbed, remember, delay in seeing the right doctor makes it more difficult to overcome the symptoms, and you might reach an incurable condition beyond relief if you delay too long.

My Equipment
Is composed of the latest and best known agents in Electrical, Surgical and Mechanical Apparatus, and I am prepared by the knowledge of their uses and the experiences in prescribing them so as to get the greatest uniform results from them.

I Am Prepared to Give You
Herums, Bacterins, Vaccines and any and all forms of treatment of this character that have been tried and proved a success.

YOUNG MEN—THINK OF YOUR FUTURE

How about it, are you qualified to face it—are others doing more and getting more out of life than you are? Find out, if you don't know already, what is dragging you down. No one can violate nature's laws and succeed. I have helped thousands physically, mentally, morally. I believe I (as I have thousands of other men), can help you. 2 PETROLIA GIRLS REPORTED MISSING

Special to The Advertiser.

Petrolia, April 2.—Hazel Taylor, aged 18, and Dorothy Struthers, aged 18, have been absent from their homes here since Monday evening, and the county police have been asked to assist in a search for them.

On Monday evening they went for a ride in a car with a young man from Oil Springs. They were later seen in Sarnia, and police have been able to trace the movements of the two girls up till Tuesday night, when they were still in the Tunnel City. It is believed that the girls have gone to Port Huron in search of employment, although there is a report here that the Struthers girl is employed in Detroit.

Members of the two families are refraining from making any statement, as the case is in the hands of the county judge, who is making a thorough search for the girls.

PARENTS ARE ANXIOUS.

Special to The Advertiser.

Sarnia, April 2.—High Constable R. J. Whitting of this city was today advised that Hazel Taylor, fifteen years old, and Dorothy Struthers, fifteen years old, had been seen in Sarnia on Monday and has not been seen since. She was thought to have left for Sarnia, and her parents are becoming anxious. It is considered possible that she may have followed the example of Isobel Rebecca Hodgins of Lucan and taken domestic employment.

Doctors Jones and Thompson were called, but Callahan did not regain consciousness for more than five hours, and this morning he was taken to the hospital.

Strathroy, April 2.—Hospital authorities tonight state that the full extent of the injuries sustained by Stanley Callahan cannot be ascertained immediately. He has cuts about the face, and it is feared that there may be skull injuries. He is in a semi-conscious condition. No body bones are broken.

Good News For Ailing Women

Much has been said for and against proprietary medicines by the medical profession. It will interest every woman to know that in a recent country-wide canvass of over 121,000 purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as to the results received from its use, the replies received showed that ninety-eight out of every one hundred women had been benefited by its use. Therefore every sick and ailing woman owes it to herself to give this remarkably successful remedy a fair trial.—Advt.

The Astonishing Adventure of Jane Smith

By PATRICIA WENTWORTH.

INSTALLMENT XXXV.
While Ember was speaking, the hand that held the revolver to Jane's temple had become more and more unsteady. The muzzle knocked cold against her cheek bone and jabbed against her ear. Jane wondered when the thing would go off. So, it is to be imagined, did Henry, for he was gray about the mouth and his forehead was wet.

Ember did not speak for a moment. Then he said:

"Touche!" in a queer, bitter voice. Belovitch began to mutter in an undertone that gradually became louder. His hand shook more and more.

"Sure, Raymond?" said Jeffrey Ember. "Quite, quite sure!"

He came up quite close, and laid his right hand lightly on her shoulder. It was the first time that he had touched her.

She said just the one word. "Yes!" For a moment his hand closed hard upon her. Then he sprang back with a laugh.

"All right, then we go up together." And as he spoke he made for the corner where the little vulcanite knob showed above the steel safe.

With a sort of howl Belovitch whirled to meet him. They crashed together and grappled. Ember silent, Belovitch tormented in impetuous and fighting as a man frenzied with terror does fight. His revolver dropped from his hand, and Ember stumbled over it.

Like a flash Henry had Raymond by the arm, whilst his eyes commanded Jane and he pointed to the passage that led out of the laboratory on the extreme right. It was the one that Jane had explored first, and as she ran into it she remembered that it ended in a small chamber full of packing-cases. In a panting whisper she said:

"It's full of boxes."

"Then we must shift them," said Henry, and groping in the almost dark, he began to pull the cases away from the right-hand wall.

"A light—he can't find the spring without a light!"

Raymond heard her own voice saying this, and then she ran back down the passage and into the laboratory. Belovitch had put his torch down on the bench from which Jane had taken the lists. Its exact position was, as it were, photographed on Raymond's consciousness.

She reached, snatched it, and was back again in the least possible space of time. As she came, she saw Ember and Belovitch swaying, struggling—horribly near the corner. And as she went she had an impression of Belovitch falling and, as he fell, dragging Ember down with desperate, clawing hands. Then she was trying to steady her hand and throw the light upon the wall space which Henry had cleared; but the beam wavered and shook, shook and wavered, and Jane took the torch out of her hand, setting it on one of the packing cases.

"It should be here. It should be just here!" Henry spoke in a muttering whisper, then with sharp irritation. "Nearer with that light, Jane!"

Jane held it closely to the wall. Henry's hands slid up and down, feeling, pressing. Once they found the spring, and all the time the sound of the struggle filled their straining ears. Someone fired a shot—and Henry found the spring.

As one awakes outwards, pivoting as the other doors had done. Henry pushed Jane through the opening, flung his arm round Raymond, dragged her out, and slammed the door into place. They were in the narrow alley-way between the row of veronica bushes and the terrace wall on the spot where Mr. George Patterson had stood listening to Raymond's voice. The air, the daylight, the mist seemed wonderful beyond words. Jane never again beheld a mist without remembering that joyful lift of the heart which came to her when the stone shut and she drew her first long, free breath. Henry gave her no time to savor the joys of freedom.

"Run, run like blazes!" he shouted.

Jane ran. Once she started she felt as if nothing could stop her. She heard Henry just behind her; she heard him urging Raymond on, and they came out of the alley-way round the end of the terrace, round the side of the house.

Then it came.

The ground shook; there was a muffled thud and a long, heavy rumble that died slowly. Then with a terrific crash two of the stone urns along the terrace wall fell and broke. A noise, a noise, a noise, there came the tinkling and splintered glass falling upon stone.

Jane stopped running as if she had been shot, and reeled up against Henry, who caught her from behind and held her tight. Up to that very moment the feeling of unreality, of playing a part in a play for which she had no responsibility, which her real self looked on remotely—this feeling had dominated her. Now it was as if the curtain fell and she was left groping amongst events that terrified her. She trembled very much, and clung to Henry, who was at that moment the one really safe and solid thing within reach.

Raymond did not pause or turn her head, but walked straight on towards the house.

The last rumble of the explosion had hardly died away before Anthony Luttrell had flung open the study door, and was making his way at a run towards the yellow drawing-room.

At the glass door which led on to the terrace he halted, opened it wide, and stood on the step looking out. Some glass was still falling from the broken windows on this side of the house. All the terrace on the right of where he stood was like a drawing in which the perspective had gone wrong. There was a great bulge in one place, and some of the paving stones were tilted askant, whilst others had fallen in, leaving a gaping hole over which a cloud of dust was settling.

Anthony turned his back upon all this and came back with great strides into the hall. Without so much as a look behind him to see whether he was observed, he loosened the spring, pushed open the door in the walling and there, suddenly remembering the need of a light, he went back for a torch, and then passed down the steps without waiting to close the door.

That something appalling had happened was obvious. With the self-control without which it is impossible to meet an emergency, Anthony kept his thought focused upon what he was doing. At the bottom of the steps the way was still clear. He saw Jane's broken pots and wondered what on earth they were doing there. Then he turned into the laboratory passage, flashing the light ahead of him. Half way along the passage the roof had fallen in.

Anthony turned, came back into the main corridor, ran along it until he came to the place where the well passage joined it. Here he turned off, made his way cautiously past the well, and again found a mass of stone and rubble blocking his path. A cold horror came over him, and all those thoughts to which he had barred his mind came insistently nearer, pressing past those barriers and taking his consciousness by storm. He came back into the hall and shut the door in the panelling.

The hall was quite empty, but the voice of Blotson could be heard at no great distance. It was raised in exhortation and rebuke. Obviously he rallied a staff which inclined to hysteria, for one could hear a woman's sob and a subdued chorus of perturbation and nervous inquiry.

Anthony went to the front door and flung it open. His car stood at a little distance, the inspector and the chauffeur in close conversation. Anthony did not see them. He only saw Raymond Heritage, who was coming slowly up the steps. She was bareheaded, and her face was very pale. She wore a white dress with a black cloak over it. She stumbled twice as she climbed the steps and, if Anthony was only conscious of seeing her, she did not appear to be conscious of seeing anyone at all.

It was only when the hand which she put out in front of her actually touched Anthony that she lifted her eyes and looked at him. Then she said in an odd, piteous sort of voice:

"Tony!"

"What is it? What has happened?" Raymond? Are you all right?"

"I must speak to you—I must," she said, catching at his arm and drawing him towards the study. "They went in, and when the door was shut she turned to him with the tears running down her face."

"Tony, you heard? I think he's dead. That place downstairs was mined, and he tried to kill us all, only we got away. Henry, the girl, and I. But Jeffrey's dead—he was I think he must be dead, and I know now what you meant before, but I know now. You were wrong, Tony. Oh, Tony, won't you believe me? I didn't tell him about the passages, and I didn't know anything until today. They can tell you I was speaking the truth—Henry and Miss Molloy, but oh, Tony, can't you believe me, just me?"

Anthony looked at her, and looked. His face was twitching. As her voice broke on the last two words he dropped to his knees, flung his arms about her, and hid his face in the folds of her cloak.

By the time that Jane and Henry came into the house Blotson had set all his machinery running once more. He himself presented a magnificent front to two of the most dishevelled people whom he had ever been called upon to receive. It was not until afterwards when it came home to Henry how much green slime there was in his wildly ruffled hair and how little the original color of his collar could be discerned, that he realized how marvellous had been the unflinching calm of Blotson. He referred neither to the explosion nor to Henry's appearance. In point of fact, what were emergencies and accidents that Blotson should notice them? The hour being five o'clock, it was his business to announce tea. He announced it.

"Tea is served in the library," he said, and passed upon his way.

But in the library the tea cooled while Henry, very much relieved to find that the wires had not been cut, galvanized the Withstead exchange and got on to a distinctly relieved Sir Julian.

They arranged, speaking in Italian, that an explosion had occurred in the course of an important experiment in Sir William's laboratory. It was agreed to notify Sir William and the press. The loss of two lives was greatly to be deplored. When this was finished Piggy became less official.

"That girl of yours is a brick! You can tell her so from me. She's all right, I hope?"

Henry said "Yes," that Jane was quite all right. He sounded a trifle puzzled.

Piggy laughed.

"Didn't you know she had rung me up to say you'd been nobbled? Most businesslike communication I've ever had from a lady in all my life. Told me she'd got a motorboat in Withstead Cove. And, thanks to her, we ought to have gathered it in. I got through to the coastguard station at once. Now look here, what's the likelihood of laying hands on Ember's papers?"

"Ember's paper?" repeated Henry. "Well, there was a safe down there, and that's where he'd be most likely to keep them; but I expect they're all gone to blazes, as the door was open."

At this point Jane's voice came in breathlessly:

"Henry, wait, keep him on the line," she said, and was gone.

"It's Jane, sir," said Henry. "I think she's gone to get something."

In the middle of Piggy's subsequent instructions Jane came back. She held a bundle of closely written sheets. She spread them before Henry's eyes, holding them fan-wise like a hand at cards.

"I'd forgotten them till you said that about the papers—I'd actually forgotten them. It's lists of his agents in all the big towns everywhere. I sat up all night copying them because I didn't dare keep the originals. I keep forgetting you don't know what's been happening. But tell him, Henry, tell him we've got the lists."

Henry told him.

Jane heard Sir Julian answer, and then Henry hung up the receiver and hugged her.

"What did he say? Henry, you're breaking my ribs. What did he say?"

"Jane, you're a brick, and a wonder, and a darling, and he said—he said, 'Bless you, my children!'"

The End.

Is Your Boy Glad You Are His Dad?

Is your son proud of you? Or does he wish Wally Lawson's father was his father?

Wally says his father is the best in the world. To prove it, he shows your boy the peach of a new C. C. M. Bicycle his dad bought him.

Sticks Up For You

Your boy stoutly sticks up for you. But deep down in his heart, he's wondering if Wally Lawson's father doesn't think more of Wally than you do of him. He can't even get you to talk about buying him a bicycle. You put him off from day to day. And he feels it, though he may not say much.

He's a Good Boy, Dad

He's doing well at school. You're proud of him, even though you don't tell him so.

Maybe he's joined the Boy Scouts. That means wonderful trips to the country, and all sorts of thrilling and boyish sports, if he has a bicycle. A Boy Scout and a bicycle are as inseparable as a cowboy and his pinto pony.

Isn't it up to you to make your boy glad by giving him a real bicycle?

C. C. M.'s are the favorite bicycles with Boy Scouts—and all other boys who want real bicycles.

Built to Stand the Gaff

C. C. M. Bicycles are made to stand the bumps, the wear and tear, that the joyous energy of youth puts upon them.

Frames of English seamless tubing, strongly reinforced. Bearings of hard, tough automobile steel. Nickelling done over copper so it won't rust. Glossy enamel baked over a coat of anti-rust so it will stand all kinds of weather.

C. C. M. Boys' Bicycles are equipped with the famous C. C. M. Triplex Hanger—the same as the adult models. This is the hanger that makes the C. C. M. ride so easy you feel as if you were coasting along. Very little pressure is needed on the pedals. The youngest boy can ride a C. C. M. without tiring himself out.

And the Hercules Coaster Brake gives him perfect control of his bicycle. He can stop it slowly or quickly by pressing back on the pedals. He can glide down any hill with safety.

The Kind He Won't Outgrow

Go with your boy to the C. C. M. dealer's and look over the snappy, glistening new models. There is a new 14-inch model for the very young boys. A 16-inch model for larger boys. And the special Curved Bar 18 and 20-inch models that will fit equally well the lad of nine or the youth of twenty. The Curved Bar is the bicycle the boy won't outgrow.

Prices of boys' and girls' models have been sharply reduced from the war-time peak prices. The quality is the best ever put into C. C. M. Bicycles.

There are also C. C. M. Joycycles for little folks too young to ride bicycles.

BRANCH LIBRARIES TO BE PURCHASED

Building On Hamilton Road To Be Used Instead of Trafalgar School.

The public library board ratified the purchase of the building at 559 Hamilton road, for the housing of the southeast branch of the library, at the monthly meeting last night.

The property is valued at $4,250. The present branch is in Trafalgar school. The library has to move to make way for extensions in that building.

Immediate alterations will take place to make the property suitable for library purposes. The books and equipment will be moved from the school to the new quarters about July 1.

A motion was also passed that the property at 167 Wortley road, now being used as the south branch, be purchased for $5,800. At present the building is rented. These two purchases solve immediate necessities of the library.

The monthly report as submitted by Librarian Richard E. Crouch showed that the library continues to grow. At the present rate it will be but a matter of months until the people in the city have library cards. Last month the net number of readers was 27,132. A year ago the number was 25,000.

The statistics for March in the children's department exceeded all previous records. The total juvenile circulation amounted to 9,375. The number of children attending the story hours was 540.

In the registration department 507 new applications were granted. There were 333 renewals. The number of persons attending the reference department was 2,133.

Following the meeting the members of the board opened the exhibition by Canadian artists.

The members present were: Dr. S. N. Best, Dr. C. H. Ziegler, W. H. Winnett, Dr. G. B. Sage, chairman. Ben Noble presiding.

The new appointment of John A. Campbell to the library board was received. Mr. Campbell will fill the vacancy created by the death of Dr. L. McCree.

The Trafalgar branch is the youngest of the city. It was established in 1921. Under the direction of Miss E. Brownlee, the library serves 13,000 people. There are about 6,000 books on the shelves. The branch is growing rapidly.

The Wortley road branch is in charge of Miss D. O. Walters. There are 7,000 volumes in the building, serving over 13,000 residents of that district.

In both purchases further growth and expansion has been provided for. Librarian Richard E. Crouch said that the buying of the two buildings will likely be the last for some time, as the lots are each able to take care of any additions to the building which may be made necessary through the growth of the library.

PICNIC BEER LICENSES RULED OUT IN ALBERTA

Club Permits Will Be Allowed Only Year After Applications Made.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Edmonton, Alta., April 3.—The issuing of special beer licenses for picnic parties will not be permitted in the future, according to an amendment to the liquor control act passed by the legislature yesterday.

The amendment was introduced by Mrs. M. McCune, Liberal member for Edmonton.

After July 1 of this year, club licenses will only be issued one year after the application has been made and complete description of the premises, which must be satisfactory to the liquor control board.

The object of the amendment is to allow the board sufficient time to determine whether clubs making application are bona fide or merely attempting to obtain a license for the purpose of making money.

MINERS ASK TO RETURN UNDER OLD WAGE SCALE

Reiterate Desire To Go Back To Work on Contract For Year.

Canadian Press Despatch.

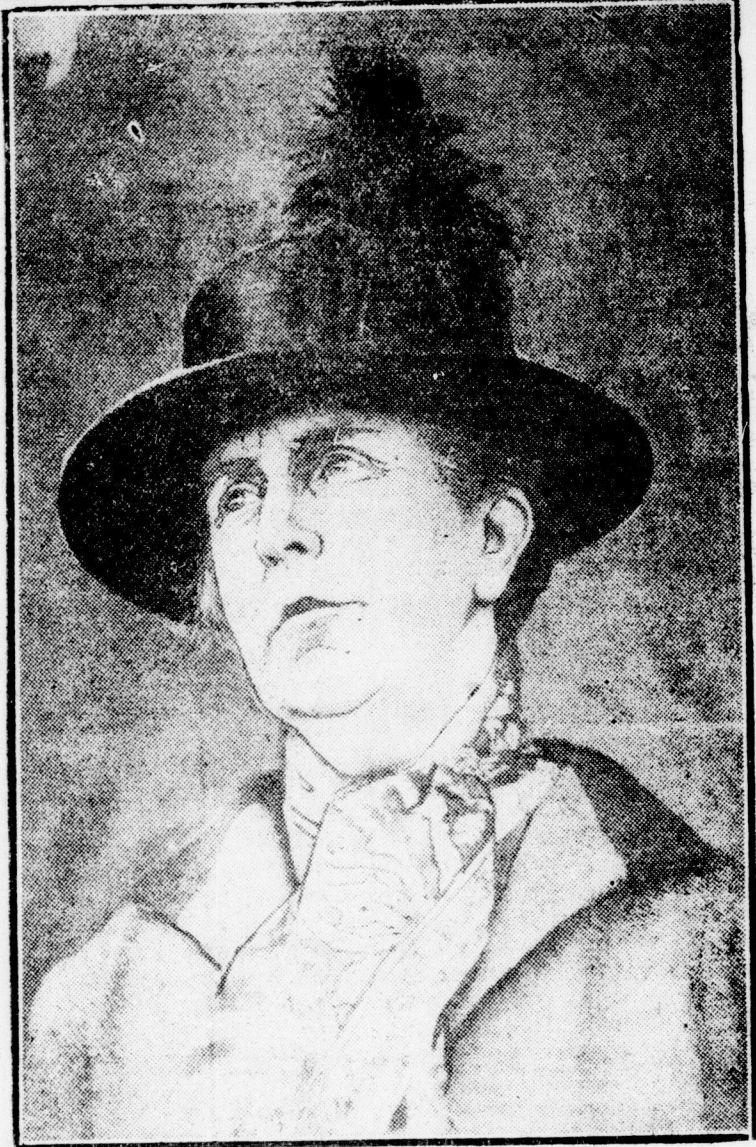

Halifax, April 3.—Claiming that the miners were "chafing under inaction and privation," the district executive of the United Mine Workers of America last night addressed a telegram to Premier E. H. Armstrong, reiterating their desire to return to work under the 1924 wage scale, and under provisional contract of one year's duration, pending an inquiry into the affairs of their employers, the British Empire Steel Corporation.

Other developments include the publication of a series of statements in reply to the speech of William Duff, M.P., at Ottawa. These proceedings were the miners' executive, Mrs. Charles Archibald, who issued the first general appeal for assistance, and others, and constituting in the main a challenge to Mr. Duff to visit Cape Breton and "see conditions for himself."

Babe Disappoints the Kids

Associated Press Despatch.

New York, April 3.—Babe Ruth muffed a real chance to add to his heroic proportions yesterday when a thousand enthusiastic kid fans, all orphans, claimed the stands at Nashville, Tenn., to see the Yankees play the Brooklyn Robins.

The Robins, to see the Yankees play the Brooklyn Robins. Four times Ruth approached the plate determined to keep his promise to hit a home run and each time fate intervened. Twice he grounded out, once he got a single and the last time he fanned indignantly, retiring sadly from the game.

The Robins, by defeating the Yankees, 9 to 8, tied their pre-season series at 4 even.

The Giants spent an easy afternoon at Memphis, Tenn., the expense of the Memphis Chicks, whom they defeated, 14 to 4.

While Penn Karr and Sherry Smith were holding Atlanta to five hits, the Cleveland Indians gathered 19 for 31 bases and defeated the Southern association team, 15 to 2, in eight innings at Atlanta yesterday.

Walker and Bill Johnson, pitchers, and George Artus, catcher, have been released outright by Manager Ty Cobb of the Detroit Tigers. Claude Carlyle, 19-year-old outfielder, was sent to the Toronto club of the International league on option. All four were recruits. No more will be dropped, it is thought, until after the Tigers' return to Detroit. The Bengal today meet the Cincinnati Reds at Augusta, Ga.

The Bears of Mobile, Ala., defeated the Houston Red Sox, 5 to 4. Ferguson and Quinn pitched for Boston, and Shortstop Dudley Lee started his first game this season. The Red Sox play Nashville, Tenn., today.

At St. Petersburg, Fla., the Braves enjoyed a day of rest by order of Manager Baneroff. Today they play the St. Pete Saints once again.

The Philadelphia Athletics went on a batting rampage yesterday in their exhibition game against the Richmond, Virginia, League club, collecting 19 hits for a total of 38 games, and defeating the southerners, 1 to 12.

The Phillies planned to work out today on their home grounds in final preparation for the opening of the city championship series with the Athletics Saturday. Manager Fletcher's squad arrived in Philadelphia yesterday from Bradenton, Fla.

The Chicago Cubs won a nip-and-tuck contest from the Oakland club yesterday by a 4-3 score, 39 men participating.

Joubert Davenport, Chicago White Sox twirler, who hurt his arm a week ago, was back in the box against the Louisiana State university boys at Baton Rouge, La. He was wild but the American leaguers won 13 to 7.

The St. Louis Browns recorded their third consecutive loss yesterday at Birmingham, Ala., when they were held scoreless, 2 to 0, by the Southern association club of that city.

Following the meeting, dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

ONWARD BIBLE CLASSES.

The members of the Onward Bible class of the Colborne Street Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. James P. Colwell, 513 Colborne street, this week for their regular meeting.

An aluminum demonstration was held and much enjoyed, and following this feature a short program was also enjoyed. The numbers included readings by Miss Leona Kirkwood, and a piano number by Mrs. R. P. Allen. Dainty refreshments were then served by the hostesses, assisted by Miss Winnifred Hardie and Mrs. Chester Merkley.

Toronto, April 3.—Fire losses in Canada during the week ended April 1 are estimated by the Monetary Times at $357,000, compared with $140,200 the previous week, and with $231,000 the corresponding week of last year.

SEE CANADA FIRST, MOTTO THIS YEAR

Canadians Who Visited Europe
Last Year Are Now Travelling at Home.

Canadians will see Canada this year, according to railway agents in London. The transcontinental tour will be the popular form of spending this year's holiday for Londoners at least. It was Europe and the continent last summer, Wembley, Montmartre, Deauville and Monte Carlo proving an attraction that drew an unprecedented number of Canadians across the waters to the old land.

But Europe fails to bear the same charm this year. Few tickets have been sold for the ocean trip and indications are that ships plying between the new and old lands will certainly not do the rushing business of last year.

The beauties of the Canadian Rockies and the Pacific coast will be the goal of the London holidayer for the forthcoming season of travel. Already hundreds of tickets for transcontinental tours have been sold. "In most cases," Ernest Russ of the N. R. ticket office here says, "people who bought tickets for European travel last summer are the ones who are taking the coast trip this year."

CENTRAL C. I. PARENTS FORM ORGANIZATION

New Association Results From Enthusiastic Meeting Held Last Night.

The Central collegiate institute parents' association came into being last night at an enthusiastic meeting held in the auditorium of the college by the parents of students attending the school.

A. E. Barbour occupied the chair for the meeting, at which Principal Everett A. Miller, M.A., outlined the possibilities for a parents' association in the Central collegiate.

Approval was given the tentative constitution for the association submitted by the committee appointed for that purpose, consisting of A. E. Barbour, Mrs. W. A. Tanner, Mrs. John Gemmell and Principal Miller.

The election of a president was left with the executive, the officers of which were named as follows: Honorary president, S. F. Lawraon, chairman of the board of education; vice-president, Mrs. W. A. Tanner; director, E. A. Miller, M.A.; secretary, Mrs. A. R. Kennedy; treasurer, T. E. Clarke; councillors, A. E. Barbour, A. E. Chapman, Miss Alice Kelso, Mrs. Alfred Drew.

It was left to the executive also to name the date upon which the regular meetings of the association will be held.

DE MONZI ACCEPTS POST CONDITIONALLY

French Finance Minister Demands Government's Compromise on Vatican Embassy.

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, April 3.—Senator De Monzi, the newly-appointed finance minister to succeed M. Clementel, said this morning that he had accepted the government's agreement to compromise on the question of the Vatican embassy.

The compromise is believed to be along the lines of extending the powers of Alsace-Lorraine's representative at the Vatican to cover France. The government, while opposing the removal of the French ambassador there, has already expressed willingness for the redeemed provinces to have a representative with the Holy See.

The new finance minister announced that he will introduce in parliament next Monday the governmental bill to which Premier Herriot referred in the senate last night, providing for the needs of the treasury, without a fresh issue of bank bills.

NET FISHING INCREASES AND PILE DRIVER STARTS

On account of the extensive pound-net fishing operations now being carried on at Port Stanley, the Steamer Fish company of that port launched their pile driver and scow yesterday afternoon.

More piles for the nets were needed by the company, and hence the scow and pile drivers were launched yesterday after having been idle all winter.

The catches are improving at the port, fishermen assert, and a profitable season is looked forward to by the fishing fleet. More gasoline launches are operating out of Port Stanley this year than for many seasons past.

GIVE RADIO COMPLAINTS TO LOCAL ORGANIZATION

A radio association has been formed in London with the idea of doing something to remove interference causes. The public utility commission is in the lead and all complaints as to interference should be made either to the offices of the commission or to any of the radio dealers in the city who are officers of the new association.

Efforts are now being made at Ottawa to deal with interference and a register of all cases is being kept and investigated. Conditions for reception in London have greatly improved in the last six months and it is hoped to make other improvements this spring.

During his career Dr. Poole has held important pastorates in the United States and has also served overseas with the Y. M. C. A. Dr. Poole succeeds Dr. F. B. Meyer of Christ church, London, England, as president of the World Sunday School Association.

FRIDAY, APRIL 3, 1925.

The Premier's Argument Is Weak.

Premier Ferguson, in defending the increased indemnity for members of the legislature, and also for cabinet ministers, stated they "are always the first to contribute to any function or any fund in their riding."

That is about the weakest argument that could have been put up to cover the point. Custom has made a member of parliament a bright and shining target for those who set out to collect funds for any and all purposes. The member may give sometimes because he wants to, and because the cause is a worthy one, but in the great majority of cases he makes his contribution because he is afraid to refuse. If he intends to stay in public life, and most of the members do, he is afraid to refuse; he knows that he will be around again in a year or so looking for votes, and he considers it good practice to keep favorable sentiment moving in his direction. His contributions to numerous appeals, when viewed in this light, take on the form of progressive political propaganda.

To give members more money on the ground that they need it to keep up this system of contribution is making a very weak case out of it. They should not be encouraged, but discouraged.

Mill Rates and Actual Taxes.

London city council has placed the mill rate for 1925 at 34.5, and has apparently, with one exception, that of losses on the operations of the housing commission, made provision for obligations that mature during the current year. The decrease in the rate from 34.6 to 34.5 may not appear as much of an accomplishment on the surface, but it has the advantage of being a reduction instead of an increase, and it is a tendency that must be cultivated by all the bodies that have legal power to take money from the people in the form of taxes.

The tendency of people to have things today that they did not have a few years ago is reflected in municipal life. There is the constant pressure for the nursing of a modern idea, the setting aside of funds for the development of a new scheme. These ideas may be very excellent, and the people might get value in the way of service for the money invested, but back of it all the ability of the people to pay must remain the standard by which the promotion or rejection of all these plans shall be judged.

The tax rate in itself is not a very safe measure by which to estimate what it is costing a person to live in a city; it is not even good for purposes of comparison between one city and another, because the basis of assessment differs in nearly every place. A safer guide is to find out what each person pays for a number of years. That tells the actual story, not in terms of assessment or mill rates, but in dollars and cents paid to the city tax collector.

In a twelve-year period from 1912 to 1923 London's per-person rate increased from $13.37 to $35.16, the increases being shown as follows:

1913		14.65	1919		22.26
1914		14.77	1920		27.57
1915		18.64	1921		32.21
1916		19.55	1922		33.74
1917		20.86	1923		35.16

The taxpayer in London is paying more for school taxes today than he did for all purposes in 1912. The rate for education covering ten-year period from 1912 shows:

1912		$4.96	1917		$6.95
1913		4.98	1918		7.59
1914		5.34	1919		8.22
1915		5.95	1920		10.61
1916		6.60	1921		13.11

These figures are used to show that the cost to the ratepayer is constantly on the way up, and also that the mill rate does not give a correct idea of the actual levy. In 1921, for instance, when the per capita levy for all purposes was $13.37, the mill rate was practically 23. In 1923, when the levy was $35.16, an increase of 170 per cent, the rate stood at 34. The actual tax had increased about 170 per cent, while the mill rate indicated an increase around 50 per cent.

The one way to keep taxation from going higher is to learn to do without things—that holds good in private life, business or municipal circles. The council has started out by a keen pruning of many demands placed before it. It should continue in the same course.

Scruples and Life Insurance.

A mother with a family of small children writes asking if, in case of her husband's death, she would be eligible for assistance from the mother's allowance. She would, provided she had no other means of support.

To some it may appear peculiar that a mother, with husband working, should be peering into the future to see what might happen to the family in case the bread-winner would be removed, but a little sober thought takes anything peculiar out of it entirely, and places it as very natural trait.

In this case the husband does not believe in insurance, and for that reason has taken none out for the protection of his family. Insurance men state that it is not uncommon to meet men who hold this same view, so this particular husband is not in an isolated class.

A man is entitled to respect for his convictions, and there is no disposition to quarrel with those who have conscientious scruples against insurance of any form, but the taking of that position makes it fair to ask them what would happen if the state took the same position in regard to their families after they were gone. A man may have scruples about life insurance, but it is well that he justify his position in advancing something tangible that will provide a suitable substitute for the provision he has neglected to make for his family. A wider application of the principle of life insurance would do much toward doing away with the expenditure that it is necessary to make now for mothers' allowances. A man who has no scruples about allowing the state to care for his family should not have too many when it comes to the matter of making that provision himself.

Facing the Facts.

William Duff, M.P. for Lunenburg in the federal house, said Miss MacPhail's story of suffering among the miners in Cape Breton had been overdone. Mr. Duff's statement did not deal in figures or facts, but was a defence of the good name of Nova Scotia and a claim that his province was quite capable of solving its own problems.

Mr. Duff might proceed, then, with an explanation of a despatch coming from the Canadian Press office at Glace Bay, N.S., dealing with conditions there, part of which says:

"Town officials and school teachers are unable to collect their salaries due for February and March, and a long period of idleness among so many of the citizens will, it is stated, leave the authorities in a serious predicament."

Facts are stubborn things, and no matter how Mr. Duff may desire to cheer for the old home town, a condition where teachers and town officials, employees of a municipality, have not been able to collect their salaries for two months is fairly conclusive evidence that Miss MacPhail's observations were not very much wide of the mark.

The Way of a Mayor.

The Toronto Star produces a photo of Mayor Foster's chauffeur, all rigged out, uniform, leggings, and cap with civic crest. Of course Toronto is a large city and it would look odd to have the chauffeur of the chief magistrate's car dressed in overalls and a red sweater.

The only odd thing about it is that when the mayor was running for office he was opposed to this mayor's car idea. He was running on a super-economy plank, and his pursuit of simplicity led him to declare that the mayor was not a big fish, but should be packed in the street cars just like the rest of the Toronto sardines.

But Mayor Foster has once more demonstrated that platforms were made to get in on and not to ride on. He has parted company with the sardine class in the home town, and now says "Home, James," like a real plutocrat.

Getting Back To Normal.

Dr. Rudolph M. Binder is professor of sociology at New York University, and he says "spank them when they need it."

It's hard to believe one's eyes when such advice comes from a professor in such an intricate affair as sociology, for the crowd that follow that science have been telling us for some years that children who go wrong are more or less insane, that the family doctor should come with his chest of tools and a tank of ether, following which the erring child and his sinful glands should be separated. Oh, it's been a grand and glorious innings, and the old woodshed and the family slipper have been mentioned in the same breath with the torture rack and the burning at the stake.

And now in this year 1925 one professor rises to say "spank them when they need it." Things are getting back to normal.

Note and Comment.

The tax of 50 cents a gallon on native wine may make some of the natives wince.

One authority claims there are 18,000 laws in United States. A man who kept them all would be a bear for punishment.

Spring can't be here entirely until Henry takes the rubber plant from the bay window and sets it out on the front porch.

Company exporting power to United States has announced that the tax placed by the dominion government must be paid by the consumer. And so is every other tax and levy.

Toronto man was fined $10 and costs for driving on the wrong side of the road. He should have put in the plea that such action by the court was interfering with his personal liberty.

Residents on neighboring farms appeared in Brantford court, the cause being a trespassing pig. A pig figuring in a court case is out of the ordinary, as heretofore most of them have appeared in stockyards only.

The Brandon Sun remarks that United States has one auto for every seven persons and one bath for every twenty. Of course, seven persons do look funny in one auto, but twenty in the same bath tub would be a scream.

The government puts a tax of ten cents a gallon on beer and estimates the revenue at $2,500,000, meaning there must be a consumption of 250,000 gallons. Did Mr. Ferguson do his figuring with a foot rule or a broom handle?

Hon. George P. Graham was sixty years old a few days ago. On his desk was a bouquet of that number of roses from members of parliament, irrespective of party. The cabinet presented him with a silver humidor, and the staff of the department of railways with some sort of a dress suit case fixture. The National Railways officials at Montreal sent another bouquet and on top of all this came the spoken word of Agnes MacPhail that Mr. Graham was "the best-loved member of this parliament." We were going to make some reference to this birthday business, but have decided to keep the kind words for some unfortunate beggar who needs them.

On Education

How Angus learned to drive a nail and Hanna took to cookin' too, but I be called upon the same when they be chores about to do.

When we moved in from off the farm the youngsters started off to school, to learn such things as what they should, to measure with a three-foot rule, to write the language of the land and use it like the other folk, and speak the English tongue aright like what the wording should be spoke.

Wee Angus come from school one day, when he had been there quite a spell, him tellin' me as how he passed and was a-learnin' things quite well.

And how when he went back next term he'd take up manual work at school, a-teachin' him to drive a nail, bein' handy like to use a tool. Me thinkin' such be very fine, and not bein' much with tools myself, how handy it would be when Angus fixed the pantry shelf.

And Hanna likewise was put on, her learnin' much from out a book, and she was takin' up a course, a-learnin' how she ought to cook. Quite right it be to have them so that they could mold a loaf of bread, and use some hifalutin' way for makin' up the spare-room bed.

So Angus he sawed off a board and whittled pieces long and slim, he fashioned there a basket box for puttin' bills and letters in. 'Us thinkin' how he'd learn enough to build himself a house some day, bein' pleased as how he went along a-learnin' new things in this way.

And Hanna she brung home one day a little cake what she had made, I was a pleased and tickled dad, a pompous sort of happy jake.

All that took place some years gone by, and Angus quit a-drivin' nails, and now he's tryin' to figure out how much a grocer lost on sales. Likewise he's takin' A plus B and adding what he gets to D, and from that total parin' off what's left when H is took from C.

And Hanna's knottin' up her tongue in words of French and Latin roots, and for the bakin' of a cake why Hanna never gives two hoots.

And when there's tinkerin' for to do, and plecin' up a pantry shelf, I have to get the pick-axe out and do the bloomin' chore myself.—ARK.

To the Editor

Could Get Mothers' Allowance.

Applies to Those in County as Well as in City—Reader Raises an Unusual But Reasonable Point.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—Will you kindly answer in your paper the following questions?

1. Are widows in the country entitled to the mother's pension, or only the city mothers? We live in the country and at the same time we do not own a farm. My husband runs a farm for another party and has only his month's wages, and he does not believe in insurance, so what protection would I have in case he died, or would I receive the mother's allowance? I have three small children. If I am not entitled to an allowance we would have to move to the city.

2. What is the amount allowed a widow and how much for each child?

Thanking you in advance, I remain, sincerely,

AN OLD SUBSCRIBER.

Answer: It is rather unusual to speculate on what would happen in case of a wage-earner's death, but in your case it is perhaps a reasonable thing to do. You would be eligible under the mother's allowance, with three small children, for $35 a month, and it would not be necessary to move to the city to get it.

Power in the Churches.

Stratford Reader Believes That is the Greatest Need Today—Defends the Work of the Pentecostal Gathering.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—Being a reader of your paper, I have noticed for the last week or two of different preachers using sermons against the Pentecostal sect, but I did not see the reply that Booth-Clibborn made.

In Rev. John H. Slinmon's remarks, in talking about his own church, of the discontent, he said he did not believe God Himself could give peace in such a church. He said he did not believe the power of God was generated for show. Nor do we. It is the worldly people who look upon it as a show. Everything that Jesus did they look upon it as a show. When Noah was building the ark they looked upon it as a show. These professors of today look upon the later rain as a show, but, like the people in Noah's time, they will see their mistake when it is too late. Then he spoke about the gift of tongues, referring to verse 19, chapter 14, 1st Corinthians. I guess he forgot to look at verses 18, 21, 22 and 39 in the same chapter. Let him look to his own places of worship first before he looks at others.

Is God in the churches these days? He is not, for they deny the power of God. It is no spiritual but an empty form of religion, with no spiritual power. One day a week pretending to worship God, six days a week worshipping the devil. Preachers standing up in the pulpits telling their hearers of the different socials for the week, such as ice cream party, tea party, sale of home-made baking, rummage sale, making God's house a house of merchandise, also making a playhouse of the church.

I have yet to see anyone who has been made a physical wreck through the Pentecostal sect, but I have seen human wrecks made physically perfect through the power of Jesus Christ that is preached in the Pentecostal meetings throughout the country. Let us get back to God. Give us the old-time religion where we can have freedom with God, away with so much of man's formality and give us the love and power and mind of Jesus.

MACCABEES WILL TRY TO BRING CONVENTION

London Was Birthplace of Whole Organization in Dominion.

London Tent No. 4 The Maccabees met in their lodgings in the A. O. F. hall over the Majestic theatre 227½ Dundas street, on Thursday night April 2nd. The degree team put on some new movements in connection with the initiatory ceremony which was very much appreciated by the members present.

The provincial convention at Toronto was discussed and a number of the members stated that they were going to attend and try and have the next provincial convention held in London. There has not been a convention of the Maccabees in this city for a very long time and the members feel that it is time to get busy and push the birthplace of the order, London, Ontario, and let the world know that they are still alive.

The next meeting, which will be held on April 9, will take the form of a progressive euchre and informal dance. The public and all friends of the order will be cordially welcomed and are assured of a good time by the committee in charge.

Good prizes have been donated for the euchre and unless all signs fail it will be a huge success. The ladies of the Maccabees have all been invited to attend and bring their friends and the committee in charge consists Federally Incorporated Companies Said To Be Breaking Provincial Laws.

Ottawa, April 2.—The federal government is investigating allegations that worthless stock is being unloaded on the public by firms who, because they are federally incorporated, escape the supervision of provincial "blue sky" legislation. Hon. A. B. Copp, secretary of state, informed J. T. Shaw, independent member for West Calgary, in the house today.

If it is found that federal legislation is necessary to prevent abuses it will be drafted, Mr. Copp added.

BORDEN'S TO CLOSE AT TILLSONBURG

Town's Largest Industry Finds It Impossible To Continue Operations.

Special to The Advertiser.

Tillsonburg, April 2.—Like a bolt from the skies to both farmers and town folks was the following notice handed to the patrons of the big factory of the Borden Milk Company, Limited: "To our patrons: Owing to market conditions we find it impossible to continue to operate the Tillsonburg factory and will therefore permanently close the plant on April 30, 1925. The Borden Company, Limited."

Following the war the big plant was closed for several months, but following negotiations with the board of trade and former patrons, the plant was reopened with the assurance that it would remain open indefinitely, and in fact preparations were under way to add thousands of dollars new equipment.

Representatives of another large milk company were in conference with the Borden officials, with a view of purchasing the plant, but the conference failed. The Canadian Milk Products, Limited, are now canvassing the patrons for their milk supply, and whether the closing of the plant will cause a drop in district prices is yet undecided on the surface.

As the plant is one of the most valuable and finest plants of its kind in the Dominion, with a large cold storage, it is believed that the property will change hands within a short time and again be running under a new firm name.

By HARRY NICHOLLS.
Special Cable to The Advertiser and Chicago Daily News.
Mexico City, April 2.—The tragic murder of Brigadier General Acosta, on Tuesday evening by Augustin Maciel, holding the same rank, at the entrance of the ministry of war and marine, had an even more tragic sequel yesterday when General Maciel committed suicide by blowing out his brains in the Plaza Espana. About 6 p.m. Tuesday evening General Acosta was at the entrance to the war ministry when General Maciel drove up in a motor car, shot and killed Acosta, afterwards escaping in his car before the astonished guards realized what had happened.

General Maciel was acting minister of war and marine, the latter position of President Obregon's terms. For ten years he had been the bitter enemy of General Acosta.

ANTI-UNIONISTS PREPARE TO BATTLE CHURCH BILL

Friends of Continuing Church Warn Government of Possible Opposition.

WANT PROTECTION

Demand Amendments Which Will Protect Interests—Debate Delayed.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, April 2.—Supporters of the continuing Presbyterian church are going to fight against the proposed church union bill as approved by the private bill committee of the Ontario legislature this morning, unless amendments are made thereto which will safeguard their interests.

This afternoon there was considerable discussion at the government caucus over the bill. It is stated that the intention of the government was to pass the bill through the house with all expedition that was possible.

Friends of the continuing Presbyterians hold other views and are inimical to the members of the cabinet that they did not intend to swallow "holus bolus" a bill which they had not had ample time to consider. The result of the caucus today is that the bill will not be brought into the house until next week, and another caucus will be held to consider probable amendments.

Suggest Legal Action. Anti-unionists today even suggest legal action, carried perhaps to the privy council, to secure more favorable terms than the proposed bill calls for.

They have called a meeting to discuss possible procedure. It was a gloomy, taciturn body of anti-unionists that gathered in the lobby. Their countenances registered indignation, and they expressed their opinions in short staccato monosyllabic form. "Rotten," declared one anti-unionist, "I feel like pulling up stakes and getting out."

May Go To Privy Council.

What possible course of action are open now? Mr. Parker was asked. "Either to open it up in the house or to appeal to the privy council," he replied. He pointed out that the whole church union bill as passed at Ottawa was subject to review by the privy council.

The basic principle of the bill, he felt, could be successfully attacked on the ground that the general assembly of the church had no right to do as they had done.

Great News From the Old Pasture Delights the Green Forest Folk

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

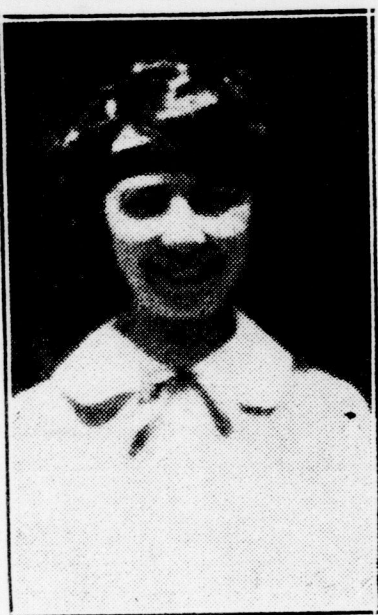

There was great news from the Old Pasture. Yes, sir, there was great news from the Old Pasture. Sammy Jay had discovered Farmer Brown's boy and Farmer Brown's boy was driving over there with what at first Sammy thought was a wagonload of pine branches. But when Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's boy began to take them out of the wagon Sammy discovered that what he had taken to be pine branches were little pine trees. Yes, sir, they were very small pine trees.

Of course, Sam was fairly aching all over to possess the news. Once, but his curiosity was even greater than this desire. He was curious to find out what was going to be done with those little pine trees. He kept out of sight, but where he could watch. He saw Farmer Brown's boy carefully put one of those little pine trees in one of the holes. He saw him nuzzled all the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows. He saw him carefully spread out the roots, and then he saw him all around them. When he was through there stood a tiny pine tree where before there had been one of those holes. Farmer Brown did the same thing with another little tree.

Then Sammy Jay understood why the brush and the brambles had been cut and burned and why all those little holes had been dug. He was too excited to wait to see more. Away he flew as fast as his wings could take him. Peter Rabbit was the first one he saw. Peter was sitting on the edge of the dear Old Briar Patch. "Farmer Brown's boy has spoiled the Old Pasture," cried Sammy excitedly. "It's going to be a better place than it ever was before. There's going to be another Green Forest there."

"How do you know?" demanded Peter. "Because Farmer Brown's boy and Farmer Brown are up there this very minute, putting little pine trees in all those holes. Those trees will grow and grow, and some day they'll be big trees, and there'll be a wonderful Green Forest there. Isn't that great news?" cried Sammy.

Peter wobbled his wobbly little nose thoughtfully. He scratched a long ear with a paw, and then he said, "Scratched the other long ear with the other long foot. But he said nothing." "Well," demanded Sammy Jay, "don't you think that is great news?" "I like the bushes and the brambles best myself," grunted Peter. Sammy Jay tossed his head. "Everybody has his own taste," said he. "Give me the Green Forest every time. Anyway, there are plenty of bramble-tangles still left in parts of the Old Pasture. I know a lot of

PALESTINE SHRINE.

For the first time in the history of Palestine Shrine, this city, stereopticon views were used last night to illustrate the putting on of the degrees. These were exemplified in excellent fashion. The installation of officers for the coming year will be held at the next meeting, on the third Thursday of April.

Sammy Jay asked Blackie the Crow, "other people who will be glad, even if you are not."

Sammy flew straight over to the Green Forest, and there he found Mrs. Grouse. As soon as she heard the news Mrs. Grouse did a funny little dance. "Splendid!" she cried. "I just knew that Farmer Brown's boy would do something so dreadful as to spoil the Old Pasture. When those trees get a little bigger it will be a wonderful place."

Buster Bear and Lightfoot the Deer were equally delighted. Chatterer the Red Squirrel had to go up there right away to find out if it were true. If so, how fast the news did spread! It was the best news for a long time, for all the little people knew that more Green Forest meant greater protection for them. Yes, sir, it certainly was great news.

WESTERN ONTARIO GIRLS TO MEET IN CONFERENCE

Dorothy Dix

The Wise Girl Who Investigated Her Fiance's Past History.

Dear Miss Dix—Do you think a man is justified in breaking his engagement to a young woman because she made some investigations about him? This girl met a man who was a perfect stranger through some friends who knew little about him, except that he was pleasant and agreeable and had good manners.

After the girl became engaged to him she asked a friend, who lived in the city that the man did, to call upon him. The friend did so, and found that there was no such firm as the one the man said he was connected with, nor did any one know the man at the address he had given.

But the man became furious, and wrote the girl an insulting letter, saying that he was glad he had found out her disposition before they were married, and that he wanted nothing to do with a suspicious woman. Don't you think the girl should be thankful to be rid of him?

PUZZLED BRAIN.

Answer: I do indeed. The man who is not willing to have his record investigated is the man who has something to hide. Any decent and honorable man wants the woman he is going to marry to know all about him.

Any woman who does not comb the history of the man she is going into a life partnership with and who is going to hold her happiness in the hollow of his hand and be the father of her children abuses the privilege that anybody has of being a fool. Even when a woman marries a man whom she has known from her childhood up—who knows his parentage, and his heredity, and whether he is moral and sober and industrious or not—takes enough chances at making a good match, for men have a way of developing unexpected quirks of disposition after marriage that you never dreamed they had concealed about their persons.

But the woman who marries a man of whom she knows nothing, who puts her hand in the grab-bag of matrimony and pulls something out, right unseen, takes such a long shot at happiness that she doesn't even deserve our sympathy for the almost certain misery she brings upon herself.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—I am 22, and married to a good man I love, and have a nice home and everything to make me happy. Yet, listen:

As a girl I had a gay, wild time. I flirted, and sang, and danced my way with a jolly crowd, and lived only for gaudy. Then my man came along and we married and settled down. And we settled down with a bump, and have stayed settled down.

I love my husband. I love my home. But sometimes when I glance at him reading his paper or at evening I close my eyes and hear jazz music and the shuffle of feet on a dance floor, and I am wild to be there, too. I know I have chosen the better part. I am glad I am safe in the harbor of marriage, with a good, steady consort, but the seed of those days of jazz is in my system. How am I to weed them out? SORRY.

Answer:

I offer you two prescriptions, my dear. The first is to keep your mind fixed on the thought that a good home and a good husband are worth all the cabarets in the world, and that varnished-haired jazz hounds hode a woman no good, while a steady, reliable husband is something to tie to. To a woman, everything is as she thinks it is, and you can make yourself satisfied or discontented, just as you will.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—The way you older people criticize us younger ones makes me tired. You should know that you, and others like you, with your old-fashioned ideas, are back numbers. It's flaming youth that is running the world today.

FLAPPER.

Answer: So many other flappers and jelly beans think, my dear, but they are mistaken. I don't seem to hear of any varnished-haired boy being elected president or to the senate or congress. All the bank presidents, and big merchants, and prominent lawyers, and doctors now are either gray-headed or bald, or beginning to put on middle-aged fat. It takes time and experience to learn how to run things and people don't put their affairs in the hands of boys and girls.

WOMEN and THE HOME

ARTIST SCORES IN FINE RECITAL

Jessie Alexander Pleases Large Audience at Colborne Street Church.

One of the most brilliant choir concerts took place at Colborne street Methodist church last evening. Of an aesthetic and cultural nature was the varied program presented by a chorus of sixty voices, under the direction of Harry J. D. Moss, organist, and Jessie Alexander, accompanist. Douglas Fetherston, soprano, and Rosa Tuck, contralto.

Londoners were particularly favored in this opportunity of hearing Miss Alexander, who is an international celebrity. In her first reading, "The Turning Point," by Ruth Sawyer, she proved the marvelous quality of her voice, and the enthusiastic applause which greeted her suggested a little of the renown which has come to her through this medium of expression that she has been able to control so perfectly. Her second number, "Levin'sky," revealed that ability of the true artist to portray every type and interpret every phase of life. The realism Miss Alexander puts into her interpretations is extremely vigorous. Her own composition, "Friday Afternoon in a Primary School," was delightfully humorous and quite obviously drawn from life.

Douglas Fetherston, London's own product, and one of her most promising artists, assisted with two violin selections, "Ave Maria" (Schubert-Wilhelm), and Kreisler's "Caprice Viennois." Miss Muriel Jackson, soprano soloist, appeared in two numbers, suitably selected to display the lyric quality of her voice. Miss Rosa Tuck sang "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," the Saint-Saens adaptation from the famous "Samson and Delilah." The choir did excellent work, and their splendid numbers were well received. A male chorus featured their musical presentation.

DR. REASON ADDRESSES CLUB ON THYROID GLAND

Speaker Advises Iodine Treatment—Would Watch Tonics, Too.

Dr. Clifford Reason, speaking before the members of the Lorne Avenue Mothers' club last night, urged the use of iodine treatment, both outwardly and inwardly, in dealing with thyroid gland trouble. The thyroid gland formed the subject of his address, which proved interesting and instructive.

Parents, he said, should watch the thyroid gland in boys and girls of adolescent age. The tonsils, too, are important in this connection. They should be watched closely. In no other place was iodine more prevalent than in Ontario West and Michigan, and its check should be the concern of the people.

The program also included a piano duet by Misses Edith and Florence Bartlett, a vocal number by Magner Wilmer Martin and a violin solo by Miss Claridge.

The election of officers will feature the next meeting, when a new president will be elected. Mrs. Wilson being forced to resign through illness.

WHAT IS IT?

Miss Vera Luddy of San Francisco is shown with a queer creation, which might be a hat and might also be a dish, all the parts of which are radio accessories. The hardware millinery was shown at a recent hardware exhibition in the coast city and was a distinct attraction.

GIRLS MAY HOLD SUNRISE SERVICE

Girls' Work Board Discusses Spring Rallies at Supper Meeting.

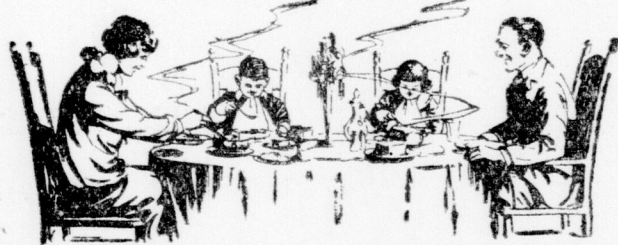

There is to be an unique form of girls' service held in the city this spring. It may be a sunrise service or it may take place at sunset. Initial plans for such a service were made at last night's meeting of the girls' work board held at Lennox, over which Mrs. John Detwiler presided.

There are to be two girls' rallies in London some time in May, if the girls of the city want to rally together. One will be for senior girls and the other for intermediates. Final arrangements for the rallies will be made after the desire of the city groups is made known.

The awarding of the silver cups to the groups accomplishing the finest work during the year was further discussed and the time of the competition extended from the end of March to the end of April to accommodate some of the groups who have been delayed in their work.

Two cups will be awarded for intermediate group work and two for senior group work. One of these cups, in each section, is to be given for missionary effort during the year and the other for general group work carried on under the four-fold program of the C. G. I. T. Most of the groups are putting on some sort of program in connection with their missionary effort and these are being judged as they are presented.

An excellent report of the training course carried on during the past winter was given by Miss Moseley Williams, who outlined the excellent work accomplished. An open discussion followed, and the result of the vote to hold a similar course next year was unanimously taken. The gathering took the form of a supper meeting.

OXO Feeds the Family's Needs

The family needs good food—especially young children. OXO food is good food, because OXO is the concentrated nourishment and goodness of prime lean beef in the most assimilable form.

Add OXO to your meat-dishes—soups, stews, hash, croquettes,—and see how much better they taste,—and how the children will enjoy them!

Give the children a cup of hot OXO, too, when they come home from school. OXO warms and strengthens as well as feeds.

Brilliant English Lecturer and Justice of the Peace Speaks Here Tonight.

London will have a distinguished visitor tonight in the person of Miss Lillian Faithful, M.A., J.P., brilliant English writer, lecturer, educationist and justice of the peace. Miss Faithful, who is being brought to the city by the local representative of the National Council of Education, will speak in the central collegiate institute tonight on "The Value of Tradition." Her lecture is being held under the joint auspices of the extension department of the University of Western Ontario and the men's and women's Canadian clubs.

Miss Faithful, who is a fellow of King's college, London, was until recently principal of the ladies' college, Cheltenham. After twenty-five years' contact with college girls, she finds little to condemn in the modern young woman. "She believes her ambitious, conscientious and fair, with an ever-increasing interest in outdoor sports and physical activities." Miss Faithful is well known as a writer. Among her books is "In the House of My Pilgrimage," which is really the writer's own association with Oxford, where she was among the early women students.

DRESS UP FOR EASTER

Easter, the day when fashion puts her best foot forward, will soon be here. Have you been thinking in an Easter-costume way? It is time you do, for this is a season when simplicity succeeds, and by careful choosing you may have a fashionable wardrobe without extravagance. On the front page of fashion stand ensembles, vividly colored frocks and flare decorated coats. Enjoy these new modes.

Your New Coat

Whether you prefer the Spring Coat in its formal mood, developed in colorful suede, or in its nonchalant manner, appearing in soft woollens or tricootines, your taste can be fashionably satisfied here. For here are the very newest coats in both characters. Brick tints and natural tones both have full fashion weight.

Your Easter Hat

Clusters of delectably colored flowers trim the new hats, quite small but tremendously pert. Shaded ribbons glorify smart Milans, making them lovely assets to the girl's summer wardrobe. Two hints only of what your Easter Hat may be!

Gloves

Milady must surely have a chic pair of gloves to go with her Easter costume, and what could be better or more appropriate than a pair of Kayser Silk, turn down cuff, or perhaps you would prefer the flare cuff. We have all the newer styles and colors.

And Hosiery

Yes, most certainly your new shoes should be accompanied with new hose. The newer shades that will be worn are just a trifle lighter than the shoes. Come in and see the selection that we have at your disposal.

Railroaders and Londons Would Bolster Intercounty

O. B. A. A. Executive Meets Tonight To Seek Solution of Problem.

KENT UNWILLING

An executive meeting of the O. B. A. A. tonight in Toronto will definitely settle the vexed question of placing both the St. Thomas and London senior nines.

There seemed last night to be very little definite information as to which of the two leagues, the Intercounty or the Kent, would be asked to adopt the two orphan clubs.

The latest information was that the Kent league as a whole did not feel strong enough to absorb these two formidable nines. Representatives from the Kent league, it is understood, will be on hand tonight to put forth this view as impressively as they may.

In the Intercounty there seems to be some differences of opinion regarding the absorption of the two clubs. Several clubs are said to be violently against London and St. Thomas being taken in; others are contradictory, and others would welcome the move. Brantford rather favors the idea, but claims the club there will drop out of baseball rather than be yanked back with Stratford to form the Southern league.

The Kent county view has substantial arguments back of it.

The Intercounty objections are founded only on the added mileage entailed in most cases. The mileage apparently forces up the fact that in London and St. Thomas the Intercounty would be adding two of the best ball towns in Ontario. St. Thomas record during the past three years compares favorably with Galt's, and London even in opposition to professional baseball, has rolled up some big attendance figures on occasion.

However, tonight will tell the whole story.

COST OF OPERATING INDIANS WAS $8,189

Stratford A. A. A. Has Deficit of $873.86 On Year's Work.

Special to The Advertiser. Stratford, April 2.—The statement presented at the annual meeting of the Stratford A. A. A. tonight disclosed the fact that the association has a deficit on the year's operations of $873.86, but this is offset by a large quantity of equipment of various kinds. The statement showed also that it cost $5,189 to operate the senior O. B. A. team this past season, and $332 to operate the junior team. The seniors operated at a loss of $135 on the season, while the senior statement showed receipts and expenditures balanced.

The following officers were elected: Honorary president, John Roberts and Mayor Tom Brown; president, L. J. Long; secretary, H. J. Bruden; treasurer, F. W. Treble; executive, W. C. Healey; Roy Brothers, N. Selkirk, W. C. Lloyd, H. G. Rankin, W. J. McCully and Dr. Lorne Robertson.

Charles Parquharison, who was president of the association since its organization four years ago, was highly commended for his sterling services by tonight's meeting.

HOLD BASEBALL NIGHT.

Special to The Advertiser. St. Thomas, April 2.—Baseball night was held this evening at the Princess theatre, when the St. Thomas baseball players and their wives were the guests of the management.

SECOND PRO LOOP APPEARS LIKELY

New Circuit Would Operate in Opposition To National League.

Canadian Press Despatch. Montreal, April 2.—The Gazette, in its sporting column today, says: "Eddie Livingstone's proposed new international professional hockey league was the subject of a conference here, at which the Toronto promoter and Tommie Gorman, formerly part owner of the Ottawa hockey association and now reported as manager of the New York team, were the principal figures, with Newey Lalonde, Saskatoon manager and former player in eastern Canada, standing in the group."

"Little information of just what went on at the conference could be gleaned, but it appears that it has been definitely decided to go ahead with organization, which will, the promoters hope, bring into being a loop in opposition to the N. H. L., which will have teams operating at the coliseum in Toronto, at the forum or arena in Montreal, at Dey's arena in Ottawa, at the new rink in Windsor, at Pittsburgh, where they claim they have Roy Schoole, on their roster, and at the Boston arena is aligned with them and possibly New York, so the boosters of the new league state."

"New York has come out definitely in favor of the N. H. L., it being stated in N. H. L. circles that Duggan only two days ago made a further payment on his franchise in the National league. Windsor is claimed as a possibility by the new league, but it is a doubtful quantity. The Windsor arena interests have already applied for a franchise in the N. H. L., an application which will be dealt with at the meeting of the league to be held shortly."

New Intermediate League Foreseen

Would Operate in Towns East of London.

A new intermediate baseball loop looms up in Ingersoll and Tillsonburg. Woodstock is a possibility and St. Mary's which has been vainly trying to get a grouping, would be acceptable.

The new league would welcome a London team also. It is possible that either the East End Juniors of last year, who will play intermediate this year, or the Western Ontario league to round out the new circuit. There are five teams in the eastern group of the Western Ontario league, two of them from London, and the withdrawal of one might not be a bad idea.

Local officials think it would be advisable for teams from London to play in different league as it would create more interest. The better choice for the new circuit, which it is believed, might be a shade slower than the Western Ontario league, which has no ex-senior nines in its line-up in Stratford and Lucan.

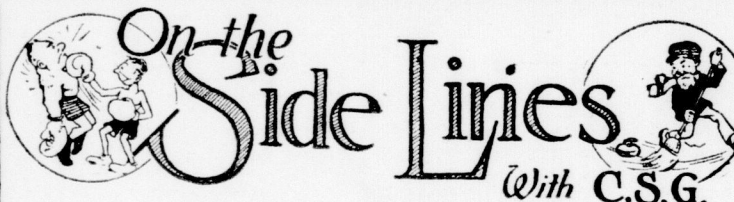

PLAN CANADA-NEW ZEALAND MATCHES FOR VANCOUVER

Canadian Press Despatch. Vancouver, B. C., April 2.—Though it may be some time before any definite word is received, favorable negotiations are under way for staging the Davis cup tennis matches between Canada and New Zealand in Vancouver this summer. J. H. Cardinal, secretary of the B. C. tennis association, received word from J. S. Myrick, president of the United States tennis association, asking him as chairman of the Davis cup play-off to endeavor to arrange the series between Canada and New Zealand at Vancouver.

VETERANS READY FOR ANOTHER CAMPAIGN.

THE PASSING OF THE PASSING OF THE HAT.

The minor amateur baseballers will probably be better looked after in London this season than they've ever been. The playgrounds association will look after midgets and bantams, the seniors will probably help look after the juniors—it'll have to look after the juniors if London is sent into the Inter-county—and the intermediates may look for help at times.

Now comes another suggestion to the effect that a portion of the percentage claimed at Queen's park from senior and pro ball teams go into a fund to help the minor teams to finance play-offs. George Martin is working on this one.

IN DEMAND.

If anything happens the Mini, word comes from Hamilton that Joe Page's Quebec-Ontario circuit wants both London and Mountville.

It might mean the formation of a western group of this circuit with three cities already located in Hamilton, London and Kitchener.

TOO ROUGH.

Y. W. H. A. girls' victory over Toronto Ladies had local interest in that the old rule of the O. B. A. kept the Y. W. H. A. out of the competition as it did the Thistles here. However, Toronto fans did not like the strenuous way in which the girls played, and the biggest basketball crowd Toronto ever turned out, underwent the same reaction that follows any game in which girls participate, and which take on prize ring touch.

POPULARITY VS. EATING.

A fact that must apparently be accepted is that John L. Sullivan was, and is always will be the supreme idol of fistic history. Noted for the figures before Sullivan's time and up to the present have come remotely near equalling the great John L.'s popularity or occupying a niche anywhere as big or commodious as the one that is Boston Strong Boy fills in the Plistic Hall of Fame.

The East Enders were a fast junior team and will go well in the intermediate, but this has been suggested as probably the wisest move.

TRACK INVESTIGATION FINDS CHILHOWEE NOT POISONED

San Diego, Cal., April 2.—Chilhowee, Kentucky thoroughbred, heavy favorite in the betting on the Coughro handicap run at Tia Juana last Sunday, was suffering from a "congestion in the lungs or bronchial tubes" the day of the race, a statement issued by his owners, Harry and Ernest E. Hart, said today. Chilhowee finished next to the last of the eleven horses started in the classic, and collapsed in his stable after leaving the track. Rumors that he had been poisoned led to the summoning of the Hart and veterinarians who had attended Chilhowee before the stewards of the Tia Juana track, and it was following this investigation that the statement was issued.

ROOKIE THREATENS BABE DYE'S BERTH

Biggest Feat To Date Has Been Triple With Three On.

Toronto, April 2.—Babe Dye had better hurry up and report to the Bisons, or he will have no job waiting for him when he is ready to accept terms. Manager Webb has a left fielder named Murray who is apparently a comer, and upon whom he is very sweet. The Bisons all round are a much better club than last season. Not only have they battled with several of the major league clubs in the south with considerable success, but they have consistently outplayed all the other teams of their own size that they have met. Including the Birds, who judging from the 14-0 being handed them by the Stars yesterday, are going to have one gashful time maintaining their supremacy of other seasons in the international league. Buffalo's outfield candidates are Shoenor and Anderson, two former Leafs, and Murray, the afore-said recruit. Playing against Milwaukee yesterday, Dye delivered a triple with the bases filled while Bill Kelly, the big first baseman whose batting has been sensational this spring, crashed out a homer. Buffalo won, 10-2. Poffitt and Fischer holding the Millers to eight hits.

United State Light-Heavy-weight Title Will Not Be at Stake.

By FAIR PLAY.

(Copyright, 1925.)

New York, April 2.—Tommy Gibbons is a pretty easy boxer, and so it is probable that he knows just what sort of contract he is undertaking in meeting Gene Tunney. This is to say that the writer believes that Tommy knows full well that when he faces the ex-marine next June he will be facing a very dangerous man.

Tunney's title will not be at stake, and the consideration under which Gibbons goes into the ring will be his share of the receipts. Gibbons gets 50 per cent of the receipts, Tunney receiving 20 per cent.

The Gibbons clan is already beginning to ballyhoo the fight as an affair which will decide the heavyweight championship of the world. But the public will never take this claim seriously.

The almost daily arrival of foreign fighters is a sure sign of the arrival of spring. With the number of capsule boxers all over the country, it is surprising to see how soon the outsider gets work, while the home talent is compelled to stand aside.

One wonders if the United States is long to retain its supremacy in the ring when Cuban, Panamanians, South Americans and the like are matched up with the best here while good boys from other sections of the United States languish when they come to New York.

The click of the silver dollar is the answer, of course. A Vincenti, a Romero-Rojas, a Lombardo makes an attractive drawing card, irrespective of his real ability, while a clean-cut lad like Jack Silver of California, who was knocking at the eastern gate last summer, gets no chance at all.

Even so, the Gibbons clan have to look on to a New York manager before they get their chance. This boy Silver, by the way, lost his only decision bout in three years of fighting to Joe Benjamin on the coast a few weeks ago. He is no wandering east, and he is no do better than last year, when he managed to get one bout only.

INTERNATIONAL TITLE AT STAKE SATURDAY

Associated Press Despatch. Glasgow, April 2.—The international soccer championship of the United Kingdom is slated for decision here on Saturday when England are the guests of Scotland at Hampden Park. This will be the 45th annual encounter between these two countries and since the title is at stake, some excellent and strenuous football is in prospect. To the moment the countries stand even in the international, with Scotland having a slight margin on goals, and since both elevens have been watered down from the former contests, the fans here are uncertain just how their respective favorites will fare.

Indians Have Bats Loaded With Heavy T.N.T. Charges

Tremendous Punch of Speaker's Men Biggest Asset.

BETTER PITCHING

By JOHN B. FOSTER.
Copyright, 1925.
Lakeland, Fla., April 2.—"Is there a 300 batter in the house?"

Up jump all the members of the Cleveland ball club, bow profoundly and say: "We are it."

"But which of you is it?" "We are all it. When it comes to batting 300 as a ball team we are double it."

"And so they are," chimes in Tris Speaker. "That noise you heard coming along the pike, which sounded like the distant roll of thunder, was only these guys scraping their bats. Every time we have morning practice they call Lakeland up from Ontario, where the Reds are training and ask where is the explosion."

There are big three hundreds and little three hundreds on the Cleveland team, but they are all three hundreds. Parade around that outfield and observe it.

On one side, Jamieson, who has become the batting moat of the American league. Next to him Speaker, whose very name stands for hitting and outfielding that has not been excelled since baseball graduated from baby clothes.

Then Cliff Lee, if he is chosen, who has been a national star in his life, and was taken on by Cleveland last year because they wanted a man who could hit frequently, regardless of his fielding.

Still more. As assistant to the pilot of fielders, there are McNulty, Stephenson, Summa and Hendricks. All of them wield their bats with such wickedness as to make pitchers old men ahead of their time.

That's the kind of club this Cleveland club is. Infield and outfield are loaded with dynamite, nitro-glycerin, T. N. T., all the other explosives in the galaxy and when they get busy together there is no pitcher who is safe against them.

If they can be kept busy all of the time they will have every team in the American league on the defensive by the end of May. Were all of them as consistent in the batting as Jamieson and Speaker, this team would drive its way to a pennant through sheer brute force.

On the infield there will be George Burns, Fawcett, Roy Sewell and Lutzke. It is not the flashiest infield in the American league, but it is the most solid. Lutzke is the weakest batter of the lot. But he can spread himself over more than three bases in a single play and he is doubly agile this year because he has been worried as to whether there might be a third baseman to succeed him some day—not because his fielding has yielded him a place in the lineup, but because the other boys do. Cleveland has two good catchers and one of them, McVitt, is a master.

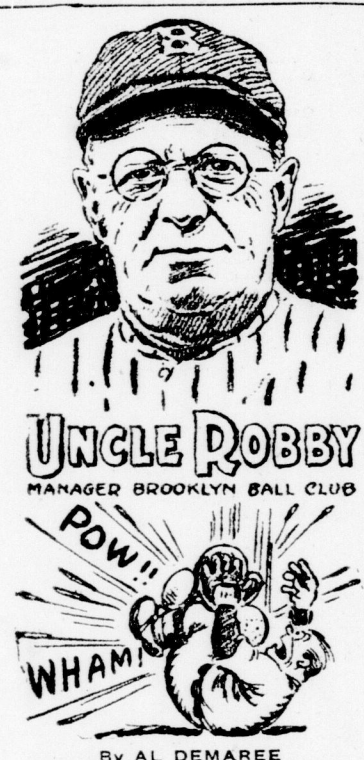

And if Cleveland has 300 batters in chorus, it also has pitchers who can sing, and who may sing a bias this year that even the managerial ears of Tris Speaker will be tingling with more than casual joy.

Pitching. Big Ulnie, the "Little Amos Rusk" of the American league, fell very flat in 1924. He has recovered his balance. Sherry Smith, who once was with Brooklyn, and knows how it feels to be better than he ever has been, and is better than pitching that way. Shaute, the wonder of the American league last season, looks as if he may be a double Shaute. Roy is likely to come through and show something. Edwards, a lefthander of giant stature, who won four games off the reel last season and then tripped on his toe plate, or something else, and couldn't pitch again is in better condition than he was a year ago.

Suppose this crowd of pitchers discovers that it can go as well as any one or two of them ever did. What then, for the Cleveland club, between their big bats and their pitching staff, make room for the juggernaut, your other clubs of the American league. If all of this happens the steam roll will get you even if you do watch out.

ASK SHOOTERS OUT. Special to The Advertiser. Ingersoll, April 2.—Members of the Ingersoll gun club are being urged to turn out in full force to the weekly shoot on Wednesday next, in preparation for the shoot at Woodstock on Friday, April 10. April Fool Ball Proved To Be Grapefruit Bomb

UNCLE ROBBY
MANAGER BROOKLYN BALL CLUB

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher, N. Y. Giants)

April Fool's Day in a training camp reminds me of the time that Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Dodgers, formerly a great catcher on the old Baltimore Orioles, bet that he could catch a ball dropped from an aeroplane.

Next day before a big crowd on an exhibition game, Uncle Robby strode out in all his armor, including body protector and catcher's glove, and set himself to catch the ball dropped from the sky. Unknown to him, however, the Brooklyn trainer, a practical joker, had substituted a grapefruit for the ball. (It was April 11.) As all eyes were looking upward and Robbie circled around, the supposed ball was dropped. Robbie finally got under it, but couldn't get his hands on it. The grapefruit struck him full on the chest, knocking him flat on his back. It exploded like a bomb; Robbie was covered with confusion and juice. He thought it was blood and imagined himself mortally wounded. When he finally found out what it was all about, he asked for waivers on the trainer.

APPIN REPLACES ST. THOMAS TEAM

West Elgin League To Operate With Four Clubs.

Special to The Advertiser.

Dutton, April 2.—Despite the secession of the St. Thomas intermediates, the West Elgin league will function again this year, with Rodney, West Lorne, Dutton and Appin, a new team, making up the circuit. The league as it will operate this summer took definite form at a meeting here tonight, when Dr. J. A. McHale of Dutton was elected president to succeed John Farrell of St. Thomas, who quit his office following the withdrawal of the railroad city seconds.

The action of the St. Thomas club for a time threatened to disrupt the loop, but, with the entry of Appin, a real baseball center, a fast circuit is again assured. At the next meeting of the executive of April 15 umpires for the season will be appointed, a schedule drawn up, and all other similar matters cleared up.

The representatives at tonight's meeting were: Appin, E. McIntyre and J. Jeffery; West Lorne, R. Erwin and J. B. Taylor; Rodney, G. Hossanaur and C. Campbell; Dutton, Dr. John R. Ford and William Smith.

FIVE ENGLISH ELEPHS ARE STILL IN RUNNING

Associated Press Despatch.

London, April 2.—With only five weeks of soccer football left for the current season and with the cup prospects whittled down to a couple of contestants, the league battle has assumed an aspect of great interest, particularly since there are no less than five clubs whose chances are still good. While West Bromwich at present ornaments the top of the table, Huddersfield being chased by Huddersfield, Town, the title-holders, and Newcastle United, with Burnley and Bolton Wanderers continuing to enjoy an outside chance. Under these circumstances, all league contests will have a more than usual appeal for soccer enthusiasts.

What effect Saturday's games will have on the league is to be seen, but the titanic struggle of the day is slated for Newcastle, where West Bromwich visit the Tynesiders.

TWO PITTSBURG TEAMS START SERIES TONIGHT

Associated Press Despatch.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 2.—The east and west—both represented by Pittsburg teams—will cross clubs on the ice tomorrow night in the first of a series of games to decide the 1925 hockey championship of the United States. The teams are the Fort Pitt Hornets, which won the eastern championship, and the Pittsburg Yellow Jackets, who annexed the western title by defeating Everett in a play-off series.

The Yellow Jackets were the United States national champions last year.

Sarnia Observer. "The O. B. A. took in over $1,600 in the play-off between St. Thomas and Sarnia last night. The money will be used for the benefit of the Sarnia hospital."

The appointment of a manager for the Guelph Maple Leafs has not yet been made. The officials of the club back the move, but it is likely that a capable man will be secured within the next week or so.

One of the proudest fathers in this land of the free and the home of baseball is Pa Pipp, father of the illustrious Wallie Pipp of the Yankees. He was at the big doings staged for the baseball writers in St. Petersburg a while back. The proud father had come over from Clearwater, Fla., where the Brooklyn Dodgers are training. He and Uncle Wilbert Robinson of the Dodgers are close friends. Pipp accompanied Robbie Ross, "his general convalescent secretary," he says. The first thing Pa Pipp says to you when introduced is: "You know my boy Wallie?"

Chief John Level of the Arapahoe tribe is still with the Yankees as they train their way north. Both Colonel Jacob Ruppert and Miller Huggins are loath to drop the aborigine, who showed inclinations to sock a fast ball a mile or so, but who was altogether baffled by curves. Curves have caused the downfall of many a redman who essayed to play the national pastime of the palefaces. Jim Thorpe, the noble Sao and Fox Indian, would have been with the Giants yet if he could have fathomed the mystery of the curved ball. It has been bad medicine for the original Americans.

But Chief Level is a most unusual Indian, addicted to the reading of Freud and other authors as popular with the athletes. Mr. Robert Gilks, the Yankee scout, took the Chief in hand and has tried to supplement his education. Mr. Gilks discovered that the Chief's baggage consisted almost entirely of Dr. Eliot's five-foot shelf of books. Before the Yankees left St. Petersburg Mr. Gilks induced the trusting redskin to trade the whole set for a copy of "Snodgrass's Guide." John J. McGraw's "Thirty Years in Baseball" and a carton of eating tobacco. The tobacco was retained by Mr. Gilks as his fee for the advice.

Mr. G. Herman Ruth is keeping a stable. He is now the owner of a couple of charley-horses, which he is anxious to get rid of. Name your own price. Easy terms.

Uncle Wilbert offered "Andy Gump" Ruth a little sage advice on pitching recently. The aged rookie listened in a respectful manner, and said: "You're perfectly right. I've been doing that very thing for twenty years."

Stratford, April 2.—A gathering of friends and neighbors at the home of Reeve James Stewart of North Easthope last night, had more than the usual significance of a farewell party to a departing resident. It marked the severance of a family connection with this township existing from upwards of a century. Mr. Stewart, who is soon to move to Stratford, is the last of the pioneer family which assisted in the clearing of the township. More than 200 attended the gathering. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were presented with a number of electrical utensils and the two children with Bibles.

In the course of his remarks, thanking his friends for their kindly appreciation, Mr. Stewart said that the interest of the township would always live close to his heart, and that he regretted very much the necessity of leaving. He said that he would endeavor to fulfill the duties of reeve until the end of the year.

ST. MARYS MERCHANTS ARRANGE HALF-HOLIDAY

Special to The Advertiser.

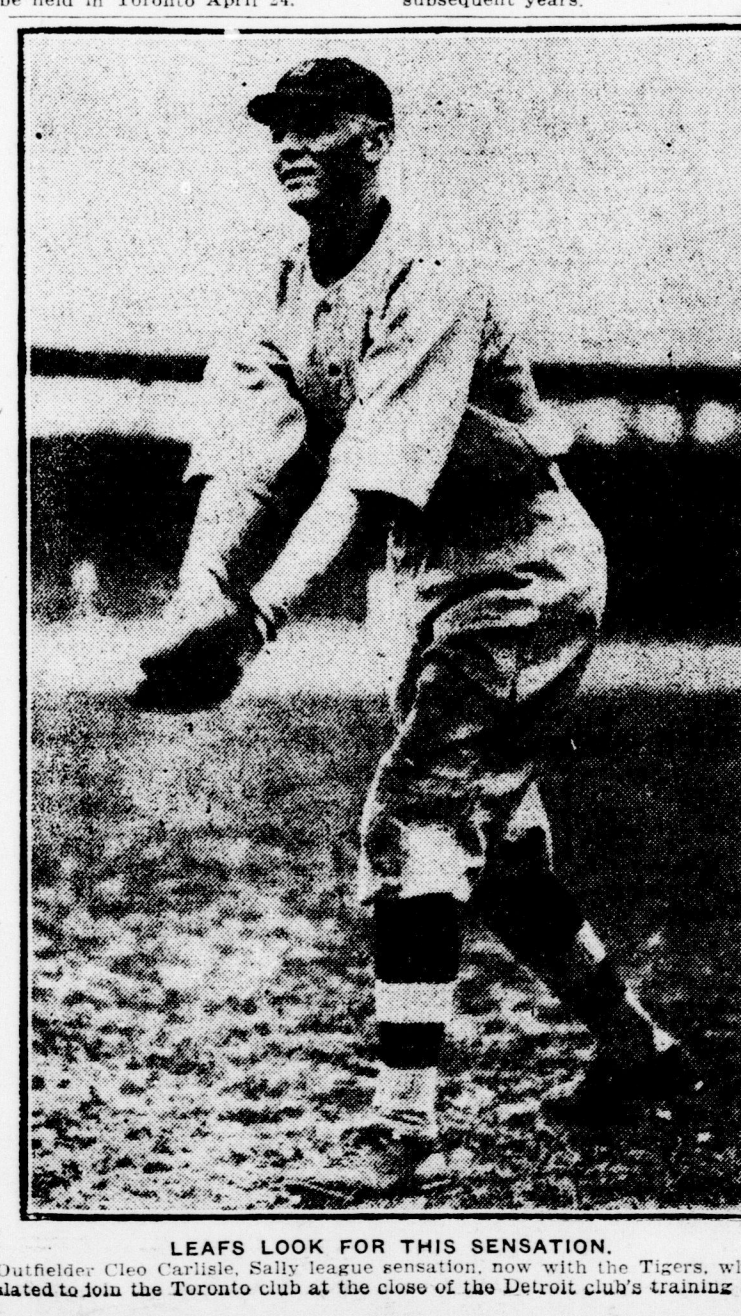

St. Marys, April 2.—At a well-attended meeting of the merchants' association, held in the town hall this morning, the question of summer half-holidays was discussed at some length. Last year at the request of the merchants the town council passed a bylaw setting aside Wednesday afternoon during the months of May, June, July and August as a holiday, and at that time it was understood that the bylaw was to be effective every year. However, it was apparently drawn up for 1924 only, and although some opposition developed at the meeting this morning a motion was passed setting aside the same afternoon as a half-holiday and calling upon the town council to amend the bylaw to cover subsequent years.

Annual Meeting in Toronto Saturday Promises To Make History.

Special to The Advertiser.

Toronto, April 2.—The Ontario baseball amateur association's annual meeting, booked for Saturday, April 4, at the Carls-Rite hotel, promises to make history in the amateur baseball movement in this province.

President MacFarlane of Harrison has planned to open the session at 9:30 a.m. The report and lengthy list of amendments, as well as the election of officers, necessitates an early start in order that the work of the convention can be finished in time for the delegates to catch evening trains.

The credentials committee will be ready at 9 a.m. to accept fees and lists of various delegates, thereby eliminating any undue delay.

All leagues are reminded that by the bylaws and constitution of the association must be paid before their representatives may participate in the proceedings.

This year's executive is holding its final meeting at the Carls-Rite Friday evening to clean up the work of the past year.

OTTAWA KEPT IT

Threatens To Issue Warrant For York Registrar For Non-Appearance.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Toronto, April 2.—Mr. Justice Logie harked back to his soldiering days and the great war this morning when called upon in the weekly court to interpret the will of the late William Jones, drawn up on the form supplied to the members of the Canadian expeditionary forces. Jones was a member of the 13th Canadian Battalion at the time. Col. Logie commanded the Toronto military district.

"This is the form I protested against," said his lordship, "but some silly person at Ottawa insisted on retaining it."

Incidentally Mr. Justice Logie was annoyed because A. P. Wells, surrogate registrar for York county, who had been subpoenaed, did not appear with the will.

Presently a young lady from the surrogate registrar's office appeared with the document. It bore crosses in the place of names in some of the blanks.

The dispute was between the widow of the testator and his daughter by a former wife. About $1,300 is involved and Mr. Justice Logie advised adjustment.

SATURDAY DECIDES GIRLS' WOSSA TITLE

South Collegiate Meets Walkerville High in Final Game Here.

Taking as a good omen the fact that always heretofore they have played better when faced with a handicap, the South C. I. girls are confident that on Saturday night, when they meet the Walkerville team at the Askin street gymnasium, the final game to decide the W. O. S. S. A. championship for 1925, they will live up to all precedents they have set in this direction and come out ahead on the round for the girls' cage title of Western Ontario.

They have been drilling hard since their setback in the distillery town, and this, coupled with the fact that they will be playing on the home floor, and with a home crowd behind them, should give the local ladies the edge since the W. O. S. S. A. was formed that a London girls' team has gone as far as the finals, widespread interest is being taken in this important engagement.

The game will start as soon as the preliminary set-to between the Central I. inter-year champions and the South seconds is finished. The opening match is slated to get under way at 8 o'clock.

The choir of seventeen men gave special music. A woman's meeting will be held in the near future.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, April 2.—Trading on the Montreal stock exchange this morning continued slow, but prices showed a slight improvement, net gains outstanding. The market was active, with a volume of 1,000,000 shares. The closing prices of the leading stocks were: Atlantic Refining, 10 1/2; United States Steel, 34 1/2; General Motors, 24 1/2; Ford Motor, 20 1/2; and Standard Oil, 18 1/2.

Local Market

Although the weather was ideal, few farmers or hucksters appeared on the local market this morning. Theories advanced for the slump in trade were many, one being that it was Friday, and another that farmers of London town-soup will start their spring plowing and seeding on Monday morning. Nine loads of hay were brought to the city, the price ranging from $10 to $15 a ton. Two farmers received the latter for their produce. The demand is still slow, all the dealers being filled to capacity at the present time. In sympathy with hay, oats are extremely slow, and only five loads passed over the weigh scales this morning. The one price offered was $1.55 per cwt. Oats did not meet with approval from many of the farmers, who expected a higher figure. Wheat was offered, and the demand is still slow. Butter and eggs are firm at yesterday's prices. Live hogs are firm at $12.25. Dressed hogs sell at $16. Tomorrow's market will in all probability be larger than usual, and accordingly many will expect a rise in the markets in size and offerings so far this spring. Many a crop will be the main feature tomorrow, and as this will likely be the last, those who have not as yet secured their supplies are advised to do so. Grain, Per Bushel: Barley, per bu., $4 to $4 1/2; Oats, per bu., $3 to $3 1/2; Wheat, per bu., $1.60 to $1 1/2. LONDON SINGERS PRESENT EXCELLENT COMIC OPERA

"Princess Bulbul" Given in First Presbyterian Sunday School.

CHARACTERS GOOD

An excellent comic opera was presented in the First Presbyterian Sunday school auditorium last night, when a number of splendid singers gave the cleverly arranged "Princess Bulbul".

No one character can receive too much praise. The opening chorus, which followed an excellent overture by the orchestra was all that it should be and the catchy words and music brought the audience right into the pretty garden of the palace, where the chorists were gathered. Then into the center of the afternoon promenade of the courtiers came King Imit, a well-meaning but fussy monarch, who stales, among other things, that the price of fish is much too high. He was very practical. Lady Ida, the court chamberlain, also entered with the king, and together they conversed on the subject at hand, the betrothal of the beautiful princess of the palace.

The role of the king is splendidly taken by J. W. Peart, while Lady Ida made a stern, but not too stern, chamberlain. Between the king's arrival and that of the princess, there was a bit of brisk conversation, during which the Keeper of the Royal Specie, as portrayed in a humorous manner by Don Payne, and the Keeper of the Royal Cash Box, well played by Samuel Perry, brought a hearty laugh from the audience.

Tells of Broken Heart.

The came the princess friend, Lilla, and in this role Miss Gladys Burns played excellently. With much grace she told of the broken heart of the princess, who entered after a snappy little chorus by her maids of honor, Miss Christie Wright was charming, and her sweet voice held the audience under its spell while she further related her story.

Then came the prince, splendidly portrayed by Rupert Crouch, disguised as a peddler of perfume, and immediately upon his entrance he captivated the audience. The cast included also, Alain, a friend of the prince, Fred Phelps; maids of honor to Bulbul, Miss Irene Brown, Miss Dorothy Dickson, Miss Edna Cossey, Miss Violet Partridge, Mrs. J. W. Peart, Miss Donna Schram and Miss Lillian Santo; ladies of the court, Mrs. Rupert Crouch, Mrs. E. S. Detweiler, Miss Jean Fyfe, Mrs. Gordon Gerald, Mrs. Fred Granger, Mrs. Roland Munro, Miss Blanche St. Clair and Miss Irene Brown, Mrs. Marshall, Miss Jean Maitland, Miss M. Maitland, Miss Donna Schram and Mrs. R. J. Stevenson, and friends of Prince Phelps, Mrs. H. Rennie, Mrs. H. Shuttlesworth, Mrs. C. Sweet, Dr. E. S. Detweiler and Hugh Shuttlesworth.

The splendid production will also be repeated this evening.

Music Is Excellent.

All through the play there was music just as excellent as that of the opening chorus, and the play was indeed attractive. The cast included also, Alain, a friend of the prince, Fred Phelps; maids of honor to Bulbul, Miss Irene Brown, Miss Dorothy Dickson, Miss Edna Cossey, Miss Violet Partridge, Mrs. J. W. Peart, Miss Donna Schram and Miss Lillian Santo; ladies of the court, Mrs. Rupert Crouch, Mrs. E. S. FEW PERSONS ARE "BORN" TIRED!

"Loss of Pep" is the way they characterize lack of energy, inability to stand even an ordinary day's work without getting exhausted. And they state that this "loss of Pep" is not merely a mental condition to be dismissed with a rest cure, but a serious condition necessitating adequate attention.

Doctors seem to be agreed that with rare exceptions all human beings should be full of vitality, hope, and ambition, alert and courageous to seize every opportunity. That so many of us do not feel that way—don't seem to be able to stand the "gaff"—is attributed mainly to the faulty diet of the average family. Their diagnosis might be condensed as follows: Most people don't have pep because they don't eat it! Folks themselves with foods that only over-load their stomachs without properly nourishing their bodies.

They try to stimulate themselves with "false pep". The modern message of common sense is: If you want alertness and pep, eat and get rather than full. Eat more vegetables, fruit and cereals with your meals and drink milk.

Brand's A-1 Sauce a Favorite.

It was back in 1835 that Brand's A-1 Sauce was first produced and welcomed upon the dining tables of Britons. It immediately found high favor in England and the British possessions.

People of today, like people ninety years ago, select the thick sauce for roast, steaks, chops, fish, oysters, rather than the more lightly constituted relishes.

Brand and Company, Limited, London, England, the proprietors of Brand's A-1 Sauce, have never permitted the quality of this product to deteriorate, nor its flavor and consistency to vary.

LACK OF LIGHTS BRINGS PROTEST

Knollwood Park Deputation Will Wait On Council Committee.

If nothing is done about the lighting of Oxford street east between Quebec street and Curry street, the committee appointed by the Knollwood Park and District Improvement association will wait on No. 1 committee of the city council in an effort to settle the matter which has been hanging fire. This was decided upon at a lively meeting held in the basement of the Church of the Resurrection attended by 20 members last night.

The lack of lights on a street rendered dangerous at night on account of side ditches brought considerable comment from G. C. Fletcher, who had tried to get the city, the township council and the Lorne Heights Syndicate to come to some agreement about lights for the street. It was shown that the Lorne Heights company was willing to pay half the cost if the city or the township council would bear the other half.

The original committee which has been working on the question will take the matter up again. The members are G. C. Fletcher, F. Horler and P. Lavender.

Town planning came up for discussion. It was moved by J. Balch and seconded by J. Oliver that the town planning commission be asked how their plans would affect the district.

Protection against accidents at Quebec street crossing will be taken up through the railway commission. The motion was put by J. Robins, seconded by J. Balch. The matter has been before the city and the C. P. R. but nothing had been done to date, according to the secretary A. A. Williams.

So far as the association is concerned the proposed community hall plans will be dropped. J. Robins moved that since only 22 people had showed sufficient interest in the project to invest their time and money in it, there was not sufficient backing to warrant proceeding with the scheme.

A canvass of the unemployed in the district revealed that four names according to a report read by the secretary.

ANDY QUITE AT HOME IN COMMITTEE MEETING

Special To The Advertiser.
Toronto, April 2.—One of the visitors to Parliament Buildings today was Andrew Hicks, former U. F. O. whip, who turned against Mr. Drury two years ago and lost the U. F. O. nomination in South Huron prior to the last provincial elections. Mr. Hicks, when he is at Queens Park, apparently felt himself quite at home for he was noticed seated alongside the members inside the enclosure in the private bills committee room this morning.

DUFF CHALLENGED TO INVESTIGATE

Glouce Bay Mayor Accuses Him of Ignorance in Caustic Letter.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Halifax, April 2.—Mayor D. W. Morrison, M. L. A. of Glouce Bay, gave out a letter which he addressed to William Duff, M. P., Ottawa. It says in part:

"You have grossly misrepresented conditions in the mining districts of Cape Breton. If you have not done this through ignorance, you have done it for the deliberate purpose of minimizing distress and keeping relief away."

"Conditions existing in the colliery districts of Cape Breton are naked to the eye of any investigator who cares to go there, and no amount of misrepresentation can alter such conditions one iota."

"You say you are prepared to make in the colliery districts the speech you delivered at Ottawa yesterday. We urge you to come to Nova Scotia and to the town of Glouce Bay and there investigate conditions for yourselves."

"Every facility will be provided for such an investigation. I will request the central relief committee in the Glouce Bay colliery districts to supply a guide, and if after this investigation you can repeat on a public platform there the speech you made at Ottawa yesterday then your are not fit to represent the constituency in any British colony."

Canadian Press Despatch.
Glouce Bay, N. S., April 2.—A telegram, signed by District President J. W. McLeod and District Secretary A. A. McKay of the United Mine Workers of America was addressed to Premier Armstrong of Nova Scotia tonight. It was in part as follows:

"You were a strong advocate of increased duties upon imported coal. You went to Ottawa to present the case. The budget of March 24 increased the duty on slack coal from 14 to 50 cents a ton. In an interview of March 24 you were reported as stating the increased duty would benefit the operator in Nova Scotia by 35 cents per ton. Do you believe that this should all go to the operators, or are the employees entitled to some share of the benefit?"

Disorders Possible.

"Our men are chafing under inaction and privation. We have already warned you that disorder may occur. The coal industry of the province is faced with ruin and those dependent upon it with calamity. We have offered to go to work for a year at the 1924 rates, pending an inquiry that will show we are entitled to higher rates."

"Under the laws made by your government, while you were a member of your government, has now full power to recommend mining in Nova Scotia. We want work and a decent living from the coal mining industry in Nova Scotia. Your government has authority to see that we get that. Will you act?"

RUIN! RUIN! RUIN! DR. MANION WEEPS OVER HIS DOMINION

Tory Minister Out-Gibbons Gibbon in Tale of National Woe.

SEES BARREN WASTE Effort Wasted. However, As House Is Inoculated Against Melancholia.

By E. C. BUCHANAN.
 Special to The Advertiser.
 by a Staff Correspondent.
 Ottawa, April 3.—Rome declined before she fell, thereby enabling Gibbon to furnish posterity with a classic record of her passing. Canada can have no such place in history on account of her demise. She sank in ruin so rapidly that only Dr. Manion observed the phenomenon, and any who care to remember that this dominion once flourished must be content with his account of the tragedy.
 He placed it on Hansard today. Those who would delude themselves in the belief that this country still survives should consult it. They will find a tale to tear the heart, and they will go out and lower the flag to the half-mast for a country that was but is no more. Canada has fallen, has fallen.

Excels Ancient Wreckers.
 What the debauched emperors did to the ancient mistress of the world was a graceful thing compared to that which has befallen this country at the hands of Mr. Mackenzie King and fellow-villains of the government.
 They have despoiled her of her honor, dissipated her wealth, betrayed her remnants of her citizenry unemployed and famished. Only the wreck of a country remains, but it has Dr.
 Manion to rectify the terrible wrong.
 For such an historic task the For-William physician marshalled the metaphors of the language. The respects paid by the lawyers in the recent London divorce case to the principals therein might be regarded as highly complimentary if compared with Dr. Manion's description of the prime minister and his colleagues.
 It seemed a pity that it should have been more or less wasted on an innoculated Commons; it would have been so much more appreciated if delivered at a Conservative ward meeting somewhere off the main line.

Wins Decoration.
 If the principal function of a loyal opposition is to denounce the government, Dr. Manion should be decorated as the most active and ambitious of the official opposing faction in the house. Whatever he may lack in reason or logic he makes up in vigor and vehemence. He is at least entertaining, and there are year books and other reference works if one wants dispassionate records. Also there is the calm recital of the country's condition the other day disturbed Dr. Manion.
 He betrayed his disturbance today in his extended effort for Dr. J. H. King, minister of public works, followed,
 and he also was able to describe conditions in the country without getting excited in doing it.

Then Comes Light.
 His description naturally differed from that of Dr. Manion. In fact he had the temerity to maintain that the country was still solvent, that it had some measure of prosperity compared with other countries. It

15 Jobs Solve Labor Problem

Special to The Advertiser.
 Newbury, April 2.—The unemployment question, which has been bothering a large section of this village, was solved today, when "Ted" Woods, veteran C. N. railway man, here, engaged 15 young men for the summer to go with him to assist in laying switches on the government railways. Calvin Babcock, accompanied the party in the capacity of chief. Amongst the boys going were A. Hillman, T. Logan, W.
 Kelly, J. Bell, G. Harcourt, F. Haswell, G. Stocking, B. Woods, W.
 Connelly and T. Brostoff. The boys begin work at Belle River.

was to be gathered that after all the government had some semblance of virtue, that Dr. Manion had only accused the Conservative party's deed in the matter of injury to the country.
 Dr. King believed that nothing that had ever been done to it was as bad as the Conservative party's deed in 1911, when they defeated reciprocity.
 handing the Dominion a gold brick in place of the greatest trade agreement ever framed in behalf of a nation.
 It may be suspected from the tenor of the speeches of the opposing physicians that the budget debate is settling into its conventional, inevitable character. It is the virtues and sins of the parties will be a chief theme from now on. And there is plenty to come. The whips are now figuring on something approaching 50 more speakers. The Progressives have fifteen who are aching to air their views. The Conservatives probably plan on putting up even more. The Liberals will have some replies to make.
 Practically no hope remains of the division coming before the Easter recess. The speaking may continue for a week or more after.

COUNTERFEIT GANG STILL WORKS, CLAIM

Bank Officials Assert Clever Band Producing Bogus Bills.

Canadian Press Despatch.
 Montreal, April 2.—A flood of counterfeit Canadian bank notes menaces Canada. Confiscation of a clumsy amateur counterfeiting plant and the arrest of seven men alleged to have been concerned with its operation by mounted police yesterday does not in any way solve the issue, Beaudry Leman, general manager of La Banque Canadienne Nationale, and other bank officials declared today.

According to Mr. Leman, the plant located by the mounties at L'Assomption had never seen the light of circulation. With a face value of upwards of $150,000, and in denominations of practically every size, the "bills."
 But the bills, it is contended by bankers, "would not fool a child."
 In the meantime, the other plant which started distribution of Banque Canadienne Nationale bills some two weeks ago is still operating, it is stated. That is shown, it is said, by the deposits to the banks in several sections of the province, and these bills are sufficiently cleverly executed to escape detection except by highly competent tellers.

Simultaneously comes corroboration that counterfeiters are busy getting rid of $100 bills purporting to be issued by the Imperial Bank of Canada. These bills, the value of $300,000 turned up in London, England, yesterday, and then it was discovered that a batch of $29,000 worth of them had just been re-shipped to Canada.

At present there is a division of opinion as to whether the Imperial "notes" are being made here or abroad. Police opinion inclines to the former view. With regard to the Banque Canadienne Nationale there is complete agreement that the point of counterfeiting is in Canada.

CANADIAN IN DETROIT ANXIOUS TO BE HOME

Former Kitchener Girl Arrested Twice For Alleged Possession of Drugs.

Special to The Advertiser.
 Detroit, April 2.—Cassie Cook, 18, nurse, who claims Kitchener as her home, says six months in the United States has convinced her what a wonderful place Canada is.

Within this time Cassie has been arrested twice for alleged possession of narcotics, and now faces trial on that charge. After that is over immigration officials plan to deport her to Kitchener.

She was brought before Judge Simons and pleaded not guilty. She was released on $1,000 bond.
 Cassie told the judge she was caring for a patient on Second boulevard, and that was how she happened to have narcotics.

"I wish they would deport me;
 I've had too much trouble in this country," she said today.

EGYPTIAN KING OPENS GEOGRAPHICAL CONGRESS

Associated Press Despatch.
 Cairo, Egypt, April 2.—King Fuad yesterday opened the international geographical congress. The opening took place in the opera house, which was crowded with delegates.

Ziwar Pasha, the premier, delivered a speech in which he welcomed the visitors to Egypt in the name of King Fuad. Prof. Nicola Vacchelli, director of the institute for military geography at Florence, Italy, spoke on the objects of the congress, alluding specifically to such subjects as unification of map scales, conventional signs and the spelling of names.
