THE DEED OF A HERO

Steps Aside to Allow his Married Friend to Escape and was Himself Fatally Scalded.

"You go first, Jim! Were the Words Which Sealed the Doom of The Hero.

Indianapolis, May 12. — William Phelps, of Richmond, Ky., and James Stansbury, of this city, were cleaning the inside of an upright boiler at the Cerebral Mills this afternoon, when an employe turned on the steam, thinking the cock was tight. It leaked and the scalding steam poured in on the two men.

The only exit was up a ladder to a man-hole in the top. Both jumped for the ladder.

Phelps reached it first, took a step and jumped. He jumped aside and shouted:

"You go first, Jim! you are married!"

Stansbury sprang up the ladder and escaped with slight burns about his face and legs.

Though Phelps hurried at his heels his act of heroism cost him his life. By the time he had followed Stansbury up the ladder the flesh was dropping from his limbs. He lived two hours.

DISASTROUS FIRE AT DETROIT

Blaze Sweeps the West Bank of the River Rouge—Heavy Loss With Small Insurance

Detroit, Mich., May 12.—Fanned by a 35-mile-an-hour wind, fire this afternoon swept the west bank of the Rouge River, in Delray, a suburb of the south of Detroit, for three-quarters of a mile, and destroyed over $800,000 worth of property. Following are the losses:—Sallotte & Furgeson, lumber mill, $50,000; covered by insurance. Brownlee & Co.'s mill, salt block, and part of their stock of lumber, $45,000; insurance, $15,000. The Western Union Telegraph office, loss on cedar poles stored in a yard which was swept by the flames, about $800,000; insurance unknown; and Carlin, Stickney & Cram, loss on dredge which was tied up at Sallotte & Furgeson's dock, $70,000; insurance unknown; Malby Lumber Company, cedar poles, $50,000; insurance $25,000. The fire originated on the roof of the Sallotte & Furgeson lumber mill. The fire spread into the large yard which the Western Union Telegraph Co. used as a storage point for cedar telegraph poles. The yard is the distributing point for ten States, and over 100,000 poles were stored there. The fire swept through the great yard which comprises about eight acres, in less than two hours, but the poles blazed until far into the night. The lumber yard of G. A. Rauppe & Co. in Ecourse, about a mile from Delray, was set on fire by sparks from a passing engine, and 500,000 feet of lumber was destroyed. The loss is about $75,000; covered by insurance.

DEWET RESUMES ATTACK WITH FORCE OF 2,000 MEN

More Boer Losses are Reported—Mrs. Botha Will Ask Kruger to Urge Her Husband to Yield—More Praise for Canadians.

London, May 13.—General De Wet, according to a despatch to the Daily Mail from Pretoria, has resumed operations, and is reported to have crossed into the Transvaal with 2,000 men.

BRITISH OPERATIONS. London, May 11.—Lord Kitchener reports to the War Office, under date of Pretoria, May 10, as follows:—"Since May 5th 28 Boers have been killed, six wounded, 130 taken prisoners, and 183 have surrendered. Nine thousand rounds of ammunition, 180 wagons, 1,500 horses and large quantities of grain and stock have been captured."

MRS. BOTHA TO INTERVIEW KRUGER.

Durban, May 11.—Mrs. Botha, wife of the Boer commander-general, has arrived here en route to Holland, where she will see Mr. Kruger and request him to urge her husband to abandon the war. She speaks highly of the treatment accorded her by the British. She is accompanied by a number of Boer ladies.

RHODES AS PREMIER.

Cape Town, May 11.—The South African News-to-day declares it has been decided to reconstruct the Ministry, with Cecil Rhodes as Premier, Dr. Jameson as Colonial Secretary and Sir John Gordon Sprigg as Treasurer. The Premier (Sir John Gordon Sprigg), however, authorizes a statement that there is no foundation of the reports of the reconstruction of the Cabinet.

CANADIAN RECRUITS.

Ottawa, May 12.—His Excellency the Governor-General has received the following cablegram from the Secretary of State for the Colonies:

"London, May 9.—His Majesty's Government have received with much pleasure the following message from the High Commissioner for South Africa:—

"Inspector-General of South African Constabulary reports favorably on Canadian recruits. The average physique of the men is splendid, and they seem to be well fitted for their duties. Regret that owing to my departure have not yet had time to see them myself.—Miner.—(Signed) Chamberlain."

24TH KENT REGIMENT ATTENDS DIVINE SERVICE

Magnificent Parade Yesterday Morning—Admirable Address and Exquisite Music—Col. Rankin Compliments Drill-Sergt. Legge and the Regiment.

"Behold the finest military organization that has ever had its home in the Maple City! In the days of the old 24th Battalion, there was a time when Nos. 1 and 2 companies were in splendid shape, but they never compared with this."

Such was the eulogistic comment by an old citizen on the 24th Regiment yesterday on the occasion of their attendance at divine worship at the First Presbyterian church. Whether he was right or wrong, it is hard to say, but this much can be said, that the 24th Regiment made a splendid showing yesterday.

The privates were all on hand at the armory at 10.30 and responded promptly to the bugle call, "Fall In."

At 10.40 Col. Rankin gave the command to march, and the 24th Regiment, headed by their band, of which the soldiers are deservedly proud, filed from the drill shed in double column. The band furnished excellent music for the march.

The three centre sections of the edifice had been reserved for the soldiers. The pulpit and front of the church were brightened with palms and the flowers of the season—tulips, apple, plum, and cherry blows and blossoms.

Rev. W. E. Knowles, pastor of the church, delivered an excellent sermon. He chose as his subject—"Righteousness exalteth a nation." In the course of his remarks, Mr. Knowles said:—

"Life is merely a multitude of aspects. We have our duty to ourselves, to our home, to our church, and to society. But a larger and more comprehensive aspect of life is our duty in the relationship of citizen. This national instinct is God-given. From the earliest history we find it. Every man by his life contributes everlasting glory or shame to the nation to which he belongs.

How can the nation remain unscathed? This verse from Proverbs gives the answer—Righteousness exalteth a nation. Not arms, nor commerce, not science, but righteousness. The same laws that have been the ruin of nations in the past will prove the downfall of our own. British Empire should she indulge in them. Her morals and integrity have been her bulwark in the past. If she ever descends from lofty pinnacle the cause will be—not outside competition, but her own sins. Righteousness is the only lasting supremacy. If Britain is true, as in days gone by, to equity and justice, she will hold her present supremacy. If not she will fall as others have fallen before her.

This test of righteousness can be applied to every department of national life. There is nothing so hideous as an unjust war. It means the sending of thousands to an unprepared end, and all for an unrighteous cause. But when a war is undertaken in the defence of freedom against oppression we have a righteous war. It is such a war we are at present trying to bring to a close. About eighteen months ago a haughty, impudent, ignorant tyrant sent an impudent ultimatum that we should leave our own country or be deprived of our rights. He had forgotten, if he ever knew, that Britons never shall be slaves. It was then that the flower of our manhood grasped the sword and went forth to defend the rights that Britons had won for themselves in former times with their own blood. It was then that were fought those battles that have given additional glory to British arms. It is the honor thus won that you have to keep and maintain. Remember the traditions that surround the red coat that you wear to-day. It falls to you to keep these traditions unswerving. Let no man do or say anything inconsistent with the honor of the country he serves. History is too young and those graves too green for us to say what will be the effect of this war on our nation. But I dare say that those men who shed their blood in South Africa will be remembered as heroes until the future dares to forget the past. Be men, worthy followers of such heroes. And to myself, to you and to all I would say, be worthy soldiers of the God above.

fine music was rendered, including the anthem, "With Sheathed Swords," by the full choir, under the direction of Mrs. John Cooper. But the feature of the occasion was the perfect rendition of the magnificent solo, "Judith," by Mrs. Cooper. The accomplished vocalist has rarely been heard to better advantage than in this exquisite contribution.

A little confusion arose during the withdrawal of the regiment from the church, but the soldiers acquitted themselves well on the return march to the armory.

Before dismissing his men, Colonel Rankin thanked the regiment for the willingness with which they had turned out. He asked them also to make a pride in the regiment so that it might become the best in the country. As it was true that on the integrity and stability of the individual depended the integrity and stability of the state, so on the excellence of the private depended the excellence of the regiment. The regiment had acquitted themselves nobly on parade and, if a mistake had been made in departing from the church, there was no ground for regret as it was only by making mistakes that immature work would be learned. It was only fair to the regiment to say that the trouble arose through a misunderstanding between the ushers and the captains as to the seating of the soldiers.

In concluding, Colonel Rankin said that he was pleased to state that Drill Instructor, Sergeant Legge, had been given two weeks longer in Chatham. The Colonel had seen drill instructors in regiments of the line, but he had met none so thorough, careful and considerate as Sgt. Legge. Great credit was due the Sergeant for the excellent showing the 24th Regiment had made on parade.

REGIMENTAL GOSSIP.

How well our Colonel fits his uniform!

Capt. Massey has the true military figure.

Pipe clay made quite an improvement in the appearance of the helmets.

We're proud of our band.

What's the matter with our drum major? He'll do.

Somebody said there was a "little agitation" in C Company.

The marching of Drill Sgt. Legge on the parade was much admired. It will well repay all the recruits to model their march after their instructor.

The order of parade was as follows:

Lt.-Col. J. B. Rankin commanding.

Staff Officer—Capt. D. W. B. Spry, Adjutant.

Sergt. Major, Geo. E. Embrey; Drill Sgt. Legge, R. C. E.; Q. M., Sgt. Jos. Hadley; Orderly Room Clerk, R. L. Brackin; Acting Drum Major, Pte. M. Douglas. Total—5.

Band—Bandmaster, H. C. Philip; Sergt. Maisenville; Bandmen, 22. Total, 24.

Bugle Corps—Acting Bugle Major, W. Plummeridge; Buglers, 4. Total 5.

"A" Company—Capt. J. W. McLaren, commanding; Lieuts., Owen Watson, G. S. Heyward; 4 Sergeants, 24 Privates. Total—31.

"B" Company—Capt. Edwin Bell, commanding; Lieut. A. T. Macdonald; 4 Sergeants, 20 Privates. Total—25.

"C" Company—Capt. William Morbray, commanding; Lieut. J. S. Black; 4 Sergeants, 29 Privates. Total—35.

"D" Company—Capt. George Massey, commanding; Lieuts. Fred. Stone, H. A. Willoughby; 4 Sergeants, 24 Privates. Total—31.

Total, all ranks,—159.

The query of the members of the regiment is—"What shall the emblem be?" It has been suggested that the design be a Tecumseh rampant on a black ground and in the distance the figure of Proctor, the coward, running away.

Bandmaster Harry C. Philip, Color-Sergeant Brackin and Private Macpherson, members of the choir, took their accustomed places in uniform. Even the elements were kind. It rained before and after, but not while.

The officers will be brilliant when their new uniforms come.

MILITIA AT CHURCH.

Yesterday morning the 24th Kent Regiment held their first church parade, attending the First Presbyterian church. Again the soldiers did themselves credit. Enthusiastically admiring citizens thronged the route and the church was crowded.

The service was a most fitting and appropriate one. Rev. Mr. Knowles, the pastor of the church, preached a magnificent discourse and the musical part of the service was exceptionally enjoyable.

It is to be hoped that the regiment will continue these church parades at stated intervals, visiting the various city sanctuaries. They will prove both pleasurable and profitable.

Perhaps the feature of the parade deserving of special encomium was the band, the martial music of which was magnificent and inspiring. The regiment possesses one of the finest bands in the country. It is unfortunate, however, that the band is unable to turn out in full strength. The officers of the regiment should see to it that no red tape is allowed to cripple this most important factor of their parades.

THE SORROWS OF OTTAWA.

On Friday night there was to have been a council meeting at Ottawa, records the Hamilton Post. A quorum did not turn up, but a great many citizens did, and the mayor turned the proceedings into a mass-meeting, in which he and a few aldermen lambasted each other to the infinite delight of the public.

The remarkable chaos in the affairs of the municipality of Ottawa continues, and grows more without form and void every day. Each afternoon the city clerk places on file a letter from someone asking someone else to apologize — which none ever does; and each evening a meeting is held at which every member of the civic administration puts the blame for the financial deadlock on somebody else. The last demand for an apology is from Ald. Lewis, who demands one from the mayor. It is generally supposed that Ald. Lewis wants the mayor to apologize for asking him (the alderman) to apologize a few days back. There is no money for anything. The teachers are clamoring for their pay, the school board threatens a suit, the mayor has told the finance committee that they ought to resign, and has taken revenge on the aldermen by announcing that no member of the council will be permitted to shirk any vote (not a bad idea, by the way). And Ald. Ellis clamors for an apology.

All of which, in conjunction with the delightful state of affairs at St. Catharines, shows that the municipal law of Ontario is not exactly perfect.

JAPAN, CHINA AND RUSSIA.

Canada has more than a sentimental interest in all these three countries just now. There will soon be increased openings for trade with them and wide expansion of commerce, of the Chinese imbraglo be quieted and peace retained.

We are sometimes unduly discouraged by the overwhelming wealth and population of the United States. It seems hopeless to contend with them, but the example of Belgium—a mere dot on the map by acreage, not so very much exceeding us in population, and surrounded by the competition of mighty nations—should cheer and spur us, since that little Kingdom has so forged ahead that Antwerp is in the list of the world's four greatest seaports.

British Columbia is most favorably situated with respect to Asiatic trade, having advantage over the Pacific States of the Union, in nearness, and admirably served by the C. P. R. boats. It has also advantage over Ontario in freights. Beans are in large demand in Japan and there is no reason why our Pacific Province cannot compete with Manchuria in the export of this cereal to the Japanese market, which in '96 imported a total of $94,802,667 of all products. To it, we already ship coal, fish and fish products, butter, cheese, spirits and wines, tobacco, sugar and planks and boards. The value of these exports which was $29,801 in '87, jumped to $140,706 in '97 and $148,728 in '98. Canned goods give a British Columbian item of promise.

In China, furs are eagerly bought by the Mandarins and among the wealthier classes and openings exist for food products. If the manufacture of steel rails and structural steel beams is firmly established in Canada, there will be a large demand for these during railway extension.

To China, we send cotton and manufactures of cotton, metals, minerals and manufactures of minerals, planks

Scrofula

Is a disease as old as antiquity, and as young as the newest born infant.

It has infested the blood of humanity from ancient times down to the present minute.

It is hereditary or may be acquired. It appears in swollen glands, scrofulous sores, hip disease, boils, pimples, eruptions, and, as believed by high authorities, even in the forms of catarrh and rheumatism.

It can be cured by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla faithfully and persistently. We know this, because Hood's Sarsaparilla has done it.

It will cure you if you give it a trial. You should begin to take it today.

Hip Disease—"I suffered from hip disease; had 5 running sores; used crutches and each winter I was confined to my bed for weeks at a time. Hood's Sarsaparilla has accomplished a perfect cure—saved my life. I have a good appetite and feel strong and well." ANNIE ROBERT, 49 Fourth St., Fall River, Mass.

In Her Eyes—"My little girl had scrofula and sores appeared in her eyes. A few bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla entirely cured her and she has never had scrofula since." Mrs. Howard Pope, Alpha, Oregon. N. B. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to buy any other.

and boards. The value of our exports between '77 and '87 remained practically stationary, $37,129 and $37,905, but in '97 made a tremendous jump to $761,399, falling back, it is true, in '98 to $363,191, but proving its latent powers of expansion.

There is an exodus from Russia to Siberia which vast region is of orange agricultural and pastoral capacity, in spite of the bad name which still clings to it as it used to cling to our own Northwest. Over 200,000 Russians emigrate to Siberia yearly with high Government inducements to settle. Manchuria will be similarly colonized in the new future and the manufacturing resources of Russia are wholly insufficient to provide so vast a region with reapers, mowers, and other agricultural machines and tools, to say nothing of clothing and food. Russia, therefore, in order to cope with this enormous army of consumers, will be compelled to learn an open custom house door for foreign goods for some years and we should get our share of the trade. With the completion and consolidation of the Siberian railway the Russian immigration into Siberia and Manchuria will increase by leaps and bounds and draw our nationalities into its vortex. Our exports to Russia are only in their infancy, but rose from $4,508 in the first year of record, '97 to $20,466 in '98.

All the expansion of trade hinges on the quieting of the climate troubles and the staying off of war between Japan and Russia—matters too momentous to be managed at the fag end of an article, but which will be dealt with hereafter.

GET READY FOR THE ELECTIONS.

The Liberal-Conservative Association throughout the Province should lose no time in perfecting their organization, says the Toronto World. Premier Ross may at any time dissolve the Legislature and bring on a general election. He is just waiting for a favorable opportunity to appeal to the country. The starting of the electrical development at Niagara Falls looks very much like the incipient signs of an election. The government's action in extending the life of the next session should be regarded only as a ruse to put the opposition off its guard. Premier Ross finds himself in such a tight corner that he will resort to any expedient to save himself. We, therefore, advise Liberal-Conservatives to get into fighting shape at once. They owe it as a duty to themselves and to the country, to see that the Grit family compact is broken up for good this time. After a quarter of a century's rule, this compact has become despotic, corrupt and impotent. The country has resolved that the despotism and corruption shall at last be brought to an end. The surest indication of the government's doom is the widespread feeling that exists among the Liberals all over the country that a change is absolutely necessary in the interests of the Province and the country. All that is required of the Liberal-Conservative party at the present juncture is that it will get into fighting shape and that it will be prepared for the contest whenever it may come off. Victory is certain if any kind of a decent fight is made by the party. The government was practically beaten at the last election. It only retained its grip on office by having recourse to trickery, corruption and fraud. The country is ready to bring the government's carnival of corruption to an end. It is to be hoped that Liberal-Conservatives all over the Province will begin at once to prepare for the campaign. The prospects are most encouraging. The benefits that will accrue to the country from a change of government are sufficient to repay the efforts of all those who take an active part in bringing it about.

The Mail and Empire says that the teachings of Toronto are compelled to "at times resort to capital punishment." Is this really on the dead?

TALK ABOUT THE TWO SHAM-ROCKS.

Southampton, May 11.—The broken gaff of the Shamrock II. was sent ashore for repairs immediately after the accident, and every endeavor was put forth with a view to a resumption of the trials to-day, but Captain Seymour says it will be impossible to start before Monday. Both the professional and amateur yachtsmen who have watched the belling mainsail, cut in American fashion, hitherto used in the trials of the Shamrock II., have condemned it as a disgraceful piece of work. The new mainsail which is now being prepared is therefore being cut with the cloth running crosswise, so set as nearly as possible as flat as in the case of the Shamrock I. The trial given the Columbia's pattern of mainsail was in order that the respective merits of the sails might be fully tested. But yachtsmen found that it was not so easy to pick up the power of wind, so they determined to stick to the flat sail to which all British skippers pin their faith.

HINNEY'S UNITED STATES BAND

Chicago's Favorite Musical Organization will Visit Chatham Tuesday, May 21.

With their many different sets of uniforms, including the famous red, white and blue uniform combination, the immense library of the most standard, popular and classic music of numerous famous and brilliant soloists and artists, Hinney's United States Band, now considered by many to be superior to any organization in the country, comes to Chatham on Tuesday, May 21st.

Referring to the play in general, Boston Journal has said: "It has in a course of constant surprise, such such music so admirably rendered."

is a conductor Frederick Phinney beyond doubt the equal of the finest of the world's affairs. The mirror not be the right kind, but its duty is to lead the people to consciousness.

HURRY UP!

Everywhere one hears that expression "hurry up!" It is a genuine American expression of the "rush" in which we live. Nothing is worth enough for us. We race against steam and lightning and find them slow. We grudge the time given to eating and rushing through meals as though life depended upon our haste, but not in that sense. Look at the obituary columns of the papers and see how many prominent men are carried away by "stomach trouble," "acute indigestion" and other related diseases. Their lives have in general been sacrificed to the haste and rush of business which overlooked the fact that food can only nourish the body when digested and assimilated and that the digestive and assimilative processes can't be hurried.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, cures diseases of the stomach and the associated organs of digestion and nutrition. The source of all physical strength is food, properly digested and perfectly assimilated. By enabling the perfect digestion and assimilation of food "Golden Medical Discovery" increases and enriches the blood supply and sends new strength to every organ of the body.

"I was at one time as I thought almost at death's door," writes Mr. J. S. Bell, of Evans, Van Buren Co., Iowa. "I was confined to my house and part of the time to my bed. I had taken quantities of medicines, but they only seemed to feed the disease; but I must say that Golden Medical Discovery has cured me and today I am stouter than I have been for twenty years. I am now forty-three years old."

FREE. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser sent free to you on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send fifty one-cent stamps for cloth bound book, or thirty-one stamps for paper covered, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Slandering the Cook. Here is something that a woman who knows says is a sure diagnosis of the status of the cook. If you have a good cook, you may be more or less sure that she will look too frequently upon the wine when it is red. It is an unfortunate fact, but if the cook is less than a $40 cook, a little annoyance as possible may be expected from this weakness. Possibly it will never make itself manifest enough to be known above stairs. But if the cook has risen higher in the social scale of cooks than $40, then look out. A cook who is rated at over $40 may be expected to smash things.

If one chances to make a morning call at the house of a friend and discovers the servants crowded up stairs, frightened and trembling, while from below come the sounds of ironware skating across the kitchen and pottery crashing against the wall and between times the voice of the masculine head of the family gently expostulating or commanding in would be stern tones, then it may be known that that household has reached the dignity of a $50 or $60 cook.

ST. THOMAS Business COLLEGE

The growth of this institution during the last two years has been wonderful. The attendance has been doubled on account of the thorough course of training which we give. One of our young men is now drawing a salary of $1,500 a year; another $200; others from $400 to $800. Within the last month two of our students have gone direct from the College to positions paying $500 a year. WE QUALIFY OUR STUDENTS TO FILL THE BEST POSITIONS.

Young people are foolish to spend the best part of their lives learning Latin, French and the dead languages, when a few months spent in our Commercial or Shorthand Department will fit them to earn salaries like the above.

SEEK REDRESS IN COURT

Leon Reaume will ask Damages for the Alienation of His Wife's Affections.

Accuses Two Men of Winning Her Away—She is Now the Mother of a Bouncing Boy.

Leon Reaume is in sad trouble.
Leon is a man of middle age and is domiciled upon Centre street. He has had troubles—troubles of his own, troubles he has thus far looked within the silence of his manly breast.

But Leon is a philanthropist. He sees the mad recklessness with which so many Maple City lads are courting matrimony and unfurls the danger signal. He has unlocked the devouring secrets of his breast.

This morning Mr. Reaume men-dered into The Planet sanctum and told his sad story. His wife had deserted him, he said. Her affections—once fond and true—had been cruelly alienated. He proposed to seek redress at the hands of the men, who,
he said, had won his spouse from him.
Mr. Reaume said he had borne much in patience, but when he learned yesterday that on Saturday night his wife had given birth to a little son, he said he became "real riled." There was an uncertainty about the particulars of that baby, he claimed, but he would make any husband say things that were not in the book.

"We were married on July 18th last," said Mr. Reaume, when he squared away to tell his story, "and we hadn't lived together very long before my wife left to work for this farmer, whom I now hold accountable with an accomplice for the alienation of my wife's affections. She revisited home twice since then, but finally left on October 8th last and has not been home since."

"What do you propose to do?" Mr.
Reaume was asked.

"What do I propose to do?" he repeated indignantly. "As soon as I heard about this baby I determined I'd take action against these two men for damages. That's what I want you to announce."

Mr. Reaume said he was placing his case in the hands of Judge Houston.

AGED RESIDENT CALLED HOME

Demise of Joseph Blackburn, for Ninety Years a Resident of Chatham Township.

One of Kent's oldest settlers passed away this morning shortly after two o'clock, in the person of Joseph Blackburn. The deceased was in his 90th year, having been born of the 2nd of January, 1812. He was born and brought up in Chatham Township, on lot 12, concession 3.

The deceased was twice married, his first wife being a Miss Arnold, of Harwich, and his second wife, both vives him. He has two children, born by his first wife, Margaret Jane, now Mrs. Merritt, of Wallaceburg, and Walter James, at home.

In politics Mr. Blackburn was a Conservative, and was a member of the Baptist Church. He was highly esteemed by all who knew him.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock from his residence on the 2nd concession to the Baptist Church. Rev. Mr.
Buckingham will conduct the services.

juries Received, now on.

The non-jury sittings of the high court, opened this afternoon before Chief Justice Sir William Meredith.
There were four cases entered for trial but, of these, two, Becker vs. Thornton, and Russell vs. Russell, were settled, judgment being given by consent.
When court opened, the bar was represented by Edward Meredith, Mr.
Judd, of London, John Frazer, Wallaceburg, Judge Houston, O. L. Lewis, Will G. Richards, Edwin Bell, M.
Wilson, K. C., Lt.-Col. Rankin, K. C.,
Thomas Scullard and W. F. Smith.
The judge first disposed of the two cases settled by consent.

Russell vs. Russell.—An action brought by Wm. Russell, of the township of Tilbury East, against Florence
M. Russell, and five infants, the widow and children, respectively, of the plaintiff's son, the late Isaac P. Judson, Russell, deceased, who died in October last, for recovery of possession of the w. h. of lot No. 165, Talbot of the township of Tilbury East. The widow and children claim the title through deceased under the Statute of Limitations. The property is valued at about $6,000. Judgment was directed to be entered for the defendants on terms of consent.
Minutes of judgment, which provide (among other things) for payment by the defendants of $1,000 to the plaintiff, who is thereupon to convey to them all estate or interest which he may have therein. M. Houston, for plaintiff, O. L. Lewis for defendant.

Becker vs. Thornton.—An action to recover possession of land in the Gore of Chatham township, near Wallace-burg, the defendants, Thornton, set up Statute of Limitation and claimed the property as their own. Judgment in terms of consent, minutes filed.
Frazer for plaintiff, Lewis for defendants. Thornton, Edwin Bell for other defendants.

The case of Leitch vs. Chatham township, was first taken up. This is an action for $2,000 damages. Mr.
Leitch was driving along the Prince Albert road in Chatham township one dark night, and drove into the ditch.
As a result he had three ribs broken and sustained other injuries in consequence of which the plaintiff claims permanent injury. A plan of the road was put in. The evidence of a number of civil engineers was taken. M.
Wilson, K. C., Chatham, and Meredith & Co., London, for plaintiff, Frazer & Bell for defense.

Sloan vs. Sloan, an action for dower between the widow of the late Samuel Sloan, the elder, of Harwich, widow, and the late Samuel Sloan, the younger, Lt.-Col. Rankin, B. A., K.
C., for plaintiff, W. F. Smith, contra.

AMERICAN TOWNS

That Have Been Buried Like Pompeii.—The plateau dwellers of Arizona.

calamity like that which buried Pompeii once befell the plateau dwellers' villages of Arizona.

Arid, sun-baked stretches of almost treeless mesas now greet the eye where once flourishing towns stood. The relics left behind are found with difficulty.

An almost impenetrable and apparently endless expanse of lava forms a coverlid for the ruined villages. Energetic and enthusiastic men have, however, accomplished much, and among them is Cecil A. Deane, custodian of the war relic room in the State House at Denver.

Mr. Deane spent many weeks last fall searching the forlorn plateaus south of Holbrook for traces of its ancient inhabitants. He brought back with him many objects of absorbing interest which have never been displayed to the public eye and about which no word has been written in explanation.

Some of them tell plainly of the lives of their departed owners, while others afford only the subjects for wonder and conjecture.

In the course of his explorations Mr. Deane found undeniable proofs of a cataclysm of nature. The mesa dwellers were engulfed in a wave of molten lava. To-day, hard, regular and forbidding, it covers the earth to a depth of seventy-two feet where measured. The peaceful habitations of that early man were overspread by a flood of melted rock, which extended over 400,000 acres.

The mesa or plateau dwellers, as they are called, were a large boned people, as their skeletons testify. They lived on the plateaus and cultivated the soil for a livelihood. Ears of corn and pumpkins, calcined by the penetrating heat of lava, have been found in the rooms of stone buildings, proving them to have been an agricultural people.

The scarcity and character of the weapons found in the houses show that the mesa dwellers were not a warlike people nor addicted to hunting. If there were fastidions in those days they evidently did not pursue the monsters. Their spear and arrow heads are but an inch in length, and their stone hatchets were intended for domestic use. Although they dwelt on the mesas and tilled the soil, they had places of refuge among the cliffs.

In the picturesque cliffs of sandstone, which rise to the height of 400 and 500 feet, they tunneled homes for use in time of peril. What they feared no one knows. Perhaps they fled from a stronger race of people which sometimes invaded their land. Perchance some huge prehistoric animals menaced them. So they lived, having two homes—one for peace and the other for time of danger—until at length there was a tremendous eruption which ended their existence.

The objects in possession of Custodian Deane are of varied nature. There is corn which mutely tells of agriculture; sea shells found only in the Pacific Ocean; or of California, proving that the mesa dwellers either visited the distant sea or had communication with other people who had been there.

There is a polished sandstone tube, the use of which baffles imagination; a disc of sandstone strangely marked to resemble the interior of a court and evidently a symbol of some sort; a small sandstone vase with cover, possibly used as a water receptacle; a quartzite metal or primitive corn mill, found six feet below the surface in a grave near the River Plata; it was dressed with stone hammers and is a good bit of work; a slab of sandstone having grooves made by the rubbing of stone axes in sharpening, and called by Mr. Deane "the mesa dwellers' grindstone."

Oddest of all is a piece of sandstone eight inches high by four inches wide and four long, shaped like a Chinese pagoda; it bears the symbolic T window on its side and undoubtedly has an unusual significance, being found in a grave. There are earrings of shell, which show that the ancient people were fond of personal adornment and valued articles from a distance. Their skulls are flattened on the tops, proving that some barbarous custom prevailed among them.

Perhaps a flattened skull was a mark of distinction, as tiny feet are valued among Chinese women. Some day, when science is afforded generous sums for extended exploration, the lava will be penetrated by eager students and perhaps the mystery of the mesa dwellers will be revealed to the world.

The Lightest Substance.
What is the lightest substance in nature? The luminiferous ether, answers Pearson's Weekly. This substance pervades the universe, and by means of its vibrations light is transmitted from place to place. Yet it must be almost absolutely without weight. The earth, the moon and the planets pass through it, but their motion is not perceptibly retarded by it. The calculations of astronomers on the motions of these bodies are based upon the supposition that they are moving through empty space. Yet it is certain that the ether is a substance for it is impossible that empty space should vibrate and by the different modes of its vibration should produce the colors of the solar spectrum, the green of the landscape, the blue of the sky and the varied tints of nature and art. The lightest substance that has been actually weighed is hydrogen gas. It is less than one-fourteenth of the density of the air, and hence it is the best substance for inflating balloons.

NOTES OF THE FARM.

The spraying outfit can be put to good service in giving some of the horses and cows a good spraying as a bath during the warm days.

It is not altogether the aggregate amount of crops, but the profit made in growing them that determines the net gain. We may spend more than we make.

Use fertilizers that contain a large percentage of potash, for potatoes, and put it over the rows, or broadcast it on the land. Being soluble the rains will carry it to the roots of the plants.

The plague of flies can be very largely avoided, says a dairyman, by rubbing the horse and the cows all over with a sponge dipped in soap suds in which a small quantity of carbolic acid has been mixed.

The man who makes general farming pay the best is the one who has some products that he can put on the market every month. He is not tied down to any one crop or one branch of stock raising, but branches out sufficiently, so that if one thing fails he has other opportunities ready.

Sheep and hogs should have free access to apple orchards, as they will consume the fallen fruit and thus destroy many insects. Weeds and grass will also be kept down by sheep. They should, however, be fed all at night, if the herbage is scarce. In order to have them kept in the best condition, have them kept in the best condition.

Sheep will not graze during the heat of the day, preferring to do so after sundown. They can be kept in any shady place until evening, and then driven to pasture in the morning. They will be protected from the heat of the sun and be in better condition for seeking their food during the evening.

We are sometimes surprised that certain portions of our crops, endure drought so much better. During the favorable weather they made a strong root growth. The roots have the power to lay up nourishment for future use. If we wish to provide against a drought give root growth the best possible opportunity.

Can the proportion of butter in milk be increased by judicious feeding? The testimony that it can be done is rapidly growing. The experiments of many of the State stations and of dairy experts have gained pretty exact information, and show that certain foods rich in oils tend to produce an increase in the butter fat in milk.

When cows become dry, they should keep in good condition on pasture grass alone. Cows that produce largely of milk may be allowed grain and 500 feet, they will eat, but it is not necessary to highly-feed non-producing stock during the warm season, as less food is then required for their maintenance compared.

Up to a certain point all food is utilized in supplying the constant and natural waste of the system. A plant or an animal must be full fed. After an animal waste is supplied, then comes a demand for food to furnish animal heat. After these demands have been met, and not until then, surplus production becomes possible. Moreover, the latter object is best gained by a balanced ration, and by a perfectly balanced ration.

Where sheep are pastured upon clover there is a constant checking of the plant, and this predisposes it to the forming of seed. Thus it produces a heavier seed than when the common practice is followed of allowing it to grow until in blossom and then cutting it close to the ground; but, if the clover is fed off, Canada thistles and other weeds in it should be mown down to the surface with a scythe. The sheep will not take sufficient care of these to abate you from giving some attention to them.

Testing and Preserving Eggs.
Eggs that are to be packed should be perfectly fresh. There is no better way to tell a fresh egg than the old method of testing them by a paper tube. Roll up a piece of stiff paper, so that an ordinary egg will just fit in one end. Place the egg in the end of the tube, and look through the other end with the tube directed toward the light. The bluish light transduced if fresh; if stale, it will appear dark, almost opaque. A good egg will generally sink if placed in water; if stale it will float. Several ways of preserving eggs are practiced. The object is to prevent evaporation from the egg. Cutting off the air from the contents of the egg preserves them longer than with any other treatment. An egg which had lain in bran even for a few days will smell and taste musty. Packed in lime eggs will be retained. Covered with a coat of spirit varnish eggs have kept so perfectly that after the lapse of two years chickens were hatched from them.

Spirit varnish for preserving eggs is made by dissolving gum shellac in enough alcohol to make a thin varnish. Coat each egg with this and pack, little end down, so that they cannot move in bran, sawdust, or sand; the sand is best. Whatever is used for packing should be clean and dry.

Bumble or Humble Bees.
The large and small humble bees that are seen in garden and field are of different species, for bees, flies and similar insects do not increase in size with age. When they leave the pupae case they are fully developed and do not grow afterward. There are many species of the bumble bee native of the United States, but as yet very little is known of their history or their economic value to the gardener and farmer. There is a wide and interesting field open here for some young entomologist who might acquire fame and honor by giving the world a life history of the bumble bees of North America.

WAYS OF THE EARTHWORM.

Interesting Facts About the Small Boy's Favorite Fish Hunt.

Earth-worms have a reason for being ever so much more important than to serve as bait for fishermen. For all their lowly estate, few creatures have done more for mankind. Earth-worms are not merely the original ploughmen—they have brought about the condition of the earth's surface that makes other ploughing possible and profitable.

Field crops, for the most part, grow and feed upon vegetable mould—the layer of warm light, brackish earth resting upon the subsoil. Save by grace of the earth-worm vegetable mould would exist only in those places where dead leaves and decaying groceries generally resolved themselves into their original elements. The earth-worm, which may be described as an embodied appetite, eats everything—animal matter, green leaves and dead ones, twigs, leaf stalks, small stones and earth. The residue of all he casts up on the surface at the rate of a thorough-out pasture and garden ground, of some ten tons a year. Continue the process a hundred years or even fifty and many inches of fine friable, productive soil result.

Beyond all that, their burrows let down light and air from the subsoil. Sometimes the burrows run six feet deep. In winter the worms hibernate in roundish chambers at the bottom. The chambers are lined with very small stones or hard, rounded seeds, in grinding down the food. It is only in the winter sleep that they are thus gregarious. At other times they go in pairs. Though they do not in captivity appear very sensible of either cold or heat, in hot, dry weather they go almost as far down as they do in winter.

Eyesless, they have yet a certain perception of light, retreating before it to their burrows. Vibration also affects them—hence, say the country folk, the woodcock's habit of drumming to call them out of the ground. Their sense of smell is acute, and by the help of it they find their food, either buried or lying upon the surface. As soon as it is found the worms drag it to the burrow. They burrow by pressure of their growth, ringed bodies and by literally eating out the earth ahead. The digestive apparatus includes a crop and gizzard, like those of birds. After the manner of birds, the gizzards are kept supplied with small stones to serve as millstones in grinding down the food.

The burrows are plastered all round with the finely chewed earth, and keep shape often long after they are unattended. From the dead leaves which make so large a part of their food the worms secrete humus acids, which attack and help to dissolve the rocks buried in the soil. Thus the earthworms not merely transform the soil chemically and mechanically, but add to the bulk of it since soil of every kind comes from the disintegration of rocks. Further, many leaves dragged down into the burrows are only partly eaten and decaying, furnish gases which permeate the soil and react upon its mineral element.

Earthworms are the best allies of these gardeners, the antiquarians. A few inches of soil, an arrow head, an inscribed slab, a tessellated pavement, they bury, surely, safely, to await the day of resurrection. The burying is done in two ways—by castings spread about the thing to be buried, and by undermining the soil beneath. Each honeycombed with burrows sings in times of heavy rain or frost. Thus, in course of a thousand years, an object may be many feet under the surface, yet remain exactly as it fell. Indeed the wise men declare the earthworms in the mass, keep the whole face of the planet in a state of gradual evolution.

Sword of a Thousand Pieces.
What do you think of a sword blade that contains a thousand sheets of metal? Yet they are not uncommon, and you will readily imagine, are of Oriental workmanship. Our painstaking, patient Japanese friends are the makers of them, and a few days ago I had the pleasure of seeing one in Fourth Avenue curiosity shop, and had its method of manufacture explained.

The blades of these sabres are made from magnetic iron ores. The steel is produced in small, very thin sheets, and the workman begins by fixing one of them to the end of an iron rod, which serves as a handle. To this he sodered other small sheets, until the mass has a length of about eight inches, a width of about two inches and a thickness of a little more than a quarter of an inch.

This bar is brought to a white heat, doubled on itself, and hammered until it is down to its original dimensions. This process is repeated fifteen times. Four similar bars are then sodered together, doubled up on themselves, repeated five times. This process makes the superposed layers so thin that a sabre contains at least a thousand sheets of metal.

If you find one of these swords that has a veiled appearance you may know it is caused by alternate layers of iron and steel being soldered together.

Definition of Home.
A beautiful definition of home was given by Lady Aberdeen in the address delivered by her before the recent meeting at Toronto of the National Council of Women. "What is that indefinable something that makes a home; that reveals itself in the books and pictures, in the arrangement of the rooms, in the preparation for a guest, in the tones of the children, in the expression of husband and wife? We cannot describe it, but we recognize it at once when it is present, and no house can be truly a home without some measure of it. We do not need just homes where we can eat heartily and sleep well, but we want homes, full of rest and peace and beauty and refreshment."

Persistence in Potato Culture Which Brings Results.

Perhaps no farm crop is a subject to fluctuation in price as potatoes. One year the yield is immense and prices rule so low that thousands of bushels are dumped over some bank. The following spring will witness a much decreased acreage planted and prices are high. I know farmers who are continually shifting about in this manner, not infrequently buying seed at high prices expecting big returns in the fall. This same class of farmers are continually changing from sheep to cows, and again from cows to sheep. At the time I began on the old homestead I found it necessary to give a mortgage to secure money from an uncle to pay off other heirs. I shall never forget the friendly advice he gave me when he wanted me to impress upon you this one thing. Mark out your course and do not deviate from it. If your plan is to raise pigs in connection with dairying, raise pigs every year. Because calves may be high-price season do not change, but stick to pigs. This advice has been lived up to. I have practically followed the same rule in regard to farm crops, especially potato growing. Only a few years ago potatoes were almost valueless in the spring, but I put in the usual amount, which has been from two and a half to three acres. This particular spring of which I write I put in about two and a half acres. Owing to a succession of heavy rains, planting was delayed until June; but in the meantime after each rain, as soon as possible the ground was thoroughly cultivated, the potatoes were up before I fairly knew it and grew so rapidly that I had no use for paring green the entire season. Before the next planting time I sold from two and one-half acres $177 worth, besides all I needed to supply a large family and for seed.

The next spring I planted three acres and the weather kept good until I had cultivated them thoroughly. I use a shovel plow for hilling, as hilling is better than level culture on our soil. I had just time to hill up some eight or ten rows when there came a very long, heavy rain. This was followed by others, so that no other stroke of work was done. I never took visitors to the potato patch because I was ashamed to have it seen, but I sold nearly $150 worth besides seed and those used in the family.

Poultry Hints.

The plum trees are becoming very popular for setting in hen yards. Experiments at Washington proved that exercise has definite value in lowering the cost of egg production. One thousand pounds of poultry will cost less than 1,000 pounds of beef, and sells for twice as much in market products.

Eggs are extract of grain, grass and waste food generally, and are one of forms in which to market such products.

In constructing home-made brooders, corners are a nuisance and should be avoided as far as possible. A square top is the cheapest but the corners may be filled in.

It is a question just how much warm feeding just. It has been claimed that warming alone will double the number of eggs as compared with fowls where cold grain is fed entirely.

Proper feeding two or three weeks before the fowls are killed for market will make a great difference in the price. There is nothing like corn and gluten meal to give the required yellowness and plumpness.

The poultry industry is on a boom in the South. Mississippi breeders have organized a State poultry association.

Eyeballs of young ducks waterfowl and sticking together is generally caused by their taking cold and becoming, what might be styled roopy. The changes of temperature in the morning and evening from that in the middle of the day, leads to this.

Nicely fattened poultry always sells quickly. When offered for sale, they should not have their crops filled with feed. The bird should fast at least twelve hours before being killed. They may have water in the morning before killing time, but no feed.

Among the Horses.

A California farmer is utilizing his low grade raisins by feeding them to his horses. He says they are cheaper than barley or oats, and that the horses seem to like them, and keep in good condition.

Since the breaking out of the war, three months ago, the government has paid $1,250,000 to the farmers of Missouri for mules, and $97,500 for horses. The war has not been a bad thing for Missouri up to the present date.

Feeding roots to horses is a much more common practice in England than in our own country, where we stuff animals with corn in season and out of season. Carrots for the horses, and turnips for everything should be raised and stored for winter.

One of the best four-year-old fillies in Austria is said to be the result of crossing the American trotter Prince Warwick, on a highly bred Russian mare. This filly won all the big events at Vienna, and is a very promising animal.

At the recent horse show held at Richmond, England, in the class for the best horse in harness, shipped from Canada or the United States, the stallion Gold Ring won the $500 cup, and Fides Stanton was given second place and also highly commended. These horses were exported from Canada, where they were owned, but are known on American tracks, and are the campaigners.

A VERNAL LIVE WIRE.

The man in winter flannels oft must crown a dismal tune. When sweet May weather slips a cog and gets as hot as June.

$25,000.00 GIVEN AWAY.

In the past year Dr. R. V. Pierce has given away copies of his great work, The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, at an expense to him of $25,000.00 exclusive of postage. This standard book on medicine and hygiene, contains 1008 pages and more than 700 illustrations. It treats of the greatest and greatest problems of human life in simple English, from a common sense point of view. It answers those questions of sex which linger unspoken upon the lips of youth and maiden. It is essentially a family book, and its advice in a moment of sudden illness or accident may be the means of saving a valuable life. This great work is sent absolutely free of receipt of stamps to defray the cost of mailing and customs. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the book in paper binding, or 50 cents for cloth covers. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

If some people gave as much attention to what they say as they do to how they look, they would be more popular.

Miss Jones' Voice Greatly Improved

The many admirers of Miss Jones' singing have been greatly pleased at the improved clearness and richness of tone, and her brilliant renditions. Miss Jones attributes this improvement to the recent use of Catarrhazone. It gives clearness and brilliancy of tone, and prevents hoarseness and inflammation of the vocal organs. Singers, ministers, actors and public speakers use Catarrhazone for the voice and find it of inestimable value. You breathe the medicated air from the inhaler into the throat and lungs, where it kills disease, prevents and absolutely cures Bronchitis, Asthma, and Catarrh. Catarrhazone never fails; never harms; pleasant to use; safe, sure and always painless. Sold with guarantee on every $1 package, to cure these diseases, or your money back. Small size 25c. Pain in the Back makes life miserable. Can it be cured? Yes, in one night. Polson's Nervine gives a complete knockout to pain in the back, for it penetrates through the tissues, takes out the soreness and pain, invigorates tired muscles, and makes you feel like a new man. Nervine cures quickly because it is stronger, more penetrating, more highly pain-subduing than any other remedy. Don't suffer another minute. Get Nervine quick, and rub it in, for sure as you were born it will cure you. 25c.

CIDER VINEGAR.

Success Depends Upon the Use of Good Cider Made from Ripe Apples.

Success in making good cider vinegar depends upon seeing that the starting point is on a solid foundation, i. e., the juice of the apple has a proper supply of sugar, the base of good vinegar. For some years I have lent my cider press to neighbors to make what they call cider, usually sending a keg along, hoping to get enough cider to keep up a supply for the vinegar barrel. When the keg came back, in some cases I found it filled with juice of green, half rotten apples, with a specific gravity little if any above water, indicating an almost entire absence of sugar. Such stuff will never make even a weak vinegar, but rapidly pass to the eremacausis fermentation, a complete destruction of the sugar, with no trace of acetic acid, the base of vinegar, and this destruction will soon take place with little or no formation of alcohol resulting from the vinous fermentation of the sugar, which does not exist in green, undeveloped and partly rotten apples, as are often used.

There is no trouble in securing good cider vinegar, if the apples have sufficient ripened and remained sound and the starch has passed to grape sugar by the chemical action of the acid (malic) of the fruit, which will pass from the press dissolved in the water. Such a juice one of my neighbors always returns me with the press and it gives me, besides the vinegar, a nice drink of apple juice or cider, a most healthy drink before the alcohol comes. Usually the pure juice indicates a specific gravity from the sugar of about 1.030, or five degrees of the ordinary Baume hydrometer, and when this is the case, good cider vinegar will follow in due time. On several occasions, the cider alluded to having a nice flavor of the apple with a specific gravity of 1.040, or six to seven Baume, I have added a pound of sugar to the gallon of cider, and the following summer had a pleasant wine for the pudding sauce, and frequently my visiting friends have asked to what was the pleasant taste due. The addition of the sugar generates enough alcohol to prevent the acetous fermentation; hence instead of vinegar you have apple wine, which is very nice substitute for something far more expensive, and often a mere mixture of alcohol and some artificial flavor, imported as French and Spanish sherry.

In conclusion I will say to the reader: To be sure of having good vinegar, be certain you have a juice with enough sugar in it to form enough alcohol to be converted into acetic acid, and if there is enough of the latter, which is an antiseptic, the eremacausis or rotting process will not take place, and your vinegar will keep for years. The formation of alcohol will go on in a full barrel, but to secure the oxidation of the alcohol the barrel should not be more than three-quarters full, and kept in a moderately warm place, so the alcoholic vapor fills the barrel, and this vapor will first pass to aldehyde and then quickly to acetic acid, the base of good vinegar. This chemical change explains the cause of the sour esophage. I have never failed to find on top of the silo, which starts from the conversion of the carbohydrates of the corn first into alcohol, then acetic acid, neither of which is a carbohydrate.—A. P. Sharp in Country Gentleman.

Abandoned Land in the South.

There are in Virginia, the Carolina and some other Southern States, large areas of abandoned or partially abandoned farming lands. In these districts the plantations have been given over to scrub oak, old-field pine and brush, because the former system of agriculture did not pay, or because of the neglect of the owners. The result is a loss of the soil, and the land is in a state of exhaustion. One of the most exhaustive of crops, or by cotton, as has been done in the South, may be restored by a change of agriculture, and this restoration is even now going on. Fruits and vegetables will be largely cultivated in the Southern States on account of the good markets for such products in the Eastern cities. It will also be found profitable to raise cattle, grain, wool, and dairy products. The result of this changed system of agriculture will make the South even more prosperous than it was the palmiest days of plantation life.

When all the desirable agricultural land of the West is occupied—which is but a question of a few years—then these lands in the Southern States will receive attention. Our population is increasing rapidly, and the time will come when these farms will have to be subdivided. The average size of farms in this country is four acres; that of the farms of France, and in Belgium, Holland, Germany and England they are still smaller. While today in many sections of seven to five and 10 acres will barely pay for cultivation, the time will come when farms of one-third or one-fourth that size must pay. It is useless to argue that it cannot be done; such farms are cultivated in a way to pay even to-day, and must become even more generally profitable in the future. It would be well for the respective State Departments of Agriculture to establish experimental farms in these neglected sections. Such experimental farms should be conducted in a manner to demonstrate to the unsuccessful farmers of the country how they can take their worn-out farms and renovate them; how they can carry on an industry that has hitherto appeared to be unprofitable in a way to show a satisfactory balance sheet.

Law Affecting Cows.

An important decision in regard to selling cows under warranty was recently given in the Bolton county court in England. Two dairymen, having bought of a local farmer two cows, which failed to calve upon certain dates, as guaranteed, sued the vendor for the keep of the animals up to said dates. It was decided that, as the plaintiffs did not take advantage of the law which would have authorized them to return the animals as soon as they discovered the warranty to be broken, or to offer them for sale in case the vendor refused to take them back (according to the customary chattel warranty practice), they could not get recovery.
