PARKS BOARD

An Interesting Review of the Work Accomplished--Public Properties are Now of Very Great Increasing Value.

To Members of the Board of Parks Management:

Gentlemen,—The close of the year 1912 does not see the completion of the plans mapped out at the commencement of the year. This is owing entirely to lack of funds, caused by the Council of last year cutting down the appropriation to this board by the sum of $1,000. Another drawback and hindrance to our plans is the delay of the Grand Trunk Railway Co. in definitely locating their line through the grounds for the Institution for the Blind. The survey as shown to the board encroaches on our proposed drive-way and as there is some possibility of the railway making further changes it is of course impossible for us to proceed with the construction of the drive-way as intended, and we sincerely hope that the railway will soon furnish us with definite plans so that we may go ahead with this drive-way, which we believe is very essential to the western part of the city.

With reference to the cutting down of our appropriation we were keenly disappointed by the action of the Council knowing that it meant the curtailing of our season's plans to a serious extent. We realized however that we are but part of the municipal organization and that the unfortunate position that the council found themselves in, in having to economize in all departments made it advisable that we accept the reduction in our appropriation, hoping that the Council for 1913 may find the increased revenue would enable them to make up the deficiency of 1912 in the estimates of 1913. We must recognize that our usefulness as a board to the citizens of Brantford can be measured by the amount of money that is placed at our disposal for the acquiring and maintenance of our parks and play grounds and the beautifying of our drives and public places.

For the year that is now before us, I trust that we shall be able, through a larger grant, to map out and execute a more progressive programme than we did last year. There are many things that receive some consideration in the past that we would gladly do would funds permit, but suggestions for the future I will leave for the incoming chairman. There is just one suggestion I would like to make, however, and that is that we endeavor to arrive at some satisfactory agreement with the Grand Trunk Railway Co. with reference to the property adjoining the station. This the company agreed to lay out as a park but so far nothing has been done beyond some necessary levelling.

The policy of the board in the past in not issuing bonds in order to acquire properties meets with my entire approval. Unquestionably we could have secured properties for park and playground purposes a few years ago much below their present values, but we have worked along slowly being as economical as possible in our expenditures for maintenance of parks in order that we might have at least some funds to invest in properties for play grounds etc. and the result achieved since the organization of the board is a gratifying one and one that I believe will meet with the hearty endorsement of our citizens.

At the present time we find ourselves in possession of eleven parks and four playgrounds serving nearly every part of the city, and our ambition is to secure at least play grounds if we cannot get parks, so located that no part of the city will be neglected. The following is a list of our parks and play grounds showing the extent, and cost of each, also estimated values:

rendering. This, however, appears to be without foundation, as a number of the stories published broadcast in the belaguered fortress.

A message from Belgrade, Serbia, this morning speaks of the "heroic conduct" of a couple of Serbian regiments of infantry which are said to have participated in an attack on the outer circle of forts, but there is no means of verifying this or any of the reports, as such fighting as may be in progress is taking place behind closed doors, so far as the outside world is concerned. Dependence has to be placed on the more or less respected stories given out by the respective army headquarters, for only on extremely rare conditions can a newspaper correspondent succeed in circumventing the strict censorship.

REIGN OF TERROR

Is Just About What the Suffragettes Have Produced--The Police Get Hold of One Tartar Who is Now on a Hunger Strike.

(Courier Leased Wire).
NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—A cable to The Tribune from London says: Special but unostentatious precautions are being taken to prevent any untoward happening at Buckingham Palace through the action of the militant suffragettes. If anything is attempted by them there their reception is likely to be particularly warm. The King's principal London residence is in communication not only with Scotland Yard, but with Wellington Barracks close by, and the military protection of the palace can be increased almost immediately by a preconcerted signal.

It is known that certain suffragettes have done their utmost to obtain the necessary passports to be present at the court that takes place in Buckingham Palace on Friday evening and officials have received stringent instructions as to the manner in which they are to act in the event of any suspicious stranger presenting himself or herself for admittance. The staff of police, both uniformed and plain clothes, detailed for duty will be greater than ever before on a similar occasion.

The police seem to have caught a tartar in Margaret Morrison, a suffragette arrested outside the Levens Town Hall last Wednesday during the visit of Premier Asquith to that town. The charges brought against her yesterday were:

Throwing pepper in a constable's face. Smashing twelve panes of glass in the Levens police station.

Throwing a bucket of water over a police sergeant while in his office. Lively scenes seem to have occurred while she was in custody. The evidence given showed that she managed to lock a policeman out of the passage leading to the cells and then smashed the windows and as the police broke open the door she threw a bucket of water over the first to enter. She has been on a hunger strike in the Dundee prison since last Friday.

The sheriff asked her to lift her veil for identification, but this she refused to do and there was a scene when an officer attempted to raise the veil which was torn in a struggle. She was sentenced to thirty days in prison.

SCHUBERT CHOIR

Scores Another Most Pronounced Success--Details of a Thoroughly Delightful Evening and a Most Artistic Event.

Mr. Jordan and the members of the Schubert Choir, are alike to be heartily congratulated on the pronounced success that rewarded their efforts last evening upon the occasion of their seventh season concert. The Schuberts have placed many distinct successes to their credit, but none greater than that of last evening. The Opera House had a capacity audience and the programme was in every way worthy of the record attendance. In fact it would be hard to improve upon the combination of the Schubert Choir, the Boston Festival Orchestra Club and such a sterling tenor as Mr. Redfern Hollinshead.

The first part of the programme was given over entirely to the orchestra and solo numbers.

The Boston Club is an extremely well balanced little organization, made up as follows: J. W. Crowley, first violin; B. J. Holmberg, second violin; Wm. A. Hochheim, viola; Carl Webster, violoncello; R. N. Davis, bass; S. H. O'reutt, flute; R. M. Blake, clarinet; Walter Smith, trombone; G. W. Stewart, trombone.

This is a most excellent arrangement of string, brass and wood, and under the capable leadership of Mr. Crowley, the orchestra obtains a very fine tone with surprising breadth and sweep throughout.

The opening overture was "The Merry Wives of Windsor," played with great dash and vim. This number was followed by the Greig Erotik and the Muller-Bughaus Entr'acte, both given with much brilliancy. A very dainty Halls overture was the Massenet Meditation. But perhaps the best thing done by Mr. Crowley and his men, was the Mignon Overture. This was played with an exquisite lilt that left little to be desired. The orchestra was encored again and again, and deservedly so. It is one of the best chamber orchestras ever heard in Brantford, and well sustains the reputation of its native city so world-famed for its symphony music.

Quite one of the best things of the evening was the cello solo by Mr. Carl Webster, "The Fantastic Characteristic." This was divinely played and earned for Mr. Webster an insistent encore. He is really a great cellist.

Mr. Redfern Hollinshead of Toronto, was a delightful surprise. It is seldom one hears a more exquisite lyric tenor. He sang the Puccini tenor arias "Recondita Armonia" and "E lucevan le stelle," with fine feeling and expression. Mr. Hollinshead by-the-by, is a son of a former Baptist minister at St. George, and many of his former townsmen were in the audience last evening. He received a fine reception, and had to respond to a hearty encore. Mr. Hollinshead is on the very threshold of what promises to be a most artistic musical career. There are few sweeter voiced tenors in Canada to-day than he.

The second part of the programme was given over to the rendition of "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," from the song of Hiawatha, Longfellow's well-known poem.

The music of Hiawatha is by Coleridge-Taylor, that brilliant Anglo-African, whose lamented death a year or so ago in London, removed one of England's foremost composers. The setting that Coleridge-Taylor has given to Hiawatha is in every way worthy of the poem itself. The gifted composer has caught the haunting strain of Longfellow's epic and has clothed it musically with the touch of a master hand.

Mr. Jordan had under his baton last evening a chorus of some 135 voices, and it can be frankly stated that it is the best choir that this talented young conductor has ever had to work with and to work upon. For seven years now the choir has been in the making, and these seven years have born fruit. Persistent drilling intelligently received and ardent upon has left its indubitable imprint on the chorus. The members are more confident of themselves, attack with greater firmness, shade better, sing with more abandon.

The Coleridge-Taylor music requires a lot of singing, and the Schuberts demonstrated that they were fully equal to the demands placed upon them. Especially bright is the soprano section of the choir; the tenors too, are a remarkably good lot, whilst Mr. Jordan has every reason to feel proud of his splendid bass and alto section.

The ensemble work last evening left little to be desired. Some of the climaxes were worked up to in a manner that very few Metropolitan choirs could excel, whilst the piano passages were interpreted with rare good taste.

The solo work of Mr. Hollinshead was admirable, and altogether "Hiawatha" was given an interpretation alike most creditable to the Schuberts and their clever conductor. It was perhaps the best thing they have done yet, and many pronounced successes have already been theirs. The work of Miss E. Sweet at the piano, and the Boston Orchestral Club added greatly to the enjoyment and success of the rendition.

This will be the last season of the Choir for a year or so, as Mr. Jordan is leaving shortly to study in Europe for a twelvemonth. Whilst sincerely regretting that the choir will not be heard here next season, no one will begrudge Mr. Jordan his well earned rest and the gratification of his ambition to spend a year in the mellow musical centres of the Old World.

Sir Alexander Mackenzie, the well-known composer, and president of the Royal Academy, London, predicted to the writer some years ago, a very brilliant career for Mr. Jordan if he could only round off his decided abilities with a year in Europe. Mr. Jordan is now getting "his chance," and hosts of friends throughout the city and province will cordially wish him a pleasant and profitable trip. He is a musician, every inch of him, and is yet destined to make his mark in a much wider sphere than Brantford musically can provide him with.

JAPANESE AFFAIRS.

(Courier Leased Wire).
TOKIO, Feb. 5.—The upper house of Diet opened today, Prince Katsura, Premier and Minister of Foreign Affairs, addressing the chamber said the relations between Japan and the foreign powers continue friendly and that everything is contributing towards the preservation of peace in the Far East.

The speech in the main was devoted to finance. Prince Katsura said the government proposed to effect administrative and financial reforms which would save at least 50,000,000 yen ($25,000,000) annually. The government had decided upon a policy of retrenchment and the lightening of the burden of the people as far as was consistent with the maintenance of the national strength.

The premier added that the government proposed to reduce government loans and limit treasury bill outstanding to 500,000,000 yen and also steadily to reduce the national debt.

Child Had Bronchitis

Once people get acquainted with the wonderful control which Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine exerts over bronchitis, whooping cough, croup and colds, it is not easy to persuade them that anything else is "just as good." This is why the imitators never get very far.

In 1902 Mrs. Engene King, King street, Truro, N.S., wrote as follows: "From an infant one of my children was troubled with bronchitis, and the least cold would aggravate the condition. We could not get anything to help him, and were often greatly alarmed. Hearing of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine as a treatment for bronchitis we used it, and are glad to state that it effected a complete cure. If any of the children take a cold or cough I give this medicine, and have never known it fail to bring relief."

Mrs. Her now writes that she has since proven this medicine to be a cure for whooping cough, and would not be without it in the house.

THIS WEEK'S ADVICE

s to order soon. These chilly days are finding work for us. Before long somebody will have to do some waiting. Then there will be a rush in earnest. So those who have promised themselves an overcoat will be ahead by ordering ahead here. Skilful tailoring for carriages, dressers, Harwood.

Miller's Worm Powders are par excellence the medicine for children who are found suffering from the ravages of worms. They immediately alter the stomachic conditions under which the worms subsist and at the same time, they act tonical in their effect upon the digestive organs, restoring them to healthful operation and ensuring immunity from further disorders from such a cause.

PARKS BOARD.

Time was when certain citizens looked upon the Parks board as a luxurious excrement, or words to that effect.

Some members of the City Council used to be very severe in their criticisms and some excellent people seemed to have the idea that with such an organization there would be extravagance, waste and impracticable methods.

None of these things have happened.

To the direct contrary the board has done magnificent work—work whose value is now fully realized by all classes of citizens.

Play grounds and breathing spots are essential in all communities and these we now have in plenty.

In addition to the health investment, there has also been a good financial investment, for properties purchased for $24,180 now have a total estimated value of over $100,000.

But who would part with them, or for that matter with the board.

PUBLIC ABATTOIR.

The fact that Dr. Cutcliffe in his annual report with reference to the Market, states that during the year he confiscated 1,459 pounds of meat as unfit for human food, should come with startling force upon the people of this community.

How much he missed cannot be computed for although he is a most careful and thoroughly efficient officer, no one man can keep track of all the delinquencies.

Trichinosis, a frequently fatal disease arises from infected pork.

Pneumonia poisoning, typhoid fever, and so on are also often caused by diseased meats.

That is the plain and unvarnished truth of the matter and it ought to be faced without any more dilatory nonsense.

Of course in the main, most meat offered on Brantford market is good, but steps should be taken to reduce the tainted stuff not only to a minimum but also to the point of obliteration.

A public abattoir is the remedy. In these places all beasts destined for the market are killed under humane circumstances and rigid inspection sees that none but healthy animals are slaughtered.

It is the experience of other places that the fees just about offset the expenses. Even if they didn't Brantford should by all means have such an institution.

IT IS TO LAUGH

The estimates brought down at Ottawa contain an appropriation of $120,000 for the new public building at Brantford. Let it be hoped that this means that there will be a hole in the ground in the near future to indicate that work is really going on—Expositor.

RAILROAD MAN HAD TO LAY OFF

Until He Took GIN PILLS

Buffalo, N.Y.
"I have been a Pullman conductor on the C. P. R. and Michigan Central for the last three years.

About four years ago, I was laid up with intense pain in the groin, a very sore back, and suffered most severely when I tried to urinate.

I treated with my family physician for two months for Gravel in The Bladder but did not receive any benefit. About that time, I met another railroad man who had been similarly affected and who had been cured by GIN PILLS, after having been given up by a prominent physician who treated him for Diabetes. He is now running on the road and is perfectly cured. He strongly advised me to try GIN PILLS which I did—with the result that the pains left me entirely."

$3.50 RECIPE FOR WEAK MEN FREE.

SEND NAME AND ADDRESS TODAY—YOU CAN HAVE IT FREE AND BE STRONG AND VIGOROUS.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men, and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow-men to send them a copy in confidence, so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop dragging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting, restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 3782 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $2.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

Simple and Sure—Dr. Thomas Electric Oil is so simple in application that a child can understand the instructions. Used as a dressing to apply. The directions are so plain and unmistakable that they are readily understood by young and old.

Convenient Arrangement.
"What are you buying now?"
"I am looking for some present to give my wife on her birthday. I tell you, making presents costs a heap of money."

"Why don't you do as I do? I have never failed to make my wife a present on her birthday every year for twenty-five years, and I am not a penny out this far."

"How do you manage it?"
"It is very simple. After we were married, when her birthday came last I gave her a 25 note. When my birthday came round, she gave me the note back, and we have kept that up ever since, and neither of us is out a penny."—The Bits.

LITERARY IMPOSTORS.

Some of the Clever Writers Who Have Deceived the World.

Clever literary impostors who have deceived the world are numerous. Gamelli Carriari, a Neapolitan gentleman and scholar, while confined to his room for a long period of years by illness, amused himself by writing an account of an imaginary voyage round the world. When the volume was published, it was taken as a fact by learned people.

The detailed account of a trip to China, which is credited to Du Halde, is another literary hoax. The author had never seen China and had been sufficiently clever to compile the work solely from the memoirs of Chinese missionaries.

It is remarkable, though no less a fact, that "Gulliver's Travels" was thought to be a true narrative when it first appeared, and the famous story of Danubius travels was likewise a hoax.

Varillas, the French historian, enjoyed a wide reputation as a chronicler of events, but later it was discovered that his works were purely fakes. The volumes of this writer resemble those of Gregorio Reali, who, in order to keep himself from starving, appended the most unheard-of incidents to English history as it was known.

One of the most daring impostures on record is that of Joseph Vella of Sicily. He said that he discovered seventeen of the lost books of Livy in Arabia. He then set to work and wrote a translation from his fancy, which was printed. After his death the fraud was discovered. Before his death, however, he fell under suspicion and was condemned to imprisonment.

The Truth About England.
There is a large missionary school in Tokio where the teaching is given in English. One of the pupils not long ago wrote a composition on England, from which these are extracts—

"The England which occupied of the largest and greatest dominion which rarely can be. The Englishman always works with very powerful hands and the long legs, and even the emmened mind and his chin is so strong as deserves iron. Being spread out from Europe to Australia to American his dominion is dreadfully extensive, so that his countrymen boastfully says, 'The sun are never set on our dominion.' The testimony of England say that 'he think just the common sense, he never had any benefit, though he has gained a complete world.' The English are cunning mention to establish a great Empire of the Paradise. As the Englishmen always confide the object of the pure and the order to be holy, and they reproach him if any of them are killed to death with the contentment of other men!"

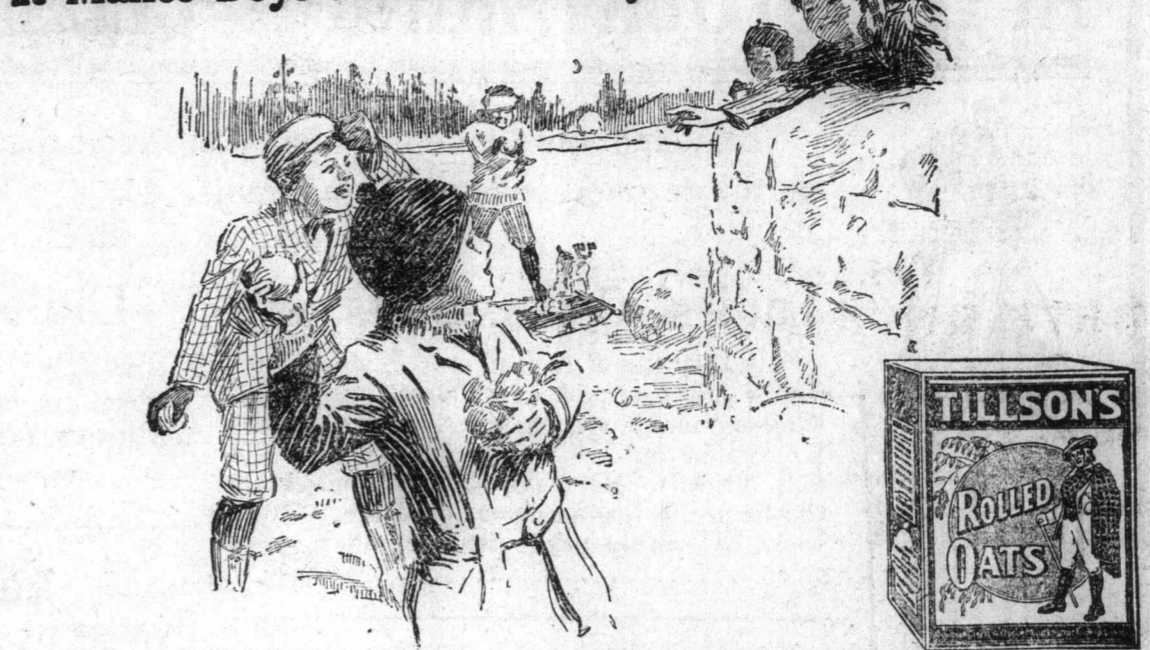

Convenient Arrangement.
"What are you buying now?"
"I am looking for some present to give my wife on her birthday. I tell you, making presents costs a heap of money."

"Why don't you do as I do? I have never failed to make my wife a present on her birthday every year for twenty-five years, and I am not a penny out this far."

It Makes Boys that will be Boys

"Boys will be boys" only if their energy and brawn are kept up to top-notch.

Every time a boy uses up 5/4 parts of energy he uses up 1 part of brawn tissue.

Therefore, the food he eats should replace that lost energy and brawn in the ratio of 5/4 to 1.

Oats will do it almost exactly.

So when you give your children porridge made of Tillson's Rolled Oats, you are giving them the right food to make sturdy, ruddy-cheeked youngsters.

Hidden Skin Troubles

Have you on some part of your body a sore, or eruption, or ulcer, or eczema patch which, hidden from the gaze of others, yet causes you hours and hours of pain and inconvenience? Have you tried this, and that, and the other remedy in vain, and are you feeling disheartened and discouraged? If so, read the following instances of Zam-Buk's healing power, and apply it to your case:

"I had an ulcerated leg for several years. The ulcers spread all round the limb, which was swollen to nearly twice its normal size. Several doctors treated me. One suggested amputation. None did me any good. Zam-Buk healed the sores!" So says Mrs. Gilmour, of Princess St., Kingston. Or, read this—

"My mother tried many things for abscesses and eruptions, but in vain. In Zam-Buk she found a complete cure." So says Miss A. Coggill, of Wapella (Sask.).

Sufferers from these "Hidden Skin Troubles" of any nature should profit by such experiences as this. Zam-Buk is seen at its best when applied to cases which have defied ordinary treatment. Write for trial box, and test it at our expense.

ZAM-BUK AND A MIRACLE OF HEALING

Over and over again Zam-Buk has performed a miracle of healing when applied to sores and skin injuries which have refused to heal under any other form of treatment. Why not let it heal your trouble? Immediately Zam-Buk is applied to a sore or wound or diseased portion of flesh it commences its work in two directions. It assists the exterior, and its antiseptic properties prevent any germs and bacilli from creating trouble.

Then the herbal essences and juices, so finely purified and concentrated, penetrate the subjacent layers and stimulate the weakened or diseased cells to active, healthy operation. These cells then put forth their "Building" products, and replace the diseased outer layer with fresh and healthy tissue. By degrees the whole diseased surface is thus replaced by new healthy skin.

In this way Zam-Buk cures cuts, burns, bruises, ulcers, abscesses, itch, scabies, eruptions, pustules, scurvy, salt rheum, blood poison, and other forms of skin trouble. Zam-Buk also cures piles, varicose ulcers, etc. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. per box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. 6 boxes $2.50.

THE HOSPITAL

Is in Excellent Shape--Report of Miss Carson Shows an all Round Advance.

The annual meeting of the board of governors of the John H. Stratford Hospital was held yesterday afternoon.

In the unavoidable absence of the president, Mr. C. H. Waterous, the vice-president, Mr. Harry Cockshutt, occupied the chair, and there were also present Messrs. A. K. Bunnell, Dr. Bell, Geo. Watt, T. H. Preston, R. Sanderson and H. J. Symons.

The Secretary read letters from the different organizations appointing members to the board, indicating who the appointees were. The only changes were those of Warden Kendrick from the County Council and Mr. H. J. Symons from the Trades and Labor Council.

The officers were all re-elected and the committees stand as before save that Warden Kendrick takes the place left vacant by ex-Warden Kitchen, and Mr. Symons the place left vacant by Mr. Woods, the former representative of the Trades and Labor Council.

Superintendent's Report. The chief item of interest was the presentation of the annual report of the superintendent, Miss Carson. It was in part as follows:

To the President and Board of Governors of the Brantford General Hospital. Gentlemen: I have the honor to submit for the information of the Board, reports of the work for the year ending Sept. 30, 1912.

The returns for this year are much larger than ever before in the history of the hospital. It is gratifying, not because the hospital has made a great financial success, in doing a larger business than any previous year of its history, but because it has reached a greater number in its ministrations. The highest number of patients treated on any one day was 62, the lowest 30, making a total of 776 persons who have benefited the benefits of the hospital during the year. Last year 713 patients were treated. It is gratifying to know that the increase is made up largely of people of the city. During the year 267 operations were performed. The death rate of patients operated upon has been very low.

We were without a house surgeon until Dr. McCane came in December. The present nursing staff consists of four third year nurses; nine second year nurses; four first year nurses; one post graduate.

Increases Over Last Year. Patients cared for 33 per cent.; days stay of all patients, 15 per cent.; paying patients, 64 per cent.; Government grant, 89 per cent; patients paying 70c per day, 32 per cent; stay of private ward patients, 77 per cent.

LATER DESPATCHES

A GREAT GAME.

(Courier Leased Wire). VANCOUVER, Feb. 5.--Out-playing their opponents in every period and finishing at the long end of a seven to four score, Victoria defeated the Vancouver All Stars before one of the largest crowds ever gathered in the local arena. Victoria went into the lead within five minutes of the start and the issue was never in doubt from then on. Victoria's superior all round play kept Vancouver back on the defense and the forwards were unable to make any progress against Victoria's defence. The league leaders outskated Vancouver in all three periods, their shots came from all angles. Vancouver showed the best form in the first twenty minutes but were outlucked by Lindsay stopping shots that seemed impossible to get. Froger and Lester Patrick started for Victoria, while Jack McDonald and Kendall were Vancouver's most effective workers. The victory practically gives Victoria the championship.

MURDERED A GIRL. (Courier Leased Wire). MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 5.--No trace had been found early to-day of the man who shortly before midnight shot and killed Tamara Hanson, 22 years old, at the latter's home. The police are searching for Clinton Smith, who earlier in the evening had called upon the young woman. He is reported to have departed after the two had quarrelled.

According to the story told by the police, Smith later returned to the home of the girl and calling her to the door fired a bullet through her heart. The girl's brother, hearing the shooting ran to her assistance and grappled with him but he escaped.

FALSE IMPRISONMENT. (Courier Leased Wire). OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Feb. 5.--Fifteen thousand dollars damages for false imprisonment has been awarded to the Rev. Father L. A. Klauder by an Ogdensburg jury. The verdict was returned late last night after a trial lasting ten days.

The defendants in the action were Bishop Henry Gabriels of the Catholic diocese of Ogdensburg, Coadjutor Bishop Conroy and Drs. W. B. Hanbridge and W. C. Cooper of the Ogdensburg state asylum for the insane. The plaintiff set forth and convinced the jury that the defendants had caused him to be placed in the asylum after his refusal to relinquish his parish at Faust, N. Y., near there. Transferred by the bishop, he declined to accept the change and, going to the cathedral, started to read an address in defense of his stand. It was then, as he alleged in his suit, he was seized and subsequently committed to the asylum. He obtained release through a habeas corpus writ and brought the suit just decided.

SERIOUSLY ILL. (Courier Leased Wire). LONDON, Ont., Feb. 5.--Mr. Peter Elsen, M. P., the veteran member for East Middlesex is seriously ill at his home in Hyde Park and the outcome of his illness will not be known for a few days.

He is suffering from a stroke of paralysis and at his advanced age the attack is particularly dangerous.

Since the Christmas holidays Mr. Elsen has been at home enjoying fairly good health. When the session re-opened he was preparing to go to Ottawa, but illness overtook him and he has been confined to his bed ever since.

EXPERT ADVICE

Money spent on keeping time pieces "on the job" is really a necessary expenditure. Plenty of good watches aren't doing their best work, simply because they can't. Many a fifty or hundred dollar watch is being slowly but surely ruined, because it needs a dollars worth of cleaning. If this reminds you that your watch is in that shape, let it also remind you that our repair dept. can attend to your needs on short notice.

Owing to the lack of snow, the sleighing party which the senior Physical Classes of the Y. W. intended having to-night, is being changed into a social evening instead.

Mr. Schuyler Day of New York, spent yesterday in the city, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bunnell, Dufferin Avenue.

Mr. G. H. Muirhead of Toronto, was in the city yesterday. "Standing room only" was the edict forth from the Brantford Grand Opera House last evening when a packed house greeted Mr. Jordan and his Schubert Choir, associated with the Boston Festival Orchestra Club. Miss Marjorie Wilkes has returned from Montreal. Miss Mary Peachey of Simcoe is in the guest of Miss Edith Peachey, Erie Avenue. Mrs. John D. Hall and son, of Park Avenue, are visiting in Woodstock.

HURLEY—DUFFY.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Basil's church Tuesday morning, when Genevieve Mary Duffy, the youngest daughter of Mr. Jerome Duffy, of Norwich, became the bride of James Leo Hurley of this city. Very Rev. Dean Brady, D.D., officiated. The bride was assisted by Miss May Hickey, and Mr. D. Louis Hurley of Toronto, brother of the groom, acted as best man. Mrs. Richard Coke Burleson of Texas, will command the suffragette pageant at Washington, on March 3rd. Her husband is an artillery lieutenant, stationed at Fort Meyer, Texas.

Veal Stuffing

In making stuffing for a loin of veal have it very moist, for the meat itself has little moisture.

Ok-Joints in Casserole

Cut an ox-tail at joints, put in stew-pan, cover with boiling water, and let boil six minutes. Drain and wash thoroughly, dredge with flour, and saute in butter, to which has been added one onion, peeled and sliced, until entire surface is well browned. Put in casserole, sprinkle with one-fourth cupful of flour, one teaspoonful of carrot and turnip cut into two and one-half cupfuls of water and three cupfuls of canned tomatoes, cover and cook slowly three and one-half hours. Remove ox-tail, strain sauce, and return ox-tail and sauce to casserole. Add two-thirds cupful each of carrot and turnip cut into one-third-inch cubes, parboiled in boiling salted water five minutes, and drained.

Salmon Croquettes.

Mince the fish after freeing from bones and skin, then add as much left-over mashed white potato, one egg yolk, salt and pepper to suit. Form into small cakes or rolls, cover with very fine bread crumbs and fry in shallow, hot butter.

LAUGHTER LINES

The Reason for the Rose.

An American traveling in Ireland, stopped for a drink of milk at a white cottage with a thatched roof, and, as he sipped his refreshment, he noted, on a center table under a glass dome, a brick with a faded red rose upon the top of it. "Why do you cherish in this way, my friend said to his host, 'that common brick and that dead rose?'" "Shure, sir," was the reply, "there's certain memories attachin' to them. Do ye see this big dent in my head? Well, it was made by that brick." "But the rose?" said my friend. "His host smiled quietly. "The rose," he explained, "is off the grave of the man that threw the brick."

Pulpit Eloquence.

An eloquent parson had been preaching for an hour or so. "I looked at the mountains," he claimed, "and could not help thinking, 'Beautiful as you are you will be destroyed, while my soul will not.' I gazed at the ocean and cried 'Mighty as you are, you will eventually dry up, but not I!'"

Another Patient

When little Rob bumped his head, Uncle Jim gathered the youngster in his arms and said: "There! I'll kiss it, and the pain will all be gone." "Cheerfully smiling, the youngster exclaimed: "Come down into the kitchen; the cook has the toothache."

Jenkins was an enterprising man. He was a bootmaker by trade, and in order to advertise his goods he put a notice in his window to the effect that during the next week every purchaser of a pair of boots would be presented gratis with a fine foot rule. "Just the very thing for me!" said Brown, a carpenter. "I'm needing a new foot rule, and I can put the boots by until these are done." So he entered the shop and bought a pair, receiving with his change a neat little envelope a trifle larger than a visiting-card. "What's this for?" he asked. "That, sir, is the foot rule which we are presenting gratis this week." "Rather small, isn't it?" "A pocket foot rule, sir. Very handy." Brown walked home and opened the envelope when he found it contained a small card on which was printed, "Never Wear Tight Shoes!"

Don't.

Don't accept advice from a man who never offers you anything else.

The Model Hostess.

A model hostess must to all appearances be made of stone, so far as disagreeable happenings are concerned. Even though a guest or careless waiter inadvertently breaks a bit of china which can never be replaced, she must smile as though the loss of the entire set would but emphasize the pleasure of the evening. Her well bred calm inspires her guests with a feeling of confidence, and though in her heart she may be very dubious about certain details of her dinner or dance, if she does not show her anxiety everything will pass off to a happy conclusion.

A flurried hostess or nervous hostess countenances but illy conceals the worry they feel, can do more toward making the guests uncomfortable than if the soup were served stone cold and the salad dressing were ruined by a too bountiful quantity of vinegar. An imperturbable calm and a ready tact are the two important factors in the making of a model hostess. Secure these by hook or crook and you need never fear

In the various Departments there are nineteen horses owned by the City, viz: Fire Department, 11; Board of Works, 4; Water Works; Sanitary, 1; Police, 1; Sewer Department, 1. Total 19.

In the Fire Department the horses are in good health and unless an accident occurs, will be able to do their work for another year.

Sanitary Department. The horse owned by this department has been able to do the work since last spring, owing to numerous sewer connections being made and so lessening the work to some extent.

The Board of Works Department horses are doing their work satisfactorily but more horses are needed to do the work to advantage.

A horse has been purchased for the Sewer Department since the beginning of the year.

Water Works Department and Police Department horses are doing their work satisfactorily.

Market Inspection.

During the year I have confiscated for light weight eight bags of potatoes and five rolls of butter. These have been turned over to Mr. Eddy, Relief Officer for distribution among the needy.

One thousand four hundred and fifty-nine pounds of meat have been confiscated on account of disease or being unfit for food.

I again call your attention to the necessity of a Public Abattoir, the reasons for which have been given in previous reports. As the City grows the necessity for one increases each year.

Complaints are continually made by the attendants on the market of the unsanitary condition of the Public convenience at the City Hall. Frequently the smell from this place is unbearable and persons having stands near by have been forced to move.

I also wish to call your attention to the Resolution passed by the Local Board of Health on November Sixth, 1912, and forwarded to the City Council in regard to conditions regarding sale of meat and old bedding on the market, and ask that some action be taken in regard to same.

My thanks are due to Dr. Pearson and members of the Local Board of Health and to Chief Slemm and members of the Police Department for assistance during the year.

Thanking you for many courtesies extended during the year, I remain, Your obedient servant, A. B. CUTCLIFFE.

There is no sign of peace in sight today. One manufacturer said that the industry had now lost so great a part of the season's business, that further negotiations with the strikers were out of the question. A proposal made by the United Manufacturers Association more than a week ago, however, is being voted upon today by the cutters. This proposal includes a provision for a 52-hour week and an increase in wages from five to ten percent. There was said to be little expectation of its acceptance. The tailors and other operators generally have ever taken no steps to vote on the matter.

her home here Monday evening after an illness of more than a year. She leaves a husband and three daughters to mourn her loss.

The Rev. Mr. Reid, minister of the Baptist church gave a splendid lecture in the school room of the Presbyterian church before a large audience Monday evening. His topic, Scotland and the Scotch, proved very interesting and instructive. He is an A 1 speaker and his humorous speeches were greeted with applause. One gentleman stated that Mr Reid's lecture was the best given in the Presbyterian church in years, which speaks well for his work.

Miss Liza B. Payne, Paris Station, gave a birthday party at her home last night. A good number of her friends were present, and all spent a pleasant evening.

COUNTY INSPECTOR

Completes His Report With Regard to the Schools Within His Jurisdiction--Satisfactory Figures are Given.

Mr. T. W. Standing, County Inspector of Schools, has completed his report to the Minister of Education on the condition and progress of the schools under his jurisdiction for the year 1912.

The statistics for the rural schools of the County show a further increase of 67 in the number of pupils enrolled, making the total 3,187 for the year, and better still an increase in the average attendance for the 108 days of the school year. This is now 59.1-2 per cent. of the number enrolled.

As a matter of fact the schools were open on an average only 104 days during the year, and on this basis the average attendance was nearly 61 per cent of the total.

The increase in attendance made it necessary to open three additional rooms during the year, one at Bell View and two at Echo Place. At Bell View, a room was rented pending the further enlargement of the school building, which will take place the coming summer. At Echo Place a fine four room school has been erected, and two of these rooms are already well filled. An eight room school is in the course of completion at Grandview, which it is expected will be ready for occupation at Easter, four of the class rooms being required at once.

The erection of these two buildings accounts in a great part for the large increase in expenditure during the past year. Salaries also have continued to rise, the increase over the preceding year being nearly six per cent, or $30 per teacher. In 1911, the average salary was $524 in the rural schools. In 1912, it is $554. There were no fewer than twenty salaries fixed at $500—more than at any other figure, and nine were above that, two being at $700 and two at $800. Only ten teachers of the 77 were receiving less than $500.

There is a decided improvement too in the qualifications of the teachers. Last year the report showed 4 first class certificates, 49 seconds and 21 third class and temporary certificates. The present report shows 6 firsts, 63 seconds and only 8 below this grade, a gain of 16 in the number of fully qualified teachers.

While it is too much to expect that all teachers, even when holding legal qualifications, will be equally successful in the actual work of the school room, there is still good reason to believe that the majority of the schools are doing their work well. It is a hopeful sign that while Trustee Boards are in the main willing to increase salaries, they are more insistent and watchful than formerly to secure efficiency in the schools.

A Meeting of the Library Board.

The inaugural meeting of the Library board was held yesterday. Those present were: T. Hendry, Rev. Dr. Mackenzie, Col. Howard, F. W. Ryerson, E. J. Carlin.

Mr. D. J. Waterous was chosen chairman of the board for 1913. E. J. Carlin was elected treasurer.

The following committees were struck, the first named on each being chairman: Accounts—amounting to $457.76 were passed and ordered to be paid. The book committee brought in a report recommending the purchase of some new books.

The secretary presented the annual government returns for 1912 which will be sent immediately to the department of Education.

The Board then adjourned.

The Source of Many Ills

So many of the pains and aches we suffer, and so much of the serious disease, is directly traceable to constipation of the bowels and sluggish action of the liver and kidneys that most people realize the danger of neglecting these conditions.

The question is what treatment to use, and this letter from Mr. Luttrell leaves no doubt on this score. He has personally proven the effectiveness of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in cleansing the system and invigorating these filtering and excretory organs.

Mr. Alex. Luttrell, 142 Bridge St., London, Ont., writes: "I have used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for many years, and have always found them satisfactory as a cure for constipation and derangements of the liver and kidneys. They do their work in a quiet way every time—no gripping—no sickness, but most beneficial results. We have also used Dr. Chase's Ointment in our family for a long time, and so long as we can get these medicines shall not use others."

LOOK YEARS YOUNGER! GRAY HAIR DARKENED BEAUTIFULLY WITH SAGE

Says Sage and Sulphur Will Stop Falling Hair and Cure Dandruff.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, then left to age and carefully filtered will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggy and thin. Mix the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," thus avoiding a lot of muss. Some druggists make their own, but it isn't nearly so nice as "Wyeth's."

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can tell, because it does it so naturally; so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Do this to-night and by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two it will be restored to its natural color and be even more glossy, soft and luxuriant than ever.

Local druggists say they are selling lots of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and it surely helps folks appear years younger.

SHE COULD NOT HOLD A CUP OF TEA

Doctors Agreed Toronto Nurse Had Bright's Disease.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Her After Five Years Suffering—Felt a Benefit After First Box.

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 3.—(Special)—Mrs. Alberta Giffin, a nurse, living at 40 Wright Ave., this city, has been interviewed in regard to her reported cure of nervous or kidney trouble by Dodd's Kidney Pills. She states that the report is true in every particular.
"My sickness," Mrs. Giffin says, "was caused from a nervous breakdown and what the doctors called incurable Bright's Disease brought on by cold and long weeks of nursing. I suffered for five years. "I was treated by three doctors and was a patient in two hospitals but gradually got weaker. Reading the experiences of other sufferers like myself led me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. At that time I was so weak and nervous I could not hold a cup of tea without spilling some of its contents.
"I felt a benefit after taking the first box of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after eight or nine boxes cured me so completely I can now walk a mile without fatigue."
If you haven't used Dodd's Kidney Pills yourself almost any of your neighbors will tell you they always cure Kidney Disease in any form.

UNEXPECTED REWARDS

KIND ACTS THAT HAVE BEEN REMEMBERED IN WILLS.

Many Cases Are on Record Where Men and Women Have Received Legacies For Thoughtful Actions of Which They Have Long Since Forgotten—Young Man Who Rescued a Lady From Drowning.

A kind act done spontaneously has frequently redounded to the credit of the doer. There are many instances on record of a kind, thoughtful action being repaid by, perhaps years afterwards, of a handsome legacy. Here are a few instances.

Some time ago, a very wealthy young lady was bathing from a machine at Brighton, England, when a wave caught her and carried her a considerable distance away, rendering it almost impossible for her to regain her bathing machine.
There was a big crowd on the pier, all eyes bent in the direction of the bather. But among this crowd there was a young fellow who at once took in the situation. He divested himself of coat and hat, and dived from the head of the pier, and swam to the rescue of the drowning girl. In the meantime a boat was put off from the pier, and towards the girl and boatman. The would-be rescuer had reached the spot but the girl had disappeared. He also disappeared, but was immediately seen to rise to the surface holding the girl. To the onlookers, the rescuer appeared exhausted, and the question was whether the boat could reach them in time. He made an attempt to meet the boat, but the outgoing tide drove him further away with his burden. The boat, however, reached him in time, and the rescuer and rescued were brought to the beach, where a large crowd had assembled. The lady was unconscious, and while attention was directed to her, her preserver disappeared.

For some time advertisements were inserted in the English newspapers for the discovery of the young man, stating that it would be to his advantage to reply; but nothing came of them, and the rescuer was not located. Two years elapsed, when another advertisement appeared stating that a big legacy had been left to the unknown young man. The newspapers commented on the matter, and by this means the young man was located. He acknowledged that he was aware that he was advertised for, but did not wish to be rewarded for his heroic deed. It appeared that the young lady failing to find her rescuer, instructed her lawyers in her will to find the man and she devised to him twenty thousand pounds. He was a mechanic and in poor circumstances.

A cup of tea placed a needy artist far beyond the dreams of avarice. Having spent almost his last penny in the purchase of a new coat, he was in Paris, our friend was crossing from Dieppe to Dover. The carriage of the Dover-London express was occupied by two elderly ladies. Overbearing a remark from one how she would enjoy a cup of tea, he immediately left his seat and hastened to the kitchen, but returned with a cup of tea to the carriage with the cup of tea. The astonishment and the thanks of the ladies led to a very pleasant conversation, and he told his new-made friends his hopes and his aspirations.

They parted with protestations of friendship. Shortly after the artist received a communication from a firm of solicitors to the effect that a large sum of money had been placed in their hands, which would be disbursed to him quarterly to enable him to follow his profession and make himself famous. He did both, and is never tired of telling his story of "a cup of tea."

One thousand dollars' worth of furniture and five hundred dollars in the bank, isn't bad pay for helping up an old gentleman who had slipped and fallen. Mr. B. on leaving his club one evening slipped on walking down the steps. A young man and his fiancée happened to be passing by at the time, and he rushed to the assistance of the old gentleman, picked him up, sat with him on the steps till he had recovered, and then he took him home. The old gentleman thanked the young man for his kindness and asked him to call a cab. Before entering the cab Mr. B. asked the young man to call on him the next day to see how he was. The young man replied that he certainly would, and did so. At that interview Mr. B. questioned the young man as to his name and explained that the young man was engaged, and their marriage could not be celebrated for some little time for want of funds. Mr. B. supplied the funds as stated above, in acknowledgement of the ready assistance rendered him.

An expensive library and two thousand pounds was the value put upon a little kindness displayed by one man to another in a store. They were both purchasing at the store when a sudden faintness attacked the elder. The younger at once went to his assistance, and remained with him till he recovered, afterwards accompanying him to his home. On arriving there he asked his companion for his name and told him he would be glad if he would pay him a visit. This was done, and the two men became fast friends. On the elder one's death, the other became possessed of his fine library of books and ten thousand dollars.

Five hundred dollars for a smile. This was a legacy left by a lady named Hodges to another lady simply because she was in the habit of kindly smiling at Miss Hodges as the two left church on Sunday mornings.

A servant girl gave some breakfast to a hungry tramp. Six years afterwards she was a bit astonished to be told that this self-same tramp had left her a farm worth around $30,000, which he had managed to acquire by his thrift and industry.

RENAISSANCE OF BALFOUR.

His Genius Keeps Him In Forefront of Party Says "Tay Pay."

"That's a very distinguished figure," whispered one well-known Parliamentarian to me the other afternoon in the House of Commons; and, curiously enough, this was the very thought which I had in my mind as I saw the figure, which was passing through my mind at that very same moment, writes T. P. O'Connor in T. P.'s Weekly. And it was a very distinguished figure. The slight and supple frame seemed in perfect harmony with the great mind; the strength and the deadliness of steel in the thin and polished blade. And, similarly, the long and rather thin face, with its refined complexion—now ruddier and less lined than it was before the bitterness and the rudger of a deserted leader were still corroding his heart—similarly the dominant impression left by the face was one of great distinction. Add that in this face there are beautiful eyes, dark, soft, brilliant; and that above this is a mass of long, silver-white hair, looking like an aureole, and suggesting more of latter experience than of age; for the freshness of the complexion and the youthfulness of the figure proclaim him still a man in the prime of life. Finally, listen to the tones of the voice; it is not a melodious voice; sometimes even it rises to discordant notes; but there is a subtle something in it that again can only be suggested by using the word distinguished. It conveys to my ear something of the same impression which I always felt when listening in the House of Lords to the late Lord Salisbury. For there I was always struck with that distinction in Lord Salisbury's voice; in such contrast with the rather lumbering figure; and yet in such harmony with the immense depth of the great head and the splendor of the large forehead.

By this time the reader knows that I am describing Mr. Balfour as he was speaking on Friday of last week. He was speaking on a subject which admirably suits his genius. He has had all his life the Scotsman's love of metaphysics and theology; broad in his religious views, he has always felt a strong attraction for the contemplativeness of the Established Church; and there is no subject on which he shows conviction so firm and so consistent as the maintenance of that church. And in that speech he was at the best of his best. With courtesy and even tenderness he analyzed the speech of Mr. Lloyd-George, who had preceded him; but the courtesy was deadlier than the rancorous note of personal violence. Slowly, tranquilly, and yet with accumulating effect, Mr. Balfour turned up the corners against him; and though I did not agree with anything he said, I could perceive and could appreciate the artistry of the speech. And when, having thus examined and from his own point of view and that of his friends shattered the case of his opponent, he wound up with an appeal for greater union and harmony between the Christian communions, there was the stilled hush in the House which always marks its moments of rapid admiration and profound feeling. It was a curious spectacle—this man, now robbed of all the adventitious aids of power and patronage, a deserted leader, with all his trappings of external position gone; and yet there, standing simply as a private member, and regaining the old ascendancy without effect, without any self-consciousness, by sheer force of natural powers, ruling by the divine right of genius.

"Mop 'em Off" Taylor.
Tom Taylor, of Bolton, the new member in the British House of Commons, is a genial and unassuming looking man, who has confined to his constituents that he does not propose to make speeches in Parliament, but that he hopes to be able to vote with as much efficiency as any other member. He is already, however, amongst the Immortals, and all because his slogan in the election was supposed to be "Mop 'em off." It appears that his opponents, in decision, had bought thousands of tiny mops and waved them from morning till night, but at the end of it all he romped home with a majority that surprised both friend and foe. His appearance at Westminster, therefore, evoked uproarious cheers from the Liberals, mingled with a chorus from the Unionist "Mop 'em off." He says, however, that he never said it, and that the fiction is due to the stupidity (or was it versatility) of a local reporter. He was denouncing tariff reform, and explaining that his idea of reforming tariffs was, not to put them on, but to knock 'em off, but the reporter attributed to him the phrase "mop 'em off."

Tom is, however, quite satisfied; for the young woman were engaged, and their marriage could not be celebrated for some little time for want of funds. Mr. B. supplied the funds as stated above, in acknowledgement of the ready assistance rendered him.

An expensive library and two thousand pounds was the value put upon a little kindness displayed by one man to another in a store. ## CHANGE NAVAL WARFARE.

Sir Percy Scott Has Given British Navy a New Gunnery Advantage.

The baronetcy conferred on Vice Admiral Sir Percy Scott, announced in the list of New Year's honors, is regarded in naval circles as confirmation of the report that this officer's invention of a fire director has been adopted by the Admiralty for the whole fleet. It is reported that the Thunderer, equipped experimentally with a Scott director, recently fired with an accuracy from 300 to 400 per cent. greater than the Orion, which was not so equipped.
Any such increase in the ability of the navy as a whole to hit the enemy in the early stages of an action means a revolution in gunnery. The new appliance has been submitted to a series of exhaustive tests, which have been uniformly successful. A few weeks ago the First Lord of the Admiralty, accompanied by the other members of the board of inquiry, witnessed the traditional firing duel, in which the new battleship Thunderer, with the director, was pitted against the Orion, without a director, both ships firing their 10 and 13.5 inch guns under exactly the same conditions at a range of about 8,000 yards.

The test confirmed the results obtained in a series of experiments by the same ships off Berehaven. Although no details have been officially communicated, it is stated that the Thunderer scored about four times as many hits as the Orion.
Under the Scott system it is possible to discharge a projectile from each of ten guns simultaneously on a Dreadnought of the latest type at a single broadside. Thus, the enemy, if he shoots at accurately, can hit him with more than five and a half tons of metal. There are eight Dreadnoughts in each of the first two squadrons of the home fleet, and consequently, if all their weapons directed their fire at once they would send projectiles weighing nearly ninety tons on a deadly mission at one discharge.

The exact character of the contrivance is confidential, but it may be said that it is carried on the foremast of the vessel, so as to be high above the waterline. By its aid all the guns of the ship are brought to one level and throw shells at the same spot. In effect, all the guns are controlled as by one hand. At a word all can be fired in unison, so as to obtain the deadliest effect from a broadside.

At present each gun finds its own range. Firing, as a rule, takes place in succession from various turrets, with the result that some guns are more effectively than others, and every inconvenience is suffered from successive clouds of smoke, particularly if the wind is contrary.
Under the new regime the personal element is largely dispensed with. Each Dreadnought becomes a united and standardized machine, with which officers may hope to hit first and hit hard, and keep on hitting, which is a maxim of victory in naval warfare. The virtues of the Scott director is that it enables good shooting to be obtained even when the ships are rolling, as the shots are accurate, can hit him with more than five and a half tons of metal. There are eight Dreadnoughts in each of the first two squadrons of the home fleet, and consequently, if all their weapons directed their fire at once they would send projectiles weighing nearly ninety tons on a deadly mission at one discharge.

Robertson's Slip.

Sir John Hare, who is now living in retirement at his residence in London, tells a good story of which the figures prominently another famous actor who will ere long bid Sir John Hare adieu.
"Before I went to America for the first time," states Sir John Hare, "Sir Henry Irving kindly suggested that I should give a performance of 'Caste' at the Lyceum Theatre in London, and I then made my first London appearance in the part of 'Eoc' in 'Caste.' By this revival I reminded of an amusing slip made by that fine actor, Forbes-Robertson, when playing 'Alroy.' I don't think he can ever have a better slip than that which he made on that occasion, and was sometimes apt to be a little abstracted. At the performance in question no doubt engrossed in his own plans, which were very ambitious, and reflected the greatest credit on himself and the stage he so worthily adorned—the cause of the complaint: 'Kind hearts are more than coronets. And simple faith than Norman blood.' "But in thinking of my brother, perhaps in connection with the cast of a play he was shortly to produce, he rendered it thus: "Kind hearts are more than coronets. And simple faith than Norman Forbes!"

A Bathless Parish.

Rev. E. Stogdon, vicar of Holy Trinity Church, Nottingham, England, who wrote to The London Times stating "there was not a bathroom in his parish, and that in the hot summer a man was once seen to bathe in a cistern," said that the parish has a population of 6,000 working people, and the houses were probably built before the bathroom era.
"I know my parish pretty well," he added, "but I have never seen or heard of a bathroom, as in some cases five or six families live in one house. This is a state of things which should not exist. The man who used the cistern caused a mild sensation in the district. It was in the wintering summer of 1910, and the cistern was on the roof of his house. I am afraid I cannot say there was any strong feeling of revolt among the older generation. Traditional instincts do not warm to bathroom theory."

The exact character of the contrivance is confidential, but it may be said that it is carried on the forecastle of the vessel, so as to be high above the waterline. By its aid all the guns of the ship are brought to one aim, and the shells are fired from a common breech, and, consequently, if all their weapons did their fire at once they would project shells weighing nearly nine tons on a deadly mission at one charge.

Present each gun finds its own target. Firing, as a rule, takes place from a turret, but in some cases the result that some guns fire more effectively than others, and the inconvenience is suffered from excessive clouds of smoke, particularly if the wind is contrary.

Under the new regime the personal part is largely dispensed with. The Dreadnought becomes a unified standardized machine, with which every man may hope to hit first and hit often, and keep on hitting, which is the aim of victory. One of the virtues of the Scott director is that it does good shooting to be obtained when the ships are nearly as close as Dreadnoughts have a marked tendency not to keep on an even keel.

Lady Marjorie's Love

"I am sorry to hear that Marlingford isn't the thing," he said. "Old Barlow was at our place yesterday. Stey's gout, we shall never hear the last of it. It seems to me, as you was giving him some decidedly stiff twinges. It will be my turn next, no doubt, ha, ha. What was I saying? Oh, Barlow was saying that Marlingford didn't seem exactly chirpy. That is a fact isn't it?"

Obliged to break her frigid silence Marjorie did so as ungraciously as it was possible to do it. She gave him a glance under her eyelids, which was less complimentary than none at all, and answered in a tone that was an imitation of the Countess, and a very excellent imitation of her at her politest and frostiest.

"It is perfectly correct I am sorry to say Mr Jocelyn. The Earl is very far from well."
"A fact is it. Sorry for that. Not that I am much surprised, of course, for Marlingford has looked a bit run-down lately, as I said to Barlow yesterday. But doctors hash things up so sometimes that I thought I'd step over and inquire and get the rights of it."

"You are very good, Mr. Jocelyn. I am pleased to have saved you the trouble of a walk to the house. I will tell Lady Marlingford of your inquiries. Good morning."

She made him a little bow and turned away. He was as impetuously good humored as an unshakable as ever. He turned with her.
"Oh, no trouble—not the least in the world. Now I'm so near I will pay my respects to her ladyship. It isn't often that I do the polite thing, so I won't spoil it half way. Besides, I don't often have the pleasure of a walk with you."

"Quite often enough," said Marjorie haughtily.
"What's that? Oh, come, don't be unkind. I'm sure I have been extra good lately. You might be a little gracious, just as a reward for your good conduct, you cross little puss. Marjorie vouchsafed no answer. She walked on with her head up and her eyelids down, clenching a little fist with which she would have liked nothing so much as to box her companion's large ears. It was only because she knew that he both could and would keep pace with her that she refrained from openly running away and casting dignity to the wind. She hated Tom Jocelyn intensely, and hated him since she was a child. She had been a slip of a girl of four, ten or thereabouts, when he had caught her up in his arms one day, boisterously kissed her and told her that she should be his little wife one of these days. Child as she was she had been old enough to resent furiously as an insult, and had clapped his large florid face with all her little force, struggling in such a tempest of passion as had half amazed and half amused the Earl, who had somewhat gruffly bidden her to put the child down, and not tease her. Marjorie had never forgotten or forgiven that episode, and she had never forgiven whenever the faintest chance of doing so had fallen in her way, and when a little more than a year ago, he had formally made her an offer of marriage she had simply hated him more than ever.

The Earl had been amused at her wrath. Neither Tom Jocelyn nor any one else should have his little girl against her will, he had said, and the Countess had observed with her cold smile that it was a pity that Marjorie so utterly eschewed common sense. Tom Jocelyn would, at any rate, make a far better match for her than Loftus Bligh, about whom the foolish little creature was certainly getting sentimental lately.

This from a common sense point of view—the only point of view which ever presented itself to her ladyship's mental vision, by the way, was unquestionably true. The Holt, which had been the home of the Jocelyns almost as long as the Wynnes had held sway at Castle Marling, was a fine place, and there was no lack of money there. And that it and its revenue must one day fall to Tom Jocelyn was certain, for there was no fear that its present owner, his elder brother Stephen, would ever marry now. He had lost his best friend, and a week of what would have been his wedding day, and had never held up his head since. Always delicate in body and retiring in character—a complete contrast in all ways to his much younger brother—he would certainly never live to make old bones, especially if Dr Barlow's cautious whisperings of a deep seated malady were true. So all things considered, Tom Jocelyn would not have made a bad match even for Lady Marjorie Wynne, had she only chanced to like instead of detesting that stout, large-limbed, ruddy faced, and somewhat coarse and vulgar young man. He had taken his rejection very coolly, had laughed indeed, and had further augmented the girl's wrath by telling her that she would "come round" one of these days—he could wait. As for her engagement to her cousin he ignored that altogether—such a person as Loftus Bligh might not have existed within his knowledge. Altogether Lady Marjorie hated her admirer most viciously, and took particular good care that he should know it.

She walked on now, taking the shortest way to the house, without a glance at him or a word to him. Judging by the glances that he cast at her and the smile that crossed his broad, florid face now and then, the haughtiness and angry scorn expressed in the delicate girl's face only amused him. Many persons called Tom Jocelyn a handsome man, and if inches, muscles and flesh, can make up masculine beauty, handsome he certainly was. Marjorie, either because she was fastidious or because she possessed an altogether different ideal of her own, stigmatised him contemptuously as "horrid." If there were no Loftus in the world, she had said once, in answer to her father's half jesting remonstrance, she would jump out of the window, jump into the river, do anything, no matter how desperate and dreadful, sooner than marry that man and be mistress of the Holt.

At another time she might have been even more angry than she was at his enforced companionship, and might have made another effort to get rid of him, but already her thoughts had gone back to her father and to her anxiety about him. What was it that he had wanted to tell her, which it seemed that he did not want Fenella to hear, and which Mr Percherick had said she ought to know? She Tom Jocelyn to present himself to the Countess as he best could. She entered the hall by the way that she had left it, and as she crossed the threshold stopped short. In an instant—the instant of her meeting and need to Jocelyn to ask it, no servant's faces—an icy hand seemed to clutch at her throat, the whole current of her life to pause. She tried to ask a question, but it died away inarticulate upon her dry, stiffened lips. She had no need to ask it, no need to listen to the faltered words that answered her; in a flash she had realised the truth, the terrible something towards her, although they were only servant's faces—an icy hand seemed to clutch at her throat, the whole current of her life to pause. EARLY INDISCRETIONS AND EXCESSES HAVE UNDERMINED YOUR SYSTEM

The nerves control all actions of the body so that anything that debilitates them will weaken all organs of the system. Early indiscretions and excesses have ruined thousands of promising young men. Unnatural drains sap their vigor and vitality and they never develop to a proper condition of manhood. They remain weak, flaccid, mentally, physically and sexually. How you feel? Are you nervous and weak, despondent and gloomy, specks before the eyes with dark circles under them, weak back, kidneys irritable, palpitation of the heart, debilitated dreams, sediment in urine, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks, careworn expression, poor memory, listless, distrustful, lack energy and strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, premature decay, bone pains, hair loose, etc.

Varsity Won from Queens

KINGSTON, Feb. 5.—Varsity won the senior Intercollegiate game here last night, defeating Queen's by three goals to two. Queen's led by 2 to 1 until four minutes before full time, when Toronto tied the score and shot the winning goal. The winners had condition, owing to greater opportunities for ice practice all winter, while Queen's were seriously handicapped owing to the fact that they had only two or three ice practices during the past few weeks. The team was further handicapped owing to their point man Blacklee, being in the hospital, and their rover Box having a bone broken in his thumb.

Frith, Toronto's rover, was hurt having been kicked in the knee. He was taken to the General Hospital where his wound was stitched and dressed. For a time the teams played six men aside, Box retiring, Webster then came on in place of Frith, and Box returned to the game. The half time score was 1-1.

In the second half Queen's was first to score again. Box shooting successfully on a pass from Moxley. During the latter part of the half, Toronto wore Queen's out. Four minutes before time, Webster scored from a face off in front of Queen's goal, on a pass from Strome. A minute before time Webster scored the winning goal.

GUELPH, Feb. 6.—There was joy at the headquarters of the Maple Leaf Baseball Club yesterday, for the mail brought in the signed contracts of Jack Fryer and Billy Wright, the two hard hitting outfielders of last year's team. This makes the outfield complete as Joe Dunn had sent in his contract before. Another contract which arrived yesterday was that of a pitcher named Way, who lives in Penetang. He was tendered a contract by the Montreal International League team, but preferred a season in the Canadian League. A long letter was received from Manager Louis Cook. It contained the news that he had received the signed contract of Roy Schlyer, the elongated twirler who played last season with Hamilton and Ottawa. He was the property of the Baltimore Club, but has received his release. Manager Cook also states that he has accepted the terms of three new pitchers and two infielders, and is dickering for several more. A letter received from Schaeffer of last year's team, states that he is not satisfied with the figures in his contract and has refused to sign.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed. Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh), that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Why Women Are Not RICH.

Man is a millionaire many times over in the possession of blood cells. Woman is not quite so rich, for scientists have proven that the normal man has five million—the woman only four and a half million to a cubic millimetre of blood.

A decrease in number of red blood corpuscles and a person "looks pale."—in fact, in anæmia, the blood does not get the right food and probably the stomach is disordered.

Dr. R. V. Pierce found years ago that a glyceric extract of golden seal and Oregon grape roots, queen's root and bloodroot with black cherry bark, would help the assimilation of the food in the stomach, correct liver ills and in Nature's own way increase the red blood corpuscles. This medicine he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. By assimilating the food eaten the system is nourished and the blood takes on a rich red color. Nervousness is only "the cry of the starved nerves for food," and when the nerves are fed on rich red blood the person loses those irritable feelings, sleeps well at night and is refreshed in the morning.

"I was attacked with a severe nervous disease, which was caused by a disordered stomach and liver," writes Mr. JAS. D. LEVLEY, of Washburn, Tenn., Route 2, Box 96. "All my friends thought I would die and the best physicians gave me up. I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and derived much benefit from same. My case had run so long, it had become so chronic that nothing would effect a permanent cure, but Dr. Pierce's medicine has done much for me and I highly recommend it. I heartily advise its use as a spring tonic, and further advise ailing people to take Dr. Pierce's medicine before their disease have run so long that there is no chance to be cured."

Walsh's confession was made his sick bed. It was forced by charges made by Police Commissioner Fox, who pleaded guilty to collection last Monday, and upon Walsh as the man next to him. Fearing that a heart with which he has long been might foreshadow his death, wishing to purge his conscience, Capt. Walsh is declared to have admitted that he took vice graft to the extent of perhaps $100,000 in a police precinct and shared the amount with a police ins-
