French Generals Put Faith In God Alone

Bishop Tissier, of Chalons, in the sermon preached recently at the laying of the corner-stone of the Victory Monument at Lourdes, paid the following tribute to the faith of the soldiers and generals of the French army during the great war:

"I cannot recall without emotion the hymns of gratitude our soldiers offered in the crowded churches of the front each time victory smiled on their flag. 'You will get them,' I used to say to them; and they answered, 'If it so pleases God.' And in face of their superhuman task they all gave evidences of an unbounded confidence, the natural fruit of their deep-rooted religion."

"Marshal Foch, the future generalissimo, on the night of the first Marne victory, had to fall on the sacred words of the Psalmist to express the depth of his gratitude. To my words of congratulations on his triumphant entry to Chalons he replied, raising to heaven his eyes shining with joy and hope: 'Non nobis, Domine, non nobis, sed nomini tuo da gloriam.' And that was the discreet anthem of the great hymn of which he was to unfold the tragic strophes during four long years, and which he concluded in a manner worthy of Joan of Arc with these words expressing his recognition of the inner Spirit which had led him: 'I have been but an instrument.'"

"The same faith inspired the other army commanders, who before the battle prayed on their knees for victory, and the battle over, fell on their knees to thank God for it.

"So Castellan, who on the eve of the battle of Champagne in 1915, sent to a night adoration all the officers of his staff, who were not on duty, and all officers and soldiers, with the Bishop in their midst, joined in psalmody, broken only by the artillery detonations.

"So Mangin, who on returning victorious from Douaumont in September, 1916, entered the church at Notre Dame de L'Epine, to salute Le Bon Dieu, as he was wont to do; and Fayolle, who on his way to Italy to take command of the Allied forces, came to his Bishop for a blessing upon that expedition of liberation.

"So again Gouraud, who on the evening of July 15, 1918, when he had so magnificently broken the last German offensive and in a few hours restored the French fortune, wrote to me: 'We have won the first pass; may God help us to win the rest.'

"I now understand, when I recall the faith of our great leaders, the promise made to me one day by another general, who emulates their faith and their courage: 'Bishop, when we have won the victory, I shall write the mystical history of the war.'

A Wonderful Blind Mathematician

The Lancet quotes from a French journal the account of a marvelous mathematician, a young man named Fleury, who is completely blind. It seems that Fleury has consciously developed his ability, in which he differs from the usual calculating phenomenon, who often performs his Minard's Liniment for sale every where.

A Papal Postmaster

Prince Massimo, head of the ancient Roman Massimo family which traces its descent from the Fabian gens, has just died in Rome in his 84th year. The Prince held the office of Postmaster at the Papal Court, an office that is hereditary in the Massimo family.

The Papal Postmaster has nothing whatever to do with Post Offices, and the office is more accurately known as that of Mar-shall of the Papal Journeys. Since the fall of the Temporal Power of the Pope the Office of Papal Postmaster has been merely nominal. But in the days previous to the occupation of Rome the duties of this functionary were to make all provision for the journeys of the Papal Court, to provide carriages and exchanges of post horses—hence the title. The office is of ancient origin, and there are still in existence the ancient account books of the Papal Postmaster, which date back to the Pontificate of Pope Clement V in 1205.

A Good Heart

A good heart makes a good face—perhaps not beautiful or classic, but fine, sincere and noble. The face will shine with God behind it. There are some faces even today that at times seem to have a glow upon them. There is Minard's Liniment for Dandruff.

DO YOUR BOWELS

Move Regularly, or Do They? BECOME CONSTIPATED?

If the truth were only known it would be found that half the ills of life are caused by constipation, for when the bowels cease to work properly, all the organs of the body become deranged. A free motion of the bowels, every day, should be the rule of everyone who aspires to perfect health.

Keep your bowels regular by the use of Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills, and you will have no constipation, no bilious or sick headaches, or any other troubles arising from a wrong action of the liver or bowels.

Mrs. G. Brown, Lewistown, N.B., writes—"I have been troubled for years with constipation, and trying various so-called remedies, which did me no good whatever. I was persuaded by a friend to try Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills. They have done me worlds of good. They are indeed a splendid pill and I can heartily recommend them to all who suffer from constipation."

Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills are 25c a box, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

are faces that are quiet and uninteresting in repose, that light up amazingly with the animation of talking.

There are some who can never get a good photograph because the camera cannot catch the subtle sparkle of the eye, in which the whole individuality lies. There are some whom you would not at first call handsome, whose faces grow on you with constant acquaintance until they become beautiful to you.

For you see the soul shining through; you see the splendor of a noble character glorifying every feature. A true beauty in the soul will come out in the sweetness, the brightness, the quiet glory of the face.

A large increase in retreatants has been reported of late in England, the figures from one center of this manifestation of Catholic life—Oakwood Hall, Romiley—breaking all previous records. The increase in the retreat activities at Romiley for the past year exceeds all previous advances, which had been made at this retreat center, in 1920, 734 retreatants were received. These included 50 boys, who made a day's retreat. A feature of the record made was that special retreats were held for the Catholic Social Guild, for students from nine universities, for the St. Vincent de Paul Society, and for the Third Order of St. Francis. Reports show that the guests at the center have come from all parts of England, some from Ireland and two from the United States.

A SENSIBLE MERCHANT.

Milburn's Sterling Headache Powders give women prompt relief from monthly pains, and have no bad after effects whatever. Be sure you get Milburn's. Price 25 cents a box.

W. H. O. Wilkinson Streetford says:—"It affords me much pleasure to say that I experienced great relief from Muscular Rheumatism by using two boxes of Milburn's Rheumatic Pills. Price 25 cents a box."

Hearing a crash of glassware one morning, Mrs. Blank called to her maid in the adjoining room. "Norah, what on earth are you doing?"

"I'm doing nothin', mum," replied Norah; "it's done."

Kidneys Troubled Her.

BACK ACHE SO BAD COULD NOT SLEEP.

The epidemic of "Flu" has a great deal to be responsible for. In nearly every case it has left some bad after effects, and in a great many cases it is the kidneys that have suffered.

When the kidneys have been left in a weakened state, very often some serious kidney trouble will follow if not attended to. Don't's Kidney Pills will prove to be just the remedy you require to strengthen them.

Miss Florence Barnshaw, Apsley, Ont., writes—"Last winter, after I had the 'Flu' I was troubled with my kidneys. My back ached so I could not sleep, and my ankles were so swollen I could not walk. A neighbor told me about Don't's Kidney Pills. I got two boxes, and before I had the first one taken I felt a change. I cannot recommend your medicine enough."

Be sure and get Don't's Kidney Pills when you get a chance. An oblong gray box; a maple leaf the trade mark; price 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

At The Federal Capital

Public business in the House of Commons during the week ending, March 19th, progressed quietly. Generally speaking, there was very little sharp debating across the floor of the House, with the exception of a couple of outbursts on the part of the Leader of the Opposition, which ended, as is usual in his case, in simply nothing. On the first occasion during this week on which the Leader of the Opposition considered it incumbent upon him to make a little bit of fuss was when the motion was made from the Government side to go into committee of supply. He took strict objection to vote supply until all the volumes of the Auditor General's report were tabled. Three volumes of the report had been presented prior to this time, the fourth was expected any day, but the Leader of the Opposition took occasion to read from a memorandum which he had, that under the Liberal Government on certain years which he was careful to select, all the volumes of the Auditor General's report had been presented at a comparatively early date. After he had fumed for a while and exhausted himself, the Leader of the Government quietly intimated that Mr. King had been particular not to state the years during the Liberal regime when the Auditor General's reports were very late in being presented to the House. He showed that on many occasions volumes of this report had not been tabled for over three months after the session had commenced. In the present instance three volumes were presented within a month of the meeting of the House, and the fourth volume may be expected any time. It was evident that when the statements of both Leaders were compared, Mr. King was about as far at sea as usual. He took occasion a couple of days later to make another exhibition of himself, when it was announced to the House by Mr. Speaker that Sir Herbert Ames, who is now employed as Secretary in connection with the Council of the League of Nations in Geneva, had resigned his membership in the House. It appears that Sir Herbert, when in Canada in July last, left his resignation in the hands of two members with instructions when to make it public. The resignation was dated at Ottawa, the 14th day of February. Mr. King was not sufficiently wise to understand how these things are done, and when the matter was explained in half a dozen words by the Leader of the Government, there was a very considerable laugh at the expense of the Leader of the Opposition. These were Mr. King's principal contributions to the science of Government during the week in question.

During private members' days some debates of considerable importance took place in the House. One of these was the resolution by a private member advocating the development of Canadian natural resources. The mineral resources of Canada in the various provinces, especially in the West, were passed in review, and comparisons were made with the measure of development that has taken place and the manner of conducting this development with how these things were done in the United States. A very considerable amount of information was presented during this debate. As is usual on such occasions, those who participated to the greatest extent were Western members, who are very desirous that the latent mineral resources existing in that vast territory should be developed as far as possible, or that such legislation should be passed as would enable to encourage more rapid progress in this direction. After the question had been very fully discussed as usual the resolution was withdrawn. Another resolution was debated which was not so important generally, aimed at bringing about the conclusion of a public work that has been long before the people, and upon which a great amount of money has been spent. This is the Hudson Bay Railway. Of course, these members who come from close proximity to this work, some of them at least, are very anxious that the work should be completed, but under the present circumstances, and with the very large deficits that result from the operations of the Canadian National Railways, there is no chance at all that this work will be recommenced in the very near future. As a matter of fact, from ample evidence produced, it does not seem clear that it would be of any great national advantage that this work should be completed at all. There is an idea among a number of those best acquainted with the circumstances that it is almost unfortunate that it was ever commenced. However, the state of the case is that several millions of money have been spent, and more than 360 miles of this railway has been built, and now whether or not it will be best to continue it to the terminus is a question involving very considerable doubt in the minds of many. However, for the present, nothing will be undertaken by the Government, because of the inability to furnish money. The Minister of Railways, Hon. Dr. Reid, presented the annual financial statement of the Canadian Government Railway for the year ending 31st December, 1920. To say the least, the information furnished by this statement is not at all encouraging. On the contrary, it is of a very, very serious character. Last year the deficits on the year's transactions amounted to some forty-eight million dollars. It was hoped then that the year 1920 would make a better showing, but the very contrary is the fact, and the deficit for the year 1920 is over sixty-nine million dollars. These are just the bald statements relative to the result of the year's operations, as compared with that of last year. The whole question will be thoroughly discussed at a later stage when the estimates of the Minister of Railways shall be up for consideration. Until then, we will leave the matter just at that.

Apart from what has just been said, the balance of the time of the House for the week in question, aside from routine business questions and notices of motion, etc., so far as Government business is concerned, was devoted to Supply. Agriculture and Justice were the two Departments whose estimates were under consideration in committee of supply. Considerable progress was made with the voting of estimates for both these Departments. Many questions were asked and considerable heckling of one kind or another was indulged in from the Opposition benches; but both Hon. Mr. Doherty, the Minister of Justice, and Hon. Dr. Tolmie, Minister of Agriculture, were always able and ready to give information, and always gave it in that courteous and comprehensible manner for which both Hon.

Ministers are remarkable. Of course, the consideration of estimates of supply in committee of the whole afford the widest possible scope for eliciting information and enquiry into every particular in connection with the operation of all Departments of the Government. This is the great underlying principle of responsible Government, that the people's representatives have a right to all the information that can be obtained relative to how the Government has spent the money supplied to them for the past year, before they can secure new supplies on the estimates of the year under consideration. The principle is excellent and ideal; but it must be said that advantage is taken of it by those who are very desirous of affording difficulties for the Government to go very far afield for questions. As a matter of fact their conduct is not infrequently more of an obstructive nature than anything else. However, this is always expected, and ministers know very well when they come to ask supplies for the Departments that they must be prepared, with the greatest patience possible, to answer such questions as may be put to them. As stated above, both ministers made very considerable progress with their estimates before the end of the week.

The resignation of the Right Hon. Bonar Law, Lord Privy Seal in the Lloyd George Government, and Leader in the Imperial House of Commons, which was announced in the House of Commons by Premier Lloyd George on Thursday evening last, came as a bolt from the blue. The resignation, as the retiring leader's letter indicates, was in consequence of a breakdown in health. As a matter of fact, it was announced that his physicians had informed him that he must either retire immediately or run the risk of collapse at any moment. It had been known that the great leader's health had been very much impaired in consequence of his herculean labors, but it was not expected that the case was as serious as it is. This goes to show that great leaders, who unsparringly devote their time to the business of Government in these troublous conditions in which we live, take their lives in their hands. This serious consequence of sincere devotion to the business of the people, as is here indicated, is not peculiar to Canada alone, but exists in Great Britain, and probably in many other British Dominions. In our own country, as all know, Sir Robert Borden sacrificed himself to carry on the public business in order that Canada might occupy the place due to her during the war and since then. Now here comes the great leader of the British House of Commons breaking down, and running the risk of almost certain death at short notice, unless he entirely throws off the cares of public business. Not very much has been known except in a general way, of the manner of man and leader Bonar Law was up to the present time; but now, since his retirement from the British leadership, it comes out that he was a most marvellous man. He was the right hand man of Premier Lloyd George. As a matter of fact, the Prime Minister of England has said that he would be absolutely unable to carry on, during the tremendously troublesome times during and since the war, if he had not had the incalculably great assistance of Bonar Law. Near home we have an estimate of what manner of man and leader he was. Sir Robert Borden made the following statement in connection with the retirement of Bonar Law from the Lloyd George Government:

"A year ago last month Mr. Bonar Law told me that his physicians had imperatively ordered his retirement from the exhausting duties of official life. Thus his resignation does not surprise me. Perhaps more than any other Canadian, I had the opportunity of realizing and appreciating his public service during the years of strife and agony through which we have passed. No spirit more unselfish, no self-sacrifice more complete and loyal, no patriotism more earnest and devoted, can be found in the record of any statesman within our Empire during that period. To these great qualities he added a conspicuous ability and an unflinching energy that rendered his service second to none. The grateful thanks of his countrymen and their warmest wishes for the complete restoration of his health will attend him in his retirement."

Parliament adjourns for the Easter recess on Wednesday evening, March 23rd, and will reassemble on Tuesday March 29th. This will afford an opportunity for those of the members from Ontario and Quebec, and perhaps some other places not so far away, to spend their Easter holidays with their families. But those from the extremes of the West and East will hardly be able to avail themselves of any great benefit from the "holidays," so far as visiting their homes is concerned. They will remain at the capital in order that the continuity of the session may not be altogether destroyed. When Parliament reassembles after Easter, it is very likely that the progress of business will be accelerated, and that we shall have day and night sessions for each of the five working days of the week, and later on, as is usual, shall be morning sessions and Saturday sessions. When it comes to the Saturday sessions, then it may be said that proration is looming up.

See Settlement
 London, March 23.—The Foreign Ministry informed the Star today hope is entertained that the matters in dispute with the Canadian packers may be amicably arranged without reference to third party arbitration. The request for arbitration came from the packers in accordance with the contract terms, which provides that this might be resorted to when other attempts at settlement had failed. It hopes that discussion between the principals will obviate this necessity. The dispute hinges on the clauses in the bacon contract, which officials assert, guarantees the Ministry against the loss which has in fact been incurred. On the other hand the packers contend that the guarantee is implied pending the arrival of the packers' representatives and the drawing up of the terms of reference. The Ministry officials are disinclined to prejudge the issue by comment.

FOR OUR January Carnival of Economy
 The old year took away, forever, we hope, the old burden of war prices. For months conditions have been working toward the great climax that brought the remarkable merchandise that is here assembled for this our greatest January Carnival of Economy.
 The results came in two ways: 1st. The drastic lowering of prices on our own stocks, down to the new low basis, and often, far below it—to double your interest in January buying in our store.
 2nd. We have combed the markets—taking utmost advantage of the opportunities created by far sighted manufacturers who were ready to co-operate with us in presenting to you now the lowest prices that will be possible, for the next six months, at least.
 We can just see the delight of our Customers when they see the splendid assortment of goods, in every department of our store, and then realize that prices are away down to the bottom, where it is a pleasure to buy things.
 Many Manufacturers have ACCEPTED LARGE LOSSES.
 We shall forgo a large part of our profits on the new goods and accept large losses on our own mark-downs—to inaugurate this first New Year under the New Management and

THE MOST STIRRING JANUARY PRICE-UPSET THAT THIS COMMUNITY HAS EVER KNOWN.
 No matter what you need or desire, now is the best time for months to come to buy it. Some of the reasons are told on this page; but scores of others are here that can get no mention today, even in this broad space.

Speaking of trade conditions a Toronto man says: Only business put on a keen basis will revive. This will encourage the razor trade at any rate.

Moncton Badly Scorching

Moncton, March 29.—A spectacular fire endangered the lower portion of the city yesterday. For a time it looked as if part of Moncton would fall a prey to the flames.

Team Pulls Big Load

Campbellton, N.B., March 19.—The world's record for the biggest load of logs ever hauled by a team of horses is claimed on behalf of Fred and Harry, the two horses that performed the feat, by the Shives Lumber Company, of Campbellton, N.B.

Fred and Harry, a team of sturdy young Clydes, each weighing more than 1,800 pounds, on March 10, 1921, hauled a load containing 330 logs scaling 16,349 feet and weighing, it was estimated thirty-five tons, over a quarter of a mile of logging road from Two Brooks Camp, on the Upsalquitch River, Restigouche County, to the landing on the river bank.

The previous record belonged to an Ontario camp, where 309 logs were hauled in 1920. The number of feet in this load was not available.

The new record performance is authenticated by Eric M. Banford, a Government surveyor, who scaled the lumber, as did also John Farrish.
