Mrs. Housekeeper, YOUR ATTENTION, PLEASE!

"Baked Pork and Beans" is a dish which the housewife is able to prepare only by a long and tedious process. The Pork and Beans must be selected with care, while long periods of soaking and baking are necessary to produce a thoroughly wholesome and tasty dish. In Clark's Pork and Beans all this work has been done for the housewife and, because of special equipment impossible in the home kitchen, it has been done more thoroughly and uniformly. Only choice Canadian Pork combined with the highest grade Beans are used and the whole thoroughly baked by a special process which keeps the beans whole and retains in their entirety the full rich flavor and nutritive power.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES COLDS, &c.

When Rheumatism Strikes the Heart It Kills--"Nerviline" the Cure.

Effect of Nerviline on Chronic Cases Is Almost Magical.

Exposure to wet or cold is apt to bring on an attack. The muscles stiffen, the joints swell, and exertion brings on excruciating twinges. Often the pain shifts from one part to another, and this is dangerous, as the heart is apt to be attacked. Death as a rule follows a heart attack. The pain of rheumatism is quickly rubbed away with Nerviline.

This is a swift, lasting and safe way to cure rheumatism. You can depend on Nerviline. It has the power, the penetrating force, the control over pain that is so essential to a rheumatic remedy.

Lots of testimony to prove Nerviline's certainty to cure.

The following letter is from Mr. E. G. Sautter, Port of Spain, Trinidad. "Last year I was severely troubled with rheumatism. I had it in my arms, shoulders and knees. The pain was at times excruciating, and laid me up so that I couldn't work. I went to Smith Brothers' Drug Store and was advised by the manager to use 'Nerviline.' That was excellent advice. I used Nerviline as directed and was cured, completely cured of every trace of my old enemy."

Once you use Nerviline you'll realize it's different from all the others—that it contains something that gets right "at" the pain the minute you rub it on. The large 50 cent family size is the most economical—get it today, or else the 25 cent trial size. Sold by dealers everywhere.

Love in a Flour Mill,

The Romance of Two Loyal Hearts!

CHAPTER XXV.

"The sound came from that room, sir," said Smithers, in an excited whisper. Ronald sprang to the door indicated, and hammered on it with the butt-end of his revolver. No response came, and, scarcely waiting a moment, Ronald but his shoulder to the door; it creaked under the tremendous strain, yielded suddenly, and he fell in with it. It was fortunate that he did so; for a revolver flashed out in front of him, and a bullet passed over him.

Ronald was on his feet in an instant; he saw, through the wreath of smoke, the Count standing at the other end of the room, revolver in hand. Both Smithers and Ronald covered him; but the Count made no attempt to escape, but stood regarding them with bloodshot eyes, his face distorted by rage. "Drop that revolver!" said Ronald—"drop it, or I fire!"

"The Count laid the revolver on the table, and glared from one to the other. "Your business with me?" he snarled. "Are you thieves, or what?" "I have come for your watch," said Ronald. "I have come to take her out of your clutches, to take her away from this place."

Raven drew his lips back and snarled rather than laughed. "You speak of my daughter. My daughter, mark you! By what right?" "I am her future husband," said Ronald. "Look here! there is no time to argue with you, to bandy threats. I must know if she is here. I will know, and at once! I mean to have her. For your own sake, your own safety, you will give her up to me."

Raven again laughed, and stretched out his hands with an ironical humility. "I am your servant, sir," he said, with a bitter sneer. "I am your slave, and have to obey at the pistol's mouth; or so it would appear. You demand my daughter or my life. Good! As I value the latter at a higher price than the former, permit me, most courteous Englishman, to tell you that my daughter is not here. The young lady, the dutiful, innocent child whom you have honoured by your clandestine—"

Ronald broke in upon him. "I will see for myself. Show me her rooms! Take me over the house! Tell these people to go back." The frightened servants were crowding about the doorway. "Tell them to go to the hall and stay there. No one is to leave the house."

Cure Your Bad Cough By Breathing "Catarrhzone."

You may dislike taking medicine—but coughs are best cured without medicine. The modern treatment is "Catarrhzone"—it isn't a drug—it's a healing vapor full of pine-essences and healing balsams. It spreads over the surfaces that are weak and sore from coughing. Every spot that is congested is healed—irritation is Raven looked at the crowd, and made a gesture of mocking resignation. "You hear?" he said. "This gentleman seems to be master here; you will obey him. Now, my lord duke, if you will follow me," he added, turning to Ronald and motioning to a door at the other end of the room. "Go first," said Ronald sternly.

With a bow, the Count led the way to Cara's rooms. They were empty; the bed had evidently not been slept in; the window was open, and from the lower sill, a rope made of sheets was suspended. Raven waved his hand, and smiled grimly. "You observe?" he said. "The bird has flown. The maid who had charge of her betrayed me; no doubt you bribed her; but that is of little consequence. What is of consequence—at least to her—is that I may meet her again. I discovered their flight—I am an early riser. They chloroformed my gatekeeper, and have escaped me—for the time. It is some slight satisfaction to me that they have also escaped you. Doubtless there was some flaw in your arrangements. Now, having satisfied yourself that the girl, to gain whom you have broken into my house like a common thief and bully—I say that, now having seen for myself that my precious daughter is not here, may I ask you to take your departure?"

Ronald nodded. "I am going to find her," he said. "I have done with you—for the present. There is another matter, Count—as you call yourself—the matter of the treasure at Tricania; but that will wait."

Raven regarded him with a stare of defiance. "You speak in riddles," he said. "I don't understand you. I conclude that you are mad as well as insolent."

Ronald ignored the taunt, and was hurrying from the room, when Raven said: "One moment! There is a question I should like to ask you. You will admit that it is a reasonable one under the circumstances." He laughed sardonically. "A host is warranted in asking the name of his visitor?"

"My name is Ronald Desborough," said Ronald, over his shoulder. The smile fled from Raven's face, which grew red; his eyes started, his lips twitched, as if he were going to have a fit. "Desborough!" he hissed. "Desborough!"

Smithers, who was in the corridor, heard the cry, the snarl, and sprang round, but Raven had darted on Ronald, had raised his arm; something gleamed in his hand; it was descending, when Smithers flung himself upon the pair. The stiletto pierced Smithers' shoulder; the Count, with an oath, thrust him aside and raised the deadly weapon again; but Ronald gripped the upraised arm, gave it the old school-boy's twist, and the stiletto fell from Raven's hand.

Ronald closed with him, and there ensued a terrible struggle. Ronald was a younger man, the stronger; but Raven was fighting for his life, and he fought with the unnatural, superhuman strength of the insane. Smithers, leaning against the wall, the blood pouring from his wound, a mist thickening before his eyes, dared not fire, even if he had had the strength; for the two men were locked in a close embrace, and the bullet was as likely to hit Ronald as Raven. Smithers felt that he was going to faint, and, though he strove with all his might and main to suppress a cry, a groan burst from him—it was more on Ronald's account than his own, but it was unfortunate, for Ronald turned his head at the sound; Raven seized the momentary advantage, slipped from Ronald's grasp, and sprang to the window.

As his head was disappearing below the sill Ronald raised his revolver—he forgot even Cara; and was half-maddened with grief and rage as he bent over the faithful fellow who had not only risked his life, but had probably given it, to save the master, the friend, he loved. And it moved him almost to tears when, on Smithers' return to consciousness, he parted: "Oh, go, Mr. Ronald! For heaven's sake, don't waste no time on me! I'm of no account; it's the young lady—the poor young lady!"

CHAPTER XXVI. It was Nita, the maid, who was as devoted to Cara as Smithers was to Ronald, who had planned and carried out the escape; and Cara had only taken a passive share in it; for, notwithstanding the courage, the dignity, the outraged pride with which she confronted Raven and Dexter Reece, she had almost collapsed when she had got back to her room. Her long imprisonment, her never-ceasing desire for Ronald, and her anxiety as to his safety, had told upon her, and she was worn in body and in spirit.

Lying prone on the bed, weeping bitter, burning tears, she had told the maid enough of her father's intention to marry her to Dexter Reece, to fill the faithful Nita with indignation. In her Italian fashion she swore that her beloved mistress should not be thus sacrificed; and, with the imaginative facility of her nation and her class, she had conceived the idea of escaping by an impromptu rope, stealing on the lodge-keeper and chloroforming him, and so obtaining the key of the gate.

Very much as if she were in a dream, Cara left the villa behind her, and, with Nita, hastened in the direction of the dock. "Once we get on board, signorina, we are safe—quite safe. No one, not even the Count, would dare to try and take us from an English vessel; they wouldn't give us up. I know what the English are; I've heard about them. If we only could have waited until this Mr. Smithers had met me as he promised, we should have had him to help us; but we couldn't wait, could we, signorina? We shall find him on board the yacht. Could you walk a little faster, signorina?" she added anxiously.

Cara's face was very white, her brows were drawn, her lips compressed, as if she were in pain; but she said only: "I will try."

They made their way through the quiet roads, choosing the narrower and less frequented, and reached the docks; and Nita begged Cara to rest behind some hales which screened her from observation, and Nita went down to the quay. A boat with one of the Hawk's men was lying there, and Nita inquired of him if he would take them on board the yacht. The man stared at her, smiled, and scratched his head, and shook it reluctantly. "Sorry, miss," he said; "never was more sorry in my life; but I daren't do it. I wish I could, for we don't

"I do not want Jack Robinson," said Nita, in her broken English; "it is Mr. Smithers. Oh, I am in great trouble, signor!" The sailor expressed his sympathy factually and by expressive pantomime; but he shook his head again. "Luck's ag'in us, miss," he said. "Mr. Smithers ain't aboard; he and the governor landed here early this morning—middle of the night, as you might call it."

Eat Big Meals! No Sour, Acid Stomach, Indigestion or Gas

"Pape's Diapiesin" is quickest, surest stomach relief known—Try It!

Time it! Pape's Diapiesin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes. If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion. Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapiesin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there. Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store. These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapiesin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

Your Boys and Girls.

When an infant is learning to walk fenders are excellent, for they give support that prevents injury from sudden falls. The fender is a movable pen, as it were, in which there is a little seat. As the child begins to walk the seat may be removed and he can stand upright within the little enclosure, that before many days, he will try to push it in front of him. He must not be allowed to tie himself at this work, and a few minutes at a time is all that should be permitted.

Another first aid to walking is a leading strap. It consists of a strong but soft belt supported by a couple of strong straps over the shoulders. Walking any baby will do in time, and once he becomes fascinated with the joy it is well to watch that he does not overdo and strain the leg muscles, not to mention weakening the bones. He may be a week or more scrambling to his feet and hold to a chair. Without showing any inclination to walk, but it is better to let him take his own time and soon he will have the requisite confidence to try it by himself.

The Eastern Trust Company.

A few reasons why an estate can be better administered by the Eastern Trust Company than by a personal executor or administrator: 1. The Company affords the estate absolute security; it has a paid-up capital of $931,000.00, and a reserve fund of $223,300.00. 2. It has a long experience in the work of administering estates; it is incorporated for this business of acting as a trustee, and, unlike many other trust companies, it does no other. 3. Its existence is perpetual. Your estate, in the event of the death of a personal executor or administrator, must look for a substitute, and the work of administration is impeded during that time, and the new executor is unfamiliar with the policy of his predecessor, and confusion results. This company's existence is perpetual, and there is a continuity of policy in its administration that the death of its officers does not break. 4. It possesses the confidence of governments, universities and prominent charities and administers their funds. 5. A number of other advantages which will appear in due course.

The case with which OXO is assimilated is one of its strong recommendations. OXO CUBES are better than beef-tea—uniform in food-value—handy—ready in a moment.

Meat-Jellies, savoury custards and many other tempting delicacies can be prepared with the aid of OXO CUBES. For this purpose they form an economical substitute for meat.

trita-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria have made collective representations to the Greek Government relative to the arrest of their Consuls at Salonika by the Allies.

FRENCH STEAMER BURNED.

PARIS, Jan. 2.
An official Montenegro statement issued yesterday from Cetinje says: During the bombardment of Durazzo yesterday by an Austrian squadron the steamer Michel, carrying more than five hundred tons of provisions for Montenegro, was burned, and her cargo destroyed. The steamer Michel referred to probably is a French vessel of 1,772 tons gross, built at Sunderland, in 1881.

WATCHING THEIR OWN SAFETY.

PARIS, Jan. 2.
Neutrals will not be surprised that we are watching our own safety, says the Temps, discussing the arrest at Salonika of Consuls representing the Central Empires, Turkey and Bulgaria. Bad faith of the Austro-Germans cannot be overlooked in this connection. This is the first instance. Greece will not be reassured by the contrary will be reassured by this energetic act.

COMMUNICATION RE-ESTABLISHED.

AMSTERDAM, Jan. 2.
The bridge across the river Sava near Belgrade, was opened Thursday. Direct railway communications has thus been re-established between the Central Powers, Bulgaria and Turkey. The Archduke Frederick, Commander in Chief of the Austrian Army, assisted at the opening ceremony, and afterward visited Belgrade, where the normal life of the city has been resumed, most of the inhabitants having returned. The Archduke later visited King Ferdinand of Bulgaria at Semendria.

CAMPAIGN IN BESSARABIA.

LONDON, Jan. 2.
Russia's campaign in Bessarabia continues the most important visible war activity. From Pripet to the Rumanian frontier, over a front of at least three hundred miles, huge Russian forces with a great apparatus of confidence are hurling sledge-hammer blows at the opposing force, which according to all accounts totals at least a million and a half men. Pripet still claims considerable success in the early stages of the campaign. Despatches emphasize the excellent equipment, supplies and munitions, which Russia laid up for this purpose during the period of comparative passivity. Some London observers are speculating on the meaning of the Bessarabia move and hail it as one of the most ambitious strategic plans since the beginning of hostilities.

NEW YEAR HONORS.

LONDON, Jan. 1.
Among the New Year honors conferred by King George, are the following: Barons Wm. Waldorf Astor, Lord Charles Bessford, Sir Alexander Henderson, Sir Thos. Shaughnessy, David A. Thomas, and Capt. Cecil Wm. Norton, Baronetcies. Vice Admiral Sir Fred. Sturdee, Sir Wm. Goschen, Sir Chas. Johnson, Alfred A. Booth, Privy Counsellors, Wm. Crooks and Sir Fred. Banbury. Earl Curzon and Lord Kildare, and the Duke of Devonshire have been made Knights of the Garter, and Lord Mersey elevated to Viscount; K.C.M.G.'s, Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance, Mr. Colingwood Schrieber, C.M.G., William Bryner, Pres. Canadian Academy of Arts; Knights Bachelor, Hon. I. C. Tallon, K.C., Montreal, Military Commander of the Bath, Major General C. Watkin, Chief of the Canadian General Staff at Ottawa; Civil Commander of Bath Major, General John Carson, Montreal, now on active service; C.M.G.'s, Lieut.-Col. Grassie, Chief Constable of Toronto; Surgeon Carleton Jones, Ottawa, now on active service; Brig. Gen. J. C. McDougall, and Royal Red Cross Matron, H. McDonald.

PROMOTIONS.

LONDON, Jan. 2.
The War Office announces hereafter commissions will be granted only to men who have completed their course as recruits, and that preference will be given to men who have served with the expeditionary forces.

CONSCRIPTION.

LONDON, Jan. 2.
Although reaffirming the principle of strong opposition to any form of compulsory military service, the executive committee of the Railway Clerks' Association decided to-day to give a free hand to its delegates in the conference to be held on Thursday at which the Cabinet's decision regarding conscription will be considered. The committee decided on this attitude in view of the very exceptional circumstances of the hour.

INDIA LOYAL.

LONDON, Jan. 2.
The Reuter correspondent at Bombay, who reported yesterday that the

Klark-Urban Co. in

"WITHIN THE LAW."
Mr. Bayard Veiller, the author of "Within the Law" which the Klark-Urban Company is to present at the Casino Theatre on next Monday evening, has handled his characters so deftly that no one can help but sympathize with Mary Turner and rejoice in the success of her wiles even though we do not entirely approve of her methods. It is a weakness of the American public to admire cleverness even in criminals, and it is Mary's adroitness and the fact that the author has contrived to keep her chaste, if otherwise soiled, that carries the part and the play to a popular success. As a crook play, this is one of the best. A large part of the comedy consists of underwork, sly and slyness, chiefly delivered by a Miss Lynch, an incorrigible crook. Vice is generally triumph, but the vice is ingeniously hidden in the manner to make it, if not attractive, at least entertaining. Mr. Veiller's ingenuity has not stopped there. A Maxim silencer is ingeniously introduced to reveal a dead body at a moment of great suspense. Once having won his audience, Mr. Veiller does not hesitate to go to the entire distance of thrills and laughs and finally to show Mary, at the final curtain, happy in the arms of her doting husband. "Within the Law" is a far better play than, for instance, either "Alias Jimmy Valentine" or "The Third Degree," for as Mr. Veiller has found something new to the underworld that will interest the rank and file. Seats on sale at the Atlantic Bookstore to-morrow morning.

FRENCH ACTIVITIES.

LONDON, Jan. 1 (Official).
The enemy has been active in mining about the quarries north of Loos. Last night five mines were exploded, thereby causing a few casualties and slight damage to our troops. No attack was made. The damage is being repaired. There has been artillery activity on both sides at Hulluch, Givency, Wytcheco and St. Julien, and increased hostile shelling about Arrmentieres. Our heavy howitzers have caused considerable damage at various points.

PARIS OFFICIAL.

PARIS, via St. Pierre, Jan. 2.
In Belgium our batteries successfully shelled the first and second lines of the enemy trenches, also the railroad opposite Boesinghe. In Roye district a lucky fire from our artillery seriously damaged a material depot at Verspilliers to the north of Aisne. We demolished a German work to the west of Souper. On the heights of the Meuse there was efficient cannonading of enemy shelters and blockhouses, at Chevaliers wood, in the Vosges. After active artillery preparation the enemy launched against our positions in Hirstein district, an infantry attack, which was completely repulsed. On the 30th after a bombardment executed by our heavy artillery, the fire from Turkish batteries on the Asiatic Coast sensibly decreased. Several enemy guns were damaged and a munition depot exploded.

SINKING OF THE PERSIA.

LONDON, Jan. 2.
Reuter's correspondent at Cairo, Egypt, telegraphs that the Persian was torpedoed without warning and sank within five minutes. Washington advices to the State Department to-day from American Consul Garets at Alexandria, Egypt, indicate that Robert McNelly, Consul at Aden, Arabia, who was on the steamer, was lost. He was last seen in the water after the steamer sank. Consul Garets reports Charles B. Grant, Boston, an other American aboard the Persian saved. The submarine was seen by the survivors, according to Grant's report, but the officers of the Persia saw the wake of the torpedo which struck the ship.

BRITISH CRUISER SUNK.

LONDON, Dec. 31.
The British armoured cruiser Natal was sunk yesterday afternoon while in harbor, as a result of an internal explosion. An official announcement to this effect was made here to-day. The Natal's sinking is the severest loss which the British Navy has sustained in several months. No British naval vessels of importance have been sunk since the Triumph and Maestic were torpedoed at the Dardanelles. The Natal, although a powerful man-of-war, was laid down eleven years ago. Her displacement was only about one-half that of the largest British sea-fighters. Her normal complement was 704 men, and the survivors of the disaster number about 400.

THE KHAKI ARMYLET.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.
The London correspondent of the New York Herald this morning cautions: The King returned from Sandringham yesterday and immediately received Premier Asquith at Buckingham Palace. They discussed the provisions of the Bill, which is to be introduced into Parliament to enforce compulsory service on single men. How great is the King's influence with his fellow countrymen was shown yesterday when, as the result of his appeal, hundreds of thousands of men in London wore the Khaki Armylet, "new badge of courage." The King was delighted when told that Labor Unionists and Irish Nationalists are falling into line in support of the Asquith bill, which is designed to deal with only these single men who are fit to fight and will not.

SUEZ ROUTE INSURANCE.

LONDON, Dec. 31.
The recent menace to shipping by way of the Suez Canal both from land and by submarine has caused underwriters to considerably raise the insurance rates on cargoes in steamers follow the Canal route. Until recently the cargoes of these steamers have been underwritten at twenty shillings per cent, but risks are now quoted at anything between sixty and eighty shillings per cent. Although certain lines have announced the abandonment of the Canal for the present, there is still quite a good business going on in that direction, which even the advanced rates of insurance have not checked.

Wedding Bells.

PIEROWAY—RENOUV.
Halifax, December 27.—Rev. S. H. Prince officiated at the marriage at 7 o'clock Christmas eve of Frank Walter Pieroway, of Bay St. George, Newfoundland, and Miss Ulicia Julia Renouf, of the same place. The ceremony took place in St. Paul's Church, the bride and groom standing beneath the chancel arch with its suspended star. The young couple were attended by friends. They will reside in Newfoundland.

CUNNINGHAM—BUTT.

Halifax, December 22.—A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mrs. M. Butt, 524 Robie street, on Monday evening, Dec. 20th, at 7:30 o'clock, when her niece, Miss Beattie Cunnigham, of St. George's, Nfld., was united in marriage to W. C. Cunningham, of Halifax. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. D. Ross, of Stewiacke, uncle of the groom. The bride, who was given away by her brother-in-law, J. Hoganson, of this city, wore a dress of white silk-voile, with ivory satin. The couple were unattended. The room was tastefully decorated and the bride and groom took their places under the Union Jack and mistletoe, as the wedding march was played by Mrs. Lillian Butt, cousin of the bride. After supper the happy couple drove to their rooms on Bauer Street.

"WITHIN THE LAW."
Mr. Bayard Veiller, the author of "Within the Law" which the Klark-Urban Company is to present at the Casino Theatre on next Monday evening, has handled his characters so deftly that no one can help but sympathize with Mary Turner and rejoice in the success of her wiles even though we do not entirely approve of her methods. It is a weakness of the American public to admire cleverness even in criminals, and it is Mary's adroitness and the fact that the author has contrived to keep her chaste, if otherwise soiled, that carries the part and the play to a popular success. As a crook play, this is one of the best. A large part of the comedy consists of underwork, sly and slyness, chiefly delivered by a Miss Lynch, an incorrigible crook. Vice is generally triumph, but the vice is ingeniously hidden in the manner to make it, if not attractive, at least entertaining. Mr. Veiller's ingenuity has not stopped there. A Maxim silencer is ingeniously introduced to reveal a dead body at a moment of great suspense. Once having won his audience, Mr. Veiller does not hesitate to go to the entire distance of thrills and laughs and finally to show Mary, at the final curtain, happy in the arms of her doting husband. "Within the Law" is a far better play than, for instance, either "Alias Jimmy Valentine" or "The Third Degree," for as Mr. Veiller has found something new to the underworld that will interest the rank and file. Seats on sale at the Atlantic Bookstore to-morrow morning.

DROWNING ACCIDENT ON NEW YEAR'S DAY.

While attempting to cross some thin ice near the Long Bridge on New Year's Day, Benjamin Rogers, aged 20, fell through and was drowned. The accident occurred about four o'clock in the afternoon and was witnessed by some children who promptly summoned assistance. Help came too late, however, as the unfortunate young man was carried under the ice by the current. The body was recovered near Mudge's premises, some hours afterwards, and taken to the morgue, where a post mortem examination was held by Dr. Rendell, who pronounced death due to drowning. Yesterday the remains were removed to the residence of Mr. George Tucker, Hamilton Avenue, whence the funeral will take place. The deceased was a son of Mr. Robert Rogers, Hamilton Avenue, and was employed as boiler-maker's assistant with the Red Nbd. Co. To his relatives and friends the Telegram extends sympathy.

TROUBLE.

Old Trouble hid inside a tree, and mumbled, "I've had blind me. I think that men won't bother me — t h e y won't know where to find me!" But men and women everywhere, from Tampa to Toronto, exclaimed, "While they paved the air, 'Oh, where has Trouble gone to?' When Trouble is no more about, we shed the tears unbidden; let us go forth and hunt him out, wherever he is hidden." They got search warrants at the court, and lanterns trimmed with bunting, and every dame and every sport forth to the woods went hunting. They let all other business slide—march also was so important, and through the forest dark and wide, they scrambled, where they'd o'rt. And oh, the rapture and the glee, when through a glade repairing, they found poor Trouble in his tree, and dragged him from it swearing. Triumphantly they homeward went, their fears and cares were over, for they had found the long-lost gent; henceforth they'd live in clover.

ASQUITH'S HARD TASK. LONDON, To-day. For the English Cabinet, Wednesday will be a red letter day, for on that day Premier Asquith will introduce compulsory military training, probably has never had a more difficult task than he will have in engineering this measure. His speech in presenting it to the House is expected to be one of the finest efforts of his career.

MINING ON WEST. LONDON, To-day. British Official.—The enemy yesterday morning sprang mines in front of our trenches east of Guinchy, but did not occupy the crater. During the afternoon we exploded three mines near LaPoiselle. Our artillery and trench mortars co-operated. Our artillery also bombarded hostile trenches north from Elles east of Ypres. To the former bombardment, the enemy replied vigorously, but without doing damage. Elsewhere there has been a normal activity only.

IRELAND INCLUDED. LONDON, To-day. According to an announcement made by the Press Association, Ireland is not to be exempted from compulsory recruiting bill.

NARRATIVE OF SURVIVOR FROM THE TORPEDOED PERSIA. LONDON, To-day. The Peninsular and Oriental steamship Co. to-night received the following telegram from C. C. Bigham, who was among the survivors of the Persia disaster: "A torpedo struck the ship on the port bow at 1.05 this afternoon, when about 40 miles south of the east end of the Island Crete. No warning was given nor any attempt made to assist. Within five minutes the ship sunk. It is impossible to lower the starboard boats owing to a heavy list. Five or six boats were lowered on the Port side. I did not see this myself as I was washed overboard when the boat capsized. The conduct of the passengers and crew was splendid. There was no struggling and no panic. Four boats after 30 hours at sea were picked up by a warship."

168 SURVIVORS OF S.S. PERSIA. LONDON, To-day. 168 survivors have arrived from the Persia. The survivors comprise the chief officer, the second officer, seven engineers, twenty-seven seamen, 63 lascars and fifty-nine passengers.

CAPTURED CZERNOWITZ HEIGHTS. LONDON, To-day. The Russians have captured the heights north-east of Czernowitz, Bukovina, according to a despatch from Reuter's Telegram Company, Petrograd. Eight hundred and seventy prisoners fell into the hands of the Russians.

CHURCH DESTROYED. SYDNEY, N.S., To-day. The parish church at Leve Point, was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. It was valued at twenty thousand dollars. The insurance is nine thousand dollars.

PATRIOTIC ACTION OF AMALGAMATED ENGINEERS. LONDON, To-day. An account of the conference held on Friday evening between Premier Asquith, David Lloyd George, Minister of Munitions and a deputation from the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, which is the most influential trade union body and includes most of the trades concerned in the manufacture of munitions, was issued last night by the Press Bureau. It shows the Government has decided to give acquiescence in all the demands of the trade unionists in return for their consent to the immediate introduction of Lloyd George's scheme of labor dilution. The Press Bureau's account is made up for the most part of excerpts from Asquith's remarks to the deputation at the conference which has been in session for the last three hours, but it includes also a statement that the deputation agreed before the conference closed to accept on behalf of the membership of their society the scheme dilution and to co-operate actively therein. A bill covering the union demands will be pushed through Parliament as soon as possible. The demands mainly concern matters of pay and conditions of labor for unskilled workmen and women introduced under the dilution scheme. The Government has already agreed to restore the status quo after the war. Premier Asquith's appeal to the deputation was along the familiar lines from this point of view to the State. He said the great point I want to impress on you is the importance of putting this dilution into effect at once. It is an urgent matter and the most necessary of the war. It is important also that the output of munitions should be as far as possible be domestic, not foreign, because the financial problem before us is very serious, especially the obligation to pay either in exports or gold to America and other countries like her for munitions which we are getting there. Thus your immediate consent to the dilution scheme means an enormous gain in military efficiency and financial stability. No doubt it is difficult to persuade men who regard the privileges and privileges of skilled labor as almost gospel to forego for a time those privileges and admit unskilled men into a class work which skilled men have been in the habit of doing. These have natural fear that when the war ends it will be impossible to re-establish old conditions that all elaborate safeguards built up by generations of trade unionists will have been undermined. The only way that these suspicions can be eradicated is by unions exerting all their force to influence their members.

BOATS DRAWN DOWN BY SINKING STEAMER. LONDON, To-day. A despatch to the Times from Cairo says that two boatsload of people were drawn down with the steamer Persia, when she sank, as there was no time to cut the ropes. Four boats got away, but it was thirty hours before a trawler picked them up. Several ships passed by without assisting the refugees, being afraid presumably of decoys. Many passengers were thrown into the water when the vessel heeled over.

AUSTRIAN EMBASSY TRYING TO BE REASSURING. WASHINGTON, To-day. The anxiety over the news of the sinking of the British steamer Persia, increased in official circles here yesterday, when the consular despatch brought information that the ship had been torpedoed without warning and that at least one American citizen, Robert H. McNeilly, the new Consul at Aden, Arabia, was missing. At the same time officials were much gratified at the indication, emanating from Baron Erick Zweidnek, in charge of the Austro-Hungarian Embassy here that the Vienna Government would be quick to "satisfactorily" adjust the matter, should it develop that an Austrian submarine commander had disobeyed the instructions in regard to the torpedoing of a passenger carrying ship without warning. Judgment should be withheld, pending the receipt of the real facts, surrounding the sinking of the steamship Persia, said Baron Zweidnek. It may have happened in many ways. In the first place it is not yet proved that a submarine sank the Persia. If it was a submarine it must have been determined whether the circumstances were such as to warrant the action taken. I am confident, at least I hope that the final explanation will be quite satisfactory. If the commander of the submarine disobeyed his instructions, I feel sure my government will not hesitate to satisfactorily adjust the matter. From the answer made to the last note on the Ancona alone, it is quite evident the Austro-Hungarian Government will not countenance any act which is wrong. Complete confidence prevails in Teutonic diplomatic circles that if any Austrian submarine sank the Persia without warning, the act would be disavowed promptly and reparations for the Americans lost and the submarine commander severely punished.

SIR JOHN SIMON RETIRES. LONDON, To-day. The Chronicle announces definitely that Sir John A. Simon, Secretary of State for Home Affairs, retires from the Cabinet, thus breaking his brilliant ministerial career for conscience sake.

1.00 P.M. THE COMPULSION BILL. LONDON, To-day. The statement that the new compulsory recruiting bill will also be applied to Ireland so far rests on the authority of the Press Association which, however, is often the medium of official intimations. Moreover, according to the Times' Parliamentary correspondent, the political situation is still tangled and there is a possibility of other resignations besides that of Sir John Simon, Secretary of State for Home Affairs, whose position can hardly be reconciled with the remaining Ministers. A revised draft of the compulsory recruiting bill was circulated to the members of the Government during the week end and was discussed at Thursday's Cabinet Council. According to the Times, Premier Asquith has still to satisfy Reginald McKenna, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, regarding the total strength of the army, and "the danger of the situation lies in the dangerous, but plausible compromise for the sake of retaining those two Ministers."

LITTLE HOPE OF MORE SURVIVORS. LONDON, To-day. The Cairo correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Co., sends the following concerning the sinking of the Persia: "Nobody aboard the Persia saw the torpedo. The second officer is under the impression that he saw the ripple of it. The survivors after thirty hours in boats were rescued by a warship. Six officers were saved. The liner sank so quickly that there was no time to launch all the boats. The other boats which were seen to be launched are missing. It is thought that there is little hope that further survivors have been rescued."

KING CONSTANTINE WANTS ENTENTE TO LEAVE SALONIKI. LONDON, To-day. The Athens correspondent of the Daily Chronicle states in a despatch that the King of Greece told him that he could not understand what the Entente Allies were supposed to be gaining in remaining at Salonika. The correspondent quotes King Constantine as follows: "I could understand their presence so long as there was a possibility of aiding Serbia, but now that the object of the mission has failed, why remain? No useful military purpose is now to be gained. It is fairly obvious that if the Anglo-French withdraw to more profitable fields of operations, the armies of the Central Powers would withdraw also and the situation would solve itself." The King adds, says the correspondent, that he did not expect an offensive by either side, and that therefore a Balkan stalemate might reasonably be expected.

HUN CONSULS DISMISSED. SALONIKI, Greece, Jan. 1st. At the request of General Sarrail, Commander of the French forces here, John E. Kehl, American Consul at Saloniki, has taken charge of the Turkish and German interests. The Consulate will be delivered to him tomorrow.

ACTIVELY ON THE WEST FRONT. PARIS, Jan. 2. Delayed. The War Office to-night issued the following statement: "In Belgium a bombardment by field artillery and French trench mortars groups of the enemy in the region of the Dumes caused heavy damage. Two fires were started and two munition depots blown up. In the Argonne the fire of our batteries dispersed a body of Germans moving upon the road from Avercourt to Malancourt on the heights of the Meuse."

Amusements. THE CHILD WONDER AT THE PANTOMIME. The great show at Rossley's is the talk of the town and so it should be, for there never has been anything to equal this wonderful show, there are no less than twenty-eight songs and about fifteen different dances. The singing and dancing of the city girls is just perfect. Miss Madge Locke, as the Prince, is a positive treat, while Mr. Ballard Brown in his songs pleases all. To-day the infant wonder will appear and patrons will say they have in St. John's a little wonder. There is in preparation another wonderful new pantomime, "Jack and Jill", and to give all the children a chance to see the biggest and best show ever produced in this city, there will be admitted for five cents. A clean and refined entertainment.

Household Notes. Nutmegs will grate more satisfactorily if started from the bottom end. Vinegar and honey mixed in equal parts is a great relief for a cough. To make perfect tea, remember—good tea, boiling water and a hot teapot. A bit of vaseline will remove mildew or stains from any kind of leather. Flour the cake pan after you have greased it to keep the cake from sticking. Tooth brushes should be dried in the open air and the sun should shine on them. Red currants added to the raspberries give raspberry jam a delicious flavor.

Exeter's Peace Bell. Exeter Cathedral will soon possess a unique memorial of the great war in the tenor bell of the cathedral chimes. Its predecessor was found to be cracked last year, but has been recast, and the new bell will shortly be rebung in the tower. The Bishop of Marlborough, who made himself responsible for the expense of recasting, has written the following couplet, which has been inscribed round the rim of the bell: Recast in war, I hope to herald peace, When all shall love, and "Hymns of Hatred" cease. In writing these lines, says the Westminster Gazette, the Bishop, perhaps, had in mind the poetic inscription which the vicar of Woodburn wrote for one of the bells of Woodburn Church, which, being cracked, was recast and rebung at the time of King Edward's illness, which necessitated a postponement of his Coronation ceremony. The inscription placed on the Woodburn bell runs:— The King was ill, And I was still, The day his crowning fell, My wound was healed, And I was pealed To tell the King was well. Grenfell Hall, New Year's Soiree, Tuesday, Jan. 4th, at 8 p.m. Leading artists taking part. "The Suffragettes" &c. H. M. S. Calypso Band. Admission, with high-class refreshments, 30 cents.—dec31,21

New Year Resolves for Married Folks.

By RUTH CAMERON.

Never to indulge the habit of self-pity. Self-pity is akin to self-love and quite as dangerous to family happiness.

To remember to say the kind and gracious little things that make the day brighter and the heart warmer at so little cost of effort.

To cultivate the ability to put yourself in his or her place. Most quarrels are only misunderstandings, not fundamental disagreements.

Don't speak disparagingly of each other's kin.

Never to speak disparagingly of each other's kin. A son may see his mother's faults, but if he is a good son (and if he isn't he won't be a good husband) filial honor will keep him from discussing them unless they are resulting in injustice to his wife.

Not to go about with a chip on one's shoulder, or to hunt for and cherish little grievances. There are plenty of real troubles in the world. Don't make any artificial ones.

Not to nag. If your partner has some faults that you do not feel you ought to endure without protest, pack that protest into an occasional heart-felt, carefully planned and if possible not ill-tempered, statement of the case.

To remember that certain disadvantages of character are the inevitable balance of certain advantages. If you married a woman because she was so intense in her love of you and her enjoyment of the good times of your courtship days, don't blame her if she is equally intense in her devotion to her children and her home.

even if that sometimes inconveniences you.

To see how often you can avoid a quarrel by a smile, a little patience, an effort to see the other's point of view.

Lots Of Things Are Nobody's Fault.

Not to fuss over every little thing that goes wrong in the household, and try to blame it on somebody. A great many things are nobody's fault at all, just unfortunate happenings.

To see if you can't make a little headway in overcoming that particular fault in you which most annoys your partner.

Not to worry too much about making the other person live up to your ideals of conduct. Remember "one person I have to make good, myself; my duty to my neighbor is much more nearly expressed by saying I have to make him happy, if I can."

Don't Love By Weight and Measure.

To keep away from the habit of measuring all the love and service that you give and being afraid you don't get a fair return. No one who loves by weight and measure ever gets the best out of life.

And lastly to have this ideal of the beloved R. L. S. in your heart and to turn it in every dark day and hour of discouragement: "for the faults of married people continually spur up each of them, hour by hour, to do better and to meet and love upon a higher ground. And ever between the faults there will come glimpses of kind virtues to encourage and console."

18 POUNDS OF BLOOD

is the average quantity in a healthy adult, but it is the quality of the blood that determines our strength to resist sickness. With weak blood we find cold hands and chilly feet; in children an aversion to study, and in adults rheumatic tendencies.

In changing seasons get abundant fresh air and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals, because Scott's Emulsion is a rich blood-food that will increase both quantity and quality of the blood while it warms the body and helps carry off the impurities.

When multitudes of people are to-day taking Scott's Emulsion to avert winter sickness, and are giving it to their children, it is careless to neglect its benefits. Look out for substitutes. Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont. 15-26

"CAN YOU AFFORD TO TAKE CHANCES?"

A little cold may not seem a dangerous thing—you may feel inclined to let it go on hoping that to-morrow it will be better—but can you afford to take chances? Just as the little insignificant acorn grows if let alone, to the mighty giant oak, that cough if not stopped may grow to a very serious illness. When a cough starts there's no telling where it will end. You know no doubt, of cases right among people you have known where serious complications and fatal illnesses have had their start from a neglected cough or cold.

A cold is more than inconvenient—it is dangerous—so the big thing is to find a reliable remedy—one that will give you quick, satisfactory relief. There are many treatments that are recommended for a cough or cold but STAFFORD'S PHORATONE COUGH AND COLD CURE is recommended to be the safest, surest and most satisfactory way to cure a cold, grippe, etc.

Price 25 cts.; Postage 5 cts. extra. Prepared only by DR. F. STAFFORD & SON, St. John's, Nfld., Manufacturers of 3 Specialties: Stafford's Liniment, Stafford's Prescription "A," Stafford's Phoratox Cough & Cold Cure.

Official Announcement by His Grace Archbishop Roche.

At all the Masses in the R.C. Churches yesterday the following letter, addressed to the city clergy, was read to the congregations by the various preachers:

The Palace,
St. John's, Nfld.,
Dec. 30, 1915.

Rev. Dear Sir:—

For many years past the custom has obtained in St. John's of administering the Sacrament of Baptism and performing the marriage ceremony in private houses, I deem it opportune at the beginning of this year to inform you that the custom is to be discontinued. It shall not be permissible in future, except in cases of necessity, to administer the Sacrament of Baptism or to perform, except in the Church or in some recognized oratory or chapel, it is altogether contrary to the spirit of the Church that her sacred rites, with the exception of the last Sacraments and Communion of the sick, should be administered anywhere except in the Church.

The whole of the beautiful and expressive ritual of the Sacrament of Baptism presupposes that this sacrament is administered in the Church by a Priest robed in surplice and stole. It is obviously impossible to observe the rubrics either in the letter or in the spirit when the ceremony is performed in a private house.

With regard to the Sacrament of Matrimony, from the very beginning it has been the spirit of the Church that this ceremony should be performed at Nuptial Mass. For various reasons I do not deem it advisable at the present time to make this a rule, but I wish you to encourage and foster the practice by every means in your power and to afford every facility to those who desire to be married with a Nuptial Mass. The general rule for marriages in the future will be that they must be performed in the Church before one of the main Altars. You are at liberty at the same time, to make special arrangements for those who desire to be married in any recognized oratory or chapel.

The above regulations will take effect from the 1st of January, 1916, and you will please have this letter read to the congregation on the first Sunday of the New Year.

Sincerely yours in Christ,
F. P. ROCHE,
Archbishop of St. John's.

NOTICE.—To members of the T. A. & B. Society.—The Juvenile Society treat will be held on Jan. 6th next. Donations will be thankfully received by the Ladies of the Committee up to Jan. 5th. F. HICKEY, Sec'y Guardians.—Jan 3, 11

LIGHT, HEAT, COMFORT!

The proprietor of one of the best known multiple shopping systems is credited with saying, "Give me any old shop, in any old street, and I'll guarantee to make it in twelve months the most widely known and best frequented shop in the district." He was asked to explain. Holding up three fingers he said, "I believe in the trinity of LIGHT, WARMTH, COMFORT. I should dabble the motus until the candle drew them, I should bring them into a warm, comfortable shop, filled with a soft, pleasing radiance, and the rest is—well, mere child's play."

Mixed metaphors, perhaps, but expressive. Now we can more than imagine the kind of shop this well-known individual would open, for we pass it in almost every town—always a landmark to the street. No one fails to notice it. There is an indefinable air of welcome and invitation as one stands for a moment on the pathway and lets one's gaze travel inside it. The subdued, restful lighting effect that so charms because of its very unobtrusiveness, the absence of dark corners, the intangible feeling that if one would step inside one would be sure of experiencing a delicious sense of warmth and comfort and cheerfulness—all these are part of its appeal. Truly a shop with an individuality.

We cordially invite all progressive business men to visit our showroom and see our latest Lighting and Heating Appliances, by the adoption of which the ideal outline in the above extract from a London paper may be easily secured. Our new RADIO X. Lamp and GASTHEAM Radiators fill all light and heat requirements.

Obituary

THE LATE HON. JOHN HARRIS, President of the Legislature and Principal in the Hearn & Co.

We record with feelings of regret the passing of one so honoured and public-spirited in the person of Hon. John Harris, which sad event occurred on Year's Eve, after a protracted illness of 35 years, Mr. John Harris, predeceased him by a few days.

Mr. Harris's health had been impaired for 2 years past, but on his business uncomplainingly he was compelled to go on during the last autumn season to receive special medical treatment from which he suffered such a serious character that was no hope of a cure. Yet his calm patience and courage to well and returned home to his inevitable. Despite his condition he transacted his business in his sick chamber up to the time when he disposed of his interest in the Butterfield

The late Hon. John Harris, native of St. John's, having been here in 1850. He studied at the University's College and after school he entered the harness business of the late James Hearn. From 1877 to 1880 he was partner for the firm of Hearn and Harris, the latter year became a partner in the business. He was a man of business capacity, shrewd, cautious, painstaking and determined. He acquired a large amount of useful and practical knowledge through his extensive travels, filled several important as responsible public positions in the country. In 1890 he was elected Government representative to the Municipal Council, displaying care, thought and attention to varied duties of the position. He was appointed a member of the Legislative Council and became President of that Chamber at the age of the retirement of Sir Shea. At the time of his appointment he was a member of the Board of Trade and a Governor of the Bank. He was unassuming and gentlemanly and he wielded influence in his native town. Obituary.

THE LATE HON. JOHN HARRIS, President of the Legislative Council and Principal in the Firm of Hearn & Co.

We record with feelings of deepest regret the passing of one of our most honoured and public-spirited citizens in the person of Hon. John Harris which sad event occurred on New Year's Eve, after a protracted illness.

His friend and business partner in life for 35 years, Mr. John Henderson, predeceased him by a week. Mr. Harris's health had been impaired for 2 years past, but he carried on his business uncomplainingly until he was compelled to go to Montreal during the last autumn season to receive special medical treatment.

The late Hon. John Harris was a native of St. John's, having been born here in 1850. He studied at St. Bonaventure's College and after leaving school he entered the hardware establishment of the late James Gleeson.

From 1877 to 1880 he was book-keeper for the firm of Hearn and Co. and in the latter year became a partner in the business. He was a man of fine business capacity, shrewd, industrious, painstaking and deservedly popular.

He acquired a large amount of useful and practical knowledge through his extensive travels. He filled several important positions in his country. In 1890 he was appointed Government representative in the Municipal Council, displaying great care, thought and attention to the varied duties of the position.

In 1892 he was appointed a member of the Legislative Council and became the President of that Chamber a few years ago on the retirement of Sir Edward Shea. At the time of his death he was a member of the Board of Revenue and a Governor of the Savings Bank.

He was unassuming and gentlemanly and he wielded much influence in his native town. He was a leading figure in the various sports of the city. No good work but found him an enthusiastic supporter. He was a charitable man and gave generously of much of his private means.

His deep interest at all times in the Catholic Cadet Corps and in his Church was common knowledge and yesterday at the funeral obsequies the Corps paid a tribute to their deceased friend. Mr. Harris was Treasurer of the Marine Disasters Fund in 1912 and was President of the Sealing Disasters Fund and of the Parliament Organization. He was a man of wise counsel and he will be sorely missed by his colleagues on the various boards and committees.

His wife, formerly Miss Mamie Jardine, known as the "Nightingale of Newfoundland," predeceased him 9 years ago. He is survived by three children, three brothers, Messrs William, James and Thomas, and two sisters, Mrs. Smythe and Mrs. W. H. Tobin, to whom the Telegram offers its sincerest sympathy.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon and was one of the largest ever seen in the city. The Police, C.C.C. and Band preceded the hearse, while immediately following it were the immediate relatives and the employees of the firm. His Excellency the Governor and the Premier, a life long friend and former school mate of the deceased came next, then followed the Members of the Legislative Council, the Civic Commission, the members of the House of Assembly, and a large concourse of citizens, including several clergymen. At the Cathedral the service was choral, and was conducted by His Grace Archbishop Roche, assisted by Rt. Rev. Mr. McDermott, Rev. Drs. Greene, Kitchin and Carter, Rev. Fr. Sheehan, Pippy, Nangle, etc.

As the procession passed slowly down the centre of the sacred edifice the Dead March in Saul was rendered by the Organist, Mr. Hutton. Interment took place at Belvedere cemetery.

Widow and Orphans

Victimized. One of the meanest thefts in which a widow and her two orphan children were robbed, has just been brought under the notice of the police. One night last week four unknown men entered the house of Mrs. Mark Whiteaway, on the Battery Road, and made away with four goats. Mrs. Whiteaway and her two children were awakened by the noise made by the burglars. Mrs. Whiteaway, after putting up her window shouted to the thieves to come back with her goats and insisted that she had a gun to use, but the retort she got was that they were equally as well armed and would shoot her if she did not shut up. The poor widow has been without her goats, though the police are doing their utmost in an endeavor to run down the culprits. A few nights previously between 12 and 1 o'clock Mrs. Whiteaway's house was also broken into, supposedly by the same party, but without success, owing to the fact that the burglars were disturbed in their operations by neighbors of Mrs. Whiteaway's.

Curling Rink.

The season opened on New Year's Day, commencing in the morning, and continuing all through the day. The 4 sheets of ice were all that could be desired, and the season promises to be a good one. The first match President and Vice-President's Trophy (4 handsome pipes) which was not finished last season, will be the first game and the two Divisions who are struggling for victory will make every effort to win. The first whole holiday will be a great day at the Rink. The curlers will do their duty to our soldiers and sailors who are playing the game for them, and the curlers are going to do their small bit on that day. Keep the whole holiday open and visit the rink and help to swell the amount which will be donated entirely to some fund no doubt the one most needed. All is wanted now is good ice.

S.S. COBAN HERE FOR REPAIRS.

The s.s. Coban, which ran ashore in Placentia Beach on Monday last, and was later refloated by the steamers Meigle, Argyle and Loutsbury, was towed to port last evening by the Meigle and Loutsbury, arriving at 6 p.m. The Coban is not leaking, but the stern frame, rudder and propeller are gone, and some plates aft are broken. She will undergo repairs at the dry dock.
