Revelations of the Last German Ambassador in England:

My Mission to London, 1912-1914,

By PRINCE LICHNOWSKY.
(With a preface by Professor Gilbert Murray.)
The war has produced few human documents of the importance of Prince Lichnowsky's "Memorandum." It throws a flood of light upon the diplomatic correspondence published by the belligerent chancelleries in the opening months of the war, particularly upon the German White Paper, whose reservations it exposes, whose enigmas it untangles, whose lies it lays bare.
It is the diplomatic story of the Prince's Ambassadorship at London, from 1912 until the war drove him home to Berlin in August, 1914, when he was deprived of rank and distinctions.
Should be read by every man and woman in the Empire; 60 pages, stiff covers.

Ruled BY Destiny!

CHAPTER XXXII.
THE BURDEN OF A SIGH.

"Bruce, dear, we must go on," she said, with a blush, and a glance at her watch. "I had—had quite forgotten everything! Have we been hours in this dear little wood, or only minutes? We must go on to Pelago."

"Why Pelago?" he said, smoothing her hair. "Why not come back to Florence with me? You don't want a holiday now, seeing that you will have such a big one altogether directly! Besides, unless you take me back to Florence, how am I to get there? My horse bolted, you know!"

"I had forgotten that," she said, with another blush, and only too ready to accept the offered excuse. "Of course I must take you back!" They went back to the carriage very sedately, but Marie, though young, was knowing.

"Oh, signorita," she whispered, as Floris, full of tenderness to all and everything in her new-born happiness, stooped and kissed her. "Is that signor your lover? Yes! Ah, but he is handsome and noble, is he not?"

It was a magic journey, that return to Florence, and though the two said but little their hands locked together, and their eyes which met each other's ever and again, spoke volumes.

Mrs. Sinclair expressed no astonishment what ever at their return. "I thought you would come back," she said, dryly; "and now I suppose I may finish my book myself, Miss Wood, I mean Miss Carlisle!"

"Oh, no!" said Floris, flushing; "I shall stay with you, madam."

But Mrs. Sinclair caught Lord Norman's eye, and met his smile with a significant one of her own.

That evening he sent a telegram to Lady Betty.

It was very short, but it was very emphatic enough, for in three days Betty was at the Violet Villa.

Floris' astonishment at her appearance was only equalled by her delight.

"Now, I don't want to know anything more than Bruce has told me."

There are thousands of women everywhere in Mr. Fitzgerald's condition, suffering from nervousness, backache, headache, and other symptoms of a functional derangement. It was a grateful spirit for health restored that led her to write this letter so that other women may benefit from her experience and find health as she has done.

For suggestions in regard to your condition write Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. The result of their 40 years' experience is at your service.

my dear," she said, after she had a good cry and nearly exhausted herself by lavishing caresses on Floris. "In fact, he has forbidden me, at the risk of his sore displeasure, to talk about the past; but I've only one question to ask, and that is, 'Can you start for England to-morrow?'"

"To-morrow!" said Floris, aghast. "Yes, my dear; that is Bruce's wish."

"But you, dear Lady Betty?" said her ladyship, with a laugh. "Besides, really and truly, I am dying of anxiety to get you home, to have you to myself for a few days—I shan't have you long, I know, for Bruce is most intemperately anxious to appropriate you altogether. But do let us start to-morrow, if you can; I am sure no one will be gladder to see you than Sir Edward. My dear, if I wasn't one of the most sensible women in England, I should have been most dreadfully jealous of you! Sir Edward thinks there is no one in the world so clever and bright and good-looking as 'Miss Carlisle,' and he has talked of you and regretted your absence every day. So let us go back to-morrow."

They started in the morning. Everything that wealth and influence could effect was done to surround the journey with luxury and ease.

If Floris Carlisle had been a princess of the blood royal, as Lady Betty said, there could not have been more fuss; and yet there was so little real fuss.

In his quiet way, Lord Norman secured sleeping-cars, engaged the best rooms, had carriages in waiting, and arranged everything almost as if by magic.

And so it happened that Floris, who a few months back had left England alone and friendless, returned to it like a Queen of Sheba!

Kink in the Back

You bend over and can scarcely get straightened up again. This comes on you so suddenly you can't understand it.

This is lumbago. Like backache and rheumatism, it is the result of poisons in the blood. The kidneys are deranged, but the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver-Pills will soon set them right. The pains and aches will disappear with the poisons when the kidneys do their work properly.

Happiness Secured

AT A Heavy Cost!

CHAPTER I.
A GLOOMY DAY.

With my mother and her grandfather things went on very smoothly. Of boarding schools and schoolmistresses the squire would not hear, so he engaged a governess, and had his darling educated at home.

This must have been a very happy period in poor mamma's life, flattered and deferred to as she was by every one who knew her as the squire's heiress, and petted and spoiled by her sport-loving old grandfather, who long before she was out of her short frocks sat her on the back of a horse, and taught her to ride to hounds, almost as fearlessly as he rode himself.

Unfortunately, it did not last; for when mamma was about nineteen, the squire was taken ill of a disease which threatened from the very first to prove fatal. During this illness Mrs. Erroll, who for several years had refused to speak either to the squire or his granddaughter, came over to the Priory, and the long-estranged brother and sister were so far reconciled that the lady remained to nurse him—Edith, she declared, being far too young for any such grave responsibility; and from that time forth she scarcely left him.

Mrs. Erroll proved a model nurse; her devotion to the sick man, who lingered through many months of painful suffering, was pronounced by the doctor as beyond all praise. And when at last the poor old gentleman passed away, it was with his sister on one side of him and his poor, frightened, heartbroken little granddaughter,

Shell Shocked Nerves

Shattered nerves are the source of greatest suffering to many a returned soldier.

The doctor can give something to relieve physical pain, but when the nervous system breaks down and you are sleepless, nervous and mentally worried, real cure only comes when the exhausted nerve cells are nourished back to health and vigor by such restorative, up building treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

In her quiet, uncomplaining way, mamma set herself to the task. We lived in London, and, although she never returned to Devonshire, she continued to hear a little of what went on there. On the return of her son and his wife from India, Mrs. Erroll, my mother learned, went back to the Priory. Not as mistress this time—Mrs. Erroll, junior, being a woman who would permit no usurpation of her own peculiar rights and privileges—but as a guest, or, to speak correctly, perhaps, a dependent on her son's bounty.

The old house at Deepdene, in which she had lived so long, was shut up and deserted. For some mysterious reason, Mrs. Erroll would neither permit it to be sold nor let. Nothing in it was ever touched; the furniture and all it contained remained just as it stood before her return to the Priory; and by some strange whim, no one but herself was ever permitted, so long as she lived, to set foot in it again; though, to the astonishment of her friend, she was in the habit of spending long hours there, shut up in it quite alone—why or wherefore no mortal knew.

Then came a period of some five or six years, during which the poor mother, living her toilsome life among her children, received no tidings from Devonshire. Then came the news that Mrs. Erroll was dead—had died suddenly and mysteriously—and, on looking into her affairs, it was found that she had made rather a singular disposition of her property.

Deepdene, strangely enough, was left to my mother, coupled with a prayer for forgiveness for some unknown wrong put upon her in the past, with the strict proviso that the house should never be sold or permitted to go out of the family possession, and that everything in it should be left as nearly as possible as it was then standing.

To poor mamma the possession proved a most useless one. Circumstances rendered it quite impossible for her to live in it herself; and her first idea, as it could not be sold, was to let it, just as it stood, thinking how useful the money would be if a tenant could be found. Unfortunately, no tenant ever was found to remain in it beyond a few months. One after another the people who took it, tempted most likely by the low rent mamma's agent was directed to ask for it, moved out again, giving no very definite or satisfactory reason why they did so.

The old house was dull, lonely, damp; the chimneys smoked; or it was altogether too far away from everything. Such were a few of the many complaints alleged against it; and in vain mamma, pressed for money by the increasing expenses of her family, lowered the rent from time to time, until the sum asked for it was a mere trifle. No one could be found to take it; and from that time forth the old house has been falling into ruin and decay.

outbreak had occurred among some of the turbulent tribes of India. Papa's regiment was one of the first to be sent to the seat of war; and, as serious results were anticipated, the order came that the women and children were to be left behind.

It was their first separation, and poor mamma's grief reached a climax, when, six months later, news of a terrible disaster to the British troops arrived in England. It was the old story—a handful of men sent out to contend with overwhelming numbers; and Lieut. Kendrick, with many others, died nobly that day, fighting to the last, leaving his widow with three children to bring up and educate on means terribly inadequate to the purpose.

In her quiet, uncomplaining way, mamma set herself to the task. We lived in London, and, although she never returned to Devonshire, she continued to hear a little of what went on there. On the return of her son and his wife from India, Mrs. Erroll, my mother learned, went back to the Priory. ### WAR REVIEW.

The Franco-American troops, continuing their pressure on the Germans in retreat from the Marne, have reached and crossed the Ourcq River and penetrated into the town of Fere-en-Tardenois, one of the great German supply bases for the enemy inside the Soissons-Rheims salient. In the meantime in the center of the Allied right wing south of Rheims the French have forced the enemy to give further ground and enabled the French to capture several towns of strategic value and to draw their front appreciably nearer the high road which runs north-east from Dormans to Rheims. On the extreme wings of the gradually decreasing pocket near Soissons and Rheims, the enemy, heavily reinforced, is holding tenaciously to his ground. At present the success there would result in a general crumbling of his plans of defence against the locking up of his whole army inside the big bag. In addition to the large number of troops for reinforcements that have been thrown on those two sectors, the German long range guns north of Soissons and north and east of Rheims are defending both wings of the salient. The retreat of the enemy has by no means become a rout, and so long as the picked troops around Soissons and Rheims are able to keep well open the mouth of the bag through which the Germans are falling back, it is expected that the greater portion of the armies of the Crown Prince will be successful in reaching in order the line where it is intended for them to turn and make a stand. Just where this stand will be taken is problematical. More than half the pocket has been recaptured by the French, British, American and Italian troops opposing the enemy, and there have as yet been no sign of a let-up in the retrograde movement. If, as some of the military critics have suggested, the Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria purports to start an offensive against the British in France and Flanders as a diversion from the big battle now in progress, no signs of it are apparent. At present what little fighting has been going on in this region has been in the nature of patrols, in which the British have taken some prisoners and machine guns. Evidently impressed by the threat of the British Premier, that if they remained on strike until Monday, they would be liable to military duty, a majority of the dissatisfied munition workers in England will resume work at once.

REACHED THE OURCQ.

PARIS, July 28. In their pursuit of the retreating Germans north of the River Marne, French troops have reached the south bank of the River Ourcq. It was announced to-day by the French War Office. In the Champagne a number of German attacks were repulsed by the French.

RETREAT ASSUMING RAPID CHARACTER.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY ON THE MARNE, July 28.—(Havas Agency).—French cavalry, supported by some infantry elements, advancing in the Soissons-Rheims salient, has reached 13 miles east of Villers-sur-Fere, a little more than a mile to the southeast of Fere-en-Tardenois, and Serre, 13 miles east of Villers-sur-Fere, southeast of Rheims. The French cavalry advancing swiftly on the Villers or Tardenois road. The Allied success was complete along the whole front. Half of the pocket in which the Germans had been cornered had been retaken. Fere-en-Tardenois, the town on the Ourcq River in the middle of the Marne pocket, which had been used by the Germans as a great supply base, was seriously threatened. The losses of the enemy have been extremely heavy. The German retreat is assuming a rapid character.

GERMAN SUPPLY BASE ENTERED.

PARIS, July 28. French advance guards have reached the north bank of the Ourcq River and Allied troops have entered Fere-en-Tardenois, the great German supply base, which lies in the middle line of the Aisne-Marne front. The text follows: "North of the Marne we have continued our onward march in the region of the Ourcq. Notwithstanding the resistance of the enemy who employed every effort to check our passage of the river, we succeeded in throwing advanced elements. On the north bank we have penetrated into Fere-en-Tardenois, northeast of the Forest of Ris and reached Chevilly. On the right bank our troops have occupied Anthony and Oilly-en-Violaine, and have approached appreciably the line of the road from Rheims to Dormans. In Champagne two enemy attempts in the region south of the Meuse were repulsed."

COVERING THE RETREAT.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, July 28. (By the A.P.).—The British Allied troops are pushing forward. They have reached the southern bank of the River Ourcq. This morning was extremely quiet along the center of the salient where the Germans were not offering great opposition. On both wings, however, the greatest activity prevails. The enemy has massed many heavy guns north of Soissons on the heights around Juvisy and Chavigny, whence they bombarded with an enfilading fire, the west wing as far south as Oulchy-Ls-Chateau. Notwithstanding this bombardment the Allies in the Oulchy-le-Chateau region are making progress, although they are faced by the Germans' best divisions, and the concentrated fire of many machine guns. On the east wing the Allies gradually are obtaining command of the whole road leading from Dormans to Rheims on this side. Also the enemy has assembled a great force of artillery in the neighborhood of St. Thierzy, northwest of Rheims. The guns cover the German left flank and consequently make the progress slower for the Allies.

A PRECIPITATE RETREAT.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, July 28. (By the A.P.).—The retreat of the German Crown Prince's forces along the whole Marne front has reached a more precipitate phase at some places. The Germans have fallen back for a distance of several miles. French and American troops are hammering the retreating forces on the centre, while French and British troops are hammering at both flanks. Cavalry and tanks in considerable numbers have succeeded in getting among the retreating Germans, while airplanes are bombarding their columns on the march.

AMERICANS ON ITALIAN FRONT.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE ITALIAN FRONT, July 28. (By the A.P.).—American fighting troops are now on the Italian front. They began arriving this morning, and are being billeted with the Italians. Heretofore the only combatant American troops were aviators, and the appearance of this large body of fighting men from the United States at the present moment has occasioned the greatest satisfaction.

RETIRING ALL ALONG THE LINE.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY ON THE MARNE, July 28. (By the Havas Agency).—The magnificent move of Generals Foch and Petain, splendidly carried out by Gourard, Mangin, Degoutte and Berthelot, is bringing results. The Germans, under irresistible pressure, are retiring all along the line. The information given out officially no longer covers the full situation.

WILL INVESTIGATE LABOR PROBLEMS.

LONDON, July 28. Winston Spencer Churchill, Minister of Munitions, announced to-day that immediately the munition strikers resume work, a committee will be appointed to investigate the labor conditions which rendered the embargo necessary, and report what further steps should be adopted in view of these conditions to maintain and where necessary increase the output of munitions, with due regard to the effective and economical use of the labor, money and material. The Minister pointed out that this step would be taken in accordance with an agreement with the Trade Union Advisory Committee, as a result of which that Committee advised the strikers to resume work. The investigating committee will consist of three representatives respectively of the Government, the employers and labor, and will be presided over by a neutral chairman.

LOSING CONTACT WITH GERMANS.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT, July 28. (By the A.P.).—The French and Americans have continued their rapid advance to the northeast, and the forest of Fere was cleared of the enemy this afternoon. The Allied forces are losing contact with the Germans.

TANKS DO GOOD WORK.

PARIS, July 28. In a supplementary official report issued this afternoon the French War Office says: "Since the opening of the artillery bombardment on July 18, the day of the French counter offensive on the front between the Aisne and the Marne our tanks have taken a glorious part in the battle after piercing the enemy lines and enabling the infantry to enter the breach. They haven't ceased to accompany or precede the troops throughout the battle. The tanks have given proof of their ability to manoeuvre, and of their incomparable audacity. The crews drove the tanks in the hottest part of the battle and recoiled from no obstacles. They attacked the centres of resistance and the batteries of the enemy under terrific fire from machine guns and special German cannon. Their gallantry attained the greatest results. Each tank accounted for 15 or 20 German machine guns. Some of the tanks charged the German batteries, putting the gunners out of action, and assuring the capture of the cannons and materials. The losses to the Germans as a result of the onslaught of the tanks were very high, according to the reports of prisoners. From July 18th to the 28th, the tanks took part every day in the attacks. Most of them were in action twice and some returned to the fight four or five times on the same day. Some tank companies fought for three days."

ITALIAN OFFICIAL.

ROME, July 28. The official statement issued to-day by the Italian war office says: Yesterday there were effective concentrations in the Lagarina valley and in the Valares, and in the Brenta valley the usual harassing activity of both armies. On the remainder of the front our own and French patrols captured some prisoners at scattered points. Two enemy air planes were brought down.

ADVANCE OF TEN MILES.

PARIS, July 28. The Germans to-day retreated along the whole front north of the Marne, the war office announces to-night. French and Allied troops pressing hard upon the enemy rear-guards have reached the line of Bruyeres, Villeneuve, La Neuville and Chaumy, Cruselles. The Allied forces have advanced more than fifteen kilometres (approximately ten miles) northeast of Chateau Thierry. The right bank of Publish the Audit Report.

There is only one way to clear up and clean up the Customs House defalcations, which have enjoyed so much newspaper notoriety the past few weeks. That way is the publication of the report of the Auditor General, and by doing this it will be at once seen just where and upon whom to place the responsibility for the alleged shortage of a sum approximating six thousand dollars. It is idly for certain newspapers to evade the main issue by an attempt to turn the discussion into a political one. Politics are far removed from the present question. The honor and honesty of certain, if not all, Customs officials are involved in this matter, and it is the bounden duty of the head of the Department to immediately give out an official statement. That made by apologetics is not acceptable to the public, particularly so when said apologetics are the party press. The public is certainly "getting wiser" to the concealment of certain matters and, much adverse comment is "heard on the street" and in the clubs, regarding the unwillingness or fear of the Minister of Finance to give publicity to that part of the Audit Report bearing on the matter of the shortage. The people are beginning to notice that there is something shady about the whole transaction. They want the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. The repetition of the parrot cry that a similar occurrence took place at the Board of Works 18 months ago, has no bearing on the present. Beside the cases are not by any means parallel. The introduction of it now by the Herald is obvious and transparent, so much so that the intelligent reader is beginning to think that there is too much in the affair to make public hence the attempt by the government press to turn aside from the principal issue. If the public interest is not jeopardized by the dead loss of six thousand dollars, which cannot be recovered, and if the accounting and audit system, which permitted this misappropriation to go on unmolested and undiscovered for such a period, is not also placing the public interest in jeopardy, we ask in all conscience, what is?

Where the Money Goes.

Saturday we received a copy of the "Evening Herald," dated June 18th, covering two "Victory Loan" show card advertisements, exactly similar to those which have been posted in shop windows since the Loan was put on the local market. As Saturday was the closing day, we fail to see just what benefit there was to the public in circulating another batch of these cards, covered by the "Herald" of date mentioned. There is but one conclusion to arrive at. As an advertisement was printed and had to be worked off in some way. And yet a certain newspaper published in this city was turned down by the Minister of Finance, who neither replied to the communication of its manager, nor placed a Victory Loan advertisement with it. Such nice (?) discrimination is not worthy a National (?) Government. But has Newfoundland the latter?

Notes and Comments

This is the 1457th day of the war. Did everybody purchase Victory Bonds? If not, why not? We were looking the other day for a phrase that spelled the same backwards as forwards (palindrome is the definition). It came when we thought of our coal bin—"Not a ton." The man who was fined in the police court the other day for leaving his horse tethered in a field where the only provender was old tin cans probably thought the nag was a goat. The Montreal Gazette says: "In the last two months Canada has had 65 major strikes affecting 25,688 workers, with a loss of 145,790 working days. The record is a bad one in the present circumstances. A tremendous amount of labour can be performed in 145,790 working days."

From the Toronto Globe the following is taken: "Sir Robert Borden is needed at home far more than in London, England. He may be giving good advice there, but Canada needs more than advice—it requires good government." The same may be equally said of Newfoundland. The Right Hon. W. F. Lloyd, LL.D., our Prime Minister, can be doing, or trying to do, more work at home than in England. Of course the Minister of Militia doesn't count.

The strike settlement in England seems to be proceeding as smoothly as an office girl sharpening a lead pencil with her teeth.

"The rumour that the King proposed to hold a review of the members of the O. B. E. in Hyde Park, London, and that the scheme had to be abandoned owing to the ridiculously inadequate size of the park is not true," says the "Star," which rumour is also responsible for calling attention to the O. B. E. list of the new order.

"What are you reading?"
"A tale of buried treasure."
"Wasting your time on fiction?"
"No. This is expert advice on how to plant potatoes."

Another M. M.

The accompanying official notification of the winning of the Military Medal by C. Q. M. S. Ernest B. Cheeseman, son of Mr. Laurence Cheeseman, of Port au Bras, Bynin, needs no comment. The Telegram adds its congratulations to Mr. Cheeseman and his gallant son.

Department of Militia,
St. John's, Nfld.,
July 10th, 1918.

Mr. Laurence Cheeseman,
Port au Bras, Bynin.
Dear Sir,—The following extract from Honours and Awards is quoted in connection with the deed for which No. 197, C. Q. M. S. Ernest B. Cheeseman won the Military Medal:—

"Showed great personal courage and leadership. When attacking a bridge he organized a party of seven men and led them in a charge on the bridge. They then came under heavy sniping. He spotted two snipers and went forward single handed and killed them in a railway truck." 20/11/17.

I wish to congratulate you upon the conduct of your son which reflects credit not only upon himself but upon his Regiment.

Yours faithfully,
LIEUT.-COL. W. F. RENDELL,
Chief Staff Officer.

Continuing Business.

The business of the late P. C. O'Driscoll, the Peoples' Auctioneer, will be henceforth carried on by his two sons, Messrs. John D. and Joseph P. O'Driscoll, with whom will be associated Mr. Morry, whose connection with the old firm extends over a period of six years. The new principals, with the experience of years behind them, will have no difficulty in securing a liberal share of the public patronage, and all orders and commissions entrusted to the managers will receive the same prompt attention and will be executed with that facility and dispatch which has been so long a characteristic of the management.

Another Remedy.

In the matter of the fishermen throwing the fish heads and entrails into the harbour, we offer the following suggestion which may be of service. Let the Harbour Master, his department, the Department of Marine and Fisheries, or anybody who has the authority, purchase say, three large barges, and three motor-boats, that is to say, let there be three pairs of motor boats and barges and appoint two men to each pair. This would mean a pair for the south side, one for the north side, and another for the Battery. These craft would collect the heads and entrails from their respective territories, and deposit them, some in the East and some in the West End of the town, from which country farmers may haul them away. To cover the cost of the collecting and landing, a reasonable sum might be levied on the refuse. Doubtless many improvements could be added to this scheme, but we see no reason why it could not be adopted. It is not at all too late this summer to run this system but in case it is, why not have it for next season?

Personal.

By to-morrow's express Miss Millicent Woods, youngest daughter of Mrs. Woods and the late Hon. H. J. B. Woods, P.M.G., leaves for Toronto, where at the home of her sister, Mrs. (Rev.) Peter Bryce, she will be married early in September to Mr. F. W. Pincok of the Dominion Bank, Montreal branch, where they will reside in future. Miss Woods is accompanied by her niece, Miss Gladys Peters. Miss Woods has been a life-long member of the Cochrane St. Centennial Church, being one of the teachers of a large class of young ladies, as well as pianist of the Sunday School and member of the church choir. The Telegram, with her many friends unite in wishing her every happiness.

A Good Suggestion.

At the meeting of the N. I. W. A. held last Friday evening, which was specially called to discuss the solving of the Housing Problem, Mr. T. M. White, the well-known city appraiser, made some very startling exposures as to the conditions of many of the tenement houses, and told of scenes that could not but compel sympathy from his hearers, and in the course of his very able address, told of a way by which the worst of these conditions may be remedied. When questioned as to their reasons for not reporting the conditions of the tenement houses, people invariably replied "oh well, sir, Mrs. Blank, next door, reported it to the Municipal Council, and the next day her landlord turned her out, and he would do the same to me if I complained, and its better to have a leaky house than neither one." That, said Mr. White, is the whole trouble.

There is a law which says that people living in tenement houses may report to the Municipal Council, if their house needs repairs, and the landlords are actually afraid to report, and should be done, is to appoint a couple of inspectors, one for either end of the town, whose duties will be to inspect the houses, and report any breaking of the laws to the Council, so that the odium of the complaint will not fall on those who are least able to bear it. In an interview with Mr. White, he told the Telegram representative that years ago, when he was a candidate for the Mayoralty, this plan was contained in his platform. The duties of tenement inspectors might easily be added to those of the appraisers, he said, and they could be both performed at the same time. These are good suggestions.

Here and There.

FOUR DEFAULTERS.—Four young men, charged with being defaulters, were brought to town by Saturday evening's train from Salmonier.

YESTERDAY'S EXCURSION TRAIN.—Owing to the unfavourable weather only 100 people went out by train to points as far as Kelligrews at 2.30 p.m. yesterday.

When you want something in a hurry for tea, go to ELLIS'—Head Cheese, Ox Tongue, Boiled Ham, Cooked Corned Beef, Bologna Sausage.

CATHEDRAL PICNIC.—The C. E. Cathedral Sunday School picnic takes place at Hays's Farm, on Wednesday. The Women's Home Missionary Association will serve teas and refreshments.

Just Received: A large shipment of Moir's Chocolates for Stafford's Drug Stores, Duckworth Street and Theatre Hill. Jyl13.1f

INSANE PATIENTS ARRIVE.—Two patients for the Insane Asylum who reached the city yesterday were sheltered at the police station where wait no room at the Asylum. Arrangements were made this morning.

Open wide your eyes for here is something worth reading: 48 doz. Men's Dress Shirts, worth $1.25, all sizes and one price. W. R. GOOBIE is just opp. Post Office. Jyl24f

C. C. C. IN CAMP.—A large number of C. C. C. lads left by motor trucks for Portugal Cove on Saturday evening, where they joined a special steamer for Bell Island and went into camp. They will return to the city on Friday next.

Band Concert.

By permission of the Municipal Council, the C. C. C. Band will give a band concert this evening in Bannerman Park, at 8.15. The proceeds will be given in aid of their new Hall. A splendid programme has been arranged, and lovers of music will hear some of the best and most modern musical selections. A small admission fee of 5 or 10 cents will be charged those who wish to pay it, but to those others who wish to claim free admittance, it will be given. Capt. Bulley and associates have often given free band concerts and sermons, and we consider that everybody should now patronize them. Refreshments, etc., will be served throughout the evening.

French Red Cross.

Mrs. Charles Harvey wishes to thank all those who so generously helped the Flower Day held in aid of the French Red Cross. She wishes to thank those who sent her flowers, those who sold them and the many who gave so generously for them. She also thanks the Press for the notices it so kindly published, and Mr. R. C. Reid for its advertisements on the cars for three days. The large sum of $1,600 was added to the Fund through this effort.

Hay Crops.
Hay cutting will begin in earnest during this and next week. The crops this year are very large, and we expect the price for the same will be much reduced. One thing should be seen to, and that is that local farmers with no rent, no taxes, no insurance, cheaper labor and expenses, no duty, no freight and no storage cost, will sell their hay so much cheaper than the imported, which is often of a superior grade to the local. Farmers, these days, have quite a problem, considering in which they will specialize, potatoes or hay.

CALLING STRIKERS TO THE ORDERS.

LONDON, July 28.

The National Service officials were busy to-day at Coventry and Birmingham, preparing forms calling the strikers of military age to the color should they ignore the ultimatum and not return to work on Monday. It is difficult as yet to decide upon the effect of the ultimatum, as many, taking advantage of the enforced idleness have gone to their homes or are on holiday. As far as the number of men out is concerned there is little change from yesterday, but this can be understood, as Saturday is a half holiday and should there be any number who have decided to return to work, there are believed to be many in the frame of mind, they would be unlikely to resume before Monday. The newspaper correspondents say the Government ultimatum has made a deep impression on the strikers, which will be shown at the mass meeting to be held on Sunday. On the other hand, at the strike headquarters in Birmingham it was said the ultimatum had no wise ceased the trouble, but on the contrary had accentuated it. It is estimated that only one-fifth of the militia workers at Coventry are unemployed, and many of these are employed litters, who are unable to work while the skilled men decline to prepare their tools. Many labor leaders have proceeded to the affected districts to urge the men to return to work. Among them is Jos. Havelock Wilson, head of the Seamen's Union, who took three hundred sailors with him. They will parade the streets at Coventry and then proceed to the football grounds for a mass meeting, at which the strikers will be told what seems have suffered and are suffering from the German U-boats. The Government has received offers of assistance from many quarters, while the workers in many districts have passed resolutions condemning the strike.

Cochrane Street Centennial Church.

Rev. Dr. Bond, the Pastor of this Church, preached powerful and practical sermons yesterday. The subject for the morning was "The Teacher on the Bargain Counter". Reference was made to the position of education in this Dominion and especially to the School Teachers who are now in session at the Summer School here. Dr. Bond emphasized the fact that the teacher comes next to the preacher in the importance of his work. The aims of the teacher, and the influence of his work upon those who are for so long a period each week under his care in order that there might result the ideal man, was stated. Reference was also made to the requirements demanded by Education Boards of teachers while the salaries the Boards were paying were very meagre. Dr. Bond strongly emphasized the necessity for a Normal College for the training of teachers so that those whose life work is so important to the Dominion should be properly equipped for that work. Then also the payment to teachers must be commensurate and he called upon the community to unite in an effort for the placing of education in this country upon a proper basis, the establishment of a Normal Training School and the payment to teachers of a living wage. In the evening the subject was, "The Bait Killers of St. John's," and the text was taken from the account of Herod's slaughter of the Innocents. The preacher stated there were three great agencies at work in this City bringing death to the infants. 1.-BAD HOUSING. There were 14,000 persons living in houses in this City in which there was no sewerage. There were 20,000 persons living in houses which were either unfit as residences or had no sanitary appliances. The City, by nature, is situated on that ought to be one of the healthiest cities in the world, but the fact is that it is one of the unhealthiest. If you do not believe the evidence of your eyes on the subject you can take the evidence of your nose. They say there are no slums in St. John's—is it because we are one big slum? Along one street in St. John's about a stone's throw from the English and Roman Catholic Cathedrals, Gower St., and the Hall and the Congregational Church there runs a drain into which every day is thrown the dirt and slops of certain of the houses. Out of every 100 babies born, 184 die because of the murderous neglect of the laws of health. The infant death rate here is nearly twice the death rate in New York and more than twice that of London. 2.-BAD MILK. There need to be proper regulations and efficient inspection of the milk and efficient inspection is not done in dirty stables, dirty houses, with dirty hands, by dirty jugs and sour bottles. No wonder that babies die of cholera, 27 of convulsions, 55 of congenital debility, all resulting from improper feeding. 3.-MOTHERS. Not because of lack of care or want of love but simply for want of knowledge, a number of mothers so treat their infants that the mothers nurse their babies and thus avoid bottles which in many cases are causing all the trouble. Infants nursed by their mothers have ten times the chance of life than those which are brought up on the bottle. There needs to be a course of instruction for mothers, and Dr. Bond was glad to see that the work of the Community Nurse is being appreciated. Ignorant motherhood is a baby killer.

WAR NEWS. A naval unit running for home from its base under a full head of steam was torpedoed by Doc Power in St. Lawrence Harbour. The vessel was the attack was towed back to third sloop and eventually succeeded in running the blockade and safely reaching harbour, notching up a score for the visitors. For a while, though, it looked as if some of the navy men were going to put "Mogue" in "Morgue".

Obituary. ETHEL MOORE. At the General Hospital on Sunday morning, after an illness of some five or six weeks' duration, there quietly passed beyond the vale of tears the soul of the late Sister Ethel Moore, daughter of Mr. J. Moore of Clarke's Beach, and one of the staff of operating sisters of the Hospital. She was a general favorite with all who knew her and one whose loss to the institution will be keenly felt. Her funeral takes place at 4.45 this afternoon from the Hospital, attended by some of the nurses. The Telegram extends sympathy to the bereaved parents and relatives.

VISITORS DEFEAT CITY. The American and City nines contested Saturday evening and after a very close game, the visitors won out by a score of nine to six. The Navy men started the contest with great vim and vigour and their coaches did more shouting on the lines than a political healer after a party win. Canning, who pitched for the first time for the City, did very fine work, his speed for a white bailing the visitors. They found him eventually, and Murphy was sent in as a relief. Joseph held them down until Claude Hall appeared on the scene, and the latter finished the game for the City. Fraser, who did the hurrying for the Americans, gave a fine performance, while his battery mate Graner, made some of the prettiest throws ever seen on a diamond here. The game was most interesting as the score was tied in the eighth and ninth innings at 5 and 6 runs respectively. In the tenth, however, the visitors notched up 3 more and the match was over.

THE MIKADO'S CONGRATULATIONS. PARIS, To-day. (Havas Agency.)—In a message to President Poincare, the Emperor of Japan says he will be glad to see the fine success of the gallant French troops against the latest German offensive. He added that he seized this happy opportunity to express his admiration, together with his warm congratulations. Replying, President Poincare said that Emperor's congratulations would give great satisfaction to the Allied armies who had won over the common enemy such a brilliant victory. He was happy, he added, that the Japanese military mission had witnessed the glorious battles.

THE CRUELTY OF THE HUN. LONDON, To-day. The survivors of two sailing trawlers, respectively British and Belgian, just brought into a British port, tell a terrible tale of German cruelty. The British trawler was sunk before dawn on Friday by a bomb, and the crew was taken aboard the submarine. Three hours later the Belgian trawler was sighted and sunk, and the crew consisting of a father and son also taken aboard. All were taken to the submarine's deck near the conning tower, and when a patrol boat appeared the submarine's rule was without warning, leaving the fishermen to drown. The Belgian skipper and his son and three Englishmen perished and only two of the English crew were saved. The survivors say that the Germans ransacked the trawlers before sinking them and carried off everything of value. The German sailors, according to the survivors, ate biscuits and fish rations as if starving. All of the Germans appearing to be youths. Their commander being only twenty-six. The survivors were in the water for three or four hours before they were picked up.

FOUR HUNDRED PRISONERS. (Bulletin.) In the fighting north of the Marne yesterday, four hundred prisoners were captured, says the official statement from the war office to-day. There was no change in the situation during the night. During the fight, yesterday, on this part of the front, were captured about four hundred prisoners.

AUSTRALIANS MAKE HAIL. LONDON, To-day. Two lines of German trenches, on a two mile front astride the Bray Carle Road, east of Amiens, have been captured by Australian troops, the war office announced to-day. In carrying out this operation the Australians took one hundred prisoners.

FIGHTING FOR MASTERY. WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE, To-day. (Morning by the A. P.)—The forward pressure of the Allies was continued unintermittently throughout Sunday. On Saturday the progress of the Allied forces was extremely rapid with slight opposition from the retreating enemy, but yesterday the Germans everywhere demonstrated that their powers of determination and resistance were still very strong. In the streets of Fere-en-Tardenois there was very severe hand to hand fighting but the Allies eventually obtained the upper hand.

Late last night fighting was still in progress for the mastery of Villers-Tonnais, the German strong point on the southeasterly side of the salient.

To-Day's Messages.

10.00 A. M. AMERICAN CASUALTIES. WASHINGTON, To-day. Total casualties in the army and the Marine Corps, overseas which increased 1,050 during the week, compared with 333 the previous week, aggregated 13,768 with the inclusion of today's army list of 225, and the marine corps list of two. The week's increase is also the largest yet received. In the 13,768 casualties, total dead including 291 men lost at sea, men killed in action, died of wounds, disease, accident and other causes are 5,493, viz.: army men 4,783, marines 710. Total wounded aggregated 7,832, viz.: army men 6,349, marines 1,192. These missing including prisoners are 741, viz.: army men 657, marines 84.

NOT DEAD YET. AMSTERDAM, To-day. Official statement received here from German main headquarters declares the recaptured town of Hinderburg. Field Marshal Von Hindenburg's death. The statement says Hindenburg's health is excellent.

ANOTHER POSITION CAPTURED. WASHINGTON, To-day. The capture of Lechamel by American forces in their advance between the Ourcq and the Marne, is reported in Pershing's statement for yesterday, received to-day at the War Department. A total of 53 German divisions had been identified in the Aisne-Marne fighting, said an official despatch to-day from France. This represents approximately one quarter of the number of German troops on the West front, the despatch said, and shows the tremendous concentration the enemy has been forced to employ to meet Poch's counter-attack. A despatch also said that the French captured 50 officers, 1,900 men, 4 cannon, 40 trench mortars and 300 machine guns in the recent local victory near Mont Didier in the Picardy sector.

1.30 P. M. GETTING PANICKY. AMSTERDAM, To-day. Expressing the view that the battle of the Aisne and the Marne must end in a preliminary decision, the military critic of the Vossische Zeitung of Berlin, says, "It cannot be to our interest to allow the war to drag on into the year 1919 and 1920, as the British above all desire, because they hope that American millions will have reached Europe and that America's force of numbers will be able to achieve a break through. An American danger is facing us at the decisive moment that the attack by our reserves will bring victory."

Bay de Verde Notes.

The fishery up to date is an average one. There are 120 traps used in the prosecution of the fishery here. About 25 traps in Baccalieu Tickle have secured good catches, the remainder will average about 50 qts. The trap voyage on the whole is considerably behind that of last year. Some crews with three traps have only 100 to 150 qts. This time last year they had from 500 to 600 qts. Present prospects are not encouraging for securing much more fish in traps and it is the opinion of the fishermen that the season's trapping is nearly over. The hook and line men have done fairly well and the chances are that the coming of squid will augment their catches.

The oil factories operating here report a poor yield of oil from the livers and as a result there is a great shortage in the quantity of refined oil manufactured. Under the circumstances we do not believe that the decline in price is warranted as there is no doubt that there will not be nearly as much oil manufactured. Mr. W. A. Munn is the man that manufacturers trust to, to give them fair value for their oil and we have no doubt that Mr. Munn will see that manufacturers are fairly treated and that he will not be influenced by other purchasers who are striving to keep the price down. Keep away from the combine, Mr. Munn, the people trust you to do what is right.

MIRACLES.

By RUTH CAMERON.

Does the truly miraculous character of many of the things we have come to take for granted ever come to you in a flash?

We have recently had electric lights put in our summer home. The first morning that we cooked our breakfast on the little electric stove I had one of those flashes of realization in which for an instant I saw the miraculous character of a convenience we usually take for granted, just as one sometimes for an instant sees familiar things in a totally unfamiliar aspect when one catches sight of them in a flash of summer lightning.

The Heat Comes Twenty Miles to Cook My Breakfast.

I had thrust a little black plug into its socket and at once the bacon had begun to sizzle and then the coffee—just this a miracle, here I simply thrust in that plug and straightway all the way from P. (twenty miles away) comes that heat and cooks my breakfast for me.

Talking to a Hole in the Wall.

I had a similar flash one day last winter when I wanted to telephone a friend from a shop and there being no booth vacant I was directed to the open telephone on the wall of the store. Something in the unaccounted-for standing out there in the midst of sitting down in a booth as one usually does, seemed to put me in a new relation to the phenomenon I had so long taken for granted and I saw the familiar act in a new light.

A Scrap of Colored Paper.

Another day the Authorman was posting a letter and as he pressed the stamp on, he said whimsically, "Funny thing, isn't it, I put that little scrap of colored paper on my letter and it carries it seven hundred miles on the train and then to a certain house on a certain street—all in a day and a half. And instead of being thankful to it, all I do is kick it a few hours late. We don't want much do we?"

The Miracle of Civilization.

Of course the marvel of a stamp's service is somewhat different from the wonder of the telephone and the electric light, and yet is not the civilization that the passage of one letter connotes, just as much a miracle in its way as either?

JULY.

July's a month I don't admire; it's hotter than a house afire. It drives me wallowing to the shade, so lap up tubs of lemonade, the while I twang a mournful l y r e; July's a month I don't admire. The sun is like a ball of brass; it shrivels all the leaves and grass; it burns my neck and pees my nose, and multiplies my weary spire; July's a month I don't admire.

The Lodge of Death.

"Hail!" said the sentry at the Lodge of Death.

"Who stands without and seeks admittance here?"

"A pilgrim soldier from the Land of Death."

"The outer guard replied in accents clear.

"Is he of age and properly prepared?"

"He stands erect. To death his breast is bared."

And he has marched for many dreary miles Sustained alone by love of truth and right. Hungry and footsore still he bravely smiles. Admit him to our company this night. I vouch for him. He well deserves our trust. Long has he fought against the tyrant's lust!

"Pilgrim, it is my duty now to say That ere you join this splendid Lodge of Death There is a price supreme that you must pay: For freedom you must leave the Land of Death. There yet remain one cruel bitter test. Ave you prepared to die for what is best?"

"I am!" "Remove the hoodwink from his eyes! Receive him, brothers, as his life he gives! Pilgrim, from death's dark cavern now arise. And learn that he who dies for freedom, lives. Behold the splendid souls who died for truth. And take your place among them, noble youth."

"He stands erect. To death his breast is bared."

"What does he seek from us that men deny?"

"And is it of his own free will he comes?"

"What, with his life, does he expect to buy?"

"And has he ever marched to rolling drums?"

"He answers that his life he waits to give. That other men in happiness may live."

"And he has marched for many dreary miles Sustained alone by love of truth and right. Hungry and footsore still he bravely smiles. Admit him to our company this night. I vouch for him. He well deserves our trust. Long has he fought against the tyrant's lust!

"Pilgrim, it is my duty now to say That ere you join this splendid Lodge of Death There is a price supreme that you must pay: For freedom you must leave the Land of Death. There yet remain one cruel bitter test. Ave you prepared to die for what is best?"

"I am!" "Remove the hoodwink from his eyes! Receive him, brothers, as his life he gives! Pilgrim, from death's dark cavern now arise. And learn that he who dies for freedom, lives. Behold the splendid souls who died for truth. And take your place among them, noble youth."

SOME BEAUTY DESTROYERS.

Many a woman suffers from indigestion simply from lack of exercise. If this is brought about by wealth or indolence, I have but little pity to express, even if she loses her beauty on account of it. Indigestion is usually the result of a continued wrong diet.

To begin with, not fruit enough is eaten, it is looked on more as a luxury than as a food. Abroad it is quite the opposite and the table at nearly every meal is supplied with fruit. If everyone would eat more fruit and less meat many a doctor's bill would be avoided. We would then realize that our garden and orchards are the best drug stores in the land.

One of the best fruits is the apple. The large percentage of phosphorus it contains makes it a brain food of high value. The acids of this fruit are most useful for persons of sedentary habits, whose livers are sluggish in action and need of stimulation. In fact, one might justly call the apple, "nature's cathartic." I might also add that the eating of apples is most beneficial to the skin and complexion.

Overwork and worry often cause nervous physical collapse. In such cases food and sleep should be prescribed. Perhaps one will have no desire to eat, nevertheless it is imperative for with plenty of easily assimilated food and plenty of rest, and fresh air, the sooner will nervousness and weariness be overcome.

In case that one has really no appetite and eating is an actual effort liquid foods should be taken. Raw eggs and milk rank high in value. In fact they not only satisfy hunger but are also quite nourishing.

To live above worry is no easy task, especially for persons of a nervous temperament. Nevertheless it is possible and can be attained through the power of the will.

This is to certify that fourteen years ago I got the cords of my left wrist nearly severed, and was for about nine months that I had no use of my hand, and tried other Liniments, also doctors, and was receiving no benefit. By a persuasion from a friend I got MINARD'S LINIMENT and used one bottle which completely cured me, and have been using MINARD'S LINIMENT in my family ever since and find it the same as when I first used it, and would never be without it.

Household Notes.

To remove dust from a black straw hat, use a tablespoon of salt to a quart of water. Use small scrubbing brush, and rinse hat by dipping it into clear water.

To make a small portion of mayonnaise dressing go a long way, add it by the spoonful to the beaten white of an egg and continue beating until all dressing is used.

An old worn bedspread will make a pretty tablecloth. Trim off the worn portions and dye it a pretty color, then turn a two-inch hem around the edges and finish with a fringe.

If breadcrumbs are kept tightly covered in a fruit jar, they are apt to become strong. Try tying a piece of muslin over the top; this gives ventilation and keeps out the dust.

When laying matting you will find it much easier to lay into corners if first thoroughly with a brush dipped into a pail of water to which a cupful of salt has been added.

Water spilled on the bed when someone is ill may be quickly dried by filling a hot-water bottle full of boiling water and placing it between the mattress and the bed clothing.

To break a glass jar evenly, soak a cord in turpentine and tie it around the jar where you wish to have it broken. Fill glass with cold water up to the string and set fire to the string. Oil pickles are made of 30 medium-sized cucumbers and 4 onions, all sliced. Let stand 4 hours in salted water. Drain and pour over them 1 quart of vinegar and 1 quart of olive oil.

To clean silk embroidery, dip a camel's hair brush in spirits of wine and brush over embroidery until it is clean. The brush should be frequently rinsed in spirits to remove dirt.

Bacon is much more delicate and soft if first parboiled until the fatty part is almost cooked, then lay each piece out separately on a cloth to drain and fry quickly to a very light brown.

The wooden skewers which come with the joint of meat from the butcher's are most useful. Dampen the point with brick dust; it will reach any corner or crevice and remove stains or dirt.

Hard-water stains can be removed from the bathtub by taking equal quantities of soft soap and whitening, apply with warm water and polish with chamomile.

Velveteen is successfully washed by making a lather of soap and warm water. Soak the velveteen in it, squeezing it, but not rubbing. When finished, rinse thoroughly in clear water and hang out to dry.

Bay de Verde Notes.

The fishery up to date is an average one. There are 120 traps used in the prosecution of the fishery here. About 25 traps in Bacallou Tickle have secured good catches, the remainder will average about 50 qts. The trap average on the whole is considerably behind that of last year. Some crews with three traps have only 100 to 150 qts. This time last year they had from 500 to 600 qts. Present prospects are not encouraging for securing much more fish in traps and it is the opinion of the fishermen that the season's trapping is nearly over. The hook and line men have done fairly well and the chances are that the coming of squid will augment their catches.

The oil factories operating here report a poor yield of oil from the livers and as a result there is a great shortage in the quantity of refined oil manufactured. Under the circumstances we do not believe that the decline in price is warranted as there is no doubt that there will not be nearly as much oil manufactured. Mr. W. A. Munn is the man that manufacturers trust to, to give them fair value for their oil and we have no doubt that Mr. Munn will see that manufacturers are fairly treated and that he will not be influenced by other purchasers who are striving to keep the price down. Keep away from the combine, Mr. Munn, the people trust you to do what is right.

Nearly 4,000 Enemy Aeroplanes

SHOT DOWN BY BRITISH AVIATORS DURING THE PAST YEAR

London, July 13.—In one year on the British western front the Royal Air Force has accounted for 3,233 enemy aeroplanes. In the same period the naval airmen shot down 623, a total of 3,856.

An official statement dealing with these operations says:

The Royal Air Force during the year beginning July 1, 1917, on the western front destroyed 2,160 hostile machines and drove down out of control 1,083. In the same period the air force units working in conjunction with the navy shot down 623 hostile machines.

During this period 1,094 of our machines were missing. Ninety-eight of these were working with the navy.

"On the Italian front from April to June, 1918, the British destroyed 106 hostile machines and drove down out of control six. Thirteen of ours were missing.

"On the Salonika front between January and June 21 hostile machines were destroyed and thirteen were driven down out of control.

"From March to June in Egypt and Palestine twenty-six hostile aeroplanes were destroyed and fifteen were driven down out of control. Ten of ours were missing.

"In all the theatres of the war the British air superiority and strength progressed rapidly and continuously. From this it is safe to assume that when the new factor of America's output, both aircraft and personnel, enters the situation in the fighting zones, the aerial ascendancy of the Entente Allies should give them very great advantages."

Hr. Grace Notes.

Mr. Wm. Smith, carpenter, who is well known here, but who is now working at the new theatre, at St. John's, took a run over last week. His visit was a source of pleasure to all his friends.

Private Wm. Hunt was taken to the General Hospital, St. John's, by Wednesday's train, as his wounds received in action are giving him trouble again. He was accompanied to the city by his wife and his father.

Frank Coombs, son of Mr. Eli Coombs, of this town, has just enlisted in a Canadian regiment, and is now in training at Aldershot, Canada.

Rev. A. A. and Mrs. Holmes left yesterday afternoon for their new home at Pouch Cove. They went by carriage, and the trip will, no doubt, be a very pleasant one.

Adj. Stansbury arrived from Bell Island by motor boat on Monday and returned by train via Kelligrews on Tuesday.

Mrs. Mark Sellars, after spending some time in town, returned to Bell Island on Tuesday last.

Word was received in town a few days ago of the death at Boston, of Mrs. James Power, formerly of St. John's. Mr. Power was contemplating a visit to his old home when the call to leave earthly scenes was received. James Power and his brother John kept a shoe store here some years ago. He was about 55 years of age.

Mrs. E. Barnes, of Bell Island, and her two children, Miss Ruby and Master Ralph, came in from Bell Island on Thursday last on a visit to Mrs. Thomas Thistle. They returned home on Tuesday.

Codfish is still very plentiful and of a very large size. Hook and line men are also getting some now.

EDENS' LINDNET LUMBER USED BY PHYSICIANS.

Market Notes.

CODFISH.—When the quantities being presently loaded have been cleared, there will be but 10,000 quintals left in stores. So far no great purchases of new fish have been made, and what little has been bought, sold at $16.50 talqual. Bad weather hampers curing, which accounts for the slackness in deliveries. No large No. 1 has yet come in. It is probable that the price for this cull will be $12. Foreign markets are holding good.

COD OIL.—Last week's prices were $280 per ton for common, hardwood packages. Refined $225 per gallon. Should the current high freight rates to England prevail during the coming months oil prices are not likely to reach the figures of last year. The Inspection Report discloses that more attention is being given to refining than heretofore, all factories taking special pains to turn out a No. 1 article. There will be some risk in holding back cod oil for better prices than above quoted.

HERRING.—The price of split still holds at $7 to $7.50. Nothing new to report.

LOBSTERS.—With no completed returns of the 1918 pack, the price offered at present is $18 per case, pound flats. Salmon (pickled) is quoted at $20.00 for No. 1 per tierce.

PROVISIONS.—As the majority of Canadian mills have closed down for want of wheat, importers here who ordered last month for September delivery are not able to get their requirements. A difference of four cents more per bushel in the price set by the American Food Controller has caused the Canadian farmers to protest to their Food Control Board, and should their protest prevail, we shall likely hear of higher flour. With only Government standard on the local market the price stands at $13.80 to $14. The Pork market is unchanged. Beef holds firm and may go higher. There are large stocks of both Pork and Beef on hand from packing points, but transportation difficulties will keep deliveries at least a month behind. Supplies of Sugar continue scarce. West India last week advanced one cent per pound. American granulated cannot be had at present. Seven cargoes of molasses are due to arrive during the summer and fall. Prices have not changed since last week.

Acknowledgment.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Please allow me space in your paper to express the wish of our daughter Beatrice, who passed peacefully away on the morning of the 19th inst. It was her wish to sincerely thank Dr. Keegan and all the nurses of the General Hospital who did all they could for her and were so very kind to her on the two occasions that she was at the Hospital; and we also beg to thank the kind friends who visited her while there and who conveyed to her many nice things. Our little girl Beatrice entered the Hospital for treatment for hip trouble on or about Oct. 10th, 1915, and came home again March 22nd, 1918. She again went to Hospital on Feb. 14th, 1917, and underwent an operation. We took her home very ill on July 18th, 1918. She was home nearly a year. We also beg to thank the kind friends of Lewisport who brought wreaths and placed on the wreaths were many; and for the messages of sympathy from Hon. John and Mrs. Harrey and Mrs. J. Forsyth, and the words of sympathy and cheer from the numerous friends of Lewisport. It will take too much space to name them all. But, my dear friends of Lewisport and St. John's, also the friends on the Clyde and Home, your kindness to us and to our little daughter, both while she was alive and at her death, will live and be cherished in our memories as long as life and memory in us shall last.

Capital and Labor.

This question which looms large in every nation to-day, and is causing such perplexity to statesmen every-where, was the subject on which Evangelist R. A. Hubley preached last night to a crowded and much interested audience.

"It is," said he, "a sign of the end of the world, and the dominating cause of the carnival of lawlessness and violence that make the days so perilous." He quoted 1 Tim. 3: 10 and 2 Tim. 3: 1, 2 in support of this assertion.

He said "The Bible very positively states that this generation would witness an unparalleled accumulation of wealth, a hoarding of riches eclipsing into insignificance the records of past ages," and proved his statement by several texts of Scripture.

To illustrate the wealth now actually possessed by one individual the speaker said: "If Adam had lived during the entire history of the world, and had worked every day of that long period, he would have had to earn more than $460 daily to own what is now within the grasp of one money magnate. If a man born in 1, A. D. had lived ever since, he would have had to earn $1.00 for every minute of the Christian era to hold an equal fortune." "This," said he, "is against God's order, and must end in disaster."

"The history of all great nations constitutes a significant warning in this respect. To illustrate: Persia perished when 1 per cent of the people owned all the land; Egypt went down when 2 per cent of the people held 97 per cent of the wealth; Babylon fell when 2 per cent of the people owned all the wealth; and Rome expired when 1800 men possessed the known world."

The speaker quoted a statement made by Thos. G. Shearman in the Forum in 1889 to the effect that in 30 years the U. S. would be substantially owned by less than one in five hundred of the male population. This showed a prophetic insight fully substantiated by the following statistics given by the speaker: "In 1914, 44 individuals were taxed in U. S. on an income of a million dollars or more. In 1915, the number of such people taxed was 66; in 1916 to 120, and in 1917 to 376."

The speaker plainly showed that these conditions would intensify until the end, and that complete readjustment is hopeless under present conditions.

It is impossible to imitate or copy our brands. In regard to our competitors, in the words of Kipling, "we have left them sweating and toiling a year and a half behind!"

When we charge you a dollar a bottle for our wine, which is the retail price throughout Canada, we are not going to sell you a syrup. Ours has the "warm feeling" and just as much "kick" as the prohibition law will allow.

Saving Russia's Life Line.

(From the New York World.)

The Murman coast of Russia, which American and British troops are said to have occupied and placed under Allied protection, is as far north as King William Land, where Franklin abandoned the Erebus and Terror, to wander to his death in cold darkness. But the Gulf Stream makes it ice-free, while Archangel, much further south, is blocked in winter. For half the year, therefore, so long as Germany harries the Baltic, the Kola or Murman railway is Russia's sole sea outlet to the western world. It is to save that life-line, with its immense value for handling material of war and peaceful reconstruction, that the Allies have acted. The British have apparently occupied the railroad as far as Kem, where it skirts the western angle of the White Sea on its way to Petrograd. The demand of M. Tokaer, Bolshevik foreign minister, that the British detachments on the Murman coast be withdrawn will cause little surprise. Since Brest-Litovsk, no surrender by that faction to German encroachments has been unexpected. To Finland the Allies' action gives no occasion of legitimate of-

The Czecho-Slovaks.

Among the many names of fighting or non-combatant bodies, armies and rulers in unhappy Russia, the public mind becomes involved in confusion. For instance, one wonders why a body called the Czecho-Slovaks should seemingly be fighting in Russia on the side of the Allies. This army consists for the most part of one-time soldiers of Austria. They belong to Bohemia, Galicia and other Slav districts. They hate the Teuton and know the serfdom of his rule. They do not want to fight the Bolsheviks in Siberia, but are trying to reach the Pacific in order to get at grips on the Western Front and battle with the Allies against despotism from which they have suffered. They got away from the Austrian army for that purpose and are held up by the Russian situation and would-be rulers in their desire to fight the common enemy of democracy. German influence is also at the back of their being held in Russia.

GET YOUR NEW PERFECTION OIL COOK STOVE NOW

It is still New Perfection Week. Don't delay longer. Buy your New Perfection Oil Cook Stove now. There's a size for every household and a style for every need.

The economical New Perfection brings real cooking comfort the whole-year-round. In summer, no cooking on the hot old-fashioned range. In winter, no waiting for the fire to come up. No more drudgery with coal, ashes and kindling.

The Long Blue Chimney makes oil the ideal fuel—gives a clean, intense heat—because its long draft burns up all the fuel. Saves time, worry—saves coal and money.

The New Perfection Oven is an unusually good baker.

The Cabinet adds to the appearance of the stove and is very convenient in many ways.

Convince yourself. Visit your dealer and let him show you, while he has them on display—the stove used in 3,000,000 homes.
