If you don't go to church you're not a good man; if you go you're a hypocrite. If you dress shabbily you're a failure; if you dress well you're ringing a bluff. If you make a lot of money you're a crook; if you lose a lot of money you are an idiot.

"BOBS" is dead. That is the sad word that is being repeated all over the British world. The war is only a background for the passage of the great soldier. It was in a fit setting that he went to his rest. Humanity is in arms, but friend and foe alike must unite in tribute to one who was brave among the brave, wise among the wise, and gentle among the gentle.

ON Sunday next, Nov. 22nd, the annual thank-offering services will be held in the Congregational church morning and evening. At the evening service Rev. R. DON'T pull up your chair three times a day this winter to a well-laden table in a comfortable home, and imagine you owe nothing. Remember through the cold days and colder nights British and Canadian soldiers are lying side by side in the death-ridden trenches, and the sailors of the navy are on duty in the open sea, that you and your family shall be saved from the ruthless invader. Give of your plenty that these brave men may have everything possible to shield them from the perils and discomforts of winter in the open.

A QUIET wedding was solemnized on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 17th, when Miss Annie Clark became the wife of Mrs. F. A. Gibson, accountant in the Berlin branch of the Merchants Bank. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. C. Forster, Presbyterian minister, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Clark.

YOUNG MAN, you can easily afford to give one or two days' pay to the Patriotic Fund. You sometimes blow that much in foolishly and think nothing of it. Some of your acquaintances are at the front and will probably give their lives for the cause of liberty. Surely you can afford a couple of days' pay. "Fight or Pay" is the slogan in this trouble.

BUY Canadian-made underwear, Penman's, Watson's, Tiger Brand, Stanfields.—SWIFTS'.

IT is suggested that the electric lights be turned on earlier on dull afternoons, as much inconvenience is experienced by users on such occasions. On Wednesday work was at a standstill in several places, the current not coming on until five o'clock, ten minutes after sundown. Some of the merchants talk seriously of installing light systems of their own if the matter is not remedied. All light users wish the firm success, but an improvement will have to be made to retain some of the business firms now using electricity.

D. Brown gave a report of the convention held in London on Nov. 4th and 5th. Before singing God Save the King a treat of homemade candy was served by the hostess. Next meeting at the home of Mrs. P. Dodds.—Sec.

MEN'S smoking jackets and house coats, $5.00, $6.50 and $7.50.—SWIFTS'.

ONE of the most influential agricultural papers in the Dominion is the way others refer to the Weekly Sun of Toronto. It is a paper which appeals to the wide-awake farmers. Independent and fearless, it has always guarded the best interests of Canadian agriculture. Aside from that, its accurate and carefully compared market reports and summaries give the reader a practical grasp of market conditions. "You have saved me dollars" is the repeated recommendation of hundreds of its readers. The Sun is on the ground, and it is not influenced by any packing houses or commission merchants. It stands for farmers alone, every day in the year. It is the farmer's friend, you ought to be a reader.

A SAD death occurred on Friday last, when Miss Winnifred Humphries, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Humphries, passed away. Miss Humphries had been in delicate health for some time, and in September went to Lethbridge to see if the change would help her, but failing to improve, she returned home. About three weeks before her death she took residence in the Byron Sanitarium, London, where the end came as stated. She was a young lady of charming personality and had a host of friends, who sympathize deeply with the family. The funeral took place from the family residence, Wall street, Watford, on Sunday afternoon and was well attended considering the very inclement weather. The Rev. F. G. Robinson, pastor of the Methodist church, took the service, and interment was made in the Watford cemetery. The pall bearers were C. Pentland, O. Potter, B. Cook, H. Robinson, K. Trenouth and E. Hicks. Those from a distance who attended the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. McKay, Kincardine; Dr. and Mrs. F. K. Lenfestey, Mt. Clemens, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. LeSueur, L. LeSueur, Mrs. Polley, Miss Olive Stuart and Mr. Douglas Stuart, Sarnia.

WHIRLWIND CAMPAIGN FOR PATRIOTIC FUND

$800.00 the Amount Aimed at by Watford Citizens

CANVASSERS WILL CALL ON EVERYBODY EARLY NEXT WEEK—BE PREPARED TO GIVE LIBERALLY

On Tuesday evening a number of citizens met in the officers' room at the Armory and organized a branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund, and a whirlwind campaign has now commenced to raise Watford's donation to this fund. After consideration $800 was decided on as the aim of the branch and it is expected that this sum will easily be raised. Another meeting of the branch will be held on Friday evening when details of the canvass will be arranged and the teams selected to do the work. The town will be divided into districts with two collectors for each section. The collectors will call on everyone in town the early part of next week. Be prepared and make your subscription as large as possible. Do your duty, give the dependents of our soldier boys the generous assistance which they may justly expect from the people of Watford. Do not labor under the delusion that your contribution is an act of charity. Such is far from the case. You are but paying a part of the debt that you owe the boys of Canada who have gone to the front, and the portion you are paying, however large it may be, is indeed a small one. Let one and all do their level best and when the results are made known let the amount subscribed be one that will do credit to the town of Watford.

The officers of the branch are:—Lt.-Col. Kenward, President; Reeve Stapleford, Vice-President; Mr. W. H. Sharpnell, Secretary; Mr. F. O. McIlveen, Treasurer; with a strong executive committee. The list of donations will be printed in the Guide-Advocate. Let all do their best and show the people of this fair land that Watford not only sent the largest number of soldiers to the front, in comparison to its population, of any place in Canada, but that those of us who are left behind are determined that the cash donation to the Canadian Patriotic Fund shall stand in the same proportion as the gift of men.

NOTE AND COMMENT
The British Empire is unscientific. It is unreasonable. But it is mighty with the greatness of its soul.—St. Louis Republic.

Soldiers can now be inoculated for smallpox, diphtheria, typhoid fever, tetanus, hydrophobia (in case a German should bite them), and they are now preparing a serum from a gangrene germ. If they keep on the surgeons will be able to inoculate them for bullets.

There is not at the present moment any more effective institution in the whole world of political fabrics than the British Empire. Whatever its machinery lacks appears to be supplied by its spirit. The defects of its body are made up for the unity of its soul.—St. Louis Republic.

There are already signs in Canada that the early panic exaggerated the seriousness of the situation. Unemployment in Toronto is less than was expected. There is little more than half the registration at the Civic Bureau that there was last year. It is true that the registration was made in January last year and that the men have not been laid off from the building trades as yet, but the fact remains that there are only 6000 unemployed registered at present, instead of 30,000 as many predicted.—Toronto News.

The Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association has just launched a patriotic appeal to its members, asking that they each set aside one acre of wheat next spring, the proceeds of which will go to the patriotic fund. Should this appeal meet the response anticipated, which is a foregone conclusion, it would involve a donation amounting to the value of from 750,000 to 1,000,000 bushels, or, conservatively, from $750,000 to $1,000,000. This is a donation really worth while.

There are physicians who say that smoking does no harm and that it is even an aid to digestion. There are others who declare it to be highly injurious. The former smoke; the latter do not. Most moderate men who have had the necessary experience believe that for a normal man to smoke in moderation is not harmful to him at all. All are convinced that tobacco should not be used by juveniles. As for the soldiers who are going to shoot and be shot at, it is a prejudiced person indeed, says an exchange, who would deprive them of a pleasure they have long enjoyed. Anything calculated to do physical harm to the men who have volunteered to fight their country's battles will surely not be allowed by those in authority.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Make a Start and Get the Habit
Buying goods made in Canada is a good deal like getting married. It takes some people a long while to make up their minds to start. Then after they're settled down to house-keeping they wonder why they hadn't started long before. All it needs is a man buying the goods made by his fellow-citizens is for a man to take himself in hand and decide to do it. There is no doubt about being able to get the goods. If they are not on the dealer's shelves, they very soon will be when he finds out that people want to buy them. The only thing is to make a start; the rest will take care of itself. It may be only some small thing that a man buys without thinking to ask where it was made. That article having given satisfaction in itself as a piece of well-made merchandise, is also a double satisfaction in having become part of a man's new program. Next time an article of that kind is bought, the question naturally arises, "Was it made in Canada?" The act becomes a practice; and the habit spreading to other people injects life and stimulus into industry? Why not get the habit?

"Please Excuse Mary"
Every teacher knows the value of punctuality and regular attendance at school, but parents sometimes show an ignorance or an indifference to the matter that seriously cripples the efficiency of the schools. "Please let Robert come to-day after his recitations are over," runs the note that the teacher receives. Or, "Please excuse Mary for her absence yesterday; she had to go to the dressmaker," or "Please excuse Elizabeth for tardiness; she was out late to a party last night," or, "Please excuse my children the rest of the week; we are going to visit my sister."

When parents make such requests as these, the teacher is helpless, although she very well knows that if Robert does not study in school he will not study at all, and although she has her own ideas about late hours for school children, and about taking days from school to visit dressmakers and aunts. Moreover, she knows that many of the excuses originate wholly with the pupils, and that the parents realize when they write the notes that the reasons are insufficient. Nowhere in life does "being on the job" count more than in school work. Even the brightest and most earnest pupils cannot get back all that they lose if they are frequently late, absent, or dismissed, although the bright and earnest pupils are better able to stand the loss than those who being less bright or less earnest, have lower scholarship marks. A perfect, or nearly perfect, record in school attendance is one of the best recommendations that a boy or girl can offer a prospective employer.

The actual loss in school work is not the whole of the story. Punctuality is a cardinal virtue, the habit of which is formed and fixed in early life or not at all. Parents do their children a positive injury when they belittle this virtue by condoning tardiness that is not absolutely necessary. Parents and teachers can co-operate to no better purpose than in promoting prompt and regular attendance on the part of the children. —Dunville Chronicle.

Show Your Sincerity, Now That the Crisis is Upon Us

A prominent writer on economics has expressed himself recently (since the outbreak of the war) to the following effect: "It is to be hoped (and beyond all doubt will be) that the policy of the Canadian people during the war will be an uncompromising and firm attitude against the purchase of all articles not made within the confines of Canada and the Empire. "Since our very integrity and trade are assured only through Great Britain, it would be not only unpatriotic, but be rightly construed by all fair minded people, as knife thrust at the Mother Country did we patronize the manufacturers of other countries, even though they be neutral.

With all her foreign business with such countries as Germany, France, Russia, Serbia, Montenegro, and in fact all Europe, cut off suddenly, it is the duty of the Canadian people to make good this loss as far as in them lies. The Navy guarantees the safe delivery of our wheat and other products abroad, and we must see that these bottoms have cargoes of British products to come back to us. It is not necessary to boycott our manufacturers, but see to it where Canadian products are not obtainable that we purchase only British manufacture. As a loyal British subject, in the sphere that you occupy, are you doing your part to this very necessary end? Remember that it is as necessary to keep the British factories open at this time as it is to contribute to the war fund, as the business man has to supply the sinews of war.

A pleasant medicine for children is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, and there is nothing better for driving worms from the system. Mr. Bert Pilkey came across a perfect Indian bone needle one day recently near the river on the lat. con., Bosanquet. It is about six inches long and is a perfect specimen of the primitive utensils used by the aborigines.

Be Loyal To Your Own Community

WHY BUY AT HOME?

Because our interests are here.
Because the community that is good enough for us to live in is good enough for us to buy in.
Because we believe in transacting business with our friends.
Because we want to see the goods we are buying.
Because we want to get what we buy when we pay for it.
Because some part of every dollar we spend at home stays at home and helps work for the welfare of our home town.
Because the home man we buy from stands back of the goods, thus always giving value received.
Because the man we buy from pays his share of the taxes.
Because the man we buy from helps to support our poor and needy, our schools, our churches and our homes.
Because, when luck, misfortune or bereavement comes, the man we buy from is here with his kindly expressions of greeting, his words of cheer, and, if need be, his pocketbook.
Let us make Watford a good place in which to work and live.
It's easy and certain if every one will contribute his share.

The Same Old Falsehood

The German War Office has issued a statement that this war was menaced by the Russians who attacked the Turkish fleet on leaving Bosphorus. This is in accord with Bernhardt's book, which is the man prayerbook. He says it was desirable to get the part mean to attack to appear to the war. In this case as in others the appearance is not a pure lie, but a lie which will echo from the hiring pulp Berlin. Here is a specimen of production of the Kaiser's Court preacher, Dr. Dryander two other Court theologians: will utter no criticism upon Russian Mongol-Asiatic polibrigades, nor on the passiveness fostered among the notwithstanding all our efforts make friends with them. I must say plainly that toward English policy and those who responsible for it we can have other feelings than those of wrath and moral contempt. In their power to prevent war out the very show of an ideal and solely for money's sake to murderously from behind friendly nation to which the united by ties of race, faith and culture. They stamped upon own moral worth by spitting heathen Japanese to a camp robbery, and by leading niggers against us."

The British Moslem

There has been natural amazement at the response of the million Mahomedans to a call to the aid of a Mahomedan which has long claimed sway over the Mahomedans. The Germans are known to emissaries among them so far. It is the most impudent that has ever been put on the face of an Empire which not on rule by force, but on ally of its peoples. So known the Moslems of India to their own Emperor praying at their mosques for the British Mahomedans, it is found that this conduct of Sublime Porte by a repudiation power is generally considered a triumph for the Empire.

What "Bobs" Would No

Field Marshal Lord Roberts failed signally in his effort Great Britain to prepare a beforehand for the war upon us is not at all desirous to the outcome of the correspondent of the London Tribune, who managed an interview with him in London. He wished to ask "Bobs" in his opinion would be on the future of America should win. But he got than the opening sentence of the German wins he began. Lord Roberts told, bristled up at once and remarked: "I will do anything of the sort."

Prince of Piedmont, Heir to Italian Throne.

Prince Humbert, heir to the Italian throne, better known by his official title as Prince of Piedmont, was born ten years ago. In the early summer he embarked on the man-of-war Puglia with a naval tutor for a cruise in the Mediterranean. Heretofore the young prince has spent his summers with his mother and three sisters, but he wants to be a sailor and therefore went to sea. Doubtless his sail was of short duration, as conditions in the Mediterranean are anything but peaceful. The naval training of the Italian crown prince is a departure from established custom of the house of Savoy, for since the time of its founder, Umberto I. in 1032, all heirs of the house have been brought up as soldiers.

Word Guessing. "Haven't you something new for us, Aunt Ruth?" asked Bertha. "I'm afraid I am thought out," Aunt Ruth said, laughing. "Though I believe something did pop into my head the other night.

"It isn't much of a game," she said presently, "but it may help out some of these rainy hours."

The four drew their chairs nearer, alert to hear what Aunt Ruth had to tell. "We will begin with the first five letters of the alphabet. Alice, Bertha and Carl may as well use their initials, and Norton and I will take D and E. Alice, you may give us the definition of a word whose first or last letter is A. Then we will try to guess it."

"Well," said Alice, "my letter ends something like I like in puddings and cakes."

"Sugar!" shouted Norton, and then joined in the laugh at his blunder.

"Vanilla," guessed Carl, which was right.

"Mine begins something we cannot live without," said Bertha.

"Bread?" ventured Alice.

"No. Besides, we can live without that."

"Breakfast?" asked Norton.

"No, indeed. Plenty of people don't eat breakfast."

"Breath," guessed Aunt Ruth, and then it was her turn.

"It ends a precious stone," said Aunt Ruth.

"Sapphire?" cried Norton.

"Right. Now give us a D word."

"Something I like to eat," said Norton.

"Dates," guessed Carl.

"Dumplings?" asked Aunt Ruth.

"No," laughed Norton.

"What can it be?" wondered Alice.

The tinkle of a bell in the hallway told them it was dinner time.

"Let's go out and get it!" shouted Norton.

"Oh, dinner!" they cried. "Why didn't we think of that before?" Youth's Companion.

Legend of the Phoenix.

The phoenix of legendary lore was a delightfully interesting bird not only because of its beauty, having a purple body and a gold collar with a glorious tail of blue and pink feathers and a splendid crest, but because it had to die every 500 years by being burned to ashes. A small worm would be found in these ashes, which became a bird on the second day and a phoenix on the third, warranted to last 500 years. And because of this pretty legend the phoenix rising from its ashes is sometimes represented in churches as an emblem of immortality.

Providing For Old Horses.

A certain Herr Franz Bizony, who died not long ago, was a great lover of animals. He dwelt at Miskolez, Hungary, and in his will bequeathed $64,000 to the city for the founding of a home for old horses.

More than a hundred horses, donkeys, cats, dogs and birds had their homes in outhouses and stables on his property during his lifetime. With the exception of his manservant, it is said that Herr Bizony had not seen another human being for twelve years before his death.

Rimed Enigma.

Once in ages long ago I was part of wrong and woe, Was a burden hard to bear And a sign of shame to wear, Now I stand for glory, fame. Before me burns the sacred flame, Dying men may bless my sign And for me their all resign.

Answer.—The cross.

IT PAID THE PEASANT.

Story of an Auction in the Middle of a Stream.

Czar Nicholas I. of Russia was an incorrigible joker. On one of his journeys, it is related, he came to an out-of-the-way post station, and learned that because of the bad roads it would take several hours to travel by coach to the next station. They told him, however, that a footpath led through the forest, and that if he cared to walk he could reach his destination sooner than by coach.

The Czar and his adjutant decided to walk, and set out through the forest. Presently they came to a river. The bridge had broken down, and they were considering how they should get over, when a peasant came along. The Czar asked him if there was no other way of getting over.

"No, sire," replied the peasant.

"How are you going to cross it?"

"Oh, I just walk across on foot."

"How about your pack? Can you carry that?"

"Surely; on my shoulders."

"My man, you shall have ten roubles if you will carry me to the other bank."

The peasant agreed, took the Czar on his back, and carried him over.

"Now bring my companion over for ten more roubles," said Nicholas.

The peasant recrossed the stream, picked up the adjutant, and was in the middle of the river when the Czar called out, "I'll give you twenty roubles if you throw him off!" The peasant found himself in an embarrassing position.

"You shall have fifty roubles if you take me to the other shore," said the adjutant, nervously.

"Sixty," called the Czar from the other bank, "if you pitch him in!"

"The peasant let go of the adjutant, but the frightened officer threw his arms round his neck and cried out, 'A hundred roubles! Now take me over!'"

The peasant accepted the offer, and carried him to where the Czar stood.

After breakfast the adjutant wrote in his account-book:

"For breakfast, ten roubles; for transporting His Majesty over the river, ten roubles; for transporting the adjutant over the river, under highly amusing circumstances, one hundred roubles."

King George's Indigestion.

Queen Mary has much more to do with events of the day than might be supposed, says the London Globe.

She lightens the King's tasks a good deal by making arrangements for royal progresses, and all the details that are necessary. Supposing the King decides that he will go to Yorkshire, Lancashire, the Midlands, or to Scotland on a tour, it is the Queen who revises the program, gives a decision upon the repasts to be served in the trains, and so on.

The general managers have among their treasured possessions menu-cards annotated in the Queen's own clear handwriting, making alterations in the meals suggested by the refreshment departments. Some of these are dictated by King George's liability to indigestion.

A Smile or Two

"My wife is going through some army manoeuvres with her last year's hat."

"What d'you mean, army manoeuvres?"

"Well, she's turning the wings."

Blusterer—"If you weren't so old I'd knock you down."

Athletic old gentleman—"Let's get it a little more accurate than that. You really mean if I were several years older you might be tempted to try."

"George," said the wife to her generally unappreciative husband, "how do you like my new hat?"

"Well, my dear," said George, with great candor, "to tell you the truth—"

"Stop right there George! If you're going to talk that way about it, I don't want to know."

Father (having just accepted cigar from his son)—"And what do you pay for these, son?"

Son—"Two for a quarter."

Father—"What, and I content myself with two for a dime?"

Son—"Well, you know, dad, your case is different. If I had as large a family as you to support, I wouldn't smoke at all."

Two tourists were walking through the streets of Berlin discussing German politics, and one said, "The Emperor is a damn-fool." He was tapped on the shoulder by a policeman and told to come along with him; he had called the Emperor a "damn-fool."

"But," said the tourist, "we were not talking about your Emperor."

"Ah," said the policeman, "yes you were. No other Emperor but ours is a 'damn-fool!'"

For cleaning bath tubs there has been invented a flat metal handle to be covered with towelling.

A Few Dont's

Don't buy German goods.

Don't be half British. Be a man.

Don't "Hoch der Kaiser." That is how the trouble originated.

Don't talk politics. The boys in the firing line are not doing it.

Don't quarrel with your neighbor. If you want to fight, join the army.

Don't believe all the stories of German barbarity. The Germans are highly civilized.

Don't think this is intended for you any more than the other fellow. We all err at times.

Don't talk too much. The other fellow may know as much about military tactics as you do.

Don't pretend that you know more than Kitchener or French. If you did you wouldn't be in Watford.

Don't forget that the British navy is without a peer. Give the Germans credit for keeping away from it.

Don't doubt the official dispatches from the front. St. Thomas was the only doubter who ever got his name in history.

Don't try to lead people to believe that you are the only source of war information. Good books are more authoritative than you are.

Don't forget that the British gunner is the best in the world, winning his laurels only after a severe test in every country of the globe.

Don't cast any reflections on our soldiers. They are a mighty fine lot of boys when the country is in danger, and you are hiding under the bed.

Don't side with the common enemy and look to the British flag to protect you from your just deserts. If you are not with us, get out of the country.

Don't forget that German history fails to show one instance of bravery in comparison to the charge of the Light Brigade or the stand of the Hollow squares at Waterloo.

Don't boast too much of German bravery. Sheer force of numbers working like machinery doesn't show individual valour nor the inclination to face the music. You would go to Paris if you were pushed.

Don't fail to give the Allies—and particularly the British soldier—credit for turning the Germans away from Paris.

The Same Old Falsehood

The German War Office has issued a statement that this war was commenced by the Russians who attacked the Turkish fleet on leaving the Bosphorus. This is in accord with Bernhardi's book, which is the German prayerbook. He says it is always desirable to get the party you mean to attack to appear to begin the war. In this case as in the others the appearance is based on a pure lie, but a lie which will echo from the hiring pulpits of Berlin. Here is a specimen from a production of the Kaiser's chief Court preacher, Dr. Dryander, and two other Court theologians: "We will utter no criticism upon the Russian Mongol-Asiatic policy of brigands, nor on the passion for revenge fostered among the French notwithstanding all our efforts to make friends with them. But we must say plainly that towards the English policy and those who are responsible for it we can have no other feelings than those of deepest wrath and moral contempt. It was in their power to prevent war. Without the very show of an ideal reason and solely for money's sake they fell murderously from behind upon a friendly nation to which they were united by ties of race, faith and culture. They stamped upon their own moral worth by spurring on heathen Japanese to a campaign of robbery, and by leading African niggers against us."

The British Moslems

There has been natural anxiety as to what the response of the seventy million Mahomedans of India would be to such a call to arms on behalf of a Mahomedan power which has long claimed religious sway over the Mahomedan world. The Germans are known to have had emissaries among them sowing sedition. It is the most important test that has ever been put on the cohesion of an Empire which depends not on rule by force, but on the loyalty of its peoples. So far as is known the Moslems of India are all loyal to their own Emperor, and are praying at their mosques for the succession of British arms. Should it be found that this seduction of the Sublime Porte by a reputedly Christian power is generally condemned by British Mahomedans, it will be a fine triumph for the Empire of freedom.

What "Bobs" Would Not Suppose

Field Marshal Lord Roberts, who failed signally in his efforts to get Great Britain to prepare a large army beforehand for the war which is now upon us is not at all despondent as to the outcome of the fight. A correspondent of the New York Tribune, who managed to get an interview with him in London, relates that one of the questions which he wished to ask "Bobs" was what in his opinion would be the effect on the future of America if Germany should win. But he got no further than the opening sentence. "Suppose that Germany wins this war," he began. Lord Roberts, who was told, bristled up at once and belligerently remarked: "I will not suppose anything of the sort."

FOR ALL SUMMER SORES

That, says the Tribune correspondent, epitomizes the whole attitude of the man. One may add that it epitomizes the whole attitude of the Empire. As Lord Roberts told the correspondent, the Germans under-estimated the "empire power" of Great Britain. They could never have imagined that a great armada like that which went out from Canada would ever cross the ocean to the aid of Britain, nor that a similar armada even more significant and dramatic would set out from the shores of ancient India. They could never have imagined that such unity of thought and purpose would manifest itself throughout the vast British Empire as is manifesting itself today.

Straight Goods

The whole world searches daily for the man who can deliver, without extra embellishments, the Straight Goods—whether it be in shape of an accurate story, a job honestly performed, or a service happily carried out.

Who is it that can hear the account of an event, or see the actual occurrence, and then tell in simple, truthful language what actually took place? Or, who is it that, having been given work to do, can go ahead and do it honestly and thoroughly as though every move were watched—and done in gladness and smiles? Whoever can has the Straight Goods, and delivers them.

When you tell a thing be sure that truth and fact alone dominate. Be a phonograph—reproduce the actual thing.

Take pride in a reputation for accuracy—for handing over the Straight Goods. It is the strongest and most lasting policy. Private life lacks it. Business craves it. Every activity awaits it with open arms. Be known as a dealer in Straight Goods.

Toronto, Nov. 17.—Receipts at the Union stockyards to day were 88 cars, with 1,155 cattle, 89 calves, 1,296 hogs and 1,847 sheep and lambs.

The market was dull and draggy and prices generally were easier, except perhaps for anything extra nice in the butcher line. There were few butcher cattle selling over $7.

Stockers and feeders were easy, with but few inquiries from outside. Common cows and canners cleaned up at about steady prices.

Hogs were a shade firmer, though quotations were unchanged.

Lambs easy, except for very choice light stuff. Heavy lambs not wanted.

Diamond Wedding

The sixtieth anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. George Fuller, of Arkona, was fittingly celebrated by their children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and a few friends at the home made happy for sixty years by a loving and devoted husband and wife. They have enjoyed the happiness and prosperity of their children, they have loved and sorrowed together, and at the expiration of 60 years of married life, the gathering of loving children and grandchildren on Saturday, Nov. 7th, was a most enjoyable event. The happy couple began their married life on Nov. 7th, 1854, when Miss Sarah Clark, of Warwick, became Mrs. George Fuller. They have good health and the prospect of several more years of happiness in their home appears good.

There were present on the occasion seven children, 32 grandchildren and 8 great grandchildren, who with Mrs. Geo. Monroe and Mrs. McCuish, of Forest, and Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Fuller and daughter Margaret, of Miles City, Montana, formed the party. An excellent dinner was served, the butter and biscuits on the table having been made by Mrs. Fuller, who has lost none of her cunning in that line with the passing years, and at the expiration of 60 years of married life, the gathering of loving children and grandchildren on Saturday, Nov. 7th, was a most enjoyable event. The happy couple began their married life on Nov. 7th, 1854, when Miss Sarah Clark, of Warwick, became Mrs. George Fuller. GUARD THE CHILDREN FROM AUTUMN COLDS

The fall is the most severe season of the year for colds—one day is warm while the next is wet and cold, and unless the mother is on her guard the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tablets are mothers' best friend in preventing or banishing colds. The act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowels and stomach free and sweet. An occasional dose will prevent cold or if cold does come on suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will quickly cure it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

War Summary

London, Nov. 12.—Despite the contention of the allies, that the attempts of the Germans to force their way to Dunkirk and Calais have failed, there is reason to believe that the Kaiser's forces have made gains in their efforts to take possession of the coast towns. Following the capture of Dixmude by the Germans, the invaders were less than fifty miles from Calais, and in spite of their tremendous losses, they have been making a most desperate fight. To the north of Dixmude the invaders are now on the side of the Yser nearest the coast towns, and even now their attacks reach almost to the coast line.

The battle in Flanders continues unabated. Access to Antwerp is being made difficult, and may be the cause of military activity there. The roads to Holland are being blocked in every way possible on short preparation. All bridges leading to Belgium have already been destroyed and barricades of tree trunks have been thrown up across the roads of the east Belgian frontier, to prevent the escape in Holland of deserters, as well as to compel the Belgian peasants to remain in their country.

The correspondent of The Daily Express in Flanders is authority for the statement that there have been numerous instances of the Germans killing their prisoners.

The British troops still hold Ypres, ably supported by the Indian troops. A report is current that the Kaiser has ordered that all the Indians and other Moslem troops serving with the allies, when captured, shall be sent to Constantinople and made to serve in the Turkish army.

Paris, Nov. 15.—10.40 p.m.—The following official communication was issued by the war to-night:

The most notable incident of the day has been the throwing back of the enemy on the right bank of the Yser Canal. That part of the left bank which the Germans previously held has been completely evacuated.

We have retreated to the south of Bixchoote a small wood which had been lost following a night attack.

At the end of the day the enemy had shown without success an offensive to the south of Ypres.

From the sea to the north of Lille the day has been good. Two attacks by the enemy, one to the northeast of Zonnebeker, the other to the south of Ypres have been repulsed—the latter with heavy losses to the north.

Between the canal of La Bassee and Arras, and in the region of Liheux, the enemy has made two attempts, without result.

There is nothing else to report.

London, Nov. 16.—Today has been one of the most uneventful in the history of the war, as far as great results are concerned. The coming of winter has partly paralyzed the movement of troops both in the east and west.

The Russians on the border of East Prussia are reported to be marching through snow, which is their natural element, clad in sheepskin jackets, similar to those which the Japanese first wore in Manchuria. Blizzards have swept the trenches in Belgium and Northern France and brought great suffering to the wounded as well as to the men in the fields. A large area of West Flanders, around Dixmude, has been flooded by the heavy rains and is no man's land for fighting.

The French and German reports of today are contradictory as regards the progress of their armies in the west yesterday. Berlin says there was only slight activity because of the snow storm.

The Bowes Street House How It Came by Its Repairs

By LENORE E. CHANEY Copyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.

While Gilder bent eagerly over the quarterly report his agent sat back and watched him uneasily. He was a big man—this agent—faultlessly dressed and bearing an air of ease and conscious well being very soothing to the senses. Faultless, too, was his manner toward his superiors—suave, deferent, but not too deferent.

"Ahem!" Gilder shut his spectacle case with a snap and glared at his agent. "I see profits far below normal again, sir. I notice in the Bowes street house alone the bill for plumbing is over $300 for the past year."

"You ought to know as well as anybody, Burson, how little we have to fear from the board of health."

"The point is what are you going to do to bring up this credit balance? At the present rate of decline another year or two may see the balance on the other side altogether," said Gilder.

"I am sorry to say, Mr. Gilder, that I can't see any way of stopping the leak unless you are prepared to spend a lump sum on new plumbing. In the Bowes street place alone a thousand dollars ought to be spent immediately. A great many of the tenements remain empty simply because they are not habitable, even for the sort of people who live in that section. We cannot reduce the rents without establishing a very bad precedent, and of course I could not put in any very extensive repairs without consulting you."

Burson, and we'll look it over together." Burson's dismay was evident. "Oh, Mr. Gilder, I'm sure you wouldn't like that! You've no idea how filthy and vile the streets and people are in this town. It wouldn't do at all to go in your car in the present state of things, and I'm sure you wouldn't relish the ride on the street cars."

"This served, of course, to fix the idea only the more firmly in Mr. Gilder's mind. He would certainly go; of that Burson might be certain. Once having made the resolution he began to travel half the distance from the street car to the entrance of the Bowes street house he had begun to realize some of the difficulties of which Burson had spoken. For one thing it was hot—the middle of September—and the smells were almost overpowering.

"Ah, Burson, I cannot go with you now. I have more important matters here. I have found my son—yes, my son—just these ten years. I shall not leave him—he needs me. You will have to look after the plumbing yourself. And Burson—we will put new pipes throughout the house—whatever is necessary for comfort and health. Never mind the expense. You see, Burson—my son is a tenant—that is, he was a tenant—in the Bowes street house."

Once inside, Burson took the lead and began at once the tour of inspection. The house had been designed for a far better class of tenant than now found a haven within its walls. It had originally two suits of apartments of five rooms each on either side of the narrow hall which bisected the house. But long ago these five rooms had been divided so that now they formed three suits each—two of two rooms and a single room.

"The single rooms, dirty and dark as they were, found ready occupancy, for the rent was but half that of the two roomed suits. But, while nearly all of the single rooms were tenanted, many of the two room suits were empty. Gilder's reduced dividends were explained.

"They were making the last rounds on the top floor when they heard a voice far below hailing Mr. Burson. The strength and assurance of it spoke eloquently of a full dinner pail.

"Ah, that must be Manders, the plumber!" exclaimed Burson, hastening toward the dark and rickety stairway. "Pardon me one moment, Mr. Gilder. I'll bring him right up."

into the room a few moments later a strange sight met their eyes. Mr. Gilder, the great Mr. Gilder, whose wealth and eccentricities furnished so much copy for the Sunday supplements, was on his knees by the side of the tenement typhoid patient, and the face he turned toward them was tear stained and very odd.

"Doctor—my son—he is very ill. My son—do you hear? The son of Baldwin Gilder. You must work hard—spare no expense—see how he clings to me—my poor Danny, come back to me like this! You think he will live—oh, I'm so glad—so glad!"

Some time later Burson, with his plumber in tow, appeared at the door way, properly shocked at sight of his aristocratic patron in the midst of such surroundings, but his surprise gave place to wonder at Mr. Gilder's first words—the voice was so strangely gentle.

"Ah, Burson, I cannot go with you now. I have more important matters here. I have found my son—yes, my son—just these ten years. I shall not leave him—he needs me. You will have to look after the plumbing yourself. And Burson—we will put new pipes throughout the house—whatever is necessary for comfort and health. Never mind the expense. You see, Burson—my son is a tenant—that is, he was a tenant—in the Bowes street house."

When to Drink Water. Water taken half an hour before eating has been found most beneficial. It dissolves and helps to carry off any mucus or other matter in the stomach, the presence of which is prejudicial. This mucus mixes with the food, covers it over and keeps the gastric juice from it for a short time.

Dark Colors For Fall. Colors for fall and winter are to be dark, except in separate waists and evening gowns, says the Dry Goods Economist. Large use is made of black and of black and white. The colors for morning and afternoon wear are navy, tete de negre and green, with a strong representation of black.

Requisite on the Farm.—Every farmer and stock-raiser should keep a supply of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil on hand, not only as a ready remedy for ills in the family, but because it is a horse and cattle medicine of great potency. As a substitute for sweet oil for horses and cattle affected by colic it far surpasses anything that can be administered.

TORTURED BY CONSTIPATION

"Fruit-a-tives" Cured Paralyzed Bowels and Digestion. ST. BONIFACE DE SHAWINGAN, QUEBEC, Feb. 3rd, 1914. "It is a pleasure to me to inform you that after suffering from Chronic Constipation for 2 1/2 years, I have been cured by 'Fruit-a-tives'. While I was a student at Berthier College, I became so ill I was forced to leave the college. Severe pains across the intestines continually tortured me and it came to a point when I could not stoop down at all, and my Digestion became paralyzed. Some one advised me to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and at once I felt a great improvement. After I had taken four or five boxes, I realized that I was completely cured and what made me glad, also, was that they were acting gently, causing no pain whatever to the bowels. All those who suffer with Chronic Constipation should follow my example and take 'Fruit-a-tives' for they are the medicine that cures."

MAGLOIRE PAQUIN "Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The regular monthly meeting of the Teutonic Chapter met at the home of Mrs. Tanner, Tuesday, Nov. 10th. Mrs. Wm. Thompson, assisting hostess. Quotations on loyalty were well responded to. After the disposal of business the program opened by the singing of "The Maple Leaf," by the Chapter; instrumental, the ladies; piano duet, Mrs. Connolly and Miss Hume; Miss A. Tanner read the paper for the day on "Canada and the War," which was excellent. Several patriotic gramophone selections, among the number the British war song, "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," all present joining in the chorus. The dining-room and ten tables were tastefully decorated with red, white and blue, the place-cards with the Union Jack, the French flag and the Maple Leaf. After luncheon was served an enjoyable meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem. Next place of meeting at Mrs. Fitzgerald's, Mrs. Lowry assisting hostess.

between 16 and 17 years. Many binders were seen which were in good running order after cutting 20 seasons' crops.

In Saskatchewan and Manitoba, where so much of the machinery is left out of doors, the average life of the binder is given by the farmers as about 7 years, which is less than half that of the binder protected from the weather. Many binders do not last as long as seven years. One farmer near Moomsin, Sask., who, after 12 years, was retiring from the farm, held an auction sale. His binder, after cutting 12 crops, sold for $80, or 50% of the original cost, and his other machinery at proportionately high prices. It had all been well housed and the necessary painting and repairing had been done to keep it in good order. On a neighboring farm a binder which had cut only three crops, but which had been neglected and had stood out of doors, was being relegated to the scrap heap and a new one was being purchased.

An implement shed costs money, but if its use will double or treble the length of time the machinery will last, it is a good investment. Farmers often say that they cannot afford to build a shed. The truth is, they really cannot afford to be without one. Apart from the additional power necessary for operation, the depreciation on unhoused machinery on the average farm is so great as to amount to much more than the cost and upkeep of an implement shed. The binder works for only a short time during the year, while machinery in a shop works the whole year through and lasts proportionately many times longer. It is simply a matter of care. The life of a machine extends in direct ratio to the care it receives, and abuse and neglect will shorten the life of any mechanism. The manufacturer is not responsible for the care of machinery after it is sold. This rests entirely with the farmer, and as a common sense business proposition he should look after his own interests sufficiently to house his implements and thus save the thousands of dollars wasted annually in unnecessary depreciation.—F. SEEKING HEIRS FOR UNTOLD MILLIONS

Is Your Name Wynn, or Something That Sounds Like That?

Another "lost heir" movement has been started, this time by Mr. Ed. C. Fox, of Seattle, Wash., who has written "The Hon. Mayor of Toronto" in the matter.

Mr. Fox is attempting to locate heirs of the late Sir John Wynn, who is said to be a descendant of the Prince of Wales. He points out that the name has become somewhat altered in the passing years, so that these answering to the present name of Wynn, Wynne, Win, Winne, Winnes and Wynnans should be interested. Mr. Fox states that the family dates back for the past 852 years. He has been looking up the genealogical trees for the past twelve years, and is now ready to lay the particulars before those interested. A convention is called for November 28th, in Seattle.

The property involved is said to amount to many million dollars. It is now being held by the English Chancery Court.

Care and Abuse of Farm Machinery

Recent investigations by the Conservation Commission reveal some very interesting facts regarding the effect of care, or neglect, as the case may be, upon the life of machinery on the farm. Between 90 and 95 farms, divided into three districts, were visited in each of the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

In Saskatchewan, out of 94 farms visited by the Commission's representative, 76 leave all their implements out of doors. On 73 of the farms there were no implement sheds of any description. On 21 of the farms, sheds large enough to cover a part of the machinery were found, in most cases this being only a buggy or a democrat, but not on one farm was the machinery all housed. Not one farmer was found who painted his implements to protect them from the weather.

In Manitoba only 14 out of 94 farmers keep their machinery under cover during winter, while 44 claim to keep a part of it inside. On 34 of the Manitoba farms no provision whatever is made for protecting implements, and only four claim to have done any painting.

In the three districts visited in Alberta, mixed farming is carried on quite extensively, making more barn room available, so that implements are more likely to be protected, but, even here, 37 out of the 92 visited leave all machinery out of doors.

In one district in Ontario where 40 farmers were visited, every man housed his implements during winter, although none of these men do any painting.

In the Ontario district visited where the implements are housed, the average life of the binder was found to be between

NERVOUS WOMEN

Can Only Find Relief by Taming the Nerves With New Rich Blood.

The woman who "flits to pieces" over the least noise or excitement soon fades and loses her good looks. Dark rings appear under her eyes, the lines about her mouth and forehead deepen and lengthen, the eyes become sunken, the face drawn and the complexion sallow.

The trouble is nervousness and if the strain is not relieved and the nerves properly nourished, nervous collapse and years of sickness may easily follow.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People will save you from this dreadful affliction. These Pills make the new, rich blood that nourishes and tones the nerves and banishes every trace of nervousness.

My name is Margaret Donley, Amherst, N. S. says: "I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved me from the grave. I was taken down with nervous prostration, and for months was unable to walk. I slowly recovered until I was able to go about, but there the improvement ended. I was getting weaker and weaker until I could just get from the bed to a couch. The least noise would set me trembling all over, and often when I went to the table I would leave it hungry and yet unable to eat."

Sometimes I was taken with smothering spells and felt as if I was going to die. At other times I would be so nervous that I could not hold anything in my hands. I was doctoring all the time, but without benefit, and finally I made up my mind I would try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They were the first medicine that gave me any relief, and I was soon able to take a short walk. I continued using the Pills, gradually gaining new health and strength, until I finally felt as well as ever I did in my life.

At the time Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured me I was living in Sackville, and my illness and cure was known to everyone in that place, and my friends, like myself, believe the Pills saved my life.

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Mt. Brydges lady who was canvassing for the Patriotic Fund, reports that some wealthy farmers gave her as much as 50 cents, while others refused to give anything. Yet it's dollars to doughnuts that these self-same patriots (?) will take advantage of every high price the war may bring them.

Patriotic Meeting

The patriotic meeting called by the Reeve in the armory on Monday night was rather slimly attended, probably not more than 125 people, quite a few of them children, being present.

Mr. Fairbank, Warden of Lambton, explained the object of the meeting, telling how the Canadian Patriotic Fund was managed and how the Fund was expended as a supplement to the Government allowance to the dependents of soldiers at the front.

Mr. Armstrong, M.P., felt that every effort should be put forth in the matter and that all should be willing to sacrifice much to help the wives, mothers and sisters of the brave men at the front, and he was willing to give liberally to make them as comfortable as possible.

Dr. Pickering, of Forest, spoke at some length, complimenting the people of Watford and Col. Kelly for the energetic manner that matters connected with the war had been conducted.

Mayor Strrett, of Petrolie, said it was proper that people should do all in their power for the Patriotic Fund, so that the dependents of the Canadian soldiers were properly looked after.

The naming of the committee to form a branch of the Canadian Patriotic Fund was laid over until Tuesday evening.

The object is one that should receive the earnest attention of every man and woman in Canada and the handful of grown-up people present at the meeting did not speak well of the courtesy of the citizens on Field Day.

H. S. Literary

The Literary Society of the High School held their first meeting in the school on Friday, Nov. 14th. A good program of a patriotic nature was given by the pupils and members of the staff.

President's address: "Rule Britannia." Chorus—"The Call of the Motherland." Essay on the War, M. Logan.

Recitation—"The Maple"—Maude Coke Instrumental—B. Cook. Recitation—B. Ramsay. Presentation of prizes won by different pupils on Field Day.

Chorus—"Men of Harlech." Recitation—"The Fatherland."—E. Moody. Critic's report: "It's a Long Way to Tipperary."

"Bobs" is Dead

London, Nov. 15.—Field Marshall Earl Roberts died last night in France from pneumonia. A telegram from Field Marshall Sir John French, commander of the British expeditionary forces on the continent, apprised Earl Kitchener, secretary of state for war, of the death of England's great soldier.

"I deeply regret to tell you that Lord Roberts died at 8 o'clock this (Saturday) evening." Field Marshall Roberts, who was Colonel-in-Chief of the Indian troops, had gone to France to give them his greeting. Soon after his arrival he became seriously ill. He suffered from severe chill on Friday, and pneumonia rapidly developed. His great age, 82 years, militated against his recovery, the crisis in the disease coming quickly.

Neil McPhail, a Scotchman, over 90 years of age, who for the past twenty-two years has made his home with Finlay McKercher, 10th concession of Howard, took a dose of Paris green which proved fatal.
