New Blouses, new gloves, for July 1st.—A. Brown & Co. To encourage cleanliness and tidiness among school children, a novel suggestion has been made by two doctors in Ontario who have recommend-ed that mirrors should form a part of e.ici.o., the ordinary school equipment. They write: The looking glass has a very distinct educational varue and the more careless the home the more probable it is that a looking glass, if one is round at all will only be a few inches square. The consequence is that children who are frequently reprimanded for their untidiness and dirtiness, scarcely see themselves and so lose the strong personal in-centive to improvement which they might gain if they had an opportun-ity of contrasting their own untidy appearance with the neatness of many of their school fellows. ## FAREWELL TO THE RECTOR

There is always a feeling of sad-ness in the parting with friends, especially with those of long stand-ing, and this feeling was strongly emphasized on Thursday evening, when, on Mr. C. A. Class' lawn the congregation of Trinity church assembled to bid a collective fare-well to their rector Ray S. P. Lwir well to their rector, Rev. S. P. Irwin, B.A., and his esteemed wife, who during their sojourn in Watford have endeared themselves to all.

After the reading of an address expensing sorrow at their departure and wishes for their future welfare, the ladies of the W.A.M.A. and Guild presented Mrs. Irwin with a handsome travelling bag, and Mr. Irwin was handed a purse of $150.00 from the men of the congregation. ## An Inch of Rain

An inch of Rain. When the weather records show that an inch of rain has fallen in any part of the country, the down-fall is usually regarded as a "slight shower." But insignificant as it seems, if spread over a large area the inch of rain assumes schastional, even stepsening homoretions even staggering, proportions. If, for example, a downfall of an inch were recorded over the whole of any ordinary Canadian province, it means that rain has fallen to a weight of 7,692,153,600 tons — a weight far beyond the powers of the unaided mind to grasp.

should have to requisition every laco-mative throughout the earth; and each engine, drawing a load of a third of a thousand tons, would have to make 200 journeys. It would provide a freight of 4,640 tons for every locomotive in the country, or five trainloads a day for each working day in a year; while it would take all the horses in the country twelve months to transport it, assuming that each horse made ten journeys daily, hauling a ton of water each journey. So colossal is the weight of our "inch of rain" that it would allow of a distribution of nearly five tons to every man, woman, and child liv-ington the earth to day, or approxi-mately three gallom for every day of the year. If distributed among the people of the Dominion, each person would have sufficient water to fill a tank 150 feet long and 27 feet wide to a depth of five feet.

GARDINER-MCNALLY

A happy event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Mc-Nally, Inwood, on Wednesday, June 14th, when their only daughter, Lela Pearl was united in marriage to Mr. Robert J. Gardiner, of Brooke, their pastor, Rev. A. McVicar officiating. The bride who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a gown of white canton crepe and corsage boquet of white roses and fern. Little Hene McNally, niece of the bride, acting as ring-bearer, and wearing a dress of pink organdie, led the way to the prettily decorated parlor, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Gladys Pratt, who wore a dress of blue silk with sand trimmings.

After signing the register the guests numbering thirty partook of a dainty luncheon. The color scheme throughout the house was carried out in pink and white. The happy couple left amid showers of confetti, taking the train at Watford, for Muskoka via Toronto, returning on the S. S. Hamonic by S. S. Marie.

* The bride travelled in a navy blue * canton crepe dress with hat to batch and sand velour coat. The bride received many useful and costly gifts. The groom's gift to the bride was a cabinet of silver in Adam design, to the pianist a fountain pen and to the ring bearer a gold pin. R

A very pretty wedding was solem-nized at 12 o'clock Saturday at St. Andrew's manse, Sarnia, when Edna Maude second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald McLean of Wyoming, was united in marriage to James Cleighton Taylor, of Port Huron, formerly of Sarnia. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Paterson. Miss Velma Christo, of south Brock street acted as bridesmaid and Melville Welch, Stewart street, was best man. The brde looked charming in a dress of white organdie with large white hat and carrying ophelia roses. The bridesmaid wore tomato shade satin with large black hat, carrying killarney roses. After the ceremony the wedding dinner was served at the Patricia cafe. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left on the four o'clock

CARROLL_BROWN

A very quiet wedding took place at St. Peter's Cathedral, London, at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, June 13th when Gertrude Theresa Brown, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of Brocke, was united in mar-riage to Mr. Edward Ellis Carroll, eldest son of Mr. Samuel Carroll of eldest son of Mr. Samuel Carroll of Metcalfe. Rev. Father Brison offici-ated. The bride looked charming in her gown of ivory gorgette, her veil was caught up with a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a boquet of pink roses. The bride was attended by Miss Celestine McManus of Watford and the groom was at-tended by Mr. Edward Brown brothtended by Mr. Edward Brown, broth-er of the bride. After the ceremony a dainty wedding breakfast was ser-ved at the DeLuxe Cafe. The happy couple left amid a shower of confetti for Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Ashtabula, Ohio, and other points and will return early in July.

JURY DISAGREE IN MCMULLEN CASE

Sarnia, June 16 .- The jury trying Edward A. McMullen on a charge of robbery with violence on October 20, last, at Wyoming, failed to agree af-ter five hours' deliberation.

McMullen, with three other well-known young Londoners, is charged with having entered the Wyoming Bank just before closing time on Oc-tober 20, last, and forcing the em-ployees into the vault, escaping with more than $10,000 more than $10,000. After the jury had been out for about four hours they returned and asked that the evidence of Dr. Milne of oLndon, H. S. Lambert, magger of the robbed bank; Vera McIntesh, the bank teller, and Alpheus McKay, an undertaker, who was in the bank when the hold-up occurred, be read over to them. The former was a wit-ness for the defense and the three

HOW TO BEST TREAT STOMACH TROUBLE

A Tonic Medicine is Needed to Strengthen the Stomach

The old-fashioned methods of treating stomach diseases are being discarded. The trouble with the oldfashioned methods was that when the treatment was stopped the trouble returned, often in an aggravated form. The modern method of treating indigestion and other forms of stomach trouble is to tone up the stomach and glands to their normal work. The recovery of the appetite, the disappear-ance of pain after eating, the absence of gas, are steps on the road to health that those who have tried the tonic treatment remember distinctly. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic which through their action on the blood are helpful in building up the digestive organs, and therefore the best remedy for simple or chronic cases of stomach trouble. The success cases of stomach trouble. The success of the treatment is shown by cases like that of Mrs. Joseph Leclere, Wellington, P.E.I., who says:--"I have been a great sufferer from in-digestion and stomach trouble, and nothing that I took for it did me

ONTARIO'S forest wealth is dwindling. Every year forest fires take disastrous toll. Careless campers cause eleven per cent. of Ontario's forest fires. Last summer 112 cases of neglected camp fires were reported. This summer be careful.

DON"

When you build your fire to make tea, fry bacon or add cheer to pipe and story-telling time, use a woodsman's precautions.

The real woodsman builds his fire on an old fireplace, if there be one handy. Failing that he scrapes away all litter, moss and fibrous rotted wood down to the mineral soil, or the bare rock, and preferably some place close to the water. He knows that if fire gets into the moss or the upper woody layer of forest soil, moss of the upper woody layer of forest son, or in a half-rotted log or stump, it "holds over," burns away unnoticed underneath, and unless fol-lowed up and carefully put out, is liable to break into a flame later. He knows how hard it is to put such deep-smouldering fire out. So he makes his cooking fire surprisingly small and compact, and chooses a spot that is absolutely safe.

It is a mark of his finished woodsmanship how thoroughly he drowns his fire out with plenty of water when he is through with it. Save the forests. You may want to camp again.

What Was Desired.

The jury, in asking for the read-ing of Dr. Milne's testimony, gave the reason that they were not sure he had been able to identify Mc-Mullen as the man upon whom he had operated on the afternoon of the robbery, without the aid of a certain chart. They also wanted to know if his testimony showed that he was sure of the day of the aforesaid operation. After Dr. Milne's evidence had been read the jury retired again without hearing the other evidence. they had asked for.

It was learned that 11 of the jurors were in favor of a conviction, with one for acquittal. This is be-lieved to have been the state existing from shortly after the jury first retired to consider the evidence, and it is believed they returned to court to hear the doctor's evidence solely for the benefit of the one. Finally however, they annoanced there was no hope of their coming to an agreement, and Judge A. I. Taylor, after expressing his regrets, dismissed them.

On Tuesday Wm. Ayres was found guilty. He will be sentenced later. George Anderson and John Yohn are now on trial.

CABBAGE MAGOT PREVALENT

The prevalence of the cabbage magot this year has led to an issu-ing by the Ontario Department of Agriculture of a specially prepared pamphlet by L. Ceasar, provincial entomologist. This pamphlet describes the insect as a small, white legless magot about one-third of an inch long, that attacks chiefly the roots of cauliflowers, cabbages and radishes. It says that the best method to control it is to saturate the soil around each plant with a solution of corrosive sublimate in water, at the strength of one ounce of corrosive sublimate to ten gallons of water, on transplanted cabbage and cauliflower, and one ounce to eight or ten gallons of water for radishes and cauliflower. The first application should be given on the third or fourth day after the vegetables have been transplanted or come through the soil, the second five days later, and the third a similar elapse of time. The solution is pois-onous, and should be kept out of the way of children.

Two hours after the first sym-ptoms were noticed the animals were dead.

A very pleasant afternoon was spent when the pupils of Miss Agnes McAlpine, assistant principal of the Alvinston continuation school, gathered in her class-room and presented her with a handsome onyx ring, prior to her departure for her home in Caledonia. The address was read by Ralph Connor and the presenta-tion made by Elmore Chalk.

One misfortune after the other has come to Clarence, son of Mr. Chas. Sifton, of Metcalfe, the past week or two. Two weeks ago he fell and broke his leg. We are glad to learn however, while seriously ill, he is on fair road to recovery.

During the electrical storm on Saturday night the residence of Duncan Robertson, con. 2, N.E.R., Ade-laide, was struck by lightning, the bolt passing through the roof and entered the bedroom in which Mr. Robertson's son was sleeping, and strange to say, although passing only two feet from the bed, the child was uninjured, save being slightly stunned. The bolt passed from there down-ward into the cellar, but no damage save the chimney and a hole in the roof was done.

The Fifth Annual meeting of Section No. 2, Sarnia Presbyterial W. M. S., met in Arkona on June 9th with a large attendance from the different auxiliaries belonging to the section. Mrs. McVicar of Inwood presided and carried out, very ably a carefully prepared program. After devotional service, Mrs. Aitkin of Centre Road, President of Sarnia Centre Road, President of Sarnia Presbyterial, presented her report of the Provincial meeting held in Ott-awa. The Provincial work is a big one, and there is progress in cover descrithere is progress in every department A "Plea for Home Missions" was made by Miss Robinson of Strathroy in a very earnest address in which she laid great stress on the need of the Home Church holding high the Banner of the Cross, in these days when Canada is such a cosmopolitan country and Christ's command is "Go ye and teach all nations."

By R. RAY BAKER (C, 1921, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.) William Shakespeare didn't refer to Florence Davidson when he made that observation about it being easier to give advice than to act upon it. For Florence was one of those per-sons that practice what they preach. Her preaching was done through the columns of the Evening Gazette, un-der the caption, "Advice to the Love-lorn, by Arabella Anderson." Every day, except Sunday, Florence answered questions of young women, and some young men, in regard to love affairs, preceding the replies with an article of general advice. These articles written by Florence

ately had been accumulated and published in pamphlet form under the title, "Keep Them Guessing," and these pamphlets were distributed free of charge to the readers of the Ga-zette who submitted the necessary

Florence ,was a strong advocate of guessing" in love affairs. She argued a young man's interest became stimulated when he found himself un-able to fathom the depths of his idol's nature. "Keep them guessing; never let up until the marriage knot is tied, and don't let up then," was the gist of her advice, and many a fair reader heeded it and profited by it.-Because Florence practiced what she preached, Harvey Roberts was kept constantly on the anxious seat. He never could tell just where he stood with her. Her personality seemed never the same. She was exceedingly agreeable and sweet one day, and the next time Harvey saw her she was cold and distant.

She never would admit definitely that she would marry him, but whenever he became convinced his case was hopeless she would be sure to lend him fresh encouragement by means of a few choice words of sentiment. He was "kept guessing." Harvey did not realize that he was the constant subject of experiment for Arabella Anderson of the Gazette. Indeed, he was not aware that Florence acted in that capacity on the news-paper, although of course he knew she held some position there. Yes, Har-vey was experimented upon shameful-It is not the readers of the forest the readers of the forest the might profit; but from this if uses not be inferred that Florence did not care for him. She really was in love with him, but felt she must follow Arabella Anderson's advice in order to keep him on the inatrimonial

Well, it was all over. She had lost Harvey now, she was convinced. And it was ber own fault ; she knew it and admitted it. She wrote "Advice to the Lovelorn" with little heart now, because she was beginning to doubt the soundness of the policies she advocated.

Then one day Florence met Harvey on the street, and she stopped him. Her independent nature rebelled at such procedure, but she couldn't help it.

"Why don't you ever come to see me?" she asked him. "I said we ought to remain away from each other for a while, but I didn't mean forever." Harvey appeared his same old self.

"I'll see you tonight-if you haven't another engagement," he said. Florence had no other engagement and Harvey called. He got right to

"I love you, Florence, and I want you," he told her, "but I'm tired of never knowing where I am at. If I can't have you all to myself I won't have you at all." "You mean-" she said very sweetly-and meekly. "I mean that I am proposing to you again, for the last time. If you say yes, well and good. It will make me happy. If your answer is no I'll be unhappy, but I'll never bother, you again. But if you accept me all this tact and diplomacy stuff of yours has got to stop. How about it?"

Florence was silent for a moment. When she spoke there were hints of tears in her eves.

"It suits me, Harvey," she told him. "I'll marry you, and in the meantime I'm yours alone. I'll never be mean again, and I'll never keep you guess-ing. You can depend on me all the

When Harvey left her that night he was far happier than he ever had been before. He whistled a gay tune as he walked home under stars gleaming in a deep blue sky. He went to his room and sat for a long time gazing at a picture of Florence and smiling. It was a smile of triumph as well as happiness.

Before retiring he opened a drawer of his dresser and brought forth a paper-covered book.

"This Arabella Anderson has the right dope," he murmured. "Only she forgot to mention that it works both ways. Maybe she didn't know it when she wrote this 'Keep Them Guessing' volume."

Generous Cows Need Good Grain

Ration. With the pasturing season at an end, every owner of dairy cows should begin to plan his winter feeding. Cows often suffer more for lack of feed between the time when the Fasture is good and the time when winter feeding in earnest begins than they do after winter is really at hand. Every experienced feeder has learn-ed that it is easy to let cows decine in milk as a result of poor feed, out very hard to bring them back. A good production for the year is possible only when the cow is kept at a high level of milk production all the time. The foundation of all good dairy rations is a succulent feed, either silage or roots, and a legume bay, which means clover or alfalfa. Just as soon as the grass begins to get short, therefore, the feeding of silage and hay should begin. It never pays to scrimp on roughage. Let the co have as much as they will eat up clean all the time. That is what cow is for-to convert roughage into

When three days had passed she began to be worried. Then came the climax. Florence went to the theater one evening with her mother, and there she saw Harvey with another young woman. The story is still told in chuckle circle in Washington, where old croget together, of the night when E. W. Pettus, senator from Alabama, then eighty-two years old, stayed out too late,

The day after the escapade the senate was droning along and Mr. Mc-Cumber was making a speech that was well studded with statistics and entirely denuded of thrills. The senators drifted into the cloak rooms, Only Senator Pettus remained. Suddenly his shoulders were seen to be-gin to shake with mirth, and some observer went over to learn what, in so dry a speech, could have made him

He said he had played poker with the Joe Cannon crowd the night be fore and when the hour of midnight arrived, the time at which Mrs. Pettus required his presence at home, he had all the blue chips and could not gracefully get away. So he played till three o'clock.

When he got home he pulled off his shoes at the front door, slipped into his room, undressed in the dark and sought to go to bed. Mrs. Pettus, unfortunately, had cast anchor in the exact middle of the bed. So he bestowed himself most uncomfortably on the edge and courted Morpheus in vain.

Just at dawn Mrs. Pettus' awoke. The senator pretended that he sleeping. She got up on her elbow and looked at her partner for 50 years in the increasing light. Instantly she detected his discomfort,

"Mr. Pettus," said she, "you would rest at greater ease if you would take off your hat."--William Atherton Du Puy in the Philadelphia Evening Public Ledger.

Another peat that infests rose bushes is what is known as the rose slug, a slimy green caterpillar, about one inch long, that eats the leaves and also eats into the flower. Dust-ing the bushes when the leaves are ing the bushes when the leaves are damp (not too wet) with dry hello-bore from an oki baking powder tin having a perforated lid, will help to keep down these pests; or an ounce of hellebore powder may be mixed with a gallon of water and sprayed on the plants. These are all very effective remedies for pests on rose bushes. Care must be taken, cow-ever, not only to be particular in mixing the ingredients, but also to

least three different feeds, one of which is rather high in pro-tein. A good grain mixture for cows of medium production is ground corm of medium production is ground corms or barley four parts, oats or bran two parts, linseed meal one part. The grain feed should vary with the milk produced. The cow that is milking heavily is the one to receive the liberal grain allowance. A good rule to follow with reference to amount of feed, is to give one pound of grain to each three pounds of milk produced by a Guernsey or Jersey, and one pound of grain to each three and one-half pounds of milk by a and one-half pounds of milk by a Holstein.

supposition that the elder racer were much taller or more powerful than are those of the present day. We are limited in our conception of the truth of Pliny's description of the Arabian giants by a due realization of the probable imagination of the narrator. The average present height of the human race is about sixty-five inches, but the average is produced by measuring both the races which are exceedingly tall and excessively short. The so-called gigantic races, of which the Scots of Galloway still stand at the head, are offset by the little peoples of central Africa, but one century with another and one geological period with another, the same thing probably has been largely true.

A few individuals have exceeded A few individuals have exceeded nine feet, according to authenticated records, but they have invariably been freaks, and do not justify the claim, now set forth by the alleged discoverers of a graveyard in Amer-ica filled with petrified glants, that race of giants ever walked the earth.

The giant legend is probably de-The giant legend is probably de-rived from the same source as the notion that everything deteriorates as time runs on. It is of one plece with the pessimistic idea that virtue and happiness and good works of every sort have been declining ever since the world was young. It was at first supposed that the first men on earth were necessarily

It was at first supposed that the first men on earth were necessarily tall and mighty, because it also was supposed that everything was going down hill. "There were giants in those times" was in reality a way of saying that men were not as great as they previously had been. But a more modern view is that the stature of races is due, not only to nature but to nurture, and it is to nature, but to nurture, and it is conceded that man was never so well conceded that man was hever so well nurtured as he is to-day. It is infi-nitely more probable that man in the distant future will be a giant than that such ever existed in a previous

age. The recent revival of the petrified giant industry in the United States recalls the story of the monstrous fraud perpetrated on the American public during the year 1869 when people were led to believe that a 10-foot man had once lived and was buried near the little yillage of Cardiff in Norw York State

Cardiff in New York State. The idea had its inception out in Fort Dodge, Iowa, when an adven-turous showman purchased a huge block of gypsum from a guaryman of that place. The block then was shimmed to Chicago it being taken of that place. The block then was shipped to Chicago, it being taken in charge by a sculptor, who chiselled it into a 10-foot giant. The surface was pricked with needles to give the appearance of pores in the human skin, and then treated with a variety

ORDERS ARE ORDERS. When Sir Robert Borden Met an

English Sergeant. that

It was of the "'eathen" that friend Rudyard Kipling wrote. "'E don't obey no orders unless they is 'is own." Not of the British soldier. 'E 'is own." Not of the British soldier. My word no. You ask Sir Robert Borden. He can tell you a story to prove that to the British soldiers "orders is orders," and that you may take the broad and easy path to the place where there is no bother about winter, before he will depart from them to the breadth of an eye-lash.

It happened when Sir Robert was Premier of Canada. He was in Lon-don attending the Imperial Confer-ence that preceded the Peace Confer-ence. On the afternoon that the then, President Wilson of the United States was to arrive in London, Sir Robert put on his best topper and hied him to the station to take part in the reception. Until he reached the railed-off circle wherein stood the King and other dignitaries, also bent on welcoming the United States King and other dignitaries, also bent on welcoming the United States President, Sir Robert had no mis-glvings. At a drop barred entrance to the railing he was confronted by a handsome representative of the British army, wearing a sergeant's chevrons and a number of stripes in-dicating wounds dicating wounds. "Ticket, sir," said the sergeant

Sir Robert realized something then. "By jove," said he, "I've for-gotten it. Left them on my desk in Whitehall Gardens."

"Must have a ticket to get in 'ere sir," said the soldier. "But I won't have time to go back and get it before the train arrives," protested Sir Robert. "Here's my card—I happen to be the Premier of Canada." "Cawn't 'elp it, sir; orders is orders. No ticket, no gettin' in." "Look here, sergeant." said Sir Robert. "There's Gen. Smuts. Just call him over here a minute; he'll Fouch for me." "Couldn't do it, sir, my orders is to stay 'ere and 'ere I stays." "Get one of your men to call him."

"Sorry, sir, the men is actin' on orders, too; I cawn't call 'em away from their posts." The situation became too embar-rassing for Sir Robert. He didn't get through the barrier in time to greet the President and he did say some things subsequently that start greet the President and he did say some things subsequently that startl-ed those to whom his urbanity and quiet dignity are characteristic. They do say that about the mild-est words he used sounded suspi-ciously like "Gol darn it." But sub-sequently he saw the humor of the situation as well as its illumination of the British character. "It's typi-cal," he said. "How could the Ger-mans ever hope to heat a race like mans ever hope to beat a race like that?"

The death occurred at the hospital. Strathroy, on Monday last of Friend Lloyd Smith, son of Luther and Eliz-abeth Ann Smith, in his 30th year. The funeral was held from the family residence, Park street, Tuesday afternoon to Bethel cemetery, Warwick, in which township the family resided before their removal to Strathroy about a year ago. Besides his par-ents he is survived by one brother, Ernest, of Warwick, and two sisters, Cora and Verna, at home.

While playing on the street on Saturday afternoon, Carlysle, the little son of Dr. Boyd, had an narrow escape from being fatally in-jured when a car driven by Robt. Luke, of Brooke, ran over him. The car was merely moving, when the little fellow fell off the sidewalk directly in front of the wheels, pass-ing over one leg and arm. How he managed to get off with so few bruises is a wonder, and luckily he was not hurt bad, no bones being broken.—Alvinston Free Press.

of acids which made the entire stature appear of ancient origin. After completion the giant was securely packed in an iron box and shipped to Union, New York, where the owner claimed it, loaded the bulky box upon a large wagon, and hauled it fifty miles to a farm near Cardiff. The giant form was then removed from the box and secretly bur-ied, remaining under the ground nearly a year, until it was "accidentally" discovered by some workmen who had been engaged to dig a well by the promoter of the fraud. This great discovery was made on October 16th, 1869, and news of the wonderful petrified giant spread all over the country. The lucky finders covered it with a tent and put it on exhibition, while special trains were run from New York City and other near-by points so that the clamoring multitudes could see the astonishing remains at the earliest opportunity.

Until the deception was discovered it is estimated that more than 50,000 persons jostled each other in order to view the wonder, paying a dollar apiece for the remarkable privilege. But, passing on from this greatest hoax, it is found that the late Captain Bates, a native of Kentucky, was probably the tallest of modern Amer-ican giants although his 5 foot Until the deception was discovered ican giants, although his 8-foot height was slightly exceeded by that of Anna Swan, a native of Nova Scotia. States and Canada, Johann Van Al-bert, of Amsterdam, Holland, is said to have the distinction of being the tallest man who ever entered this country. He is described as being 8 feet 5 inches in height and is now in the "show business." Going further back into glant his-tory we find that Queen Elizabeth's head porter was 7 feet 6 inches high, probably being given this exalted position on account of his ability to see what was going on at all times. Among royalty itself it is claimed that one of the Roman emperors was nearly nine feet high, but the meas-urements of those days may have urements of those days may have allowed him considerable more height than he would be entitled to at this time, though no doubt he was a person of great stature for history to make note of the fact.

How a romance of the wilds of Canada triumphed over an infatu-ation of the city was told in the di-vorce court in London, Eng., by Mrs. Florence Delaney, who was granted a decree nullifying her marriage to Archibald Delaney on the ground of it being a bigamous marriage. Her action was not contested. The plaintiff said she went through the form of marriage to Delaney in February, 1917. She had known him several years before, but he went to Canada and she heard nothing more of him until 1916, when she saw him here with the Canadian forces. They were married and lived in Hastings. He heped he would not have to go to price the second it was not. He hoped he would not have to go to prison for his mar-riage in England. Mrs. Delaney also received a letter from Angel Mac-quina, Delaney's Indian wife, which was in the form of an affidavit, tes-tifying to her marriage to Delaney.
