CANADA TAKES FIRST PRIZE

One Thousand Dollar Prize Offered by C. P. R. at New York Show for Best Wheat Grown in America.
---Won By Saskatchewan Farmer.

New York, Nov. 5.—The announcement of Canada's victory over the United States in the contest for the prizes offered by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, President of the Canadian Pacific railway for the best wheat, spring or summer grown on either continent of America was made yesterday afternoon at the land show in Madison Square Garden. The committee of award composed of C. M. Williams of the Ohio Agricultural Experimental Station; Professor Alfred Atkinson, of the Montana Agricultural College; and Prof. W. M.

Jardine, of the Kansas State Agricultural College, concurred in the official statement that Canada raises the best wheat in the world. The winner of the world beating wheat prize was S. Edgar Wheeler, of Roathpan, Sask., Canada. He received a prize of one thousand dollars in gold. Another Canadian, W. F. Glass, of McLeod, Alb. was the alternate, W. X. Sidduth, of Montana, and Israel Smith of British Columbia, respectively, won the one thousand dollar silver cup, and the one thousand dollar silver trophy for the best alfalfa and potatoes.

Harry Wilson's Execution Postponed

Efforts Will be Made to Secure New Trial for the Digby Murderer

Digby, Nov. 2.—An effort is being made to secure a new trial for Harry Wilson, convicted murderer.

Francis Jones, counsel for the prisoner returned from Halifax today. In an interview with your correspondent Mr. Jones said that the matter of a new trial for Harry Wilson, convicted of the murder of his brother on September 21st, and who had been sentenced to be hanged in Digby on November 15th would be considered in Halifax at the opening of the Court in that city on the 14th inst., and that in the meantime Wilson's execution has been postponed for a month.

"I do not believe there is any other medicine so good for whooping cough as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," writes Mrs. Francis Turpin, Junction City, Ore. This remedy is also unsurpassed for colds and croup. For sale by all dealers.

WHAT AMHERST NEEDS.

Amherst News Sentinel.—In Saturday's issue of the News reference was made to the fact that former citizen of this town was anxious and willing to invest sixteen thousand dollars in a new hotel for Amherst on condition that citizens of this town raise sixty thousand dollars for the same purpose. The News learns today that there is now every prospect of the scheme going through as several Amherst capitalists have agreed to take certain shares in this venture and it is thought that the Pilgrims get through with the endowment scheme that they will devote their time and attention to raising the necessary stock for this new hotel.

HOTEL FIRE ALARM.

An improvement, just instituted at the Halifax hotel, is the installation of an electric fire alarm system, connected with the telephone exchange in the spacious rotunda, through which should a fire occur, the guests would be instantly alarmed. A signal at the telephone exchange in the hotel office at once sounds great gongs in the halls throughout the building so that everybody would be instantly notified day or night. This improvement, one of the many instituted by Mr. MacDonald since he assumed charge of the hotel, will certainly commend itself to the travelling public.

Bay of Fundy Woman Navigator

Mrs. Jesse Neaves Navigated Small Vessel Successfully Until Over-taken by Gale Last August.

(St. John Telegraph.)

It was the schooner Pimpernell which sailed the summer sea and the skipper had taken his good wife to bear him company.

Monday, Oct. 30.—This slight variation of Longfellow's well-known poem expresses very well the experience of Capt. Jesse Neaves on his last voyage in August last, excepting that on account of the skipper's almost total blindness Mrs. Neaves was the manager and navigator of the little craft. When the Pimpernell was lost at Port Lorne, N.S., the only means of subsistence for the family of six small children went down with the craft and Mrs. Neaves was left to fight the battle of life for her helpless husband and children.

At the time of the shipwreck the story of Mrs. Neaves' heroism became public, and an effort was made to raise a fund to purchase a new freight tug smack with which she could again make a living. Hon. O. T. Daniels, of Bridgetown, now attorney-general of Nova Scotia, drew up a brief setting forth that her husband was unable to support the family and started the subscription list. Although this brief has been freely circulated and two months have elapsed since the schooner was lost, the sum raised so far amounts to only $36.75, which will not go very far towards buying a new boat.

Capt. Neaves has been staying at his home at Victoria Harbor, N.S., and utterly despairs of ever regaining his sight. He was treated in a hospital for his eyes before the shipwreck, but of course is not in a position to secure medical attention at the present time. Three weeks ago Mrs. Neaves came to St. John and has been staying with her brother, Chas. Macaulay, 78 Moore Street, while seeking to interest St. John business men in her case.

THE WOMAN'S STORY.

A Telegraph reporter talked to her at her brother's home last evening, and with tears glistening in her eyes at times she told her sad story.

"My home is at Victoria Harbor," she said, "and we have always lived there since we were married. When my husband was in good health we made out very well, sailing up and down Cumberland Bay, making our own freights by buying and selling fish and other products. When my husband's sight gave out I took the wheel and did the steering besides other heavy work on board which he could not undertake. We had a man at first but our expenses kept running up and we found it did not pay. I had not studied navigation, but I knew enough to run the little twelve-ton smack. Always, except in very fair weather, when my eldest son, aged eleven, relieved me, I was at the wheel. All last summer I was in command until August 26th, when the fearful storm came up and drove us up the bay. Many stormy nights I had steered the little craft, but this gale proved too much for me. Without rudder we did our best at steering with the sails but the wind ripped these away, leaving us with bare poles and it was only a matter of time until we drifted on the ledges. We hung on for our lives during the night with the sea washing over us and it is a wonder that we ever escaped. When morning came we found that the sea had beached the Pimpernell and we were able to walk ashore but the craft was of no use any more."

"I was hopeful when Hon. Mr. Daniels, Rev. R. W. Rundle, the Baptist minister; Y. Anthony, the postmaster, and other gentlemen took sufficient interest to prepare the brief and start the subscription list, but we do not seem to be getting very far. I am doing all I can by day's work, but I cannot earn enough for my children that way. I have been told by business men whom I have approached to 'put on my coat and hustle,' but it is too much for me, and my husband, I fear, can never 'get out and hustle' again."

Mrs. Neaves' voice broke as she reached this part and she seemed more affected by the thought of her husband's misfortune than she did in recounting the story of her own fight for life when the Pimpernell was lost. She is a young looking woman with that deep tan which only the sailor's life can give, and her story has the ring of truth and sincerity. She will be in the city for a few days at her brother's home.

4000 Arabs Have Been Executed by Italians

CORRESPONDENT CONFIRMS REPORT OF MASSACRE—400 WOMEN INCLUDED IN LIST—CHILDREN WERE NOT SPARED—PORTS LIDGES PROTEST WITH POWERS

Berlin, Nov. 4.—The Tripoli correspondent of a local paper says: Italy's losses in Tripoli since Oct. 23 amount to 1500 men, of which 280 were killed. Eighty-seven soldiers are suffering from cholera.

The Italians, continues the correspondent, have executed 4000 Arabs, including 400 women and children. Cholera is rapidly increasing among the Arabs and Jews. No room exists in the city for the reinforcements and their arrival must further increase the ravages of the cholera.

Bound with ropes—Constantinople, Nov. 4.—Neshad Bey reports with regard to the killing of many women and children by the Italians at Tripoli, that they were bound with ropes before they were murdered. The Turks find everywhere corpses with their throats cut.

Died at Torbrook

TORBROOK, Oct. 30.—Benjamin N. Wheeler died of typhoid fever at the home of his wife's parents in Torbrook, N.S., early on Sunday morning, Oct. 15, after an illness of six weeks. He leaves a widow, a son, a mother and brother, all of whom live at his bedside when he is buried. Mr. Wheeler was 35 years old, a native of Hudson, a man of very strong character and had great qualities of heart and soul that attracted people to him. In June he resigned the management of the local branch of the Ames butter and egg store removed to Keene, N. H., where he purchased a similar business, and in which he was engaged when he came to Nova Scotia on a visit, not feeling well at the time.

Soon after reaching his destination he was taken ill and although everything possible in a medical way was done, the disease fastened itself upon him with tenacity that could not be shaken and as the end approached he lost consciousness.

Mr. Wheeler was Superintendent of the First Baptist Sunday School in Leonistier, Mass., several years, and was dearly beloved in that society, as well as throughout the community generally. He belonged to the Royal Arcanum and saw service in the Spanish-American war. The burial took place in the Victoria Cemetery.

AVOID HARSH DRUGS

Many Cathartics Tend to Cause Injury to the Bowels.

If you are subject to constipation, you should avoid strong drugs and cathartics. They only give temporary relief and their reaction is harmful and sometimes more annoying than constipation. They in no way effect a cure and their tendency is to weaken the already weak organs with which they come in contact.

We honestly believe that we have the best constipation treatment ever devised. Our faith in it is so strong that we sell it on the positive guarantee that it shall not cost the user a cent if it does not give entire satisfaction. This preparation is called Rexal Orderlies. These are prompt, soothing, and most effective in action. They are made of a recent chemical discovery. Their principal ingredient is odorless, tasteless, and colorless. Combined with other well-known ingredients, long established for their usefulness in the treatment of constipation, it forms a tablet which is eaten just like candy. They may be taken at any time, either day or night, without fear of their causing any inconvenience whatever. They do not grip, purge nor cause nausea. They act without causing any pain or excessive looseness of the bowels. They are ideal for children, weak, delicate persons, and aged people, as well as for the most hearty person.

They come in three size packages, twelve tablets, 10 cents; thirty-six tablets, 25 cents; eighty tablets, 50 cents. Remember you can obtain them only at our store—The Rexal Store Royal Pharmacy, W. A. Warren.

Will Try to Buy the Intercolonial

Offer to Acquire or Lease is Anticipated (Ottawa Citizen.)

The Canadian Northern Railway is likely to make very shortly to the new Government a proposition for the acquisition or lease of the Intercolonial Railway. This is intimated by officers of the road now in the city. It will be recalled that on several occasions there were negotiations with the late Government on the same subject, but nothing ever came of them save that in connection with the Government guarantee of Canadian Northern bonds provision was made for an interchange of traffic at Montreal. The Canadian Northern is gradually linking up its system, and 1913 will see the line in operation from the Pacific Coast to Quebec. What route will be followed from Quebec east is problematical. If the company constructs a line of its own there will be four practically paralleling each other in the same and somewhat limited territory. Three of them will be transcontinental roads, in which event the Intercolonial, it is argued, would become a local line. Before determining its plans the C. N. R. is likely to make a proposition to the new Government with reference to the Intercolonial.

FOR HOUSEHOLD ACCIDENTS

ZAM-BUK IS SO VERY USEFUL. Read How Beneficial it Proved in This Case.

Mrs. H. Sawyer, of Keene, Ont., writes:—"My husband is engaged on a farm, and one day, while chopping wood, the top of the axe broke and fell upon his foot, cutting a nasty gash. The wound was so bad that we first thought we would have to get a doctor, but we finally decided to dress the cut with Zam-Buk. "Well, the Zam-Buk treatment proved a great success. It not only eased the pain, but it prevented any inflammation; and right from first applying Zam-Buk, the cut began to heal. It is now completely healed, and my husband says he will never be without a box of Zam-Buk in the house, for we are sure it saved us a great deal of expense."

Over and over again Zam-Buk has been proved to be the worker's best remedy. As soon as applied to a cut, a burn, a scald, or any skin injury, it relieves the pain and it sets up healing. It also prevents blood poisoning or inflammation. It is a sure cure, too, for certain piles, ulcers, old wounds, bad leg, ringworm, scalp sores, festering running sores, eruptions, cold sores, chapped hands, etc. Its absolute purity, also makes it the ideal balm for babies.

Zam-Buk Soap should be used along with the balm for washing all sore places. This soap will be found excellent for baby's bath, even where the balm is not being used.

All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, and Zam-Buk Soap at 25c. tablet, or post free upon receipt of price. Refuse harmful substitutes.

CANADIAN CHILDREN NEED TO BE TAUGHT TO SPEAK BETTER.

Bishop Farthing, Addressing Protestant Teachers in Montreal, Says Vowels are Harsh and Manner of Speaking Rough.

Montreal, Oct. 20.—(Canadian Press)—Canadian children's harsh vowels and rough manner of speaking were deplored last evening by Bishop Farthing in the course of an address of welcome to the Protestant teachers of the province at the evening session of their annual convention.

"Teach them to speak English, to breathe through their noses and speak through their mouths, as God intended them to do," said His Lordship. He considered it regrettable that Canadian children should lack culture and be unable to speak pleasing English, a condition which led many employers to prefer English boys to the Canadian youth in offices, and which might be largely overcome if Canadians could acquire a softer spirit and more intonation in their vowels.

PUBLIC SHOULD OWN RAILWAYS

New Minister of Finance Declares Borden Government Will Own and Operate New Northern Railway.
---National Outlook Based on Industrial Progress.

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—Hon. W. T. White, Minister of Finance, in opening his Leeds campaign tonight in Lansdowne, came out strong for public ownership and said the Borden Government would build and operate the Hudson Bay Railway.

It was his initial speech since becoming a member of the Borden Ministry. It was on the occasion of his campaign for election to the Commons for the County of Leeds, where George Taylor resigned to make way for him. At the outset he expressed appreciation of Mr. Taylor's act. Continuing he said in part:

Why he was called.—"When as the result of the election reciprocity was laid at rest and I returned to my desk, I had no thought whatever of entering the field of active politics. It was at this time that I was honored by receiving from Mr. Borden an invitation to join his Cabinet which I conceived it my duty to accept. No doubt Mr. Borden had in mind that in appointing me he would recognize the support given him by tens of thousands of Liberals throughout Canada, which contributed so greatly to his success. But I also believe that he thought I might have special qualifications for the important position which he assigned to me and as to this I can only say that, if I fail his expectations it will not be for lack of effort on my part."

For public ownership.—Proceeding Mr. White expressed his sympathy with the farming community. He said that he had discounted his financial connections and was free to serve the country, unfettered and untrammelled by any interest. As regards public ownership he looked forward to a development on its part commensurate with the growth of Canada. He went on to speak on the national outlook based on the industrial expansion in process.

Germany Buying Nova Scotia Apples

About Eighty Thousand Barrels Have Been Shipped so far This Season.

Halifax, Oct. 29.—A big trade with Germany in Nova Scotia apples has been opened up this season. Hitherto the apple exports from this port have been exclusively to London, Liverpool and Glasgow, but chiefly to London.

The British ports already this fall have taken about half a million barrels. Hamburg, for the first time, has taken apples from this province, the exports so far this season being about eighty thousand barrels and shipping will continue.

The German steamer Helms Menzel, which sailed yesterday for Hamburg, took thirty thousand, one hundred and fifteen barrels. The Elder-Dempster steamer Canada Cape, which sailed yesterday for South Africa, took three thousand, one hundred and fifty barrels.

"I am pleased to recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as the best thing I know of and safest remedy for coughs, colds and bronchial trouble," writes Mrs. L. B. Arnold of Denver, Colo. "We have used it repeatedly and it has never failed to give relief." For sale by all dealers.

San Francisco, Nov. 2.—Advices from Canton today state that viceroy Chang Ming Chi, of that province had wired a memorial to the Prince Regent asking for the pardon of Wang Ching Wei, who had attempted to assassinate the Prince a year ago last April. Pardon to the prisoner, he said, would go far to placate the people, and to show the liberal attitude of the Government toward the Republicans. Full pardon was also asked for the Revolutionary General Li Yuen Heng.

According to another message, Kung Li has refused to consider a peace offer unless the Manchu dynasty yields the throne to the Republicans. Revolutionists are said to occupy all the railway stations near Hankow and to have inflicted a loss of more than a thousand men on the Imperials in battle yesterday.

Thousand Chinese Killed in Battle

The by-elections in Annapolis, Digby and Lunenburg counties will take place on the 15th inst. It is expected that Hon. Mr. Daniels, attorney-general, will be unopposed, but there will be contests in Digby and Lunenburg. In Digby A. E. Wall will be the Liberal candidate and Harry Marshall, of Weymouth, Conservative. In Lunenburg the candidates are A. C. Zwicker, Conservative and Wm. M. Duff, Liberal.

POWER FROM WASTE STEAM.

New Type of Turbine Utilizes Exhaust From Reciprocating Engines.
 The advent of the steam turbine engine has proved beyond cavil that fully half the power of steam is wasted in the exhaust of the old reciprocating types of steam engines, says the Philadelphia Record.
 It was only a few years ago that Charles G. Curtis, working in the shops of the General Electric company at Schenectady, N. Y., proved that the turbine engine was a commercial possibility, and since that date hundreds of these turbine engines have been placed in the mills and factories. The turbine engine, as is well known, is a form of steam engine which is propelled by steam power in much the same way as a water wheel is driven by the weight and fall of water. The pressure of the steam striking against a large number of curved blades whirled the moving parts of the engine. Very recently it was found that a certain type of steam turbine with extra large blades could be made which would utilize the exhaust steam from the old reciprocating engines and turn it into valuable horsepower. One electric light station in Pennsylvania felt the need for more power, so asked for bids to install new engines. When the engineer came to figure on the job he recommended a large low pressure Curtis turbine to be installed to use the exhaust steam from the old engines. Such a turbine was placed, and today it turns this old waste steam into 500 horsepower without burning a pound more of coal.
 Steam at two or three pounds pressure when exhausted into a vacuum is capable of great power if the working surface of the engine is large enough. It could not be used in a reciprocating engine to advantage because the cylinders would have to be enormous to take care of such a volume of low pressure steam. But the low pressure turbine equipped with wide blades will do the trick very nicely.
 Diamonds Phosphorescent.
 Stories of diamonds shining in the dark are more or less familiar to everybody, but few persons perhaps have ever seen this mysterious light of the greatest of gems. One distinguished expert in precious stones claims to have discovered that not only do diamonds really shine in the dark, but that this property may be employed as a test of the genuineness of a diamond.
 In order to make the gem shine it must be rubbed on wood, cloth or metal. Some diamonds exhibit light after having been exposed to the sun, and since all are not thus affected, it was formerly supposed that the property belonged only to particular diamonds.
 It is now stated, however, that all diamonds of every grade as to color possess this phosphorescent power, while other kinds of precious stones lack it.
 It is accordingly possible to ascertain whether a gem is really a diamond or not by observing whether it can be made to emit light in the dark. The cause of phosphorescence of the diamond remains to be explained.
 Springless Electric Clock.
 The students of the St. Louis watch-making school have completed a new type of clock that is driven by electricity. Different from the usual form, the pendulum of this clock swings from a point above. It is made from an ordinary clock, but the pendulum is impelled by an electro magnetically operated armature of the oscillating type.
 The armature in its approach toward the emerging coil closes the circuit by which the coil is energized. Under the attractive influence of the coil the armature is impelled against the pendulum, driving it forward, after which the circuit is broken, leaving the armature free to be returned to its original position under the momentum of the pendulum in its returning swing. The swinging pendulum also operates the escapement lever by which the clock mechanism is advanced, so no weights or springs are necessary.
 Whaling in the South Atlantic.
 Seven whaling companies now occupy sites in the island of South Georgia, where the whole carcass of the whales is converted into oil and fertilizers, says the British colonial report from Stanley, the capital of the Falklands. Six companies fish in the waters of the south Shetlands, pursuing the whale through Pelagic straits to the icy shores of Graham Land. The 1909 season in the dependencies was a good one, but was not so remunerative around the Falklands. A station at New Island, fitted with the latest machinery and lighted by electricity, was completed during the year. There were exported from the Falklands last year 4,000 tons of whale oil, worth $221,426, against 2,929 tons, worth $275,930, in 1908 and 2,300 tons, worth $210,000, in 1907, which shows a wide variation in market values.

Protection of Boilers.
 Zinc is often used to prevent the corrosion of boilers. Its efficiency is due to the fact that any metal with a greater tendency than iron to dissolve, on which hydrogen is liberated with more difficulty than on iron, will protect the latter at the expense of the more soluble metal. The protection, however, becomes more ineffective in pure water at a distance greater than an inch. Salt or some other electrolyte will extend the zone to twenty inches or more.

A COLLECT FOR THANKSGIVING.

I thank thee, Father, for thy sky,
 Wherein thy little sparrows fly,
 For unseen hands that build and break
 The cloud pavilions for my sake,
 This feeding beauty, high and wild,
 Toward which I wonder as a child.
 And thanks for morning's stir and light
 And for the folding hush of night;
 For those high duties that spread
 The star-filled chasm overhead;
 For elfin chorists that yield
 The green fire of the April field;
 For all the foam and surge of bloom
 For leaves gone glorious to their doom—
 All the wild loveliness that can
 Touch the immortal in man.
 Father of Life, I thank thee, too,
 For old acquaintance, near and true;
 For friends who came into my day
 And took my loneliness away;
 For faith that held on to the last,
 For all sweet memories of the past—
 Dear memories of my dead that send
 Long thoughts of life and of life's end,
 That make me know the light
 Of a deeper world than it reveals.

THE CLARK CASE

(St. John Times.)
 C. F. Sanford, of Earnhill, Ewin; & Sanford, who has been in New York in connection with the Clark case, returned yesterday to St. John from Ottawa, to which city he went in connection with the proceedings necessary to secure extradition papers.
 Mr. Sanford said yesterday that there was nothing he could say about the case except that the formalities in connection with the extradition would be completed within a week or two and that then Clark would be brought to St. John and placed on trial.
 Regarding the accusations against the prisoner, Mr. Sanford declined to speak, saying that these would come out in due course in court.
 Clark is charged with larceny, and so far as the Bank of New Brunswick is concerned it is understood that the amount for which he is held responsible is twenty-five thousand dollars.
 Clark is now held without bail, having been remanded for thirty days but the extradition papers will be ready before that period expires and he will probably be brought to St. John within a week or two. He will be taken to the police court here and held for trial at the next circuit court.
 The New York Sun of Saturday, in its account of the proceedings in the Clark case in the Harlem police court said:
 "Frank M. Patterson, who is counsel here for the Bank of New Brunswick, an institution which has branches scattered throughout Canada, said last night that the two charges against Clark represented only a small part of his stealings. The total, he said, would amount to twenty-five thousand dollars. One hundred and ten thousand dollars more was stolen from the bank through the connivance of a gang of American crooks, of which Clark was supposed to have been a member, according to the lawyer.
 Clark when arraigned in court seemed to feel disturbed and humiliated. The Pinkertons had been described in one of his letters as having "done punk work on the case," and the detectives were somewhat disposed to remind the prisoner that his description was not precisely borne out by what had happened.

Learn why PURITY FLOUR is unlike any other brand

PURITY FLOUR is unlike any other brand of flour. No two milling companies follow exactly the same process of milling. In fact, no two different brands of flour in the world are exactly alike in quality.
 And here is another fact worth knowing: Every wheat berry contains both high-grade and low-grade portions.

The process of milling PURITY flour costs more than to mill ordinary flour. The low-grade portions are separated and excluded. PURITY is an ALL-HIGH-GRADE, hard wheat flour. It has greater strength, greater absorption and greater expansion. It is a thirstier, more elastic flour. It drinks more water and expands into more loaves.

Use PURITY FLOUR for your next batch of bread. Count the loaves. You'll find you have made "MORE BREAD AND BETTER BREAD" from PURITY than when you've used an equal weight of weaker and cheaper flour.

"More bread and better bread"

IMAGINE, if you can, how much whiter, and more toothsome, and more nutritious, the bread made from such a HIGH-GRADE flour must be.

And can you imagine yourself enjoying the flaky pie-crust and the light, delicate cake? —your reward for using PURITY flour

When making pastry, please remember to add more shortening than required with ordinary flour—for on account of its extra strength, PURITY FLOUR requires more shortening for best pastry-results

Yes, PURITY FLOUR costs slightly more than ordinary flour. But use it once and you'll say it's worth more—much more—than the difference.

Add PURITY FLOUR to your grocery list right now.

A GREAT DISCOVERY

Certain Ingredients That Really Promote Hair Growth When Properly Combined.

Resorcin is one of the most effective germ destroyers ever discovered by science, and in connection with Beta Naphthol, which is both germicidal and antiseptic, a combination is formed which destroys the germs which rob the hair of its natural nourishment, and also creates a clean, healthy condition of the scalp, which prevents the development of new germs.
 Pilocarpin, although not a coloring matter or dye, is a well-known ingredient for restoring the hair to its natural color, when the loss of hair has been caused by a disease of the scalp.

These ingredients in proper combination, with alcohol added as a stimulant and for its well-defined nourishing properties, perfect perhaps the most effective remedy that is known for scalp and hair troubles.

We have a remedy which is chiefly composed of these ingredients, in combination with other extremely valuable medicinal agents. We guarantee it to positively cure dandruff and to grow hair, even though the scalp in spots is bare of hair. If there is any vitality left in the roots, it will positively cure baldness, or we will refund your money.

If the scalp has a glazed, shiny appearance, it's an indication that baldness is permanent, but in other instances we believe baldness is curable.
 We want every one troubled with scalp disease or loss of hair to try REXALL "93" Hair Tonic. If it does not cure dandruff and grow hair to the satisfaction of the user, we will without question or quibble return every cent paid us for it. We print this guarantee on every bottle. It was effected a positive cure in ninety-eight per cent of cases where put to a practical test.

REXALL "93" Hair Tonic is entirely unlike, and we think, in every particular, better than anything else we know of for the purpose for which it is prescribed. We urge you to try this preparation at our entire risk. Certainly we know of no better guarantee to give you. Remember you can obtain REXALL Remedies in Bridgetown only at our store—The REXALL STORE, Royal Pharmacy, W. A. Warren.

FOR HAPPIERNESS IN MARRIED LIFE.
 If the bride should apply the motto, "Live and let live," if fancy she would find that wedded life would go much more smoothly.
 I know a married woman who frets because her husband will not wear the same kind of underwear that she does, and another who protests almost every morning because her husband eats his fruit at the end instead of the beginning of his breakfast, and a man who is unhappy because his wife goes to the Presbyterian while he goes to the Methodist church and another who is deeply disturbed because his wife believes in woman's suffrage while he does not.
 I think they are perfectly foolish.
 All these differences are tremendously unimportant.
 Doubtless husband may change a habit or give up an eccentricity for a wife he loves, and vice versa, but why should they be asked to?
 As long as habits do not hopelessly collide and eccentricities are not really objectionable, why shouldn't they both "live and let live?"
 The best governed countries, they say, are those which have the fewest laws.
 And it seems to me that the most harmonious wedded life must be that in which the parties place the fewest possible restrictions on each other.—
 Ruth Cameron.

THE DANGER OF DYING.

Medieval jests are mostly founded on the subject of fallacious reasoning, as witness the well-known one of an inquisitive gentleman of the name of Mador, who, wandering by the sea, falls in with a 'longshoreman, and questions him regarding his ancestry.

"My father was drowned," the mariner admits, in reply to his first query. "And your grandfather?" "Drowned also, fair sir, and so were all my other forefathers as far back as I may trace them."

"Then I marvel," says Mador, "that thou darrest go to sea." The sailor turns examiner. "How did thy father die?" he asks. "Peacefully in his bed."

"And the grandfather?" "Peacefully in his bed, also." "Then I marvel," saith the sailor, "that thou darrest go to bed."

LOOKING BRIGHTER. The old storekeeper down in the country who gave up keeping turkey red because the women insisted on buying all he had as fast as he got it must be related to this New Hampshire merchant.

There was nothing he liked so well to do as to lie back in an old arm-chair on the elm-shaded porch of his store and whittle a green willow stick. One very hot afternoon, just as he had got his jack-knife out (which appeared on the scene with a gallon jug.

"Can I get a gallon of molasses?" he inquired. "Oh, hum!" growled the storekeeper, showing considerable temper. "Go find it! Nobody else in town's got molasses to sell but me, I suppose."

With this stinging rebuke, he went in and filled the jug. QUITE RIGHT. A young surgeon, who was very retiring and awkward, was asked to dinner by a lady who was at least fifty and tried to pass herself off as twenty, and apparently imagined that being rude and tomboyish assisted to sustain the youthful illusion.

At dinner she asked him to carve a fowl, and never having carved a fowl before and being painfully shy, he made a mess of it. Instead of trying to cover his confusion his hostess called attention to it pointedly by looking down the table and saying loudly: "Well, Mr. P., you may be a very clever surgeon, but if I wanted a leg of I should not come to you to do it."

"No, Lady Alice," he replied, politely; "but then, you see, you are not a chicken." HIS HELPMATE. When the food had been discussed he was called on for a speech, of course. He arose from his seat beside his wife—he hemmed and hawed, and then he said: "Ladies and gentlemen—I am totally unprepared, of course, and as being as I said totally unprepared, you must excuse me for being—er—unprepared, I—er—ah—I was hardly prepared for this—er—"

TERRIBLE HEADACHES

Trenton Merchant Driven To Despair By The Pain.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" CURED HIM

TRENTON, Ont., Jan. 29th, 1909. "I was a dreadful sufferer for many years from Stomach and Liver Trouble—but my greatest suffering was from violent headaches. They were so distressing that I almost had to give up my business. I went to Toronto, consulted specialists and wore glasses, but nothing did me any good and the headaches became intolerable.

The Case of Violet Smith

(Toronto Globe.)

The young school teacher whose body was found in the river at Dillon's Port on Thursday may have come to her death by her own act or at the hands of some assassin, but in either case her tragic fate should be laid to heart by the people of Ontario.

There are hundreds of young girls in Ontario schools today who are forced to put up with the slights and rude conduct that Violet Smith evidently encountered in Dillon's Port. All around them are decent, good-living, well-mannered people, but they are slow to take the new teacher to their homes and hearts, while the coarse and ignorant and too often the vicious make her life miserable.

And the fact standing out most clearly is that it is man's work, and not woman's. There is no more justification for sending out women teachers to frontier communities than for sending out women engineers or surveyors. After all, man is fashioned and formed to do the world's rough work, and while teaching on the outskirts of civilization is not rough work in a physical sense, it requires the robust mentality of a man to cope with its discouragements and its handicaps.

The returns of the Normal Schools of Ontario prove that teaching has become almost exclusively a woman's profession. In sympathy and instinct, and in the desire to influence those under them for good, woman teachers no doubt excel, but there are other qualities that count. The strength and virility and the more rigid discipline of the male teacher mean a great deal in the making of child character.

No greater service in Canada could be rendered than to restore the male teacher to his former place. It might add several million dollars a year to the cost of education, but it would be worth far more than it would cost. Why should not the Ontario Department of Education devise means of stimulating the employment of male teachers even to the extent of bonusing them if necessary in the case of frontier settlements?

Rev. Clarence Richeson Indicted for Murder

Grand Jury Presented Five Counts in the Indictment, Charging Baptist Clergyman With Causing the Death of Miss Avis Linnell.

Boston, Oct. 31—On a charge of murdering Miss Avis Linnell, of Hyannis, Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, Cambridge, was indicted by the Grand Jury of Suffolk County in special session today. The indictment is on five counts.

The indictment follows in part: "The jurors on their oath present that Clarence V. T. Richeson on the fourteenth day of October in and upon one Avis Linnell feloniously, wilfully and of his malice aforethought, did make an assault and give, in some way and manner to the jurors unknown, a large quantity of a certain deadly poison called cyanide of potassium, well knowing the same to be a deadly poison, with the intention that the said Linnell should take and swallow down the same into her body, and that the said Linnell did take and swallow down the same into her body the cyanide of potassium so given, the said Linnell not knowing the same to be a deadly poison; by means whereof the said Linnell became mortally sick and distempared in her body; of which said poison, so given by said Richeson, the said Linnell died."

"And so the jurors aforesaid, on their oaths do say that the said Richeson, in manner and form aforesaid, the said Linnell feloniously, wilfully and of his malice aforethought, did poison, kill and murder."

THE OTHER COUNTS. The second and third counts follow the same form, "except the second count alleges that Richeson 'did send and convey' the poison 'in some manner and way unknown,' and the third count alleges that Richeson caused the poison to be 'taken and swallowed by said Linnell in some way and manner unknown.'"

The fourth count takes up another phase of the matter, going on to say that Richeson gave Miss Linnell the poison pretending to her that it was a medicinal preparation which would overcome her pregnant condition. "Said Richeson well knowing the same not to be such a medicine, but well knowing it to be a deadly poison."

The fifth count is practically like the others, but closes thus:—"The jurors further say that all counts in this indictment are different descriptions of the same act."

RICHESON BEFORE COURT. Rev. Mr. Richeson appeared tired and worn after his eleven days in jail so much that he could scarcely be distinguished from any of the score of other prisoners who were crowded into the pen with him. The Richeson case was called so soon after the minister's arrival in court, and disposed of so quietly that few of the spectators knew of it.

Boston, Oct. 29—Absolute proof that Miss Avis Linnell, up to the time of her death believed she was to be the wife of the Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, who is accused of her murder, was furnished the district attorney today by the girl's brother-in-law. This evidence is in the shape of letters couched in endearing terms and purporting to have been written to the dead girl by the minister. Some of the letters are said to contain denials of his intended marriage to Miss Violet Edmonds.

The prosecution already had in its possession letters written by the pastor to Miss Linnell, but those given to the district attorney today were of more recent date. In fact, it is said that one of them was written so shortly before the death of the girl that it is considered of the utmost importance in connection with the prosecution's case. Other letters placed in the hands of the district attorney today were written to some of her girl friends, and in these she is said to have made references to her engagement to the clergyman.

THE HONEST VOTER.

A "conscientious" worker who held in great horror the buying of votes, went with several friends to canvass a voter in his district. On entering the house he greeted the man with a hearty hand-shake, saying: "Well, Mr. J., I hope none of those rascals have been here offering you money for your vote." "No, sir, they haven't." Then in a loud whisper, he added, "I haven't taken a cent only what you gave me!"

Boston Murder Trial

Police Satisfied as to How Avis Linnell Took Poison, But How it was Sent Her Was Cleverly Concealed.

(Canadian Press.) Boston, Oct. 31—When the case of Rev. Clarence V. T. Richeson, pastor of Immanuel Baptist church, Cambridge, who is charged with murdering Miss Avis Linnell, was called in the municipal court today, the hearing was postponed until Nov. 7. The minister was in court only two minutes.

While there has been so much speculation about the probable manner by which the cyanide of potassium was actually taken into the mouth of Miss Linnell, it has now been disclosed that the police have evidence showing and witnesses ready to testify that she drank the poison in solution.

It appears, from what it is understood that these witnesses will testify, that Miss Linnell must have mixed the poison crystals with water in an ordinary drinking glass, a few minutes before she swallowed the deadly solution. Persons who entered the bath-room and found the dying girl, discovered the soiled drinking glass and immediately washed it out and used it to mix an antidote in. It was also discovered that the girl had been immediately made sick, and that though she was unconscious she threw off the major portion of the poisonous solution. This in a degree is regarded as the explanation of the fact that she lived twenty-five minutes after taking the poison, for in the liquid form the solution was weak at best, and it was assimilated slowly and its fatal consequence was retarded.

It is not suspected for a moment that Miss Linnell took the poison in crystal form into her mouth, for if she had, some traces of it would possibly have been found there; and again it is supposed that she would have understood that the powder would have been more slow in bringing about the result she hoped to obtain by taking it than if she had taken it in the crystal form. For these reasons and because of the presence of the soiled drinking glass at her side, it is now believed that she first dissolved it in water and, then drank down the deadly solution.

But after all, this point in the case is not so important to the case of the prosecution as the manner in which she received the poison. It is likely to be charged with the indictment counts that it was mailed, handed to her in person or sent to her by messenger; and altho while a strenuous effort is being made to ascertain in just which one of these ways it was conveyed to Miss Linnell.

It is not thought that there was a secret trusting place, or "lover's post office," where the poison might have been left for the girl, who, little suspecting the evil intentions of her supposed friend, went there and found the deadly package. Whoever her sleayer was, the authorities agree that he displayed such a degree of cunning as has not figured in any previous murder case in the history of this state.

THE PERFUME ON THE BILL.

The morning after election a 'character' entered one of the Shelburne stores, and after ordering some goods offered a new crisp, five dollar bill in payment. The store-keeper, who is a great wag, took the bill and, pretending to smell it said, "Joe, that is all right. That is our of our party bills."

"How you know that?" "Why, we put perfume on all our bills so we would know who got them." "Dat so, Mr. Young! Well, now, dey nebber told me dat!"

FARM ENGINEERING.

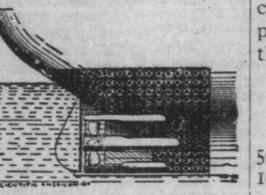

Heretofore Neglected Field Offers Rich Opportunities.

In a farming community the county might utilize a hydro-electric development for supplying from a central station the power needed for farming on a modern and scientific basis, or a number of farmers may be interested in the promotion of such enterprises, utilizing the power in common for the purpose of carrying on their farming operations, including the lighting of farm buildings and dwellings. Electric power may be readily applied with the use of motors to all agricultural machinery, such as plows, reapers, mowing machines, pumps, thrashing machines, fodder cutters, feed grinders, washing machinery, creamery appliances, refrigerating installations, etc. By the use of electric light on the farms greater efficiency and cleanliness are secured all around, fire risk is diminished, insurance rates are reduced, and the working day is not shortened in the winter season.

The great cry has for some time been raised that a livelhood cannot at present be made on the farm. The great problem is to produce more per acre and to make the laborer's position on the farm so attractive that he will be willing to remain there. It is my opinion that the real reason for the retrogression of the farming industry is that all modern engineering ability has almost exclusively been directed to the advancement of industrial enterprises and has almost entirely neglected farming and agricultural work. Financiers and promoters will no doubt find this a great field, particularly as with the use of electric power many byproducts of value may be produced commercially on farms, such as alcohol, starch, etc., from the surplus products.—Frank Koester in Engineering Magazine.

PERFORATED SHEATHING.

Method of Relieving Suction at the Stern of a Vessel. In the wake of every moving object there is a partial vacuum or rarefaction of the fluid through which it is moving. In the case of a steamer traveling at high speed the tendency to produce a cavity at the stern causes a rush of water toward this part of the vessel, which sucks it down and forms a serious drag. To overcome this drag and to permit the vessel to ride on an even keel an inventor has recently devised a scheme of introducing air at the stern of the vessel, his idea being that since air is less sluggish or dense than water it will more readily flow into the cavity at the stern of the vessel and thus reduce the drag. With this in view, an experimental model was constructed. The stern was formed with a double wall, the space between the two walls being open to the atmosphere and the outer wall being perforated. This model was operated in a tank, and it was found that there was an actual reduction of the amount of power required to drive it when the air supply was cut off. The accompanying line drawing illustrates a novel form of sheathing which the inventor proposes to apply to the stern of any vessel. The construction of the sheathing is such as to admit the air between it and the hull of the vessel and to feed it out through a large number of square openings with beveled sides so as to relieve the drag of the water.

Platinum and Gold. The recent high prices of platinum have led to extensive searches for this rare metal in the United States. Last year, says David T. Day, most platinum was produced in the neighborhood of Oroville, Cal., where it is found in the ratio of 1 to 500 of gold. But near Surf, in Santa Barbara county, it is found in the ratio of 2 to 1 of gold, and at Cape Blanco, Oregon, a deposit has been found where the ratio of platinum to gold is 5 to 1. On the west coast of Washington platinum is comparatively abundant in the ratio of 1 to 10 and 1 to 15 of gold. At present the useful accumulations in the United States are limited to a mine in southern Wyoming, a group of mines in eastern Nevada and about seven deposits in connection with placer mines on the Pacific slope.

Vacuum Street Sweeper. Arthur Scymanski, an Austrian civil engineer, has invented a street cleaning machine which does not raise any dust. It consists of a motorcar with a revolving brush which not only sweeps up the dust, but throws it into a large funnel, from which it is sucked up and deposited in a metal box. The dust is not left on the street to be collected later or scattered again by the wind. The box can be removed when full and be replaced by an empty one. The wagon is driven by a twenty-eight-horsepower motor and can sweep eleven miles of street an hour.

Automatic Leak Sealer. The French government claims to have secured an invention which will stop leakages in submarines automatically and has ordered all submarines fitted with the device. Minard's Liniment cures Sore Throat.

Electric Beans Are a Natural Remedy for Nerve, Stomach and Liver Disorders.

Once upon a time disease was thought to be due to direct influence of evil spirit and magic was invoked to cast it out. Science has taught us wisdom. The evil spirits still exist. WEDNESDAY, November 8, 1911.

The periodical egg famine is again with us,—the dwellers of this prosperous and fertile agricultural section of the Valley, what an anomaly it seems that the dwellers of the country should go hungry for country produce, while the dwellers of the city may always be sure of obtaining any needed commodity in natural products. They may have to pay a good price for it, but they can get it. Why then should the people who live "close to the soil" have to be deprived of their natural privileges?

Of course one answer to this problem is that the farmers who are engaged in the business of egg-raising are holding their products for higher prices, but this is not all of the truth, for the fact is an egg is already almost a priceless article, and cannot be obtained even for love or money for days at a time in the town market.

The gist of the matter is that farming has not reached that state of development and efficiency that it should.

There should be more farms and better.

The following remarks by the Washington Post contain food for thought:—

"The American farmer has been living on capital for centuries, and even at this advanced period he grows one blade of grass where he should grow ten. That wheat at $1.20 a bushel was grown on land that with the same labor should have yielded three bushels for every one it did yield, and the same is true in even greater degree of every other grain crop.

"Beef cattle command seven cents on the hoof simply because soil, that with intelligent and provident management would produce meat and bread for millions, is allowed to grow limitless crops of noxious or worthless weeds that steal from the farmer his capital, fertility.

"There should be in American farmyards ten hens and ten broods of chickens where one hen and chickens now have to scratch for a precarious living. Where a case of eggs should be sent to market a dozen eggs are sent to feed the despised and ignominious "consumer."

"An artificial condition has been brought about that makes thriftless farming profitable. It will not long prevail. And the farmer will wake up some fine day to realize that his acres are too broad and his tillage too slovenly. Half the seeds planted are defective, and possibly one-fourth of them impotent.

"We want better farmers and better farming."

Obituary.

EDGAR BENT.

The very sudden death of Mr. Edgar Bent, a well-known and prosperous farmer of Paradise took place early Sunday morning, at the home of his son, Mr. Ralph Bent, of heart failure.

Mr. Bent, though in his seventieth year, was still very vigorous and hale in appearance, and was apparently in his usual health when he retired on Saturday night. At an early hour of the morning Mr. Ralph Bent was aroused by his father, who complained of being distressed. The son went down to the kitchen with his father and built up the fire for the purpose of getting him a hot drink. After the fire was built his father said he felt more comfortable and persuaded Ralph to go back to bed. The latter had left his father but a short time when he heard a fall and hastening down stairs found his father lying lifeless upon the kitchen floor.

Mr. Bent has been a life-long resident of Paradise having inherited a part of the old family homestead place, his brother, Fletcher, occupying the other half. The death of his wife occurred about five years ago and a year later he sold his place and during the interval since had spent his time among his children. He had three sons and two daughters living, the sons being Ralph, of Paradise, Harry O., of West Paradise, and Charles of Lynn; two daughters, Mrs. W. R. Longmire, of Bridgetown and Mrs. James Brooks, of Westport.

BARTEAUX-THORNE.

A pretty wedding took place on Oct. 2nd at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Thorne, of Lower Granville, when their daughter, Miss Hilda Leferts, was united in marriage to Mr. Louis Berteaux, of Bridgewater, engineer Halifax and South Western Railway, by Rev. C. W. Welsh. The bride looked charming in blue brocaded silk with white satin and all-over lace, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. The bridal couple stood under an arch of oak bows and pink carnations, and the house was charmingly decorated with beautiful flowers. The wedding march, was beautifully rendered by Mrs. A. H. Riordan. Following the ceremony a dainty repast was served. The evening was pleasantly spent with violin and piano selections. The bride received many beautiful presents. The grooms present to the bride was a cabinet of sterling silver; a rocking chair from Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Le Cain; a silver casket basket from Mrs. Mary Berteaux; a gold spoon from Mrs. Mary Berteaux; a sterling silver tea set from Mrs. Holan; and Mrs. Lohmes and family of Bridgewater, and many beautiful and useful presents. The bride wore a traveling suit of brown broadcloth and brown velvet hat with marabout mount. On the following day Mr. and Mrs. Berteaux left for St. John and Fredericton and other points of interest.

Town Council.

A meeting of the Town Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening, the sixth instant, with Mayor Harlow in the chair and Councillors present as follows:—C. B. Tupper, A. B. McKenzie, S. F. Pratt, W. H. Burns and E. A. Craig.

The following bills were ordered to be paid:—A. D. Brown, registration of five births and six deaths, $2.75; Percy Burns, repairing hose-car, and crusher, $20.95; Bridgetown Electric Light, Heat and Power Co., Ltd., for six months lighting and lamps, $375.50; Labor on streets per pay roll for month of October, Charles Berry, $1.55; William Ruffee, $4.42; William Connell, constables' fees, King vs Greenlun, $2.00, and meals for prisoners, .75; Labor on crusher, W. B. Goodwin, $5.25; Chas Berry .62; Wm. Jones, .75; G. L. Witham, $3.75; Mine Buckler, .75; N. R. Neily, trucking, .50; N. E. Chute, trucking, .50.

Resolved that the Clerk be authorized to pay Perry Simms for digging and filling in ditch Hicks extension at eighty cents per rod according to contract when the work is completed to the satisfaction of the water committee and subject to their measurement.

William Connell, policeman, appeared before the Council and asked to be relieved of night duty on the streets for the present, owing to the extra work he has to do on the streets and at the crusher.

There was full discussion by the members of the Council present as to the prevalence of rowdiness on the streets in the evening and it was the unanimous opinion that the present condition must not exist and that steps be at once taken to prevent the same.

Resolved that Mr. Connell be at present relieved of night duty on the streets as requested by him, but that he be retained to perform the other duties appertaining to his office and under his contract with the Council.

Further resolved that the Police Committee be authorized to at once appoint some suitable person of persons as special constables to preserve order on the streets in the evenings for the present and that the further consideration of this matter be deferred until the next regular monthly meeting of the Council in December.

Minutes read and approved and Council adjourned.

Died From Fall

The remains of John G. Gibbon, who died in Worcester, Mass., on Monday, of fracture of the skull, arrived here on Wednesday last and were forwarded to Roxville, Digby on the following day.

The deceased was in his twenty-first year and met his death in a very peculiar manner. He was employed in Worcester as an attendant at the State Insane Hospital and last Sunday was playfully wrestling with an inmate, Austin L. Stone. By some means Gibbon fell down a dumb waiter shaft, a distance of twenty feet, striking on a concrete floor. Gibbon sustained a fracture of the skull and hemorrhage of the brain, causing his death.

REVOLUTIONISTS CAPTURE SHANG HAI.

Shanghai, Nov. 2.—Except for the foreign concessions Shanghai tonight is entirely in the hands of the revolutionists who captured the city late this afternoon. There was practically no resistance, only a few shots being fired. All the Chinese soldiers have joined the Rebels and the Police and Firemen apparently are sympathizing with them for they are wearing white badges on their arms.

CHINESE MISSIONARIES ESCAPE FIRE.

Hankow, Nov. 4, via Wu Hu.—The members of the Wesleyan Mission, the patients in the Woman's Hospital and the blind boys who are under the care of the Mission, escaped death by a narrow margin in a fire which destroyed a large part of the native city of Hankow yesterday. The inmates of the Mission numbering three hundred spent the night on the lawn. The fire swept down upon the Mission and the flames from the burning buildings came so close that some of the fugitives, who huddled together on the grass, were scorched and almost gave up hope of rescue. They are now all housed in the London Mission.

THE BOUQUET OF WINE.

Bismarck Wanted Champagne Barrels as War Indemnity.

Germany's governmental policy is to encourage the exports of brain, labor, sunshine, air and water. There is nothing in sugar, in alcohol, but carbon, gathered from the air, but hydrogen and oxygen gathered from the rainwater, transformed by the sun into beer plants, grown in fields, tilled and welded by hand, the beet pulp being transformed by other hands and skilled knowledge into sugar and alcohol. Denmark and Holland export butter which takes nothing from the soil. The French import Asiatic silk, weave it at Lyons and export the finished product. They export wine by analysis 57 per cent water, 10 per cent alcohol and 0.04 per cent aroma and bouquet. Water and alcohol take nothing from the soil, but the aroma makes the wine worth from $10 a pound down.

In the peace negotiations between Bismarck and the French in 1871 it was not the money indemnity, it was not the loss of territory, that prolonged negotiations. Bismarck be thought himself to demand 5000 empty old champagne barrels, impregnated with the aroma, the bouquet producing ferment, and this the French refused. They had consented to pay $1,000,000, they broken heartedly gave up Alsace and Lorraine, but the bouquet of their priceless wines Bismarck should not have, and in the end they compromised on five barrels. The French were instinctively governed by superior common sense.—Engineering Magazine.

TALKING PICTURES.

Edison's Kinetophone Capable of Reproducing Opera.

Thomas A. Edison recently gave a demonstration at his laboratory in New Jersey of the "talking moving pictures." It was successful, but he thinks he needs one year more to so improve the mechanism that grand opera can be reproduced.

As finally explained the phenomenon of a moving picture of actors whose movement of lips was reproduced in speech as on a stage was this: There are two instruments, one photographic and one phonographic, one giving the moving lifelike picture and the other accompanying every movement with the words. Both machines were synchronized, "locked" together, like the sending and receiving instruments in close telegraphy. Their connection was instantaneous. The moving picture talked.

The camera was operated fifteen feet from the screen. The recording phonograph is eight feet back of the screen. The difficulty of having the sound and picture correspond was overcome by having the phonograph controlled by an electromagnet operated by the moving picture operator. And at the time he began cranking the films to the speed of sixteen pictures a second the phonograph was opened by the electromagnet.

Economy of Concrete.

At a recent meeting of the Concrete Institute of London, held at the United Service Institution, E. R. Matthews in a paper on "Re-enforced Concrete Chimney Construction" stated that during the past seven years one American firm alone of Chicago has erected nearly a thousand concrete chimneys in America. The advantages were found to be that the cost is one-half as much as a brick shaft, there is a saving in space, there is an economy of materials, the brickwork at the base of a 300 foot shaft measuring about four feet ten inches, while a concrete shaft of the same height would have an outer nine inch wall and an inner five inch, with a four inch space between. A concrete shaft weighs less and has sufficient stability, there having been but one failure recorded due to faulty construction. It can be built in one-half the time required for a brick shaft, and once constructed the concrete shaft requires practically no repairs.

Problems of Light.

A remarkable increase in the efficient distribution of light from an incandescent or other lamp has been exhibited by the holophone reflectors recently introduced in England. Photometric tests have shown that the efficiency is increased from seven to ten times by the reflectors, and the distribution is very much improved. The reflectors are in the form of globes surrounding the light, having a series of prisms in the interior to diffuse the light and another series of horizontal prisms on the exterior to redirect the light. The angles and inclinations of the external prisms are carefully calculated in order to direct the light to the best advantage. The gain in effective illumination is described as surprising.

A Jirikisha With One Wheel.

According to Consul General James T. DuBois of Singapore, a one wheeled jirikisha, on the monocycle principle, is being introduced among the Chinese of the Malay states. It is said to be safe and to have many advantages over the old fashioned vehicle. There is no jarring drag in rounding corners, the wear and tear is reduced to a minimum, the work on the pulleys greatly reduced and a 20 per cent increased speed obtained.

After Perils of the Deep, Lands Only to be Arrested

Sanford's Bark Reaches Portland, Two Men Down With Scurvy, Go Food Aboard—Leader is Taken in Charge on Old Writ.

Portland, Me., Oct. 12—As the climax to months of hardships, during which he and his little band of followers at times suffered from hunger and thirst as their yacht Coronet was buffeted about by sea and wind, the Rev. Frank W. Sanford, leader of the Holy Ghost and Us Society of Shiloh, was brought to this city tonight in the custody of the county authorities.

His arrest was made on a writ in a civil suit brought by Mrs. Florence N. Whitaker, wife of one of the Holy Ghost and Us leaders, who alleges that she was illegally detained on board the Kingdom, formerly one of the Sanford fleet. She was released on habeas corpus proceedings in June, 1911, and since then the authorities have been awaiting the appearance of Sanford within the jurisdiction of the state that they might place him under arrest.

Tonight two men were brought ashore from the Coronet by health authorities and placed in a local hospital, both suffering with scurvy. Seven others, six men and one child, died of the same disease and were buried at sea during the past few months, according to statements made by members of the crew. Many others have had touches of scurvy.

In the vessel's larder there was not a loaf of bread and no fresh meat has passed the lips of the religious seafarers for many days. So exhausted and weakened were the crew and passengers that it is doubtful if they could have kept their craft afloat for many days.

The Coronet had been at sea since June 27th when she sailed from a Haytian port and was last reported on September 27th when she was sighted by the steamer Lapland flying signals which indicated that she was short of provisions. The Lapland sent relief, then proceeded. At that time the Coronet was off Cape Sable.

FREE IF IT FAILS

Your Money Back if You are Not Satisfied With the Medicine We Recommend.

We are so positive that our remedy will permanently relieve constipation, we offer to furnish the medicine at our expense should it fail to produce satisfactory results.

It is worse than useless to attempt to cure constipation with cathartic drugs. Laxatives or cathartics do much harm. They cause a reaction, irritate, and weaken the bowels and tend to make constipation more chronic. Besides, their use becomes a habit that is dangerous.

Constipation is caused by a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestine or descending colon. To expect permanent relief you must therefore tone up and strengthen these organs and restore them to their activity.

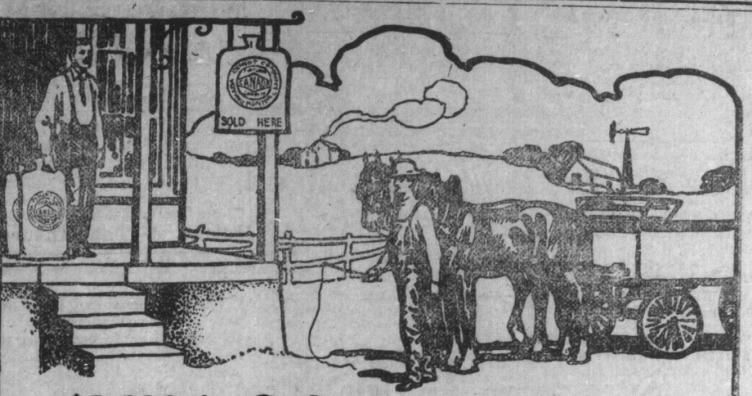

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our recommendation. They are exceedingly pleasant to take, being eaten like candy, and are ideal for children, delicate persons, and old folks, as well as for the robust. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They apparently have a neutral action on other associate organs or glands. They do not purge, cause excessive looseness, nor create any inconvenience whatever. They may be taken at any time day or night. They will positively relieve chronic or habitual constipation, if not of surgical variety, and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments, if taken with regularity for a reasonable length of time. Twelve tablets, 10c.; thirty-six tablets, 25c.; eighty tablets, 50c. Sold in Bridgetown only at our store—The Rexall Store, Royal Pharmacy, W.A. Warren.

ANOTHER SANDFORDITE DIES.

The eighth death among Rev. Frank W. Sanford's followers on the cruise from southern waters, occurred at Portland, Me., yesterday, when John Bolster, one of the two men taken from the Sanford yacht Coronet, Saturday morning, to the marine hospital, by orders of the quarantine officials, passed away. Bolster's death was due to scurvy and it is alleged, lack of food on board the Coronet. Bolster had been connected with "Sandfordism" for fourteen years, serving eleven years of the time as a missionary for the Holy Ghost and Us Society in Palestine and Egypt. Before his death he said his usual weight was one hundred and sixty-five pounds. At the hospital he weighed just eighty-four pounds. He was forty-two years old.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets do not sicken or gripe, and may be taken with perfect safety by the most delicate woman or the youngest child. The old and feeble will also find them a most suitable remedy for aiding and strengthening their weakened digestion and for regulating the bowels. For sale by all dealers.

Judging by the prices paid for horses at a big sale in Toronto last Wednesday, the advent of the automobile has not depreciated the value of good animals. The quality of the horses offered brought buyers from all parts of Canada and the United States. Several of the animals sold for one thousand dollars, and a goodly number came very near that figure. It would seem as if good horses can always be sold at a good price, in spite of the advent of the horseless carriage.

$3,600 in Cash Prizes for Farmers

WHEN you enter the Canada Cement Prize Contest, your dealer will assist you. Consult him in reference to conditions of the contest. Refer all questions of doubt to him to decide. Confer with him when his experience and advice and his knowledge of our plan would seem helpful.

Don't hesitate about doing this. We have requested him to assist to the best of his ability any farmer in his locality competing in this contest—whether it's a matter involving the application of cement, or how to go about winning one of the prizes offered in this contest. Do you realize that you have as good a chance as the next man to win one of these prizes? There are four for each Province, as follows:

PRIZE "A"—$100.00 to be given to the farmer in each Province who will use during 1911, the greatest number of bags of "CANADA" Cement.

PRIZE "B"—$100.00 to be given to the farmer in each Province who in 1911 uses "CANADA" Cement on his farm for the greatest number of purposes.

PRIZE "C"—$100.00 to be given to the farmer in each Province who furnishes us with photograph showing the best of any particular kind of work done on his farm during 1911 with "CANADA" Cement.

PRIZE "D"—$100.00 to be given to the farmer in each Province who submits the best and most complete description of how any particular piece of work shown by accompanying photograph, was done.

Contest will close on November 15th, 1911, and as soon as possible thereafter, prizes will be awarded.

Be sure and get a copy of our Contest Circular, telling all about the contest. Ask your dealer for one or use the attached coupon, if you find it more convenient.

In writing us, mention whether you have received your copy of "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete," a profusely-illustrated 160-page book, which tells you how to build with concrete, so that you can do much of the work yourself. It's a mighty handy and useful book and should save you many a dollar. Farmers who have received it, say it is splendid. Write tonight and it will go back to you with Prize Contest Circular and Book.

Sweeping Verdict in Wreck on Intercolonial

Sackville, N.B., Oct. 31—After being out an hour and a quarter tonight the Jury to inquire into the death of Frank C. Melanson, who was killed in the railway accident here on Monday morning brought in the following verdict:

"Your Jury empaneled to enquire into the death of Frank C. Melanson, of Moncton return the following finding—

CAUSE OF ACCIDENT.

"We find that the deceased, Melanson, was killed at a point on the Intercolonial Railway near the Western semaphore at Sackville station at about half-past one o'clock, a.m., October 30th, by a special freight train in charge of Conductor Melanson, running into and colliding with the van of a special train in charge of Conductor Trueman, in which the said van the deceased Melanson, an employee of the railway was riding. That the immediate cause of such collision and the resulting death of said Melanson was the rate of speed at which the said special in charge of Conductor Melanson and Driver Price was following behind the said special in charge of Conductor Trueman.

CONDEMNNS SYSTEM.

"We recommend that the railway authorities institute a strict enquiry into the matter. We most strongly condemn the practice of operating trains between Dorchester and Sackville by the present signal system, which by reason of the numerous heavy grades and sharp curves is extremely hazardous and wholly unnecessary.

"We believe that the former system recently discarded of written clearances to be the proper method of operating between the said points with safety to the public and employees. We recommend therefore that the telegraph office at Gvans siding be re-opened at once, and that day and night operators be again installed at that point. We feel that the principle of closing Evans Station, and other stations of minor importance for the saving of wages of operators is not consistent with public safety of life and property.

Fish Hold up Steamer

Captain of the Durango, at Halifax, Reports Remarkable Experience on Voyage Across Atlantic.

Halifax, Oct. 31—Captain Chambers of the Furness liner Durango, in port from London, reports a remarkable experience on the voyage. While in mid-ocean the big liner came to a full stop. The circulation pumps failed to work and the engineers had to get busy to ascertain the reason for failure of the pumps to act. The in-take of the circulation feed pump was examined and it was found to be filled with a mass of fish pulp.

Captain Chambers secured several of the fish which blocked the passage. They were long and narrow. Their name is unknown to him. It appears that the vessel had passed through a shoal of these fish and that as many as could be crowded into the passage had been drawn into it by suction of the pumps.

When the passage was cleared the Durango was able to proceed at her usual speed.

There is little danger from a cold or from an attack of the grip except when followed by pneumonia, and this never happens when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. This remedy has won its great reputation and extensive sale by its remarkable cures of colds and grip and can be relied upon with implicit confidence. For sale by all dealers.

INTENSIVE FARMING.

Secretary Wilson of the United States department of agriculture believes that the average farm can be made to produce fifty per cent. more than it does now. It merely means more labor, more fertilizer, better selection of feed, more careful cultivation and a more scientific rotation of crops.

Discussing this question in Lippincott's for October, Mr. Joseph M. Rogers refers to the decreased yield per acre, and points out that the most productive farms in the world are the small ones of Belgium, Denmark and Holland, where agriculture is most intensive. There is, however, he points out, no present desire on the part of the American farmer to spend more labor or money on the soil, since the yield he has is so very profitable. The pinch is not felt by him, but by the dweller in the city, to whom the increased cost of living is fast becoming a tragedy. The problem, therefore, is to get more people interested in farming, and to increase the number of small farms under intensive cultivation.

Prison for Twenty-four Years for White Slavery

New York, Oct. 28—Judge Warren W. Foster in the court of general sessions yesterday sentenced Philip Solow, who was convicted recently on a charge of violating Section 2460 of the penal law, to serve not less than twenty-four years and not more than thirty-four years at hard labor in the state prison.

Solow was convicted on the complaint of Miss Elvies Wendt, seventeen years old, who said that she had been taken from her home in Pittsburgh, and had been forced into a life of "white slavery." Solow, who is twenty-one years old, faints as he was being taken back to the Tombs.

In imposing sentence Judge Foster said:

"Solow, I do not care to perpetrate a pun, but I want to observe that your name is appropriate to so vile a creature as you. There is nothing in your case that demands mercy for you and I am going to give you the limit allowed by law. I will fine you five thousand dollars, which means that, as you are without financial means, you will be required to work out the fine at the rate of one dollar for each day. This will occupy you for fourteen years. In addition I sentence you to serve not less than ten years and not more than twenty years in Sing Sing. The State of New York intends to stamp out the white slave traffic."

Miss Wendt was taken in charge by Father Lynch, of the Catholic Probation League.

THE ONION CURE.

"Do my kiddies smell like little onion patches?" asked one young matron of another, and on being told in a very positive manner she said, "Well, then, I'll show them away, but I'll tell you why they are thus perfumed, and you can profit by the knowledge if you are so minded."

"Three years ago my youngsters were the average town-bred children, nervous, wakeful at night and on the go the livelong day. The county did not help them, and when we went back to town they grew so much worse that I finally called in a child specialist, who asked all sorts of profound questions, arranged their lessons and play with a view to their improvement and prescribed various tonics. That spring he said: "Go to the mountains, and we did, but it didn't agree for the sea, so soon after they longed for the sea, so soon after we changed to a quaint little seaside village. There they were happy, but were a sad contrast to the native children, who had the most wonderful health and vitality and seemed not to have a nerve in their bodies. But here one day we found a remedy for our ills quite by accident. We went for a picnic in the motor, which promptly broke down and forced us to find shelter from the sun in the nearest farmhouse. Nine children came and gazed at us and then fled, but not before I noticed how well and sturdy they looked. I asked who their doctor was. "Doctor nothing," was the mother's answer. "One of my young ones was puny like yours; and I just gave him all the onions he wanted with dry crusts of bread between meals."

"From that day I started an onion diet in my family, not quite as it was prescribed, but the children have since once a day anyway, and I give them lots of buttermilk besides. I eat them myself, too, but not when company is coming, although I do not see why a natural odor like that should be so cried down and out of society when the stale, unhealthy one of cock-tails is considered permissible. When I am apprehensive of a restless night I take a glass of very hot milk just before I go to bed and an hour before that a little salad of onions grated on crisp lettuce, with French dressing, in which is chopped hard boiled egg. You have no idea how delicious this tastes with very thin bread and butter. I do not care who is here when I feel I must order this repeat, and I have made many converts and cures by telling both these tales of onion power that I am telling you."

IRISH LACE FLOWER MOTIFS.

Even a comparative novice can easily learn to make the little single detached roses which are used so much both in 'ol-over' Irish laces and motifs in collars and jabot edges. They need not have the many layers of petals unless the worker so chooses, but the addition of these is not at all difficult, and certainly adds to the effect. For these little roses, either single or double, a very effective and novel use is seen in the newest mode of trimming undersleeves and gimpes or chemisettes of net or chiffon. They are made singly and set on around the lower sleeve edges and around the neck, in either single or double rows, just touching each other. The woman who is good at little original touches will find many uses for the same flowerets, made of rather coarse Irish lace rather than the ordinary cotton. For trimming all sorts of neckwear they are beyond price. So the art of making them is well worth acquiring. By the way, many directions for making jabots, handkerchiefs and other articles for personal and household use tell one to crochet the little Irish edges directly into the linen hem. As the durability of such a lace is often far greater than that of the fabric to which it is attached, a far better plan is to crochet the edging on one of the tiny lace braids sold at embroidery counters for making 'needle point' lace or fine Battenberg. These braids are all linen, and can be had in very narrow widths. They add to, rather than take away from, the appearance of the work, and make a heading that can easily be sewed to the article which it is to trim, and is as easily ripped off when the proper time comes. If desired, the braid can be sewed to the linen before the crocheting is begun. This makes it easier to get the corners and turns even. The use of lace braid, moreover, makes it possible to crochet indefinite lengths of those laces usually made with a chain of the desired length for foundation.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

Ornamental Hand Bags Supplant the Leather Variety. The plain sturdy handbag is entirely out of it this fall, as far as fashion is concerned. Most bags are frivolous affairs that look as if they were designed for ornament and not use, but there is really a great deal of room inside of these graceful bags. The long cord handles, which may be hung from the shoulders, are a favorite sort, but for shopping the leather handles are best. Every little while there is a revival of some old fashion gem, and now it is garters. Many forms they take. One may have them in rings, pendants or wear them in brooches. Have you seen the new back coats for winter, made of polo cloth? One tan colored model has a small sailor collar and cuffs of hunter's green, all of the same material. Black, with white collar and cuffs; oxford gray, with purple or scarlet; tan, with white and brown, and navy, with red, are the popular combinations. The blouse pictured is suggestive of the sailor style with its laced opening. College girls like such waists at all seasons of the year, especially for sports.

HINTS ON DRESS.

The Little Things That Count in Woman's Appearance. Just because you wear a silly little bonnet or a huge chiffon veil don't think that you cheat people into believing that you own a motor car. Don't imagine that you look younger because you wear a short skirt; generally speaking, you only succeed in making yourself appear ridiculous. Don't buy a silk or satin raincoat and then use it for general utility purposes if you would be well dressed. A raincoat, as its name signifies, is to be worn in rainy or stormy weather and is entirely out of place on a sunny day or an evening wrap. Don't choose clothes made on very extreme lines unless you can afford to follow every whim of fashion. Remember the well-dressed well bred girl is never conspicuous and her clothes never attract attention. The single-breasted coat with a big collar is the latest and naggiest. This one is an excellent model. The three-quarter bell sleeves are very good style for early fall wear.

FADS AND FANCIES.

Characteristics of the New Side Frills of the Season.

Side frills will be one of the important items in fall neckwear and are made in two effects—those for wear with tailored suits and those of a more dressy character.

Little bonnets of silver yucca with ruffles of fine lace falling over the hair are very dainty and attractive. High stiff collars are numerous despite the popularity of the Dutch or low neck.

A pretty way to do over a last year's jacket is to add a deep square collar of some light material and partly cover this with a collar to match the suit cut

AFTERNOON FROCK.

In three deep points. This is more dressy if the points are finished with tassels and more up to date for all kinds of fringe and tassels are the height of style. Checked materials trimmed with plain goods are to be just as fashionable this winter as they have been during the past summer. The gown illustration shows this combination. The blouse is a very simple affair made in peasant style. The skirt is six gored, with the new slit front width.

WHAT IS WORN.

The Autumn Bridesmaids Are Wearing Lace Caps—Cutting Hats are in vogue. They drop over the hair in soft plaited frills and are trimmed with rows of silk or mousseline flowers. Soft felt hats for the mountains come in all the lovely shades of the present fashion. Some of these felts are so soft and beautiful in texture that they look almost like velvet.

Some of the handsomest costumes are reversing the usual order of putting the light fabric above the heavier one and are making skirts of coarse heavy lace and tunics of satin. The Russian blouse effect is liked for such purposes. All trimmings are put on as flat as possible, unless they are in the shape of ruffles or puffs, and then they are scanty.

The new skirts are to be narrow and straight. All waists are still high, as high in fact as they ever were.

Simple loose coats are the best for tiny tots. Illustrated is a model that may be made either with or without a cape, and it includes sleeves that are comfortably loose though smartly cut.

A Hint to Shippers

F. C. WHITMAN TELLS HOW ORDINARY BOX CARS CAN BE FITTED FOR ZERO WEATHER.

To the Editor of The Chronicle.—

Sir:—I am informed, that apple shipments for the West are "hung up" owing to the inability of the Railways to supply refrigerator cars and that receivers in the West decline to take the risk of the shipments by ordinary box cars.

It is customary in the United States for orange and lemon shipments to go forward in ordinary cars specially fitted up, and go into Michigan when the weather is twenty degrees below zero. A large shipper informed me the fruit carried all right, provided there was no detention and the train-loads of car-loads were kept moving.

Cars were fitted up as follows: 2x 4 slats were placed on the bottom of car, to raise from the floor of car, and in addition to this, a bed of straw or hay covered the bottom of the car. The ends and sides of car (inside) were covered with ordinary house paper. Packages placed so as to admit of a stuffing of straw all round. And, most important, when car doors were closed, these doors and any other opening in the car were covered outside with tarred paper put on with nailed laths, to cover all cracks. I am of the opinion that apples shipped in cars prepared as above, would go west without danger of being frosted, provided the cars did not stop until their destination is reached. If a car is destination in zero weather, no matter how carefully packed, fruit will be in danger in a few hours. For this reason, the railway agrees for a continuous run without stop, and, as a further protection, shippers have the privilege of sending a man on a free pass, whose business is to keep the fruit moving.

It would seem to me that if the Valley shippers want this Western business, a lack of refrigerator cars need not stop the shipments. A little trouble and work by the shipper, in fitting up box cars, and a guarantee from the railway of absolutely no detention after cars are once started, should do the trick.

Golden Wedding Anniversary

The home of Mr. Roger Ray, "Silver Maples," Upper Grenville, was the scene of a function of unusual interest and pleasure on Monday evening of last week, when Mr. and Mrs. Ray celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding day. Extensive preparations had been made for the household and every arrangement so well perfected that the unique occasion passed off most successfully. Relatives and friends from near and far and in goodly numbers assembled at the hospitable residence to vie with each other in extending congratulations and best wishes to the popular bride and groom. The happy couple were assisted in receiving by their daughter, Mrs. H. J. Greenhall, and son, Mr. A. A. Ray. A note-worthy feature of the anniversary was the fact that the bride was gowned in a beautiful dress of "sage-see" silk, in which just fifty years ago she was married, while the white vest worn by the groom on this occasion was the one he wore in the long ago when with firm tread and happy heart he led his handsome young bride to the altar.

The exercises of the anniversary opened with the Wedding March, faultlessly rendered by a little granddaughter, Miss Nellie Carter. After this Rev. B. J. Potter, in a brief address, presented the congratulations of the assembled guests, and with these a purse of gold from the children and grand-children, containing the generous amount of one hundred and forty dollars. Letters of regret were read by Mr. Porter from friends unable to be present, to all of which Mr. Ray responded in a splendid address, which sparkled with gems of reminiscence. Mr. Ray was deeply touched by the love and sympathy expressed to him and his wife by the large gathering, and in well-chosen words spoke of their delight and appreciation. A bouquets dinner was served in the spacious dining room; after which music and social intercourse was enjoyed, until with the singing of "that parting hymn "God be with you," the company dispersed.

In addition to the splendid present of the family of the purse of gold already referred to, gifts were received from the following:— Dr. and Mrs. Jost, Methodist Hymn and Tune Book; Rev. and Mrs. G. F. Johnson, gold coin; Rev. and Mrs. J. Porter, gold coin; Hon. O. T. and Mrs. Daniels, gold coin; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Marshall, gold coin; Mr. and Mrs. W. Robbles, gold coin; Mr. and Mrs. M. Longmire, gold coin; Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Miller, gold berry-spoon; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Hicks, gold meat fork; Mr. O. S. Miller, cut set; Mr. and Mrs. McGilvary, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Walker, gold clock; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Troop, gold coronation spoon; Mr. and Mrs. C. Poole, gold coffee spoon and gold embroidery scissors; Mrs. Phineas Walker, gold sugar shell; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Clark, gold-lined berry dish; Mr. Bamford Ray, Mr. Fred Ray, gold sugar shell; Mr. and Mrs. Fenwick Harris, Mr. and Mrs. James Harris, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Wade, Mrs. Lyle, Mr. Percy Coleman, silver butter dish.

Of the children who had returned home to share the joy of the anniversary festivities the following is a list:— Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ray, of Northboro, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Carter, of West Berlin, Mass.; Mrs. Harry J. Greenhall, of South Royalston, Mass. The children at home are Mrs. L. E. Hills, and Miss Laura G. Ray, of New York and Frank H. Ray, of Alberta, Canada, found it impossible to return for the family reunion.
