PEACE DOVE NOT CLOSE, SAYS HALDANE

Useless to Look for Permanent Cessation of War for Many Years, Tho the Relations Between Britain and Germany Are Constantly Growing Better — Favors Woman Suffrage.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(Can. Press).—Viscount Haldane, the first lord high chancellor of Great Britain to leave his country since Cardinal Wolsey went to France four hundred years ago, arrived here today on the steamship Lusitania for a flying visit of five days in this country and Canada.

The lord high chancellor, whose position in England corresponds to that of chief justice of the supreme court of the United States, is here as a guest of the American Bar Association before whom he will deliver an address at the annual meeting of the association in Montreal next Monday. Tonight he was entertained at a dinner given in behalf of the association by C. A. Severance of St. Paul. His itinerary includes visits to West Point and Albany.

Previously warned that he might expect to be interviewed by American newspaper men on his arrival in New York, the chancellor smilingly greeted a delegation of them who boarded the Lusitania at quarantine and submitted to another interview when he reached the hotel where he is making his headquarters in this city.

Discussed Many Issues.

Lord Haldane freely discussed many questions of the day, declared that he was in favor of woman suffrage, prophesied that a millennium of peace was far off, said that the relations between Germany and England were never more cordial, praised the intellectual growth of the United States and predicted that Home Rule for Ireland would soon be an accomplished fact. With a merry twinkle in his blue eyes the lord high chancellor joked and quipped with his interviewers between serious remarks and conceded that the American custom of interviewing distinguished visitors was "delightfully progressive."

"It would be a very sanguine person," he said, when asked his opinion

FIRST REFUGEES LEAVE MEXICO

Trainload of Americans Crossed Mexican Border Under White Flags, Bound for Safety.

(Special to The Toronto World.)

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 29. — With white flags posted in conspicuous places along the coaches, the first trainload of American refugees to reach the border since President Wilson's warning for them to leave Mexico, arrived here today. There were 55 Americans, many prominent Mexican families of Chihuahua, and a carload of 75 Chinese on the special train. Border points west of El Paso report refugees are crossing the border daily, coming out of Mexico overland, and making their way here. The majority of the men, women and children in the party today were from Madera, Chihuahua, from the colony of the Pearson Lumber Company, and others were from the mining camps in the same district.

They reported that preparations were being made by Americans in every camp to leave Mexico as soon as they can secure transportation. Those needing assistance will be given aid by American Consul T. D. Edwards, stationed at Juarez. The Chinese were detained at the immigration station, where they will be cared for by the government. The refugees reported the annihilation of a federal command of 1200 by rebels under Villa and Ortega at San Andres, west of Chihuahua, on Aug. 26. All but General Felix Terrazas and thirty of his federals were reported slaughtered, and seven trains seized by the rebels.

CANADA MUST FLATLY REJECT LONG SAULT POWER SCHEME ASSERTS CONSERVATION BOARD

Rights of Ownership and Jurisdiction Must Not Be Impaired by Granting Charter Sought by U. S. Capitalists — Misrepresentation on Part of Corporation Alleged.

OTTAWA, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—"The plain duty of Canada is to maintain her rights of ownership and jurisdiction absolutely unimpaired and untrammeled."

In these specific terms the commission of conservation sets the seal of its disapproval upon the proposal to authorize a private corporation to dam the River St. Lawrence at the Long Sault Rapids for power development purposes. The report of the commission upon the Long Sault power proposition, just issued, is a complete review of a question which has figured largely in the Canadian Parliament and in the legislature of the State of New York, as well as in congress at Washington, owing to the efforts of the Long Sault Development Company, an American enterprise, to obtain a franchise for power development at that point.

It is a question which the commission regards as one "of vast importance to the people of Canada," and the report treats of it accordingly.

Canada's Consent Needed.

The Development Company, it is pointed out, owes its origin to an act of the New York State Legislature, passed in 1907, authorizing it to construct dams and other works at Long Sault Island for the development of electrical energy and the "improvement of navigation," but not across the international boundary "unless consented to by the Dominion of Canada."

This charter was asserted subsequently in the interest of the people of the state, and in May last a bill was signed by Governor Sulzer, repealing the charter on the ground of unconstitutionality.

Vigorous Preparations.

Meantime the company has spent a large sum in purchasing property and making other preparations for development, and in the endeavor to keep its charter alive paid into the state, under its terms, $35,000 in two yearly instalments. In January last, the company tendered another payment of $25,000, which the state refused, and a suit is now pending over the matter. There is also a bill before congress, designed to give the company federal rights over the water on the United States side, where the main channel of the St. Lawrence runs. There are provisions in the bill relating to the export of surplus power to the Canadian side; but as the report of the commission points out, the conditions of developments proposed are such as disregard Canadian interests altogether.

Mythical Meetings.

In Canada the Development Company carried on for some years a very active propaganda with a view to creating an impression favorable to the granting of a charter by the Dominion Parliament. It has gone to the length of imposing upon certain newspapers reports of meetings of which no record can be found by the commission. At one of these alleged gatherings the chief engineer of the company is reported to have given assurance that Canada would be entitled to one-half the power developed, while the allurement was held out that the Long Sault would give ample power to every town in eastern Ontario. The report points out that the scheme can be carried out, if the company's plans are successful, so as to develop power on a large scale on the south channel, where works would be beyond Canadian control.

It is also emphasized that sooner or later a scheme of deepening and improving the St. Lawrence will be devised, and that rights vested in any private corporation at Long Sault might prove an insuperable barrier to the carrying out of the engineering plans.

BLOODY BATTLE WITH GYPSIES

Lunel, Town in France, Scene of Desperate Encounter—Gendarme Killed and Gypsies Wounded.

MONTPELIER, France, Aug. 29.—(Can. Press.)—A band of 150 gypsies today attacked the inhabitants of the Town of Lunel with guns and revolvers. Gendarmes engaged the gypsies and a pitched battle ensued, in which one gendarme was killed and three were badly wounded.

The fighting of the gypsies was so fierce that they even held out against a company of soldiers for a time. When they fled they left a large number of wounded behind them.

The attack had its origin in a difference of opinion between the gypsies and the townspeople in Lunel.

Tax Payments

"Largest payment in the history of the city," is the report of Deputy Treasurer Patterson to Mayor Hocken upon the collection of this year's taxes to date. Close upon $5,000,000 has been received. Increase of payments to date over this time last year is $634,636.

There was $3,148,452 paid at the city hall and $1,781,668 was paid in at the 156 branch banks.

FIREBUG GETS BUSY AGAIN

Starts Fire in Stable on Euclid Avenue and Then Applies Torch to Harbord Street Premises.

The incendiary fires that have been keeping the fire brigade and the police on the qui vive for the past five weeks cannot be the work of one man, according to the opinion of officials of both departments, who have been investigating the ravages that have been committed during that period.

Last night a new scene of operations was chosen by the incendiaries and the firemen in the western end of the city were kept busy for some hours. The stable occupied by Mr. James C. Keenan of 38 Madison avenue on Euclid avenue was the first object of attack, but the firemen managed to get the fire under control with a loss of not more than $20. Before the firemen had returned from this fire an alarm was rung in from Harbord street, where a fire was discovered in the store of James Compton, clothes presser, at No. 160. The cause here was also incendiary and the loss amounted to $10 to the building and $20 to the contents. A few minutes later an alarm came in from 173 Brunswick avenue. The stable in the rear of this house was set fire to by an incendiary and damage amounting to $90 was done.

POLICE SCANDAL GROWS SERIOUS

Four Thousand Members of Paris Force Ask That Suspected Blackmailing Detectives Be Dismissed.

Special Cable to The World. Copyrighted by The Toronto World and N. Y. World.

PARIS, Aug. 29.—The police scandal, due to revelations of blackmailing by plainclothesmen on duty in the Latin quarter, is assuming serious proportions.

On Wednesday 2000 policemen of the uniformed force held a mass meeting to urge the expulsion of suspected detectives from the force.

Prefect Sennion promptly issued a statement in which he practically stigmatized the meeting as organized insubordination, which, he said, he would not tolerate.

In spite of his stern words 1800 other policemen, who had been on day duty, met in the evening and urged the same measure.

More than four thousand of the police, or half the entire force, belong to the Policemen's Association, which called the meeting.

The judicial authorities are slowly investigating the Latin quarter blackmail cases.

HELP IS OFFERED TO WESTERN FAIR

President Kent Thanked for Kindness Following Fire in London.

A message of condolence and proffered assistance to the directors of the Western Fair at London, following the destruction of their buildings by fire, brought the enclosed reply to President Kent:

Lord Strathcona at New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(Can. Press.)—Lord Strathcona, Canadian high commissioner, arrived here today from Europe, accompanied by Lady Strathcona. He is on his way to Montreal, where he will attend the annual meeting and banquet of the American Bar Association at the invitation of the association. With Lord and Lady Strathcona was Dr. William Peterson, vice-chancellor of McGill University, Montreal.

While declining to make a prophecy regarding the outcome of the English women's fight for the ballot, Lord Strathcona said he was opposed to militant methods.

WILSON HOPEFUL THAT DANGER IS PASSING

President Leaves Washington in Belief That Peace in Mexico is in Near Prospect, Tho No Definite Action on Either Side Has Been Taken.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(Can. Press.)—President Wilson left Washington late to-day for his summer capital at Cornish, N.H., still hopeful of a favorable culmination of the negotiations undertaken by this country to bring about peace in Mexico.

Altho no affirmative action on either side had been reported up to the time of the president's departure, encouraging despatches were received from Nelson O'Shaughnessy, in charge of the American embassy at Mexico City, bearing on the general situation. These reached the president a few hours before train time, and led him to determine upon a short rest over Labor Day.

Nothing in the advices from Mexico City gave the administration officials cause for particular anxiety, and it was thought that a lull in the diplomatic exchanges would be beneficial to all concerned.

Pave Way to Negotiations.

The president, it is known, feels that good may come from the position of this government, as announced in his message of Thursday. Excitement subsiding over the exchange of proposals and replies would, it was believed, lead to further negotiations between the officials of Mexico City

Carmody Appeals to Ottawa

OTTAWA, Aug. 29. — (Can. Press) — Attorney-General Carmody of New York has petitioned the Canadian Government for the return of Harry K. Thaw to the authorities at Matteawan. Mr. Carmody cites the deportation of a dozen or more insane persons from Canada under the Immigration Act, as to which no question has been raised. These, he considers, should be taken as a precedent in the return of Thaw to the New York State authorities.

PEACE APOSTLES SEE WAR'S END

Unveiling of Memorial Bust in New Palace Brings Forth Strongly Hopeful Utterances.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 29.—The ceremony of the unveiling today by Andrew Carnegie of a bust of the late Sir William Randal Cremer in the hall of justice of the new peace palace was the occasion for a great demonstration in favor of the peace movement. Sir William Randal Cremer was the originator of the interparliamentary conferences, a winner of the Nobel peace prize, and for 37 years secretary of the International Arbitration League.

The hall was crowded for the ceremony. Among those in attendance were members of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, the International Arbitration League and the Interparliamentary Union. Mr. Carnegie was loudly cheered as he entered the hall and his speech was frequently punctuated with applause.

The Right Hon. Thomas Burt, dean of the British House of Commons, replied to Mr. Carnegie. He said that all things pointed favorably to the realization of Cremer's dream of universal peace, despite the Balkan war.

Lord Weardale, president of the Interparliamentary Union, eulogized Mr. Carnegie, who, he said, had provided Cremer with means which enabled him to accomplish so much in behalf of the peace movement.

ALL CASES MUST GO TO GENERAL

Police Commissioners' Orders Are That General Hospital Gets Accident Patients in Future.

The new ruling of the police commissioners came into force yesterday afternoon, and Luther H. Pease, living at 368 Markham street, was the first victim. This man fell down the elevator shaft in the old Standard Exchange building on Scott street from the second floor and sustained a broken skull. The doctor who was called ordered his removal to the nearest hospital as his case was serious, but the orders issued to the ambulance drivers necessitated his removal to the General Hospital, altho the ambulance had to pass within half a block of St. Michael's. The man is in a serious condition, altho he was reported this morning to be resting comfortably. He has a fractured skull.

Under the new ruling of the commissioners all emergency cases to which the police ambulance is summoned have to be taken to the General Hospital altho they may occur within a few steps of one of the other hospitals.

TURKEY TROT IS DISORDERLY

One of the Highest German Courts So Decides by Refusing to Repeal Ruling.

Special Cable to The World. Copyrighted by The Toronto World and N. Y. World.

MUNICH, Aug. 29.—That dancing the turkey trot constitutes disorderly conduct is the decision of one of the highest German courts.

At Tostiz, a small health resort, twenty-six miles from Munich a Berlin merchant and a young woman were arrested for dancing the turkey trot in a public dance hall. The lower court acquitted the prisoners, but the prosecuting attorney appealed to the district court, which found the pair guilty, and sentenced them to pay a fine.

The defendants then appealed to the high court of Bavaria, pointing out that no Bavarian law forbids turkey trotting.

The high court, however, confirmed the ruling of the district court, declaring the question to be not whether the turkey trot is forbidden, but whether the couple were guilty of disorderly conduct.

JAIL SAFE REFUGE FOR THAW UNTIL OCTOBER COURT SITTING NEW YORK STATE IS BAFFLED

Jerome's Best Efforts Have Been Blocked and Truce in Legal War Has Apparently Been Made — Chauffeur Thompson's Lips Sealed as to Matteawan Escape.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Saturday, Aug. 30.—(Can. Press)—It was reported in Sherbrooke early today that Superior Judge Hutchinson, returning from his vacation, has agreed to grant to Canadian lawyers acting for New York State a writ of habeas corpus calling for the production of Harry K. Thaw in court at once.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 29.—Can. Press).—New York state made no step forward today in its fight to return Harry K. Thaw to Matteawan Asylum for the criminal insane. He remains in Sherbrooke jail on a commitment, which will not bring him into court until the king's bench convenes in October, and Wm. Travers Jerome, conferring with Canadian counsel, has as yet been unable to secure the throwing of the bolt that detains him.

Roger Thompson, erstwhile Times Square chauffeur, lounged about the hotel corridors this afternoon, lunched and dined near Jerome, wrote letters to friends, walked the streets unmolested and kept silent as regards the Thaw case. He was released on $500 bail today, on the double charge of having entered Canada "by stealth" and of having aided an undesirable, Thaw, to cross the Dominion border. He will be tried on these charges, barring further postponements, on Wednesday next.

Furnished with counsel by the Thaw family, and provided with spending money, presumably from the same source, Thompson flatly and repeatedly refused to tell what transpired on and after the Sunday morning on which he drove Thaw away from the asylum gate after Stanford White's slayer had whisked past Howard Barnum, the aged gatekeeper.

Chauffeur's Loud Boasting.

"I would not squeal if you gave me the whole Town of Sherbrooke," said Roger. "I believe Thaw is sane, and I wouldn't say one word to hurt his case. I want to see him get away. I won't jump my bail. I can't go back to New York, because they have a warrant out charging me with conspiracy. That worries me a whole lot. My old mother is worried about me, too. But I wrote her today, telling her not to be worried. I am a British subject, and I hope to be at this case, and just now it would be crazy of me to give the details of the trip with Thaw.

"After driving him away from Matteawan, I came with him into Canada because a lawyer told me they couldn't touch me up here. I was the one who hired W. L. Shurtleff at Coaticook to look out for Thaw. Then I came on here to Sherbrooke and they pinched me in the courtroom."

Thaw is Silent.

Thaw issued no statements from his cell today. His lawyers, interested in the arraignment of Thompson, did not go near him. One of his New York counsel, Harry Hirschberg of Newburgh, N.Y., returned home this afternoon. On the same train went District Attorney Conger and Sheriff Hornbeck of Dutchess County. They had waited here since Wednesday last hoping that Thaw would be turned over to the immigration authorities and deported to Vermont.

Jerome and Franklin Kennedy, deputy attorney general of New York, said tonight that their plans and the length of their stay here were indefinite. They conferred all afternoon trying to hit on a means of getting Thaw out of jail, but without success. Mr. Jerome was inclined to be reticent this evening and would only say that, ultimately, New York State would have its famous prisoner again.

Thaw's lawyers, having succeeded in keeping him in jail and thus thwarting his deportation, were resting on their oars tonight and waiting for the other side to move.

All indications presaged a long wait for Jerome unless some one higher up took a hand in the case.

Fishing From the Air

PARIS, Aug. 29.—The Aviator Levasseur is amusing himself at Deauville's waterplane meet by fishing from his flying machine during the immobility tests. Levasseur says the late William Latham, who was killed while hunting big game, used his aeroplane for shooting purposes, and he has now extended its sporting uses to fishing. He had some fine catches.

VETERAN SHOT CHIEF WINNER AT OTTAWA

Capt. Thomas Mitchell, He of the Vegetarian Diet, Captures First Prizes in City of Ottawa and Grand Aggregate—Pte. Hawkins Shooting Well.

ROCKLIFFE RIFLE RANGES, Ottawa, Aug. 29.—(Can Press).—Captain Thomas Mitchell of Toronto carried off the honor at the D. C. R. A. today, when he annexed the first prizes in both the City of Ottawa and grand aggregate. The veteran shot had a point lead when he came to the last range, the 900 yards distance in the City of Ottawa, which is included in the grand aggregate. In this range he made his lead sure by putting on a possible in a high wind while the other high ones dropped.

It was a splendid win. Captain Mitchell for thirty years has been one of the best shots in Canada. He is a vegetarian and firmly believes that the fact that he eats no meat gives him the steady eye and nerve necessary to high shooting.

The London Merchant Match was between teams from each province and was carried off by Ontario. Tomorrow morning the final competition of the all important match of the meet, the governor-general's, will take place.

Hawkins Well Up.

A notable feature of the meet is the fine shooting of Pte. Hawkins, this year's King's prize winner. He is well up in the aggregate and has a good chance of being one of the top ones in the governor-general's match.

The City of Ottawa Cup, given by Ottawa to the team of eight men making the highest aggregate in the Ottawa match, was won by the 103rd Regiment of Calgary, with a score of 513. The individual scores: Sergt. Martin 64, Sergt. Pearce 66, Sergt. Jacobs 62, Lieut. Gilker 65, Sergt. Carmichael 65, Pte. R. Downey 59, Pte. Richardson 66, Sergt. Herring 66. Next in order was the 78th Highlanders with a score of 502.

The London Merchants (R.C.), a match for teams of eight men from each province—cup and $80—was won by Ontario with a score of 729. The individual scores: Capt. Smith, 24th, 95; Lieut. E. L. Forster, 3rd F.C.E., 89; Sergt. W. A. Smith, G.G.F.G., 89; Sergt. G. W. Russell, G.G.F.G., 95; Sergt. J. Freeborn, 13th, 89; Pte. Dorking, 91st, 90; Sergt. Riddle, 48th, 90; Pte. Hawkins 48th, 92. Nova Scotia was second with a score of 726, and won $60; British Columbia, third, $50, with a score of 724. Next in order: Manitoba, 710; New Brunswick, 710; Alberta, 702; Saskatchewan, 694, and Quebec, 687.

City of Ottawa Match.

City of Ottawa match. Seven rounds at 800 and 900 yards, one team prize of eight men.

An Irresistible Laugh Provoker.

William Collier produced his new farce, "Who's Who?," which he brings to the Princess Theatre next week, at New Haven, Conn., on Thursday night, and a despatch says that it is "an irresistible laugh provoker"—just the thing for the second Fair week.

Women's Departments and Exhibits for Women

BY MARGARET L. HART

Scene: The arena in the dairy building at the Exhibition grounds. Five girls in spotless white dresses and becoming caps to match. Churns, one for each girl, who by-and-bye becomes the operator. Water steaming hot in boilers, cold water ready to hand, salt, sundry appliances used in the process of churning. Two young men, one to judge, the other to lecture, form the remaining figures in the central picture.

Outside the circle the tiers of seats of the dairy amphitheatre are lined with men, women and children, eager and attentive, ready to be enlightened on the subject of butter making.

This is what The World representative saw in the minutes of waiting.

At a signal the girls in their white uniform seemed galvanized into life. Everyone took possession of a pail, filled it with hot water from the steaming boilers, poured the contents into the churn, to which she gave a few dashes, afterwards scrubbed the wooden vessel with a brush and salt, and lastly drenched it with clean cold water.

This was all preparatory, so was the mopping up of the floors about the churns. Everything spotless and in order before touching the precious lacteal fluid from which the golden product was later to emanate.

What Points Were For.

Meantime large cards, hung from every angle, were read by the waiting audience. These gave the information that a competition was in progress. The competitors were amateurs, girls from average farm homes. Judgment would be given on the following scale: Skill in riping cream, preparation of utensils, straining and coloring cream, granulated butter, washing and salting butter, neatness and cleanliness, exhaustive churning, score of butter and time taken in producing. To neatness, cleanliness and score the greatest number—20 per cent. each—was allotted.

When the appliances were ready a young man described the different processes while the girls worked. Quality, it was stated at the beginning, was much more important than speed; this was always to be borne in mind.

Meantime every girl had taken a long tubular can containing twenty pounds of cream which she had "ripened" the night previous. In more familiar terms she had "soured" it either naturally or thru giving it acidity thru the addition of nitric acid. In this she had used her own judgment as to the amount of "ripening" necessary.

Then it was explained why hot and cold water had been used in preparing churns. Butter sticks if this is not done as described, the cold water prevents the butter reaching an undesirable high temperature.

In pouring out the cream it was passed thru a strainer. This was not to eliminate dirt or dust, which, under proper butter-making conditions, will never be present, but to reduce or keep out any clumps of cream which might have gathered.

Next, every girl put in a certain quantity of salt which she had weighed, replaced the lid on her churn, tied up the screws and set to work "churning." The machine used was one that could be easily manipulated without the operator bending in the least to her task. The pedals went up and down like those of a sewing machine, the gentle plash of the cream could scarcely be heard, and meantime the audience was imbibing further knowledge.

Matter of Taste.

The addition of coloring matter to butter is only a matter of taste; it may be called a fad. When the succulent grass and other summer foods form the fare of the cow, no coloring is necessary.

An important point not known to our grandmothers for the most part is that buttermakers should stop churning when their product has reached the granular condition. This means when it has reached the point when it resembles grains of wheat or corn in size.

To continue to "ball" this, as some do, is fatal to best results. When the granular stage is reached it is time to throw in a little cold water and let the butter drain.

In about 35 or 40 minutes the girls had reached this point. After draining the lever-board was prepared. Hot water, a brush and five pairs of energetic pink arms were in motion, and in a few minutes the boards and long roller attached to a socket in one of the angles, were ready. The butter was taken out on large wooden spoons, placed on the boards and the levers set in motion.

Click-clack, click-clack, back and forward the rollers went with the succulent yellow substance. The salt was being distributed and dissolved, and this was the reason of the pounding to which the mass was being subjected.

The girls by and by covered their butter, still in the making, with a piece of cheesecloth and proceeded to wash their churns. The sooner this is done in every case the better for future results. Besides, the few minutes' rest enables the salt to get into better solution, a very important point. Mottled butter often results from salt in clumps or from imperfect distribution.

After the churns were disposed of the workers again stood before their boards, and with the aid of their thin wooden spoon and a mould, took the butter up in nice firm one-pound pieces. Paper wrappers were on hand, in which the pieces were neatly wrapped, the slight disarrangement of the apparatus used was put right and the ordeal was over.

Non-Salted Butter.

In the matter of salt, the lecturer explained, the City of London, Eng., has a large market for non-salted butter, many, especially the old English, preferring such. There is also a similar market in Toronto. Americans and Canadians, however, as a whole, prefer a touch of the marine condiment.

Housekeepers were reminded that when buying butter they should see that no milk is oozing from it. This is a sign of inferior making.

There still remained one term, somewhat ambiguous to the lay mind, the mind open for the first time into the mysteries of buttermaking. This was "exhaustive churning." "I think it means that high marks will be given to the one who gets tired last," ventured someone near. But the guess, probable as it then appeared, proved to be far away from the mark.

Exhaustive churning means that the operator has allowed the butter-fats to be used up otherwise rather than confine it in the cream. A certain percentage of acidity procured in the process of ripening gives better results as to securing fats. The percentage given was 25 per cent.

Temperature, too, has a good deal to do with the problem of fat. Too high a degree of heat loses fat in the buttermilk.

Going back to the beginning, the lecturer warned his hearers that if they want good butter, cows should get pure food, pure air and pure water. They should be kept in sanitary surroundings. Cleanliness should be the watchword of every dairyman or dairywoman who expects to be prosperous.

Many were disappointed that the successful contestant was not announced. This however could not be done, as the judging is not done until after the butter has stood for several hours. The fairest decisions are made in this way.

The prizes are $25, $15, $10.

The eBlleville Band.

Hundreds of women sat about the 15th Regimental Band of Belleville, while the old familiar airs came from their instruments with the pathos that dims the eyes, or the brightness and sparkle that sets the blood a-tingling and makes one long to dance. The Last Rose of Summer, Annie Laurie, The British Grenadiers and a long list beside. And the way they initiated the bag-pipes and skirled out the "Hieland Fling" was enough to make one fling hands into the air and "at it" in real braw style.

Household Adornment.

Among the things conspicuous at our great national, is the revival of styles and designs prevalent in the 15th and 16th centuries. This is particularly striking in the handsome German rugs exhibited in the process building. Old Persian patterns of that date show groups of animals engaged in an attack, and others scattered about the surface. In others the forked leaves extend out in somewhat grotesque manner until they terminate in cat-like heads on the border. In some there are inscriptions supposed to contain a history of the rug itself, the supposition in a particular instance being that the original was made at command of a great eastern potentate and woven at the Shah's own will. Chinese art is said to have influenced the Persian, evidenced by the birds, and flowers.

The rug, according to the interpretation of its inscription, is represented as being the servant of the great monarch for "the rug under the feet of the sovereign feels greatly honored for the sublime dust of his steps predicts happiness". And again, "it is an object of envy of the Chinese owing to its beauty, for buds and tulips in a thousand colors are united here".

The Syrian rugs too are beautiful in rich glowing colors or sometimes with pale neutral tints. All handwork. It is a pity their prices make them so prohibitive to so many who would appreciate and enjoy their many attractions.

During a flying visit to the children's exhibits in domestic science, The World learned from Miss Hunter, the enthusiastic young teacher, that McCaul street school had won a great many prizes. Nearly all the pupils here are Hebrew children who are reported to be exceptionally bright in singing, needle-work, art and writing. Here we have it again. The east always produced the artistic, and heredity tells every time.

of the influence of the peace palace at The Hague, "who can see the dawn of international peace. It is useless to look ahead toward the permanent cessation of war in the near future. We can only do our best and trust to the progress of opinion. The coming of the millenium of peace must be an evolution, like everything else, but some day we must come to the realization of the fact that we can settle our differences in a better way than by quarreling with each other."

Frowns on Militancy.

Lord Haldane chuckled when the question of woman suffrage was brought up.

"Yes, I am a suffragist," he said, "but I do not approve of the militant suffragettes. You are fortunate to have no militant suffragettes in this country and I sincerely hope the militant idea will not gain a foothold here. The methods of the English suffragettes have delayed equal suffrage for years. At present there is no chance of woman suffrage becoming a government measure, as the cabinet is hopelessly divided on the subject and so are both parties. If a government were to be elected on that issue, then it would be hopelessly divided on every other issue."

The fact that the lord chancellor, when he was secretary of state for war, visited the German emperor at the height of ill-feeling between Germany and England over the armament question, was made the basis for a question as to his opinion of the present relations between Germany and England.

Friendly With England.

"Our relations are constantly growing better," he said, "especially since the adjustment of the Balkan situation, in fact there was a good deal better feeling displayed between the two great groups of European powers as the result of the Balkan situation in which they have worked together. The results augur a much better feeling in the future."

Speaking of home rule for Ireland he said: "Home rule was never nearer adoption than it is today, and I believe it will soon be an accomplished fact. Of course the religious question in Ulster is difficult, but you can't keep the hands of the clock from advancing."

The chancellor refused to discuss the Mexican situation except to say that he was "confident that the United States would deal with the question in the broad way in which it had treated other great problems."

English Law Less Technical.

He said that he had made a close study of the constitution of the United States, the decisions of Chief Justice Marshall, and of American court procedure, and had been greatly enlightened on these subjects by Supreme Court Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, a fellow passenger during his voyage.

"I think English law," he said, "has fewer technicalities than the American law. You have more opportunities for appeal than we do in England. We are very sparing in this particular. This is especially true of criminal procedure."

Lord Haldane was accompanied by his sister, Miss Elizabeth Haldane and Sir Kenneth Muir-Mackenzie, clerk of the crown.

The party was met at the pier by a reception committee of the American Bar Association, which included Francis Rawle of Philadelphia, chairman; Jacob M. Dickinson, former secretary of war; Judge Alton B. Parker, Francis Lynde Stetson, and C. A. Severance. They escorted the chancellor on a sightseeing tour of the city.

Recommended on All Sides.

Anyone having in mind the purchase of a piano or a self-player piano, must naturally consider the many years of service that is expected of the instrument. The Gerhard Heintzman self-player piano is the pioneer instrument in Canada and its reputation is most widely established for durability of service, and is recommended on all sides by the thousands of patrons who have purchased this instrument. A demonstration will be gladly given you at the firm's exhibit in the manufacturers' building at the fair grounds, or at their only city address, 41 Queen street west, opposite the city hall.

Genuine Persian Lamb Furs.

The Persian Lamb is literally the "black sheep" of the family. The heavy, deep black color and the close "kinky" curl are natural to the animal, and will not be lost in the true fur under any extreme of wet or cold weather. Although this black wooled animal is named as if it were a native of Persia, the best skins now come from South Russia. The world's market for Persian Lamb skins is in Leipsig, Germany. The market properly belongs to either Russia or Persia, but so many difficulties beset the foreign buyer who seeks a passport to enter either of these countries that the business has come under the control of commission agents in Leipsig. Every year there is held in Leipsig what Canadians would term an auction sale, at which Persian Lamb skins are displayed and offers received from expert buyers representing furriers from all parts of the world where furs are in demand.

New Styles in Persian Lamb Coats

Our Persian Lamb coats are made from skins selected by the senior partner of the Dineen Company, who visits Leipsig each year to buy direct at the annual sale. The styles are various, introducing the loose-fitting back; set-in and kimono effects in sleeves; large, deep collars and cuffs, etc. A visit to our showrooms will not be taken as an intention on your part to make a purchase. We always expect a busy week with visitors during the Exhibition.

NEWSPAPERMEN OF CANADA GUESTS OF THE EXHIBITION

Men Who Assist Materially in the Success of the Fair, Spent the Day Under the Auspices of the Management.

That unique brotherhood in Canadian business life, the Press, took formal possession of the Exhibition yesterday. All week a multitude of editorial eyes, angling from all parts of the Dominion, had focussed in this one centre of common interest. Yesterday they were all with one accord, in the one place, drinking, as it were, in actual observation from this great fountainhead of national inspiration. If there were bias on any problem, it was forgotten; if grievance, it was lost. Everything that savored of particularity was swallowed in a great wave of admiration and appreciation which surged thru the grounds. Scribes were never more distinguished by brotherly attributes than when they gazed together at the great panorama disposing itself beneath their hands.

But they did not come alone. All the family ties, big and little, were there, trudging bravely by their sires. Sporting editors with admirable patience carried little "sporting extras" in their arms up and down the midway till the little minds were satisfied. Conferences of the sage and deeper sort were relegated to the tasks of every day. It was one of those rare and happy occasions which come to the lot of the newspaper man, and which he knows so well how to enjoy.

"They own the grounds," said President Kent, and at his word every gate swung on its hinges. Registration brought a ticket for the best meal obtainable. In the evening the fireworks flared with especial fervor for them as they massed in the centre of the grand stand.

Some hundreds constituted a record attendance at the noon luncheon of the directors, and a jovial time was spent.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell.

A storm of applause greeted the venerable figure of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, rising as the first on the rostrum of speakers. His brief review of the life of a newspaperman in the earlier days of Canadian journalism proved very interesting to his audience, the majority of whom were vitally interested in the life he described. Sir Mackenzie is the oldest man of this calling in the Dominion, and confesses a continuing interest in all public matters.

"I want to have Canada in fact as well as in theory part and parcel of the British Empire. Many of you will live to see it," he declared enthusiastically. The press, with a truly national vision, had done much to forward this movement. Personally, his devotion to that cause would never wane, and he would moreover never forget the honor of this day in being able to address so many of his working associates.

W. J. O'Beirne, vice-president of the Canadian Press Association, sitting on the right hand of President Kent, bespoke the support of all newspaper men to this project. The directors had given them the freedom of the grounds. They would enjoy them in peculiar degree.

Wm. Banks sr., president of the Toronto Press Club, spoke of the hope of having rooms at the disposal of all the press fraternity who came to the Exhibition next year. Movements were now under way to found permanent quarters.

As one leaving the ranks, he spoke a word of eulogy on the part which the newspaper played in national life. Above all, it was clean.

SHOWING VALUES OF GOOD HORSES

Series of Expericental Lessons Being Given at the Exhibition.

TO PRACTICAL FARMERS

A Special Six-Horse Team is Shown as a Standard.

At the Exhibition yesterday a series of experimental lessons for the practical farmer, and designed to show him the value of high-bred cart horses on his farm, was launched by the Union Stock Yard and Transit Company of Chicago. This method of demonstration is claimed to be purely in the nature of missionary work to show the small farmer how to help himself without expense.

Thruout different centres in Canada the work will be carried on, a special six-horse team being exhibited. The promoters speak of their scheme as follows:

Owing to the scarcity and high price of farm labor the farmers of Canada and the United States need larger and better horses to haul heavier machinery, to do more work with fewer men.

Realizing the great importance of this matter to farmers who are raising horses for farm use and market, also how much more valuable and satisfactory to dealers and patrons of the market would be a larger number of the right kind of horses to market, and that a larger and better trade in horses could be built up for both producers and buyers of horses on account of their superior usefulness, soundness and durability in service, the Horse Department of the Union Stock Yard and Transit Company of Chicago has decided to give the farmers of this country a series of special demonstrations of what constitutes the size, style, type and conformation of draught horses most in demand at market and for practical usefulness thruout the country.

They should also demonstrate in most impressive fashion to the people of the country that to secure high-class draughters for the show rings of the country it is not necessary to go to England, Scotland, France or Belgium for them. Any one possessing skill in the purchase of youngsters full of promise in the rough, and indirecting their subsequent development will profit.

The demand for draught horses was never so great as it is today, especially for draught horses of good breeding, i.e., sired by pure-bred stallions, which factor gives improved size, bone, action and quality, and the most profitable type of conformation. The invention of motors has had no effect whatever upon the demand and values for draught horses, which are better in quality and higher in price than ever before.

Toledo Scales.

In these "high-cost-of-living" days the question of scales is of vast importance to the housewife and to the buying public generally. 42 1-2 cents out of every dollar earned by the average family is spent for eatables. Therefore, the exhibit of the Toledo Scale Company in the manufacturers' building, is of special interest. The famous Toledo scales contain no springs and guarantee honest weight. This assurance of a square deal on both sides of the counter establishes that confidence between the merchant and his customer that leads onward to success. This exhibit is well worth seeing.

Silver Fox Exhibit.

The exhibit of silver, black and crossed foxes, shown by John Downham of Strathroy, in a tent south of the poultry building, is attracting considerable attention. Silver fox fur being the finest quality and highest priced fur in the world today, the animals are much sought after for breeding purposes by those who are anxious to start in the line of animal husbandry, which is proving so profitable.

HOLD BABY SHOW IN AMPHITHEATRE

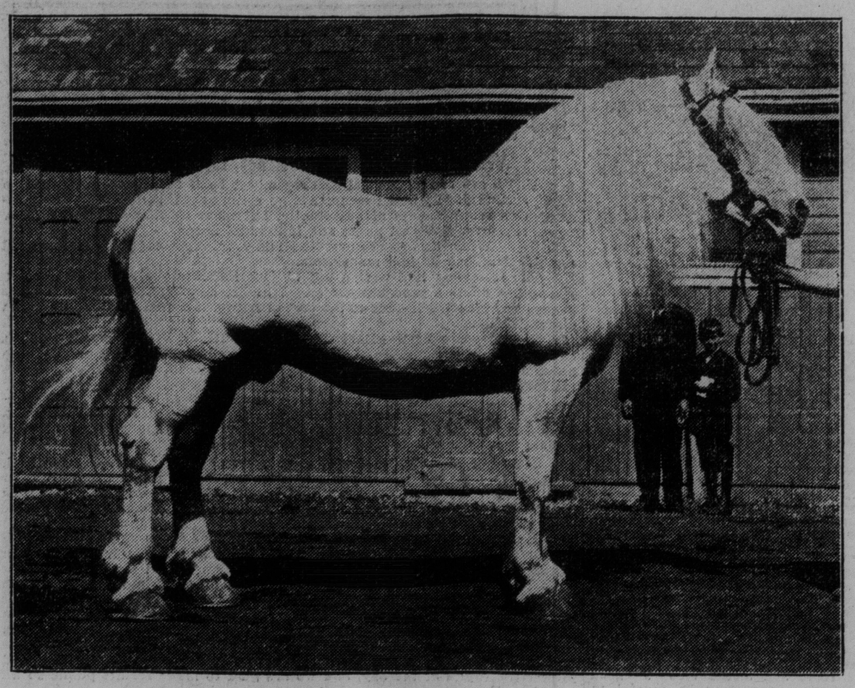

Crowding and Confusion Will Be Done Away With on Monday.

Rarely has the grand stand display shown up in so spectacular a manner as last night, when the gathering clouds and flashes of lightning provided a background that no amount of artificial illumination could produce. There was no slackening in the crowds. Practically every seat was taken, altho many left early in the evening to avoid the possibility of being compelled to go home in the rain.

Patrick Conway's band played between the hours of eight and ten in the main band stand, and will provide a program at that hour each day until the fair is over. This arrangement will do much to take care of the huge daily surplus of people who cannot get on the grand stand, and require some amusement less tiring than walking up and down the Midway.

It has been decided to hold the Labor Day baby show this year in the dairy amphitheatre, instead of judging the youngsters in a tent, as has been the custom in past years.

A VETERAN PRIZE WINNER

PROMINENT EXHIBITORS

Foremost for Corsets.

The display of new models shown by the famous Woolnough Corsetiers in the manufacturers' building, is exciting unbounded interest and excitement among the women folk. The discussions over the pantaloon corset are many, but the idea is certainly approved by the majority. This enterprising house has never displayed such delightful models and they must surely appeal to those who aspire to be "well turned out."

The prevailing tendency of the styles is low and medium-low bust in front, with slightly higher back. There are some charming lace-front models that promise to be extremely popular.

We understand this house has inaugurated a complimentary corset distribution, which is creating widespread interest among the ladies of the community, and you are requested to get particulars at the stand.

Fine Exhibition Number Out Today.

The second edition of "Exhibition Illustrated," which appears today, contains the most superb illustrations and information about the world's greatest annual exposition ever issued in any one publication. Newsdealers and newsboys—on all trains and boats—hotels and newstands. 5c per copy.

A Useful Exhibit.

A useful exhibit is that of the Metal Shingle and Siding Company, Limited, of Preston, with whom are associated the A. B. Ormsby Company, Limited, of Toronto. This exhibit consists of a modern steel barn, one of the many fireproof products of the associated companies. The barn shows many practical and useful features. The old-fashioned, clumsy cross beams and heavy posts are missing. Instead we find steel trusses, light, strong, and arranged so that there is no interior obstruction—the entire capacity of the barn being available. The barn is completely sheathed with galvanized iron, and is proof against fire and all kinds of weather, even dampness. The organization which produces these buildings have got the cost down to the minimum and any farmer can now buy a steel barn complete for less than he could build a wooden one. This exhibit is well worth seeing because it shows a barn that is really useful to the farmer, giving his harvest crops, implements, etc., absolute protection from fire or the severest weather. To get to the exhibit, walk straight thru the arcade in the new live stock building and along the main aisle of the cattle sheds to the end, only a short distance.

See the Free Kinemacolor N. C. R. Pictures.

No visitor should miss this remarkable "exhibit", if such it can be called, consisting of a display of moving pictures in natural colors, accompanied by an interesting address. Here are shown pictures of the National Cash Register's gigantic plant at Dayton, Ohio, beautified by flowers, parks and also by the humane devices employed to improve the working conditions of the employes.

Every minute of the working day a National Cash Register is finished and sent out somewhere in the world to protect a merchant's money against loss and mistake. This remarkable output is only possible thru the spirit of fair play and team work that rules this gigantic organization.

Convenient seats are placed outside the lecture hall, and ice water is given free to those awaiting their turn to hear and see this remarkable N. C. R. "Exhibit". Go just north of the main entrance to the grand stand.

Nordheimer's Artistic Display of Pianos.

Ever since the inception of the Nordheimer business (seventy years ago) the company's one ambition has been to supply their patrons with the finest instruments possible to attain. Besides being manufacturers of the "Nordheimer," which has won the distinction of being known as the "Quality Tone" piano of Canada, they have continuously represented the Steinway Piano, for over half a century the instrument which has the distinction of being recognized by royalty, as well as being acknowledged by all the artists as the world's greatest piano.

In view of the superiority of the instruments both manufactured and represented by the company, it is but natural that their patrons would be found among the most representative citizens of Canada, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, as the company has branches and agencies in every important centre of the Dominion.

The Nordheimer exhibit in the manufacturers' building is characteristic of that dignity and refinement which is only gained thru years of experience. In contrast to the elaborate casework which seems to be the outstanding feature of a number of pianos at the Exhibition, those on view at the Nordheimer booth are made in simple, plain designs, and finished in the satin finish which is thoroly in keeping with the refined "Quality-Tone" of the instruments.

Outside the sound-proof room, and in view of those who pass along the aisle, are two Steinways; a Miniature Grand, a Vertegrand, four Nordheimers, a Drawing-room Grand, an Upright Mission, an Art Design and a Small "Human Touch" player, the latter being specially designed to suit the requirements of the modern drawing-room or apartment; while on the inside there is a representative stock of every style of piano manufactured by the company. Particular mention should be made of the Nordheimer "Human Touch" Player Piano. Those who can find it convenient to see and hear this wonderful Player will be well repaid, for it is no exaggeration to say that the company have brought this instrument to such a stage of perfection that it is impossible to distinguish any difference between the rendition of the Player and the natural fingers on the keys. Truly the special "Human Touch" device used in the Nordheimer is the last word in Player Piano construction.

No one could object to a Nordheimer Player being mechanical, as that objectionable feature found in most players has been completely eliminated. Those in charge of the exhibit are courteous and glad to demonstrate the instrument to all visitors.

Maple Products.

Home candymakers should not fail to visit the exhibit of Maples, Limited, this year. One may make delicious sweets, but Maples can give hints to improve, and show how with their products, tasties will come out of the pan 50 per cent. more dainty and delicious.

"Can-Ice," a candy icing made from pure crystal granulated sugar, and of the same material as the finest delicious cream candies, is one of the lines Maples, Limited, are at present pushing thru the retail trade. Any flavor or color in candy may be produced by the use of this product.

Fast becoming household words in every family are "Lion Brand," "Honey Butter," "Maple Cream" Cheese, "Old Tyme" Maple Syrup" and "Sweet Sixteen" Golden Syrup, all tasty eatables produced by the Maples, Limited, method.

No Exhibition visitor should leave the grounds without first seeing what products of Maples, Limited, can do. One of their neat little pamphlets illustrates the uses and advantages to be obtained by using "Maple" products.

Canadian Government Railways.

The Government Railway exhibit in the federal government building continues to attract many people. The illuminated map is a fine feature, as it is both novel and instructive. The brilliant moosehead design with its shimmering electrical illumination, makes a fascinating spectacle, and incidentally shows the intercolonial emblem to advantage.

The Intercolonial has a very fine display of mounted fish and game, and a fine collection of sepia enlargements, showing some of the famous beauty spots along the line. These show the opportunities that exist in the eastern provinces for sportsmen, and it is worthy of remark that it is now nearing the season for big game hunting. In this connection anyone interested will be able to obtain information regarding guides etc., from the representatives in charge of the exhibit.

Martin-Orme Pianos and Players.

Only four feet three inches in height, but equal in power and quality of tone to the largest instruments, is the small player to which this firm are calling special attention this year. It contains every modern improvement.

A full line of this company's products is on exhibition near the southeast corner of the manufacturers' building, and sure to attract the notice of visitors. 67

Bird's Dining Hall.

When trying to think where you will eat, just turn to Bird's Dining Hall, situated in a convenient spot back of the grand stand, and don't hesitate to go in and try their 35c full course meal. In both their private hall at 50c and the 35c space they will satisfy you as to food and service. To satisfy is their motto. 67

Christie, Brown Biscuits.

Christie, Brown and Company, whose exhibit is to be found in the manufacturers' building this year, does not lose its attractive quality as the first week of the fair draws to a close. This is largely due to the fact that the exhibit is designed to demonstrate the purity and worth of the Christie food products rather than to emphasize any fad of the moment.

Nothing could be more tempting to the housewife with up-to-date ideas, than the sight of fruit cake studded with the most tasty fruits exhibited under glass. Beautiful as are the decorations with which the exhibit abounds, it is the goods which look best to the average Exhibition visitor.

Nasmith's Dining Hall.

A visit to the spacious and attractive dining hall of the Nasmith Company, at the east end of the grand stand, will send the customers away not thinking of the 50c which they paid for the excellent full course meal, but thinking of the splendid food which they were served and the accommodation they received.

The spacious hall will be found especially attractive and the cleanliness of the tables and the neatly attired waitresses for which the company is noted, will at once meet with the visitor's approval. There is also an up-to-date grill room in the extreme west end of the stand. 67

The Chapman Double Ball Bearing Company Limited

This company has a most interesting and practical exhibit in the centre aisle of the machinery hall.

In addition to the line shafting driving the machinery being equipped with the Chapman double ball-bearings, they have testing machines showing the saving in power effected by the use of their ball bearings over the ordinary babbit journals. This should interest the factory manager and superintendent, who are aiming at economy in their plant. They are also exhibiting a full line of ball bearings for line shafting from six-inch jack shaft bearing that will transmit 500 horse-power driven by a spool of thread, which is, indeed, wonderful, to the small power table-bearing for sewing machines.

The exhibit also includes a line of ball-bearing loose pulleys, mule drives, gallows pulley drives for cotton mills, ball-bearing truck wheels and various lines and sizes of ball-bearings, which, as stated, makes a very attractive exhibit.

But the practical or economical side of it is where it shines, and in this connection it may be well to note what a few of the users have to say:

For year Oct. 1, 1910, to Sept. 30, 1911, our coal, duty and freight, was $4,238 24

For year Oct. 1, 1911, to Sept. 30, 1912, our coal, duty and freight, was $3,115 07

This was first year of ball-bearings, showing a saving of $1,123.17, exclusive of lubrication, attention and babbiting. The cost of this equipment was $1,800.—The Guelph Worsted Spinning Co., Limited, Guelph.

We find on the shaft running idle you showed about what you guaranteed, but with full load on, the difference was remarkable, as it showed a saving of 32 per cent. of our entire power under the same conditions, which is considerably above your guarantee.—The Mitchell Woollen Mill Co., Limited, Mitchell.

We had independent experts go over our entire equipment and reported that the friction loss with common hangers was greater than the actual power we used. Briefly, our experience is, that a power plant with common boxes is many, many years behind the times.—The Taylor-Forbes Co., Limited, Guelph.

Independent Tire Company.

A tire which is fast gaining a foothold among the automobile owners of Canada is the Security non-Skid Tire. The manufacturers claim that in the Security they have the only absolutely non-skid tire made. It is Canadian made, for Canadian roads, and is so well constructed that one is assured of covering a great mileage thru their use. They are exhibited in the transportation building by the Independent Tire Company Limited, of Toronto.

Buck's Famous Stoves.

The William Buck Stove Co. of Brantford is making a splendid display of its well-known output of stoves and furnaces at the Exposition. In the display are Happy Thought ranges, Radiant Home hall and parlor heaters, double and single heaters with and without ovens, Leader, Garnet and Reliance warm air furnaces, and many other of the well-known makes. The Toronto representative, Mr. R. Bigby, states that the business this year exceeds that of previous years. The three travelers of the firm are more than pleased with the orders they have received so far this year, which goes to show the popularity of William Buck Stove Company's goods.

Special Exhibit of Mammoth Cattle.

A visit to the fair is not complete without seeing Murray's Big Four Living Monsters, the largest cattle in the world. These big animals are on view in a separate tent, and stand in regal prominence just opposite the new stock sheds, and on the left side of the street, running north from the grand stand.

An admission fee of 10 cents is charged, but is well worth the investment. This charge is made on account of the enormous expense entailed in bringing them to the fair.

The management have announced that $100 in money will be presented to the one who guesses nearest to the correct combined weight of the four mammoths.

Mr. Ashcraft of the Union Stock Yards, and Mr. T. Williamson of The World, have consented to supervise the inspection of the cards deposited in the selection of the winners.

Raggs' Weekly Letter

Toronto, August 29th.

My Dear Toronto-Onters:

If I were a Sherlock Holmes I would try to unravel the mystery of the unsatisfied appetite of the Exhibition visitor.

The gluttony of this species is astonishing, dumfounding—one might almost say "flabbergasting!"

Anxious to have a look at the art exhibit (in the applied arts building, not the Midway), I arrived on the grounds last Wednesday at half-past nine in the morning. The prodigies of quenchless thirst, of ravening greed, were already seated in eager groups about the grounds, demolishing bananas, cold tea and hard-boiled eggs.

I spent an hour with the pictures and by that time—ten-thirty—one could hardly cross the grass without slithering upon a banana peel!

Was it breakfast? Was it luncheon, this carousal of sardine sandwiches and such delectable victuals? If lunch, when, I ask, did they breakfast—in the middle of the night? If breakfast, why not ham and eggs at home?

I thirst for knowledge!

And, speaking of pictures, don't miss F. E. Schoonover's "Castles in the Air." It is a lovely thing. The artist has a trick of suggesting sunlight on the distant hills of grain that carries you far from the "Building of Applied Arts" out into the open country! The child's figure suggests all that the title implies. The picture is an exquisite work of art! It is something to carry away with you—no, I don't mean literally.

The sketch "Asleep," by Beaupre, rather worries me. If you know the mother of the little model, I wish that you would suggest that she have the child's adenoids removed. It is painful at the time, but his general health will be much improved, his sleep easier and more natural.

The etchings of Dorothy Stevens are really beyond criticism. This young Canadian artist is exhibiting a variety of subjects all well handled.

Ivanowski's "Hester Prynne," an exquisite thing in oils, the figure expressing all the simplicity and complexity of womanhood, hangs just to the left of an impersonal Yankee girl by C. Allen Gilbert, the pretty thing whom you so often see on the cover of The Ladies' Home Journal (the girl, not Gilbert.) It was unkind to C. Allen to hang his fascinating maiden by "Hester Prynne." She suffers in comparison.

Of the statuary, don't miss "Hope's Relay Runner," and "Sunrise," both designed and executed by Lessa Cohen. They are both Indian figures and thrillingly vital in expression. "Ragtime," by Eberle, is full of action, and makes one chuckle with the joy of the dance!

A little notice hangs framed by the "Public Institutions" exhibit—"Facts about insanity." Among the facts is that one person in every three hundred and sixty in Ontario is the inmate of an asylum. Another fact—"It is estimated that fifty per cent. of the patients under treatment owe their condition to immoral living, alcoholic and drug indulgence, preventible physical diseases and other avoidable causes."

I wonder if that fifty per cent. includes the victims of their parents' immoralities?

Isn't it strange that such important facts should be in a little 10 x 12 frame tucked carefully around the corner where only accident would bring it to the casual visitor's attention?

At a Tea Party.

"You just ought to see my wedding slippers," said the lady with the eyelet embroidery shirt waist. "Believe it or not, I can't get my toes in 'em now. They're marked twos, but no twos are made as small as that nowadays. Why, my daughter couldn't wear those slippers after she was thirteen—said they pinched her toes! What is the present generation coming to, I wonder! Why, up to the time I was married, I never had a pair of shoes that didn't pinch a little. Girls are so fussy nowadays. In my youth a girl would have suffered tortures rather than admit that she wore anything larger than a three; and if "she cracked a rib, she'd never let the world know that her waist exceeded twenty-two inches!"

"Maybe," suggested the lady with the soft brown hair, "our daughters have outgrown more than our slippers?"

"Maybe," said yours hastily.

RAGGS.

MILD AND BITTER

Mr. Pollock, the landlord of the "Comfortable Gill", sat at his door looking out upon the dusty road and the stretch of meadow beyond, and beyond that again at the line of pollard willows, which marked the stream. He took from his pocket a large white handkerchief, upon which a crop of red spots had broken out very much as tho it had had the measles, and wiped his forehead with it, careless of infection. The morning was hot, and he had just been engaged in severe physical exercise, nothing less than the conveyance, with the help of the brewer's men, of a thirty-six gallon barrel of ale into the cellar. The feat had been safely accomplished, and he had cause for satisfaction. Yet all was not well with him. There was a slight frown upon his forehead and a thoughtful expression in his watery blue eyes as they roved across the meadows to a spot by the stream, where stood the figure of a man clad in Norfolk jacket and knee breeches, and carrying a fishing rod. Mr. Pollock eyed him thoughtfully, and scratched the stuoble on his chin—of which he had two.

"Been here three weeks," he muttered, "and I ain't seen the color of his money yet—Promises—yes! Settle when he goes! But then he ain't a-going—and living on the fat of the land too.

Not overmuch baggage to speak of. Of course he may be a gentleman. Very likely, he is. But then, again, he mayn't be. No. It's no go. I'll have it out with him this very morning."

He stiffened in his determination as he saw the fisherman turn from the stream and come towards him across the meadows. It was evident that the morning's sport had not proved very satisfactory. As he came nearer he revealed himself as a slightly built man with dark hair, narrow black eyes, and a humorous twist about the corners of his mouth. He greeted Mr. Pollock cheerfully, but the landlord, having made up his mind to an unpleasant duty, was not to be put off by blandishments.

"Morning, Mr. Twigg," he said rather abruptly, in response to the fisherman's greetings. "No luck, I suppose? One can't do much when the sky's as bright as it is. There's a small matter I was wanting to speak to you about—that little account of mine."

He coughed and drew his stout form a little more upright. Mr. Twigg's dark eyes rested upon him a moment, and then wandered away to the right to where the little country station stood, neat and trim amongst its flower beds.

"I think I told you," he said, "that I proposed to settle when I left?"

"Exactly," answered Mr. Pollock eagerly, seeing an opening for effective argument. "And what I want to know is when that's going to be, for you see, supposing you was to stay here for ever, then you wouldn't ever settle it. Now, as man to man, would you?"

Mr. Twigg laughed.

"Well, no," he admitted pleasantly. "Since you put it that way, I shouldn't. But you needn't be afraid. Very nice place this—pleasant and quiet, and all that, but not quite the spot for a permanent residence. As a matter of fact, I was thinking of leaving this morning. There's a train in about half an hour, isn't there? And I've sent my trunks up to the station."

"Oh you have, have you?" said Mr. Pollock, with momentary suspicion. "Then you and me can settle up before you go—comfortable and pleasant-like."

"Certainly," answered Mr. Twigg promptly. "I've just got to go upstairs and pack the small hand-bag, and then I'll come down and settle up."

"Very well, sir," said Mr. Pollock, becoming more respectful at the prospect of approaching payment. "You can't say anything fairer than that." He went [illegible] to add up the details of his account, putting on a few dollars for luck. When Mr. Twigg descended, he presented him with the bill. The fisherman put down his hand-bag and thrust his hands into his trouser pockets, as tho to produce the necessary coin. In the midst of the process he paused and looked abstractedly at the landlord.

"You've treated me very well," he said, "and I shall recomfend this place to my friends. And in return I can show you a tip that ought to be useful to a man in your line of business. If you'd like to know it, I can show you how to get two kinds of beer out of one barrel."

"Two kinds of beer out of one barrel?" said Mr. Pollock, staring. "Why, it can't be done."

"Two kinds of beer," repeated Mr. Twigg. "Mild and bitter."

"Well, if you can do that," said Mr. Pollock, scratching his head, "you're a marvel."

"It's perfectly easy when you know how to do it," answered Mr. Twigg nonchalantly. "I'll be glad to show it to you. You've got a barrel of beer in the cellar, I suppose?"

"Just got a new one this morning," answered Mr. Pollock. "Thirty-six gallons."

"Then that's the very thing," answered his guest. "If you've got such a thing as a large auger about the place, I'll show you how to do it now."

In the excitement of watching this curious experiment, Mr. Pollock forgot about the unsettled account. He rummaged in the bar and found an auger of the requisite size. Mr. Twigg inspected it with particular care. Armed with it, and accompanied by his host, he descended to the cellar where the mighty barrel stood upon its trestles. He eyed it carefully, and tugged at his moustache—possibly to hide a smile.

"No use knocking the spigot out," he said. "You need two holes—one for each kind of beer. The mild comes out at one hole, the bitter at the other. You'll find this tip so useful that you'll remember it all your life. So here goes."

He attacked the barrel with the auger, making a hole in the lower part of its face.

"Just stick your thumb in here, whilst I make the other," Mr. Pollock complied, and he went on. "The beer which comes out of that hole will be mild," he explained as he bored, "and the beer which comes out of this one when I've finished it, will be bitter—very bitter," he added inaudibly. "Ah, there, it's done! Just stick your thumb in this one, then I'll show you."

Mr. Pollock hastily inserted his thumb into the second hole, and with both hands fully occupied waited for the miracle.

"And now," said Mr. Twigg, allowing his smile to broaden, "I'll just go along and catch my train. I've five minutes and I can just do it. As I said you've done me well while I've been here; and I think you'll admit that I've done you well in return. Good morning. Mild and bitter, remember out of the same barrel. Don't forget."

He ran lightly up the cellar stairs and vanished into the streak of sunlight beyond them. Mr. Pollock, with both thumbs stuck in the barrel, was busy employing a somewhat slow brain in calculating as to the choice between the loss of his account and the loss of his thirty-six gallons of beer. He had not solved the problem by the time that Mr. Twigg steamed out of the little station on his way to town.

Potting Geraniums for Winter

It is by far the best plan to start new fresh cuttings for house use from your strong bedding plants. There are always plenty of good branches ready for your choosing.

As a rule you will find some ground shoots springing up from the base of many of the large plants. These shoots always have a few young fibres of shoots already struck, making them desirable new slips, if you can find them small enough for your purpose. Often a shoot that looks quite too small to even consider as a fresh plant will be found much larger than thought when taken from the parent plant.

These young shoots should be taken from the old plant not later than the first week in September, if you wish to have well, fair-sized plants to take into the house when the weather points.

Be sure to have a fairly good share of warm yellow sand in your prepared loam. This sand will give warmth to the roots and makes also a good drainage. In potting be careful to place a bit of broken pottery over the drainage hole in the bottom of the pot.

Use 4-in. pots for your first potting. After the new plants have commenced to send out a few strong green leaves, showing unmistakable evidence of the possession of good growing roots the young geraniums may be again potted, using for this second potting larger pots.

Always see to it that the earth is very firm around the roots. Pack it in tightly. Above all other things plants do love to have a good firm hold on their growing ground. This very point is often a cause of failure and the only cause.

Setting the pots in a pail of water once a week for an hour is almost a necessary requirement. This allows the earth to be thoroly soaked thru, not only from the top but from the bottom; the water soaking upwards thru the holes in the bottom of the pot. When this is being attended to spray off the leaves by dipping a coarse whisk in the water and shaking it sharply above the foliage.

Geraniums do not require absolutely a south or east exposure window in order to produce bloom. I have seen abundant bloom on plants that stood for weeks in a north window receiving that as the only light. Avoid draughts. Avoid sudden changes in the temperature of the room.

7918 Child's Under Waist and Drawers, 1, 2 and 4 years.

Underclothing for the very little folk must be shapely if it is to be comfortable, but it requires the utmost simplicity. The drawers are made all in one piece with openings at the sides and are finished with bands that are buttoned to the under waist. The under waist is perfectly plain and smooth. Usually the under waist is made from cambric or slightly heavier material and the drawers of a daintier fabric. The finish of embroidered scallops is a dainty one that involves only a little labor.

For the 2 year size, the drawers will require ¾ yard of material 36 or 44 inches wide and the under waist ½ yard.

The pattern 7918 is cut in sizes for children of 1, 2 and 4 years. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of 15 cents.

What to Have for Breakfast, Dinner and Tea.

MENUS are not so helpful as they might be if they were not taken so seriously. By this I mean that no menu is planned to meet the positive requirements of any family, but must be changed, added to or taken from to suit purse and individual needs.

When this is remembered many valuable suggestions for good combinations can be had from them.

The following half-week's bill of fare includes the fruits that are in season and offers a generous choice. Whether a constant variety of food is needed and whether it adds to the cost of living, is a question that we invite discussion upon.

Sunday—Breakfast—Bacon, fried eggplant, hot Vienna bread, peaches, coffee. Dinner—Roast duck, succotash, stewed tomatoes, baked potatoes, nutmeg melons, tea, biscuit. Supper—Creamed potatoes, cold fowl, cocoa, tea cakes and bread.

Monday—Breakfast—Panned fish, toast, coffee, bananas. Lunch—Graham bread, meat cakes with brown gravy, cornstarch pudding, milk. Tea—Corn-on-cob, meat and potato hash, muffins, honey, tea and fruit dessert.

Saturday—Breakfast—Corn cakes, melon, coffee and rolls, or cereal, rolls, fruit and coffee. Luncheon—Rice omelette, mashed potatoes, or fried apples, tea and Boston brown bread. Dinner—Mutton stew with caper or mint sauce, creamed squash, French potatoes, baked pears, chilled and served with cream.

A good understanding of combination of food helps any woman to set an abundant table. With this she should know how to use left-overs. For instance, in the menu given above for Monday you will see that the meat balls left from luncheon are used with the creamed potatoes left from Sunday supper to make an always appetizing dish—hash. As two-thirds of the families in the land have an income of less than eight hundred a year and live comfortably within it, we must suppose that the remaining third, whose income will run into thousands, are wilfully extravagant. The businesslike ways in which women divide their incomes is one of the most interesting topics of the day, and we are glad to make results public so all may benefit.

Wrinkles Disappear As If By Magic

(From Denver Republican).

"In the removal of wrinkles I have discarded cosmetics entirely," writes Mme. Corsan, the celebrated Parisian beauty expert. "The results they produce are deceptive and never permanent. Massaging is only partially successful and it's too slow a method.

"I've never seen anything work such wonders as a simple, harmless solution any woman can prepare and use at home without the least trouble. A half pint of witch hazel and an ounce of good powdered saxolite are all you'll need. Mix the two and apply this refreshing solution to your face daily. The effect is marvelous—instantaneous. The skin becomes firmer, 'tighter'—every wrinkle and sag is affected. You feel so refreshed after using the wash; you look refreshed, too; soon you will look ten years younger."

THE O'NEILL PLAYGROUND.

The O'Neill Playground, presented to the city by Controller J. O'Neill, is to have on Saturday afternoon from 2.30 to 6 o'clock a fall display of the work done by the girls during the season, and also there will be exhibitions of the different games played by both boys and girls. The boys will show how baseball and playground games should be played, and will also engage in a league quoiting game; at the same time the girls will have contests in tether-tennis, basketball and playground games. Visitors will be welcomed. Music will be given by one of the city bands.

Interesting Exhibit—Attracting Big Crowds.

In the southwest corner of the manufacturers' building, the firm of Gourlay, Winter & Leeming are daily demonstrating to interested crowds, by means of a model, the marvelous human features of the most perfect piano-player in the world, the Gourlay-Angelus.

From the opening of the Exhibition to Friday night this section of an Angelus action, which is operated by electric power, has incidentally made over a quarter of a million strokes on one note (as many as would be struck in two or three years on the ordinary piano) without showing the slightest wear or strain. By a clever arrangement the Diaphragm Pneumatics do not fold or crease, and this secures for the instrument wonderful durability.

It is marvelous how easily a child can render a difficult selection with the skill of an artist. Be sure to see the Gourlay-Angelus when inspecting the Gourlay pianos at the Gourlay, Winter & Leeming exhibit.

F. J. DARCH OF LONDON CHOSEN SUPREME SECRETARY OF I. O. F.

Succeeds Robert Mathison, Who Now is Supreme Treasurer—Supreme Court Sessions Will Conclude Today After Important Meetings.

FRED J. DARCH
The newly elected Supreme Secretary of the I. O. F.

The Supreme Court of the Independent Order of Foresters, which has been meeting all week, will likely complete its session this morning. This session of the supreme body has been the most important that was ever held in the history of the society. The adoption of the I.O.F. bill and the acceptance of plan No. 1 of that bill, which provides for the extinguishing of the actuarial deficiency, now places the Foresters in the position of being the largest fraternal insurance organization that is conducting fraternal insurance on adequate rates. Plan No. 1 was adopted by practically unanimous vote.

While the question of actuarial solvency and financial affairs of the order have occupied the attention of the supreme body for the first two days of this session, the fraternal portion of the work has engrossed the balance of their time. The Orphans' Home, sanitariums, purple cross nurses, and a number of other benevolent features of the society have been under review. During the discussion yesterday many interesting facts were elicited. In one jurisdiction it was reported that some $32,000 had been spent in relief and hospital work (a large portion of this money being entirely voluntary). In another large city it was pointed out that the subordinate courts employed two nurses permanently to care for and nurse sick and disabled members of the order, and in another jurisdiction over eight hundred situations had been procured, for various members. Another report was to the effect that over $8000 had been contributed for the relief of the sufferers from the recent floods in Ohio. These are only a few of the many varied and interesting reports which were made in regard to the fraternal work.

As a result of these reports it is quite likely that in future plans will be devised providing for a more systematic development of this feature of the work that the society is engaged in.

Not for many years has the discussion and the subjects discussed been of such an important character, yet in spite of this the meetings were more friendly than ever. The discussion was spirited, but not acrimonious.

The elections were held yesterday. The only changes in the officers of the society are that Mr. Alex. Stewart, Toronto, takes the position of supreme auditor and Mr. Robert Mathison, the distinguished and able supreme secretary, takes the position of supreme treasurer, and is succeeded by Mr. Darch.

Mr. Frederick J. Darch, who was elected to the position of supreme secretary, comes from London, and is a well-known business man of that city, having been for a number of years senior member of the firm of Darch & Hunter, Seed Company. He has also had quite an extensive municipal career, being a speaker of more than ordinary ability, when yet a young man he entered public life, taking a prominent part in the municipal affairs of his city. His uncompromising integrity and business ability resulted in the people showing their confidence in him by electing him to the board of the water commission in the year 1905. Subsequently by his colleagues he was elected chairman of the commission, and it was during that period that the hydro-electric system in London was launched, and much of the success of that undertaking was due to the careful and able attention he gave the project. He served the city for six years as water commissioner, but owing to the pressure of his personal business affairs he was compelled to decline re-election. Mr. Darch will no doubt make a capable and efficient officer for the society.

The officers who will conduct business for the next four years are: Elliott G. Stevenson, S.C.R. Toronto; Victor Morin, B.A., LL.D., N.P., P.S.C.R., Montreal; J. D. Clark, S.V.C.R., Dayton, Ohio; Frederick J. Darch, S.S., Toronto; Robert Mathison, S.T., Toronto; T. Millman, M.D., M.R.C.S.E., Toronto; W. H. Hunter, B.A., S.C., Toronto; George E. Bailey, Antwerp, N.Y.; Alex. Stewart, Toronto, auditors.

At the conclusion of the afternoon session grand crosses of merit were conferred on the following: George W. Wands, P.H.C.R., Chatham, Ont.; W. D. Pettigrew, Winnipeg; Dr. Gauthier, Montreal; W. J. Sutcliffe, Yorkshire, England.

Edward Botterell, P.S.V.C.R., and J. B. Halkett, P.S.C.R., two of the first members of the executive council and of the first supreme court of the order, were presented with loving cups by the members of the supreme court.

TAPE WORM
A Black Demon

From a little boy four years old, it is like a great Blood Sucker, having the power to draw itself up to one-quarter its length; when drawn up it is about 5 feet long, a dark slate color with dark stripe running the full length of it. This is one of the most loathsome creatures I have from the bowels of a human being, and I have some hundreds of the most gruesome-looking reptiles that have ever been seen. It is in a glass tube in my window on exhibition at 167 Dundas street, where I invite you to call and have a look at it.

Do not put off getting my remedy. Every day a tape worm remains in your system there is danger, as sometimes they tie in knots and cause inflammation of the bowels; besides they multiply and fill the bowels and cause alarming troubles. Just think for a moment of one or more monsters from fifteen to thirty feet in length, crawling about in you. Is it any wonder that you feel languid, weary and tired? Get my famous remedy and be relieved of this loathsome trouble. There is no fasting, no danger, it is easy to take, sure in results. I have tape worms from babies two years old, removed without causing sickness to the infant or any bad after effects.

If you are troubled with tape worms now is your time to be relieved of this loathsome and disgusting creature, which is slowly but surely undermining your constitution and sapping your vitality, laying the foundation for some serious diseases, causing general debility, consumption, epilepsy, heart failure and nervous prostration, madness and insanity. Do not delay, but call at 167 Dundas street and get Prof. Sulvenes's world-famous remedy, or phone Parkdale 4830, or write for information, which is free.

MAKING KITCHEN ATTRACTIVE.

Has it ever occurred to you that for the same amount of money an attractive rather than an unattractive kitchen can be made? This part of the house, where the housemother spends much of her time, receives little consideration along convenient or attractive lines. Why not have it pretty? There are so many ways it can be done, says The Mothers Magazine.

The walls of the kitchen can be painted with a yellow or delft blue; they can be finished in wash paint that is sanitary and requires very little effort to keep clean; the woodwork can be white or it may be a darker shade of yellow, both of which take very little time to keep clean. The shelves may be covered with white enamel, or oilcloth, neatly put on with brass headed nails. If the closet room is limited, the saucepans may hang from brass hooks on the walls, ranging from the smallest to the largest sizes. A series of brass hooks is placed over the sink like those at the sides of the shelves and on these are hung different sizes of enamel spoons, dippers and measures; the dishpan and drainer are kept out of sight in the sink closet.

If the kitchen is finished in blue, which is very effective, a roller of white crash with a broad blue border may be placed on the door leading to the pantry. Dutch curtains of the blue and white crash on brass rods are placed at the windows. The kitchen table, when not in use, also has a blue and white crash cloth. Underneath one of the windows two pine shelves may be placed and painted to match the rest of the room. They hold the cook books, which are covered with removable covers of the blue and white crash.

Window boxes can be fitted for the kitchen windows, one to hold parsley, which is most luxuriant, another to contain sweet alyssum, which blooms late in the spring, and at a third window, a plain board shelf may be placed where a sewing basket, book or magazine may be laid. A large rocking chair, standing at this window, affords a restful place for odd minutes, especially on busy days.

GRATITUDE PROMPTED THIS LETTER

Prominent People Proud to Testify For "Fruit-a-tives."

MR. TIMOTHY McGRATH.

130 Atlantic Ave., Montreal, March 1st, 1912.

"For years, I suffered from Rheumatism, being unable to work for weeks at a time, and spent hundreds of dollars on doctor's medicines, besides receiving treatment at Notre Dame Hospital, where I was informed that I was incurable. I was discouraged, when a friend advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. After using three packages, I felt relieved and continued until I had used five packages, when a complete cure was the result, after years of doctoring failed. I consider 'Fruit-a-tives' a wonderful remedy. You are at liberty to use this testimonial to prove to others the good that 'Fruit-a-tives' has done me."

TIMOTHY McGRATH.

Her Interpretation.

At a certain school, the mistress, feeling well disposed toward her class during a hot afternoon, sent one of her pupils to buy a pound of plums from a fruit vender.

"And be sure, Nellie," she remarked, as she handed a dime to the little girl, "to pinch one or two of the plums before buying any to see if they are ripe."

Presently Nellie returned to the classroom, her face wreathed in smiles, and presented the mistress not only with a large bag of plums, but also with the dime.

For some time she could do nothing but talk incoherently. Then:

"Instead of pinching only one or two as you suggested," she said, laughing, "I waited till the man wasn't looking, and pinched a whole bagful!"

SATURDAY MORNING, AUG. 30, 1913

THE KING'S HEAD SHOULD BE ON EVERY DOLLAR.

The currency, or money of the country is that which passes current as a medium of exchange. We cannot conceive of a civilized country without a currency, and every nation of antiquity coined metals for use as money.

The bank, on the other hand, is quite a modern institution. The word itself is derived from the Italian word for "bench," the money changers occupying a bench in the market place. The money changer grew into the pawn broker, and the pawn broker into our present day banker. Today the bank is defined as "an institution for receiving and lending money."

In Canada the banks to some extent have assumed the governmental function of issuing currency; their notes are not legal tender, but they circulate freely, and as we shall see almost exclusively.

Years ago this was a poor country, with little or no money in circulation, it was perhaps necessary then to permit the banks to issue currency. Today the country is rich enough to issue its own money.

The Dominion Government coins gold, silver and copper, and issues paper money. Nearly all the paper in the shape of Dominion notes issued by the government is in the vaults of the banks, except the one and two dollar bills, which are in general circulation. The Dominion Government issue some five dollar bills, but the banks soon gathered them in and locked them up. The other Dominion notes are of large denominations, as one hundred, five hundred, one thousand and five thousand dollars, and of course are not in general circulation. The banks issue their notes of the denomination of five dollars and multiples thereof, which constitute the money in ordinary use. Thus bank notes serve as the money of the country, and the people are led to look upon the banker not as a money changer, but a money manufacturer.

Because our government allows the banks to issue currency, the Bank Act is in part a currency act. Hence the decennial revision of the Bank Act becomes a mere formality when parliament is not asked at the same time to deal with the currency question. At the last session, Mr. W.F. Maclean, M. P. for South York, urged the appointment of a monetary commission to examine and report upon the currency situation. He favored a national currency, and the tentative scheme he laid before the house is practically the scheme recently presented to the United States Congress by the present administration.

The Bank Act is of little importance one way or another, except in so far as it enables the banks to issue currency. Strike out this currency feature and the mere administrative details of the act could be left to the bankers and the finance department. But our banking legislation is hopelessly entwined with our currency legislation.

Finance Minister White did not seem disposed to discuss the currency question, and some members of the banking and commerce committee did not realize that the currency features of the Bank Act were the vital features. Some of the hand-picked, expert witnesses were stricken as dumb as Zacharias when Mr. Maclean sought to examine them on the currency question, and two or three members of the committee seemed to think that the member for South York should not be allowed to question these great men, including Mr. Forgan of Nova Scotia and Chicago. These members no doubt thought that the currency question had nothing to do with the Bank Act. In this, we submit, they were entirely mistaken.

The king's head is on every coin of Canada, as was the image and superscription of Caesar upon every Roman coin, nineteen centuries ago. The king's head should be upon every piece of paper which circulates in this country as money. Then with a national currency which can be expanded under proper safeguards, to meet the legitimate demands of business, the credit of the nation can be loaned thru the banks to the people. The banker has many honorable functions to perform in this commonwealth without usurping the sovereign functions of the government.

We have now in Canada government currency and bank currency. There should only be the national currency.

WHERE IS SIR LOMER?

If you ask The World how Thaw happened to be arrested as soon as he got into Canada and that a gentleman was there from the United States ready to claim the reward for his arrest, we would make answer that it was part of Thaw's well laid scheme. He was probably advised to get arrested just as quick as he got into the country, and, if this advice was given, it seems to have been of the best kind for Mr. Thaw. But now that he is in a Canadian jail, we do not see how the attorney-general of the Province of Quebec does not find a way to have any warrants under which Thaw is in jail canceled, so that the ordinary Dominion law, which provides for the deportation of undesirables, can be put into immediate operation and have Thaw returned to the United States. The fact that the attorney-general of Quebec had gone on a visit to New York and therefore that the enforcement of law is at a standstill, seems to us an unsatisfactory state of affairs. The attorney-general ought to be on duty all the time, either by himself or his deputy, and the law should never fall down in a matter of this kind; or, to put it another way, it is highly important the attorney-general should return immediately to his office and discharge the high duties that go with his oath. The lord chancellor has left the great seal doing business in England. Sir Lomer Gouin, who is in New York to meet the lord chancellor, should imitate him.

WELCOME.

The lord chancellor is welcome, not only because of the honorable traditions entwined about his high office, but also because he is Lord Haldane, one of the intellectual giants of the world. The chancellor just now is engaged in strengthening the judicial committee of the privy council, and may soon evolve a plan by which a strong supreme court of the empire will hear appeals from all over the world. It is said that a Canadian may be called to sit upon this bench, and some such announcement may be expected within the next few days.

Lord Haldane is to be commended for seeking to strengthen the court which he adorns, and for recommending adequate colonial representation. But we hope that no Canadian appeals will lie to this supreme court of the empire or to any other court sitting outside Canada unless constitutional questions are involved. We are self-satisfied enough to think that twelve Canadian jurymen and sixteen Canadian judges in the course of three or four years can decide whether a man run over by a street car or an automobile is, or is not, entitled to damages. We believe that all private litigation arising in Canada should be decided by Canadian courts. Especially we believe that no appeal should be allowed from the highest provincial court in litigation between municipalities and public utility corporations.

The lord chancellor, we have said, will be heartily welcomed in Canada, as will be the eminent lawyers from the United States, who have invited him to address them.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION.

The Globe, in lieu of any more substantial issue, suggests that the labor men of Ontario should bring to Sir James Whitney's attention their grievance in regard to his failure to bring in a workmen's compensation bill. Everybody but the editorial staff of The Globe is aware, and The Globe news columns have carried the information, that the report of the commission on the question was a preliminary to the introduction of legislation. The question is not one to be hastily dealt with, and the experience of other countries had to be digested and applied to provincial conditions. Sir James Whitney's predecessors did nothing to blaze a trail towards the compensation goal, and it would be absurd to launch out upon such a measure without a thoro consideration of all the principles and interests involved. The wage earners are not worried over the necessary delay as long as they are aware of the inevitable result. Next session of the legislature will witness the production of the measure, and The Globe will no doubt find satisfaction then in telling the wage earners how much better a bill Sir George Ross, or Mr. Graham, or Mr. MacKay, or Mr. Rowell, would have evolved, had those gentlemen been entrusted with power. But the wage earners have not regarded the return of those gentlemen to power as the surest way of getting a compensation act, and no doubt they will wait till Sir James' bill is brought in before they begin to criticize.

AGRICULTURAL CREDITS.

In the absence of Senator Fletcher of Florida, chairman of the United States Commission on Agricultural Co-operation, Mr. Gordon Jones of Denver has presented to the house of governors a preliminary report of the result of its investigation into the systems of rural credit as conducted in fourteen European countries. While frankly recognizing the difference in European conditions, environment and temperament and that modification of these systems is necessary if they are to be adapted to the requirements of United States farmers, the commission was deeply impressed with the vital importance of a thoroly organized and united rural population. In this respect, the report states, the countries of Europe offer a lesson which may not long be disregarded in America without serious consequences.

The commission is satisfied that co-operative effort among the farmers on this side of the Atlantic might well be more generally employed. The facts it has gathered will be of great value in developing methods adapted to western conditions. Senator Fletcher is quoted as saying that it seems quite well established that economic evolution has made organization a necessity to farmers. It should be on the co-operative principle, with a view, first to improving credit facilities; secondly, to increasing their control over the marketing of crops and to strengthen their position as buyers or sellers, and thirdly, to establishing a channel whereby educational propaganda and work for the improvement of country life conditions may be effectively brought to the individual and his co-operation and participation in that work secured.

Germany was found to have the most highly developed system of short time agricultural credits, which Senator Fletcher described as in the form of a pyramid, composed of local co-operative credit societies, central societies operating generally over a province or administrative district and a main central society at Berlin as the apex. Organization along these lines, he is satisfied, has been demonstrated to be of great value to the farmers of European countries and well directed work of that kind ought not to be delayed or meet with difference in the United States. Now that President Wilson has declared that the next task and duty of congress is to attend to the financial needs of the farmers, there is no doubt that the final report of the commission will form the basis of new legislation. The subject, said the president, is "more important to the welfare of the industrial development of the United States; there is no reform in which I myself feel it a greater honor or privilege to take part, because I should feel that it was a service to the whole country of the first magnitude and significance."

Controller Church was quite unjust when he said it would be all the same in the next World. What he meant was that it would be all the same in the next Telegram. We always provide a pleasing variety.

ENGINE RUNS THE CHASSIS.

Probably one of the most interesting features of the Exhibition is located in the transportation building. This is a Russell-Knight chassis running under the power of its own engine, with all wheels turning as it would be under actual road conditions. At any rate this is always the centre of a highly interested group of spectators who are interested in motor cars. It is a feature that has educated the public to quite an extent to appreciate the high quality of work that is necessary to produce a high-grade motor car.

One and all of those who saw have marveled at the remarkable silence and utter lack of vibration that characterizes the running of this motor. One young fellow whose experience with motor cars had probably dated back some months refused to be convinced that the engine was running until he was actually shown that the gas was being exploded and that every part of the car was in operation under actual road conditions. The engine runs steadily and does its work, turning over quietly and proudly with not so much as a tremor. Those who have not had an opportunity of seeing the Knight motor in operation before would do well to visit the Russell exhibit in the transportation building and see for themselves this interesting feature of a most interesting exhibit. 67

The Philosopher of Folly

By Sherwood Hart

A QUESTION.

About a million years ago our forebears roamed o'er hills and vales (at least the wise men tell us so) and swung on branches by their tails. Far back along time's misty tracks our first forefathers dwelt in trees and wore long hair upon their backs like all the other chimpanzees. As each approach of rosy morn aroused them on their lofty perch, dressed much the same as they were born, down to the ground they'd gaily lurch. Thru all the glad and golden day they'd romp about their Monkey Town in rough and tumble sport and play until at eve the sun went down. They did not daily have to shave, these lucky prehistoric coots, from early manhood to the grave, or wear misfitting union suits; of barber shops they had no fears—they never had a miscreant pour into their palpitating ears the jests of all the years before. They never had to toil for food from morn to night to beat the Dutch, but in the dense primeval wood they found a store of nuts and such; they never to a college went or studied at their ABC's—it seems to be most evident they never did such things as these; they never threw assorted fits about the rise and fall of stocks, or sought to fill their greedy mitts with stacks of gold and silver rocks. And when we think upon those days, so free from worry, toil and woe, we wonder whether progress pays as on to higher heights we go.

THEY RIDE JOYOUSLY—AMUSES IMMENSE CROWD.

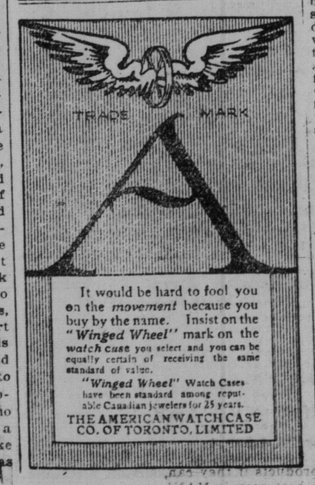

What has come to be almost an institution at the Exhibition and a great favorite in the minds of all the young people is a pair of fashionably dressed young gentlemen who ride continuously on a Home Trainer in the transportation building. This exhibit has attracted possibly more attention than any, for there is always a crowd of interested spectators gathered around the railing. The idea is to show the advantage of the Cushion Frame as applied to the bicycle. It succeeds to an admirable extent.

The Cushion Frame rider goes along serenely happy with a smile on his face, while his brother appears more tired and weary. On children's day it was most interesting to see the little boys and girls gather around this exhibit and look in wonderment at the two riders working for all they are worth. This exhibit is also interesting from various standpoints. In it are contained exhibits of motor and motorcycle accessories, showing the most complete line carried by any house in Canada. Also the skates. The light, speedy, strong automobile skates are there in abundance, and they make a beautiful showing.

This company is advertised as "makers of the world's best bicycles," and little wonder, for their wheels are beautiful to look at. We might even say that they were dainty. There is a dainty little juvenile model, all painted white, that never ceases to attract the little folks that are passing. Many a time the mother and father are told flatly this is the next present they want, and we venture there could be no better present than a bicycle, for it takes the youngsters out in the open air, and gives them freedom and happiness. Up on the walls, so that all may see from all over the buildings, are small signs continually flashing the names of the four bicycles of this company: Perfect, Massey, Cleveland, Brantford. Those who see these name plates seem to carry with them the idea that these are the world's best bicycles. 67

The Simplex Sales Co., Toronto:

Dear Sirs,—About a month ago I had you equip my car with a set of puncture-proof tubes. When the tubes were installed, your Mr. Shaw drove a nail into one of the tires six or seven times to test the self-healing qualities of the tube for some friends of mine, who were present at the time. Since then I am pleased to state that the pressure in the tube has remained the same, and I have no trouble whatever with my tires. I now feel confident that I can go as far as I like and get back without stopping on the road to replace a punctured tube.

Wishing you every success with the new tube, I beg to remain, yours truly,

ARREST TWO WOMEN FOR DANCING TANGO

Asked to Leave Chicago Cafe, They Resumed Dance on Sidewalk.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—(Can. Press.)—Tango dancing caused the arrest of two women on the charge of disorderly conduct at a downtown cafe early today. They were Mrs. E. F. Wirth of this city and her guest, Miss Lucille Lowery of Chattanooga, Tenn.

When arraigned today before Municipal Judge Mahoney they demanded a jury trial, declaring that they had been arrested without cause, as they were leaving the cafe. Policemen said the women were dancing on the sidewalk after they had been rquested to leave the cafe because of their alleged persistence in performing the tango.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—Yesterday passengers on the Dalhousie City sighted a body floating on Lake Ontario, about ten miles from the south shore, which is likely that of Harry Taylor, a victim of the Etobicoke River drowning accident on Aug. 19. WILSON HOPEFUL DANGER IS PASSING and John Lind, the personal representative of this government.

Mr. Lind, it was asserted tonight, had been instructed from Washington to continue to act at his own discretion as to whether he should await developments at Vera Cruz or to return to Mexico City. Up to a late hour no despatches had been received at the state department from Mr. Lind. Secretary Bryan said before leaving for an over-night trip in Pennsylvania that he believed that the envoy would remain in Vera Cruz tonight.

Mr. Bryan conferred with President Wilson over the reply of Senor Gamboa, minister of foreign affairs, to Mr. Lind's second note.

Mexico Backing Down.

The fact that the Mexico City officials in their second note of reply had receded from the demand for an exchange of accredited ambassadors, it was pointed out, left an opening for future moves. The view was expressed that the Bamboa reply to the second American note might actuate Mr. Lind to address a third note to the officials of the Huerta government. Acting at his own discretion, it was suggested that the American representative might forward a message to Mexico City from Vera Cruz before determining upon going to the Mexican capital in person for a renewal of direct negotiations.

PETERBORO CAR IS STRUCK BY TRAIN

PETERBORO, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—Motorman Arthur Armstrong was hurled to the tracks and the vestibule of his car was demolished when the street car was struck by two engines and a box car at the Charlotte street crossing of the G.T.R. tracks this evening. The car was lifted from the tracks but none of the passengers was injured. The gates were not down as a warning for the street cars.

Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

: SUMMER :

Extract from "Canadian Seasons, etc."

BY W. H. TAYLOR.

Luxuriant Summer pours her coins of corn
From Nature's mint in Plenty's brimming horn;
The sun, the soil, the rain, the vital air,
Combine their magic in this climate rare,
To show Perfection in her ripened form
On Model Farms, so broad, so rich and warm.
As we possess in Canada's domain,
Where Farmer-Kings and Queenly women reign.

Our latitude and isothermal line
Both correspond with the historic Rhine.
With Spain, or France, and famous Asia Minor,
Not Persia or Cashmere have summers finer.
The best thermometer is what we grow
In this pen-slandered land of ice and snow,
What country on the globe such honors bear
For quality of apple, peach or pear?

Our vineyards here are running red with wine,
Of flavor and aroma most divine.
We only need the skill and industry
To match fair France in vintage mystery;
The markets of the world proclaim the grade
Of grain which Nature's northern forces made.
Let foreigners attend our fairs and see
The cream and essence of good husbandry;
Let them condemn our products if they can,
And learn that Canada's best crop is MAN!

NO ADDITIONS TO LIST OF VICTIMS

Those Injured in Peterboro Disaster Are Making Good Progress.

TO BE THORO PROBE

Expert Opinion Will Be Brought Before Coroner's Jury Next Week.

PETERBORO, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—Anxiety on the part of relatives and friends of persons at first unaccounted for as a result of the disaster at Turnbull's store has been dispelled by a satisfactory answer to all enquiries and the death and injured list has not been increased.

Tonight Rev. F. J. Sawers, rector of St. Luke's Church, officiated at the first house service for the dead when the home of the late Miss Dolly Sisson was crowded to the doors and many friends had a long wait before they could make their way to the casket. The body will be taken to Cavanville for interment.

All the injured are reported to be resting comfortably. Mrs. Finley of Norwood is not so seriously hurt as at first thought. Her back is not broken.

A Thoro Probe.

A thoro investigation into the collapse is promised by Coroner Greer. Pending the resumption of the inquest on Thursday night next, the ruins will be inspected by a number of architects from other cities, and their evidence bearing on the probable causes leading up to the disaster, will be laid before the jurors.

In the opinion of local builders changes and additions that had been made from time to time since the original structure was erected about 50 years ago had weakened the walls and foundation to such an extent that ultimate collapse was almost inevitable.

The dividing brick wall between the Barrie and Turnbull stores had been torn down on the inside, and steel girders and pillars had been erected. John Belcher was the architect of the alterations, and Alderman William Johnston of Peterboro was the contractor, and their ability has never been questioned.

The theory entertained is that the steel supports and girders had not been placed in exactly the right position, and that the outer wall on the corner buckled. The contractor states that all supposed precautions were taken during the rebuilding.

One Column Weak

The theory is advanced by H. H. Ewsley, manager of the Turnbull Co., that the accident was due to a weakened column in the northwest corner. The column was put in some years ago, and at the time alterations were being made it was pronounced safe. Work was going on at the side of the building, where three holes had been put in to get a foundation for new columns. The front which collapsed had not been touched at all.

"There were no heavy materials or machinery of any kind on the upper floors; everything weighty was on the main storey. The column at the corner, which may have weakened, had running from it two cross-beams, which reinforced heavily what they were intended to support. These were put in some years ago," he added.

Mayor Bradburn says the probable outcome will be the appointment by the city of an expert building inspector.

While the building was owned by the Toronto Loan and Savings Co., it is believed that the loss will probably rave to be borne by the contractors and the Turnbull Co.

Building operations will be hurried, and the Turnbull Co. is now making arrangements to carry on business at other premises.

BRADFORD.

Nelson Ripley of Bradford has disappeared under mysterious circumstances. He was last seen on Aug. 16 and nothing is known in the village as to where he went or why. Ripley was working a farm in the district, which he rented from Frank Ritchie. He also worked for W. H. Finlay Bain, a neighboring farmer, part of the time. Mr. Bain was in the habit of calling at Ripley's place once in a while, and on Sunday morning, Aug. 17, he went over to see him. Ripley was not in his house, however, but everything looked as if he expected to return at any time during the day. It is now practically two weeks since then and he has not been heard of.

BANK DEPOSITORS REASSERT CLAIMS

Counsel for Farmers' Bank Victims Paid Ottawa a Visit Yesterday.

OTTAWA, Aug. 29.—The Farmers' Bank depositors have not dropped their agitation for some form of assistance from the government. W. C. Mickle, K.C., of Belleville, one of the counsel for the depositors, was in Ottawa today with a view to getting some idea of what the government is contemplating. There will be a meeting of the depositors shortly, and Mr. Mickle is anxious to have something definite to lay before them.

It will be recalled that on the day of prorogation the premier made a brief statement in which he promised that a measure of assistance would be extended next session, but he gave no detail. Counsel for the depositors claim that if the contention is conceded at all that the claims should be granted in full. The amount of deposits was around a million dollars.

MEAN THIEF ARRESTED

According to the story told at the detective office by two young girls, Andrew Kearns had persuaded them to part with $45 on the understanding that he was to buy with the money tickets for them to depart from Toronto to scenes that are brightest. They never saw the tickets, and Kearns was arrested by Detective Mitchell last night.

GRIFFIN V. WHITNEY IN THE TENNIS FINAL

Baird Within One Stroke of Winning Semi-Final—Scores at Niagara.

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Aug. 29.—The semi-finals in the Niagara tournament were played today. There were several upsets, as it was generally expected that Johnson of California would work his way into the finals. Contrary to expectations E. H. Whitney, Massachusetts State champion, won from the Los Angeles man in straight sets, 7—5, 6—3. It was a pretty game to watch, and the large galleries were in a constant state of applause, as one fine strike was made only to be eclipsed by the one following.

Griffin of California fought it out with Baird in the other half of the semi-finals, and eventually won out after Baird had practically won. The latter took the first set 6—4, and had a big lead in the second set only to lose it 6—8 to his youthful opponent. In this set Baird was repeatedly within a stroke of set and match,but Griffin on each occasion steadied up in a remarkable manner with the result that what looked like a sure loss was converted into a win.

Mrs. Williams of Philadelphia had little trouble in disposing of Mrs. C. N. Baird in straight sets, 6—3, 6—0, and clearly demonstrated her right to meet the national champion tomorrow. Miss Mary Browne also defeated Miss Edith Roach of Boston in straight sets, 6—4, 6—1, and the match between the latter and Mrs. Williams tomorrow promises to be keenly fought out, and at this stage it is hard to pick the winner, as Mrs. Williams is playing a truly remarkable game.

The semi-finals in the men's doubles brought together R. C. Seaver and E. H. Whitney and R. Baird and T. Y. Sherwell, the Toronto pair. The latter found their opponents too much for them and altho they put up a good fight the outcome of the game from the start was never in doubt, the Americans winning 6—0, 6—2. Griffin and Johnson of California went into the finals by default, and will play Seaver and Whitney tomorrow afternoon. This should prove a most interesting match, Seaver and Whitney reside in Massachusetts State, while Griffin and Johnson reside in San Francisco, thus the east pitted against the west, the outcome of this match is most uncertain and each team has a large following.

The finalists in the mixed doubles are Mrs. Williams and Griffin v. Miss Mary Brown and Johnson, and this is another match which is sure to be fought out to the bitter end. It would be hard to find two more evenly balanced pairs, and no matter which wins a magnificent game is sure to result. This match will also be played in the afternoon. In addition to the above matches the finals in the handicap and consolation events will be played, so that the large gallery can be assured of a full day's tennis of the highest order.

AMATEUR AND PRO. LACROSSE GAMES

Torontos and Irish at Beach—Indians in Montreal—Simon Pures in Semi-Final.

Today's battle at the Beach will be between two champion teams—the Torontos, champions of the Big Four in 1912, and the Irish Canadians, champions of the D. L. A. this year. This is the last time these two teams will meet this year locally, and there is a keen rivalry existing between them. The Blue Shirts are especially sore, because of the lacing they received at the hands of the Nationals last Saturday, and are determined to seek revenge on the Montrealites and consolation at the same time by trimming their town-mates. St. Simons and Maitlands will play for the juvenile championship of the Toronto Lacrosse League at 1.30, before the big game, which will commence at 3.30.

The games for today in the local leagues are as follows:

D. L. A.—Irish Canadians at Toronto, Tecumsehs at Nationals.

The Tecumsehs left for Montreal last night, where they meet the Nationals, and the Indians are expecting to pull out a victory and so overhaul the Frenchmen in the race for second position in the league. No matter which team wins the two local rivals, Torontos and Tecumsehs will meet at the Island on Monday, and will try to get the odd victory on the season's play.

The district committee of the O.A.L.A. met last evening at 22 College street, and the following dates were set for the conclusion of the semi-finals in the different series. In the senior series, the winner of the Almonte-Ottawa group will meet Brampton at Brampton on September 6, and the return game will be played in the group winner's town on September 13.

In the intermediate series Goderich will play at St. Mary's on Labor Day, and the return game will be played in St. Mary's on the following Wednesday. The winner of this series will meet Hanover. Hanover will play away from home on September 9, with the final game in Hanover on September 12.

In the junior series, if St. Catharines beat Lansdownes this afternoon, Maitlands will meet them in the final at St. Catharines on September 6, and the return game will be played in Toronto on the thirteenth.

The juvenile series has reached the final stages, and Durham and Maitlands will fight it out in a sudden death game at Orangeville next Thursday for the title.

Torontos and Tecumsehs meet at the Island, Monday (Labor Day), in the last fixture of the season between these two ancient rivals. Before the big fixture, which will commence at 3.30 p.m., the Maitlands and the St. Simons will play for the City League championship. The teams will line up as follows at 3.30:

Torontos—Goal, Holmes; point, Hoosburn; cover point, Powers; first defence, Barry; second defence, Stagg; third defence, Fitzgerald; centre, Longfellow; third home, Warwick; second home, Penny; first home, Kalls; inside home, Donihee.

Tecumsehs—Goal, Kinsman; point, Yeaman; cover point, Graydon; first defence, McKenzie; second defence, Long; third defence, Green; centre, Collins; third home, Rowntree; second home, McGregor; first home, Querrie; outside home, Carmichael; inside home, McDougall.

This afternoon at Scarboro Beach, rain or shine, the Irish Canadian Lacrosse Club prospective champions of the Big Four, will meet the Torontos, who were the champions last year. It will be the last appearance of the Irish in this city this season, and everyone who admires the fine fight the Green Shirts have made for the championship ought to turn out to see them. It is the hope of the Irish team that they can go thru the season without another defeat, and thus show themselves to be worthy to go to New Westminster in search of the Minto Cup, for which they have challenged. The Torontos, however, have become rather sore at being defeated so often by the Irish this season, and are out for revenge. Incidentally, they also hope to pull themselves out of the cellar position in the next three games, and thus refute the critics who assert that Billy Fitzgerald, Davy Gibbons and Buck Marshall were chiefly responsible for their victories last season, and that the club is lost without them this year. The officials will be Roddy Finlayson and Jack Marshall of Montreal. The game will start at 3.30 sharp.

The Torontos will be chosen from the following players: Muir, Holmes, Harshaw, Powers, Barry, Stagg, Fitzgerald, Longfellow, Donihee, Dandeno, Mundoe, Penny, Warwick, Speilen, Kalls, Barnett, Harrison, Barber and Wilson.

The Irish will bring to town: Brennan, Neville, White, Baker, Cameron, Aspell, Kane, Munday, Fred Scott, Henry Scott, George, Roberts, Cummins, McIntyre.

PSAMMIAD II. WINS FROM LOCAL YACHT

Nirwana Had Exchanged Crews With Lake Erie Crew—Gooderham Victorious Again.

That all the assets which are utilized to win a race do not necessarily exist in the yacht was clearly demonstrated yesterday afternoon on the bay. An impromptu race was held between the Nirwana, the George Cup holder, and the winner of the Jarvis shield, and the Psammiad II. of Cleveland. The race was held to settle a controversy which had arisen among the yachting enthusiasts of the R.C.Y.C. Many of them contended the boat had not had the proper handling and it was proposed to change crews and put Norman Gooderham aboard the Psammiad and Skipper Powers on the Nirwana.

This was done, and yesterday afternoon at 2.30 the two boats started with their new crews. As it was blowing about eighteen knots an hour and a heavy sea was raging out in the lake, it was decided to hold the race on the bay, going three times around a triangular three-knot course, making the race nine knots in all. It was the same old story. Put a good boat in a good skippers hand and he will beat a less competent man on a better boat. The Psammiad won by thirty seconds from the Nirwana after a very close race. It was the clever work of Skipper Gooderham that brought his boat home in front. The necessary yachting brains, to take advantage of an opening thru which the positions could be reversed when things looked bad, was one of the assets that the local yatchsman used to capture the race.

The Nirwana was over the line first by about a length, but the Psammiad lay well to windward and naturally had the best position. Both boats lay right into the stiff breeze and galloped away at a great pace. Notwithstanding the strangeness of the crafts to them the skippers handled the boats superbly and when the first round had been completed the Psammiad led by about 12 seconds. On the second round the Nirwana crept up on her rival and beat her out on the last leg, finishing this round ten seconds to the good. With the Nirwana away with a good lead it looked easy for the local boat to hold her lead and so win out, but Norman Gooderham does not know when he is beaten, and the wily skipper had another wrinkle that he could use to excellent advantage and he did.

On the first leg he rammed the Psammiad home and chasing the fleet-footed Nirwana to the buoy, took her up as she was jibing and held her down to leeward on the last two legs and romped over the line thirty seconds before the Nirwana. From the comparisons of the races of the last three days it looks as if with a good clever skipper aboard who was competent to give Gooderham a race, the Psammiad would be a dangerous contender in any event. However, to find a man to give him a race would be a hard job at present, considering the way he has trounced the different skippers he has met this year.

TORONTO BAY DINGHY CHAMPIONSHIP RACE

Labor Day morning on the R. C. Y. C. course the annual dinghy championship race of Toronto Bay will be held by the L. S. S. A. This is the yearly titbit event for the fourteen footers, and the Darrell Shield is the most coveted trophy that the skippers of the little fellows could capture. This race is bringing out the best material available from all the clubs, as only two boats are allowed to enter from each club. The entries to date are as follows: National Yacht Club, Turral Brothers and J. Alexander; Toronto Canoe Club, S. Howard and J. Douglas; Queen City Yacht Club, C. Worthner and A. Lomas; Balmy Beach Boating Club, A. Barber and A. Smith. The Alexandra Yacht Club have not been heard from as yet, but it is expected that they will be represented by two very crafty skippers.

CHARITY CUP GAME AT BEACH MONDAY

On Monday, at Scarboro Beach, which was so kindly given free of charge by Mr. Fred Hubbard, the final of the Kenyon Charity Cup games will be played between Sundernads and Simpsons. These two teams represent the cream of the two divisions in the senior series of the T. and D., and they will certainly put up some great work before the final whistle blows. The gate receipts go to charity, and the Sick Children's Hospital will be the recipients of the money this year. All the other games in this series have been hummers, and this should not be anything out of the usual, in fact, the critics expect to see one of the best exhibitions ever put up by two local teams. Mr. A. Jowett will referee, and his work will keep the game well in hand all the time. The ball will be kicked off at 3 o'clock.

GALE PREVENTED ALL THE RACES

Motorboat Contests Will Be Held This Afternoon at Exhibition.

The steady southwest gale blowing all afternoon, which drove back the lowering raincloudsin splendid fashion for the spectators proved too strong for the motorboat competitors. After repeated trials the judges were forced to postpone the entire card until today. Thus the races scheduled for Saturday will take place on the first day next week.

The bang-and-go-back race will start at 2.30, and the fifteen mile class A handicap will be called at 4 o'clock.

Baby Reliance, Heloise, Hi Ball III., Marco III., Josephone and Gadfly will all be seen in action in both these races, and the result is sure to be an exciting finish.

The Heloise arriving too late, the Baby Reliance held up by the transportation company, the Hi Ball III. in dry dock, and Gadfly's owner being away confined the displacement boats with U.O. 20 as the only hydroplane in action, but the committee in charge have been notified that all will be on hand for the rest of the meet.

The Amateur Gardener

"There's not much need for a watering-can, anyway, just now, is there?" Corporal John Smith straightened his back and looked at his questioner.

"You've only just moved in, haven't you?" he asked irrelevantly. "Your front lawn has been neglected for some time."

"Yes, I only came the other day. My name's Paley—Richard Paley. I have heard you spoken of already as Mr. Smith—Police Corporal Smith, I think. Several people have told me about your skill as a gardener, and I have had a peep or two on the sly. They told me the truth, anyway. But it is the grass that takes my eye so much. I've never seen a plot look so smooth and green—so velvety, I might say."

"Oh, I'm so proud of that grass. It's really very simple when you get a start. It takes time, of course; but careful sowing and plenty of rolling will work wonders if you have anything like a decent bit of ground to begin with."

"I must have a lesson or two," said Paley, smiling. "It would just suit me to have a bit of green like that in front of the window."

"I'm sure I shall be pleased to help you," said Corporal Smith.

"I'll make a start tomorrow, then. May I borrow your mower and roller for a day or two?"

"Certainly."

For the next few days Mr. Paley paid great attention to his garden.

"I don't see much difference in my lawn yet," he said, after about a week had passed. "Do you think the roller is heavy enough for my lawn?"

"Don't make a mistake and have the roller too heavy," said Smith. "I do sometimes put a brick or two inside for a bit of extra weight, but you certainly could do with it a bit heavier. Don't be in too big a hurry to get it done."

"I'll tell you what I'll do, if you don't mind," said Mr. Paley. "I'll have the ends of your roller boarded up, with a hole left so that I can put in a quantity of sand."

"Well, I don't mind. It would perhaps be a better and more convenient way of getting what you want."

"Thanks," I'll have it done, then," said Paley turning away.

A day or two later he called his neighbor's attention to the roller in its new form; and the latter walked round into the next garden.

"I see you've got an evening paper. What's the latest score?"

"There's a paragraph here that will interest you professionally," said Paley, referring once more to the paper.

"What's that?" inquired Smith.

"You remember that big robbery a week or two since?"

"Yes. They got away with about $4,000 worth of stuff, I remember."

"More than that, I should think. The paper says that the police have got some slight clue which they are following up."

"I should like to get my fingers on some of that stolen property," said Corporal Smith.

"In cases like this, it seems to me," said Paley, "that the police are often outwitted in quite a simple manner. The safest method to hide such stuff as this would be to put it just under their noses. They get so full of fantastic theories and look so far away, that they will miss what is just within reach of their fingers if they did but know it."

"Perhaps you may be right to some extent," said Smith. "You know, of course, that the information supplied to the papers is not all that the police have and sometimes it is even published as a blind."

"Yes, that is so, certainly; but I still think that the police miss frequently what is quite close to them."

"Well," said Smith, "I must stick up for my own side. We'll take this as a test case if you like, and see what comes of it."

"All right," returned Paley. "I'm agreeable. As a bit of sport, we'll bet a dollar on it, shall we? Besides, it will be of interest to us locally, as the report states that a suspected man has been traced into this district. So you may have a bit of luck, after all. Who knows?"

"I should be very glad to. And if the man is down here I may even have a chance. I'll see what the paper has to say, tho I expect to hear something officially."

"Well, good-night," said Mr. Paley.

The clicking of the latch on the gate made both men look in that direction.

"Ah," murmured Smith. "This is Detective Smart, who has charge of the very case we have been discussing. I shall be hearing something reliable now."

He noticed, with surprise, the start that Paley gave on hearing the name; but it was nothing to his astonishment when the detective walked directly up to Paley, placed his hand on him and arrested him in the strictly formal manner under the name of Robert Pearout.

"Why, sergeant," he gasped, "this is Mr. Richard Paley."

"He may have given you that name, but I know him as Robert Pearout," replied the detective.

Smith stared at the prisoner.

"It's quite true that is my real name," said the latter dejectedly, "and I have deceived you. It may look black against me, going under a false name, but I have a good excuse for that. I know they can't prove anything against me, and I'm sure to be at liberty again soon."

The house he had occupied was thoroly searched, but nothing of importance was found. There was strong circumstantial evidence that he was in some way mixed up in the affair, even if he were not the moving spirit; tho all the efforts of the police to bring it home to him were futile, and he was at length released.

He greeted Smith at the earliest opportunity.

"Just what I told you," he said. "Your men, with their far-fetched theories, made a wild grasp at me, but were wrong again. I did get into trouble once, but have gone straight since. I am a marked man tho, now, and I shall soon be going."

The next morning he had disappeared, nor was any trace of him afterwards discovered.

Smith was prevented by the bad weather from pursuing his hobby. When at last the sun shone he found that the absconding Mr. Paley had not returned his gardening implements, and he had to fetch them himself.

The roller he found much too heavy for his purpose, and he proceeded to empty it.

At length the running of the sand was interrupted by something inside. Poking this out with a stick, he was astonished to find, wrapped in a piece of newspaper a small jewel-case, which he at once recognized as part of the stolen property.

With eager fingers he opened his prize; but his hopes were immediately dashed to the ground when he found the sole contents was a slip of paper, addressed to himself.

"Dear Mr. Smith," it ran. "Many thanks for your roller—of which I made good use. The police do miss things dosed under their noses and within reach of their fingers. Had you emptied the roller sooner your luck would have been better. You owe me a dollar. Please get someone to cut and roll the grass. I should not be contented if I thought that all my energy in that direction had been wasted. Gratefully yours, Robert Pearout, alias Richard Paley."

Ladies Swim Today Across Toronto Bay

To enable spectators to get a better view of the ladies' race across Toronto Bay, the harbor master has kindly permitted the Toronto Swimming Club to use the harbor commissioner's landing stage at the foot of YOrk street.

The race will start at 3.00 p.m. and will finish at the club house at Hanlan's Point, by way of the big gap in the breakwater. A good view of the finish can be obtained from the promenade at the north end of the stadium. Owners of launches, boats and canoes are requested to help the officials by keeping the course as clean as possible. There are several entries.

At the conclusion of the race the following events will be decided at the club:

Senior—50 yards, breast handicap; high diving.

Junior—50 yards, handicap; 50 yards breast race; neat and fancy diving.

Prince George Townsite.

The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway announce the sale by auction of the Townsite of Prince George, situated at the confluence of the Fraser and Nechaco Rivers, in Central British Columbia, 450 miles northeast of Vancouver and 467 miles east of Prince Rupert, British Columbia, or midway between Prince Rupert and Edmonton, Alberta. By reason of its central location, Prince George will be the natural distributing point for the extensive territory comprised in the Pacific province of the Dominion, and it has therefore long been the expectation of the general public that upon the completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, Prince George will early become a large and important centre. Having purchased what was known as the Fort George Indian Reserve No. 1, for the purpose of locating a townsite thereon, the Grand Trunk Pacific Development Co. has caused the same to be surveyed and platted and will offer lots in this townsite for sale by public auction at Vancouver, British Columbia, Wednesday, Sept. 17, 1913, and at Edmonton, Alberta, Wednesday, Sept. 24, 1913. The terms of the sale will be one-quarter cash and the balance payable in one, two and three years, with six per cent. interest. All particulars and plans can be secured by applying to G. U. Ryley, Land Commissioner, Grand Trunk Pacific, Winnipeg, Man.

Labor Lay Outings and Exhibition Side Trips.

Visitors to the Exhibition should take advantage of the low side trip rates in effect via the Niagara Navigation Company from Toronto to Niagara Falls and Buffalo. Tickets to Niagara Falls can be obtained at the rate of $2.00 going and returning same route or at $2.50 including the scenic belt line trip around the Niagara gorge. Rate to Buffalo and return is $2.50, all tickets being good date of sale and following day. Full service of six trips daily, including Sunday, will be in effect up to and including Sept. 7. Tickets can be obtained at ticket office, 46 Yonge street, or Yonge street dock. 671

Many Aquatic Events To Be Contested Today

The big event in aquatic circles is the ladies' race across the bay, which will be held by the Toronto Swimming Club. Already six entries have been secured, and it looks as if a few more would be made at the last minute. Miss Lyons of Montreal, who recently completed the arduous task, but was unable to come here for the race, will try conclusions with the local swimmers, including Miss Wilson, the winner of the race and holder of the Walker House trophy. Two young girls, aged fifteen and thirteen years respectively, will also race. They are sisters, and are Miss Doris and Miss Sophie Eldridge. The other entrants are Mrs. Norman and Miss Parsons.

The race is open to all lady amateur swimmers, and two handsome prizes will be given, also a handsome souvenir of the event to all who finish. Providing the water is smooth a great race should result. The race will start from the foot of York street at three o'clock.

At the conclusion of the ladies' race several club events will take place at the Toronto Swimming Club. The program includes the following events: Fifty yds., breast handicap, and the high dive for the special prize presented by Capt. R. H. M. Lowndes. The junior events will see the following contested: Fifty yards, handicap; 50 yards, breast swim, and the neat and fancy diving exhibition.

At the Exhibition this afternoon four big races of the motor boat meet will be run off, under the auspices of the Toronto Motoboat Club. Yesterday's races were postponed and will be held today, as well as the regular program. This includes a twenty-five mile race for displacement boats, with the C. N. E. Expansion Year Trophy as the prize; a bang and go back race for all classes; a class A. handicap, and the most important one of the series will be held. This is for the C. N. E. International Trophy, and is over a thirty-five mile course. As it is a free for all race, all the local speeders and the visiting ones will be entered, and the Heloise, who won it last year, will be on hand to defend her title. Unless a heavy sea mars the races these speed demons should provide enough thrills to keep a record crowd interested all afternoon.

The R. C. Y. C. have a full card of races for their sailors today, and nearly every class is represented. Divisions I. and II. will hold a cruising race to Oicott, and the Zahra, Merrythought, and all the other big fellows will take in the event. The first division will start at 2.40 and the second division at 2.45. An open race for class R. boats, including the Nirwana, the Swamba and the Whirl, will be sailed over the local course and it promises to be one of the most keenly contested races of the year. A dinghy novice class race will be held over the bay course.

The Queen City Yacht Club are holding four races today. The sixteen foot knockabouts and the sixteen foot skiffs will race over the bay course. The fourteen foot dinghies will also race, and Worthner and Lomas will have a great fight for the premier position. Class A. will hold a cruise to Oakville.

The Balmy Beach Boating Club will hold a special cruising race to Lakeside Camp for the honorary consolation prizes.

Reduced Rates for Labor Day Via Grand Trunk Railway.

Return tickets will be issued between all stations in Canada east of Port Arthur, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Buffalo, Black Rock, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N. Y.

Even Break With Birds--Win First 7-6, Lose Second 8-3

SPLIT BILL WITH THE ORIOLES WILSON'S SINGLE WON THE FIRST

Leafs Came From Behind to Grab First Game—Birds Hit Lush Hard in Second Fixture and Won in Handy Fashion.

The Leafs and the Birds split up a double bill yesterday at the Island. Wilson, the new outfielder from the Dallas, Texas, club, was the bright shining light of a ninth innings' rally in the first fixture, delivering the needed single to score the winning run. The Leafs grabbed the contest, 7 to 6.

The Orioles bounced onto Lush in style in the second contest, which was only a seven innings affair, owing to the late start, and won away off with an 8 to 2 score. The Leafs could only hit Allen Russell, brother of the great $12,000 beauty, for three safeties. Wilson grabbed one of these, and the youngster's average for the day was .667.

Both clubs used two twirlers in the first game, and it looked a hopeless task for the Kelleyites when Dunn's men jumped onto Kent for four runs in the very first round. Gaw was rushed to the rescue with only one down in this session, and did grand work for the rest of the battle. Gaw gave Baltimore six scattered hits and two runs.

Tied it Up

The Leafs came thru with their first tally of the game in the second, when H. Bradley and Wilson hit safely and Cottrell filled the bases by walking D. Brown with only one out. Danforth relieved Cottrell. Gaw also got a charity and a run was forced in.

Danforth had a bad session in the next, and before the smoke had cleared away the Leafs were out in front. After Shultz lifted to centre, Kroy walked, H. Bradley singled to deep short and W. Bradley followed to the same territory. Danforth again forced in a run when he threw four wide ones to Wilson. Brown waited while the waiting was good, and again a run ambled in. Gaw hit thru Ball with the infield in and two more tallies made their appearance on the board. McConnell lifted to Twombley and H. Bradley was called out for leaving third before the ball was caught. This put the Leafs one run to the good.

The Birds tied it up in the seventh, when Wilson and Kroy waited too long before going after Coles' high one. Wilson just got his hands on it, but couldn't hold it. Twombley sacrificed and Coles raced home ahead of the return of Egan's fly to deep centre.

Baltimore forged ahead in the ninth on Twombley's triple to the fence in left and Egan's Texas leaguer behind third.

The ninth was a banner session for the locals. Callahan popped out, but Shultz drove a clean single thru the box. Bemis batted for Kroy, but lifted a puny fly to Ball. H. Bradley waited for a walk. Ball foozled W. Bradley's roller and Shultz scored from second by grand base running. Wilson singled to centre and the winning run scored.

Hit Lush to all Corners

Lush was never very much of a puzzle to the Birds in the second contest, and they hit him hard and often. The third netted them three runs. Midkiff singled after Daniels died. Ball rolled out Derrick walked and worked a double steal with Midkiff, the latter scoring. Houser's double sent Derrick home. Parent bounced a single into centre and number three was across.

The fifth was a parade and five Baltimore runners crossed the home rubber. Egan was responsible for four of these with a mighty wallop to deep left with every corner occupied. The clout netted Ben the circuit.

An error, three walks and a sacrifice fly scored the Leafs' only two in the fifth.

PIRATES BOOTED CUBS ARE WINNERS

Pittsburg Muffed Pop Flies and Chicago Did Some Timely Hitting.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 29.—Misjudged pop-flies and one or two timely hits gave Chicago five runs off McQuillan in the fourth inning this afternoon and Pittsburg lost the first of the series, 6 to 1. Cheney pitched a grand game, holding Pittsburg to four scattered hits. But for a wild pitch that allowed Carey to go from first to third in the first inning, Cheney would have scored a shutout. Carey had singled. Viox's out allowed him to score. McQuillan was relieved by Hendrix after the fifth. Hendrix did not allow the Cubs a hit, but he walked five men. In the seventh inning he walked two men, and yet only three men faced him in the inning. Zimmerman on second and Saier on first took long leads, and when Hendrix caught Zimmerman between second and third, Saier was caught as he overslid second, after Zimmerman had been retired. Score:

COCKNEYS DRAW CLOSER TO OTTAWA

Defeat Senators by One Run—Heck Adds Another to His String.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(Special.)—London took the opening game from Ottawa here today by the close score of 2 to 1 before a large week-day crowd. Heck opposed Kubat on the mound and held the Ottawas well in pinches, allowing only six hits, while London dumped Kubat out of the box in the fifth, when Shaughnessy sent in Kane, who held the locals to no hits for the remainder. Pinch hitters used by Ottawa in the eighth inning when Kane tripled for the second time could not oust Heck. This is Heck's 23rd victory out of 29 games pitched. The score:

COOKITES HAD BIG TIME SLAMMING DUTCHMEN

BERLIN, Aug. 29.—The Guelph Leafs put it all over Berlin in the last game of the season here by a 10 to 3 score. The best Pitcher Bramble could do was to allow the Leafs to fatten their batting averages and fatten them they did. The Cookites banged out fourteen safe ones, and they came in bunches. Kirley, for the visitors, was touched for nine bingles, but he was all to the merry with runners on the cushions. The locals grabbed two in the first on hitting, and held this lead until the third, when Guelph started the slaughter. In fielding, too, the visitors looked better, Schaeffer, Fryer and Behan having sensational catches. The score:

BRANTFORD, Aug. 29.—The Saints copped today's game from the Red Sox, 8 to 3. The game was spiritless and was slimly attended. Wilkinson was master of the Sox at all stages, while Barney and Kustus whaled the ball hard behind him. Rowe also performed well for Brantford.

WENT OVERTIME TO DOWN THE GIANTS

Tesreau's Wildness Gave Philadelphia a Victory—Burns on the Job.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—Philadelphia again defeated New York today in the second game of the series, which went into 10 innings before the winning run was scored, the final score being 3 to 2. Camnitz and Tesreau engaged in an effective pitching duel, and while the New York Giant outpitched the former Pittsburg man in hits, 7 to 4, his wildness caused his undoing. In the tenth after Tesreau had fanned Camnitz, Byrne singled and Knabe and Paskert walked, filling the bases. Magee lifted a long fly, which Burns caught after a hard run, but Byrne easily scored the winning run on the catch, as Burns' throw in went high over Wilson's head. From the first inning until the tenth not a hit was made off Tesreau, the Phillies bunching three of their four in the first inning for two runs.

Catcher Burns, purchased from Montreal, reported to the Phillies today. The score:

FALKENBURG GOOD IN PINCHES AT ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 29.—With men on bases, Falkenburg's speedy curves shut St. Louis out, while Cleveland tallied three runs. Falkenburg struck out ten men, five of them when hits would have counted. The visitors tallied in the second innings by a bit of slow thinking on Balenti's part. Johnson had singled, and could have been thrown out at second on Turner's roller, but Balenti elected to throw to first instead. Graney then flied to Shotton and Johnson advanced after the catch. Carisch followed with a single and the first run was scored. In the final innings Cleveland scored two more on three errors, a single and a base on balls.

AMATEUR BASEBALL.

In the Northern League final, when Capitals meet Strollers (last year's city champions), this afternoon in Ketchum Park, at three o'clock, there will be great doings, as these teams finished the schedule with the same number of wins and losses, and a sudden-death game was ordered by the officials of the league to decide the championship. Manager Tolley will catch for Caps, with Bob Stanley pitching, and Norm. Brown will throw, with Robinson receiving, for Manager Dufton of Strollers. W. Pearson, umpire. The winners of this game play the City Amateur League winners for the city championship.

The Judeans and Crescents furnish the opening game in the Toronto Senior League this afternoon. St. Marys meet St. Patricks in the second game.

CARDS BUNCHED HITS REDS DROPPED ANOTHER

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 29.—St. Louis by bunching hits won today's game from Cincinnati, 3 to 2. Both Sallee and Packard pitched good ball, the former not permitting Cincinnati to score until the eighth, when the locals made three hits which, with a base on balls, was good for two runs, while Packard allowed the visitors only five hits. Suggs relieved Packard at the beginning of the ninth, Clark having batted for Packard in the eighth inning. Magee made a remarkable throw from deep leftfield in the eighth inning, cutting off Berghammer, who was trying to score. Score:

AT THE THEATRES

McIntyre and Heath, famous as delineators of unique black-face characters, will be the opening attraction at the Alexandra Theatre starting next Monday afternoon in a new and elaborate production of their greatest comedy success, "The Ham Tree," under the management of John Cort. "The Ham Tree," while it has been seen by a great majority of theatregoers, is one of those rare plays which delight the more thru repetition, and in its revised and up-to-date form should attract large audiences and live with profit to its producer, for many years to come, or at least so long as James McIntyre and Tom Heath remain at the head of the organization. The book of this highly humorous musical comedy is by George V. Hobart and has to do principally with the misfortunes of an irrepressible Ethiopian, Henry Jones, optimist, and Alexander Hambletonian, his dupe, who, under the irridiscent imaginings of the former, furnishes a quality of comedy that is very real. There are more than twenty other characters and principals in the cast, while the large chorus is made up of youthful girls and boys whose professional duty in life is to sing well, dance gracefully, and dress bewitchingly. The lyrics in "The Ham Tree" are by William Jerome, while the music is by Jean Schwartz. These gentlemen have given to the score additional numbers which are new and bid fair to become unusually popular. The entire production is staged by that wizard of directors, Bed Wayburn. The cast of principals will include Paul La Croiz, Lawrence Phillips, Ted Holmes, Geo. C. Youngman, Arthur Barry, Otto Johnson, Edward S. Holder, Norman Woodward, Mabel Elaine, Lulu Wells, and Jane Burby.

"The Blindness of Virtue."

Founded on a subject that is now being discussed in every civilized home where there are children Cosmo Hamilton's great play, "The Blindness of Virtue" will be presented at the Alexandra Theatre for the week of Sept. 8, by William Morris's English players, direct from their sensational engagement at the Little Theatre, London, England. The organization is only in this country for a short time. According to reports there can be no doubt that Cosmo Hamilton has hit upon a theme greatly in need of ventilation and one that is now being seriously agitated by all right-thinking people. "The Blindness of Virtue" is said to contain behind its veil of brilliant comedy and thrilling dramatic situations, a sermon of great value and a thrilling indictment of the fashion of permitting children to grow up in ignorance of certain impulses and conditions.

Cathrine Countiss at Shea's.

With the opening of the regular dramatic season shows at Shea's Theatre will, it is promised, grow better each week. Manager Shea has booked many big stars who will appear in vaudeville for the coming season, and it is expected that this year will be one of the greatest in the vaudeville field. Heading the bill next week is Cathrine Countiss, who is appearing for the first time in vaudeville, and has as a medium a dramatic sketch that has already met with great favor, called "The Birthday Present." Miss Countiss will be remembered by Toronto theatregoers for her delightful interpretation of the name part in "The Awakening of Helena Ritchie," and "The White Sister." A capable company is seen in support, including Anita Allen, James Hyde, and John W. Lott. "The Birthday Present" is from the pen of Frances Whitehouse.

The extra attraction is the Carl Eugene troupe of acrobatic marvels. Seven men and two boys comprise the troupe which is pre-eminent in the athletic world. Most of their feats defy description and are sensationally sensational. The boys are probably the most astounding feature in the act, doing most of the work in the air, and accomplishing double somersaults from an understander to a three-high pyramid to another three-high pyramid to a second understander.

Miss Josie Heather is another contribution to vaudeville from England, whom the British know as "The Winsome Dainty Singing Comedienne," a billing to which the American audiences assent. Miss Heather sings four of the songs she popularized at the British music halls, and which were written expressly for her, and require making a change of costume for each number. In all of her selections she displays a singing voice of fine quality.

The Gardiner Trio are new to Sheagoers and have a delightful novelty. The Van Brothers, two in number, have an act that combines good music and genuine comedy. They are expert musicians and bring the choicest music from both the zither and saxophone. Gertrude Holmes and Robert Buchanan are another feature of next week's bill. These clever folk sing songs old and new; their voices are excellent, their appearance attractive, and their manner decidedly pleasing. Murphy and Frances are old favorites who have not been seen here in many seasons and will be given a warm welcome. The Reed Brothers in "The Eccentric Waiter," combine acrobats and comedy in a clever act. The Kinetograph closes the bill with a great new comedy picture, "Sailing Under False Colors."

Musical Director Augustus Nauman has prepared a good musical program to be played by Shea's Theatre orchestra before each performance this week.

"Follies of Pleasure."

"The Follies of Pleasure," the big beauty show in a new and thoroly up-to-date musical burlesque, entitled "The Charming Widow" will be the attraction at the Star Theatre next week. Dan Coleman, a recruit from the musical comedy stage, is seen in the dual principal roles, that of Finnegan, the Janitor, and the Bogus Lord, and is surrounded by a most capable company, including Clyde J. Bates, Tom McKenna, Fred Bulla, Lavigne and Jaffie, Alma Bauer, Violet Hilson, and Gussie Irwin.

William Collier in "Who's Who?" at The Princess.

William Collier in "Who Who?" a new farce by Richard Harding Davis, will be the second attraction for the season at the Princess Theatre, opening next Monday (Labor Day) evening. It will be remembered that it was Mr. Davis who gave Mr. Collier "The Dictator," the play that really established the comedian as a star, not only in America, but also in London. In "Who's Who?" the playwright is said to have worked out quite a different sort of play, but one that is just as amusing, and that gives Mr. Collier just as good a chance to display his unique and peculiar talent for funmaking.

In "Who's Who?" a youth leaves his home in Massachusetts and goes west seeking health and adventure. He gets plenty of the latter—so much, in fact, and of such a nature that for seven years he allows his friends in the east to think that he has been shot by a sheriff's posse after having committed murder. Even the death of his father, whose will leaves him a large fortune, does not induce him to declare himself, and when at the end of the seven years, when the play begins and a lawyer from back home comes seeking him, he still persists in denying his identity. He does finally consent, however, to go back to thwart the rascally plans of the lawyer, and his efforts in this direction fill the last two acts of the play.

Mr. Collier likes to play the part of the young man, quick-witted, sharp-tongued, not too courageous, who yet is always willing to bear the fight once he is in it, and that is just the sort of a part he has in this play.

Several unusual features have been introduced in the production—one of them, a novel use of kinemacolor pictures. The cast, a long one, includes Paula Marr (Mrs. Collier), William Collier, jr., William Frederic, Grant Stewart, Edward Lester, Nicholas Burnham, Grace Griswold and Leigh Wyant.

Mr. Collier will give two matinees at the Princess, on Wednesday and on Saturday, both at special matinee prices.

"Little Miss Fix-It" at the Grand.

The authors of "Little Miss Fix-It," the offering at the Grand next week.

Lucille Parrish, "Little Miss Fix It," Grand.

are said to have given Miss Lucile Parrish a role that makes this vivacious actress doubly interesting to her host of admirers who have been familiar only with the charming way she sings a popular song. She has the title part in this musical success, and being a new star it may be surmised that a full share of the bright lines fall to her lot. As "Little Miss Fix-It" Miss Parrish is interestingly busy thruout two lively acts, while in addition she has a variety of tuneful songs that captivate her audience, and her singing of her latest comedy novelty, "When Father Gets a Raise," is always sure of a big reception.

The public seem to have taken the piece exactly for what it claims to be—a breezy, rollicking entertainment that provides an excellent vehicle for the vivacious star. There is a laugh or a song hit every minute thru the performance and the critics credit it with a joyous summery atmosphere that is exactly suited to the majority of theatregoers. The engagament opens with a matinee Monday (Labor Day).

Lawrence Brough's All-Canadian Tour, 1913-14.

Mr. Lawrence Brough has brought with him from England for his Canadian tour in "The Lady of Ostend," Sir Francis Burnand's mirth-provoking farce-comedy, some 16 English artists, including Miss Olga Esme, as leading lady; Alfred Hemmin, long-time producer of the George R. Sims farces, in which he also played; Miss Amy Singleton, who played in the original New York "Bunty" cast, being temporarily released and "lent" by Mr. Brough for that; and Miss Patricia Hamne, who has played leads with Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree and Sir George Alexander. Mr. Brough has stated that this company is the strongest ever got together for the purpose of enacting "The Lady of Ostend," which play, by the way, has never yet been seen in North America. Its Canadian premiere takes place on Monday, Sept. 1, at His Majesty's Theatre, Montreal.

WILSON UNWISE LONDON OPINION

Even Huerta's Acceptance Wouldn't Clear Air, Says The Telegraph.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—(Can. Press.)—The London morning papers continue to find little reason for encouragement in the situation between Mexico and the United States, and express the strongest doubt as to the wisdom of President Wilson's policy, mainly on the ground that Mexico is not yet fitted for democratic government.

The Daily Telegraph fails to see how even the acceptance of Mr. Wilson's conditions by General Huerta would operate to bring about peace and security in Mexico, and contends that, whether wise or unwise the refusal of the United States to recognize the Huerta administration has created an unfortunate situation.

Referring to Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson's advocacy of recognition and the fact that the Mexican congress, altho it was "made" by Madero, nevertheless acquiesced in Huerta's government, The Telegraph says that it is difficult to avoid the conclusion that President Wilson's demands bear rather hardly on the Huerta government, suggesting that the American antagonism to Huerta is due to the belief that he is a confirmed enemy to American interests while Madero always proclaimed himself a champion of those interests.

The article proceeds: "Nothing could be more deplorable than the developments in this situation along the lines of an open feud between the anti-Huertist American trade interests and the pro-Huertist trade in the other foreign nations."

The Daily Graphic asks, if Secretary Bryan regards the situation as encouraging, why troops are being rushed to the frontier and says that President Wilson's policy is interesting as an idealist experiment in international politics, but carried out logically and consistently, must end in intervention.

It Made a Man of Me

Read what Mr. Wm. H. Lynn, Molesworth, Ont., says:—"I take great pleasure in asking you to file my name as cured. I have worn your Belt as directed for four months, and I feel like a new man. I am strong and active again and feel as well as any man could feel. I wish you every success in your business."

CURED HIS BACKACHE.

Dr. McLaughlin: London, Ont., Dec. 24, 1911.

Dear Sir,—I received your Belt in due time and my backache was gone in two weeks. Your Belt certainly did what you promised it would do. I hope to write you more particulars later on. In the meantime, I remain, yours very truly. A. BAKER, Cor. Oxford and Adelaide Streets.

Letters like that tell a story which means a good deal to a sufferer. They are a beacon light to the one who has become discouraged from useless doctoring. I get such letters every day.

Give me a man broken down from dissipation, hard work, or worry, from any cause which has sapped his vitality. Let him follow my advice for three months, and I will make him as vigorous in every respect as any man of his age.

My Belt has a wonderful influence upon tired, weak nerves. It braces and invigorates them and stirs up a great force of energy in a man.

Are you weak or in pain? Are you nervous or sleepless? Have you Varicocele, Rheumatism, Weak Back, Kidney Trouble, Weak Stomach, Indigestion or Constipation? Are you lacking in vitality? I can give you the blessing of health and strength. I can fill your body with vigor and make you feel as you did in your youth. My Electric Belt is worn while you sleep. It gives a soothing, genial warmth into the body. This is life—vigor.

After you have read the above, write to me, explain your case, and I will at once tell you if I can cure you or not.

Tell me where you are, and I'll give you the name of a man in your town that I've cured. I've got cures in every town. That's enough. You need the cure. I've got it. You want it. I'll give it to you or you need not pay me a cent. Come and get it now. The pleasurable moments of this life are too few, so don't throw any away. While there's a chance to be husky and strong, throw out your chest and look at yourself in the glass and say, "I'm a man," do it and don't waste time thinking about it.

CALL TO-DAY

Come and see me and let me show you what I have, or if you can't then cut out this coupon and send it in. It will bring you a description of my Belt and a book that will prove you to be a man among men—all free. My hours, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Wednesday and Saturday to 8.30 p.m.

DR. M. D McLAUGHLIN, 237 Yonge St. Toronto, Can.

Dear Sir,—Please forward me one of your Books as advertised. 1-25-12

The Great Clydesdale Sale

CONSISTING OF

27 IMPORTED REGISTERED FILLIES

1 IMPORTED REGISTERED STALLION

AND

2 IMPORTED SHETLAND PONIES

This is the importation of MR. ISAAC WILLIAMSON, the well known importer of high-class Clydesdale stock, whose sales we have always conducted in previous years to the entire satisfaction of Ontario farmers and breeders. These fillies have just arrived from the country of the Clydesdale in Scotland, and were personally selected by Mr. Williamson. They represent the highest strains of quality in horse-flesh, and their fashionable breeding cannot be excelled. The majority of these fillies were purchased for show purposes, and were to have been entered at the Toronto Exhibition, but owing to a delay in shipping they did not arrive in time. They will make a name for themselves wherever they go. Note the breeding of these high-class fillies:—

LADY MOLLY (imp.) (31687) (34455) by Favorite's Chief (2767) (1275), by ROYAL FAVORITE (4002) (1938), by ROYAL GARNET, whose dam was by the great stallion BROOKLIN.

HELENA (imp.) (31581) (34449), a two-year-old filly by Baron Ian (15209) (14004), whose sire was the famous Baron's Pride (3067) (2122). This is a sample of the superb individual quality possessed by these mares.

ISOBEL (imp.) (31611) (34445), a two-year-old filly, whose sire is Lord Lieth, by Everlasting, also a son of Baron's Pride. Like as she is, she should make as good a breeder as there is in the country.

In addition to the Clydesdales, Mr. Williamson imported two Shetland Ponies, Moss Rose and Sweet Carnation. This is a young, well broken pair of pony mares, about 3 years old. They will be sold immediately after the Clydesdales.

DO NOT Forget Wednesday, Sept. 3rd, is the date [illegible]

CATALOGUES WILL BE SENT UPON REQUEST.

FAVORITES CLEAN UP AT CONNAUGHT PARK

Bookies Hit Hard When Six in a Row Finish in Front—Long Shot Lands Last.

OTTAWA, Aug. 29.—The bookies were hit hard in the first six races at Connaught Park today, in which the favorites were all successful, but the layers had their revenge in the seventh race, when Garneau, a 10-to-1 shot, came home in front. Bernadotte, heavily supported, failed to show anything. Seagram's Dark Rosaleen won the first race, the Juvenile Handicap, while the Gloucester Handicap went to Hodge, another favorite. Tactics, with a lot of money behind him, took down the Cumberland Stakes, while Panzaretta won her second purse of the meeting. Spellbound rewarded her backers by taking the fifth, and Inlan had things all his own way in the sixth. After the success of the first six favorites, which was largely due to the fast track, the public made a rush to get money up on Bernadotte in the seventh, while Garneau was almost ignored. Garneau sold as high as 12 to 1, while the best that the bookies offered against Bernadotte was 3 to 2, at which hundreds wagered heavily. It was ladies' day, and the largest crowd of the week turned out. The bookmakers did more business than on any of the preceding days, and the races were all well balanced. Summary:

SEVEN THOUSAND IN LABOR PARADE

Turn Out on Monday is Expected to Be Biggest on Record.

CARPENTERS JOIN IN

Union Will Show How They Have Benefited by the Recent Strike.

A turnout of 7000 is expected for the Labor Day parade next Monday. This number will make the parade the biggest on record and special floats are being prepared for the display, which will be more artistic in design than any of those seen in recent years. One of the new floats will be that of the carpenters. This is the first time the carpenters have consented to join in the parade in many years, and it is said that they intend to give their brother union men a surprise in the float they are preparing.

Their entry in this year's parade is also to be a thanksgiving for the success they met with in their strike for higher wages last spring. They will turn out in their full strength, and, once on the ground, they will make an effort to forget their old contention that some of the buildings were erected by non-union labor.

The labor men have invited Sir James Whitney and his cabinet to hear a labor deputation at the Parliament Buildings at 10 o'clock, and Sir James has consented, altho he was not struck very much with the hour picked out by the labor men for their celebration. The deputation will speak on Workmen's Compensation and Tax Reform and the following men will take part: Fred Bancroft, W. A. Douglass, M. Weyman and T. A. Wood.

When Parade Leaves.

At 10.30 the parade will leave Queen's Park for the Exhibition grounds, the route being University avenue, Queen and Dufferin streets. At the entrance to the grounds the parade will break up and the labor men will pay the usual admission to enter the grounds; then, when they are on the inside, they will conduct their usual games.

The labor men will not run a baby show in opposition to the one being held by the Exhibition, altho the suggestion was made some time ago. They claim that they began the baby show in 1911 and that it proved to be such a success that the Exhibition directors stole the show from its originators.

POLITICS HOT IN AUSTRALIA

Premier Cook, Incensed Against Senate, Talks of Early Election.

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 28.—(C. A. P.)—The difficulties of the federal government are becoming daily more acute, says The Telegraph correspondent. "In the senate, where much bitterness exists, the conduct of business has been taken out of the government's hands. Tonight the standing orders were suspended to permit Senator Pearce to attack Milan's allegations that 80,000 names were irregularly placed on the electoral rolls before last election. Milan still defends the statement.

Premier Cook says another election cannot be long delayed. "We don't intend to stay in office unless we can do liberal work for the country," he concluded.

Ross Phillips, manager of the Postal Telegraph Company of Muscatine, Ia., is on a two-weeks vacation tour on his motorcycle. He is accompanied by Ralph Slack, who rides in a sidecar attachment.

The Edwardsville, Ill., police feel so keenly the need of a motorcycle in the department that they are figuring on purchasing one by personal subscriptions.

Motorcycle Notes

L. C. Mitchell of Wichita, Kas., is on his way to the lumber camps of the northwest, where he will preach the gospel to the lumbermen. Mr. Mitchell is making the trip on a motorcycle.

A 400-mile endurance run was held August 24-25 by the Fresno Tourists Club of motorcyclists.

Another cross-continental motorcyclist is R. G. Mann of San Diego, who is riding his two-wheeler to Boston.

The Tri-City Motorcycle Club of Moline and Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport, Ia., has grown so rapidly in the four weeks since its organization, that plans are being made to erect a building to be used as a club house.

Elmer and Roy Kettering of Rock Island, Ill., are taking a vacation trip on their motorcycles. They expect to tour thru Iowa, Nebraska and Missouri.

Among the motorcyclists who are taking advantage of the raising of the ban on motor-driven vehicles in Yellowstone Park is Ray D. Farlow of Dallas Centre, Ia., who is riding his two-wheeler to the national playground.

A 1,500-mile motorcycle trip is being made by E. Romero, Jr., of Albuquerque, to advertise the New Mexico state fair.

Carlisle Paton of Riverside, Cal., rode his motorcycle to San Jose, where he will enter the State University.

On a tandem motorcycle, Miss Gertrude Smith of E. St. Louis, and Thomas Callahan eloped to Waterloo, Ill., where they were married.

Motorcycle contests will be a feature of the Labor Day athletic meet at Pittsburgh. About 50 entries are anticipated. Motorcycle races will also be a part of the Labor Day celebration at Benning Park, Washington, D.C.

On acount of the rapid increase in membership of the New Jersey Motorcycle Club, the present rooms will be abandoned for larger quarters.

Joe Ebrecht and Tom Brown of Barnesville, Ohio, are riding their motorcycles to Colorado, where they have accepted positions with a mining company.

JACK JOHNSON TO FIGHT LANGFORD IN DECEMBER

Paris Promoters Guarantee the Black Champion a Lump Sum and a Percentage.

BOSTON, Aug. 29.—Sam Langford, negro heavyweight, is to meet Jack Johnson, heavyweight champion of the world, in a bout for the title in Paris Dec. 20. Arrangements for the match were completed by cable today, according to Joe Woodman, manager of Langford.

The bout is to be of twenty rounds, and will be staged in the Cirque de Paris, under the direction of Theodore Vienno. Langford is guaranteed a lump sum and a percentage of the receipts for his appearance, Woodman says.

The Boston heavyweight was defeated by Johnson seven years ago, and has been seeking another bout with the champion since. Johnson's reported need of money and the fact that proposed bouts with white men in Paris and London have been frowned upon are the reasons, in Woodman's opinion, that resulted in the match being made.

A motorcycle enthusiast of Kansas, Harry Crow, recently made a record run on his motorcycle. He left Great Bend for Dighton 40 minutes after the Santa Fe train had passed thru the city. The path was clear and the machine was in excellent running order. Crow turned on full power and when he arrived in Ness City he had to wait several minutes before the locomotive put in apearance.

The Lincoln (Neb.) Motorcycle club is planning an endurance run to Omaha on Labor Day. About 50 riders are expected to participate.

Steve Hoff has just returned to his home in Havana, Ill., after a motorcycle trip to New York. Mr. Hoff says his motorcycle gave excellent service during the entire trip.

Your Manly Strength "Nature" Book Free

MY FREE OFFER TO MY MEN AND YOUNG MEN READERS.

My free offer is as follows: There are in existence today numerous creditable books relating to the much-discussed sex science, and they range in price from $2 to $5, while my offer, as given below, is a free one.

I publish a little private compendium of 72 pages, pocket size, containing 6000 words and 25 half-tone photo reproductions, which thoroughly covers the subject of sex, but only in its relation to manhood or vital manly strength, its legitimate uses, its wanton abuses, its loss and the causes thereof, its possible self-restoration and its permanent preservation. These are the vital phases of the sex subject which I find to be of most interest to all men, young or elderly, single or married, and I have therefore put into this little self-help book the very best that I can offer relating to that particular personal and private advice and information, which my 20 years' practical experience in this field has taught me men most need, and through which they can get the most real benefit in respect to their own vigor and vital health. This, reader, is the book, and my offer is to send it by mail, absolutely and entirely free of charge, in a perfectly plain, sealed envelope, to any man or young man anywhere who writes for it (see coupon below), and there is not a particle of obligation of any kind whatever involved in making this gift offer to you. Over a million of these books have been thus sent to men all over the world who wrote for them.

The reason why I can offer this illustrated book free is that in one part I include a description of a little mechanical vitalizer of my own invention, which is for use by those of my readers who need some outside aid in the restoration of their manly vigor. However, that is a matter for each person to decide for himself. The book is complete and entirely independent of any vitalizer. Therefore please use free coupon and get the book by return mail. You will find it a valuable adviser in many respects.

SANDEN, Author.

Vital manhood and an abundant manly vigor is the greatest human asset of our day. Every man is entitled to be perfectly strong, vigorous and capable, just as nature intended he should, and if through the medium of my book I can show you how you yourself may become as vital, manly and forceful as the best man of your acquaintance, then I have merely given you a clear understanding of what nature is herself constantly endeavoring to tell and show you.

As to my vitalizer, it may or may not be necessary in your own case, but if you want to use it after reading the description, I will gladly make some liberal proposition so you may get one to try. The vitalizer, weighing only several ounces, is worn all night. It generates a soft, easy flowing FORCE which I call vitality. This FORCE enters your system at the small of the back, flowing thence through the kidneys, liver, stomach, bladder and organs, and diffusing itself to every part of the body. Over 200,000 Sanden vitalizers are now in use or have recently been used. It keeps up its gentle action while you sleep. Men everywhere have said it makes them feel better and stronger almost at once, that it often takes pain out of the back in a few hours, and 60 to 90 days' time is sufficient to restore normal vigor. With special attachments my vitalizer is used by women as well as men for rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, etc.

If you live in or near this city, would be pleased to have you call. Hours, 9 to 6; Sundays, 10 to 1.

However, whether or not you ever use the vitalizer, at least you want the free book, so kindly fill in the coupon and the book will go to you, sealed, by return mail.

Visitors to the city should take advantage of the opportunity to call and examine this wonderful Appliance. You will be under no obligation, and the book mentioned above is yours for the asking.

YORK COUNTY ...AND... SUBURBS

RATEPAYERS IN EARLSCOURT SEEK BETTER FIRE PROTECTION

Residents Are Stirred at Recent Blazes and Seek to Find Better Means of Preventing Holocausts—High Praise Given to Those Who Fought Flames in Fire-Swept District.

Since the disastrous fire on Hatherly road in North Earlscourt, there has been a growing agitation for better fire protection, but the movement reached a climax yesterday morning after the total destruction of the Fairbank Hotel by fire last night. Fires have followed one another with such rapidity that during the past three years there have been over a hundred fires in the district. When we consider that North Earlscourt is not a built up section, and has just been growing during the last three years, the proportion of fires is undoubtedly large.

The majority of the buildings are frame structures and it is easy to imagine the horror of the word "firebug" in Earlscourt.

Night has an added terror for house-owners. Fire in the interior of the house is under their own control and they can take precautions, but what sleepless watchfulness is needed when incendiaries are abroad!

Take the case of Mrs. Brooker, Ditchling road, who detected smoke in the air as she was preparing to retire, and rushing outside found a heap of tar paper scraps alight against her house.

A house occupied by an Italian in Seneca street would not be in existence today if any attempt of the four attempts to set it on fire had been successful.

Two attempts were made on a house on Navin avenue, paper being discovered alight in a box near the house on two occasions.

Similar Attempt.

A similar atempt was made on another house in the same street, while the family were away in Nova Scotia.

The Fairbank Hotel, the last place destroyed, has been alight on two previous occasions and in each instance there has been no cause to which the fire could be attributed other than an incendiary.

Deputy Reeve E. H. Miller, of York Township does not hold the general opinion. He thinks that the majority of the fires have been due to tar paper structures and carelessness, such as the running of stove pipes out of windows and thru unprotected partitions. The absence of gas makes the use of oil or gasoline stoves necessary in the summer, and an accident with either of these generally spells destruction.

At a gathering of ratepayers in the district yesterday morning, it was decided that the county crown attorney would be asked to send a requisition to the attorney general for the services of a special detective to institute a rigid inquiry into the origin of the various fires which have occurred lately.

One bad feature of the Fairbank Hotel fire was the pilfering and theft of salvaged stock that took place, one report is current in fact that an auto was stopped when departing with a large quantity of bottled liquor.

Two men and a woman appeared before Enoch Ward, J. P., and Chief Constable Phillips, in the county police court yesterday in this connection.

James McDonald of Port Hope was charged with stealing a dozen of beer. Mrs. James Rappley was arrested for receiving a 16 gallon barrel of beer and 4 cases of lager being found in her house by Constable McMillen. William Brown of Kennedy road was also charged with the theft of liquor. Bail was granted to the two men but Mrs. Rappley was remanded to jail, another charge being preferred against her.

Meantime the investigation continues and new developments may crop up at any minute.

EAST YORK.

Altho there seems to be considerable apathy regarding the by-election in East York at present, the nomination meeting at Markham on Monday at 2 o'clock will likely waken things up a bit. The Hon. I. B. Lucas is billed to speak for the Conservative candidate, Geo. S. Henry, and Sam Clark, M.L.A., is expected to carry the banner for Albert Chamberlain, the Liberal candidate.

During the coming week Geo. S. Henry will address meetings as follows:

Midway Conservative Association in the Presbyterian Church hall on Tuesday night.

Beaches Conservative Association, Masonic hall, Balsam avenue, on Friday night.

North Toronto Conservative Association, Masonic hall, on Saturday night.

MARKHAM.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reesor announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Gladys, to Arthur Hilliard Birmingham, B.A., of Toronto. The marriage will take place next month.

AURORA.

The members of Court Aurora, No. 1187, Canadian Order of Foresters, will meet to decorate the graves of their departed brethren tomorrow. The procession will assemble at the lodge room at 2 o'clock and march to the cemetery. The lodge members will attend divine service in the Baptist Church on their return.

As the Rev. H. F. Thomas has to go to Queensville and Mount Albert to dispense the Lord's Supper tomorrow, Peter Jamieson will conduct the service in the Presbyterian Church. Rev. Mr. Thomas expects to be in his own pulpit on Sept. 7.

J. M. Willis, the manager of the Bank of Montreal, who has been in poor health for some time, is leaving for a trip to the old country next week. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Willis.

These horses are out of hard work, having been working right up to day of sale. The whole to be sold without reserve, as Mr. Maher has finished his contract and has no further use for the same.

Slezak Narrowly Escapes Drowning

Member of Canadian Opera Company Clings to Overturned Boat.

When Leo Slezak, the Czech tenor, and Fritz Sturmfels, a widely known member of the Royal Opera, Leipsic, were sailing on the lake at Tegernsee, Bavaria, their boat was overturned. Strumfels was drowned but Slezak clung to the boat and was rescued. The fortunate escape of the giant tenor means much to the operatic world, and particularly to Canadians, as his singing is to be a feature this year with the National Opera Company of Canada. In the United States, too, a big season awaits him. Mr. Strumfels was heard in America in the tenor role of "Baron Trenck."

Deceiving Your Wife

By Winifred Black

"I love my wife," said the man who is in love with another woman, "and I don't want her to know anything that will hurt her. I protect her from her own foolish fancies, I believe it is my duty to do that." And then he went and sent his wife a box of roses and went to dine—with the other woman.

I wonder if that man believes himself?

I wonder if he thinks he's lying to his wife to shield her—to keep her from suffering?

Blind Fool.

I wonder if he thinks that any one else on earth believes him, when he says that. Why, you poor, blind, foolish fellow, you are lying to your wife not to protect her, but to protect yourself. You find her convenient—a comfortable appendage, a good thing to have in the family—that wife of yours—and you don't want to let loose of her, that's all that makes you lie to her.

You want to keep her—and the other woman, too. Well, then, why don't you look yourself in the face and see what a coward looks like, a coward and a thief?

Give Her a Chance.

Why don't you give your wife a chance to choose her life? If she knew she might leave you. Precisely—why not?

Why not let her leave you—is that the sort of bargain you made—a bargain that binds her and looses you, whenever you feel so inclined? Why don't you tell your wife the truth and let her choose? Don't you owe her at least that fairness? Why not?

What is it about a woman that makes it fair for you to cheat her, and then say you do it to "keep her from worrying?" What if your partner did that way? What if he stole from you and then said he didn't tell you about it because he didn't want you to worry. What kind of an excuse would you call that?

Would you pay much attention to it—you, the sane, reasonable, business man? You would not. You would call him what he was, a coward and a thief. Why aren't you just those two things, exactly, when you deceive your wife and then don't tell her, "to protect her"?

might hold water fifty years ago, it won't do now.

More Than Wife.

That wife of yours is something besides your wife. She's a woman, a human being, with a human being's right to choose. If you are worthless, unfaithful, a fickle fool, with your eyes everywhere but at home, why not let her know the truth and do as she thinks best about it?

Maybe she wouldn't leave you. After all, some women are like that. Maybe she would cling and cry and beg and make you wince. Well, you know you aren't the first to pay the piper. Would you get all your joys for nothing? They aren't worth much if you can't pay the price, are they?

Maybe she would give you the liberty you think you want, just to see you beg for her charms again. Maybe she is just waiting for an excuse to get away from you herself. She may not be so dead in love with you, after all. Perhaps she just stands you for the same reason that you deceive her, to protect you. Why don't you tell her the truth and be done with it, once and for all?

Give the woman a chance, give her a show. You demand that much for yourself, why not give it to her, you who are so brave, so noble minded, so kind? What? Send her away where she is "safe." Put her where she can't make you any trouble, and where she won't hear anything to make her unhappy? Why, you poor fool, every word you speak, every look you give, every tone of your voice, every turn of your hand tells her what you try to conceal "for her sake."

She may not know that she knows, but she knows all the same—and all the lies you can tell won't deceive her, really, at all.

Men Are Amateurs.

What are you thinking of? You can't compete with a woman in affairs like this. Love is a woman's business. She knows it from beginning to end, backward and forward—in and out. You're just an amateur at the game, you, or the wisest man who ever lived. You just play at off hours, she makes it her whole life.

You can make a woman believe you are wise when you are a fool; you can make her believe you are rich when you are poor; you can make her believe you are [illegible] when you are mean, but you [illegible] never, as long as the sun goes round, make her believe that you are true to her when you are not.

She Knows.

All the time she knows, don't forget that—Mr. Amateur—you're playing her game, when you play at love—and you're playing it pretty badly, according to her standards, too!

"Protect" her, if you will. Tell her all the elaborate tales you can—if she be as ignorant as a Russian peasant—that one thing she knows, better than you, with all your wisdom, will ever dream of knowing. And the other woman knows she knows, no matter what she tries to make you believe, for she, too, is a woman, and to her, too, the game is life itself.

What a fool you are to try to deceive either of them—when you try a fling at it—in your bungling amateur way.

How to Get an Exhibition Plan.

Much favorable comment in the city and throughout the province generally is being caused by a small piece of thoughtfulness on the part of the passenger department of the Canadian Northern Railway.

Now that the Canadian National Exhibition has grown to such spectacular proportions it is often a matter of difficulty for visitors to find their way about and much time is lost and a little annoyance incurred in the search for information as to "the way to such and such a building."

Realizing this, the Canadian Northern Railway has published a special Exhibition time table folder containing a keyed plan of the Exhibition which will enable even a child to find its way through the entire Exhibition with ease. These have been distributed to all points on the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway, the Central Ontario Railway and the Bay of Quinte Railway, and have formed an effective advertisement for the "big show." These are also to be had at the Canadian Northern Exhibit in the Canadian railway building, or by applying to the City Ticket Office, 52 East King street. Main 5179.

The Sanitary Manufacturing Company was given a reduction of $300 per acre, making the assessment $8200 per acre, instead of $8500.

The Ridout property on Dufferin street was reduced to $7000. The assessment was $10,000.

BRAZILIAN AT ITS HIGHEST IN MONTHS

Cautious Bidding Up of Prices in the Toronto Stock Exchange.

SKIES ARE CLEARING

Sentiment is Gradually Turning More Cheerful—Holiday Apathy Shown.

Brazilian rose to a new high record for three months in the Toronto Stock Exchange yesterday, thereby indicating the cheerful sentiment existing in speculative circles. At the same time the general list gave an exhibition of firmness which was inspiring to say the least, a sustained demand being in evidence. Trading was apathetic thruout, but that was only to be expected in view of the approaching week-end holidays.

The movement in Brazilian was brought about by local and Montreal buying, London merely holding steady as far as those shares were concerned. It was whispered here that a short interest was still outstanding, and that much of the demand represented the cautious bidding of the bears who were endeavoring to cover on their commitments without rushing up the price to too great an extent. The stock rose a full half point to 94 1-2, making a gain of two points for the week to date, over eight since the first of the month and over twelve since the low record was pinned up last month. The close at 94 1-4 left just half of the advance still in effect.

Favorable Indications.

A more buoyant tone in Spanish River and Macdonald attracted some interest in that it was taken to indicate reviving confidence in those securities, apprehension having been relieved by the steadier action of prices during the last few days. Spanish River rose almost a point to 20 3-8, closing at the top, while the preferred was up a full four to 68. At the same time Macdonald rose nearly two points to 28 1-2, with the major portion of the appreciation still in evidence at the close, the net gain for the session being 1 1-4 points. Brokers are now going on record as being favorable to these two stocks, tho the uncertainty of the situation is still keeping many aloof from the market.

The general list maintained a resilient tone, with buying of some of the preferred issues a feature. Maple Leaf preferred, for instance, at 93 was up a full point to a new high in two months. Steel Company of Canada common was in better demand on more favorable reports concerning the outlook for the steel trade. It sold up to 23 3-8, a full 5 3-8 above the recent low level, and its best figure since May. Twin City and Mackay preferred both improved slightly, reflecting the general buoyancy.

LONDON VIEWS THE OUTLOOK FAVORABLY

Improvement in Mexican Crisis Brought Advance—Big Gold Mine Passed Dividend.

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Money was abundant, and discount rates were easy today. The improvement in the Mexican situation caused an advance in Mexican securities on the stock exchange. Grand Trunk shares were strong on favorable earning statement. Consols gained under investment buying, and copper stocks were higher in sympathy with the strength in the metal. Kaffirs were weakened by the passing of the dividend of the Central Mining and Investment Corporation.

American securities were quiet and featureless during the forenoon. Prices held within a small fraction of parity until late in the session, when Wall street support advanced values and made the closing firm.

FAILURE RECORD NOT UNFAVORABLE

Canadian failures in the week ended Thursday totaled 28, compared with 27 last year, which in view of the continued tightness of money must be regarded as a favorable indication. In the previous four weeks a big increase was shown in the insolvencies. The record follows:

Date	Ont.	Que.	Man.	Alta.	Sask.	B.C.	N.S.	N.B.	P.E.I.	Total.	1912.
Aug. 28	8	10	0	1	0	8	0	1	0	28	27

ROUNDING UP THE NAVIGATION MERGER

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 29.—With the arrival next week from London of the legal representative of Brown Shipley and Company of London, the $20,000,000 inland shipping merger, Canada Transportation Lines, Limited, will be at once completed. The $1,500,000 payment by which the subsidiary companies are brought into the merger, was paid over at the beginning of the week.

It is expected that the new stock of the Canada Transportation Lines, Limited, will be listed on Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges about the end of September.

DIVIDENDS CUT BY MANY CONCERNS

This Year Will Be Notable for Reductions in Payments.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—The passing of the dividend on the preferred stock of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railway Company is the latest addition to the already large list of companies that have found it necessary to reduce their disbursements to stockholders in the current year.

The year 1913 will be far more noteworthy for dividend reductions than for dividend increases. Few important companies, and only one railroad, found it expedient to increase rate of payment, and increases that were recorded were mostly by public utility companies. On the other hand, many important railroad systems, copper and industrial companies, reduced or passed their dividends altogether.

Of the railroads, Boston and Maine passed both common and preferred dividends; and Western Maryland, St. Louis and San Francisco, and Big Four passed their preferred dividends. New York, New Haven and Hartford reduced its dividend from 8 per cent. to 6 per cent.; Illinois Central reduced its dividend from 7 per cent. to 5 per cent.; Chesapeake and Ohio reduced its rate from 5 per cent. to 4 per cent., and Bangor and Aroostock cut its dividend from 4 per cent. to 2 per cent. The reduction in dividends by these companies alone means a loss to the stockholders of approximately $9,500,000 per annum.

Of the copper companies, Calumet and Hecla, Ahmeek, Osceola, Mohawk and Quincy Mining, all reduced their dividends, and the Greene-Cananea dividend was passed. Some of the more important industrials that discontinued dividend payments are: Pacific Gas and Electric, American Beet Sugar, International Steam Pump preferred, Prairie Oil and Gas, M. Rumely common and preferred, B. F. Goodrich, United States Light and Heating preferred, and American Writing Paper preferred.

RAILWAY EARNINGS MAKE POOR SHOWING

First Decrease in Long Time Reported by Our Roads—Gain Across Line.

The Canadian railways are not maintaining the satisfactory ratio of gross earnings evidenced earlier in the year, the total receipts, all lines reporting, for the first two weeks of the month being 4 per cent. under the record of the same period of 1912, that being the first decrease shown in a very long time. It compares with an increase of 2.3 per cent. in all of July, 6.1 in June, 7.5 in May, 7.6 in April, 7.3 in March, 4 in February and 20 in January. The smaller earnings of the C.P.R. are responsible for the poorer exhibit.

Earnings of the United States roads are still running slightly above those of last year, the gross of all roads reporting for two weeks of August being 1.8 per cent. ahead of 1912. This compares with a gain of 4.6 per cent. in July, 7 in June, 8.2 in May, 2.7 in April, 5.5 in March, 4.1 in February, and 13.2 in January.

NIPISSING SHIPS SILVER BULLION

COBALT, Aug. 29.—The Nipissing is the only bullion shipper so far this week, its consignment of 105 bars being chiefly remarkable since it follows so closely on the record shipment of 212 bars last week, making a total of 317 bars from the company's property in eight days. This week's consignment weighs 126,837.84 ounces and is valued at $75,151.42.

GAINS WERE HELD TRADING LIGHTER

Bulls Freely Predicted Higher Prices Despite Check to Upturn.

INVESTMENT DEMAND

Solid Buying of Standard Issues in Evidence—Reserves Little Reduced.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—Speculation failed to maintain today the brisk pace set yesterday, altho the recent gains were well held. In the absence of definite news from Mexico and with no striking developments in any other quarter, incentive for active trading was lacking. The approach of a triple holiday tended still further to curtail dealings. Bears attempted to depress the list at the opening, but the market was too strong for them and prices advanced. With Smelting, Steel and the coalers in the lead, highest prices of the present movement were reached. There was some increase in commission house business, altho the principal demand apparently came from the shorts. Later in the day, owing to realizing sales and the weakness of a few stocks, the list moved slowly downward, with increased heaviness toward the close, which in many cases eliminated the earlier gains. American Ice, which lost a large part of its recent rise, Missouri Pacific, New York Central and New Haven showed heaviness.

Much Bullish Talk.

Sentiment remained hopeful, despite the failure of the market to continue on its upward course, and bullishly inclined traders maintained that the market was in a better position than it had been for some time. They pointed not only to the more optimistic view now taken of the Mexican situation, but to the passing of fears regarding monetary conditions during the crop moving season. Improvement of the investment market is indicated not only by the broader demand for standard dividend paying shares, but in the ready absorption of recent bond and note offerings. Altho no figures regarding subscriptions to Union Pacific's holdings of Southern Pacific will be available until next week, the success of the offering was said today to be assured.

Known movement of currency for the week indicated a smaller cash loss for the banks than was expected, on account of gains from the interior, cutting down the apparent loss to about $4,000,000.

The bond market was irregular.

STRONGER TONE IN MONTREAL STOCKS

Spanish River and Macdonald Led Rally—Covering by Shorts.

MONTREAL, Aug. 29.—Local stocks again displayed a tendency to advance today, and the movement, while slow and cautious, resulted in larger gains than were scored Thursday. A strong undertone was assisted by a rising market in New York and a good-sized rally in Spanish River and Macdonald. The stocks named were once more the most prominent features of the market, and whether the recovery which started in the morning and was continued to the close was the result of some hurried short covering in advance of the triple holiday or to a more favorable view of the company's affairs the fact remained that both issues closed with a much improved tone. Spanish recovered to 21 1-2 and closed that price bid or 2 3-4 higher than on Thursday. Macdonald opened fractionally higher at 27, rose early to 28 1-2 and held between that price and 28 1-4 to the close, going out 28 1-4 bid, or equivalent to 2 1-2 points up on the day.

Other features of the day were Brazilian, which rose to 94 1-2, equaling its best price of the movement. Power, which rose 3-4 to 211, and Iron up 2-8 to 50.

Wayagamack bonds, which opened at 75 1-2 and sold up to 76 1-2, closing 76 3-4 bid, were the feature in the unlisted department.

ONE MORE MINING STOCK ON TOBOGGAN

Sales of 1,500 shares of Motherlode of Sheep Creek, B.C., took place in Montreal yesterday afternoon at 25. This is the stock, a good sized block of which was placed in Montreal a little over a year ago at 15-16 of $1.00 by the owners, Mr. John McMartin being the president. Shortly after starting the mine made good returns, but it was not long before labor and other difficulties cropped up and since then very little information has been obtainable about the property.

NEW ORE BODY AT CROWN RESERVE

High Grade Stuff Located on North Vein—Col. Carson on Outlook.

COBALT, Aug. 29.—The directors of the Crown Reserve who visited the property yesterday were cheered by the news that a new ore body had been located at the 50-foot level and on the 140-foot level of the north vein two and a half to three inches of high grade ore has been cut.

Rapid progress is being made toward draining Kerr Lake, and the company expects to start the pumps before the week-end. It is hoped that the work will be finished within three months.

Speaking of the unprospected ground, Colonel Carson, the president, said that all their remaining ground, which amounts to twelve acres, was of conglomerate and that they therefore had good prospects of finding more ore. The conglomerate was shallow, probably not more than 65 feet on an average, as compared with 175 to 180 feet on the old workings, but if they could get Crown Reserve ore for that depth they would be perfectly satisfied. This was not counting the six acres bought from the Drummond, which would be worked jointly with the Kerr Lake Mining Company.

Colonel Ross, one of the directors, said the cut in the dividend had to come some time, as mining men would understand. "Five ped cent. per month could not go on forever, and instead of having to rush out ore as we did before we can now spend more time and money in development of what we've got left."

REA CONSOLIDATED IS MAKING GOOD

Leasing Company Will Enlarge Stamp Mill—Prominent Men Interested.

So satisfactory was the mill run at the small stamp mill on the Rea Consolidated property in Porcupine during July that the directors of the company which is working the holding under a lease have decided in instal an additional five stamps. During the 19 days of last month that the plant was working a return of $3000 was noted, which for an experimental run was considered highly satisfactory.

The Rea property was taken over on a lease by the Rea Leasing Co. last winter, the Rea Consolidated having abandoned work owing to depletion of its treasury. A five stamp mill was installed, and this has been treating a portion of the ore on the dump, which accumulated during the sinking of the shaft to the 400 foot level under the old regime. In addition the new operators are sinking a winze on the vein below the 200 foot depth and are also stoping at that level.

The Rea Leasing Co. was formed when it was seen that the Rea Consolidated could not be financed successfully. The president of the company is Charles Millar of Millar, Ferguson and Hunter, barristers, Toronto, while the directors include H. L. Drayton, chairman of the Dominion Railway Commission; John Kreiner, Buffalo, owner of Shea's Circuit of Theatres, and George W. Bedell of Toronto, who is secretary-treasurer. The company paid $6000 cash for the lease and also gives a royalty of 25 per cent. net to the old corporation. The lease has five years to run.

The directors of the company leave for Porcupine today to inspect the property. They will return next Wednesday.

BIG ADVANCE IN WARD ASSESSMENT

Assessment of ward 4 for 1914 shows an advance of $8,000,000 more than that of 1913, and an increase in population of about 2,000. The returns are as follows:

	1914.	1913.
Land	$41,666,611	$36,447,602
Buildings	29,544,022	27,589,776
Business	5,800,839	4,837,402
Income	2,197,556	2,052,793
	$79,209,028	$70,927,573
Population	71,291	69,343

There is only ward 3 assessment left to be completed. A fair idea of the 1914 assessment is $508,000,000, which is an increase of about $82,000,000 over that of 1913.

A conservative estimate of the present population of the city is 446,000.

CALGARY NOT DISCOURAGED.

CALGARY, Aug. 29.—(Can. Press.)—Money bylaws providing for the expenditure of half a million dollars on Calgary exhibition plant will be submitted to the ratepayers at an early date.

The West Calls for Help—Farm Laborers Urgently Required.

The shortage of farm laborers in Western Canada is causing considerable worry to the farmers. While thousands have answered the call of the wheat fields, the demand greatly exceeds the supply, and harvesters will find ready employment in any of the three western provinces.

Farm laborers' excursions will be run via Canadian Pacific Railway as follows:

Sept. 3—From Toronto and all stations in Ontario east of, but not including, Grand Trunk line Toronto to North Bay.

Sept. 5—From all stations on Grand Trunk line, Toronto to North Bay inclusive, and west thereof in Ontario, including C.P.R. main line, Sudbury to Sault St. Marie, but not including Azilda and west.

"Going West Trip"—$10.00 to Winnipeg, plus half cent per mile from Winnipeg up to MacLeod, Calgary or Edmonton.

Return trip east—$18 from Winnipeg, nipeg, plus half cent per mile from all points east of MacLeod, Calgary or Edmonton, to Winnipeg.

The Canadian Pacific will be found the ideal route to the west, the trip from Toronto to Winnipeg being made in about 26 hours. No immigration or customs inspection; no transfer or change of cars. Full particulars from any C.P.R. agent, or write M. G. Murphy, district passenger agent, Toronto.

IDLE RUMORS OUT ON PEARL LAKE

Story of Change of Control Absolutely Denied by Officials.

BEAR RAID IN PROGRESS

General List Was Resilient—Hollinger at New High for Month.

Someone with a more fertile brain than the average started idle rumors in regard to Pearl Lake in the mining exchange yesterday, and brought the value of the stock down considerably in consequence. It was said that the Cartwright interests had sold control of the company to the Drummonds of Montreal, who hold control of the Jupiter, and who were heavily interested in the Canada Iron Corporation, which went to the wall the other day. Officials of the Pearl Lake gave the story an absolute denial, characterizing the rumor as a canard put out by the bear coterie to permit of a selling movement, and certainly the action of the security bore out the idea.

Pearl Lake sold at the opening at 35 1-4, a fractional advance from the previous close, and sagged off gradually during the day under the weight of liquidation, reaching its low level of 30 1-2 just at the close. That gave a net loss for the session of 4 1-2 points and a drop of 6 1-2 cents a share from the high level of Thursday. When it became evident that a bear raid was in progress, the insiders withdrew their supporting orders, which explained the rapidity of the decline.

Pre-Holiday Dulness.

The general list reflected the apathetic nature of sentiment, the market being in a pre-holiday mood thruout. The strength of Hollinger, which sold up some 25 points to $15.45, a new high for the month, was a prominent feature. There is a steady demand for these shares, and every few days insistent buying put in an appearance, based evidently on investment purchases. At $15.45 the shares return 12 3-4 per cent. in dividend yield.

Crown Reserve was helped by the report of a new strike at the property, rising to $1.73, a gain of two points, and McKinley-Darragh also improved its position to a slight extent. Nipissing sold at $8.90, about steady for the day. The cheaper issues were steady on the whole, with price changes few and far between. Jupiter lost two points early in the day at 16, but rallied again in the afternoon, closing at a small net gain. Wettlaufer advanced to a new high level at 17 under New York buying, and Dome Lake moved up to 25 1-4, a three point rise from Thursday's close. Seneca Superior sold at $2.25, the higest price ever recorded.

KANSAS CORN CROP NEARLY WIPED OUT

Latest Estimate Shows Deterioration Greater Than Had Been Reckoned.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—Corn closed today at a fair advance for the deferred options, but at a net loss of 1-8c for September. Pessimistic crop talk lifted December and May, but heavy liquidation depressed September. At the finish the range was 1-8 lower to 1-2c higher. Wheat closed a shade to 1-4c net lower, oats 1-4 to 3-8c up and provisions 2 1-2 to 25c higher.

Lower cables started corn on the downgrade, September being particularly weak at a decline of 3-8 to 5-8c. Shorts, however, began to cover early and the whole list rallied after a little further dip in September. A report from Kansas that the state's crop this year would make only about 7,000,000 bushels against 183,000,000 bushels in 1912, brought an upward trend that lasted thru the session with only minor setbacks. Bullish sentiment was aided by an expert estimate that the lowest forcasts for the crop in the entire United States hitherto made were substantially correct. It was also pointed out that no improvement in weather could now help matters any.

Wheat Slightly Off.

September wheat led the other months, suffering only a sixteenth of a cent net loss on the day's operations against a loss of 1-8 to 1-4c for December and 1-4c for May. Strength was given the near month by purchases of a million bushels by a small group of pit traders and commission houses. The lowest of this year's prices for wheat was recorded, easy cables being the chief bear factor and this made buying attractive.

Elevator buying of oats lifted prices after an irregular opening.

Buying of lard, attributed to leading packers, helped the tone of provisions. September pork led the advance with an increase of 25c.

DECORATIONS FOR THE EAST END

Junction of King and Queen Streets to Be Marked by Fountain, Etc.

A sanitary drinking fountain, two horse troughs, shrubs and grass plot for a central decoration of the triangle at the merging of King street into Queen street at River street were recommended by Commissioner Harris and adopted by the committee on works yesterday.

Ald. Risk headed a deputation to support the recommendation of Commissioner Harris that express wagon stands be barred from the streets. The recommendation was struck out without discussion.

Ald Rowland moved that the express stand on Duchess and George streets be removed, but had only two votes.

"We should order all express stands from the streets," said the chairman, Ald Dunn.

The matter of contractors taking more work than the size of their plants will permit of completion in the stipulated time was discussed, and the penalty clause for delay in finishing contracts is to be made more severe.

Commissioner Harris reported against permitting street railway tracks to be laid on Simcoe street, south of King street. He stated that traffic is too congested there by the freight yards to allow street railway traffic to be added.

Joy Excursion for Them.

What the Hamilton City Council did to Toronto councillors during old home week the Toronto councillors will do to the Hamilton councillors today. The Hamilton councillors are coming to the Exhibition, and before they get out of the city they will be given an auto jaunt amid the attractions of the provincial capital, will be dined by the C.N.E. directorate, and will be given box seats by the city at the grand stand performance in the evening at the great and and only fair.

JUDGE'S INQUIRY MAY NOT RESULT

City Council, It is Said, Will Not Consent to Investigation Into Mysterious Fires.

MATTER OF OPINION

Ald. Burgess Will Likely Press for Action on Part of Judge Denton.

It seems unlikely that Judge Denton will be given an early opportunity to conduct a judicial investigation into the charges of Ald. Burgess that the fire protection system of the city is inefficient. The recommendation by the board of control that a judicial investigation be held by Judge Denton is, it is said, to be a given a silencer in the city council by a force that is now well organized.

As the responsibility for the recommended judicial investigation is on Controller Church, there is left no uncertainty as to the reception the recommendation will be given in council. Controller Foster acceded to the recommendation for a judicial investigation, but he went on record as more favorable to a coroner's inquest.

When the board of control had gone so far in its enquiry into the charges of Ald. Burgess that it was ready to prepare a report for council, Controllers Church and Foster and Ald. Burgess took the stand that the results warranted a judicial investigation. The other members of the board of control were thus forced into acquiescence.

Ald. Burgess is determined to press for a judicial investigation later on should the council in the meantime insist that an enquiry by the board of control is all that is necessary.
