RETURNING TO WORK IN WINNIPEG

More Union Men Resumed

OTHERS TO TAKE VOTE

Nation-wide Strike by Telegraphers
in United States Ordered—Street Railway Controversy in Detroit

Winnipeg, June 9.—Additional union men who have been on strike here for nearly a month in sympathy with the metal workers' union were returning to work today, according to reports received by the citizen committee.

It was also reported early today that several of the local unions involved in the strike have decided to take a vote relative to returning to work immediately despite the arguments of the citizen committee that the strike should be continued until a settlement is reached with the employers in an amicable manner.

Winnipeg, June 9.—Strike leaders sent out an appeal to all union men this morning "not to do anything about returning to work until Tuesday."

The leaders intimated that the railroad brotherhoods might do something within the next twenty-four hours that would have a bearing on the strike. Some railroad executives are here for a conference.

Several Winnipeg concerns affected by the strike notified their employees this morning that their jobs would be held open until tomorrow. Advertisements for help of returned soldiers preferred were printed in a local newspaper.

U. S. Telegraphers
Chicago, June 9.—A nationwide strike of telegraph and telephone operators who are members of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America was ordered yesterday to take effect next Wednesday morning at 8 a.m. standard time.

Washington, June 9.—President Wilson has not advised the telegraphers' strike situation, said Secretary Tumulty today, and officials have no intention of calling the matter to his attention at this time. It was said that should action by the federal government be decided upon, the telegraphers would be the post office department.

Detroit Tie-Up
Detroit, June 9.—Detroit's industrial and business activities were declared fully fifty per cent. ineffective this morning because of continued complete tie-up of the city's traction service as the result of a strike of car men which became effective late on Saturday night after the failure of negotiations between the city council and the Detroit United Railways on the matter of fare. The men and the company stand on their unannounced demands, while the council has held no further conferences after refusing to concede a charge for transfer and a fare of a straight five-cent fare.

Home from Siberia
A party of soldiers from St. John and neighboring centers returned to the city at noon today on the Maritime Express, after having been with the Canadian force in Siberia. They were in command of Major M. A. Amund and consisted of W. Coleman, S. E. Chittick, W. J. Stephenson, M. A. Tibbets, C. H. Stanley, F. Richards, G. S. Porter, A. H. Buckley, B. J. Blanchard, J. Hodgson, F. Porter and P. A. McLaughlin.

The men looked to be in fine shape. They were met at the station by relatives via the K. C. reception committee. The latter were also at the train this morning at six o'clock with members of the citizens committee, with some five men returned from overseas via Halifax. More were expected but it is thought they remained at Halifax with the 85th in the celebration there.

Among those lately arrived from overseas is Capt. F. A. Courtney. He left St. John with the 140th Battalion and on its break-up in England transferred to a forestry battalion. He is being warmly greeted.

Pte. Frederick Irvine, son of Joseph Irvine of North Zehn also came home last week. He saw service in France with a Highland battalion. Mr. Irvine enlisted first with the 50th Battalion but was unable to proceed overseas because of illness. He again joined with the 280th and went to France when it was disbanded.

GERMAN COURT TO TRY WAR OFFENDERS
Berlin, June 9.—(By the Associated Press)—The constitutional convention has completed consideration of a bill creating a state court which would try those accused of starting, lengthening and losing the war. It will be presented in the national assembly soon. Deliberations of the court would be secret, and there would be no appeal from its verdict. The statement declares the court should be above party politics and responsible only to its conscience.

THE DOG LICENSES
Although all dog licenses expired on May 1—and about 1,200 were issued last year—only 557 new licenses have been issued so far for the current year. On July 1 the rates will double and those who neglect to secure their licenses before that date will have to pay for their neglect as well as for the license.

GARRY FUEL FOR 30 HOURS
Says Flight to Ireland Can Be Made
Under 19 Hours—U. S. Department Plans To Try It With Dingible C. 5

New York, June 9.—Ruth Law, who made a flight from Chicago to New York a few years ago, is in New York city to arrange for a trans-Atlantic flight, which it was announced a few days ago she would attempt. She will be ready to start the trip, she said yesterday, just as soon as a big multiple engine plane of the land machine type, capable of carrying a thirty-four hour supply of fuel can be built.

"The flight can be made from St. Johns in less than sixteen hours, for the distance of 1,920 miles to Ireland," she said, "but I want to be prepared for emergencies. The land machine is the only machine to be considered for the flight, although the flying boat would be safer if found to come down, it is impossible, however, to rise from the ocean if at all rough. I am looking now for a competent observer and navigator, in one of the same person, to save weight and space."

Washington, June 9.—Official confirmation that the navy department contemplated a trans-Atlantic flight by the dirigible C. 5, which was ordered from St. Johns, Nfld., to the Irish coast, is contained in a report of Lieut. Commander E. W. Cole of the C. 5's voyage from Montreal, P. Q., to St. Johns, Nfld. The report shows that the C. 5 made a remarkable flight lasting twenty-five hours and fifty minutes, during which the airship covered more than 1,022 sea miles without difficulty, although adverse weather conditions were encountered practically throughout.

The report indicates that the C. 5 would have been a serious contender for the honors captured by the N. C. 4 later had she not been torn from her moorings at St. Johns, and blown out to sea.

New York Newspaper Man Gets Copy of Treaty and President is Displeased

Paris, June 9.—It has been decided by the Allied and associated governments that the reply to the German counter proposals will not be delivered before Friday, June 13. It will give the Germans five days in which to accept or reject the treaty.

The Council of Four spent this morning considering the various reports submitted by the commissions which had been dealing with features of the answer to the reply to the German counter proposals. Berlin, June 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Rumors that a cabinet crisis is imminent are dismissed in official quarters as idle gossip.

Paris, June 9.—(By the Associated Press)—Herbert Hoover, chairman of the inter-Allied food commission, is discussing the situation in Europe and the need of financing different nations, said today.

"Any statement is promised upon peace and that return of Europe to work. I do not take it we will finance any more war in Europe, directly or indirectly, nor that we will provide money to enable the people of Europe to live without work, or to work part of the time, as at present all over Europe. This sort of economic detourments will end with peace."

Get Text in New York
New York, June 9.—The full text of the treaty of peace with the Central Powers, which has been the subject of discussion in the United States senate for a week or more, has been brought to this country by Fraser Hunt, a correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, and is being syndicated to newspapers in this country in copyrighted sections. The first section appeared today.

Mr. Hunt says the copy of the treaty which he brought here is one of the original drafts and was obtained in Paris. It is printed in French and English and runs about 75,000 words. He says it is quite easy to obtain German translations of the treaty in Germany and neutral countries, but that he is omitting them as they are without the maps which his original draft copy contains.

The 14th was organized in London by Colonel Corbet with details of Canadians, after their return from Canada. Dr. Corbet went over with the contingent and afterwards returned to organize a field ambulance unit here.

Detroit, Mich., June 9.—That an alleged conspiracy to defraud the government of $30,000,000 worth of munition supplies has been uncovered by department of justice agents became known on Saturday.

Indictments charging conspiracy have been returned by the United States grand jury against Captain S. Nicholson of Washington, connected with the ordnance department; Grant Hugh Brown, a millionaire sportsman; Fred C. Collins, vice-consul to Greece and president of a local realty company, and a United States army officer now in France, according to Arthur L. Barkey, chief of the Detroit Bureau of Investigation of the department of justice.

New York, June 9.—Grant Hugh Brown, who was indicted in Detroit today on a charge of conspiring to defraud the government, has been identified with New York and London financial affairs for many years.

For some years he had occupied a conspicuous place in various enterprises as promoter. He has also been connected with various steel, lead and Cobalt interests which he owned and controlled.

One of his recent ventures was the forming of a syndicate in London in August, 1918, which purchased the British steamer Viking for the purpose of bringing home Americans stranded in Europe when the war broke out.

The accident caused considerable excitement and it was reported along the river that some one had been drowned. This caused quite a stir in other resorts. Men who have had experience on the river, especially in Grand Bay, contend that under some stringent measures are introduced to prevent crowding of small motor boats there will be an appalling catastrophe some day. Rowboats that have been converted into motor boats are seen on holidays and Sundays proceeding up river over crowded and narrow channels, and are down to a few inches from the gunwale. These boats, they contend, could not live in the bay if the water was rough and as the majority of the occupants are women and men who cannot swim all too readily it would perish.

Members of Electrical Workers
Union Ask Council to Put Them on Same Footing With Master
Electricians

An informal discussion of matters relating to the proposed electrical by-laws marked a meeting of the common council in committee this morning. Owing to the absence from the city of Commissioner Thornton the regulations were not given into detail, but some members of the electrical workers' union put their views before the other members of the council. Their chief objection was to the regulation which would make it impossible for a journeyman electrician to undertake work on his own account; they wanted the distinction between master electricians and journeymen abolished so that a journeyman could take a contract or do work on his own account. They also upheld their contention that electricians as well as power company employes should have access to the main switch boxes.

Mayor Hayes proposed and Commissioner Fisher, Bullock and Jones were present.

Commissioner Fisher reported that it was not his intention to renew the accident insurance on the Alco truck used by his department. This was agreed to by Mr. Bullock's recommendation that a house in Millford road, owned by the city, be sold for $400 cash to Michael and Agnes Butler was approved.

A delegation from the Electrical Workers' Union, which presented a petition to the council, asking for the privilege of access to the main switch boxes of the city, was approved.

H. C. Lawton said that when the main switch box was necessary to call for an electrician and they could not find the need for a power company employe as well, as this would delay having the light turned on and, as usual, dumped the rock, which overwhelmed the unfortunate man. He was soon rescued and was rescued and rushed in the ambulance to the General Public Hospital. It was found that he was badly cut on the lip and bruised about the legs, and was generally shaken, but it is expected he will have fully recovered in a few days.

OFFICER AND V. A. D.
MARRIED IN MONCTON

Moncton, June 9.—A wedding of much interest took place in St. Bernard's church this morning when Miss Julia Cecilia Flanagan became the bride of Henry Lloyd-Morris, captain of Royal Engineers, of Fife Hill, Shropshire, England. Rev. Edward Savage officiated. Both bride and groom have served overseas; the former as nurse with the first detachment of V. A. D.'s, serving in various military hospitals in France, while the groom has seen active service on the western front and in Mesopotamia. Owing to serious illness of the bride's father, Ex-Alderman James Flanagan, the wedding was a very quiet one. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. J. M. MacFarlane, of Ottawa, and the groom by his brother-in-law, Harold P. Feeley of Montreal. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd-Morris left for St. John, Boston and other cities.

COST OF LIVING INQUIRY
In view of the invitation extended by Ottawa to the city to appoint a commission to investigate the cost of living, the attitude of one of Canada's principal cities towards the proposal is of interest. Toronto has rejected the proposal on the grounds that this is a matter entirely outside of municipal jurisdiction and one for the federal authorities to deal with. Suggestions have been made by the mayor of Toronto that regulation of combines and favorable tariff action would have more effect than local investigations.

STOLE RUM INTENDED FOR JACK TARS
Some One Bored Through Car Into Barrel at Cobalt—One Man Arrested; Another Sought

Cobalt, Ont., June 9.—Joe Tallon has pleaded guilty to an ingenious theft of rum destined for Jack Tars in the British navy, whose base is at Esquimaux, B. C., and the police are also searching for C. E. Fisher in connection with the robbery.

Both men were employed here by the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, Tallon as janitor and Fisher as operator. In a car shipped from Halifax to the coast were eleven barrels of rum, each containing forty-six gallons, and being the property of the British government and sent west for the use of the sailors. The car happened to be held up here on account of the embargo on goods going west and while in the yard it was bored through the floor of the car.

The police were notified and Chief Constable Swan, of the T. & N. O., and Provincial Inspector Rowell discovered a thirty gallon gasoline drum, filled with the liquor, hidden in a muskug south of the station. Tallon was arrested. Fisher has disappeared.

GIRL RESCUED FROM DROWNING

Thrilling Experience on Sunday
At Belyea's Point

SOLDIER SAVES LIFE
George R. Crosby's Gallant Act—
Two Young Men and Two
Sinking of Boat

A drowning accident was narrowly averted at Belyea's Point on the St. John river yesterday when a tender carrying two young men and women filled and sank. The party arrived off the point in a large motor launch and started for the shore in a small tender. When they were about eighteen feet from the shore the boat began to fill and suddenly sank, leaving the occupants in the river. One of the young men was able to swim and, seeing the young lady nearest to him struck out for the shore. The other man could not swim, but by moving his feet and hands succeeded in reaching the beach after a brief but hard struggle. The other young woman sank.

The accident was witnessed from the shore and George R. Crosby, a returned soldier of the 4th Siege Battery, jumped into the water and swam to the spot where she had disappeared. He succeeded in catching hold of her as she was sinking for the third time, but as she was frantically struggling he had considerable difficulty getting her to shore. She had swallowed a large quantity of water, but after a rest seemed to be none the worse for her thrilling experience.

The accident caused considerable excitement and it was reported along the river that some one had been drowned. This caused quite a stir in other resorts. Men who have had experience on the river, especially in Grand Bay, contend that under some stringent measures are introduced to prevent crowding of small motor boats there will be an appalling catastrophe some day. OVER EDGE OF NEW
BREAKWATER AND
LOAD DUMPED ON HIM

Falling down the jagged side of the breakwater, into the water in Courtney Bay, and having a carload of ballast dumped on him, Stephen Pappas, a Russian, miraculously escaped being crushed to death on Saturday afternoon. He was employed by the Bedford Construction Company and was working on the ballast train. When at the end of the breakwater, he was struck by a carload of ballast, which fell on him, and he was thrown over the edge of the breakwater. Those operating the breakwater were not aware of this, and, as usual, dumped the rock, which overwhelmed the unfortunate man. He was soon rescued and was rescued and rushed in the ambulance to the General Public Hospital. It was found that he was badly cut on the lip and bruised about the legs, and was generally shaken, but it is expected he will have fully recovered in a few days.

SUNDAY EXPRESS ON THE U. S. SEN. T. AND
THE IRISH QUESTION

London, June 8.—"We do not mind it for it is purely domestic politics," says the Sunday Express, in commenting on a resolution passed by the United States senate asking the American peace delegates in Paris to secure a hearing for Ireland's delegates before the peace conference.

"It affects Anglo-American relations," continues the newspaper, "no more than if the House of Lords were to recommend that the peace conference receive a delegation from the Philippines to hear the reasons why their aspirations for freedom from American control should not be realized, or a delegation from Porto Rico with a similar mission."

"But as Kipling says, that is another story, and the House of Lords does not depend for its existence on votes, and there is no organized propaganda in this country to free Western Islanders who are doing as well under the Americans as the Irish are under the British."

NAZIMOVA'S RISE IS UNPARALLELED

Famous Star, Who Appears at Imperial Theatre, Has Had Career of Unbroken Successes

Alla Nazimova, who will be seen in "Eye for Eye" at the Imperial theatre on Wednesday and Thursday has become the supreme screen star of the day. Born in Taltia, a little Crimean town on the shores of the Black Sea, she was taken to Geneva when a child. While there she showed a remarkable aptitude for music and became a violinist of distinction at the age of twelve. She gave up music as a profession, however, and devoted herself to the study of dramatic art. Immediately upon graduation she became leading woman with a stock company in Krotomna, Russia, and played over two hundred parts during her first season. Soon after this she moved to the theatre where she appeared in the leading parts in all prominent roles including "Zaza," "Camille," "Magda," "Hedda Gabler," "Trilby," and "The Second Mrs. Langensky." She attempted to make a production of "The Chosen People," a revolutionary play, but was stopped by the Russian censors.

LIBERAL CRITIC ON BUDGET THIS AFTERNOON

Amendment Likely to Be Proposed—Division by Thursday Night

Ottawa, June 9.—It was said at Liberal headquarters this morning that A. R. McMaster, chief opposition financial critic, will close his speech on Sir Thomas White's budget this afternoon with an amendment. The nature of it is not disclosed, but it is regarded as likely that it will follow the line of the Liberal resolution moved early in the session. This proposal goes further in the direction of free trade than the budget proposals making provision for free cottons and free agricultural implements. While it is practically certain that some from the other side of the Great Lakes will give the support to the McMaster amendment there is much difference of opinion as to how numerous this group will be.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY

A determined attempt to break into a clothing store in Union street was made last week. Access was gained from the back, and the glass in the door was broken. On the inner side the opening was protected with iron bars, and the burglar had patiently started through one of the bars and had started on the second cut. Apparently they had been frightened away, as they were on the verge of success.

Have You an Extra Pair of Glasses?

To be without a reserve pair of glasses is inexcusable lack of foresight. It means if you break a pair, which may happen any minute, you are put to much inconvenience, discomfort and possible distress. To be without your glasses even the few hours it takes to have a new lens made at Sharp's means a handicap in your work, embarrassment, and you can think of conditions wherein it might mean a heavy financial loss.

SONS OF S. D. SCOTT IN THE GREAT WAR

(Mount Allison Record) At the opening of the war, Cecil Scott son of S. D. Scott, LL.D. of Vancouver, was engaged in newspaper work in Montreal. He enlisted at once and was one of the first contingents to go over from Valcartier. He has come through the long service unharmed and has reached the rank of Captain. Since the Armistice he has been on leave of absence from Brussels for a trip along the Rhine, visiting Cologne, Bonn, Coblenz, Mayence and Wiesbaden. On the return trip he fell in with the captain of one of the English patrol boats who took him down the river to Cologne.

MASKED ROBBERS IN MONTREAL BEAT A WOMAN'S STEAL $2,500

Montreal, June 9.—Drugged, beaten and robbed by an armed gang of masked robbers at four o'clock this morning, the wife of Mrs. Margot, a summer resident of 2688 Gouin Boulevard. The caretaker of the house was beaten and drugged and tied to his bed. The mistress, had her left eye kicked out by one of the desperados, but the animals' noise sent the gang racing away in a high powered automobile with $500 in cash and $2,000 in jewellery.

CORN AND OATS

Chicago, June 9.—Owing more or less to absence of any large stock on hand, the delivery of corn showed strength today, but later months were heavily affected by good weather. Changes, however, were within narrow limits. The 200,000 bushel limit on trading tended to prevent wide fluctuations. Opening prices, which ranged from 1-3/8 off to 1-3/8 cent advance, with July $1.88-4 to $1.89-8 and September $1.80-1-4 to $1.81-4, were followed by moderate general setbacks, but then by a decided up-turn in July.

ALLISON GROUP IN WASHINGTON STATE

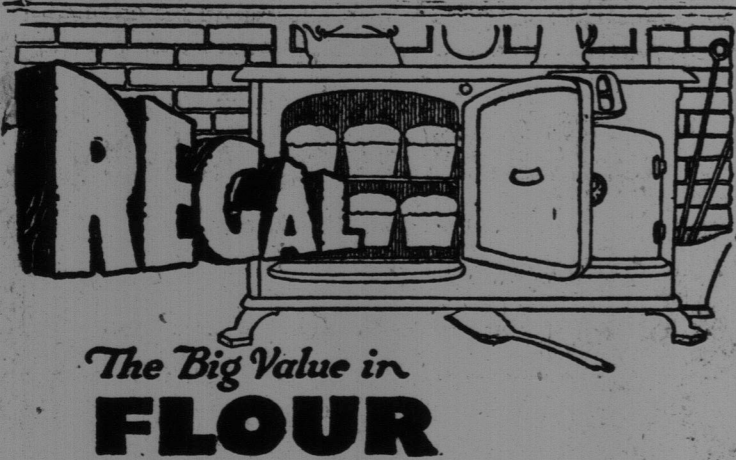

(Mount Allison Record) A subscription to the library fund was recently received from Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Olive, formerly of St. John West, now living in Cashmere, Washington state. Mrs. Olive was herself an old student of the Ladies' College and will be better remembered by some of her friends of that time as Isabelle McHenry. One daughter, Harriett Olive, graduated in 1894 and won the alumni honors of her year. She subsequently studied at Radcliffe College, Harvard. She is Mrs. C. Ward of Manson, Wash., and is bringing up a family of two boys and two girls on a beautiful fruit farm overlooking the charming scenery of Lake Chelan. The other daughter, Mrs. Marion Chase (Mabel Olive), the wife of a prominent hydraulic engineer, lives at Olympia, the capital of Washington state. The sons, Leonard and Walter, are connected with land companies and fruit ranching in the same state. It is rather strange that the members of this St. John family should still be living within easy distance of each other while so far from their old home. Many will be glad to hear from them and know that they still have a warm feeling for Mount Allison and her interests.

NORTH END FIRE

An alarm was rung in this morning about 11 o'clock from Box 181 for a fire in a barn owned by a man named Carter. Its origin was unknown, but it was in a pile of refuse in the barn. As usual the fire department responded very quickly and the blaze was soon extinguished.

Hydroplane That Was Here Reaches Three Rivers—Saw Some Forest Fires

Three Rivers, Que., June 9.—From Halifax to Fraserville by air is the feat terminated yesterday by Lieut. Graham, his wife and their mechanic. They arrived at Three Rivers at 8:10 yesterday afternoon and were greeted by a throng of people. At one time thirty miles were covered in fifteen minutes. They saw several forest fires on their way from St. John, but none were grave. They say their progress from the Maine border to Fraserville was somewhat hampered by poor gas they bought there, and at Fraserville they looked for a new supply. Early on Saturday evening they attempted to fly from Fraserville to Quebec, but a heavy sea prevented them from taking to the air. At one o'clock Sunday afternoon the hydroplane left Fraserville. At Three Rivers they were officially received by Hon. J. A. Tessier, provincial minister of highways, and also Mayor of Three Rivers by R. F. Grant, president of the St. Maurice Protective Association; Mr. Scorsius, manager of the St. Maurice Protective Association, and Ellwood Wilson, of the board of directors. Mrs. Graham received a bouquet of roses from Mrs. Tessier and the aviators were then taken in automobiles to their hotel. They had dinner and then left again in their hydroplane at 8:30 last night for Lac A. La. Tortue, seventy miles north of Three Rivers.

TENDER GUMS — A WARNING

Researches of gum diseases show that many of them are caused by bacteria of the genus Forhanella. Four out of five people over forty have Forhanella—many under forty also. Loosening of teeth, toothache, pyorrhea, bleeding gums, too, remember—these inflamed, bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

REGRETS CANADIAN RED CROSS WORKERS NOT IN HONOR LIST

Chief Commissioner Blakelock Makes Some Observations and Refers to Parliament's Action

London, June 9.—(Canadian Associated Press)—Colonel Blakelock, chief commissioner overseas of the Canadian Red Cross, has made some observations to the Canadian Associated Press concerning the king's birthday honors list and the absence of any official recognition of the Canadian Red Cross workers.

Hundreds of decorations had been given to the British Red Cross Society and other dominions for their work. One were neglected because ninety-six members of the Canadian House of Commons passed a resolution asking the king to refrain from granting titular honors or distinctions to Canadian citizens.

"Of all times," said Colonel Blakelock, "is this the time when they should say the king and country may not honor the gallant sons and daughters of the Maple Leaf?"

He said there was undoubtedly a strong body of Canadian sentiment in England running counter to the decision of the Canadian parliament regarding honors. Hundreds of men and women had devoted their whole time during the war to work of mercy. Canada with her small population had given millions sterling to the society, but not one of the workers in England had received recognition.

ST. JOHN MUST WAKE UP.

The legislature of New Brunswick without a dissenting voice enacted a law providing for vocational training in this province.

This was done after a commission had gathered a mass of information from other provinces and the States and submitted a report and recommendations.

The parliament of Canada is providing a million dollars a year for five years to aid in the introduction of vocational training.

This action resulted from the report of the Robertson Commission some years ago, the most exhaustive report on the subject that has ever been prepared, and which has been made the basis of action in the United States as well as in Canada.

After the New Brunswick vocational training act was passed messages of congratulation were received from other provinces and the States, describing it as a most progressive measure, and one of the most progressive yet adopted by any province or state.

This act provides for vocational training boards, of whom the majority are to be members of the existing boards of school trustees, and the chairman of the school board is chairman of the vocational board.

Woodstock and Fredericton have already appointed vocational training boards.

In St. John a thoroughly representative meeting unanimously declared in favor of the appointment of a board for this city and a grant of five thousand dollars to enable it to bring vocational training within reach of working boys and girls, or boys and girls of high school age, and adults who may desire the training, during the coming fall and winter. The province pays half the salaries.

But what do we find? There is said to be opposition. On what is it based? Have the opponents greater wisdom than the legislature, the parliament of Canada, the Robertson Commission—and all who in Canadian provinces, American states and European countries have declared an educational system without vocational training to be a crime against nine-tenths of the children of the state? Of course not. It means either that those who oppose have not taken the trouble to study the subject, or are listening to somebody whose intellectual growth stopped many years ago, or somebody who is always looking for a chance to criticise and condemn what others endeavor to accomplish.

It cannot be believed that a majority of the city council or the school board will permit themselves to be so influenced as to stand in the way of so great a boon, which is also the natural right of nine-tenths of the young people of this city.

BEAVERBROOK'S STRATEGY.

In an article on Lord Northcliffe, in the Saturday Evening Post, Mr. Isaac F. Macrae has this to say about Lord Beaverbrook as a political strategist, in the manoeuvre that made Lloyd George prime minister, after the retirement of Mr. Asquith:

"Lloyd George's great opportunity was now at hand, for the road to the premiership was open. Northcliffe saw in him the hope of the hour and advocated his elevation. He was not alone in this desire, nor did he lack a valiant colleague. For two years there had lurked behind the political scenes a remarkable man whose peculiar talents were now to have full play. Indeed they had been employed for a year in shaping and maintaining coalition. That man was Lord Beaverbrook, whose life story I told in the Saturday Evening Post just a year ago. Born Max Aitkin, he was a struggling Canadian bank clerk at eighteen, a maker of mergers at thirty, a millionaire at thirty-four and a peer at thirty-nine. He had come to London a decade ago and was drawn irresistibly into politics. He had known Bonar Law, the Unionist leader, in the old days, and they became inseparable friends. Bonar Law practically held the Unionist whip hand. He was essential to a renewal of coalition. The moment Asquith resigned the King formally and perfunctorily asked Bonar Law to form a cabinet, which was about as feasible an undertaking for him as crossing the Atlantic in a canoe. Here is where Beaverbrook came in. Down at his country house at Leatherhead was held a series of conferences at which the new government was practically framed. Every manner of conflicting political interest and personal ambition had to be reconciled. The one-time Canadian bank clerk proved that he could handle men as readily as he could make millions. He had the call, so to speak, on Bonar Law, and exercised strong influence with Lloyd George. While Northcliffe threw out a smoke-screen in the shape of a news-

GOUGING THE CONSUMER.

Some astounding statements are made in a report of the cost of living commissioner to the minister of labor in regard to the prices of woollen and cotton goods. With regard to cottons a summary of the report says:

"In the case of cottons, the manufacturers' prices have also declined since last fall, and the stocks coming ahead for retail sale have cost the middlemen decidedly less than earlier stocks. The retail price of such commodities should be reduced. Evidence at hand so far indicates that a moderation of profits should allow an immediate drop in prices. In addition to large and increasing manufacturers' profits, the middlemen have added a very heavy percentage of profit to the manufacturers' prices. Evidence given in the report shows that, in many cases, the retail price is more than double manufacturers' prices. The margin taken by the middlemen is greater than the whole amount that went to the farmer, manufacturer, and laborer."

While this condition exists the Ottawa report says that Canada has a larger supply of raw material for cottons and woollens than ever before.

It is also a fact that the supply of cattle, sheep and hogs in Canada today is larger than before the war. And Australian mutton can be imported and sold far cheaper than Canadian mutton.

Well—what is the government going to do about all this interesting information?

Forty-nine years ago today Charles Dickens died and the world mourned the passing of a master. The pen which had been transcribing the story of Edwin Drood had been laid down but a few hours before, never to be taken up again. A wonderful life work had been ended. It has been the lot of few writers to sway the millions as has the great English author. He played upon the emotions with a skilled touch that brought laughter and tears at will. Though Dickens is dead near half a century his works are in the category of those that will never die.

The spirit of Bolshevism is well illustrated by this despatch from Vienna:

"Three thousand peasants, young women and children, have been shot or hanged by the Red Army as a consequence of revolts in Western Hungary around Odenburg, according to news regarded trustworthy, which has been received here. The entire village of Kolhof was burned. The massacre took place after thirty-two villages surrounding Odenburg had refused to go over to Bolshevism. They desired to join up with Austria."

paper barrage it was Beaverbrook in the role of a manipulator of men who really framed up the new government with the intention that Lloyd George should be the premier. Here in a nutshell is the inside story of one of the most dramatic episodes of the war, so far as British public life is concerned. For his services Beaverbrook was made a peer."

Mayor Gray of Winnipeg has taken a firm grip of the situation and has proved himself a fearless official. The strikers may not like it but they cannot withhold respect for a man who speaks plainly and acts with decision.

It is announced that a travelling clinic or ambulance carrying a trained nurse and a doctor will work throughout the congested districts of Montreal during the coming summer in an effort to lessen infant mortality.

Today's reports from Russia show that the Bolsheviks are steadily if slowly losing ground.

THANKS TO AMHERST.

L'Evenement, under the heading "Thank you, Amherst," says that "all the officers and men of the 22nd Regiment, are never tired of thanking the citizens and ladies of Amherst, N. S., where our soldiers passed such a very agreeable sojourn in the spring of 1918 before setting out on their grand adventure overseas. Amherst, in fact, treated our boys as spoiled children. The population of that beautiful town was not only satisfied in treating royally the soldiers during the few weeks passed in their midst, but they also treated them finely when they left, besides following them with a kind attention while absent and receiving them with affection on their return. In fact, Amherst could not have treated the 22nd better had they been composed of their own children. We have it from General Tremblay that hundreds of parcels were sent from Amherst to the boys after their arrival in France. These good people were not satisfied in giving them presents, but they likewise sent them useful wearing apparel. Then, following their arrival in Halifax, the civic authorities of Amherst insisted in vain, unfortunately, that they should be given an opportunity of tendering a splendid reception to this French-Canadian unit to which the town had given a constant attention since they went away. This is also an eloquent tribute to the good conduct of our patriots during their happy sojourn in Nova Scotia, but also to the honor to this Anglo-Canadian centre, whose name will be hereafter dear to the surviving members of the original regiment, to their relatives, to their friends and to their compatriots in general. Thanks, then, for your kindness to our brave soldiers."

LIGHTER VEIN

Through His Pockets

Mrs. Clark came running hurriedly into her husband's office one morning. "Oh, Dick," she cried, as she gasped for breath "I dropped my diamond ring off my finger, and I can't find it anywhere."

"Only this little bullet the doctor took out of my side," he answered gravely. "Aw, gee," sighed wifely. "I wish it had been a German bullet."

Too Small

A returned soldier had scarcely greeted his friend wife after his return from France, when she asked eagerly: "And dearie, did you bring me a lot of souvenirs?" "Only this little bullet the doctor took out of my side," he answered gravely. "Aw, gee," sighed wifely. "I wish it had been a German bullet."

Excused

"Please, sergeant major, may I be excused from church parade? I'm an agnostic."

"Don't you believe in the Ten Commandments, then?"

"No, I don't."

"Not even the one about keeping the Sabbath?"

"No."

"Well, you're the very man I've been looking for to scrub out the canten."

Do Right, Don't Write.

The lawyer looked serious, and his client gloomy. "It was a clear case of breach of promise, and the only question was how much the young man would have to pay. The lawyer felt it his duty to speak a few words of warning. 'Oh, I know all that,' interrupted his client angrily. 'Same old saying: 'Do right, and fear nothing.' 'No,' corrected the man of law. 'In this case I should have added: 'Don't write, and fear nothing.'"

WHEN WE HAD TROTZKY.

Toronto Globe: Lieut.-Col. J. B. MacLean has been telling the readers of MacLean's Magazine the inside history of Trotsky's brief sojourn in Canada. He asks "Why did we let Trotsky go?" Ottawa was warned that Trotsky was dangerous, but Ottawa was probably skeptical of the power of a down-at-heel writer and reporter to change the current of the world's progress. It was a bad day for civilization when Ottawa's pigeon-holed the report on Trotsky.

BELIEVE HE HAD PART IN BETRAYAL OF EDITH CAVELL TO GERMANS

Paris, June 9.—Gaston Quin, a Socialist known as Luc, who, it is believed, played a prominent part in the betrayal of Edith Cavell, executed by the Germans at Brussels in October, 1915, will be placed on trial next month. A long preliminary inquiry established that Quin was serving a sentence in the jail at St. Quentin in 1914 and was liberated when the Germans took the town. It is said he entered the Germans' service as a spy and got employment in Miss Cavell's hospital in Brussels. Soon after he began to work there, it is alleged, Miss Cavell was arrested and executed. Quin was afterwards sent to Switzerland as an invalid.

Sixty witnesses have been called. They include Princess Marie of Croix, who also was denounced to the Germans by Quin, and Madame Bovard, who was tried at the same time as Miss Cavell.

WOULD BE AN OUTRAGE.

(Hamilton Herald.)
The Montreal Journal of Commerce says it would be amazing if any considerable number of dairy farmers desire to have the ban on oleomargarine repealed. It would be far more amazing if the Dominion government were to authorize any such outrage upon the consuming public.

complete a certain amount of new cargo tonnage during the war, with the result that both lines are well equipped to meet the demands of their pre-war trade. The Brockbank line, indeed, is able to spare some tonnage to assist us on the North Atlantic.

"The Aquitania and Mauretania remain under charter to the government for the repatriation of troops, but all the other steamers are now running on the company's account, free from requisition. The passenger steamers are, however, carrying quantities of government cargo at contract rates, which are substantially below the market level. There can be no full resumption of passenger business until the movement of troops draws to a close, nor can we do very much in the way of restoring our best ships to their proper conditions as passenger carriers. We are, however, doing some passenger business in the space that remains at our disposal after meeting government requirements, and it is evident that there will be a large business when the troop movement ends.

"During the war we—and here I refer to the Canard Line apart from the associated companies—carried in our own and chartered ships, and ships placed under our management, 900,000 troops and 10,000,000 tons of cargo, while our vessels were employed at various times as armed cruisers, hospital ships, transports and prison ships, as well as their regular trades."

SMALL BOY DROWNED IN THE MARSH CREEK

While playing yesterday with William Smith and Gordon Marr, Stanley Hope, six-year-old son of Thomas Hope of 58 Thorne Avenue, was drowned in Marsh Creek. The two other lads had gone ashore, but he continued playing in the boat in which they had been. He was carried along by the current, and standing up, lost his balance. The tide carried him through the sluice gates and though he fought hard against the force of water, the little fellow was drowned. An alarm from box 421 called the fire department but it was too late. The body was found by Ernest Lee and taken to the father's home.

Stanley Hope is survived by his father and mother, by five brothers—George, Hemmie, Arthur, Benjamin and Edward—and by one sister, Alice. The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the father's residence, 58 Thorne avenue.

The Passing Of Omar Khayyam

Champion of 1917 Lacked His Famous Stretch Run in Belmont Feature

New York, June 7.—That Wilfrid Vian's Omar Khayyam is no longer the great horse that he was two years ago was the verdict of most of the racers at Belmont Park today. The three-year-old champion of 1917 made his first appearance at a local track at a mile and a sixteenth, with Loftus in the saddle, he was made favorite, but was a trifle all the way, and finished last in a field of four.

Omar Khayyam was set a rather stiff task as he had to concede weight to all the other starters, giving as much as sixteen pounds by the scale to William Martin's Valor, a five-year-old that took advantage of his light impost by setting the pace and winning easily by a length and a half from W. H. Cox's Natural Bridge, A. K. Macomber's Hollister was third, four lengths behind the three-year-old.

The track record for the distance has been the subject of frequent assaults since the meeting opened, and Valor picked up at again by turning the mile and a sixteenth in 1:44, a fifth of a second faster than the time made by Trompe La Mort and Prince last Monday. Valor is the fourth horse to lower the record in the fourteen days of racing.

Speculation had given the idea that the race would be evenly contested, but it turned out to be merely a procession. Valor jumped off in the lead and opened a two length gap at the end of the back stretch with Natural Bridge the

French News Of Strike Interests Returned Soldiers

A news despatch of Wednesday from Bethune, France, concerning a mining strike in the Pas de Calais and also in the Anah district was read with interest by many returned soldiers. It was in and about these parts that many of them spent quite happy hours when out of the trenches, especially in the Bethune area, for Anah was not reached until the final drive was well along.

Coal mining is perhaps the most important industry of the Nord district and there are many snug little towns where our boys were housed and looked after by the miners and their families. As a rule the miners seemed fairly comfortable and lived better than the farming class, besides which their villages were generally cleaner. They were not highly paid, however, and had very long hours.

The mines in the Nord district are very well kept and organized and provide employment for a large number of the inhabitants. Many of the men are reported on strike, have often talked of Canada and their chances with our lads here, and though at times the conversation lapsed because of linguistic difficulties, "son" or "pas bon" expressed a great deal especially when accompanied by expressive gestures. It was in these mines for the most part which the troops were at rest that they received their none too frequent bath—this was a feature of the industry which was particularly well arranged, long rooms of good showers being established in all the plants.

Japanese Scholar Discusses Press

Dr. Minakuchi, in an interview, contrasts publicity methods in United States and His Own Country—Integrity Urged

Chicago, June 9.—Because of the position which the United States occupies today in world affairs, a greater responsibility rests upon the American press than ever before, declared Dr. Yutaka Minakuchi, Japanese lecturer, in an interview here with a representative of the Christian Science Monitor.

Dr. Minakuchi was educated in the universities of Kentucky, North Carolina, and Virginia, and at Yale. He speaks excellent English, and is an orator. Not only is he a student of the affairs of Japan and the Orient, but he is also a student of American life. At the present time he is delivering lectures in various universities of the United States on the subject of "American-Japanese Relations."

America's influence is tremendous, and will be greater, said Dr. Minakuchi, when asked what of the responsibilities of the press in international affairs. Japan, China and the Balkans are looking to America for a fresh moral influence. America stands as the great international moderator, continued Dr. Minakuchi. With the United States occupying the position it does in world affairs, he declared, its press should see to it that, first of all, it gives correct information, and in giving this information its interpretation of the news should be unbiased and impartial, leaving the reader to draw his own conclusions.

Function of the Press. "The function of good journalism is to inform the public on the vital questions of the day, speaking in general terms," he said. "And of course that means that the information must be authentic and reliable. Of late, we have seen all kinds of foreign news published some of it having no foundation or ground whatever. This has been true of the Korean question. One day a despatch was published from Peking and the next day the paper that published it told us that the report was not so and had been denied officially. What sense is there in giving such a report? Why can't the people wait until such reports are authenticated?"

"There is a tendency in this country to put what is offensive on the front page. The policy ought to be the reverse, and the other pages ought to be devoted to what is to our vital interest. There ought to be a wider margin between news and gossip. A good journal, in my opinion, should make it a point to put what is good first. "I believe in the freedom of the press, but I do not believe in abusing that freedom. With most papers today there is a tendency to abuse that privilege. I admire the freedom in American college life, but if not careful, that freedom may be abused. There is not so much freedom of the press or freedom of speech in Japan, but with all the regulations there is a tendency toward yellow journalism."

News Should Be Unbiased. The interpretation of news should be unbiased, said Dr. Minakuchi, again emphasizing a point which he made many times during the interview. He said that the editor stands in much the same position as a public speaker. The public speaker must be sincere in what he says. He should have sincerity and honesty of purpose and speak, not for his own glorification, but put the interest of the public first. So it should be with the editor. He should be fair, but in too many instances it is the reverse.

"The trouble," continued Dr. Minakuchi, "as we have found, all humanity is selfish, and this selfishness has asserted itself as materialism. The attitude is not humanitarian, but utilitarian. With too many papers it is a mathematical calculation in terms of money. The question is not how much good may be accomplished for the public, but how many copies of the paper can we sell?"

Every newspaper, in the opinion of Dr. Minakuchi, should have a definite programme to follow, and should concentrate its efforts on that programme. Its foreign news should be such as would furnish the public with a view to creating a better feeling among all nations and its advertising department, he continued, should encourage business honesty.

Dr. Minakuchi said he would not think of going back to Japan and enlarging upon the worst side of American life. But the newspapers that are sent broadcast can present wrong impressions. There are too many journals, he added, that have no conception of conscience on those things, and give wrong impressions of the real America. If the newspapers would publish good things, said Dr. Minakuchi, it would encourage people to do good and if the papers published this class of news, the public would take it quicker than the sensational.

OLD OXFORD PALACE CATHOLIC SEMINARY.

Recalls Bishop King, Once Famous in England.

London, June 9.—The old Palace of Bishop King, in St. Alde's, Oxford, is to be converted into a seminary for the training of candidates for the ranks of the Catholic secular clergy. The candidates while in residence will pursue their studies at the university.

The direction of the theological side of the seminary will be in charge of the Right Rev. Mgr. Stapylton Barnes, M. A., of University College, formerly the vicar of St. Michael's (Church of England), Shorelitch, who was received into the Church of Rome by Cardinal Merry del Val in 1895. For some years he held the post of Roman Catholic chaplain at the University of Cambridge.

Bishop King was the first Bishop of Osney, the original diocese. He built the palace about 1548. After his death in 1557, when he was buried in Christ Church Cathedral, the house passed into other hands and subsequently became the property of Union Crook, a colonel in Cromwell's army. From 1619 to 1627 it was the residence of John Howson, Bishop of Oxford.

Bishop King was originally a Cistercian monk, but afterwards joined the Austin canons and passed through various changes of faith during the reigns of Henry, Edward and Queen Mary. At present services are being held in the old hall of the palace, but it is proposed to convert the stable at the back of the palace into a temporary chapel.

FIRST ATTEMPTED OCEAN FLIGHT

(Christian Science Monitor.)

In the successful crossing of the Atlantic by Lieutenant-Commander Read, the first effort at trans-Atlantic flight should not be forgotten. It was on October 13, 1910, that Walter Wellman left Atlantic City in the airship America bound for Europe and kept the air for three days and nights, making about 1,000 miles of the journey before being compelled to abandon the attempt. Motor trouble and a gale from the tropics put the American practically out of commission, and the airship was abandoned. Wellman and his crew of five being left in mid-ocean in the lifeboat which hung beneath her during the journey. They were picked up by a steamer from Bermuda, and in his book, "The Aerial Age," Wellman afterward wrote: "God bless America, farewell. Thank you for the noble comrades and rare experience you have brought me, for the lesson you have taught us. In the years to come many aircraft will cross the Atlantic; and you will be honored as the ship that showed the way."

KING GEORGE ON FUTURE HOUSING

British Sovereign, as Landlord, Tells Building Authorities "Homes" Not Houses Needed

London, June 9.—It has been truly said that the mere passing of an act will not suffice to remedy injustice or offset undesirable conditions. The only power that can set the act in motion is the will of the people, and the sole factor in starting public opinion upon the road of practical achievement is a serious and well-balanced appreciation of the vital necessities of a case.

King George is not only the head of a nation, he is also a landlord, and his son is the life-tenant of large areas in London, as well as of mining villages in the west of England. Some time ago, after a happy inspiration caused him to ask representatives of local building authorities and societies to meet him and Queen Mary at Buckingham Palace, in order to discuss the future re-housing of the nation. He has given a lead to all those people who feel but little social responsibility, and his action will cause many to give a pledge to interest themselves in a better state of things, who hitherto have regarded all housing authorities as uncomfortable people, whose objects of life appears to be to send up the rates.

There is at the moment some reason to call a halt in the housing movement, and this has been shown the reason why. "Homes," he remarked, "is what is required, not merely 'houses,' and it is exactly in this ratio in which the essential difference between a mere house and a 'home' that the good hoped for from the vast government building schemes will bear fruit of real quality. A halt, however, does not mean a delay. All that is required is a moment in which to grasp the essential value of plans and projects, before bricks and mortar play their part, and evidence is seen on all sides that any attempt to dump houses down, regardless of social amenities, will be opposed. Barracks 'model dwellings,' no doubt a step out of the chaos of the industrial period, are by no means the state of 'homes' as understood by the working man, and undesirable as congested 'model dwellings.' It is, as it were, an appeal headed by the king that is being made to the powers that be, that 'homes' and not only 'houses' shall be built in the future.

Happily those "who know" are actively engaged in educating public opinion. The Garden Cities and Town Planning Association, are holding lectures further their programme, and the secretary of the National Housing and Town-Planning Institute, Henry Aldridge, speaking before the Housing and Town-Planning Institute, emphasized the necessity of town-planning schemes, obligatory on all local authorities in whose areas growth was likely to take place. He instanced the bill before the French senate and chamber of deputies, which proposed that all local authorities should be required to prepare schemes, and be considered that Great Britain should be as courageous in her attack upon housing question as the French government. Obligatory Town Planning.

Old methods, he declared, were obsolete, and the policy of obligatory town-planning should be embodied in the bill. Mr. Aldridge believes in the ways and means of road development is based upon the preparation of all local authorities of simplified schemes of planning.

A conference of public utility societies, convened by the Federation of Public Utility and Co-operative Housing Societies, has been held under the presidency of Lord Henry Cavendish Bentinck, M. P. He pointed out that great difficulties stood in the way of giving assistance to private enterprise, and the only alternatives to placing the whole business of providing houses on the local authorities was to utilize the intermediate method which public utility and co-operative housing societies provide.

From Birmingham and other large industrial cities comes news that housing commissioners recently appointed are already being consulted, largely with a view to co-operation between large firms and their employees, with full representation of the latter upon the boards of management of public utility societies. The garden cities in many of the mining centres should form a pattern for others. These have bowler-hat gardens, recreation grounds, houses with adequate bedrooms, with bathrooms for the cleansing of the miner when he comes from work; and with proper kitchens and sunny living-rooms, such houses constitute a home in the widest sense of the word.

RESTS WITH PALMER

Fate of War-Time Prohibition in United States

Washington, June 9.—The fate of war-time prohibition rests with Attorney-General A. Mitchell Palmer. If he advises the president, on his return, that demobilization has proceeded to such a point as to justify a proclamation of its completion, it is assured that the proclamation will be forthcoming.

The president's recent message to congress, stating that "demobilization of the military forces of the country has progressed to such a point that it seems to be entirely safe now to remove the ban upon the manufacture and sale of wines and beers, having produced no congressional effect, the next logical step is the exercise of the discretion vested in him by the war prohibition act. Just as he asked and received an opinion from the attorney-general when he wanted to know if he had the power to terminate the law, it is surmised that he has made a similar request for advice as to his authority to declare demobilization complete.

The president's statement before a congressional committee that the entire American army, with the exception of the troops of occupation, would be back in this country by the end of July indicates the imminence of the decision. Anticipating the president's request for a ruling, there has been filed with the attorney-general a brief setting forth the wet side of the argument, and pointing out that as a matter of law "the FARM LOANS for SOLDIERS advertisement with illustrations of a tractor and a soldier.

How Everyone Can Help

THE Government has developed a liberal and broad plan to help soldiers settle on farms. It is securing land. It is granting substantial loans. It is obtaining advantageous prices on equipment, implements, building materials and live stock. It is providing agricultural training and farming supervision.

That is as much as the Government itself can do. But the plan needs more. It needs a community spirit of co-operation.

Already Provincial Governments, Universities, Farmers' Associations, and Veterans' Associations are giving valuable assistance. Many manufacturers and sellers of farm supplies have agreed to allow the soldier settlers special prices. Many successful farmers have willingly worked on Qualification Committees which have to pass on the applicants. Men who have had experience in lending money on farm property are serving on Advisory Loan Committees, judging land values.

But even such practical assistance is not enough. In each community farmers can be of real service to the soldier settler. They can give him advice about local conditions. They can lend him an extra horse or plough, give him a day's help at seeding or harvest time, and extend to him that friendly, neighborly, respectful spirit which he deserves.

In this way Canada is performing a double duty. It is discharging, as far as possible, the debt we owe to our soldiers; and it is adding to the country's chief industry a body of competent, willing producers.

question of when demobilization is terminated for the purposes of the whole act is clearly within the president's authority to act." Baltimore "Wet" Parade. Baltimore, June 4.—It is estimated that more than 20,000 men and women marched in a great "wet demonstration" while 100,000 stood in the broiling sun and exchanged encouraging greetings with the marchers as they went by. As a parade it was a great success, a noteworthy incident being the fact that while the banners carried all demanded liquor there was no sign of intoxication either in the ranks or among the spectators. All the saloons were closed during the parade. Every social and nearly every athletic club was represented. The women, who rode in motor cars, trolley and other conveyances, also lent dignity to the parade. Cheered along the line was Mrs. E. Rooney, who was billed as the first woman personal liberty advocate and who rode in state through the procession and was followed by the delegation of women dressed in white. In many sections of the parade appeared sailors and khaki-clad men. Among those were quite a number who wore gold stripes, denoting that they had seen service overseas. These were cheered wildly as they passed. The only float in the parade was a replica of the Statue of Liberty with the motto "Liberty Shall Prevail." As General Coxy, leading a division passed the reviewing stand the by played "Brighten Up the Corner." It was probably the most often played tune throughout the entire parade. Officers and inscribed shields were carried by the marchers in endless variety.

MRS. BOTHWELL SAYS SHE CRIED HOUR AT A TIME

She Had Given Up All Hope of Ever Being a Well Woman Again—Is Grateful to Tanlac—Gains Twelve Pounds.

"During the past two years I was in the hospital three different times, and spent hundreds of dollars for treatments and medicines besides that, but I never got any relief until I commenced taking Tanlac," said Mrs. M. Bothwell, who lives at 873 Clover Bar Road, Edmonton, Alberta, while talking with a Tanlac representative recently.

"When I commenced taking Tanlac," continued Mrs. Bothwell, "I had actually given up all hopes of ever feeling well again. Why, I had reached the point where I was so blue and discouraged over my condition that I would lie down and actually cry for an hour at a time. I suffered so much on account of the condition my stomach was in my entire nervous system got all out of order, and at times I was so nervous that I could hardly raise a cup of tea to my mouth without spilling a lot of it, and I never got anything like a good night's sleep. My stomach finally got in such bad condition that the lightest sort of food would cause me to have awful cramping spells. In fact, I just seemed to be in such bad condition that nothing I would eat would digest properly. I suffered terribly from headaches, too, and would get so dizzy at times that everything seemed to be whirling around. All my strength and energy seemed to leave me, and I finally got so completely run-down and worn out that I was not able to get about very much."

"Then I commenced taking Tanlac, and to my great surprise I began to feel better right away. Why, I can truthfully say that I began to sleep better the second night after I started taking this wonderful medicine, and in a very short time after that I was feeling like a different woman entirely. I have just finished my fourth bottle of Tanlac and I am not only rid of all those troubles, but I have actually gained twelve pounds in weight, and I never had such a ravenous appetite in all my life. My food agrees with me, too, for my stomach trouble has been so completely overcome that I never suffer the least bit with indigestion, and my food doesn't sour at all. I am also free from those terrible headaches, and I haven't had one of those dizzy spells in a long time. I am so well and strong in every way that I not only do all my household work now, but I do my own washing, and that is something I haven't been able to do for a long time. My nerves seem to be in perfect condition and I sleep just like a baby every night. Tanlac certainly is a wonderful medicine, and I am so happy over what it has done for me that I just can't think of enough good things to say about it."

"Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Company and F. W. Munro under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—(Adv.)"

FEED CANADA FIRST
Victoria Daily Times.—If Canada has a food shortage instead of a food surplus obviously the export of food should be limited, if not prohibited, until the domestic situation has been relieved. The paramount duty of the State is to attend to the necessities of its own people first. It is equally obvious that taxes and other restrictions on food should be removed. Some parts of Canada are heavy importers of foodstuffs from the United States. On these a duty is levied plus a war tax of 7 1/2 per cent. Thus, Canada, with no food surplus, and in many cases with a production considerably less than the domestic consumption, not only is exporting food in large quantities, but is maintaining taxes and restrictions against food imports.

REV. DR. MORISON ON CHILD WELFARE

Its Relation to the State Dealt With by Minister of West Side Presbyterian Church

Last evening, preaching in the First Presbyterian church, West St. John, Rev. Dr. John A. Morison dealt with the subject of "Child Welfare and Its Relation to the State." His text was taken from Genesis iv:1: "I have gotten a man from the Lord."

Dr. Morison said in part: "There came into my hands recently a copy of Highways and Hedges, the same being the National Children's Home and Orphanage official organ of the head office in London, England. This institution, which during the past and present months has been celebrating its jubilee is one of the most important institutions in the mother land devoted to the fostering of child welfare. Men prominent in both church and state are upon its directorate. It cares for hundreds upon hundreds of dependent children among which there are at least at present some four hundred who have lost one or both of their parents by the war, being the orphans of soldiers or sailors. No one can scan the pages of this magazine without realizing that on the other side of the ocean public opinion is strongly behind the movement to save to useful and worthy citizenship those children who for one reason or another have been deprived of that nurture which under normal conditions is provided by the Christian home.

The Problems of the New Age.
"The whole world is settling today with problems. To my mind among these problems are two which demand the very best thought and these are the proper method of dealing with dependent children and the equitable distribution of the profits of labor. Solve these two problems and you have gone far along the road that leads to national strength and prosperity. Fail to solve these problems and the nation is destined sooner of later to pass away. Both of these problems are of the very first importance. If either has superior claims it is the former for with the loss of thousands of the best youth engulfed by the war the national loss is great indeed. Three Great Englishmen.

"I have been reading recently that latest volume of the collected poems of Rupert Brooke with a memoir. His body lies in Seyros, the same island where Theseus was buried, and whence the young Achilles and the young Pyrrhus were called to Troy. What a loss to England and to the Empire was to his untimely death! And with him how many more of his college chums from Cambridge? Men like Browne, whose grasp of the foundations and tendencies of modern music was unique, and Kelly, and how many more I cannot tell. One needs not to argue here the terrible toll of war. For every countryside and village and town and city throughout all of the world-wide Empire tells the same story of the loss of the young and hopeful. Surely if there ever was a time when child life was precious to the nation that time is now.

Christ and the Children.
"Our Blessed Master was the first religious teacher who honored childhood. The Greek and the Roman philosophers and moralists regarded children as so many weaklings to be fed and educated and amused. Setting a Jewish child in the presence of his disciples he said to them 'except ye become as little children, ye shall not enter into the Kingdom of Heaven.' Every day intensifies my conviction that the most effective method of saving society and building up the Kingdom of Christ upon earth is to strike for the children. Romanism will understand this; and within the first months of its existence the hand of the priest is on the head of the babe and the same church has ever been in the forefront in providing orphanages for the homeless and the dependent among the children. It has been so in this city. It is so everywhere. Who can read the story of the marvelous life of St. Vincent de Paul and his work in founding institutions for unfortunate children—children worse than orphans, without being awed and filled with admiration for his spirit. And this great and holy man was only one of many who devoted their great talents to advance those measures that made for the nurturing of the children in the faith of the church.

"In this connection I also must speak of Judaism. Is not the secret of its long life throughout the centuries to be found in the fact that the law of Moses has been the first and deepest instruction of every Jewish child? It has been observed that the higher the creature in the scale of being the more dependent he is and that for a longer period upon the fostering care of the mother. Chickens just out of the shell can be shipped away to their new homes but children a year old need to be carried and cared for. The provision of God is that by this longer period of dependence the nature of the child can be moulded for a loftier destiny. If a dog is neglected, provided he can find his food, his nature does not seem to suffer, but if a child is neglected it is lost.

The Dr. Bernardo Home.
"Dr. Bernardo, whose work for dependent children is known and honored all over the world, has insisted that while heredity may have a very considerable influence upon the character of the child the environment into which the child is brought during its earliest years has a very much more powerful influence. He gives the ratio as one to nine."
In closing Dr. Morison took occasion to commend to the thought and liberality of people of the present movement for the providing of adequate accommodation for the care of the dependent children of the protestant community, and spoke approvingly of the effort now underway for this purpose.

REPORT CLOTHING PRICES TOO HIGH

Cost of Living Commissioner Says Woollens and Cottons Are Selling Above Actual Value

Ottawa, June 8.—The cost of living commissioner is laying a report before the Minister of Labor, which shows that the prices of textiles and staple articles of clothing should decline in the near future. The ordinary story of the salesman of such goods is that prices are going higher than ever before. In view of such alarming statements, preliminary investigations have been made into the matter. Information collected from the leading manufacturers shows conclusively that insofar as the price of the goods at the mill affects the situation, these statements are utterly misleading.

The situation regarding woollens and worsteds is that Canada is more heavily supplied with the raw material than ever in her history and the price for the same is very much lower than last fall. The finished cloth is now coming on the market more freely than when the looms were engaged in weaving khaki cloth, and the cloth sold this spring by the manufacturer which should reach the wearer this fall was sold at lower prices than the material sold last season.

Trying to Unload.
In many instances Canadian cloth for suitings and overcoatings is going forward for sale at an eight to ten per cent. decrease. Apparently the middlemen are loaded with old stocks of the higher priced materials which they desire to sell the public at the old prices. It is particularly unfortunate that returned soldiers should be stampeded into buying by such false rumors, when by waiting a little time for part of their outfit, they would have been able to buy at better advantage. These tales are causing an artificial and unhealthy demand upon the market which in turn causes inflated prices.

Cottons Down, Too.
In the case of cottons the manufacturers' prices have also declined since last fall and the stocks coming ahead for retail sale have cost the middleman decidedly less than earlier stocks. The retail price of such commodities should be reduced.

Evidence at hand so far indicates that a moderation of profits should allow an immediate drop in prices. In addition to large and increasing manufacturers' profits the middlemen have added a very heavy percentage of profit to the manufacturers' prices.

Evidence given in the report shows that in many cases the retail price is more than double the manufacturers' price. The margin taken by the middlemen is greater than the whole amount that went to the farmer, manufacturer and laborer. There are even cases of this shown where the goods were purchased direct from the manufacturer by the retailer.

This preliminary report will be tabled before the House committee on the high cost of living. Further reports on these commodities will be made later to the Minister of Labor.

Ottawa, June 7.—Word has been received at the militia department that the liner Mont Eagle with 692 members of the Canadian Siberian expeditionary force on board, will reach Vancouver on or about June 30. She carries sixty-two officers, 691 other ranks and thirty-nine patients.

West Kennebec has the distinction of being the only post office known where you can go in and get milk just from the cow at the same time you get your morning mail. Mr. Charles W. Hammond, the postmaster, conceived this idea when she found the delivery was not paying on her route. At the railroad ticket office fresh eggs are sold to passengers and trainmen, but this is more common than the milk scheme.

A far greater trade in Canadian farm stuffs is done in our own cities and towns than is done abroad. This fact is mentioned by the Canadian Trade Commission, not to minimize exports but to show the unrecognized importance of our home markets.

SCHOOL BOY'S TALE OF SEA TRAGEDY

Young Campbell Testifies Against Pedersen, Accused of Causing Seaman's Death

Saw Sailor Leap of Ship—Declares Captain Said "To Hell With Man Overboard" and Put Vessel Back on Her Course

John W. Campbell, a high school student with a liking for the sea, was one of the crew of fifteen on the barkentine Puako, whose captain and second mate, Adolph C. and Adolph E. Pedersen, father and son, are being tried in New York on an indictment charging them with having caused the death of Axel Hansen, an able seaman. The alleged crime occurred when the Puako was six weeks out from Cape Town, South Africa, whether she was sailing with a load of lumber on a three months' trip from Victoria, B. C.

Campbell hails from Iowa. He testified for the government. He was rated as an apprentice seaman. Hansen and the steward, who also died on the trip, were the only men aboard who were members of the Seamen's Union. It is alleged that Hansen, driven desperate because of short rations and cruel treatment, leaped into the sea on Aug. 6, 1918. Campbell told the story of the tragedy. It was 6 o'clock in the morning. A high wind was blowing from the northwest and Hansen was sent aloft by the second mate to loose the royal sail. The deck was high with lumber, chained fast, and the hold was filled with it, which made the vessel lumpy and slow to respond to her rudder.

"When Hansen came down," testified the witness, "I saw him and the mate talk together for a few minutes and then I heard a report and saw the mate slip Hansen in the face. Hansen ran down the deck toward the stern, with the mate in pursuit. Reaching the starboard side, near the stern, he slipped under the rail and jumped overboard. The mate was within eight feet of him when he jumped."

Then the witness said that Jack Joe, who was at the wheel, was ordered by young Pedersen to bring the vessel about, and Pedersen lent a hand at the wheel to hurry the movement. The witness, peering over the rail, saw that Hansen had clutched the log line and was clinging to it. Captain Pedersen was summoned, and he came on deck and took charge. According to the witness, the captain was not deeply concerned over the situation. He asked the steersman who ordered him to bring the vessel about, and Joe replied:

"The mate. There's a man overboard."

"Then," testified the witness, the captain retorted, "To hell with the man overboard. Put the vessel back on her course."

Several of the seamen were standing about, and the captain, said the witness, sternly ordered them to go along and take care of their sails. The witness and a seaman named Riley didn't move quickly enough, Campbell testified, and the captain picked up a tiller pin and started for them, whereupon they quickened their movements.

"As I started forward," the witness continued, "I looked back in the sea and saw Hansen struggling at the end of the log line and I heard him cry three times for help. But the vessel continued on her course and Hansen was left to perish in the sea."

Campbell had signed a statement exonerating the captain and his son from any responsibility for Hansen's death, and swore to it before R. A. Lee, a justice of the peace at Cape Town. When he was asked about this he explained that he signed and swore to it under duress. Soon after Hansen began to talk to him about the trouble on the vessel and to drill him into what he must say if he were questioned about it. This, he testified, continued clear to Cape Town. During this period, he said, the captain wrote an account of what he wanted the land authorities to believe. It was prepared with care, and contained many details about how the crew was mutinous and "lumpy" from the time the vessel left Victoria, how Hansen once tried to push the captain overboard and how the cook, who had consulted aside by jumping into the sea, had tried to poison the captain and the mates by putting ground glass in the cabin food.

THE PRESBYTERIAN GENERAL ASSEMBLY

Dr. Pringle, Moderator, Congratulated Upon Attaining Sixty-seventh Birthday.

Hamilton, June 7.—Most of this morning's session of the Presbyterian general assembly was devoted to devotional exercises conducted by Rev. G. O. McIntosh, of Stellarton, and A. M. Nair, of Montreal. It was nearly noon when the assembly got down to business.

Rev. (Capt.) John Pringle, D. D., of Sydney, N. S., who was elected moderator of the Presbyterian church.

Rev. Colin Fletcher, D. D., the retiring moderator of the Presbyterian church.

Leave of absence from the assembly was granted Rev. Stewart A. Woods, of the Montreal presbytery. James Rogers, Montreal, submitted the interim report on the matter of the appointment of a treasurer and joint clerk to succeed the late Dr. Somerville.

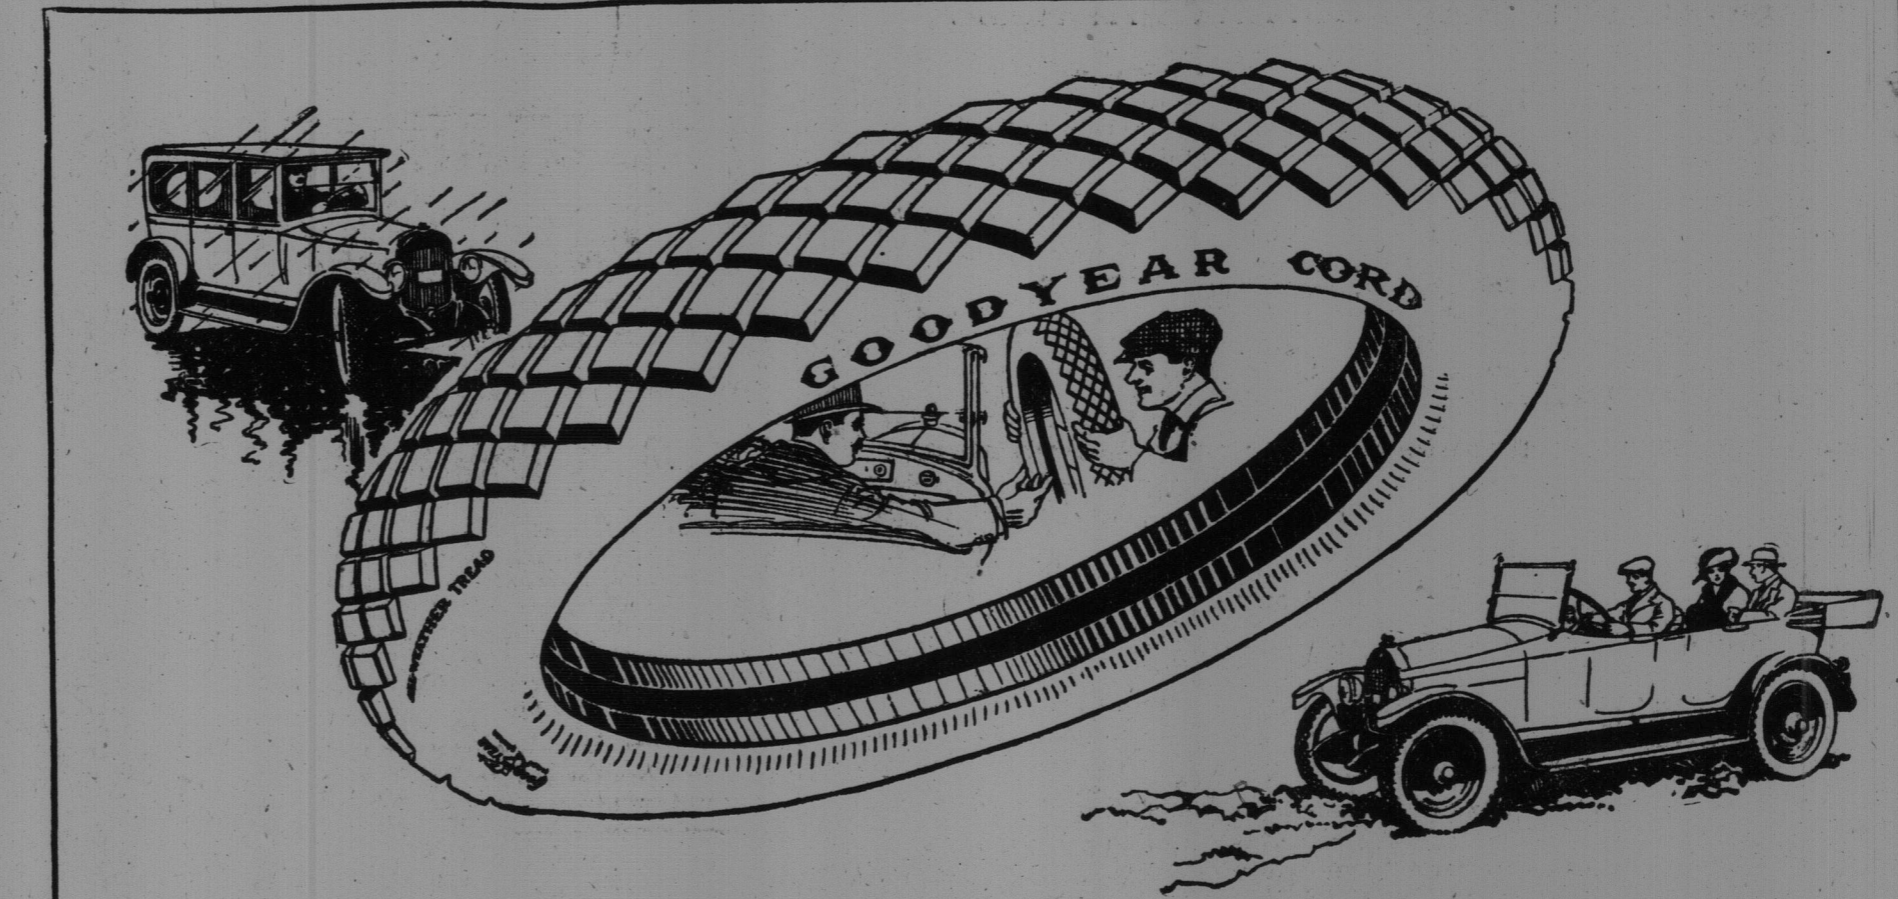

The matter has been found to be a very difficult one. Various suggestions have been received, looking to the co-ordination of the different boards of the church. Before bringing any names suggested for the appointment before the assembly, Mr. Rogers stated that counsel and advice was needed from the assembly.

After considerable discussion it was decided to remit the entire question to the committee so that more explicit information may be secured.

Before the vote on the eldership motion opened, the commissioners paid the moderator, Rev. Dr. Pringle, the tribute of a standing vote of congratulation, on attaining his 67th birthday today.

Dr. Pringle, in acknowledging, said he was a surprise to himself. He had been in the ministry forty years and hoped to give many more years of service.

Then Rev. J. H. Wallace moved a vote for lifting from the table the overture of eldership and the motion was seconded by Rev. Dr. Scott, the moderator

The house was decorated for the occasion and there was a large number present. Many gifts of cut-glass, chinaware and silver were received. During the evening refreshments were served after which there was an enjoyable programme of music and games. The party dispersed at an early hour Saturday morning.

BOWLING.

A New Record.

Thomas Cosgrove, a prominent local bowler, established a new record on the Y. M. C. I. alleys Saturday, when he ran up a score of 142, bowling two balls to a box instead of three. The score was made in a match game with L. C. Brennan, Mr. Brennan, who is also a good bowler, and Mr. Cosgrove engaged in a little friendly rivalry and the outcome was a challenge for Mr. Cosgrove to bowl his friend. The unique match proved highly interesting. Mr. Cosgrove won the weekly prize for the highest individual score.

Toledo, Ohio, June 7.—Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey will meet in their heavyweight championship contest here July 4 whether there is a clear sky or a driving rainstorm. Tex Rickard, promoter of the contest, made this announcement last night in denying reports that the contest might be postponed until the next day because of inclement weather.

WILLARD TOO MUCH FOR HIS PARTNERS

Toledo, Ohio, June 8.—Hundreds of persons, including women and children, who thronged Jess Willard's training camp today, saw the champion upset one of his sparring partners and all but knock out another. He used fourteen ounce gloves, so as to permit him to put more force into his blows. When the workout was over the champion's partners were bruised and bleeding. Willard himself bled from the mouth.

Jack Hempel was punched groggy in the three rounds he worked. Willard upset him with a right hook early in the first session. Walter Monahan received a bloody nose in the two rounds he faced the champion, and the third victim, Soldier Stanton, lasted only ten seconds. He was knocked off his feet by a right-hand blow behind the ear.

Stanton, who boxed two days at Dempsey's camp, made two or three passes at Willard and the champion left with a right hander. After taking the punch Stanton staggered back, then stiffened and would have tumbled to the canvas if Willard had not caught him.

Ray Orcher, business manager for the champion, returned today from New York but was reticent on what he had done in regard to obtaining new sparring partners. He said he had made tentative arrangements with two heavyweights but would not announce their names until they had accepted the terms.

Dempsey resumed his training today after a five day lay off, and displayed unusual dash and speed. He boxed four rounds, two each with Sergt. Bill Tate and the Jamaica Kid.

Willard charged fifty cents admission to his camp today, while Dempsey's continued to collect twenty-five cents.

Reports that Bill Brown, a New York referee, had been selected as referee were denied. It was announced that the referee question would not be definitely settled until probably two weeks before the fight and that the boxers themselves would attempt to agree on the selection to the third man in the ring. If they fail to agree Tex Rickard will be empowered to name one. It is known that he favors Brown.

Sidelights On Sport

The race in the major leagues is daily becoming more interesting as the leaders are finding their margin cut down and opponents closing in on them. In the American League both Cleveland and New York have cut down the commanding lead of the White Sox and are now only a game and a half and two games behind. In the National League Cincinnati is running second four games behind.

Chicago has ousted Brooklyn from third place in the National League and Pittsburgh has replaced Philadelphia as leader of the second division. Boston has again hit the tohogas and is now resting in its old location—the cellar.

In the American League Cleveland is trying hard to overtake the White Sox and the New York Yankees are right on their heels. Yesterday the Yankees shut out the leaders and Sweeney held them to one hit.

The Boston Red Sox started in last week to climb out of the second division, but have tumbled back again.

The Detroit Tigers have been hitting their way into the first division and have made it uncomfortable for opposing pitchers. They garnered sixteen off the Red Sox twirlers yesterday.

In the International League Toronto has caught up with Baltimore and they are again running neck and neck for the leadership. Both Binghamton and Rochester have fallen behind, but are still within striking distance.

The interscholastic championship sports, which were scheduled to take place on the Rotunda last Saturday, were postponed owing to the heavy rain storm. They will be held next Saturday and should prove very interesting.

The game in the St. John League this evening will be between Carleton and St. Peter's and promises to attract a record crowd. Fans are wagering on both teams and the result will be awaited with keen interest. Both teams have a large following and a great struggle is anticipated. Beatey or Seely will be on the mound for Carleton and Hansen or Tait for St. Peter's.

HOME WITH A WONDERFUL WAR RECORD GAINED

Sergt. Major Arthur Ellis Through It Since First Month

One of the "Contemptibles" Who Did Such Work in the Early Days of War—Also Fought in Italy—Four Decorations

With a war record which is perhaps unsurpassed in Canada today, which included service on both the French and Italian fronts, Sergeant-Major Arthur Ellis who was among the first hundred thousand—the "old contemptibles" who were the bulwark on which the safety of Paris rested in 1918, was welcomed to his home at 48 Exmouth street this morning. He had just arrived from Halifax where he landed yesterday on the Adriatic.

Sergt-Major Ellis, a six-footer and every inch a soldier, was in Canada at the outbreak of war. Before coming to Canada he had served twelve years with the Royal Horse Artillery and after the call to arms came in 1916 he lost no time in rejoining the regiment and offered his services. Landing in England on the last day of August, he was received back into the ranks of the Royal Regiment of Artillery and five days later left for LeHavre and the badly threatened battle line on the western front.

Joining the Second Corps headquarters he lived through the nightmare of the Mons retreat when every ounce of strength was required to stay the tide of the Prussian force in their first taste of victory. After the Battle of the Marne he was transferred to the 7th Division and with them saw the First Battle of Ypres, Neuve Chapelle, Givinchy, Festubert and Loos fighting; the campaign on the Somme in the autumn of 1916, taking part in the battles of Mametz, Bazentin, Guinchy and High Wood and the battle of the Ancre. He was with the division that pushed their way to the Hindenburg Line in 1917, when for the first time they were knocking at the gates of Cambrai, but were later forced to give up the fruits of their splendid victory.

He accompanied his division into the Helensburgh and went with them into the Flanders battles of the autumn of 1917, through the hell-fire of Zonnebeke and Passchendaele.

After Passchendaele, Sergt-Major Ellis' division was moved to Italy where it took part in the battles on the Monte and Asiago plateaus. His division remained in the southern theatre until the close of hostilities, being one of the formations which effected the passage of the Piave river, taking in its victorious passage the island of Papadopoli, and pushing on to the Montebello and Tagliamento rivers and staying in until the final act which ended in the complete surrender of the Austrian army.

After the armistice, Sergt-Major Ellis was sent to Trieste with a furlough relief detachment and returned to England in February. After going through the routine of reparation he was sent to the Canadian camp at Winchester where he remained until the sailing of the Adriatic.

A slight idea of what this soldier has gone through can be gathered from the fact that the 7th Division with which he served through the greater part of the campaign suffered no fewer than 68,000 casualties. He wears on his breast besides the ribbon for service in this war, the Mons Star, the meritorious service medal and the Italian military medal.

His friends, and in fact, St. John as a whole, is proud to welcome a soldier with a record such as Sergt-Major Ellis has brought home with him.

POLICE COURT
In the police court this morning seven men were charged with drunkenness. They were fined $8 each or two months in jail. Two of them said they were drinking lemon extract.

George Winchester, was charged with acting with Joseph Brady in assaulting George Young, a Chinese. The defendant was remanded until the other could be brought in.

Charles Savage was charged with a serious offence which made it necessary to hold court behind closed doors.

A case against Henry Berry, charged with assaulting Mrs. Edna Shaffer and using offensive language to Mrs. Nellie McNutt, was resumed this morning. While making a statement to the court of what he remembered had taken place, the accused said that he had been drinking and did not know what he was doing, or he would not have used such language.

He said he had a large family to support and he had always been faithful to them, and that he never intended to take another taste of liquor so long as he lived.

Magistrate Ritchie found the accused guilty and remanded him to jail. His Honor told the accused that he would look into the matter and see if there was any provision for whipping. John A. Barry appeared for the defendant.

FORTY HOURS' DEVOTION
The closing services of the Forty Hours' Devotion were carried out in St. Joachim's church, Silver Falls, last evening. Rev. C. Carleton, the parish priest, officiated. The Litany of the Saints was recited, followed by a procession and Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, after which Rev. R. B. Fraser, of the Cathedral, delivered an excellent sermon on the Holy-Eucharist. The church was crowded; the congregation including many people from the city. The church was beautifully adorned for the occasion.
