Sisler's Great Stick Work in Double Header

Williams and Walker Tie With 38 Home Runs—Recruit Shuts out Dodgers in Ten Innings and Scores the Winning Run.

(Canadian Press)

New York, Sept. 5.—Rain cancelled the Labor Day activities of the league. The Yankees retained their six game lead due to the fact that St. Louis and Pittsburgh split a twin bill, the Yankees had their margin reduced to a single game by the St. Louis Browns' double victory over Cleveland.

George Sisler, batting leader in the American League, was the mainstay in the Browns' offensive that brought victory by scores of 12 to 1 and 10 to 3. Sisler ranned out seven hits in the first game at bat, scoring seven runs and driving in several others. Ken Williams, who hit the 38th homer and tied Walker in the Athletics for the American League record.

The Chicago Cubs dropped to fifth place by losing twice to the Reds, 4 to 3 and 9 to 0, due to the brilliant pitching of Cough and Keck. The Pirates retained second place by a half game over St. Louis by taking the afternoon game and dropping the morning game 5 to 3, to the Cardinals.

Faber and Robertson twirled the White Sox to a double victory over Detroit, 6 to 2 and 6 to 3, while Washington and the Athletics divided their double header. Brooklyn dropped two hard fought games to Philadelphia, 5 to 4, in the first and 7 to 6, after a 16 inning struggle in the second. In the final contest, Behan, a recruit, held the Dodgers scoreless for ten innings, and called the winning run in the sixteenth on Rapp's hit.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 5.—Hilton Bell, St. John, Canada, and W. J. G. Gomers, Philadelphia, in Halifax and will defend his marline title in the championships here on Wednesday.

Helmingers, Sept. 5.—Favro Nurmi ran two thousand metres in 5 minutes and 26.3 seconds. It is claimed that this is a world's record.

Detroit, Sept. 5.—Colonel J. G. Vincent, driving his Packard-Chevrolt yesterday, made a clean sweep of the gold challenge cup race on Detroit river, taking the third and final heat from a field of eight other starters. He previously had won the first two heats. He traveled the thirty miles at an average speed of 38.5 miles an hour. Following the race Vincent raced a lap against the Packard-Chriscraft which was a twin cylinder Packard motor, with half the cylinders dismounted to make the boat eligible for the race.

Gloicester, Mass., Sept. 5.—Jock Ray, Illinois miler, won the mile handicap event of the Olympic Club holiday meet here yesterday. Ray, whose opponents were Wm. Sheehy of Boston and Jack Gordon, of Princeton, finished in 4 minutes 25.1-5 seconds.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 5.—Peter Manning will start against time at Charter Oaks Park today in an effort to lower the trotting mark for New England. Tommy Murphy will pilot Peter Manning in his horse at Readville last week.

The Grand Circuit events carded for today were three trotting races held over from yesterday, including the Soby Memorial for 2,066 trotters, with a purse of $3,000.

Equal World's Best
Winnipeg, Sept. 5.—Two world's sprint records were equalled and two new Canadian records equaled here yesterday by Winnipeg athletes. Cyril H. Coates, Canadian Olympic representative, won the 120 yards in 11.2-5 seconds, breaking the Canadian record of 12 seconds made by J. W. Morton in Montreal on Sept. 16, 1909, and equalling the world's mark set by R. E. Kalkreuth at Johannesburg, South Africa, on Dec. 28, 1908. Laurie Armstrong, representing the sixty yard event in 6.2-5 seconds, clipped 1-5 second off the Canadian record of 6.3-5 made by L. J. Short at Toronto on Oct. 29, 1910, and equalled the world's record.

On Brookline Links
Country Club, Brookline, Mass., Sept. 5.—Jesse P. Guilford, national amateur golf champion, won medal honors in the qualifying play of this year's tournament yesterday. His seventy over a rain-soaked course bettered by two strokes the day's perfect performance of Bobby Jones and gave him an advantage of one stroke over Jones for the 36 holes. His twenty third card was 144 strokes; Jones was 145. It took 162 to qualify for the last of the 32 players and five men had to play knockout under a rain-bow that spoiled the sudden course for the last three places.

In Place of Dundee
New York, Sept. 4.—Due to an operation today for a carbuncle on his arm, Johnny Dundee, junior lightweight boxing champion, has cancelled his match with Willie Jackson, New York lightweight, scheduled for Ebbets Field, in Brooklyn, Wednesday night. It was announced that Sid Marks, Canadian lightweight champion, would substitute for Dundee. They must weigh in at 135 pounds at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

General Strike In The United States?

Labor Federation Leaders Reported Sponsoring movement for Special Convention—Arrests in Railway Injunction Matter—The Coal Strike Situation.

(Canadian Press)
New York, Sept. 5.—Leaders of the American Federation of Labor in New York are reported to be sponsoring a movement to hold a special convention of the organization in this city with a view of calling a general strike.

The Railways
Chicago, Sept. 5.—With the government's rail strike injunction universally condemned by union leaders in Labor Day messages yesterday, impending federal arrest action in cases growing out of arrests for alleged violations of the writ, occupied the foreground of the picture of the U. S. industrial situation today.

Members of the executive council of the A. F. of L. were gathered at Atlantic City today. At this conference Mr. Gompers said he would place before the committee requests from various labor organizations for a general strike call.

Despite the general quietude of Labor Day, the holiday period was not without its contributions to the growing list of outbreaks incident to the railway shopmen's strike.

The Pirates retained second place by a half game over St. Louis by taking the afternoon game and dropping the morning game 5 to 3, to the Cardinals.

Close Call at Fraser Mill

Workman, Said to Have Been Drinking, was Being Drawn Against Saws.

(Special to The Times)
Newcastle, Sept. 5.—A fearful warning was given those who are tempted to drink, when a man was drawn against a saw in a narrow averted accident at the Fraser mills on Saturday evening. The man was running night and day and were shut down for temporary repairs for two hours. In that interval one of the workmen quenched his thirst with a few glasses of whisky and soft drink and when he returned to work he was drowsy. Not being particular where he took his slumbers he lay down on the chain which feeds the main saw and was soon sound asleep. The machinery was started and the man was crushed against the saw. It was pointed out that the man had a heavy sea on his head and it was some time before he was informed of how close he had been to a horrible death.

Miners Caught in British Coal Pit

Forty Entombed, Ten Taken Out Dead—Some of the Argonaut Prisoners May Be Alive.

Newcastle, Eng., Sept. 5.—Forty men were entombed in an explosion in a coal pit at Whitehaven says the Evening Chronicle. The bodies of ten are reported to have been recovered.

Rescue Work
Jackson, Cal., Sept. 5.—Excavators struggling to rescue the forty men entombed in the Argonaut gold mine today hope to work through by Wednesday. Explosions heard make them think some at least are still alive.

Trees Destroyed
George D. Phinney was charged this morning with destroying two ornamental trees, the property of the city, in Broad street on Sept. 1. Evidence was given by Dufresne Babcock, city gardener, and Fred Saunders, the former said that the trees were seven years old and that they had been destroyed by the accused's automobile. Mr. Phinney said he had led the car for a minute and the brake had slipped, and the car had started down street. The magistrate said he was able to a fine of $50. He told him to see the men who had reported the matter and arrange about payment for the trees.

Archbishop is Reported Pit to Death

Execution of Metropolitan of Petrograd—Suicide of Revolutionary Leader—Arrest of Students.

Riga, Sept. 5.—It is reported from Moscow that Archbishop Benjamin, metropolitan of Petrograd, and the others condemned for interfering with the seizure of church treasures, were executed by a firing squad in Petrograd on Aug. 10.

Another report is that M. Klimoff, one of the leaders of the social revolutionists, who was tried recently in Moscow, has hanged himself in prison. It is declared that the Bolsheviks have begun the arrest of numerous students throughout Russia.

Advocates a Reduction in Freight Rates

Says This is a Solution of the Unemployment Problem—Maintains Prairie Provinces Receive in Substance What We Receive in Promise.

Ottawa, Sept. 5.—Solution of the unemployment problem in the reduction of freight rates which would tend to increase commerce and industry, according to Hon. R. E. F. Sims, minister without portfolio in the Nova Scotia cabinet who arrived in Ottawa last night with Premier George Murray to attend the conference of provincial governments on the "unemployment" question.

"We in the east," continued Mr. Sims, "are suffering today with burdened and paralyzed industries by the now excessive freight rates, and we demand that reductions shall be made to which we are entitled to. The prairie provinces receive in substance what we receive in promise, which until the present moment has meant nothing. Action on the part of the Canadian government and the Canadian National Railway board is what is required and time is of the very essence of its being beneficial and protecting to healthy maritime industrial life."

George R. Sims, Journalist, Dead

Workers Want No Revolution

Will Not Tolerate it in Canada, Says Leader

Big Labor Day in Toronto Yesterday — Hon. James Murdock Warns Against Radicals and Speaks of Living Wage.

(Canadian Press)
Toronto, Sept. 5.—Toronto, and particularly the directors of the National Exhibition, gave unionized labor an in-lings yesterday, and the result was a typical Toronto Labor day celebration, a parade of thousands of men to the exhibition grounds, a crowd of 200,000 that overrun every part of the big park, a big program of sports, and a long list of speeches by labor leaders, who voiced satisfaction over the achievements of the laborer rather than discontent with labor's lot.

A message to the effect that the workers of Canada will not tolerate revolution, but that they will gain what they believe to be their rights through the ballot, rather than through violence, was delivered at the official union of the exhibition directors by Bert Merson, president of the district Trades Council, Belleville, Ont., Sept. 5.—When opening the annual fair of the Belleville Agricultural Society, yesterday, Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor, condemned the radicals in the ranks of labor.

Labor, he said, could sacrifice in a few months what it has taken years of struggle to attain, and he pleaded to the laborer present not to hazard everything by following a few enthusiastic men.

He told the labor men what he thought was a living wage. It was what enabled a man to rear his family decently and to put away a little against an emergency. A living wage was not a living wage, he said, until it conceded these things.

Philadelphia, Sept. 5.—President Samuel Gompers, of the A. F. of L. in a Labor day address, said that the unionism was a violation of the constitution and the laws of the land. He characterized the action of Attorney-General Daugherty as excessive, excessive, never dreamed of in the history of the republic.

The veteran labor chief said the injunction was wrong in principle, and, in fact, was a confession that the shopmen have nearly won their strike. He urged that the unions furnish money to support the women and children of the men on strike. "The men must fight and take care of themselves," he declared.

President Harding and Attorney-General Daugherty were criticized by Mr. Gompers for the issuance of the injunction, and he asserted that both had advocated legislation to bring about compulsory labor. The party of Lincoln, which freed the slaves, said Mr. Gompers was now trying to force compulsory labor on the whites and blacks.

HON. A. M. COVERT PASSES AWAY

Was a Member of the Legislative Council of Nova Scotia.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 5.—Hon. A. M. Covert, M. P., member of the legislative council of Nova Scotia, passed away at the Victoria General Hospital here today. He was 62 years of age.

Dr. Covert graduated from McGill University in Medicine in 1888. He served overseas with the Red Cross at the late Rev. W. S. Covert; a sister, Margaret, in New York, and three brothers, W. H. Covert, K. C., Halifax; D. H. Covert, Los Angeles, and Frank M. Covert, New York.

PRISONERS OF THE PURDAH

As you pass through the lofty main gate of the fort at Jodhpur (which is set upon a precipitous rock like a fantasy of Brangwyn's wrought in red sandstone) you see on the smooth surface of the portal the imprint of naked hands. They are delicate little hands, some no larger than a child's, and they have been pressed hard against the pillar with thumb and fingers outstretched. The impression thus made with the wet sticky substance has been carefully carved in the stone. There are many of them—some surrounded by an ornamental frame from a sacred image; some set apart from the rest and engraved with exceptional care; the others in irregular rows at about the height of a man's head above the steep roadway that winds up into the inner ward of the castle. These are the memorial symbols of the Maharanes and the Princesses of Jodhpur, says Sir Percival Phillips, who passed in state to join their dead husbands at the burning ghāt. As the procession came down the castle road the royal litter paused for a woman in the gateway, and the little widow, leaning forward from the cushions, calmly laid her wet palm against the wall. It was her farewell to the world; a sign that she had performed the duty of a good wife.

In the Zenana.
Widows are no longer burned in India, but I wonder if the living death which some of them endure is not worse than the swifter agony of the funeral pyre. There are women consigned to perpetual imprisonment in the fort of Jodhpur who will never set foot again on the plain below. Their prison rises like Gibraltar from the level wastes that encompass the city. The state rooms and armory are shown freely to appreciative visitors, but one massive door, always locked and guarded, cuts off the zenana where the meek captives must live and die. The present palace lies in the path. The fort is like the Tower of London—an historic citadel with a prison added. Life in the zenana, even for wives who are not widows, is a dull, colorless existence. Englishwomen have told me of their visits to the "purdah" ladies of the maharajah's court. There is something pathetic in their intense joy of hearing of the outside world, and their pretty efforts to entertain their guests.

"Old friends are best"—RED ROSE TEA has a multitude of them—often three generations in one family.

RED ROSE TEA "is good tea"

RED ROSE COFFEE is always packed fresh in doubly sealed cans.

Some of them sing English songs with pride. The women who have spent all their lives "in purdah" are less to be pitied than those who have had a taste of freedom. Young girls, the daughters of more progressive native rulers, see more of the world than their less fortunate sisters. Yet the "purdah" must inevitably receive them when they reach the age of womanhood.

The Fate of Mary.
Maharajah Scindia of Gwalior has a little daughter, Mary, who has been brought up much like an English girl. She appeared at public functions in honor of the Prince of Wales, and was made much of by every one. She is a merry child, with flashing black eyes and a ready smile, and unquenchable curiosity to know everything about everything.

I can well imagine her rebelling when the time comes to get behind the veil and take up the colorless, dreary existence of an Indian lady of high rank. The Nizam of Hyderabad's favorite daughter, who goes with him to state dinners and reviews dressed much like an English girl; the daughter of the Maharajah of Dhar, who led her father's cavalry past the Prince of Wales riding like a young Amazon—it is difficult to believe that they will pass readily into the zenana.

Undoubtedly the bonds are being loosened, but they still keep a firm grip on Indian womanhood. I lunched with a minister in one native state whose wife—a strict Mohammedan—sat with us at table unveiled and was a perfect hostess. The wife of another ruling prince goes about freely with her face

The New Baker's Bread That Tastes Like Home—Eatmor

The new triumph of the baker's art that created such a sensation weeks before the experiments satisfied us is served to you today. There was no trouble finding a title for it—the name just came when everybody was found reaching out for more and more. It might almost be called Wheatmore, for EATMOR BREAD seems to have more of the golden flavor of the wheat in it, more of the sunny deliciousness of Alberta's creamiest flours, more homeliness to its flour baked flake. That was certainly the effect we aimed at and the effect we trust you too will find, because EATMOR BREAD was baked for the particular people who relish the delicate wheatiness of silk-sifted flours, who appreciate a finer, creamier, texture and a buttery brown top.

NOTED NATURALIST, W. H. HUDSON, DEAD

England's Foremost Writer on Bird Life Died Recently at His Home in London—His Books of Rare Charm.

W. H. Hudson, a prominent figure in English letters and the literature of nature, died in his home in London on Aug. 18. Mr. Hudson's first book was "The Purple Land Which England Lost," published in London in 1865. The title alludes to the history of the Republic of Uruguay and its brief conquest by British troops. It established the writer's reputation and it was followed in 1887 by "A Crystal Age," the picture of a Utopia in which human nature is perfected and made passionless, but is shown to beavorless for want of strife, the condition of normal life. Mr. Hudson lived at an estancia on an Argentine pampa, where on the vast southern plains he acquired his love and knowledge of nature. "The Crystal Age" was followed the next year by "Argentine Ornithology." In 1892 appeared "Naturalist in La Plata," a second edition was called for within a few months and the author took his place with Wallace and Bates among the greatest English writers on South American natural history.

When Mr. Hudson went to England he contributed to magazines while he waited to the study of nature in England. In 1893 appeared the first of the volumes dealing with that subject, "Birds in a Village and the Village being Cookham Dean, near Maidenhead. As his observation of England grew fuller his imagination found a second contentment. "Birds and Man" followed. "Nature in Downland" appeared in 1900, "Hampshire Days" in 1902, "The Land's End" in 1904, "A Foot in England" in 1909 and "A Shepherd's Life" in 1910. More purely ornithological works were "British Birds" (1899), and "Birds and Man" (1901).

"El Ombu" (1902) is a small collection of South American sketches, while "Green Mansions" (1904) and "A Little Boy Lost" (1905) are romances inspired by the old South American scenes. In 1913 came "Adventures Among Birds," and two years later he added many fresh pages to his new edition of "Birds and Man" among which his chapter on captive parrots was especially pleasing. "Birds in a Village" also appeared in a revised form as "Birds in Town and Village" in 1919.

"Birds of La Plata" was published in 1920. In the same year appeared "Dead Man's Pack" and "An Old Thorn," two short stories. "Far Away and Long Ago" came from the press in 1918. In September, 1921, his last book was published, "A Traveller in Little Things."

Mr. Hudson took a high place as a field naturalist. He received in 1901 a Civil List pension of £150 in recognition of the originality of his writings on natural history.

Best Home Treatment For All Hairy Growths
(The Modern Beauty)
Every woman should have a small package of delicate handy, for its timely use will keep the skin free from beauty-marriage hairy growths. To remove hair or fuz from arms or neck, make a thick paste with some of the powdered deilatone and water. Apply to hairy surface and after two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be free from hair or blemish. To avoid disappointment, be sure you get real deilatone.

(Maritime Merchant.)
Conditions are never absolutely ideal in the business world; always there is something to be done so that we live in a state of tears. In the days of the war when money was so very plentiful that the public could buy anything that offered, business men still had their worries. We are not referring to the anxieties incidental to what might happen in France, (those were always with us), but to the distress we experienced in connection with freight deliveries, the incompetence and independence of employees, and trials of a similar character. For the past year in the maritime provinces we have been worrying over the quietness of industry, over people out of work, and also as to how with our declining revenues, we individually were going to pay our bills. And then, just as we thought we had reached a point in mid-August when the gloom was about to be dissipated, along comes something else, namely, a fight between capital and labor; reminding us if need there were that the serpent is still in the garden.

BIG PROBLEMS RE INDIA TO SETTLE

Prominent Educationist, in Canada on Mission,
Speaks of Them

Hon. S. Sastri Says the Best
Sentiment is for Empire.
But Dominion Status Desired—Military Expense too Great—Question of Emigration.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 5.—(By Canada Press)—Right Hon. Srinivasa Sastri, prominent Indian educationist, who is in Canada to secure for his compatriots the full privileges of British citizenship in the dominion, recently visited in New Zealand and Australia on the same mission and will continue across Canada to England. He believes that though the numbers of East Indians who would be admitted to the dominion franchise would be small, the effect would have a highly beneficial reaction in India, where the refusal of full rights hurts Indian sentiment.

Sastri's rise as a national figure in India has been as rapid as it has been brilliant and remarkable. A Brahmin, he was the son of poor parents and at an early age was forced to work long hours to support his parents. There was no time for play, but being a Brahmin his application to study was not unnatural. He sought a government scholarship and his record at school and college was exceptional. He rose to be headmaster of the Hindu high school, had previously attended as a student and a few years later became identified with the Servants of India Society. This gave him opportunity to serve the government, and since the government has been pleased to give him duties carrying with them not only an immense amount of work, but also tremendous responsibility. But, being above all else a hard worker, these opportunities of service have been accepted by him with the enthusiasm that has always characterized his efforts to help his countrymen. He was a member of the Indian Council of State when the Montagu-Chelmsford plan was initiated, which in a sense corresponds to the senate in this country. Not long ago he was appointed a member of the Privy Council. He represented India at the Imperial Conference in London in 1921, at the second assembly of the League of Nations in Genoa and at a conference on the Limitation of Armament in Washington.

Mr. Bajpai, who is accompanying Mr. Sastri, is an Oxford graduate and a member of the Indian civil service, the corps elite of the administration in India. He was with Mr. Sastri in Genoa, Washington and London.

"The 'Servants of India' is a political and social organization which regards India's connection with Great Britain as ordained by Providence for high purposes. Its members are under a vow not to engage in any money-making profession or business for themselves or families, but to serve their country on a mere subsistence allowance granted by the society. Their chief aim is to secure for India a status similar to that of Canada or of the other older dominions, India's Future.

Hon. Mr. Sastri says he regards the British Empire as the greatest humanitarian organization the world has ever seen; that the British spirit is something greater than any single British mind can express; rooted in a desire for justice and truth. In a recent address in Victoria, Mr. Sastri spoke as follows:—"I have no fears for the future of India. The non-co-operation movement headed by Mahatma Gandhi was doomed to failure because it was founded on utopian and idealistic theories, and it has virtually collapsed already. Whether the arrest of Gandhi had any effect in that regard I am not prepared to say. I would rather not discuss that incident, because I was not in India at the time and I think that its significance has been considerably exaggerated. All I know is that Gandhi is safe behind prison bars and apparently will remain there for six years."

"Gandhi began with the intellectuals of India, the so-called intelligentsia. There are certain intelligent people in India who would be glad to support radical ideas, and it was not because of his radicalism that Gandhi failed to win their endorsement. Gandhi had such a queer way of doing things. He was too much of a mystic to appeal to those who had the advantage of education and common sense. His ideas was that he was a saint and that his followers were saints. The people to whom he first went for support did not see any particular value in sainthood and lost interest. Latterly Gandhi's appeal was directed principally to the lower, uneducated class and in them he found a fair-pertaining in other parts of the empire. If we are to witness a definite termination of unrest in India we must have economy in the military department. Four per cent. of the revenue of the central government is devoted to military expenditure. We are maintaining a standing army of 250,000 men, 70,000 of which are British.

"In spite of all these problems—and there are others—I should be surprised if disorders should break out on an important scale. Of course, India is a huge country and it is difficult to speak for the country as a whole. The present political conditions have naturally aggravated anti-British feeling and I cannot say that this sentiment has grown any less recently, but I am very hopeful of a change. There certainly will be no active resistance to the established laws, I should say, unless the monsoons fail two or three years in succession. Then India would have a famine, and uneducated masses, when desperate as a result of some catastrophe like that which has befallen the Chinese, the real leaders of India have suggested nothing in the way of new methods of government and administration that do not contemplate the continuance of imperial suzerainty. At the same time there are many influential men who claim that India cannot reach the height of her ambition while the remains within the empire. I, of course, do not sympathize with that attitude. There are a great many things that should be done for India, many reforms that should be brought about, but these things will come in time and cannot be hurried. There has been no talk whatever of a republican government.

"By her achievements in the war India won the right to a status within the empire similar to that enjoyed by the people of the dominions. I don't think that anyone disputes that. At the same time we agreed in 1908 that immigration from India to other parts of the empire should be restricted, and we cannot go back on our word now. To do anything else would naturally create the impression that in international dealings India is untrustworthy. India has made her pledge and she will not evade it."

"That does not alter the fact that there are 200,000,000 people in India who have been prevented from settling in other countries. There is virtually no outlet anywhere in the world for that enormous population, and that is a serious thing. The occupiable places of the empire are reserved for the 50,000,000 whites, while 200,000,000 must remain where they are. All that is beyond my province, and I am not offering any solution, but it is none the less a problem that some day must be settled."

Interesting Letter From Woman in South Africa

Johannesburg, South Africa.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for weakness and because I felt run down. I tried a lot of medicines before I tried yours. One day I was standing on my stoop when a boy came up to me and handed me one of your little books. I read the book and the next day my husband does not recall since and I feel quite well now as I am on the sixth bottle. I have written to my sister and told her all about the wonders it has done for me, and I am quite willing for you to use my name as I can not thank you enough for what it has done for me."—Miss W. F. RUSSELL, 128 6th Ave., Mayfair, Fordsburg, Johannesburg, South Africa.

It is this sort of praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, given by letter or verbally, one woman to another, that ought to command this splendid medicine to you.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for women's ailments (in use nearly fifty years) and the fact that it has helped thousands of other women, should cause you to give it a trial now. It can be taken by any woman—young or old.

"There is no use in my attempting to convince anyone that anti-British feeling does not prevail in India today. In the first place, such a contention would be false, because there is widespread dissatisfaction, and most of it, I think, is the result of the Mohammedan movement. A very large section of India's population is still bitter about the agreement with Turkey."

"India's greatest single problem is finance. India's greatest single need is money. We have had a deficit budget during the last few years. Taxation has been increased until it is almost intolerable, and yet the gap between revenue and expenditure is still large. Financially, I should say, India is almost broken. The reason for this is the excessive cost of India's military establishment. The military burden is simply strangling us. At present the supreme authority relating to Indian army matters is centred in the Army Council in London, and, of course, it will take time to alter that system. Personally, I think there should be decentralization of military authority, especially in respect to India, where conditions are vastly different from those

THE EXHIBITION.

It is most gratifying that although the weather was threatening in the early part of yesterday, and was overcast for nearly the whole day, the attendance at the exhibition was remarkably large. The fair is a good one, and will repay the visitor. While there is a degree of sameness in all exhibitions there is also room for variety of features, and the directors have this year brought together a variety and excellence of exhibits which make the visitor desire to go again in order more fully to enjoy them.

A DESERVING CAUSE.

The appeal to be made in behalf of the Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis is worthy of a most generous response. Since this Society was organized the death rate from tuberculosis in St. John has been reduced about fifty per cent. Its clinic and the follow-up work of the nurse have discovered and checked many incipient cases and reduced the danger of spreading the disease from more advanced cases. Working in conjunction with the county hospital the Society has done a continuous and most valuable work. The recent case finding campaign was a notable milestone in its progress, but has left it with greatly depleted funds. It can only carry on as its funds permit, for though there are many devoted members of the society who give time and energy to the cause, it is the trained and specialized work that counts. The cases found must be followed up and others discovered, and a regular routine carried on from day to day, from week to week and month to month. Tuberculosis is a curable disease. It can be completely eradicated. The local Society has done a work of incalculable benefit to this community, and should now be placed in a position to carry on that work on a scale in some degree at least commensurate with the need. The people of St. John are always generous when such appeals are made to them, and because they are a great forward movement in public health work has been possible.

MARITIME CLAIMS.

In his address at the opening of the exhibition Lieut. Gov. Pugsley gave utterance to a thought that has been in the minds of many public men of the maritime provinces in the last few years, and to which others besides the governor have given expression. His honor dwelt upon the transportation question, and the preference given to American over maritime province ports in the export of Canadian products and the import of products from overseas. He pointed out that the east and west policy of Laurier and Borden is not being carried out, and as a result the maritime province railways and ports are not getting a square deal; and he declared that if the people's money was to be used to carry traffic away from Canadian ports it would eventually cause a severance of the maritime provinces and those of the west. This, he said, was not a threat, but merely a statement of the inevitable. It would be well if those in authority at Ottawa took note of the feeling that has been aroused in these provinces. If New Brunswick, for example, were out of the confederation, the provinces west would have no winter port reached through Canadian territory. It is not at all surprising, in view of the treatment these provinces have required, that there is a growing restlessness and a more insistent query as to what they have gained or have not to gain by their connection with provinces which prefer to do business through foreign ports. No doubt the Maritime Board of Trade will give this subject the consideration it deserves at the hands of so representative and influential an organization.

PLAYGROUNDS

Pioneers in playground work in St. John will be interested in the following extract from an editorial in the Ottawa Journal: "When in 1898 the then mayor, Samuel Bingham, took the initiative in the institution of a civic playground in Ottawa, he set his hand to a hard task. It was the pioneer effort in that line, and it was not until 1905 that the public sentiment was not ready for it. It was only the personal influence of Mr. Bingham with Council, combined with the fact that he undertook to get the playground going 'without expense to the city' that caused the motion to pass Council. Mr. Bingham asked the city to let him have the Bolton street cattle market which was then in disuse, he to equip and maintain the grounds, which consisted of 11 large city lots. The old market buildings were pulled down and a cinder path established. Horizontal bars and other apparatus were put up all at Mr. Bingham's personal expense. The enterprise proved a decided success. The playgrounds became a community centre for Ottawa ward, and a moral asset to Lower Town. Later the 'Ottawa Ward Playground,' as it was officially called, was taken over and the upkeep assumed by the city. Such was the modest beginning of the splendid work now being carried on by the Ottawa Playgrounds Commission, at an annual expenditure of $85,000. The seed sown by Mr. Bingham has borne splendid fruit. The first supervised playgrounds in St. John also had to be started 'without expense to the city.' A fund being raised for the purpose by the Telegraph and Times and administered by the playgrounds committee of the Council of Women. So convincing to the people was the demonstration of the value of the playgrounds that the next year the city council gave a grant, and it has continued to provide funds ever since. Not only so, but it has given generous assistance to the Improvement League, which were organized to provide neighborhood playgrounds, and has made a splendid beginning in the creation of a great civic recreation park at the entrance to Rockwood Park.

Referring again to Ottawa, the Journal tells us that there are twelve civic playgrounds in that city, all under adequate supervision. The grounds include six swimming pools and three bowling greens. The total area of these playgrounds is about 44 acres. Of this acreage about 35 is corporation owned, and the remainder government owned. We quote again from the Journal: "Any civic effort which will tend to keep the children off the streets and away from undesirable associations, which will tend to turn them towards clean sport and healthful recreation, is doing something towards making the coming citizens better fitted for the work that is ahead of them. And that sort of thing is worth spending money on. Ottawa has taken hold of the playgrounds idea at about the psychological time. The city has now reached a stage when it has become sufficiently congested to make such places necessary. The full effect of the work that is now being done may not be felt for some years. But we of today in doing such work are but doing our duty towards those who will follow us. Just as the pioneers who went into the forests and hewed out civilization must have thought of the good the hardships they were sustaining would react to the benefit of their children and their children after them."

COME THOU, SEA-WIND.

Come thou, sea-wind, and blow away my fears— My red dreams and the fluttering sound of drums That beat forever in reluctant ears— That slow sleep comes, Blow—blow away the life that, dripping sweet Across the morning chill, Led us through comrades dying at our feet Up—up the glowing hill. Blow, cool sea-wind! Come, blow the fog away— The bellying smoke that tossing sear-let flame Painted the strange, pale dawnings of the day With writhing shame. And though I raised his bright head on my knee To ease his shattered breast, Far in the front still stang the fire, as free As linnet by his nest. Blow, sea-wind, blow! My heart is sick with dread. The days are strange and dim and nights are long, Since low I lay him with the other dead. And followed the life's song— Followed the life that none but he could play, Up—up the glowing hill; And now I wait with anxious eyes the day That I may follow still. —Carolyn M. Lewis.

FRIEND OF INDIA DEAD.

Simla, Sept. 5.—General Singhli died here today. He was born in 1845. He introduced far reaching reforms in every department of the state of Jodhpur and suppressed crime and otherwise worked for the benefit of the people. Through the construction of large irrigation works under his direction the country was protected against the famines to which it had been chronically subjected.

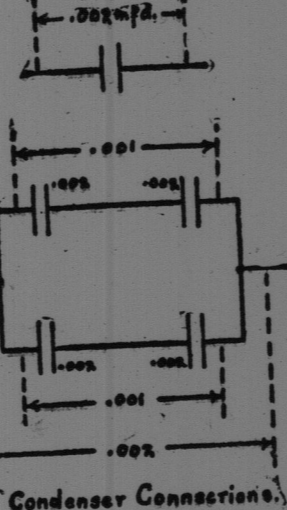

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

Lesson No. 95. THE EFFECTS OF CAPACITY.

The fundamental wave-length of an antenna system is the wave-length at which the antenna circuit when connected to earth oscillates by virtue of the inductance and capacity contained in the antenna system itself without the insertion of any coils or condensers. If a coil of wire is connected in series with the antenna the wave-length will be increased by an amount dependent upon the size of the coil used, but if a condenser is connected in series with the antenna the wave-length is reduced and the smaller the condenser used the shorter the resultant wave-length will be. In other words as we approach a condition of infinite capacity in the series condenser by continually increasing the capacity, we approach the point where the wave-length would be the same as the simple grounded antenna with no series condenser. As we continually reduce the capacity of the condenser we finally reach a condition where the capacity of the condenser is zero under which conditions we have merely the wave-length of the un-grounded antenna. The wave-length secured by using a series condenser can never be less than half of the wave-length of the grounded antenna.

If two condensers of equal capacity are connected in series, the capacity of the combination will be equal one-half the capacity of either condenser individually, but if the same condensers are connected in parallel the total capacity will be twice the capacity of a single condenser. A combination of the series and parallel connections is often employed in transmitting circuits where the voltage from the transformer is too great to apply to a single condenser unit. For example, the transformer may have a voltage of 20,000 volts and a condenser capacity of .002 micro-farads may be required. If it is desired to use condenser units having a unit capacity of .002 micro-farad each it will usually require a break down voltage of less than 20,000 volts. By connecting up four such units so that there are two in series and two in parallel (see diagram) the required capacity of .002 micro-farads is obtained and the high voltage is impressed across two units in series, thereby making the voltage on each unit only 10,000 volts.

In receiving circuits, fixed or variable condensers are used in series with the antenna circuit in order to reduce the wave-length for receiving purposes. The wave-length may be increased for receiving longer wave-lengths by either inserting a loading coil in the antenna circuit or by shunting (placing in parallel) the primary coil of the coupler with a variable condenser.

Many of the popular makes of receiving sets have two connections for the antenna wire, one marked for long serials and the other for use with moderate sized serials. The terminal used for connecting to a long wire serial has a small fixed condenser in series with the other terminal which is connected directly to the coupler.

A condenser is the only device in electricity which actually stores up electrical energy and a charged condenser contains a definite amount of energy. A storage battery does not store up energy in electrical form since the electrical energy put into the battery is used to reverse the chemical process which goes on during discharge.

THE SEA.

You hol a chantry of the sea, Where tempests rage and flappers lave; The salty deep, the mystery, About whose freedom statesmen rave.

It sets the lobster pots agog, It houses clam and soft shell crabs, It is unpleasant in a fog, And slows sea-going taxicabs.

It turns the lubber sadly green, And quite controls the appetite; Initiated the marine, And looks majestical at night.

It is to blame for lots of things— Long Beach, Atlantic City, too; It wears white caps and blue flings, And then again is truly blue.

It murmurs like a little child, Like mastodons of colossal yield, Its floors are with Sahara's piled; It certainly can shift the shells.

It is a favorite with whales; The herring loves it and the shark; It runs to weeds and weevil gales; 'Tis smooth and green as any park.

You hol yo hol the heaving brine, The centre of the world's unrest. Some people say it is dividing, And whippers like the mountains best.—Maurice Morris in New York Herald.

Real Generosity. A very good-natured lady, who frequently assisted a very extravagant relative, having one summer lent her considerable sum of money, was surprised and annoyed to find it missing one year.

In order to lend you that money some time ago I was forced to go without a motor car this season.' "I was the reply, 'If I had only known that I should have been delighted to lend you my mine.'" mental and physical relaxation is a far step. After the Lawyer Got Through. David Walsh, United States Senator from Massachusetts, recently told the following story on himself: A man by the name of Davis, while passing along the main street in Clinton, the Senator's former home, stepped into a hole in the sidewalk, and, falling, broke his leg. He brought suit against the city for one thousand dollars and engaged Walsh as counsel. Walsh won the case, but the city appealed to the Supreme Court. Here, at so, the decision was for Walsh's client. After settling up the claim, Walsh sent for his client and handed him one dollar. "What's this?" asked the man. "That's your damages, after taking out my fee, the cost of appeal and several other expenses," said Walsh. The man looked at the dollar and then asked, "What's the matter with this?" he asked. Announcing Our Autumn Millinery Exposition On Thursday and Friday

New Fall Millinery Modes make their initial showing here on Thursday and we cordially invite every woman interested in the new styles to come in and see them, try them on and decide leisurely just which type she can wear best.

You will find imported and domestic models all revealing what is newest and most favored in headwear for the coming season. (Millinery Salon—2nd Floor.)

A Few of the New Style Notes

Becomingness is assured in every seam of the new Coats, Frocks and Costumes.

In SUITS—Fur trimmings more beautiful than ever are showing. Rich embroideries are again seen on very dressy models and Russian or box lines are evident.

Plain tailored suits fashioned from heavier tweeds will also share in the favored fall modes. The best of it is, all the suits are so very wearable.

You'll notice a variation in the length of both coat and skirt.

In FROCKS—Colors and styles are taken from every corner of the globe. Egyptian, Russian and Roman influences are noticeable.

As for Materials—Cloak, Matelasse, brocades and fine twills are in demand; also a decided leaning to crepes of various kinds.

A new silhouette is brought about by flaring skirt panels and graceful draperies of unusual design. Blue and brown tones are prominent.

In COATS—The big raglan sleeved coat made from heavy, plaid backed material or some soft piled fabric that provides warmth without extra weight is both highly fashionable and altogether practical. These are fashioned in free hanging or belted styles and have big, roomy pockets and leather or bone buttons.

Fur Trimmed Coats in Velours or Duvetyns are finding favor for more dressy wear. (Costume Dept.—Second Floor.)

EARLY CHILD LABOR

(Bangor Commercial). Both child and community are losers by a policy which allows children under the age of sixteen years to be gainfully employed, according to a report on "The Working Children of Boston" just issued by the United States Department of Labor through the Children's Bureau. They have not received an education of the sort to make them adaptable to changing industrial conditions or to give them an understanding of the duties of citizenship. They are "subjected also to positive damage," the conclusions state, "from irregular habits of work, from labor unadapted to their needs and capacities, and from unsuitable associations and environments."

Advancement in school work seems to have exercised a favorable influence over even the children's first earnings in regular positions, and the advantage of those who had completed normal or higher than normal grades for their ages was still more definite in regard to wage increases, steadiness of employment, and earnings over an extended period of time. The study dealt with conditions which attended the entrance into working life of all children in Boston, Cambridge, Somerville and Chelsea, Mass., who passed their fourteenth birthday in a given year and who entered employment within two years thereafter, a total of 8,892, or approximately one-third of the children of their ages in these cities. Information concerning subsequent working histories was secured for a number of these children about three years later, and the advantage of those who had completed higher grades in school appeared at this time to have grown more pronounced, and suggests the reports says "that even the small amount of education which the eighth-grade graduate could boast over the sixth-grade graduate was a real industrial asset."

War Time Scenes Are Revived By the 26th

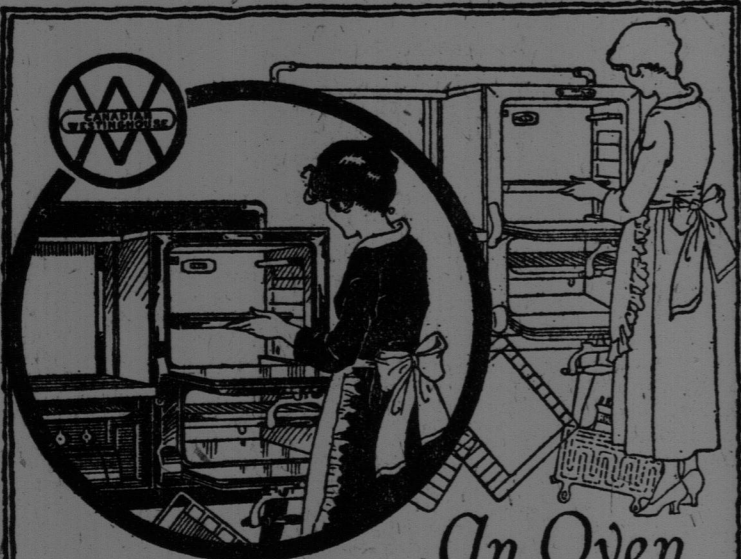

Reunion of New Brunswick's Famous Fighting Battalion in St. John Yesterday Grand Success Campaign to be Launched For a Memorial to Those of Unit Who Made Supreme Sacrifice.

The patriotic spirit of New Brunswick flared forth again yesterday when former members of the "Fighting 26th" Battalion, who had carried through the great war the fame of the men of this province, assembled here to renew friendships which had been sealed under a rain of shot and shell in the wallow of Flanders Fields.

The scene in the armories was striking. More than 600 men who had served with the 26th New Brunswick Battalion in France and Flanders took part in the proceedings and the speeches struck the empire were dropped by some of the speakers. It was clearly shown that a call to arms would draw every surviving member of this fighting unit from plain and field, from office and factory again to don the uniform of Britain's defenders.

BREAKING OF THE HINDENBURG LINE

(Written for the Canadian Press)

Four years ago on September 2, the Canadian Corps broke through the Drocourt-Queant Switch east of Arras, thus piercing the Hindenburg system of which it formed an integral part, and on turning the enemy line obliged his retreat behind the Canal du Nord on the corps front and his abandonment without defense of his prepared positions for miles to the south. The breach was made in the most formidable sector of this vast and elaborate fortified system on which for years every art of German military engineering had been lavished, backed by the labor of hundreds of thousands of Russian prisoners of war. The Drocourt-Queant switch indeed he regarded as impregnable, and this view was hardly shaken by the week's fighting from Aug. 28, during which after the initial success, the Canadian Corps apparently had fought itself to a standstill. The shattering nature of the final blow came as a complete surprise.

The Battle of Arras was opened on Sept. 9 by the Canadian Corps with the 2nd and 3rd Canadian Divisions in the line. These two divisions bore the brunt of the fighting for the next three days, troops moving forward to the jumping-off line for the final attack and in wire cutting along the whole front. It was essential to secure a jumping-off line 600 yards west of the Drocourt-Queant line, and during these days several strongly defended positions were captured, these including the Prenez-Rouvroy line, the Vis-à-vis switch, the Crow's Nest, Upton Wood and St. Servin's farm. The enemy fought desperately, continually bringing up fresh divisions, and during the afternoon and evening of Sept. 1 delivered violent counter-attacks at the junction of the 1st and 4th Canadian divisions. Our troops were forced back, but the ground was regained. The hand-to-hand fighting for possession of the crest of the spur at this point continued until "zero" hour next day, troops moving forward to the attack on the Drocourt-Queant line actually taking over the light from troops then holding the line.

The night was dark and stormy. Unlike the stillness that preceded the attack of Aug. 8, the battle waged furiously all night, the infantry and batteries only taking up their allotted positions with great difficulty. There was a great concentration of heavy and field artillery for the final attack, the latter including all five of the Canadian artillery divisions. The tanks, too, did fine work in breaking down enemy machine-gun posts and clearing a way for the infantry through wire entanglements.

At 5 A. M. "Zero" hour was set for five o'clock in the morning, and the battle opened in a light with a mist lying low in the valley of the Seneze. The infantry pushed rapidly forward, capturing on schedule the first objective, the Drocourt-Queant line, and the second objective, including the village of Drury, situated on top of ground sloping west, but the attack stalled, and the Canadian division suffered heavy losses. The 4th British division also had a hard task. With the capture of the second objective, the field artillery barrage was shot out, and the attack had to be carried out without its assistance. The enemy's resistance, free of the demoralizing effect of our barrage, stilled the open ground being swept continuously by machine-gun fire. The tanks soon became casualties from enemy guns firing point-blank, and the advance on the left and centre was held up. On the right the 1st Canadian division made better progress, capturing the villages of Cambrail and the Bois des Lognonnais. Indeed the famous "old red patch" never did better work than here.

It was an infantryman's battle, and only by the most dogged fighting did our troops make good their advance. During the afternoon our 1st division captured the Bulsey switch line south of the outskirts of that village, while the 3rd Canadian division, XVII Corps, on its right followed up behind us and then turned south to attack Queant. The enemy still holding out in front of the 4th Canadian division was thus outflanked and during the night fell behind the strong line of the Canal du Nord. Here he was to remain in front of the Canadian Corps until the memorable attack of Sept. 27.

George Hallett was heard in a recitation. The gathering then broke up into five groups and there was a general renewal of old acquaintances.

The armories remained open for the accommodation of the visitors during the remainder of the afternoon and evening.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the celebration were as follows: Catering—C. S. M. Rawlings; Sergt. Cook, J. V. Kierstead and Sergt. Gilbert.

Canter—Comrades McQuade, Gilbert and Potts.

Programme—George Hennessey.

Reception—Comrades Longmire, Gilbert, Moore, Daley, Wood and Keefe.

Automobiles to carry the disabled were supplied by L. S. MacGowan, W. A. Cooper, W. H. Holms, J. L. McAvity, L. McE. Ritchie, P. D. McAvity and W. R. Longmire.

Choose Your Preserving Utensils Carefully

MANY women enjoy great success with their preserving year after year for the simple reason that they use the best enameled ware that money can buy. They use either Diamond Ware or Pearl Ware. The porcelain-like surface of either of these wares keeps as clean as a glass jar. Acidic fruit juices cannot affect their non-metallic surface. Ensure success in your preserving by using

SMP Diamond Ware or Pearl Ware

"A Face of Porcelain and a Heart of Steel"

The hardest cooking or preserving leaves it as easy to clean as china. It cannot absorb grease or odors. And it will mean much lower cooking fuel bills, because it cooks food far faster than all-metal utensils.

Do you know that the Diamond Ware or Pearl Ware pot or pan that cost $1.50 last year can now be bought for 90 cents? Ask your regular hardware merchant.

Diamond Ware is sky blue and white outside, all white inside, with three coats of enamel fused on shapes of steel. Pearl Ware is pearly grey inside and out and has two coats of special SMP enamel fused on steel shapes. Either will suit you admirably.

Reduced Prices on Preserving Sets

HARDWARE merchants who sell SMP Wares have put a special price this year on Diamond Ware and Pearl Ware preserving sets—comprising preserving kettles, sauce pans, colanders, measures, fruit jar fillers, flat skimmers, ladders, spoons, pitchers and so on.

Clip this advertisement from the paper. Take it to your regular hardware man's store and he will give you a very moderate price on a preserving set—much cheaper than buying the utensils at the regular price piece by piece. It's a great saving. And make sure the SMP trademark is on every utensil.

BREAKING OF THE HINDENBURG LINE

Last Saturday Memorable Anniversary for Canadians

Their Storming of Drocourt-Queant Switch on September 2, 1918, Threw Wide Open the Floodgates of Victory—Then Came Cambrai.

Both the 2nd and 3rd divisions had lost heavily in fighting their way forward to the foot of the Drocourt-Queant line, and the final operation fell to our 1st and 4th divisions, together with the 4th British division, placed under the corps command. Brutin's brigade highly successful. There were representatives present from all parts of the province and even from the United States and other provinces of the Dominion. They came by train and automobile and the gathering was truly impressive. Rank and file were in the endeavor to render the simple phases of comradeship.

The Day's Work.

The reunion began with the assembling of the veterans at the G. W. V. A. headquarters in Wellington row at 12:30 p. m. Here the parade was formed with several automobiles of wounded and disabled comrades in the van. The Carleton Corral Band, which had been in the hand of the 26th Battalion, had volunteered its services and supplied music for the march as well as rendering a fine program in the armories. The men fell in according to military usage and the command "form fours, right," brought them into column of route with a snap which told that the training of the war years had not been forgotten. The march was out of Wellington row into Union street, thence through Charlotte King square, Sydney, Orange and Wentworth to the armory. The line of march was lined with citizens, who cheered the men as they came along. The men made a fine appearance.

At the Armories.

Buffet lunch was served at the armories. At the conclusion of the meal the assemblage was called to order by Lt. Col. J. L. McAvity, the original commander of the battalion.

He thought the reunion scheme had been a little slow in getting started but he was sure that with such a good start the idea would develop until every veteran member of the unit would be present next year. Before opening his remarks Colonel McAvity proposed the health to the King, which was given with musical honors.

Lt. Col. A. McMillan gave a short review of the work of the battalion during its training period in St. John and later in England. He referred to the spirit of the members and how their intensive methods of training had made a battalion second to none on the western front.

He hoped that this plan for the annual reunions would develop to greater proportions so that all members would be joined up into one brotherhood to further along peaceful lines the ideals of the old 26th Battalion.

Lt. Col. H. G. Wood told of some of the deeds of the battalion and made special reference to the late Lt. Col. A. G. MacKenzie, who had made the supreme sacrifice while leading the battalion in action. The keynote of his remarks was for good-fellowship and a closer union of all 26th men. He was sure if war came the 26th Battalion would be ready by night to take Vimy Ridge in the morning.

George Hallett was heard in a recitation. The gathering then broke up into five groups and there was a general renewal of old acquaintances.

The armories remained open for the accommodation of the visitors during the remainder of the afternoon and evening.

MISS WHITEHEAD RETURNS HOME

Miss Blanche Whitehead, returned to the city yesterday and registered at the Sign of the Lantern hotel. Miss Whitehead was a member of the party of the Overseas Educational League which spent the last two months touring in England, France and Belgium under the guidance of Major May of Winnipeg. She stopped off at Quebec for a few days on arrival in Canada and did not return direct to St. John as did Miss Ida Northrup and Miss Marjorie Northrup, the other St. John members of the party. Miss Whitehead greatly enjoyed the tour and spoke enthusiastically of what she had seen.

AT DRURY COVE.

The annual club tournament of the Drury Cove Tennis Club was played yesterday, the matches starting early in the morning and finishing in the afternoon. Interesting play characterized all of the events. In the afternoon a program of sports was carried out and prizes given for the children's races. The day's programme was brought to a close by a big masquerade dance in the clubhouse in the evening, at which many of the young folks appeared in very attractive costumes.

SIR HERBERT SETS PALESTINE RUMORS AT REST

High Commissioner Deals With Some Mischief Making Stories Relative to the British Mandate.

Jerusalem, July, 18—(Jewish Telegraph Agency by Mail)—Sir Herbert Samuel, High Commissioner for Palestine, in a statement submitted at a meeting of the advisory council, made the following declaration explaining the situation of Palestine:

"I have returned to Palestine to find that the confirmation of the Palestine mandate by the League of Nations is giving rise to a remarkable series of false rumors which have been spread among the people. It has once more been asserted that the Moslem possession of the Mosque Al-Aqsa and the Haram Esh-Sharif is threatened, and representatives have been sent to Mecca to defend Moslem rights. It is not necessary to go to so much trouble to repel an attack which no one has made or will make. The Moslem possession of the Haram Esh-Sharif is absolutely guaranteed, not only by the declarations of the British government, but by Article 13 of the mandate itself.

"It is rumored also that on the passage of the mandate, the British flag over the governates will be replaced by Zionist flags; the government of the country will be transferred to the Zionist organization, and 80,000 Jews will immediately enter the country to occupy it. I am not so much surprised that mischief-makers should spread fantastic stories of this character as I am that any sane human being should believe

"SHELL SHOCK" OUT OF OFFICIAL WAR LANGUAGE

Recommendation of War Office Committee—Matter of Fear While in Action.

London, Aug. 18—(Associated Press, by Mail)—Great Britain should have the misfortune to be engaged in another big war, it is safe to predict that no cases of "shell shock" will appear among her list of casualties. The first recommendation of the War Office committee on shell shock, whose report has just been published, is that the term should be cut out of the official language.

"War Neurosis" is considered to be the best general term. "Shell shock" is declared to be wholly misleading, because it occurred to nations who had never been even within hearing of a shellburst. "It is no surprise to find that the general lay conception of the term was very loose and ill-informed, the committee stated. "There was such anxious solitude during the war as to incapacitate, and such was the appeal of the term 'shell shock,' that this class of case excited more general interest and sympathy than any other, so that it became a most desirable complaint from which to suffer. "No case of psycho-neurosis, or of mental breakdown, even when attributed to a shell explosion, should be classified as a battle casualty any more than sickness or disease.

"In many cases," say the committee, "it is extremely difficult to distinguish cowardice from neurosis, since in both fear is the chief causal factor."

Colonel Stubbs, D.S.O., expressed the opinion that efforts should be made to get rid of the idea especially prevalent among young soldiers, that it was disgraceful to feel scared when in action. "I do not know, but I think I was in an awful funk the whole time," he told the committee, "and I think most people were. If the young soldiers were given to understand that everybody is very much afraid and that it is a natural condition to be in, but he should overcome it, and if he were told also about the effect of shells and that it was up to him to control himself, I think it would have some effect."

Only a brave man will voluntarily acknowledge that he was very much frightened during the war.

THE "NEW CHURCH" SOVIET LAND

Moscow, Aug. 11.—(A. P., by Mail)—The "red clergy," led by a group of young men, held its first congress here early in August and discussed plans to establish a new "live church." It was contended that the church must be brought nearer to the masses, and that the "new church" should be as "simple and as humble as was Christ Himself." [The aims of the "red clergy" so called because of its acknowledgment of the social revolution and the Soviet Internationale, include liquidation of the superiorities of the regular clergy in Russia church affairs; doing away with the reactionary section of higher clergy, who, it is contended, are still hoping for a coup d'etat to sweep them into power again; and preparation of an all-Russian conclave at which a successor to Patriarch Tichon is to be elected.

The "red clergy" group, headed by Archbishop Antonin and some young Moscow and Petrograd clergymen, came into existence as a result of a split among the Russian Orthodox clergy, brought about soon after confiscation of church treasures was started by Soviet government officials.

Because of the opposition which developed among the ruling church authorities, some of the clergy were prosecuted in various parts of Russia, even Patriarch Tichon himself having been placed on trial. Many sentences of death were imposed, some of which were carried into effect, and various archbishops, bishops and clergymen were given jail sentences. Realizing that the conflict between the state and the church threatened the very existence of the church itself, the group of young clergymen took the initiative and demanded the abdication of Patriarch Tichon. The patriarch yielded to the demands, and immediately afterward the movement of the "live church" was inaugurated.

The new movement, first of all, is against supporters of the old Byzantine church service, which demands splendor in all its glory. It is contended that the costly mitres, gold stiched vestments, jewels, the magnificent vestments, the priceless rugs are too significant of aristocracy. "In all this splendor," says the young clergymen, "little room is left for the light of Christ's mercy and love." The church must be brought nearer to the masses—it should be "proletarianized."

And it is on these grounds that the "red clergy" have recognized the revolution, its results, and the Internationale.

The "live church" proposed also to clear the churches and parish councils of counter revolutionary clergy and to remove the vow of celibacy for bishops.

Since this was written the cable has brought a report of a split in the new church.

make no difference whatever in the present administration of the country or in the laws relating to immigration. It will, however, be followed by the enactment of a constitution which will provide for the establishment of a legislative assembly containing a majority of members freely elected by the people. The drawing up of the list of voters will begin as soon as the constitution is promulgated, and when that is completed it must necessarily take some time—the election will take place."

FOR CONTINUOUS SITTING OF COURT

Western Recommendation re Criminal Trials, to Supercede Assize System—Reduce Jury Number.

Winnipeg, Man. Sept. 5—Declaring it to be a necessity owing to the increase of major crime in Manitoba during the last year, Col. J. G. Rattray, commissioner of provincial police, has recommended to the attorney-general's department the abolition of the present system of assize court sittings in favor of a continual criminal court session presided over by one judge. He also recommends a reduction in the petit jury from twelve to seven persons.

These recommendations will be put before the next session of the legislature by way of amendments to the jury act. The present system for handling cases provided for four sessions of the assize court each year. Each session is handled by two and sometimes three courts, which during the last year have failed to clean up all cases on the docket, due to the impossibility of holding a petit jury longer than thirty days. When the summer assize court closed early in June more than a dozen cases were laid over until the fall assize.

The recommendation of Colonel Rattray will provide for one king's bench judge to sit in criminal court continuously, or until such a time as all criminal cases on the docket are disposed of.

WANT EXTENSION OF NAVAL DISARMAMENT

Geneva, Sept. 4—A new international conference of members of the League of Nations to prepare for the extension of the Washington accord on naval armaments to countries which were not represented at the Washington conference is recommended in a report adopted by the disarmament committee.

The committee decided that it could not invite the league to adopt the Washington agreement on poisonous gases until the United States government saw fit to communicate that agreement to the members of the league.

The committee adopted the principle of government control of the private manufacture of arms and munitions under a license system.

EQUALITY AT HOME ON WATER OR IN THE AIR

Edmonton, Alta, Sept. 5—A hydroplane that can ride the roughest sea and will ride to anchor like a whaleback, is now being experimented on in Great Britain, according to Captain A. G. Haskell, of the Royal Air Force, a recent visitor here.

He said that the new machine is an innovation that might modify naval structures to a considerable degree. Although the strictest secrecy is being maintained regarding details, it is known that the machine is in reality a ship to which aerofolds are attached. The hull is long, of slight beam and extremely flexible. The elasticity is the outcome of many years of mechanical research at the royal aircraft factory. The combination is supposed to give seaworthiness equal to the craft's seaworthiness and it is further proposed to establish an aerial navy if performance is as indicated.

Its principal naval value lies in the fact that it can travel on the water should it not be able to fly; thus it could accompany battle fleets without cumbersome housing facilities. It will accommodate ten or twelve persons and will be entirely suitable for transoceanic use. It will be, with two engines, capable of maintaining a cruising speed of 100 miles an hour.

WORLD SHIPPING LOSSES 167 UNITS IN THREE MONTHS.

London, Aug. 18—(Associated Press by Mail)—Lloyd's Register of Shipping records the loss during the last quarter of 1921, of ninety-nine steamers and sixty-eight sailing vessels, representing 1,172,920 and 88,138 tons, gross, respectively. The causes are given as wrecked, foundered, collisions, burnt, missing, abandoned, lost, and condemned.

Of this total seven steamers, and seventeen sailing vessels were of American register. Holland had no losses during the period under notice. Vessels under 100 tons are excluded from the return.

BUSINESS NOTE.

A firm in New York has written to the secretary of the Board of Trade to say that they want an agency for the sale of fish in Cuba.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Angelo Costanzo, a native of Spain, given in charge by Captain Lars Hivling of the Steamer Waage as a stowaway, has been taken to the General Public Hospital suffering from pleurisy.

IN NEAT TRIM.

The schooner Cutty Sark was hauled out of the Market Slip this morning after being overhauled and painted. A coat of gray paint has been given this vessel, which was formerly white, and she looks very neat.

OUT OF DANGER.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baxter who were injured at Pandence last week, were reported from the General Public Hospital this afternoon to be doing well and out of danger. All others in the hospital as the result of injuries are also reported to be resting comfortably.

TO STE. ANNE

His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc, accompanied by Rev. Hector Belliveau and Rev. Roy McDonald left this morning for Moncton to join the pilgrimage for Ste. Anne de Beaupre. A special train in charge of Rev. Henry Cormier will leave there today. Other people from this city left on the pilgrimage.

HE CALLS AGAIN.

"The policemen's friend" Pedro Meste, or Meste as he gave his name this time, made his 114th appearance in one year in the police court this morning. Pedro is no slouch as that is an average of about once in every three days. For the one hundred and fourth time he was invited by the magistrate to seek the grand jury's pastures new. Waving an revoir, Pedro departed blithely.

COUNTY COURT

The County Court met this morning at ten o'clock but owing to a confusion as to the hour set at last adjournment there were not so many jurors present to proceed. The court adjourned until tomorrow morning when the case of The King vs Sewell will be taken up. The case of Carlin vs Dowdy is to have its trial today. Judge Armstrong spoke of the absence of jurors and said that fines would be imposed upon absentees.

CITY WORK

The work being carried on under the direction of the water and sewerage department in Weymouth street will probably be completed this afternoon. The work in other streets is progressing favorably, according to the commission. Good progress is also being made in the Newman Brook sewer. This new duct, when completed, will serve as an outlet for the sewerage to the street extension, Elm street, Lansdowne avenue, and the district north of Elm street and Rockland road.

KILLEN WILL CATCH.

It was definitely arranged at noon today that Fred Killen, who was the sturdy and steady backstop of the St. John's team, will take the place of Joe Dever behind the bat for St. Peter's in this evening's game with Fredericton on St. Peter's Park. The winery on the east to the match. It will not only ensure good work behind the plate, but will get the men in their regular places again, which will make for a steadier defense against the Fredericton attack. Joe Dever's thumb was badly hurt in one of Saturday's games, but he will be at his post soon again.

MARITIME TRADE BOARD.

The annual meeting of the Maritime Board of Trade will commence in the board of trade rooms, Prince William street, at 9.30 o'clock tomorrow morning. It was announced this morning that there were fifty-five delegates coming in addition to eleven members of the federal parliament. J. LeRoi Holman, of Summerside, the president, arrived in the city yesterday, and H. R. Thompson, secretary of the maritime division of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, who will represent the Amherst board, has also arrived. A telegram from Dartmouth this morning announced that two members of that board were to leave tonight.

NEW PASTOR HERE.

Rev. W. Alvin Robbins, B. A., pastor elect of Ludlow St. Baptist church, W. E., accompanied by Mrs. Robbins and daughters, Marjorie, Mae and Edna, arrived in the city early this morning from Yarmouth and went to the Clifton Hotel. Later in the day they will be entertained by members of the church in their homes until they are able to get properly located. Owing to their unexpected arrival today the official welcome planned by the deacons and officers of the church could not be extended, but R. H. Parsons, chairman of the pulpit committee, went to the hotel and extended an informal welcome on behalf of the church. Mr. Robbins will assume charge of the church on next Sunday.

DANGEROUS PRACTICE.

A complaint has been made that occupants of a boat going up the river within the last day or two were discharging a rifle pointed towards the shore in such a way as to endanger life. From Ferry's Point to Crystal Beach the firing was kept up, it was said, in spite of remonstrances on the part of those on shore. One bullet fell at the feet of a lady on the shore and another narrowly missed some children playing in the bushes. It is said the boat belongs to Indian town and that the occupants are known. It is very likely that action will be taken. This is the second time that residents along the river at the same point have been annoyed by a fusillade of shots. On a former occasion one bullet fired at night made a hole in a rowboat nearby.

NEARLY FATALITY AT NEWCASTLE

Bridge Work Superintendent Overboard as Repaired Span is Opened.

(Special to The Times)
Newcastle, Sept. 5—The Morrissey Bridge at Newcastle, which was rammed by the C. G. M. S. Canadian Squatter on June 4, was opened for traffic on Saturday and in the excitement which prevailed at the time the superintendent of the work, W. Hilton, had a narrow escape from drowning. He fell from a scow in which he was watching the traffic across the bridge and because of the noise and commotion at the time, no one noticed the accident or heard the splash.

Mr. Hilton had gone down the second time when timely rescue was made by Pierce Roman, one of the workmen who had been employed on the reconstruction of the bridge. It is a draw-bridge and when the Canadian Squatter rammed it considerable damage was done. Sixty men were completely destroyed. The repairs were made by the Dominion Bridge Company of Montreal, and Mr. Hilton was superintendent of the work. It was a difficult feat of engineering, reported far more so than the construction of the original bridge. A rough estimate places the cost of the repair work at $70,000.

LOSE $250,000
IN MINE FIRE

Cobalt, Ont., Sept. 5—Cobalt yesterday suffered the most costly mine fire in the town's history, when the mill and main shaft houses of the O'Brien Silver Mine were completely destroyed, the estimated loss being about $250,000, the mill alone contributing about $175,000 of the total.

POLICE COURT

A full house faced the magistrate this morning. Thirteen men charged with drunkenness were fined $8 or two months in jail and were warned that they were liable to $200 or six months. The magistrate said an effort would be made to collect the full amount in each case. One of those charged was a woman. In some cases those accused pleaded not guilty and evidence in these cases was given by Policemen Chisholm and Laird.

Allen Grace was charged with wandering around at 2.40 in the morning and failing to give a satisfactory account of himself. He pleaded not guilty. The charge was made by Policemen Hughes and Downey. The former said that they had gone to Erin street in the police patrol and had found the accused sitting on the steps of the Christy Woodworking Company, apparently asleep. He was told that he was liable to six months in jail.

Lloyd George Miller was charged this morning with being drunk and charged the police. He pleaded not guilty. Evidence was given by C. N. R. Policemen Pierce and Barden. Policeman Pierce said that he had found the accused drunk in the C. N. R. yards and had arrested him, that on the way to the police station the accused had grappled with him and they had both gone to the ground. Policeman Barden gave corroborative evidence. The accused was told he was liable to fines totalling $108 and was remanded.

Fred Carvell was fined $200 for having liquor in his possession other than in his private dwelling. Fred Clark and George Latham were charged with fighting at the exhibition grounds. Sergeant Detective Power testified that he and Detective Biddiscombe had placed both under arrest. Both were somewhat out up. Latham got out on a $20 deposit but appeared this morning. Detective Biddiscombe corroborated the evidence of Sergeant Power. The men were remanded.

Harry Short and Frank Kelly were each fined $88 or one year in jail for being drunk and resisting the police. Policeman Gantner said he had had a report that there were some men fighting in Hanover street at 1.20 on Saturday morning and had gone down to investigate. He had found the two accused and Robert Short and had arrested the three of them. On the way to the police station accompanied by Sergeant Spiney, Harry Short had told him to take his hands off of him and he had not paid any attention to him. They had grappled and had gone down to the ground. In the course of the scuffle which ensued the policeman had been kicked several times. In the meantime Sergeant Spiney had telephoned for the patrol. A case against Joseph Gabbrait, the result of a visit by the prohibition inspectors to the Empress hotel in King square, will probably be taken up in the police court tomorrow afternoon.

THEFTS ALLEGED

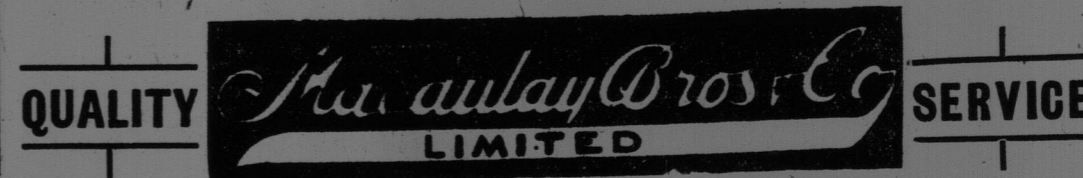

William Burke, on suspicion in connection with entering the store of Mrs. Rosa Elizabeth Daye, 481 Main street, and stealing a quantity of cigars and a watch, was charged before the police magistrate this morning. He pleaded not guilty and was represented by Starr Tait. Mrs. Daye testified that when she had opened the store on Monday morning she had noticed that the trap door was not as she had left it. She had then examined the till and found some money missing. On Sunday, she said, the accused had asked her if he could go through the trap door in her store to get into the cellar under his store adjoining as he had broken his key and wanted to get his raincoat. To Mr. Tait she said she did not want to press the charge against Burke. He ran a store next door.

Sergeant Rankine and Policeman Gibb testified also. Adjournment was made until tomorrow morning. Joseph Murree was charged with breaking and entering and stealing a watch, a sum of money and a pair of boots from the home of Mrs. Helen, Sydney street. He pleaded guilty to stealing the watch and boots but said he didn't steal the money, about $3. He consented to submit to the jurisdiction of the police court and remanded for inquiry. Sergeant Detective Power informed the magistrate that Murree was at present out on suspended sentence imposed by Judge Armstrong.

BUSY AT THE DEPOT.
All of the incoming trains today brought large crowds of people to the city. The majority of the visitors are here to see the exhibition. It was evident from the stir and bustle about the station that something out of the ordinary was taking place. Officials say that so far this week a record number of people have come to attend the exhibition.

Very Special Prices on High Class Bedroom Suites

We have just seized an opportunity, which was accorded very few other dealers, of securing a number of high-class bedroom suites in real mahogany and walnut at prices very little higher than is regularly paid for those made in inferior woods. The reduction was made on account of these patterns being discontinued by the makers, who are bringing out an entirely new line, and we will consequently be unable to repeat orders for any of them. We are, therefore, offering substantial reductions to those wishing to furnish a complete room, and invite all intending purchasers to call and see them at once.

Our immense stock is at your disposal for information or price comparisons.

Come!!

A most cordial invitation is extended you, your friends, your guests—to visit our pleasant show rooms during exhibition week.

TERMS OF AWARD FOR SHOPMEN OF CANADIAN LINES

Ottawa, Sept. 5.—The majority report of the board of conciliation investigating the differences between the Canadian National, the C. P. R., the Grand Trunk and other lines included in the railway association of Canada and their shop craft employes recommends: 1.—That the parties should confer as soon as conditions permit with regard to permanent rates of pay.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THE THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

BOX OFFICE SALE

It has been found necessary to defer the box office sale of tickets for the Boston Symphony Orchestra Ensemble concert in the Imperial Theatre next Monday night until Friday, the 8th instead of Thursday the 7th, as advertised in the press and on printed matter. However, this will not inconvenience many and on the other hand will give longer time for buying tickets by mail, which has been done quite generally already.

GREEK FORCES BADLY BEATEN

Virtually Driven from Battlefield by Turks. Athens Appeals to Powers for Armistice and High Commissioners Will Meet in Constantinople to Discuss Ending of War.

(Canadian Press Cable) London, Sept. 5.—General opinion in well informed quarters in London today was that the disaster to the Greek army in Asia Minor was complete. There seemed little prospect that anything could now save it from a total debacle.

The Greek government has appealed to the powers to obtain an armistice with the Turkish Nationalists, who have virtually driven the Greeks from the battlefield, and as a result of interchanges among the chancelleries at London, Paris, and Rome instructions have been sent to the allied high commissioners of the three powers in Constantinople to discuss joint measures for bringing about a suspension of hostilities.

It is hoped here that a meeting between representatives of the belligerents can be arranged to be held within the next few days in a neutral zone of Asia Minor, southwest of Ismid, and that this meeting will be productive of a speedy cessation of fighting.

Rev. John H. Trites. Moncton, N. B., Sept. 5.—Rev. John H. Trites, pastor of the First Baptist church at Carleton Place, died in the Moncton Hospital on Sunday afternoon at the age of 41 years. He had been spending his vacation here with relatives and was taken suddenly ill with brain trouble on Wednesday. He is survived by his wife and one daughter.

Patrick Gleason Dead. One of the oldest and best known residents of Fairville, Patrick Gleason, died last night at his home, 178 Main street, at the advanced age of eighty-five years, leaving his wife and eight daughters to mourn their loss. Mr. Gleason was born in Fairville and lived there all his life, making a host of friends in that community and in the city. He was an extremely well known figure in Fairville and was lively, cheerful and liked by all who knew him. His death will leave a feeling of deep loss in the hearts of many people with whom he had come in contact. The funeral will be held on Thursday morning at 8.30 o'clock from St. Rose's church.

IN WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 5.—(10.30)—A firm tone prevailed at the opening of today's stock market, but most early price changes were of a fractional character. The absence of many traders from the floor because of the holiday resulted in relatively light dealings. Shares of coal and grain carrying railroads were in good demand, Chicago and Northwestern advancing 13-8 points and gains of substantial fractions being recorded by Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Reading, St. Paul, Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific and Erie. Republic Iron and Steel, with a gain of 1-8 points, led the list of steel shares. Popular copper shares like Utah and Kennecott rose fractionally on light dealings. Studebaker opened a point higher, but the other popular speculative favorites, Mexican Petroleum and Baldwin, displayed a reactionary tendency. American Tobacco, up three points, featured the list of specialties.

Noon Report. New York, Sept. 5.—Price movements became confused as the morning progressed. Rock Island broke through for a new high and Union Pacific and B. & O. extended their early gains, but liberal offerings of Atchison, New Haven and Northern Pacific resulted in substantial recessions in these shares. Mexican Petroleum was under pressure on the announcement of a heavy reduction in production, the common receding nearly two points. Retail Stores, Allied Chemical and Famous Players all established a new high price for the year at gains of 2-1-2 points. The demand for coppers broadened, but American Smelting was reactionary. Pullman and Montana Power also were heavy. Call money opened at 4-1-2 per cent.

AUTO RACE UP PIKE'S PEAK. Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 5.—Noel Bullock of North Platte, Neb., driving a car of 188 cubic inches piston displacement, outdistanced all other cars in the fourth annual Pike's Peak hill climb here yesterday and won the Pensacola Club trophy as well as the prize money on his class. His time was 19.604.

The course started for twelve miles and 2,000 feet up the peak and his high placement, beginning at the starting line at Crystal Creek and on up to the summit.

MUST PASS AN EXAMINATION

New Regulations re Embalmers—Annual Meeting of Funeral Directors' Association.

Brunswick Funeral Directors' Association was commenced this morning in the Seaman's Institute, with the president, P. J. Fitzpatrick, in the chair.

The reports of the president and the secretary-treasurer, N. L. Brennan, were read and adopted. There was a good attendance of local and outside men, and more were expected this afternoon.

After applications had been received for membership in the association, the president read his address. He welcomed the visitors and told of the successful passing of the embalming regulations. These were passed to safeguard the public from men purporting to be embalmers who were incompetent to undertake the work. The main point in the new laws was the necessity, after December 31, of anyone wishing to obtain an embalmer's license passing an examination. The board of examiners will be appointed by the government, three members, one of them suggested by the association.

The report of the secretary-treasurer showed a good financial condition and a good membership. There were several informal talks on modern funeral conducting and embalming.

This afternoon Dr. G. G. Melvin, chief medical officer, Fredericton, spoke on the new regulations, telling how they would be enforced and explaining their full meaning. The member of the board of examiners will be elected today and his name will be submitted to the board of health.

Among the outside men present this morning were Milton H. Reid and L. H. Reid, Upland; Irvine Thompson, Cody; S. Richard, Shediac; T. M. Murray, Chatham; F. L. Rayworth, Bayfield; A. B. Lauder, Hillborough; James A. McAdam, Fredericton; W. McLeod Daye, Amherst, representing Christie Brothers with a display of caskets and furniture; and Fred Wheelock, of the Montague Furnishings Company, Montague, P. E. I.

The meetings will be continued this afternoon and tomorrow.

ENGAGEMENTS. Moncton Transcript: Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Spence announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Lilian Maud, to Raymond Laskey, the marriage to take place at an early date.

Mrs. R. L. Malby, Newcastle, announces the engagement of Dorothy Margaret Everett of Newcastle to Gordon Archibald of Chatham, the wedding to take place the latter part of September.

Campbellton Graphic: Mr. and Mrs. David Fraser Graham announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to William Arnold Murray, son of the late William Murray and Mrs. Murray of Ottawa. The marriage will take place in St. Andrew's church on September 21.

VALENTINO AGAIN AND WITH SWANSON

Imperial Theatre Has Notable Stars in Elinor Glyn's "Beyond the Rocks."

The verandah of the Cafe Ritz in Paris affords one of the many intensely interesting scenes in "Beyond the Rocks," the Paramount picture of Elinor Glyn's famous novel, in which Gloria Swanson is starred and which is screening again today at the Imperial theatre.

At one table is seated a couple of the bourgeoisie, as is plainly discernible by their appearance and dress and parvenu is stamped in every thing—their expensive attire, over elaborate, their way of eating and talking. But between them sits the daughter of the house—and the excuse for their presence in the Ritz select confines—for she is lovely and refined and sweet as a rare flower.

At another is a typical continental woman in perfect taste, with a gentleman apparently of some foreign court; at another table sits an elderly man with starting whiskers who laughs and indulges in repartee with his vis-a-vis.

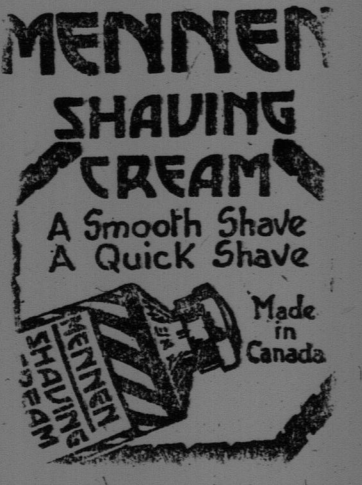

Over there is Rodolpho Valentino—looking his part of the young English baronet with Spanish ancestry. He rises as Alice Francis, playing the father of Theodora, enters accompanied by Gloria Swanson, who has the stellar role of the last named character. They meet and Valentino takes them to his table. It is all correct, all in perfect taste—and extreme care was exhibited in this as in every phase of the story, Mrs. Glyn being present to care for every bit of detail, and assist Sam Wood, the director, in matters which her long association with people of the types herein described has rendered second nature to her.

And she personally supervised the rearrangement of the coiffures of several of the people who played atmosphere—and very important atmosphere—in the scene. On one occasion she took a paint brush and went over the hair of a butler to make it conform to what she felt was the proper effect.

Never did any one take a keener interest in these matters than the distinguished British author. She was on the set early and late, always ready to advise and actually jump in and do the work if necessary of rearranging hair or great details.

In this picture, Gloria Swanson, is cast in a role that is romantic in the extreme and affords her unusual opportunities for the display of her skill and talent in emotional acting and enables her to wear exquisite gowns and look her levelled. The story is one of love, fervent, enduring, romantic. It is the tale of a misfitting of the undeniable demands of real love for a hearing and the call of youth to youth. It is Elinor Glyn at her best and it points, withal, to a moral that is strong and forceful—that none may scoff at love and escape unscathed.

There's a delightful new experience in shaving to every man who will but try it once.

Holiday business in immense volume graced the Imperial yesterday, among the patrons being many outsiders. The special programme was augmented by a repeat and request showing of the old Fighting 20th Battalion, the Path News and Topics of the Day. The same excellent bill today.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

Mrs. Allan Boyd, who is believed to be insane, beat two of her children to death at their home in Argyle, Carleton county, Saturday evening. Mrs. Boyd at one time had been an inmate of the Provincial Hospital.

Mrs. Agatha Miller of Cleveland was killed at Niagara Falls Sunday afternoon when an automobile in which she was sitting rolled from its parking place over the cliff into the gorge.

Albert H. Sturmev of Fredericton Junction died Saturday as a result of injuries received in a driving accident. He was thrown from a wagon and dragged for a considerable distance.

Mine workers of Alberta and eastern British Columbia are to be placed immediately on the 1921 pay schedule. This announcement was made by Hon. James Murdock, minister of labor on Saturday. The store of Crandall and Carter Salisbury and that of R. L. Hudson at River Glade were entered Friday night or Saturday morning and quantities of goods stolen.

afternoon when he was thrown from a farm wagon and crushed beneath the wheels. The funeral was held yesterday. A pilot engine running light between Sayabec and Mont Joli struck a wagon on a level crossing at Padoue Station, Que., instantly killing Adelaud Pournier, injuring his wife so badly that she died a few hours later and seriously hurting their five year old son. As far as can be learned they were returning from a visit and had fallen asleep. The majority report of the board of conciliation arbitrating in the case of the reductions in the wages of railway shopmen on Canadian railways contains the reductions which were to have gone into effect on July 16 last. The minority report of the men's representative differs somewhat. About 45,000 men are affected.

In the Fairville Methodist Sunday school on Sunday a presentation was made to Robert Scott, who has been teaching there for several years, on the occasion of his leaving for the University of New Brunswick. Rev. J. M. Rice and William McCavour made the presentation and Mr. Scott replied. Frank Dunham, a conductor on the East St. John street car, has received a military medal along with the allied victory medals which arrived a few days ago. He says that he doesn't know what it was given for but imagines it must be for helping in the capture of several German guns and turning them on the enemy. He was in France with the 27th Field Battery of the 2nd Division.

DECIDING GAME PLAYED TONIGHT

The biggest game of the season in amateur circles is scheduled for this evening on the Queen square diamond beginning at 6:45 o'clock sharp, when the Commercial and St. George's will decide who is the winner of the second series. Should the Commercial win, they will automatically become champions of the city but should St. George's win it will be necessary to play a further shore series, possibly the best two out of three. It is a sure thing that both lineups will be as lively as possible, the Business Men being out for a cleanup and the West Siders out for the title. Kerr will work for the Commercial and will be opposed by Stirling.

GIRLS! LEMONS BLEACH SKIN WHITE

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin. Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rose-white complexion, also as freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.

In the Street Cars

To cap the troubles of the tired business man riding home in a crowded street car, someone has to step on his corns.

When Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads are used on corns, callouses and bunions, they protect while they heal.

MEXICAN RIVALRY

B. C. BOOTLEGGERS ON U. S. PACIFIC COAST Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 5.—The bootleggers of British Columbia are losing their grasp of the United States Pacific Coast market, it reports circulated along these shores can be believed. A local newspaper points out that where ten ships formerly put to sea from Burrard Inlet on a delicate mission to Seattle or San Francisco, only one now runs the gauntlet of the revenue cutters. But it is not the revenue cutter and its occupants which has quered the bootleggers' pitch, it seems. Liquor prices in Mexico (which by the way as a destination supplies the alibi for the Canadian marine bootlegger) are too low for Canadian competition. While enterprising liquor dealers, operating out of British Columbia without legal sanction, were making out of a cockshell of a launch the profits of a sea-going freighter, Mexican traders were perfecting their plans for a single drive on the harassed revenue inspector in the intervening United States, and they are doing nicely, it seems. Right here it should be mentioned that the business is handled for the most part by citizens of the United States. They understand better conditions at the port of entry.

Record crowds attended the annual picnic conducted by Father Coughlan on the new church grounds at Treadwell's Lake Saturday afternoon. Games, races and sports of all kinds were indulged in and the outing was voted a great success.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ON FORESTRY.

(By the Canadian Forestry Association) Machines Help the Rangers

Q. What mechanical equipment is used nowadays by fire rangers in detecting and suppressing forest conflagrations? A. Lookout towers for detection with here and there the service of seaplanes for the same purpose. Fire finding machines are used in the towers for fixing the location of the blaze. Motor speeders and velocipedes are widely employed for patrolling railway lines. Gasoline pumps are highly effective for fighting incipient fires. Small motor cars and trucks are used where roads permit. All these and other devices are helping to check forest fires.

Q. What a Planted Forest Can Do

Q. How large an area would be required to be planted with timber trees in order to give enough timber to support a small pulp mill?

A. The Chief Forester of the Laurentide Company estimates that 250 square miles will yield 100,000 cords of pulpwood in perpetuity. It would take just ten times that area, of course, to keep one of our big newsprint paper plants going. Please bear in mind that this refers to a planted forest which should yield 75 cords and acre, whereas the natural forest in Eastern Canada now yields only from four to ten cords an acre.

Driftwood on our Northern Shores

Q. I understand from explorers that enormous masses of logs are found at the mouth of the Mackenzie River. Where does this material come from?

A. The Geological Survey, Ottawa, reports that the "drifted" logs massed at times at the mouth of the rivers flowing into the Arctic have been carried all the way from Siberia, Norway, and the St. Lawrence.

Forest Fires and the Newspapers

Q. As a newspaper editor, I have always maintained that the daily and weekly press are paying the bills for forest fires. I refer, of course, to the destruction of paper making woods, spruce and balsam.

A. Your statement is not exaggerated. Spruce and balsam are the raw materials of newsprint paper. Dear wood automatically follows forest fires, as the print paper and at the same time allow United States paper mills are finding to-

When Ontario loses 700,000 acres of timberlands by fire in a single season and Quebec another 600,000 acres, it is not difficult to understand that the price of depletion must be paid by the ultimate consumer of wood products. We cannot hold down the price of newsprint paper and at the same time allow forest fires the right of way.

THOUSANDS IN ATTENDANCE AT THE ST. JOHN EXHIBITION

Powerful Addresses at Formal Opening on Saturday Evening

Red Cross Nursery, Fashion Department, Attract Many—Poultry Exhibit One of the Best in Years—Fireworks and Vaudeville Acts Greatly Enjoyed.

Addresses full of optimism marked the official opening of the 1922 St. John Exhibition on Saturday evening. Lieutenant-Governor Purdy in the course of an able speech made a plea for unity on the part of the people of the maritime provinces and Quebec in regard to the policy of the Canadian National Railways and emphasized the need of having grain and other products routed through Canadian ports. E. J. Terry, president of the Exhibition Association, expressed the appreciation of the executive to the people of St. John and New Brunswick who had assisted in making the show as successful as it was. He traced the history of the association and spoke optimistically of its future. Mayor H. R. McEllen thanked the executive for the privilege of speaking and paid a tribute to the work of the association. He said that patronage was what was needed to make the affair a success. At the conclusion of the lieutenant-governor's address he declared the fair officially open.

Yesterday the grounds were thronged all day long. In point of numbers it was the equal of any Labor Day attendance. Through the headlines on the free open air bill had not arrived the acts proved well above the average. The musical programmes were greatly enjoyed.

H. A. Porter, manager of the exhibition, announced the names of judges as follows:

Horses, light—D. J. Greig, Allan's Corner, Quebec.

Horses, heavy—John Hay, Lachute, Quebec.

Cattle—Beef, R. B. Smith, Columbus, Ont.; Holsteins, Stanley Logan, Amherst; Ayrshires, Jersey and Guernsey, Peter McArthur, North Georgetown, Quebec.

Sheep—Stanley Logan, Amherst. Swine—Peter Brodie, York (P. E. I.) Poultry—John Clark, Cainsville, Ontario.

In both afternoon an excellent free outdoor show was given in front of the grand stand. Although five acts were booked, two of the headliners were delayed on account of railroad troubles and will not start until today. Those which did appear, however, were given a hearty reception by a packed grand stand and many standing around the fenced enclosure.

Barnold's Dog Show is one of the cleverest canine exhibitions that has ever been seen in the city and in the model city formed from scenery on the raised platform, the animals went through a performance that did justice to their trainers. They were followed by the Marr Bros in a slack rope and acrobatic act that was jammed full of thrills. The act is well arranged and well balanced and made a distinct hit.

Then came the Canton five, an oriental troupe of three men and two women, in a fire-eating, gymnastic and balancing act that took well.

Sylvia and the Reckless Duo, a trapeze and balancing act, which is also on the programme will present its first performance tomorrow, as will Mills and Mills, high wire artists, who were delayed through a train wreck.

St. Mary's band played for the free show in the afternoon and at 5 and 8 p. m. played concerts in the main building.

Radio concerts were given, afternoon and evening in the amusement hall.

Free Kindergartens.

Alongside the exhibit of the playgrounds work is that of the free kindergartens which attracted much attention in full swing. About a dozen happy children clustered about a table were playing with their "beats" contentedly oblivious of the interested throng passing to and fro. Then, joining hands, with their teacher, they sang children's treble to the great delight of the passersby.

Vocational Home Making.

The display of the vocational home making department, located in the centre of the floor of the women's work department, was a most attractive one. The display, Sept. 4—Labor's army was strung out three miles in length today, when it staged the greatest Labor Day demonstration in the history of Montreal.

Estimates placed the number of marchers at approximately 80,000, these being representatives of eighty-five trade union organizations. The chief attraction to the dense crowds which lined the miles of sidewalk where the parade took place in the elaborate floats and demonstrations, outstanding among which was the exhibit of the gas workers, who cooked meals along the route. The electrical men staged a radio concert from a huge truck.

Tom Moore, president of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, was one of the principal guests and marched with Mayor Martin and other vice representatives. The show in many regards. Here were shown, not only the completed work of the pupils of the home making department of the St. John County hospital, but also education board, but there was also demonstrated how this work was carried out on living models—Miss S. M. Barnett, of Fredericton, providing supervision, is in charge of the home economics part of the vocational exhibit and arrangements have been made for the work done in the vocational section is of a very high grade.

Manual Training School.

The display of the manual training school is divided into three sections. The first shows the work in the manual training school by first and second year pupils, including a wide range of woodwork, sheet metal, and mechanical work. The second section is the household science department, preserving, canning and needlework. The last section is confined to a display of furniture made by pupils, including chairs and tables, which makes a very creditable showing.

The exhibit of the work of the Women's Institute is a particularly fine one. Under the heading of thrift work is shown what can be turned out from a few yards of fabric in the form of quilts, quilting and examples of all branches of home making are shown in profusion and form an interesting display.

Red Cross Nursery.

An innovation, and one that has met with the approval and commendation of the St. John branch of the Red Cross in conjunction with the prize medals of the nursery is located on the ground floor in the southern end of the main building and is under the care of Miss Jean White, assisted by members of the Girl Guides.

In this excellent convenience mothers can leave their babies while they make a round of the exhibits, knowing that their little ones are being well cared for. Cots, beds and other furniture, as well as toys have been supplied by the Free Kindergarten Association and everything is done for the comfort of the children while they are in the care of the red cross. Fresh milk and biscuits are served free to the kiddies through the kindness of some of the exhibitors. The biscuits have been donated by J. A. Marvin and Co., of Sussex, and the milk comes twice daily from the prize herd of McIntyre Bros, of Sussex, and Howard Corning, of Yarmouth, both of which have been entered in the show. That the quality of the milk is superior is beyond doubt when one sees the eagerness with which the youngsters partake of it. This feature of the show is attracting crowds of people from the city. Little desire to check their babies while they make the round of the exhibition and many favorable comments were heard yesterday afternoon.

Vocational Exhibit.

The vocational exhibit in the women's section of the exhibition attracted considerable notice on Saturday and is one of the outstanding features of the section. It is a complete exhibit of vocational work from the articles made by children of three years and upwards in the playgrounds and kindergartens to the work done in vocational classes for women and girls and boys and men. Miss Barnett, director of the home economics part of the vocational exhibit and arrangements have been made for the work done in the vocational section is of a very high grade.

Dwyer's Bread

It was a good natured throng which filled the grounds and buildings yesterday and very little trouble was experienced. One light which started in the midway was snuffed out by the city firemen, who kept a keen eye on the people doing business in that vicinity.

This is indeed a busy week for H. A. Porter, the manager of the exhibition. Each day and every day is packed with events of all kinds for this general public. The news that during his absence the stork had paid a visit to his home and left in his wife's arms a fine baby girl. Mr. Porter today will no doubt be the subject of much congratulation.

N. B. ATHLETES WIN AT AMHERST MEET

Sussex and Moncton Track and Field Men High Point Winners in Cumberland County Carnival.

Amherst, Sept. 4—Moncton and Sussex athletes took a large share of the honors in the sports here today of the second annual Cumberland County Carnival. In the running broad jump A. I. Miller, Sussex, new Canadian champion, cleared the bar at 5 feet 2 inches in first place and then cleared it easily at 5 feet, 6 inches in the exhibition jump.

Cecil Oulton, Moncton, captured the 100 yards dash and 220 yards event. Harold Fryer, Sussex, won the one mile event. C. Heffer, Sussex, was the first in boys' 100 yards race and Quincy Smith took boys' 440 yards event.

Halfway firemen won premier honors in the firemen's event.

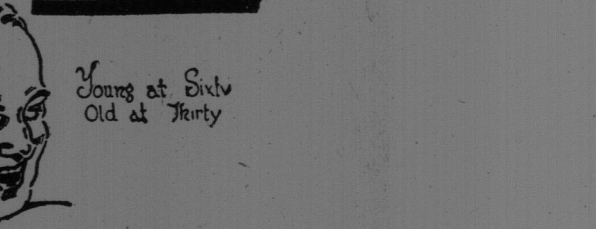

Parruboro baseball team won from the Amherst amateur team, 2 to 0 in the morning and Amherst won 8 to 2 in the afternoon.

A monster parade featured the opening of the carnival in the morning.

Odds and Ends Around the Big Fall Exhibition

At times yesterday afternoon, so great was the crowd seeking access to St. John's big fall show that it took some of them a full half hour to purchase tax tickets and suggested that they would serve themselves and at the same time make the entrance less serious were they to purchase tax tickets at one of the many places in the city—theatres, etc.—where they are sold.

Guided by a lesson learned at last year's show when the electric lighting failed for some fifteen minutes, the management has placed at each exit from the building red oil lanterns, indicating the passages by which the people may get into the open should the buildings suddenly go into darkness.

The grandstand was almost filled to capacity yesterday for the free acts, which are, if anything, more attractive than in years gone by.

WHY PEOPLE JOIN SOCIETIES

(London Times)

A witness the other day, no doubt desiring to impress the court, said that he had formed a society. She may not have known that in doing so she was merely following a natural instinct of the human race and one that is present particularly powerful. Those who form a society, no matter what its object may be, often feel that they are making history by drawing up rules, electing officers, and passing resolutions. Their proceedings are a solemnity in the fact that they are the proceedings of a society which they could not get in any other way. Usually, too, those who start the society become its first officers, and they feel that they have gained in status by that fact. They have made a little world in which they are somewhat, and, luckily for them, it is possible to end rank and file for almost any society, those mysterious, patient people who will go to any meeting, listen to any speech, and vote for or against any resolution.

Societies are apt to be infested by fanatics other than those who found them and who enter them with the object of differing from the founders and officials. The point on which they differ may be invisible to any one but themselves, but they have joined the society to insist on it, and they do so to the dismay of the founders who expect to do all the talking. Such fanatics usually have a malign skill in details of procedure and in the wording of resolutions. They rise to a point of order and use all the arts of obfuscation to prevent some latent heresy in the policy of the society; in fact, the founders and officials are their natural prey, just as the patient listeners are the natural prey of the founders and officials. Perhaps nature has also intended them to keep the number of societies down. There is a natural balance of such things, and those must pry on, or there would be too many of them, and our civilization would be lost to a state of society too primitive for societies, one in which fanatics would kill each other instead of proposing votes of censure.

But, as things are, societies form a harmless vent for their animal passions. They also convey to a number of people, who feel that something ought to be done about something, the impression that something is being done at last.

Samuel and Albert Leyden of Millidge avenue, who strayed from their path a short time ago and spent the night around the boats at Indiantown, greeted the feast on Friday night. Early

"Quid Pro Quo"

A dairy farmer living in a small town was summoned to appear before the local magistrate on a charge of selling butter under weight. The complainant was the village baker, who felt that he was being wronged when he discovered that every pound of the farmer's butter fell below the weight which a pound ought to be.
"Have you a pair of scales?" asked the magistrate of the farmer.
"Yes, your worship."
"And weights?"
"No, your worship, I have no weights."
"You have no weights! How, then, can you weigh your butter?"
"That is very simple. Since the baker has bought his butter from me, I buy my bread from him, and pound loaves serve me as weights to weigh my butter. If the baker does not weigh what it should, it is the baker's fault, and not mine, you see."

FIFTY-FIFTY IN MONCTON GAMES

Moncton, Sept. 4.—Moncton and Fredericton divided honors in the four games played on Saturday and today. On Saturday, Fredericton took the first game, 5 to 4, and Moncton the second, 4 to 2. This morning Moncton won, 5 to 3, and Fredericton came back this evening with a 10 to 2 victory.

FREDERICTON LOOKS FOR NEW CATCHER

The Fredericton baseball management is endeavoring to secure the services of a new catcher and is trying to get in touch with players for the remainder of the week's games. Both Carl Olsen and "Pop" Donovan received broken hands in games at Moncton, leaving the club without an uninjured catcher.

BIG WEEK AT THE QUEEN SQ. THEATRE

"The Radio Girls" at the Queen Square Theatre this week are certainly living up to their reputation for entertaining and the many visitors in town will certainly have an opportunity of seeing one of the biggest and best musical comedies for very small prices. There are many new features this week in comedy, singing and scenic effects; also real Scotch dancing and bag piping by two St. John favorites, Miss Beattie Whittren and W. H. Ross, piper major of the 29th Kilts. The show is one of the big features for exhibition week.

The fire department responded to a call from box 183 at 5:25 o'clock yesterday morning for a fire in the residence of E. M. Day, 145 Millidge avenue. The fire was in a burning mattress and was extinguished in a few minutes with little damage being done.

The British mails here will close at 5 p. m. on Sept. 6, 7 and 8 for the steamships Empress of India, Montrose and Megantic, respectively, via Quebec.

TRURO ATHLETES TIED FOR POINTS WITH CRESCENTS

Walker, Charlottetown, Highest Individual Scorer With Holmes Second — Bicycle Rider Injured.

Truro, N. S., Sept. 4.—The Labor Day field sports meet here today under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. did not draw a large crowd. There were fifty-five entries for the various events but not all the contestants showed up. Truro tied with the Halifax Crescents for the club aggregate of points and handed over the cup to the visitors. The individual aggregate was won by George Walker, of Charlottetown, with sixteen points. Grant Holmes, of the Halifax Crescents, was second with fifteen points. Walker won the quarter, half and mile bicycle races and was third in the half-mile run. Holmes captured the quarter, half and mile runs.

The 100 yards dash was won by Ross Cameron, of Mulgrave, a boy of sixteen years, in 11 seconds. Harry McDonald, Truro, who won it last year, was second and Chris Iott, of the Halifax Crescents, third.

H. Donnelly, of the Halifax Wanderers, aged about forty years, met with a serious accident in the quarter mile bicycle race. He had just won the second heat and in trying to avoid running into a boy who was sitting close to the track he was thrown from his wheel and his face badly lacerated. He was taken to a hospital but was able to return home this evening.

DEBEC BALLTOSSERS DEFEAT WOODSTOCK

Debec, N. B., Sept. 4.—The Woodstock All-Star baseball team disappointed the large body of rooters which accompanied the team to Debec this evening to see them clean up the Debec team. An interesting seven-inning game was played, ending in a score of 11 to 10 in favor of Debec. Although Woodstock used up their entire staff of slab artists the village team was too much for them. Woodstock's Babe Ruth, Moores, was held to a scratch single by Briggs, whose benders were too much for the home run king. The line-ups were as follows:

Debec—Ashby, c.; Briggs, p.; Stillwell, 1b.; C. J. Jones, 2b.; F. Jones, 3b.; Lutz, ss.; Lavery, lf.; Burton, cf.; McNorin, rf.

Woodstock—McKinley, c.; Jones, 1b.; P. Moores, 2b.; Chandler, 1b. and 3b.; McGibbons, ss. and p.; McLean, rf.; Buck, cf.; C. Fewer, lf.; A. Fewer, p. and rf.

WESTFIELD GOLF CHAMPIONSHIPS

The finals in the golf championships at the Westfield Golf and Country Club were played yesterday afternoon and the tennis elimination rounds were commenced in the morning. In the men's singles of the golf championships Lorne Pratt defeated Graeme Paterson, three up and one to play. Mr. Pratt won the championship and the McAvity cup and will hold the cup for one year and have a miniature cup to keep. Mr. Paterson as runner-up won a pipe, which was presented by the club. In the ladies' singles Miss Hliotta Dykeman defeated Mrs. David Lively in the final of the golf championship round. Miss Dykeman became the winner of the F. L. Peters cup and Mrs. Lively was awarded the pair of silver candelsticks which were presented by Mrs. Roland Skinner. The match between Miss Dykeman and Mrs. Lively was very close. At the end of two rounds it was a tie. Another hole was played to decide the championship, and Miss

LOGAN BEATEN IN HALIFAX REGATTA

Halifax, Sept. 4.—Willie Logan was defeated by two lengths by Penny in the boys' race in the St. Mary's regatta held here this afternoon. The race was over a three-quarter mile straightaway. Logan used a boat belonging to Woodstock, Fewer, McGibbons and Jones. Unpires, S. Turbill and J. Bryden.

Some staggering constipation facts; Know how Kellogg's Bran can help you!

Ninety out of every one hundred people suffer with constipation! Constipation is the direct cause of breakdown in old age, lowered vitality and ninety per cent of illness!

Do you realize that nearly every case of constipation is traceable to neglect in answering nature's call? In a few years the sufferer has "latent constipation"—the most dangerous form of all! Toxic poisons penetrate the intestine walls, polluting the blood, which in turn poisons and affects every organ in the body. Nearly every case of diabetes and Bright's disease can be traced to constipation or intestinal poisoning, as can most rheumatism, headache, brain fog, hardening of arteries and other organic diseases. Pills and cathartics can never afford you permanent relief. What you need is nature's most wonderful roughage—

BRAN—Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed—and delicious in flavor and edibility! Bran will permanently relieve constipation when taken regularly—at least two tablespoonfuls daily; in severe cases, with every meal. Your doctor will endorse Kellogg's Bran for constipation!

Kellogg's Bran sweeps, cleans and purifies the eliminative tract as nothing else can—and, being a natural food, it creates no habit. Bran's work is a revelation!

Serve Kellogg's Bran to the entire family as a cereal, with other cereals or in countless appetizing ways such as in muffins, pancakes, raisin bread, etc. Recipes on every package.

All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbed in the "WAXTITE" package. P. S.—Kellogg's Bran, eaten regularly will clear up a pimply complexion.

Taylor's So alluringly fragrant is Infants-Delight—such a mild, refreshing Toilet Soap—you will surely find a pleasure in its daily use, and a constant delight in the charm of your complexion.

Falls to Swim Channel.

Charles Toth, of Boston, was forced to give up his English channel swim on Sunday, after being in the water for eleven hours, and making fourteen miles. Richards gave up after swimming four miles.

Deep-Seated Abscess in the Hip.

Remarkable Recovery after undergoing three operations without success.

Our Portrait is of Mrs. LAMBTON, of Mott's Mill, Withyan, Sussex, England, who writes:—

"I am writing to tell you of the benefit I have received from your Clarke's Blood Mixture. I had a deep-seated abscess in my hip and was laid up about fourteen months not able to do anything. I was in hospital for months and had three operations. Still I was no better, so I took to your blood mixture. I had been using it for some time, but I thought I would try your Clarke's Blood Mixture. The first bottle I used fetched the pus out more than ever, and by the time I had taken half the second bottle I began to eat better, and the discharge began to get less. And after a few weeks began to get about a little on crutches out of doors. Then I began to get stronger, and now I am feeling better than I have done for years. The abscess is quite healed—I can now do my work and walk quite a long distance with a stick. I am sure if people suffering the same ailment would give Clarke's Blood Mixture a fair trial it would do them good you can make whatever use you like of this letter."

CLARKE'S BLOOD MIXTURE, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in cases of Eczema, Bad Legs, Itchiness, Ulcers, Boils, Pimples, Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Sciatica, Constipation. Pleasant to take and free from anything injurious.

Of all Dealers, Ask for and see you get Clarke's Blood Mixture "Everybody's Blood Purifier."

May Play Local Champions.

It was learned last evening that efforts are being made to bring the fast East Millinocket team here for a game with the local champions. This outfit is supposed to be the fastest independent baseball team in Maine, and it will be remembered that this team shut out the St. Stephen team recently 10 to 0 with Paul in the box for the border team. The Millinocket team also played an exhibition game with the Boston Braves earlier in the season and made a good showing against them. The local fans will eagerly await the outcome of the efforts of the management of the St. Peter's to bring this sterling bunch of ball tossers here.

Clippers Champions.

By taking both ends of a double-header from the East End Beavers on Labor Day on the Rockwood diamond the East End Clippers are winners of the Buchanan, c 4 0 14 0 0. In the first game both teams played good ball. The score was 7 to 3. The second game was slow and uninteresting, score 13 to 3. Batteries were: For the Clippers, Ramsey and Griffin; for the Beavers, McCluskey and Johnston, in the first game; and for the Clippers, the Griffin brothers; and for the Beavers, Hayes, LeBlanc and Johnston, in the second game.

Standing of the League—

	Won.	Lost.
Clippers	18	3
Beavers	11	9
Imperials	1	18

The Clippers had a very good season. They have won twenty-four, lost five and tied three.

Boxer Dies After Bout.

Oughton Heights, Mich., Sept. 5.—Sam "Kid" Johnson, 26, negro heavyweight boxer of Smitville, Mich., and formerly of the A. E. F., was killed during a bout here yesterday with "Dummy" Mason, white, of Bay City. Johnson had suffered considerable punishment in the seventh round and was noticeably weak at the start of the eighth, when he collapsed. A coroner's inquest has been called.

Walter and Archie Win.

R. P. Colgan and P. L. Flynn, who recently challenged any team in the city to a quills match, best two out of three games, were defeated by W. H. Gamblin and A. B. Copp on Central Quills grounds yesterday morning. The visitors took two games straight, the scores being, 21-17 and 21-6.

Races at Truro.

The Ghost captured the free-for-all at the Truro races yesterday. Summary:—

Free-for-all trot and pace, purse $300, won by the Ghost, straight heats, best time, 2:10 1/2.

220 trot and pace, purse $300, won by Freddie Stratton, 3 in 5 heats, best time, 2:29 1/2.

230 trot and pace, purse $300, won by Baron Brit, 3 in 6 heats, best time 2:21 1/2.

KENNEL.

St. John Dogs Win.

Nine dogs were entered from St. John at the Sherbrooke exhibition last week. James Latimer's entries, Fairville Grand and Britania's Pride, were both winners. Robert Laskey's fox terriers also won. Isaac Hamm won the specials with his Newfoundland dogs. Most of these dogs will be seen at the show in the exhibition this week.

Baseball in Border Towns.

St. Stephen defeated Milltown yesterday, 8-2. Lubec won from Eastport, 11-9. Sports were run off also and St. Stephen was given the cup for the championship of the St. Croix League.

LAST TWILIGHT BALL TONIGHT

St. Peter's to Play Fredericton Here at 6.30—Other Games as Season Nears End.

Tonight will be the last opportunity for local fans to witness the fast Fredericton team in action this season and will be the last twilight game of the season. The Fredericton team arrived in the city today and are expected to meet St. Peter's this evening at 6.30 o'clock. It is expected that Frater will swing for capital team, and Hansen or King for St. Peter's. The fast playing and heavy hitting Fredericton team should prove a big attraction in the last twilight game of the season. Honors between the teams during the season are divided, each having a win and a tie, and the result of tonight's encounter will be awaited with interest. It should be a stirring battle of the diamond, with all on tip-toe to earn the victory and get a game to the goal.

Tomorrow St. Peter's will play Fredericton in Fredericton. Other games arranged are: Casey's All Stars vs. St. Peter's on next Saturday; St. Peter's vs. St. Stephens at the border city on Sept. 15 and again in St. John on Saturday, Sept. 16. The season fast draws to a close. The fans have been given keen and exciting contests throughout, with a high-class brand of baseball and is hoped to see a large number of them in attendance at the game tonight.

FAVORITES WIN IN LEWISTON RACING

(Special to The Times)

Lewiston, Me., Sept. 4.—The Main state fair, the third in the New England Fair Circuit, opened today with a record attendance for a first day. Favorites were winners in the three good racing events on today's card. Admiral Black, a Maine horse, repeated his wins in Ben and Waterville by taking the 220 trot in straight heats. Peter Florentine, of the Malcolm and Towle Augustus stakes had the speed in the 230 class. Royal White also started with a record at the Great (Nelson) class. Hedgewood Lassie ch. m. (Simmons) won the 220 Trot, Pace $500. Admirable (Smith) 1 1 1 Holywood Victory b.g. (Wells) 2 2 2 Mona C. h.m. (Simmons) 3 3 4 Lady Emerson ch. m. (Russell) 4 4 3 Frank White also started. Time: 2:19 1-4; 2:20; 2:18 1-2.

hall at the Narrows on Saturday night. On Sunday morning the members attended church parade and in the evening a sacred concert was given on board the Constance. Oak Point was reached the next day, where races were held.

High mass of requiem was celebrated in the Cathedral yesterday morning by Rev. William Duke for the repose of the soul of Sergeant James McCarty, who was killed at Arras on Sept. 4, 1918, two months before the end of the great war. Sergeant McCarty went overseas with the 4th C. M. R. and afterwards was transferred to the 4th C. M. R. He was a member of the latter unit when he met the next day, where races were held.

A motor truck owned by Albert Harr, 32 Wright street, took fire on Saturday afternoon and a still alarm was sent out. Considerable damage was done but was killed at Arras on Sept. 4, 1918, two months before the fire was extinguished.

Make Yourself At Home Here For Exhibition

The free services of our staff and store are gladly at the disposal of all visitors who would appreciate an information bureau.

We will do all we can to guide anyone wherever he wants to go and keep him posted about the various places and programmes.

Make our store your headquarters for every convenience. And incidentally, as all St. John makes it a headquarters for clothing and furnishings it's possible you may want to look at the latest in each line—the price is right. It will be.

Don't forget—it's open house here all week.

Robert S. Lynd Dug Shoulder to Shoulder With His Parishioners in a Northwestern Oil Camp

Can you "sell" religion for everyday use to men, especially in a rough oil camp where they work six and a half days a week? This was the question that Robert S. Lynd put to himself when he gave up a successful business career for the ministry, and he answers it in an article in the September Harper's Magazine...
