The War.

A St. Petersburg despatch of last Friday says:-A feeling almost akin to despair reigns in the much-tried Russian admirality. The official report of Vice-Admiral Skrydloff (coming on the heels of known losses sustained by the Port Arthur squadron in its desperate sortie of Aug. 10, and the anxiety over the fate of the warships still unnaccounted for, not only confirming the sinking but show ing that the injuries sustained by the Gromoboi and Rossia in the fight with Vice-Admiral Kamimura's squadron were even greater than anticipated) completes the crushing nature of the blow to Russia's ill-starred naval forces in the Far East. So far as the immediate future is concerned the Admiralty does not disguise the fact that the Vladivo stock squadron is destroyed.

The effect upon the public is also most depressing. The only consolation found is in the words of praise bestowed on the officers and men and the unequal character of the fight, Russian naval experts by the system of co-efficients figuring that the inferiority of the Vladivo-stock squadron in armour and guns was 69 to 100. The chief mystery, at the admiralty here is why Vice-Admiral Kamimura drew off when Admiral Jessen's ships were at his mercy. The only explanation is that his squadron must have suffered such frightful damage that it could not continue the battle.

It is confirmed that the losses of officers and men on board the Rossia and Gromoboi were 50 per cent. of the former and 25 per cent, of the latter, showing the dreadful havoc caused by the fire from the one really exists—in Northumber—

DR. GIUSEPPE LAPPONI

How could he ever forget that face, or cease to long for a sight of it? Yet he knew that he must forget that face, or cease to long for a sight of it. There was no need to

PHYSICIAN TO THE POPE that face, or cease to long for a sight of it. There was no need to sight of it. There was no need to sight of it. There was no improbable that he would ever see her again. This very improbability gave him a sort of plenary indulgence to think a little of her sometimes, and recall their adventures more than he would have done had there been any hope. It is not only lawful but right to mourn over a new-made the life of the late Pope Leo XIII to the great age of 92, and to whose
