FORGED CHECK GOT $300,000 WORTH OF SECURITIES

New York Bank the Victim

Stranger Paid the Loan of Brokerage Concern With the Bogus Paper and Received the Collateral in Return—Police Searching for the Slick Gent.

New York, Sept. 28.—The details of a scheme where the National City Bank of this city was recently victimized by a clever forger, came out today. The forger presented a bogus check bearing the name of a well known stock exchange firm and received in return securities valued at about $300,000.

Pearl & Co., stock brokers at 27 William street, recently negotiated a one-day loan for $300,000 with this unnamed institution. On Wednesday a check for the amount of the loan, plus $7.50 for the one day's interest, was presented at the bank by a stranger who received the securities deposited by Pearl & Co. for their loan.

MOTHER AND FOUR LITTLE CHILDREN BRUTALLY MURDERED

Edna, Texas, Sept. 25.—Mrs. A. J. Condit and four children, a daughter and three boys from four to ten years old, were murdered in cold blood at their home near here today. The mother and daughter were assaulted and their bodies brutally disfigured.

A baby about two years old was the only one left. All others seemed to have been murdered with some blunt instrument, their heads were crushed and their throats cut with a knife or razor. The girl and mother were killed in the house. The boys were killed about 100 yards away.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 28.—Major Louis L. Seaman, of New York, was the central figure today at the convention of military surgeons of the United States when he made answer to the criticisms of his utterances made last Tuesday by Surgeon Charles F. Stokes, of the United States navy, and followed with a paper on "The real triumph of Japan, or the conquest of the silent foe," in which he reiterated many of his former statements and lauded the Japanese government for its conduct of the sanitary and hygienic phase of the war.

GEORGE W. PERKINS A STUBBORN WITNESS

Declined to Produce J. P. Morgan & Co.'s Books Before Insurance Committee, But He Will Be Forced To—Reluctantly Admits Some More Deals in Which He Represented Both Sides—How Agents Were Taken from Equitable by New York Life at Enormous Cost.

Characteristic Poses of Mr. Perkins While Testifying Before Investigating Committee

New York, Sept. 28.—Several sensational incidents developed at the session of the legislative committee on life insurance investigation today. The first was when George W. Perkins, vice-president of the New York Life Insurance Company, and member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., objected to producing the books of his firm showing a certain transaction of that firm with the New York Life. Mr. Perkins offered to present a copy of the entry in question from the books, but Mr. Hughes demanded the books after several refusals on the part of Mr. Perkins. The books will be produced later.

WINTHROP MYSTERY CLUES ALL RUN DOWN

CITIZEN ARMY AS A HOME DEFENCE

Dundonald Says He Proved Scheme Feasible When in Canada

WOULD TRAIN BOYS

Disapproves of Compulsory Military Service for Adults—Says it is Useless to Get Colonial Governments to Maintain an Army for Imperial Purposes.

London, Sept. 28.—(Special)—A special London cable says: In the October number of the Fortnightly Review there appears a twelve page article entitled "Notes on a Citizen Army," by Lord Dundonald.

"That such an organization as a citizen army for home defence is feasible I have always believed and my recent experience with the citizen militia of Canada has given me practical proof of the soundness of my belief," is one of his remarks.

Lord Dundonald, entirely disapproves of compulsory military service for the adult, in time of peace as a basis. The starting point of any scheme for a large voluntary citizen army must be the military training of boys, according to his ideas.

After a lengthy review of his own work in Canada, he says: "In the past all efforts to persuade colonial governments to maintain organized forces in readiness for imperial purposes have been doomed to failure and there is nothing in the history of the last five years to lead us to expect a change of attitude; but all the advantages sought for might be obtained, without any accompanying objections, by applying a bonus system to the colonial forces. A colonial war service might be instituted, for which I am certain whole regiments of colonial militia would volunteer. My experience of the Canadian citizen soldiers convince me that many regiments would thus volunteer en masse."

"The changes in the higher administration of the national forces of Canada and Australia have brought about something like a divorce between the imperial and colonial military organizations. It is not necessary to emphasize the disadvantages even of such a tendency. The whole question of imperial unity is seriously affected by it."

WITTE AT HOME; WARMLY GREETED

Reception in Marked Contrast to One on His Departure.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 28.—M. Witte arrived here at 8:25 a. m. and was accorded a very hearty reception by a large crowd of officials and others. In a brief speech replying to a welcoming address M. Witte showed clearly that he was deeply touched by the welcome with which he was received.

When he left St. Petersburg in July a small delegation of officials accompanied him to the railway station to his final farewell. There was no public demonstration whatever. Today there were seven or eight times as many officials despite the early hour of the train's arrival and an enthusiastic crowd of 500 or 600 people.

The crowd had collected near where M. Witte would disembark, but when he appeared they broke out into long and loud cheers to which M. Witte bowed acknowledgment. The spokesman then advanced and read the address of welcome, in the meanwhile standing bareheaded. It read:

"You have accomplished your difficult task and the nation is grateful to you. You have given the credit for your feat to Emperor Nicholas and President Roosevelt, Emperor William of Germany and to the press, but you forgot yourself. We, however, appreciate your services to your country. The tree you planted at the Washington homestead at Mount Vernon will serve as a token of the union between the two nations. You have gained much."

"For ourselves and for those present we give you a hearty welcome."

Witte's Modesty

When the cheers had died away M. Witte, who was deeply moved by the sincerity of the welcome, said to you: "I was so little prepared for this kind reception that I must ask your pardon for the incoherence of my words. I have performed my duty well because I have strictly obeyed his majesty's instructions, because circumstances favored me, because the world is weary of this bloody war, because all classes of American society sympathize with me and your cause, because I was true to my country and her and our interests."

M. Witte's last word was followed by further loud and hearty cheering, after which M. Witte shook hands with the deliverer of the address and his friends and former colleagues. The crowd followed closely toward the door where an open carriage was in waiting. As soon as M. Witte was seated the coachman started his team and as he drove dashing away the crowd broke out into a succession of loud cheers.

Police More Puzzled Than Ever

Bundle of Clothing Found Accounted For—No Similarity in Three Blonde Hairs—Quilt Picked Up Belonged to Yachtsman—Divers Still at Work Searching for Woman's Limbs.

Boston, Sept. 28.—The situation tonight in the Winthrop dress suit case mystery, the police admit, is substantially the same as it was a week ago tonight, when the gruesome find was made near the floor of the Winthrop Yacht Club. All the police have that appears tangible and vital is the fact of the purchase of dress suit cases at pawn shops of Pitt street, and the identification of them by the pawnbroker.

With the single exception of a broker's story every clue has been down and satisfactory account of the suspicious circumstance.

The bundle of clothing found in Park, the mackintosh, the logs bridge, and the Shirley Point, all of a time connected, have been eliminated as worthless.

The blonde hair, the microscopic examination of the hair, the similarity in either texture or color, that they had not come from the head of the same person.

Bundle of Clothes Accounted For

The bundle of clothes, which was wrapped in the paper marked "R. O. Burkhart, 2 Dalton street," had been thrown into the water after the death of Mrs. Burkhart's sister in Winthrop. They had been used about the sick bed of the woman. Mrs. Burkhart refrained from telling the police to avoid possible embarrassment to her sister.

The quilt was claimed by a South Boston yachtsman, whose boat had been sunk in the harbor.

The appearance today of Charles E. Beckwith, the Marlboro cobbler, who came here and claimed to identify the case, only added, for the time, to the confusion. He told the state police that he had needed the case on Aug. 14 for a man who said he was a Winthrop physician. The police, however, are of the opinion that Mr. Beckwith is mistaken in the dress suit case, for if the story of the pawnbroker is to be believed, the case had not been sold on Aug. 14.

The police are now directing their attention along two lines of investigation—the recovery of the second suit case, and the identity of the purchaser. They look for little reward from any other source.

The work of the divers is being continued and will be until the entire bottom of Winthrop Bay has been covered.

TRURO FARMER HAD CLOSE CALL

Truro, N. S., Sept. 28.—(Special)—Campbell Johnson, a young farmer of Lower Truro, had a narrow escape from death on the Midland Railway last night. As he was nearing the crossing with a team it made so much noise he could not hear the train and could not see it till it came quickly around a bluff. Johnson reined in his horses but not till one had got on to the track. The engine tore the animal out of the harness and carried it eighty yards. The mate to the killed horse was uninjured.

The latest report says the Midland Railway will be transferred to the D. A. R. Company next week.

ROTARY SAW CUT OFF MAN'S LEG

Thomas Musie, Jr., Met With Bad Accident at Murchie's Mill, Deer Lake.

Woodstock, N. B., Sept. 28.—(Special)—A bad accident happened to Thomas Musie, jr., at Murchie's mill, Deer Lake, yesterday afternoon. He was employed at the carriage of the rotary saw, when through a mishap and to save himself from a fatal accident, he jumped over the moving saw which severed his right leg six inches below the knee.

Dr. Folkins, of Canterbury, was called and the injured man was brought on the night train to Woodstock, conveyed to the hospital and at 2 o'clock this morning, Dr. Griffin, assisted by Dr. Folkins, amputated and dressed the limb. Tonight the young man is resting easily and the doctors think the injury will not prove fatal.

He described in detail the surgical methods used in the Japanese fleet; and told how surgeons before every engagement carefully inspected the eyes of all gunners on the warship; how the ears of every man in the fleet were plugged with cotton before the firing began, and how Admiral Togo fought his fleet from the compass bridge of the Mikasa instead of the conning tower.

NO CLUE TO ADE WILLIAMS' ASSASSIN.

No further light has been thrown upon the mystery surrounding the assault Saturday night upon Ada Williams. Only the girl's undoubted good character prevents the authorities from suspecting that there is something wrong in her story. No physical signs of an attack of any kind were discoverable. To have been checked into insensibility would have left some marks, the police say, and there are none. An enquiry among all the milkmen doing business in that vicinity or likely to pass that way reveals nothing respecting the man who she said relieved her.

THE NEWCOMERS' OATH

Those observers who talk of the "Americanization" of the Canadian West and of the hundred thousand voters there who presently favor the United States in all things if they do not prove editious or rebellious, are disposed to overlook the naturalization of these newcomers who desire grants of land.

CLEAN FIGHTING

White fighting nations wash their soldiers and sailors after they are wounded. The Japanese wash them before they are wounded, which is more important.
