HIGHLAND MARY.

TUNE,- Katharine Ogie.'

Ye banks, and braes, and streams around
The castle o' Montgomery,
Green be your woods, and fair your flowers
Your waters never drumlie!
There simmer first unfalds her robes,
And there the langest tarry;
For there I took the last fareweel
Of my weet Highlyand Mary. O' my sweet Highland Mary.

How rich the hawthorn's blossom;
As underneath their fragrant shade,
I clasp'd her to my bosom!
The golden hours, on angel wings,
Flew o'er me and my dearie;
For dear to me, as light and life,
Was my sweet Highland Mary.

Wi'mony a vow, and lock'd embrace, Our parting was fu'tender; And, pledging aft to meet again, We tore oursels asunder; But Oh! fell death's untimely frost, That nipt my flower sac early!

Now green's the sod, and cauld's the clay,
That wraps my Highland Mary!

And closed for aye, the sparkling glance, That dwelt on me sae kindly! And mould'ring now in silent due That heart that loe'd me dearly But still, within my bosom's core, Shall live my Highland Mary.

An Enteresting Story.

Quickly and quietly the poor woman took nothing to live for, John. Quickly and quietly the poor woman took from her little closet the last and most covered store of dry wood, and while she bent over the broken coals, adjusting it to the ill-looking fireplace, the sick man held his hand, with a curious look, to his eyes, examined the finger-nails, heavily pressed his damp forchead, and groaned.

What is it, dear?

You wore right, I do believe, Mary; the sound came again apparently beneath our window, cried John, holding his hand in the attitude of a listener.

Yes and there are voices outside; I'll just go to the door a minute; maybe we can do some good; and, throwing on what had once been a comfortable—woolen shawl, she we will.'

The doctor came. The wound he said to aid me. God forgi was not dangerous, but, without medical aid, might become so. He dressed the young before John, who lifted his lustrus eyes and smiling face to the doctor, he said, You seem very well pleased, s'r—I wish you joy.'

ALSO,-all that certain tract of land sit unted and being in the Parish of Saint Patrick, bounded and described as follows :-Beginning on the Easterly shore of the Digwriting from Jacksonville, Telfair Co., Floriwriting from Jacksonville, Telfair Co., Florida, gives the following account of the "wandering Africans" that were recently in duress for some days at that place:

The most of these negroes are very likely, and are from 6 to 21 years old. They is only one woman among them. They soem perfectly happy, and are as contented and free from cackas if roaming their native wilds.—They remain in jail only at night, during the day they are permitted the freedom of the yard. Some of them are quite smart and all are quick to learn. At first they could not speak a word of English. Several of them, since they have been here have mastered many word. "Money" and "whiskey" are favorite words with them All love money and all appear to love whiskey. They seem to have a knowledge of the value of coin, but none of our paper currency gave one an order for something at a store, since which time, all scraps of paper are in great demand with them. A newspaper wastorn into small pieces and carefully put away, shey this kit will answer the same purpose.
