OBITUARY

Mrs. Sarah E. Ward
The death occurred at Danvers, Mass., on Thursday, April 2nd, of Mrs. Sarah E. Ward, second daughter of William and Fanny Smith and widow of the late George Ward, Victoria Vale, N. S., of Pneumonia at the home of her brother, Henry Keith, funeral service being conducted there on Sunday afternoon, April 5th. She was 61 years of age.
It came as a great shock to her relatives and friends, as she was enjoying her usual good health until about ten days before her death, when she contracted a cold which later developed into Pneumonia with complications, the end coming very sudden. She and her eldest son, Charles, had spent the winter in Danvers, with relatives and were making preparations for returning to their old home.
Death has laid a heavy hand on this family. Her husband, George Ward, died Jan. 27, 1923. His mother "Aunt Susan" as everyone called her, passed beyond on July 11, 1924, in her 100th year, and her eldest sister, Lizzie died Feb. 21, 1925, and was buried at Pine Grove Cemetery Tuesday, Feb. 24th.

Mrs. Ward's death was the first break in the Keith family of ten children, which was very remarkable and exceeding unusual, and in exactly six weeks, April 7th, the second sister, Sarah Ward, was laid to rest in Pine Grove, thus making four deaths in a little over two years.
Mrs. Ward was a woman of sterling qualities, beloved by family and friends, endeavoring herself to all by her bright, cheery manner and great hospitality. She was a consistent and active member of the Methodist Church, where she lived as also was her husband and sisters, all three ailing at the time when Rev. A. B. Higgins was their pastor.
The three of these three have left a gap in church, community and home life, which can never be filled. She leaves to mourn her loss, two sons, Charles and Percy, now of Danvers and two daughters, Helen, also of Danvers, and Mary, of Victoria, N. S. Also three brothers, Henry, William of Danvers and Calvin of Kentville, S. and five sisters, Ida of Washington, D. C., Mildred, (Mrs. George Smith) of Leitchfield, Conn., Althea (Mrs. Emery Simm) of Waverley, Mass., Maud (Mrs. Joseph Brown) and Bas (Mrs. Philip Burt) of Victoria Vale, N. S., also three grand children. The many floral offerings from sympathetic relatives and friends were very beautiful, some of which were sent to the Memorial Hospital, Middleton, by the two surviving sons.

recall their father and mother's favorite hymn or one of them.
"On the crystal river's brink
Some sweet day by and bye
We shall find each broken link
Some sweet day by and bye
O loved ones waiting there
By the tree of life so fair
'Till we come their joy to share
Some sweet day by and bye."

PORT GEORGE

April 13th—The Cantata "Gates Ajar and Hopes Messenger" at the Baptist Church on Sunday last was attended by a large and appreciative audience. It was raised for the Grand Lane Mission, and Mrs. E. Lantz and daughter, Margaret, also Miss Betty Hudson were the soloists at the home of Mr. James G. Reagh. The two surviving sons, Charles and Percy, now of Danvers and two daughters, Helen, also of Danvers, and Mary, of Victoria, N. S. Also three brothers, Henry, William of Danvers and Calvin of Kentville, S. and five sisters, Ida of Washington, D. C., Mildred, (Mrs. George Smith) of Leitchfield, Conn., Althea (Mrs. Emery Simm) of Waverley, Mass., Maud (Mrs. Joseph Brown) and Bas (Mrs. Philip Burt) of Victoria Vale, N. S., also three grand children. The many floral offerings from sympathetic relatives and friends were very beautiful, some of which were sent to the Memorial Hospital, Middleton, by the two surviving sons.

PROGRESS

The prosperity of a community is not measured by population, but by its civic and commercial progress. A handful of workers achieve more than a city full of drones.

Team work is what counts in everything. A prominent football player recently said: "Give me a team of average ability who will work together, each with the other and all for the team and I will win over any team made up solely of individual stars."

Individual ability makes great men—shining lights, but it is mass co-operation of energetic men of civic spirit, home pride and community enterprise that builds a town's progress and prosperity.

Men of this community, be ye more than mere residents—be citizens. The shirker says: "Let George do it." The worker says: "Let me help."

AGE OF MIRACLES

This is an age of such wonderful things that we cannot afford to scoff at anything we read about or hear about. Men are lying through the air in contraptions that are heavier than the atmosphere in which they float. One of those machines has been driven at the rate of five miles a minute. Not so very long ago we thought a railway train speeding along at the rate of one mile a minute was almost a miraculous thing. The British people are building steel houses with almost incredible celerity. In Los Angeles we are told one can order a five-roomed house in the morning and move into it in the evening. The house would probably not be considered a very elaborate establishment in any other part of America, but it appears to suffice. If the demand for such houses continue active, we can easily believe that Los Angeles will become one of the greatest cities in the world within a few years. And yet we have a feeling amounting almost to a premonition that we would not enjoy life if we were living in the City of the Angels.

SPA SPRINGS

Mrs. Cora Howley spent the Easter holidays with friends in East Margareville. Gay C. Philney of Fairville, N. B. and H. R. Daniels of Granville were recent visitors at the home of C. W. Daniels. Potter spent Easter Sunday at their son, Lenley and family at Margareville.

MAN, THE TAXPAYER

A man is taxed from the cradle to the grave. The milk bottle which nurses him, the bonnet in which he goes to get christened, the diamond he gives his fiancee, the wedding ring he gives his wife, the drugs which he takes to prolong his existence, the tombstone over his grave—all pay toll to the taxgatherer. He is taxed if he pays his debts; he is taxed if he gets paid debts; he is taxed if he makes a sale; he is taxed if he gives his neighbor a sale; he is taxed when he buys a paper, or goes to the movies, or buys a box of cigars, or goes to a prize fight, or breaks the S. T. A. The food he eats, the clothes that he wears, the amusement that he takes, the things that he reads, the radio that he listens in on, the model that he buys, the tobacco he smokes, the stimulants he thinks he needs—everything, but his groch and his grievances—reminds to Caesar. And if he happens to survive it all, and saves a little money notwithstanding, the taxgatherer takes most of it when he dies.

MY OBITUARY NOTICE

By Uncle Josh
Now when I die please do not try to write half a page. Just use some tact and state the fact, then give my name and age. If more you'd say be sure and pay for space you do not own; it's only fair to take your share of special favors shown. If you would raise your voice in praise, don't wait until I'm dead; a word of cheer will banish fear and lift my drooping head. I'll try to live that I may give my best right up to the end; then when I die someone may sigh and say—"I've lost a friend."

Miller, pastor of Holy Trinity, gave an address accompanied by lantern slides of the Passion and Death of Christ. Rev. D. B. Hemmelen, of Wolfville, was the special speaker at the United Church on Wednesday evening, and on Thursday evening service was held in the United Baptist Church and an interesting address was given by the pastor, Rev. W. D. Wilson. Friday evening all three churches were open for services. These meetings were fairly well attended.

THE VILLAGE BLACKSMITH (1925 MODEL)

Under an ad for gasoline The village smithy stands; He's agent for the Jinx machine And several other brands. He hasn't shod a horse for years, For fear he'd soil his hands.

He wears a gold watch on his wrist, A pearl pin in his neck tie, His links are made of amethyst, The finest he could buy, There's not a thing the smithy wears That doesn't please his eye.

Week in, week out, from morn till night, He sees the autos come With brakes that don't work right And axles on the bum. With gas, repairs, and grease and oil, He makes a tidy sum.

He has a staff of skilled men That number twenty-four Who toll from six a.m. till ten And sometimes even more. The smithy never does a stroke— He thinks that work's a bore.

The children coming from school Look in at the open door, And laugh to see some city fool Set up an awful roar. When called to pay some whooping bill The smith says grateful prayers.

He goes on Sunday to the Kirk His mind quite free from care. Because his men are hard at work With punctures and repairs And if the weather's fine and warm The weather's fine and warm.

Oiling—re-oiling—repairing, Onward through life he goes, And never once despairing, So long as his income grows Back his the thought of someone done.

Augments his sweet repose. ooo
Make your paper breezy. Give it the news of your home, church, neighbors and district. This is one way to show your interest, and by so doing you help yourself, the paper and the community. Try it.

AN EDITOR'S CROSS WORDS

Emporia, Kansas, April 8—William Allen White, Emporia editor, who incurred the censure of cross-word puzzle fans by refusing to print the puzzles in his newspaper, The Emporia Gazette, and declaring they would not be printed until Friday evening, has been vindicated. He has proven to his own satisfaction, at least, that the cross-words have a bad influence on their addicts.

"Last week the Gazette owned a good dictionary, a Cruden's concordance and a Holy Bible," White said. "First the dictionary went, then the Bible disappeared and now the concordance is gone."

"A man who will steal a dictionary is enterprising and there is hope for him. A man who will steal a concordance is a half-hung and breeze-shaken sinner who is dancing on the sulphurous fumes of a four-letter word meaning Otis, Kansas."

"But a human billy goat, who will calmly walk off with the bible for no nobler reason than to get aid in solving cross-word puzzles has no vacuum where his brains were, a garbage can where his heart was, and is also a cross between a five letter word meaning civil cat and a fighting word meaning a number of things. But if he will return the concordance he can keep the other books, and may be a six letter word meaning fried-in-his-own-grease in his use of them."

PAIVING FOR A PAPER

Newspapers have continually to notify subscribers that their subscription is due. Weekly papers have the same problem as their brothers in the daily field.

Daily papers are today under a system of inspection through an independent audit of their circulation that makes it compulsory to have their subscription lists clean. A newspaper's power to secure revenue is based on its circulation. If it has a good circulation in its field it can secure business that makes the necessary revenue. The system under which nearly every paper in Canada now operates gives the office no credit for circulation that is not paid in advance. If a paper is carrying a thousand subscribers in arrears it does so at a direct loss.

Every newspaper has the unpleasant experience of having subscribers stop their papers because a warning is sent out that their subscription must be paid for or discontinued. There is not a paper in existence that does not regret the departure of an old subscriber, not so much from what the connection means to the paper in the way of one subscription, but it breaks a long-standing friendship between paper and reader, and the paper is practically powerless to pursue any other course when it insists on payment of the subscription.

There is hardly another business in the country that deals with so many individuals as a newspaper, and for that reason it becomes all the more difficult to depart from the strict and fair practice of prompt collection of subscription rates. The reader who pays promptly is helping make his paper a better paper; he is giving encouragement to the whole organization to go and do better work, to provide more complete news service, to discuss with greater point the issues of the day.

The reading public, if they could get the side of the question that the office of publication has to face, would be quick to realize how necessary the paid-up subscription is to the successful carrying on of the newspaper business.

JEALOUS NEIGHBORS

(From the New York Journal of Commerce)

The rank and file of the people of this country and Canada have no one but themselves to blame for the inconvenience of being "jealous economic neighbors." We permitted our Government at the behest of special interests of one sort and another to place excessive duties on sundry commodities that the consumer in this country could get cheaply in Canada.

Later the fact or alleged fact that Canada was supplying our laborers and others with wheat from which to make bread afforded our wheat farmers and at once an absurdly high tariff was raised still higher. Now it is Canada's turn, and that duty proceeds in good American style to take steps to prevent us getting poultry and cheaply (?) to its national.

To be sure, our fruit growers, particularly of California, can hardly with much grace complain of the tariff pact recently concluded by Canadian officials with Australia affording certain fruit producers of the latter country an advantage over us. Nor can others in this country who directly or indirectly suffer from the provisions of the Canadian-Australian arrangement have very much to say against the pact. All this, however, lessens not in the least, the unfortunate situation of the consumer, both in Canada and in this country. The little man perhaps comes when both will rise in their might and inject a little common sense into our economic relations, but apparently that day is as yet a long way off.

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 3

Mountain-Grown Teas Best

The tea plant grows best in the pure cool atmosphere of a mountain tea garden. The higher the garden, the finer and more delicious the flavour of the tea. This is partly due to the clear sunshine on a high mountain side, partly to the more invigorating air, partly to the more frequent rainfall and perfect drainage. The largest and roughest leaf grown at an elevation of 7000 feet is much superior in flavour to the tiniest tip grown only 2000 feet above sea-level. All teas used in the "SALADA" blends are grown from 4000 feet to 7,500 feet elevation. The trademark "SALADA" is a guarantee of quality.

"SALADA"

Its Uniform Quality is due to Infinite Care

YOU know how impossible it is to judge flour quality by a mere inspection.

Different flours may cost the same and look the same, yet give entirely different results. Then, too, you will often find a good flour, that varies in quality—a success in one baking and a failure in the next.

Your only real safeguard in buying flour is to select one that has been tested and proven in advance—and is guaranteed uniform in quality.

Maple Leaf Flour is made from the finest selected Canadian hard wheat, skillfully blended and milled. Exact tests at every stage of its milling makes possible its sale under a definite "money back" guarantee of uniform quality and satisfaction. You can depend on Maple Leaf Flour for unvarying baking results—always.

Boiling Springs of New Zealand

One of the most remarkable evidences of thermal activity to be found anywhere in the world is described as follows by a recent visitor to New Zealand:

Of all the many marvels I have seen, the hot springs of New Zealand are the greatest, the most wonderful. Hundreds of men have told of them, but mere words are inadequate. They are uncanny; they fill one's soul with awe. They are Titanic, terrible. No one who has not witnessed them can ever realize the wonder they inspire.

From Auckland to Rotorua, one goes by train—a weary way, past meadows white with marguerites, with cattle browsing knee-deep in the grass, past way-side stations with butter factories close to the road, through woods and rivers, swamps and newly-broken land; then up and up—through former forests strewn with blackened stumps of burnt-down trees, with gorges cutting through the hills—deep gorges decked with giant tree ferns—until one reaches Rotorua Lake, 1,000 feet above the sea. Around the lake are tree-clad hills, with homely farms and huge great places.

Two miles from Rotorua itself is Whakarewarewa, with its boiling waters springs and pools of bubbling mud. Imagine a long valley clouded over with a pall of steam. Imagine great geysers throwing boiling water a hundred feet into the air. Imagine great limpid pools, pale blue or green and very clear, with boiling water in them as though they were the cauldrons of some giant witch. Pools of boiling mud—like giant's porridge pots, mud of pale grey and darker grey; mud of blanc-mange pink; mud of a salmon hue—bubbling, spluttering, rising up with little spurts and jets that splash the bracken and manuka shrubs surrounding them. Uncanny. The sand is hot, and beneath one's feet the earth is rumbling queerly. It trembles. Out of small holes come rushing steams. One feels that the ground on which one stands is but a feeble crust—that it may break at any time and hurl one into the inferno underneath.

By the very edge of these hot springs there is a Maori settlement. Raangi, a picturesque Maori guide, conducted me around. She told me proudly that she had been the guide who showed Lord Northcliffe and the Prince of Wales the Whakarewarewa sights.

Crouching down beside one of the cooler pools were Maori women washing clothes. No light on the copper on washing day!

In shallow boiling streams were cooking pots; the Maori women ladled them with raw food and Mother Nature did the rest! Beside a hot steam hole were pans of bread. Baking is easy for the Maori. The air is steamy all round—damp steam smelling of sulphuretted hydrogen and sulphuric acid. Yet the vegetation is lush. The ferns are green, the ferns are tall and strong, shrubs flourish everywhere around.

At the foot of the valley runs a cold trout stream. Along its banks are fumaroles and geysers working intermittently, and little bubbling pools of boiling water, so that it is possible to catch a trout and swing it round upon the hook until it plops into a boiling pot and is soon gaily cooked! This is difficult to believe, but it is true.

At Waitapu, twenty miles away, there is another thermal spot, with steaming sulphur springs and boiling lakes. One walks across hot land, yellow with sulphur, and by way of silica terraces, very beautiful. Incidentally, the little Scots guide who showed me round was born within a few miles of my own home. His uncle's bread had nourished me when I was just a little boy.

Of all the wonders of the thermal lands, the greatest was the valley of Waikari. The geysers here were most considerable. "This one will rise in three minutes," said the guide—and it did. "This one," he said of another, "will throw a jet of boiling water eighty feet into the air in five minutes." We waited five minutes—and it did. "From that hole," said the guide, pointing to the mountain side, "a stream of boiling mud will come in a few seconds." Again, it did!

A marvellous valley—hisling, rumbling, gurgling with all the terrors of the forces underneath the ground. A marvellous valley—verdant with trees and grasses, tinted with flowering shrubs. A marvellous valley—hot and clammy, steamy, with sulphur nature's chemicals. A marvellous valley—with Ruapehu in the distance—Ruapehu topped eternally with snow. And nearby, at Karapiti, there was a blow-hole that belched forth terrific clouds of steam. The local people said it was a safety valve. If that great hole were stopped, they believed the North Island of New Zealand would then disappear.

Iles of Pines.
The Iles of Pines is situated off the south coast of western Cuba, its nearest point to Cuba being about 35 miles away. It is 370 miles north-east of the British Isles of Jamaica. The area of the Iles of Pines is 614.3 square marine miles, or about 521,381 acres. It belongs to the Republic of Cuba and is officially attached to the Province of Havana. The chief place on the island is Neuva Gerona. The island was discovered by Columbus in 1494 and was long notorious as a resort of pirates, but that of course, was long ago. Its population is about 3,000. The climate is similar to that of Cuba, that is, tropical.

SNOW WORMS TOTE THEIR OWN STOVES

Snow worms have been found in the Cascade Mountains in Washington and on glaciers and mountains in Alaska. Trevor Kinnald, professor of zoology in the University of Washington, said:

"The snow or ice worm is of a brownish hue," said Professor Kinnald. "The brown pigment is a source of heat which enables the worm to bore its way through glacier ice like a heated wire."

Here and There

In conjunction with the further loan of $3,000,000 for colonization to be authorized by the Quebec legislature this season, it is also intended to raise the bounty to settlers on the acreage cleared. At present the government gives a bonus of $8 an acre. It will be raised to $8 an acre. The province spent $30,000 in this way in the last fiscal year.

The amount of butter exported to Japan through Vancouver during 1924 was nearly twice that of 1923, according to figures supplied by the Japanese consulate at that point. The report shows that in 1924 the quantity was 476,454 pounds, as compared with only 299,695 pounds in 1923. Total cheese shipments to the same destination last year amounted to 2,685 pounds, as against only 40 in 1923.

A recent analysis of immigration according to occupation of immigrants arriving in Canada since 1920, shows a steady increase in the ratio of agriculturists and domestics towards all others. In 1921 the figure was 35 per cent. It was 44 per cent for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1922, 47 per cent for the fiscal year 1923-24 and 51 per cent for the nine months April to December, 1924.

One of the outstanding features of the Grain Commission Board's report for the season 1922-23, was the tribute paid to the excellent service rendered by the Canadian Pacific Railway in handling the western crop. Though the company handled 105,000 cars of grain, it received only six complaints about lack of cars from the railway and commission combined. In 1923-24, with an even larger number handled, there were only eight complaints.

Orchestras from the Canadian Pacific steamships "Empress of France" and "Empress of Scotland", when they arrived recently at New York and before sailing on their round the world and Mediterranean cruises which the company starts annually from that port broadcasted through WJZ a forty-five minute programme of selected Scots, English, Welsh, Irish and Canadian airs, while the "Montroyal", on her return from the company's cruise to the West Indies, broadcasted British and Spanish music through WJY of New York.

Information furnished by J. Frank Callbreath, packing contractor and general merchant, shows that during the 1924 hunting season, parties secured 12 moose, 25 caribou, 26 goat, 31 sheep, 15 black bear and 11 grizzlies in the Telegraph Creek district of British Columbia. Of the caribou, the largest, shot by J. J. Sartori, of Brooklyn, N.Y., has a spread of 47 inches, is 89 1/2 inches long and has 27 points. The largest sheep horns were 41 1/2 inches long, with a spread of 31 inches, and were secured by A. D. Stewart, of New York.

The third annual Eastern International Dog Sled Derby, run off at Quebec on February 19, 20 and 21, was a tremendous success. Twenty-two mushers and their teams from many parts of Canada and the United States competed over the 120-mile course, the race being won by Emile St. Godard, of Le Pas, Man., who also won this year's derby at that place. He last day's lap was run through a blinding snowstorm, which gave the thousands of sports visitors from Canada and the United States who witnessed it, a vivid impression of normal conditions experienced by these outfits.

"Canada has a fine record of musical and artistic students who work under the auspices of the Royal College of Music," says Sir Hugh Allen, director of the London institution, who is making a tour of Canada in the interests of the College.

Canada exported 143,592,500 pounds of wood-pulp during February, of which 133,891,000 went to the United States and to Great Britain, none. Our newspaper exports had a monetary value, in the same month of about seven and a half million dollars.

Two hundred and sixty thousand acres of land in central and northern Alberta will be settled by the British Land Settlement Corporation, it is announced. They are located north of Edmonton and from north of Vermilion to Wabaman, west of Edmonton.

Approximately 750,000 tourists, apart from delegates to conventions, visited Montreal last year by railway, steamer and automobile, according to a statement issued by the Montreal Tourist and Convention Bureau. It is anticipated that the influx for the current year will be even greater.

Geraldine Farrar, famous prima donna, who gave a recital of Carmen in Ottawa and Montreal recently, had a run in with the U.S. Customs at the border on her return to the United States. It was claimed that champagne and fine wines were found stored in the piano of her sumptuous private car, but the great singer says it was only near-beer.

England's great military spectacle, the Aldershot Military Searchlight and Torchlight Tattoo, which is held annually in aid of the Aldershot Command Charities, is being presented this year from the 16th to the 29th of June and will, as usual, be contemporaneous with Ascot Week. The special feature is to be a Pageant of Battle which will recall some of the famous engagements of the British Army. Nearly 100,000 patrons attended last year.

To enable French-Canadian students to become acquainted with Western Canada, the Universite de Montreal has organized a 28-day trip to the coast from Montreal next July. They will pass through Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Edmonton, Banff, Vancouver and Victoria, with stop-overs at Lake Louise, Field, Glacier, the Fraser Canyon and other beauty spots of the Canadian Rockies.

Student tours, operated by the Canadian Pacific in conjunction with McGill University, are to be extended this summer to include students from the British Isles. Heretofore, these tours have been restricted to scholars in other parts of Canada and in the United States. As Montreal is regarded as an ideal centre for the study of the French language, it is anticipated that the new project will attract many visitors to the Canadian metropolis.

The body of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, President of Southern China lay in state in a wonderful blue-tiled old Temple near the "Altar of Heaven," during the long drawn out ceremonies at Peking attendant upon his interment. Through the courtesy of the government the lies was viewed by a large party of Canadians and Americans touring the world on the Canadian Pacific S.S. "Empress of France." They were also invited to attend the final burial rites which, with a wealth of colorful Chinese ceremony took place later in the Western hills.

IN THE DAYS GONE BY

Many a gray-haired man of to-day will remember the lurid-covered dime novels of a half century ago, and perhaps recall how he had to hide them in the haymow, because in the minds of his parents they were regarded as veritable works of the devil. In the attic, out under the trees, perhaps in the stiff old parlor, camouflaged by Stanford and Merton or Pilgrim's Progress, we used to read them and thrill with delight over the adventures of such heroes and heroines as never can live again, save in the annals of tradition. What would you give, old-timer, to rejuvenate the thrill that once held you spellbound when "Deadwood Dick" and "Calamity Jane" were functioning in all their glory? Those volumes—so cheap and so appealing—their appeal for literature and patriotism. They were clean, simple, true to the spirit of pioneer times and the times of romance of the Seven Seas. Those paper-bound novels of our boyhood days were literally saturated with the pioneer spirit of the continent. They portrayed the struggles, exploits, danger, feasts and hardships and daily lives of those who travelled the Oregon trail in the covered wagon. They were clear, sparkling water, compared with many of the pollutions of "Three Weeks" and "The Songs of Songs." They were gems of purity compared with many of the stories found in current magazines of today. Our dear old mothers and fathers beheld them with horror and condemned them without mercy. What would they say if they knew what the young people are reading today?—A. G. Graham, in The Plattsburgh Echo, Plattsburgh, Ont.

I AM

The door of self-expression I take the drudgery out of work, and make it a blessing, not a curse. I unfold your powers, discover possibilities you never dreamed of, and make your life a delight instead of a grind.

I make the best investment you can ever make, for no flood or panic no accident or fortune, no financial loss, no misfortune can rob you of the inestimable advantages I bestow.

I am that which rightly used insures a happy successful life. A life that goes on expanding, growing, becoming richer, deeper, fuller, more helpful to the very end.

I extend your activity, develop your initiative, enlarge your executive force, and make you a hundred per cent more efficient.

I unlock doors to you that would give half their wealth to have locked to many millionaires, who, if I open up now beauties in life, give you refined pleasures and sources of enjoyment that no amount of money can purchase.

I am that which trains your intelligence and judgment, and makes you a level-headed man or woman, one who cannot be deceived by peddlers of "get-rich-quick" schemes, or influenced by silt-tongued politicians to vote as they direct.

I enlarge your vision, make you an enlightened citizen of the world; a power in your community or State. I make you a thousand times more valuable to society than you would otherwise be.

Without me you can never be a fully developed human being; you will go to your grave with whole continents of undiscovered ability which if found and cultivated, would have made you a leader of men.

I make the past and the present your servants. I unfold to you the lessons of history and of science; open to you the treasures of art and literature—I make you, in truth, "heir of all the ages."

I am that which a great scientist has described as "the ability to make yourself do the things you have to do when it ought to be done, whether you like it or not." I make every thing you do easier and pleasanter to do.

I am that which has changed many a low, sordid aim to a noble, lofty one; raised the ideal from selfish ambition to a great, noble, altruistic desire to help humanity, to lift the burden from the oppressed and give them a fair chance in life.

I help you to make life-long friendships with cultured, ambitious people; I fill your most impressionable years with delightful associations, and establish ideals that lift your life to the highest plane of thought and endeavor.

I am—A Liberal Education.

A MATTER OF DIET

Concise Cynthia eats no meat, sugarcorns, nor pickled beef; she has banished spuds and hash, griddle-cakes and succotash, onions, wieners, salad, fries, gingerbread and chicken pies. For her breakfast Cynthia finds great results in melon rinds; if you lunch with her at noon you must eat the famous prune; just before she goes to bed then she nibbles toasted bread. Dieting, she's very sure in an universal cure. Her ma never stops to think what to eat nor when to drink; likes-her coffee fairly strong, downs whatever comes along; eats tomatoes, pork and beans, buckwheat cakes and neocretines will be two and thirty teeth she can chew, the toughest beef; carries smiles and ample girth, never has an ill on earth! Just at present, she, I fear, has her program full, poor dear; Cynthia's had a sharp attack, stomach-cramp and aching back; both her sides are getting worse, and her mother's there as nurse! Cynthia's dieting, she tells as a measure of getting well, while her mother, all astir, eats three squares and cares for her!

When I think of the towel, The old-fashioned towel, That used to hang by our press-room door, I think that nobody, In these days of shoddy, Can hammer out iron to wear as fit wore.

The tramp who abused it, The devil who used it, The comp. who got at it when these were gone, The makeup and foreman, The editor, poor man, Each rubbed some grime off for the heap they put on.

In over and under, It was blacker than thunder, 'Twas harder than poverty, rougher than sin, From the roller suspended It never was bended, And it flapped on the wall like aban-der-tin.

It grew thicker and rougher, And harder and tougher, And daily put on a more lakier hue; Till one windy morning, Without any warning, It fell to the floor and was broken in two.

IN AND AROUND MEDICINE HAT. Second Street, a millinery company's elevator and the Canadian Pacific bridge. The latter is a photograph taken of the big Chief natural gas well at Medicine Hat, July 23rd, 1923. There was a clean, pressure of 850 lbs. and an open flow of 3,500,000 cubic feet per day, an equivalent to 141 tons of coal.

JUST thirty-nine years ago, in July, 1885, to be exact, a small crew of men in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway, unloaded a portable water-well drilling machine at a point near where what is now the village of Allison, Alberta, thirty-five miles west of Medicine Hat, on the main line of the company. The crew had been sent to this spot to drill for water and set to work. Little did these men realize that they were about to make a find that was to be the beginning of a wide-spread industry. Perhaps they were disappointed when, instead of the water they were seeking, gas appeared in their well, but if they could have looked into the future they would have seen that this first gas well was to be the cause of the expenditure of millions of dollars, the employment, directly and indirectly, of thousands of men, and the opening up of an enormous area stretching from the Peace River in the north to the international boundary in the south, and from the Rocky Mountains in the west to the Alberta-Saskatchewan line in the east.

So much interest was immediately aroused over the discovery of natural gas in this well that others were drilled in Medicine Hat, but the results were not gratifying until the year 1890, when gas was discovered in considerable quantity while drilling was being conducted in search of coal, and it was then found that it could be obtained in commercial quantities in what is now known as the Medicine Hat sand, at a depth of about one thousand feet. In 1906 the first deep well was sunk and a splendid flow of gas was encountered, from which the city of Medicine Hat has enjoyed the benefits of natural gas up to the present time, with the further prospect of a long-continued supply.

After this the Canadian Pacific Railway drilled a number of wells for its own use, and other concerns entered the field. The wells at Pincher Creek were drilled for oil, which was produced for a time, gas in insignificant quantities being also encountered, but these and many other wells resulted in disappointment to their promoters. There were times that the heartaches and the tragedies and the losses far exceeded the successes and the gains, but this did not deter the men who were willing to stake their all on what they had undertaken to do, and it is to their determined efforts that the later developments of petroleum and natural gas are due.

The next gas field of importance to be developed was the Bow Island field, on which work was begun in 1908, on the south bank of the South Saskatchewan River on the Crow's Nest branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway. It was in this field that Canada's largest gas well was drilled, producing, when completed, approximately thirty million cubic feet of gas per day, and it was on the strength of this development that the enormous sixteen-inch pipe line, one hundred and seventy-five miles in length, was financed and built in order to supply the towns en route. Other fields have been opened, among them that known as the Foremost field, located on Elkton Coulee. In 1914, the first well was drilled here in search of oil, and at a depth of about two thousand feet, gas in very large quantities was found. Recently another well has been completed in this field, which is now producing over seventeen million cubic feet of gas per day and is one of the largest gas wells in Canada, giving to the towns and villages along this route an almost unlimited supply of gas. As many as three hundred wells have been drilled in Alberta up to the present time in various sections of the province. Not all have been productive, of course, some having to be abandoned on account of drilling difficulties, while others did not yield the fluid sought, or did so in such small quantities as not to be worth the expense of further development, and so were abandoned for more productive fields.

The possession of this natural resource to the people of Alberta is of enormous value and its importance cannot be exaggerated. It has played a big part in the past and will play a big part in the future in the development of the province. It remains for the people themselves to see to it that it is properly used and conserved for posterity.—Western Story Magazine.

Farmer's Wife Tells of Thrift and Its Benefits

WHAT ONE WOMAN DID TO HELP MEET PROBLEMS OF THE FARM

In these times when the farmers of Western Canada are getting back on their feet after being swept about by inflation and then deflation, thrift is one of the great essentials in the solving of the problems of the average farm household. E. L. Kenney, manager of the Bank of Commerce at Empress, Alta., sends the following as indicative of what the farm women can do to meet the problems of reducing the farm overhead by the employment of methods of thrift. It is a letter written by a farmer's wife and needs no further introduction. More evidence of this kind as to how courage and determination win out over difficulties would help in creating a better spirit to meet the present situation.—W. T.

To my mind the farmer holds a unique position. He is both a capitalist and a laborer, but he cannot command the capital of the capitalist nor demand the exorbitant wage of the laborer. It is impossible, therefore, for him to budget his income or to say what he can or will do, as he never knows whether he will save anything or not at the end of the year. Our crop of wheat should have been 1,000 bushels, but it was only 400. That 400 of wheat and 100 of barley, all we have to sell, will bring at present lower prices about $335. After $100 is taken for taxes, and $50 for threshing (it would have been over $100 if my husband and the boys hadn't got to work and stacked it) is taken out, what is left is our income for a year. That is $155, and the supply of feed is the husband's income. Now the wife's part comes in. If he will give her the feed, by plenty of hard labor she can make a second income on her feed by raising poultry, etc., and surely she is entitled to what she can make, although there are some men mean enough to grudge her that corn. But failure or success depends much upon the harmony existing between husband and wife.

My husband mends up his old machinery and makes it go until it is no longer possible. He saves and I do all right, if there is harmony, but stop to think there is no such thing as a savings account for the farmers these times. So many right round us are going to the wall every day, so many just throwing up their arms, can't pay taxes and interest. They want to join the laborers to get the high wages.

But to come back to the point of finance on the farm or how to make good. Now, I will speak of ourselves. Both my husband and I have a natural antipathy toward being in debt or having to pay out our hard-earned money in interest, and I think that is the secret of our success. We do not pay any interest because we do not owe anyone. Our method was to save and save, and do without in some way or other till we could pay the cash, and we have saved many a dollar by being able to pay cash. My father made a lot of money in his day and was a hard worker, but in order to make it he paid out as much in interest as he made.

He had not over much schooling and as we grew up each had to do his correspondence work. So we children knew all about it when he was hard pressed, and it took a lot of the joy out of our child life. I used to wish I could be a great singer, so that I could earn lots of money, and the first thing I would do would be to pay off all father owed. Our children do not have any worry like that, but still, I have taught them very strict rules of economy. I have given them plain but wholesome food and luxuries are given as a treat, and they enjoy them the more.

Sometimes they grumble and say "so and so has always got chocolate bars or big oranges in their lunch pails, and I say "yes, but so and so's parents can't pay their taxes." They is the whole trouble with the world today. People want the good eats and the amusements, and little work. I think work and more work must be the salvation of the economical world. We must work and save, for a dollar saved is a dollar earned, and we can't save if we don't work. I never buy a new thing until I have taken every last bit of service out of the old.

My husband mends up his old machinery and makes it go until it is no longer possible. He saves and I do all right, if there is harmony, but stop to think there is no

Made Her Baby Plump and Well

Nothing makes a mother more grateful than a benefit conferred upon her child. Mothers everywhere who have used Baby's Own Tablets for their children speak in enthusiastic terms of them. For instance, Mrs. Zepherin Lavoie, Three Rivers, Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets are a wonderful medicine for little ones. They never fail to regulate the baby's stomach and bowels, and thus make him plump and well. I always keep a box of the Tablets in the house and would advise all mothers to do likewise." Most of the ordinary ailments of childhood arise in the stomach and bowels, and can be quickly banished by Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets relieve constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers, expel worms, allay teething pains and promote healthful sleep. They are guaranteed to be free from injurious drugs and are Perfect for the youngest child. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c. a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The marriage was performed under an arch of evergreen and white flowers, from which a white bell was suspended, by the Rev. H. H. MacNeill, pastor of the Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. H. H. Phinney, pastor of the Baptist Church, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends.

12 TEACHERS WANT MIDDLETON BERTHS

The April School Commissioners' meeting took place in the Town Hall on April 8th. Thirty-two applications were on file, from which the vacancies on McDonald School staff will be filled for the ensuing year. The school will maintain its usual high standard, Grade XII, Mechanic and Domestic Science Departments continuing as usual.

Blemishes of the Skin

Are Proof the Blood is in a Weak and Watery Condition?

One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order are the pimples and unsightly eruptions that break out on the face or body. The same condition is indicated by an attack of eczema or scrofula. You cannot get rid of these troubles by the use of purgative medicines, as so many people try to do. Purgatives merely gall the system and leave it still weaker. What is needed when the blood is shown to be out of order is a tonic which will restore its missing elements and leave the blood rich and red. For this purpose there is no other tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, every dose of which helps to enrich the blood, drives out impurities, and brings a new feeling of health and energy. Mrs. R. E. Bishop, Hawthorn Ave., Hamilton, Ont., tells for the benefit of others what these pills did for her. She says:—"I was suffering terribly from scrofula. I doctored with several doctors, but without success. My complexion was sallow, I had no strength, feeling very weak and languid. My neck was full of lumps called scrofula, and at times they were very painful. After trying several so-called blood medicines, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me and I got half a dozen boxes. After taking them I found a decided improvement in my appearance, and to my joy the lumps were disappearing from my neck. I persevered in the treatment, and finally the only sign left of the trouble was a scar on my neck where one of the swellings broke. Since that time I have been in robust health and heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any suffering from impure blood."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
