THE DELUGE IN OHIO AND WEST VIRGINIA

Flood in the Mahoning River Breaks All Records-The Ohio Still Booming.

Cincinnati, Ohio, April 25.-The flood situation in this part of the Ohio Valley is much worse today. It was expected that it would reach its limit today here, and up the valley, and also that it would not exceed 58 feet at Cincinnati, or eight feet above the danger

It passed the stage of 58 feet here last midnight, and the conditions for al-most 200 miles up the river are equally disappointing.

The rise here yesterday afternoon present flood may be reached today, it is feared that the new conditions may keep the river about stationary until! there may be a second flood.

The worse conditions are reported at Huntington, Catlettsburg, Ironton and Portsmouth, and the smaller places in that district have reached the point of great distress. Huntington, W. Va., April 25.—The Ohio River is stationary today at 57.4 feet. Heavy rains yesterday have caused another rise in the Guyandotte, Twelve Port and Big Sandy.

Youngstown, Ohio, April 25.—The Ma-honing River this morning broke all records for high water, being twelve street. He and his daughter has inches above the greatest flood ever known in the valley, and still rising an inch an hour. Through the city the river is a mile wide, and has swept away everything under water since last night. During the night the firemen were active with boats, rescuing citizens from the submerged dwellings. The Pennsylvania freight depot is entirely surrounded by water, and Middletown, N. Y., April 26.-Joseph Malzahn, an Ontario and Western Railroad brakeman, was instantly killed while engaged in the duties of a switchman in this city. Malzahn's death was foreshadowed by a dream the night before. In the morning at in which the citizens of London may well manifest a certain degree of interest. Although only in existence for a little over three years, its affairs are in a most encouraging condition, and the members of the society look forward with every confidence in its future success. The society is local in its character, though it has outside members in Hamilton, Detroit, Cleveland, Toronto and others places. It was founded for the purpose of bringing closer together the Italian residents of the city, and while keeping alive the spirit of affection for the land from which they came, to inculcate and promote the spirit and principles of good Canadian citizenship, that the society is doing a good work along these lines has been demonstrated by the manner in which the Italian citizens of London have several times shown their loyalty and devotion to the interests of Canada and the empire. The society gives its members sick and death benefits, and on an average it expends between $200 and $300 each year among its members. There is now in the treaspet of about $600. The membership embraces the leading Italian citizens of the city, Mr. Joseph Dambra having been president since the inception of the society.

Spring Lassitude

And all the Debility and Depression of this Trying Season can be Avoided by the Use of

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Just as certain as the coming of spring are the ills and weaknesses which come to mankind at that season of the year.

All winter long you have been too much indoors, eaten too much of fatty substances taken too little exercise, and in fact lived the sort of artificial life which leaves the body in a completely deranged condition in the

The blood has become thin, watery, and impure, the liver and kidneys clogged and inactive, the bowels constipated and irregular, the stomach weak and troublesome, and the nerves starved and exhausted, producing lassitude, debility, and general exhaustion and weakness.

The head aches, you cannot sleep well, the duties of the day seem more than you can bear, your memory fails, you lack in energy and vitality, and, as a matter of fact, you are in just such a debilitated and run-down condition as to become an easy victim to catarrh, consumption, pneumonia, or some serious constitutional disease.

Of all preparations for purifying and enriching the blood and toning up the system in spring, or after a long illness, none can approach in specific medical action the wonderful properties of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great blood builder and nerve restorative.

Unlike any remedy you ever used, it exerts a natural and gentle influence over the kidneys, liver, and bowels, restoring them to a condition of perfect health and regularity, and through the medium of the circulation of the blood gives new life and vivifying energy to each and every part of the human

You may have made the mistake of using salts or other strong and weakening purgatives in the spring. Such treatment can never build up and strengthen a weakened and rup-down system. The habitual use of salts does more to shorten life and hasten the ruin of the filtering and excretory organs than any custom you can name.

The blood is thin and watery in the spring and demands of nature just such restorative ingredients as are contained in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and hence the popularity of this famous food cure. Instead of tearing down the tissues of the body, it builds them up, renews the nerve cells, forms firm muscles, increases weight, and gives colour to the cheeks and elasticity to the movements.

You can keep well this spring and avoid the feelings of lassitude and depression by beginning at once to use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It is the most common-sense treatment that science ever devised, and on account of its gentle and constant upbuilding influence can be used with pleasure and comfort by men, women, and children.

THREE EXPLOSIONS. The last explosion occurred at 7:30 p.m., and when it was ascertained that no further danger was anticipated, the inhabitants were allowed to return to their homes. At half-past eight the fire was still burning in the center, and the work of extricating the bodies from the debris was being carried on by torchlight, gaslight not being obtainable. All railway traffic with Frankfort was stopped during the fire, except for trains carrying the injured, but it has since been resumed Four sheds, for dressing the wounds of the injured, have been erected. The catastrophe originated i

Eighteen cylinders, each containing about a hundredweight of smokeless powder, were in the room where the explosion occurred.

Troops were immediately ordered to Griesheim to prevent the fire from spreading to a large benzine reservoir near by. Fire brigades from every place in the neighborhood hurrled to the scene, but owing to the dangerous nature of the disaster, and the fear of a renewal of the explosions, the greatest difficulty was experienced in stopping the progress of the flames. #### The Liquor Problem As Regards Cana da

Temperance sentiment in Canada has outgrown all methods hitherto devised for its enforcement in law and and even total abstinence who do not believe in prohibition or high license

While, of course, at this stage of the jority vote of its citizens to have or more government dispensaries within its limits, according to population, the dispenser to be appointed by the government at a fixed salary, so that he can have no possible interest in increased sales; no liquor to be consumed on the premises, but all sales to be made in closed packages; strice regulation as to sale to minors and known inebriates; traveling inspector to be paid by the government, whose duty it will be to enforce the laws regulating the traffic; the citizens of each municipality to decide as to the location of such dispensaries as may be allowed them by the act.

The first advantage of this law would be to make more than half of Canada absolutely without the sale of intoxicating liquors. For, judging by the results of plebiscites on prohibi-tion, the rural constituencies of almost the whole country would vote to have no dispensaries within their borders. This would confine the sale of liquors to the cities and larger towns. Because of the complete elimination of private profit from the business the would disappear, and with it the treating custom, which is responsible for so much drunkenness. The traffic would also be completely out of politics, for it is a political factor simply because of the private profit involved in the business. Take away the private profit and you take away the incentive to political interference.

Along with the enforcement of such system, the schools ought to carry on a persistent education upon the of alcoholic drinking. And churches and other moral agencies should redouble their energies along the line of moral suasion. This would leave the traffic resting upon only one basis, viz., the inherent desire for stimulant which could be dealt with effectively by religion and education.
In the place of the saloon it would be

"Mest" Days Compared With the Present.

Some people who have no very friendly feeling towards anything that emanates from a Liberal Administration, find fault with the Department of Labor, established at Ottawa, to assist in settling labor disputes amicably, and in otherwise forwarding the industrial interests of the country They allege that it does not move fast enough. Well, that is an offense if it were proved, that can be overcome. But the cavilling suggests the idea that the Labor Department, now established at Ottawa, moves much faster than the Labor Department which was never established by the late Administration. In this respect it bears a strong re semblance to the law dealing with the importation of alien laborers, passed by the Government now in power at Ottawa. There has been much grumbling, for political effect, by the George Taylors and the Clarke Wallaces of the Conservative party, because this measure, in its experimental shape, did not in every respect meet the views of those who most zealously worked for its enactment. How much honesty there is in their criticism may be imagined when it is explained that these men for many years kept the question of an alien labor law dangling in a Parliament where the Conservatives had a very large majority, and never forced the question to an issue. They talked and talked, and wasted good Government money but they never had the courage to demand that the Government of Sir John Macdonald, of Sir John Abbott, of Sir John Thompson, or of Sir Mackenzie Bowell, should place upon the statute books an Alien Labor Law. And they went out of power without any action having been taken. They are very angry when they are reminded of all this, and branch off on some other side topic. But on the platform and in the press it is well to remember these Tayloristique fiascoes of the past when you have these fine fellows of the present telling what they would they given a similar oppor tunity to that which they absolutely wasted. The Alien Labor Law is to be amended, with the Prime Minister as its sponsor, but even were it to remain as it is today, the men who for many years toyed with the question and left it without an approach to settlement, would be without an excuse for their hostile criticism, for "half a bill" would be better than "no bill." which was their contribution to the meeting of a situation with regard to labor matters, for which Canada is not responsible, but in which there might have been a dif-

The cynic will tell you that in all cases it is difficult to divide between fact and fiction, the two are so well blended in the affairs of human life. If the critic does not believe in Macaulay, he labels the works of that writer, "historical romance," and indeed, as "truth is stranger than fiction," it is sometimes difficult to distinguish between history and romance. As a matter of fact the romantic historian may get nearer to the heart of things than the sober analyst. It is ful view of some periods from Scott than from many who pride themselves on being truthful historians.

A novel sometimes gives one a better conception of the particular social planter, so that he must be situation than can be got from a helped by the British Governlearned array of facts and figures. We all know that it is a poor thing to make fiction too large a proportion of

It is well known that there are works of fiction that are not fit for young people, or for that matter, for any one else to read. There are also other books of all classes that are neither profitable nor inspiring. These facts we must deal with as best we can. But it is too late in the day to denounce fiction indiscriminately. There was a time when men had nothing else but fiction, that is, in early literature men's views of the world were presented in poetic forms which could not be called scientific. Science, literature, poetry, theology had not been divided into separate classes. Now we have the world of knowledge divided into various compartments, and after the strain of hard problems, a book which seeks to give a picture of human life. Let not the word the real artist is all the more truthful because it is, in its form, free from limitations of time and place. Beware of the impure story, the cynical novel, but accept the help that comes Iron and Steel Company, Sydney, C. from the noblest fiction.

England and Preferential Trade.

There is one clear lesson from the last budget, namely, that what is called 'preferential trade" has not yet come within the realm of practical politics in England. This form of trade is advocated by many colonial politicians, and also by many strong imperialists in England; these think that the present time, which calls for some striking told by those who think they know that Rideau Hall, declaring to Lord Stan in, but it is not this wedge; it is the other wedge, the protection wedge. We are not now discussing preferential trade. We are not now concerned with the thing on its merits, but simply with the situation in England. What does that situation mean? It means simply this, that the politicians of the inner circle do not see their way to take hold of preferential trade, even he, the mines, the whole Province of when it comes in their way. We are Nova Scotia and the Liberal party not now speaking of Canada. Canada is prosperous, and can wait until the proper time for preferential trade, if that time ever comes. But Jamaica and other West Indian colonies need help, and might have had it in connection with the new sugar duties. But no, the Chancellor of the Exchequer turns deliberately aside from the path that it was supposed Mr. Chamberlain would lure him into. How is this? Some supporters of the Government think it sheer stupidity. All that we are concerned to do just now is to point out to the Canadian politicians who maintained that it was easy to get England to adopt preferential trade, that it is not so easy as they think. The men who are least inclined to make a fetish of Free Trade, the men who claim to be the real imperialists, find that it is not easy to introduce a new feature into the fiscal policy of a great country

Says the Kingston Whig:

"The 'Queen's printer' at Ottawa has not yet heard about the ascension of Edward VII., and so issues the blue books of the government by 'permission of the Queen's most excellent What do you think of majesty.

Well, we think that as the Government blue books were in print before. Feb. 22, 1901, when the Queen died, he did quite right. If the Queen's printer and the deputy heads of departments would always have the reports as promptly completed as they have been in colleges. this year, Parliament would have its business considerably expedited.

Genial Jamaica.

The Elder-Dempster Company issue at the modest price of sixpence a beautiful illustrated guide to the Island of Jamaica. This company, like all others, must run on business lines, but we are not particularly inclined to and that the utterances which any deny that business and patriotism may be gracefully combined. At any rate, be regarded as representing his own the guide book makes this statement: In appealing to Mr. A. L. Jones to put his hand to the Jamaica plow, Mr. Chamberlain recognized that the man who has practically created the present West African trade and the tourist traffic and fruit trade of the Canaries, while conducting gigantic operations in other directions, is pre-eminently crastination of the time-serving polthe man to see the thing through; and iticians who aided in the wreck of in lending his aid to the revival of Jamaican prosperity, Mr. Jones, it is rate expression to his opinions on disthe Conservative party in 1896 and who are still very much in evidence in evident, is actuated more by patriotic than selfish considerations." Hence Mr. Jones, or his firm, Elder-Dempster Company, have undertaken to run a fortnightly mail service between Bristol, England, and Kingston, Jamaica. "The splendid fruit of Jamaica will be placed on the English markets at prices within the reach of all, and its magnificent scenery, with all the glamor of its wonderful romance, and the picturesque life everywhere abounding, will be thrown open to the tourist of modest income." Why did Mr. Chamberlain appeal to Mr. Jones? Because, "to use a homely metaphor, Jamaica had put all her eggs in one basket; they had, so to speak, possible to get a more vivid and truth- staked their whole welfare on sugar, and indeed for a time it seemed as if they could not have done better." Continental beet sugar has, however, made things hard for the Jamaica sugar ment, or must adapt himself to new conditions. England, it seems, treated Jamaica very badly. "To add insult to injury, while the American physicians were sending their patients to seek renewed health and energy from the balmy breezes laden with healthgiving ozone, which blow over the island, our life insurance societies, Green and the historian Freeman. using data compiled in the days of Regarding his relation to these men, the buccaneers, placed Jamaica on their black list, and slandered its climate by "If Stubbs lacks somewhat of the demanding an additional premium of vigor of Freeman and the fascination their policyholders visiting its shores." However, Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. some of the defects of those historians. #### The Iron Tables Turned.

That is good news which is cabled from Great Britain that the Dominion B., are already receiving large orders for their output of iron and steel in Europe. The first order, amounting to several thousand tons is already on the way to Liverpool. This, in olden days, would have been regarded as carrying coal to Newcastle, but times have changed since Hon. W. S. Fielding, as head of the Nova Scotia Government, arranged for the effective working of these mines, against the strongest possible opposition of his change, is a fine opportunity to get in political opponents, who then carried the thin edge of the wedge. We are their warfare to Ottawa, and even to the thin edge of the wedge is driven ley that if he did not compel his Ministers to interfere with the bargain arrived at, the mines would be ruined, and the coal supply of the British navy on this continent would be cut off! People laugh at the vagaries of these Conservative politicians now, but they were then very, very earnest as now, in their opposition to Mr. Felding, and with as little effect, for both have prospered in spite of it all.

Old-Time Restraint and Present Freedom.

During recent years the question of freedom of teaching has become to a certain extent recrudescent. There has certainly been progress with varied movement, from the time when the entertaining of individual opinion stood in the same category with crime. The movement has been from stereotyped state of society to a social condition where men are free. We are now practically free; no one thinks of questioning that freedom of thought and research has resulted in such material progress as would otherwise have been impossible.

Notwithstanding the result of such freedom, which must be evident to everyone, we, even at the present day, hear of attempts being made to bridle the mouths of instructors in institutions of learning. In fact, these attempts to curtail freedom of speech have gone so far as to cause the dismissal of university professors, a ease which recently happened at Leland Stanford University, California. This attitude on the part of wealthy benefactors of universities has induced the New York Evening Post to elicit the opinions of prominent educationalists on matters pertaining to the functions and rights of instructors

President Harper, of the University of Chicago, states that a formal expression of opinion adopted by the congregation of the university in 1899, declares "the principle of complete freedom of speech on all subjects, t be fundamental in the university; this principle can never be called in question; that the university, as such, does not appear as a disputant on either side upon any public question; professor may make in public are to opinion only." President Harper adds also, that "no donor of a university, whether that donor be an individual or the state, has any right to interfere with the teaching of the instructors in a university." President Hyde, of Bowdoin College, declares that "a professor has a right to teach as truth whatever is accepted by the concensus of experts in his department; and, in addition, to give dignified and modeputed political and social questions." This does not mean that he should make himself an offensive partisan, or that he should advocate measures which are repugnant to the aims of the institution in which he is employed. These limitations, if such they may be called, will not in any way interfere with a professor's rights as stated above. "Donors, founders, and benefactors have no more right to interfere with a professor in his teaching than the stockholder of a steamship company has to direct the pilot how he should steer."

ATTACKED BY A ST. BERNARD. About 12 o'clock today, as a woman was passing the corner of Wellington and Dundas streets, a small dog which accompanied her was attacked by a St. Bernard dog, the property of a family in the locality. The woman, to protect her pet, picked it up in her arms, when the big dog jumped at her, knocking her down. It required the efforts of three or four men to restrain the animal from further attacking her. Police court proceedings against the owners of the St. Bernard will probably follow.

It is probable that at tonight's meeting of the board of works the committee will settle the ward foremanship question by adopting Engineer Graydon's suggestion and retaining five of the present six foremen. Their districts will probably be alloted as Wards 1 and 3, Foreman Powie; ward 2, Foreman Oke; ward 4, With Trask's Magnetic Ointment. Foreman Mullhall; ward 5, Guaranteed at C. FORMER LONDONER'S BRAVERY A recent dispatch to The Advertiser describes an action that has since been the most-talked-of event in Nebraska, the saving of thirteen pupils by a young school teacher, Miss Lizzie Cottman, of Sioux county. Miss Cottman was born in this city, at 491 York street, where her grandmother, Mrs. N. McVean, still resides, and was edu-cated at the Waterloo and Union schools. She is a niece of Mr. R. D. McVean and a cousin of Mr. Robert McVean, of this city. The story of 9 Bathurst street, yesterday, rived at the school house she found will take place on Sunday, not on Sat-urday, as announced yesterday. Ser-vices will be held at the house at 2 the building surrounded by water, that begun to undermine the foundation of the building. She closed the school o'clock, and the funeral will leave at and told the pupils to remain inside the building, plunged into the torrent, which was by this time waist deep, waded to a barn nearby and secured a horse and rope. Returning to the building, which was afloat, she fastened one end of the rope to the doorsill and the other end around the horse's neck. Then she headed for dry land, and after a desperate struggle reached the shore, where she fastened the rope to a tree. She hailed a farmer, who came to her assist-ance, and the thirteen pupils were safely landed.

> Hicks-Beach Says the Coal Tax Stands.

London, April 25.-Considerable ex citement and uproar attended the meeting of the shareholders of the Lyceum Theater Company, owing to the disappointing character of the report. An attempt was made to secure the appointment of a committee of inquiry, but it failed. The chairman attributed the poor financial showing to the war and to the death of the Queen The shareholders reported that the directors ought to have tried something else It was suggested that the thea-ter ought to have been converted into a variety hall when the nation was depressed by war, and that cheery bur-lesque ought to have been produced, not Shakespeare. The report was fin-ally adopted.

The shareholders expressed dissatis-faction at the fact that Sir Henry Irving was not present, and criticised the oard's general attitude toward him. Replying to a question, the chairman said they had insured Sir Henry Irving's life while he was in the United States, but it would not pay to do so now, with the diminished receipts of the theater, for the premium would be

MADAME A. RUPPERT

COMPLEXION SPECIALIST

Says: The complexion is usually at its worst at this time of the year, and if it is neglected too long, the skin gets so bad that it causes much unhappiness. You can save yourself all this unnecessary trouble if you will use now one or two bottles of my FACE BLEACH, which draws out of the skin all impurities which disease and discolor it. My FACE BLEACH is today used by thousands of ladies throughout the land, whose complexions it has made perfect. I will personally guarantee to every lady that there is no preparation that will improve the complexion as my FACE BLEACH improves it. If you are troubled and worried over a complexion filled with freckles, pimples, blackheads, moth patches, eczema, sallowness, all redness or roughness of the skin, and wrinkles that are not caused by facial expression, get my FACE BLEACH at once and get rid of them. I only wish I could meet every lady in London, whose complexion is not all that it ought to be, and have a good talk with her so that I might advise her how to secure a good clear complexion. I could not advise anything better, anything more beneficial than my FACE BLEACH. But as I cannot meet you all, I would suggest that you get my book, "How to Be Beautiful," which my agents, Cairneross & Lawrence, 216 Dundas Street, will give you FREE. My book is simply invaluable to every lady who desires a clear and perfect complexion.

MADAME A. RUPPERT. We hope that Mme. Ruppert's patrons will be guided by what she suggests and get a full treatment of her FACE BLEACH this time, and give your face, and neck too, a thorough clearing of all impurities of the skin. We will present to every lady caller FRBE, Mme. Ruppert's book, "HOW TO BE BEAUTI-FUL." We have a full line of Mme, Ruppert's Toilet Preparations in our store, and we will be pleased to show and explain their merits to every lady interested.

> Enjoyable Entertainment in St. George's Church Last Evening.

St. George's Church, London Junction, of which Rev. George Gilmore is pastor, is known to many as one that invariably has success in entertainments that are helpful in diffusing a spirit of human sympathy, fellowship and mutual confidence. Last evening one of the most successful of this kind was held, under the auspices of the choir and young people of the church, who were assisted by Miss Hunt and Mr. O'Rourke. The weather was pro-pitious, the audience large, apprecia-tive, and given up to the spirit of good fellowship, and the young ladies who took part even more charming than usual. Miss Angus, the energetic earnest and capable organist of the church, had charge. Her good taste and ability in training were never before better displayed. Miss Little, who takes the solo part in the choir of the church, was at her best. Her assistance in the music service of the sanc-tuary has been much appreciated and its value felt. Miss Hunt was so well received that she was called back twice. Mr. O'Rourke, clarinetist, played in his usual good style. Mr. Ernest Nuttycombe, one of the rising young violinists of the district, gave a pleasing selection. Mr. Thurling sang, in good rollicking style, "Nelly Gray." Miss Taylor gave a piano selection and was recalled. Indeed, everyone taking part did admirably, and the evident appreciation of the audience must have been gratifying to the young people. Light refreshments were served during intermission. At the close, Dr. Laurie moved a hearty vote of thanks to Miss Angus, her choir and the friends who had assisted, and said that it pleased the managers of the church very much to have the young people assume part of the financial responsibility of the church. He hoped they would increase more and more in this, as others, in the past, left too much on the pastor and leaders. Mr. F. Fisher had charge of the outside arrangements, and was ably assisted by Messrs. Dorman and Today-Light to moderate winds;

With a brighter and happier face than she had worn since leaving New York, Shirley tripped across the lawn, entered the house, and went up to her room.

Everything was so still within the dwelling, she thought madame could not yet have returned, and she thought she might, perhaps, have time to write out an account in her diary of her pleasant afternoon before her services would be

But as she opened the door to her chamber she stopped upon the threshold, a look of amazement overspreading her face, a low exclamation of startled pleasure bursting from her lips.

CHAPTER XVIII. The sight that caused Shirley's astonishment was one which, under the cir-cumstances, would have surprised anyone.

Just before her on the floor, which had looked so bar and cold, after she had, at madame's command, folded and put away the Indian shawl, there lay a beautiful Byzantine rug, in neutral tints, the pattern inwrought with fleur-de-lis.

The room looked like a different place, and Shirley's face fairly short with de-

"Yes, and—" Shirley began.

"And you met the young lord, and he walked home with you; I saw you," interrupted madame, as she bestowed a searching glance upon her companion's still flushed and animated face.

"That is true," Shirley replied. Then she added, with eager enthusiasm: "I have just come from my room, dear madame, and I want to thank you for your goodness; the rug is lovely, and—" "Well, if I must consent to have the house turned upside down i want things put to their right uses," the woman put to their right uses," the woman hastily interposed, though there was a satisfied gleam in her eyes which belied the sharpness of her tongue and betrayed that she was pleased with Shirley's delight. "Why did you do that?" she sharply demanded. "Nobody has kissed me before for more than forty years."

"Forgive me, madame, if I have offended you," pleaded Shirley, her own face now a scarlet flame, her voice full of pained regret, "but I was so glad, so happy, so grateful, I could not help it."

Madame gazed at her curiously for a moment, then she said in a softened tone:

"Child, I believe you, and there's no harm done; only I have been taken in so many times by the pretensions of people. I am glad if you like the rug, and we'll have some more of them downstairs; but you'll have to go with me to help me pick them out."

Then, as she noticed the wondering look in Shirley's eyes, she added, with a comical expression:
"I am sure I don't know what has come over me, but I believe that you are turning me topsy-turvy as well as the house."
"But, madame, really—" Shirley began.

"Now I will take you back to her grounds if you like."

"Pray do not trouble yourself to that extent," the fair girl replied, "for I am sure I can find the way myself."

"I have no doubt that you could do bo," Neil smilingly answered; "but if you will allow me I shall take pleasure in accompanying you, while," he added, with a rougish glance from her to the dog, who was still trotting close beside her, "I begin to find it no easy matter to separate you."

"Ay, people here think there is no one like him, though I myself am more inclined to think he is something of a fool in a certain way," said madame grimly.

"There is no end to his money, and he throws it away upon every beggar whom he meets. He is a graduated physician, too, and spends half of his time about the slums of the town attending the sick who are too poor to pay doctors' fees, while there is no end of flowers and fruit that he raises and sends to his patients that he raises and sends to his patients and the hospitals in Quebec."

"Humph! what does it all amount to?" demanded madame, contemptously. "How many of those whom he has helped in this way would ever think of befriending him if the tables should chance to be reversed? There's precious little real gratitude in the world."

Shirley did not reply to these morbid observations. There was an earnest, faraway look in her beautiful eyes while away look in her beautiful eyes, while she seemed to be intently considering what she had just learned regarding the young man whose acquaintance she had

"Eh, did you hear what I said?" sharply inquired madame.

"I beg your pardon," said Shirley, coloring, "but I was thinking that there are compensations in life which do not depend upon the acts of other people."

"What do you mean?" "What do you mean?"
Shirley smiled, then remarked:

Annual Meeting of Western Ontario Bible Society Reveals Excellent Work Being Done Throughout the World.

The 34th annual meeting of the Western Ontario Bible Society was held last evening at St. Andrew's Church. The Bishop of Huron occu- the church is to be found in this sopied the chair and opened the meeting 55th chapter of Isaiah was then read. Rev. Dr. Saunders led in prayer, then followed an anthem by the choir. Rev. J. Kennedy read the annual report, was, in substance, as follows: ANNUAL REPORT.

In the London Auxiliary there are 90 branches outside of the city. To this number one has been added during the year, and two having died have been brought back to life. Agency has been done this year to a larger extent than No colporteur has been employed by the society for several years past, for the reason that it has not been deemed necessary. From the de-pository nearly 1,000 copies—Bibles, Testaments were given to the poor sold during the year, figuring nigh unto $500. This they considered pretty good, especially when they took into account the keen competition they have in the trade. To branches needing replenishing over 600 copies have been forwarded. To Victoria Hospital 20 Bibles, large print, at a cost of $10. were donated, and several Bibles and Testaments were given to the poor people. Progress was reported in all branches of the work. Receipts were in advance of the money a year ago, city subscriptions also, and depository sales, so that after meeting all the attendant expenses they were able to remit the parent society the sum of $1.

And he thought he'd humor her, no doubt. The result shows that a man rarely loses by following his wife's advice. Those who suffer from obstinate cough, bronchitis, weak lungs and ailments in general which tend to consumption, will find speedy relief and perfect cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures ninety-eight per cent. of those who give it a fair and faithful trial. It purifies the blood, heals the lungs and builds up the body with firm flesh instead of flabby fat. The "Discovery" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor other narcotics.

"Only for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I think I would be in my grave to-day," writes Mr. Moses Miles, of Hilliard, Uinta Co., Wyoming. "I had asthma so bad I could not sleep at night and was compelled to give up work. It affected my lungs so that I coughed all the time, both day and night. My friends all thought I had consumption. My wife had taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and it had helped her so much she insisted on my trying his Golden Medical Discovery'—which I did. I have taken four bottles and am now a well man, weighing 185 pounds, thanks to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I would like you to print this testimony as it may help some other poor sufferer." narcotics.

Andrew Dale and H. A. Buchan, M.D. MR. OWEN'S ADDRESS.

Rev. C. C. Owen, B.A., dwelt upon the extent of work of the British and Foreign Bible Society. He said that while there were comparatively few persons who felt a deep interest in the movement, it might be well to recall the words of the Archbishop of Canterbury, who stated that man must read history with his eyes shut if he cannot see that the Bible Society is one of the greatest influences for the uplifting of mankind. . The work which was the most effective possible, was carried on with the utmost economy, not a cent being wasted that was spent in the cause. The late Lord Creighton, Bishop of London, said that this was the only institution on which all denominations were united. Mr. Owen spoke of the British and have been issued in 400 different languages. One of the greatest, though incidental results, has been the unifying of religious work. The grandest witness in the world of the unity of

The speaker stated some of the diffiby announcing the 119th Hymn. The culties met with by the society in their The New Straight Front Corset, efforts to carry the Scriptures to the various peoples of the world. Among these was mentioned the difficulty as regards language. The ordinary workingman's vocabulary consists of only and moved its adoption. The report about 250 words. The range of thought and speech of the aboriginal races is infinitely less than this, so that it is very difficult to translate abstract ideas into their primitive speech. The idea of heaven held by some of these races is associated with some form of pleasure, and many terms in the Scriptures which are of purely spiritual significance, can with the utmost difficulty be made intelligible to the primitive mind. Nothwithstanding these difficulties, as well as others of a financial character, the work has progressed with increasing rapidity. However, as populations increase, there will also be necessity for increased effort on our part to aid in spreading the benign influence of the Word of God.

Mr. Owen dwelt upon the encouragement the work was meeting with in Russia, and upon the co-operation of the Greek Church. Fully 600,000 copies of the Scriptures were admitted into Russia carriage and duty free.

The Bible Society, as it sends abroad throughout the world the Word of God, is having a wonderful effect in regenerating home life.

REV. DR. HARRIS spoke on the subject of the inspiration of the Scriptures. "I am," said he, firm believer in the Word of God." He spoke of certain inherent works which proved the inspiration of the Bible. In the first place was the remarkable unity which was an indication that the author is supernatural. The unity indicates that one master mind had controlled the 38 writers. covering a period of 1,500 years. No one could detect the slightest variation in the conception of God, from Genesis to Revelation. The indestructibility of the Bible was further proof of its inspired authority. Tom Payne said that before 100 years should pass the Bible would cease to be read. Now the question is not who reads the Bible, but who reads Tom Payne.

Man's work is capable of continued improvement, as is seen in the numer-ous inventions. The Bible, which has been written by some men, who were in several instances ignorant, is perfect, and camnot be improved upon. The Word of God is as perfect as any work of God in nature. The more one investigates the Scriptures, the more he will note their perfection throughout. In order to see this perfection, need to study them. The speaker maintained that the term "inspiration" should be confined to the Bible. He objected to applying the term "inspiration" to the works Plato and Aristotle, Mundane writers are illuminated, not inspired. The Scripture is inspired. Inspiration means in-breathing. All Scripture is "God-breathed." There are difficulties and seeming contradictions which pass away under a diligent study of God's word. It is infallible; to doubt that infallibility is to cast aside the assurances Christ has given regarding man's salvation and redemption After the usual votes of thanks to the officers and members of the board, to the speakers, to the choir and to the trustees for the use of the building, the meeting closed with the doxology and benediction. ELGIN'S ASSIZES OVER. St. Thomas, Ont., April 25.-The Ted ford fraud charge was resumed at the assize court this morning. The evidence went to show that Tedford, who is a young man from the country, bought a grocery stock from one James Egan, paying $700 in cash, and promising to pay the balance, some thousand dollars in a few months. In the meantime he re-sold the stock to one Pennyfather without consulting Mr. Egan. The defendant claims that the stock was not worth as much as represented, and thought Egan got all it was worth. His lordship severely censured several of the witnesses for the part they played in the affair. After the jury had been out about four hours, they returned unable to agree upon a verdict. His lordship then allowed the prisoner out on $2,000 bail to appear at the next court of jurisdiction. This finished the business of the assizes.

LONDON JUMPERS. Referring to the jumpers at the Toronto horse show, the Star says: Gay Falconer, owned by Mr. Adam Beck, London, winner of the second prize in the lightweight hunter class, is the most graceful jumper ever seen at the show for years. He has a businesslike way of going at the fence, takes a long, low jump, and lands clean. He was greeted with cheers when he did the eight hurdles in the evening without a miss. Hurdle performance counted only 40 per cent in that class, however. Gold Lace, one of Beck's entries, won the hearts of the people by her perseverance and courage. It was evident that the horse was a bit afraid of the light and the noise, and her rider had to use the whip after the first jump was accomplished; but after that the mare's efforts to please were good to see, and when she wound up without touching there was great

THE L., A. AND N. S. RAILWAY. Speaking to the Aylmer Sun in regard to the relations between London township and the London, Avlmer and North Shore Railway, President M. E. Lyon said: "It is true that London Township Council have objected so far to a 50-year franchise, but as the cost of the road will mean an immense amount of money, it could hardly be expected that any company would make such an investment unless the franchise extended over a long period. Again, it is hinted that the company is securing this franchise for the purpose of selling it. Mr. Lyon assures us that the money is ready to begin operations at once, if the privileges Ald. asked can be obtained. Even were it sold, what difference could it possibly make who built the road? It is the road we want, not any particular London township will no doubt moderate their demands when they come down to business. The company stands ready to do anything that is fair and just, but as the road is at best a business experiment, they can-not be expected to submit to unreasonable demands, and will refuse to give an advantage to any one township over another. It is unfair to ask it, and it would be unfair to grant it.'

Board of Works Decide That Five Ward Foremen Are Needed.

The Matter Settled After a Thorough Discussion-Where New Sidewalks Will Be Laid.

The meeting of No. 2 committee last night was unmarked by special features, with the exception of a tilt between the worthy aldermen from wards 2 and 6 over the reduction of the ward foremen. Ald. Olmsted moved that five foremen be employed, but Ald. Parnell thought that four would be enough. Both gentlemen expressed themselves strongly during the discussion, but the incident closed with good feeling restored. The consideration of proposed sewers and sidewalks occupied the major portion of the remainder of the session

The motion which introduced the ward foremanship discussion was the following: Moved by Ald. Olmsted and seconded by Ald. Campbell: "That in view of the positive statement of the engineer that the extensive area of the city requires at least five foremen, and that he cannot secure the efficient performance of the work with a less number, the committee agree to the suggestion of the engineer that the foremen be given charge of the wards as follows: Wards 1 and 3, George Powie; Ward 2, R. Oke; ward 4, P. Mulhall; ward 5, W. Evans; ward 6, R. Howie; and that Sidney Loveless be placed in charge of the sewers." Ald. Parnell objected decidedly to the motion. He averred that at a previous meeting the engineer had stated there need for four foremen in the city. He thought that the present motion was the outcome of log-rolling. The reason why the five foremen and one man to look after sewers were being retained, was that the committee and the engineer were in a quandary as to what two men should be dispensed with. Ald. Olmsted replied with considerable heat that he would not be accused of log-rolling or bluffing. The engineer had said he needed five foremen, and five foremen should accordingly be re-

Ald. Campbell poured oil on troubled waters. He was in favor of unless the whole length of it from the the motion because he was willing to point complained of to the river wern take the engineer's assertion that five oremen were needed. Mayor Rumball said that it was at his suggestion that the motion had been framed in the form in which it was presented. He favored it because of was presented. He favored it because of insinuations both in committee and in condition, but might be improved by the press that politics were concerned n the matter, and as he deprecated the introduction of politics in any form into council affairs, he would rather pay the extra foreman can give the citizens the impression that politics were connected with the matter. Chairman Winnett pointed out the need of five foremen, in view of certain works which the city would be undertaking, such as the construction of sewers, sidewalks, and the bacteria peds. A man was also needed to look after the sewers. Ald. Parnell asked why the engineer's department did not look after the sewers. If its members did less sitting in the office and more work, it would be Engineer Graydon stated that he had not made the remark in committee that he could do with four foremen. What he had said was that he would carry out the wishes of the committee if that body saw fit to reduce the number of foremen. He pointed out that five foremen were absolutely needed, owing to the size of the city. It covers 5,000 acres, and its streets total 137 miles, four of the wards having over twenty

PAVEMENTS AND SEWERS. Chairman Winnett reported that Mr. Thomas Browne, of Queen's avenue, had complained that the tar macadam pavement in front of his residence was in bad condition. The chairman explained that the portion of pavement in bad shape was some laid by the con-tractor late in the season, after he had been advised to discontinue the work. The engineer was instructed to notify the contractor to put the pavement in proper repair. Engineer Graydon reported that the payments had expired for the following block pavements: William street Dundas to King; Peter street, Queen's avenue to Dufferin avenue; Maitland street, Dufferin avenue to Princess av enue. The pavements are completely destroyed. The engineer recommended that sewers be laid in all these streets preparatory to paving them. The Maitland street sewer will have to be laid from Dufferin to Central avenue, as the only outlet would be the main sewer in the latter street. The committee will recommend to the council that the sewers be constructed on the initiative. Deputations were again present to support petitions for and against the construction of a sewer on John street.

The assessment commissioner having reported that the petition for the sewer is sufficiently signed, and the petition against insufficiently signed, the ordinary course will be followed, and the sewer constructed. Harding & Leathorne were awarded the tender for connecting the Briscoe street sewer with the main sewer on Edward street, their tender being $182. THE DIRTY CREEK.

In relation to the request of Mr. E. Winnett, that the creek near his property on Huron street be cleaned to prevent overflowing, the engineer reported that it was useless to clean out cleaned out. As this portion lies London township, the city can do no thing at present. The report was filed The engineer reported that the road way on Ridout street south, complain-widening at a later date. The report was adopted. Mr. E. T. Essery's request for a tile drain to connect with the Kent street sewer was referred to the chairman and engineer with power. The pay sheet for the week was $301 88. The members present were Ald. Winnett (chairman), Parnell, Olmsted, and Campbell, Mayor Rumball, Engineer Graydon and Secretary Bell.

Humors of all kinds are prolific of worse troubles. They may be entirely expelled by a thorough course of Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first Lombardy poplar in America was planted in 1785.
