Young Alsatian's Self-Sacrifice and Patient Suffering, Most Wonderful.

TWICE BADLY WOUNDED

Yet Found Strength To Give Drink To Dying German Soldier.

[Canadian Press.] London, Oct. 1.—The correspondent of the Central News, telegraphing from Angers, France, says: "Lying in the military hospital here, recovering from severe wounds, is the hero of one of the most wonderful stories of self-sacrifice, patient suffering and bravery which this war is likely to produce."

"He is Jean Berger, an Alsatian private in the Second Regiment of Infantry, a volunteer, 18 years old. He tells nothing himself, but his comrades relate the following story: During one of the engagements of the battle of the Marne, a day of furious fighting was followed by a night of comparative quiet. Berger, who had been through the day's awful ordeal, unscathed, was crossing the battlefield covered with British, French and German dead and wounded, when he found his own colonel wounded. He started to carry him to the rear, and was doing so when a wounded British officer, who said he was a Grenadier, called him back."

"Berger removed his chief to a place of safety, procured food and a flask of wine, and returned to the battlefield, with the bullets whistling around him. "He was in the act of raising the British officer's head to give him the wine when three of his fingers were shot away. Berger, suffering intense pain, retained his hold on the flask, and put it to the Englishman's lips, when a second bullet entered his back and came out above his groin."

"Both Assist German. "He fell groaning, and the two wounded British and Frenchmen, lay side by side, when their attention was attracted by a German soldier feebly calling for a drink. Berger and the Englishman managed to drag themselves to the side of the prostrate German, and to force wine and water down his throat. Their effort was such that both fainted. When they recovered consciousness the German was dead."

"The night was far advanced, and they lay on the sodden field until dawn was heralded by the shrieking projectiles, telling that the battle had been resumed."

"Uhlman Officer Moved. "A body of Uhlans rode by and Berger pulled a revolver at him, and asked what he wanted. "Berger replied that he wanted a drink. The German officer, who was the dead body of his fellow countryman, with the empty French flask beside him, telling of his noble tale. He was profoundly moved. Kneeling beside the wounded man, he gave him each a drink, saluted them and returned to his own command, with that in his eyes which the tongue could not give expression."

"Saved Englishman, Too. "The two men lay in what was a veritable swamp the entire day, while the battle raged, until they saw the Germans retreating in the afternoon. The exposure was telling on the Englishman, who was showing signs of delirium. Berger, despite his own wounds, rushed, dragged and carried the Englishman toward the allies' lines, until the Red Cross aids found them. As the British was placed on a stretcher, he asked to be taken to the Frenchman's side. He grasped his hand: "If I live I will do the best in my power to get you the Victoria Cross," he said. "If ever a man deserved it, you do."

ALLIES MAKE PROGRESS
IN BOTH NORTH AND SOUTH

[Canadian Press.] Paris, Oct. 1.—2:55 p.m.—The following official communication was given out here this afternoon: "There has been no modification in the general situation. We have, nevertheless, made progress on our left, to the north of the Somme, and on our right, in the Southern Woëvre District."

GERMAN DESTROYER SINKS
IN HARBOR OF TSING-TAU

[Canadian Press.] Tokio, Oct. 1.—1:50 p.m.—A severe engagement has been opened by the German warships which cannonaded the Japanese positions near Tsing-Tau, the seat of the Government of Kiao-Chow, the German leased territory in China. Two officers were killed. German aeroplanes assisted the warships. The German war office announced that an artillery duel at Tsing-Tau continues. A German torpedo-boat destroyer sank the harbor yesterday (Wednesday). Apparently this ship was not in action.

London Man and Three Sons Serve Country

Advertiser Illustration. In this interesting group are shown Mr. and Mrs. George Bullen, of 905 Dame street, and their three sons. The father is a corporal in the Canadian Army Service Corps, and is serving with the overseas contingent, and the three sons all went to Valcartier with the Seventh Regiment's detachment of the overseas contingent. Two of them, George, jun., (in centre of picture) and James (standing by his mother) were accepted, but Charles (beside the father) was turned back on account of lacking one inch in chest measurement. He is, however, on the waiting list for the second contingent. It is unlikely that many families in Canada can show such whole-hearted devotion to their country's cause.

OBJECTS TO BIBLE
IN PUBLIC SCHOOL

St. Thomas Pastor Says It Should Never Be Taught There.

BAPTIST MINISTERS MEET

Middlesex and Lambton Conference Finishes at Wainstead.

That the Bible should not be taught in the public schools was the contention of Rev. O. C. Elliott, of St. Thomas, in the course of an address before the meeting of the Middlesex and Lambton Baptist Pastor's Conference in Calvary Church, Wainstead, yesterday.

Mr. Elliott argued that the teaching of the Bible was the work of the church and that the state had no right to interfere. He felt that any such interference would be simply the entering of the thin end of the wedge which would lead to a union of the church and state, which was not to be desired.

The subject, which was splendidly handled, led to a very interesting discussion. Mr. Elliott was congratulated warmly by the speakers who followed him.

Many Pastors Present. The conference opened on Tuesday with almost a full attendance of pastors and the sessions were of a very interesting and spiritual character. The 30-minute devotional service on Tuesday was followed by two addresses on the subjects of "The Personality of the Holy Spirit," by Rev. John Tricker, of Poplar Hill, and "The Place and Work of the Holy Spirit in the Church," by Rev. H. H. Bingham, of this city.

In the evening an evangelistic service was held, led by Rev. David Brittain, of Alveston, assisted by Rev. J. H. Boyd, of the Adelaide Street Church; Rev. Fred Evans, Lobo; Rev. H. A. Bowen, Chatham and Rev. O. C. Elliott, St. Thomas.

Next Conference in Lobo. On Wednesday the conference was resumed at 9 a.m., and after 45 minutes of devotional exercises Rev. H. A. Bowen gave an address on "The Place and Work of the Holy Spirit in the World."

How Long Will the War Last?

In the ancient game of wrestling, when the Grecians used to meet, one day there arose a wrangle as to what should mean defeat. So they held a general meeting and decided firm and fast. That a fellow wasn't beaten till his shoulders touched the mat.

And that's the British slogan in the European strife.

Though it cost us our last dollar and our last ounce of life.

But this war will not last till we can get our books on that.

Till we've licked the German Kaiser and his shoulders touch the mat.

—Fred Young, Seventh Regiment Home Guards.

BANDSMEN REGARDED REQUEST AS AN INSULT

Withdraw From Trades and Labor Council Because They Were Told To Take Off Uniforms if They Were To Appear in Labor Day Parade.

The members of the Musicians' Union of this city took drastic action this week, when, because of an order made by the Trades and Labor Council that the local military bands should not appear in uniform at the recent Labor Day parade in St. Thomas, they ordered their secretary to forward a resolution to the council, withdrawing their representation, and in future refraining from a participation in the deliberations of the council.

Called it an insult. Practically all the members of both the Seventh Regiment and First Hussars' bands were at the meeting, and when the subject came up for discussion, the bandmen gave free play to their feelings. They thought that the request of the Trades Council, that the bands should remove their uniforms or stay home, was insulting, especially at the present time, when war had been declared in a just cause. It was pointed out that the British army had fought and died to give men the opportunity to form themselves into unions, and that the present war was a fight to retain the very liberties under which union men existed. That the bandmen should have been requested to take off their uniforms, or lose the engagement, was characterized as a threat and an insult that could not be misconstrued.

There was a unanimous feeling among the musicians that they should not be further represented in the Trades and Labor Council, and a communication was forwarded to that body which made the feelings of the bandmen unmistakable.

It is probable that the musicians' decision will be discussed at the next meeting of the Trades and Labor Council.

ATTACK ON ANTWERP HAS BUT LITTLE EFFECT ON DEFENCES

First Line Forts Still in Condition To Make an Effective Resistance, While Assaults On Other Parts Were Repulsed With Heavy Losses.

[Canadian Press.] London, Oct. 1.—2:12 a.m.—An official communication issued at Antwerp, according to a dispatch to Reuter's Telegram Company, says: "The German artillery during the day continued the bombardment of the first line of forts on the south. Our works suffered little, and we are still in condition to make effective resistance."

"Between the Senne River and Reeth, no movement of the enemy's infantry has occurred. In the circle from the Scheldt to the Senne, daring and violent German attacks have been repelled by the Belgians, who were well supported by their artillery. The German losses were proportionate to the temerity of their attacks."

"In the direction of Termonde the offensive movement was of no great importance, consisting of a long distance cannonade, which had no appreciable effect on the detachments of our troops guarding the approaches to the town. Between the River Dender and Scheldt there is no notable change."

"In short, the German bombardment has produced no results commensurate with its violence. The morale of our troops remains excellent and their coolness is admirable, as proved by the successful resistance of all German infantry attacks."

HON. MR. KING
HAS MISSION
WORLD-WIDE

Chosen by Rockefeller Foundation as Authority On Industrial Problems.

MOST URGENT QUESTION

Canadian's Work Will Be Free From Interest and Prejudice.

HAS MUCH EXPERIENCE

Expenses Expected To Be Paid Out of Huge Foundation Fund.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Oct. 1.—The Rockefeller Foundation announced today that it had decided to make a far-reaching investigation of industrial conditions in this country, and that it had retained the services of Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, former minister of labor in Canada, as director of the investigation.

The announcement was made in a statement issued here by Jerome D. Green, secretary of the Rockefeller Foundation.

"In spirit and method the investigation of the problem of industrial relations is the most important work of the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research," the statement says, "and other inquiries instituted by the Rockefeller Institute."

Most Urgent Question. In facing the problem of industrial relations, the Rockefeller Foundation is deliberately attempting to grapple with what it believes to be the most complicated and at the same time the most urgent question of modern times, and it is precisely for this reason that the investigation has been instituted.

"In no sense will the investigation be local or restricted, or carried on with particular reference to any existing situation, or for that matter, with reference to conditions in any one country. The experience of the several countries of the world will be drawn upon."

Reason For Choice. "In going to another country and selecting as the person to direct the investigation, the most important work, one whose public services have gained for him an outstanding position as a leading authority on industrial problems, the trustees have shown their desire to free the foundation from any suspicion of interest or prejudice in the investigation of the most controversial of all problems."

There then follows an outline of the career of Mr. King. No mention of the amount it is proposed to expend in conducting the investigation is made in the statement. Expenses will be paid from the $100,000,000 fund in the hands of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Will Remove Mines in Adriatic and Indemnify the Italians for Losses Sustained.

[Canadian Press.] Rome, Italy, Oct. 1, via London, 2:43 p.m.—The Austrian Government has replied to the Italian protest against the floating mines in the Adriatic Sea. Austria deplores the sinking of Italian vessels, and promises to take measures to remove the menace to shipping, and to fully indemnify the families of the victims.

It is reported that Italy demands an indemnity of $1,000,000.

ENEMY DECLARES
ADVANCE IN ARGONNE

An Official German Statement Gives Vague News of Theatre of War.

[Canadian Press.] London, Oct. 1.—10:30 a.m.—An official statement issued from German general headquarters, under date of the evening of September 30, is given in a dispatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Berlin via Amsterdam. It says: "The hostile forces advancing to the north and south of Albert (a town of France, 18 miles northeast of Amiens) have been repulsed. The front battle line is without news."

In Argonne our attack is progressing steadily, though slowly. At the outer forts on the Meuse the line is without change."

Yesterday the enemy advanced in Alsace and Lorraine, in the central Vosges. His attacks were energetically repulsed. The eastern theatre is without news."

LORD ROBERTS, 82,
ISSUES A WARNING

Great Task of Subduing the Enemy Will Really Begin in Germany.

DO NOT ABUSE ENEMIES

British Should Remember Many Untrue Charges Made in South Africa.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Oct. 1.—A London cable to the Tribune says: "Lord Roberts, who was 82 years old yesterday, in an article published today, warns his countrymen not to underestimate the power of Germany when it begins to attack."

"I cannot help thinking," he said, "that the great task of subduing that nation will begin when we, with our French, Russian and Belgian allies, have driven the German allies into the heart of their own territory."

"May I give a word of caution to my countrymen against the unparliamentary practice of abusing one's enemies? Let us avoid what Kipling, during the Boer war, described as 'killing Kruger with your mouth.' Let us rather devote all our energies to defeating our foe by the superior fighting of adequate numbers of British soldiers in the open field."

"When we read charges against the German troops, let us remember that gross charges, absolutely untrue, were brought against our own brave soldiers when they were fighting in South Africa. But whether such charges are true or not, let us keep our own hands clean, and let us fight against the Germans in such a way as to earn their liking as well as their respect."

Even Censorship Cannot Keep "Inspired Optimism" of the Allies From Floating Through—What Resources Has Von Kluck Is the Next Question.

(Canadian Press.)

London, Oct. 1.—The screen of secrecy, erected by the censorship almost entirely across Northern France, and behind which military craftsmen for the past three weeks have been, figuratively speaking, fashioning the rough outlines of a new map of the eastern hemisphere, stands today almost unimpaired. It has, however, judging from indications in London, been pierced here and there with holes which permit some inkling of the events happening on the stage behind it.

ALLIES' OPTIMISM INSPIRED. From what can be deduced from these fragmentary glimpses, there would appear to be justification, in the opinion of British observers, for the confident, even seemingly inspired, optimism on the part of the allies. This describes events as shaping themselves for a repetition of history, as it was written on the River Marne, when the allied forces sent the Germans back on their tracks.

All the brilliantly skillful tactics employed by General Von Kluck, the commander of the German right wing, to counter or break through the bank of bayonets constantly reaching northward beyond his extreme right, have thus far failed.

LAST CARD IS NOT PLAYED. These efforts, however, have by no means ceased, and the German general staff, it is felt in London, probably will risk something elsewhere in order to reinforce this wing before the end of the chapter is written. Heretofore reinforcements have been met by reinforcements in this critical quarter of the battlefield.

The Germans nearly got through the allied ring near Albert, to the northeast of Amiens, but after two days of fierce struggle for the mastery they failed. These incessant assaults on the part of the Germans have, according to the allied commanders, whose reports are augmented by statements from independent sources, cost the assailants such appalling losses in men that, even allowing for reinforcements, their ranks must have been materially weakened.

REASON FOR SATISFACTION. The announcement from France of the recreation of the post of marshal of France, coming simultaneously with the report of General Joffre, commander-in-chief of the French forces, of the satisfactory condition along the entire battle line, has been hailed by the allies as significant.

In the eastern field, the German navy is showing increased activity on the Baltic coast. It is in readiness to support German land forces, if they succeed in forcing the passage of the River Niemen.

In the meanwhile there has come to London news that within a week a new Russian army, a million strong, will join the present armies in Poland and Galicia for "Russia's principal attack on Germany."

GERMANS BEAT AGAINST THE ANGLE OF DISE AND AISNE

Continue To Hurl Themselves On Point Where Allies Have Already Had Success—Critic Remembers a Similar Situation in Imperial Manoeuvres.

[Canadian Press.] Paris, Oct. 1.—5:30 a.m.—The Germans continue the fierce attack in the angle formed by the Rivers Oise and Aisne, in the direction of Tracy-le-Mont, just northeast of the forest of the Aiguille, which has already been the scene of a success on the part of the allies. Here the French lines have thus far held solidly, as the attempts made to break them have been futile. The contest has been singularly desperate, but the allies, by daring counter-maneuvres, have checked the bold attempt of their adversaries.

The latest news from the front, while not giving sufficient details to satisfy the Parisian eagerness for war news, is nevertheless regarded by them as favorable, and they continue to wait with patience for some decisive result of the great battle.

Analogous Situation. Lieut.-Col. Rousset, the military critic, writing to the Petit Parisien, quotes the sentence from the official communication reading: "On our left wing to the north of the Somme the action continues to develop more and more toward the north," and says: "Curiously I remember having seen at the imperial manoeuvres of 1905, something analogous to the actual situation of the German forces today. A certain corps of the attacking army, disappointed in a manoeuvre which it had contemplated against the left flank of the enemy, found itself at the end of the day compressed between the two lines of fire, which had the form of the letter 'V' reversed. It is useless to say that the German Emperor was not as satisfied, and I doubt if he is more so today in seeing this singular operation happen again to his great loss."

Assaults Must Decrease. "Having been unable to oppose an extension toward the north, the Germans struggled to break at its summit the angular line we occupy. Again, at Tracy-le-Mont, they delivered a furious attack, which appears to have cost them dear. Perhaps it is not yet the last one I imagine, however, that such assaults would become more and more rare, because they will wear out when unsuccessful. The tactics of the Germans I seek to strike at the same time upon two points over a hundred kilometers (about 62 miles) away, indicates a certain confusion, and it will be quite extraordinary if this can continue long."

The national committee, formed to take charge of the work of sending winter clothing to the soldiers, urges the prompt measures be taken in the way of furnishing these supplies, pointing out the possibility of a long campaign in severe winter weather.

Hero Is Slain. The name of Lieut.-Col. T. G. J. F. Beuchon, a hero of the Boer campaign, where he used for the first time the new French cannon known as "75," appears among the list of "killed on the field of honor." Well-known public men, including actors and several abbés, are also listed. The Government has virtually re-established the dignity of marshal of France, the highest military title, the decree, fixing the salary at 30,315 francs, to be paid to whoever merits the supreme grade, has been signed at Bordeaux.

CONCERT WILL BE FOR BELGIAN AID

Patriotic Women of Canadian Club Plan to Assist the Homeless.

DAY FOR HELP IS OCT. 29

Money Goes to Furnish Supplies Purchased Here and Sent Abroad.

At an executive meeting of the Women's Canadian Club held this morning, it was decided to hold a patriotic concert in this city on the evening of October 29, the proceeds to be devoted to the Belgian relief fund. This is in response to an appeal received by the treasurer of the club, Mrs. A. T. De Warden, from the Belgian Relief Committee, Mr. G. O. O'Connell, asking that something be done by Londoners.

Extracts from the letter are as follows: "Urgent relief to the inhabitants of large sections of Belgium, whose homes, crops, and other means of living have been destroyed, is greatly needed in order that many of them may not die of hunger or exposure. Their misery cannot but increase during the coming winter unless assistance comes to them from everywhere."

Many Destrute. Much has been done already by Great Britain, but the number of destitute will be very large. Canada has shown such admirable loyalty to her mother country and such great sympathy and appreciation for the brave Belgians, that she will certainly do her utmost to help them.

The relief work appeals confidently to all residents of Canada for urgent contributions in kind or money. The most suitable contributions in kind will be clothing of every description, new or old, for women, men and children; blankets of wool or cotton, shoes, flour, oatmeal, sugar, dried fruits, dried vegetables, salted fish, salt, bacon, pork and beans, or other canned eatables, etc. Shipments of these will be gratefully received.

Contributions in money will be employed for purchasing goods in Canada and for freight to Belgium.

The relief work hereby makes an appeal to all persons willing to volunteer for propaganda purposes. It hopes that all friends and admirers of the Belgians will co-operate in the organization all over Canada of collections, sales and concerts for the relief work.

The president of the relief work is Mr. G. O. O'Connell, general for Belgium, Ottawa. His Royal Highness the Governor-General is patron of the organization. The committee includes the Right Hon. Sir Robert B. Borden, Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, his Grace Mr. Bruchési, his Lordship Bishop of Montreal, the Hon. J. G. Thompson, M.P., and others.

To Show Belgian Views. The concert will take the form of an illustrated lecture, to be given by Mr. Frank Yeich, of Toronto, who will show views of Belgium and other scenes which are in the hands of the enemy. The Women's Canadian Club are in hopes that they may obtain the Grand Opera House for the night. They request that members of other women's organizations give assistance in the enterprise.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE GERMAN POSITIONS

Also Take Defiles Between Lakes—Enemy Is Driven Back, Ineffectively Bombarding Ossowjatz.

[Canadian Press.] Washington, Oct. 1.—Col. Golejewski, military attaché at the Russian embassy, today issued the following official report from Petrograd: "On September 28, after stubborn fighting, our troops captured the German positions at Awgustowo and Kopeitz. On September 29 we took the defiles between the lakes at Simno, Serele and Lelupin. "The Germans have been driven back into the region between Suwalki, Sejny and Mariampol. Our advance continues. German siege artillery continues the bombardment of Ossowjatz, but without success. At Schutchnitz and at Andrew only unimportant skirmishes are reported."

INSURANCE BIDS WERE NEVER ADVERTISED FOR

City Clerk Declares Call for Tenders Never Appeared in Print.

The advertiser recently printed an interview with officials of the London Life Insurance Company, stating that it had not received a chance to tender for the insurance on the lives of London soldiers to Valcartier. A severe criticism of the mayor was made in this interview.

The mayor says that he gave instructions that all companies were to be notified. City Clerk Barker stated that he notified every company by letter on August 24.

The letter to the London Life did not reach that company. It was stated in error by the mayor that the matter had been advertised in the papers, but the city clerk stated to-day that no advertisement had been inserted.

The advertiser printed the interview with London Life officials, because it was a matter that should have been made known, not because it wished to criticize the mayor.

The mayor this morning complained that he had not been treated fairly. It is justice to him this statement is printed. The advertiser has never had a desire to print only one side of a story.

MADE ADJUTANT Capt. F. O. Hodgins Receives Promotion in Engineers.

Col. W. R. Hodgins, in command of Military District No. 1, received word today from his son, Capt. F. O. Hodgins, of the Royal Canadian Engineers, that he was being promoted to the rank of adjutant in the Canadian expeditionary force on the Western front.

Capt. F. O. Hodgins, who went to Valcartier to help train the Engineers, has been appointed adjutant of the Division Engineers.

GERMANS RESPECT RUSSIAN ARTILLERY

Berlin Paper Says the Field Guns' Work is Deadly and Merits Recognition.

[Canadian Press.] Amsterdam, Oct. 1, via London.—The Lokal Anzeiger, one of the leading newspapers of Berlin, says: "The Russian field artillery merits the universal recognition of German troops. The first volley of a Russian battery misses the mark. The second is inadequate. The third hits straight at the target, and was onto those who are aimed at, and who have not time to change their position. Their annihilation in such a case is absolutely inevitable. "The specialty of the Russian field artillery consists in striking at the staffs of the enemy's army. All observing points occupied by leaders of hostile forces immediately are subjected to the Russians to the deadliest consequence. This circumstance necessitates a constant change of position on the part of the German commanders."

AN ARMISTICE IN MEXICO DECLARED

[Canadian Press.] El Paso, Texas, Oct. 1.—Luis Aguirre, Basco, secretary of Gen. Villa, under date of September 30, telegraphed the Associated Press that an armistice had been declared through Mexico, with Aguas Calientes as a neutral zone. He stated that elections would be held according to the agreement from October 5 to 10.

ROB TURNER AND GEORGE OF JAIL

Prisoners Awaiting Sentence at Hull Escape in Early Morning—Guard Asleep.

[Canadian Press.] Ottawa, Oct. 1.—Three men convicted a week ago, and awaiting sentence for theft from the C. P. R., escaped from jail early this morning. Before leaving they visited the quarters of the sleeping turnkey and stole his gold watch and $7. It is thought that when looking up last night the turnkey failed to notice that one of the men was not in his cell. Presumably he was in hiding and when the turnkey went to sleep on a cot in the corridor secured the keys and liberated his companions. A posse is out scouring the district.

"I have during the past few months been in conference with trustees of the Rockefeller Foundation respecting an important and far-reaching work the Foundation has been planning, but no authority to make any statement concerning it. The trustees of the Foundation will, I understand, issue an authoritative announcement. Until this is made I prefer to say nothing."

GERMANS DESTROY ALBERT; OPEN AND UNFORTIFIED TOWN

Foiled in Attempt to Drive Wedge Into Allies' Front, They Turn Artillery On Town, Which Collapses Like Card House.

[Canadian Press.] London, Oct. 1.—Telegraphing from Paris under date of Wednesday, the correspondent of the Daily Mail describes the complete destruction by the German heavy artillery of the open and unfortified town of Albert, 18 miles from Amiens, which has been the scene during the past few days of a prolonged and terribly murderous artillery battle. He says: "The struggle on the part of the Germans to prevent their right wing being turned compelled them continually to push their front further north, and to the west, while the allies continually replied by extending their front to overlap the enemy, both sides bringing up large reinforcements. This necessitated long marches. "On Saturday they began to realize that their efforts were in vain. They therefore changed their tactics and tried to drive a wedge into the allies' front. The point of that wedge was the town of Albert."

Checked By French. The attempt almost succeeded. They brought up and massed their artillery, and the French infantry suffered considerably. They kept up a fire so rapid in character that at night the whole sky was lit up by bursting shells. On Sunday they gained perceptibly, and on Monday they still pressed forward, but by that time the French had brought up large numbers of their famous quick-firing batteries, and their deadly fire checked the German advance.

Yesterday the enemy kept up his efforts gamely, but by late afternoon it had clearly failed of its aim. There were three or four German batteries around Albert, but none within a mile of the town. At ten minutes past five, German shells from their heavy guns began to fall. Here is a description of the scene from an eyewitness, who was on a hill overlooking Albert: "This brings the story up to 6.15, when the shells ceased to fall. A wounded man who had been brought down the road toward Amiens at that time was packed with refugees of all ages, and the shells from the German guns were being wheeled in barrows. "At half-past six a number of fires, lighting up the whole countryside, were visible. The shells were falling, and appeared to be very much in evidence. The shells were falling, and appeared to be very much in evidence. The shells were falling, and appeared to be very much in evidence."

CAN SHIP FOODS TO HOLLAND FROM U.S.

British Will Not Interfere—Copper Question Before Diplomats.

[Canadian Press.] Washington, Oct. 1.—The British Government today, through Ambassador Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, notified the state department that Great Britain would not interfere with shipments of food stuffs from the United States to Holland.

Sir Cecil conferred with state department officials again today. The subject of control by many of those who have signed these petitions is the belief that the admirers are gradually becoming more and more hostile to the government in the council is only for the purpose of ratifying what has already been done by the board of control.

Other members of the board are opposed to the unusually large program of public improvements which the first board of control was able to put through, with an expenditure of $500,000. Should this question feature in the municipal election, it promises to be the important issue, as those opposed and supporting the board of control have large followings.

MISS MARGARET MAYOU'S APPOINTMENT RATIFIED

She Will Succeed Miss Wiseman in Charge of Byron Sanatorium.

The appointment of Miss Margaret Mayou, former lady superintendent of Victoria Hospital to the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium at Byron, has been authorized, and Miss Mayou will arrive in London shortly to assume her new charge. Miss Wiseman, the retiring lady superintendent, whose resignation has been accepted by the board of directors of the institution, is leaving the city for Toronto.

Miss Mayou has been connected with a Chicago hospital since severing her connection with Victoria Hospital here. She was in charge of the nursing staff at the staff are not thought probable.

$25,000,000 IN GOLD BEING SENT TO OTTAWA

First Shipment From New York Is $5,000,000—Exchange Declines.

[Canadian Press.] New York, Oct. 1.—The first shipment of gold to Ottawa, Canada, for account of the $100,000,000 gold pool, was made today, when $5,000,000 in coin and bars were taken from the sub-treasury and assay office. It is understood that the similar amount will be forwarded to-morrow or early next week. It is the purpose of the managers of the fund to ship at least $25,000,000 by the middle of the month.

There was a further decline in exchange on London today, in consequence of the coming gold transfer. With cables at $4.99, and demand a cent under that quotation, exchange now is $5.05 under its high rates of the early week.

FEAST OF TABERNACLES

Orthodox Hebrews Will Start on Sunday to Celebrate It.

The Jewish day of atonement closed last evening about six o'clock. Services were held almost continuously in the two local synagogues beginning at 6:30 in the morning. The day of atonement is observed with a service of prayer and fasting. During the entire 24 hours the orthodox Hebrew is expected neither to eat or drink. Next Sunday evening commences the Succas or feast of the Tabernacles. Tabernacles, or Succas, are erected outside the homes of the people and here they are supposed to eat and sleep during the duration of the feast. Services are held in the evening from 7 to 12 o'clock Sunday evening, from 7 to 12 Monday morning, and from 7 to 12 Tuesday morning, the feast lasting for two days. It recommends the Sunday evening following, but without special synagogue services, the second week's feast being usually given over to general rejoicing, feasting and dancing.

DYNAMITE TSING-TAU IF ALL DEFENCE FAILS

Germany Will Also Blow Up Other Bridges If Necessary.

[Canadian Press.] Peking, Oct. 1.—A German report from Tsing-Tau, the fortified position of Kiaochow territory, sent by carrier pigeon to Tai-Nan, in Shan-Tung Province, and thence to Peking by telegraph, indicates that the German retreat from the second line of defences around Tsing-Tau, which took place last Monday, was due to the overwhelming numerical strength of the Japanese.

Continuing, this report says that the Japanese losses were 1,700 killed and 800 wounded, a result of the fire from German warships, coupled with the use of machine guns on land. The German losses are described as small.

At the German legation in Peking it was said today that Germans caused the Japanese to continue their westward movement. The dynamite also all the Government buildings at Tsing-Tau, when a further defence of the place became impossible, by the Japanese.

ON FIRE TWICE

Motor Delivery Van Almost Destroyed in Second Blaze.

Twice in the course of an hour last night a motor delivery wagon belonging to M. Jackson, dry cleaner, caught fire. The second blaze put the clutch and magnet out of business, and Milton Jackson, the owner, estimates that the damage amounts to about $300. The loss is covered by insurance.

The first conflagration occurred on Prospect avenue, when the driver, Henry Ashton, after delivering some goods, attempted to restart his engine. The motor backfired and started a blaze, which Ashton, with the assistance of some bystanders, managed to subdue after considerable damage had been done.

A message to Hendrick's garage brought out another car to tow the disabled machine into the city, but the procession hardly had started when, as Mount Pleasant Hill was being negotiated, the fire broke out a second time. The fire brigade was called, but some delay resulting from inability on the part of a passing automobile which volunteered its services as messenger to discover an alarm box until it reached Arden and Ridout streets, and before the department could arrive the scene the crippled car was almost destroyed.

1914 FALL FAIRS BIGGER AND BETTER

Exhibits and Attendance Ahead of Any Previous Years.

KEEN RIVALRY HELPFUL Raises Standard of Cereals and Live Stock Through-out Country.

The fall fairs this year seem to have not only larger crowd but better and more numerous exhibits. All the fall exhibitions have increased attendance this year, while the quality of the exhibits, from grain to live stock, has increased in the last few years, raising the standard of the fairs materially.

The number of farmers who are attending the fairs in other districts beside their own is surprising. A number of farmers who were seen at the Thorndale fair on Tuesday, were at Glencoe yesterday, taking in the Moss and Edith exhibition and comparing the grain, roots and live stock raised in these townships, with those grown in West Nisour.

The healthy rivalry displayed at these fall fairs is helping a lot to make the quality of cereals better, while it is also stimulating to the live stock and horse industry. The farmers' wives also take great delight and pride in winning a prize for their cooking and fancy work. There is as much in fancy work displayed at a small country fair as there is at some of the larger exhibitions, and needless to say there is quality with the quantity.

LONDON, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1.

"A PEOPLE that is sober and industrious, and in many ways we like to think akin to ourselves, a people that makes beautiful music and stands in the forefront when science is to be applied in all the arts of peace, a people that produced more than a century ago the greatest of all modern authors, stands before the world today in the light of an aggressor, shamelessly breaking faith and pitilessly harrying innocent and weaker neighbors. This is the curse of a false standard. The flag that this people is fighting for does not represent this people, but rather the enemy, the parasite, the outgrowth of a 'divine right,' the obsolete ideal of a 'divine government. Rightly or wrongly, William II. is quoted as calling Count Zeppelin the greatest of all living inventors, and it is this Zeppelin whose aircraft hovers above houses where women and children are lying in a sleep broken only by death. Looking ahead, one realizes that a people falsely represented by this Williams and its Zeppelins will once again be loved as home makers and lovers of the beautiful. But what wonder is it that today men fear Germany's success wherever Christianity is reached, wherever mankind is emerging from the brute?"
—Collier's Weekly.

THE APPROVAL OF THE WORLD.

THAT Great Britain has the approval of the world in this war is a fact that will give strength and success in the fight. The approval of the people of the United States is the best proof that Great Britain's fight is one for freedom, equality and justice. There is in the United States an understanding of the meaning of true freedom denied to most European countries. All European countries have lived in an atmosphere of war, not, as in America, in an atmosphere of peace.

It has been said of the United States: "Here the free spirit of mankind at length throws its last fetters off; and who shall place a limit to the giant's unchained strength, or curb his swiftness in the forward race? Far, like the comet, way through infinite space, stretches the long, unthought path of light into the depth of ages. We may trace distant the brightening glory of its flight, till the receding rays are lost to human sight."

What a difference there is between the freedom of Germany and the freedom of America. If Germany could throw off the fetters of militarism and live as free from the terrors of war, as the Germans in the United States do, what a change for the better in their lives. And not only in their lives, but all the nations. If Great Britain, Germany and the United States entered into a treaty after the war is over, such as that proposed by ex-President Taft, that all difficulties between the nations whether involving questions of honor or not, be referred to arbitration. It would secure the peace of the world. Some objection may be taken that Germany might not respect the treaty, but Germany will most likely be a republic when the war is over, and the ruling power become the people, and not the war lords. In every country where the people rule peace is favored, and no better instances can be given than the British Isles and America. The people rule in England as well as in America, and the Germans in both Canada and the United States are respected by every other nationality, and are quite as strongly in favor of peace as are those born in America. If they had the power to decide, there would have been no war.

A CONTRAST.

WHEN the war is over, Britain will continue to be the mistress of the seas and the protector of the commerce of the world. What England has done for the good of the world already on the seas since hostilities began cannot be estimated. If Germany's conduct on land can be taken as evidence of what her conduct on the seas would be, if she had the power Britain has, the mind cannot conceive how horrible it would be. It is no wonder that the world is taking the British side. It is not many years since there was a protest against the employment of Indians in warfare, but what in all the world's history approaches the atrocity of the Kaiser's conduct towards Belgium? There has been murder thousands of times over and brutality worse even than murder. Little boys' hands cut off so that they could not carry arms. And all this against a little nation—Belgium, that not only was not concerned in the war, but whose neutrality, by solemn agreement, the German Emperor was as much bound to respect as was England. What a contrast there is between the Kaiser's honor and that of Sir Edward Grey. The whole British nation is at war to carry out honorably its obligation to Belgium, and because the British nation is so engaged the strongest battalions have been levelled off Germany against the British forces, which are made to bear the brunt of the battle. The Kaiser had no reason to attack Belgium. He has equally no reason to attack England, but apparently the less reason the more hatred.

In private life, it is a common experience to find your bitterest enemies those who have done you wrong, not those to whom you have done wrong. It would appear to apply to nations.

An American senator was asked why he was hated so intensely by a fellow-member. He replied: "I don't know. I never did him any harm. It is probably on account of some low, mean trick he played me twenty years ago that I never heard anything about."

Germany was as much bound to protect Belgium as England was, but the contrast between the manner in which England keeps its agreement and Germany keeps its agreement is as great as the difference between heaven and hell.

AUSTRALIA'S FLEET.

AUSTRALIANS will be more proud than ever of their practical patriotism. In view of the praise they have received for the activities of their fleet in the present crisis. The home fleet which the land of the kangaroo maintains has been in the thick of active service almost since the commencement of hostilities. Its cruisers have been protecting the shores and shipping of Australia and searching for prowling German men-of-war. It has put a number of the enemy's wireless stations out of action, and has conveyed the New Zealand expeditionary force to Samoa and the Australian expedition to the Bismarck Archipelago, which has changed colors since war began.

The fleet of cruisers has proved so useful that a distinct patrol has been assigned to it by the admiralty. Australia has been so confident of its cruisers' ability that it has loaned its Dreadnought to the admiralty. One of its cruisers, the Melbourne, has patrolled over 15,000 miles since the war began.

There were those in Australia who did not believe in an Australian navy. They will be glad to hear it designated, as it has been, an effective branch of the navy in the present circumstances. Australia has proved the case for a colonial fleet.

THE FINAL TOUCH.

COL the Hon. Sam Hughes has sent Canada's contingent across the seas. He has presented them with a farewell address in pamphlet form, and it is presumed that some of the men will read some of the message if time hangs heavily on their hands.

Col. Hughes has his own way of doing things. His latest effort is unique in its originality. In those strenuous six weeks during which the contingent was being gathered, one can almost imagine that the Minister of Militia not only had his bed in the centre of Valcartier camp, but, on occasion, carried it about with him in his armored motor car. The farewell message itself almost intimates this, for it tells how the wooded hills of Quebec were transformed into a modern training camp, and the raw recruits of Canada's "far flung" borders were transformed into perfect soldiers—all in the short space of six weeks. "Soldiers, the world regards you as a marvel," remarks the colonel, as he describes what has been accomplished.

The world will not overlook the fact that most of what was accomplished in six weeks at Valcartier was accomplished through the efforts of the Minister of Militia, no matter how delicately the minister may hint at the achievement. But that a minister of militia could bring about so much and at the same time write and have printed a dainty thousand-word message, filled with war and romance, a combination of prose and poetry, shows what a versatile character the Honorable Sam really is. Neither a Kaiser nor a Kitchener could have done so well. The Kaiser, doubtless, could have referred to the six weeks' feat, and Colonel Sam does not sound unlike Kitchener when he remarks "that you will render a splendid account of yourselves for King and country is certain."

It took the immortal Sam himself, however, to touch the soft pedal, pull out his bandana, and tell the valiant warriors to sing:

"I go, then, sweet lass, to win honor and fame,
And if I should chance to come gloriously home,
I'll bring a heart to thee with love running o'er,
And then I'll leave thee and the homeland no more."

One is almost forced to believe that the farewell message is printed on pink parchment and tied with baby-blue ribbon, and that along with the sabres and bullets in every soldier's outfit will be found a box of lavender talcum powder. If in the case, it will only show how careful the Minister of Militia is about important details.

TWO WARS—TWO CONCLUSIONS.

THERE are two wars in progress, the war on land and the war at sea. Summing the situation up, the field marshal said in his first report: "The strategic position of the British and the allies is such that, whereas a decisive victory to their arms in France would probably be fatal to the enemy, a continuance of resistance by the Anglo-French armies upon such a scale, as to keep in closest grip the enemy's best troops in, if prolonged, lead only to one conclusion, and that conclusion, unless the Kaiser's navy can destroy Great Britain's sea power, is, according to every naval and military expert, this morning, ultimate defeat for Germany."

This clearly states the situation at the present time. The words interjected, "unless the Kaiser's navy can destroy Great Britain's sea power," do not appear to be taken as a serious probability. There is no news from the navy that is not perfectly satisfactory. Britain holds and protects the sea. The navy has done its full duty. It can be relied on when the opportunity comes to destroy the German navy. The war at sea will have a conclusion satisfactory to Great Britain, and the civilized world with Great Britain.

The war on land should end soon in victory for the allied armies. England is in the thickest of the fight, and fighting against superior numbers. A "decisive victory" for the allied armies would be "fatal to the enemy." That would be the quickest way, and each day brings it nearer. There yet remains the defeat of the enemy by "continued resistance" from the allied armies in the "closest grip," with "the enemy's best troops." This means certain victory for the allied armies.

There are many reasons why on land, as well as on sea, the Kaiser should be defeated. This is without counting Russia and Japan, but when these are added, and the enormous Russian army fully at work, there can be no doubt of the final and effectual defeat of the Kaiser. It cannot come too soon for humanity's sake.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Good morning: How many apples have you eaten?

Col. Hughes felt so strongly about it that he verbally kissed each of those soldier boys good-bye.

In that precipitate rush from the gates of Paris the Kaiser's "unlicked cub" "spilled the beans," as it were.

If the Germans cannot lick the French they are determined to prove to the world that they can lick the Belgians, anyway.

The Minister of Militia's farewell message to the Canadian troops was the hand of Sam, but the voice was the voice of Brother James L.

No devastating cyclone, no terrifying earthquake, ever left such a trail of suffering and disaster in its wake as this southerly German army machine.

The Russian army has arranged for its Christmas dinner in Berlin. The Kaiser, having arranged everything in advance, undoubtedly has several alternatives in mind.

Ontario's new Lieutenant-Governor will require a steady head to select a premier out of the present cabinet without getting himself "in wrong." He will probably find the easiest way out of it will be to listen to Ottawa's dictation.

Should Dr. R. A. Pyne become Premier of Ontario, and Dr. John Seath become minister of education, what would become of that text-book on etiquette? There are some people mean enough to say that Dr. Seath has not even read it.

The Kaiser's land has never fostered cricket or other sports. If his subjects are great gymnasts it was only with the idea of making them better soldiers. Without a national line of sports, and a national code for sports, no nation will be truly great.

The Australian navy has put its country on the map as a naval force to be reckoned with. It has done good work in distributing British flags in work in distributing British flags in certain German possessions, and insisting that the standards be floated on the breeze, despite any protests that might be registered.

The Kaiser and his ministry will have to be taught the value of a "scrap of paper" before they are asked to sign a peace treaty. If they go to the King of Belgium on their knees and make amends for the damage done there it may then be time to consider whether they can be trusted with another document.

The Advertiser's information that Hon. Dr. Pyne will be the next Premier came from a Conservative member of the Legislature. In his view the whole thing is now taken for granted in the party. It was not this member, however, who stated that it was a compromise between the strong Hanna and Beck factions. Beck would never sit under Hanna. Hanna would never sit under Beck. Neither of the two might have been the best choice from the standpoint of the province as a whole. Dr. Pyne will not have the hold on the people of Ontario that Sir James Whitney had. The Liberals can afford to sit back and watch the Cabinet work out its destiny.

THE FIRST STRIKE.

[Detroit Free Press.]

Cleopatra was overseeing the construction of her famous needle. Already shining and slim, it rose thirty feet into the mystic eastern air. But suddenly Cleopatra, on the grassy slope where she directed the work started. For though it was yet four skankos from the noon hour the workmen had thrown down their tools and were conversing in little excited groups. Cleopatra saw that. All Bey, the Turkish contractor whom she had imported for the job, had stridden to her side. Accompanying him were Chesa-

HOW A SUBMARINE OPERATES

Everything Depends On the Captain, Who Is Always Flirting With Disaster in Many Ways.

So much has been written concerning what the submarine, by a flight of imagination, may achieve, writes the naval correspondent of the London Morning Post, that most people are somewhat uncertain as to what the submarine actually is and does. To begin with, she is shaped like a cigar, and she carries a tower on her back. Inside the tubular steel hull, valves and tubes and pipes line the ceiling, and in a space so low that the engineers can hardly stand upright, are the internal combustion engines and the electric motors, which drive the vessel forward or back. Below the floor, she is under water. The petrol and stores. Forward are the torpedo tubes. Amidships there projects downwards from the ceiling a thick brass column, ending in a brass cross-piece. This is the base of the periscope. When the boat is submerged and the officer desires to see what is going on above, he sets a hand on each arm of the cross-piece, which is level with his face, and rotates the column, while he looks into the mirror. In the mirror he beholds an image, little and bright, of a section of the sea and sky, and by swinging it round, he can scan the whole circle, reflected in the periscope above, which is the eye of the steel fish. Alongside the periscope is a thin upright ladder, leading through two hatches to the deck of the coming tower, which is raised five or six feet above the hull. The hull is protected by a breast-plate of steel, and is lined with canvas. Here is the wheel, and here, when the vessel is running awash, stand the conning and the quarterdeck. In fine weather and the quarterdeck is not required, but those of the crew who are not required below the conning are dressed in sea-boots, sweaters and rough clothing.

The Captain's Business.
The process of submerging is a process in the brain of the captain. He has a mental picture of what each tank contains, and how much weight is driven out forward or aft at each order, and what will be the effect upon the vessel. He communicates this process to the vessel itself. He must first dip her bows slightly, then her stern, then bows again, and so on. If he makes a mistake the submarine may dive down, and then all is done. The process is repeated in the brain of his lieutenant, who stands near by the captain. In ordinary vessels, if an officer faints or makes a mistake, there are a dozen people who can put it right, because they know what ought to be done. Not so in the submarine. The only person besides the captain who knows what is going on is his lieutenant; but the consequences of a mistake would follow so quickly that the lieutenant could not rectify it. Nor would he know, in all probability that a mistake had been made until the consequences began. The men lying beside the valves know nothing except how to do what they are told. Nor is there any sensation of motion as the boat sinks. It seems to be as still as a drawing-room on shore.

The Attack.
The periscope, which is about the size of a saucer, remains about eighteen inches above the surface, and, viewed from the deck of a ship, all that is seen is a fitting pennant of white spray, and it cuts the waves, like a sea-bird's wing. In any lot it would be almost imperceptible at two or three hundred yards. Upon approaching to attack, the submarine sinks lower and submerges her periscope, so that her captain, looking in the mirror, sees his little and bright picture washed out in green—the green of the water. And from above nothing is visible at all. The submarine is now blind. She can see through water, but she can't see through air. It seems to be as if she were a whale, to be seen by her calculations before he submerged his

What She Does.
The submarine, running awash, forges suddenly onward with a heavy grinding noise, the water lifting and dripping from the gills which project on either side of her snout. Below, the hull is filled with the crashing of the turning engines cranked into the narrow tube of the propeller shaft. The engine is a diesel engine, and is powered by a mixture of sea water and petrol gas, the fatal chlorine mix is formed, and the crew are suffocated.

IN MEMORIAM.
[By Eric Ross-Goulding.]
[Written specially for The Advertiser.]
To those who perished from the tormented cruisers.
Swift, certain, silently, unseen,
Cleaving its way beneath the wave—
Crash!
And now the deep sea waters have
The iron hull which is your grave, z
O sailors brave!
Not as your brothers on the field,
Riding and clashing lance with lance:
No sailors, you had not the chance.
To make the battle give its yield,
O courage is by far too clean,
And cunning marks the coward's tread—
Crash!
The ocean floor is now your bed,
It's flora wreaths each noble head
Of sailors dead!
Not as the soldiers fighting when
A stunning blow is met with blow—
You had no moment's time to show
The valiant souls of valiant men!
Ah, such is war—a devil's trade,
When devilish cunning hopes to gain—
Crash!
But never shall your glory wane,
Brave hearts who rest beneath the main—
O sailors slain!

INDIA'S ENTHUSIASTIC AID.
[London Times.]
In all its long annals the House of Commons has never been more moved than it was yesterday upon the reading of the wonderful message from the Viceroy of India. The Indian Empire has overwhelmed the British nation by the completeness and the unanimity of its enthusiastic aid.

THE OUTSTANDING FACT.
[Halifax Chronicle.]
And what about the fact of all outstanding facts in this struggle—that the world, led by the British Empire, must conquer or perish? Can anyone seriously believe for a moment in the ultimate triumph of semi-insane, medieval militarism over the assembled powers of human justice and freedom? If so, such a one is not to be reasoned with and is welcome to his silly fears. This war can have but one end, come it sooner or later. Britain and her allies will once more save the world.

ONLY A BRITON'S WORD.
[London Chronicle.]
Will someone kindly translate the following story into German and then have distributed in leaflet form to the war lords' ministers and soldiers? It is a passage occurring in Sir William Fraser's "Words on Wellington," and its message will strike you as being curiously up-to-date for its five-score years. "Before the Battle of Orthez, the bridge over the Gave de Pau had been passed by the French army. The Duke of Wellington sent a note to Marshal Soult saying that a battle would, of course, take place on the following day, but that, as it was desirable in the interests of the inhabitants of Orthez not to destroy the bridge, he promised that if Marshal Soult would abstain from blowing it up no soldier of the British army should cross it. Soult trusted him, and the bridge is today intact."

BRITAIN NAMES PORTS OF ENTRANCE TO INDIA

RUSSIA WILL GIVE UP VODKA DRINKING

Prohibition During War Has Brought Improved Condition in Country.

SO WILL BE CONTINUED

Self-Respect of the Peasants Takes Place of Hopeless Indolence.

[Canadian Press.] PETROGRAD (via London), Sept. 30.—10 p.m.—Minister of Finance P. Bark today received an order to the effect that the prohibition of the sale of vodka shall be continued indefinitely after the end of the war. This order is based principally on the tremendously improved condition of the country since the Emperor issued the edict prohibiting traffic in this liquor.

Visitors arriving from Southern Russia say there is such a change in that region that the country is hardly recognizable. Peasants who before the war had fallen into hopeless indolence and depravity, already have emerged into self-respecting citizens. The effect on character is already visible in neatly brushed clothes, instead of the former ragged and slovenly attire. Huts which were formerly dilapidated and allowed to go without repairs are now kept in first-class condition.

Peasants Save Money. The towns have become more orderly and the peasants indulge in wholesome amusements. These people now save 50 per cent of the earnings which formerly were spent in drink, and they have increased their earning capacity through sobriety. This extra money is now devoted to the necessities and comforts of life.

This startling regeneration of the peasantry is, in the opinion of the Russian authorities, likely to have an important effect upon the social and economic conditions of all Russia. A change in the large cities also is noticeable. Liquor still is sold in first-class cafes, but these are practically empty. The Nevsky Prospekt, once famous for its gay midnight life, is now quiet, without a sign of revelry.

CONVENT, HOSPITAL AND CHURCH ARE SHELLED BY THE GERMANS

LONDON, Sept. 30.—10:20 p.m.—[Malines has been recaptured by the Belgians," says the Antwerp correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Company.]

He continues: "The Germans today renewed the bombardment of Lierre, a manufacturing town nine miles southeast of Antwerp, and Heyst-Op-Den-Berg, a town near Lierre. In Lierre, the tower of the church of St. Gommarius, the convent of the Blanc Sisters, and some houses have been struck by shells, and four women have been wounded. Most of this district has been completely deserted by the civilian population.

The correspondent also says that four wounded men and two women were killed by a shell which pierced the roof of a hospital at Lierre yesterday, during the German bombardment. The ward in which the wounded men lay was completely wrecked.

The church of St. Gommarius, one of the finest late Gothic churches in Belgium, was begun in 1425 and completed in 1527. Recently it was restored. Three of its fine stained glass windows were presented by Emperor Maximilian.

Found No Enemy There and Burned Up the Place.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, Sept. 30.—6:33 p.m.—The correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company at Amsterdam says that a dispatch has been received there from Berlin stating that the German general staff announces that the surgeon-general of the army has sent the following telegram to Emperor William:

"A few days ago a military hospital at Orchies, France, was attacked by Franc-tireurs (irregular sharpshooters). An expedition sent out to Orchies on Sept. 24, composed of one battalion of the landwehr, encountered superior hostile forces. The Germans were obliged to retreat, losing 28 dead and 35 wounded. The next day Bavarian troops were sent out, but found no enemy at Orchies. The inhabitants had fled the town, which has now been destroyed by the Germans."

The following official dispatch has been received by wireless from Berlin:

"The German military governor of Brussels has announced the arrest of Burgomaster Max by public poster, as follows:

"I have found myself obliged to suspend Burgomaster Max from his office on account of his irreconcilable attitude. He is now in honorable custody in a fortress."

RUSSIANS DEFEAT BOTH AUSTRIANS AND GERMANS

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, Sept. 30.—In a dispatch from Rome the correspondent of the Central News says that the Russian army, which has been surrounded near Douklo, and that its defeat is complete. All the food, ammunition and war material, which was being conveyed back to Austria, has fallen into the Russian hands. The captures included 500 military automobiles.

The Rome correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company says that it is officially announced, in advices from Petrograd, that the Austrian province of Galicia is now completely freed of Austrians, the last remnants of their troops having sought refuge in the Carpathians.

GERMAN FORCES REPULSED. The fighting along the East Prussian frontier, in which the Russian have been successful in extending their front 150 versts (99 miles) has resulted in the repulse of all the German attempts to force a passage of the River Niemen. This statement is contained in a dispatch from the Petrograd correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company.

A message from Maastricht, according to a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam, says that 5,000 Austrian troops have arrived at Aix-la-Chapelle from France on the way to the Austro-Russian front.

The clearing of Galicia of Austrian troops is taken to mean that the field armies of Austria have either gone into the fortresses of Przemyel and Cracow or retreated to the south and west.

The Russians have come across the country in great parallel lines and making Przemyel, have swept the country clear as far as a line drawn from Douklo, in the south, to the neighborhood of Kzesow, in the north, while other forces have pushed their way through the passes of the Carpathians into Hungary. They have only to go a little further to get possession of the railway that runs from Sander, through the mountains to Lubau, and thence through the heart of the country to Budapest.

CAN UNITE ARMIES.

If they accomplish this they will be able to join hands with the army which is approaching Cracow. According to Petrograd correspondents, they intend to treat Cracow as they did Przemyel, and continue their march into Silesia. In the meantime, they have for a week been fighting the Germans along the river Niemen, between Kovno and Grodno, and have thus far held them in check, while reinforcements have been reaching them.

The battle is described as being a furious one, but no details have been allowed to leak out. The German officer in sending a strong force in this direction is to attempt to the railway line from Warsaw, through Vilna and Grodno, to Petrograd.

War Causes Scarcity of Skilled Workers

The armies at the front contain thousands of the skilled artisans of Europe. Many of these will never return to resume their occupations. Skilled mechanics will be in great demand when the war is over. Canadian industries will no longer have the crowded European labor market to draw from for her skilled workers. The industries of this country and United States will have to depend on the local supply of workers. Our industries must be conducted with efficiency and skill if they are to successfully compete.

Technical training has revolutionized the industries of Great Britain and Europe. The workers of Canada should look ahead and prepare themselves for the opportunities which will be presented in all of the leading industries, when the war is concluded and normal trade conditions are resumed. During the coming winter the factories and most lines will not be working overtime. Most of the workmen will have some time on their hands, part of which should be spent in directly preparing themselves for advancement in their own calling.

"In war prepare for peace," is advice which every worker should take to himself. The technical classes of the Industrial and Art Schools helped many of the workers in the city. The thoroughly practical and up-to-date courses for men and boys cover practically every line of industrial work in the city.

The fall term opens next Monday. Registration will take place all this week in the Alexandra School. The principal will be in the school and evenings from 7:30 to 9:20 to meet applicants.

Annoying Residents To Get an Excuse For Destroying City.

[Canadian Press.]

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Chafing under the intentional provocations of the Germans, the residents of Brussels are growing hourly more surly, according to a courier who reached London today from the Belgian capital, which place he left yesterday morning. He reports that there have been several riots and that although the Germans threatened to shoot the ringleaders, they refrained from doing so after some deliberation.

However, the Belgians give ample evidence that sooner or later they will rise up against the overbearing enemy in their midst, and it is the hope of the Germans, according to the courier, that they will riot on a large scale, for that would give the enemy a longed-for reason for setting the torch to the city.

BURNED TOWN TO COVER MISDEEDS

Germans Pillaged Aerschot For Three Weeks Previously.

LONDON, Oct. 1.—2:50 a.m.—The fourth report of the Belgian commission of inquiry into the alleged German atrocities just issued, says a Bordeaux dispatch to the Central News, deals with the conduct of the German soldiers at Aerschot.

The report declares that the Germans pillaged Aerschot for three weeks, describes alleged scenes of violence, and asserts that the Germans burned the town to hide the proofs.

REGAL On Your Shoes Means Quality In Them.

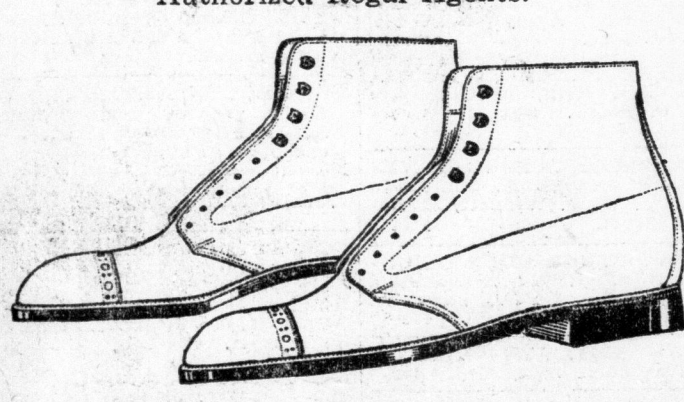

Some names are known to stand for a standard. The mere mark is a merit mark. "Regal" on a shoe says everything and leaves nothing to add.

Do you wear Regal Shoes or nameless, famous shoes? You pay no more for a Regal—you get much more in wearability and leather sturdiness, as well as in pre-advanced style.

Dozens of new Regal models ready here for your choosing in every form that's "good form."

A Father's Soliloquy--No. 1 The Boy's Future

"His future prosperity will demand more knowledge than I had the opportunity of acquiring in my youth.
 Competition in his day will be much keener than it is right now, and goodness knows it's been enough.
 I have felt the need of a university training, again and again. His success in life will demand it.
 How best insure his future?"

A ten or twelve year endowment policy in The London Life Insurance Company would make my dreams, regarding his success, come true whether I live or die. The cost would be small—I would never miss the annual payments.
 And The London Life makes about all the profit a solid and safely-managed financial concern can make."

AUSTRIAN PAPERS TELL OF GERMAN VICTORIES

Peasants Believe Paris Is Taken, But Others Are Dissatisfied.

[Canadian Press.]

Venice, via Paris, Oct. 1.—2:35 a.m.—

The Vienna papers daily are publishing reports of German and Austrian successes in the eastern and western theatres of war.

The Neues Wiener Journal declares that the German troops are going from victory to victory, and that the great French army will soon be forced to retreat before the irresistible German advance.

In the Austrian provinces the press is even more optimistic, and especially in Southern Austria, where the Slav journals print such extraordinarily glowing reports that the peasants believe the Germans already are in Paris.

WHEAT.

Chicago, Oct. 1.—Sharply higher prices at Paris had a bullish effect on the wheat market here. The stock of breadstuffs in France was said to be rapidly decreasing, and reports of the serious crop damage in the northern portion of that country were confirmed.

The sale of 10,000 barrels of flour at St. Louis for export to one of the belligerents, and the bulk of the wheat to the belligerents, unchanged to 1/2c higher, the market made a material advance all around.

NEW CALEDONIA WELCOMES BRITISH

Arrival of New Zealand Expeditionary Force Arouses Great Enthusiasm.

"VIVE L'ANGLETERRE"

Cry of Populace of French Pacific Town—Germany Detested.

[By Mail.]

Noumea, New Caledonia, Sept. 2.—

(Correspondence of the Canadian Press.)

The New Zealand expeditionary force, 1,500 strong, which subsequently seized German Samoa, arrived here August 21

in the steamers Moeraki and Monowai, which had been converted into troopships, and had left Wellington August 14.

The troops were very much welcomed by the British and French residents of the town, and the following day, one of the transports had the misfortune to run upon a reef, where she remained 36 hours, but eventually she was towed off by the tugboat.

Colliers with Westport, N. Z., coal had arrived here several days before the transports and warships.

Tremendous Enthusiasm.

The war vessels were all cleared for action. The populace of this little French Pacific town assembled en masse on the quay, when we reached there, and the vessels were in the offing, and there was tremendous enthusiasm when the French cruiser cast her anchors.

The British warships, however, were the same. The usual salutes were fired, and everywhere the Union Jack of Great Britain was flown over public buildings, stores and private residences.

Afternoon the Moeraki and Monowai came alongside the quay, and the enthusiasm was, if anything, greater than before.

"Vive l'Angleterre."

"Vive l'Angleterre, the ally of France, of Russia and of Belgium, who is assisting in such a powerful way to defeat the invader, the spoiler of peoples, the violator of civilization and peace," said the local newspaper, La France Australe, with characteristic spirit.

"Vive l'Angleterre. That is the cry which rises instinctively from all lips in the presence of various events which are now taking place in New Caledonia, thanks to Great Britain, our ally, is coming to life, and will see further unforgettable patriotic hours."

After the British warships had left, the paper says, "Where are we going? We cannot say, but we shall probably be not far from the back across the river and take up positions on the opposite heights. The bridges were mined, but were left standing in order to deceive the Germans into thinking that the French were retreating hastily."

Masacre Begun.

The ruse succeeded. The Germans advanced across the bridges in close formation. When several German regiments had crossed, the French blew up the bridges and the French artillery opened fire on the German columns, which retreated hastily to the river, only to find the bridges gone.

The French regiments then advanced with quick-fire and the merciless machine guns, and the merciless machine guns threw down their arms and attempted to swim the river, and large numbers were drowned. When nightfall came the French brought up searchlights and continued the work of carnage. The artillery threw shells at the rate of a dozen rounds a minute into the German ranks and varied its tactics by throwing incendiary shells into the forest, where part of the German force had taken refuge. The burning woods lit up the whole front of fifteen miles.

"In the morning an armistice of two hours was granted to allow the Germans to bury their dead. The French had suffered the loss of only a handful."

FRENCH RESERVISTS RECEIVING A REST

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, Oct. 1.—3:30 a.m.—It is officially announced that the reserve territorial and men of the auxiliary service of the north of France, who were withdrawn from that section at the time of the German invasion, while others were sent back home because they were not needed, now also have been sent home temporarily.

ONLY SIXTEEN, GIRL VERY SICK

Tells How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

New Orleans, La.—"I take pleasure in writing these lines to express my thanks to you, for the medicine you sent me only 16 years ago, and which has done so much for me. I have been a very sick girl, but I have improved wonderfully since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and am now looking like a healthy girl."

A thousand times, my dear friend, I thank you for the medicine you sent me. I have been a very sick girl, but I have improved wonderfully since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and am now looking like a healthy girl."

Amelia Jaquillard, 2961 Thelottoula street, New Orleans, La.

There is nothing that teaches more than experience. Therefore, such letters from girls who have suffered and were restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be a lesson to others. The same remedy is within reach of all.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

GENERAL'S DOGGEDNESS

French Took Bloody Revenge, During Retreat, For the Battle of Sedan.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Oct. 1.—3:37 a.m.—The correspondent of the Telegraph at Petrograd, telegraphing regarding the operations in Russian Poland, near the East Prussian border, says: "The triangle formed by joining Stankin, Augustow and Osovets is little more than a vast swamp, making military operations difficult, even in the best weather. Rain has been falling heavily for the past two days, but the Russians, nevertheless, are pushing on determinedly."

"The recent fighting has been sanguinary, two German divisions having been destroyed in the battle of Drenth."

"The Polish peasants are extremely bitter against the Germans and this feeling has been increased by contact with German troops."

A Grim Joke.

As an instance, the Germans everywhere pretended to pay for supplies with documents written in German, which the peasants do not understand. When translated, the peasants found that these papers had inscribed thereon that 'whoever presents this at the end of the war will be hanged.'

"There has probably been sniping by the civilian population, as the bodies of six peasants were found hanging to a tree in a Polish town a few days ago. Their fellow townsmen vowed to have revenge, and two days later a German scouting party found the bodies

CAR SHOPS EMPLOYEES GIVE ONE DAY'S PAY

450 Men by Standing Vote Unanimously Decide to Help Canadian Patriotic Fund.

Four hundred and fifty employees of the Grand Trunk car shops, at a meeting held yesterday noon, unanimously decided by a standing vote amid loud cheers to devote one day's pay each to the Canadian Patriotic Relief Fund.

The men were called together by T. Treleven, master car builder, who read to them a communication received from the executive committee of officers and employees of the Grand Trunk at Montreal regarding a voluntary contribution being raised by His Royal Highness, the Governor-General, towards the relief of families of those who have enlisted in the Canadian contingent for service abroad and also those of the British, French, Belgian and Russian reservists who have joined the regiments or in such other direction for the relief of distress caused by the war may determine.

Many of the employees of the car shops have already contributed to local funds of similar purpose.

MUNICIPAL GARBAGE COLLECTION BEGINS

City Takes Over Contractor W. J. Boss' Equipment and Starts Today.

The outfit used by Contractor W. J. Boss in the collection of garbage was yesterday afternoon when Mayor Graham, Controllers Rose and Moore and Aldermen McDonald, Tancock, Wilson, City Clerk Baker and Garbage Superintendent W. C. Dodd went to the barns at Cheapside and Adelaide streets and accepted the property.

Commencing today the city will operate the collection of garbage on a municipal ownership basis with Superintendent Dodd in charge as heretofore.

Mr. Boss has not yet received the purchase price of his harness, horses and contract, amounting to $7,000. It is understood that this will be paid over to him in the course of a few days.

The city officials are satisfied that they engineered a good bargain for the city.

Voice of the People

MR. KOHL DECLAINS.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Reports are being circulated that I got into trouble on the market and was ordered by a policeman to leave the city. I would not pay any attention to this had not this report been freely circulated throughout the township.

This is to say that if I can trace to any person a repetition "that I got into trouble on the public market in the City of London, and was ordered by a policeman to leave the city," I will instruct for damages against such a person. I never in my life got into trouble on the market, or any other place, and the report is a slanderous one.

Will you please pay attention to this and give this space in your valuable paper?

Yours truly,
MAX KOHL,
Bryanston, P.O., Ont.

WILL RESIDE IN LONDON

[Special to The Advertiser.]
HYDE PARK, Sept. 30.—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Hyde Park, was the scene of a very pretty wedding last evening when their eldest daughter, Mabel, was united in marriage to Mr. George May, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel May, concessionaire of London Township. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Adam Irwin, of the Presbyterian Church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Wilson, uncle of the bride.

The bride was given away by her father who was gowned in pale blue silk. Miss Effie Wilson, her sister, acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. Archie May, groom's man.

After the wedding ceremony and the congratulations, guests numbering about 40 were invited to the dining room to partake of a splendid breakfast. Later in the evening the happy couple left for their new home in London.

DEPOSED SULTAN OUT AGAINST GERMAN ACTS

BORDEAUX, Sept. 30.—Abdul Aziz, the deposed Sultan of Morocco, has added his name to the list of those protesting against the reported atrocities committed by the Germans in the invasion of France and Belgium.

"I learn," he said, "from the papers the progress of events. Above all, I admire French patriotism and the glorious conduct of the French troops. I am particularly glad to know that the Moroccan troops serving under the French flag are doing their duty."

"The Foreign Minister, M. Delcasse, is a very fine man, and I am happy to have had a long talk with him."

This gives you, at a cost of only 4 cents, 16 ounces of better cough syrup than you could get for $2.50. Takes but a few minutes to prepare. Full directions with Pinex. Tastes good and never spoils.

You will be pleasantly surprised to note how quickly it loosens dry, hoarse or tight coughs, and heals the inflamed membrane in a painful cough. It also stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine essence, rich in vitamin, which is so healing to the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, be sure and ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces Pinex," and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Company, Toronto, Ont.

WANT SIX LICENSES FLOATING MINES CUT OFF IN LONDON

Temperance People of City Planning Active Campaign For This Year.

Will Name The Hotels But They Will Not Be Specified in the Formal Petition for Reduction.

The temperance people of the city are determined to do their utmost to secure a reduction of the number of hotel licenses in London and are planning a vigorous campaign to that end.

The first step will be the preparation of a petition, which it is proposed to present to the city council on November 1, asking for the cancellation of six licenses. The petition will be prepared at a meeting of the executive committee of the Middlesex Temperance Association on Friday, and if the necessary number of signatures can be obtained, a vote will be taken at the beginning of the new year.

Particular Hotels Aimed At. Although the petition will not specify any particular hotels, the members of the association when they go before the council, will name the six which they regard as having a harmful influence in the city.

The signatures to the petition to make it effective must number at least 10 per cent of the number of those eligible to vote at the last municipal election. Until this has been presented to the council no active campaign will be commenced, but preparations will be made so as to immediately after this has been done propagandist work may be begun.

MINISTERS PRAY FOR SUCCESS OF BRITAIN

Also For Austrian and German War Sufferers—Rev. F. S. Assiter at Alliance.

Prayers, not only for the success of Britain in the fight against German despotism, but for the people of Austria and Germany who are suffering distress as the result of the Titanic struggle, were offered at the ministerial meeting of prayer held in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium yesterday.

The speaker of the day was Rev. G. P. Assiter, pastor of Dundas Street Christian Church. Taking as his text the verse, "We cried to God in the battle, and he was entreated of them," he said, in part:

"In the battle referred to it is said that 'it was of God,' and that he helped the Israelites. This suggests to me the fact that one must not rule God out of human affairs, such as the great conflict that is now raging in Europe."

"History to Repeat Itself. Ancient kings, as their rulers became boastful of their might, and forgot God. If we read the signs of the times aright, history is about to repeat itself. We are here to pray. What for? That right may prevail, and we believe that Britain's hands are clean in the matter, and we may, with confidence, pray for success to attend the British arms on land and sea."

"But we must go further, and pray for those who are enemies. Look at the magnitude of the war, and the pitiful distress already in evidence. Lord Rosebery says that this is the first war of nations. This suggests to me the fact that one must not rule God out of human affairs, such as the great conflict that is now raging in Europe."

CRIPPLED WITH RHEUMATISM

And Skeptical After Trying Many Medicines—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Cured Him.

When the kidneys fail to purify the blood the poisons left in the system cause pain and suffering, such as backache, lumbago and rheumatism. Read how this skeptic was cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Mr. F. W. Brown, Kingsbury, Que., writes: "I have been completely cured of backache and lame back by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I also recommended the pills to a man who was a cripple from rheumatism. He tried nearly everything on earth. Finally he consented to try them, and to his surprise was greatly benefited in the first week, and the pains left his legs until he was so supple he could walk without pain or difficulty."
