GERMANY DENIES BELGIUM PEACE OFFER

BRITISH CASUALTIES HEAVY IN SEVERE SEPTEMBER BATTLE, OVER HUNDRED THOUSAND; LESS THAN IN SOMME FIGHT

SEPTEMBER CASUALTIES:

Officers Killed	636
Men Killed	18,302
Men Wounded, Missing	83,509

London, Sept. 29.—British casualties reported during the month of September totalled 104,598, divided as follows:

Officers killed or died of wounds, 636; men, 18,302.

Officers wounded or missing, 2,151; men, 83,509.

The severity of the fighting in which the British have been engaged during September is indicated not only by the total casualties of more than 104,000 but by comparison with the August figures, which were 59,811. Casualties in some of the late August fighting in Flanders are naturally included in the September total, but this may well be offset by late September casualties not reported in time to be covered in the figures announced today. The total compares favorably, however, with the figures for September, 1916, the third month of the battle of the Somme, when the casualties were 119,549.

DRAMATIC DUEL BETWEEN FLIERS ABOVE CANUCKS

BY STEWART LYON
(Special Correspondent of the Canadian Press in France).

Canadian Army Headquarters, Sept. 29.—The effectiveness of the gunfire directed at German working parties on the Mericourt line, the firing being guided by airplane and balloon observers, led to dramatic attacks last night.

The first came shortly after 5 o'clock, when an enemy airman suddenly darted out from among fleecy clouds in the upper air and directed a burst of machine gun fire upon a balloon, the occupant of which was spotting for our guns at great altitude. The explosive bullets used set the balloon afire. The observer unhooked his parachute and jumped clear.

Attacker Wounded.

The anti-aircraft guns opened on the bold enemy airman and, it is thought, wounded him, for on his way back to his own lines, his plane behaved as if guided by a semi-conscious man. The whole incident did not occupy three minutes. The second raid had a less satisfactory result for the raider. He, too, darted out from a concealing haze just before sunset, firing as he came, like a cowboy on a rampage shooting up a western town. The balloon caught fire and the observer jumped and came slowly to earth buoyed up by his parachute. There the similarity to the earlier raid ended. An artillery observation airplane nearby hastened up, and the occupant, outclassed though he was by the fast fighting German single-seater, tackled the foe. He was put out of action almost at once by a volley that injured the mechanism of his plane and forced him to volplane to ground.

Downed By Britisher.

The Hun seemed for the moment to be undisputed victor in the duel, which was witnessed by thousands of men in our own camps below. As he turned to make off in an easterly direction, a British fighting plane came up from the south at an incredible speed, and wheeling above the German, opened fire. The Hun airman sought to manoeuvre for position, but before he could swing so that he could use his gun, his plane was riddled and he was shot through both wrists.

With splendid pluck he controlled his falling plane and came to earth without further injury. His reception was not cordial but Canadian soldiers do not fight against wounded men. The decorations he wore showed that the kaiser had done him much honor for his aerial exploits.

Speaking to his captors later he said that Guynemer, the famous French aviator, was killed in battle with a German plane and buried where he fell just behind the enemy front line. The failure of this crack airman evidently dampened the ardor of the Hun airmen, for the balloons have been unmolested today.

THE WEATHER

TOMORROW—SHOWERS; COOLER.

Toronto, Sept. 29—8 a.m.

Forecasts.

Today—Winds becoming strong southerly, shifting to westerly and northwesterly, mostly fair today; showers this evening and tonight.

Sunday—Strong west to northwest winds, some scattered showers, but generally fair and cooler.

Temperatures.

The following were the highest and lowest temperatures for the 24 hours previous to 8 a.m. today:

Stations.	High.	Low.	Weather.
Victoria	62	45	Fair
Calgary	64	32	Clear
Port Arthur	60	44	Cloudy
Port Stanley	62	50	Clear
Buffalo	60	54	Fair
Toronto	68	49	Clear
Kingston	68	50	Cloudy
Ottawa	64	46	Fair

Weather Notes.

A depression is developing over Lake Superior, while the tropical storm has now reached Alabama. Rain has been general in Eastern Quebec and over the maritime provinces, and a few scattered showers have occurred from Manitoba to Ontario.

Bruce Taylor Likely To Be New Principal Of Queen's University

Montreal, Sept. 29.—The Rev. R. Bruce Taylor, minister of St. Paul's Church, Montreal, has been offered, and has, it is stated, accepted the position of principal and vice-chancellor of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., in succession to the Very Rev. Daniel Miner Gordon, D.D., LL.D., C.M.G., who is retiring from the position owing to bad health.

He has spent six months at the front as chaplain of the 42nd Highlanders.

I. W. W. PLOTTED TO SEIZE INDUSTRIES, TAKING ADVANTAGE OF NATION'S CRISIS

Offences Charged Against the Leaders Next in Gravity to Treason.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—The nine leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World who were arrested in Chicago last night on indictments charging seditious conspiracy, returned, by a federal grand jury against 166 members of the organization throughout the United States, were still in jail today, having been unable to furnish bonds.

The United States district attorney's office, in a statement today, said:

"The propaganda of the defendants consist of assertions that 'we are going to take possession of the industries of this country, first because we want them; second, because we are in this crisis possessed of the power to put it over. In addition, there is running through all these endeavors a pronounced opposition to the war."

Statements by federal officials that the offences charged are "next in gravity to treason," and that all of the 166 persons indicted would probably be brought to Chicago for trial, added interest to the case. Papers seized in the raids have revealed, according to federal agents, the existence of a definite and far-reaching conspiracy to embarrass the Government and also show that Chicago was the headquarters of the plot.

ANARCHIST WORKERS OF ARGENTINA CALL A GENERAL STRIKE TO FORCE ON REVOLUTION

Situation At Buenos Ayres Is Rapidly Growing More Chaotic.

Buenos Ayres, Sept. 29.—A general revolutionary strike throughout Argentina was declared today by the anarchistic workmen, the strike to include all unions belonging to their federation. The Socialistic workmen's unions have refused to join in the movement.

The only street car line in Buenos Ayres that had not been affected by the strike that has been in progress in the city was given until 11 o'clock tonight to comply with the workers' demands.

WHOLESALE HANGINGS BY THE GERMANS AT RIGA

London, Sept. 29.—According to a Central News despatch from Petrograd 150 Russians belonging to various Socialist, Left and other political organizations have been hanged by the Germans since their occupation of Riga.

LOCAL TEMPERATURES.

Following were the highest and lowest temperatures recorded in London during the 24 hours previous to 8 o'clock last night: Highest, 66; lowest, 45.

The official temperatures for the 12 hours previous to 8 a.m. today were: Highest, 68; lowest, 49.

HUN HANGARS, BASE DOCKS WELL BOMBED

Seven Tons of Explosives Were Dropped on German Works.

London Sept. 29—British aviators dropped seven tons of explosives in attacks Thursday night on German military establishments in Belgium. The following official report was given out today by the admiralty:

"On the night of September 27-28 there were bombing raids by naval aircraft on the following objectives. The lock gates at Zeebrugge, the St. Denis Westrem airdrome and the Houttave airdrome.

"The bomb dropping at Zeebrugge appeared to be good, while at Houttave bombs fell among hangars and huts on the southwest side of the airdrome. Seven tons of explosives were dropped. All the machines returned."

No Casualties.

The following official announcement was made:

"Lord French (commander of the home defences) reports that the latest information indicates that about 20 enemy machines participated in last night's raid. Bombs were dropped in a numbers of places in Kent, Essex and Suffolk, but no casualties and only insignificant damage has been reported up to the present. Repeated attacks were made on London, but in no case did the raiders penetrate the outer defences.

"One enemy airplane is reported to have been shot down in the Thames estuary and a second one off the coast."

LATEST AIR RAID OF GERMAN FLIERS TURNED OUT BADLY

Two Brought Down by British Airmen and Defence Guns.

CASUALTIES WERE NIL

Means at Last Found To Limit Activities of Raiding Huns.

London, Sept. 29.—Two German airplanes which took part in last night's raid over the southeast coast of England were brought down, it is announced officially. No casualties were caused by the raid.

Bombs were dropped in Suffolk, Essex and Kent.

THREE SQUADRONS IN ATTACK.

London, Sept. 29.—A telegram from Kent referring to last night's air raid says that three squadrons successfully crossed the coast, flying well below thick black clouds which obscured the nearly-full moon. The invaders met with a hot reception from the anti-aircraft guns. Nevertheless the first section managed to elude the shells and steered in the direction of ——, whence loud explosions of bombs were soon heard. The second section also passed the gunfire in the same direction. The third squadron is believed to have been driven seaward. The telegram adds that bombs were dropped at two places.

Another dispatch describes a small squadron of raiders as going toward London and returning apparently one by one. A telegram from Essex says that two bombs were dropped in that district.

ACTIVITIES LIMITED.

London, Sept. 29.—The successful operations of the British aerial defences in the frustration of three attempts of German raiders to reach London last night and the destruction of at least two German planes lead to the hope that means have been found to deal with moonlight visitors, as the zeppelins were countered last year. It is true that the condition of the sky last night was not altogether favorable for night flying, but defence by airplanes and anti-aircraft guns has been made so strong that future raiders will cross the coast of England at their own peril.

The situation, combined with the continued attacks by army and navy fliers on German airdromes in Belgium is expected at any rate to limit the activities of the Germans, whose only success during the week has been the killing of a number of innocent civilians. Not the slightest military damage was done.

TROPICAL HURRICANE DID HEAVY MATERIAL DAMAGE IN SOUTHEAST STATES

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 29.—The Gulf coastal sections of East Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Western Florida were emerging today from the tropical hurricane which swept in from the Gulf of Mexico on Friday, and for a number of hours isolated many towns along the coast. Roofs of residences and frail buildings were damaged, but warnings in advance prevented extensive damage to shipping, and no loss of life was reported.

The storm struck the coast at the mouth of the Mississippi, and, sweeping across a narrow portion of Louisiana, swept through Mobile at times with a velocity of 96 miles an hour, and extended east to Pensacola, where communication had not been restored early today.

The loss is put at $350,000.

GUN PLAY AT FORT WORTH.

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 29.—Edward Parsley, police commissioner, was shot and killed late yesterday in his private office in the city hall by J. K. Yates, former police inspector, who was shot to death by policemen after he had barricaded himself in the commissioners' office.

Austrian Regiment Joins Rumanians

Geneva, Sept. 29.—The Journal Az Est of Budapest says that during the visit of the kaiser to the Rumanian front recently an entire armed Austrian regiment, consisting chiefly of Bosnian Slavs, deserted en bloc to the Rumanians. They asked to be incorporated as volunteers with the Serbians. The request was granted. The journal demands that doubtful troops should be withdrawn from this front, and adds that the kaiser must have been badly impressed on learning the news.

GERMANY TO RETAIN BELGIUM; MICHAELIS DENIES REPORT OF OFFER TO EVACUATE COUNTRY

Chancellor Says There Will Be No Renunciation — Socialists Ask Government Why Pan-Germans Are Favored.

Copenhagen, Sept. 29.—Germany has not renounced Belgium and has not been in communication with any of her enemies, according to Chancellor Michaelis, speech made before the Reichstag main committee by Chancellor Michaelis.

The chancellor is quoted as follows:

"A Liberal deputy correctly stated that the attitude of the Imperial Government as regards its war aims was clearly explained in my answer to the papal note. The peace resolution of July 19 was expressly mentioned in this reply and further explanation thereof is unnecessary.

"Moreover, I declare the statement that the Imperial Government had already communicated with this or that hostile government, and that it had in advance renounced occupied territories, thus abandoning the most valuable advantage in peace negotiations, is untrue. I declares that the Imperial Government has free hands for eventual peace negotiations. This also refers to Belgium.

SOCIALISTS AFTER FATHERLAND PARTY.

Copenhagen, Sept. 29.—The majority Socialists in the German Reichstag have interpellated the Government concerning official support of the pan-German agitation and the Fatherland party. The Socialists also made an interpellation on reported Government interference with the right of assembly. The interpellation offered by the Socialists reads: "Is the chancellor aware that in the army officers are conducting a vigorous agitation in favor of pan-German policies and particularly also against the decisions of the Reichstag? What does the chancellor contemplate doing to check this abuse of authority by officers?"

Using Pressure.

The interpellation does not mention the activities of civilian officials, although the Vorwaerts, the Tageblatt and other newspapers have asserted repeatedly that the superiors in the schools and Government departments are using pressure on their subordinates to join the Fatherland party. The second interpellation concerning the right of assembly accuses the home military authorities of manipulating the right of assembly one-sidedly in favor of pan-German propaganda.

London, Sept. 29.—Charles A. Hansen, alderman of London, and member of Parliament for the southeast division of Cornwall, was elected lord mayor of London today. He will succeed Sir William Henry Dunn.

Mayor Hansen is a former Londoner, it is reported here. His father was formerly a Methodist minister in the London Conference about 40 or more years ago. Later the family moved to Montreal, where two brothers, William and Fred Hansen, now reside. William Hansen is a brother-in-law of Fred W. Daly, this city.

Mayor Hansen is associated with Coates Bros., thread manufacturers, and has been most successful in business.

He has visited Canada on frequent occasions, but has not been in London for some years.

(Special To The Advertiser.)

London, Sept. 29. — Chancellor Michaelis' refusal to outline Germany's war aims, the frank statement from a ministry of shipping regarding the submarine situation and Lord Milner's speech today, had cleared the war atmosphere recently filled with German peace feelers. Michaelis' speech was taken as merely another indication of Germany's insincere peace protestations. The Hohenzollerns are clinging to their desire for secret round table discussion. This will never be granted.

ALL RESTRICTIONS OFF SALT WATER FISHERIES

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—Immediate removal of all restrictions on American salt water fisheries for the war period is proposed by the food administration as a war conservation measure.

By suspending closed seasons and prohibitions against seining, night fishing, torching, the use of traps and fishing by non-residents, the food administration expects to see a general speeding up of the fish industry and consequent substantial addition to the supply of fish to substitute for the meat that must be sent to feed the armies in the field.

BELGIUM OFFER NON-EXISTENT

Paris, Sept. 29.—The diplomatic courier who brought the Austrian reply to the peace note of the pope to Rome, did not bring the supposed supplementary German communication concerning Belgium.

"That communication," adds a Havas dispatch from Rome, "can then be considered as non-existent."

A dispatch from Berne given out by the Wireless Press in London on September 26 said that Germany has agreed to evacuate Belgium on certain conditions. The proposal was said to have been made in a supplementary note to the Vatican. It was in the form of a verbal communication made by Foreign Secretary Kuehlmann to the papal nuncio at Munich.

CO-OPERATION PROVIDED FOR DRAFT TESTS

Manufacturers Are Asked To Arrange Time for Men's Examinations.

MEDICAL BOARDS ASSIST

Lieut.-Col. Grant, A. D. M. S., and Capt. LeTouzell, M. C., president of No. 1 Medical Board here, will co-operate to the fullest extent with local employers so that they may, at the earliest possible date, ascertain whether the men in their employ of the class shortly to be called out are physically eligible or not.

Announcement to this effect was made at the general meeting of the board of trade Friday night in the Tecumseh, and employers were urged to communicate by telephone with Capt. LeTouzell to arrange day and hour and to state how many men they wish to have examined.

This immediate medical examination, it is felt by the Military Service Council, will benefit the employers and minimize disorganization of business. Employers will know definitely which of their men are exempt owing to physical unfitness, so that they may know the extent to which their business may be disarranged and consider whether application for exemption of any of their employees who are found fit, should be made on other grounds.

It is expected that the proclamation calling for men to report for medical examination will be issued about the 10th of October, and that a certain number of days will be fixed during which it will be compulsory to appear for examination. Two medical boards at the armories are now prepared to examine men who wish to ascertain whether they are medically fit or not, and it is felt that employers will be well advised to take advantage of these medical boards to arrange that the question of physical fitness may be ascertained, of men of the class to be called out shortly —unmarried men and widowers between the ages of 20 and 34—so that they may consider whether application for exemption should be made in any case where the loss of the services of an employee would completely disorganize his business.

One of the serious blunders made in the early stages of the war was in permitting men to volunteer for active service, whose training made them essential to the maintenance on an efficient basis of the industries or other occupations in which they were engaged. To lose an employee whose occupation and qualifications are such that he forms the key by which the department or even the entire industry turns, is obviously crippling business, and this the Military Service Council wish to prevent.

After the proclamation is issued and medical examinations held, the drafted men will be placed in categories or classes, and it is expected that the first draft will be called out shortly thereafter.

Capt. LeTouzel is carrying out the wishes of the Military Service Council in this connection, and will be glad to co-operate with local employers.

MANY APPLYING FOR PHYSICAL TESTING AT CITY OF QUEBEC

Quebec, Sept. 29.—Although the military medical examining boards only opened today, the Quebec City examiners have already handled over a hundred young men.

So far, 80 per cent of the men examined have been found fit for service.

Indications are that now the military service act has become law no serious opposition will be made to it.

U. S. MAY HOLD BACK TROOPS, USING TONNAGE FOR SUPPLIES BADLY NEEDED FOR THE ALLIES

Vast Army of Sammies May Be Trained On This Side Because of Shortage of Ships, Latter Being Required To Keep Armies of Allies Going With Food, Fuel and Ammunition.

(BY CARL D. GROAT.)
(Special to The Advertiser.)

Washington, Sept. 29.—American troop transportation to Europe during the next six months may be greatly curtailed as a result of the German U-boat menace, discussed with surprising frankness by the British ministry of marine. The foremost question now before this country and the Allies is the disposition of American tonnage. The United Press can state on highest authority that the grave question has arisen whether the United States is perhaps crowding her side of the struggle in forcing over thousands of soldiers at this time instead of moving supplies. The argument is advanced in favor of reducing troop movements to the other side along these lines.

Supplies Tied Up.

France alone has a million tons of supplies tied up on this side of the Atlantic which cannot be moved while American troops are being transported. France, Great Britain and Italy need fuel, food, oil, etc., sorely, shipment of which is prevented through lack of tonnage. Germany's man-power is waning and a careful compilation completed by the Allied Governments indicates that the Allied man-power, properly supplied can win the war more quickly than if the present manpower is augmented by thousands of American troops at the sacrifice of taking insufficient supplies through lack of tonnage.

The Sub Menace.

The U-boat menace is not underestimated by the United States Government. There is not the slightest fear that Germany can win through her sea scavengers, but there is appreciated a need for very serious consideration of the most effective way to meet the situation created. The British shipping ministry called upon this country for six million tons annually. This figure cannot be realized before late in 1918 or early in 1919. It is officially admitted. The program for the next 18 months falls short of the British demands, and more than a billion dollars is involved in work now under way.

After this period has passed, however, it is stated the United States should be able to produce six million tons annually. Means of conserving shipping and utilizing tonnage available until this great building program nets ships is the vital question under international discussion here today.

For every American soldier transported, his weight in supplies must be sent over every 30 days. Ammunition, food, everything needed by Sammy must go from this side, for there is not more than sufficient to supply Tommy and the poilu now over there. Thus, it is argued, there is a strong reason for training and equipping a great army on this side of the Atlantic, but holding up its marching orders until vast amounts of supplies now vital to the allied fighting cause are moved.

Violent Artillery Engagements In Verdun Sector.

Paris, Sept. 29.—Violent artillery fighting occurred last night on the right bank of the Meuse, in the Verdun sector, says today's official statement.

The text of the French statement reads:

"There was great activity of the French and German artillery on the right bank of the River Meuse last night.

"Enemy surprise attacks on our advanced posts southeast of St. Quentin, in the region of Ailles and north of Caurieres, were repulsed by our fire.

"In the Upper Alsace to the east of Seppois, we succeeded in penetrating the German lines, and after destroying enemy shelters, returned with war material.

"There was nothing to report on the rest of the front."

ALLIES TO TRIUMPH WITH HARD BLOWS, DECLARES GERARD

Tells Canadians In No Other Way Can Germany Be Beaten.

Victoria, Sept. 29.—Germany stands out in the fall of 1914 to conquer the world. If it had not been for Great Britain she would have had the world by the throat, and now we stand together on both sides of the line for the Monroe Doctrine, said ex-Ambassador Gerard in his speech before the Canadian Club yesterday, when he roused his hearers to a high pitch of enthusiasm by recounting his experiences as ambassador to Berlin during the 32 months of war.

"If Germany should win the war, or possibly gain a draw, the policy of our great President Monroe, I am afraid, would totter from its security," continued Mr. Gerard.

"It will be impossible to put together again such a league of nations as is now combined to fight Prussia. Prussia hopes to bring about such a peace as will detach from that group a sufficient number of countries to give herself an unquestioned superiority to any war of ambition she may seek to wage. In such a war we may be without a Joffre, the second Martel, to beat the enemy at the crucial moment."

He said in conclusion: "We have got to beat them in the field. Have no illusions, no false ideas that we can win by using hunger or civil strife within Germany. We must get at it with every atom of energy and fight, and I think the Anglo-Saxons on both sides of the line have it in them to continue the fight until triumphant."

MINNESOTA DEMANDS LAFOLLETTE'S EXPULSION

Washington, D. C., Sept. 29.—A communication from the governor of Minnesota and the state public safety commission, requesting the expulsion from the Senate of Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, was presented in the Senate today by Senator Kellogg of Minnesota, and referred by Vice-President Marshall to the Senate privileges and elections committee.

A RICH VEIN.

Port Arthur, Ont., Sept. 28.—An eastern molybdenite company has secured an option on 200 acres in Conmee township, three miles from Kakabeka Falls and within one and one-half miles of a railway siding. The price paid for the option was $75,000 and a gang of men are at work stripping and trenching the vein, which has been proved to a depth of 50 feet and a cross-cut shows the vein to be at least 16 feet wide, which measurement is a record for a molybdenite on the continent of North America. The ore will grade over 1 per cent or about 20 pounds to the ton and the price is today $1.10 a pound, with a possible rise to $2.25 if the embargo is lifted and the refined metal allowed to go to the big steel works in the United States.

THE WAR SITUATION

Field Marshal Haig is extremely laconic in his despatch today from the British front in France and Belgium. "Nothing to report except the usual artillery activity on both sides," is the essence of it.

The warnings yesterday from the newspaper correspondents that nothing need be expected from them at the time being tend to create an air of tenseness with the possibility soon of big events impending.

The military observers not on the spot, however, seem at sea over the probabilities. The interval since Wednesday's big attack appears too short for the launching of another extended offensive movement in Flanders, and there have been no patently visible signs of preparations for a drive in any other sector. The possibility exists, too, that the veil which has been drawn over the activities along the fighting line is only intended to cover up some new disposition of the Entente forces until the change is completed.

Comparative Quiet.

The comparative quiet that has prevailed for the past few days on the French front is continuing. Only the artillery has been at all active, chiefly in the Verdun region. East of the Meuse in this section, however, the gunfire reached a violent pitch last night, Paris reports today.

The latest German raid on England turned out badly for the raiders. Their airplane formations failed to reach London, although repeated attacks were made, and two of the twenty machines engaged in the efforts were brought down by the British. Only insignificant damage was caused by the bombs that were dropped over Kent, Essex and Suffolk, and no casualties occurred.

British aircraft, on the other hand, are reported by the admiralty to have worked extensive damage by raids in Belgium, particularly at the submarine base at Zebrugge and airdromes in the interior.

SOMETHING BIG DUE ON WESTERN FRONT?

London, Sept. 28.—"There was the usual artillery activity on both sides," says today's official statement. "There is nothing of interest to report."

NEWS EMBARGOED FOR TODAY.

London, Sept 29.—Correspondents at British headquarters in France, advise all their English and American newspapers to expect nothing from their respective correspondents today.

No reason for the withholding of dispatches of newspaper correspondents from the British front in France is known. The only occasion previously of interruption of the newspaper correspondence was in October, 1915, when it was announced from London that thousands of words of news from Associated Press correspondents in Sofia and from the German line or the western batlefront were being withheld by the British censor. Two days later announcement was received of the entry of Bulgaria into the war on the side of the Teutonic allies, and a day later still came the news that Field Marshal Sir John French, who had remained silent for five days, had made considerable gains in the Loos sector, driving a wedge into the German lines from five hundred to one thousand yards in depth.

TORONTO FACES DIRTY STREETS AND LANES BY STRIKE OF THE CLEANERS

Toronto, Sept. 29.—Will the citizens of Toronto be wallowing in dirty streets and confusion of brimming garbage cans next week? That is the question concerning the public today, when it was learned that over 500 street cleaners and garbage men had decided to go on strike at 5 p.m. because of the refusal or the delay of the city council to answer their demands for the dismissal of Street Commissioner George B. Wilson over the flag incident.

A RECORD CARGO.

Fort William, Ont., Sept. 28. — The W. P. Snyder, jr., arrived here yesterday carrying the largest cargo ever delivered to any port on the Great Lakes, totalling 14,576 tons. The largest previous cargo was brought here about a week ago by the steamer Schoonmaker, and was 14,482 tons.

CONTROLLER MAKING SWEEPING PROBE OF THE MILK SITUATION; WILL SETTLE PRICES

Substitution of Oleomargarine For Butter To Be Considered.

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—T. B. Tustin, chairman of the milk committee of the food controller's office, authorized the statement this morning that the work of the committee will be expedited in every possible way and that a report will be made to the food controller before November 1.

Ottawa, Sept. 29.—The committee appointed by Food Controller Hanna to investigate the price of milk have evidently determined to make their investigation a thorough and sweeping one. Yesterday sub-committees had been formed and instructed as to what data they would be required to get. At yesterday's session the question of oleomargarine as a substitute for butter was brought up, and it is likely that the municipal representatives will ascertain in their districts if the people consider that the substitution of oleomargarine for butter would be beneficial.

Mr. Bingham of Ottawa informed the committee that there were several ice cream dealers communicating with him, requesting that no definite action be taken until the ice cream dealers had been given an opportunity to appear before the committee. He stated that in Hamilton the producers were being offered 28 cents a gallon for milk, and were asking 30 cents.

Today Mr. Bingham will likely present a report, and then the committee will adjourn for three or four weeks, the members returning to their respective districts to get the information asked for on the questionaire. When the reports are received the committee will again meet to continue the work. It is likely that the next meeting will be held in November, when the real business will begin.

BE PRETTY! TURN GREY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or grey. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents.

Don't stay grey! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the grey hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

FEEL FINE! DON'T BE SICK, BILIOUS OR CONSTIPATED

Cascarets are a treat! They liven your liver, clean your thirty feet of bowels and sweeten your stomach. You eat one or two Cascarets like candy before going to bed, and in the morning your head is clear, tongue is clean, stomach sweet, breath right, and cold gone, and you feel grand.

Get a 10 or 25 cent box at any drug store and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Stop sick headaches, bilious spells, indigestion, furred tongue, offensive breath and constipation. Mothers should give cross, peevish, feverish, bilious children a whole Cascaret any time. They are harmless and never gripe or sicken.

$19.00 PRICE FOR HOGS TO BE AGAIN SET, PREDICT BUYERS

Usual Fall Decline Absent This Year.

BLAME DAVIES' BUYING

Unless the steady increase of hog values is arrested local pork men predict that the $19 mark will be reached before the winter. Although pork prices generally decline quite substantially at this time of the year, no such action will take place this season, according to hog buyers of the city.

D. W. Flannigan, chief buyer for the Anderson meat market attributes the abnormally high price of hogs not only to the dearth of porkers in the country, but to the action of the Government in agitating for two beefless days during the week. He said that beef is the cheapest meat obtainable, it being about seven cents per pound cheaper than pork. Notwithstanding this fact, the advice of the Government is for the people to conserve beef. There would be plenty of beef for the people of Canada and the soldiers were an embargo placed on all beef going over the border. As a result of the supplications of the Government that beef be conserved, everybody is eating pork, the scarcest meat in the country, as a substitute, Mr. Flannigan stated.

"On beefless days," said Charles Anderson of the Anderson meat market, "we have so many customers for pork that often we run out of it. During Fair week a piece of ham could have been sold at a premium, so great was the demand. There are very few hogs throughout the country because of the high price of feed last year. The farmers hit their pigs on the head rather than sustain a loss by feeding them expensive grain. In addition to this state of affairs, the British Government made a contract with the Wm. Davies Company to pay that company a minimum of whatever it cost them to buy and dress hogs. This guaranteed that no loss could possibly be suffered, no matter what the price of hogs might be in Canada. Consequently the company bought up all the good porkers of the country, paying any price the farmer wanted. This is one of the reasons for the present hog situation."

In Chicago the prevailing price of hogs is $19.50. In Detroit the value is $18.25 and in London it is $17.75, and present indications point to a further advance, according to A. J. Neeley, district hog buyer, who says that hogs, even of the poorest variety, are almost impossible to secure.

CHELSEA GREEN CHURCH HONORS STUDENT-PASTOR WHO LEAVES FOR COLLEGE

Active Little Congregation Shows Appreciation of Work.

Though one of the smallest churches in the city, probably not one can be found which is more thoroughly alive than Chelsea Green Presbyterian. In the last six months some ten or twelve new members have been received, five of these at the communion services held last Sunday. The women's Bible class has recently presented two silver bread plates and linen for the communion service, and Mrs. Malcolm Maitland a christening bowl, in memory of her little daughter, who died some years ago.

W. Monteith, a theological student, who has been in charge of the congregation during the past six months, is leaving next week to continue his course, and all this week has been devoted to activities in his honor. Monday evening a concert was given by the Young People's Society and Tuesday evening ther was a large turnout at the meeting of the Junior League. In proportion to the size of the congregation, there probably wasn't a more largely attended prayer meeting in London last Wednesday night than at Chelsea Green. Friday afternoon the mission band, named after Mr. Monteith, assembled in full force, and in the evening the junior and adult classes. Tomorrow, the last Sunday Mr. Monteith will be at Chelsea Green, is to be a rally day and harvest home celebration.

On Monday evening there will be a social evening, which is to be a farewell for Mr. Monteith and a reception for Rev. J. R. Harris, who is assuming duties as minister next week, and Mrs. Harris.

$9.00 APPLES

Nova Scotia Fruit Sells in London for Highest Price on Record.

Nine barrels of Nova Scotia apples arrived in the city today to be sold locally by the Steele Fruit Company. The price of the fruit was $9 per barrel, which is an average value of $2.25 a bushel, the highest price ever paid in the district for apples. It is said that they are of the finest quality yet secured, bpt G. J. Guymer of the Steele Fruit Company is doubtful if such high priced apples will find favor with the public.

Y. W. C. A. TAKES OVER ITS NEW QUARTERS ON SATURDAY NEXT

Moves Into Old Fraser House Property Then.

MEANS WORK EXTENSION

Necessary Added Accommodation Provided by Large Building Being Rented.

The Young Women's Christian Association, which has leased the Fraser House on King street, between Richmond and Clarence, in order to obtain more accommodation for the rapidly expanding work, will take possession of the new premises on October 6. It is understood the association has still an option on the property but is renting for a time in order to determine if the site and building are suitable for the work to be done.

The building has the advantages of being situated most centrally and has plenty of accommodation for club and class rooms and also for rooms where the members may entertain their friends.

Thanks to the greater accommodation, opportunity will be afforded for extension of the travelers' aid department, with more provision for the accommodation of transients. The boarding home on Wellington street has been filled to overflowing and has a waiting list, and the Fraser House will help to solve the boarding problem. In addition, dining-room accommodation will be afforded for a much larger number than formerly.

Those closely associated with the work state that the value of accommodation for the organization of clubs cannot be overestimated. Through this move, the association expects to very greatly extend the benefits and influence of its work to the girlhood and womanhood of the city, as well as to the travelers whom it may serve.

FORESTRY "NINE" WON ITS GAME BEFORE ROYALTY

A baseball game played by Canadians and witnessed by the King and Queend and the Prince of Wales, is described in a letter from Pte. A. Ross, 75th Company, Canadian Forestry Corps, to his wife, Mrs. A. Ross, 204 Colborne street.

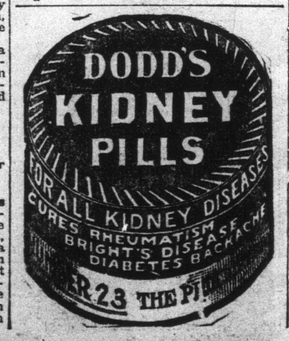

"The forestry team won," he writes, "by a score of two to one. They scored for the first time in the last half of the eighth inning. When the other team came to bat in the ninth it too scored one run. The forestry scored the winning run in the second half of the ninth inning.

"I sat about 30 feet from the King and Queen and when they left they passed about eight feet from me so I had a pretty good look at their majesties."

In another part of this letter he says, "We are at last out of quarantine and have moved into huts. I have been to one of the towns here two or three times in the evening. It is three miles from the camp and its name is Echam. T was once to Sanningdale with the motor transport for coal, but I only made the one trip as they took me off to assist in repairing one of the motor trucks.

"They are finding out what the men can do and we are now the 75th draft. Two drafts left lately. I was outside the hut the other night about 10 o'clock and if it was a grand sight to see the searchlights sweeping the heavens for enemy craft. There are lots of women around here but we keep away from them as we have no desire to be sent to the hospital. We are being organized and getting ready to move some time. Soon we get our horses and transports here and take them with us when we go. I was up before the medical board and also the technical board. The medical board listed me as "A2." What the technical board listed me as, I don't know."

Before enlisting he was employed here with the Grand Trunk Railway and the London Electric.

NEARLY 60 SIGN UP IN CITY FOR SERVICE IN WEEK

300 ELIGIBLES EXAMINED

ORDER RE-EXAMINATION

Men in "A" and "B" Classifications Must Come Up Once More.

Nearly sixty men signed up here with C. E. F. units and home defence corps during the past week, according to unofficial returns. It is estimated that during the week in addition to these nearly 300 men between the ages of 20 and 35 applied for examination only under the Military Service Act, and that about 130 of these were categorized as "Class A2," or fit for services overseas with a combatant unit. About 80 were rejected and the remainder were categorized as class "B2," or fit for overseas service with a non-combatant unit; class "C," fit for service in Canada or doubtful.

The class "A2" and class "B2" men will have to be reboarded before they are given a final categorization or certificate of rejection.

Applicants' Rush Slackens.

A slight slackening in the rush of applicants for examination by the medical boards at the armories was noticeable both today and Friday. Seventy-one men were examined by the two boards on Friday, and although this surpasses the number handled on the first two days of the week it is not equal to Wednesday's and Thursday's showing, when more than 100 men were examined.

Five of the men who applied on Friday enlisted. C. A. Graham, Scotsman, qualified in class "C" and was detailed to recruiting duty. A. P. Pope qualified in class "A2" and will train with the Mounted Rifles. H. McCullough, an Irishman, came up to class "A2" standards and was detailed to the Army Service Corps. H. G. Galbraith, a Scotsman, was detailed to the A. M. C. He qualified in class "C"; J. W. Dean, a Canadian, qualified in class "B2" and will train with members of the Forestry Depot.

Thirty-four in Class "A."

Forty-two of the 66 men remaning were examined by No. 1 Medical Board under the presidency of Major H. A. Kingsmill. Nineteen qualified in class "A2." Four were class "B2" men; one was a class "C" man; the status of four was doubtful and 14 were declared unfit.

Fifteen men of the 24 examined by No. 2 board, under the presidency of Major G. R. Cruikshank, were class "A2" men; one was a class "B2" and one a class "C." Seven were rejected.

Today the new medical boards appointed on Friday were an duty. Capt. J. R. LeTouzeil, A.M.C. Training Depot, is now president of No. 1 board, Capt. C. E. McMehan and Capt. J. A. McEwen being the other members. Capt. F. H. Sutherland, A.M.C. Training Depot No. 1, is the president of No. 2 board, with Lieut. No. F. Sykes and Dr. J. Ferguson as the other mebers.

'TEEN AGE GIRLS' ORGANIZATION IS BEING ADVANCED

Meeting On Tuesday To Institute Efficiency Program.

A development program for girls along the lines of the Canadian Standard Efficiency Tests program for boys will be organized in the city in the near future. The pressing need of something of the kind for London has been felt for a long time, consequently it is believed the movement will have warm support. The teen age girls themselves have been wanting to know why they can't enjoy the same opportunities for fun and learning interesting things in an interesting way that the boys have been doing. They, too, want to be all round efficient.

The advisory committee in Toronto for co-operation in regard to girls has sent out announcements to the denominational leaders in this city, clergymen and Sunday school superintendents, asking for a meeting to be called to discuss organization. This will take place in the Y. M. C. A. building on Tuesday evening next, when a large attendance is requested of teachers and other leaders in girls, clubs, classes, etc.

A conference of teen age girls will be held in the city in the near future when the "Canadian Girls in Training" program will be officially launched here.

New Route to Western Canada Proving Popular

Runs Through Famous Clay Belt of New Ontario and the Cobalt Mining District.

On your next trip to Western Canada, why not travel over a new route, see the wonderful land opened up in Northern Ontario by the Transcontinental Railway, and gain a glimpse of Temagami and the Cobalt silver mining region?

You may use two famous trains on your journey without any added expense for railway fare as compared with any other route. The International Limited will carry you to Toronto, where "The National" starts on its west-bound flight. "The National" uses the rails of the Grand Trunk to North Bay, the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario (Provincial Government line) to Cochrane, and the Canadian Government Railways to Winnipeg, where it links up with the Grand Trunk Pacific for all important points in Western Canada.

A pleasant daylight run to Toronto, an evening in the Queen City, and "The National" is ready to carry you westward. The departure of "The National" from Toronto is at 10:45 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. North Bay is reached early next morning, and there opens up for your admiration all the lakeland beauties of the territory served by the T. and N. O. line. These are followed by a wonderfully interesting trip through the sparsely-populated territory of New Ontario, giving the traveler an opportunity of inspecting this fertile region, including the famed clay belt, where tens of thousands of settlers will make their homes in the future. The area of New Ontario is 330,000 square miles, fully four times the size of Old Ontario, and in addition to great expanses of good farming land, it has wonderful resources in timber, minerals, water power, fish and game.

The three railways have combined to make the passenger service over this new road the equal of that offered anywhere on the continent. The smooth, straight and level roadbed embodies all that has been learned in three-quarters of a century of railroad building. The greatest travel comfort is assured. Full particulars from any Grand Trunk ticket agent, or C. E. Horning, district passenger agent, Toronto. Sept.29-tfx

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Let Hanna Resign.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In your paper yesterday we had a long letter from Mr. Hanna, food controller for Canada, setting forth why he does not control food. He goes on to give several reasons why he cannot control. We can pass them all to the sixth—the unnecessary middleman. He informs us there are too many of them in every city and town, but to put them out of business would ruin the city or town; rents would go down and real estate would become of no value. So in order to keep the real estate at proper value he must not only allow the extra middleman, but must allow him profit, or spread enough so he can live and pay his rent. To quote Mr. Hanna, he knows that certain dealers in Toronto can sell cod steak at 14 cents per pound. He says it would seem to be in the interests of the householder to make 14 cents the maximum price for cod steak in Toronto, but, he continues, it would ruin the man it aimed to benefit. Then, he continues, the small milk dealer and the small butcher are in the same situation. Well now, Mr. Editor, if our food controller is going to be so careful of the men whom he says are unnecessary he will not be able to do much in the way of reducing food prices. So as a food controller he admits he can do nothing. Then, he being a failure as a price reducer, why should he not resign and save the country the amount he is costing in departmental expenses and salary? As for food for the people of this country, something will need to be done, or we will have meatless days and breadless days without signing pledges. Our cattle and hogs are being sold and shipped out of the country in alarming quantities. When once out no Canadian food controller can fix the price at which we can buy them back. As for our wheat, we have in Canada about one-half of a normal crop, with a large amount being used and saved for seed. Shippers are exporting all they can secure space for; also contracting with our millers for their whole output for months in advance. Where are we to get our bread for the four or five days a week from by the close of navigation. Practically all the wheat will have been bought and owned by outside buyers and the millers, and then what about the price of flour and bread? The wheat price has been fixed, and any person other than our food controller would have fixed the price of wheat products. Evidently there was much consideration for the non-essential middleman. He might be separated from some of his unearned profits and so not be able to pay rents for the premises he occupies, and as a sequence reduce the price of real estate in some of our cities or towns. But as for the farmer, and Mr. Hanna has really learned we have too few of them he can pay the double wages and extra cost of all his supplies and sell his wheat at a fixed price. True, although Mr. Hanna does not mention it, the farmers can borrow money to get along with, always provided he owns the land to turn over as security. So we repeat, Mr. Hanna should resign so we could get a food controller who would control. If there is a price for wheat, let there be a price for wheat products and give us some protection against all being shipped out of the country. Place all meat animals and all other essential products of the country under the same regulations, require a license to be taken out before necessary foods can be exported, then fix the prices for our own home markets, so we would be assured of what we need at reasonable prices. This would require a real, live food controller. So we repeat, let Mr. Hanna resign.

JACK CANUCK.

MERCIER DENIES CHARGES IN THE VON IGEL EXPOSURE

Montreal, Sept. 28.—Hon. Honore Mercier, Minister of Colonization for the Province of Quebec, whose name was connected with the New York revelation concerning the German conspirator Von Igel, as one at the head of an anti-British society, having power to sway Quebec Province against the cause of Great Britain and her allies, issued the following denial from the provincial government office here tonight:

"The mysterious affair with which my name has been mentioned is entirely new to me and I need hardly affirm that I am absolutely ignorant of the persons concerned in it, as well as of their doings. Furthermore, I emphatically deny being a member of, or being connected with, any such society, secret or otherwise."

YOUTHS ARE HELD ON SERIOUS CHARGE

INGERSOLL, Sept. 28.—Two local youths, aged 17, were arraigned in the police court this afternoon, charged with a serious offence against a girl under 16 years of age. The cases were not proceeded with, an adjournment being made for eight days. They were bailed out in the sum of $4,000 each.

INGERSOLL FIELD DAY.

INGERSOLL, Sept. 28.—The collegiate pupils will hold their annual field day at Victoria Park on Thursday next. The program will open at 9 o'clock and will be resumed at 1:30. Certain events will be open to competition on the part of pupils from Woodstock Collegiate and the college, both of which, it is understood, will be represented. There will also be a relay race, open to the Ingersoll and Woodstock schools.

IN CITY INTERESTS TO KEEP LINE OPEN, SAY COMMISSIONERS

Operators of L. and P. S. Are Against 60-Cent Price.

Express Willingness To Prepare Report If One Asked by Council.

The London Railway Commission, at a meeting held at noon today, decided against any recommendation to the city council that the London and Lake Erie Railway (Traction line) be purchased by the city at 60 cents on the dollar. The commission expressed its willingness to give any further information the council desired.

When the communication was read from City Clerk Baker, Sir Adam Beck opened the discussion.

"The document is vague," said Sir Adam. "We have no offer to consider. There is no price set on the line. We have nothing except what we see in the newspapers. What does the council want to know? Does it want a valuation as scrap or as a going concern?

"The council wants us to say what we consider the road to be worth," said Philip Pocock.

"The letter does not say what the offer or proposition is," said Sir Adam. "We should have something definite. I only know what I saw in the newspapers.

"The council apparently wants to know whether or not we will buy the road at scrap values," commented D. M. Fraser. "Possibly the aldermen would like our opinion as to what we consider the road worth to the city."

"I presume we can accept the statements in the press that the company wants us to pay 60 cents on the dollar on the bonds issued," continued Sir Adam Beck. "That amounts to something over $500,000."

"I would not recommend that," said Philip Pocock. "The price is ridiculous. That offer is absolutely out of the question."

A motion was passed to the effect that the commission could not recommend the purchase of the road on the basis of 60 cents on the dollar of bonded indebtedness.

Road Asset to City.

"It is undoubtedly in the city's interest to keep the road open," commented Mr. Fraser. "It is an asset to the city, but we cannot pay that price, when we could not get returns for our money."

"Let St. Thomas purchase the road," declared Mayor Stevenson. "We have a road of our own nof. We don't want any more."

"Certainly it is to London's interests to keep the road open," said Philip Pocock. "It has a value to the city. I would not like to see it closed up. I think we should make a reasonable offer for the line. We would want to purchase it at a price that we could justify and that would give returns to the city for the investment."

Sir Adam Beck explained the history of the former offer to buy the road at 35 cents on the dollar. The commission had investigated, and could not make any better proportion than that. He was not prepared to make an offer now.

Up to Council, Says Pocock.

"We can go into the matter if the council desires, and give any information that is wanted on the present value of the road, and what it is worth as a going concern," said Mr. Pocock. "If the city then wants to purchase the road, and can get it for that money, it is up to the council to do so."

Mayor Stevenson called the attention of the commission to the request of the council that either gates or a bell be erected on the L. and P. S. crossing at Waterloo street to protect the public. Sir Adam Beck did not think it was necessary, but the question will be gone into.

EXPLOSION DESTROYS MILLS AT FERGUS

Fergus, Sept. 29.—Monkland Mills, owned by James Wilson & Sons, were destroyed by fire early this morning. Just after the blaze was discovered there was a terrific explosion, which blew off the roof and wall. Robert Elliott and George Dowley both had their legs broken. Thirty men are out of work.

VOLUNTEERS WILL NOT BE EXAMINED BY SOME BOARDS

Must Appear at Mobilization Centres Only.

MONDAY IS OPENING DAY

District Boards Will Commence Their Work in Outside Points Then.

Medical boards in places other than mobilization centres will be open for the first time on Monday. The standing boards at the centres with newly-appointed officers are already in full swing.

Volunteers for service are to be examined only prospective recruits under the military service act. Men who wish to sign up when they learn they are physically fit will therefore have to come to London, Windsor or Guelph, the only cities in this district at which standing medical boards are stationed.

At Stratford, Sarnia, Harriston and Chatham no men will be examined with a view to enlistment.

TREATMENT GIVEN PENSIONS BRINGS OFFICIAL ORDERS

Roughness and Discourtesy of Boards Reported to Headquarters.

MUST BE SYMPATHETIC

Medical Officers Instructed To Show Courtesy—Can Give Out No Information.

"It has been reported that, in spite of instructions issued to the contrary, applicants for pensions are frequently informed of the opinion of the board, either by a member or some of the staff employed," today's camp orders state.

All concerned are instructed to take such steps as are considered necessary to stop the practice.

Orders also state that it has come to the attention of headquarters that in many instances complaints have been made against the roughness and unsympathetic reception given to pensioners by members of medical boards. Instructions have been received, they state, to impress all medical officers in connection with medical boards that a rigid medical examination does not preclude the exhibition of sympathy and courtesy towards the person examined, and instructs all concerned to guide themselves accordingly.

RETURNED N. C. O.'S ON RECRUITING WORK

Pay Sergeant of 1st Depot Leaves for Mission at Chicago.

Sergt. Patrick James Murray, who has been in the pay office of the 1st Depot Regiment here for some time, will leave for Chicago on Sunday to become pay-sergeant at the headquarters of the British and Canadian recruiting mission there. Three other returned N. C. O.'s from this district are now in Detroit in connection with the recruiting mission, having left here Friday. They are: Sergt. George Bullen, No. 1 Special Service Company; Sergt. Clifford Johnstone Gilbank, and Sergt. Charles Albert Graham, all of No. 1 Special Service Company.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

BURIED ON FRIDAY.

The funeral of Louise, the 7-year-old daughter of Dr. Arnott, who died on Tuesday, was held from the residence of her parents at 2:30 Friday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. W. J. Knox and interment made at Mount Pleasant Ceemetry.

LOCAL NEWS

COAL YARD BYLAW.—The civic coal yard bylaw will be discussed tonight at Chesley Avenue School.

$2,500 COVERS SEPTEMBER FIRE LOSS.—The fire statistics for the month shows 17 alarms, 14 of these being to fires and 3 to chimney blazes. The total loss for the month will not exceed $2,600, comparing favorably with the same month of preceding year.

WINNING NUMBERS.—The winning numbers for the wood-carving and needlework, exhibited by returned soldiers at Ailsa Craig are 13, 899, 255, 290, 34, 265, 432 and 139. The prizes were left in charge of Mr. Watcher, jeweler, of Ailsa Craig and are to be secured from him.

NEW TIME TABLE.—A new G.T.R. time table will become effective at 12:01 o'clock Sunday morning. The only changes affecting this division is the cancellation of the two weekly boat trains between Toronto and Sarnia via London, making connections with Northern Navigation steamers.

HARVEST HOME.—Harvest home services are to be held in Ridout Street Methodist Church tomorrow. Rev. H. D. Moyer will preach in the morning. In the evening there will be a song service. The church will be decorated with fruits, flowers and grains. A harvest home supper will be given Monday night.

COMPOSER COMING.—Gordon V. Thompson, who is announced to conduct evangelistic services in Colborne Street Methodist Church during November, is the composer of the well-known hymns "Heart Songs." Mr. Thompson will address the London Ministerial Association an Monday at 10 a.m.

COUNCIL MEETS MONDAY.—There will be a meeting of the council on Monday evening. The most important matter coming up will be the purchase of the Traction line. The company will expect definite action, and it is probable that the question will be definitely settled at this session.

COURT OPENING POSTPONED.—The opening of the non-jury sittings of the supreme court of Ontario has been postponed from Monday, October 8, to Tuesday, October 9, owing to the first day named being Thanksgiving Day. Members of the legal profession having cases listed for the sittings have been requested to make note of the postponement.

ENJOYABLE SHOWER.—An enjoyable time was spent on Thursday evening at the home of Miss Gwendolin Ware, 37 Oxford street, where a miscellaneous shower was tendered to Miss Lena Rapley, who was the recipient of many gifts. The evening was spent in games, music being provided by the Elgar Quartet, after which a dainty luncheon was served by the hostess.

RALLY DAY SERVICE.—Special rally day services tomorrow in Empress Avenue Methodist Church. In the morning there will be an illustrated sermon to the juniors. In the evening a fathers' service with addresses by Mr. Liddicoatt on "A Father's Responsibility," and by William Jeffery on "The Boy." A special male chorus will sing in the afternoon. The Sunday school will be addressed by Israel Taylor.

CONDITION UNCHANGED. — The condition of John Rush, the waterworks department employee who was injured in the natural gas explosion at Chester and Ridout streets on Tuesday, is unchanged. The hospital report is that he spent a restless night, but is now resting easier. Capatano, the second city employee injured, is improving, and will be removed to his home in a few days.

HARVEST THANKSGIVING.—Harvest Thanksgiving services are being held tomorrow in the Church of St. John the Evangelist. The rector of the church, Rev. Canon Craig, B. D., will preach at the 11 o'clock service and the sermon at the 7 o'clock service will be by Rev. R. E. Charles, B. A., rector of St. David's. The services will be fully choral under the direction of Clarence E. Gilmour. The church has ben decorated for the occasion by the Sunday school teachers and scholars.

RECEPTION TO LIEUT. MURRAY.—Friday evening the Knights of Columbus tendered a reception to Lieut. Tom Murray, one of their members, who has recently returned from the front, B. C. McCann performing the duties of master of ceremonies. Congratulatory addresses were made by Rev. Father Brennan, John V. Givins, Frank Smith and others. During the evening a presentation was made to the retiring warden, Thomas Hodgkinson.

COLLECTIONS SATISFACTORY.—London reports to Bradstreet's that there has been little change in the trade situation within the last week. Hesitancy on the part of farmers about marketing their grain, due both to the press of fall work and anticipation of the fixing of prices, has tended to keep down the amount of money circulating in outside points, but, nevertheless, collections are reported to be fairly satisfactory. A settlement of the price of Ontario wheat is looked for at the week-end.

MISSIONARY ADDRESS.—The Rev. and Mrs. Miller have spent twenty turning to China. and Miss Gertrude Steven, daughter of the Rev. F. A. Steven of this city, who have been addressing missionary conferences during the past week in Toronto and Hamilton, will speak in Adelaide Street Baptist Church on Monday night. Mr. and Mrs. Miller haves pent twenty years in China, and Miss Steven is joining them with others who are going for the first time.

INJUNCTION CONTINUED. — Mr. Justice Kelly of the high court of Ontario presided at the weekly sitting at the court house today. But on motion was presented. The Royal Bank requested a continuation of the injunction against John Back, a former market butcher who recently assigned, to prevent him from collerting book debts. The injunction was extended until the time of trial, when the bank will endeavor to collect on a note claimed to have been given in its favor by B ack.

CIVIL ACTION FOLLOWS.—County Constable Arthur Corsaut, under authority of a search warrant, made an investigation on Friday at the home of William Talbot, near St. Johns, charged by Charles F. Powell, a neighbor, with shooting two of the latter's pigs. One pig wandered home the day of the alleged shooting, and the second one was located yesterday by the constable in a partially helpless condition from what he regards as a gunshot wound. A civil action for damages will follow:

SPECIAL SERVICES.—Rev. W. A. Leitch, B. A., of Knox College, Toronto, an old Glencoe boy, will assist Dr. McCrae in the special rally day services at the Hamilton Road Presbyterian Church on Sunday. A harvest home service will be held in the morning, the Sunday school rally in the afternoon, and a great united service in the evening. The Rev. Mr. Leitch has been in charge of the Presbyterian Church in the town of Matheson, New Ontario, the centre of the great fire zone, and has an interesting story to tell of that wonderful north country.

ASK PLEDGE PAYMENT.—The rapidity with which the building operations at the Byron Sanatorium for the new wings, designed for the accommodation of tubercular soldiers, is a matter of general satisfaction to those in charge. Of the $50,000 subscribed by citizens in the June campaign, $38,000 has been paid in at the office of the Canada Trust Company. Hope is expressed that the July pledges, still unpaid, and the October ones, now due, will come in as rapidly as possible as the amount promised is counted on and is urgently needed.

September Bank Clearings Show Big Jump Over a Year Ago.

Bank clearings for September show a marked increase over those for the same month last year. For the past month they were $8,900,572 and for September, 1916, $7,247,901. An increase of $1,652,671 is shown.

OFFER MADE FOR EQUIPMENT OF TRACTION LINE INSURES BIG RETURN TO BONDHOLDERS

Bid for Steel Rails, Added To Sale of Copper, Cars and Property, Will Enable Owners To Secure Even Financial Break On Road, Loss of Which Will Be Keenly Felt in Municipalities It Has So Greatly Benefited.

The bondholders of London and Lake Erie Railway and Transportation Company, known for more than twelve years to Londoners as the Traction line, now has a chance to get out of the railway business, and "get out clean."

Immediately following the announcement that the road would be "scrapped" and sold in the open market at the best price obtainable for materials, offers were received for the entire equipment of steel rails. War has caused steel to rise to a high figure, and while copper has gone down through regulation, copper wire brings a premium because of the shortage of deliveries. The Traction line has thousands of tons of steel and copper, and sufficient money would be realized from the sale, that, taken with the amounts that could be realized for property, cars and other holdings, would secure for the bondholders an amount closely approximating the sale price placed on the road.

Opportune Time to Sell.

When the London and Port Stanley road was electrified, the bondholders of the Traction line, who had secured the line as any other set of men would secure a business enterprise, had no immediate chance to dispose of the road, even had they cared to do so. And they had no desire to do so, believing that business enough to pay bond interest and to keep the road in proper shape could be made. At present they feel that in the course of a few years, with the development of co-operative farming along the line and the increase in small farms toward Lambeth, the road will again become a paying proposition. But these directors have no generous municipality to back them up and to pass bylaws for enormous amounts of money. They realize that their line was constructed as a convenience for the rural public and a feeder for the business houses of London. They cannot go down in the public purse to keep the wheels in operation, however, and the present time is the most opportune for the disposal of the road.

Means Loss to Communities.

There is no denying that the two communities, London and St. Thomas, especially the businessmen of both places, are seriously disturbed at the prospect of having the line closed. And to a greater degree the people residing along the line are fearful because of the chance of serious depreciation in property values. As an instance of this menace to the district through which the line travels, it may be stated that since the announcement was made that the line might be scrapped, a farmer who held his property at $15,000 and was in a fair to secure it, is now ready to dispose of the land for $10,000.

Great Benefit to Cities.

The business people of London and St. Thomas are well aware of the value of the line as a carrier of customers to the business houses of the respective localities. It is no "joy line"; it has not been able to build Atlantic City bath houses in war years, nor can it conduct a service to equal the line which is backed up by all the resources of the treasuries of London and the Ontario Government. But it may yet be maintained that the Traction line is the kind of railway that is of great benefit to the cities it serves. It brings people to the city rather than takes them out of it. Quite recently a London businessman stated that the Traction line was still his best business carrier. It brings the country people into the city at low rates and its cars transport much produce to the city market. It facilitates deliveries within many miles of London. It serves the same purpose as a street railway along the highways of Middlesex and Elgin.

Got Little But Abuse.

The directors have done their best to keep the line going. They got little else but abuse, especially from the paper which might well be styled the "London and Port Stanley Blatter," which in its efforts to destroy a good institution has resorted to the vilest kind of attack and has stood behind its favorite statesman, who, toward the Traction line, has believed in the destruction of the line, no matter what it might mean to anyone, so long as it might be heralded from the housetops that the line which he electrified was a "triumph."

Freight Earnings Increase.

The citizens of London have certainly had a lot of fun with the London and Port Stanley Railway. Its keynote throughout the summer has been gaiety, and more gaiety, seven days of the week. Despite every influence exerted at Toronto and Ottawa, despite the big stick used upon the railways, the Traction line has managed to go along, without brass bands and without much in the way of encouragement, and has held a large share if its freight business. In one month recently earnings increased $2,500 over the previous year. But there can be no denying that travelers will ride on the fast line to get between two given points, and in its London, St. Thomas, and Port Stanley business the line has suffered. The municipalities must either realize that this line, which has never had one dollar or one favor from the city of London, its birthplace, must be given assistance or the directors will accept the offer which they now have in definite form and proceed with the tearing up of the rails, the winding of the wire for transportation, the dismantling of the machinery, the sale of cars, the sale of car barns and other properties.

Will Gain by "Slaughtering."

The directors hope that the line will be kept going, although there is slight possibility that any profits can be acquired for a good many years. They are tired of posing as suppliants, they are tired of the abuse which has been flung at them on every possible opportunity, and they mean to wait for a reasonable length of time for an answer before they decide on action. If there is any "squealing" to be done in the future it will not be done by the directors of the line. It may be true that the boasts of some that they would "kill the Traction line" will be realized. But as conditions appear at the present time, it is altogether possible that the Traction line will be the gainer through being "slaughtered." Its value, like that of livestock, would perhaps increase after the "butcher" has done his work.

O'DELL SITE IS FROWNED ON BY COMMISSIONERS

MAY FORCE NEW LOCATION

Inaccessibility to City Physicians Reason for Objection, Says Report.

According to information made public today, it is said to be quite possible that the new military hospital will not be erected on the Odell site, despite statements to the fact that the deal was closed.

It has been said that the commission does not want a hospital located at any point which will not be accessible to the physicians of the city, who would have to visit the hospital frequently.

It was stated that there was even a possibility that unless London quickly secured another site suitable to the commission that the new hospital might not be located in London.

The report, which is not confirmed, is printed for what it is worth. The city authorities understood that the deal was all closed and arrangements were under way for the transfer of the property.

SUMMER CAMP AT CARLING HEIGHTS CLOSES ON OCT. 10

Winter Quarters for C. E. F. Troops Ready by Then.

The summer camp at Carling Heights will close on October 10, it was announced today, as it is expected that winter quarters for most of the troops will be ready by that time.

The 63rd Battery, which arrived on Thursday, will remain on the heights in new quarters there instead of occupying the building formerly used at Queen's Park. The A. M. C. Training Depot, the Army Service Corps and the Engineers will also remain on the heights. The 1st Depot Battalion of the W. D. R., which Lieut.-Col. E. S. Wigle has been appointed to command, will spend the winter at Queen's Park. The Special Service Company and Forestry Depot will also be stationed there.

BIG PARTY COMING

Fifty-One Returned Soldiers Will Arrive Early Next Week.

Word was received today by City Passenger Agent H. J. McCallum of the C. P. R. that a party of 51 wounded or invalided soldiers would arrive early next week. The exact date of their arrival is unknown.

WEDDING BELLS

DAWSON—DOAN.

On Thursday, September 27, at 12 o'clock noon, a quiet wedding took place at the Brooke-Enniskillen Baptist parsonage, near Inwood, when Robert Dawson and Ada Mildred Doan, both of Euphemia, were united in marriage by Rev. A. J. Loveday. The hasppy couple took a motor trip to Sarnia.

TO PREVENT PORT'S "OPEN" SUNDAYS IF AT ALL POSSIBLE

PLAN SPECIAL CAMPAIGN

Second Sunday in November Set Aside for Drive to Insure Sabbath Observance.

The local Ministerial Alliance is determined that the open Sundays which reigned at Port Stanley during the past summer will not occur next season if they can possibly help it. The clergymen are aroused over the lack of respect which is accorded the Lord's Day and plan to hold special services in all churches on the second Sunday in November when a plea will be made to the citizens of London to give greater attention to the day of rest.

A special meeting was held in the Y. M.C.A. when the open Sunday at Port Stanley was condemned by the alliance. They also disapproved of the Sunday concerts in the park and regretted the increasing tendency to ignore worship on Sunday. Rev. D. W. Snyder, provincial secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance,, came up from Toronto for the occasion to give advice. Rev. A. Eastman of Port Stanley was also present. Others present were: Rev. J. H. Boyd, Rev. Silcox, Rev. W. R. McIntosh. Rev. J. Hosie, Rev. J. E. Holmes, Rev. R. G. Peever. Rev. J. G. Stuart, president of the local alliance, presided.

LONDONERS' HELP ENLISTED TO AID BRITISH RED CROSS

Special Appeal Sent to Mayor in Provincial Campaign.

The ctiy of London has been asked to take part in a province-wide campaign to raise funds for the British Red Cross on October 18. Mayor Stevenson today received a communication fro mthe resources committee of the province, outlining the plan of campaign, and asking for the generous support of the ctiizens.

The appeal of the British Red Cross Society is briefly summarized in a statement by the chairman, Arthur Stanley, "If Canada fails us in October, we must curtail many of our activities."

It is expected that the most generous treatment will be given this organization. In view of the urgency of the appeal, a special request is made to this and other municipalities to give the British Red Cross appeal precedence. The appeal for the navy league already announced for Trafalgar Day has been withdrawn.

Another campaign proposed for the Italian Red Cross has also been postponed indefinitely. It is quite certain that no other campaigns will be started until this campaign is over.

The board of trade organized the 1915 and 1916 campaigns, raising $40,000 and $45,000 respectively, and has been asked by the resources committee to lead in the campaign, and to secure the assistance of all local organizations. They will be asked to join.

A meeting will be held shortly to confer on methods.

J. J. SMALLMAN TO SPEAK.—J. J. Smallman of Smallman & Ingram, Limited, will be the speaker at the Sunday night service in the City Mission. Special music will be provided.

DR. CRAIG ADVISES FOLLOW-UP SYSTEM FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Patients Should Have Care After Discharge.

ACCOMMODATION IS POOR

Sanatoria Have Not Sufficient Room To Meet Demand During War.

Commenting today to The Advertiser on the press dispatch report of the address of Dr. W. A. Evans of Chicago, before the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, to the effect that returned soldiers suffering from tuberculosis are being allowed too much latitude in Canada and many patients permitted to leave the sanatoria considered cured, to become carriers of pestilence wherever they go, Dr. W. A. Craig, superintendent of the Byron Sanatorium, said:

"The difficulty in Canada at the present time is that we haven't the accommodation to cope with the problem of the returned tuberculous soldier. We are filled up to overflowing at the present time, and have a waiting list at Byron. The more rapidly the work of building and equipping the new wing is completed the better.

"My idea is to hold cases as long as possible. I never discharge an open case if it can be avoided. One thing in connection with tuberculosis, the public does not discriminate between open and close cases.

Open and Closed Cases.

"The man who is an open case can scatter infection wherever he goes, because there are germs in his sputum. The man with the close case has no germs in his excretion, consequently he is not a focus of infection. A case of tuberculosis may be fairly far advanced and at the same time a close case. A large percentage of the returned tuberculosis soldiers are closed cases. I haven't seen the whole of Dr. Evans' address, only what appeared in the press dispatch, and it is not possible to judge by that. I saw the editorial today in your paper and very much approve of it. No institution is doing its duty to the patient or the public who turns out open cases to become foci of infection. The treatment with regard to tuberculosis is the discovery of closed cases and preventing them becoming open; the care of the open case and converting it into a closed; the education of the patient and the patient's family. If the family does not understand he is a man with a limit they will be the very ones to help to break him down. They should be the ones to encourage and aid him in caution.

Follow-up System.

"An institution gives a man a good start, but he is not fit for discharge until routine and caution have become a habit. The latest classification of results of the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, which is the standard, states that from two to five years under normal life outside of a sanatorium must elapse before a patient can be reported as apparently cured.

For this reason, a follow-up system should be inaugurated for the returned men after they leave the sanatoria. In an an article which I have recently written for the Government, I have strongly recommended this. Government care of the man should not end on leaving an institution. A man should be appointed in each military district to look after these cases exclusively and see that they remain well.

Concerning the resolution "That the department of militia and defence be urged to have all new recruits carefully examined by chest specialists, etc., before acceptance to the army," as passed by the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, in session in Ottawa this week, Dr. W. A. Craig says: "When I was in New York shortly after war was declared, I understood that in the States they were going to take an X-ray of the chest of every recruit for overseas service. I do not think too great care can be taken in determining whether a man is tubercular or not before he is passed. At the same time, it couldn't be expected of a board of examiners passing upon fifty or more men in a day to discover all the fine points. What is required is a larger staff of examiners to give more time to each individual.

Can't Stand Exposure.

"Men who are tubercular can't stand the exposure, hardship and strain. At the same time, some have passed gone overseas, and gone through so far. But the war isn't over yet. A large percentage of our 52 patients here at the present time are returned men. Some have been in France, others sent back from England. Still others have not been able to leave Canada at all. The first winter of the war at Salisbury Plain developed a lot of cases. This was not to be wondered at, considering conditions. I think undoubtedly there should be more strict examination for tubercular trouble before passing recruits."

LONDON DOG FANCIERS WERE BIG WINNERS AT DETROIT KENNEL SHOW

London dog fanciers were big winners at the show given by the Detroit Kennel Club on Thursday. The exhibition attracted more than 300 dogs, the best in Michigan and contiguous states. The exhibition was given to raise money for the soldiers' comfort fund, and thousands paid to see the blue blooded canines. Five of the best cups in the show come to Londoners, which is considered a great record in view of the competition.

H. G. Craig swept everything in the setter classes, winning two first prizes and two specials, one of the latter being the Mrs. A. F. Alger cup, and another the Mrs. A. F. Gregg cup. The Alger cup was given for the best setter in the show, the Irish setters included, and was won by Mr. Craig's handsome female The other was for the best brace. It was a notable win for Mr. Craig.

Louis Bricklin was a big winner in the Pomeranian classes. He won three firsts and two specials, the Mrs. T. Hall cup for the best Pomeranian, and the Mrs. J. F. Hance cup for the best puppy of any breed. Mr. Bricklin's dogs were greatly admired.

In the wire hair fox terriers W. H. Short was to the one taking several firsts and specials for the best wire hair terriers in the show.

London visitors speak in the highest terms of the show, and declare that the ladies' committee of the D. K. C. is to be congratulated on the success of the venture.

SIR ADAM BECK SAYS LONDON CAN'T BUY HARD COAL; TORONTO FAILED AND SO WILL LONDON

Canada's Chief Apostle of Public Ownership Tells Free Press Readers What He Told Those Who Boost the Scheme—Yard Can Only Get Soft Coal.

That Toronto, though represented by her own property commissioner, Mr. Harris, who holds the dual office of representative of the Canadian fuel controller in Ontario, has found it absolutely impossible to buy hard coal, and that London need not and cannot expect any better success, is the startling statement of London's chief apostle of public ownership, in discussing the fuel bylaw.

The London Free Press, journalistic mouthpiece of Sir Adam Beck, in last night's edition presents a statement in which Sir Adam tells of his conference with backers of the civic coalyard scheme, in these words:

"'What do you think of the scheme?' I was asked. I said that it was ALL RIGHT IF THEY COULD BUY HARD COAL. But I was informed by the mayor of Toronto that TORONTO CANNOT BUY HARD COAL, AND I DO NOT THINK ANY OTHER MUNICIPALITY CAN. Toronto, however, has secured an abundance of soft coal for a municipal yard. However, if the council is able to buy the coal the London and Port Stanley Railway is prepared to lend every possible assistance."

Here, from the mouth of the man who has led, and who still leads, public ownership sentiment, not alone in London, but in all Canada, the people are told that this is not the kind of public ownership that can succeed.

The Big Obstacle.

The scheme, says Sir Adam, is "ALL RIGHT IF THEY CAN BUY HARD COAL," but that great big "IF" is the insuperable impediment that the people of London are asked to batter their $25,000 of taxpayers' money against. No municipality can penetrate the defences of the hard coal barons of the United States, who, banded together, refuse absolutely to have any cut, shuffle or deal with any publicly-owned institution in the United States or out of it.

Property Commissioner Harris of Toronto is one of the shrewdest city officials in the country. He has saved the citizens of that city hundreds of thousands of dollars, and his advice is invariably sought and followed in the biggest enterprises in which the Queen City engages. So big a man is Mr. Harris that the Dominion Government picked him as the man to run the Ontario end of the department of Dominion Fuel Commissioner C. A. Magrath, whose headquarters are in Ottawa. If you write from London to the fuel controller in Ottawa you will be advised that "the coal situation in London is in the hands of Mr. Magrath's representative, Mr. Harris, at the city hall, Toronto."

Toronto Has Failed.

Consequently when Toronto went after hard coal for a municipal fuelyard, by all the "dope" she should have landed it. But to quote Sir Adam further: "I WAS INFORMED BY THE MAYOR OF TORONTO THAT TORONTO CANNOT BUY HARD COAL."

SIR ADAM BECK'S OWN OPINION IS THAT NO OTHER MUNICIPALITY CAN SUCCEED ANY BETTER THAN TORONTO.

Toronto, he says, has an abundance of soft coal. Anybody can buy soft coal. There is no ring in that line of the big producers. It comes from too many places. But the hard coal output of the United States is roped and tied by the three big companies that produce EIGHTY-SIX PER CENT OF ALL THE ANTHRACITE MINED IN AMERICA—the Delaware and Lackawanna, the Lehigh Valley, and the Philadelphia and Reading.

Tried to Break Trust.

These companies, backed by hundreds of millions of dollars capital, sit tight to do business only with the private dealers. Four years ago a wealthy American went broke trying to beat this combine, and all he did was to establish in the court of last resort in the United States that the hand of these companies cannot be forced. It is even said by those who watched the case that the railroad and mining company intentionally made its victory in each of the lower courts just close enough to a draw to encourage the attacking litigant to carry it further. He staked his bankroll, and went broke, and he stands today as a horrible example to those who would have the people of London, already tax-burdened, jump onto the stage as the knight errant of all creation, to break up the combines that have stood adamant before the world.

Must Divide Spoils.

But the job-hunters and politicians of London have divided the spoils, and if there are no spoils they must die weeping. A piece of land in the south end of the city has been bonded at a stiff price. Why it is bonded no one knows—there isn't a man in London who would pay as much for the piece for his own purposes, a real estate owner asserted. Then the job of managing the coalyard has been fixed up for a booster of the scheme, who has made a failure of everything else, and who has only that qualification for pulling down a salary that will make some of the city hall officials look like office boys.

Exposure of the endeavor to deceive the people into the belief that hard coal is purchasable has driven the little group of professional boosters like rats for cover. Now they say it will be a soft coal yard, and that it will cater to the requirements of London manufacturers. But any city, individual or company can buy soft coal in the open market, and for that reason every manufacturer buys his own direct. He allows no dealer a profit on his business, nor yet will he pay extra cost to the city.

No Aid for Householder.

Thus the venture resolves itself to a matter of philanthropy, in which the only selling argument to a manufacturer would be that the citizens would buy and store coal to await the needs of the factory owner, thus saving the capitalist the trouble of tying up his money in a fuel heap before he needed it.

But this coal is worthless for domestic use, and as is explained by the agents that have offered to sell to the city, "IT IS PARTICULARLY SUITED FOR USE IN HIGH PRESSURE STEAM BOILERS." One institution in London that has made use of it has equipped its boilerhouse with smoke consumers. London domestic users have never yet come to using soft coal nor will they now.

"Where then," it is asked, "does the taxpayer and householder stand to benefit by this scheme? He helps out the capitalist, but is neglected himself."

Why Stratford Quit.

The advice of the fuel controller for Canada caused Stratford to abandon the notion of a municipal fuel yard, because the Classic City was told such a plan COULD NOT INCREASE THE SUPPLY OR REDUCE THE PRICE TO THE DOMESTIC CONSUMER.

But laying on the big stick, which he threatens to wield unmercifully, the fuel controller curbs the retail dealer who attempts to join forces with the wartime profiteers.

"The people look to me for protection, and protection they shall have," was Mr. Magrath's ultimatum to the dealers of London when he held a sitting in this city. Vancouver dealers did not believe that he meant what he said, and the axe fell over night. Last Saturday he fixed prices of domestic fuel in that city, and with his decision was announced his determination to repeat the dose wherever it is found necessary.

The blade is on the throat of the wartime buccaneer. If he misbehaves his head comes off. But meanwhile the people of London will not commit hari-kari just to be in the cutting game, and when the bylaw comes to a vote one week hence, the man who pays the taxes, and who perchance still owes some, will keep in mind the fact that past prodigality today leaves TWO MILLION DOLLARS WORTH OF UNSOLD LONDON MORTGAGES ON THE HANDS OF THE CITY TREASURER.—Advertisement.

NO BUSINESS TODAY; SESSION LEGAL ONE

Police Court, for Once This Week, Anyway, Conducted in Proper Manner.

"There will be no doubt of the legality of the police court proceedings today, as we have a clear sheet and nothing to do," said Inspector Birrell today at ten minutes to 10 o'clock as a reporter drifted into the courtroom.

Henry Macklin, J. P., was on deck bright and early, but finding nothing to do, left.

Mayor H. A. Stevenson on Friday declared that the police court proceedings since Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon went to the hospital were illegal. He based his contention on the fact that the statutes provide that the mayor shall make arrangements for a temporary magistrate, and as this had not been done, the judgments of Henry Macklin, J. P., were illegal.

GIFT OF $3,500 ORGAN HIGHLY APPRECIATED

Ridout Street Methodist Church is to receive a splendid accession to its equipment from one of its trustees in the gift of a magnificent pipe organ. The other evening Mr. Henry Pocock of the London Concrete and Machinery Company, called at the Ridout street parsonage and informed the pastor, Rev. J. E. Holmes, that he had decided to present the church with an organ the same to be installed in January next.

The organ will be one of the latest and most improved types with electric action and electrically operated, and will cost in the neighborhood of $3,500 apart from the electric motor and fan which the pastor states will cost $500 and which he purposes asking the congregation to contribute.

With such a gift, pastor and congregation are greatly pleased and greatly indebted to one who has been deeply interested in the welfare of Ridout Street Church. Steps are being taken to have the gracious act upon Mr. Pocock's part suitably acknowledged by the church.

IRON AND STEEL MEN CONFER WITH FOSTER

London and Western Ontario Firms Represented.

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—Representatives of leading iron and steel importers and users were in conference this morning with Sir George Foster, minister of trades and commerce. The position in relation to the embargo placed by the United States on the exportation from the United States of certain iron and steel products was discussed at length and the difficulties outlined. The iron and steel men will now meet together with a view to suggesting a line of action to the department.

Among the interests represented at the conference were: G. White & Sons Company, London; Goldie & McCulloch Company, Galt; Hamilton Bridge Works; Sawyer-Massey, Hamilton, and the Cockshutt Plow Company, Brantford.

GILES—LEWIS.

HYDE PARK, Sept. 28.—A quiet wedding took place on Thursday at the home of Samuel Lewis, when his daughter, Gertrude, was united in marriage to Mr. Giles of London. Rev. A. Irwin, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, officiated. The bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father, and looked very charming gowned in blue silk. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served and the young couple left by motor to their new home on Kitchener avenue, London, the bride traveling in blue silk with large picture hat to match.

BRITISH BULLDOG TENACITY HAS JUSTIFIED THE TITLE IN THE PRESENT OFFENSIVE

High Ground Recaptured Which Was Lost in First Gas Attack; Wedge Driven Into German Line Which May Compel Evacuation of Zeebrugge and Ostend Ere Spring.

By Frank H. Simonds

Author of "The Great War," "They Shall Not Pass."

[Written for The London Advertiser and the New York Tribune—Copyright 1917—The Tribune Association.]

In the present article I desire to discuss in detail the latest British operation from Ypres eastward, a logical and natural extension of the two earlier operations, which are themselves phases of the great British campaign of 1917. To do this it will be necessary to examine at considerable length the main geographical and strategic circumstances of the Ypres region, so frequently mentioned and so little described in current battle reports.

To start at the beginning, there is between Langemarck and the Lys River at Warneton, a 15-mile front of good ground—that is, solid ground over which armies can advance. North of Langemarck the land is low and swampy and has been flooded since the Battle of the Yser in October, 1914, when the Belgians opened the sluices and thus halted the German advance on the Yser front. South of Warneton, and on the right bank of the Lys, the forts of Lille and the city and its suburbs make any advance difficult, and to the difficulties of ground is added the obstacle incident to the certain destruction of this great French city should the fighting approach it. What the Germans have done in St. Quentin and Lens they would certainly do in Lille.

A Wedge Into Foe Front.

An offensive, therefore, which had as its main strategic purpose to move down the Lys Valley and thus turn the Germans out of their position along the Belgian coast from the Yser to the Dutch frontier would necessarily have to pass through this sallyport between Warneton and Langemarck. Its advance would be from west to east and, progressing thus, it would cross one after another of the railroads and highways, themselves running north and south, which are the main lines of German communication. More than this, such an advance would push a wedge into the whole German front in Flanders, quite analogous to the wedge driven into the German lines along the Somme in the great battle of last year.

Thus, long before the Allies moving down the valley of the Lys arrived at Ghent, the Germans would have to withdraw out of the whole of coastal Flanders, as they had to draw out of the great Noyon salient this spring, while the French and British were still outside of Peronne and Bapaume. Moreover, just as Bapaume and Peronne were the immediate objectives of the Somme "push," Roulers and Menin are the immediate goals of the present drive. Once the British are at Menin and at Roulers, the Germans to the north and south, along the coast from Ostend to Zeebrugge and in the ever deepening La Bassee-Lille salient, will be in a dangerous position, although their fronts remain unshaken on either side of the entering wedge.

So much for this larger strategy. Now for the immediate geographical circumstances. East of Ypres rather less than two miles rises a low ridge. It runs in a general direction from northeast to southwest, and its southern extremity is just due south of Ypres. It is not more than a hundred feet above the surrounding country and the rise is so gradual that it does not suggest real height at any point. This ridge carries a number of villages familiar to all readers of the war news of the past three years. These are Messines, Wytschaete, Hollebeke, Zandevorde, Gheluvelt, Zonnebeke and Broodseinde. North of Broodseinde it narrows very rapidly to a point at the also familiar village of Passchendaele.

Watershed of Ypres and Lys.

Actually this ridge is the watershed between the Yser and the Lys. Down its gently sloping western flanks flow a number of little streams which enter the Yser, rapidly dropping to the great marsh to the west of Ypres. Eastward from the ridge flow other little brooks, which enter the Lys. They are much shorter than the streams of the west, but on neither side are the watercourses more than mere brooks, obstacles to military operations only in the wet season, which, however, is pretty constant in this unhappy region.

In 1914, when the British first came to the Ypres district, they were advancing toward the north and east and along two main highways—that which goes from Ypres to Menin, the famous Menin road, and the Ypres-Roulers road which passes just southeast of Langemarck. But their main push was along the Menin road, and when they were brought to a dead halt by the new German drive for Calais they stood along the ridge from Broodseinde right down to Messines, holding all the little villages along the crest which I have mentioned. From Broodseinde their line extended at right angles to Langemarck, behind several of the little brooks which flow west of the Yser.

In the first battle of Ypres—in October and November, 1914, the British were pushed westward off the ridge from Broodseinde all the way through Wytschaete and Messines, except for one little strip from Gheluvelt to Zonnebeke, but from Zonnebeke to Langemarck their line was pushed back very little indeed. This fighting transformed the Ypres sector into a very disagreeable salient, and the Germans on the ridge about Messines and Wytschaete looked down upon Ypres and swept the rear of the British and their lines of communication in all the salient.

Gas Forced Retirement.

In the second battle of Ypres—in April and May, 1915—the battle in which poison gas appeared, the German attack was about Langemarck, and, having broken the French colonial troops who held the line about Langemarck and to the west, the Germans came south until they reached the Yser Canal at Lizerne. They even passed the canal at the crest of their rush. This advance necessitated a new adjustment of the lines, and the British were compelled to draw back along their whole front between Langemarck and the Menin road, giving up Zonnebeke and all but the barest foothold on the ridge. To all practical purposes they were now off the ridge and the Germans held all the good gun positions and observation points from one end of the ridge to the other. And this situation endured down to June of the present year.

At this time the British, having determined to make their main offensive for the year in the Ypres district, were faced with the immediate problem of the ridge. Before they could move at all it was necessary to drive the Germans off that portion of the ridge south of the Menin road and crowned by the villages of Messines and Wytschaete, because from these positions the Germans commanded their rear and all their lines of communication from the Yser Canal at Lizerne all the way round to the foot of the ridge at Wytschaete.

This was done in the battle which is known to the British army as the battle of "White Sheet" Ridge, and this battle marks one of the most successful British operations on the technical side in the whole war, comparable with the several French attacks in the Verdun sector, which alone rival it in brilliant correlation of artillery and infantry tactics. In this battle the British captured all of the southern end of the ridge as far north as Hollebeke, where the Ypres-Comines Canal, connecting the Yser and the Lys, cuts through it.

The Second Phase.

But this was only a preliminary step. It was a necessary preparation for the main attack, but this main attack necessarily had to be made north of the Comines Canal and along the Menin and Roulers roads. From June to August, the preparations for this great operation went forward. In this time all the great mass of munitions had to be accumulated, roads and railroads built, guns concentrated, and this work was completed by July 31, which saw the opening of the second phase in this British offensive.

This time the operation was from the north side of the old Ypres salient. Precisely as the Germans from the Wytschaete-Messines Ridge commanded the Ypres salient from the south, they swept it from the north on the Pilkem Ridge south of Langemarck. It was necessary to clear away this side of the salient, too. This was done in that attack of July 31, and the succeeding days, in which the British, with the aid of a French army on their extreme left, pushed across the Yser Canal and took Steenstraete, Het Sas, Pilkem, Bixschoote and St. Julien. These positions, after some counter-attacks, were finally left in British hands, and the Allies now held a line from the Yser Canal, where it enters the marsh district, as far east as the northern environs of St. Julien, which corresponds roughly with the line held by the same allies when the first battle of Ypres began. They had, in a word, abolished the Ypres salient and from the flooded districts south of Dixmude to the Lys below Armentieres the Allied line ran practically straight, while at the northern and southern extremities—that is, about Pilkem and Wytschaete—the high ground was wholly in their hands.

The Main Operation.

But from the Ypres-Comines Canal at Hollebeke to the foot of the ridge near Gravenstafel, north of Zonnebeke—that is, along the whole centre of the Ypres sector—all the high ground, all the ridge, still remained in German hands, and this was the portion which was essential; all the other operation had merely been preliminary work on the two flanks to clear the way for an attack in the centre. While the Germans held the Pilkem and "White Sheet" ridges it was not possible to push forward in the centre, because the advance would be enfiladed by German gunfire from the flanks, and all British concentrations could be observed and reported before they had passed Ypres and while they were still further than German reserves were from the actual firing line.

By the middle of August, then, the Allies had restored the situation on their flanks which had existed at the moment the first battle of Ypres had opened, in October, 1914. In a sense this is what the French achieved in their first Verdun offensive in October, 1916, when they retook Douaumont and Vaux; but when the French retook these two vital positions they limited their effort to this objective and the enemy still held all the nearby heights. The successive drives, that in December of last year and that in recent weeks, completed the task. But it is well to remember that the French were merely seeking to disengage Verdun and not preparing any great offensive. They were satisfied when they had reoccupied all the important positions from Hill 304 to Fort-de-Vaux, which had been in their hands before the German attack of February, 1916.

Ypres Drive Ambitious.

About Ypres, on the contrary, the Allies were seeking a far more ambitious objective, and they regarded the June and August operations as necessary, but relatively minor preparatory thrusts. When they were over the British on the operative front from St. Julien to Hollebeke looked up the slopes of the ridge to the positions which they had held in the opening days of the fighting in this region, and had only given up completely in May, 1915, after the gas attack had broken in the northern end, or re-entrant, as the soldiers say, of the Ypres salient.

On the large scale map of the German front in this sector made by the British staff from aeroplane observation, a copy of which General Maurice, chief of military operations, gave me in London in the winter, there are indicated before the British line of last autumn three systems of trench lines, separated by something like a mile, the first running along the foot of the ridge from St. Julien down to Hollebeke, passing through the hamlets of Frezenberg, Westhoek and Klein Zillebeke. Practically all of this line was breached in the fighting of August, when Langemarck was taken, but it was not for many weeks that the British were able to surmount it, and some of the fiercest and most deadly fighting of the war has taken place in this first system. This is revealed in the weekly British casualty lists, which show a total loss of 70,000 in three weeks ending August 17, weeks in which there was no great drive, but merely the "dingdong" of local operations.

By the first of September we may say the British had surmounted this first German system from St. Julien to Hollebeke, they had touched the foot of the ridge, which lay before them from Gheluvelt, on the Menin road, to Zonnebeke, on the Ypres-Roulers railway.

The Present Operation.

The British had before them now a second system of defences stretched across some of the most difficult country on the whole western front, a country of small woods and little ponds, hiding solid farmhouses, which lent themselves to fortification. To these woods, ponds and farmhouses the British "Tommy" and his Canadian and Australian comrades had given familiar names, although some of the more considerable patches of forest kept their old names. Polygon wood, the largest belt of woodland, famous in the first battle of Ypres, retained its name, as did Nun's wood, but Glencorse wood, Inverness copse, Stirling Castle and Shrewsbury forest, with Dumbarton Lakes near by signalled the presence of Britons and Scots, while Toronto farm, Quebec farm, Abraham heights and even Kansas cross, testified to America, as did Anzac, Helles and Gallipoli farms to Australia.

This second system was an inextricable tangle of underbrush, marsh, ruins—it had endured three years of shelling, and only those who have seen the battlefields of the Somme or of Verdun can even conjecture what such a country really is like. Roughly speaking, this line covered Zonnebeke and Gheluvelt, which were behind it and between it and the third line, which lay along the crest of the main ridge. This operative front was approximately seven miles from the Menin road to the Roulers-Ypres railway, just north of Zonnebeke; and this system, too, represents all of the ground lost by the British in the first two battles of Ypres, which has not yet been revovered. On the British staff map this German system is indicated by many trenches and redoubts, which follow the western slope of the ridge, just below the crest, from Broodseinde, just east of Zonnebeke, through Reutel, west of Becelaere to New Kruiseecke, east of Gheluvelt on the Menin road.

With luck the British will have something like four weeks more of fighting weather; the first battle of Ypres lasted rather longer, up to the middle of November, in fact, but its main effort was ended by the first day of November, and only the sensational charge of the Prussian Guard along the Menin road from Gheluvelt supplied a really important detail in the fighting after November began. The problem that remains then is whether in the month of fighting weather they have reasonably surely to count on the British will be able to get over the crest of the ridge from Broodseinde to the Menin road, a front of perhaps five miles. If they do, then the spring will see the British holding all the important high ground in the sallyport between Langemarck and the Lys, save perhaps the tip of the ridge about Passchendaele. In the same fashion, by the coming of spring, this year, the British held all of the summit of the Bapaume Ridge, and were in a position to push on into that town and break the southern end, or re-entrant, of the Bapaume salient, had the Germans chosen to stay. A German retreat from the Flanders front upon Courtrai and Roulers might easily follow a British success this fall, as it did in the Bapaume sector this spring.

May Close 1917 Campaign.

Meantime attention should be fixed upon the front between the Roulers railroad and the Menin road. Here the last fight of the campaign of 1917 will probably be fought on the ground that three years ago at the very same time saw the bitterest phases of the first battle of Ypres. Then the Germans outnumbered the British five to one, and the British fought without heavy artillery or high explosives. Today the Germans are outnumbered and outgunned. Then a thin line of British infantry fighting with rifles against machine guns and field pieces against heavy artillery blocked the German road to Calais; now the German line with equal desperation is seeking to block a British army aiming to push eastward through the Ypres sallyport and cut off the Germans from the Belgian coast.

Here is a measure of the fashion in which the conditions of the world war have changed in three years. Instead of 100,000 British, there are today nearly 3,000,000 in France, and at least fifteen times as many on the firing line as Field Marshal Sir John French had at Ypres. And it is rather an impressive evidence of British obstinacy and tenacity that now, after three years, they are retaking the ground the Germans captured in the opening months of the war. A victorious British army advancing over the ground on which the "Old Contemptibles" stood and died, holding a new Thermopylae, is one more evidence of the amazing justice of the comparison of the Briton to the bulldog.

MANY CHILDREN DIE FROM SUMMER COMPLAINT

When They Could Be Saved by Using

DR. FOWLER'S Extract of Wild Strawberry

There is not a summer passes without thousands of people, especially infants, being attacked by Summer Complaint. The prostration, often verging on collapse, which sometimes accompanies this disease makes it one of the most serious and dangerous we have to contend with during the hot months.

A remedy which will quickly offset the vomiting, purging and the profuse diarrhoea is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry.

Mrs. Thomas M. Theriault, Grand Anse, N. B., writes: "My three children were very sick with Summer Complaint during the hot days last Summer. I thought one day that they would die, and I didn't know what to do to cure them. I happened to have one of your almanacs in the house, and found by reading about Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry that it was a good remedy. I at once got two bottles, and they perfectly cured them. I recommend everybody to use this wonderful remedy."

When you ask for "Dr. Fowler's" see that you get it.

It has been on the market for the past 72 years.

LIBERALS OF RED DEER "PASS UP" DR. CLARK

CALGARY, Sept. 28.—Dr. Michael Clark was passed up at the Red Deer Liberal convention last night, and W. F. Puffer of Lacombe, defeated candidate in the last provincial election, was given the nomination in succession to Dr. Clark.

There were eleven nominations, all of whom withdrew in favor of Mr. Puffer. Dr. Clark's resignation was accepted without a vote of thanks or appreciation. Dr. Clark has represented the constituency for the last nine years.

SHE WANT DAYS WITHOUT FOOD

When Hospital Treatment Failed an Operation Was Advised—But Cure Was Effected Without the Use of the Knife.

Glace Bay, N. S., Sept. 28.—Here is a case which sorely puzzled the hospital doctors. It was evident that the great suffering from pain under the left shoulder-blade was due to torpidity of the liver, but no medical treatment seemed to do any good.

In fact medicines failed, and the doctors said an operation was the only hope. But Mrs. Watkins hesitated before the enormous risk of an operation, and decided to try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills first.

The result was that she was perfectly cured three years ago, and feels now that she can report the cure as thorough and lasting. This is not an isolated case, but proves that this great medicine cures when ordinary prescriptions fail.

Mrs. Annie Watkins, Glace Bay, New Harbor, N. S., writes: "I think it is time for me to give my experience with your wonderful Kidney-Liver Pills. For seven months I suffered with what the doctor called indigestion; but whatever it was, I suffered terribly. The pain would start under my left shoulder and pass down my side until it reached the pit of my stomach. It just seemed as if the flesh were being torn from the bone. At times I used to go without food from one morning until the next. I had no energy left for work at all. At last our doctor sent me to the hospital for a month. For four days and nights I never broke my fast except for a drink of water. After four weeks' treatment there returned home, and was back only four days when the pain came back worse than ever. Then I was told I would have to undergo an operation, but I would not consent to that. At last I read about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and started to take them. At first I did not notice much difference, but still I kept on using them, and by the time four boxes were used I was perfectly well again. That was in 1914, so you see I can safely say that I was cured. I shall always be grateful to Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, as they did more for me than four doctors."

The Silver Tongued Orator of Minnesota, Charles A. Towne, Former United States Senator

Recommends Nuxated Iron to All Who Feel the Need of Renewed Energy

Says That Henceforth He Shall Not Be Without It.

Probably no remedy has ever met with such phenomenal success as has Nuxated Iron—over three million people annually are taking it in this country alone, to say nothing of the vast number who are using it in France, England, South America and other countries. It has been highly indorsed and used by former United States senators and members of Congress; physicians who have been connected with well-known hospitals have prescribed and recommended it; Monseigneur Nannini, a prominent Catholic clergyman, recommends it to all members of the Catholic Church. Former Health Commissioner Wm. R. Kerr, of Chicago, says it ought to be used in every hospital and prescribed by every physician; Dr. N. H. Hornstine, for ten years connected with the Department of Public Health and Charities of Philadelphia, says the administration of Nuxated Iron in a number of stubborn cases where other tonics had utterly failed, only served to convince him absolutely of its remarkable and unusual power; Former First Assistant Postmaster-General of the United States C. P. Grandfield strongly indorses and recommends it to the tens of thousands of civil service employees who know his name and signature. Sarah Bernhardt—"the Divine Sarah," the world's most noted actress, has ordered a large quantity sent to the French soldiers to help give them strength, power and endurance.

Former United States Senator Wm. E. Mason says the results he obtained from its use in his own case were so beneficial that he feels it should be made known to every nervous, run-made man, woman and child. The famous "Cyclone" Davis, member of the 64th United States Congress, says the effect of Nuxated Iron on him was almost magical, that after taking it, nothing seemed to tire him out, no matter how strenuous it might be. Dr. A. J. Newman, late police surgeon of the city of Chicago, and former house surgeon, Jefferson Park Hospital, Chicago, says Nuxated Iron has proven through his own tests of it to excel any preparation he has ever used for creating red blood, building up the nerves, strengthening the muscles and correcting digestive disorders.

Dr. Schuyler C. Jaques, visiting surgeon, St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York, says he has never before recommended any remedy to the public, but that in the case of Nuxated Iron he would feel he were remiss in his duty not to mention it. Dr. Ferdinand King, New York physician and medical author, says that in his recent talks to physicians on the grave and serious consequences of iron deficiency in the blood of American women, he has strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for their weak, run-down, nervous, haggard-looking patients. Ty Cobb, the greatest baseball batter of all time, took it to help give him renewed energy and great staying power. No matter what anybody says, you could not, at this day, get such prominent men to indorse a remedy that has no value—doctors, lawyers, politicians, athletes—a great array.

Dr. E. Sauer, a Boston physician, who has studied both in this country and great European medical institutions, said: "Nuxated Iron is a wonderful remedy. Not long ago a man came to me who was nearly half a century old, and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of twenty, and as full of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man; in fact, a young man he really was, notwithstanding his age. The secret, he said, was taking Iron—Nuxated Iron had filled him with renewed life. At 30 he was in bad health; at 46 he was careworn and nearly all in—now at 50 after taking Nuxated Iron, a miracle of vitality and his face beaming with the buoyancy of youth. If people would only take Nuxated Iron when they feel weak and run-down instead of dosing themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants, and alcoholic beverages, I am convinced that in this way they could ward off disease, preventing it becoming organic in thousands of cases, and thereby the lives of thousands might be saved who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, kidney, liver, heart trouble and other dangerous maladies. The real, true cause which started their disease was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by a lack of iron in the blood. Thousands of people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it."

If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again, and see how much you have gained.

NOTE.—Nuxated Iron, which has been used by Former United States Senator Towne with such surprising results, and which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians in such a great variety of cases, is not a patent medicine nor secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under sixty who lacks iron and increase their strength 100 per cent or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed by Standard Drug Company, Limited, and all good druggists.

What Senator Towne Says:

"As a member of Congress from New York, as a member of Congress and Senator from Minnesota, as participant in political campaigns and candidate for Vice-President, my nervous energy and nervous force were tremendously drawn upon. That I survived these trials and came into advanced middle life with the elasticity and strength of a boy, is unquestionably due to the rigorous attention I have paid to the proper care of my body. Recently I have been taking Nuxated Iron and have found it of the greatest benefit as a tonic and regulative. Henceforth I shall not be without it. I am in a position to testify for the advantage of others, to the remarkable and immediate helpfulness of this remedy, and I unhesitatingly recommend Nuxated Iron to all who feel the need of renewed energy and the regularity of bodily functions."

Minnesota's Man of Mark.

Former United States Senator Charles A. Towne graduated from the University of Michigan, twice elected member of the United States Congress, served in the United States Senate, nominated for Vice-President, takes Nuxated Iron; now recommends it to all who feel the need of renewed energy.

SPECIAL TO PHYSICIANS:

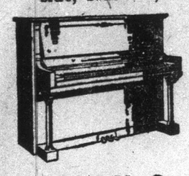

Doctor, when you wish to prescribe a true tonic and blood builder, one that puts the real "stay there" strength and youthful vigor into the blood and nerves, try Nuxated Iron. If you have been using the old forms of metallic iron, without success; if you have had patients complain of discolored teeth, upset stomachs, hardened, tied-up secretions, etc., from the use of metallic iron, again we suggest, try Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron will be furnished by any druggist on an absolute guarantee of success or money refunded. It is highly indorsed by such physicians as Dr. James Louis Beyea, for fifteen years Adjunct Professor in the New York Homeopathic Medical College; Dr. N. H. Hornstine, for ten years in the Department of Public Health and Charities of Philadelphia; Dr. A. J. Newman, late Police Surgeon of the City of Chicago; Former House Surgeon, Jefferson Park Hospital, Chicago; Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author, and others. In most cases physicians direct the use of two five-grain tablets three times per day after meals.

FOUND GUILTY, BUT REMANDED FOR WEEK

Man Who Stole Watch From Traveler Convicted by Judge Judd.

Charles R. Pitcher, was found guilty by Judge Judd Friday on a charge of stealing a watch from R. T. Fogerty, a Toronto commercial traveler. He was remanded to jail one week for sentence.

The evidence was to the effect that Fogerty had been asleep on the G. T. R. train, which arrived here at 5:15 o'clock Friday morning.

The conductor of the train, while passing through the coach, noticed Fogerty's watch chain dangling from his vest pocket. He awakened him and Fogerty stated he had the watch in his pocket when he fell asleep.

A search was made of Pitcher's trunk and the watch found there. He claimed that he had found it on the floor of the coach and had intended reporting it, but had forgotten.

Doctor Tells How To Strengthen Eyesight 50 per cent In One Week's Time In Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses, and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist, and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold in this city by the Standard Drug Company and Strong's drug store.

Stomach Relief! Stop Indigestion Gas, Sourness---Pape's Diapepsin

In five minutes! Neutralizes stomach acidity, relieving dyspepsia, heartburn, distress. Read!

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will sweeten a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is usually a sign of acidity of the stomach.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid; no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches or dizziness. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin helps to neutralize the excessive acid in the stomach which is causing the food fermentation and preventing proper digestion.

Relief in five minutes is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large, fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to usually keep the entire family free from stomach acidity and its symptoms of indigestion, dyspepsia, sourness, gases, heartburn, and headache, for many months. It belongs in your home.

BIG CHANCES OFFERED TALENTED STUDENTS

"Always there are openings for the student of talent who will work." This was the statement made a few days ago by Miss Merlyn Pococke, daughter of Roselle Pococke, the well-known London musician, as she spoke enthusiastically of the advantages of student life in Chicago, where she is a pupil of Madame Sybil Sammis MacDermid in the Lyceum Arts Conservatory.

American and Canadian students who formerly went abroad to continue their studies and gain experience since the outbreak of war have been flocking to the big centres on this continent, where teachers of international fame have been establishing themselves. While New York holds today the position on the musical map that was formerly accorded Berlin, Chicago is coming prominently to the fore as the musical metropolis of the west.

Galli Curci's Debut.

"Apart from the chance of getting concert and church engagements through booking bureaus," continued Miss Pococke, "there are advantages offered by various organizations. An outstanding opportunity to gain experience and, perhaps, get a big chance is in connection with the Chicago Opera Company. The operatic director of the training school is always advertising for students for chorus and minor roles. Galli Curci, who has created such a furore in both the United States and Canada this year, came before the American public through this medium. Previous to singing with the Chicago Opera Company, she had only made one record, and was not at all well known. She wanted an engagement with the company. Campanini, the director, wanted her to sing for him, but she refused. He tried her on a small role, and the audience went wild over her on her first appearance. That was the beginning of last season, and from that hour her success was assured.

"Apart from this, students are afforded an opportunity of gaining experience in appearing in public through the Musicians' Association of Chicago, which presents advanced students at recitals in Fullerton Hall.

"Students of the various musical instruments have the chance of getting engagements in one of the numerous orchestras, while we have an orchestra in connection with our school conducted by Frederick Frederichsen.

London Composer Winning Success.

"Talking of the 'musical atmosphere,' of the big European cities before the war, and the opportunity of hearing the best music, every Friday afternoon and Saturday evening there is a chance to hear the Chicago Symphony Orchestra (the Thomas) during the season. Then every Sunday afternoon recitals are given at which famous artists appear. We meet song composers, and sometimes have the privilege of singing their own works for them. One composer who is coming to the fore in the past few years is James MacDermid, a former Londoner, husband of Madame Sybil Sammis MacDermid, with whom I am studying. He has written a number of charming things."

Miss Pococke has undoubted talent, as is well known in London. If it is true that talent and willingness to work are the twin keys to unlock the door of opportunity, then this London girl is an industrious student. For the past year and a half she has been contralto soloist in the Church of the Covenant, and on returning shortly is going to occupy a similar position in Ravenswood Presbyterian Church. She has spent two summers in concert tours, a year ago through the Middle West, Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and Texas, and the past summer in Illinois.

"The first summer," she tells, "was a most interesting experience, but travelling was much harder there than in Illinois."

Assisted by Gladstone Paul, 'cellist, and A. D. Jordan, accompanist, Miss Pococke is going to give her London friends an opportunity of hearing her sing before she returns to Chicago, on Thursday evening next, October 4, in Wesley Hall. By the way, on this occasion she is including a couple of songs by James G. MacDermid in her program, "I Call to Mind a Day," and "Sacrament." The patronesses of her London recital are Lady Beck, Mrs. T. H. Carling, Miss L. Carling, Mrs. R. M. Burns, Mrs. T. H. Smallman, Mrs. Thomas Baker, Mrs. Thomas Coffey, Mrs. George M. Reid, Mrs. E. B. Smith, Mrs. J. S. Niven, Mrs. J. B. McKillop and Mrs. W. G. Coles.

MUSIC AND MACHINERY

Near Aylmer in the old days there was a saw mill managed by a civil war veteran. The man in charge of the saw was continually running into trouble, and during one week he had been forced to take the saw to town to get it set. The owner of the mill asked the veteran the reason for these frequent breakdowns and got a complete answer: "The durn fool has no ear for music. He cannot tell when things are going wrong." It has been said often that while a stoker works with his hands, an engineer works with his ear. The man who sits before a complicated machine should be able to tell instantaneously if an abnormal sound begins to rise from it. If his ear has not been trained, the probability is that the machine will develop serious internal disorders. A Toronto electrician in charge of a battery of big dynamos attributes his success to the fact that when he was young his parents gave him a long course of violin lessons, thus developing in him a keen sense of the values and inter-relations of sound. Here is a suggestion for parents whose boys have shown mechanical ability and who have indicated a bent for some form of technical training. Let the lad's ear be trained by a violin course. He will be a better mechanician and a better workman. Besides he will have a hobby that will bring him unending delight as long as he lives.

NERVOUS TROUBLE

The nerve system is the governing system of the whole body, controlling the heart, lungs, digestion and brain; so it is not surprising that nervous disturbances should cause acute distress. The first stages of nervous debility are noted by irritability and restlessness, in which the victims seem to be oppressed by their nerves. The matter requires immediate attention, for nothing but suitable treatment will prevent a complete breakdown. The victim, however, need not despair, for even severe nervous disorders may be cured by improving the condition of the blood. It is because Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new, rich blood that this medicine has cured extreme nervous disorders after all other treatment had failed. The nerves thrive on the new blood made by these pills; the appetite improves, digestion is better, sleeplessness no longer troubles the former nerve-shattered victim, and life generally takes on a cheerful aspect. Every sufferer from nerve troubles, no matter how slight, should lose no time in giving Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial, thus regaining their old-time health and comfort.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

REGINA VICARINO IN OPERA THIS YEAR

Singer Who Appeared in London Is Engaged by the Famous Creatore for His Company.

Madame Regina Vicarino, coloratura soprano, a pupil of Arthur Lawrason, who had a most flattering reception when she sang at a Musical Art Society concert here in the spring, has been engaged for the stellar coloratura roles with the Creatore Opera Company. The company has been recently established by the famous conductor, Creatore, and will tour the largest cities in the United States, as well as making a number of appearances in New York. Critics who have seen Madame Vicarino in operatic roles declare her to be wonderfully artistic and possessed of unusual dramatic power, as well as the gift of a beautiful voice under perfect control.

NOTES AND NOTICES

Arthur Lawrason, who has won much distinction as a teacher of singing in New York, is holidaying in the city, at the home of his brother, S. F. Lawrason.

Miss Frances Cullis makes her last appearance as soloist of the First Presbyterian Church, going the following week to Askin Street Methodist choir.

Several most complimentary comments have been heard on the singing of Harold Ellis, baritone, last Sunday in St. Paul's Cathedral.

Miss Minnie Raymond has been engaged as organist of St. Paul's Cathedral in the absence of F. G. Killmaster, who is on indefinite leave, training with the C.A.M.C. at No. 1 Depot, Carling Heights, for overseas service.

Coming out of the first Isolde Menges recital this week in the Masonic Temple, a well-known citizen was heard to remark: "I've heard that Ernst Concerto a number of times, three or four at least. I can now recognize the name of it on a program without being told, but this is the first time I ever knew it had a tune."

PATRIOTIC FERVOR OF AMERICANS STRIKING

Londoners Impressed With Its Evidences on Southern Trip.

Dr. and Mrs. Cl. T. Campbell have returned home from Louisville, Kentucky, where the former has been attending the annual meeting of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., of which he is Grand Sire. Dr. Campbell was invited to be one of a delegation to meet Food Controller Hoover, but was unable to go to Washington.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Campbell have been impressed by the great patriotic fervor which war has aroused in the United States. Everywhere, khaki is seen as in Canada, but as yet no maimed and wounded men. The Canadian flag floats conspicuously with the Stars and Stripes and everywhere flags of the allies are displayed.

Mrs. Campbell visited several Red Cross Societies where work is being organized along the lines of the patriotic women's organizations in Canada. Much interest was manifested in what the women of Canada have been doing for the past three years in the way of war service and many questions asked about the activities of the Red Cross, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, etc.

A largely attended "Canadian Night" for the Grand Sire was held during the time the Sovereign Grand Lodge was in session.

THORNDALE WOMEN TELL OF WAR WORK NOW BEING DONE

THORNDALE, Sept. 28.—Thorndale Women's Institute visited the Wellburn branch yesterday afternoon. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. M. Sinclair. Mrs. D. Thompson, president of Wellburn branch, gave an address of welcome, and the meeting was then placed in charge of the visiting institute, with Mrs. Joseph Wheaton presiding. A topic on "Women as Nation Builders," was given by Mrs. J. K. Fitzsimmons. She outlined some of the great reforms which have been brought about through the efforts of persevering women. She also showed the great part women are playing in helping to win the war by the Red Cross work carried on everywhere. A splendid topic on "Value of Ideals," was given by Miss A. V. Hueston, and a very interesting one on "Education of Our Girls," by Mrs. G. Colbert. Miss Hazel Woods rendered two piano solos.

The Wellburn school fair held this afternoon on the school grounds was a great success.

William Ardiel, of concession 2, West Nissouri, died suddenly at his home yesterday. He attended Thorndale fair on Tuesday, but had to leave early in the evening owing to illness. He resided in the township all his life, and was widely known, having operated a threshing machine for several years in Nissouri and London Townships.

He had also been a member of the Thorndale fair board for a number of years.

The funeral will be held from the late residence on Monday afternoon. He is survived by his wife.

GOOD-BYE RECITAL OF ISOLDE MENGES GIVEN TONIGHT

Isolde Menges gives her final recital of the festival series this evening in the Masonic Temple, and ever so many people are sorry that the musical feast is so near a close. Possessing all the qualities which go to make up a great artist, Isolde Menges possesses as well the charm of a great artlessness and unaffected sincerity and simplicity. Her playing arouses enthusiasm and wholehearted admiration. Her personality and her delightful little descriptions of her numbers endear her to her audience and make them her firm friends. At no time has she appeared to better advantage than when she played for and talked to almost a thousand London public school children. They won't forget in the years to come that they were the guests for a wonderful afternoon of the great violinist, and that she made her violin talk to them, sing to them and conjure up wonderful moving pictures for them. They probably will remember always what she said to them about the importance of being good and appreciating good and beautiful things, and also about beginning very young to understand beautiful things like music, and to learn thoroughly. The grown-up audiences have found these Menges recitals refreshing and inspiring.

The famous Kreutzer Sonata (Beethoven) has been reserved as the opening number for this evening, giving as it does great scope for the musicianship of Miss Eileen Beattie, pianist, as well as the violinist. Other numbers include the Mendelssohn Concerto for violin and piano, an a, b, c, and d number, "Ave Maria" (Schubert-Wilhelmj); "Moment Musical" (Schubert-Kreisler); Poem Lyrique (Herbert Menges), and two Hungarian Dances in B minor and E minor (Brahmas-Joachim), as well as a couple of Spanish dances by Sarsate, "Malaguena and Habenera."

THAT TREMOLO VOICE

What Mozart Thought About It—Said: "Contrary to Nature."

The funny papers have lost many an opportunity to tickle the public's fancy by concentrating on the Farmer Corntossel and mother-in-law puns to the neglect of the way in which young ladies aim at imitating the tremolo stop on the organ when they "come out" in the singing world. Sayde joins the choir of the church her parents attend, and a couple of weeks later, when asked to sing for some friends she renders one of the standard songs, endeavoring to add to its effect by making use of what one gentleman calls the cinematographic vocal wobble.

By that he means the forced tremolo so frequently heard among amateurs. Why they do that is hard to say. Back of the practice is the same amount of reason there is in some of our current fashions; and what that is, is past explanation. The affected tremolo voice is not a recent habit as is airplaning, submarining, and wirelessing. It was known in Mozart's day. We read that at one time Mozart wrote: "Nothing can be more truly odious; besides, it is a style of singing quite contrary to nature. The human voice is naturally tremulous, but only so far as to be beautiful, and it is imitated not only on wind instruments, but on stringed instruments and even on the pianoforte. But the moment the proper boundary is passed it is no longer beautiful, because it becomes unlike an organ when the bellows are panting." And, Mozart's view is held by some people today.

This great man says the affectation of the tremolo is not natural, and surely singing that is unnatural does not amount to much.

DANDRUFF MAKES HAIR FALL OUT

25-cent bottle of "Danderine" keeps hair thick, strong, beautiful.

Girl! Try this! Doubles beauty of your hair in a few moments.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

AFRAID TO EAT

Wealthy Dyspeptic Dies of Starvation.

An inquest was recently held upon a wealthy man who had died of starvation. He was a victim of digestive trouble and afraid to eat because of the pain which always followed. This tragic proof of the folly of dieting should serve as a warning to those readers who experience pain and unpleasantness after eating. It should be remembered that indigestion, dyspepsia, heartburn, flatulence and wind are usually but symptoms of excessive acidity and food fermentation. The acid retards digestion, turns the food sour and causes fermentation and wind. Obviously, therefore, it is acidity which is the root cause of practically all forms of digestive and stomach trouble, and that is why physicians advise sufferers to take Magnesia Neutrate after meals. Magnesia Neutrate is not a drug or a medicine, but an antacid and food corrective which can be obtained from high-class chemists everywhere. A teaspoonful, taken in a little water, after meals is sufficient to instantly neutralize acidity and prevent all possibility of the food fermenting; and if dyspeptics would only adopt this simple precaution they would soon find drug taking and dieting unnecessary. Magnesia Neutrate would enable them to eat hearty meals without fear of pain to follow.—Advt.

"IT'S JUST GRAND," DECLARES THIS TORONTO WOMAN

Tells of Her Remarkable Recovery With Tanlac.

"A GOD-SEND," SHE SAYS

Had Rheumatism So Bad Almost Lost Use of Her Fingers.

It is not what the manufacturers claim for it, but the testimony of the multiplied thousands who have been benefited by it that has made Tanlac the most famous medicine in the world today. Mrs. Amy O'Brien, a life-long resident of Toronto, whose husband is with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, "Somewhere in France," in an interesting interview at her home, 134 Lansdowne avenue, recently said:

"One day I saw in the paper where a lady who described my symptoms exactly had gotten relief by taking Tanlac, and that's what caused me to take it and find relief from my troubles. So no one knows the good they may do by telling what helped them out of their suffering. I have been afflicted with rheumatism for five years, and my general health had become all broken. And although I spent lots of money for treatment and medicines of various kinds, my condition grew worse until I began taking Tanlac. I would have attacks of acute rheumatism when it seemed like the pain would drive me distracted. Just sharp, shooting pains all through my arms that left my muscles so sore I could hardly bear to touch them. I was swollen around my waist, my joints were swollen and so stiff and painful I could hardly bend them. There were knots puffed on the backs of my hands as large as an egg, and many a morning I have gotten up with my fingers so swollen and hurting me so I couldn't slice up the bread for breakfast. I didn't seem to have much strength, couldn't sleep well, and always felt tired and worn-out, I never felt like even getting out of the house, and my work was a burden to me.

"Tanlac has certainly been a God-send to me. It is truly wonderful how the two bottles I have taken have helped me. I don't feel the rheumatism now at all, those unsightly knots have disappeared from my hands and the pain and swelling has all left my arms and fingers. My sleep is sound and peaceful, and I get up in the mornings feeling fine, and my general health has improved more than I can tell. I honestly believe my rheumatism is a thing of the past and my tired, worn-out feelings are gone, too. I really feel better than I have in many years, and cannot only do my work with ease, but feel like getting out and going somewhere every day. Tanlac has been a grand thing for me, and I will gladly tell anybody personally how it has helped me."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, under the direction of a special representative, and by an established agency in every town.—Advt.

GERMANY WEAKENING.

MPORTANT as are the gains made by the British forces in the last w days, they are, perhaps, less so an the losses inflicted on the enemy, ys Major-General Maurice, and his e of reasoning is not hard to follow. German man power is being exusted. The process is slow in showg definite results, but it is continuing ally and only the German authorities now how serious is the outlook. In l the fighting of recent months, we re told, the enemy's losses and wastge of reserves have far outnumbered ose of the British, although the latter ve been the attackers in the main tions. The terrific drum-fire from arllery, barrage fire as the infantry adanced, followed by hand grenades, achine gun and rifle bullets, have not nly smashed the foe's defences but ave taken a terrible toll of life.

But the greatest slaughter appears have occurred among the Germans attempted counter-attacks. It is ill the tendency of the Teutons to epend largely on force of numbers to take positions lost, and these are urled against the British, if not in assed formation, in something approaching it. Time after time, six and even efforts have been made to regain piece of ground lost, all unsuccessful, nd each one fearfully costly in lives. his has been true for some time, but eports agree that there has never been ich slaughter among the enemy as in he last few days.

There are indications in plenty that he need for men is handicapping the emy. Bulgaria and Austria apply for elp from Germany, and the reply is a emand from Berlin that more Austrian nd Bulgarian troops be placed at Gerany's disposal. All are hard pressed nd have nearly exhausted their availble reserves. The prisoners taken by he British include quite a large proortion of 15-year-old boys and others anging between this and 18 years; ere children drafted into the army to l vacancies.

The situation on the Allies' side is he opposite. Not only are there still me French and British reserves, but anada has arranged to supply another 0,000, and the United States' reurces mount into the millions.

The longer the war continues, the eaker the Teutons must become, until ose mighty armies in which they usted to give them world supremacy e at the mercy of their enemies. No ne Prussian can look into the future ith anything but dread; all who will n see defeat certain and assured. eace moves are their only hope now, nd these must come from a humble ation, willing to abandon forever the reed of militarism.

HONEST AND PROVIDENT"

HE is the first prime minister of Canada in the present generaon who has ruthlessly and successlly put down graft and corruption." In these words the Toronto News fers to whom? No one would ever ess, so we give the answer—to Prelier Borden! And, the context shows at the statement is not intended ther as sarcasm or fun; the News tually wants it to be taken seriously. follows it up with this assertion: Despite the proneness of democracies corruption in war time, the present overnment has been the MOST HONST and PROVIDENT since that of exander Mackenzie." The News does t capitalize the words, but we think ey are worth it.

It is of little use to argue with the an who declares that black is white, d stands pat on his statement; one n only pity him because he is unable distinguish between the two.

If honesty consists in allowing profiers to bleed the nation until the Opsition forces an investigation and an posure, the Borden Government is nest. It is consists of whitewashing e accused of dishonesty, the Borden rnment is honest. If it consists of ing every obstacle in the way of se who wish to eliminate dishonesty, e Borden Government is honest.

f being provident consists of squanring millions of the people's money useless rifles, in paying favored firms d agents millions in excessive comssions for goods purchased and in ying railway stock, which investitors report to be worthless, for many illions rather than accept it for nothg, according to agreement, then the rden Government is provident.

f all these things are dishonest or provident, so is the Borden Governnt, and the opinion of the electorate hardly likely to coincide with that pressed by the News.

WAR MENUS.

OMESTIC science experts of the food controller's office are sendout daily war menus which The vertiser is glad to print in the hope t some of them may be found of e use in assisting housewives to nomize, especially in such exporte necessities as wheat, bacon and f. But it must be confessed that se menus show a lamentable ignorce, on the part of the experts, of at constitutes the day's meal for average workingman's family.

n form the menu is not all that ld be desired. It provides for akfast, luncheon and dinner. How ny workingmen have luncheon and dinner? The general rule is akfast, dinner (at noon) and sup-hen the items: For today the menu nted yesterday, quotes for breakt: Cornmeal porridge, milk, sugar, liver and bacon, brown bread, pear marmalade, tea or coffee.

Is this an economical breakfast or a feast? Liver and bacon, pear marmalade! It would surprise these food experts to know how many people are content with coffee and toast. The menu suggested would cost about 55 cents per head if ordered in a restaurant.

Luncheon: Cream of corn soup, bran gems, scalloped potatoes, coddled apples, tea, milk, sugar. This may be turned into supper, presumably. No mention is made of bread or the favorite crackers to accompany the soup. Perhaps the bran gems are a substitute. Again the meal would cost the unfortunate who eats in a restaurant 40 cents.

For dinner roast beef, cauliflower, pared roast potatoes, white bread, gingerbread and honey are prescribed. This is a moderate meal and follows closely that usually provided.

But bacon and beef are advocated on the same day, while the avowed aim is to conserve these articles. This is hardly consistent, and there are many households where meat is only served once a day.

If these menus are to achieve their purpose they will have to be brought down to a more thrifty basis. At present they are beyond the reach of those for whom they are intended. Mr. Hanna might, with advantage, obtain the services of some woman who has brought up a family on the $12 or the $15 a week her husband earned and let her replace some of the experts. She would know what economy means.

HUN LOGIC.

AN AMERICAN of a simple-minded sort brought out a book recently on Germany, which he had written apparently before his country entered the war. He had traveled in the blockaded empire of the Huns and taken down what he was told by officials, some of them high up and yet kindly obliging to the gentle tourist. Here is a passage which he got from an eminent Hun and prints without seeming to notice the ludicrous inconsistencies in it:

"Germany is seeking no territory through conquest. . . It never was a part of the plan of the war to add to Germany's territory through conquest, but it is possible that peace may necessitate a change of present boundaries of contiguous countries where such changes are in the nature of a safeguard to Germany's security. . . .

"The right to live carries with it a corollary in the right to grow, and both these rights are now being fought for by us against those who would deny them to us. The lands we hold —the war-won gains—may be used as bases for later operations of a different nature, but were not fought for nor won through a desire to possess them."

So Germany "sought no conquests," but "fights for her right to grow"! The Hun is an illogical animal when gratifying his desires. Most of us are a little that way, but not every people so glaringly self-contradictory as the Hun. For the Teuton Socialists are the same as the junkers in this respect. They want peace, brotherhood and cosmopolitanism, but they always refused to cooperate with French or British Labor in any practical resolutions towards the abolition of war. Six industrial societies in Germany have, moreover, in the last year passed resolutions declaring the appropriation by Germany of the mines in the Bassin de Briez to be essential to the progress of German metallurgy. That is a more brazen attitude than Hollweg's explanation of the German invasion of Belgium as "strategically necessary." The German nation is pirate almost through and through.

GERMANS FOR MIGHT.

GERMAN National Liberals have adopted a resolution which says that Germany's future security cannot rest on treaties alone, but must be founded on might and strength, and that ample war indemnities must be exacted from the Allies.

With a powerful party holding such views the result of a peace made under existing conditions is evident. It would be a race on Germany's part to strengthen her military and naval forces to a degree yet unattained, and on the Allies' side to keep up with her and maintain the balance of power: a reign of militarism such as the world has never seen. Can anyone doubt that a peace now would be a victory for Prussianism?

A NEEDLESS DECEPTION.

[By Lilian Hall Crowley.]

"Now, mother dear," said Jane, "we simply must fix up the horrid house some way. I can't have Ted's mother see such a place."

"Why make pretense, daughter? This is the way we have lived for the last four years."

"Yes, I know," answered Jane, "but it isn't really our way of living. We are only waiting until father's peach crop is a success. But to an outsider—this place looks as if it belonged to a Hill Billy. It would class us with them forever."

"Doesn't she like you for yourself, Jane?" asked her mother anxiously.

"Yes, of course, she has been a perfect dear ever since Ted and I became engaged. She made my last week in college the brightest of all for me."

"Well, dear," what could we do to this room?"

"We'll do a lot of things to it. In the first place, I asked Ted to bring his mother and sister the day father is in town, to be gone all day. I know he wouldn't have any sympathy with the way I feel about this, and it will all be over by the time he gets back."

Mrs. Wilson and her daughter were sitting early one summer morning in the only downstairs room in their house. They had come from Pennsylvania four years before, when Nathaniel Wilson had invested all he had in a peach orchard in the Ozarks, where one crop with favorable weather conditions would bring him a fortune. He had worked hard to bring his orchard to a state of perfection, but always some unfavorable occurance hindered the long-looked-for bumper crop.

When his wife had protested against their going to the farm, because Jane's education might be hindered, he had assured her that there was a good university in the town a few miles away, and that Jane should have every advantage. He had been able to keep his word, and Jane, who had just finished high school in Pennsylvania, entered the college. She was not graduated, and again home for the summer.

She had always been a great help to her mother when she was home. She made all the clothes for the family, put up fruit, cooked, and even helped her father out of doors. She had learned many things in college, about milk and butter, trees and shrubs, all of which practical knowledge was useful on the place.

During her last year of college life love had come knocking at the door of her heart, in the person of Ted Somerville. He belonged to one of the wealthy families of the town, and his mother was a social leader. They had been very happy in their love, and their joy was complete when Ted's mother showed instant fondness for the young girl her son had chosen.

Everything had gone along smoothly until now, when Jane realized what an impression her miserable little home might make on Mrs. Somerville. The one large room was kitchen, dining-room and living-room, while upstairs were two bedrooms.

The house, with a few pieces of furniture, had been on the farm when Mr. Wilson had bought it. The family had brought no furniture with them except a few old heirlooms. They meant to use the house only until such time as they had money from the big peach crop. Everything hinged on that.

Mrs. Wilson, never very strong, had lost interest in keeping up her house or her own appearance, and her husband was too busy to notice.

Jane hauled out a carpet that had been packed around one of the precious pieces of old mahogany and had since reposed, folded on the floor of the closet under the staircase.

"Come," said Jane peremptorily, "let's put down this carpet."

"But—Jane, I never tacked down a carpet before!"

"No, but you have seen them after they were put down. Come, mother dear. Let's hurry."

After the carpet had been put down Jane looked around with satisfaction until her gaze took in the windows. "No curtains! Mother, haven't you any?"

"I've never had the heart to make curtains for a room like this," replied Mrs. Wilson forlornly.

Jane ran to an old chest of drawers, relic of better days, and took out a bolt of white material belonging to her wedding outfit. "Now we'll have curtains for all these windows. The view over the mountain will be lovely and we'll have lots of flowers."

Jane had called in a couple of the men working in the orchard to carry the kitchen stove out to the back of the house.

"You see," she instructed, "when I go in and out for the tea things it will look as though we had a kitchen out there, besides keeping this room perfectly cool."

"Yes, I see."

"Now mother you run up stairs and I'll finish. When you get far enough along I'll do your hair, and, for goodness sake, put on a corset! Get out the one you bought a thousand years ago in Philadelphia. Let out the strings, but get into it somehow."

"I haven't had one on for over two years."

"You simply have to get into one now and you must pull it tight enough to get into that white muslin dress I made for you last summer and which you never wore."

"Very well." Mrs. Wilson smiled at her daughter's enthusiasm and tried to catch the same spirit.

Jane had arranged the flowers to her own satisfaction when her mother came downstairs.

"I am sure I can never fasten this dress; I'm all out of breath now."

"Never mind, you won't need any breath. I am going to do everything. There you are. Now sit down while I fasten these earrings. There—you look just like a has-been-lady."

"I feel as if I were going to be presented at court."

"You are!" said Jane. "Now, mother, you must keep that chair because it is the most comfortable one. I have placed the best one here for Ted's mother, so that her back will be to the back door. Then this chair for Bessie—Bessie is so young and happy, she won't know she isn't comfortable. She mustn't see behind the door, either. I'll fetch the kitchen chairs I painted yesterday. They ought to be dry now."

"This is such a lot of trouble, Jane."

"Yes, but once in a life time. Now, if you should want something, I'll get it, because if you get out of your chair you'll forget which one you sat in, and if you get into one of the others—all will be lost!"

The stage was all set for the play, when Ted, with his mother and sister drove up to the door. The room had gone through a transformation. The carpet and dainty white curtains, the freshly painted chairs, the tables arranged with books and flowers, a calm and happy mother and, best of all, a radiant Jane, presented a beautiful picture to even the most critical eye.

Jane noticed a puzzled look on the face of Mrs. Somerville when she looked at her mother. As she was warmly greeting Ted's sister Bessie at the time, Mrs. Wilson was oblivious to this.

For a moment Jane was dismayed. "I wonder if it is the earrings?" she asked herself, but she did not have time to worry about it, as she had to go out and make the tea. Everything was going on splendidly, and she was elated with her success.

"Just the thing to do," thought she.

When Jane came in for the last time she heard Mrs. Somerville ask her mother, "From what part of Pennsylvania did you come, Mrs. Wilson?"

"From Ellicuttown," Mrs. Wilson smiled reminiscently.

"Ellicuttown?" gasped Mrs. Somerville. "What was your name before you were married?"

"Grace Tompkins," answered Mrs. Wilson with a surprised look.

"Grace Tompkins, I was sure I had seen you before. I am Theo Alexander."

"Theo!" exclaimed the astonished Mrs. Wilson. "Is it possible? I had lost track of you entirely. Why, we haven't seen each other since the high school graduation."

"Yes, we all went to Europe after that. Father died there, and we just stayed on until I met Dick Somerville in Paris. He was there for a year's study. Then we were married and came to live in Saylorville, and have been here ever since. You are the first person from home I have met since we came."

"I'm so glad to see you, Theo. Isn't it wonderful that our children met each other?"

"I didn't know any Wilsons in Ellicuttown," said Mrs. Somerville, "so the name did not impress me."

"My husband's people moved there several years after you left, Theo. Nathaniel found work in the bank too confining and we came here four years ago to make our fortune."

Jane stood, with teapot in hand, in bewildered surprise.

"Then I need not have tried to deceive you; you'd have loved another anyway."

Ted sprang to her side and put a protecting arm around her.

"What is it, dear?" he tenderly inquired.

"I know you'll all despise me. I made mother pretend we had more rooms—and the stove is out of doors—and we would be taken for Hill Billys—and—I did it all."

Ted took the teapot from the excited and weeping girl and seated her in a chair. Turning to Mrs. Wilson he asked:

"What is Jane talking about?"

Mrs. Wilson, between smiles and tears, told of Jane's struggle of the morning and of her tears, lest, being found in the old shack with scant furniture, her parents would be looked down upon by the great Mrs. Somerville.

At this everybody laughed and Ted loudest of all.

"Why, that's plucky, Jane, by George, but you're plucky. Let's have a look at the kitchen that isn't a kitchen."

By this time Jane was laughing with the rest.

"As if," said Mrs. Somerville, with a warm smile, looking at Mrs. Wilson, "anything could make Grace Tompkins better than just Grace Tompkins."

The putting her arms around Jane and pressing a kiss on the girl's tear-stained cheek, she said:

"You ought to have seen the ugly house we lived in our first year. I am proud of you for Ted's sake. He will have a help meet in one who will not be balked by obstacles. Come, do give me some more tea."

Skin Without Wrinkles Now Easy to Have

There's no excuse for any woman having wrinkles now. It has been found that a simple mixture of saxolite and witch hazel has a remarkable action upon the deepest wrinkles, no matter what their nature, whether caused by worry, habitual frowning, a debilitated condition or the ravages of Father Time. This harmless remedy, which anyone can easily make and use at home, acts both as an astringent and a tonic. The combined effect of tightening the skin and heightening its vitality is to immediately affect every line and wrinkle, keeping the cuticle smooth and firm as in youth.

The proportions are one ounce saxolite (powdered) to one-half pint witch hazel, ingredients which are found in every drug store. The solution should be used as a wash lotion. It is equally effective in disposing of flabbiness of cheek and neck, as well as sagging below the eyes.—Advt.

NEW DANGERS OF CONSTIPATION

"Recent researches of Professor Metchnikoff and others have led doctors to suppose that many conditions of chronic ill-health, nervous debility, rheumatism and other disorders are due to poisoning set up by unhealthy conditions in the Large Intestine, and it has been suggested that the lowering of the vitality resulting from such poisoning is favorable to the development of Cancer and Tuberculosis.

"At Guy's Hospital Sir William Arbuthnot Lane decided on the heroic plan of removing the diseased organ. A child who appeared in the final stage of what was believed to be an incurable form of tubercular joint disease was operated on. The Lower Intestine, with the exception of nine inches, was removed, and the portion left was joined to the Smaller Intestine.

"The result was astonishing. In a week's time the internal organs resumed all their normal functions, and in a few weeks the patient was apparently in perfect health."

The Lower Intestine can never get into this condition if Internal Baths are used. The "J. B. L. Cascade" cleanses the Lower Intestine its entire length thoroughly with pure warm water, and removes all this poisonous waste, which is such a menace to health.

This is a sample only of many hundreds of letters we have in our files:

Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrell, Toronto:

Dear Sir,—Words, I can assure you, quite fail me to express my satisfaction and gratefulness to you for inventing such a humane and common-sense remedy for stomach troubles as the "J. B. L. Cascade." For the past 15 years I have suffered from such, and have never had the permanent relief from medicines as I have had from your "Cascade." I consider it the best investment I have ever made, and would not be without it for one hundred times its cost. I consider that those who are inflicted as I was are making the mistake of their lives to be without one of your Cascades.

Wishing you every success in your efforts for suffering humanity.

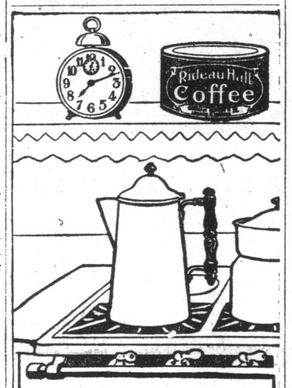

I am, dear sir, yours truly,
"GRATEFUL."

P. S.—Name and address will be furnished if requested.

It is Nature's own cure for Constipation and is now being used by over 500,000 Canadians and Americans with great success.

The "J. B. L. Cascade" is now being shown and explained at the Standard Drug Company, Limited, London, where a most interesting booklet, called "Why Man of Today Is Only 50 Per Cent Efficient," is given on request. Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

Simpler Preserving Methods.

Dear Miss Grey and All the Friends,—I often intended to write to you, but when I saw "One Who Wants to Know" asking for a cure for asthma I thought I'd better get busy. I do not think there is any cure, but this is what helped me when other things failed: Two 10-cent packages stromonia, 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 2 tablespoons saltpetre; steep for 24 hours, and dry until it will burn—not too dry or it will burn too fast. I put a pinch of it on a dish and light with a match and inhale the smoke. If very bad use more and burn in your bedroom just when you get into bed. If your heart bothers you I think you should get some medicine for it. I have a prescription from a Detroit doctor that is good if you would like it. I am sending Miss Grey my address and you can get it if you care to write to me. Another thing is to keep your stomach and system in good shape; the more you are run down, the more you will have it.

A year ago I suffered dreadfully with it, but this summer I have only had a slight touch of it a few nights.

One thing I have felt like writing about is canning fruit. For the sake of young housekeepers I will give my own opinion. Why anyone would want to go to the bother of putting the sealers into the boiler and cooking for hours, as nearly every recipe calls for, I cannot understand. I have tried both ways, and find it keeps just as well sealed boiling hot out of the kettle.

The main thing is to have the sealers perfectly clean and good rubbers. And use lots of sugar, though it will keep just as well with less sugar, only makes it taste better. It may look a little nicer if the fruit is put into the sealers whole before it is cooked, but I've read so many recipes where it was cooked then put into sealers, then into the boiler for two or three hours. Just a lot of unnecessary work! Screw down your tops tight when you fill your sealer, be sure it is boiling and you will have fruit good enough for anyone to eat without wasting fuel cooking it in a boiler. When doing raspberries or strawberries, if you want them extra nice, make a rich syrup, put in your fruit, let boil a few minutes and seal. Other fruits take longer; pears and peaches take the longest. I hope this will save some new beginner or busy housewife a lot of work. I have sealed up fruit for sixteen years and always have good luck.

Just read "La Donna's recipe for canning pumpkins and squash, and it certainly illustrates what I have just been writing. I have canned many a pumpkin, but when it went into the sterilized sealers the tops went on tight and my work was done, and they kept good, too. If ripe squash are put in a cool, dry cellar or room where they will not freeze they will keep until nearly spring; also citron and pumpkin. Beets, carrots, parsnips, if packed in a box of slightly damp sand, will keep fine until late the next spring.

"Valentine," here is what killed a very bad wart on my hand: Pick the top all over with a needle until the blood oozes out, and work in all the baking soda you can. Repeat, if necessary.

"Beatrice" asks if it would spoil her tan dress to wash it. Silk goods and tan colors are two things that I find always wash well and look like new. If it should fade a little, a little brown dye will brighten it up; add a very little to the rinsing water; have lots of water so it will not spot. I also freshen up other colors this way.

Now my little say on bread, and I am through. (I imagine I hear you say, "I hope so!") When potatoes are scarce just use the water they are cooked in to set your yeast with in the winter. It will not spoil if you save it a day ahead, if not cooking many potatoes. This is an easy way to make bread. At noon save your potato water, adding a few mashed potatoes if you wish. I do not like too many. After dinner, when it has cooled, drop in an yeast cake, and stir it up; after it has dissolved set where it will keep warm, and set your bread with this, adding the necessary water and salt.

I never put sugar in my bread, for I could never tell any difference when I did. A half cup of sugar twice a week makes one cup on Saturday to make a cake with, and counts up now when sugar is so high. If I forget to save the potato water I just use water and stir in enough flour to make a thin batter, have the yeast cake dissolved in a little warm water, and stir into it and let rise until light. Never set bread with yeast that is not light, for if the yeast won't rise the bread will not. When flour is very cold in the winter time, have the water quiet hot and stir into a batter, then add the yeast. I bake from sixteen to twenty loaves a week.

I now sign myself ADELINE.

P. S.—This is my first call. Maybe I will come again some day.

Ans.—How good that you did not "keep silence" any longer, for your practical letter is too valuable to remain "bottled up" like the German fleet. It's various helps are cheerfully passed along to readers.

O. L.'s Favorite Flower?

Dear Miss Grey,—I, too, like Miss Grey, was bewailing the dreadful fact that I hadn't got my new bonnet, and was anxiously awaiting the fall opening, when, zip! "Original Lonely's" speech flew onto the page. It near knocked the wind out of me. Now I am glad I have yet to purchase my Thanksgiving hat, and of course I must try and adhere to some of "O. L.'s" rules. Riddle—What is "Original Lonely's" favorite flower?

Peace seems to have been proclaimed on Cynthia Grey's page, and it is about the only place it has. I am still communicating with my five adopted soldiers, and must begin soon to prepare their Christmas bundles. I am going to try my hand at making each a Christmas cake, and I sincerely hope they do not collapse, etc.

Where is "Aunt Nannie"? I hope the dearest lady is not sick, and "Mrs. Homebird," has she really forsaken us?

Just a question before I retire. What to put in a box with homemade candy to keep fresh and soft? Also a few recipes for candy to send overseas.

Also what to put with a fruitcake to keep it moist?

Thanking you again,

THE GIRL OF THE LIMBERLOST

Ans.—Lucky, wasn't it, that we had both deferred the purchase, but judging by some of the "creations" shown, it will certainly tax us to choose a sensible, lady-like style, harmonizing with our lovely dispositions and grace of character! Eh, "G. O. T. L."?

Am sure the bundles for the "fortunate five" will be prized by the recipients. Have you noted the nice compliment paid to your fruitcake recipe by a reader? A good candy for overseas sending is made from four cups yellow sugar, one cup sweet milk, butter size of an egg; place over fire, bring to boiling point, boil hard, stirring frequently. When a little dropped into cold water will form a soft ball remove from fire, add vanilla, and a cupful of chopped raisins. Beat steadily until smooth, pour into buttered pans; mark into squares when nearly cold. The raisins help keep the candy moist, and if you like more butter may be added just before removing from stove.

Readers are asked for other candy recipes to help fill Christmas boxes for overseas.

A friend told me that she always puts plenty of shortening into her fruitcakes for overseas, and also packs a couple of dried apples with the cake. Whether they really help, I do not know, but by reports from the front, they invariably reach there "O.K."

She Keeps House.

Dear Miss Grey,—I am a reader of your page of a few days only, and I see where the girls are adopting soldiers. May I, too? I would prefer one whom has not one at all to write to as I have not any relatives in the army at all. I don't have much time, as I am only 16 years old, and keep house for my father and a family of three others on the farm.

Do you like cold weather? Winter can't come too soon to suit me. Maybe I will write again, and will sign myself FLORELLE.

P.S.—Have you a chow-chow recipe on hand, also a green tomato pickle? F.

Ans.—You are very welcome to join our ever-growing list of Pageites, Florelle. The "lonely's" name has been sent, but of course I cannot say for sure if he is absolutely alone in the world.

It is good that somebody likes winter; personally the warmer time of the year is the favorite. Several recipes I hope you may like, are these:

Green Tomato Pickle or Piccalilli—One peck green tomatoes, 4 small onions, 2 green peppers with seeds removed, 1 cup salt. Chop the vegetables, sprinkle over them the salt, let stand over night. In the morning drain, then add to 2 quarts vinegar, 1 pound brown sugar and 1 package mixed, whole spices from which the peppers are removed. The spices should be tied in cheesecloth bags and removed before canning. Cook the piccalilli slowly until very tender.

Sweet Green Tomato Pickles—Seven pounds tomatoes sliced, 3 pounds brown sugar, 1 quart vinegar, 1 tablespoon each of cloves, allspice and cinnamon. Boil until syrup is as thick as molasses, keeping tomatoes in all the time. Slice the tomatoes over night, with a slight sprinkling of salt. In the morning drain all the liquor off, and weigh the tomatoes.

Chow-Chow (uncooked)—One head cabbage, 1-2 peck green tomatoes, 6 large green peppers, 3 onions, 1 ounce celery-seed, 1 ounce whole cloves, 1 ounce whole black peppers, 1 ounce mustard-seed, vinegar. Cleanse everything thoroughly and remove the seeds from the green peppers. Chop all fine, salt well, and let stand over night. In the morning drain well and add all the spices. Cover with cold vinegar and seal in glass-topped pint glass jars.

Chow-Chow (cooked).—Three quarts cucumbers peeled and cut fine, one quart onions chopped, 2 quarts small whole onions, 2 quarts cauliflower cut fine, 6 green peppers chopped. Put in crock, cover with hot brine and let stand over night. Drain and add seven cups granulated sugar, one-half gallon cider vinegar, 3 tablespoons mustard seed, 2 tablespoons celery seed. Let come to a boil; make a paste of two-thirds cup flour, one-quarter pound mustard, one-half ounce turmeric. Mix with cold vinegar and stir in slowly. Stir quickly and let boil for a few minutes.

Somebody's "Skypiece."

Dear Miss Grey,—Seeing the appeal of two engineers in a recent issue for someone to write to and "do a bit" for them, I would like their names; also "Scottie Frae Dundee," if it isn't too much trouble.

I didn't know we had any "mere man" quite so observing as "Original Lonely" in our midst. Somebody's "skypiece" must have been either beautifully becoming or horridly unbecoming to cause such an outburst!

Will the writing pass in a crowd, Miss Grey? Trusting to have my "lonelies" before long, I am COSMOS.

Ans.—One of my favorite flowers!—so I bid you hearty welcome. The "lonelies" names are in your possession by this time. Yes, writing is very passable indeed.

For Parsonage Mother.

"Parsonage Mother"—I have a letter for you from "March Wind" and while I have a knowledge of your postmark, you never sent me your name, did you? May I have it now in order to forward "M. W.'s" epistle.

Advertiser Patterns

Some New Things for the Baby.

Muslin, cambric, flannel or flannelette will do nicely for the nightgown, while lawn or nainsook is suitable for the dress, with embroidery, tucking and lace or edging for decoration. The sack will look well in silk, cashmere, flannel, or flannelette, and the cap is suitable for lawn, silk or "all-over" embroidery. For the dress of flouncing, it will require 1¾ yards of 36-inch material, with 1¼ yards of plain material for yoke and sleeves. Of nainsook or lawn, 36 inches wide, it will require 2¼ yards. The gown will require 2½ yards of 24 or 27-inch material. The cap, ½ yard of 18-inch material. The sack requires ⅞ yard of 27-inch material.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps.

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.
By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.
(All Rights Reserved.)
August 19, 1917.

Review—"The Goodness and Severity of God." Daniel, ix., 3-19.

Golden Text—"Jehovah Is Merciful and Gracious, Slow to Anger, and Abundant in Loving Kindness." Ps., ciii., 8.

The questions for this week may be used as an original lesson, or as a review of the thirteen preceding weekly lessons. The date and title of each lesson, where found, Golden Text, and one question from each lesson follow:

September 9—"The Benefits of Total Abstinence (temperance lesson)." Dan., i. Golden Text—"Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the king's dainties, nor with the wine which he drank." Dan., i., 8.

11. Verses 11-13—Take one hundred persons who drink nothing but water, and another hundred who drink intoxicating liquor, and compare their condition as to (a) health, (b) wealth, (c) happiness.

September 16—"The Fiery Furnace." Dan., iii. Golden Text—"When thou walkest through the fire, thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee." Isaiah, xliii., 2.

12. Verses 24-27—What, if any, evidence is there that faithful Christians in these days, get delivered from the fiery furnace of trial, more than other men?

September 23—"Daniel in the Lion's Den." Dan., vi. Golden Text—"The angel of Jehovah encampeth round about them that fear him, and delivereth them." Ps., xxxiv., 7.

13. Verses 2-3—What are the really essential qualities to success in life?

Lesson for Sunday, October 7, 1917—"Psalms of Deliverance." Psalms lxxxv and cxxvi.

"One Meatless Meal a Day" is a good food slogan for war time, or any time—better make it two meatless meals a day—it would mean health and strength for the nation. But be sure and get the right substitute for meat in a digestible form. Shredded Wheat Biscuit is the ideal substitute for meat. It is 100 per cent. whole wheat prepared in a digestible form. Two or three of these little loaves of baked whole wheat make a nourishing, satisfying meal at a cost of only a few cents. Delicious with milk or cream or fruits of any kind.
Made in Canada.

You don't like the cheap tea you are using. Do you?

Before the war so increased the cost of living, many people used to drink better tea than they are now using.
Perhaps, this is true in your case?
Of course, you are not drinking poor tea because you like it, but because you think it necessary to save money.
But are you really saving anything?
Cheap, common teas only make about 150 cups to the pound. You are lucky if you can stretch them out to 185 or 200.
On the other hand, Red Rose Tea easily makes 250 cups. It goes further because of its fine quality, consisting chiefly of Assam teas, the richest and strongest in the world.
You may almost doubt if so many cups of tea can be made from a pound of even such good tea as Red Rose, but you can readily prove the economy of Red Rose without waiting for a package to be used up. Just use a few leaves less of Red Rose for a brewing than you use of common tea—the result we are sure will please and surprise you.

Belgian Children Slowly Starving!
A bowl of soup and a slice of bread is issued daily to the destitute women and children of Belgium. This will just about keep body and soul together in a grown person. But for a little, growing child—where is the material in this ration for bone and muscle forming?
The answer is found in the thousands, and tens of thousands of Belgian children under 12 years old, in the grip of tuberculosis, rickets and other ills resulting from insufficient nourishment.
Belgian Children's Health Fund.
By means of this fund children giving way under the slow starvation are taken from Belgium to Holland, where they are cared for, housed, fed, clothed and given medical attention for six weeks.
Belgian Orphans' Fund.
In this land of broken up families, imagine the thousands of tiny tots ignorant whether their fathers and mothers are alive or not. They must be fed, clothed and educated. The sum of $8.70 per month per child will do this.
You know how children eat! Suppose your neighbour's child was only getting a bowl of soup and a slice of bread each day! Would you, out of your prosperity help the child? Who is your neighbour, if not Belgium, who held back the Hun when the world stood in danger?
Be generous; help to make the next generation of Belgians as strong and valiant as the present generation has proved itself.
Your contribution will go entire through the Belgian Minister of the Interior (in Le Havre, France) to Dutch authorities, who administer the relief work under the approval of the British and Dutch Governments, and Mr. Hoover's Committee.

THISTLES BRING ROBINSON TROPHY BACK TO CITY AGAIN

THE SPORT-LIGHT

By Grantland Rice.

THE WORLD SERIES ROUND-UP. NO. 5—THE CATCHERS.

Raymond W. Schalk, the Harvel Marvel, is only 25 years old. Yet he has served no less than six years under the Big Top, and is now an old story in the record.

Schalk, in this series, must tackle single-handed—counting either the gloved or the bared hand—two Giant sluggers in Lew McCarty and Bill Rariden, who will combine their repertoire for the series.

SCHALK'S ABILITY.

For the last two years Schalk has been the most valuable catcher in baseball. He is no slashing hitter, but he is often a timely entry at bat. Leaving his batting out for the moment, in all other ways he is one of the game's stars.

Schalk is not only a fine mechanical catcher, arrayed with a stout young arm. He is also a tireless worker, a keen hustler, an aggressive fighter and a cool, quick thinker.

He is a rare type to have back of the bat, facing the field. He not only keeps his pitchers working at top speed, but he injects pepper into the entire play.

Schalk belongs to the well knit, stocky tribe. He is under the average height, but is well put up, and a cat is very little quicker.

He is also good for 135 or 140 games a year, a rare attribute in any catcher.

He has caught more games in the last five years than almost any other man has caught in the last six or seven.

McCARTY AND RARIDEN.

In Lew McCarty and Bill Rariden, McGraw has all the advantage upon attack. McCarty will bat .280 to Schalk's .225. Rariden is good for .265 or .270.

Both Giant catchers can wallop the ball, and with the pair on hand the Giant offensive gathers in a number of increased points.

McCarty suffered a broken leg early in the year, and while he has been back in the game for a spell there is still the suggestion of a limp. He is a first-class catcher in all mechanical ways, a cool worker and one of the gamest of them all.

McCarty is more of a hustler than Rariden, who is a good mechanical catcher without any particular flash or fame.

Rariden can hit and handle any pitcher, but he isn't what you'd call an inspiration. With Bill, catching is merely a day's work. He is willing to do his part of it, and let it go at that.

THE THREE.

Schalk is almost certain to catch every game of the series. McCarty and Rariden will split the New York assignment, but whether it will be on a 50—50 basis is known only to McGraw.

If McCarty is in first-class shape he probably will do most of the work, as he is a better hitter and more aggressive than Rariden is.

While Chicago has the advantage with Schalk, there is plenty of ability in McGraw's department, with no faint probability that the series will be lost by ragged work back of the plate.

THE GIANT CHANCE.

The only way McCarty and Rariden can even up Schalk's greater effectiveness in a defensive way is to lead him by several strides upon attack.

Here McCarty will have a big advantage. The Giant catcher batted over .350 last season, and he was just starting for .300 this year when he cracked a leg.

McCarty is not only a .300 batting type over an extended stretch, but being an aggressive type will be even more dangerous in a short series, where he is as liable to drive in a run as any man at the top of the batting order.

NO FLURRIES.

None of the three catchers belongs to the Flutter Division. Schalk is usually better in a hard test than at any other time. So is McCarty.

A tornado couldn't upset Rariden's poise, as Bill is entirely apart from temperament or imagination.

A world series game to him is just a ball game, just as a world series game was only a ball game to John Franklin Baker. You will find him under fire about as emotional as one of the stately pyramids.

ROUSH OF REDS LOOKS LIKE NAT. LEAGUE CHAMPION

Has Lead of 27 Points Over Hornsby of St. Louis.

SPEAKER OUT OF RACE

Tris Is 20 Points Behind Georgia Peach in American—Roth Leads Base Stealing.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—With the close of the major league season less than a week away Ed. Roush, the Cincinnati outfielder, appears to be certain of the National League batting championship. Unofficial averages released today give him .343, a 27-point lead over Roger Hornsby of St. Louis, his nearest rival.

Members of the New York club who are getting ready for the world series battle with Chicago continued their effective hitting. Benny Kauff is showing the way to his team mates with .311. Burns follows with .300 and Zimmermann is next with .297. Burns is firmly in possession of league scoring honors, having counted 101 times.

Carey of Pittsburg, who is leading the base stealers, brought his margin up to 49. Cravath of Philadelphia clings to home run honors with 12, and Dean of Chicago is topping the sacrifice hitters with 28. Cincinnati retained the lead in team hitting with .263. The averages include games of Wednesday.

The Leading Batters.

Leading batters who have played in half or more of their club's games: Roush, Cincinnati, .343; Hornsby, St. Louis, .316; Kauff, New York, .311; Groh, Cincinnati, .305; Burns, New York, .300; Jack Smith, St. Louis, .298; Zimmerman, New York, .297; Wheat, Brooklyn, .296; Carey, Pittsburg .293; Wilhoit, New York, .292.

There apparently is no chance for Tris Speaker, the 1916 batting champion, to overcome Ty Cobb's lead in the American League. Averages, including games of Wednesday, show the Georgian hitting .378, with Speaker 20 points behind him.

There is a merry scramble on for base stealing honors with Cobb and Chapman of Cleveland pressing the latter's team mate, Bobby Roth, for the lead. Roth with 48 has a one point advantage. Chapman is firmly in possession of sacrifice hitting honors with 67. Bush, the Detroit shortstop, retains a five run lead over Cobb in scoring. Bush has counted 109 times. Pipp of New York retains home run honors with nine. Detroit leads in team batting with .257.

Leading batters who have played in half their team's games or more: Veach (Detroit) .308, McInnis (Philaland) .358, Sisler (St. Louis) .347, Felsch (Chicago) .308, Harris (Cleveland) .308, Veach (Detroit) .308, McInnic (Philadelphia) .304, Jackson (Chicago) .299; Lewis (Boston) .299; Rice (Washington) .298.

Lajoie Sends Trump Card Against Hoosiers' Best.

LOTS OF ENTHUSIASM

Fans of Both Cities and Supporters of Two Leagues Excited About Series.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 28. — Larry Lajoie's International League pennant-winners arrived here late this afternon all in good spirits, despite the fact that the Indianapolis champions have the edge in the interleague series. The teams meet in the first game of the Indianapolis series at Washington Park Saturday afternoon and the local fans are counting on putting the visitors farther in the hole by taking this game.

On the other hand, the Leafs are far from discouraged, and believe that they will move up to a tie by winning tomorrow's fracas. Although Lajoie would not say positively to a newspaper reporter that he would use Al. Gould, who trimmed the Indians in such nice fashion in Wednesday's game, it is a pretty good bet, nevertheless, that he will be Larry's choice.

If Gould goes to the mound Manager Jack Hendricks is figuring on using "Cy" Falkenberg against the Canadian star. If Gould does not go to the rubber Fillingin will be put on the firing line.

The Indianapolis team was first to arrive this afternoon, and they were given a hearty reception by the local fans. Great interest has been aroused in the series, which is being battled for the world's minor league championship, and the indications are that great crowds will be on hand. Practically all of the reserved seats and boxes have been sold for both Saturday and Sunday contests.

The Sunday crowd is expected to be the largest. At the last Sunday contest in which the Indians were fighting for first place, between twelve and fifteen thousand turned out.

Fully as many are expected Sunday, providing the weather is suitable. The weather conditions for tomorrow's game promises to be favorable.

JOCKEY DYING

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 29.—Little hope for his recovery is held out by physicians attending George Molesworth, a widely-known jockey, who, while riding Rafferty, the favorite in the third race at Douglas Park race track here yesterday, was thrown against a wall and trampled. Molesworth, his physicians say, suffered a fractured skull at the base, and was badly cut about the face and body.

INFANTRY LOOK LIKE CUP WINNERS

Defeat A.M.C. in Fast Game and Have Almost Clinched First Place.

Some exceedingly good football was witnessed by a large crowd of spectators during the game between the Infantry and Medicals, which was played at Carling Heights last evening. The Infantry, who are the only unbeaten team in the league, possess a fine well-balanced team, and every player performed very creditably, it being impossible to single anyone out for special mention with the exception of the goal scorers.

After about fifteen minutes play two goals were scored in rapid succession for the Infantry by Hardman and Daniels respectively. Encouraged by this success the Infantry continued to play with unabated vim and vigor, and gave a clever exhibition of fast and accurate football. Needless to say the Medicals put up a stubborn defence, but at half time the score was two to nil in favor of the Infantry.

After five minutes play in the second moiety Speed placed the Infantry still another goal ahead with a well-directed shot which gave "Slim" Howard no chance to stop.

Shortly after this a penalty was awarded the A. M. C. who, however, failed to convert it into a goal, Thompson diverting the ball outside the posts.

Following a period of up and down play Mogk received a pass from the right wing, and registered a goal in favor of the A. M. C.

No further score took place, although both goals had several narrow escapes, and the game thus ended in favor of the Infantry by the score of 3 to 1.

Lillyman of the A. M. C. played a sterling game, and proved to be the outstanding player on the field, and but for him the score would probably have been much higher.

Sergt. Birch of the Engineers officiated with the whistle, and proved himself an able and impartial referee. This game makes it practically certain that the depot battalion will be champions of the league, and the first holders of the "Fairbanks" cup, but the fight for the second place is still open, and will be keenly contested.

Tonight the C. A. S. C. meet the Cyclists.

Stars of the World's Series

By W. E. Hoefer

GEORGE J. BURNS.
(New York Giants.)

On a sizzling hot July day, seven years ago, the game lost an ordinary catcher and acquired an outfield star. The Utica Club, of the New York State League, being short-handed, asked one of its catchers to play the outfield that day, and the chunky minor league backstop doffed his shin guards and wind pad, went to the the outer garden and became an outfield flash.

George J. Burns is this player's name. With possibly one exception, he is the most valuable outfielder in the National League. As a lead-off man he is a wonder at getting on the bases, and is one of the foxiest base-stealers now playing. He was the first National League player to score 100 runs this season, and is generally found up near the head of the list as a run-scorer.

Burns is a whole lot more valuable player than even his good figures indicate. A .300 batter, one of the best men on the paths in the game, and a wonder at judging and playing outfield hits, his class is easily apparent. Yet his steadiness and reliability make him even more valuable than his work shows on the surface.

There isn't a flaw in Georgie's playing equipment. His fielding technique is almost perfect, and day in and day out he plays the same brand of high class ball. There is nothing streaky about his performances. Burns has a cracking throwing arm, an extensive knowledge of batters and a wise baseball head.

And with it all, he is one of the most modest, likeable chaps who ever wore the spangles. Even in Chicago, where the bugs love to ride the Giants, the fans lay off Burns and always give him a great hand.

Utica, New York, his birth place, gave Burns his first professional engagement in 1909, as a catcher. In 1912 he was signed by the Giants, and immediately made good, hitting .294 and singeing the outfield grass with his speed. In 1914 his best year, he hit .363, and stole 62 bases. This season's batting figures, when completed will probably show him to be among the leading four batters of the league.

Only 28 years of age, Burns is in the prime of his diamond career, and with his careful habits ought to be a star for several years. He is a solid chunk of a man, only slightly over five feet seven inches, and moves the Fairbanks at near 170 pounds.

HARRY LEIBOLD
(Chicago White Sox.)

The smallest player in the series, and, we believe, in the major leagues, is little "Nemo" Leibold, the Sox right fielder. "Nemo" is only five feet five inches up in the air and weighs barely 150 pounds.

In fact Leibold isn't much larger than a good-sized bat boy. For all that, he's an unusual little fly chaser and makes up in speed for lack of weight.

For example, in 114 games this year, although he had hit for only .243, Harry stole 23 bases, and by the end of the season ought to have about 30 pilfered sacks to his credit, in less than 130 contests. He isn't a great batter; .264 is his highest big league average, made in 1914 with Cleveland, but he is a rattling good lead-off man; he gets "on" frequently, both because he is hard to pitch to and because he looks 'em over.

Leibold was only 19 years old when he received his first contract in professional baseball. He started with Milwaukee in 1911, and in 88 games hit only .178. The following season, however, he rattled the ball to the tune of .285, playing both in the outfield and at second base that season. His work attracted the attention of the Cleveland Club, who drafted him.

The White Sox secured "Nemo" in 1915, and played him in only 45 games in 1916 when he was used principally against right-handed twirlers.

Leibold was born in Bentler, Ind., in 1892. He has played ball ever since he can remember, generally, as a youngster, in the infield. Although he was considered a crack as a public school player and later as the sand-lot teams, neither he nor his friends dreamed of a big league career for him, perhaps owing to his lack of weight.

The Milwaukee, American Association offer, according to "Nemo" himself, came as such a surprise that he thought he was being kidded at first upon receiving it.

A left-handed hitter himself, Leibold can hit right-handed pitching, but doesn't care a whole lot for southpaws. Pants Rowland has been using Jack Collins frequently when left-handers are pitching, and may play Collins in a couple of the series games.

"Nemo" has played in over 120 games this year, and is really the regular Sox right fielder, however.

He is such a hard man to pitch to that unless the Giant pitchers have almost perfect control, he is apt to "get on" frequently and give the Sox sluggers a chance to drive him in.

With either Collins or Leibold playing right field for the Sox, the Giants have the better player in lead-off position. Burns outclasses both in batting, fielding and base-running.

OPPOSING MANAGERS WIDELY DIFFERENT

Rowland and McGraw Offer S harp Contrast—One Veteran, Other Comparatively Young in the Game—McGraw Has Five Pennants to Credit.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Although the activities of Clarence Rowland of the Chicago Americans, or Manager John J. McGraw of the New York Nationals fail marry them beyond the confines of the coacher's box, they will be factors of extreme importance in the coming world series between these two clubs. Differing widely in both their methods of baseball strategy and personal control of players, these two diamond leaders have achieved marked distinction during their careers as player and manager.

Of the two McGraw has had the longer experience and record in connection with professional baseball and there are few men serving in this capacity today who can be said to rank with the manager of the Giants. Rowland, on the other hand, while a comparatively new comer among the leaders of major league teams, has flashed across the horizon of the national game like a meteor, his short career in the American League coming to the present climax with the capture of a pennant at the end of his second season with the club owned by Charles Comiskey.

The manager of the New York club is the older of the two, having been born at Truxton, N.Y., in 1873, while Rowland's birth occurred at Platteville, Wis., six years later. McGraw also entered upon his baseball training some thirteen seasons before the White Sox leader made his debut in professional circles. The Giants' diamond director began his first real play with the Orleans club of the New York State League in 1890, while it was not until 1903 that Rowland donned the catcher's armor with the Dubuque, Ia., club of the Three I. League.

It has been said of McGraw, and not without truth, that he learned his game in the old school of baseball. He has, however, never ceased to study the many angles and details of the sport, and is as quick to see the advantages of a new play as he was twenty years ago. There is little in the wide field of baseball strategy that McGraw does not know and several of the best pieces of so-called "inside baseball" are the direct result of careful study on his part. It is not surprising, therefore, that McGraw should have confidence in his ability and judgment and demand explicit obedience to his instructions.

McGraw Square.

McGraw has been called a hard taskmaster by some of the players who have positions under him, but he has never shirked responsibility when disaster has marked his efforts to outwit the opposing team. Few moves on the part of a player will arouse greater wrath in McGraw than the deliberate ignoring of his instructions while at bat, on the bases or in the field. When his coaching signals are followed, however, and the play falls flat, the Giants' manager accepts the blame without the slightest hesitation or effort to pass the responsibility to those under him.

Of the many stars who have played under McGraw, very few indeed have been accorded the privilege of acting upon their own initiative or judgment. Christy Mathewson, now manager of the Cincinnati Nationals, being one of these notable exceptions. When McGraw has occasion to reprimand a player he does not mince words. He has the quick temper of the Celtic race and the willingness and ability to back up his words and actions with deeds, if necessary with the result that in days gone by players who resented McGraw's managerial methods were frequently at odds with the field general of the Giants.

More Diplomatic.

Rowland's characteristics and system are in sharp contrast to those of McGraw's. Although exceedingly active on the coaching lines, he never loses his calm judgment and is extremely quick to perceive and diagnose the innumerable situations that are constantly arising upon the battlefield of baseball. His instructions to the players appear to take the form of suggestion or advice rather than sharp command. Rowland is diplomatic to the extreme in handling the members of the club and achieves the desired results by suave manner and a personality which is rather unusual on the diamond. The White Sox leader is, nevertheless, a shrewd judge of ball players and their ability, and can, when necessary, speak out sharply in defence of his demands or rights.

Rowland is also ably supported and assisted by Coach William "Kid" Gleason and Owner Charles Comiskey. These two veterans of the game are closer to the age and day of McGraw and are probably as well versed in the general intricacies of the sport as the latter. Gleason, in particular, is of the driving type of coach who demands that the players be up on their toes all the time and in perfect physical condition. He supplies a counter-balance to Rowland, while Comiskey, as a result of his many years in the game as player and magnate, has an insight which is lacking in many big league club-owners. Thus the trio form a combination which is unique in addition to being effective in handling the players according to methods demanded by their various temperaments.

Rowland has two pennants to his credit, having managed the Peoria club of the Illinois-Iowa-Indiana League and the Chicago Americans when these teams finished first in their respective circuits. Since joining the New York Nationals in 1903 as manager, McGraw's teams have won five pennants and one world series and lost three other struggles for the premier honors of the baseball world. It can be seen, therefore, that although Rowland has had less experience in world series play than McGraw, he can tie the latter's winning record in this department of the game by bringing about the downfall of the Giants in the coming contests.

SPEIRAN CAPTURES ELMWOOD GROCERIES

Rain Keeps Bowlers From South London Greens Friday Night.

Charlie Speiran's rink turned in the highest score at the Elmwood Club's bowling tourney on Friday night, and carried off the prizes, groceries donated by T. Janes & Co. Only ten rinks were on the greens, the rain probably keeping many trundlers away, for the Elmwoods usually have a full house on Friday nights.

Prizes for the club's Scotch doubles tournament, which has been running all summer, were presented. These were handsome pieces of cut glass. W. B. Screaton and J. Reid got first prize; W. H. Porter and H. K. Compass were second; E. J. Grant and F. Kilbourne were third, and P. Doig and M. Talbot got fourth prize. As well as the cut glass, the first prize-winners received silver cups, donated by W. Davis, caretaker of the Elmwood Club.

The club may hold another tourney next Friday night.

DODGE BROS. NAME NEW LOCAL DEALER

Motor Car Interest Heightened by Change in Local Situation.

The growing importance of London as an automobile centre is indicated by the close attention given the local field by Dodge Bros., who have just made a change in dealers here. It is announced that Dodge Bros.' motor car will be handled exclusively in the future by the Service Garage Company, who enjoy a wide acquaintance, and is unusually well qualified in other respects to handle a high grade of motor car.

An idea of the popularity of Dodge Bros.' motor car may be gained from the fact that within 28 months after the first car was turned out, the aggregate sales had exceeded $110,000,000.

This is a record without precedent in the motor car industry. It is regarded as a striking testimonial to the high regard in which the name "Dodge Bros." was held by the public, even before they marketed a motor car bearing this name. Prior to that time Dodge Bros. had built the vital parts for more than a half-million other cars.

It is said of Dodge Bros., in explanation of their unusual success, that they spare no money or effort in building a car to suit their particular ideas of thoroughness in manufacture. As that their ideas on this subject mean to the purchaser of their product may be imagined from the fact that they have a staff of more than 750 inspectors who do nothing but check up on workmanship in the various processes of manufacture.

TEA THIS TIME.

The Thistle Club will give twenty pounds of fine imported tea for prizes at their weekly tournament tonight. Last week they gave sugar as prizes.

CANADIAN HORSES LOSE AT SAGINAW

CLEO B. WINS 2:09 PACE

Despite Heavy Track, Good Time Was Made at Final Day's Meet.

SAGINAW, Mich., Sept. 28.—Cleo B. took the measure of Prince Rupert and Eel Direct, the Canadian speed fliers, today in the 2:09 pace, the feature of the fourth and final day of racing at Saginaw County fair. Prince Rupert took the first heat and contested strongly for the other three, but was not speedy enough. A heavy track from yesterday's rain forced horses to go wide miles and as a result no sensational miles were recorded, but the clip was easily better than 2:10.

Only two horses, Josie B. and Gold Medal, came out for the 2:14 trot, two other starters going lame just before the race, but the fair officials went through with it anyway. Josie B. won after losing the first heat. Two running races closed the card. The horses ship from here to Monroe, where short ship horses will gather next week from half a dozen fairs all over the state.

ROBINSON TROPHY BACK IN LONDON

Skip F. N. Allen took a quartet of Thistle bowlers out to Ingersoll on Friday and brought the Robinson challenge cup back to London after a very close game. The score was 18—17.

The game was one of the tightest yet played for the cup, and it was a dingdong race all the way through to see who would have the high score when it was all over. At the start the Ingersoll rink led. At one time they had a 10 to 3 lead on the locals, but once the score was leveled up the Thistle bowlers held their own, and in the final end Norman Keene's shot made the tally 18 to 17.

The Ingersoll rink played a fine game. Skip Dale did especially nice work, and there were several times when it seemed as if the silverware must stay in Ingersoll. The rinks:

ARGENTINA CANNOT BREAK WITH BERLIN

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 28. — President Irigoyen, it is understood, contends that it is impossible to break off relations with Germany because of the Count von Luxburg incident, the Government considering this affair to have been adjusted by the German foreign office's explanation.

JAP DESTROYERS SINK SUB.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28.—The Canadian News, a Japanese newspaper published here, received a special cable from Tokio today, saying it was reported in Tokio that Japanese destroyers in a fight with German U-boats off the coast of Spain near Barcelona had sent one submarine to the bottom.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS PRIZED BY MOTHERS

Mrs. Henry Vanreader, Rodney, Ont., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past five years, and prize them very much. They have proved of such value to me that I always keep them in the house." Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets she would use nothing else. They are thorough but mild in action, and never fail to make the sickly baby well. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

EIGHT U. S. OFFICERS ARRESTED IN PLOT

San Francisco, Sept. 28.—Five members of the United States aviation corps, an army recruiting officer and two navy ensigns are said by federal officials to be involved in a plot against the Government, alleged to have been headed by Lieut. Erwin Frederich Schneider, of the German navy, and Theodore Kasinger, department store employee, both of whom were taken into custody here recently. This disclosure came as the result of an order from the Department of Justice, providing for the immediate removal of Schneider and Kasinger from the county jail to an internment camp on Angel Island which contains Franz Bopp, former German consul here, and his aide, Baron E. H. Von Schacht, vice consul.

TRIAL BY JURY FOR ANTI-CONSCRIPTIONISTS

MONTREAL, Sept. 28.—The anti-conscription orators will be tried together, and will select a jury trial. This was apparent this morning, when the case of Paul Lafortune was dealt with. Judge St. Cyr decided that the men could choose their own method of trial.

CHANNEL IS CLEAR.

DETROIT, Sept. 28.—The Livingstone Channel in the Detroit River, was cleared today after a blockade of more than 36 hours. Three freighters which went aground during a fog, have been released. The steamers are the Rufus P. Ranney, Robert E. W. Bunson and Mary C. Elphicke.

BORDEN TO RETURN ON SUNDAY AND HAS MUCH WORK ON TAP

Rumor Says Crothers and Cochrane Are Not To Be Scrapped.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, Sept. 28. — Premier Borden on Sunday will be back from his fishing trip, and the governing of Canada will be resumed by a full cabinet. The events which are expected to follow the return of the premier are: First, the dissolution of Parliament; next, the calling out of the first class of conscription; then, at a considerable later date, the announcement of polling day, and, finally, there may be an announcement of cabinet changes.

As to reorganization of the Government opinions differ. It is understood that Hon. Thomas Crothers and Hon. Frank Cochrane will not leave the Government, and it seems certain that if they remain no one else will go. Until recently both were regarded as the first who would be retired

New Name for Cabinet.

It is reported that C. C. Balantyne of Montreal is to be brought in. He is a capable businessman, and was appointed to the Montreal harbor board by the Laurier Government. His name is a new one among the many that have been suggested for the improvement of the Borden Government during the past half year.

Organization work for the election is progressing slowly. The designation of enumerators by the selection board has been delayed by lack of direction from the justice department. Another meeting of the board will be held within a few days to make another effort at filling up this part of the organization for the election. The return of the prime minister is keenly desired by leading Conservatives, who declare that the only signs of activity now are the daily appetite recommendations of the food controller, coupled with the steady rise in food prices

LARGEST CROWD IN MANY YEARS WAS AT ILDERTON

BY STAFF REPORTER.

ILDERTON, Sept. 28.—The largest crowd that has attended the Ilderton fair in many years was here today. Scores of people came out from London in autos and by train, and farmers from all parts of the country drove in. This district is famous for its fine stock, and the best that the leading breeders have was on exhibition.

The races were the big attraction of the afternoon, and four fast heats were run off. The ladies' driving competition brought out a large number of contestants, Miss Fletcher being judged the best woman driver on the grounds.

Colonel Garthshore, F. P. Harley and H. Stanley acted as judges for the baby show. There were numerous entries. The baby of Mrs. George Bere won the special prize.

Stuart Rosser won the purse for the 2:25 pace, coming first in all heats with Gentry De Forest. The farmers' race was won by Stanton Bars, owned by A. B. Hodgins, in two fast heats.

Concert at Night.

The fair concluded with a concert in the I. O. O. F. Hall tonight. London's troupe of juvenile Scotch dancers furnished the larger portion of entertainment. Alice Dunbar, well-known comedienne, received many encores, and Oliver Sinclair rendered much appreciated solos.

Cattle—R. S. Robinson, A. F. O'Neil and D. L. Graham.
Sheep—W. J. Kennedy and Lin Hughes.
Poultry—J. C. Reeve, D. D. Sells, W. E. Noyes, G. A. Douglas, W. Hedley and C. Needham.
Ducks—G. A. Douglas.
Roots and grain—G. West, G. W. Daunt of Delaware and W. G. Goddard.
Vegetables and fruit—Walker Reeves, G. West and C. W. Daunt.
Ladies' work—Miss McLaughlin, Mrs. A. Hartwick and Mrs. J. R. Mills.

The Races.

The judges of exhibits were: D. McKenzie, C. J. Shore, C. W. Hobbs, E. A. Guest and M. V. Parkhurst.

The success of the fair is due to the efforts of J. B. Carmichael, president; G. A. Scott, 1st vice-president; H. Stanley, 2nd vice-president; and E. Douglas, secretary-treasurer.

CANADA MIGHT HAVE MADE BETTER RECORD WITH LESS POLITICS

N. W. Rowell Speaks Before Vancouver Canadian Club.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28.—N. W. Rowell, leader of the opposition in the Ontario Legislature, this afternoon before the Vancouver Canadian Club, talked on the position of Canada in the war. His audience was one of the largest ever assembled by the club.

"We cannot carry on this struggle," said Mr. Rowell, "on the principle of limited liability. Germany will not permit us to do so. Canada has staked her whole future on the issue, and we have gone too far to withdraw from the fight now."

Mr. Rowell expressed the opinion that the efforts Canadians had put forth might have accomplished more had Canada been better organized for the conduct of the war. "There is much more we might have done," he added, "by the efforts we have put forth if there had been less of politics in connection with this matter."

27 KILLED, 50 INJURED IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 28.—Twenty-seven persons were killed and fifty injured in a head-on collision that occurred one mile southwest of Kellyville, Oklahoma, late today, when the St. Louis and San Francisco train No. 7 ran into an empty troop train. Seven of the dead were white persons and the others Indians and negroes.

HODGINS—REITH.

LUCAN, Sept. 28.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mrs. E. Reith of Lucan, when her daughter Lulu was united in marriage to Oscar Hodgins of Bidduiph. Rev. Mr. McDermid officiated. The bride looked charming in a gown of white silk, and wore the regulation veil with a wreath of orange blossoms. Little Olive Hodgins, sister of the groom, made a very dainty flower girl. Miss L. Kingdon played the Wedding March.

During the signing of the register Mr. Harold Duplan song "O Perfect Love," after which a dainty dejeuner was served. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome pendant, to the pianist a gold locket, and to the flower girl a pretty gold necklace. The happy couple left for Toronto and other eastern points. They will reside on the groom's farm on the third concession of Bidduiph.

CITY SELLS ITS ABATTOIR.

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—By a vote of twelve to seven the city council at a special meeting today decided to sell the municipal abattoir to the William Harris Company, Limited, for the sum of $427,784, on conditions that the purchasers enter into an agreement with the city to provide accommodation for the small butchers to continue the slaughtering of their animals under similar terms and conditions to those now existing.

SCHOONER RUNS ASHORE.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Sept. 28.—The Associated Press this afternoon carries the following:

"A British schooner ran ashore on an island off the New England coast today in a strong southerly wind and thick weather. The vessel was lying well out of water at low tide and it was expected that she would be floated later. The crew remained aboard as there was no immediate danger."

Willys KNIGHT Sleeve-Valve Motor

The Willys-Knight Four

The Longer It Lives
The Smoother It Grows

That in a measure accounts for the tremendous success of the Willys-Knight Four in Canada.

Its motor has the happy faculty of improving with use.

The longer you drive this car the smoother, softer, sweeter and more powerful becomes its motor.

Unlike any other type of gasoline driven engine in this respect, the Willys-Knight sleeve-valve motor occupies a unique and commanding position in its field.

For about the time when most cars are beginning to show signs of distress—either from carbon trouble or the hundred and one different ailments that come under the head of engine trouble—the Willys-Knight is performing in top-notch style.

Built in both a four and eight cylinder design, the Willys-Knight touring models are beautiful cars—the most beautiful, in fact, ever produced by the Willys-Overland factory. The same beauty of appearance and performance is carried out in the four cylinder coupe.

Get Behind the Wheel of a Ford and Drive

TRY it just once! Ask your friend to let you "pilot" his car on an open stretch. You'll like it, and will be surprised how easily the Ford is handled and driven.

If you have never felt the thrill of driving your own car, there is something good in store for you. It is vastly different from just riding—being a passenger. And especially so if you drive a Ford.

Young boys, girls, women and even grandfathers—thousands of them—are driving Ford cars and enjoying it. A Ford stops and starts in traffic with exceptional ease and smoothness, while on country roads and hills its strength and power show to advantage.

Buy a Ford and you will want to be behind "the wheel" constantly.

STAR

"The Neglected Wife" Today.

The thirteenth episode of Pathe's serial, "The Neglected Wife," entitled "Revolting Pride," will be shown at the Star Theatre today, with Ruth Roland as the star. The picture is made from the celebrated books, "The Journal of a Neglected Wife" and "The Woman Alone" by Mabel Herbert Urner.

Margaret resolves that her break with Kennedy is to be permanent. Though she still believes that she loves him deeply, she realizes the wrong they have done not only to themselves, but also Mary. Kennedy continues his search for Margaret without result, and begins to worry his political managers by drinking and generally erratic conduct.

Having shadowed Margaret, Doyle goes to Bull Brady, finally deciding that she has left Kennedy for some reason, and that it is up to them to bring Margaret and Kennedy together in some compromising situation, where they will be able to get absolute proof of their relations.

PATRICIA

"Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation," a Colossal Production at the Patricia Theatre All Next Week.

"Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation," a Greater Vitagraph picturization, portraying war in all its realities, is the attraction all next week at the Patricia Theatre.

Mary Ward, a brilliant American girl, is guest of honor at a farewell ball in Ruritania. This is a country in which the de facto ruler, Marshal Prince Dario, holds sway. His son, Count Dario, is very young and susceptible, and he falls sincerely in love with Mary. He proposes to Mary, who almost accepts him. She tells him if he is in earnest to come to America for her answer. He makes the significant comment that he may be in America sooner than she expects.

With the strongest fighting machine in the world, a depleted treasury and a revolution, pending another tax burden, the leaders in the Ruritanian council point to America—peace-loving, rich and unprotected—as the one object of their salvation. A pretext is easily found to precipitate hostilities.

Touring homeward by way of Manila, Mary meets Paul Strong, a verile type of American, as governor of the Philippines just at the moment of the war's outbreak. There is a chance period of courtship afforded them amid the tense panic of the national calamity when they travel on the same vessel to the States, he to take up important duties in connection with the defense, for the enemy has struck.

The full horror of a hopeless conflict marks the first stages of the war. Churches, mills and homes are destroyed, and the helpless and homeless are subjected to frightful persecution, while America's untrained soldiers are slain by the thousands.

The whole nation is passing through a dire ordeal when Paul Strong is appointed director of energies. As such he formulates a wonderful and comprehensive plan of united action and thought. However, because of past unpreparedness, long months of persistent effort must elapse ere the program reaches fulfilment. Mary, for her part, undertakes another and most dangerous patriotic work. Being thrown in contact with the invaders, she manages to secure a place in their headquarters through pretending to reciprocate the love of Count Dario.

Mary's position in the Ruritanian headquarters, from which she is in secret communication with the American camp beyond the city, becomes precarious when she slips through the lines to attend the meetings of the patriotic defenders.

After one of her narrow escapes, Paul Strong boldly makes his way into the midst of the enemy council and delivers final challenge. He is mocked, and Mary, at the same time, is confronted with evidence of her espionage. Both are condemned to be shot. But America is ready at last. Paul demonstrates it by an object lesson that quickly secures for him and Mary safe conduct back to their lines.

The concentration of resources and highly trained patriotism now make good in the final test. There is a battle on land and sea, in which the enemy is annihilated. America emerges once more—a nation strong and triumphant.

Madge Kennedy, in "Baby Mine," at the Patricia Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 8, 9, 10.

[By Mae Tinee.]

"When my wife says she'll tell me the real truth—then the time has come for me to leave home!"

Not one chance in a hundred but that you've either seen the play or read the book, "Baby Mine." So you'll remember how the enraged young husband, having caught his wife in a last and biggest lie at a time when she declared herself divulging the "real truth," promptly left home and established himself in Boston, where he remained until the receipt of a telegram which contained those magic words:

"Mother and child doing well."

Now one of the fibs Zoie had told her husband before their marriage was that she adored babies. And she didn't in the least—neither had she cared to be encumbered with them, for 10, some years. This to her husband's intense and oft-expressed disappointment. His evacuation of home, however, demanded desperate remedies.

There being no baby of her own on the way—she and a resourceful friend with a devoted husband decided to provide a child willy nilly via the orphan asylum. Arrives the adoring husband to find first that he is the father of one, then the father of twins, the father of triplets, and lastly, no father at all. Whereupon it behooves Zoie to tell the real truth really, there being nothing else to do—and she is forgiven.

I had thought that no one could depict the lovable liar, Zoie, as well as Marguerite Clark, but it seems to me that Madge Kennedy's delineation leaves nothing to be desired. Frank Morgan, as the husband, is nice, and John Cumberland as the willing and hapless friend who pauses at nothing to reunite the pair, renting babies from washerwomen, stealing them from asylums, being chased by an angry Italian mother, and arrested as a kidnapper, is just as funny as can be. Kathryn Adams as the wife fills a minor role gracefully and well.

At the Patricia on October, 8, 9 and 10.

Exclusive Feature Photoplays Coming to the Patricia.

Jane Carol in "The Spreading Dawn" (Goldwyn).

In a six-act Fox special attraction, "To Honor and Obey," at the Patricia Theatre next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

MAJESTIC

Hugh Ruthven MacDonald, Canada's Foremost Baritone, at the Majestic Soon.

Hugh Ruthven MacDonald, Canada's foremost baritone, has been secured as a coming attraction for the Majestic. He is well known in the city, having appeared here on many occasions as a church and concert soloist. The date of his engagement will be announced later.

Charles Ray at the Majestic Today.

There is one bad Englishman and there is one good Englishman and they're both titled. One of 'em loves little "Pat" and the other loves money. There's a million in jewels, too, but the big thing is the sweet, virile story that pulls and grips and holds you. Charles Ray and Margery Wilson and Margaret Thompson have never done better nor had a better vehicle than the new Triangle-Kay Bee play, "The Honorable Algy," at the Majestic today.

Mary Anderson in "Sunlight's Last Raid."

"Sunlight's Last Raid," a Vitagraph photodrama featuring Mary Anderson, will be seen at the Majestic Monday and Tuesday next. The following is the story:

Bill Warned, a ranch owner, is expecting a visit from his sister. He goes to the train to meet her, only to learn that the train has been held up and the girl kidnapped. The girl escapes and shortly afterwards meets Jack Conway, whom she mistakes for Captain Sunlight, the outlaw. She doesn't realize her mistake until Jack takes her to his ranch. The outlaws make another raid and then follows a series of attacks and counter-attacks, with the final result that the outlaws are driven out of the country and their leader killed. Jack and Janet appear in the final close-out, clasped in each other's arms.

William S. Hart, king of the desert, appears in "Wolf Lowry," at the Majestic on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. In the new Triangle-Ince production, "Wolf Lowry," William S. Hart takes the part of Lowry, who is a sort of king of the desert country. Tom Lowry, the owner of the Bar Z. ranch, is a strong, grim, silent man, quick on the trigger, terrible in his wrath, and a bitter and implacable enemy.

With charming Ethel Clayton playing the star part and with Edward Langford playing opposite her, and other popular screen favorites in the cast, "The Stolen Paradise," the newest World-Picture Brady-Made, will come to the Majestic Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, extra attraction. Miss Clayton's role in this offering is a particularly appealing one. She appears as a young girl who is deeply in love with a man, who, in turn, is in love with another woman. When the man is blinded Miss Clayton takes care of him and comforts him, and eventually marries him. But the man all the time thinks that she is the other woman—the woman he really loves. When the man's sight is restored to him and he sees his wife and his baby and the woman he really loves—then a tense dramatic situation develops, and it ends with a logical, inspiring climax.

PRINCESS

Life in Texas is vividly pictured in "A Cowboy's Sweetheart," which will open Monday, October 1, at the Princess Theatre, and is full of many interesting scenes portraying cowboy life in the far West. Dick Scott, formerly from the east, goes west on account of a love affair, and settles on Bar Z Ranch. In order to forget his former love affair, he marries a Mexican senorita, although he does not love her. He realizes his mistake when his former sweetheart arrives on the scene, but it is too late to rectify the foolish thing he has done. His Mexican wife kills Jose, her husband, when he threatens to tell that she was his wife at the time of marriage to Dick Scott. Miss Lee, who still loves Dick, thinks that he killed the greaser, who he had a quarrel with, and Dick thinks she killed the Mexican. They each try to shield each other, when Pepita accidentally drops her marriage certificate, showing her former marriage to Jose. Their is a strong vein of comedy throughout the entire play and the dramatic scenes are very intense, making it a very interesting play throughout.

The above-named melodrama will be presented by the Princess Players Company of twelve people. Five pretty and vivacious maidens will sing and dance for the entertainment of Princess patrons. They will introduce some of New York's latest song successes.

Wallace Reid, probably one of the most popular male stars of screendom, comes naturally by his dramatic talent, for his father was Hal Reid, well-known writer of melodramas and more recently scenario writer for one of the largest film companies.

Wallace Reid has recently finished "The Hostage," a Paramount picture, which will appear at the Majestic Theatre on Friday and Saturday, October 5 and 6.

"Children of the Feud," Featuring Dorothy Gish.

"Children of the Feud," the new Triangle-Fine Arts feature photoplay to be shown at the Majestic Theatre today, is founded on the notorious affair at Hillsville, Va., a few years ago, when a gang of mountaineers shot up a court that had sentenced one of their number. Even the settings used were built from photographs of the actual locality.

Coming Majestic Attractions.

Sessue Hayakawa in "The Call East."
Kitty Gordon in "The Beloved Adventure."

UNIQUE

Theda Bara in "Her Double Life" at the Unique.

How a girl rises from life in the slums of London to one of the highest places in English society, then falls suddenly, when the deception by which she had climbed is disclosed, is told in Theda Bara's new subject for William Fox, "Her Double Life."

Miss Bara takes the part of Mary Doone, the tenement child, who makes her home in The Refuge, a parish house at which Elliot Clifford (A. H. Van Buren), is pastor. When the call comes for war nurses Mary answers.

At the front she meets Lloyd Stanley (Stuart Holmes), a war correspondent, whom she had known in London. She is saved from dishonor at Stanley's hands, by the bombardment of the hospital tent. After the attack, Mary finds the body of a young girl in the tent. It is Ethel Wardley (Madeleine LeNard), a niece of Lady Clifford's, who is on her way to make her home with the aunt she has never seen.

Mary changes clothes with Ethel, takes the girl's papers and luggage, and goes to Lady Clifford's. She is received as the niece. The aunt (Lucia Moore), loves the girl, and Elliot, the son, soon falls in love with her himself.

Then Stanley returns to England. He brings with him Ethel Wardley, who has recovered from the wounds received on the battle line. They go together to the Cliffords, and are about to disclose the truth about Mary, when the poor girl confesses.

She sees then that further life with the Cliffords is impossible, although Lady Clifford loves her so much that she wants her to stay. But Mary returns to The Refuge to work out her salvation among the little children.

At the Unique Monday and Tuesday next.

Ninth Chapter of "The Secret Kingdom."

The ninth episode of Vitagraph's romantic serial, "The Secret Kingdom," by Louis Joseph Vance, which is called "The Swamp Adder," is to be shown at the Unique Theatre on next Wednesday and Thursday. The story tells how, drifting at sea, Ramon and Savatz manage to gain the mate of the schooner who has been on the side of Phillip to their side. Nicholas is the name of this mate. Boyd, the Swamp Adder, as he is known, a desperate, bloodthirsty creature, captures the castaways.

"How States Are Made" at the Unique.

Criticizes Sir Wilfrid and Is Prominently Challenged.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

GUELPH, Sept. 28.—There was a real peppery meeting of Liberals at Elora today when Hugh Guthrie, whom it is stated has made himself solid for a portfolio in Borden's reorganization scheme, proved to be the stormy petrel. The meeting was called to organize the villages of Elora and Pilkington, and Reeve Simon Aitchison occupied the chair, and in his opening remarks strongly supported Mr. Guthrie.

Dr. Angus MacKinnon, of Guelph, who is president of the South Wellington Liberal Association, was the first to take the floor after the business had been disposed of. He criticized most severely the policy, or lack of policy, of the Borden Government in its prosecution of the war. He was glad that an election was coming in order that the people of Canada might express the indignation which they felt.

Regarding the stand the member for South Wellington, Hugh Guthrie, had taken in supporting such a government and voting for the C. N. R. purchase, the franchise bill and the closure, he had nothing but condemnation.

Possible Candidate Speaks.

Mr. Hastings, of Guelph, whose name has been very freely mentioned as a possible opponent to Mr. Guthrie for the nomination in South Wellington, followed Dr. McKinnon and in a few words declared his disapproval of the Borden Government and especially of those latter acts of legislation referred to by the previous speaker, and for which the member for South Wellington had voted.

Mr. Guthrie was then called upon by the chairman. He addressed the meeting for a period of one and a half hours, defending in that time the course he had pursued in voting with the Government on those occasions referred to by Dr. MacKinnon and Mr. Hastings. He had done what he believed was his duty and would stand by his convictions whether the Liberal Association of South Wellington supported him or not. He abstained from any criticism of the Borden Government, and stated that Sir Robert Borden was the only competent man in Canada to form a union government.

Condemns Sir Wilfrid.

Speaking of his former leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he said that he had behind him all the pro-Germans, all the slackers and dynamiters.

"Laying down the policies of the two political leaders side by side, which do you think," the speaker asked, "would the kaiser choose?"

R. L. MacKinnon, of Guelph, owing to the lateness of the hour, only made a brief reply to some of Mr. Guthrie's assertions. He accused him of unfairness and of making statements that were not true, also of indulging in the wretched custom of taking refuge from fair criticism by waving the flag and accusing all those who did not agree with him of being disloyal.

Three Quarters of Coal Dealers Fail To Honor Request

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—Acting Cost of Living Commissioner W. F. O'Connor has been trying to find out the exact coal situation throughout the country in order that the fuel controller may take action to assist dealers who are having difficulty in securing a supply for the winter. To this end, a circular was sent to dealers throughout the Dominion last month asking them for exact particulars as to the tonnage required by them and also the names of those with whom they had placed orders for coal.

It was stated at Mr. O'Connor's office today that 75 per cent of the replies received in answer to the circular did not contain the information asked for. The fuel controller therefore finds himself handicapped in his effort to help them.

GERMANY RIGHT IN REFUSAL TO GIVE WAR AIMS, SAYS MICHAELIS

Would Prejudice Questions To Be Discussed in Peace Negotiations.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 28.—Dr. Michaelis, the German imperial chancellor, in a speech to the main committee of the Reichstag, said that Pope Benedict's peace proposals were inspired by moral seriousness, pure justice and neutrality, which things were lacking in the reply made by President Wilson to the pope.

Justifying Germany's refusal to state her war aims, Dr. Michaelis said such action would only have a confusing effect and would injure Germany's interests. The chancellor said the announced American military exertions were awaited by Germany with calm confidence. Were Germany to state her war aims, the chancellor asserted, it would prejudice the complex question to be discussed at the time of peace negotiations.

Attacks Wilson's Reply.

The chancellor strongly attacked President Wilson's reply to the pope, which he asserted merely bound the German people together more firmly.

Dr. Michaelis dwelt upon "the satisfactory state of our relations with the neutrals," which could not be disturbed, he said, even by the unprecedented exertions of the hostile press.

"We greatly deplore," he continued, "the sufferings caused to the neutrals by our enemies' economic war, and we are always prepared to assume a share in the provisioning of the neutrals.

"The economic and financial difficulties of France are fast increasing. Still more keenly felt is the economic distress in Italy, with its internal political concomitants. In England, also, the war is exercising its certain, inexorable effect. The deceptive hope of dissension amongst us causes the leading British statesmen to adhere to their war aims, or at least to proclaim such aims as are entirely incompatible with the political, economical and vital needs of Germany."

Terrorism in U. S.

In the United States the Government attempted by all methods, even by unparalleled terrorism, to stir up war enthusiasm which hitherto had been nonexistent among the wide masses.

"We look forward with all confidence to the announced military exertions of the United States.

"In Russia a grave economic crisis reigns. The transport especially is in no wise adequate to the tasks before it.

"The German reply to the pope's note met with the approval of our friends and allies, while a majority of our enemies have given it an obviously embarrassed reception. It is difficult to understand how anyone acquainted with the international situation and international usages could believe that we ever would be in such a position as—through a one-sided public statement on important questions which are indissolubly bound up with the entire complex of questions which must be discussed at the peace negotiations—to bind ourselves to a solution, to our own prejudice."

"Any such public statement at the present time could only have a confusing effect and injure German interests. We should not come a step nearer peace, but it would contribute certainly to a prolongation of the war.

"I must at present decline to specify our war aims and bind the hands of our negotiators."

POPE HELPS REFUGEES.

Paris, Sept. 28.—Pope Benedict has sent to Cardinal Amette, archbishop of Paris, 20,00 rancs for the cardinal's work on behalf of refugees' families from the districts of France occupied by the Germans. Cardinal Gaparri, papal secretary of state, in forwarding the pope's donation, wrote:

"His holiness is glad in thus giving a fresh mark of his special favor toward the French population of the occupied districts so severely tried by the scourge of war and also toward the whole generous nation so dear to his paternal heart."

IDENTIFIED BY STATUETTE.

Montreal, Sept. 29.—A broken statuette of Ste. Anne, found in the clothes of Wilfrid Legros of Coteau de Lac, who was killed by a G. T. R. express train, was the means of identifying him. His sister pieced the broken statuette together, and thus knew it was her brother whose mangled body had been found beside the railway track.

KERENSKY FACES ENEMIES; TELLS OF SAVING LAND

Declares That But For Him Russia Would Have Been Destroyed.

SOME DRAMATIC SCENES

Tense Excitement Marks the First Session of Democratic Congress.

Petrograd, Sept. 29.—The Maximalists and the Social Democrats at yesterday's session of the Democratic Congress voted 81 to 77 in favor of a coalition cabinet to include representatives of the Bourgeoise, but 86 to 51 against the inclusion of the Constitutional Democrats. The Revolutionary Socialists voted in favor of a coalition, excluding the Constitutional Democrats, 91 to 87.

Premier Kerensky conferred with representatives of the Moscow industrial group regarding their possible entry into the cabinet. They replied they would participate if the cabinet was wholly independent of any party or political association.

The Government, in replying to the demands of the Maximalists for the inviolability of Nikolai Lenine at the congress, said he would not be arrested in the hall of the congress, but would be apprehended if found outside the hall. The Maximalists, therefore, decided not to bring Lenine from his hiding place.

Petrograd, Sept. 28—(Delayed).—Premier Kerensky took the initiative today and faced boldly what may be the supreme test of the power of his Government. At the very beginning of the Democratic Congress, called by the Maximalists and the Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates to question his power and perhaps to demand a new government, the premier accepted the challenge.

Had Saved Russia.

The premier told the congress that his regime had saved Russia in its darkest hours. The Government also indicated its policy of a firm continuation of the war when Gen. Verkhovsky, the minister of war, pledged the convention to a final victory over Germany if discipline in the army were restored. The general's reference to the return of discipline and his announcement that the officers would be named by their superiors, instead of elected by the soldiers, was applauded only mildly, but his address as a whole evoked more cheers than did the premier's.

"I prevented it. I destroyed it. I was informed from the beginning of its existence," declared the premier, regarding the revolt of Gen. Korniloff. When the premier declared that the good of Russia necessitated the observance of order and discipline one of the most dramatic heckling incidents which punctuated the address, occurred. The premier had reached a pause in his address when a loud voice in the gallery shouted: "You are the great mischief-worker of the country."

A Dramatic Scene.

From a bedlam of hisses and applause voices from the floor challenged the heckler to arise. A common soldier in the back gallery arose and, with folded arms, stood calmly facing a torrent of hisses from the supporters of Premier Kerensky. This was only one of the unusual scenes of the convention in which 800 delegates had seats on the main floor.

The convention was an unusual sight, the sombre colors and the clothes of peasants, workmen and private soldiers predominating. Here and there were the brighter colors of the uniforms of officers. The galleries were jammed with a variegated crowd of spectators, who considered it their right to interrupt the proceedings.

Tense Excitement.

There was an air of tense excitement in the crowd as the result of rumors that the agitator, Lenine, was in Petrograd, and would appear at the convention. This died down, however, when he failed to appear.

The applause which greeted Premier Kerensky indicated that he had a small minority with him. The Socialists supporting him contend that he has a majority of the convention. The Government ministers had a meeting late tonight to discuss the effect of his appearance, but none of the ministers would talk.

A crisis probably will come Saturday, when the work of preliminary organization has been completed and the radical Left presents its extremist program. The Bolsheviki and the Conservatives alike, will make an effort tomorrow towards lining up their strength through party conferences.

An instance of a split even in the closest party ranks was given the congress today when M. Tchernoff, the spokesman for the Workmen's and Soldiers' referred to General Kaledines, the chief of the Cossacks as that "miserable Kaledines." One of the Cossacks' delegates shouted: "You dare not attack General Kaledines." Another Cossack leaped to his feet, shouting, "Go on; Kaledines is a traitor."

Unusual vigilance was observed by the military authorities of Petrograd tonight in connection with the congress. The guards at the Winter Palace were increased and they halted many passersby, as did the guards at other Government buildings.

Germany's Peace Plots.

"Our gallant armies," the war minister said, "have replied to the dastardly offer by unconditionally rejecting it, believing, as I believe, that the Russian army still will bare its breast to free the fatherland."

The general said he would handle the army without gloves, although it had plenty of good intentions. He pointed out defects, saying: "The twelfth army before Riga did not refuse to fight and die, but we need men to fight and win victories. The fleet does not refuse to fight, but at the same time it murders its officers. We hear many worthy words about the army and fleet, but we have a great many deserters. The glorious victories on the southwest front in July terminated in a disgraceful retreat.

"In the rear we have reinforcements, but the men at the front do not accept them because they bring discord, and regiments with historic records cannot accept such men."

Change Army Leader.

General Verkhovsky repeated his announced program of changing the army leaders, educating the troops along free revolutionary lines based on mutual trust between officers and men, and the disbanding of the useless hordes in the rear. The speech contained little comfort for the pacifists in the audience.

The war minister is a young man about the age of Kerensky. He spoke in a low, even voice, and referred frequently to notes, gradually working up to the climax, when he declared in a ringing voice: "The war must be continued until with certainty we have achieved the peace desired by all—peace with freedom."

GEN. JOFFRE IS HONORED BY FRENCH ACADEMY

PARIS, Sept. 28.—The French academy today discussed the question of resuming the election of new members, which has been suspended since the war began. Prof. Henri Louis Berghon, who was elected to membership just prior to the war, will be officially received by the academy in November. Afterwards it is understood that the academy will elect General Joffre a member as an expression of the admiration of the academy for the French army.

LIVE HOGS JUMP 75 CENTS TODAY

Show Big Advance From Friday—Tomatoes Will Be Cheaper.

Vegetables featured the offerings on the market today, every variety selling in large quantities and good demand. Fruit was also plentiful, but the sales fell off noticeably before the close of the market.

Live hogs resumed their irresistible advance toward the $19 mark, when every porker sold at $17.75 a cwt., an advance of 75c over the prices quoted Friday. Local hog buyers are of the opinion that further advances in the value of hogs will be shown continually from now on. The hog market is nearing a crucial stage, and it is only by gathering the dregs of the country's hogs that the present miniature movement is being maintained.

Grapes succeeded peaches in popularity with the public, a big demand for this fruit being shown by housewives during the morning. Peaches are still in comparatively good demand, and a few plums sell readily, but a distinct preference is shown for grapes, of which there was the largest offering of the season. Grapes sold at 25c to 35c per small basket, a repetition of the low value of last year. Peaches remained stationary, notwithstanding the large offering and depreciating demand. A decline is expected to be shown shortly however, providing the present demand continues.

Potatoes were offered in plenty at the low prices quoted Friday Although the demand for tubers is of the best at all times, the late variety are making an appearance and pulling down the price. Some of the poorer grade of spuds sold at 90c a bushel, but the prevailing range of values remained between $1 and $1.25.

Tomatoes are ripening at a fast clip, and the offering increases daily. Prices for tomatoes remain unchanged up to date, but the expectations are that a reduced value will be recorded shortly, particularly if the present bright weather continues. Cucumbers are still showing the detrimental effects of the frost and continue to be scarce and high priced.

Citron and cantaloupes are popular fruits at present, particularly the latter. The melons sell from 5c to 25c, according to size, some of the largest of the year being available on the market, and some of the smallest seen for many seasons also being sold at the minimum price.

Hay is still rather draggy and the demand slow. The price of fodder has not descended materially during the last week, despite the languid market, and it is not known whether next week will continue slow or otherwise.

Oats sold at a slightly higher value when all bushels called for $1.85 to $1.95.

Poultry remains scarce and the demand good. Butter and eggs are unchanged, the market for dairy products being at all times brisk.

Live stock and dressed meats are not quoted at higher prices, but with the jump in live pork, it is expected that dressed pork will accompany the live pigs in a general advance.

A Sure Cure for Rheumatism.

Who is it knocks and does not boost it?

Sure, it is the man who has not used it, for William Lovelock, the well-known painter in St. Thomas, 14 Station street, for over twelve years, says: "I was all in with inflammatory rheumatism. I went to bed in September, 1911, and the first work I was able to do was on the 17th of March, 1913.

"I was swollen from head to foot; in fact, my limbs were twice the ordinary size, and I was in intense pain for three weeks. I was unable to feed myself, and was suffering more each day. My physicians told me plainly to prepare for the worst, as about ten days was my limit. A friend of mine, who was trying to cheer me up a bit, after the physician had left, remarked: 'Why not try Parker's Oil?' I sent to Small's drug store and purchased a bottle, and, after the first application, received relief, and in three days the pain was gone and swelling reduced greatly. I used seven bottles, and here I am today, willing to testify and give praise to Parker's Black Oil, the sure cure for rheumatism, as I found it.

WILLIAM LOVELOCK.

July 27, 1917.

If your dealer does not keep Parker's Oil, send us his name, together with 25c, 50c or $1 for a bottle, according to the size you want, and we'll ship it to you. Wm. Parker & Sons, 10 Mandamin street, St. Thomas. 71-tf

GRAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Opening: Corn—December, $1 18⅛@1 17½; May, $1 15½ 1 15¼.

Oats—September, 61⅜@61c; December, 57⅞@57¾c; May, 60⅞@60¾c.

Chicago, Sept. 29.—Corn developed strength today, influenced by liberal purchasing that was attributed in part to investment based on the feeding value of corn as compared with prices for live stock. Unexpected cooler weather, together with frost indications, tended also to harden values.

Opening quotations, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to ¾c higher, at $1 17⅛@1 18⅛, were followed by a material upturn all round.

Winnipeg, Sept. 29.—Oats opened ½c higher this morning for October, December and May, with October at 66⅞c, December at 63⅝c, and May at 66⅝c.

The weather has been generally clear for the last 24 hours in Saskatchewan and Alberta, with from 2 to 5 degrees of frost registered in the latter province.

Hogs—Receipts, 1,500; head; active; heavy, $20@20 10; mixed, $19 95@20; yorkers, $19 75@20; light yorkers, $19; pigs, $18 25@18 50; roughs, $18 50@18 75; stags, $16@17 50.

Winnipeg, Sept. 29.—Receipts at the Union stockyards today numbered 500 cattle and 160 hogs. The cattle market was slow, the bulk of the offerings being held for Monday's sales. Prices were unchanged from yesterday.

U. S. CATTLE STATISTICS.

Washington, Sept. 2.—Receipts of cattle at the principal stockyards of the country for the first eight months of 1917 shows a substantial increase, but there was a decided falling off in the movement of hogs and sheep. The department of agriculture announced today that the cattle receipts of 10,679,987 head compared with 8,191,618 in the same period of 1916, while receipts of hogs were 22,532,927, as against 24,409,981, and sheep 7,980,539, against 8,535,435.

The department's statement explained the large cattle movement as due to higher prices offered, the increased cost of feeds and the droughts in the southwestern section of the country. Last year an unusually large number of hogs and sheep were marketed in response to high prices. Receipts thus far this year are taken to represent rather a return to the normal movement than a distinct falling off in the supply.

WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 29.—On nominal trading today's brief stock market session witnessed a further irregular price movement. Rails were again under especial pressure, New York Central, Canadian Pacific and St. Paul losing a point, and Delaware and Hudson 2¾. Leading steels averaged 1-point declines with other active shares, notably Utah Copper, Texas Company, Maxwell Motors and Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies. Covering of shorts fully retrieved many losses later. The closing was firm. Sales approximated 250,000 shares.

New York, Sept. 29.—Wall Street, 10:10 a.m.—The few advances recorded at the opening of today's stock market, including Canadian Pacific's gain of half a point, were offset by fractional declines in the more active issues.

New York, Sept. 29.—Wall Street, 10:30 a. m.—The features of today's early trading on the stock exchange were the new high records of 100.30 for the liberty bonds. Prices of stocks were little changed at the outset, but the list soon manifested a reactionary tendency on the further selling of leading industrials and rails. U. S. Steel, common and preferred, Crucible Steel, General Motors and Mexican Petroleum averaged recessions of a point. Delaware and Hudson was depressed 3⅜ points, N. Y. C. 1¼, and thes St. Paul issues showed further weakness.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

New York, Sept. 29.—The money market contributed more than any other factor to the heavy movement, and increased activity on the stock exchange this week. Virtually all call loans were made at 6 per cent, a high rate being paid in isolated instances, while time funds were at a minimum, some small loans being generally accepted at 6 per cent.

Agreement between the Government and the steel producers as to prices imparted a better tone to the industrial list, United States Steel, for example, rising 10 points over its low quotation of the previous week. Improvement was not well maintained, however, the prices breaking again on heavy offerings.

Pressure against rails featured the later operations, forcing considerable liquidation. St. Paul issues fell to lowest records, and some of the more standard shares of that division underwent pronounced impairment.

Liberty 3½'s were the only strong issue in the bond market, their advance to the new high record of 100.24, following announcement of the Government's intention to make the succeeding issue unlimited as to amount.

Restrictive measures adopted by the Government against gold exports materially reduced the outflow of that metal and silver fell 11c from its recent high quotation on diminution of inquiry.

No substantial changes were recorded in foreign remittances, but rates on Petrograd continued to reflect the uncertain conditions in Russia.

NO. 1 NORTHERN OFFERINGS HEAVY

Other Wheat Grades at Winnipeg Light.

Winnipeg, Sept. 28.—The Wheat Export Company were buyers of Nos. 1, 2 and 3 northern; millers and shippers were in the market for Nos. 2 and 3 northern. Offerings of No. 1 northern were very heavy again, and generally light in other grades. Prices of all straight grades were unchanged. The offering of oats, straight grades, was only fair and only a few odd transactions were recorded. Cash flax was the same as yesterday at 3c over the future for No. 1 N.W.C.

Oats closed 1⅛c to 1⅝c lower than the previous close. Flax closed 2¾c to 5c lower. Barley was unchanged.

Oats—October, 67¼c to 66⅜c; November closed, 65c; December, 63½c to 63⅛c; May, 66½c to 66⅛c.

Barley—October closed $1.25.

Flax—October, $3.25½ to $3.23; November, $3.24½ to $3.23; December, $3.17 to $3.18.

Cash grain:

Wheat—No. 1 northern, $2.25; No. 2 do., $2.18; No. 3 do., $2.15; No. 4, $2.09½; No. 5, $1.94; No. 6, $1.85; feed, $1.75.

Flax—No. 1 N.W.C., $3.26; No. 2 C.W., $3.20; No. 3 C.W., $3.09.

Wheat—Ontario No. 2, winter, new, $2.15@2.18, outside, according to location. Manitoba: No. 1 northern, $2.30½ delivered Goderich; No. 2 northern, $2.27½; No. 3 northern, $2.24½.

Rye—No. 2, $1.70.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, Sept. 28.—The feature of the grain trade today was the further weakness in oats in the Winnipeg market, and in sympathy with it prices on spot declined 1c per bushel, but at this reduction there was an active demand from local buyers, and sales were made of 125,000 bushels for shipment from the west en route and stock in stock. There was also a steady demand from local millers for Ontario fall wheat and sales were made of several cars at $2.25, ex-track.

Corn—American, No. 2 yellow, $2.15@2.20.

FLOUR

Toronto, Sept. 28.—Flour—Manitoba—Listed quotations at Toronto are: First patents, $11.50; seconds patents, $11; strong bakers, $10.60; Ontario, winter, 90 per cent patents, $9.10 seaboard.

Flour—Manitoba spring wheat patents, firsts, $11.60; seconds, $11.10; strong bakers, $10.90; winter patents, choice, $12; straight rollers, $11.50@11.80; straight rollers, bags, $5.50@5.75.

Oats — Rolled, barrels, $8.30@8.40; rolled, bags, 90 lbs., $4@$4.10.

Bran—$34@35.

Shorts—$40.

Middlings—$48@50.

Moullie—$55@60.

HAY

CLEARING HOUSE REPORT.

New York, Sept. 29.—The actual condition of clearing house banks and trust companies from the week shows that they hold $77,012,120 reserve in excess of legal requirements. This is a decrease of $5,742,430 from last week.

TELEGRAPHERS' STRIKE LIKELY TO CLOSE TODAY

Minister of Labor Promises Announcement Agreeable to All.

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—"No serious results need be apprehended. I expect to make an announcement tomorrow, which will be satisfactory to the general public, as well as both parties concerned."

This was the statement of Hon. T. W. Crothers, minister of labor, when seen this evening with regard to the strike of the Great Northwestern telegraphers.

Contrary to expectations there was no meeting of the cabinet council this afternoon. The minister, however, appeared to be satisfied in his own mind that the trouble was settled. He stated once more that he stood firmly behind the award of the board of conciliation, the terms of which have been accepted by the operators and refused by the company.

CRUSHED UNDER CAR.

INGERSOLL, Sept. 28.—Writing from France, where he has been for some time, Capt. Gordon C. Hay, formerly a well-known Ingersoll hockey player, whose home is in Listowel, gives particulars of the accidental death recently of Ptes. Hardwick and Cooper of this town. Both were killed in a railway accident. When a car left the rails another car toppled over on it, and the two Ingersoll soldiers were fatally crushed. Having formerly been in Ingersoll Capt. Hay asked to have charge of the burial party. Ptes. Cooper and Hardwick were employees of the Morrow Company here, and both were married.

FEARING BLINDNESS DROVE MRS. MATHER TO SHOOT HERSELF

Husband Kept Vigil Over Body Several Days—May Now Recover.

Winnipeg, Sept. 29.—The condition of W. H. Mather, B.A., of Vancouver, who is lying in the hospital here with severely lacerated wrists and arms is reported as good. The latest police theory is that Mrs. Mather shot herself rather than submit to total blindness with which she was threatened. Mrs. Mather, it is stated, on two previous occasions attempted suicide, first by poison and the second by asphyxiation. An inquest will be held Monday at the central police station.

Under police guard the husband lies in a special ward in the General Hospital vehemently denying that he shot his wife. His mind is utterly blank with regard to the important details of when he found the dead body of his wife and the time he is supposed to have slashed his wrists. That Mather bore vigil over the dead body of his wife for at least three days is the view held by physicians and police.

The remains of a breakfast found on the dresser in the hotel room yesterday were discovered to have been those of a meal served on Sunday morning. Mrs. Mather was last seen at 10 o'clock that morning by a hall boy.

It is stated that the postmortem held yesterday established that Mrs. Mather died by her own hand.

MONTREAL BUSINESSMAN DEAD.

MONTREAL, Sept. 28.—Alexander McFee, at one time president of the Montreal Corn Exchange, died this morning here, after a long illness, aged 68. Mr. McFee represented the Montreal Board of Trade at the coronation of King Edward.

LIBERAL CLUB WILL HOLD NOMINATIONS ON FRIDAY EVENING

Nominations for the various offices of the Liberal Club will be held in Hyman Hall on Friday evening.

There will be nominations for the presidency, two vice-presidencies, secretary, treasurer, and five members of the executive from each ward.

A great deal of interest is being manifested in the club and the elections will be most keenly contested.

The elections will be held on the first Friday and Saturday in November. The big drive for members will start at once.

SCIENTIFIC MEN VITAL TO FUTURE OF THIS DOMINION

This Is Board of Trade Member's Opinion.

Thomas Roden and Dr. Fields, Toronto, discussed scientific research from the standpoint of a manufacturer last evening at the regular meeting of the board of trade held at the Tecumseh House.

The matter was looked at from every standpoint, and the concensus of opinion among the members was that the future of Canada lay in its scientific men.

There was a resolution from the trades and labor council presented, asking that the members support the coalyard bylaw. It was shelved without any discussion.

Mr. Roden spoke on the subject of scientific research from the viewpoint of the manufacturer, explaining what it meant to Canada to marshal its scientific men in solving industrial problems. He pointed with pride to the fact that Prof. A. B. McCallum, a former Londoner, had been chosen to head the commission, and that was a guarantee that the best in the Dominion would be marshaled to his aid. Dr. Fields spoke along technical lines.

There was a good turnout.

RETURNED SOLDIERS' NEW BAND IS NOW AN ACCOMPLISHED FACT

Veterans Will Hold First Practice Monday Night.

A returned soldiers' band will soon be in existence here if plans of a committee appointed at the last regular meeting imature. Comrades Shuttleworth and Cunliffe got busy as soon as the meeting last Tuesday closed, and as a result they are able to announce that the first band practice will be held on Monday night in the association's club rooms on Richmond street.

All returned soldiers who play band instruments or have instruments to lend have been invited to attend as well as those who are desirous of learning to play.

"This band is going to be a live institution," said a member in a statement given out today. "It will provide interesting and remunerative recreation for the winter. Engagements are already booked, and a busy season is assured."

That the association is behind the new venture to a man was evidenced last Tuesday when $100 from the organization's funds was unanimously voted to the fund, and arrangements made for a collection at the next regular meeting. It was suggested also that proceeds from the first patriotic concert to be held this winter be given to the fund. Individual members of the association have also volunteered monetary assistance.

Evangelist Belcher will give a vivid description of a Euroclydon on Lake Gennesart, with Christ in the ship, Sunday night at the York Street Mission Hall.

POOR CANNING PACK PROSPECTS THIS SEASON

The following comment on the market situation as regards food stuffs appear in the Canadian Grocer this week:

In no line of grocers' supplies has there been any very notable changes during the past week. The season is usually considered a dull one by the trade, and certainly it has given no sensational demonstration during the past week. Changes there have been, but these have been of a limited character. Rice has shown a stronger feeling, and is showing advances on practically all markets, and tapioca is quoted as very scarce. Peanuts, too, are scarce and have advanced two cents. The report of the canning situation is far from satisfactory. Beans, the latest commodity to be reported, are only a 12½ per cent pack, which will leave large margins in all orders. Tomato and corn prospects are far from encouraging, while fruits also are not expected to come near a full pack. Coffee shows an easier feeling on the primary markets, but this feeling is more or less offset by increasing freight rates, so that little decline in prices is to be expected. Tea, on the other hand, is decidedly stronger, and might show an advance at almost any time.

Hogs showed an advance during the week, as did butter; indeed the market for this commodity is extremely strong, though from just what source the demand springs, the trade has not been able to fathom. Eggs have been plentiful during the week, and consequently there has been no change in price. The general feeling, however, is that an advance is probable, and that in the not very distant future. Honey has advanced in price, and the end of the advances is not yet in sight. The supply is exceedingly short and the demand more than ordinarily good.

Potatoes during the week have been in good supply and ranged much lower, and will probably go lower still. Fruit has been plentiful during the week, especially in the softer fruits.

Fish has been scarce with a tendency to stronger prices, though halibut is the only variety that actually shows an advance. Business during the week in all lines has been reported uniformly good.

RALLY DAY.

Next Sunday will be observed as Rally Day in the First Methodist Church. The pastor will preach on "A Worthy Home Life" in the morning, and on "The Call of God to Youth" at night. Henry Pocock Generously Aids Ridout Street Congregation.

James Quinn, who a short time ago celebrated his 99th birthday, died at the residence of his son-in-law, Thomas Saunders, 312 Simcoe street, on Friday. He had lived in this country 94 years, coming here from Tipperary, Ireland, his birthplace, when he was 5 years old. For many years he was a farmer in Glanford Township, near Hamilton. His wife died many years ago. He is survived by four daughters and two sons. They are: Mrs. Thomas Saunders, 312 Simcoe street; Mrs. Calvin Pettit, Dorchester; Mrs. Christopher Pettit, Dutton; Mrs. George C. Tilburn, Riverside, California; George Quinn, Detroit, and L. Quinn of London Township.

The funeral will be held from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Saunders, 312 Simcoe street, Sunday. Interment will take place at Woodland Cemetery.

FORESTERS DISCUSS INSURANCE RATES

Nearly six hundred members of the Canadian Order of Foresters from London and the surrounding district attended a meeting in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. last night to discuss readjustment of the insurance rates with a special committee appointed at the last high court meeting. The question caused some difficulty at that meeting, and although the committee appointed then conferred until late last night with the members no definite decisions were reached here.

T. W. Gibson of Toronto presided. The other members of the committee were: G. T. Graham, Toronto; J. A. Stewart, Perth; W. E. Gowling, Ottawa; A. E. J. Bissonnette, Montreal.

GOING TO KINGSTON.

The Divisional Ammunition Column, which numbers many Londoners in its ranks, will not likely spend the winter in this city, although the 63rd Battery will in all probability be here until spring. The men of the ammunition column have been training at Petawawa all summer, and will now go to Kingston, it is thought.

CUT THIS OUT

If you know of someone who is troubled with Catarrhal Deafness, head noises or ordinary catarrh cut out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. In England scientists for a long time past have recognized that catarrh is a constitutional disease and necessarily requires constitutional treatment.

Sprays, inhalers and nose douches are liable to irritate the delicate air passages and force the disease into the middle ear which frequently means total deafness, or else the disease may be driven down the air passages towards the lungs which is equally as dangerous. The following formula which is used extensively in the damp English climate is a constitutional treatment and should prove especially efficacious to sufferers here who live under more favorable climate conditions.

Secure from your Druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and hearing improve as the inflammation in the eustachian tubes is reduced. Parmint used in this way acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system and has a slight tonic action that facilitates obtaining the desired results. The preparation is easy to make, costs little and is pleasant to take. Every person who has catarrh should give this treatment a trial.—Advt.

CONTROLLER OF SHIPPING LAYS OUT U.S. TASK

Losses to Subs Since February Equal Total Before That Time.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—British shipping losses since the beginning of the unrestricted submarine campaign last February now approximate the total losses before that period, according to a statement authorized by the controller of shipping today. The statement indicated it was reasonable to expect Germany to destroy by next spring 200 vessels more than could be built in the meantime.

The controller of shipping authorized the Associated Press to make the following statement of the shipping situation, and the urgent need for the United States to undertake merchant ship building on a broad scale:

"It is of the utmost importance that the United States should realize that the shortage of shipping is the most vital fact in the present situation, and the building of merchant ships is of the utmost importance.

Problem for United States.

"The question the United States must face is whether, on the basis of the ship-building preparations she is now making, it will be possible for her to send any substantial force to France next spring, without such a drain on the world's shipping as will subtract just as much from the fighting strength of the other allies as her own forces will add.

"However large and powerful the army which the United States raises and trains during the winter it may be rendered absolutely useless as a fighting force against the enemy of France if there are no ships to transport it except at the cost of stripping the flow of vital necessities to the present armies.

Losses Up to Present.

"The losses of shipping since the beginning of the intensive submarine warfare is now approximately equal to the losses previous to that time. By next spring, it is reasonable to expect the Germans will have destroyed 200 more vessels than can be built during that time.

"Next spring, this year's harvest will be largely exhausted, and the need of supplying Italy, France and Great Britain will be largely increased. At the same moment the United States will need a large increase in vessels to transport its army and to maintain it.

"What must be the program of the United States? It must be large enough to outbuild submarine destruction.

6,000,000 Tons a Year.

"Even if this means building of 6,000,000 million tons a year, which is three times the best the British have done, and five or six times what the United States previously has done, this is not impossible if the United States puts into it an effort comparable with the efforts the Allies put into creating their armies, navies and munitions. To build 6,000,000 tons of shipping would require about 3,500,000 tons of steel, or less than 10 per cent of her output. It would take not more than 500,000 men, the majority unskilled.

"The task thus outlined is small compared with the effort put forth by the principal belligerents in other directions. Great Britain, for example, increased her army from a quarter of a million to over five million, and she added a quarter of a million men to her navy and trebled it in size, while in munitions the British efforts, whether measured in munitions, men or materials, has been greater than what is needed for an adequate shipbuilding program.

An Incongruity.

"Before the war all the shipping in the world was only worth about the same capital as the two big English railway companies. It would be the most incongruous thing in the history of warfare if the war, in which such immensely greater strength has been exerted in other directions, should have the issue decided by failure to solve the problem of building six million tons of shipping a year in a country with such vast resources as the United States. What is the present situation regarding U-boat losses?

"It is clear that the submarine war will fail in its main intention. It will not starve Britain, and it will not interfere with the adequate supply of munitions. But British shipping strength still is being constantly reduced, and we have not yet reached the point where building equals the losses. Under the circumstances Great Britain's position as the supplier of the Allied needs is handicapped. But of main importance is what it means toward the efforts of the United States in the war, and unless the situation is faced the great military effort of the United States will be crippled from the start.

"There is today a shortage in shipping to meet the material needs of the allies, namely, the supply of raw materials for manufacturing munitions, the supply of finished munitions, the supply of fuel for the navy and the supply of food.

"All these supplies are now being maintained at the minimum margin of safety and in some cases below that margin.

"It must be remembered that when the war began, the allies had to throw their full strength into an increase of their armies, navies and munitions, and it is because of the strength, especially Great Britain's expenditures in these directions, that they cannot now outbuild the submarine destruction. It was only in the third year of the war that merchant shipe became a factor quite as vital as the armies, navies and munitions. Fortunately, it was at this stage that the United States entered the war, and her entry was mainly the consequence of Germany's submarine warfare."

ROOSEVELT NAMES TWO OTHERS WITH LAFOLETTE

Calls Them "Shadow-Huns Within Our Gates."

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 28.—On the platform of the auditorium, where Senator Lafollette last week decried America's entry into the war on what he termed a violation of "technical rights," Col. Roosevelt, classing the Wisconsin senator "among the Huns within our gates," declared today he would like to send Lafollette and his shadow-Huns to Germany "as a gift to the kaiser."

Among the "shadow-Huns" the colonel included Senator Gronna of North Dakota and Representative Lundeen of Minnesota.
